GUNBOAT SENT TO LOOK INTO NEW FRICTION

Captain Of Tugboat Bound With Rope, Say Accusers

SHANGHAI, Aug. 15 (AP)—New Anglo-Japanese friction arose today as British naval officers accused Japan of discourtesy to the Union Jack and molesting a British tugboat captain.

Japanese officials said the incident caused the British to dispatch the gunboat Scarab to investigate the occurrence near Tungchow, at the mouth of the Yangtze river.

The British gunboat Victoria, was said by British naval officers to have been boarded by Japanese navy men, her captain trussed with a rope, and the vessel's Union Jack lowered unceremoniously.

A Japanese flag was run up in its stead.

The Scarab was believed to be in the vicinity still investigating.

German Liner May Fly 'Round World

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—The record round-trip flight to New York by the German airliner Brandenburg may be followed soon by a 'round-the-world flight.

An air ministry spokesman admitted that another long distance flight was planned, but said "no information about it will be divulged in advance."

The big plane landed at Tempelhof airdrome yesterday afternoon after flying from Floyd Bennett field in 19 hours and 55 minutes.

Its time was five hours and 50 minutes better than the only previous nonstop west-east crossing from New York to Berlin, made by the late Wiley Post in 1933.

The approximately 4,100 mile homeward journey, which completed the first aerial round trip between Germany and the United States in nonstop flights, was made at an average speed of about 207 miles an hour.

TAXI DRIVERS STRIKE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (AP)—A strike of 1,000 yellow cab drivers today left only approximately 100 taxicabs operating in the city. They were the cabs of independent companies, unaffected by the low cab drivers strike called at dawn by the A. F. of L. Taxi drivers union for a renewal of a guaranteed minimum wage.

Rare Stamp

100 ABSENTEE BALLOTS CAST

Absentee ballots for the second primary election are coming in slowly, County Clerk Charlie Thut said this morning. Only 100 absentee ballot have been cast to date, half of those by voters coming in to vote, and the other half by those who have mailed in ballots.

Voting of absentee ballots began August 8 and will end August 23, four days in advance of the second primary election. In the first primary election, July 23, 400 absentee ballots were cast.

Friday is the last day for the second campaign expense reports to be filed and next Monday will be the last day for independent and nonpartisan candidates to file with the Texas secretary of state for a place on the general election ballot.

On September 10, the county clerk is to certify local nominees to the secretary of state, and two days later the state executive committee of the Democratic party meets to canvass the election returns and certify nominees for the general election ballot.

Poll tax paying for 1939 will start October 1, and absentee balloting for the general election will be held between October 18 and November 3, five days in advance of the general election.

The state election board, governor, secretary of state, and attorney general will meet on November 23 to canvass the returns on state and district offices.

On January 1, most state and county officers are installed in their offices, on January 10 the legislature convenes and one week later the governor and lieutenant governor are inaugurated.

Dust Bowl Third As Big As In 1936

Control of the so-called dust bowl is nearer realization today than at any time since it came into existence, H. H. Finnell, regional conservator of the Soil Conservation Service, said in Amarillo today.

The area where severe dust storms may be expected to originate next winter, under present conditions, is confined to a scant third of the blowing land which made up the dust bowl in the spring of 1936, Finnell said.

Tammany Politician Protests as Racket Charge Trial Begins

By JOHN FERRIS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—With the vigorous assertion: "This is a political battle," James J. Hines, Tammany district leader, went to trial today on conspiracy charges growing out of the policy racket.

"This is not the first political battle I have been in," said the 61-year-old politician, as he awaited the selection of a jury from a special panel of 300 veniremen. "I am going to win this battle, too. I can't lose.

"I cannot be convicted on the testimony of a bunch of squealers. I have assured by friends of my innocence. I've told them not to worry, because I'm not worrying."

Of Thomas E. Dewey, the New York district attorney who brought him to trial, Hines merely said: "He is a young man with a duty to do."

Hines appeared early in the courtroom of Justice Ferdinand Pecora of the state supreme court. He sat and looked carefully at the faces of the veniremen.

Half of the 300 dashed forward when Pecora said he would hear immediately any talesman with a legal reason for being excused from jury service.

Only 185 Remain.

There was a roar of laughter quickly quieted down by a court clerk.

The legal excuses were presented rapidly. Within three-quarters of an hour, only 187 veniremen re-

FDR MAY TALK TONIGHT ABOUT HEALTH PLAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Federal health insurance may become one of President Roosevelt's proposals for broadening the social security program.

The President, who will speak tonight on the third anniversary of the social security act, already has recommended studies looking toward enlarging the program in other respects.

A hint that he might mention a health protection system appeared in a statement by Chairman Altmeyer of the social security board.

"The question of health protection," Altmeyer said, "is beginning to appear on the horizon. We may one day set up safeguards against the hazard of illness, paralleling our present lines of defense against the hazards of want during unemployment and of a destitute old age."

The President's brief speech will be broadcast to the nation over all major networks at 9:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. It will be delivered from the White House.

Few expected it to contain many political references, inasmuch as aides of the President said it would be very general and would not mention names of individuals or states.

O'Daniel Will Talk Over Radio Tuesday

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15 (AP)—W. Lee O'Daniel, Democratic nominee for governor, said today he was arranging three radio addresses this week, the first at 12:45 p. m. tomorrow. (Texas Quality Network.)

Others will be made Thursday and Saturday. The governor nominate did not say what the subject of his talks would be.

Although he said he was not contemplating indorsements of additional candidates in the run-off, and planned no further action in favor of the six already indorsed, there was speculation whether he may not be planning to do one or the other.

Friends of many candidates for the legislature have asked him to say who he prefers in the several races. He has answered that he is not considering further endorsements.

O'Daniel transferred his headquarters from his home today, moving into a suite of six offices downtown.

Crap Game Held Up And $1,000 Taken

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Aug. 15 (AP)—The only winners in a crap game at a secluded spot near here were four uninvited players. They took the entire pot—estimated at $1,000.

The uninvited guests, well armed, met each carload of invited players as they arrived at the densely wooded rendezvous, persuaded them to ante their entire resources and then lie on the ground.

The game lasted from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. yesterday. The pot was more than doubled with the ante of numerous passersby who chanced down the adjoining country road on Sunday drives.

Police Chief Ed Hazlitt said the "winners" had forced the occupants of about 25 cars to join the game before calling it an afternoon.

Briton Killed In Insurgent Air Raid

Sculps to Prove He's Best Artist

Cutting remarks by Columnist Westbrook Pegler about the "awfulness" of the statue of St. Francis proposed for San Francisco's dominationg hill led to a $100 bet with the sculptor, Benjamin Bufano, that Pegler could do a better one. Prepared to carve out a possible new career, the journalist is pictured above at his New Canaan, Conn., home. Garbed in regulation sculpting ensemble of beret and smock, complete with arty smears on his face, he chisels away to make a little brother for his model mouse. Pegler ridiculed the model, shown left, as a "bibbed 1910 model of a family doctor, with aviator's helmet and hand upraised in stick-up fashion," bet he could do better with beer mallet and carpenter's chisel.

War Today, Says Rumor

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, Aug 15—This is the day Europe's dame rumor—a neurotic lady of questionable stability—has advertised in her everlasting tea-table gossip as der tag for a military invasion of Czechoslovakia by Nazi Germany.

That sort of thing is like yelling "fire" in a crowded theatre, and she naturally has succeeded in causing a considerable panic throughout most of Europe.

And as always the case in a panic, the danger to life and limb is vastly increased. That is to say, there is much more prospect of an explosion simply because jittery countries see a hold-up man on every dark corner and are creeping about with uncertain

Torrid Battle Rages In San Antonio Hills

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS

CAMP BULLIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Like two game cocks tossed into the pit, blue and brown army cavalry fought an intensive battle in the Leon Springs hill range today as 18 blue planes rained "bombs" on a brown army truck convoy rushing troops to the aid of the cavalrymen.

Foot and artillery troops were pouring into the battle sector from both camps and umpires said heavy fighting was expected at noon with the 12,000 blue army troops holding the high hills and spraying bullets into the ranks of the 14,000 attacking brown army.

The big sham battle, a part of the third army maneuvers that began three weeks ago at De Soto National Park in Mississippi and spreading to the southwest, probably will last more than three days.

Umpire headquarters here said heavy "casualties" were suffered by both sides in early skirmishes that slowly were assuming major battle proportions.

Brown anti-aircraft claimed two blue planes had been downed in the area around Robard and the blue gunners said they shot down a brown plane over Boerne, headquarters for the blue army commanded by Major General Claude V. Birkhead.

LIQUIDATION OF BANK CLOSED

Completion of the liquidation of the Pampa National bank, announced in Washington, D. C., Saturday by Marshall R. Diggs, acting comptroller of the currency, marked the end of a bank that had been in Pampa for 29 years.

In 1931, the Pampa National bank was taken over by the First National bank. Depositors and creditors were paid in full by the assumption of the liabilities by the First National bank.

The Pampa National bank was the successor of the Gray County State bank, founded in 1909, and made into a national bank in 1928, De Lea Vicars, president of the First National bank, said.

A receiver was appointed for the Pampa National bank under date of August 13, 1937, for the purpose of collecting a stock assessment covering deficiency in value of assets sold and completing unfinished liquidation.

Dividends paid amounted to 35.4 per cent of claims proved, while total disbursements by the receiver, including offsets allowed, aggregated $33,422, representing 35.4 per cent of total liabilities.

CROSS BETWEEN ZEBRA AND PONY BECOMES

Problem Child for Ma, Pa and Fans

A ponebra or a zeony? Even the mother shown here with her new offspring is puzzled. Attendants at Cleveland's Brookside Zoo just called it "Whatizzit." The father was a pony, and the strange animal was the result of an attempt to produce a quagga, an African animal believed to be a cross between a zebra and a wild ass.

Electric Storm, Wind Accompany Nice Rain

An electrical storm accompanied by heavy wind gave this section of the Panhandle .64 inches of rain last night and this morning, benefitting row crop which has been badly in need of moisture.

Rainfall last night amounted to .39 inches with this morning's precipitation, about 6:30 o'clock, totaling .25 inches.

Last night's heavy wind blew down one of the large trees on the city hall lawn and several derricks in the oilfield were reported demolished. The large tree was uprooted about six inches under ground and resetting will be impossible. The tree was set out nearly 10 years ago.

Two large oilfield derricks west of Pampa were blown over and it was reported that two more were down near Skellytown.

NAZIS' GAMES SPREAD FEAR OVER EUROPE

Czech Incident Could Easily Cause New War

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler looked on today as a million men of rearmed Germany mobilized and started extensive war maneuvers that are to blanket virtually every part of the nation.

The Reichsfuehrer's personal attendance was disclosed in a terse announcement which said he witnessed a military display at Jueterbog, one of Germany's largest military training grounds 40 miles south of Berlin.

No details were made known.

Putting the nation on a virtual wartime-footing, the manevers apparently were a demonstration of the speed of motorized army transport.

Although other countries, notably Britain and France, gave evidence of grave concern at the magnitude of the maneuvers, an effort was made here to calm what were termed "exaggerated and disturbing reports."

Preparations for the two weeks of reserve training were noted chiefly in southern Germany (close to Czechoslovakia and to France) but they extended also to the districts around the capital.

Military observers estimated 500,000 to a possible 1,000,000 men were participating in the maneuvers.

