District Courts Cannot Halt Enforcement of Truck Law

TEXAS SUPREME COURT RULES THEY ARE WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO ISSUE WRIT OF INJUNCTION

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—The Texas supreme court today held that district judges were without authority to issue writs of injunction to restrain enforcement of the law regulating load limits of motor trucks.

The court ordered L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, and several of his officers released from custody on charges of contempt of court, made when the officers refused to abide by district court injunctions restraining them from interfering with certain operators who carried loads in excess of that provided by the law.

Law Held Valid

The law had been held valid by the United States supreme court.

In its decision the court stated the petition upon which the injunctions were issued by the district courts "failed to show that the law in question is invalid and that its enforcement would constitute an invasion of any property right," and that the complaints "were not entitled to protection at the hands of a court of equity."

Phares and his officers had been adjudged in contempt of court. They were arrested but released on writs of habeas corpus issued by the supreme court.

Woman Found Hands Bound and Mouth Gagged

HOUSTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Miss Virginia Bridges, 22, was found late today in a small woods near Rice institute here, her hands bound and a gag over her mouth. She said she had been kidnaped from her room at home and had escaped her captors—two women and a man—early today.

Police were investigating tonight but had announced none of their findings.

Two brothers, Arthur and Abner White, with two chums, found Miss Bridges.

Miss Bridges, who lives in an exclusive section of the city, said the man in the party entered her room and carried her from it, being joined later by two women.

J. H. Bridges, the girl's father, discounted the possibility that a nervous disorder might have been involved in the incident because of the manner in which her hands were tied.

TWO MEN KILLED BY TRAIN IN MISSOURI

CANTON, Mo., Oct. 1. (INS)—Two men who fell in front of a railroad train were dead and a third had received injuries from which he was not expected to recover.

B. Young, 50, of Canton, and James Hess, 42, of Quincy, Ill., were killed and Tom Ervin of Canton was in critical condition.

The three men were crossing Burlington railroad tracks here last night when the train approached. In an attempt to escape being struck they fell in the path of the engine. A fourth man escaped injury.

GRAND JURY TO BE IMPANELED EARLY MONDAY

The October grand jury will be impaneled Monday morning by Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court and will immediately go into session with members of the district attorney's office.

The district attorney has approximately 30 cases to present to the inquisitors and a final monthly report is expected by Wednesday.

The week of Oct. 10 has been set aside for trial of the criminal docket. Several cases remain from the August and September dockets and a majority of the defendants indicted by the grand jury will be given a trial during this week.

A special venire of 150 men has been summoned for Oct. 24, when the case of Temple Dickson, transferred from Baylor county, has been set down for trial. Dickson, son of one of the pioneer district judges of this section, is charged with the murder of Sam Plunkett in Seymour last June 23. Dickson is being held in the Wichita county jail. He was a candidate for county attorney at the time the fatal shooting occurred.

FOUR MAJOR RAILROAD SYSTEMS EMPLOY 300 BUSINESS SHOWS GAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (INS)—Four major railroad systems today recalled a total of about 300 men to work in their shops because of increased business.

The Chicago and Northwestern put 200 men to work as the result of a loan of $12,461,350 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation recently approved by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The New York Central put 50 men back to work in its shops at Hammond, Ind. The Burlington and Rock Island systems were reported re-employing an undisclosed number of men.

LAWTON MAN SENTENCED TO SEVEN YEAR TERM FOR DUNCAN ROBBERY

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 1.—Granville Latimer, 25, Lawton, was sentenced to seven years in the Granite reformatory Saturday by Judge E. L. Richardson for $181 robbery of O. E. Wiser and A. P. Burns, Southwestern Light and Power employes, here last July.

Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank in Hands Receiver and House Member Charges Maladministration of Law

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (US)—The farm loan board today appointed a receiver for the Chicago Joint Stock Land bank on receiving notice of the institution's failure to pay interest due on its outstanding bond obligations.

John B. Gallagher of Chicago was named to take charge of the bank immediately to conserve its assets and protect the interests of all parties concerned.

Simultaneously, Representative Steagall, Democrat, of Alabama, chairman of the house banking committee, in a statement charged maladministration of the farm land bank law resulting in the loss of hundreds of thousands of farmers' homes. He said:

"The proof is abundant. It is to be found at every courthouse and in every county newspaper throughout the land carrying advertisements of mortgage foreclosures during a period of growing crops.

"There have been some extensions to borrowers, but always grudgingly allowed, and usually after exacting mortgages on crops to be produced, and other personal property, entailing hardships unnecessary and indefensible and never contemplated by those responsible for the legislation."

The Chicago bank was organized in 1917, and had outstanding bonds totaling $42,724,100.

The institution is not affiliated with any other land bank or banking institution.

POLITICS 'OUT' AS ROOSEVELT ATTENDS GAME

Democratic Nominee Witnesses World Series Contest at Chicago

SERIES OF CONFERENCES WITH FARM LEADERS

Receives Assurance Downstate Will Give Him Majority Vote

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Before an enthusiastic dinner crowd in the grand ball room of the Stevens hotel, Governor Roosevelt, Democratic presidential candidate, tonight reiterated his acceptance speech pledge that "I stand on the Democratic plank on prohibition 100 per cent.

"We have found that we cannot in a city like Chicago enforce prohibition," said Mr. Roosevelt.

"I am not going to explain that further because I notice that those who explain the most do so only when they have something to explain away. I am going to let the Republican leaders try to explain their stand."

Witnesses Ball Game

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (US)—Politics was out at the plate here today.

Franklin D. Roosevelt dropped his candidacy for the presidency. He became just another baseball fan. He was one of 50,000 out at Wrigley field for the third game in the Cubs and Yankees world's series.

Taking the afternoon off a long series of political conferences he went out to the ball game to hear the roar of a great crowd. Difference was that he contributed to this instead of being on the receiving end.

Although he was bipartisan as becoming a New Yorker when another city is entertaining him, Governor Roosevelt joined lustily in the great war when Babe Ruth slammed one high in the right field bleachers in the first inning.

Occupies Mayor's Box

Governor Roosevelt sat in Mayor Cermak's box just to the right of the plate. He entered the park about 15 minutes before the start of the game and participated with the crowd in the impressive flag raising exercises.

Roosevelt held a series of conferences with farmer organization leaders, several of whom assured him the reaction among farmers to his Topeka and Sioux City speeches had been highly favorable.

The assertion was made that his

SCREEN ACTRESS DENIES ENGAGEMENT TO CHAPLIN

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 1. (INS)—Paulette Goddard, platinum blonde screen actress, was back in Hollywood today repeating vehement—but smiling—denials that she was engaged to Charlie Chaplin, master screen comic.

Charlie, who kissed Paulette goodbye when she flew to New York recently, was not at the airport to welcome her home—but his limousine, in charge of his Japanese chauffeur, was.

Paulette, however, revealed two things. The first was that she will sail for Tahiti after a month's visit to Hollywood. The second was that she was only recently divorced from Edgar James Goddard, Asheville, N. C., lumberman.

"Why should I think of marriage again when I'm on a marital vacation," asked Paulette.

Cotton Gin Burns

COMMERCE, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Fire razed a cotton gin belonging to E. E. Clayton here today. The loss was estimated at $27,000. It was covered partly by insurance.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY STATE COMMITTEE DENOUNCES GOVERNOR

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—Texas' turbulent political storm increased in intensity today, its fury centering in a special meeting of the Democratic state executive committee and the Texas supreme court.

In unmistakable language, the executive committee denounced the action of Gov. R. S. Sterling in filing a suit contesting the legality of the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as the Democratic candidate for governor. The committee passed a resolution declaring the suit was a move to thwart the will of the people and was an "unfair, undemocratic, vicious" and unparalleled attempt to deliver the state government into the hands of the Republican party."

The committee called on all Democrats to vigorously support Mrs. Ferguson in the general election and to write her name in on the ballot should it be kept off by court action.

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, said tonight that her office already had mailed out election certificates prepared earlier in the week. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's name does not appear on them.

The certificates were mailed as soon as the supreme court announced that she might send them. They were printed last Thursday before the Ferguson mandamus action was begun but were held up at the behest of the supreme court.

Arguments of attorneys for Mrs. Ferguson and Governor Sterling on Mrs. Ferguson's application for leave to file a petition to mandamus certification of her name as the nominee were heard by the supreme court. The action was directed at Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, secretary of state, who was enjoined from certifying Mrs. Ferguson as the nominee by District Judge W. F. Robertson, in whose court the governor's contest suit is pending, tentatively set for trial next Monday.

PEACE SHOULD END BATTLE CRIES

The prohibitionists have a presidential candidate who is out after show money in a two-hoss race.

The drys never have elected their man. We never see him. But like a night watchman in a cold storage plant we know he is around somewhere.

He just plugs along like a mule on a towpath and nobody on the boat hoists sails to help him along.

His slogan is, "The Corner Saloon Shall Not Return."

He forgets that we made new arrangements 16 years ago. Nobody wants the corner saloon to return. And if that is his only talking point we will concede it and throw in a bill of sale.

Once upon a time a Roman senator started a war by yelling that Carthage must fall. He hollered it for years and finally they pulverized Carthage to keep him quiet.

It worked. He lost his own argument and muzzled himself. But the prohibitionists are harder to please. They want Carthage to keep on falling every day and twice on Sundays.

OFFICERS FIND BODY AUDITOR AT GALVESTON

SLAIN NEAR ARLINGTON BODY PLACED ON CAR

Accused Makes Lengthy Statement Following His Capture

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—The decomposed body of a man believed to be A. G. MacGuerty, missing auditor, was unearthed today from a shallow grave under an isolated cottage on Galveston island after William Raymond Ryals had led officers to the place.

"He is buried right there, about three feet deep," Ryals said, picking up a stick and throwing it onto a low mound of freshly turned earth. The deserted cottage was 18 miles from Galveston.

Ryals had been arrested for investigation relative to the disappearance of MacGuerty in Fort Worth last Sunday night. Authorities planned to file murder and robbery charges against the 22-year-old suspect.

Makes Lengthy Statement

After his arrest in Fort Worth, Ryals made a lengthy statement in which he purportedly confessed to shooting MacGuerty near Arlington in a quarrel. MacGuerty was killed with his own gun.

In the statement Ryals was quoted as saying he had stuffed the body under the turtle back of MacGuerty's car and driven to Galveston at night. En route he cast

OKLAHOMA COMMISSION OVERRULES OILS, INC. TO SET ASIDE JUDGMENT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (UP)—The corporation commission today overruled the action of Oils, Inc., to set aside the judgment of the commission and fines totaling $14,200 assessed against the company for alleged violation of proration regulations in 71 instances.

The company attorneys alleged the commission was without jurisdiction and that the fines assessed attempted to deprive Oils, Inc., of property without due process of law, in violation of the state and federal constitutions.

The commission allowed the company a supersedeas bond of $28,400, twice the amount of the fine assessed, that the case might be appealed to the state supreme court.

Wealthy Creek Indian Unworried By Move of Paleface Councillors

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1. (US)—Red man, rich man, poor man, heap big chief—

It's all the same to Jackson Barnett.

Pow-wow, peace-pipe, war-drum, wampu. He's not particular. He can take 'em or leave 'em.

At rest, in slippered ease, in his palitial white tepee on Wilshire boulevard, the 90-year-old millionaire Creek waited today for bewildered pale-face councillors to resume next week their attempts to regain control of his vast fortune.

Barnett is legally incompetent. So he sits back and surveys the fruits of his incompetence. Oriental rugs, an inch thick. Sleek, shining motor cars. Soft-voiced servitors. An attractive white wife, whose legal scalp the great white father's minions seek.

But if Barnett, with aboriginal stolidity and affluent disinterest, says "what'm I care?" not so the chic, black-eyed woman who got her Indian and kept him despite the fact she had to fight in three states before she was allowed to marry him.

"I've been persecuted, prosecuted, harassed and tormented by the government for 13 years," she cried today. "Now they're at it again.

WICHITA GIVEN TWO DISTRICT COURTS IN BILL

Legislative Committee Completes Bill Eliminating 23 Courts

ALSO PLAN TO ABOLISH DISTRICT ATTORNEYS

One Local Court Would Be Transferred Dallas County

Two full-time district courts are provided for Wichita county in a bill which has been drawn up by a joint legislative committee to redistrict the state for judicial purposes.

This bill, according to advices from Austin, abolishes 23 of the present 129 district courts in the state and extends the jurisdiction of all criminal district courts to civil matters as well.

The bill has been completed by the joint legislative committee on court districts and will be offered in the legislature in January.

A separate bill abolishing all district attorneys and criminal district attorneys and conferring their duties on county attorneys is being drawn in conjunction with the state organization committee.

The list of courts as shown in the bill leaves the 89th and 30th as full-time Wichita county district courts and transfers the 78th court to Dallas. At the present time the 78th and 89th are full-time courts here and the 30th court spends four months a year each in Archer, Young and Wichita counties.

The new bill provides for the 30th district court to care for the business of five counties, Young, Archer, Baylor, Knox and Throckmorton.

Other counties in this section are provided for as follows:

Sixteenth district, Denton, Cooke and Montague counties.

Thirty-ninth district, Haskell, Stonewall, Fisher and Jones counties.

Forty-sixth district, Wilbarger, Hardeman, Foard and Cottle counties.

Ninety-seventh district, Clay, Jack, Wise and Parker counties.

One hundredth district, Donley, Collingsworth, Hall and Childress counties.

One hundred and fifth district, Floyd, Motley, Crosby, Dickens, King and Kent counties.

BONHAM YOUTH HURT WHEN ELECTRA AUTO RUNS INTO SIDEWALK

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 1.—Triston Corder of Bonham received painful, although not serious cuts and bruises when an auto climbed a sidewalk where he was standing and crashed into the State Barber shop. Atwood Hart had cranked the auto while it was in gear, causing it to jump the walk. The plate glass in the barber shop was broken.

MAN SHOOTS GIRL AND TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

MINERAL WELLS, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Because his sweetheart refused to marry him, Claude Robbins, 34, shot her in the face and killed himself.

The woman, Miss May Bradford, 29, had gone riding with Robbins last night in an automobile. He stopped on the Brazos road seven miles south of Mineral Wells.

The couple was accompanied by R. Y. Finley, 22, cousin of Miss Bradford. In a statement to police Finley said there had been no quarrel, but Robbins wanted Miss Bradford to marry him and she declined.

TEAGUE PLEADS GUILTY TO USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

WICHITA FALLS TAXI DRIVER CHARGED WITH MURDER AFTER SHOOTING AT OLD MILL CAMP

Charges of murder were filed early Sunday morning against Bonnie L. Sullins, 29, 313 Jalonic street, local 15-cent taxi driver in connection with the slaying Jim McBride, Dean, Texas, at the Old Mill tourist park late Saturday night.

The body of McBride was found in the court of the tourist camp with one bullet through the shoulder and a second through the heart about 9:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Attendants at the camp said they heard four or five shots fired.

Sullins told members of the district attorney's office he fired in self-defense after McBride had threatened him with a knife in an argument over a "two-bit" crap game.

Sullins Surrenders

Sullins, accompanied by his father, surrendered to Sheriff Perry Browning at the tourist park after driving home and returning following the shooting. He made a statement to George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, early Sunday morning, claiming self-defense. Other witnesses in the case were also questioned.

Sullins said he drove a party of six to the tourist park and that the argument followed a crap game which was already in progress when he returned after going to get sandwiches for the party.

McBride's body was taken in charge by the Hines mortuary.

The coroner's verdict of Judge O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, was "death by gunshot wounds."

Torrents of Water Choke Streams and Canyons Tehachapi Area

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Oct. 1. (US)—With a new storm raging in the Tehachapi mountains, rescue work was practically halted tonight in the canyon where a cloudburst Friday night flooded the narrow gorge, bringing death to many persons and heavy property damage.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Oct. 1. (AP)—A cloudburst which choked streams and canyons of the hilly Tehachapi section with torrents of water last night was believed today to have swept 30 persons to their deaths. The number may run much higher.

The reported dead stood at 12. From 15 to 18 others are known to be missing, and it was believed many of the two or three score transient men and boys reported on a wrecked freight train may have perished.

A "helper" locomotive in the middle of the train crashed through a flood-weakened bridge near Woodford, pulling six cars into the stream and carrying Engineer A. H. Ross to his death.

PRESIDENT OF CHILE RESIGNS

Will Be Succeeded by Judge Oyanedel

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 1. (AP)—Gen. Bartolome Blanche, acting president of Chile since Provisional President Carlos Davila was forced out by a revolt last month, resigned tonight.

General Blanche retired a few minutes after his cabinet had resigned in response to sentiment here as well as in Antofagasta against continuation of a military government.

There was also feeling against General Blanche because of his friendship with former President Carlos Ibanez, who returned to Santiago on Thursday from exile in Argentina.

General Blanche personally summoned Judge Oyanedel to the capital, and the justice immediately started from his nearby farm to the presidential palace.

It was understood that when Judge Oyanedel is sworn in, he will be expected to hold office through the general election, which had previously been called by General Blanche for Oct. 30.

PLANS FOR OPENING OF HOME-LOAN BANKS TO BE DRAWN WEDNESDAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Plans for opening the 12 federal home loan banks about two weeks hence will be drawn here Wednesday at a conference between members of the system's board of directors and officials of the regional banks.

Franklin W. Fort, chairman of the home loan bank board, has summoned the chairman, vice chairman and prospective president of each of the banks to the conference at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday. It is expected to last three days.

On their return home, the regional officers will begin organizing with a view to opening the banks for business the morning of Oct. 15.

AMERICAN WOUNDED BY NICARAGUA INSURGENTS

Attorney General and Commission Restrained From Enforcement 1932 Common Purchaser Act of Texas

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Atty. Gen. James V. Allred and the state railroad commission were restrained by a federal court order today for 10 days from the enforcement of the common purchaser act of the last legislature, designed to prorate the purchase of oil by pipe line and storage companies.

In a temporary restraining order obtained by the Humble Oil and Refining company state officials were enjoined until September 30 at the conclusion of a two-judge hearing which started Friday in federal court here, the injunction was continued for 10 days, at which time it will be renewed until Oct. 31, it was said. On that date a three-judge court will convene to hear evidence. Federal injunctions can only be granted for 10-day periods if they are temporary, it was explained.

The Humble company claimed that it would be wrecked if it had to buy oil from all wells on its pipe lines at the rate of its own production, in compliance with the new oil law.

DEMOCRATS OF NEW YORK TO MEET MONDAY

Tammany Leaders Expected To Go Through With Their Program

WILL SEEK TO PREVENT BREAK WITH ROOSEVELT

Plan to Nominate Lehman And Endorse Jimmy Walker

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (US)—Tammany is determined that former Mayor James J. Walker shall receive a "vindication" nomination for re-election, but is increasingly inclined to favor Governor Roosevelt's choice, Lieut. Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, for the gubernatorial nomination.

That is how the Democratic state ticket appeared to be shaping up tonight as Tammany leaders entrained for Albany where the state convention convenes Monday.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 1. (AP)—Leaders of New York democracy began converging on this city tonight for their state convention, with Herbert H. Lehman, Governor Roosevelt's choice for the gubernatorial nomination, holding his ground.

There were no outward evidences Tammany hall and its New York City allies had changed their tentative Roosevelt-Lehman-Walker program.

Unless the many conferences to be held over the week-end result in some last-minute switch of plans, those high in organization politics are convinced John F. Curry, Tammany chief; John H. McCooey, Brooklyn leader, and their fellow chieftains will go through with this schedule:

Schedule of Leaders

1. Avoidance of any break with Roosevelt, who will arrive here Monday to address the convention.
2. Support of the Roosevelt gubernatorial candidate.
3. Support of James J. Walker, resigned mayor, for renomination at the city convention later this week.

In the face of this possibility, James A. Farley, Roosevelt-Garner campaign director, who will figure in the state convention in the additional capacity as state chairman, issued what his aides called "the most optimistic prediction of the campaign."

He said he would be surprised if the national ticket "does not register a majority of 10,000,000 votes."

Expect Dramatic Session

In any event, the state convention promises to be one of the most dramatic and significant held in years.

Two old political allies, Governor Roosevelt and "Al" Smith, who have not met since they were rivals for the presidential nomination at Chicago, will be the central figures.

Smith, as he started for Albany, still was determined, his associates said, to place Lehman in nomination.

A question widely discussed among those here for the convention was whether, if the New York leaders decide to oppose Lehman, the strength of Lehman's following added to that of Smith's following, might not be enough to put their candidate over anyway.

Republicans to Nominate

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 1. (US)—As Republican leaders gathered today for their state convention, the nomination of Col. William J. Donovan for governor and of F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war, lieutenant governor seemed certain.

Both arrived today for the sessions that open Monday morning and end Tuesday night. There are other candidates but they are expected to yield to the candidacies of Donovan and Davison, with the trend strongly to the former.

Davison is being discussed considerably for second place and is said to be ready to accept. However, when questioned this afternoon, he said:

"I have come here with only one thought in my mind and that is the nomination for governor."

ORDINATION SERVICE TO BE HELD SUNDAY MORNING HIGHLAND HTS. CHRISTIAN

The Highland Heights Christian church is all set for a big day Sunday. A portion of the Bible school hour will be devoted to a promotion service.

Following this service there will be a beautiful and inspirational ordination service of the 34 officers that have been selected by the congregation to serve this church year beginning Oct. 1, 1932, and ending Sept. 30, 1933. This will be one of the outstanding services of the year, it is announced. The public is invited to attend.

DENOUNCE CONTEST GOVERNOR STERLING

ceived a majority of the votes legally cast.

Should the supreme court grant the mandamus, it probably would result in abrupt termination of the district court suit. The court's decision on the motion for leave to file was expected early next week.

In a stirring appeal, Maury Hughes, chairman of the executive committee, called for a "write in" campaign in Mrs. Ferguson's behalf should her name not be on the ballot. Hughes' appeal met with a hearty response from the executive committee, which loudly cheered his declaration. Hughes asserted it was the duty of Democrats to write in her name where it "rightfully belonged" and that she was in the party's nominee even if her name was not on the ballot.

At the start of the meeting a deputy served committee members with citations ordering them not to interfere in any manner until the contest suit had been tried.

Pledge Loyal Support

After pledging support to the national Democratic nominees and all other nominees of the party, the resolution stated, "we condemn the unparalleled, undemocratic and unfair methods by which the enemies of the Democratic party now seek to thwart the will of the Democrats of Texas by seeking to prevent the name of the nominee, Miriam A. Ferguson, from appearing on the printed ballots in the general election," and called on all Democrats to aid in defeating the "attempt to deliver the reins of government into the hands of the Republican party."

Hughes called for support of the ticket from "top to bottom." He was cheered wildly when he said that included the name of Mrs. Ferguson but received milder applause on mentioning the names of Roosevelt and Garner.

Charge Suit Slander

The resolution also charged the suit was "a slander upon the citizens of Texas and the Democratic party, and the allegations of fraudulent voting are made, not with any hope or expectation of proving them or winning the contest, but for the sole purpose of defeating the Democratic party's nominee for governor and injuring the national ticket, and is inspired by the enemies of democracy."

No action was taken by the supreme court on the motion for leave to file the mandamus petition. The court indicated it would take no action before next week.

Chief Justice C. M. Cureton cautioned attorneys for both sides against using pendency of the mandamus action in the supreme court as an excuse for delaying trial of the contest suit.

Questions were directed to the attorneys as to the time when it would become impractical to continue the district court trial and when it would be of no practical value to determine the issues involved in the suit. The court's question on this point was interpreted as an effort to determine the time in which it would be required to act on Mrs. Ferguson's motion.

Two Years for Trial

Attorneys for Mrs. Ferguson stated they believed it would be useless to start trial stating it would be a physical impossibility to finish within less than two years.

The governor's attorneys said the district court suit would not become moot until the Nov. 8 election and said it could be tried in time.

Ocie Speer, counsel for Mrs. Ferguson, attacked as a "monstrous doctrine" the theory that a district judge has the authority to enjoin the orderly processes of an election, stating it was a governmental function and that not even the supreme court could interfere.

Speer asserted there could be no contest of Mrs. Ferguson's nomination "this side of the legislature" and that the house and senate were the only agencies that could decide the contest.

Luther Nickels, another of Mrs. Ferguson's attorneys, contended that the certificate of nomination issued to her by the state convention entitled her name to be placed on the ballot. "This is her deed to the nomination," he stated. "There is no foundation in law for the action of the district judge in setting aside her vested right to the nomination on the mere pleading of a defeated and disgruntled candidate."

M. M. Crane, the governor's attorney, said the object of the district court suit was to determine who received the majority of legal votes. He challenged the authority of the supreme court to issue a mandamus while the trial of contested issues was pending.

Argues Injunction Valid

Crane asserted that the district court injunction was valid and was issued to protect the jurisdiction of Judge Robertson over the subject matter of the suit.

Speer and Nickels argued that there was no contest pending, claiming that the governor's suit was not filed within the prescribed time.

Crane said the suit was filed in ample time.

Associate Justice William Pierson questioned attorneys closely on their construction of statutes prescribing the time in which the suit must be filed in district court, saying this appeared to be a crucial point in the case.

Speer said Mrs. Ferguson's certificate of nomination was a prima facie title that could be set aside only by final judgment of the supreme court and not by a temporary injunction issued by the district court.

Fergusons in Courthouse

Mrs. Ferguson and her husband were in the courthouse. The courtroom was crowded and partisans of the Fergusons and Sterling milled about in the corridors.

Hughes was authorized by the executive committee to employ counsel to participate in litigation involving Democratic nominees. The committee recommended repeal of the primary election laws so that the party could govern itself without interference from the courts. Hughes recommended that every Democratic candidate be required to swear allegiance to the party and its nominees.

The supreme court granted a motion by Mrs. Ferguson for leave to withdraw a portion of the original application in which an injunction was asked to restrain Mrs. McCallum from making a partial certification of nominees. Mrs. McCallum had withheld certification while awaiting the supreme court's action on the plea for a mandamus.

Baby Show and Amateur Night Furnish Amusement for Crowd

MORE THAN 100 ENTER IN FAIR BABY SHOW

Awards Made in All Departments as Judges Complete Work

VERNON, Texas, Oct. 1.—A baby show, amateur night, and excellent exhibits attracted large crowds to the Harvest fair at Vernon Saturday. Many who were kept away by the rain, at the opening Friday night, attended Saturday.

Mrs. Virginia Troupe, county health nurse, was in charge of the baby show, in which more than 100 babies between the infant and 2-year-old age were entered. The Boyd Sisters Studio of Dancing staged a program during the baby show.

Amateur night attracted a large number of contestants in singing, dancing, harmonica playing and fiddling.

Awards were made in the following departments Saturday:

SWEETWATER GRIDDER DECLARED INELIGIBLE

BIG SPRING, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Ney Sheridan, triple threat star of the Sweetwater High school eleven, was declared ineligible Saturday by the executive committee of district 3, Interscholastic league. The vote was unanimous.

The action was based on a rule limiting players to four years of play, which, as construed by the committee, applied to a team of senior and junior high school boys on which Sheridan played in 1928. Sweetwater officials argued that it was an independent team.

HAGENBECK-WALLACE CIRCUS TRAINS ARRIVE SUNDAY

The circus is coming to town—the Hagenbeck-Wallace huge affair—and will give afternoon and night performances Monday at the circus grounds near the ball park. Sunday will be spent in comparative leisure although the great tented city will be raised.

Three special trains of double-length all-steel cars will bring the big show to town—the first section being scheduled to arrive around noon over the Katy railroad from McAlester, Okla., where it exhibited Saturday.

With the circus just at hand, youngsters, spurred by sympathetic parents who have a penchant of their own for the delights of the sawdust rings, are beginning all manner of intrique looking to a seat at one of the two performances here Monday. Dads, too, are polishing up the old bromide of "going just to take the kids."

New Acts and Displays

New acts and displays to bewilder and enthuse circus fans have been added to this year's program, with an outstanding zoological display in its enlarged menagerie that will astound even those who are familiar with the huge layout of the big show in previous years.

The performances are packed with thrills. The wild animal displays boast of many new and amazing offerings, while the ring and track numbers are as beautiful as they are entertaining. The wild animal acts are headed by Clyde Beatty, the world's greatest wild animal trainer and proves it twice daily by entering the steel arena with 40 of the most ferocious, junglebred wild beasts on earth—a mixed group of 40 wild lions and tigers. No man, ever before, has dared so dangerous a feat.

"Poodles" Hanneford and his family of famous bare back riders, feature the equestrian acts in the rings, while the largest aerial acts in spangleland will fill the upper spaces of the big-top, headed by the Clarkonians and Siegrist Troupes, in mid-air somersaulting, and the Billetti troupe of sensational high-wire performers—three men and a girl—will cause thrills aplenty as they perform in the extreme top of the tent without a net beneath them.

Acrobatic and many ground acts will vie with wild animals, educated equines, and novelty numbers, in the arena, with its three rings, two spacious stages and steel-barred presentation den.

In "Cleopatra, Queen of Egypt," Hagenbeck-Wallace offers this year an opening spectacle that dwarfts all previous efforts in the number of people, music, ballet, animals and in costly wardrobe. It is the work of Rex de Rosselli, producer of huge out-of-doors pageants and pantomimes. The spectacular final gives a sensational filip to the immense production.

Clowns?—Yes, half a hundred of those funny fellows keep the lengthy program awhirl from beginning to end. Earl Shipley, nationally known funster, heads the personnel of "clown alley," with several of the most noted in spangleland.

Sightseers at the circus grounds Sunday will be treated to many sights of interest. The tented city will be raised and made ready for the two performances beginning at 2 and 8 p. m. Monday.

Wife Annoyed

Which explains her reluctance to give a deposition in the government's action to recover $550,000 the aged but hearty red man tendered her soon after they were married.

Federal attorneys allege Barnett had no right to give her the fortune because he was incompetent.

"And why shouldn't he have given it to me?" she asks. "I've made investments that have increased the value of his estate $2,000,000.

"And I took him from a lonely hut in the Osage hills, nine miles from civilization and brought him to one of the most beautiful mansions in Los Angeles.

"I've taught him to shave and I've kept his hair cut. I've made a civilized citizen out of him, incompetent or not."

To which Barnett adds the "ug" of his approval.

So the silly questions propounded to determine the Creek's mental processes and the attempts to force the iron-willed Mrs. Barnett to take the stand willy-nilly will be resumed. The government will continue to wage its war over the $1,000,000 in wampum which came originally from Barnett's oil lands in Oklahoma—oil that was there before the white man came with his muskets and his courts and his lawyers.

POLITICS OUT FOR MR. ROOSEVELT

proposal to confer with leaders on a new legislative program had indicated a sympathetic interest and one more likely to be productive of results than any taken by any other national leader in many years.

The Democratic nominee received assurance from down state Illinois politicians that his normally Republican stronghold would give him a majority over President Hoover making his vote in Cook county "pure velvet."

Twenty-six hundred persons greeted Mr. Roosevelt at the Illinois Democratic dinner in the Stevens hotel.

The nominee was the central figure at a speakers table which stretched across the entire length of the flag decorated grand ballroom. On his left was Probate Judge Henry Horner, candidate for governor, while Mayor Anton J. Cermak sat on Mr. Roosevelt's right. Mr. Cermak was toastmaster.

Mrs. Roosevelt sat between Judge Horner and Melvin A. Traylor.

RESIDENTS OF FLOODED AREA LEAVE HOMES

Situation Most Critical Where Pecos Threatens To Inundate Region

DAMAGE HEAVIEST ON MEXICAN SIDE BORDER

Continued Rainfall Expected to Cause Further Rio Grande Rise

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Inhabitants of the flood-menaced region along the Mexican border watched anxiously today as the rampaging Rio Grande and other treacherous streams were filled to the danger point by drainage of rain-soaked watersheds.

The situation was most critical in the lower Rio Grande valley and near the town of Pecos, where the Pecos river threatened to inundate a rich agricultural section.

With the Rio Grande already 24.8 feet deep at Hidalgo, additional rises were expected to hit the lower valley in the next two days. The swollen stream was rising at Hidalgo at a rate of one-tenth of a foot an hour.

The crest of the high water seemed to be in the vicinity of Rio Grande City, where the San Juan river was pouring a torrent into the Rio Grande from the Mexican side.

Cuts New Channel

Cutting a new channel at Camargo, Mexico, the San Juan severed the town proper from the railroad station. Farther downstream it deluged thousands of acres of Mexican farm land.

Residents of Camargo evacuated en masse, salvaging what possessions they could. Evacuation of the villages of Los Ebanos and La Grulla, both in the United States, was under way. Ranchers living between Mission and Rio Grande City were preparing to flee.

Advices from Monterrey, Mexico, told of more hard rains on the watershed of the San Juan. Precipitation at Monterrey in the past 24 hours amounted to nearly two inches.

Although the Rio Grande had subsided somewhat today at Rio Grande City, the continued rainfall was expected to cause it to rise there again when the San Juan brings the new torrent downstream.

River Stationary

At Rio Grande City the river's stage dropped more than a foot overnight. Its stage was stationary at 29.3 feet.

Downstream some of the excess water was swirling into huge canals built to protect the "winter garden" from overflow.

There were several levee breaks and considerable water escaped to flow over the lowlands of Hidalgo county. The breaks occurred in a severe flood about a month ago and had not been repaired.

The Pecos had risen to within six inches of the bottom of the Texas and Pacific railway bridge two miles from the town of Pecos.

Farmers living in the danger area had moved to safety.

Highway travel west of Pecos was resumed today, making it possible for a thousand or more westbound motorists to continue their trips. Roads to the north and south still were closed by mud and high water.

At Laredo, Del Rio, Eagle Pass and other points along the Rio Grande the border stream had risen a few feet but was not high enough to cause any damage.

OFFICERS FIND BODY OF SLAIN AUDITOR

MacGuerty's hat, coat and shirt out of the car.

MacGuerty was a man of 38 and had been employed in the newspaper field auditing circulations. He was well known in Texas cities and had lived in Chicago and Boston.

Burial at Arlington

Justice of the Peace John R. Harris held an inquest at the cottage and returned a verdict of death from gunshot wounds. He ordered the body sent to Arlington, a town near Fort Worth, for burial.

After Ryals had located the body for officers, he was returned to Galveston and held in the county jail. Officers planned to return him to Fort Worth later today, where charges will be filed.

The arrest of Ryals occurred when he went to the private residence where MacGuerty had been staying in Fort Worth and asked for the auditor's personal belongings.

PENNEY'S 100% VALUES

September's Increase This Year Over 1931 Was 146%

"Bargains!" Yes, they're everywhere! But how many are genuine? Only too often, if you're not wary, you'll find that while you've paid little you've received less.

Penney's doesn't scorn low prices. Every day we delight in quoting them—but only on Quality that we can certify to. Only on Quality that gives you 100% value for the money you spend.

All merchandise must pass muster here—must square to Penney's exacting standards . . . standards that have not been lowered one little bit during all this period of frenzied price shouting.

"Out!" That's the order to merchandise falling the least bit short of our 100% ideal. Nothing less than that satisfies us. And why? Because we're in business here to stay—and no business can survive that does not deliver a full measure of service and satisfaction!

The public is cordially invited to attend the services and enjoy the reading room.

SOUTH SIDE BAPTIST

The South Side Baptist church will begin their fall revival today. They have secured the services of Rev. and Mrs. Harley Smith, returned missionaries from Brazil, to conduct the meeting.

Rev. Harley Smith will do the preaching during the meeting and also conduct the singing. He was engaged in the evangelistic work and also pastoral work before going to Brazil and is well qualified as a preacher both by training and by experience. He has spent several years in Brazil as a Baptist missionary and his experiences there will add both to the interest and value of his messages.

Mrs. Smith is a daughter of Dr. W. B. Bagby, the first missionary to go from North America to Brazil. The story of the Bagbys in Brazil is one of the most thrilling storys of modern times. Mrs. Smith has helped to write this romantic religious epic. She was raised in Brazil but educated in Texas. After she completed her collage education she married Rev. Smith and they sailed for Brazil and have been making missionary history of their own for several years. Mrs. Smith is a forceful speaker and will bring messages from time to time during the meeting.

Rev. and Mrs. Smith are both splendid singers and will sing special songs at each service. Their singing will be enjoyed by all who come. These evangelists are not strangers in Wichita Falls. They recently were at Lamar Avenue Baptist church for a week and have spoken at First Baptist church. They also were at Electra and Burkburnett for a week this summer.

HIGHER GAS RATES DENIED IN TOWNS NORTHWEST TEXAS

AUSTIN, Sept. 1. (INS)—An application of the Community Natural Gas company, Lone Star company subsidiary, for an upward revision of their rate schedules in five North Texas towns was denied by the railroad commission today.

Abilene, Pilot Point, Farmersville, Salina and Henrietta were the towns affected. The revision asked would have resulted in an increase in the domestic gas rates in those towns.

The company volunteered to post a bond indemnifying the consumers against a possible loss, should the proposed rate be found unreasonable, following the hearing. The commission, however, denied the application and announced that hearings on the question would be set for a later date.

DANDRUFF
A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (it won't cost you more than thirty-five cents), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

SPECIAL BONUSES CHEER EMPLOYES ON WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—A number of Wall street investment houses have recently announced payment of special bonuses to their employes, made possible by the recent increase in brokerage business.

Two firms entered the lists of those voting bonuses this week and one wire house, with offices in nearly every large city of the country, announced it had increased salaries 10 per cent. In the past fortnight, six firms have declared special payments to their employes.

In addition, most stock exchange firms which early last summer had reduced their clerical staffs to about one-half or one-quarter of their normal size have taken back employes. An estimate of the number recalled is hard to reach, but in some quarters the figure of 50,000 has been advanced as the likely number of workers who have been re-engaged.

Even with this improvement, the number of employes in Wall street and their pay envelopes are at the lowest level since the pre-war days. Nevertheless, considerable considerable encouragement has been derived from the modest improvement by Wall street's working personnel, and a sizeable number is now looking forward to the Christmas holidays as a period when possibly additional bonuses will be declared. Last Christmas was one of the bleakest in the history of the street and, up until three months ago, an even drearier one seemed in prospect this year.

However, recent gains in business have served to buoy hope that the 1932 Santa Claus may prove a more bountiful personage than in 1931.

BANDITS KILL CLUB WAITER

Five Invade Private Club Armed With Shotguns

NILES, Ill., Oct. 1. (INS)—A widespread hunt was carried on today for five shotgun bandits who raided the Atlasta Farm Recreation club, a private organization here, and shot and killed Elmer Russell, 40, a waiter.

Police were investigating a theory that the gunmen might have invaded the clubhouse for the purpose of attacking its owner, Elmer Gatty. They planned to question Gatty to learn whether liquor was served at the club and, if so, whether the enmity of an alcohol ring had been incurred.

Running through the club entrance shortly before midnight last night, the five gun-wielders lined up three employees, Bernard Farrell, an attendant, Grace Peecher, a cook, and Russell. One of the gunmen asked Russell to state his name and before he could finish reciting it the waiter was shot and killed.

SHOWERS HELP GRAIN BUT DELAY PICKING IN HARDEMAN COUNTY

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 1.—The slow drizzling rain which fell over Hardeman county during Friday, Sept. 30, has slowed down cotton picking but is of great value to wheat planted for winter pasture, and for grass lands.

For nearly two weeks clouds have gathered practically every day with strong indications of rain at Quanah, but until Friday there has been nothing more than mist around Quanah, although Chillicothe in the eastern end of the county reports 1.30 inches about a week ago.

At Chillicothe gauge station the total for September shows 2.97 inches, which is 2.76 inches more than was received in September, 1931.

The year's total at this station is 21.05 inches, compared to 9.47 inches for same period in 1931. Last year's rainfall was boosted considerably during the last three months of the year when 10.50 inches was gauged.

QUANAH GROCER SHIPS 134-POUND WATERMELON TO DOUTFUL SISTER

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 1.—A watermelon weighing 134 pounds was shipped this week by R. A. Kelley, Quanah grocer, to his sister, Mrs. M. Camp, who lives in Portland, Ore. The melon had been raised near Hugo, Okla., and with another weighing 126 pounds had been on display in the Kelley grocery window for a short time before shipment of the larger one. Mr. Kelley stated his sister did not believe the stories he had told regarding Texas and Oklahoma products, and he expected to prove to her that he was not the Ananias she inferred he was on his visit there the past summer.

ALABAMA SCHOOLS CLOSE THROUGH LACK OF FUNDS

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 1. (INS)—Fourteen thousand school children were without educational facilities and 300 teachers were jobless today as elementary schools of Cullman county were forced to close through lack of funds.

Teachers have not received their salaries in 11 months.

More than 30 other Alabama counties will be forced to close their schools within the next six weeks unless financial aid is immediately received, Frank Grove, secretary of the Alabama Education association, declared.

GOVERNMENT LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN AGAINST RATS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (UP)—The biological survey is out to kill several million rats by Jan. 1.

The campaign will concentrate in 190 counties of eastern states, where rats have become a real problem. County agricultural agents will distribute the poison, which the biological survey will supply.

The average loss from rats is $40 per farm, it is estimated. The drive which is now starting will cost $30,000, but the government believes the saving resulting from rat-riddance will be $1,200,000.

Texas Cities Book Fine Artists Through Civic Music Association Concert Program Here Uncompleted

By W. L. UNDERWOOD

Recent announcements of talent secured for the ensuing concert season by nearby cities through the Civic Music association reveal the impressive caliber of entertainment to be provided, and indicate the quality of musical performance available to Wichita Falls for the coming winter through that organization.

Cities throughout this section of Texas now are making their selections of artists to be booked for the winter season, according to officials of the North Texas Civic Music association, organized here last spring. Artists to be heard here under the association's program, and the entertainment which they will offer, are to be announced at an early date, it was stated Saturday.

Membership cards and programs will be mailed to all members two weeks prior to the presentation of the first program on the association's schedule for the season. Such cards admit the owner not only to all association programs here, but to any program given by the Civic Music association anywhere in the country.

Dallas already has chosen five numbers for the ensuing season, and has yet to choose a sixth attraction. Heading those reservations is the name of Escudero, sensational Spanish dancer, and his company. Escudero arrived in America about two years ago, and immediately thrilled New York and other eastern centers with his revolutionary performances. Another outstanding feature will be a concert of classics to be given by the Society of Ancient Instruments. Favorite compositions of the masters are played on instruments of exceedingly ancient origin.

Set High Standard

The remaining three concerts already booked by the Dallas association maintain the imposing standards set in the first two engagements. They call for the appearance of Attilio Baggiori, operatic tenor; Myra Hess, the world's most famous modern woman pianist; and Efrem Zimbalist, violinist, one of the highest ranking artists with that instrument in the past 20 years.

Escudero will be seen on Nov. 29; Baggiori, Dec. 13; the Society of Ancient Instruments, Feb. 14; Myra Hess, March 28; and Zimbalist, April 18.

At Tyler, the civic association already has engaged Francis McMillen, violinist; Gladys Swarthout, contralto; and Baggiori, the tenor. A fourth number yet is to be selected.

Amarillo, completing its membership campaign only last week, is to select artists for at least three concerts within the next few days. Fort Worth stages its membership campaign Oct. 10, and expects to formulate an imposing program of at least five numbers.

The membership campaign of the North Texas Civic Music association was staged here last spring, with Harry Hines and Mrs. Walter Robbins actively in charge. Results were said to have been highly satisfactory, with many memberships subscribed in adjoining territory. A committee which works anonymously is to construct the Wichita Falls concert program within the next few days.

State Weddings

Bellamy-Hooper

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Hooper have announced the marriage of their daughter, Alma, to Lester Bellamy which took place at Altus, Okla., on July 6.

The bride has made her home in Quanah for several years, and is a graduate of the Quanah High school. Her parents are prominent farmers. The groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bellamy, who live about two miles southwest of Quanah.

The young couple will make their home in Quanah. Mr. Bellamy will assist his father in handling their farming and stock interests.

Haynes-Tabor

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 1.—C. B. Haynes of Chillicothe, and Miss Loyelle Tabor of Goodlett were married at the study of Rev. C. W. Foote, pastor of the First Methodist church, with Rev. Foote performing the ceremony. Only a few intimate friends were present.

Mr. Haynes is wholesale agent for the Continental Oil company for Hardeman county, and makes his home at Chillicothe. Miss Tabor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Tabor, pioneer farmers of Hardeman county, and has been a teacher at Goodlett for several years.

The young couple will make their home in Chillicothe following a wedding trip to various Texas points.

"Now my kitchen is the cleanest room in the house"

The range pictured above is the Hotpoint Hostess . . . the last word in modern electric range design and construction. No finer range has ever been installed in a home than this new creation with the magic Calrod heating coil.

A difficult problem has confronted the housewife since time immemorial. . . . how to keep the kitchen clean without hours and hours of tedious labor when the day was already filled with other things that needed doing.

We've solved that problem for you . . . or rather, the electric range has solved it for both of us. It is a simple matter now to keep your kitchen just as spick-and-span as any other room in the house. Gone are the troubles with soot, smoke, flying grease and the many other faults of old-fashioned cooking. Walls stay spotless, pans keep shiny, the range itself needs only the light touch of a cloth once in a while to remain as clean as a china plate . . . just as it was the day it left our store.

You'll like the cleanliness of electric cookery.

A NEEDED REVISION

What with injunctions, counter-injunctions, protests and other maneuvers, the situation with regard to certification of the Democratic nominee for governor is in as complete a mess as it is possible to imagine. It is possible that the November ballot will not contain the name of any Democratic candidate for governor, and that voters will be required to write in the names of their preferences.

Regardless of the merits of the present controversy, one fact is painfully clear. It is that there is need of a thorough-going revision of the election laws so that such a situation may not arise again. Changes are needed both as to the manner of holding elections and as to the procedure to be followed when the result is challenged. As the Vernon Record points out, the Sterling-Ferguson contest has shown existing laws to be faulty and inadequate.

The net result of the fight at Austin, we believe, will be to make the election of a Republican governor somewhat less improbable that it would otherwise be. But the next legislature should see to it that the needed changes are made in the election laws.

◆

THE YOUNGER VOTERS

Two conditions that are indicated by the Literary Digest poll are of equal significance with the actual returns themselves.

One is that a goodly majority of those who did not vote in 1928—and most of these, obviously, are those too young to vote then—are planning to vote the Democratic ticket this year. The other is that about 40 per cent of the Roosevelt vote is coming from those who voted the Republican ticket in 1928. Only 45 per cent of the Roosevelt strength, as indicated by the poll, is of those who voted the Democratic ticket in 1928. The remaining 55 per cent is from those who either voted the Republican ticket or did not vote.

It is immensely encouraging to see that a majority of those who are now, so to speak, forming their political habits, are inclined to the Democratic side. That means recruits whose presence in the party may mean much in later years. The Roosevelt candidacy has a particular appeal to the younger voter because it is a candidacy of courage and action rather than of timidity and inaction. One of the chief elements of Republican strength in the past three decades has been those younger voters whom Theodore Roosevelt attracted to the Republican standard early in the century. Now another Roosevelt is making Democrats of the more youthful voters.

THE STADIUM

The high school at Abilene now has its own athletic stadium, built with funds accumulated during the several successful seasons its football team has had. That is an excellent way to acquire a stadium and we do not doubt that Abilene is proud of the achievement.

Probably it is less proud than Wichita Falls is of the stadium that has been built here. So far from having a comfortably large sum in the bank, waiting to be spent, Wichita Falls had exactly nothing on deposit. It started at zero. With resourcefulness that would not be balked, those in charge of the undertaking kept pegging away. They managed for the land. They worked out a deal for the needed materials. Somehow or other, they secured the necessary labor. At times they probably reminded themselves of the wayfarer who said that if he had some ham, he would have some ham and eggs if he could get some eggs.

But in the end the efforts of the Kiwanis club produced a stadium unsurpassed by few in all Texas. Wichita Falls is immensely proud of it. And we wouldn't swap it now for one obtained in the easy and comfortable way by which Abilene got one.

◆

HITTING WHERE IT HURTS

In his Sioux City speech Governor Roosevelt hit the Republican party hard at two of its weakest points, the tariff and the budget. The Republican administration's course in these matters is indefensible. At a time when there was urgent need of the broadest possible market for American products, it moved to restrict that market and to create a retaliatory spirit in the rest of the world. At a time when an elementary knowledge of fiscal affairs would have made it plain that a deficit was looming, the administration not only failed to take action until the situation had become critical, but hampered the efforts of congress to deal effectively with the situation.

The Republican leadership stands pat on the tariff. It admits no error. In the face of the fact that this is now a creditor nation, it believes there should be maintained the same tariff policy that was followed when it was a debtor nation. It recognises no change that has taken place. It feebly musters all of the time-worn arguments for protection, ignoring the fact that this country's position in world affairs has changed greatly.

The Republicans attempt to cover up their budget mistakes by fulsome promises of stricter economy in the future. They ask the country to believe that a party that has signally failed is now undergoing a great change of heart, and will do better.

On these two issues alone, the need of the "new deal" of which Senator Norris has spoken becomes glaringly obvious.

◆

A DEMOCRATIC SENATE

With the appointment of a Democrat to succeed the late Senator Waterman of Colorado, the Democrats now have a nominal majority in the senate, the alignment being Democrats 48, Republicans 47, Farmer-Labor 1.

There is every reason to believe that the narrow majority will be increased in the next congress. Of the Democratic members whose terms expire, only one, McGill of Kansas, is considered at all likely to fail of re-election. On the other hand, there are several Republican members whose seats are in jeopardy, and it is highly probable that some of them will be succeeded by Democrats. Bingham of Connecticut, Glenn of Illinois, Watson of Indiana, Moses of New Hampshire, Davis of Pennsylvania and Jones of Washington are among those who have strong Democratic opposition. In California, William G. McAdoo is considered as having better than an even chance to defeat his Republican opponent, Tubbs, who wrested the nomination from Senator Shortridge.

The majority will be narrow, in any event, but all signs point to a safely Democratic senate after March 4, 1933.

The Scared Conservative

President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)
By GLENN FRANK

In a period of profound economic dislocation the scared conservative may be as diverting as he is dangerous.

Last night, while speeding from Chicago to New York on the Twentieth Century Limited, I spent an hour or more listening to a well-known conservative view with alarm the spread of dangerous doctrine and vigorously demand that the government spring to the defense of politico-economic orthodoxy.

I induced this well-known conservative to listen to the following extracts from an interesting article I had just scanned.

"No doubt in time the broken economic machine will be patched up and we shall have a return of prosperity.

"After that, what?

"As industry and commerce are now organized and administered, we shall have another collapse. The machine will break down again, and probably approach something like total wreck.

"This old mechanism was good in its time and, for a period in the middle of the last century, worked almost perfectly from the standpoint of the producers, although not of the consumers.

"Now, even if in perfect repair, it is not adapted to the times.

"A new economic organization is needed to deal with a world that is economically as different from the Victorian age as an airplane is mechanically different from an ox-cart.

"The fundamental difference is the problem of recently past decades has been solved. The emphasis was then on production. . . . Today our problem has long ceased to be one of producing enough. It has become instead one of how to consume what we produce. We do not know how to distribute our wealth and we suffer from the ghastly paradox of many millions of workers in the civilized world without access to the wealth that is piled up beyond all the dreams of the ancient world. . . .

" . . . Something has gone wrong under modern conditions with the whole process of exchange of goods and services. . . .

" . . . Are we to emerge gladly from the present morass, quite content to be engulfed in another one in five or 10 or 20 years? Are we to neglect the obvious weak points in the present order?

"We must find a way to reconcile orderly economic life with our precious individualism or perish. . . . We must find means to distribute more evenly the tickets to possession of wealth. That is to say, the more we produce the more we must place money or credit—purchasing power—in the hands of the masses. . . . Our great corporations must become instrumentalities of moving products from the machines to consumers, instead of mere greedy combatants for money and power, whose unbounded success too often spells the common woe."

I watched the face of the scared conservative beside me as I finished.

"Periodicals carrying that sort of radical stuff in a time like this should be suppressed," he said.

I turned the cover of the magazine towards him. I had been reading a featured article from The Magazine of Wall Street, for Sept. 3, 1932.

SWAPPING HORSES

There is an old adage, "Do not swap horses in the middle of the stream." Good dope unless the horse you happen to be riding refuses to swim, is afraid to stem the current, is a cowardly and balky animal, quite sure to leave his rider at the mercy of the unfamiliar element.

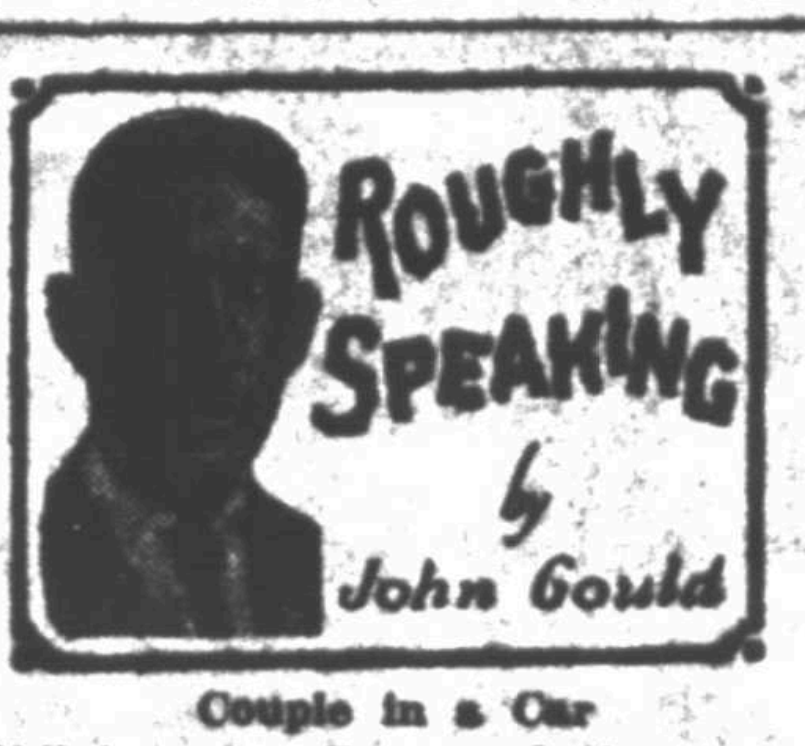
In the present presidential campaign, much is being made of this ancient admonition. Changing presidents is compared to swapping horses in the middle of the river.

In fact, an unreliable horse is a dangerous mount at any time, when attempting to ford a river on his back, especially when a rising flood menaces, means death and destruction for the rider. It is much better to swap to a reliable mount and trust his strength of wind and limb, his good "horse sense" to bring you to the farther shore.—Greenville Sun.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me: thou shalt stretch forth thine hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me.—Psalms 138:7.

He only is exempt from failures who makes no efforts.—Whately.



Couple in a Car

Oblivious to all around them,
Traffic lights and bells forgetting,
And profane persons who confound them,
They just keep right on with their petting.

They do not hear the traffic cop
Whistle, the while his teeth he's gnashing,
They do not see the big truck stopping
Just in time to keep from crash-

The love-light o'er them seems to hover,
Reflected in their smiles seraphic,
And though the whole world loves a lover,
It wishes they'd stay out of traffic.

There's nothing we can do about it if the Germans want to delay paying what they owe, but why do they call it a delay?

Mr Hoover recently told some comedians who visited him that what the country needs is a new joke. Well, nobody has more right than he to be weary of the current one.

But his campaign committee is doing its best to be funny, at that.

The celebration is over, but there are other celebrations in prospect for us to keep in mind. We Democrats are looking forward to a nice one starting about 9 p. m. Nov. 8. There will be one when the Coyotes win the bidistrict championship or something. The opening of the new postoffice should be the occasion for a noble jollification. And of course there must be celebrations when we get soft water and when we get cheaper gas, but the dates of these can't be fixed just yet.

California wets are supporting a senatorial candidate named Tubbs. Maybe they think he is one of the well known Suds Tubbs.

We wrote a piece last Sunday, dealing with the trials and tribulations that the early settlers experienced. Reading it over, we are convinced that it gave the wrong impression. It made it appear that the folks of half a century ago had a much harder time of it than the folks of the present day, and that isn't true. Granted that there were plenty of hardships in the early days, we doubt if the pioneers found life any tougher than does the present generation of folks.

The pioneer housewife, for example, had to put up with a lot of unpleasant things. But what was there in her life to cause her more anguish, more black despair, than is experienced by a present-day housewife when it is time to get supper and she can't find the can opener?

It takes intrepidity and resourcefulness to surmount troubles like that. But the spirit of her pioneer ancestry rallies to the aid of the housewife in such a predicament. She either borrows a can opener from a neighbor or phones her husband to stop on the way home and get some chili. Like their pioneer mothers, the women of today rise above their hardships, crushing though they seem to be.

Oh, the women of the early days had their troubles, true enough. Life was no bed of roses. But what trials did they undergo comparable to that which a 1932 woman faces when she has to get an extra bridge player on short notice with nobody available except Mrs. Whroosis who gets grand slam ideas every time she holds two and a half honor tricks? Talk about anguish!

A pioneer woman might have to interrupt the washing in order to take a pot shot at an Indian who was strolling too close to the house, but she never underwent the awful torture of discovering a hopeless run in her stocking and no chance to mend it. The pioneer women never had runs in her stockings. In the first place she didnt always have stockings and in the second place they didnt develop runs. And if a stocking did develop a run, nobody ever saw it. Those were the days when legs were nobody's business but their owners.

When we intimated, in our article last week, that the modern woman knows naught of soul-searing anguish, we thoughtlessly overlooked many things. Think of the suffering that results from static at the time when one of these crooners is crooning. Pioneer women experienced nothing like that. They never tasted the bitterness that such an experience involves.

The Pioneer Spirit

Did the pioneer woman ever have to change a tire with her best dress on? Did she ever have to change a tire at all? The 1882 housewife may have had to chase a wild-cat out of the chicken house, but she never had to argue with a brush salesman. She had a big advantage there, because you can shoot wild-cats.

It may have tried the soul of the housewife of 1882 to have to subsist for weeks on sow-bosom and black-eyed peas, but she never experienced the heartache that comes of a cook's quitting without notice on the day the boss and his wife are coming for dinner.

When an early settler didn't show up on schedule, his wife could figure that he had been captured by the Indians and at least hope that he would be rescued before he figured too conspicuously in their festivities. But when a modern husband fails to check in, his wife has fears involving his red-headed stenographer and knows there is nothing, under such circumstances that a rescue party can do.

We want to apologize to present-day womanhood for the injustice done last Sunday in intimating that they have a comparatively easy time of it. The pioneer blood in their veins is called upon again and again to sustain them in the troubles we have enumerated and in others not mentioned. Their grandmothers didn't have all of the intrepidity and the dauntless courage.

Senator Norris says this country needs a new deal. If we get one, let's be sure it's not off the bottom of the old deck.

That wealthy Indian who says he wants to spend his money because he can't take it with him when he goes may be crazy, as alleged, but he ain't no fool.

Will Rogers Says Movie Actors Are Like the President, They Want to Hold Their Jobs Just as Long as They Can

By WILL ROGERS

Well, all I know is just what I read in the papers. Now there's not much use writing about Politics, for its just in about the same shape its been in. If things get better Mr. Hoover will be elected, and if it don't, why he won't. So that's all there is to Politics.

One side is in and wants to stay in, the other side is out and wants in, and there is no difference between 'em, they are both good if things are going good, and both terrible if things are bad, so just throw up a coin and go to the Poles.

Well lets see what has been messing around out here. Roosevelt was out to see us, and a pleasant time was had by all, he made a very fine impression. He is a very charming man, we are always lucky with out candidates. All have been splendid fellows. Any of em could have served us well.

I always kinder hate to see an election, for its tough on the defeated ones. There is lots of luck in the whole thing, from the nominating right on down to the finish.

For Six Year Term

I have always maintained that the office of president should be for six years with no re-election. Its not right that a President should have to "Lectineer" and work on his next campaign. Its not fair to him. He is naturally human, and going to use every legitimate means of staying in office, so that takes up too much of his valuable time. He owes the Nation that time, he don't owe it to his political henchmen that want to stay in with him.

This don't apply to Mr. Hoover. It applies to all of 'em. Besides, in six years that gives him time to do something constructive. Suppose Mr. Hoover had two more years now, we wouldnent be doing all this worrying, right when everybody's mind ought to be on how to help out of this, and not "How to get some votes." Then let two new ones fight over it, see which could out promise the other.

Oh yes, then I got another scheme, President retires at half pay for life, that relieves his worrys of a personal financial nature and makes him feel in his old days that his work and devotion to his country was always appreciated. Now these are just a couple of Rogers Bills, course they will never get anywhere but the Sunday Supplement, but I bet you that any ex-President will say the idea is not so cuckoo.

But ideas? Ideas? Schemes? Everybody has some scheme or plan to save somebody or the Country. I am just a-gabbing like the usual soap box guy, always trying to remedy something, and not trying to make out with what we got.

Everybody has got a scheme to set the world back right again. Come to think of it, I can't remember when it ever was right. There has been times when it has been right for you, and you and you, but never all at the same time. The whole thing is a teeter board even when its supposed to be going good. You are going up and somebody is coming down. You can't make a dollar without taking it from somebody. So every time we wish for something for our own personal gain, we are wishing somebody else bad luck, so maby thats why so few of our wishes come to anything.

But all this kind of "Nut" thinking is not by business. Its for some economist, or some fellow that teaches in school, and all that stuff is his "Racket." You know we all got a "Racket" and we shouldent tread over into the other fellows. So I am not going to try and muscle in on some thinker's racket.

Picture Business Picking Up

Our picture business is picking up, that is the studios are making more than at any time in the last few years. We are all making 'em in hopes we strike a good one. Its just like fishing, we never know when the Public is going to bite. With all their unfailing judgement the Public has bit at some bad ones, so we keep on having a supply of them on hand, figuring that ours might be the sucker picture they would go for.

Some of the biggest money makers have been some of the biggest fakes, as far as being real is concerned. But on the other hand the good ones that have done business deserved to do it. The old Public is pretty smart after all. They don't bite at a bad one as often as they do a good one.

But what I am getting at is that these fellows that judge the Public, make and sell the pictures, they must feel pretty certain that there is quite a few more dimes and quarters "Just around the Corner" or they wouldent be putting all these millions into these sliding Chromos. Talking to a fellow that was just over from France, he is a producer over there, he says the Germans are making the best pictures in Europe. The big hits of Paris are some German pictures. England is doing better, Italy not so much, (this is all what he said, not what I said). Russia goes in for sort of "Art" mixed with propaganda. You see art is when you do something just cockeyed from what is the right way to do it, then its art. When you get to monkeying with art, why you just about left commerce behind. You can make a picture that is saturated with "Art" but its liable to not be even "Diluted" with gate receipts. The mob knows that the old cat has kittens and raises 'em in about the same way year after year. Occasionally you will hit an old tabby that wants to be unconventional, but she generally winds up on the same back fence.

But its all I say, they are making more pictures, now who is going to look at 'em I don't know. But I was just telling you, I thought it might make you feel a little better to know that somewhere someplace there was a few more people at work. We are not as high salaried as we were, we are not as cocky as we were, we are not as foolish as we were, but we are happier, saner, (we hope) and willing to take care of your wants in the picture line, and not our preferences. We are just a lot of hired help in a business that strives to please, for we are like the President, we want to stay in office as long as possible.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON.—A hot and bitter battle will be fought here this winter over the demand for cashing of the soldiers' bonus certificates.

On the one side will be the veterans, their organizations now solidly behind the proposal, worked up to a new pitch of grim determination to get the two-billion-and-more dollars.

On the other side will be the most formidable opposition ever encountered by a piece of veterans' legislation.

In between will be congress, ordinarily spineless in the face of veteran demands. No one can tell what conditions will be like next winter or how effectively the pro-bonus and anti-bonus forces will organize in the meantime, but it is a good guess that the veterans will not be able to achieve their demand by persuading both houses to pass the measure over a presidential veto.

The cash bonus bill passed the house at the last session and failed in the senate, so it didn't even reach the White House, where President Hoover stood ready to veto it.

Then the bill didn't have the support of the American Legion, which has not voted overwhelmingly for it. Nor was the distress of unemployed veterans as acute as it may be this winter. That distress has been the main factor behind the increasing pressure to cash certificates which are not payable until 1945.

On the other hand, this congress in its second session will not be facing a season of primary and election campaigns. It will be a lame duck session, full of defeated members who will have, for the time being at least, little to lose by voting their convictions and perhaps something to gain by falling in line behind President Hoover in his opposition.

It is not unlikely that this time the anti-bonus group will be able to exert political pressure of its own. Furthermore, in view of unemployment distress, many members will object more vigorously than ever to voting relief for the veterans at the expense of the rest of the population.

Political interest recently has centered on whether Governor Roosevelt would take any public position on the bonus before election. In advance of any statement by Roosevelt, the best guesses were that he preferred to ignore the issue, although it was believed that he would surely veto such a bill if he were president.

The National Economy league, meanwhile, is getting an increasing amount of publicity and support and it seems likely to be the spearhead of the anti-bonus movement. Founded originally by Archibald Roosevelt and Greenville Clark, two veterans, it has grown rapidly and is established in nearly all states with the aim of obtaining reduction of government expenses.

It announced as its first objective "the elimination of the great annual expenditures, now amounting to more than $450,000,000 annually, for those veterans of the Spanish-American and world wars who suffered no disability in war service."

The league is making the most of the facts and figures of veteran legislation, pointing out that the country has already spent some $5,000,000,000 for world war veterans and at the present rate, which is likely to be stepped up, will have spent more than 21 billions by 1945.

A joint congressional committee has been named to study the whole structure of veteran legislation and will report at the next session. It will be getting busy soon after election.

DAILY HEALTH TALK

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The child who is physically handicapped has to try much harder to accomplish any task than does a normal child. Therefore, there is always danger that such a child will be overfatigued, and it must be carefully guarded against this possibility.

There are so many children who have grades of illness of a mild character, sufficient to constitute a serious handicap but, at the same time, hardly of sufficient severity to incapacitate the child completely.

Children with tuberculosis, with asthma, or with hay fever, and those convalescing from influenza, from pneumonia, or similar conditions have so much difficulty in breathing and in accommodating the activity of the lungs to the demands made on them that they should be given special consideration in play and in school.

The child with a mild defect of the heart may be able to carry on its work about as well as other children and should certainly not be classified as a crippled child, but at the same time it is working under a severe handicap.

Its vitality is likely to be exhausted sooner than is that of the normal child. It is compelled to put forth more energy to accomplish a given result.

The more fatigue the more the possibility of strain on the heart muscle leading to further damage. It must be recognized that the child who has sustained an infection of the heart leading to illness is likely to have repeated infections which come on, sometimes without warning and which invariably leave increased disability.

The child who suffers from any disturbance of its blood may also have to have special attention in school. There is first the group that has hemophilia, an hereditary disease with a tendency to bleed; and, second, the group that has hemorrhagic purpura, which bruises easily and bleeds seriously following any wound.

The child in either one of these classes may be seriously affected by an injury so slight that it hardly disturbs in any way a normal child.

Another disease that is likely to give great concern to the child in school is beginning goiter or hyperthyroidism. Slight enlargement of the thyroid gland is not a disability, except so far as concerns its appearance.

However, hyperthyroidism is associated with rapid pulse, with nervousness and weakness, and such a child ought to have special consideration in any group.

DREAM COMES TRUE

IPSWICH, Mass.—The dream of a passenger in the car Philip Feldman was driving came true—too true. He was dreaming that he and Feldman were in a bad auto crash. The dream was so realistic that, on awakening he grabbed the wheel from the driver, wrenched it to one side and rolled the car off the road. Both occupants were cut and bruised.

CITIZENS' LEAGUE NOT TO INTERFERE WITH MURRAY BILL

Protest Against Initiative Income Tax Measure Dropped

OPPONENTS CONFIDENT OF DEFEAT AT POLLS

Governor Refuses to Comment on Dismissal Of Protest

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray's initiative income tax bill will be voted on Nov. 8, without interference from the Citizens' league, Chairman John Carlock said today.

Carlock, in a statement explaining why protest to the petitions was dropped, said: "The most effective rebuke to such tyrannical effrontery would be another vote of the people such as that by which a similar bill was defeated last December."

The state supreme court yesterday dismissed protest on the petitions and appeal on the ballot title on request of Thomas H. Owen, league attorney. C. W. King, tax commission attorney and who represented Murray at the hearing, protested the dismissal. He said it was dismissed to clear the way for another protest to be filed, which may be done by any taxpayer within five days.

Owen and Carlock gave assurances no further protest would be filed by their organization, that they were ready to "go to bat" on the merits of the bill, confident it would be defeated at the polls.