Berlin citizens planning weekends in the country found placards at suburban bus stations announcing the regular postal department bus lines, connecting stations with lakes and other vacation spots, had been discontinued "temporarily."

Rumors current in rural sections said the buses were requisitioned by the military authorities for the fall games.

Europe's concern was that the maneuvers were to be close to the frontier and that some incident might provoke a conflict with Czechoslovakia.

The reserves are getting the two week's earlier training to acquaint them with new type weapons of the regular army.

Rattan and Bamboo Furniture at Home All Over the House

By MARY DAVIS GILLIES
Perpared by McCall's Magazine for The Pampa Daily News

Rattan and bamboo are now real furniture—and for the whole house.

There's no "summer porch look" to the new pieces, because modern designers have performed their magic, especially Paul T. Frankl. It started in California and Florida and its popularity is going east and north fast.

Of course, the new rattan and bamboo are good companions for modern straight-line furniture. But specially smart is the way they combine with such woods as bleached maple for a bedroom set or teakwood for a dining table.

For the main rooms of the house the rattan and bamboo are usually bleached and combined with bleached or contrasting dark woods.

In a living room with regular upholstered furniture, a low, square rattan table finds itself surprisingly at home. So do a rattan and teakwood dining table and rattan chairs to a modern sideboard of Oregon pine.

SMARTEST FUR SHOPPERS AT SALES PELTED WITH BARGAINS

By MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Bulky little jackets looking bulkier than ever. . . flat furs used to make coats as fitted and flared as fabric ones possibly could be. . . various types combined, priced for modest budgets. . . quantities of novelty furs, priced for modest budgets—the August fur sales story is indeed an exciting one.

And this is the time to buy furs, whether you intend to realize a long, long dream and drape yourself in a full-length mink wrap, get a short, snug boxy jacket or just an unpretentious little scarf or two to wear with your fall suit. This is the month when the smart shopper can find real bargains in the fur department.

FLARED AND BLOUSED SILHOUETTES SHOWN

The fitted and flared silhouette with fur cleverly manipulated in the same manner as fabric is one point to watch for. This is particularly important if you are interested in something rather dressy. One of the nicest of the slender-bodiced, full-skirted models is of shiny, supple black caracul. It is figure-molding above the belt and gets its skirt fullness from unpressed pleats at the front. And it's collarless, with a gold filigree clasp to fasten the neckline.

In sharp contrast to the fitted and flared coats—always of flat, rather sleek furs—there are those with bodices noticeably bloused. These are made up in long-haired, fluffy furs as well as the medium-length varieties, such as Persian lamb, and in flats, too. And they are something not to be ignored what with the new trend toward bloused bodices in all types of wearing apparel for fall.

A shining example of the bloused silhouette is brought out in another black caracul model. It has an extremely full skirt as well as fullness above the suede belt. And its sleeves are definitely dolman. Incidentally, dolman sleeves are something more that you'll be hearing a good deal about next fall and winter.

Boxy jackets that give the popular bulky look above the waistline are even more popular than they were last year. Outstanding among these are the ones in fox and skunk.

AND NOW BOLEROS IN DRESSY FURS

In th jacket category, boleros are again headlined. The smartest ones have bracelet-length sleeves and, of course, are quite short. They look pretty frivolous, but, undoubtedly, nothing could be more practical than a bolero. You can wear it over dresses all fall, then over an untrimmed cloth coat all winter. If it's in fox, skunk, mink or some other rather dressy fur, you'll wear it as an evening wrap, too.

For something that is practical for every hour of the day, Persian lamb has lost none of its popularity of the past few years. One especially nice two-way model can be worn with a tuxedo front or buttoned over to give a straight effect down the front.

Another Persian lamb number—not quite as practical, but just downright handsome—comes under the heading of "fur combined with fabric." This is cut on swagger lines with upstanding shoulders and flared hemline. It's pleated from shoulders to hem with vertical bands of satin between each pleat.

WPA TO LIMIT GRANTS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Public Works Administration soon will slap a state quota on loans and grants in an effort to equalize participation in its 1938 construction program. Officials said today this was decided by Howard A. Gray, acting administrator, when a recapitulation Friday disclosed the program was 15 days ahead of schedule, its funds two-thirds gone, and a relatively large number of states still backward in qualifying for projects.

Stokowski Refuses To Speak Of Garbo

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Leopold Stokowski, director of the Philadelphia Philharmonic orchestra, returned today from an extended sojourn in Europe, willing to talk about music or the cinema, but not about Greta Garbo.

The white-haired musician, whose name has been linked with that of the movie actress in a romantic way, sat in his suite aboard the French liner Normandie, flanked by a lawyer and friends. As each question was asked Stokowski turned to his legal advisor before answering.

At each mention of Garbo he replied: "I never speak of personal affairs."

John Roosevelt To Get $18 Per Week

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Back from Bermuda with his bride of two months, John Roosevelt, the President's youngest son, today declared he took a job "at the bottom" in a Boston department store (Filene's) instead of more lucrative offers "because I didn't want to exploit the family name."

He will start, "probably at a beginner's salary of $18 a week," late this month.

"I simply went in and asked for the job," he told newsmen.

Dances During Murder Trial

Who-to-Whom Often Worries Greeters

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

What etiquette problems bother most of the people much of the time?

Top-of-the-listers include:

Who should be introduced to whom? Answer: A younger person is presented to an older, a gentleman to a lady, a less distinguished to a more distinguished individual.

May a woman be addressed by her first name and her husband's last? Only on a legal document or when she uses that name professionally. Widows retain their husbands' names. Divorcees usually resume their maiden names or use a combination of their own and their former husband's last names

Where should the bride stand at a wedding? At the bridegroom's left. The maid of honor is at her left. The best man stands to the right of the bridegroom. The bride's family occupies the left side of the church the bridegroom's family the right.

What initials should be used in marking a bride's linen and silver? Customary are the three initials of her maiden name. Frequently used are: (a) husband's first, bride's first, husband's last; (b) bride's first, bride's last, husband's last.

Where The Bride Stands

How much should a tip be? Ten per cent of the till is a good average. Don't leave less than a dime in restaurants in which the tables are covered with clothes.

May a man let a woman walk nearest the curb? Not under ordinary circumstances. If the inside were covered with refuse, for example and the outside had just been cleaned, then, of course, he would let her walk in the clean area.

Yo, Ho, Ho, For 6-Year-Olds and A Sailing Party

By Mrs. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Avast there! Let's get our heads together and chart a sailing party for the six-year-olds one of these summer days.

You don't need a ship, you don't need the sea. Just be as nautical as you can in decorations and language and the guests soon will be launched on an ocean of make-believe.

Breezy Invitation

Your invitation, naturally, will be in the shape of sailboats with, "Come and take a sail with me," written on the rigging. From then on your guests will be passengers.

They'll come aboard your craft (the yard), get their sailor's paper hats, sit in deck chairs until the skipper (mother) picks the crew and the cruise director (another adult, or perhaps mother will have to double in this job), organize games, tells sea stories or leads the singing of chanteys.

When the refreshment gong sounds, drop anchor near a bench (the sand box). Here are some suggestions for the steward:

Give each passenger a sand pail containing ship-patterned napkins, paper cup, a shovel and perhaps some sandwiches. You can cut nautical pictures from magazines for cup decorations.

Serve rations of "grog" made of fruit juices. Cut white bread and butter sandwiches in triangles to represent sails, stand them edgewise on squares of graham bread sandwiches (the ship's hull) filled with cottage cheese or minced chicken and shredded lettuce. (Anchor a fleet of these sandwiches on a tray-ocean and listen to the giggles of delight.)

Things to Stow Away

You can add egg-boats—hard cooked whites stuffed with a mixture of the yolks, bland seasoning and diced celery. Or serve creamed chicken in individual baking dishes topped with toothpick and paper sails.

From a nautical dessert, shape boats from angel or sponge cake, fill them with gelatin or sherbet and make sails of three-cornered sugar cookies sprinkled with colored sugar on masts of stick candy.

Make a lot of little cakes and paint anchors, pennants, steering wheels and other ship symbols on ment with a small brush dipped in chocolate.

Do This If You're NERVOUS

Don't take chances on products you know nothing about or rely on temporary relief when there's need of a good general system tonic like time-proven Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women from wholesome herbs and roots.

Let Pinkham's Compound help build up more physical resistance and thus aid in calming jangly nerves, lessen distress from female functional disorders and make life worth living.

For over 60 years one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Pinkham's—over 1,000,000 women have written in reporting glorious benefits—it MUST BE GOOD!

There'll be a hot time in the ol' town

-THIS WEEK

Many people will suffer unnecessarily from heat this week. They will fuss and fret and fan themselves as they scurry from counter to counter and store to store, looking for something.

Save steps, these hot days. Sit down in the shade of a cool porch. Glance through the advertisements in the newspaper. Find what you want before you go to buy it.

That's what advertisements are for. You can trust the advertisers to tell you about bargains in the ads. You can save money and minutes and many a headache if you read the advertisements—and heed them.

'COP-HATER' OF GOTHAM SLAIN AFTER ATTACK

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Police delved into obscure phases of simple psychiatry today attempting to determine what started Charles San Filippo on the "cop-hating" career that ended in his death as the climax of a two-gun attack on 250 policemen at a Central Park memorial service.

Thousands of horrified Sabbath strollers saw the madman, about 40, precipitate a brief pitched battle in which five persons—two of them policemen—were wounded.

"I was going to try to kill as many cops as I could," he muttered as he lay dying with at least 20 police bullet wounds in the head.

He came upon the outdoor memorial almost unnoticed yesterday afternoon, packing a rifle and a shotgun, and wearing crude, bullet-proof breast-plates. A speaker had finished his eulogy after a reading of the roll of the dead, answered by "absent" as each name was called; a light flickered out, too, at the name of each dead policeman. Then—shots from a double-barrel shotgun shattered the solemnity and in a wink most of the 250 policemen drew service revolvers and poured volleys at the retreating figure, who was firing the rifle as he ran.

San Filippo slumped to the ground and gasped his dying hatred of cops, a hatred evidenced in two traffic summonses found in his possession, and in clippings at the family apartment in the Bronx. Some of the clippings told of the exploits of a "phantom of the Bronx" who killed two patrolmen and has fired on others in recent months. Others detailed the deaths of other policemen. Pencil marks encircled the officers' names and derogatory remarks about them were written in the margins.

At his home police learned, too, that the dead madman's father died of a stroke late Saturday.

Japs Have Gained Little Since July

SHANGHAI, Aug. 15 (AP)—A survey of the Yangtze front showed today that Japanese gains have been almost negligible since the capture of Kiukiang July 26, despite bitter fighting on both sides of the river and heavy aerial bombardments.

A Japanese column which struck southward from Kiukiang along the Nanchang railway 20 days ago has advanced only 12 miles and is now engaged with strongly entrenched Chinese troops in the hills near Shakochen.

Another Japanese force operating south of the Yangtze has advanced 25 miles from Kiukiang toward Juichang, but is meeting desperate resistance on the shores of Red Lake and in the hills before Juichang.

Japanese army reports said the fall of Jiuchang was imminent, but military observers pointed out that the capture of the town still would leave the invaders a difficult advance of 85 miles to their goal, the Canton-Hankow railway which they hope to cut south of the provisional capital.

CIO Fighting Any Telegraph Pay Cut

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization rallied its forces today against what it contended was a determination of the two major telegraph companies to cut wages 8.3 per cent.