Funds Exhausted

Carlock said the protest was dismissed because the league was without funds to bring in hundreds of witnesses for a complete investigation, and because "the sponsor of the bill has said he intends to resubmit the bill every six months until by some means or other, its adoption is accomplished."

"If the present political ring headed and dominated by the governor believes that it can override the people's well known desire for economy in government and, by usurping the legislative prerogative, force upon the people increased taxes and governmental costs, the sooner the people be given an opportunity to answer that challenge the better it will be for all concerned," said Carlock.

Governor Murray refused comment on dismissal of the Citizens league protest.

Murray himself can block a vote on the bill in the general election if he desires, attorneys said. Any citizen may file a protest by next Wednesday.

If no protest is filed by then, the attorney general has three days to examine the ballot title, and draft a new one if necessary. Ten days then are allowed for appeal from the ballot title.

If the bill passes that stage without additional protest, it is ready for an election proclamation to be issued by the governor.

JUDGES SELECT WINNERS BIG PLYMOUTH CONTEST TO BE ANNOUNCED LATER

NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Robert "Believe It Or Not" Ripley; Damon Runyon, famous sports writer, and Barney Oldfield, greatest auto racer of all time, met at the Commodore hotel here last week and selected the 1,708 prize winners in the Plymouth Motor corporation's $25,000 contest which closed July 31, it was announced here today.

Prize awards were made on the best 50-or-less-word descriptions of Plymouth's floating power ride, the subject of the contest, which was conducted in more than 1,500 newspapers throughout the United States.

The names of the winners will not be made known, even to the judges, until they are publicly announced, it was stated. When descriptions were received in the specially created contest department at the mammoth Plymouth plant in Detroit, they were assigned numbers and the writers' names were clipped off the contest blanks and filed away. Following selection of the winning descriptions here by the judges the numbers are now being compared with the names on file at the Plymouth plant and the winners' names ascertained.

Announcement of prizes will be made through the press of the United States, it was stated, just as soon as practical after the judges' selections are compiled and arranged according to localities.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

Oct. 2, 1912

One of the largest cattle shipments ever made in this section is now under way at Fulda, on the Wichita Valley, where 8,000 head, mostly three and four years old, are being shipped by W. T. Waggoner to the Charles M. McFarlane ranch near Weatherford. More than 300 cars will be required for the shipment.

The Armies of Greece, Bulgaria, Servia and Montenegro are mobilizing against Turkey, and hostilities may start at any moment. The larger European powers have virtually abandoned their attempts at conciliation.

With sentiment manifesting itself for for and against the commission form of government, in the plans for the special charter, indications are that this question will have to be settled before a charter can be written.

Standing Man Really Sits

BOSTON. (UP)—Though the dispenser behind the counter of one of Boston's orange juice stands appears to be on his feet, he is actually "seated" rather comfortably. A sturdy leather strap, not visible to customers, encircles him and he is able to rest upon it in the fashion of a window washer's safety belt.

Pioneers in First Methodist Wesley Girls Class Honorees At Old Fashioned Luncheon

A pioneer luncheon marking new starting points in the Wesley Girls class of the First Methodist church was an event Saturday at the Woman's Forum clubhouse. The pioneer theme was noted in the crinkly brown paper that made a candy road down the center of the long tables and in the oxen, cow ponies and covered wagons that outlined it. Place cards were clever ranch animals and a great log ranch house marked the center of the speaker's table. On the stage, each end and the background was glorious with green bowls of orchid spikes of Texas wild flowers, drooping Queen's wreath adding brilliance. Longhorn cattle stood guard at each stage end and a large cow pony adorned the table. The fringe of greenery that overhung the footlights was brightened by an enormous basket of sunflowers in the center of the stage. Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, chairman of the program committee for the past year, with Mesdames A. K. Presson, V. R. Smitham, E. B. Lehrack, J. C. Russell and A. E. Kelly were in charge of the arrangements and had charge of the beautiful decorations.

Dr. S. S. McKenney, offered the invocation and Mrs. Wayne Somerville, charming in her orchid pioneer gown, was toastmistress for the day.

Unique Program

Following the greetings from Mrs. Somerville and an announcement by Mrs. Silk of the opening Friday afternoon of the stadium, Mrs. Somerville, carrying the pioneer theme out in the entire program, requested that Mrs. J. E. Hall, a guest, play a few pieces on her fiddle. Mrs. Hall, a violinist of charming ability, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., quite as famous as accompanist, responded with "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Charms," and "Annie Laurie." Both artists wore quaint print dresses in black and white.

In response to Mrs. Somerville's request that she say some recitations, Mrs. Harry Fuller, another guest artist, who was lovely in an old colonial gown with a silken shawl more than 100 years old, recited "When Malindy Sings," by Paul Lawrence Dunbar, with pretty musical interludes, and an elocution "piece" which she said was given by her mother when she was a girl; it was a charming expression of the country father and mother who rebelled at the "irrepressible and ineffable" education of their daughter. Her closing number, touching in every word, was "Me and Pap and Mother."

To the Class

Leading the class in a group of clever toasts to the incoming officers whom the luncheon honored, Mrs. Somerville said in part that there were gathered in the auditorium a bunch of far seeing, God fearing folks who had heard the call to the frontier and who were already firmly fixed in their minds to do a little pioneering.

The spot chosen, she said for that unique prairie call "where seldom is heard a discouraging word, and the skies are not cloudy all day," is named affectionately by old timers the Wesley Girls' class.

"These friends," she stated "are with us today chiefly for the purpose of giving our pioneers a good send off on their perilous adventure. Then she called on Mrs. Stanley Raub, past president, who in a pretty toast described Mrs. Walter Daugherty, the progressive pioneer or the driver who leads the wagon. For this, Mrs. Daugherty, incoming president, was presented with a bright red wagon.

Mrs. J. C. Hanks succeeded herself as second vice president and was toasted by Mrs. C. E. Rhoads as the protective pioneer who planted and watched the wagon; to her, Mrs. Rhoads presented a miniature pot plant.

Prudent Pioneer

Mrs. J. R. Welch presented the new secretary, the prudent pioneer, with a coo coo clock pencil sharpener. Mrs. J. A. Stulken toasted the new treasurer, Mrs. V. R. Smitham as the practical pioneer and presented her with a small tin pan; Mrs. A. K. Presson toasted Mrs. W. O. Russell, the corresponding secretary as the placid pioneer and gave her a big Indian chief scratch pad; Mrs. A. C. Dulaney spoke of the new welfare chairman, Mrs. R. C. Honea as the planting pioneer and presented her with a watering pot.

The toast to the new publicity chairman, Mrs. H. C. Cheshire, dubbed the philosophic pioneer, was given by Mrs. E. F. Easton, who gave her a candle stuck in a gum drop with a life saver for the holder, presumably that she might search for a wise man. Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, retiring program chairman, toasted Mrs. J. R. Burt, the new chairman, as a plutocratic pioneer and presented her with what was supposed to be an antique tray set.

Mrs. Grover Bullington succeeded herself as cradle roll chairman and was toasted by Mrs. W. C. Cole as a patient pioneer and presented with a stork, the speaker telling her it was up to her to get new material.

Fitting Tributes

Mrs. J. E. O'Brien, who succeeded herself, was toasted by Mrs. J. C. Russell as the performing pioneer and was presented with a harmonica. Mrs. Stanley M. Raub toasted Mrs. J. W. Lyle as the praying pioneer and presented her with a notebook.

Mrs. W. W. Silk, who has been teacher of the class for more than 12 years, was toasted by Mrs. Wayne Somerville, who spoke of her as the prophetic pioneer and presented her with a miniature spinning wheel. "In undergoing the hardships of pioneer life," Mrs. Somerville said, "they surely need new garments as the old wear out or are found to be unsuitable to conditions of the open spaces." After a pretty compliment to Mrs. Silk's ability as the class spinner, Mrs. Somerville concluded: "But the thread you spin will be of the finest quality and of the greatest strength and as lovely as the prairie skies; we know the work of your hands."

A group of the incoming officers toasted gave pretty responses and the toastmistress congratulated the retiring officers on the faithfulness and beauty of their work.

Old Songs Close

Mrs. Stanley M. Raub, with Mrs. J. E. O'Brien at the piano, led in a group of tuneful old songs, after which Mrs. Silk gave the benediction.

Covers were laid for Mesdames L.

Original Shower Week-End Party For Miss Hines

Originality in its highest form was shown in the green and amber motif, noting the chosen colors of the bride-elect, when Miss Marjorie Bright entertained Friday morning with a kitchen and bathroom shower honoring Miss Martha Ellen Hines who will become the bride of B. H. Hilburn the evening of Oct. 8, at the First Christian church. A striking comparison was shown in the bride-elect in a green and brown mixed tweed with which she wore a soignee triple fur cape in the latest mode, and the green mop that marked her place.

The long table was spread with green and white checked linen and place cards were cardboard spoons tied with green ribbons in which the guests names were written. A line, hung from one end of the table to the other was hung with colorful wash rags. A miniature Hoover, small spoons, forks, bottles of listerine and tooth brushes and other tiny wares for kitchen and bathroom adorned the wide table, while the center, composed entirely of vegetables, was a real work of art. No flowers could have been made more beautifully toned than the large purple and white cabbages forming the center piece while cauliflower, parsley, radishes, tomatoes, Brussel sprouts, green peppers, red peppers and artichokes were massed around them.

The pretty bride-elect was showered with a number of beautiful gifts and was presented by her hostess with a charmingly unique package.

Covers were laid for a delightful breakfast plate for Miss Martha Ellen Hines, the honoree, Miss Marjorie Bright, the hostess and Mesdames Clarence Beavers Jr., of Olney, A. E. Mount of Ponca City, Edd Gowan, Arnold Cureton, Bill Williams, Harold Naylor, R. E. Hilburn, Harry Hines, J. D. Bright, Robert Roard, Misses Elva Killingsworth, Emily Mitcham, Jane Moore, Joline Woods, Mary Delaney, Camille Avis, Dorothy Lee Taylor, Jessie Lucille Raley, Winzella Witherspoon, Elizabeth Langford, Rose Marion Art, Jeannette Moore and Alva Ruth Walker.

AUSTIN EXECUTIVE BOARD PLANS MEET

Members of the executive board of the Austin Parent-Teacher association met Friday morning at the school to formulate plans for the first meeting of the year to be held Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 3 o'clock.

"Applying the Children's Charter" will be the general subject for the study of the association for the entire year. "The children's charter" is composed of 19 articles, each article explaining a right of the child. At the first meeting the subject will be "The Right of Children to Well-Informed Parents."

H. D. Fillers, school superintendent, as principal speaker, will deliver an interesting address on "Advantages of Parent Education." "The Ideal Parent-Teacher Association" will be the subject discussed by Miss Frances Smith. Mrs. O. F. Bagwell, president of the association for the coming year, will give the president's address. "Greetings" will be given by Mrs. J. R. Jackson Jr., and Mrs. J. R. Kolb will talk on "The Observance of the State Birthday" after which a silver offering will be taken.

After the program refreshments will be served by the hostesses, Mesdames J. T. Watson, R. L. Underwood and R. D. Hipps.

At the board meeting plans were made to offer a prize to the room on each floor of the building having the greatest percentage of mothers present.

Officers for the year are Mrs. O. F. Bagwell, president; Mrs. G. T. Henderson, first vice president; Mrs. Jimmie Mills, second vice president; Mrs. J. W. Fitzpatrick, third vice president; Mrs. C. R. Neal, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Keith, publicity chairman; Mrs. P. L. Fischer, welfare chairman; Mrs. G. W. Burch, health chairman, and Mrs. E. T. Westmoreland and Mrs. E. H. Jackson, representatives to the parent-teacher city council.

Mesdames Jimmie Mills and P. L. Fischer were appointed to fill the places of Mesdames C. A. Vaught and E. H. Ames who have moved out of the city during the summer.

Those present were Mesdames J. R. Kolb, O. F. Bagwell, C. R. Neal, J. W. Fitzpatrick, G. T. Henderson, Ray Keith, O. L. McCormick, G. W. Burch and E. H. Jackson.

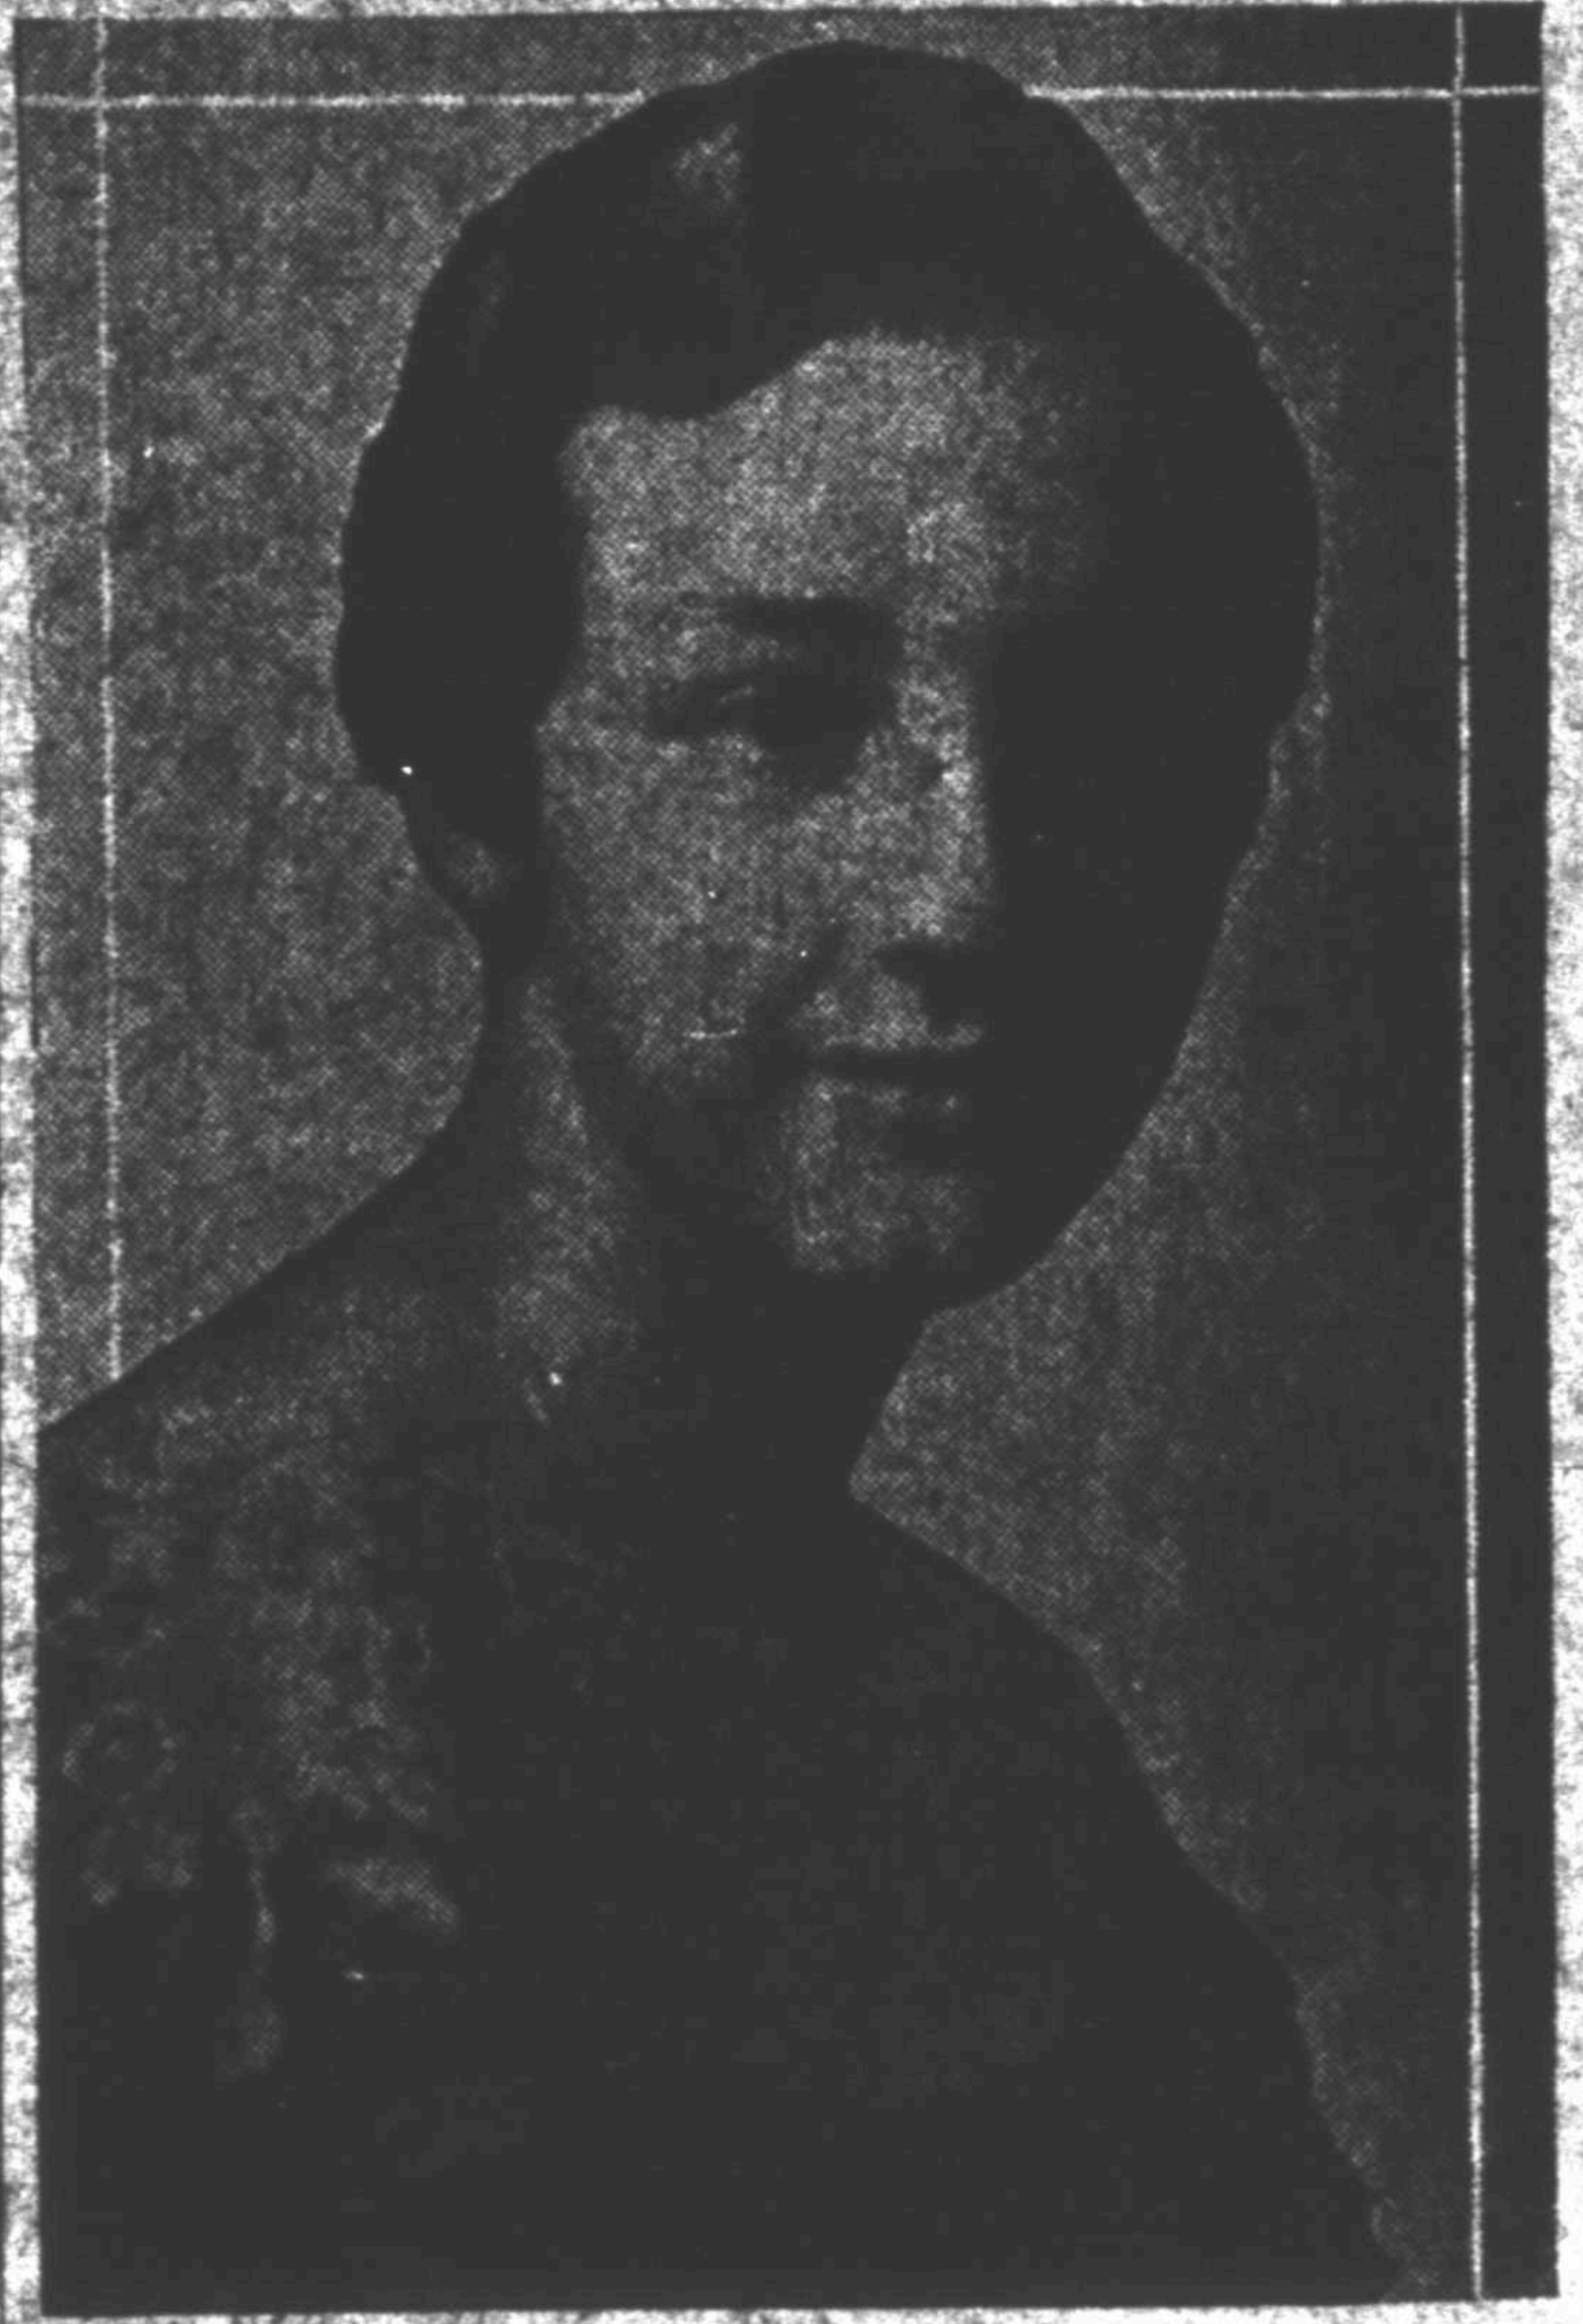
BOWIE P.-T. A. WILL DEVELOP HEALTH THEME

A health theme, which was discussed at the first meeting, will be further developed in the P.-T. A. meeting at Bowie school Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. The P.-T. A. prayer led by the president, Mrs. E. T. Moore, will open the program and will be followed by a group of songs. A report by the health chairman, Mrs. C. W. Kidd, will be made on the number of children who took advantage of the recommendations made by the spring clinic for pre-school age children. A talk on "What Our School Is Doing to Promote Health" will be given by Miss Juanita Bachman. The pupils of the second grade will give a health drill under the direction of their teacher, Miss Hylma Clark.

Commemorating the birthday of the Texas branch of the P.-T. A., which comes this month, Mrs. Leslie E. Hughes will give a short history of that organization, telling its past accomplishments and future aims. There will be a state birthday offering taken. After the business session there will be a social gathering.



MISS LOIS FISK

MISS ELVA REMINGTON

MISS DORIS BROWN

MISS HELEN LOUISE ARNOLD

IN THE PICTURES—Misses Lois Fisk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Fisk; Elva Remington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Remington; Doris Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy J. Brown, and Helen Louise Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Arnold, are among the attractive artists seen in the recent production given at the First Methodist educational building by the Methodist Little Theater Players.

MRS. LITCHFIELD HAS STORY TELLING CLUB

"Children's Day" was the theme of the program of the Alpha Story Telling club when members met in the first program of their autumn season Friday, at the home of Mrs. Charles Litchfield. Mrs. T. E. Durrett was leader and roll call was answered with a humorous collection of children's jokes.

The program was delightfully carried out. Mrs. Durrett, leader, gave a splendid talk on "The Development of a Four Square Child." Mrs. J. N. Sherrill's topic was "One Little Three-Year-Old," and Mrs. R. G. Cocanower gave "The Doll's House." In the absence of Mrs. Daugherty, Mrs. G. Engel gave the beautiful "God Gave Me a Son."

In a short business meeting, the resignation of Mrs. A. L. Williams was regretfully accepted.

The refreshment plate noted the theme of the day, with plate favors that would delight the hearts of both grown folks and the little ones. It was served by the hostess Mrs. Litchfield, to Mesdames P. B. Curd, R. G. Cocanower, Charles Crowell, W. C. Duncan, T. E. Durrett, Ted Harris, L. E. McConnell, J. E. Montgomery, W. A. Scarborough, J. N. Sherrill, E. J. Tschabold, G. Engel, Billie and Charles Litchfield and Miss Flo McLaughlin.

D. O. D. CLASS MEETS FOR ALL-DAY QUILTING

Members of the D. O. D. Sunday school class of the Grant Street Methodist church met at the tabernacle Friday for an all-day quilting. An old-fashioned dinner was served at the noon hour, and afterwards, ice cream was sent over by Judge O. L. Gibbs.

Mrs. O. M. Simpson presided at a short business session when it was decided to begin a membership contest Sunday with Mesdames Ed Smith and Charles Martin, captain of sides.

Those present were Mesdames Zack Waddill, H. A. Baker, H. C. Gill, Grady Fletcher, Louise Oatman, Walter House, O. M. Simpson, O. L. Gibbs, Ruth Weichel, Rilla Bancroft and Simms.

Peggy Piedmont Says

THE golden jubilee celebration is over. The old-fashioned frocks of 50 years ago have been laid aside, along with the picturesque cowboy hats and Indian costumes, and once again we Wichitans come down to earth ready to resume the duties at hand. All feeling greatly rejuvenated after the three days of fun, frolic and the delightful programs of interesting and entertaining events.

SEVERAL reading clubs have opened their study courses for the fall and winter with enjoyable seated teas, notable among which was the Standard club members who were hostesses to their "daughter" organization, the 1922 Study group, at the home of Mrs. R. A. Lincoln Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Lincoln's spacious, lovely home is particularly fitted for affairs of this kind, and furnished an ideal setting for the Texas day program presented by the mother club.

◆ ◆ ◆

AND then the next club to open the past week was the 1930 Study club, an organization composed of young matrons. The event was in the nature of an informal seated tea at the home of Mrs. W. Ray Thompson, the out-going vice president, when she and Mrs. E. D. Malone, the retiring president, entertained the group, honoring the in-coming president, Mrs. Fay C. Hardeman and Mrs. R. K. Pond, the vice president. The women were especially invited to hear a most instructive and charming lecture on Mexico, given by Mrs. H. T. Gilbert, an instructor of Spanish in the Junior college, who spends three months each summer in Mexico City, where she attends the University of Mexico, goes sightseeing and purchases articles of interest used in Mexican life.

◆ ◆ ◆

THURSDAY, the first day following the golden jubilee celebration, the various preschool study clubs also opened their year's work with business and social meetings, and with Mrs. G. R. Tillman, hostess at her home on Hayes street, the University Women's group met and planned for their first objective, the presentation of Dr. C. W. Stevenson in a lecture at the Wichita club. This will be an open meeting, and friends of the group will be invited to hear the talk. The exact date for the lecture will be announced later.

◆ ◆ ◆

AND then another preschool organization meeting last Thursday morning was the study group chairmen of the City Parent-Teacher association. With Mrs. Harry J. Strief in charge of the meeting, schools from all over the city were represented and suggestions for study given. Outlines on parenthood appearing in the Child Welfare magazine, the national organ for P.-T. A. work and other articles pertaining to child welfare as contained in leaflets from Washington, POISE AND SPEECH WILL BE TAUGHT AT Y. W. C. A.

A new manner of beautifying is being sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., according to an announcement made by Miss Erma Schnelle, secretary. A class in correct poise and better speech will be held each Wednesady evening at 7 o'clock with Miss Marguerite Fisher as instructor.

It is especially emphasized that correct poise is as necessary in social activities as in any stage work and dramatic training. Business girls will find real poise and better speech particularly beneficial in their work. These classes are to develop ease and poise both socially and in business situations.

Miss Fisher is planning the classes in strict adherence to the correct outline of harmonic progress which is used in regular training for dramatic classes. The principal features are correct standing, correct holding of the head, correct walking, correct sitting and the correct use of one's hands.

Voice tone and voice modulation are essential to culture the refinement and lessons will be given in perfect enunciation, correct pronunciation and in all sorts of voice exercises.

In addition there will be exercises for reducing and strengthening inactive muscles.

The public is invited by the Y. W. C. A. to join these classes; a nominal fee will be charged.

SAM HOUSTON BOYS' CLUB ORGANIZED

Organization of the Sam Houston Boys club was perfected Friday with high hopes for the work to be done. Miss Agnes Morton and Miss Carrie Smith were named sponsors.

Lee Elmer Gray was elected president; James Zachary, vice president, and Wayne Stevens, secretary.

The program for the afternoon was given as follows: "The Purpose of the Boys Club," Miss Morton; harmonica solo, Dean Morgan; roping tricks, Arthur Barnes; reading, Frank Ficklin; violin duet, John Hallford and Overton Truett; reading, W. A. Buchanan.

Opening Forum Season Promises Treat To General Public And Special Features for Members

Coming events cast their shadows before and probably nothing in the cultural line is casting so pleasurable a shadow as the opening of the general forum and of the writers department of the Woman's Forum, which will occur in the first week of October. Forum members, friends of the forum and all women who are interested, are invited to attend the opening tea Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30, the only meeting which will be open to the public (at least that portion of the public who are Wichitans), until spring.

Miss Winnie Mae Crawford of the department of speech, C. I. A., Denton, who is to be sent by courtesy of the extension department of the college, will furnish the major part of the program in her reading of A. A. Milne's latest play "Michael and Mary," as whimsical and beautiful as any of the author's work. Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis will sing one number, "A Birthday" by Woodman, with Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff accompanying, and the forum personnel, knowing the supreme artistry of these two musicians, look forward to the number. Mrs. Otis Nelson is the charming chairman of program.

Greetings will be extended by the gracious president, Mrs. Guy Rogers, who will formally take her place as the new presiding officer.

Chairman for Day

Mrs. W. W. Fraser has been named chairman of arrangements and a pretty autumn motif will be featured in the decorations. Her committee includes Mesdames B. L. Fain, M. T. Chamberlin, R. O. Harvey, C. N. Alexander and Bernard Martin.

The tea table will be the piece de resistance of the dining room with silver and crystal and autumn flowers making it a thing of beauty and with beautifully gowned hostesses pouring tea while quite as lovely women assist them.

Writers Department

Honoring the out-of-town writers of first district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, especially winners in contests of last year, the writers department of the forum will re-assemble Thursday at 12 o'clock for the initial luncheon of the season. Luncheon will be served promptly at that hour.

Directly following the luncheon, those who have been seated at the table will take part in a new feature that will be held at each meeting of the year. An impromptu humorous contest will be featured on some assigned subject. The winner, voted by acclamation, will be the guest of the department for that day.

The writers department has made another change for the year. Many women find it unable to attend the 12 o'clock luncheon. They are invited to attend the program which will begin promptly after the humorous contest.

Mrs. Dickerson Leads

The program for the first meeting is in charge of Mrs. L. E. Dickerson of Henrietta, Texas, who will present the chairman of Texas writers, Mrs. David Warren, and her winner in the short story contest of 1931, Mrs. Bob Moore of Decatur. Mrs. Moore will read her story.

Mrs. J. Truman Stevens of Wichita Falls, sponsor of the poetry contest will next be presented by Mrs. Dickerson, and Mrs. Stevens will introduce winners of last year, Mesdames Stallings, Humphrey, Noble Gray and Miss Dorothy Gray, who will entertain the audience.

Mrs. F. O. Moore, presented as chairman of drama will introduce one of her winners with a new one-act play.

Officers of the department will act as hostesses for this occasion and as the program is to stress local talents and decorations, all members who have jubilee costumes are requested to wear them in honor of the visitors.

Appropriate table decorations are under the jurisdiction of Mesdames J. L. Elkin, P. L. Myers and J. F. Bailey. Out of town members and visitors may make reservations up to Wednesday evening with Mrs. J. E. H. Railey, 1923 Eighth street, phone 6727 and local reservations are to be made with Mrs. Carl Yeager, phone 2-2798 or Mrs. G. D. Fox, 2-1076.

LAMAR BAPTIST W. M. U. WILL MEET FOR DAY

Members of the Lamar Baptist Woman's Missionary Union will meet at the church Monday for an all-day session. The program for the morning session on the theme, "Enemies of the Cross of Christ" will be given by members of circle four and members of circle five will be hostesses at luncheon.

A business meeting in the afternoon will be followed by a Royal Service.

All young people's organizations will meet at the church at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Plans Outlined For Annual Forum Fall Flower Show

At a meeting of the Woman's Forum executive board and officers of the Garden club held at the clubhouse Friday morning, tentative plans were made for the annual flower show to be held early in November. Mrs. Peyton Gwynn, garden club chairman, was named general chairman of the show, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, co-chairman.

It was decided to feature the Spanish idea in all the arrangements, and to call the show by the Spanish name, "Fiesta de Flores." A new addition to the exhibits, which is expected to prove exceptionally attractive, will be the decorated pushcarts laden with flowers, fruits and vegetables.