In a circular letter to all C. I. O. affiliates, John Brophy, national director, warned that the companies, Western Union and Postal Telegraph, intended to use a "technical loophole" in the new wage and hour law to make the cut.

He asked full support for the American Communication association, C. I. O. Telegraphers union, in resisting any cut.

Wilbert Opens Restaurant, After Grade School Graduation, to Pay for Business Course, Shy Youth Quits Farm for College

CHAPTER 5—SALT CITY BUSINESS COLLEGE

(Copyright, 1938, by the Scripps-Howard Newspapers of Texas. Reproduction in whole or part expressly prohibited.)

By C. L. DOUGLAS and FRANCIS MILLER

A TRAVEL-STAINED drummer from Wichita entered the little frame restaurant on Arlington's Main street, ensconced himself at the counter, and said he would have a couple of eggs—over easy.

He glanced briefly at the proprietor, a personable young man with a winning and infectious smile.

"Yes, sir," confirmed the young man. "Two eggs . . . over easy."

If the traveling man, that morning in 1907, could have looked about 30 years into the future he might have given more attention to his host than to his copy of The Kansas City Star, but of course he had no way of guessing that his breakfast was being served by a sometime-governor of Texas.

Wilbert Lee O'Daniel, after his recovery from typhoid and after his graduation (with highest honors) from the grade school, had turned restaurateur.

He had not the slightest intention of ever becoming a George Rector or an Oscar of the Waldorf, because he was mapping his life on a different course, but he saw in the cafe the means to an end—the chance to make enough money for the enrollment fee at Salt City Business College over in Hutchinson.

When the idea first presented itself he went to his mother and then to his older half-sister, Effie Hiller, for a thorough discussion of the matter. The upshot was that Mrs. Hiller agreed to advance the funds necessary for the rental and the initial supply of groceries for the restaurant. The mother and the sister said they would take turn about in the kitchen, alternating each week.

After making arrangements for the three-room building, Wilbert gathered up such equipment as he could find at small cost, put in counters, and opened for business. In a small room other than the ones used for the kitchen and cafe he installed a cot, for it was his purpose to spend his nights in the establishment.

"I remember," said Charlie Barrett, the printer, "about a time when Wilbert wanted some signs printed. I don't recall exactly what they were . . . something having to do with wall menus . . . but he came over to the Enterprise plant and said he wanted 'em in a hurry. It was our busy season and we couldn't get at the job immediately. So Wilbert asked if he could set the type himself. My father told him to go ahead, and I wish you could have seen what he turned out. It was the darnedness looking mess you ever saw. It was filled with wrong fonts and the whole thing printed backward when we pulled the proofs. Nope . . . Wilbert wasn't cut out for a printer."

Wilbert Packs Up and Goes to the City

THE O'Daniel restaurant flourished as well as might have been expected, considering the smallness of the town, and Wilbert watched his savings grow. He wasn't getting rich, but for the day and time he was doing well. When fall came he took an inventory, to discover that he could sell out, clear up all accounts, and still have slightly more than $100.

One hundred dollars! It seemed like a fortune to the Reno County farm boy. One hundred dollars! More than enough to enter the business college! So Wilbert without hesitation, sold out, packed the clothes he had been saving, said goodbye to the folks on the farm, and set out for the city.

The Salt City Business College, then about 30 years old, was one of the most ancient institutions of commercial learning in Kansas, and Wilbert—a country boy come to town—was just a little awed as he approached the imposing two-story brick structure in the heart of down-town Hutchinson. Overcoming his momentary shyness he walked in through the colonnaded entrance, climbed a flight of stairs and entered the registrar's office.

The enrollment card that Wilbert filled out that morning—October 21, 1907—still is in the files of the college, and J. D. Conard, president now and a teacher then, is happy (so happy, in the light of recent events) to display it before visitors.

It gives W. Lee as 17, shows that he paid cash for his tuition and books ($65 for the tuition and $15 for the books), and places him in the business course for a life scholarship.

"Yes," said Mr. Conard, referring to the latter item, "Wilbert can come back to us any time he wants to, and," he added with a smile, "we'd be glad to have him."

A Bit Shy, the Farm Lad Enters College

MR. CONARD, gray-haired, 58, and with blue eyes that peer out through gold-rimmed glasses, leaned back in his swivel chair the other day to reminisce.

"I remember Wilbert well on the day he arrived," he said. "He was quiet, unassuming, with a shyness that verged almost on bashfulness, but he was very likeable. He was a handsome young chap with wavy dark hair, and neatly, though inexpensively, dressed."

That description hardly tallies with that of the young hellion who, in company with Charlie Barrett, lately had been making things hum in Arlington, but it must be remembered that Wilbert now was looking upon life with more serious eyes; was setting out to answer for himself that ambitious and oft-repeated question that he used to ask his mother: "What'll I do? I've got to do something!" Besides, young W. Lee was entering a strange and more urban phase of his career, and naturally he would be a bit shy.

The farm boy from Arlington went to work with a vengeance. He studied much harder than the average pupil, and to support himself (he had little left after paying his tuition) he took a job distributing the state edition of the Kansas City Star, then as now the journalistic "Bible" of the Kansas wheat belt. This work brought in some revenue, later augmented when he was fortunate enough to get a job at the old Reno Hotel waiting table.

Excelled in All of His Studies

THUS Wilbert — Horatio Alger-like—progressed. He had what his instructors called natural ability and he applied himself, particularly to shorthand, letter copying, rapid calculation, bookkeeping, arithmetic and common law; but even though he was kept busy earning his bread and butter on the side he found time for a little social activity—with such fellow students as Joe O'Sullivan, Don Henry, Jean Hardcastle, Margaret Smith, Rae M. Wylie, Angeline Schmitz and Alvah Redd. There were occasional picnics at Brady Lake and socials at the churches.

But in the estimation of Mr. Conard—who, of course, didn't see him much out of the classroom—Wilbert always remained shy and unassuming. He even marvels today over the course taken by the career of his former pupil.

"How in the world he ever got brazen enough to go out before a crowd and speak as he did in the Texas campaign, I don't know," he will say, with a puzzled shake of the head.

And Miss Olga Johnson, now secretary of the college and at that time a teacher, wonders, too.

Mr. Conard had Wilbert for three courses—shorthand, actual business, and arithmetic—and he testifies that the youth excelled in all, particularly in the second course, which provides for actual business practice.

"Look at this grade card," said Mr. Conard digging into his desk for the pasteboard showing the O'Daniel record. "Nobody can make grades like that without being a dandy, for this school is, and always has been, careful about issuing merits."

Testimonial Shows Pride in His School

THERE it was: 87 in common arithmetic; 90 in grammer and composition; 90 in spelling; 93 in rapid calculation; 88 in letter writing; 89 in punctuation; the same in common law; 83 in bookkeeping; 90 in actual business; and 87 in shorthand.

The report card shows that a diploma was issued to Wilbert on May 15, 1908, which means that he finished the ordinary two-year course in eight months—even now a record in the history of the Salt City Business College.

Naturally, with all this in the background, Mr. Conard is exceptionally proud of Wilbur, as he calls him; so proud of him, indeed, that he says he had rather attend the former pupil's inauguration at Austin than to go to a world fair. He's just about as proud of him as that other resident of Hutchinson who knows the governor-elect even better—Mrs. Ethel Pickering, the full sister.

"Wilbert," she says, "always has been working to prove that one may be born poor and still acquire a place in the world, if he lives right and treats everyone honestly. But poor Wilbert, what is he going to do now . . . with his responsibilities so heavy, with such a burden on his shoulders!"

And then she thought of less important things, things aside from the troubles of politics and statesmanship.

"My, how he could eat chicken!" she recalled. "I remember how he ate five once in a contest with Mr. Pickering."

Aside from the enrollment and report card, the Salt City Business College still treasures another memento of Wilbert's contact with the institution—the testimonial that he wrote for an advertising brochure in 1913, at a time when the future Hillbilly vote-getter was a bookkeeper in the Kraemer Milling Company at Anthony. Published under his picture, it says:

"I shall be glad to write any interested young person, telling them of the advantages of the Salt City Business College, on receipt of return postage."

Return postage . . .

Even then, on his first job, he was developing the business acumen which was to carry him so far in the channels of commerce; and, later, in the uncertain streams of politics.

(NEXT: The Irishman Turns Scotch.)

W. Lee O'Daniel has received lots of publicity in the last few weeks in Texas and the United States. But it was nothing new. Back in 1913 his testimonial, above, was printed under his picture in a brochure issued by the Salt City Business College.

At the top, right, is Wilbert's final grade card from the business college.

Center, right, is a photograph of the business college as it was when he attended.

Romance entered the life of Wilbert O'Daniel while he attended the business college. There he met Merle Butcher, above, who later was to become Mrs. O'Daniel.

EUROPE FEARS HITLER WILL SEIZE CZECHS

By JOHN EVANS,
Associated Press General Foreign Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Adolf Hitler doesn't smoke, but Europe holds her breath while he lights matches over powder barrels.

That's what is happening abroad now. Cold sweat is on the brows of most statesmen because they fear Germany may swallow her little neighbor Czechoslovakia as she did Austria, March 13. Their immediate fear is that something may happen while Germany holds her regulary army maneuvers beginning Monday.

This isn't a "war scare."

It is a real fear of war.

It is a fear that fills the souls of statesmen. Yet they haven't any evidence. They don't know there will be war and when they talk cooly and privately they admit there are more reasons for peace than for war.

The trouble is chiefly about Czechoslovakia, but there are complications.

Hitler wants control of all Germans. He got Austria with 7,560,000 of them. There remains a 3,500,000 Germanic minority in the western end of saugsage-shaped Czechoslovakia which is imbedded in greater Germany Encouraged by Germany, the Germanic element, more than one-fifth the population, demands autonomy.

Czechoslovakia sees the handwriting on the wall.

She is resigned to making concessions, but determined to fight Germany rather than surrender real control of that part of the rich, mountainous, easily defended country guarded by one of the best little armies in the world and equipped by the famous Skoda munition plants.

War, Peace Possible.

The world worries because Europe is a mesh of trouble and Czechoslovakia is only a symbol of the real trouble.

"Halt Hitler" is the task most of Europe has set herself.

That means blocking his "Drang Nach Osten" (March to the East) which is intended to give Germany economic or political or even actual control of southeastern Europe. That is an old German dream of long before Hitler.

The danger of world war lies in other countries' determination to prevent Germany becoming master of the continent.

War is possible because France, Britain and Russia wish to prevent Germany dominating Europe.

Peace is possible because no one appears to wish war. France would hesitate to invade Germany in order to "defend" Czechoslovakia. Russia has Japan to watch in the East and would prefer peace. Britain isn't ready to fight and has shown no encouragement to those who talk of war.

Why, then, all the excitement?

This is the normal season for military maneuvers. The United States, like Europe has been playing these military games.

Port Arthur Rests Easily After Scare

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 15 (AP)—Merchants and householders, who battened down their effects yesterday when a tropical disturbance moved in this direction, breathed easier today.

Many residents who fled, along with vacationers, returned to their homes after storm spent itself in the Louisiana wastelands.

High tides from the gulf, however, cut off direct traffic between Port Arthur and Galveston along the hug-the-coast highway.