Each department of the forum, according to the former customs, will be in charge of various features of the fiesta. The Junior Forum will have charge of the lunches when Spanish menus will be served; the music and drama departments will have charge of the evening programs; the civic, health and home, the cakes, pies and candies; the literature department will conduct a book stall, and other attractions will be assigned the remaining forum groups.

The displays will be open to any one wishing to enter flowers regardless of whether they are forum members or not, with emphasis placed on the observation of rules for entries which will be printed later. Mrs. Frank Timberlake will be in charge of the entries, and those desiring additional information along these lines may obtain it from her, it is announced.

The Junior Garden clubs of the schools will take part in the show, and prominent guests expected to attend are Mrs. Trigg, State Garden club president, and Mrs. Scruggs of Dallas.

Mrs. W. B. Hamilton will be chairman of hostesses, and other chairmen include Mrs. Frank Timberlake, exhibit; Mrs. W. N. Maer, publicity; Mrs. W. P. Killingsworth, tickets; Mrs. C. E. McCutchen, push-carts; Mrs. F. L. Randel, arrangements; Mrs. J. A. Kemp Jr., chatterboxes; Mrs. J. J. Perkins, potted plants and ferns; Mrs. Q. B. Lee, fish and birds; Mrs. Rhea Howard, perennials and annuals; Mrs. M. T. Chamberlain, miniature flower vases, and Mrs. Luther Wright, out-of-town exhibits.

BAPTIST W. M. S. HAS INSTALLATION OFFICERS

Officers for the coming year were installed at an impressive ceremonial Friday afternoon when members of the Highland Heights Baptist Woman's Missionary society met at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. J. I. Gregory on Cumberland street. Beautiful decorations of cut flowers were used, and an unusually attractive program, including readings by Dorothy Janeway, LaVerne Goode and Mrs. E. M. Agee. A miniature bunch of flowers in the colors of the society, was presented by Mrs. E. L. Horner, the new president, to each out-going officer.

A social hour followed, when refreshments were served to Rev. and Mrs. Gregory, Mesdames E. L. Horner, C. A. Bivens, R. L. Goode, F. M. Tidwell, C. W. Parham, H. M. Hines, H. G. Keener, J. B. Wilson, M. B. Patton, J. L. Bogue, V. L. Leach, Betty Johnson, Ed Ward, E. C. Hallford, C. A. Hicks, W. B. Gregg, Roy Edgmon, G. C. Culp, E. M. Agee, E. L. Lee, J. C. Mitchell, John Kelly, Nettie Norwood, J. J. Warren, J. S. Clayton and Misses Dorothea M. Cox, LaVerne Goode and Dorothy Janeway.

CHORAL CLUB WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Members of the Woman's Choral club will hold their first meeting of the new season at the home of the president, Mrs. J. H. Allison on Hayes street Wednesday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock. The meeting will be in the nature of a social affair when the souvenir boxes presented the members by Mrs. Allison at the spring luncheon will be opened. The board of directors is asked to meet at 9:30 for important business.

DIVISION FOUR MEETS FOR INDIAN PROGRAM

Mrs. R. A. Lincoln was hostess to division four of the Highland Heights Christian Woman's council at her home on Harriet boulevard Thursday afternoon with Mrs. C. J. Hunter, the leader, presiding. After a delicious luncheon was served, an instructive program was given on the Indian.

Mrs. J. L. Downing gave the impressive devotionals on the topic, "Appeal to the Great Spirit," after which Mrs. D. Dellis gave "Footprints Along the Trail." Slips entitled "Do You Know That?" were distributed and read by members present, and Mrs. L. D. Parnell gave the hidden answers. After a beautiful Indian legend, given by Mrs. H. T. Wood, the meeting was closed with prayer.

JOHN L. KELLER WEDS MISS IDA LLOYD FELTS

Wichita Falls' friends of John L. Keller of Los Angeles, Calif., will be interested in the announcement of his marriage to Miss Ida Lloyd Felts in that city which took place Sept. 17. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Keller of 1603 Twenty-second street, and was a former high school and Junior college student here.

The couple are at home at 648 South Burnside street, Los Angeles.

Wichita County Council P.-T. A. Wild Hold First Conference of Year With Electra Unit Hostesses

Programs have been prepared and plans perfected for the first meeting of Wichita County Council Parent-Teacher association which is announced to take place at Electra on Thursday, Oct. 6. This is the first of the three conferences held during the year by the council in various parts of the county. Units in membership include Burkburnett, Cashion, Clara, City View, Electra, Fowlkes Station, Fairview, Iowa Park, Deep Creek, Rocky Point, Valley View, Friberg, Pleasant Valley, Weeth, Allendale, Cobb, Sunshine. County Line, Barwise community, Prairie Cottage, Enterprise and Howard.

Representatives and visitors from each of these groups are especially invited to be in attendance at the Thursday meeting which will be in the nature of a one-day convention with lunch served at noon by Electra, the hostess association.

The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. H. R. Cloughley of Wichita Falls, president, while Mrs. Hudson Meador of Burkburnett will preside over the excellent program which has been planned by the committee.

Board of Managers

Officers who compose the board of managers for the current year are Mrs. H. R. Cloughley, Mrs. J. R. Ramsey, Mrs. Hudson Meador, Mrs. John C. Murphree, district vice president and extension chairman; Mrs. B. M. Hutchins, education; Mrs. B. L. Turner, recreation; Mrs. J. H. Emmert, study circles; Mrs. C. E. Russell, publications; Mrs. A. J. Ford, standard associations; Mrs. R. R. Brubaker, historian; Mrs. John M. Fox, publicity; J. A. Hood, legislation; Mrs. J. Z. Steinkoenig, health; Mrs. Gail Mitchell, Mrs. W. B. January, Mrs. C. E. Birkhead, advisory committee; Mrs. T. M. Clark, secretary; Mrs. Jack Hamer, treasurer.

Each of these officers will conduct a short school of instruction on the particular branch of the work headed by each chairman at the first meeting and the council recommends that any member desiring specific information on any branch of the work be present to receive it so that organized work in each unit may move forward during the year.

The theme of the conference for the initial meeting will be "Health" and with this in mind the program features an address by Dr. M. A. Beckman, county health physician. Dr. Beckman will speak on "Cooperation of Parent-Teacher Associations With County Health Agencies."

Five-Point Project

Mrs. Steinkoenig, health chairman, is hoping to get the five-point project launched successfully in the very beginning of the school year, and in this connection wishes to meet the health chairman of each association so that the work can be started. This health project was begun last year and made excellent headway in the county.

Units which are planning to take advantage of the 10 minutes of time allotted for each parent-teacher association at the Iowa Park County fair on the night of Oct. 13, which is especially designated as "parent-teacher night" are advised to report by Oct. 5 to Mrs. B. L. Turner of Iowa Park. The name of the entertainment and participants in it are particularly desired by the above date by Mrs. Turner, the council recreation chairman.

The program follows:

9:00—Registration for attendance banner.
9:30—Devotional—Rev. Clark Russell.
Music from national song sheet.
Welcome—Dr. Dinsmore, Electra.
Response—Mrs. Gail Mitchell.
9:40—Business.

ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS ENTERTAIN

About 300 were entertained by Panhandle lodge 340 and Rebekah lodge 236 at the Odd Fellows hall Friday night at the first meeting opening activities for the fall and winter. A beautiful setting was arranged with flowers and ferns, and the get-to-gether party proved an outstanding event for Wichita Falls Odd Fellowship.

An entertaining program of music and other numbers was given, in which each one taking part proved to be an artist of much ability. The numbers were given hearty applause.

Music was given by Mrs. L. B. Hodge, Mrs. Short, Misses Ferris Brown and Madge Caldwell, Jack Avis, Mrs. D. Dellis, Earl Perkins and the Waldren orchestra. Misses Annabel Harrell and Doris Corder gave readings; Anna Marie Menke gave a specialty dance accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hodge; a modern cake walk with Mrs. D. Dellis at the piano furnished much amusement, and bridge and 42 was played and dancing enjoyed.

Hosts and hostesses for the evening included Messrs. and Mesdames J. T. James, P. F. Davis, Albert Ayers, Guy McNeely, Bert Smith, C. B. McConnell, Edd Trevathan, L. V. Abernathy, toastmaster, and Mrs. P. F. Davis, assistant.

Alamo P.-T. A. Will Meet at School Friday

An interesting year of Parent-Teacher work has been planned by the Alamo association with Mrs. W. C. Hamilton, president. The first meeting will be held Friday afternoon at the school at 3 o'clock and following the business session and program, a social hour and reception will be held in honor of the teachers. The program for the first meeting will include a message from the president; introduction of the faculty by J. E. Park, the principal, and talk on "What Makes a Successful P.-T. A.," by Mrs. H. J. Strief.

For November, an interesting program on "Parent Education" is announced, and during December, Mrs. C. H. Reid will tell the association a beautiful Christmas story and music will be furnished by the Alamo Mother Singers. During January, the children of the school will give a pageant on "Thrift" and in February Mrs. C. C. Jones of Electra, a former Wichita Falls resident and past president of the Alamo unit, will talk on "Pertinent Points for Parents."

The March meeting will honor the fathers in the community with a special program when Dr. C. A. Spragins, presiding elder of Methodist churches, and John Gould, editorial writer on The Wichita Daily Times, will be the speakers, and in April the national health week will be observed with Dr. George T. Singleton, speaker.

The last meeting will be in the month of May and at this time new officers will be installed for the coming year and a musical program given.

The Alamo P.-T. A. will sponsor a study club with Mrs. Clifford Deaton leader, and the executive board is anxious for the unit to try and attain the standard of excellence.

The health project for the year will be the five-point child, and Mrs. C. E. Stirman, health chairman, has all information for those who desire it, on this project.

INSTALLED WORTHY ADVISOR

MISS LOUISE BRACKETT
youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brackett, was installed worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow Girls Assembly No. 17 at the Masonic temple Friday night. She was also awarded the grand cross of colors, the highest honor conferred on any Rainbow Girl.

Huey P.-T. A. Has First Regular Autumn Meeting

To "get acquainted" was the object of the first regular meeting of the Huey Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon at the school, when a large and enthusiastic audience heard the program, in charge of Mrs. C. C. Piper. "What I Expect of My School" was treated in an interesting manner by Mrs. John Hays and Mrs. Reba Lindsey, a teacher in the school, responded with "What I Expect of the Parent." She asked, first, for sympathy and understanding (a teacher is only human), that parents visit the school and know the teacher and the child's attitude toward his work. "The formation of the right health habits before the child enters school, seeing that home work is done, that the child has access to suitable literature and 's attend P.-T. A." were given as other expectations.

Rev. W. D. Craig, pastor of the Scotland Methodist church, gave the devotional and used as his theme, "Get Acquainted." He emphasized the importance of teachers and parents knowing each other. Owen Blankenship read a poem, "Friendliness," by Edgar A. Guest and Mrs. Eugene Wilson, president, outlined her plans for the year. She introduced the officers, and Mr. McNeil, principal, who in turn, introduced the teachers.

During the business session, it was voted to purchase bats and balls for the play ground. A committee, composed of Mr. McNiel, Mrs. John Harrington and Mrs. R. W. Thompson, was appointed to obtain prices of the electric bell system for the school. It was voted to entertain the teachers Friday night, Oct. 7 and to contribute a sum to the endowment fund pledge of the city council P.-T. A.

Mrs. A. G. Duncan, mother singer director, announced a meeting at her home Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. This group will participate, with other mother singers of the city, in a program on P.-T. A. night at the Iowa Park fair, Oct. 12.

Mrs. W. L. Goodson, study club chairman, invited all mothers to join the club on child study and announced a meeting for the first Wednesday afternoon in October. The Child Welfare magazine will be used as the basic text and lectures and papers will be added, she further stated.

Mrs. W. L. Garner, health chairman, outlined plans for the October check-up and urged mothers to begin work on "five point" children at once. Other standing committee chairmen gave plans for their work and 28 new members were reported. Year books and attendance cards were issued as the dues were paid.

The room count was taken and Miss Margaret Lewis' low fifth grade won the book for the room library. A social hour followed the program and punch and wafers were served to 80 parents and teachers.

MR. AND MRS. ROUSH GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY

Members of the women's auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, surprised Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Roush Friday evening at their home observing their 25th wedding anniversary. Bridge and bunco was played, and after a delightful refreshment plate, old-fashioned square dancing was enjoyed. The group presented Mr. and Mrs. Roush with a lovely silver pitcher.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Roush and son, W. P. Wiest, George Taack, Jim Morgan, Charles Mayes, J. W. McCloud and Mesdames E. L. Mattoon, Fern Williams, Ben Long and daughters, Tom Goen, Clark, Estes and son, Scott and daughter, Ollie Plummer and daughter, R. L. Shields and daughter, Jim Vallee and daughter, Allie Hampton and E. R. Lofton.

Cast of Exceptional Ability Will Present Camp Fire Play

Preparations are going forward at a rapid rate for the musical comedy, "Oh, Professor," which will be presented under the auspices of the loacl Camp Fire executive board at the Memorial auditorium Thursday night, under the direction of Miss Emily Neville of the Wayne P. Sewell Producing company of Atlanta, Ga. A few changes have been made in the cast since it was first announced and includes Thurxton Fox in the part of Dave Davis instead of in Chink, the Chinaman; Joe Warran as the Chinaman.

Miss Rose Marian Art is cast as Helen Bainbridge, guest for the Clinton college prom, who arrives masqueraded as a Spanish dancer, and the other leading lady, Wilhelmenia Davis, also a visitor for the prom, is played by Miss Margaret Bone, popular young vocalist. Playing opposite the young ladies as Steve Crandall and Bob Davis, college boys, are Jack Chedester Chambers and Fred Sehmann Jr., both well known in local dramatic circles. Mr. Sehmann is a member of the Junior College Blue Curtain club.

The comedy lines go to Mrs. Fred Sharpe, remembered for her hilarious performances of "Malissie" over KGKO, and to Mr. Ferrell of local Little Theater fame. In "Oh Professor" Mrs. Sharpe is cast as Mrs. Bumboard, keeper of the college dormitory, who is very much in love with the near-sighted professor, portrayed by Mrs. H. H. Ferrell. Charlise Vaughan takes the role of Avonellie, mischievous little daughter of Mrs. Bumboard.

A. F. Edwards who has appeared in local Little-Theater productions, is the policeman.

A group of children from the Knickerbocker studio will be presented as well as choruses of high school girls who sing and dance "the whoopie." They include:

Chorus Girls—Margaret Hutchinson, Jane Reppy, Mary Margaret Hinds, Thelma Simmons, Mary Elizabeth Largin, Ruth Gercker, Lucile Graham, Lady Fritz, Melba Ruth Baumgardner, Ruth Pruitt, Frances Robinson, Loudell Bridges, Fredna Hight, Evelyn Townsend, Winnie Beth Beaty, Jeanette Walker, Lois Fisk, Anita Clark, Jean Hunter, La Rue Simmons, Mildred Johnson, Ruth Tucker, Janelle Eichelberger, Grace Warman, Alice Marrs, Charlotte Lewis, Margaret Carter, Charlotte Maer.

College Boys—Joe Naylor, J. Paul Lynn, L. A. Dickerson.

JUNIOR CIRCLE TO HAVE PICTURES MADE

Members of the Junior Woodmen circle met in an interesting session at the K. of P. hall Friday afternoon with Mrs. Bertha Bailey, junior superintendent, in charge. In the business session plans were made to have pictures made of the girls on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 2, at the Kemp public library at 3 o'clock, and it is requested that those taking part in the golden jubilee parade, wear their costumes. Others will wear their regular dress. The picture is for the national magazine, and the girls are asked to call Mrs. Bailey at 6228 about the arrangements.

INSTRUCTIONS for making the 1932-33 parent-teacher publicity record books have been sent out by Mrs. J. M. Crain of Claude, Texas, state publicity director, and are given for the guidance of publicity chairmen who compile these books. Mrs. Crain advises that these rules be read carefully that the books may conform to national standards. Hoping they will be of benefit to those who are making these books, I will pass them on as follows:

"All clippings should be neatly cut and pasted. Clippings should be marked with the name of the periodical, the month, the day and the year. If notation is made on clipping, use pencil; if on page, use ink. Clippings should be arranged in chronological order. If the book has sections for different subjects, chronological order should be observed in each section. If possible have the announcements of meetings followed by writeups of the meetings.

◆ ◆ ◆

"LEGITIMATE Material—The publicity record book should contain only material showing association activities that have been given publicity. This material consists of both "inside" publicity and "outside" publicity. Inside publicity is information for the members of the association. It includes association programs, folders, posters, notices of meetings, or any unique ideas carried out by the association as a whole, or by any of its committees if the publicity committee has cooperated in its preparation or distribution. When using any of this material, follow with definite notes about publicity given.

◆ ◆ ◆

"OUTSIDE publicity is publicity from and concerning the association. It includes announcements of meetings, with writeups of same, which have appeared in newspapers, school or church papers, educational journals, state bulletins, or other periodicals. Outside publicity may also be had through posters displayed in public places, placards in windows and on automobiles, handbills, or radio talks. If radio talks are used, notation must be made of the date given and station used, but it is not necessary that the entire talk shall have been published.

◆ ◆ ◆

"GOOD announcements should carry a strong attendance-urge. These announcements should give the main feature of the meeting—who and what—the exact time, date and place, and any additional features which have been planned and which may serve as added inducements to the reader to attend.

◆ ◆ ◆

"GOOD writeups have a good story in the lead—that is, in the first sentence or paragraph—followed by other interesting facts in order of their importance. If the article is to interest the reader, then it must at sight interest the editor.

◆ ◆ ◆

"COMMITTEE activities should be given all possible publicity. The real work of a parent-teacher association is done by the various committees. Stories of these activities help produce a proper appreciation of the value of the parent-teacher movement. For example: A story of the work of the summer roundup committee may have much more news value than an account of a meeting. Pictures which have had publicity may be used. These give life to the book."

◆ ◆ ◆

AND since starting to write my letter, lots of information has come in about the annual Woman's Forum flower show to be given as soon as the chrysanthemums are in bloom which is expected to be early in November. Mrs. W. N. Maer, publicity chairman, says that it will be a Spanish event, carrying out the theme of the country in decorations, push carts filled with flowers and vegetables, Spanish costumes and settings.

◆ ◆ ◆

THE idea is derived from gorgeous flower shows that have been seen in other large cities, and suggestions given the New York Times in reporting an Italian flower show held in New York City, will be used.

Mrs. Maer predicts that the show this fall will be the most colorful and beautiful of any yet sponsored by the forum and Garden club. But with so many interesting things to write about, I could go on and on indefinitely, but fearing that you are tired of reading by now, will hasten to sign myself,

The Story of Sue

Is There Another Girl? Sue Worriedly Wonders

"He's always been nice," Grace answered Sarah's query concerning Rodney Clark. "You saw me at lunch with him, didn't you? He wanted to talk over some business."

"Of course he did," Sarah answered. "That's the way it always starts. He has a perfectly nice office with a glass-topped desk that is supposed to hold charts and blueprints, and I've heard the chairs are deep and comfortable in the office. You work in the same group of offices. But it was so much more convenient to go a mile or so away for lunch—"

Grace was smiling. Sarah's voice had gone on, talking lightly, lilting as it went.

"He calls you often, doesn't he?" Sarah insisted.

"And if he does?"

"Oh, nothing, but he's interested."

"So was Jimmy," Grace answered, the green eyes growing darker. "He couldn't see me often enough . . . he couldn't do enough things for me . . . and now . . . Well, love never lasts. Silly people sometimes think it does. Oh, I beg your pardon, Sarah. And yours, Sue. There are exceptions. I didn't find one, that's all. I know what will happen. If I try to forget Jimmy by seeing too much of somebody else—say Rodney Clark, for instance—since he put in the first appearance, I suppose that that anchor will go, too, just when I'm banking on it. I'm going to play a lone hand now."

Sarah was still smiling. "Why should it?"

"Oh, I know what you are going to say—that of course men are ever so much more eager while they are on your trail—that after they know you are appreciating their good points it isn't necessary to keep up the high state of anxiety—that they may be just as interested and much more comfortable about it—that any man would get tired of a girl who went right on being too ignoring—I know—but Jimmy had the symptoms, too—and see what happened!"

"But Ted isn't worried about me either and I'm so sure of him that I would be no more surprised if the Rock of Gibraltar decided to vacate its site than I would be if he changed!"

"Don't trust too far. You are likely to get hurt," Grace answered. "I'm all right now. It's fun to be cynical. To see what you can do to make people squirm—to let some other people be the worms on pins! I'm playing from the outside from now on. But Sue, what's the matter? You look as though Lady MacBeth's ghost paid you a visit an hour ago? Jack cross or something?"

"Horribly. And also gone." Sue said it briefly. Why not, she asked? Why try to keep her illusions when it would be simpler to be rid of them now and forever?

"Why?" Grace asked.

"Because I made some useless remark about another woman."

Grace didn't answer. Sarah shook her head. "A bad move, Sue. It's sure-fire stuff when you let them think that you know they are worth the second glance in some other woman's eyes. They love it! The supporting cast does things to a man's vanity."

"Contradicting yourself a little, aren't you?" Grace asked her.

Next: Sue goes home.

Doctor Earns Two Cents

BATH, Maine. (UP)—Dr. Horace F. Holton, vacationing here, was asked to preach at a little church at Alna, the collection to be donated to him to cover expenses. He made the 18-mile trip by automobile. When the plate was passed there was $2.67 donated. His expenses were $2.65, making a net profit of two cents.

Rainbow Girls Install Officers And Give Degrees

Members of Rainbow Assembly for Girls held their public installation of officers in the blue room at the Masonic temple with Mrs. Katherine Hearn, retiring worthy advisor acting as installing officer. Miss Mildred Burge was installing marshal; Mrs. T. S. Thomas Jr., installing chaplain, and Mrs. A. A. Brackett, installing musician.

Miss Louise Brackett was installed worthy advisor; Miss Daisy Coombs, worthy associate advisor; Misses Berniece Trevathan, charity; Pauline Sloan, hope; Ollie Mae Sikes, faith; Gwendolyn South, drill leader; sister of love, Freda Show; Irene Baker, religion; Eugenia Jackson, nature; Mary Elizabeth Largin, immortality; Dorris Mitchell, fidelity; Thelma Simmons, patriotism; Nina B. Price, service; Evelyn Marquande, observer, and Marie Dollard, musician.

The majority service degree was conferred on three past members of the assembly which was the first ones to receive such a degree from this group. Mrs. Lois Brackett Thomas, Mrs. Dora Jane Hearn Underwood, and Mrs. Juanita Owens Broyles were each presented a diploma for services done in the assembly.

The highest honor that any Rainbow Girl may receive, and comes from the founder of Rainbow Girls, Mark Sexson, was bestowed upon Miss Louise Brackett, and Mrs. Birdie Zadik, past mother advisor of Rainbow for Girls assembly No. 17.

Ray Kenney, junior past worthy patron of the Order of the Eastern Star, chapter 237, was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Dora Jane Underwood, was grand marshall; Miss Pauline Sloan, grand sister of truth; Miss Berniece Trevathan, grand sister of vision; Miss Daisy Coombs, grand sister of victory; Miss Katherine Hearn, grand chaplin, and Miss Gwendolyn South, grand keeper of the door.

The program was concluded with the benediction by the Rev. H. C. Hoesch, after which refreshments were served to 50 guests.

BANK ROBBERY SUSPECT SURRENDERS IN MUSKOGEE

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 1. (UP)—Van Ratliff, Cookson hills outlaw suspect, was under arrest today as a suspect in the Bixby bank robbery.

He surrendered to officers late yesterday at the courtroom here. Sheriff V. S. Cannon said Ratliff was not wanted in connection with the Braggs mountain slaying of Mrs. Susie Sharp and the resulting posse hunt in which three outlaws and three officers were killed.

HOLDENVILLE FARMER SEEKS REHEARING CASE PROTESTING HIGHWAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (UP)—N. V. Bilby, Holdenville farmer, today petitioned the supreme court for a rehearing of his suit regarding right of way for a Hughes county-state highway decided against him several weeks ago.

Bilby objected to the highway crossing his land, and alleged the road was for the private benefit for the city of Holdenville and not for the general public.

The petition asserted that the court had overlooked a question decisive of the cause, that Bilby's district court cross petition "alleged bad faith, oppression and fraud and offered proof thereof."

RESTORING the SKIN to whiteness

AN INDISPENSABLE preparation for lightening the skin is Anti-Brown Spot Ointment. Before applying the ointment, cleanse and tone the skin according to directions I have given you in earlier lessons.

Next coat the skin with a protective layer of Orange Skin Food. Then, using the fingers, smooth the Anti-Brown Spot Ointment over the area to be bleached, keeping well away from the eyes and lips. Almost immediately you will feel a prickling sensation indicating the activity of the preparation. Leave the ointment on from three to five minutes, depending on the sensitiveness of the skin. Remove with liberal applications of Muscle Oil.

Another treatment which I have prepared for home use is my Venetian Masque, which brings up the blood to purify the skin and lighten it. It is an excellent year-round treatment for keeping the skin clear and fine-textured.

For an intensive bleaching treatment you should also use one of my special bleaching preparations nightly. Venetian Bleaching Cream is a mild preparation which should be smoothed well into the skin after it has been cleansed at night, and left on. A stronger preparation is Ardena Bleach Cream. Do not rub this into the skin, but smooth it lightly over spots and dark places.

WALKER HEADS FOR HOMELAND

Former Mayor to Hurry Back on Europa

By THOMAS B. MORGAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 1.—James J. Walker, fearing that delay in returning to New York threatened his political future, quit the new Italian liner Rex today to speed to France to catch the S. S. Europa.

Walker left Gibraltar for France, via Malaga at 2:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m., eastern standard time) but his hopes for reaching New York by Thursday, when the Democrats are expected to nominate a mayoralty candidate, were definitely blasted. However, the former mayor was eager to reach home at the earliest possible date. The Europa is due there Saturday.

The fate of Walker's political life may be decided in New York in the next week, it was believed. With a favorable court decision ordering election of a new mayor in November, the hopes of Walker for "vindication" at the polls in New York were greatly increased this week but the former mayor still faces the prospect of a higher court overruling him. A fight for support of the Democratic organization in his home city also impends.

Cause of Jealousy

BERLIN.—If your wife or sweetheart is jealous of you, it's probably because she has too much iodine in her blood. Scientists here have come to that conclusion after determining that the blood of a jealous woman often contains 100 per cent more iodine than that of a woman who isn't inclined toward jealousy.

Gem Will Feature Warner Baxter In 'Man About Town'

Warner Baxter, whose latest picture, "Man About Town," comes to the Gem theater Sunday and Monday, is one actor who has never been "typed." His film activities have been wide in scope. He has played a series of roles of diversified stamp since he hit the top through his performance in "In Old Arizona."

They range from the serious professional man in "Doctors' Wives" to the suave prisoner of war in "Surrender" and from the kindly benefactor in "Daddy Long Legs" to the swaggering legionnaire in "Renegades."

"In "Man About Town" Baxter enacts the role of a gambler, joins the department of justice and distinguishes himself by getting his man. It is a highly dramatic story, depicting the unusual friendship of two men who become enemies when they fall in love with one woman. Circumstance brings them together again and the climax finds them united in an effort to save the woman who has become involved in the shooting of a man who turns out to have been an international spy.

Karen Morley, who scored successes in "Arsene Lupin," "Scarface" and other films, portrays the leading feminine role and others in the cast are Conway Tearle, Lilian Bond, Alan Mowbray, Lawrence Grant, Leni Stengel and Halliwell Hobbes.

Fredric March and Norma Shearer in "Smilin' Through," featured at the Majestic theater for Sunday and Monday.

Norma Shearer in 'Smilin' Through' 'Night of June 13th' at Majestic; 'Heritage of the Desert' at State

Beautiful Norma Shearer's latest photoplay, "Smilin' Through," now playing at the Majestic theater, presents the unique phenomena of a star being supported by four other stars. Appearing with Miss Shearer in Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer's talking picture version of the renowned Jane Cowl stage success are Fredric March, Leslie Howard, O. B. Heggie and Ralph Forbes, all of whom are stars in their own right. Both on the stage and screen the members of this quartet have individually headed the list of dramatic casts. Collectively they comprise the most brilliant supporting cast with which any star has been surrounded.

"Smilin' Through" marks Fredric March's first appearance with Norma Shearer. He was borrowed from Paramount for this picture in return for the loan of Clark Gable.

Norma Shearer in this picture turns away from the sophistication of her past roles. In her dual characters of Moonyeen and Kathleen she attains an ethereal charm as the one and touches new dramatic heights as the other. In going back to pure romance she brings freshness, and the mellow tenderness that arises from the revisiting of memorable places. It is the Norma Shearer of old in a refreshened mood, and the result is delightful.

To complete your entertainment, Majestic presents "You're Telling Me," Boy Friend comedy; Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Mad Dog," and Majestic talking news.

"Night of June 13th"

"Night of June 13th," which opens at the Majestic Tuesday to continue through Thursday is one of the most unusual pictures of the season. The attraction is now playing in New York and the critics are raving about it being one of the big pictures of the season.

Irene Thirer of the Daily News has the following statement about the picture: "'Night of June 13th' possesses ingredients which can not help but make for four-star filmery. A rare concoction of charm, homeliness, pathos, suspense, humor, drama and a touch of tragedy. Brilliantly played, magnificently directed. It moved the audience so that there was a house full of handclaps when the curtain closed on the final fadeout. Most unusual for main-stem movie-goers."

The cast of this thrilling attraction includes Clive Brook, Frances Dee, Lila Lee, Charlie Ruggles, and Gene Raymond.

In conjunction the following Majestic featurets will be presented. Charlie Chase in the latest in comedy, "In Walked Charlie"; novelty scenic reel, and Majestic talking news.

"HERITAGE OF THE DESERT" AT STATE THEATER SUNDAY

During the current week the State theater will bring to Wichita Falls three outstanding pictures of the new season's product, contrasting both in story and action.

The first of these three pictures, which opens a three-day engagement Sunday will be Zane Grey's "Heritage of the Desert," featuring Randolph Scott, new Paramount western star; Sally Blane, J. Farrell McDonald and Guinn Williams. Considered by many of Grey's admirers as his greatest novel, "Heritage of the Desert" is brought to the screen for the first time. The screen version, following closely the original story, tells of a young surveyor summoned to a western ranch to check its boundaries, arrives there in the midst of a ranchers' feud, and so distinguishes himself that he wins a permanent place in the hearts of the ranchmen, and probably of more importance a place in the heart of a girl.

"Night World"

Wednesday comes "Night World" featuring Lew Ayres, Mae Clarke and Boris Karloff. Seen together for the first time since their successful portrayal in "The Impatient Maiden," Ayres and Clarke reveal a story hailed as an intimate expose of New York's newest racket, little known, but rapidly gaining its place in the larger cities. The colorful story concerns a single night's events in an elaborate Broadway night club, where a young millionaire, embittered by family tragedy, goes to seek solace in drink. The chorus girl who becomes friendly with him and attempts to restore his faith in humanity, finds herself embroiled in the bitter underworld affairs of the club's proprietor and his associates, this time being women instead of men.

"Night World" will play Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, changing on Saturday to Tom Mix in "Rider of Death Valley," which will play only one day at regular Saturday prices.

'GOLDEN DRAGON' NIGHT CLUB NOW AT LAKESIDE PARK

Filling a need that has long existed in climaxing night time social engagements in Wichita Falls, the Golden Dragon night club has been opened at Lakeside park. The Golden Dragon is designed on a scale comparable to similar pleasure spots in metropolitan centers and offers every feature associated with night club entertainment.

The night club has been opened on the first floor of the pavilion on the banks of Lake Wichita and is designed with an Oriental setting that offers a new world of pleasure to the group or couple desiring new activity to close a night of entertainment.

Immediately after stepping into the door of the club room the guest is struck by the atmosphere of something different in Wichita Falls. The management of the new enterprise caters only to high class patrons and is offering an amusement center with quality floor shows, music and foods.

An aromatic air adds to the delusion when the patron is seated at one of the comfortable green tables that calls to mind the lavish settings of marble castles built in lakes for the nightlong parties of the court of the Great Kahn as related by Marco Polo in his memoirs of Cathay.

Door panels throughout the building carry out the Chinese theme with typical Oriental scenes designed by Jimmie Evans. The art work goes far in developing the air of the night club, harmonizing with lattice wall coverings. The high point of the decorations is found in a heavy tapestry depicting two Chinese dragons about to strike in battle. The tapestry is heavily inlaid with the fiery serpents tensed for action, their eyes glittering, under a baby spotlight.

Accommodates 150

The Golden Dragon has accommodations for 150 people and in launching its program in sunrise parties during the golden jubilee, more than 200 people were turned away from the door. The night club is in charge of B. D. Caffey, a veteran manager of late-night entertainment, who has resided here 12 years. He is associated with W. E. Mahanay, a veteran cafe manager of 15 years residence in Wichita Falls. Mr. Caffey may be reached in obtaining night club reservations at telephones 4601 in the daytime and 2-0228 at the club at night.

The club operates from 9:30 o'clock at night to 2 o'clock the following morning on Saturday, Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday nights. The floor show program offers Maurice Wray, torch singer; Leo Hertzog, a veteran dancer in novelty numbers and Betty Love, direct from the Hollywood club in specialty numbers. Buddy Pearson's 11-piece orchestra offers the musical background for the program. The myriad Chinese lantern lights, revolving crystal dome lights, numerous vari-colored lighting schemes are controlled from the orchestra pit.

The Dragon menu offers numerous selections of sandwiches, special Chinese dishes, chicken dinners at probably the most reasonable tariff of any similar institution in the southwest. Cold drinks are available in connection with the regular cafe service.

A hot-air heating system to maintain an even temperature in the club room during cool weather has been installed. Six young ladies attired in Dragon uniforms of Chinese trousers and attractive jackets serve the tables placed conveniently about the dance floor. The uniforms are in a black and gold color scheme.

An employe of the club remains on duty on the large parking grounds in the park to watch cars of patrons. The parking grounds also are lighted.

False Alarm

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—An attendant watering the lawn in front of the Salt Lake Country club noticed a light flashing on the clubhouse porch. Sensing a thief with a searchlight, he called police. A squad of officers found, on arriving, that the light came from a pipe and cigar smoked by two members on the porch.

Department Commander of Texas Spanish War Veterans to Speak Here Thursday Night Before Joint Meeting

Lieut. Col. A. A. King, U. S. A. retired, department commander of the United Spanish War Veterans for the state of Texas, will speak at a meeting of the Spanish War Veterans and their friends at the veteran's headquarters in the Memorial auditorium Thursday night, Oct. 6, at 7:30 o'clock. A large attendance of Spanish War Veterans from Wichita Falls and adjacent territory is expected. Members of the American Legion and other veterans' organizations have been given a cordial invitation to be present.

This is Lieutenant Colonel King's first visit to Wichita Falls since his election as state commander of the Spanish War Veterans last June at the state encampment at Sweetwater. The meeting is expected to be of considerable importance in view of a bitter controversy under way at this time on the matter of pensions for Spanish War Veterans between the veterans and leaders of what is known as the National Economy league. Department Commander King, it is stated in veteran circles, will probably loose some heavy verbal artillery and will have a message of interest for all veterans.

Meeting with the veterans will be members of the woman's auxiliary of the Spanish War Veterans. Mrs. Helena Trieller of Dallas, state president of the auxiliary, will be present and address the meeting.

A reception committee composed of L. D. Woodyard, commander of the local David C. McCaleb camp and other officers, Past Department Commanders W. R. Duke and W. S. Langford; Louis H. Gould, J. H. Terrell, W. L. Dalton; Mrs. R. W. Oakey, president of the local auxiliary and others will meet Lieutenant Colonel King and Mrs. Trieller on their arrival in Wichita Falls and will entertain them prior to the meeting at the Memorial auditorium.

Lieutenant Colonel King is one of the veterans of the U. S. cavalry. He enlisted in 1896 and served until retired Oct. 31, 1931. He lives at El Paso.

DR. BRINKLEY'S CASE ORDERED TRANSFERRED TO DEL RIO FOR TRIAL

DALLAS, Oct. 1. (UP)—Trial of Dr. John R. Brinkley, Milford, Kan., to revoke his license to practice in Texas on the grounds of alleged unethical practices, was ordered transferred from Dallas county courts to Del Rio, Texas, today in a ruling of Chief Justice Ben L. Jones of the fifth court of civil appeals.

The Kansas physician sought transfer of the trial on the grounds the defendant is a property owner in that county and should be tried at a place where he maintains interests.

TWO AMERICAN ARTISTS FOUND DEAD IN STUDIO WITH WRISTS SLASHED

PARIS, Oct. 1. (UP)—In a shabby and barren studio in Paris' famous Latin quarter, police today found the bodies of two Americans who had exhausted their funds in a grim struggle for recognition in the art world.

The two men, who had slashed their wrists and lay down to die while their blood ran into a tub of water, were John Henry Mathews of New Jersey, and George Louis Denevers of Chicago.

The artists left a suicide note saying they were unable to meet their debts.

Varsity News

AUSTIN, Oct. 1.—The recently-issued T. U. rating of scholastic averages for campus sororities and fraternities placed Alpha Epsilon Phi and Beta Theta Phi in the lead. Runner-up positions for the sororities were held by Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Chi Omega, while Phi Sigma Delta and Alpha Tau Omega pressed for fraternity honors. Grades averaged were from last semester's work. No sororities and five fraternities fell below the university average. The highest fraternity average was below that of the leading sorority.

Miss Helen Cline of Wichita Falls, inter-group manager of U. T. women's intramural sports, will assist with plans for the convention of the women's National Intramural Sports association to meet in Austin April 18-20.

Fifty-three of the University of Texas professors have been listed in the 1932-33 edition of "Who's Who in America."

Two Wichitans, Walter Fowler and Sidney Covington, are practicing with the Longhorn band, having made application for positions with the organization.

Students from Wichita Falls who spent part of last week-end out of Austin included Miss Mizelle Hodge, who visited with relatives and friends in Belton, and Walter Cline Jr., who made a trip to San Antonio.

Listed among the successful tryouts for the university men's glee club were J. B. Flynn, first bass, and Springer Williams, second bass.

Among the 17 new members elected to the U. T. Cowboys at their meeting Monday night was Glenn Street of Graham.

Hal McCuistion of Valley View has been pledged by the Delta Sigma Phi chapter.

Plans are being formulated by the ex-student's association in preparation for the '33 round-up, which will have as its theme attractions suitable for the observance of the university's 50th anniversary. Although the round-up takes place next spring, former students are being enlisted to stimulate interest in the activities.

HOOVER PLEDGES PARTY TO SUPPORT OF NEGRO CAUSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Standing before a group of more than 150 negroes gathered from a score of states, President Hoover today told them "you may be assured that our party will not abandon or depart from its traditional duty toward the American negro."

In response to several brief speeches by the negro representatives, gathered as a joint national planning committee to get out the negro vote, Mr. Hoover added:

"I shall sustain this pledge given in the first instance by the immortal Lincoln and transmitted by him to those who followed as a sacred trust.

"The right of liberty, justice and equal oportunity is yours."

The chief executive was interrupted by applause several times.

He stood bareheaded on a curving flight of steps leading down from the south portico of the White House, while his visitors formed a semicircle around him.

One after another, the chosen spokesmen of the negro group stepped forward to deliver their words to the president.

Roscoe Conklin Simmons of Chicago, who seconded President Hoover's renomination at the Chicago convention, was the principal spokesman.

"We have been told, Mr. President," Simmons said, "that our party has deserted the old faith. We are tongue cursed by a thoughtless few because we hold that although Abraham Lincoln is dead he still lives.

"Some few have gone so far as to say that you do not believe in human equality. We protested and arose to seek you. We are here to repledge our fealty . . .

"Speak, Mr. President, speak and say that there is no higher faith than eternal liberty. Dispatch us back to our people, Mr. President, with words and solemn phrases that will stir them."

BIDS WILL BE OPENED OKLAHOMA REFORMATORY AT EL RENO OCTOBER 19

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (UP)—Bids on revised specifications for the federal industrial reformatory at El Reno, Okla., will be opened here on Oct. 19, the justice department said today.

Altered plans adopted by the prison bureau will cut the total cost of the institution almost in half, or to approximately $1,000,000. The reformatory had an original planned capacity of 1,200. The contemplated institution will provide quarters for only about 900 inmates, officials said.

Officials here believe the change in specifications will give small construction firms operating in Oklahoma a better chance to compete with larger companies in bidding for construction of the reformatory.

New plans call for construction of the reformatory in the shape of a triangle instead of a circle.

TWENTY-FOUR LOCATIONS MADE IN DISTRICT DURING WEEK

Completion Several New Producers And Other Tests Near Interesting Depths Feature Oil News Past Week

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Activities throughout the Wichita Falls district in the past week continued ahead in the usual manner despite the three-day jubilation in Wichita Falls.

Twenty-four new sites were staked out, Wichita, Young, Jack, Archer and other fields sharing in the attention of the operators. Several good producers were completed, in addition to the usual crop of dry holes.

In Montague county another nice well was added to the number of producers in the Nocona pool by the completion of the Bridwell Oil company's No. 2 Gist, making 175 to 200 barrels from the usual pay in that pool.

Archer operations for the week showed the completion of several nice wells, two being in the saturated limes northwest of Anarene and others in the new Tedford pool in the southeast part of the county. In addition to these developments, one or two wildcats shared the week's interest.

Young county's contribution to the week's happenings was the completion of some producers and the making of a bunch of new locations. North of Olney the Hunter Oil corporation finished its No. 5 Bloodworth, rated at 100 barrels from the 1060-foot sand. Southwest of True the Texas company's No. 1 Keith in block 262, T. E. L. survey, is reported flowing five barrels per hour from the sand at 724-28 feet.

In the southern portion of the county around Graham, five deep tests are drilling in various stages of completion, and some interesting happenings are looked for within a short time.

Development in Jack, Wilbarger, Clay and Wichita counties consisted of the drilling of a number of tests in the productive areas. In Wichita county the Deep Oil Development's No. 1 First National tract, north of the K. M. A. pool, is nearing the interesting depth and during the next week its progress will be watched keenly.

Pipe line runs from the district averaged 48,437 barrels daily, a drop of 46 barrels as compared with the run in the week ended Saturday, Sept. 24, which was 48,483 barrels.

SOONER FIELDS COULD DOUBLE LEGAL AMOUNT

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 1.—Although Oklahoma's daily output of crude oil is restricted to 397,715 barrels a day, that being the volume the refiners and pipe lines are willing to take, the Sooner state is capable of producing twice that amount, and the new Wentz pool near Perry, in southwestern Noble county, is expected to materially swell the potential of the state.

The opening of the Wentz pool by L. H. Wentz, well known Oklahoma oil operator, who has just won a legal victory over Gov. W. H. Murray, who tried to remove him from membership on the Oklahoma state highway commission, convinces Oklahoma oil men that a major pool exists in the Perry area, which may embrace corners of Logan and Garfield counties.

While the Wentz and associates well, No. 1 Wolf-Community, in the center of the southeast of the northwest of 17-20-2w, first attracted widespread attention on Labor day when it found gas in the Simpson, it was not until a week ago that it really began to look like an oil well when it found the first Wilcox sand for 1,800 feet of oil, which during the four-day shutdown increased to 3,800 feet. This was from 5126 to 5178 feet. That accumulation was swabbed out, making 180 barrels of oil and drilling resumed and the second Wilcox picked up at 5195 to 5197 feet and it made a spectacular flow over the top of the 122-foot steel derrick. The flows were not continuous, however, and as the gas and oil accumulated and then headed up, making hourly flows and doing 1,870 barrels the first 24 hours. Operators having only 3,000 barrels of storage up at the wildcat, they decided to pinch its flow to 50 barrels a day, the official allowable for new wildcats until more tankage was arranged and a pipe line connection provided.

Outlet Essential

Several pipe lines are near and an outlet must be secured before the hole is deepened. Representatives of the owners are confident that it will make 5,000 barrels a day, or better, and an agent of a firm owning a block to the southeast of the new well, predicts a 10,000-barrel well when the hole reaches 5230 feet.

The strike has excited Perry folks, who have had many oil flurries in the past, but the one today seems the most stable and certain of continuance.

Community blocks appear to be very popular among Oklahoma oil firms and a number are drilling over the state, any one of which could also open a new pool. One of these is that of E. L. Jillson and associates at No. 1 Starr-Community, in the southeast corner of the northwest of 18-15-8e, in the west edge of the Depew pool of Creek county.

Although planned to test all sands, it has found but a few shows and is now in the Mississippi lime at 3515 feet and with the Wilcox sand near. The test is one and one-half miles south of the town of Depew, named for the late C. M. Depew, statesman, and a mile west of the Depew pool which was drilled from 1922 to 1924 and produced approximately 14,000,000 barrels from the Wilcox sand at 3750 to 3850 feet.

There are several Wilcox sand dry holes surrounding section 18, with one to nearly every corner of the section or a diagonal half mile from the test. In spite of that fact the subsurface geology on the Wilcox as mapped by C. G. Carlson, consulting geologist of Tulsa, and formerly chief geologist of the Peerless Oil Producing company, shows the present test well to be properly located structurally. It is also understood that this area has been covered by seismograph and passed on as favorable.

The Jillson test is unique in some respects, particularly in that virtually a 100 per cent agreement was made by owners of leases in the area, and a 100 per cent acceptance of the community plan was received from land, or royalty owners.

Oil companies who threw in their acreage are Stanolind Oil and Gas company, and which will operate the unit if a well is found; Amerada Petroleum corporation, Sinclair Prairie Oil company, Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation, T. K. Simmons, Jas. L. Grizzard, Peerless Oil Producing company, and Jillson who is contractor. Harry P. Stine is assisting Jillson in drilling the well.

400 Acres Unitized

A summary of the test shows the 400 acres of oil and gas leases unitized through assembly of seven separate leases with five original ownerships and divided into eight present or interchanged ownerships. The 400 acres of royalty represents three allotments, with all of the Starr family represented—Lewis, Lizzie and Nellie Starr. Exactly 700 signatures were required before the royalty phase of the unitized deal could be finished and the Five Civilized Tribes officials assisted Jillson a great deal to complete the task.

A union of the old Pearson Switch pool of 7-3 area, of Pottawatomie county, and which was drilled before the Greater Seminole field came into being, and the Asher-Wanette pool in 6-3, may be brought about by the A. D. Spears and associates No. 1 James, in the southeast corner of the northeast of 2-6-3e, which was spudded in last week.

While the Asher-Wanette, Hunton lime, Simpson sand and the Wilcox sands are to be tested, Spears is hopeful of finding a commercial well in the sand that is usually found just above or just below the Belle City lime at around 2600 feet.

Although not a community deal, the Spears and others test has the support of a number of large operators in the Seminole district, notably Gypsy Oil company, The Texas company, Deep Rock Oil corporation and so on. Dr. W. E. Grisso and W. F. Armstrong, pioneer business men of Seminole, are financing the actual drilling which is being done by Tibbets & Bonds, contractors.

Due north of the test on its state school land leases in 36-7-3, the Magnolia Petroleum company has four wells it drilled some years ago and which are still producing. A producing well in the Spears test would cause the drilling of one or more tests in 1-6-3e.

The open talk of a possible crude oil price cut had the direct effect of weakening further the mid-continent gasoline market and the end of the week found U. S. motor grades soft while natural gasolines were strong and in big demand.

The Red Ball Refining company, a Texas corporation recently organized for the purpose of constructing and operating a refinery near Pampa, in Gray county, northwest Texas, has started work on its plant. Capital of the company is reported to be $20,000 and is said to be owned individually by the Danciger brothers of Fort Worth, Tulsa and California.

PIPE LINE RUNS SHOW SLIGHT LOSS FOR WEEK

Crude oil movements from the nine pools of the Wichita Falls district for the week ended Saturday, Oct. 1, maintained an average daily of 48,437 barrels, a decrease of 46 barrels per day compared with the week ended Sept. 24.

Four pools of the North Texas division averaged 5,519 barrels daily, a loss of 198 barrels per day under the previous seven-day run. Following is the run by pools:

GRADY WILDCAT PUMPING TEST IN SPOTLIGHT

Will Soon Know Whether Well Has Opened New Production Area

STEPHENS COUNTY GETS NEW PRODUCER IN WEEK

Pace Well Extends Watkins Estate Field Near Comanche Southwest

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 1.—Outcome of the English Drilling company, No. 1 Heenan and Coe, in the NE SE NE of 32-3n-7w, a wildcat that apparently has opened a new pool along the Stephens-Grady county line, two miles north of the city of Marlow, continued to be the most important item in the oil development of southern Oklahoma at the close of the week.

The wildcat is being rigged to pump. It made 37½ barrels of oil on a recent eight-hour swabbing test and is estimated good for around 75 barrels on the pump, since operators have been swabbing for two weeks. The pumping test is expected to determine whether any further development is to be expected in the area soon.

A water shortage continues to delay work in Stephens county. Two operations in southern Jefferson county are shut down for lack of water.

Stephens county got one new producer, two dry holes and three locations during the week, leaving 10 active operations, with several shut down.

George L. Pace extended production on the southwest edge of his Watkins estate field, a mile east of Comanche, with his No. 2 Bunch, in the SW SE NW SE of 21-2s-7w, estimated good for 125 barrels a day on the pump. The well swabbed 60 barrels in six hours. Sand is from 1713 to 1719 feet.

Derrick was skidded 300 feet south for the No. 2 Caldwell.

The California Producers corporation made location and was drilling with machine at 200 feet in the No. 1 Garrett, in the SE NE SE of 11-3s-6w, southeast of Comanche. The same company made location and completed pits for the No. 1 Sitton, in the NE SE SW of 12-3s-6w.

Pace Abandons Wildcat

A. A. Beard was shut down at 331 feet in the No. 1 Florence, in the NW NW NW SE of 11-3s-6w.

Pace abandoned his No. 1 Butler, in the SE NW SE of 35-2s-7w, a wildcat three miles east and two south of Comanche, as a dry hole at 1955 feet.

The McKeon & Dungee, No. 1 Toney, in the SW SE SW of 15-2s-7w, wildcat north of the Watkins field, is a location.

Lesh Brothers abandoned their No. 1-A Parker, in the SE NE SE of 5-1s-5w, a wildcat 12 miles east of Duncan, at 400 feet after getting a show of oil in sand from 380 to 400 feet.

J. C. Chambers and associates were shut down for cement to harden to test oil sand from 2106 to 2111 feet in the No. 1 J. H. Dolen, in the SW NW NW of 15-1s-8w, near old production four miles west and a mile and a half south of Duncan.

Carl Wilie and associates are rigged up for their test in the SW SE NW SW of 15-1s-8w, but are shut down for water.

Louis Sikes is rigged up and shut down for water at his No. 3 Furst, in the NW SW SE NW of 16-1s-8w.

The Curtis Oil company was rigging up for the No. 5 Dare, in the NE NE NE SE of 2-2s-8w.

The P. L. Gilbert, No. 4 Green, in the NW NE SE NE of 2-2s-8w, is rigged up and shut down.

Pace was building derrick for the No. 3 Branch, in the NE SW SW SE of 1-2s-8w.

Shut Down at 1300

H. J. Brown was shut down at 1300 feet in the No. 1 Donham, in the NW SE NE of 11-2s-8w.

Ed Chamberlain and associates were drilling out plugs to complete their No. 1 Parker, in the NE NE SE SE of 11-2s-8w, as a gas well again in sand from 1467 to 1491 feet, and were to skid derrick 50 feet southwest for a twin to test an oil sand at 1764 feet.

The English Drilling company, No. 1 Nigh, in the SE NE NE SW of 11-2s-8w, is a rig and shut down.

Mrs. Julia A. Linson was drilling at 1860 feet in the No. 1 Doss, in the NW NW SW SW of 4-2s-8w, on the south edge of the old Empire field.

Pace was drilling at 1486 feet in the No. 5 Allen, in the NE NE NE of 3-2s-8w.

E. D. Gillette and associates cemented surface casing in their No. 1 Cooley, in the NW NW SE NW of 17-2s-8w, a scheduled deep wildcat test three miles south of Empire City.

Harry Ables was drilling at 868 feet in the No. 5 Akers, in the center of the NE NW of 11-1n-5w, in the Kilgore field northeast of Duncan.

Joe Ray was running 4-inch liner and bailing out cavings to test oil sand from 2809 to 2820 feet in the No. 1 Johnson, in the SE NE NW of 6-3n-5w, a wildcat northwest of the Carter-Knox field of southern Grady county.

Donald Brothers were drilling at 1810 feet in the No. 1 Wilson, in the NW NW NW of 6-2s-9w, just east of the Walters field of Cotton county.

To Test Oil Sands

A. E. Trowbridge and associates were preparing to bail to test oil sands between 1980 and 2043 feet in the No. 1 Price, in the center of the north line of the SW NE NE of 30-2n-9w, in the old Hanbury district of eastern Comanche county.

Petroleum Operators, Inc., was shut down at 205 feet in the No. 2 Allen, in the center of the west half of the southwest of 24-2n-10w, in the same district. Their No. 1 Swanson, in the SE NE SE NW of 24-2n-10w, is a location.

Paul Robb and associates were coring at 2246 feet in oil sand topped at 2238 feet in the No. 3 Burton, in the NW SW NE of 31-1s-2w, in the southeast extension of the Tatums field of Carter county.

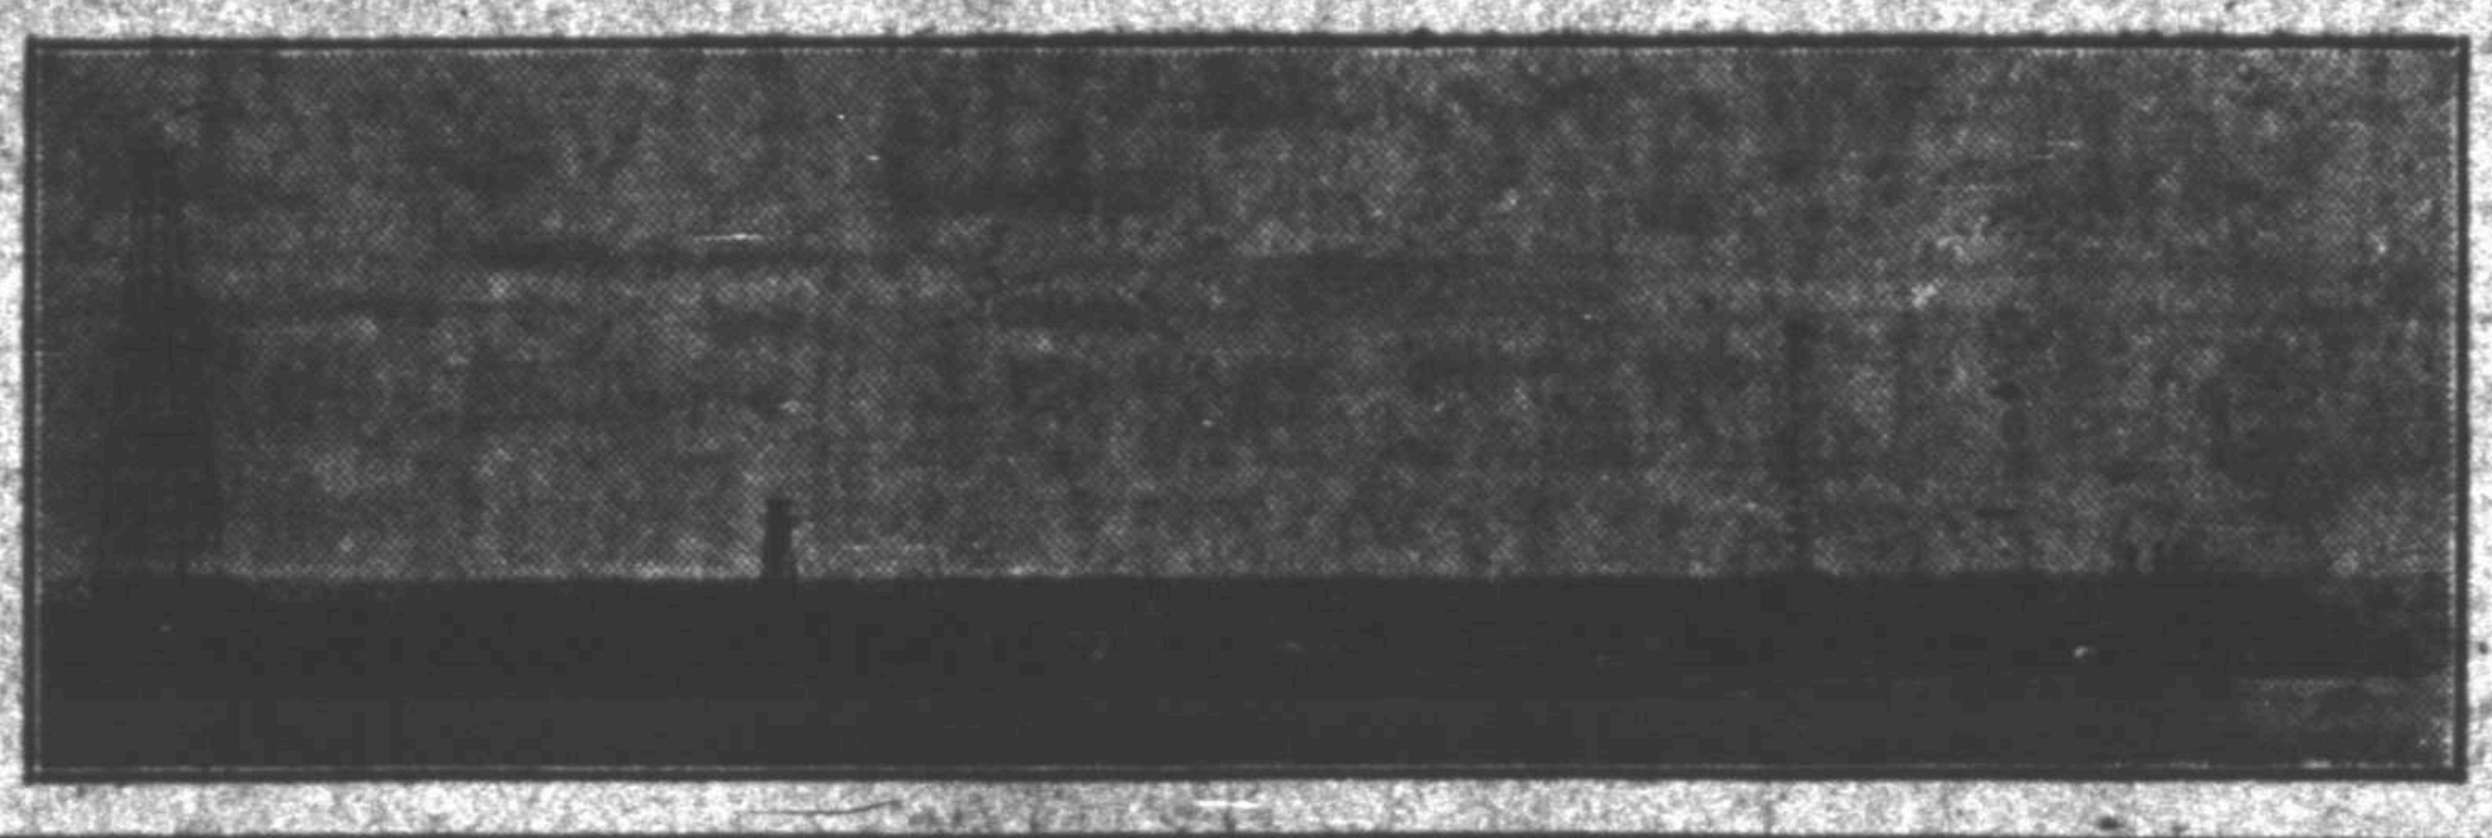
Frank Lundy completed derrick and was stringing water lines for his No. 1 Majors, in the NE SE NE of 25-1s-3w, between the field and the extension.

Paul Turner and associates were shut down at 525 feet in the No. 1 Sparks-Carter, in the SW SW NW of 13-1s-3w, three locations north of production.

Page & McFarland were drilling at 750 feet in the No. 1 Brooks, in the NE SW SW of 12-1s-3w, on the north edge of the field.

The Bridwell Oil company was shut down for water at 300 feet at the No. 1 Wohlgemuth, in the NW NE SE NW of 30-6s-5w, a wildcat northwest of the Oscar field of southern Jefferson county.

O. V. Beck was shut down for water at 1812 feet at the No. 3 Sealy, in the NE SE SW of 34-6s-5w, in the Oscar field.



Among the Derricks

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

R. Bruton and associates have made location for their No. 1 S. H. Jones test to be drilled 750 feet from the north and 150 feet from the west line of the east 80 acres of the Jones tract in B. S. & F. survey 40, in Young county.

Cable Oil company's No. 1 J. S. Matlock, located in the southwest corner of the north 40 of east 85 acres of block 25, J. Saunders survey, abstract 645, southeast Archer county, is abandoned as dry at 715 feet in a water sand.

H. Y. Oil company's No. 6 J. Larrimore, located 300 feet south of No. 5 well in section 2247, T. E. L. survey, north of Newcastle in Young county, is shut down at 500 feet.

Cooper and associates have completed their No. 3 A. P. Neale well, located in the southeast corner of the J. M. Sharpe survey, abstract 262 in southwest Wichita county and it is estimated at 50 barrels. The sand was topped at 1769 feet and drilled to 1776 feet.

Cullum-Sinclair's No. 3 Falls county school lands, located in the southeast corner of block 17, Falls county school lands, southwest of Archer City in Archer county, is waiting on the cement to set. The saturated lime was topped at 1109 to 1121 feet and a 70-quart shot was given.

Deep Oil Development's No. 1 First National, located in the southwest part of block 28, Wichita valley farm land north of K. M. A. field in Wichita county, a 4000-foot rotary test, is drilling at 3480 feet.

Duncan-White-Holt-Tedford's No. 1 S. Webb, located in block 11, I. G. N. R. R. survey, abstract 259, western part of the Tedford pool, is a dry hole at a depth of 780 feet.

Madison Oil and Gas company's No. 22 S. B. Burnett, located in the southwest part of section 7, H. T. & B. R. R. survey, abstract 134, southeast of Electra, is cleaning out the hole at a depth of 910 feet.

F. H. E. Oil company's No. 2 W. T. Coffield, located 330 from the south, 330 feet from east lines of Chas. Lydings survey, abstract 254, Archer county, 600 feet west of No. 1 well, is spudded in.

T. G. Shaw and others' No. 1 R. Williams is a spudder location 1050 from north and 1050 feet from east lines of the J. Saunders survey, abstract 644, southeast Archer county.

McCoy and associates' No. 2 J. A. Bell, located in block 5, section 14, Clark & Plumb survey, southeast of Archer City in Archer county, is shut down on a water sand at 460 feet.

Murbach & Holmburg's No. 1 R. O. Harvey, a 2200-foot rotary test, located in the southeast 40 acres out of the J. [illegible] survey, four miles northeast of Wichita Falls near the Clay county line, is drilling at 1975 feet.

Hinson-Tidwell-Phillips' No. 2 W. L. Newby is location staked out for a deep test to be drilled 160 feet from the north and 160 from the east lines of S. M. Oldham survey, abstract 2209, one and a half miles southwest of Harron City in southeast Young county.

E. H. Pigg and associates' No. 1 H. O. Case, a wildcat located in the northwest part of section 881, T. E. & L. survey, Wichita county, a 1900-foot rotary test, is drilling at 900 feet.

H. L. Gross and others' No. 1 Finkler, located in the north part of block 51, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county, is drilling at 450 feet.

Kimmell-Woofter's No. 10 Goldie Williams, located in the most southerly southwest corner of the S. L. Hand survey, abstract 182, in Archer county, is dry and abandoned at a depth of 1451 feet, with a hole full of water.

W. B. Hamilton is rigging up on his No. 3 A. J. Ikard test located 150 feet south and 280 feet west of the southeast corner of Chas. Lydings survey, but in the J. J. Young survey, abstract 761, north of Anarene in Archer county. The test is also located 600 feet east of the Wichita Production company's No. 1 C. L. Abercrombie location.

Maxson and Panhandle's No. B-16 F. C. Green, located in their 320-acre lease out of the Green land in the Jos. Levins survey, abstract 259, southwest of Archer City in Archer county, is rated at 125 barrels from the saturated lime formation 1122-24 feet.

E. C. Harvey and others have started drilling on their No. 1 J. Bowers test in the southeast quarter of northwest quarter of section 100, block 14, H. & T. C. R. R. survey in the South Vernon pool, Wilbarger county.

Hawkins & Purcell have spudded in on their No. 1 J. Purcell test, located 150 feet from north and 150 feet from east lines of block 30, Jefferson county school lands in Archer county.

Morris & Dunn's No. 1 Schroeder, located 330 from south and east lines of section 11, block 4, Clark & Plumb survey, a deep test one mile northwest of Windthorst in Archer county, is drilling at 780 feet.

Atlantic-Pacific Oil Service No. 1 J. F. Smith, located in the northwest corner of south half of section 71, T. E. L. survey in Young county, spudded and is drilling at 300 feet.

Bedel-Craig's No. 1 W. Graham, located 450 feet from south and west lines of section 193, T. E. L. survey in Young county, is shut down at 550 feet.

Morris-Dunn's No. 1 J. S. Veasey, located in the south 225 acres of the Veasey land in B. B. B. & C. R. R. survey, abstract 48, section 7, southeast Archer county, is drilling at a depth of 1430 feet.

E. R. Riggs and others' No. 1 Mrs. S. P. Taylor, located 1135 feet from north, 150 feet from east lines of section 1965, T. E. L. survey in Young county, is drilling at 500 feet.

Rathke Oil company staked out location for No. 1 fee, test to be drilled 150 feet from the north and west lines of south half of block 20, league 4, Holliday area of Wichita county.

W. W. Ports and associates are drilling at 1140 feet in their No. 1 W. H. Chilson test located in block 7, league 4, Denton county school lands, Wichita county.

W. B. Hamilton's No. 2 A. J. Ikard, located in the J. J. Young survey, abstract 761, north of Anarene in Archer county, set 8¼ pipe at 1620 feet and is drilling ahead at 1650 feet. This is contracted to a depth of 2000 feet.

John L. Swanner's No. 7 Parker estate, located 1250 feet from north, 450 feet from west lines of block 15, Palo Pinto school lands south Wichita county, has spudded in.

Rathke Oil company's No. 2 H. H. Haggard, located in north 30 of south 60 acres of west half of block 21, league 4, Denton county school lands at Holliday in Wichita county, is dry and abandoned at 782 feet. A small well estimated at three barrels was passed up in a sand at 686-94 feet.

Sam H. Huggins and others' No. 2 J. R. Parkey, located in the northwest quarter of section 2, S. P. R. R. survey, abstract 1283, southwest of Holliday in Archer county, is feeling for the pay at 1460 feet.

R. R. Clark and others' No. 28 Bickley estate in the J. F. Terry survey, abstract 598, northeast of Electra in Wichita county, have set 8¼ pipe at 860 feet.

Davis Oil corporation's No. B-1 W. T. Waggoner, located in the southeast corner of section 5, block 5, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, Wilbarger county, is drilling at 400 feet.

Walter Cline and others' No. 3 C. G. Clayton, located 600 feet south and 150 feet east of No. 1 producer in the Eban Reed survey, abstract 849 in Cooke county, is waiting to drill out the plug from the oil sand at 999-1002 feet.

Davis and associates' No. 1 W. L. Tidwell is drilling at 900 feet in section 34, T. E. & L. survey in north Young county.

R. P. Dorian's No. 11 Belknap Coal company, located 318 feet north of No. 10 in section 22, T. E. L. survey in the Newcastle area of Young county, cemented pipe in the sand at 664 feet.

George L. Pace and others' No. 4 Arnold, located 330 from south and 240 feet from west line of east half of the Arnold tract, Jos. Levins survey in Archer county, is waiting on cement to set after an 80-quart shot in the lime at 1222-43 feet.

Iron Mountain Oil company's No. 12 is a location 150 feet from north and east lines of north 80 of west 160 acres of section 1906, T. E. L. survey in the E. P. Tatum farm.

Pois & Schultz's No. 1 W. O. Davis, a deep test located in the east 40 of the north 80 acres of section 64, block 5, Clark & Plumb survey, northeast of Archer City in Archer county, is drilling at 1270 feet.

Burns & Long have staked out location for their No. 1 A. D. Thompson 330 feet from south and 300 feet from east lines of block 3, section 21, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county and have erected derrick.

B. C. Gilmore and others' No. 1 A. C. Speer, located in the northeast portion of the Speer land in the Wm. Stoneman survey, abstract 250, Young county, spudded in and drilling at 500 feet.