RUSSIANS AND JAPS MIX IN NEW BATTLE

MOSCOW, Aug. 15 (AP) — The Soviet government indicated today the carrying out of the Changkufeng armistice agreement had been delayed by new border difficulties which almost resulted in an armed clash shortly after the truce went into effect August 11.

The difficulties first were disclosed in a Soviet communique last night stating that a new outbreak of fighting on the disputed Siberian-Korean frontier had been narrowly averted when Japanese troops moved into advanced position after the truce.

The troops were withdrawn, the announcement said, after Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff warned Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu that "The U. S. S. R. will consider the armistice violated" if they were permitted to hold their new position.

While Japanese compliance with Litvinoff's demand removed dangers of an immediate clash, the Soviet government was said still to be dissatisfied with the attitude of Japanese military representatives at Changkufeng.

The latter, according to the communique, refused to sign the armistice agreement and a map indicating the respective positions of troops, explaining that they "awaited instructions from the higher command."

TOKYO, Aug. 15 (AP) — Domei (Japanese News Agency) said today Soviet Russian troops had violated the Changkufeng truce by constructing dugouts within the no-man's-land agreed upon when the border fighting was ended August 11.

The news agency said the Japanese had protested to General Shutern, chief of staff of the Far Eastern Red army, and he had promised to enforce observance of the truce, but that Soviet troops continued to build dugouts in the 160-yard wide neutral zone separating the Japanese and Russians along the four-mile front.

Martin's Opponents Seek To Oust Him

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (AP)—Opponents of Homer Martin, led by four expelled officers of the United Automobile Workers of America, proceeded today with plans to seek his removal as president of the big CIO union.

They laid the ground work for their campaign in a week-end meeting at Toledo and will return to that city next Saturday to further arrangements which they hope will lead to a special convention of the International Union.

The "rebels," saying that presidents of 75 UAW locals were present, rejected a proposal by Walter Reuther, president of Detroit's West Side local, that John L. Lewis, head of the committee for industrial organization, be asked to intervene to restore harmony between the union's Martin and anti-Martin factions.

Insurgents Claim Mountain Victory

HENDAYE, France-(At the Spanish Frontier) Aug. 15 (AP)—Insurgents reported today that government defenders were driven at bayonet point from the Pandos mountains south of Gandesa, endangering the government's foothold on the west bank of the Ebro river.

Capture by the Insurgents of the mountain range broke the militiamen's strangle-hold on the city at which they had directed a sudden offensive, begun three weeks ago.

Insurgent dispatches said the government army clung to well-fortified hills on the northeastern Catalan front through repeated attacks, until one final charge over rock-strewn slopes broke their line.

Advices from Insurgent headquarters said the militiamen had built a "remarkable" system of fortifications on the crest during the three weeks they held them.

GERMANS PROMISE CZECHS,

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 15 (AP)—Authoritative circles today indicated the Czechoslovak government was willing to accept German assurances to Britain and France that Germany's fall war maneuvers were not aggressive. These sources indicated such assurances have been given and apparently were acceptable to London and Paris.

A WORTHWHILE SPECIAL EDITION

The Pampa News today is happy to extend its heartiest congratulations to The Amarillo News on the occasion of its Potter County Fiftieth Anniversary edition which was distributed to readers Sunday.

It is one of the finest pieces of newspaper work ever produced. The special edition carried 280 pages of historical information, most of it published for the first time anywhere, dating back to the day when the very first man set foot in the Panhandle country.

The remarkable edition, one of the largest ever published in the United States, fulfills a life-long dream of its forward-looking publisher, Gene Howe, familiarly known as Old Tack.

To John McCarty, editor of the News, goes the praise for directing the mammoth special edition. And to all the other departmental editors, staff members, and special writers from the plains area commendation is due for the splendid historical content.

The newspaper is of such importance to the Panhandle of Texas that it should be made a part of every school system to be used as an historical handbook of reference on the region in which we live.

STATES WORK TOGETHER

The relations between states are, like everything else, becoming more complex. But as new techniques develop, some of these new relationships may furnish a key to the perennial puzzle of the fields reserved for the federal and state governments.

For instance, this fall a meeting is to be held in Cincinnati of representatives of nine states. Those nine states believe they face a problem which concerns themselves, but not necessarily any of the other states, or the federal government. Therefore, they propose to tackle it themselves.

The problem is pollution of the Ohio river. Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and West Virginia believe it chiefly concerns themselves. Therefore, through mutual action, they will try to arrive at a plan where each state will control pollution within its own territory.

New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware recently came to such an agreement on pollution of the Delaware river.

Thus, without continual appeal to the federal government, a technique is gradually being developed for mutual solution among groups of states of problems which distinctly affect those states.

The best way to prevent "encroachment" of federal power into the state field, is by demonstrations like these that states are really able to get to grips with their problems and solve them.

DICTATORS FEAR FREEDOM

"One of the first things dictators and Communists demand is the right of free speech, and one of the first things to which an end is put when they get into power is freedom of speech and freedom of the press. There is no freedom of speech or of the press in Russia, Italy or Germany. Dictators are afraid of the truth."—Southwestern Oregon News, Marshfield, Ore.

AN INTERNATIONAL HOUSING PROBLEM

By BRUCE CATTON

If the world is really interested in ending the unrest of its peoples, it will do some hard, serious thinking about the job which the International Refugee Conference is tackling.

This conference faces the task of finding some sort of permanent homes for the millions of people who have been thrown out of their European homelands. Their presence as an undigested lump in the world's body politic is like the presence of a source of infection in the human body; it must be removed if the body is to regain good health.

You cannot have a stable world, satisfied to exist on its old basis, as long as so many people are completely uprooted. In sheer self-defense, the world has got to find a place for them.

So far, so good. A place must be found. But where?

Well, one of the things we Americans will have to think about is the proposal that a certain number of the refugees be settled in the United States. It has been pointed out, for instance, that during the next five years refugees will have to be "placed" at the rate of half a million a year, and that America and Great Britain might properly agree to absorb half of that number annually, between them.

Now the objections to any such proposal are easy to anticipate. We have some millions of people out of work, as it is; can we afford to take on huge new groups each year, find places for them, put them into the labor market? Our farmers, too, are growing more things than they can sell profitably; do we want thousands of immigrants to establish new farms each year, thereby adding to the country's agricultural production?

Those questions aren't easily answered. Yet in the long run the scheme might well be a very good one, from a strictly selfish viewpoint.

For one thing, it is at least possible that one reason for our protracted slump is the fact that our whole economic system is keyed to a steady growth in population, and that that growth has been slowing up of late. For another, refugees from European despotisms have in the past contributed largely to the upbuilding of this country; they might well do so again.

In any case, the problem needs serious thought. World unrest won't end until this refugee problem is decently settled.

STIMULANT FOR WORK BEING WITHDRAWN

The influences that are at work through the government to reduce or eliminate the stimulant necessary to cause people to work and be enterprising, are amazing.

In the lower brackets, we have told the people, by our laws and our acts, that if they are shiftless and do not accumulate any property and do not make an effort to earn their way in private enterprise, we will pay them 60 cents an hour for not working and leaning on a shovel; while the same energy working on a farm in private enterprise probably would earn 15 or 20 cents an hour. We have, thus, taken away the stimulant of an effort on the part of the least efficient to earn their way. We have penalized the man who is slow for being honest and conscientious and trying to make his way in the world and contributing to the best of his ability. We have almost entirely removed the stimulant from this class.

On the top bracket, we have removed the stimulant for enterprise by telling the individual that if he undertakes a hazardous enterprise and is successful, we will not permit this individual to reinvest his profits so that the comforts of life will be more easily secured by the honest workers who are willing to support themselves on a competitive basis, but this wealth will be taken from these honest workmen who are willing to work on a competitive basis and largely given to people who are paid from four to five times as much as they earn on a competitive basis. Thus, a philosopher would say that if he is successful, instead of benefiting the great middle class of honest people, he is only increasing the fecundity of the least fit and making it possible for them to multiply and take from the deserving class.

So, we have, in reality, done most everything possible to take away the stimulant that causes people to work and add to the general welfare. This has been tried many times before and has always failed. But we must try it again to satisfy those who believe what they wish but will not practice what they preach.

WHEN BORROWING BEGINS

Harry Scherman, in his book, "The Promises Men Live By" says, "Wherever borrowing by a government began, there may be said to be a recognition, by that very fact, that the rulers—individuals or groups—were somewhat unsure of their position, and that real absolutism no longer existed. The very difference, indeed, between absolutism and more democratic forms of government—where, through various devices, the final power of the State at least theoretically rests upon the decisions of all its citizens—can be measured by the degree to which the power-wielding group in the community relies upon taxation—that is, seizure—or upon borrowing, to obtain the wealth needed for its economic purposes."

This principle is certainly borne out by all history. As a warning, the United States is facing a very critical condition because both the Republican and Democratic parties were not able to tax the people enough to pay the cost of the government.

And when the government begins to borrow through the banks, which is just another form of credit inflation, it is a sign of the second stage of the insecurity of the government. It means that they cannot even borrow from the citizens directly and they have to manufacture paper credit, used as a medium of exchange. This is in reality the same thing as diluting all other credit. In other words, they are borrowing from other creditors and paying the interest to the bankers, rather than the creditors who are having their credits diluted by inflation.

ANCIENT ROME AND US

Letter to the N. Y. Times

Under the early history of the subject of pauperism by governmental charity may be noted the following on page 423, volume 21, of the American encyclopedia:

"Imperial Rome presents the first notable instance of pauperizing by undue aid. Ambitious politicians gave free grain, not to the wounded and helpless, as Athens had done, but to all men residing in the capital who could prove themselves Roman citizens. This began when votes could thus be bought under the republic. Julius Caesar found one-third of a million of these able-bodied pensioners, and cut the number down one-half; but Augustus allowed it to grow again. Marcus Aurelius, though a Stoic himself, gave these robust dependents bread, oil and meat. The strength of that world-conquering race was thus undermined, and the demand of the beggar populace is recognized as the death cry of once invincible Rome."

Is there a parallel in the United States today? We must deny the evidence of history, and the fundamental laws of evolution and the survival of the fittest not to realize just what has and will happen.

THE TVA AND THE UNIVERSITIES

Chicago Tribune

The congressional investigation of TVA has now brought out the fact that seven state universities have received subsidies approximating $1,700,000 from this agency. The money is supposed to have been spent for scientific demonstrations of one sort or another.

We seem to recall that a number of years ago the so-called power trust was bitterly attacked for subsidizing a number of demonstrations in various schools and universities. This was regarded as reprehensible when done by private citizens with their own money, but apparently is above reproach when done by a government supported power company with the taxpayers' money. The money the power companies contributed was called a bribe. The money the TVA contributes is called an evidence of a cooperative spirit. The propagandist activities of the power companies were called subversive. The propagandist activities of the TVA are called wise and farsighted.

Every time the investigators open up a new aspect of TVA something queer is discovered. Enormous sums have been spent in ways and for objects which seem far from the original purpose of the so-called experiment. The more that is revealed the more puzzled the taxpayers become.

DISROBING GERMS.

Further light is being shed on the way in which sulphanilamide affects bacteria by recent studies on treating pneumonia with a newly synthesized prontosil-like compound.

The new drug is designated as 2—(P-aminobenzenesulphonomido pyridine. A shorter, more pronounceable name has not as yet been given to this compound and it probably won't be christened unless it proves of substantial value.