Hunter Oil corporation's No. A-5 J. Bloodworth, located in the northwest part of the southwest quarter of section 157, T. E. L. survey in the Olney area of north Young county, is swabbing at the rate of 60 barrels from the sand at 1060-64 feet.

Pois & Schultz's No. 10 F. C. Green, located in the Jos. Levins survey, abstract 259, in the saturated area southwest of Archer City in Archer county, is rated at 75 barrels from the lime at 1143-62 feet.

J. I. Staley and associates' No. 1 M. P. Andrews is located 150 feet from south and 1716 feet from west lines of most southern southwest corner of R. R. Rainey survey, abstract 354, Archer county.

The King Royalty company has made location and is rigging up rotary for No. 1 Homer Wright test to be drilled 150 feet each way from the south and west lines of north half of section 6, block 9, H. & T. C. R. R. survey in Wilbarger county. The same company is fishing at a depth of 840 feet in No. 8 Daniels, located in section 164, T. E. L. survey south of Olney in Young county.

Iron Mountain Oil's No. 9 E. P. Tatum, located in the northwest corner of the northeast 33⅓ acres of section 1903, T. E. L. survey, Young county, is rated at 50 barrels from the sand at 656-59 feet.

M. F. Powell and others' No. 1 M. P. Andrews, located in the northeast part of section 1807, T. E. L. survey, south Archer county, is shut down at 625 feet.

Dan Rubsam and associates' No. 1 J. Stinnett, located in the northeast corner of southwest quarter of block 7, A. Nunnelly survey, abstract 320 northwest of the Tedford pool, southeast Archer county, is drilling at 300 feet.

The Primrose Refining company has abandoned its No. 2 Burnett-Gibbs test in the southwest quarter of section 2245, T. E. L. survey, in the Newcastle field of Young county as a dry hole at a depth of 705 feet.

E. J. Stump and associates' No. B-3, L. F. Wilson, located in the southwest part of the northeast quarter of section 1, B. B. B. & C. R. R. survey, abstract 39, in Archer county, will drill to 2000 feet after testing a small show of oil in the sand at 1544-49 feet.

E. D. Willis and others' No. 1 W. M. Sewell is 150 feet each way from the south and west lines of north 40 of west half of section 1911, T. E. & L. survey in Young county.

No. 1 C. L. Abercrombie, located in M. E. P. & P. R. R. survey, abstract 708, northeast of Anarene in Archer county, has spudded in on a rotary test.

Sams & Loftin have spudded in and drilling at 400 feet on No. 2 F. Loftin to be drilled 450 feet from south, and 1050 from east lines of section 2, in C. T. R. R. survey, abstract 68, in Young county.

W. W. Silk and others, No. 1 H. B. Bowen, located 150 feet each way from the northeast corner of the southwest 40 acres of block 28, Rebecca Parker survey, abstract 461, north of Antelope in Jack county, is spudded in.

W. E. Snebold and others, No. 1 Christian, located in the north 200 acres of section 264, T. E. L. survey in the True area, of Young county, is a dry hole at 730 feet.

United Producers, No. 6 J. F. Larrimore, located in section 2246, T. E. L. survey in Young county, north of Newcastle, is a west offset to well No. 1.

Texas company, No. 1 E. L. Burns, a wildcat located in the northwest part of section 1987, T. E. L. survey, northeast of Graham in Young county, is drilling deeper after producing from a lime at 4111-33 feet and is now at a depth of 4180 feet.

J. C. Wyne and others, No. 1 J. T. Richardson, located in block 1, south Anderson ranch subdivision, southwest Archer county, is drilling at 1200 feet.

Wooten & Reed have completed their No. 4 Y. Swain, in the southeast part of section 1485, T. E. L. survey, rated at 25 barrels from the sand at 707-09 feet.

R. N. Goble and associates, No. 1 American Properties, in the northwest portion of block 64, Bacon subdivision, northeast of Wichita Falls in Clay county, is abandoned as a dry hole at 396 feet.

Mel Armstrong and associates, putting down a deep test in the R. Barr survey, abstract 3, two miles north of the Kissinger pool in southeast Young county, is drilling ahead at 2270 feet.

Ed Ruewaldt and associates have staked out location for a test to be drilled 150 feet from north and 1550 feet from east lines of the Johnathan Clark survey, abstract 194, on the Alice Johnson farm in Cooke county.

Clarco Oil company, No. 2 Marshall estate, a deep test located in section 3413, T. E. L. survey, northwest of Graham in Young county, is drilling at 3780 feet. This test has been shut down for the past year.

Degener, Murrell and others' No. 1 Ed Johnston, a rank wildcat, located 1490 feet from north and 264 feet from east lines of east 48 acres of west 101 acres of Johnston land in Alexander McLennan survey, abstract 180, Young county, is rigging up cable tools. The test, hich is a 3500-foot contract, is about three miles east of the townsite of Belknap, and several miles south and west of the city of Graham.

J. J. Moran and others staked out location for No. 1 Jeffery estate to be drilled 1716 feet from north, 150 feet from east lines of section 51, T. E. L. survey in north Young county.

Jacobs Oil and Gas company's No. 1 C. Thedford, located in the J. T. Lamor survey, abstract 1335, Young county, a deep test, is drilling at 2250 feet.

L. L. Henderson and others' No. 1 A. M. McElwin, located in the J. Boggs survey, abstract 36 in Cooke county, is shut down at 1225 feet.

Bridwell Oil company, No. 3 C. J. Tucker, located 600 feet from north, 200 from east lines of Tucker farm in George Nichols survey, abstract 571 in the Nocona pool, Montague county, is drilling at 500 feet.

Lydecker and others, No. 1 J. F. Rogers, located in the W. Fitchitt survey, abstract 1432, a deep test in south Young county, is drilling at 2700 feet.

Rathke Oil company No. 1 J. A. Allen, located in the N. Lynch survey, abstract 171, two miles southeast of Graham in Young county, is drilling at 1300 feet.

Carter & Alexander No. 2 Mrs. C. Arnold is a location 200 feet from north and 1068 feet from west lines of C. S. Arnold farm in the Jos Levins survey, abstract 259 southwest of Archer City in Archer county.

Texas company No. 3 Less K. Johnson, located in the northeast part of section 36, block "L," S. P. R. R. R. survey, northwest of Crowell in Foard county is drilling at 2500 feet.

Vern Dumas No. 1 M. E. Williams, located in the Solomon Nix survey, abstract 908, northeast of Van Alstyne in Grayson county, a deep wildcat test, is shut down at a depth of 4690 feet.

Texas company No. 1 E. C. Keith, located in south half of northeast quarter of section 267, T. E. L. survey, southwest of True townsite in Young county, is making five barrels per hour from the sand at 724-28 feet.

Brazos Oil and Gas No. 4 D. C. Clayton, a deep test located in the James Mathews survey, abstract 398, southeast of Bryson in Jack county, is drilling at 2250 feet.

Buttram Petroleum company No. 3 C. K. Cullers, in the northwest quarter of the Sam Chairs survey, abstract 930 Jack county, is drilling by tools in the hole at 3870 feet.

Thos. Peery and others No. 1 J. M. Box, in S. P. R. R. survey, abstract 562, northeast of Bryson in Jack county, is drilling at 1000 feet.

Burns & Long No. T-2 L. F. Wilson, located in lot 3, block 75, A. T. N. C. L. survey, in the southwest edge of Chalk Hill, archer county, will drill out the plug from the sand at 2214-16 feet some time Monday.

Bridwell Oil company No. 2 W. B. Gist, located 600 feet from north and 200 feet from west line of Gist farm in George Nichols survey, north of Nocona in Montague county, is estimated at 175 barrels from the sand at 1223-39 feet.

Long Hard Fight for Tariff on Oil Virtually Nullified by Ruling Under Which Naphtha Enters With Small Tax

CHAS. H. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—The long hard fight waged last spring by oil producers and petroleum refiners of this country to obtain tariff protection against the importation of gasoline has been virtually nullified by a ruling of the customs division of the treasury. Under this ruling naphtha, which by the addition of a relatively small percentage of natural gasoline becomes an effective motor fuel, may be imported under a duty of one-half cent a gallon as against 2½ cents a gallon called for under the law for gasoline.

Unless this ruling is changed, either voluntarily by the treasury department or through appeal to the courts, it is estimated that no less than five million barrels of Rumanian and Russian naphthas will be imported. This, it is declared, will be sufficient to break the domestic price of gasoline at least a cent a gallon and result in a loss to the 42 domestic gasoline marketing companies of approximately $181,000,000. This loss, of course, would be passed back down the line, much of it falling on crude oil producers, while the loss to the government, it is estimated, would approximate $25,000,000.

The ruling, very cleverly worded, was issued under authority of Assistant Secretary Arthur A. Ballentine. It says that naphthas "are taxable under section 601 (c) (4), revenue act of 1932, at 2.5 cents per gallon if, in their condition as imported, they are among the grades of naphtha which are used chiefly in the United States as carburant motor fuels." At first blush this would make it appear that imported naphthas must bear the regular gasoline excise tax. However, treasury precedents show that naphtha, in the condition imported, has not been "chiefly used in the United States as a carburant motor fuel." Thus those grades of naphtha are subject only to the tax applicable to crude oil.

Easily Doctored

Once admitted to the United States, however, oil men declare that the admixture of from 10 to 25 per cent of natural gasoline, the process of which is as simple as pouring water out of a jug, makes the resultant fluid an effective motor fuel. The importers challenge the figures, insisting it requires 45 per cent of natural gasoline before the mixture is a suitable substitute for a fair grade of gasoline. They make no denial of the fact, however, that such imported naphthas can be "doctored" and sold for motor fuel. In fact at least two concerns are now engaged in such operations. One of these is the Sunny Service at Detroit while the other is the Hartol Products Co., New York, operating in the northeastern states.

One hearing on this matter already has been held before Customs Commission F. X. A. Eble and protests of distributors of domestic gasolines were heard. Commissioner Eble, however, declined to change the ruling, placing the responsibility on congress, he pointed out, had failed to incorporate the words "suitable for use" as motor fuel. The treasury, therefore, he said, must adhere to its old principle of assessing the duty on the basis of "chief use."

Further protests are to be made and, if these fail to effect a modification in the ruling, appeals will be taken to the courts. Under that procedure action will be taken before the customs court in New York. Meanwhile, under the treasury ruling, importations of naphthas will be permitted, the importers making bond suitable to the collector. In the event the customs court does not hold with the protestants they can appeal to the court of customs and patent appeals in Washington.

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (UP)—The allowable in the East Texas oil field today was reduced to 44 barrels per well daily, a reduction of two barrels, the Texas Railroad commission announced.

The allowable adjustment was made on the basis of 8,400 wells, either already completed or to be completed within the next 15 days.

Total field production of 375,000 barrels is not changed by the new ruling.

TYLER, Texas, Oct. 1. (UP)—Agents of the anti-theft bureau of the Texas Railroad commission are being accompanied by Texas rangers and in one instance forced their way into a refinery to gauge tanks. The forced entrance was made after employes of a Gladewater refinery refused to allow inspectors to gauge the property.

LONGVIEW, Texas, Oct. 1. (UP)—Drilling in the East Texas field maintained a steady pace for the week ended Thursday, with 100 new producers reported as against 101 the previous week. Completions for the week were 102.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 1. (UP)—Oil scouts today reported 20 new locations in Oklahoma oil fields this week.

Creek county led the field with seven first reports. Stephens county was second with three, Atoka, Muskogee, Oklahoma and Pottawatomie counties had two each and Okmulgee and Hughes counties, one each.

PERRY, Okla., Oct. 1. (UP)—The Lew Wentz No. 1 Wolfe well, 14 miles southwest of here which opened up a new oil field, was closed today while operators debated whether to deepen the test and to make pipe line connections. It flowed 1,870 barrels of oil the past 24 hours from 5197 feet with a gas volume of 10,000,000 cubic feet a day. The well is in a unitized block.

NEWS the world over

Record Ascent

STUTTGART, Germany.—What is thought to be a record altitude flight for an unmanned balloon was established here recently. The balloon was sent aloft by Prof. Erich Regener, of the Stuttgart Institute of Technology. It carried instruments for scientific calculations, and reached an altitude of 17½ miles.

YANKEES' TWIN HOWITZERS LEAVE CUBS SLIGHT CHANCE

Baseball folks who followed the Wichita Falls-Longview club through the 1932 campaign tell us the reason the Cannibals were such a thorough flop in the pennant marathon, particularly the second half, was the general dissatisfaction of the players when forced to leave Wichita Falls and settle down for the season in the East Texas oil town. Hank Severeid is given credit for holding the team together in fine shape in view of the general dissatisfaction resulting from the transfer, but when an entire team—and that may include Hank as well—is disgruntled, there's little a manager can do about it. Then about the time the boys had decided to accept their fate and make the most of things as they were, the loss of Art Scharein finished the job of snuffing out all spirit that might have remained.

The Texas league baseball situation undoubtedly is precarious. Only three cities of the eight are entirely sure of themselves for the 1933 campaign, and between now and next spring J. Alvin Gardner has much to accomplish if the great old league is to survive. Straightening out the affairs of five clubs is a real puzzle, but if it can be done we'll lay our shekels Gardner is the boy who can do it. From all we have heard about the past campaign, Gardner alone is responsible for the league finishing out the season. But for his absolute refusal to consider quitting, the league probably would have collapsed in July. As for the Wichita Falls situation, it is as much a mystery now as at any time last spring. The only sure thing is that the club will not return to Longview.

As we get it, it will be by mutual agreement that the team is not returned to Longview. The ownership was not entirely satisfied with the way things panned out over in East Texas, and the oil field fans were just as much displeased with the manner in which the club conducted its business. As one East Texas visitor here put it the other day: "Longview is not merely refusing to invite the Cannibals back, but is daring 'em to try to come back." An exaggerated version of conditions over there, perhaps, but it is common knowledge now that no love is lost between the ownership and the Longview populace. The Browns probably are worrying none over the ill feeling generated in the calling in of Scharein, for he played so well that he's considered more valuable than the Texas league franchise held by the Browns.

As well, the Browns probably feel they owe no apologies for taking Scharein, for they sent the Cannibals Outfielder Jack Kloza and Pitcher Lena Stiles. At that time batting punch seemed to be the greatest need of the club and Kloza appeared as one man in the Browns family who could produce it in satisfying quantities. Stiles, regardless of his record after joining the Longview club, is a pitcher of known class A ability. With Clift available for the shortstop job, it seemed at the time the deal would be advantageous to the Cannibals, regardless of the value of Scharein. We believe any fair-minded fan will concede as much. None could have pictured Kloza a .265 hitter in the Texas league, but that's exactly what he hit—20 points below Red Badgro, the outfielder he succeeded. Stiles, too, was disappointing in games won, but he proved his ability by ranking eighth in the entire league in effectiveness with an earned runs average of 2.70. He won but three games while losing seven.

Out on the fairways of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club Sunday a veteran campaigner and a youngster in his teens will battle for the city golf championship over the gruelling 36-hole route. Bobby Burns represents experience and steadiness, while Rufus King plays the role of the enthusiastic juvenile challenger. The 16-year-old boy has been through the mill of stout competition, almost as much of it as Burns at twice his age. Rufus fired his way into the grand American handicap traps championship with thousands looking on. He has played tournament tennis since he was big enough to wield a racquet, and only this year he has been tested under the pressure of golfing galleries. It is not the average youngster who plays in this all-city final; few boys in any land have had their nerves so tested.

From any standpoint this all-city final looms as one of the most interesting tournament matches ever played here, and if the weather shoots square for the golfers, the duel is certain to attract the biggest gallery ever to follow a strictly local match. Despite his ill fortune in winning no tournaments this year, Burns is playing the best golf he has ever played. Rufus' game, of course, has come forward only this season, but it has been of a high caliber all summer. Both players were victims of Bryan Nelson of Fort Worth in the recent Wichita Falls invitation meet, King being eliminated in the second round and Burns in the final. They fared about the same against the brilliant Fort Worth boy, and by any method of comparison theer is little to choose between their games. Unless one or the other happens to be unusually hot or extremely cold in the Sunday match, it ought to be a real battle.

The youngsters have done a wonderful job of keeping in the spotlight in the all-city championship. Seldom a tournament has been played in which the youthful element has not at least held its own. Away back there in the first all-city, three juveniles reached the semi-finals. It was the first tournament in which Morris Norton moved into the links limelight. Polly Gebert, the present country club professional, stepped out of the caddy ranks to go all the way to the semifinals, and the eventual winner was another caddy, Lanky Fowler. Paul Landes and Fred Couper were not juveniles when they won all-city championships, but both were far from the veteran class.

Approximately 6,000,000 trout, brooks, browns and rainbows, were planted in Michigan streams during September.

Ruth and Gehrig Hit Four Homers To Win 7-5 Game

Holding Lead of Three Games, New York Hopes To End Series Sunday

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

WRIGLEY FIELD, CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—The twin howitzers of the New York Yankees, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, turned loose a long range blast Saturday that routed the first home stand of the Chicago Cubs and just about blew the National league champions out of the world series trenches.

Two booming home run shots apiece by the big guns, all off the right-hand delivery of Charley Root, produced six of the seven Yankee runs, gave the American league champions their third successive triumph, knocked loose a flock of world series records and ruined the gallant home-coming of Charley Grimm's band of Bruins.

The final score was 7 to 5 in favor of the Yankees. A wildly excited crowd estimated at more than 49,986 cash customers joined for the day by the Democratic presidential candidate, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, stayed to the finish of a slugfest that was climaxed by a spirited ninth inning Cub rally.

The veteran Herb Pennock, slim Yankee southpaw veteran who has never been defeated in world series competition, came to the rescue of the faltering right-hander, George Pipgras, and checked the last gallant surge of the Bruins.

Pipgras Routed

Pipgras passed from the picture in the ninth after yielding a home run smash by Gabby Hartnett and a single by Bill Jurges. Thus the tying run was at the plate when Pennock faced a pinch hitter, Ralston Hemsley, but the veteran routed three men in rapid fire order with an old-time flash of the form that gave him five former series victories. Hemsley fanned, Billy Herman rolled weakly to the box and Woody English grounded out to Lou Gehrig to close the game.

Ruth and Gehrig, however, were the dominant figures, striking sledge hammer blows that broke the resistance of Root as well as the morale of the Cubs, as the Yankee power house swept along to its 11th successive conquest in the world series competition.

The day, the circumstances, the ranges and the brisk following wind all were in favor of the twin Yankee sluggers and they had a rare field day in making the most of it. Badgering the Cubs and the noisy bleacher crowd, Ruth struck his first home run blow in the first inning, with Earle Combs and Joie Sewell on base, with a soaring clout into the right field bleachers.

Rally Too Late

Gehrig opened the third frame with a high wallop into the same right field sector, then the Battering Babe and Larruping Lou ripped off successive home runs in the fifth to put the final crusher on Root. Ruth's second drive, the longest of the day, cleared the wire fence just in front of the bleachers in extreme center field. Gehrig's second blow bounced off a flag pole near the right field line.

Pat Malone, Jakie May, the first Cub southpaw to make an appearance, and young Bud Tinning subdued the Yankees for the rest of the game, except for a ninth inning "blow up" by the Chicago defense that led to the last Yankee run, but the big damage had been done.

In a game marked by a flock of record smashing performances, including at least six by Ruth alone, the Cubs contributed to the melee with a brace of homers, one by Kiki Cuyler in the third and the other by Hartnett in the ninth.

A total of six home runs for both clubs set a new series mark, one more than the record set by the Yankees alone in a game against the Cardinals in 1928. Ruth's pair boosted his own record total to 15 circuit clouts for the world series competition, besides aiding the Babe to increase his record figures for total bases, along with hits and extra bases.

New Whiff Records

In addition Ruth boosted to 33 his total number of bases on balls. He has already added, also, to his record crop of strikeouts in world series competition but the dubious distinction of setting a new single game mark in this specialty was turned in Saturday by Pipgras, the Yankee pitcher, who fanned five successive times.

For the third straight game the defense of the National league champions fell far short of championship standards. Root's early unsteadiness was costly and his support was spotty. The Cubs kicked in with four errors, including two by Shortstop Bill Jurges, who started the very first inning with a wild throw of Combs' roller. Two straight muffs of pop flies, in the ninth, followed by Ben Chapman's double, contributed the last Yankee run.

The Cubs hit Pipgras briskly, besides taking advantage of his early wildness, but from the fifth inning until he weakened at the start of the ninth, the big Yankee right-hander throttled the Bruins with his "sinker" ball. Over a stretch of four straight innings, Pipgras yielded only one safe blow, a single by Cuyler in the fifth, but Manager Joe McCarthy, back on his old stamping grounds, showed no hesitation in calling Pennock to the rescue after two resounding Cub blows presented a belated menace.

Pipgras, although knocked out of the box, received credit for his third victory in world series competition. He beat the Pirates in 1927, the Cardinals in 1928, and has never been defeated.

Cuyler Socks 'Em

Kiki Cuyler, with a single, double and home run, led the Chicago attack. For the second time the Cubs accumulated more hits than their rivals, nine to eight, but it didn't get them anywhere.

Cuyler's double drove in Billy Herman, who had walked, with the first Cub run in the opening inning. Kiki's homer, in the third, was followed by Stephenson's single and Manager Grimm's booming double, that went through Chapman's legs, producing another run. The crowd yelled for big Hartnett to come through in this pinch, with Cubs on second and third, but Gabby's best was a foul pop to Joie Sewell near third base.

The fourth Cub run was manufactured on Bill Jurges' double and

OLD MASTER BACK TO CHARACTER

BABE RUTH

Hitting home runs in world series has become almost commonplace with Babe Ruth, and it must have been embarrassing to the old boy to have been held to mere singles in the two games played in Yankee stadium. But Saturday he returned to the familiar role, drove two of Charlie Root's slants into the bleachers and accounted for four of the Yankees' seven runs. Lou Gehrig still is one up on the Babe in this series, since he matched the latter's pair Saturday and had clouted one in the New York games. Ruth's homers Saturday were his 14th and 15th in world series competition.

BURNS AND KING TO BATTLE SUNDAY FOR CITY LINKS HONORS

The last big golf show of the season will be staged Sunday morning and afternoon at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club when Rufus King, 19-year-old star of the links, clashes with L. T. "Bobby" Burns with the city championship at stake. Eighteen holes are to be played starting at 9:30 a. m. and the second 18 at 2 p. m.

King and Burns are the only survivors of a field of 75 of the city's low shooters, and the winner will step to the throne occupied for the last year by Fred T. Couper Jr.

One of the closest and most interesting duels in the history of the all-city event is expected to result from the meeting of the veteran and the youngster.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 1. (AP)—Texas Christian university overwhelmed the Daniel Baker Hill Billies, 55 to 0, Saturday with a brilliant display of offensive football. The Frogs started slowly but hit their stride before the end of the first quarter with a 77-yard march to a touchdown. They gathered speed and effectiveness afterward. The third team took the field in the fourth quarter.

The Frogs scored twice in the second period and three times in the third. In the final minutes the regulars returned to the field and scored the seventh and eighth touchdowns.

Behind the powerful blocking which opened huge holes in the Daniel Baker line and mowed down the secondary, the T. C. U. ball carriers galloped to their hearts' desire.

Blanard Spearman, who turned in one 60-yard return of a punt for a touchdown, led in the scoring with three touchdowns. Red Oliver made two, Graves one, Kitchen one and Coleman one.

The rugged defense of the Christians rendered the best smashes and passes of the invaders practically null and void. Daniel Baker made only two first downs and never made any sort of gesture that threatened to score.

Plans for 'Let's Go Athletic' on Nov. 14 Complete

Kimbrough Promises Another Show and Pep Rally On Eve Quanah Game

Final plans for the staging of the annual production "Let's Go Athletic" on the eve of the opening home game of the Coyotes' interscholastic league schedule were made at a meeting Saturday afternoon of the high school parent-teacher association's athletic committee, sponsor of the event.

Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, in charge of arranging the big show, reported a five-act snappy review ready to start rehearsals and promised the committee members present an even better entertainment than that which made such a hit last year.

"Let's Go Athletic" was attempted last year as a means of providing funds for uniforming the pep squad of 100 girls who made such a splendid start of the new season in the opening game with Ardmore last Friday. The show appealed not alone to the football fans, but entertainment seekers found it well worth their time, and an even greater success is believed in store for the event this season. From the proceeds the committee hopes to pay the debts incurred in uniforming both the pep squad and band last season.

The date is Oct. 14 and the place Memorial auditorium.

Attending the meeting Saturday, besides Dr. Kimbrough, were Mrs. William E. Huff, chairman of the athletic committee; S. H. Rider, high school principal; Coaches Ted Jefferies and Charlie Lindsey, Mrs. Ed Peterson, Mrs. Harry ten Brink, P. S. Richardson, G. W. Reed, William E. Huff, L. E. Stone, Dr. G. T. Singleton, Dale Shappell, Howard Bunch and J. W. Williamson.

MANKINS TEAMS OPEN BASKET BALL SEASON

MANKINS, Texas, Oct. 1.—The Mankins High school senior basket ball boys and senior volley ball girls met Holliday's teams on Mankins' court Friday evening for the first practice games of the season.

The Mankins volley ball team beat Holliday, 15-5 and 15-12.

The Mankins basket ball boys beat Holliday's team 16 to 9. Kirksey made nine points for Mankins and Evens for Holliday made four.

The Mankins all star basket ball team was beaten by Holliday, 32 to 20. Johnson of Holliday was high point man with 10, and Parks for Mankins with eight.

Rice Shows Qualities of Champion as Owls Come From Behind to Beat LSU

HOUSTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Something of the quality requisite of a champion—the ability to perform well under excessive fire—was exhibited here Saturday by Rice Institute's fast, comparatively light eleven in defeating the Louisiana State university Tigers, 10-8.

In a fourth period gaudy with suspense and thrills the Owls, playing before a crowd estimated at more than 10,000—the biggest here in many a day for an intersectional game—saw their 7 to 6 lead go glimmering through a safety resulting from a blocked Rice punt, recovered by Burke of the institute behind his own goal. Rice then loosed an unexpected drive that ended in the final goal by Capt. Tom Driscoll to win the game.

Louisiana State sent a big contingent of partisans, headed by U. S. Senator Huey P. Long, the "kingfish," and Gov. O. K. Allen. The senator led the band about the field at half-time, and had quite a day in general.

Virginia Van Wie Plays Great Golf To Capture Title

Chicago Girl Gets Revenge For Former Trimmings By Mrs. Vare

WEST PEABODY, Mass., Oct. 1. (US)—Virginia Van Wie, slender miss from Chicago, won her first national women's golf championship Saturday by administering a smashing 10 and 8 defeat to the woman who three times fought her off in the quest—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Vare, always the underdog in the long grueling test, took one look at the Chicagoan's ball, lying within a few inches of the 28th hole, and conceded her opponent the putt, thereby ending a match which had found her five down after the first nine holes of play and had grown more lop-sided at each succeeding green.

The top-heavy score could not but remind the Philadelphian, five times national champion, of that afternoon in 1928 at Hot Springs, Va., when she turned back Miss Van Wie in the national semifinals with a 13 and 12 drubbing. That was the most decisive victory scored in the 36-hole championship duel. Saturday's was the second most decisive.

Sub-Par Golf

In 1930 at Beverly Hills, Calif., the same opponents met a second time and Mrs. Vare won, 6 and 5. Last year Mrs. Vare turned back the dogged Chicago lass in the semifinals, only to be herself beaten by Helen Hicks.

But it was a different story Saturday. Miss Van Wie was at the top of her game. She shot the morning round in four under par for women for a 73, reeling off five birdies. From the second hole on she was never headed. Mrs. Vare, seeking her sixth crown, could not even the match. The Philadelphian won but three holes, the 14th, 19th, and 24th.

So steadily did Miss Van Wie split the fairways with singing drives and stroke the greens with faultless putts that but three bad shots showed on her card for the entire 28 holes. From the 14th and 6th greens her drives found traps. On the 27th she had a poor iron shot from a bad lie.

Lead Too Great

Mrs. Vare went into the afternoon round 8 down. It was a dreary outlook for her. Things brightened a bit when she took the first hole of the second round to go seven down, but Miss Van Wie came back to win the second, halve the third, and reach the fourth tee again 8 up. Even then there was some fight in Mrs. Vare, but the fourth hole was a heartbreaker.

The fourth is a 388-yard par 5. Glenna's 210-yard drive winged past Virginia's 180-yard effort. Mrs. Vare then pitched her mashie shot into the rough, 30 yards over the green. Her chip landed dead at the pin and she took a birdie four that should have given her the hole.

But Miss Van Wie played a fine iron shot to within 12 feet of the cup and then proceeded to hole out for an eagle three. The former champion wilted before such golf. Her last hope of fighting back had gone glimmering. It was no wonder she was ready to give up the ghost on the 28th.

CROWELL ELEVEN LOSES ACE BALL CARRIER AS CAPTAIN TODD INJURED

CROWELL, Texas, Oct. 1.—The Crowell Wildcats paid an enormous price for their 6 to 0 mud-plowing victory over Paducah High school at Paducah Friday afternoon for Capt. Dick Todd, Crowell's No. 1 player and around whom the entire team is built, suffered a dislocated elbow in the first half and while it is not known how long the fleet-footed, side-stepping halfback will be out this season, it is practically a settled fact that he will not see service in the all-important Olney game at Olney next Friday, and possibly will be out for the next three weeks.

The injury came when Todd slipped as he was carrying the ball. With his right arm as a brace to keep his body from touching the ground, the member was struck with the full force of an opponent's body, resulting in a torn ligament and dislocated elbow. In addition to being Crowell's greatest scoring threat, Captain Todd is also one of the greatest punters in the district and his loss in the Olney game is the greatest one that could have resulted to the Wildcat squad.

Lewis "Hoot" Gibson will be shifted from end to Todd's halfback position for the Olney game, according to Coach Grady Graves. Gibson is an inexperienced backfield man. George Carter will replace Gibson at end.

Four Tennessee boys made an 8,000-mile automobile trip at an expense of $25 each.

Scrapping Centenary Team Bumps Steers

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—A band of game, galloping Gentlemen from Centenary college at Shreveport, La., humbled the University of Texas football squad here Saturday, 13 to 6. The Gents outplayed their vaunted rivals most of the way and kept on fighting to score the winning touchdown in the last few minutes.

The Centenary backfield men were light and the husky Longhorn tacklers hit them hard, but not hard enough to keep them halted. Ralph Murff, Centenary quarterback, and Harold Oslin, Centenary halfback, were injured so badly in the second quarter that they had to be carried from the field. Oslin came back in the fourth quarter to make a beautiful 19-yard sprint and place the ball on the Longhorn one-yard line and Murff plunged across for a touchdown after the Steer line had held for three plays. Oslin was injured and removed from the game again just before the winning marker was scored.

Sophomores Shine

Texas uncovered a pair of sophomores who made an auspicious showing against their first potent opposition. "Cochey" Earle, former Waco High school star, played a bang up defensive game at end. Bohn Hilliard, highly publicized back, got away several times for long returns on punts. In addition, Co-Captain Ernie Koy drove through the Centenary line a few times for good gains. For the most part, however, the game was fought in Texas territory.

A long pass in the second quarter from Ronald Fagan to Ed Price, was good for a touchdown, but nearly all of the aerial attempts were knocked down or intercepted.

Murff, Oslin, Eddie Townson and Smith were the main springs in the Centenary attack.

Kick Fails Short

Both of the kicks after the first touchdowns were blocked and the score was 6-6 until late in the fourth period. Texas opened up with a desperate passing game after the final Gent score, but none of the flips was completed.

Once in the fourth period, Texas got near enough to the Centenary goal for Earle to try a place kick from the 35-yard line but it was short.

The lineups:

Porkers Swamped By Late Overhead Attack of Miners

Arkansas Eleven Unseated After Setting Pace Thru Three Periods

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 1. (AP)—The Missouri School of Mines nosed out the University of Arkansas eleven, 20-19, Saturday with a brilliant passing attack in the last quarter. Before that final onrush Arkansas had led, 19-6. Kirchoff, left end for the Miners, scored both the final touchdowns on passes from Quarterback Towse and kicked both the extra points. He also was the outstanding defensive player on the field.

The Razorbacks made 12 first downs to four by the Miners.

Arkansas scored in the second and third periods with Biddle plunging for the touchdowns. The last Porker touchdown was scored when Halfback Laforge intercepted a Miner pass on his own 45-yard line and sidestepped his way down the field.

The Miners scored their first touchdown on a plunge by Captain McDonald from the one-yard line, where they had arrived with a passing foray. They made three of their four first downs by the air.

The Razorbacks meet Texas Christian at Fort Worth next Saturday. They started the season with a scoreless tie with Hendrix college. Saturday's game saw them complete eight passes of 24 attempted for 126 yards, with five intercepted. The Miners completed five passes in seven tries for 75 yards, with one intercepted.

FORDHAM OPENS WITH EASY VICTORY 65-0

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (US)—Fordham opened its 1932 season by routing an embattled Baltimore eleven, 65 to 0. Practically every man on the squad was used by Major Cavanaugh and every combination clicked against the Southerners. After a low scoring first period, Fordham started the scoring activities by opening up with an assortment of passes that had the visitors bewildered.

Danowiski was the offensive star of the encounter, scoring three touchdowns and adding four of the 10 extra points made by the Rams.

Mills and Donohue were outstanding for the losers.

NEW MEXICO GRIDDERS TROUNCE TECH FROSH

ROSWELL, N. M., Oct. 1. (AP)—The New Mexico Military institute Broncs battered the much heavier and taller Texas Tech Colts from Lubbock for a 7 to 0 football victory Saturday. The only score of the game was made in the third period on a 20-yard pass from Captain Dinnelli to Richards. Huffaker place kicked. Aerial play featured the game.

Zimmerman Outduels Domingue as Southern Conference Team Wins

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Fighting mad over the benching of their captain, Nollie Felts, on charges of baseball professionalism, Tulane's Green Wave gave the Texas Aggies a vicious licking, 26 to 14, Saturday in Tulane's first game of the season.

Ted Cox, head coach for the first team, beat the Texans with his varsity team and in the last half held them with his sophomore line-up until the last six minutes of play when the Aggies sneaked over a touchdown.

In the main it was a battle between Cliff Domingue, Texas' flying Frenchman, against Don Zimmerman, Tulane's flying Dutchman, with the Dutchman coming out ahead with the support of an inspired Green Wave.

Felts, Tulane's mainspring, watched the game from the bench with the waterboys and saw Joe Loftin play his first varsity game at his fullback berth and gain on every play he attempted. The toe of "Little Monk" Simons, son of Tulane's trainer, served to substitute for the loss of Felts' punting. The Wave went out to show they could win without their star captain.

Baylor Overhead Attack Smothers St. Eds, 32 to 0

Bears Score in Every Period, Four Times on Passes, For Victory

WACO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Baylor university Saturday defeated St. Edwards' university of Austin, 32-0. Four of the five touchdowns came directly as the result of passes, while the other resulted from the interception of a St. Edwards' pass by Price of Baylor, who ran 70 yards to score.

The result of the game was never in doubt. Baylor completely outclassed the lighter St. Edwards' team. The Bears let down in the final period and the ball changed hands several times on intercepted passes. Until that time Baylor had completed one pass after another. The Bears scored in every quarter.

NEW YORK'S VIOLETS SCORE DRAB VICTORY

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (US)—New York university's eleven under its new coach, Howard Gann, began its season with a drab 35 to 0 victory over the up state Hobart congregation.

The Violets showed plenty of power, little of deception and enough possibilities to warrant an interesting season.

While the score failed to approximate the 60 to 0 drubbing which a Meehan eleven had administered to Hobart last year, the Violets were able to march down the field at will.

Very few passes were attempted and N. Y. U. punts were negligible. Hobart proved more successful in completing forward passes, with a total of three completed.

Seventeen first downs for N. Y. U. tells a story in itself. Hobart was able to gain a first down in each half.

COYOTES PITCH INTO TITLE RACE IN FRIDAY NIGHT TILT

Their first practice game to their backs in the form of a 20 to 0 victory over Ardmore, Okla., High school Friday afternoon, the Coyotes this week enter upon the most important stretch of their schedule, and Coach Ted Jefferies and his aides have only four days in which to polish off the many rough spots conspicuous in last week's opener before they launch their district championship bid Friday night at Electra.

A general feeling of satisfaction with the manner in which the Red and Black disported in the opening game Friday was expressed wherever the fans assembled Saturday to play over the game. But it is not so certain that the coaches are as thoroughly satisfied, for there were many glaring flaws in the team's conduct. With only four days in which to make these corrections it may be taken for granted that the Pack is in for plenty of work when it goes back to the practice grind Monday.

An Electra-Wichita Falls game always comes under the heading of important business, and this year's game is no exception. It marks the start of district No. 5 titular warfare, the two teams getting off a week earlier than their rivals of Vernon, Childress and Quanah.

Play Scoreless Tie

Like Wichita Falls, Electra opened its season last week, playing a scoreless tie against Matador, a class B eleven, in the first night game ever played in this district. Only in the matter of having played one game under the lights will the Tigers hold an advantage over the Pack, and if this week's game seems to be a bit early for a championship scrap, it must be remembered the Coyotes have had just as much time to get ready as the Tigers.

The scoreless tie failed to add any prestige to the Electra cause, but two of the Tigers' strongest players, Lambin and Boutwell, were on the sidelines, and it is a certainty that Coach W. W. Gibson, the new mentor of the Bengal squad, is holding back aplenty for the Coyotes. Electra teams have become justly famous for their fight against the Coyotes, and any of the Red and Black followers who might be expecting to encounter a weak Electra team Friday night are likely to be fooled. Electra teams are never weak in their skirmishes with Wichita Falls elevens! That is an adage that has held good through 10 years of inter-school strife, and is not to be cast aside this season.

More Driving Power

The woefully weak opposition the Ardmore team produced Friday prevented a thorough test for the Coyotes, and the coaches' eagerness to give all the squadmen chances detracted from the individual showing of the team members, but the squad probably worked smoother than any opening day team in many seasons. There were glaring flaws in offense and defense, but no more than might have been expected of a team playing its first game and attempting to master an entirely new football system.

Jefferies declared after the game he was "pleased but not satisfied" with the showing of his team, and was planning a busy four days' work in advance of the Electra game. The squad came out of the tussle in perfect physical trim, according to Jefferies, and except for the customary minor bruises no ill effects are expected to result from the opener. Some of the boys went into the game with minor ailments, but so far as was known Saturday none was aggravated. Unless the weekly issuance of report cards deals a knockout or two or injuries result from practice during the week, the Pack will have its strongest forces ready for Electra.

Reserve Backs

The coaches took occasion to use the easy game for the purpose of parading the full squad, and they didn't fail to give every man a chance. As well, some of the youngsters did not fail to take full advantage of the opportunity to show their mentors a few things. In the backfield, where reserve material loomed as particularly scarce at the start of the training season, several men appeared to advantage. Three lightweights in particular came through in their brief opportunities. Cleve Pierson, Jimmie Hill and George Dimock manned their tasks back of the line fully as well as the "regulars." McKinney's tossing of passes, Cleo Creecy's hard and effective running, returning of punts by Creecy and numerous other minor details could easily be spotted by fans who were looking for the brighter side. The all-important fundamentals of blocking and tackling were carried out nicely, but not as consistently as the coaches might have wished, just enough failures to carry out assignments creeping into the team's play to prevent its smooth appearance.

It was a near perfect defense that held the Ardmore club to five first downs, but whether the line will be as successful when it encounters a team of hard charging forwards remains to be seen; Ardmore did not possess sufficient power to give the Coyote forwards a thorough test. The tackles, ends, guards and centers smashed play after play for the weaker Ardmore team, but it will be a far harder charging line the Red and Black encounters Friday night at Electra.

Cubs' Rally Too Late to Save Day In Third Battle

Allen and Bush Are Likely Chunkers in Fourth Contest of Series

Tony Lazzeri's fumble of English's grounder, in the fourth. Hartnett's ninth inning homer was the last salute to the pleadings of the big crowd.

The Yankees, particularly Ruth, were the early target of the crowd's booing. The Babe's ability to find the right field bleacher range, however, in batting practice had a marked effect on the onlookers and the Yankee slugger was cheered wildly after he struck off his second home run.

Ruth was the target for a lemon thrower when he came to bat in second inning. The fruit bounded harmlessly along the third base line, however, and the Babe responded with a towering fly that was caught by Kiki up against the right field fence. The wind failed by only a few feet of carrying this blow into the crowd for another home run.

Sunday Starters

Pat Malone was wild but a big improvement on Root in effectiveness. He halted the Yankees in the fifth, despite filling the bases with three walks, after relieving Root. He yielded to a pinch hitter, Gudat, in the seventh, and to Jakie May, in the box. The southpaw got through the eighth but was removed in Tinning's favor, after Chapman's double brought home Lazzeri in the ninth. The young right-hander retired Crosetti and chalked up the fifth strikeout on Pipgras, who therefore eclipsed the record of four whiffings, first set by Josh Devore, Giants' outfielder in 1911, and equalled by two pitchers, Bill James of the Braves in 1914 and George Mogridge of the Senators in 1924.

The fourth and perhaps final game will be played here Sunday with Johnny Allen, young right-hander, booked to pitch for the Yankees and Guy Bush, victim of the first game defeat, carrying the last ditch hopes of the Cubs.

TWO ENGLISH PLAYERS MEET IN TENNIS FINAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Two English Davis cup tennis players, Frederick Perry and Henry (Bunny) Austin, held the men's singles title of the 43rd Pacific coast championship in their hands here Saturday night after Perry eliminated Jiro Satoh, Japanese star.

Perry defeated Satoh in a semifinal match, 6-4, 3-6, 0-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Austin came through the semifinals Friday on overcoming the California champion, Edward Chandler.

The two Englishmen will meet in a final tilt for the championship Sunday.

The women's singles title was won by Alice Marble, San Francisco, as she turned back Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, 6-2, 6-2.

Phil Neer and Ed Levy, San Francisco, went into the men's doubles finals by defeating Henry Prussoff, Seattle, and Neil Brown, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1. They will meet Satoh and his teammate, Takeo Kuwabara, for the title Sunday.

HOLLIS HIGH DEFEATS WELLINGTON, 33 TO 6

HOLLIS, Okla., Oct. 1.—The Hollis High school football team played its first game of the season against high school opposition Saturday night and romped to a 33 to 6 victory over the Wellington, Texas, eleven. The Tigers completely outclassed the visitors, rolling up 18 first downs to two, and remaining in command from start to finish.

Sanderford's sterling punting and the open field running of Abernathy were high spots in the Hollis victory.

The Hollis team played the Weatherford Teachers' freshmen to a scoreless tie in the season's opener last week.

(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Looked for a while like the Yanks might toss the Cubs a game Saturday. Anything to stop Mahatma Gandhi from going on another hunger strike.

Everything was as neat as the webbing on a gander's toes. Governor Roosevelt was in the stands reading Editor Al Smith's editorial entitled, "Through the Democratic party with gun and camera."

The Yanks were real peaceful and friendly. But there is always sure to be one guy who hasn't heard about the armistice. No matter where you strut or detour there is always a bird like that.

And he was right there in the grandstand. When Babe Ruth strutted to the plate in the first inning he was feeling fat and sassy. The Babe hadn't done much in this series but he was drawing a nice salary for it.

Two Yanks were on base. Which is no novelty to the Babe. It was a beautiful October day as the Babe surveyed the big crowd with a practiced eye that can estimate the gate to a dime.

There was nothing about the whole scenario to make the Babe mad. He looked over a couple of wide ones with a curious lack of interest. Indian summer was in his blood. Why exert yourself in such friendly surroundings.

Then the dizzy bird who doesn't believe in letting well enough alone got in his work. He threw a lemon at Babe as a slight testimonial of the Babe's batting average for the first two games.

The Babe stiffened like a sardine reaching farthest north in a frigidaire. Paris had his apple, Rudy Vallee had his grapefruit, but a lemon for the Babe was treason.

Whereupon he snapped forth from his temporary aphasia and ganged a home run into the stands. And that's the story of the game told as only Zane Gray can tell it. The story of a man's hatred for a lemon. A tale of the wide open spaces and the hero who can loop them with the aid of a baseball and 10 cents worth of lumber.

There were more home runs after that but this one was the king pin. Every Chicago fan coming into the park for the Sunday game will be searched for contraband of groceries, fruits and vegetables. The Cubs' management doesn't want to lose any more ball games that way.

Heavy Foreign Purchases of Grain, Oil, and Cotton Top Improvements In America's Export Trade for 1932

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Foreign purchases of cotton, wheat and petroleum, described as "extraordinarily large," today topped improvements in America's 1932 export trade cited in figures of the chamber of commerce of the United States.

Its report compared the first six months of this year with the corresponding 1931 period and said:

"Twenty-four principal exports out of 86 were shipped abroad in larger quantities in that period than in the same half of last year . . .

"The prices of many exports were the lowest in years, which accounted to a large extent for the small total value of our exports, $841,077,000, which was 36 per cent lower than last year and was 61 per cent below the average value of the five years 1927-1931. Despite this heavy loss, the United States still maintains her rank as the leading export nation."

The half-year cotton, wheat and petroleum shipments were said by the chamber to have exceeded both 1931's corresponding figure and the five-year averages.

Cotton exports of 2,267,884,000 pounds were valued at $161,572,000, which the chamber said was 2 per cent larger than in 1931. Wheat shipments totaled 37,192,000 bushels in the chambers figures, and were valued at $22,728,000, or 41 per cent more than last year.

"Crude petroleum exports set an all time mark in the January-June period of this year," the chamber's statement continued. "Our shipments abroad of crude petroleum, made chiefly to Canada and Japan, totaled 14,176,000 barrels. . . . The value of this record volume $12,685,000 exceeded last year's total by 22 per cent."

MISSING TEXAN FOUND IN MUD

FORT STOCKTON, Texas, Oct. 1. (INS)—His automobile mired in the mud 20 miles from here, R. E. Ellis, wealthy Fort Stockton business man, was found after being missing for two days.

Relatives had offered a $1,000 reward for information concerning him. The pilot of an airplane, who had been searching for several hours, located the stranded automobile and found Ellis calmly awaiting to be rescued.

RETIRING MEMBERS OF CABINET DELIVER SEALS AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

LONDON, Oct. 1. (AP)—The three principal retiring cabinet members who resigned Wednesday over a disagreement on the protective tariff policy of the Ottawa conference agreements delivered their seals of office to the king at Buckingham palace today.

The leave-taking of the three veterans, Lord Snowden, Sir Herbert Samuel and Sir Archibald Sinclair, was the occasion for a brief ceremony in the state apartments.

Their successors, Stanley Baldwin, Sir John Gilmour and Sir Godfrey Collins, were handed the seals by his majesty in the privy council session which followed.

Mustangs Beaten On Slow Gridiron By Tech's Eleven

S. M. U. Goes Down Before Matadors in 6 to 0 Dope Upset

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—The Southern Methodist university Ponies, last year's Southwest conference champions, lost to Texas Tech Saturday, 6-0, in their second appearance of the new season.

Rain fell during a large part of the game. There were frequent fumbles and few passes were completed. Tech scored in the third period, Martin taking the ball over. The try for the extra point failed.

The Ponies failed to score after placing the ball inside the Tech one-yard line in the first half on a long end run by Baxter. They tried two plunges at the center of the line without gaining, then lost two yards on a try at the Matadors' right tackle. Tech was penalized half the distance to the goal line on the play but the fourth try at the line failed and the ball went over.

It was Tech's second appearance this season against a Southwest conference team, the Texas Aggies having beaten the Matadors, 7-0, at Amarillo a week ago.

Childress Comes Back to Trounce Memphis 19 to 0

Bobcats Break Even On Heavy Week-End Scoring Over Cyclones

CHILDRESS, Texas, Oct. 1.—A Childress High school football team that showed substantial improvement overnight evened the score in its heavy week-end schedule by defeating Memphis High school, 19 to 0, before a big crowd of fans here Saturday night. Friday night the Bobcats were beaten by Chillicothe, 26 to 7, but the reversal seemed to have spurred the team to greater things, and it showed to much better advantage against the Memphis Cyclone.

The Memphis defense failed to budge during the first half and the Cats had to be satisfied with a 0-0 count at the intermission. During the first two periods the Childress team scored five first downs to Memphis' three and kept the ball in enemy territory most of the time, but lacked the scoring punch until the third period. Two touchdowns in the third and one in the fourth accounted for the scoring, with Ratican leading the relentless attack from his halfback position. Bradshaw and Johnson also contributed heavily to the ball carrying chores and Newberry at guard turned in a brilliant game.

For the Memphis eleven Greene, Flannery and Boles, the latter at center, were leading lights.

Childress outscored the invaders only 8 to 7 in first downs, but managed to play most of the contest in Cyclone territory.

The lineups:

REJUVENATED PRINCETON SCORES OVER AMHERST

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 1. (US)—Princeton's Tigers, rejuvenated by Fritz Crisler and a new staff of coaches, opened the 1932 campaign Saturday with a soft victory over Amherst.

The score was 22 to 0, the result of three touchdowns and a safety. Two of the touchdowns were well earned, but the other was the result of a wild pass by the Amherst center. Ellwood Kaulbaugh, the Princeton center, fell on the ball behind the enemy's goal. Their safety, registered in the third period was the result of another loose pass. Captain Cadigan fumbled it behind his own goal, but fell on it.

Jack James scored one of the other touchdowns with a 20-yard run early in the second period and Millard Draudt registered another in the final quarter with an eight-yard dash around Amherst's left end.

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE VEGETABLE DEALER AND PRODUCE MEN PROTEST

CHURT, Surrey, England, Oct. 1. (UP)—David Lloyd George, war time premier of Britain, has turned vegetable dealer—at cut rates.

Every Saturday his farmyard presents the appearance of a veritable market. The people of the district come in scores to buy their supplies of vegetables of him.

Two qualities commend Lloyd George's produce to his customers. The vegetables are fresh, and they can be bought at half the ordinary market price.

Lloyd George chats with his customers and recommends his produce with the assurance of a lifetime vegetable hawker. The other produce traders, however, do not appreciate the former premier's competition. One said:

"We have to pay heavy rents for our shops or road stations, and also heavy assessment charges. He escapes them entirely. It is taking the bread out of our mouths."

BRIDWELL BRINGS REGISTERED HERD TO ARCHER RANCH

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Oct. 1.—One of the finest herds of registered Hereford cattle in the state was brought to Archer county Saturday, when J. S. Bridwell of Wichita Falls, purchased 200 head from the receiver of Colbert & Son at Stamford. The herd, made up of 150 cows, 40 yearlings, and seven bulls, was delivered at the Bridwell ranch, 11 miles south of Archer City Saturday. They were delivered in oil field trucks, which had been transformed into cattle trucks and attracted wide attention as they passed through the city.

The herd is considered one of the finest in the United States and some of the cows are show cattle, which have attracted nation-wide attention. Two of the bulls in the herd were purchased by Colbert & Son for $6,000 and $3,000 respectively.

Mr. Bridwell's ranch of 5,000 acres was formerly owned by Col. Newt J. Jones and the first white faced cattle brought to Archer county grazed on it in 1889. The tract has changed hands several times since then and was purchased by Mr. Bridwell about two months ago from Archer county.

Since the purchase Mr. Bridwell has had a score of workers transforming it into one of the finest livestock farms in this section.

Fifty head of registered Herefords were purchased from the Colbert ranch last week and moved to the Charles L. Abercrombie ranch, south of Archer City.

COOLIDGE TO MAKE HOOVER SPEECH AT MADISON SQUARE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—A new name was added today to the list of Republican campaigners—Calvin Coolidge, private citizen of Plymouth, Vt.

In Madison Square garden, the night of Oct. 11, the former president will voice his appeal for the re-election of Hoover and Curtis.

Already, in the pages of a magazine, Coolidge has set forth his reasons why there should be a Republican victory in November.

In announcing the Coolidge address, Chairman Sanders, of the Republican national committee, said the Madison Square garden gathering "would be one of the greatest rallies of the campaign."

Monday night will hear the opening programs of the Republican radio league with William Allen White, Kansas editor, as the first speaker. For five nights a week until the election the league will sponsor 15-minute programs.

Only two cabinet officers were announced for addresses during the coming week: Secretary of Labor Doak in Wytheville, W. Va., Oct. 6 and in Chicago Oct. 8; and Secretary of the Treasury Mills who will make two speeches on the Pacific coast.

Vice President Curtis' itinerary will include Kansas City Monday; Maryville, Mo., Tuesday; Lincoln, Neb., Wednesday; Omaha, Thursday, and Bismarck, N. D., Saturday.

LIST OF DEATHS IN CALIFORNIA GROWS

munication with the stricken area was virtually paralyzed. Rescue workers trying to get in believed the reports as to the number missing may be only partial.

Six Towns in Path

The flood is believed to have struck at least six towns—Tehachapi, Monolith, Caliente, Woodford, Arvin and Mojave—with varying degrees of intensity. Nine bridges were swept out.

Inspector W. E. Snell of the state highway patrol reported that possibly 30 lives were lost.

Those reported dead were:

A. H. Ross, Bakersfield, Southern Pacific engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Caad, owners of a Woodford service station, and two sons.

Mrs. Nell Cooper, Caliente telephone operator and a 2-year-old niece.

Three unidentified patients of the Kern county tubercular hospital at Keene.

Two unidentified men.

Ten of the 15 persons who had taken refuge at the Caad service station are not accounted for.

Pilot Reports Damage

Carrying 10 passengers from San Francisco safely through storms which still raged in the mountains, Harry W. McGee, United Air Lines pilot, reported when he reached United airport at Burbank, near Los Angeles, that Tehachipi seemed to have been deeply inundated, but the water had receded when he passed over, leaving large deposits of mud in the streets.

Communication with Tehachapi was completely cut off.

The bodies of Peter Caad Jr., 19, and one of the unidentified men were found at Woodford. Their watches were stopped at 8:16 p. m., indicating the time the flood struck last night.

Patients at the sanitarium at Keene cowered in terror as the flood swept away small buildings and threatened the main structure, the flood came there without warning.

O. M. Brown, a Schenectady, N. Y., motorist, arrived here from the flood area today and told of seeing several bodies. Automobiles were swept from some of the roads, he said.

While all the inhabitants dashed to safety on high ground, a wall of water was reported to have demolished nearly every dwelling in the little community of Oak Creek, north of Mojave.

Fourteen Lose Lives

CHIHUAHUA CITY, Mexico, Oct. 1. (AP)—The flooded Chuviscar river, sweeping through suburbs of this city, rose more than a foot suddenly today, destroying many homes and trapping a number of residents, who were rescued by police and firemen. Fourteen lives were lost.

Four hundred thirty homes now have been washed away or destroyed and upwards of 500 families are homeless.

Seven persons were trapped by a sudden rise of the San Pedro at Mineral Santa Eulalia, Chihuahua, today, and were drowned before help could reach them.

Seven lives were lost early in the week, one near Monterey and six at Neujutla, Hidalgo, as the rivers rose near those cities under the scourge of seemingly incessant rainfall.

A score or more of villages have been inundated by the Pesqueria river, which runs near Monterey in the state of Nuevo Leon; the San Pedro river in Chihuahua; and the Chuviscar.

The San Pedro has flooded several villages and was reported as more than three miles wide at Mineral Santa Eulalia.

Communications have been disrupted throughout the northern part of the republic. The railroad bridge at Ortiz was so badly damaged that traffic between Torreon and El Paso, Texas, will be crippled for two weeks.

The Chuviscar swept through the suburbs of Chihuahua City today, rising more than a foot in a very short time.

Chuviscar meets the Sacramento river in the Chihuahua suburbs and the two have spread out over a wide area.

Explosion on Ferry Boat Recalls Days When Reckless Captains Tied Weights on Safety Levers in Races

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Whether that familiar epitaph of steamboat history—"the boiler burst"—will be written again as the official verdict on the cause of the recent New York ferry boat blast taking over 70 lives soon will be answered by the steamboat inspection service.

Investigators have been at work almost since the boom of the explosion which tore apart the steamer Observation in East river. But there is no inkling whether they will confirm the report of survivors: "The boiler burst."

The words have an ominous sound in steamboat history but the literal expression generally was "the boiler busted." So many of the high decked stern or side wheelers went up in smoke and steam that as early as 1826 safety barges were devised. But this arrangement, while safe and comfortable, was slow, and steamboats, with boilers placed safe and comfortable, was slow, and steamboats, with boilers placed where they would spray almost everybody on board with live steam in the event they gave way, gained most of the business.

The passengers of that day were taking chances on river cut-throats, fire, snags, gamblers and a few other things. The prospect of additional hazards in the shape of boilers which might turn suddenly into volcanoes didn't faze them much.

"Let 'em bust," was the attitude and "bust" they did. The builders learned their technique better but there was no insurance against reckless captains who tied weights on safety levers during frequent races with other packets. Or if the race were impromptu and a weight wasn't handy, they sent a hefty darkey down to sit on the lever. That was just as effective in conserving steam to add speed or in causing an explosion.

The Moselle's boilers shattered near Cincinnati in 1851, killing 230. The investigation showed the safety lever was anchored during a race with another boat. There was a great outcry about this but the boats which made the best time generally made the most money. The Moselle wasn't the first or the last in a long series of chronicles of death and destruction.

Members of Executive Committee For Golden Jubilee Honor Guest At Wichita Club Dinner Saturday

Members of the executive committee of the 50th anniversary committee and their aides, numbering approximately 150 Wichitans, gathered at the Wichita club Saturday night as the guests of other citizens of Wichita Falls.

The dinner meeting was to show the appreciation of "the city" for those who helped the city "to find itself" in presentation of the gigantic "golden jubilee."

Special honor was accorded special committee members by Wilburn Page, assistant manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. The group included Harry Hines, campaign chairman; J. Will Gray, concession; Jack Barnard, style show; Gerald Pond, bands; Kindel Paulk, decorations and commercial floats; Zack Hurt, fiddle band concert; the Rev. Father Patrick J. F. O'Beirne, Catholic religious services; Louis Pink, Jewish religious services; Dr. O. L. Powers, Protestant religious services; J. E. Musick of Burkburnett, water polo; Mike Emmert, pioneer transportation; Guy Airey, ticket sales; Arthur Howard, acting chairman pioneer reception; A. C. Estes, junior rodeo; Miss Juanita Kinsey, pageant director; Charles Featherston, rodeo chairman; and Leonard Stroud, rodeo director.

Members Toasted

Noteworthy was the presentation of certificates of appreciation to members of the executive committee.

Each executive committee member was toasted by Wichita Falls citizens prior to presentation of the certificates, and each member responded to the toasts.

Committee members and those who toasted them were as follows: A. E. Kelly by Harry Hines; John Boswell by Don T. Haynes, who also complimented the women members of the chamber of commerce staff; R. D. Donnell by Dudley R. Foy; Marvin Smith by Jack Barnard; T. J. Waggoner Jr. by J. S. Bridwell; Tom Burnett by J. H. Allison; Horrace Robbins by Gerald Coffey; Lester Jones by Leon Denton; Leslie Humphrey by Temple Shell; John F. O'Donohoe by Jerry Vinson; R. E. Huff by J. L. Jackson Jr.; R. E. Shepherd by Dr. H. T. Wood; and Walter D. Cline by Luther Hoffman.

The response by Mr. Cline concluded the speaking program.

Appreciation of the work done by Mr. Page and Mr. Foy was presented by Darrold Kahn of radio station KGKO. Walter Nelson Jr. was toastmaster. A singsong was presented by R. E. Shepherd and a musical program was offered by Frank Bird and his Bluebirds band.

BIRTHS EXCEED DEATHS TWO TO ONE SEPTEMBER

Births exceeded deaths almost two to one in the city during September, with 62 stork visits and 33 sweeps of the grim reaper's scythe reported to the city health department during the month.

There were 21 quarantines in the 30-day period as follows: Whooping cough, seven; typhoid fever, one; scarlet fever, eight, and diphtheria, five.

FOREIGN STUDENTS MAY WORK FOR THEIR BOARD UNDER CERTAIN CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (US)—Foreign students attending American schools will be permitted to work for the board and room provided they carry successfully a full course of study, Secretary of Labor Doak ruled today.

This is a modification of his recent order that aliens who come to this country to study shall not work in competition with American labor.

The modified rule provides that they may build fires, mow lawns, wait on tables or attend to other chores in exchange for board and room, but cannot perform any service for wages.

The modification applies only to students who entered the country before last August. New arrivals will not be allowed to do any kind of work.

Foreign students will not be allowed to accept a scholarship or fellowship.

MONTAGUE COUNTY VOTES TO IMPROVE PRINCIPAL ROADS

NOCONA, Texas, Oct. 1.—Montague county voted Saturday for a road improvement program, which it is expected will result in the expenditure of approximately one million dollars on the county highways.

With only a few small boxes, which cannot change the result, out, the vote Saturday night authorized the commissioners court to issue warrants not to exceed $80,000 for the purchase of right of ways for highways No. 2 and No. 5, and for roads from Montague to Nocona and Montague to Saint Jo and the improvement of roads in precinct No. 1. The vote was 970 for the warrants to 273 against.

Under the recent federal aid provision, Montague county qualified by the vote Saturday for the expenditure of one million dollars on Montague county roads. Right of ways for highways No. 2, from Bowie to Red river and No. 5, across the county from Ringgold to east of Saint Jo, from the Clay county line to the Cooke county line, will be purchased by the terms of the election.

The vote by boxes:

U. S. ENDS FIRST QUARTER OF 1932 $400,000,000 IN RED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—The government ended the first quarter of its 1933 fiscal year with a deficit of $400,000,000.

The quarter concluded Sept. 30 and the treasury statement for Sept. 29, issued today, showed it had collected in the three months a total of $431,489,016, spending meanwhile, $833,809,930. The net shortage was $402,320,914, about $20,000,000 less than the deficit accumulated by this time last year.

The receipts were $187,000,000 less than collected in the same period of last year but the expenditures also were less, by $168,000,000.

The new taxes levied in the billion dollar bill last month began to produce sizeable sums, and for the quarter the miscellaneous tax section, under which most of the new taxes are collected, showed a gain of $26,000,000, for a total of $167,490,887. However, income taxes dropped $130,000,000 to $172,824,983. Customs duties also fell off sharply, amounting to $67,838,389 for the three months against $107,268,600 in the same period of last year.

The first figures showing what the treasury expects to receive in 12 months, Secretary Mills said recently, will be presented to congress in December when President Hoover sends up his budget message.

The reduction in expenditures brought about by the economy program while substantial, was cut materially by the outlays for relief of unemployment and business reconstruction.

Tree Bears Different Fruits

PENDER, Neb. (UP)—Mrs. E. B. Johnson, of Pender, canned two kinds of cherries from the same tree. Half of the tree bore yellow fruit and half red fruit.

A shortage of working horses in Nevada became acute during the late hay harvest.

INSULLS ORDERED TO RETURN HOME FOR QUESTIONING

State's Attorney Cables Three to Return to Chicago

SUITS AND THREATS OF SUITS BEGIN PILING UP

Company Receiver Authorized to Sue on Bonds Furnished Him

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (US)—The three Insulls—Samuel Sr., Samuel Jr., and Martin J.—sharply were ordered to return to Chicago by State's Attorney John A. Swanson today as suits and threats of suits began to pile up in the $2,000,000,000 Insull utility collapse.

The cable to the senior Insull and his son, addressed to the Hotel Prince de Galles in Paris, read:

"Revelations concerning your various companies disclosed by my investigation make it imperative that you return to Chicago immediately for questioning.

"Advise by cable if you will return voluntarily."

A similar message was sent to Martin Insull, the elder Insull's brother who sought a retreat at Orillia, Canada.

A second move to bring Martin Insull back from Canada came when Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley authorized Eugene E. V. Thayer, receiver for the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment company, to sue on the bonds furnished him as president of Middle West Utilities by two surety companies.

It was set forth that the total amount of these bonds was $300,000. The concerns involved were the New Amsterdam Casualty company and Lloyds of London. The suits will be fore a liability of "nearly $400,000 owed the Mississippi Valley company by Martin Insull."

It was pointed out that the bonding companies, if attacked as they now will be by the receiver, will undoubtedly in turn seek to bring Martin Insull back to Chicago.

SUPREME COURT TO RECONVENE MONDAY HAS HEAVY DOCKET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—The supreme court reconvenes Monday from its long summer recess, confronted by a crowded docket which has near its top the Scottsboro case, in which the lives of seven Alabama negroes hang upon the high court's opinion of the fairness of their trial.

Neither this nor other pending cases, however, will receive action at the first session. The court expects then to receive motions, pay a courtesy call to the White House and adjourn to Oct. 10. At the next Monday session it will begin announcing whether it will review some 370 cases which have accumulated during the recess.

Among the more important cases pending are two from Texas, involving the power of the state to restrict oil production.

Two echoes of the naval oil reserve cases are knocking at the court's door, one by the Pan-American Oil company, formerly owned by Edward L. Doheny, asserting title to oil land in the Elk Hills navale reserve, and another by H. Leslie Parker, who would compel Harry F. Sinclair to divide with him the millions he claimed Sinclair made from sale of stock in the Mammoth Oil company.

The tariff is before the court in five cases challenging the validity of presidential orders issued under its flexible provisions.

FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD AT ELECTRA FOR MRS. ALDERMAN

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 1.—Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Sunday from the home for Mrs. R. W. Alderman, 57, of the Enterprise community. The Rev. B. A. Shotser will officiate and Totten Brothers will direct burial in the new Electra cemetery. She succumbed Friday night following a lingering illness. She was a native of Bell county but had resided in this vicinity 15 years.

Survivors are her husband who is a farmer at Enterprise; three sons, Emory, Maude, Okla.; Edwin and C. W., Enterprise; three daughters, Mrs. Lillian Stanley, Fort Worth; Mrs. Roger Colbath, Kerrville; Mrs. Boyd Gilbert, Enterprise.

Around Town

Dr. T. R. Krohn has gone to Kirksville, Mo., to attend the 40th anniversary of the beginning of osteopathic instruction. He will also attend the annual convention of the Missouri State Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons and that of the American College of Osteopathic Surgeons. He plans to return about Oct. 10.

Dr. J. E. Kanatser of the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital was in Houston Saturday to attend a meeting of the Texas Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. He will return home Sunday.

J. W. Horner, 7, 2802 Grant, suffered a broken arm and head injury at 3:10 o'clock Saturday afternoon when he fell from a scooter. He was given emergency treatment at the Wichita General hospital.

Fire caused by a gas stove explosion in servant quarters at the rear of the Holliday apartments, 1704 Holliday, caused no damage. The blaze was extinguished by a unit of the city fire department at 8:10 o'clock Saturday evening.

Mrs. J. A. Rhodes, 1716 Eleventh, who has been receiving treatment at the Wichita General hospital since Sept. 27, was released Saturday.

Dr. Austin F. Leach, 1605 Hayes, underwent a slight operation at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital Saturday. He will be confined until Tuesday, authorities have reported.

DO YOU NEED REVENUE?

That set of unrented office rooms is "eating its head off." It's a part of your business overhead which includes taxes, interest charges, etc.

An unrented house, either business or residence or a spare room, offers the same problem to the home owner. You have no justification in assuming they can't be rented until you have put your problem up to Want-Ad Headquarters. If they can be rented at all, Daily Times-Record News Classified Ads will do the work at the lowest cost—two papers for the cost of one.

Tammany Board Deprives Mayor of New York of Power Making Budget Retaliates by Forcing Publicity

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—The Tammany-supported board of estimate today deprived Mayor Joseph V. McKee of his budget making powers and the mayor quickly retaliated by forcing the new budget directors to work in the open.

The breach which had been widening between the new mayor and Comptroller Charles W. Berry, both of whom have been mentioned as possible candidates for mayor, developed into an open break at today's meeting.

Backed solidly by Tammany members, Berry mustered 11 votes to five for McKee, and the mayor lost all power to draft a tentative budget. He had been working since he took office a month ago in an effort to save $100,000,000.

"School Teacher" Methods

Asserting the mayor had been using "school teacher" methods in his budget slashing, Berry told the board the practice of having the budget director, an employe of the mayor, prepare the docket was a practice that "can not be dropped too soon."

"I set forth that this board wishes to strip the mayor of his budget making powers. As a matter of fact he has no budget making powers."

Mayor McKee responded that the comptroller's offers of cooperation had been "as good as the paper on which they were written."

Although he acknowledged he was defeated, McKee went down fighting. The comptroller moved to have next Tuesday's meeting of the board an executive session, and was immediately blocked by the mayor.