Up to the present time this compound has been found to have a remarkable action on pneumococcal infection in mice. In the treatment of pnuemonia in human beings it has been applied only to a very limited extent.

The human cases in which this new compound was used were sufferers of lobar pneumonia caused by Type III pneumococcus. This is the type of pneumonia germ for which an effective serum is not yet available.

In the studies on mouse pneumonias it has been found that shortly after the administration of the drug the pneumonia germ loses its surrounding capsule. Thus stripped of its "defense," the pneumonia germ appears to lose its disease-producing powers.

Interestingly, it was shown that the "disrobed" pneumonia germs when removed from the drug-laden environment (that is, when transplanted from a mouse which had been treated with the drug into one which has not received any of the compound) can recover their capsules and resume their destructive activities.

Apparently therefore the drug does not directly destroy the pneumococcus germ but, in the language of the pugilist, effects "a lowering of the guard." The body's vigilantes, the white blood cells, are then better able to enguif and to destroy the invading foe.

It is likely that the action of sulphanilamide upon the streptococci, against which it is effective, may be accounted for in the same way. Decapsulation may also reduce the toxin-producing and other noxious activities of the germs.

The experiments reported above are doubly interesting in that they shed light on the way in which chemotherapeutic agents of the prontosil groups operate, and also in the promise that this new compound may prove effective in the treatment of Type III pneumonia.

In case you are interested, Mrs. Clyde Fatheree is having success with her swimming class which she started teaching two or three years ago. This class consists of her two sons, Warren and Hobart and Dale Thut. Mrs. Fatheree, an accomplished swimmer and life saving expert, brings her two sons, and usually Dale, to the swimming pool several times a week. Usually she sits on the bank and gives instructions. At times she takes to the water herself. Warren is now a pretty good swimmer. At the beginning of the season he started diving off the ten-foot tower. . . The swimming pool crowd changes every year, sometimes two or three times a season. . . A definite "gang" at the swimming pool this summer were members of Boy Scout Troop 16, sponsored by the Lions club which bought 200 swim tickets for the boys. . . Beth Blythe who helps her mother, Mrs. Lillian Blythe, operate the pool is now spending her spare moments making a belt out of cord strings which she ties in square knots and pulls. Over in Borger last winter she taught her pupils how to make the belt but she forgot how when she started to make one for herself. . . . Howard Buckingham, Jr., who shares with Mage Keyser and Arvo Goddard the honor of being the best divers in town, now has 34 solo flying hours to his credit. The other day coming from Panhandle he ran into his first storm. It would have scared this one. Modest "Half-Pint" would not talk much about it. Said he, "It was just a problem in aviation." The storm did not throw him off his course.

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—One of the cruelest of movie practices—ahoy, you government investigators!—is the big welcome and publicity given every pretty newcomer to the lots.

The girl steps off the train or plane, contract in one hand, new bunch of roses in the other. The flash bulbs flare as she gets the Big Greeting, and then she's whisked off triumphantly in a luxurious studio car, presumably to plunge into the Glamor Pond for a big splash. She feels like a queen and she is one—for a day.

Maybe it even lasts a week. Bubbling with excitement, she goes to the still gallery and they take enough pictures to fill a catalogue. The lensers take her to the beach and snap her in "play poses"—if the legs are passable—and pretty soon she sees her picture in the papers—if the legs are knockouts. And then she goes in training school. Or she just waits. Or both.

Two months ago I talked to Dorothy Comingore. She'd just been signed after a scramble in which three studios participated. She was the girl Chaplin applauded at the Carmel little theater. From all the excitement I figured she'd go into a picture the next week at the latest.

Saw her again the other day, visiting the "Angels With Dirty Faces" set and watching Cagney and O'-Brien work. She looked wistful when I asked her what was up. "I don't know when I'll get a part," she said. "I wish I did."

Cagney overheard. "Don't worry," he comforted. "They have to 'discover' you about a dozen times before it takes."

It's the waiting that's torture. I've a hunch Dorothy—they're calling her Linda Winters now—is going to click. But for one of her there are dozens of others who get the same build-up only to find themselves ushered out—at the end of the first contract period—via the back door. No flash bulbs then, and no roses, and the studio cars are all busy—carting in new prospects from the trains and 'planes.

A refined form of this common cruelty is that reserved for the girls they are "saving for something big."

Director William Keighley told me about a girl he'd spotted as a possibility and tested, using extreme care so that her dramatic deficiencies could be overshadowed by her photographic beauty. The test was so good they signed her with flagwaving.

Some time later Keighley thought of the girl for a small role in one of his pictures.

"Oh, you can't have her for that!" he was told. "We're saving her for something big!"

"Something big," in this case, turned out to be the gate. There's nothing bigger than a studio gate—to the girl with a one-way ticket to the great outside.

Arleen Whelan was a girl they saved for something big. And they gave her such a build-up that everybody expected more than she could give. Arleen's going to be a star—she's got that personality—but I wonder if she's luckier than Lynn Bari, another Zanuck comer. Lynn is just stepping into leading roles after three years of "bits" and training. She's learned the hard way—the way Arleen will have to learn.

Book A Day

By BRUCE BARTON.

The way to see Europe, it seems, is to avoid the trains and the formal tours and buy yourself one of those wood-and-canvas contraptions they call a "fold-boat." Go to a river, put the thing together, hop in—and away you go, traveling peacefully down the waterway, seeing the ccuntry as you never could see it from a train window, and getting delightfully acquainted with the people along the way.

Such a cruise is described in "The Danube Flows Through Fascism," by William Van Til (Scribner's: $3). It is a refreshing account of what must have been an extremely enjoyable cruise; it is also a revealing picture of the state of mind of the people of middle Europe.

Mr. Van Til and his wife cruised down the Danube from its source to Belgrade. They met lots of other fold-boaters along the way, and found it no troube at all to get on a friendly basis with them. Most of their new acquaintances—people of all nationalities—talked freely to them.

Because of this, these two travelers naturally head Naziism and Fascism discussed from all angles, pro and con. That got to be something of a bore, sooner or later; what stayed with them longest though, was the dread of coming war which practically everyone on the river seemed to feel.

These Europeans spoke of the next war as of the impersonal manifestation of some blind fate. They hoped that "it" wouldn't come through their own homeland, that "they" wouldn't fight battles too nearby. Yet they seemed resigned to the fact that war would come. They discussed it as they might discuss an approaching tornado—unable to avert it, hoping only for a little luck when the catastrophe arrived.

Consumer Purchasing Power

By ERNEST MINOR PATTERSON

President, American Academy of Political and Social Science

In discussing public questions it is always well to see if there are any matters upon which agreement is possible. An illustration is the current argument over increasing the purchasing power of consumers. The federal administration has urged that a lack of purchasing power in the hands of consumers is one defect and perhaps the main defect in our present economic system. Its methods of attempting to correct this maladjustment have provoked sharp criticism.

Perhaps we can agree on the indictment. There are two arguments. One is definitely humanitarian and emotional, but none the less important. To most of us the low incomes of many of our population are abhorrent. We feel that there is something terribly wrong when a country with the vast productive capacity of the United States contains such large numbers of persons whose earnings are so low. A weekly wage of eleven dollars stirs us deeply and we are anxious to do something about it.

Another reason is that the smooth operation of business is dependent upon the possession of large purchasing power in the hands of consumers. Farms and factories turn out huge quantities of food, clothing, gadgets, etc. These farms and factories can continue to function smoothly only if these products can be taken steadily and regularly off the market. Otherwise gluts will occur from time to time. Moreover, the capital goods industries also suffer if and when consumption goods are not purchased. Profits in the consumption goods industries will determine whether new machinery will be ordered and new plants erected.

The need for an adequate distribution of purchasing power is clear even though we may disagree over what is adequate and over the methods of distribution. This writer firmly believes that the distribution in the past has been inadequate and at times seriously so. He also believes and has argued in this column that some enthusiasts have erred in attempting to solve the problem by the direct method of unduly raising wages and shortening hours. Certain minimum wages and maximum hours have been established and should be maintained. But there is at any given time a sharp limit to the effectiveness of this approach.

That many business men are aware of the problem is clear. It is also clear that they face great difficulties in attempting a solution. To the extent that business is competitive any one employer may find it impossible to raise his labor costs and continue to operate. He must meet his bills and his ability to do so depends upon his income. His income is determined by the price he can charge and by the volume of his sales.

Here again the disputants can get together. There cannot be a large real income for the public unless there is a large volume of production. But this large output cannot be purchased unless the public can pay for it. To pay for it they must have adequate purchasing power. This purchasing power can be effectively increased through higher wages but increased wages can come only from present or prospective increased earnings.

In many lines the answer is to be found in a larger volume of sales and this volume is to be secured through lower prices. An outsider unfamiliar with the perplexing problems of costs and sales promotion must be duly modest. Nevertheless any close observer may record his doubts and raise questions.

For example, he may wonder if some of our electric light and power companies have fully appreciated the "elasticity" of the demand for electric current. There are plenty of illustrations of an increase in sales and in earnings that have followed reductions in rates. He may wonder also if the recently granted permission to raise railway coach fares from two cents to two and one-half cents per mile will increase or diminish railway income.

No matter what the answer may be in a given case the solution depends upon maintaining a large output made available at low prices. This in turn depends upon ability to keep costs down and volume of sales up and this in turn is affected in any given industry by the elasticity of demand for its product.

AMBERS-ARMSTRONG BOUT MAY STILL BE FINANCIAL SUCCESS

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Postponed from last Wednesday when rain dowsed a sparse gathering at the Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers lightweight fight in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night may yet be a financial as well as artistic success.

Tickets have been selling at a faster clip than before the bout was transplanted to the Eight avenue shelter and indicatoins now are that shelter and indications now are that is at least twice the amount of money that had been taken in when the rain came last week.

It indicates something fairly important: That it takes a powerful big fight to necessitate a ball park or an outdoor arena these days. Joe Louis, himself, is the only man fighting now who is too bg for the Garden and its approximate 20,000 capacity. The days when Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler could pack the big orchards with their lightweight feud appear to be far away.

A ball park is an unnatural setting for a pint-size prizefight, anyway. Nobody likes the set-up except those who can plank down $16.40 for a seat in the ringside section, which nestles in splendid isolation out in dead center of the vast diamond.

From the back rows of the ringside to the grandstand in any direction is a good, spirited walk, and to a customer squatted far up under the sloping roof a couple of little guys like Armstrong and Ambers could easily be mistaken for spots before the eyes. In the Garden, now, they will come to life and the spectator will be able to feel a certain intimacy as his favorite is jolted on the chops.

The fight, itself, still looks like a good one. The pair is certain to set a blistering pace, and the dusky Armstrong, ruler of the featherweights and the welterweights, remains a 12 to 5 favorite to knock the lightweight crown right off Amber's stubborn head.

There is no change in the curious situation that will arise should Ambers, the man without a punch, upset the dope and gain a 15-round decision over his slugging, crowding antagonist. Ambers, in that case, will claim Armstrong's welterweight toga, which to the unitiated would seem to be the logical maneuver. Yet the mental big applers of the New York State Athletic commission have ruled that Henry's welterweight is not at stake.

YANKEES SIGN WES FERRELL

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—When the Washington Senators booted Wes Ferrell out of baseball with an unconditional release last week, they kicked him right upstairs to the Yankees and what looks now like a world series cut.

The Yanks, hampered by the illness of Rookie Joe Vance who underwent an appendectomy Saturday night, and looking ahead to those five doubleheaders in a row against Chicago and Cleveland beginning on Aug. 23, signed the temperamental "nuthin' ball" veteran yesterday. He'll probably make his debut in a world champions' uniform in the series with the Senators this week.

Wes' hocking up with the Yanks came as somewhat of a surprise. After his Washington release last Friday he had tried to dicker with some of the National league clubs, but after several of them had spoken their piece about "prima donnas" it remained for the Yanks to pick up, for just nothing, a pitcher who has won 13 and lost eight for the fourth-place Nats this year.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

While the "pep" boys, Lee Handley and Pep Young, and "Fireman" Mace Brown, the greater rescuer of the Pittsburgh mound staff, have earned and received plenty of credit, perhaps the main reason why the Pirates are holding onto the National league lead is because Jawn Rizzo can knock 'em out of the park.

Rizzo has proved to Pittsburgh fans that he New York Yankees theory—there's no argument like a home run—is hard to beat. Last season the Bucs hit only 47 homers all season. This year they have 42 to date with 53 games still to play. And an even dozen of them have come from Rookie Rizzo's bat.

Johnny provided the big poke yesterday with that twelfth homer to help beat the third-place Chicago Cubs 2-0, after Gabby Hartnett's wrecking crew had won the first two games of the series.

Despite the victory, Pittsburgh's lead was clipped to 4½ games as the New York Giants romped to a double victory over the Phillies, 11-0 and 14-6.

The Yankees stretched their American league margin to 7½ games over Cleveland by turning back the Athletics twice, 4-3 and 9-2, while the Indians came through with a single 6-4 decision over the Chicago White Sox. The real feature of the American league day, however, was the one-hit game hurled by Buck Newsom of St. Louis.

Newsom, the Browns' one successful flinger, whiffed 12 Detroit batsmen and granted only one single, to George Tebbetts, in beating the Tigers, 7-1, in a doubleheader opener. Detroit came back to earn a 3-3, nine inning tie in the nightcap when Tebbetts made a pinch single behind doubles by Rudy York and Pete Fox to complete a two-run rally.

Washington drove the Boston Red Sox a little deeper into third place with a 7-1 victory.

Good pitching marked a pair of divided National league bargain bills. Fred Fitzsimmons hurled a three-hitter to give Brooklyn a 2-0 decision over Boston, then Lou Fette won his eighth straight, 6-4. Paul Derringer chalked up his fifteenth victory for Cincinnati, 5-4, over St. Louis, but the Card's Clyde Shoun replied with six-hit flinging and Ducky Medwick socked a homer to take the nightcap, 8-1.

Football Teams Open Training

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Bears and the Cardinals, Chicago's two entries in the National Professional football league, opened their training stands for the 1938 title race today, each carrying more rookies on their rosters than in any previous season.

Charley Bidwell, owner of Cards who finished last in 1937, was optimistic. "You get all hopped up about your prospects about this time, but this year we have balance . . . A driving fullback . . . passers. This Jack Robbins from the University of Arkansas, for instance. Sammy Baugh told me Robbins was better than he was."

The Bears, who lost last year's title playoff to Baugh and the Washington Redskins, have 15 rookies which will be quartered in Delafied, Wis., for two weeks.

TOLEDO WINS.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 15 (AP)—Claus "Boots" Poffenberger of Toledo, not so long ago a Detroit hurler, continues to mow them down in the American Association. And his teammate, Jim Walkup, also a former American leaguer, has joined Boots in disturbing the peace of the Association leaders. The two got together against St. Paul's league leaders yesterday and the result was a doube win for Toledo, 8 to 5 and 7 to 4.

Texarkana Loses 2 Games Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

The Texarkana Liners second placers in the East Texas league race tackle the league-leading Marshall Tigers today to make up for two losses yesterday.

The Tyler Trojans won both ends of a doubleheader, 5-4, and 3-0.

Kilgore defeated aJcksonville 1-0 to sweep the series as Zurk Lewis tester Southpaw Hank Davis in a pitcher's duel.

Al Leary, Palestine outfielder slammed a home run with the bases loaded in the sixth inning, accounting for the bulk of the Markers in Palestine's 6-1 victory over Henderson.

Longview's scheduled game at Marshall was called off on account of wet grounds.

AGGIE SCHOOL OPENS.

COLLEGE STATION, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Aggie football coaching school opened here today with an attendance of 100 expected for the four-day sessions. Among 50 high school and college coaches registered last night were three who will assist in instruction. They were Bob Berry of East Texas Teachers college; Pete Shotwell of Longview high school, and Coach "Siki" Sikes of Georgia.

GERMAN TRACK FORCES LOSE TO AMERICANS

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—America's track and field forces divided for further tarnstorming tours today after having conquered Germany, 122 points to 92 in the first International dual meet ever held.

The American team, which had amazed German fans by its youth as compared to Germany's veterans of the 1936 Olympic games, won every running event except the 800 meters and placed its entires one-two in six of them. It displayed strength in the distance runs.

Rain failed to keep the fans away from the Olympic stadium and 80,000 sat through yesterday's ten events.

America's long-distance triumphs, came as surprises, although they had been conceded their victories in the sprints and the relays. Creg Rice, the husky Notre Dame runner, staged a great finishing sprint to win the 5,000 meters run from two German rivals in 14:56 while Forest Efal of Oklahoma A. & M. and Efaw of Oklahoma A. &. M. and George de George of New York took first and second place in the 3,000-meters steeplechase and was timed 9:33.6.

Another shock to the German forces came when Ray Mallot of Stanford won the 400-meter run in 49.9 seconds, beating the favored Rudolph Harbig, who had won the 800 meters for Germany Saturday.

The Americans also took the first two places in the 200-meter dash with Clyde Jeffrey and Perrin Walked yesterday and repeated the feat in the 400-meter hurdles when Jack Patterson beat John Mallot and Eorican, a team of Harley Howell, John Marion, Charles Miller took the 1600-meter relay.

Bobby Riggs Wins Eastern Title

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—The United States Lawn Tennis Association could give Mike Jacobs lessons in match-making, so Robert Riggs and J. Donald Budge, the best two amateur tennis players in the world, will not be seen together on the court until the finals of the national singles championship at Forest Hills next month.

Budge will play his first competitive singles since he returned from England at Newport this week. But Riggs, who yesterday won the Eastern Gross Courts championship from Joe Hunt, will not be there. He will be resting at the order of Walter L. Pate, the man who captains the Davis Cup team.

For Bobby is potential cup team timber, if not the finished product. So, despite the fact that a Riggs-Budge match is the only one the fans want to see, he will rest while Budge exhibits the best backhand in the game and his flawless timing at Newport.

With Baron von Cramm in prison and Fred Perry and Elly Vines on the professional side of the fence, Riggs is the only one who figures to give Budge any sort of a tussle. He was a long shot when the season opened but as he has fought to 15 victories in 19 tournaments, the odds have dropped.

Pampa Teacher To Get M. A. Degree

GUNNISON, Colo., August 15—Eugene Mann, of Pampa, Texas will receive his Master of Arts degree at the twenty-seventh annual Western State College summer commencement Friday night August 19. Sixty-five candidates, one of the largest summer graduating classes in the college's history, will receive certificates and degrees.

Dr. Henry Neumann, leader of the Brooklyn, N. Y., Society for Ethical Culture since 1911, will deliver the Commencement address and certificates and degrees will be conferred by Dr. C. C. Casey, president of the college.

Two Straight

When McLin won the 13th running of the Hambletonian at Goshen, N. Y., Lawrence B. Sheppard, above, became the first owner in the history of the stakes to win the event two years in a row. Sheppard, owner of the Hanover Shoe Farms, Hanover, Pa., purchased the winner, a son of Peter the Great, for $20,000 10 days before the race.

Danciger and Diamond Shop to Play Tonight

Rules Rodeo---She Can Ride, Too

She's beautiful and she has been in the saddle since she was 3 years old—two good reasons why Alice Farrier, above, has been chosen queen of the Woodward, Okla., Elks' Rodeo. Born on a ranch, this 19-year-old is one of the southwest's outstanding horsewomen.

Three of the games scheduled for tonight in the Panhandle District Softball tournament will be elimination affairs with the fourth a meeting of undefeated teams. Games will be called at 8:15 o'clock at Recreation and Road Runner parks.

Admission to games has not been increased, women and children being admitted for 10 cents and men for 15 cents. Only players participating in games will be admitted free. Other players and all families are expected to pay the small admission. The winning team will receive 40 per cent of the gate receipts.

Tonight's schedule follows:

AT ROAD RUNNER PARK.

8:15 p. m.—Danciger Road Runners, Pampa, vs. Diamond Shop, Pampa.

9:30 p. m.—City Drug, McLean, vs. Mack and Paul Barbers, Pampa. (Elimination.)

Undefeated to date are the Danciger Road Runners and the Diamand Shop, two Pampa teams who have thrown words at each other all season but have never met on the diamond. Their battle is doped to be one of the most torrid of the tournament as they meet in the opening game at Road Runner park.

In the second game King Oil will shoot everything against Coca Cola of Amarillo as one of them will be sent home with the second loss of the tournament.

A couple of speed ball pitchers with freak deliveries will face each other in the opening game at Recreation park when Jaycees of Borger, with Rexroat on the mound, tangles with the Shamrock Irishmen with Knight doing the hurling. he will go home.

Both teams boast hard hitters, good fielders and as far as hurling is concerned, each fanned 12 batters on his last appearance on the mound which set a tournament record.

Pampa and McLean teams will meet in the nightcap when City Drug of McLean takes a chance against the Mack and Paul Barbers of Pampa. McLean boasts one of the hardest hitting clubs in the tournament. The Barbers showed nice fielding and some good pitching on their last appearance.

The schedule for Tuesday night will be:

AT ROAD RUNNER PARK.

8:15 p. m.—Air Speeds, Amarillo, vs. Vega Magnolias .(Elimination.)

9:30 p. m.—Taylor Market, Amarillo, vs. Christians Pampa. (Elimination.)

DIETZ PITCHES NO-HIT GAME FOR 7-INNINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Lloyd Dietz helped the cause of the league-leading Beaumont Exporters Sunday by pitching a seven-inning no-hit, no-run game.

The victims, to the tune of 6-0, were the third-place Oklahoma City Indiians. Dietz walked three and two others got on base through errors.

The Indians won the opener 2-1.

A five-run rally in the ninth inning by the Houston Buffs, resulting in a 7-4 victory, spoiled an otherwise perfect day for the Dallas Steers. They won the nightcap, 9-7.

The Tulsa Oilers and the San Antonio Missions divided a twilight double-header as the Tulsans opened a 10-game home stand. The Oilers won the first game 6-2, and the Texans came back for a 5-1 win.

The cellar-dwelling Fort Worth Cats won a couple of games from the Shreveport Sports, 3-0 and 5-4.

Pampa's entry in the state Veterans of Foreign Wars Junior softball playoff in Big Spring was unable to hold the Ben Daniel Devils of that city in a state playoff series, losing straight games, 24 to 1 and 15 to 0. The boys returned last night not a bit disheartened but determined to work up a better team for next year.

The local team, the Knights of Columbus, went to Big Spring under supervision of the Rev. Joseph Wonderly, pastor of Holy Souls church.