"If you're going to make this budget, I can't keep you from doing it because you have more votes than I, but I refuse absolutely to countenance any budget-making in a secret session," he exclaimed.

Berry replied his suggestion was "merely for the sake of orderly procedure" and that he was "perfectly satisfied to have an open session."

Charlevoix, Mich., has received a gift of a 200-acre park from a former lamplighter.

Five Men Rob New York Bank Truck of $13,000

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (UP)—Five bandits robbed a bank truck of $13,000 today in a minute and a half flat.

Stopping an armored car of the Chemical Bank & Trust Co. on the waterfront, the bandits completed their holdup with neatness and dispatched, and no gunplay. They worked so fast that the two guards, Jacob Holder and Henry Bond, didn't have time to draw their pistols.

The robbers' car, a dark sedan pulled directly in front of the bank truck and halted. While one man stayed at the wheel, the other four smashed the glass that encloses the coop where the pay roll messengers ride, scooped up the cash, dashed back to their car and were off.

When detectives later interviewed the dazed messengers and some witnesses to the holdup, which occurred in broad daylight, they could find no one who could give a description of the bandits or the license number of the car.

BUSINESS AND SECURITY MARKETS GO INTO TEST PERIOD

Expected Seasonal Improvement in Business Should Become Apparent During October Industrialists Say

Bright Spots in U. S. Business

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Twenty-five thousand additional workers have been taken on by the toy industry as a result of a September rush of orders, the toy association announced.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—A brisk demand for fall and winter garments was reported by clothing manufacturers here and in Utica, keeping employment at a high level.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—An upturn of nearly 20 per cent in motor car sales in this district during the last 30 days was reported by Fred Jones, vice president of the Oklahoma City Motor Car Dealers association.

BALTIMORE.—Baltimore and Ohio railroad loaded 123,222 cars of freight in the first 20 days of September, a gain of 13,614 cars over the corresponding period of August.

DETROIT.—Chrysler corporation registered 10 to 17 per cent more of all cars in the first seven months this year than last, Walter P. Chrysler announced.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—Five hundred workers will be recalled Tuesday by the Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron company, which will raise pig iron production in this district by 400 tons daily.

NEW YORK.—Less banks were closed during September than in any month this year, except March, the American Banker reported today, with a September total of 56 suspensions. In March there were 55.

COFFEYVILLE, Kan.—The Missouri Pacific railroad has re-employed 200 trainmen to handle increased freight traffic on the central and southern Kansas divisions of the railroad.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—The Massman Construction company plans to start work at once on a $206,442 government dike project at Lexington bend on the Missouri river. The Kansas City Bridge company bid of $186,835 was low on DeWitt bend project and Bilhorn, Bowers & Peters were low at $104,202 for Eureka bend.

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Business and the security markets today enter the critical autumn test period. October is the month that business must make good to confirm the summer advance in the stock market.

This year there is the added factor of a national election, but, despite this, if there is to be at least a good seasonal recovery in business it should become apparent this month.

September, which marked the close of the third business quarter, failed to give any conclusive signs of how strong the business trade wind will blow this fall.

It did, however, report good seasonal gains in two important indices—electric power consumption and railroad freight car loadings, but otherwise the record was flat. But in September a year ago, there was not even this improvement in power and loadings.

The key to the whole situation lies in whether the public buys or not. If the public starts to buy, with store shelves as barren as they are reported to be, there is a chance for a fair sized pick up in general business, which might be the turning point of the depression.

Hopes for this resumption of buying lie on two things:

1. Continued cool, seasonal weather.
2. Inflation.

One of the big handicaps to even seasonal gains during this depression has been the unseasonable fall, winter and spring weather. In recent weeks, the weather has turned suddenly cool, and department stores in the New York district have been having the largest crowds since 1929.

Tremendous Credit

As for inflation, that becomes more imminent by the hour with the tremendous amount of credit the government is pumping into business through its various agencies, including the R. F. C. and the federal reserve.

In 13 of the last presidential election years, business has shown a gain over September in all but four years. These four years, however, were all depression years. They were 1876, 1884, 1900 and 1920. The declines from September in those years was one per cent, except in October, 1920, when the drop was four per cent. This was the first year of the 1920 depression.

In the other years the gains ranged up to three per cent over September. In 1880 business rose from four per cent above normal in September to six per cent above in October. In 1888 it advanced three per cent. And in 1912 and 1916 the increase was two per cent.

The stock market has actually lost headway since the end of August. The price index for 30 industrial stocks closed last night at $71.56, compared to $73.16 at the end of August.

To carry aggressively on it will have to have help either from business or the commodity markets. After the unfilled tonnage report of U. S. Steel corporation on the 10th, the market will have some bad news to hurdle. Corporation earnings for the most part in the third quarter were bad and they will start to dribble out around the 15th.

Livestock

Midwestern Livestock Review

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 1. (AP) (USDA)—Cattle trade during the week under review was slow with most all classes under pressure. A sluggish dressed beef market continued to have a depression influence to the trade on killing classes. At some points strictly choice fed steers held steady, but majority of beef steers, yearlings and she stock ruled weak to unevenly lower. Short fed natives and fed grassers were especially difficult to move and at several markets showed losses of 50c or more. Grass fat she stock sold about as low as any time this season, while lower grades of cows ruled steady to strong.

The movement of stockers was larger and the quality best so far this season. Aggregate receipts at 11 markets were estimated at 225,300, as compared with 238,135 last week and 234,036, the corresponding period a year ago.

Fat lambs are closing steady to unevenly lower as compared with a week ago, a few centers reported losses of 25@50c. Feeding lambs ruled steady to 25c lower. The week's supply approximating 451,000 was 15,000 larger than last week and 99,000 short of a year ago.

Total offerings of hogs for the week were around 351,000, against 350,112 last week and 427,311 a year ago. Current quotations are unevenly 10@40c lower than last Saturday. Chicago had a late top of $4.30.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 1. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Hogs—Receipts 1,200; generally steady with yesterday's average; top $3.85 on 190 to 240 pounds; other 170 to 240 pounds, $3.75@3.85; sows, $2.90@3.15.

Cattle—Receipts 400. Calves—Receipts 250. For week: Killing classes mostly 25 to 75c lower; short fed steers and yearlings off most; lower grade cows steady to strong; vealers weak to 50c lower; calves steady to easier; stockers weak to 25c lower; feeders 25 to 50c lower. Week's tops: Yearling steers, $8.00; best heavy steers, $6.75; vealers, $5.50; bulk fed steers, $5.50@6.25; grassers, $3@5.00; stockers and feeders, $3.50@5.75; choice yearling stockers to $6.60.

Sheep—None. For week: Range lambs steady to 15c lower; natives 25 to 40c lower; sheep steady; top range lambs to packers, $5.25; bulk westerns to packers, $4.85@5.25; late top native lambs, $4.60; slaughter ewes, $1.25@1.75; feeding lambs, $4@4.50.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (AP)—Cattle—Receipts 50. Calves—Receipts 50. For week: Killing stock, except stockers and calves, closed 15 to 25c lower; some spots off more; dry lot finished steers and yearlings to $6.50; extreme peak of $6.60 paid Tuesday by packers for 62 head of 909-pound average Canadian county fed steers; butcher classes closed 15 to 25c lower; [illegible] fat cows, $2@2.75 range; few to shippers, $3.00; bulk good-choice vealers $4.50@5.00; heavy calves, $4@4.50; stockers and feeders steady.

Hogs—Receipts 400. For week: 5 to 15c lower but packers paid $3.70 top today; [illegible] peak, $3.80; bulk around $3.50 and up; sows and stags closed $2.25@2.95.

Sheep—Receipts 50. For week: Closed 15c lower in sympathy with other markets under light supplies; good-choice native lambs to $4.50 today; best medium-good kinds $4.00 and up at close.

FORT WORTH, Oct. 1. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Hogs—Receipts 200; lightweight truck hogs to small killers topped at $3.35, or about 10c lower; 165-pound truck hogs, $3.75; good 260-pound rail butchers to packers, $3.75, or steady with yesterday's packer [illegible].

Cattle—Receipts 100. Calves—Receipts 25; nominal. STOCKS ADVANCE AT CLOSE AFTER LISTLESS SESSION

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Stocks remained in a state of suspended animation today, although the market did manage to muster enough activity in the last quarter hour to bring a slightly higher closing.

Routine transactions of floor traders again accounted for the major part of the morning's transfers, which reached the low total of 336,330 shares, the smallest Saturday's business since July 9.

Fluctuations were fractional for the most part. Week-end covering lifted prices slightly at the close, giving some leaders a gain of as much as a point.

Rail shares reacted a little when the carloadings figures were published, but steadied again. Freight statistics for the week ended Sept. 24 showed a gain of 8,444 cars over the previous period, a rise somewhat smaller than had been expected. Nevertheless, the percentage decline, 19.2, from 1931 was the smallest for any week this year, thus maintaining a two months' trend.

Wall street has rather been anticipating that the stock market would be steered by commodities over the next fortnight or so, but the two major staples moved in opposite directions today. Wheat firmed half a cent on reports of dry southwestern weather and smaller Canadian crop estimates, while cotton reacted after yesterday's sharp advance, trading in the bond market was the dullest in nearly a year.

STUBBORN UPWARD TREND DEVELOPS IN GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Stubborn advancing tendencies developed in Chicago grain values today, influenced by suggestions that the Winnipeg wheat market was receiving powerful support.

Evening of accounts to prepare for monthly unofficial domestic crop summaries on Monday served also to give wheat prices a firm undertone, one private monthly report issued today contained a forecast that Untied States winter wheat acreage for 1933 would be about 4 per cent less than last year.

Wheat closed steadfast at the day's top level, ⅜@½c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn unchanged to ⅛c advance, oats unchanged to ⅛c up, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents decline.

Persistent commission house buying, partly for eastern account, proved heavy enough to absorb hedging sales and to keep the market pointing upgrade despite speculative profit-taking. Meanwhile, bulls cited as potential constructive factors a good domestic milling demand, a holding tendency by United States farmers and a continuance of dry weather over important sections of the southwest.

A notable let up of rural offering of old corn to arrive helped lend firmness both to corn and oats.

New York Coffee

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Coffee was nervous and irregular today, early reactions reflecting liquidation owing to an unfavorable view of the spot situation as reflected in sales of Grain Stabilization corporation coffee at 11½ to 15 or under trade ideas.

Nervousness over peace negotiations in Brazil continued and the market rallied partially on covering. No. 7 contracts closed 3 lower to 16 higher. Santos closed 49 lower to 7 higher. Closing quotations: No. 7, Dec. 6.49; March 6.06; May 5.85; July 5.70; Sept. 5.60; Santos—Dec. 9.70; March 8.80; May 8.52; July 8.36; Sept. 8.20.

Spot coffee easy. Santos 4's 13½. Rio 7's 9½.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Trade in wool has been rather quiet this week. Buyers with only small needs would occasionally pick up odd lots at slightly below recent maximum values, but these opportunities appear to be very limited, most large offerings were firmly held and customers desiring only small quantities of these lines had to pay full quoted values. Prices involved in a few transactions indicated a continued strong undertone in the wool market.

Constructive Job

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Unemployment relief funds in this state are to handle the construction of a series of emergency airports throughout New Jersey, according to the recent announcement of State Aviation Director Gill Robb Wilson.

Two million dollars is the estimated value of foodstuffs raised on Indiana unemployment relief gardens this summer.

BETTER WEATHER BRINGS REACTION IN COTTON PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Reports of better weather in the South and relatively easy Liverpool cables encouraged reactionary sentiment in cotton today and prices lost part of yesterday's advance.

December contracts sold off to 6.99 and closed at that figure, with the general market barely steady at net declines of 20 to 29 points. March eased off to 7.14 and the close was at the lowest prices of the day.

It appeared that quite a good many selling orders attracted by yesterday's advance had accumulated in the market here overnight. There was also selling through houses with Liverpool and Japanese connections and later in the morning there was a renewal of Wall street liquidation, while the demand from the trade was mostly on the declines.

Less rain was reported in the western belt, but there were continued reports of deterioration with some advices claiming that the crop in West Texas was going back rapidly.

Liverpool cables reported hedging and liquidation in that market. The amount of cotton on shipboard at U. S. ports awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 126,000 bales against 79,000 last year.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Today's short session in the cotton market was comparatively quiet with the course of prices downward, due largely to liquidation by buyers on yesterday's closing spurt and also to rather fair hedge selling and lack of buying support. The close was barely steady and at the bottom showing net losses for the day of 20 to 26 points.

The market turned easy on liquidation by yesterday's buyers and hedge selling and made lows for the day right at the end with December at 7.00 and January at 7.04 down 15 points from the highs. The close was barely steady at the bottom, December showing a net loss of 20 points and January 23 points.

Port receipts 39,941, for season 1,515,621, last season 1,340,557. Exports 41,482, for season 1,161,629, last season 811,314. Port stock 3,637,368, last year 3,407,981. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 122,645, last year 74,227. Spot sales at southern markets, 56,103, last year, 123,114.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 1. (INS)—There was a fair demand for spot cotton at the opening today, with prices steady. There were no receipts.

At noon, middling fair was quoted at 6.97d; strictly good middling, 6.32d; good middling, 6.27d; strictly middling, 6.07d; middling, 5.87d; strictly low middling, 5.77d; low middling, 5.67d; strictly good ordinary, 5.47d; good ordinary, 5.17d.

Futures opened steady, with October at 5.67d; January 5.61d, March 5.63d, May 5.64d, and July 5.64d.

CAPTAIN REVEALS HEROISM OF YOUNG AMERICAN SEAMAN WHO RESCUED THREE OF CREW OF 41

SEATTLE, Oct. 1. (AP)—The heroism of a 22-year-old seaman who swam through a beating surf which a lifeboat could not dare, to rescue the three survivors of a crew of 41 of the freighter Nevada from a lonely Aleutian island, was told today in the official report of Capt. R. J. Healy, commander of the rescue liner President Madison.

When boats of the Madison were kept from shore, E. Blomberg, youthful able seaman, plunged into the surf with a small line and swam to the rocks, where he hauled in a large line on which suffering survivors were rescued.

The entire crew of the President Madison volunteered to man the two small boats sent out in gale-driven seas when the liner arrived alongside the Japanese freighter Oregon Maru at the scene of the tragedy in the North Pacific.

Three seamen of the Oregon Maru were injured when one of the lifeboats from that vessel capsized in the storm while trying to reach the Nevada.

Captain's Report

E. J. Stull, third officer of the Madison, was placed in charge of the rescue party.

The captain's report:

"The lowering of the boats was perfect and also was their approach to the beach. The President Madison, at that time was approximately a mile and a half from the shore line, from which point all operations could be closely observed. When the rescue party approached the beach, the surf was breaking so high they could not land a boat.

"The launch was then anchored, they drifted the lifeboat into the edge of the surf and Mr. E. Blomberg, able seaman of the President Madison, age 22, took a small line and swam to the rocks. He then hauled a larger line ashore with life buoy and life preservers, and managed to get the three men survivors through the surf to the lifeboat, after which he followed.

"The heroic action of this American seaman is an historical epic of the high seas, and is a marvelous tribute to the cause of American shipping. When the third officer, Mr. Stull, called for a volunteer to make the swim from the lifeboat, all the men wanted to go, but Blomberg was selected as the man who spoke up first, he being an exceptionally fine swimmer. They lashed the line around him, and as he dove into the cold and rough water, he made a remark that it was not so cold and not half bad, and then took off through the surf.

Hoisted Aboard

"Only five of the crew of the S. S. Nevada were on the beach, three of whom were still alive after 48 hours with nothing to eat or drink and no shelter. When the boats returned along side the President Madison at 4 p. m., the survivors had to be hoisted aboard.

"Apparently the S. S. Nevada struck at 8 p. m. Tuesday during a southeast gale and thick weather. In a few minutes she was a total loss. Their two lifeboats were launched immediately, but both capsized, all the occupants being drowned except the survivors who hung on to one until the boat drifted ashore, a battered wreck.

"How the survivors hung on to the life boat is a miracle for the water between the wreck and the shore is studded with reefs and pinnacle rocks. The captain of the S. S. Nevada, the third officer, and the wireless operator stayed with the ship but eventually disappeared. The wreck of the S. S. Nevada is in three pieces widely separated, and whe nthe President Madison was at the scene of the disaster, the seas were going over the bridge on the midship section, so no life could exist. It was apparent that she only held together a few minutes after she struck.

"The able seaman, Fritz Dewall, one of the survivors of the S. S. Nevada, the only one who at that time could recount any of the happenings, said that he could not tell the number of men in the crew, but thought that there were 35 lives lost. Further inofrmation will, of course, be obtainable after the survivors have rested and recovered from their horrible experience.

Magazine and Book Reviews

By L. N. CASON

With the Magazines

By L. N. C.

The article featured first on the cover of the August Bookman "You Too Can Be a Writer," had a sound to our ears of the old-time Indian medicine man's pledges concerning the virtues of his wares. We turned at once to see why the very conservative magazine had condescended to so much "blah."

◆ ◆ ◆

If you, who are writers or would be writers can possibly do so, read the article. It is an exposure of literary sharp practice with which many amateurs have come into contact. "Submit your manuscript to us for free reading," runs an advertisement, according to the author. If the story shows possibility (and it usually does so long as the writer bites), the agency advises a little polishing which the amateur may secure for a small fee. Under the impetus of such advertisements, the writer says, stories come in by the thousands and with them the small fees asked first. But it is a sort of literary "house-that-Jack-built," and even the most hopeful sucker finally loses faith. Future immortals of America fade away. "Some day," the author says, "an imbecile may win, but meanwhile there is many an innocent daily led to slaughter."

◆ ◆ ◆

Horace Gregory's article, "Our Writers and the Democratic Myth," in the same magazine, is one many critics will applaud and many will revile.

"In 1930," says Mr. Gregory, "literary criticism in America took on a self-consciously serious tone. The time had come to rebury the dead and the first funeral was that of the 1920's. Chief among these to be cremated and deposited within a vault, was H. L. Mencken . . ." Within the Mencken school there were many others marked for burial. Joseph Hergesheimer, James Branch Cabell, Carl VanVechten "the sophisticated romantics," were shoved into the funeral pyre without further ceremony. "In a word," the author says, speaking of Mr. Mencken, "H. L. Mencken was far more a part of American tradition than his critics (or himself) cared to admit, and that tradition is the Jeffersonian ideal of aristocratic libertarianism. He is chief mourner at its grave and he is not content to be merely the most important figure in the company of mules, but is eager to raise his voice in the first dirge."

Vachel Lindsay, Edgar Lee Masters, Carl Sandburg and many others are gently trod upon; the reader enjoys it in that same quaint spirit in which man laughs at his fellow man when the wind takes his hat down the street.

◆ ◆ ◆

It is hard to leave the Bookman, but stepping casually past the current Time, where we picked up the information that the late Nathaniel Charles Rothschild collected and classified fleas, (such luxuries the rich may afford), we approach September Harpers.

◆ ◆ ◆

Two articles in that magazine particularly appeal to us: "In Defense of Luxury," by J. B. S. Haldane and "The Disadvantages of Being Educated," by Albert Jay Nock. The latter is less enthralling because Mr. Nock seems to think that only men are educated. His article has never a "she" in it, and we hold a brief for our sex.

"Luxury today," says Mr. Haldane, "has a flavor of vice." He writes in earnest, but touches the subject with a pleasant levity. "All art is a luxury," he claims. "Unfortunately the converse is not true." On this statement he builds his thesis. He gives luxury the credit for such progress as humanity made until 70 years ago when Pasteur discovered the nature of infectious disease.

But your eyesight is good as ours. The entire article is worth reading.

Mr. Nock, speaking as we have said, for the male sex, differentiates between education as seen in the time of his late youth and until circumstances waked his interest again about six years ago. "The difference seemed to be," he writes, "that while education was still spoken of as preparation for life, the reparation was of a kind which bore less directly on intellect and character than in former time and more directly on proficiency."

The root of Mr. Nock's argument, it seems to us lies in this sentence: "Education deprives a young person of one of his most precious possessions, the sense of cooperation with his fellows."

Oh, pshaw.

Haughty males who look with scorn on women's magazines may find themselves given desirable information if they peep into the October Good Housekeeping. What's in a name? Just consider that everything that pertains to the making of a better American is a part of a good housekeeper's life.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes, author of "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," challenges the schools. He contends that the educational program of the nation must be changed if we would check the rising tide of criminals. Conceding that the American school system has reduced illiteracy to a minimum, Mr. Lawes says that this splendid and costly educational program has done nothing to mold the character of our people. His article is a powerful one, and it is one of the strongest pleas for opportunity for youth that we have ever read.

◆ ◆ ◆

Sometimes we feel that the world of today is like a ship afloat without helm or rudder. But there are lovely things that give us new hope. Very little children and very little animals, for instance. Take the cover on the September Good Housekeeping magazine. The hardest boiled men often smile at a fearless child. So long as age loves dependent youth, the ship can not be lost.

◆ ◆ ◆

The September Forum is as up to date as any current magazine in the form of its articles. "Are the Dry Licked?" by Paul Hutchinson, is a highlight on the convention stampedes of 1932. "Harvest Time" is a flesh and blood sketch of old customs and old-time people. Charles R. Walker is not exactly hopeful in his article on "Relief and Revolution," in which he touches on the prospect for the coming winter; one of the most realistic sketches is on "Bordet," the prophet of doom, whose serums have been the wonder of the ages. The more one sees of the Forum, the more one wishes to see it again.

◆ ◆ ◆

Then there's the Ladies' Home Journal. Samuel Crowther pleases us more than ordinarily because all America's salvation is not laid on the shoulders of women. He talks most interestingly on a new kind of thrift, the revaluation of our dollars.

◆ ◆ ◆

Billy Sunday is still reminiscing in the same issue about the sawdust trail with pictures of himself as an athletic minister of the gospel.

◆ ◆ ◆

Editorials in the Journal are so Pollyanish that we feel we must stop writing before we become bitter. We never were thankful just because we did not have the cross eyes the other fellow had.

The Admiral Sees—

WASHINGTON.—Development of flying boats capable of 4,500-mile non-stop flights, and of dirigibles of 9,000,000-foot gas capacity for transoceanic passenger service. All this is foreseen by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, who also says that the navy is developing a high speed engine, suitable for aircraft, of about 1,000 horsepower.

CHICAGO.—It took months for the covered wagons to make a trip across the United States. After that, automobiles came, and the first one of those vehicles took 44 days to make the trip. Now a new type plane on United Air Lines makes the trip from New York to the Pacific coast in 27 hours.

A New English Writer to the Fore

"INHERITANCE," by Phyllis Bentley. (The Macmillan Co. $2.50.)

The jacket of Phyllis Bentley's first novel warns you that it is good. That there has gone into it a genuine and fine creative energy and it is written much in the Forsyte manner, carrying as it does, a family from generation to generation. It is described by the London Times as a brilliant piece of work which will unquestionably be one of the books of the year.

Miss Bentley is an English woman, and the story is a chronicle of the Oldroyds, the dominating family of an English community around Yorkshire—a powerful romance of the real stuff of life.

On the frontispiece, the author has a short note in which she says: "Certain real incidents, persons and places of Yorkshire history put me in the mind to write this book, but as I have modified some details for the sake of unity, the whole must be regarded as fiction and not as fact, as what happened in my imaginary valley of the Ire, and not in the real West Riding valleys of Calder or Colne. I hope, however, that my fiction is symbolic and my valley typical."

In the story, the men of the Oldroyd family are portrayed as men of courage, strong of will and equally determined in affairs of business and of the heart. It is a canvass picture of Will Oldroyd, owner of a Yorkshire cloth mill, his clashes with his working men and his secret love for Mary Bamforth with whom he was reared, and whose brother, because of his "softness," allowed his sympathy for his fellow mill workers, who were endeavoring to have the 10-hour law passed to cause his downfall.

It is also the story of Will's two sons, Jonathan, who like his mother's brother, becomes a leader in the cause of the oppressed mill-workers; and Brigg, who succeeds his father as mill-owner and who ardently pursues Janie, the prettiest girl in all the Oldroyd connection. And it is the story of Brigg's son, the handsome young Francis, who like his forefathers, loves recklessly and marries dutifully.

Every page in the book abounds in action, and pulsates with life. The emotions of these simple mill people, some who have risen above the standards of the "piecener and cropper," and the revolt of the pieceners when the frames (the first machines to be used in woolen mills) were installed in the valley, are realistically described.

The opening of the story chronicles Yorkshire history about the year of 1812 and the reader is held spellbound as various members of the Oldroyd family are brought on the canvas, and go through the gamut of human emotions.

In the last chapters, when Francis Oldroyd and his family hold the spotlight, the years have passed over the first three generations and 1920-21 are reached. At this time, the story says, "all of a sudden, the bottom dropped out of the cloth market. Why this was so, Francis really found it difficult to say. Henry had sent him a book about the economic consequences of the peace, by a fellow called Keynes but Francis did not bother with it much, for he could not believe that a treaty so advantageous to England could really have disastrous effects, and he trusted Henry's theoretical mind. Be that as it might, in 1920 prices were high and trade booming, in 1921 there was such a slump that prices could scarcely be said to exist at all."

The Oldroyd family (mill-owners) also had their labor troubles. Organizations composed of the workmen, who held secret meetings, took secret pledges—fighting against too long hours—striving for a law to regulate the hours of women and children who worked in the mills—and who resented the installation of machinery which threw hand-labor out of work, sprung up over night all over the valley.

A sharp interplay of character is pictured. The impassioned struggle between workers and employers. The intense rivalry of strong men in all their relations. There are many dramatic scenes enacted at the secret meetings of the "Luddites" (the oppressed workers) held at the old inn on the moor; the murder of the first Oldroyd, the trial and the hanging; lover's quarrels; lame young Jonathan's 40-mile walk to York for a worker's meeting, and his agonizing struggle home again, through rain and darkness. Jonathan was an Oldroyd boy, born out of wedlock, who after being recognized by his father as his son, was still an ardent sympathizer of the oppressed.

The entire story is a vivid portrayal of life in the woolen textile industry, and unfolds a singularly dramatic story. "Inheritance" was released in America for publication, Sept. 15, and according to notices from the publishers, the advance sale is extremely large.

A New Western

"ROLLING STONE," by Westmoreland Gray (Bobbs-Merrill, $2).

Reviewed by Mary Louise Staley

Because of his stampeding imagination, Westmoreland Gray will never write the cowboy classics that have made Andy Adams famous. Gray writes to please—writes what he believes his public wants—a wild romance that would show Tom Mix or Hoot Gibson off to advantage in a western serial, or that will keep his reader bouncing on the edge of the divan unconsciously yelling, "Kill 'em."

Hell's Back Door, a strip of country along the Rio Grande in Presidio county, forms the rendezvous for a pack of cattle thieves operating around the Big Five ranches, one of which is owned by Patsy Millis—beautiful of course. Rolling Stone, also handsome and young, is sent by the cattle association to break up the gang of rustlers. He identifies himself to the owners of the Big Five, and immediately suspects one of them as being the boss rustler.

In the first place there are two gangs instead of one, and both are supplied with too many Sharp's rifles to make the climate enjoyable for the young detective who is armed with a sightless revolver worn on the left thigh, proving him to be a proponent of the fast cross-body draw. Stone works his way into the heart of the rustler camp through bribe and blackmail, is disarmed by Chink Donohue, the boss rustler's first lieutenant, and remains in the camp for several days in constant danger of being recognized or of news reaching the camp that he is a detective.

Stone finally secures the plans for stampeding the five herds, which have been fattened and rounded up for market, and the route by which the cattle are to be taken. He escapes from the camp and sells the plans to Arkansas Red, leader of the rival rustlers, trusting to luck that Red will intercept Donohue and that the two gangs will kill each other out instead of taking a chance on letting honest cowhands be killed in the affray. Everything works out according to scenario specifications and the two gangs are exterminated. Stone returns to woo Patsy Millis but finds himself just a shade late, so he feeds the box of candy to his horse.

Rolling Stone seems to have no difficulty in winning the confidence of cowmen or rustlers through his sincere but disinterested appearance. According to my experience with rustlers (unlimited as it is all in the imagination) they are just about as smart as detectives and a whole lot more wary of new acquaintances. And Rolling has more hunches than a woman and plays them with more skill than a Wall street broker, but the complications in this story deal with situations and not such trivial elements as veracity or reasonability.

Rolling Stone makes interesting light reading to be enjoyed, talked about with the youngsters, and to be remembered until it shall be enacted on the screen.

POLICE ARREST 447 DURING SEPTEMBER SERGEANT REPORTS

City police officers arrested 447 persons during September, the monthly report of Desk Sergeant R. M. Hurst, corporation court clerk, showed Saturday.

Of the 447 arrests made, distribution was as follows: Traffic 144, drunk 73, disturbing the peace 6, affray 5, assault 3, vagrancy 7, gaming 16, theft under $5 1, investigation and release 120, transferred to juvenile 6, transferred to federal 6, transferred to state 14, transferred to county 35, held for other counties 4, held for other states 2, sleepers 1, abusive language 1, violation of the wholesale ordinance 1, and indecent exposure 1.

There were 288 prisoners lodged in jail during September and at present there are 45 in jail.

There were 28 accidents and 13 injured persons investigated by the authorities. Six stolen cars, valued at $1,355, were recovered by police, and 11 stolen cars, valued at $2,275, were recovered by police and others.

Fines imposed during September totaled $1,371, Sergeant Hurst said, of which prisoners serving time are valued at $391 and cases appealed to higher courts are valued at $81, making a total collection of $897. There were 101 fines imposed, 136 bonds forfeited, 16 cases dismissed and one found not guilty. In all 12 cases were appealed, the report showed.

Scout Councils Seek Showing of Moving Picture

Boy Scout councils in Henrietta, Archer City and Paducah have all asked for first dates on the showing of "Scoutland," 1932 movie production of Director Don Ross and his cast of Wichita Falls scouts and scout officials.

The leads in this picture are played by Dan Martin, scoutmaster in troop 12; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross and J. Z. Taylor, 12-year-old scout in troop 12.

Final scenes will be shot Sunday with Dr. J. H. Farrell of the city health department, givng scouts examinations on merit badges for first aid to animals.

BLONDY HIGHT GIVEN FOUR MONTHS IN JAIL IN THEFT CASE HERE

H. A. (Blondy) Hight entered a plea of guilty to charges of misdemeanor theft before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Saturday afternoon and was sentenced to serve four months in the Wichita county jail. Judge Martin specified that the sentence would date back to July 30, the date of Hight's arrest, in order to give the defendant credit for the time he had already spent in jail.

Hight was indicted for felony theft but testimony offered at his first trial two weeks ago showed that the stolen property was worth less than $50. Judge Martin reduced the charge to a misdemeanor and the trial proceeded but the jury was unable to agree on a verdict.

Judge Martin Saturday overruled the motion for a new trial in the J. B. (Dink) Moore case and passed formal sentence on Moore, given two years in jail by a jury two weeks ago for felony theft.

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—One of the few Indians in the United States to complete a course in aeronautics is Mryon Bangs, who recently received a government-approved transport license here. Bangs is a member of the Osage tribe and lives in Hominy, Okla. He completed his course in less than five months.

U. S. STUDYING KARAKUL BREEDING

Karakul breeding stock from the Dundee ranch of Alex Albright is being used by the United States department of agriculture on its experiment station near Washington, in experiments intended to develop the possibilities of this breed in this country. One of the lambs on the government farm is pictured above.

Mr. Albright has been told by department of agriculture officials as well as by experienced fur dealers, that Texas is the ideal place for Karakul breeding. This is due in part to the fact that Texas soil furnishes the mineral content that is needed for lustrous fur. Karakul breeders in other sections have not had the success that Mr. Albright has had.

There are now about 1,000 head of Karakuls on the Dundee farm. In spite of the depression, Mr. Albright finds a good market for the pelts.

Nine Counties Southern Oklahoma Show 50 Per Cent Increase Early Cotton Crop Ginned Prior Sept. 16

Cotton ginned prior to Sept. 16 in nine southern Oklahoma counties of the Wichita Falls area, this year totaled 24,591 bales as compared to 11,444 bales in the same counties for the same period of 1931.

The entire area showed an increase of more than 50 per cent, while the Cotton county increase was approximately 75 per cent and the Jackson county increase was approximately 70 per cent. No county showed a decrease.

The report by counties, made public by the U. S. department of commerce, follows:

WESTERN EVANGELIST TO PREACH SUNDAY TO DEAF AND DUMB PEOPLE

Mrs. Elsie R. Peters of Los Angeles, only woman evangelist who holds services for deaf and dumb congregations, will appear at the Assembly of God church, Fifth and Broad, at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon as a feature of the one-week revival service which opens Sunday.

All deaf and dumb people of Wichita Falls are invited to attend the services which will be given in the sign language as well as by word of mouth. Songs also will be transmitted in the sign language for the congregation, according to the Rev. L. M. Bowlen, pastor.

Evangelist Jeff Gibbs and Mrs. Gibbs will conduct the regular morning and evening services at the church and daily meetings during the week.

AMERICAN LEGION SPANISH WAR VETS MEET THIS WEEK

The regular semi-monthly meeting of Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion will be held in the veterans' room at the Memorial auditorium Wednesday night, instead of Thursday this week, it was announced Saturday by Post Commander L. I. Lucey.

The legion meeting is to be held a day early because David C. McCaleb camp of the Spanish War Veterans have a meeting scheduled for Thursday, when out of town officials are expected to be present.

RENFRO PURCHASES STOCK AND FIXTURES OF STALEY BUILDING PHARMACY HERE

The Renfro Drug company has purchased the stock and fixtures of the Staley Building pharmacy and is moving them to Fort Worth where the Renfro company will open its 20th Fort Worth store at Eighth and Magnolia avenues.

In buying this stock the Renfro Drug company also acquired the big file of prescriptions, not only of the Staley Building pharmacy but also of the old Wilford Harrison Drug store.

These prescriptions, numbering 266,780, have been transferred to the Renfro No. 1 store at Eighth and Scott and can be refilled if the customers bring the prescription numbers.

Mrs. Sadie Braum Former Wichitan Dies Connecticut

Word has been received by friends here of the death of Mrs Sadie Braum, former Wichitan, in Stamford, Conn., two weeks ago. Funeral services were held in that city.

Mrs. Braum was the daughter of Charles Steelsmith, pioneer oilman in the Electra field, who was killed in an accident on an Electra lease during the early days of that field.