This morning Rev. Wonderly stated that his boys were beaten but that had Big Spring played a team composed entirely of players within the age limit the scores might have been closer. He said he planned to report the playing of ineligible players and use of equipment barred under junior softball rules to the National Amateur Athletic association.

"I do not propose to protest the Big Spring wins but I do believe that the unfair competition presented by Big Spring should be reported so that junior softball will be encouraged for next year," Rev. Wonderly said.

Big Spring used at least three ineligible players and played both games with spiked baseball shoes which is not allowed in softball, Wonderly checked school records of three boys in question, a pitcher, catcher and outfielder, and found them to be over the age limit of 17 years.

"Even though Big Spring could be declared ineligible to represent Texas in the national tournament in Columbus, Ohio, I would not recommend to the local veterans that my team be sent because I believe in a winning team on the diamond playing in a tournament," Rev. Wonderly said. "I do not believe in protesting but only drawing the attention of the state and national bodies to irregularities so that next year junior play will be encouraged by knowing that every man must abide by rules as laid down by the National Amateur Athletic association."

Big Spring had a remarkable team of eligible players, according to the local youngsters who declared, "they were just too good for us."

Governor Flying To Mexico City

BROWNSVILLE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Governor George H. Earle of Pennsylvania planned to take off for Mexico City shortly after 10 o'clock this morning with his wife and Captain A. M. Banks of the Pennsylvania state police on their way to a two-weeks vacation in Central and South America.

Governor Earle said here Sunday they intended to return by September.

Practically as soon as the governor arrived in Brownsville Sunday he went fishing at Port Isabel. The Rio Grande valley fishing rodeo is in progress there and although the governor caught three "nice" trout he failed to hook anything worth entering in the rodeo.

Sports Roundup

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK Aug. 15 (AP)—A lot of baseball men in the know tell you Mickey Cochrane will be managing the Red Sox and Joe Cronin will be back in Washington in a year or two . . . And don't be surprised if Billy Rogell, who was palsy-walsy with Iron Mike, is put on the trading block by the Tigers . . . Sounds like a pipe dream, but Army is a leetle bit afraid of Wichita, the cadet football opener . . . Al Schacht may do his clowning around the college gridirons this fall . . . If his advisors can sell him on the idea . . . Al Hostak, the new middleweight champ, drew exactly one buck for his first fight, a two-round kayo . . . Is the Hollywood coast league club gonna be sold again? . . . Notice to Kansas City writers: Don't let Brusie Ogrodowski, the Blues' new catcher, kid you . . . His first name's Ambrose, not Bruce, but he doesn't like it . . .

Northwestern is doing it's best to keep Norm Ferran a secret . . . He's six-foot-four and 245 pounds of nifty tackle from Ioway . . . We heard a fellow, who says he has inside info, betting important sugar, that the Giants will broadcast their '39 games, with a cereal company as the sponsor.

Harrison Foresees Higher Income Tax

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) — Senator Harrison, Democrat, Miss., said today that unless there was a pick-up in business before Congress meets it might be necessary to lower income tax exemptions and increase the levies in the middle brackets.

Harrison is chairman of the Senate finance committee. An upturn in business, he said, probably would increase government revenues so that the revisions would be unnecessary.

Harrison added in an interview he believed there would be no necessity of revising the undistributed profits tax as enacted in the 1938 law, "unless we have not removed the inequities and hardships that we believed we took out of the old law."

Leader Urges Croats And Serbs To Secede

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 15 (AP)—Serbian and Croatian opposition leaders today jointly exhorted their followers to free themselves from the "unpatriotic, despotic Yugoslavi regime."

The Croat leader was Vladko Machek, stubborn, white-whiskered campaigner who demanded that the "Democratic principle of liberty and justice on which Yugoslavia was founded must be restored again."

The appeal was issued after an all-night conference among the leaders who charged that the regime of Premier Milan Stoyadinovich was continuing "the dictatorship established in 1929" against the will of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes—Yugoslavia's "three nations."

CORRIGAN WILL START ON NATION-WIDE TOUR

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Douglas G. Corrigan, anxious to get started on his nation-wide tour, today announced he will start from Roosevelt field, Long Island, tomorrow at noon, on his round of American cities with Albany the first stop.

Within the next six days he will visit Albany, Buffalo, Detroit, Indianapolis, and Chicago, but beyond that itinerary he would not say where his travels will take him.

"That's six days, and that's far enough ahead," he said, as he left city hall for the summer municipal building in Queens.

9 Killed As Plane Falls Into Harbor

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Syndicato Condor flying boat "Anhangah" fell from low altitude into Rio de Janeiro bay today and sank, killing all nine persons aboard.

Five were passengers and four were members of the crew. None aboard the liner was a North American.

The plane had taken off earlier but had returned when fog was found too dense for safety. The pilot waited for the weather to clear somewhat and then took off again. It was reported some of the passengers objected to the take-off, fearing disaster after the first false start.

Fishermen in the vicinity said the plane was flying in a sharp circle when she slipped into the harbor, burst immediately into flames and sank.

The bodies of all the passengers were recovered and taken ashore by harbor police but all four crewmen were imprisoned in the cabin. Officials said they feared it would be impossible to raise the flying boat.

Dogs, Posses Still Hunt 2 Desperadoes

DEQUEEN, Ark., Aug. 15 (AP)—Mounted police officers searched today through a densely wooded 10-square-mile tract near the Arkansas-Oklahoma border for two fugitives believed to be Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, southwestern desperadoes, who fled into the area under a machine gun fusillade Saturday.

The posse, which beat through the underbrush for more than 24 hours without finding a definite trace of its quarry, was made up of approximately 100 Arkansas and Oklahoma state police and sheriff officers.

Lieut. Earl Scroggin of the Arkansas state police said fingerprints on articles found in a stolen car abandoned by the pair when ambushed by Capt. Cliff T. Atkainson of the police and Deputy Sheriff Leslie Dillahunty of Dequsen, had been identified as Hamilton's. Walters and Hamilton fled a Texas jail in early summer.

Support Given Plan To Advertise Texas

CAMP BULLIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Texas World's Fair commission today gave its support, through Col. Paul Wakefield, executive secretary of the commission, to the plan of her governor nominate W. Lee O'Daniel to sell Texas and her natural advantages to the world.

Col. Wakefield, in a telegram to O'Daniel, said the commission offered a fine vehicle to bring to the attention of the world to Texas.

"Your fine advertising plan outlined before the sales group at Fort Worth with reference to selling Texas and her advantages to the world has a fine vehicle in the Texas World Fair commission authorized by the legislature last year and appointed by Governor James V. Allred," Col. Wakefield said in a telegram to the nominee.

Today's Answers to Cranium Crackers

(Question on editorial page.)

The 48 people would have eaten up 20 days' provisions for them in 20 days. Then there would be 30 days less 20 days, or 10 days' provisions for 48 people left—or 480 days' provisions for one average person.

After 18 people left, there were 30 people remaining, and 480 days' provisions would last them as long as 480 divided by 30, or 16 days.

SERIAL STORY

HAYWIRE HOUSE

BY EDWIN RUTT

COPYRIGHT, 1938, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: Mr. Harkness begins to wire the house and Wilton is coming over for dinner. He has "something very important" to tell Sally.

CHAPTER VII

UPON leaving his father's office, Wilton Ames phoned Sally, spoke with her at length and was gratified to receive an invitation to dinner. And before leaving the bank, he took pains to ascertain the amount of Sally's balance.

It was surprisingly low. Ninety-eight dollars and forty-seven cents. Wilton did some quick figuring. The interest and amortization on the mortgage was six hundred, due now in about fourteen days. He knew that Sally had no means of increasing her money appreciably within that time. No, there wasn't a doubt of it. Unless this Parker fellow could raise funds, he and Sally were sunk.

Wilton arrived at the Preston house in good season for dinner. Presented to Kinks he took stock of that gentleman in a pallid, but discerning, manner. His diagnosis did not reassure him. Unless he was way off, Mr. Parker loomed as a menace.

He was pleased when, after dinner, Kinks erased himself unexpectedly. It seemed that he and Mr. Harkness were devoting the evening to a discussion of electricity.

Wilton concealed his elation and led Sally down toward the river. She was in a state of suppressed excitement.

"Oh, Wilton," she said. "Please tell me what you have to tell me this minute."

Wilton refused to be hurried. He had planned to approach this matter step by step.

"Well," he said carefully, "you've always intimated that you wanted to keep this place."

"I certainly do. I can't imagine living anywhere else."

"That's what I came to talk about," said Wilton. "I've been going into the details. And unless you've got some money, Sally, I don't know how you're going to avoid selling it."

"Of course," Wilton continued, "I don't know how you're fixed. But it occurred to me that this chap Parker might . . ."

She interrupted with a short laugh. "Kinks? He hasn't a dime!"

Wilton Ames

Wilton's breath of relief was inaudible.

"Well," he said, "I don't see how you're going to clear $600 in less than a month by taking in boarders."

"I don't either," Sally said. "But Ki—, that is, Mr. Parker, is all full of plans. He . . . oh, I don't know if he's very practical, but he's an —an enthusiast."

"The trouble is," said Wilton, "that my father isn't going to listen to an enthusiast unless he's got money to back his enthusiasm."

"I've been wanting to speak to you about that, Wilton," said Sally. "Don't you think that, if we talked very frankly to your father, he might extend the time of the interest payment?"

Wilton shook his head. It was a point upon which he could be definite.

"You know my dad," he said. "He's a hard-headed business man. Times are bad. And he's got his —well, his stockholders to think about."

"But couldn't you make him see reason?"

"He wouldn't see any in this—this queer kind of hotel you seem to be running. However, I may be able to help you. Now then, your problem is to raise money and . . ."

* * *

"DON'T be so ponderous, Wilton," Sally interrupted impatiently. "For Pete's sake, get to the important thing you spoke about."

"I'm getting to it," said Wilton. "There's a low-priced stock on the Curb Exchange that looks good. A broker friend of mine recommended it to me. Well, you might be able to double or even triple any money you have before the payment is due."

Sally was silent a moment.

"What is this stock?" she asked finally.

"Great Divide Copper," Wilton told her. "You can get it now for half a dollar a share. And they think it's due for a quick rise."

Sally did some mental arithmetic. She could scrape together just about enough to buy 200 shares. If the stock went up, the money would go a long way toward paying off the mortgage. If she lost—well, $100 or so wouldn't have done her much good. Suddenly she made up her mind.

"All right, Wilton," she said. "You can have your broker friend buy 200 shares for me."

"Okay," said Wilton carelessly. "I'll see about it tomorrow. You know that neither Dad nor I want you to lose the place. And you mustn't think that my father is —er—being hard on you. A bank can't be sentimental, of course."

AN hour later he departed, well satisfied with himself. He did not feel that he had ascribed too much importance to Sally's capital, pitiful as it was. Sally was a resourceful person. It was just possible that she might have figured out some way to increase her money before the due date of the mortgage interest. And with this Parker fellow on the scene, they might have scraped up enough between them to pay it. But if Sally bought these copper shares he would at least know what she was doing with her money. A wise precaution, Wilton thought.

Sally found Kinks reclining on a sofa in the living room. Mr. Harkness had evidently retired.

"Well," she inquired, "what did you think of Wilton?"

"A polite person," said Kinks. "But cold. I can't see why you go for him. I warn you, it'll be like being married to a cash register."

"There might be security in that," said Sally reflectively.

"Why, you little gold-digger . . ." Kinks began.

The sudden roar of a motor cut him short. Nearer it came, evidently racing up the driveway. A shot rang out. Two more followed in quick succession. A beam of light flashed across the black squares of the living room windows. Then came the sound of tires grinding on gravel. A second later feet were pounding on the front porch.

Sally and Kinks ran into the hall. They were in time to see two men fling themselves through the doorway, slam the door, bolt it and brace their combined weight against it.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Pampa Daily News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15—Secretary Hull is peeved at Mexico and perplexity adds to his annoyance.

Briefly, it's this way: The U. S says it's fundamental international law that confiscated foreign-owned property should be paid for and has asked arbitration of American claims for land Mexico has taken and an indication of the future Mexican attitude as to payment for expropriated oil wells. Mexico answers there's no obligation in international law for payment but admits obligation under Mexican law and says she will be glad to talk it over. Hull fumes because the U. S. and Mexico have been talking about these claims since 1927 and claimants haven't seen a single peso.

The State Department believes that if Mexico gets away with taking American property, other Latin American countries will start grabbing American copper mines in Peru, copper and nitrate in Chile fruit, utility, railroad and other properties. There's no disposition to invite such an expropriation wave as an answer to the "Good Neighbor" policy.

But Germany and Italy, hoping for a big U. S.-Mexico row, already are trying to capitalize the issue in Latin America. This, plus sympathy for Mexico's social reform program and knowledge that Mexico is broke and headed downhill economically complicates everything.

President Cardenas continues popular with Mexicans. But conservative army generals may pull a coup d'etat as his economic and political troubles pile up. The State Department, worrying about Nazi-Fascist penetration, doesn't want that either.

HOOVER'S IN DEMAND

A recent visitor to Palo Alto was shown 602 telegrams and letters requesting Herbert Hoover to come and speak. Mostly from Republican organizations. Hoover will make at least three major speeches before November's election.

Unlike President Roosevelt, who has collaborating ghosts, Hoover writes all his own speeches, laboriously in longhand. Usually he overwrites and is forced to compress. He has a couple of men who gather facts, and usually goes over the manuscript with friends before casting a speech in final form.

STAR—OR UNDERSTUDY?

Certain Department of Labor officials have been irked by the calm insistence of Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews on sticking tight in his job as New York's state industrial commissioner pending Mr. Roosevelt's return.

Andrews, one hears, wants to know whether he's to be a star in the show, or just an understudy taking orders from Secretary Frances Perkins and advisers.

Some department officials have been eager to shoulder policy responsibility for the new law. But Andrews, although technically under Miss Perkins, has played a powerful independent role on his New York job. The wage-hour act gives him full discretion—even to the point that he has been able to delay setting up of its machinery by failing to appear in Washington.

U. S. H. A.'S 'GOOD TURN"

Widely published has been a report that U. S. Housing Authority timed a $3,500,000 slum clearance allotment for San Antonio, Tex. to help renominate Congressman Maury Maverick, beaten by 500 votes a few days later.

Don't remind Maverick of it. U. S. H. A. wired the glad news to San Antonio's Mayor Quinn, head of the city machine which licked Maverick. Quinn was thus able to announce the allotment and take full credit while the machine used the telegram as evidence that Maverick's claims of having wangled fat appropriations for his district were phony.

Want to be Wealthy? Get a Black Cat Or a Lock of Rich Man's Hair and---

Probably it's what psychologists call "wishful thinking." Anyhow, there are people the world over who have faith in magic formulae for getting rich. Some of the more bizarre of these financial superstitions are related today by Ben Lucien Burman, famed novelist, in the second of four articles which he has written under the title of "I'm Not Superstitious, But—" for The NEWS).

By BEN LUCIEN BURMAN

You can make a lot of money if you know a little about superstitions and magic. And it doesn't seem to make any difference whether you have a degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Cambridge or the Sorbonne, or whether you can't even read your own name.

I was living over in Algeria a few years ago, and was talking to some Arab friends who had been educated in European universities and who would discuss the most modern topics with all the cosmopolitan sophistication of a frequenter of Ciro's in Pairs or the literary set of New York's Algonquin Hotel.

I happened to ask one of by Arab guests how their rich friend, who lived next door and who at the moment was going down the road in his princely costume, had acquired all his wealth.

"Every morning when he awakened he found a gerat bundle of money under his pillow."

"The girls is jest crazy about Rabbitt."

I was informed that the method was very simple. His father had been a famous scorer. And so was he. He had learned a cabalistic formula that enabled him to get into communication with the Jinn, or Genii, those gigantic smoky figures who preside over the Arab spirit world. He had married the daughter of one of the most famous, and every morning when he awakened, he found a great bundle of money under his pillow.

And it's the same way in America. Old Uncle Jesse, on the Steamboat Tennessee Belle, tells me about a colored friend that found a way to make a fortune.

"This here fellow we used to call Rabbit," said Uncle Jesse. "He used to jest break his back working on the steamboats a toting cotton and nail kegs. And then one day, he met a hoodoo doctor who told how to git what they calls invisible, so nobody can't see you.

"And quick as he could he started hunting. He killed himself a big black cat, and boiled it till there wasn't nothing left but jest the bones. And then he took a looking glass, and standing before it, begun to touch each bone to his tongue. Pretty soon there was a flash like the most terrible lighting you ever seen. And he looked at the glass, and he couldn't see himself no more. So he knowed he was invisible.

"Now he's jest the richest man you ever seen. He goes into them big department stores on Canal Street in New Orleans, and jest takes anything he wants, watches, and chewing tobacco, and shirts with horseshoes on 'em for himself, and dresses all covered with diamonds and big and shiny as windows. The girls is jest crazy about Rabbit.

"Nobody can't stop him a taking the things 'cause they can't see him. And if he wants money, all he does is to walk into one of them big banks, and without saying nothing to nobody goes into the big safe where they keeps all the money, and jest starts pulling out them hundred dollar bills every which way.

"He was in a bank down in Baton Rouge the other day a doing it, and the bank people knowed he was in there because they seen the money going. They tried to stop him and shut the door. But he got in the way and held the door open. And then he took every hundred dollar bill that was there. Doggone, I sure wish I could find me a black cat that-away."

There are a lot of other ways you can make money. Find a rich man that you don't like, get hold of a lock of his hair, and bore a deep hole in an oak tree. Pull the hair inside the hole, plug it up tightly with a piece of wood, and your fortune is made. For as long as the rich man's hair is inside, he will have terrible headaches. And when at last he finds out the reason, he will pay you anything to give him relief.

"Get hold of a lock of his hair hair.'

I knew some years ago a boy named David who was living up in the Southern mountains and who put his superstitious knowledge to a very practical purpose. It's very good luck to put a piece of silver under the bark of a tree and often a mountaineer would cut loose a piece of bark and slip a dime beneath. David would watch carefully and that night go out and collect the dime. I hear now he's one of the richest men in the county.

George Lashes Out At FDR Criticism

WAYCROSS, Ga., Apg. 16 (AP)—Senator Walter F. George declared today the question in Georgia's senatorial race was whether the people "are entitled to elect or choose their own servants."

"The issue has been raised by no less a person than the President of the United States," he said in a re-election campaign address. "It is an uneven contest. We have given the President enormous powers . . . and yet I have no fear."

In a reference to custing of carpet baggers after the war between the states, Senator George declared "we answered that question once when federal bayonets stood guard at our ballot boxes."

Described by President Roosevelt at Barnesville, Ga., as out of touch with the "broad objective of the party and the government," the veteran slashed back early in his speech with a reference to the Warm Springs visits of the chief executive.

Senator George said he was born in Webster county, Georgia, the son of a tenant farmer, in the '70s.

HUNTER IDEA DROPPED

LONGVIEW, Aug. 15 (AP)—A. V Grant, a leader in the movement to draft Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls as an independent candidate for governor against W. Lee O'Daniel said today the movement would be endorsement of C. V. Terrell for railroad commissioner.

fingers twitching on the triggers of their pistols.

About the coolest of the lot is unemotional Britain, the "policeman of Europe." If John Bull is worried (and one suspects that he may be somewhat uneasy) he is making a rather convincing display of unconcern on the surface. Without raising his voice in too much emphasis he has been poohpoohing dame rumor's gossip.

British ministers of state are holidaying, and England goes her way placidly, with her burden of maintaining peace packed up in her old vacation kit. Cables from Scotland report that the Grouse season opened auspiciously.

Mayhap dame rumor is right this time. If you keep on playing longshots you are likely to hit a winner sooner or later.

mained in the room, the rest departing, excused.

Dewey threaded his way through the packed room to his place at the counsel table. He had been delayed, he explained, by a medical treatment for a case of "pink eye."

Dewey and Hines stared at each other thoughtfully. Neither spoke.

Then the selection of the jury began.

Hines, one-time patronage procensul here for New Deal politicians, is charged with participating in the control and profits of a $100,000,000 gambling racket.

Dewey, who once accused "certain elements of Tammany Hall" of having an alliance with crime, will attempt to show that such a partnership existed between Hines and the slain Dutch Schultz's Harlem numbers ring.

Staked on the outcome of the trial, most spectacular semi-political case here in 25 years or more, are two careers—those of both the young prosecutor, who has never lost a rackets case, and Hines, gray veteran of a rough-and-tumble campaigning era.

today. The names of the nine were not available but army surgeons said none of the troopers were confined to the hospital.

Starting from their base below San Antonio, the forward movement by the brown attacking army has been an uphill fight. Their objective is 1,800 feet higher than their base and to scale that height the brown army must move across canyons, draws and arroyos of the rough, dust choked country.

For the blue army, which started Sunday from a base near Boerne, the defense presents the problem of holding its altitude advantage and today most of the blue army rested atop the hills and awaited attacks by the larger brown army.

Both forces utilized swift cavalry scout cars and horse troops in their first moves yesterday. Observers were surprised by the swift advance made by the brown army, which is composed of regular army and Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona national guardsmen. By noon the attackers had circled the city of San Antonio and held strategic points on the lower plane of this 20,000 military reservation.

$14,400 Cat Stirs Up St. Louis Feud

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—A 13-inch cat—not the soft, purring kind that frolics after mice, but a full gray metal tabby of reputed 2,400-year vintage—has created a furore in St. Louis.

Neither the authenticity nor the artistic merits of the cat are at issue—it's the $14,400 price tag which has stirred up the rumpus among unionists, "reliefers," women's clubs, the city administration and the art museum.

Many have attacked the museum's purchase of the Egyptian figure, said to date back to the fifth century, B. C., "when the city's relief needs are in desperate plight."

Striking union building workers, who have picketed the city hall here for several weeks, changed their signs recently to read: "$14,400 for a useless bronze cat—nothing for labor."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—After six consecutive declining sessions, the stock market today dug in for a sleepy rally that, at the best, lifted leaders fractions to more than 2 points.

Lack of volume on the come-back, however, was a handicap to recovery sentiment and profit taking in the final hour reduced or cancelled top marks in many cases. Transfers were around 600,000 shares, the smallest turnover in more than two weeks.

Wall Street seemingly felt a bit more confident that a war would be avoided and some who liquidated stocks last week resumed purchasing in a modest way.

Labor Leader Calls Strike (Not Sitdown) Against Fat

Before: This is how Dave Beck, head of the powerful Teamsters union on the Pacific coast, looked last winter presiding at union meetings. He weighed 214 pounds . . .

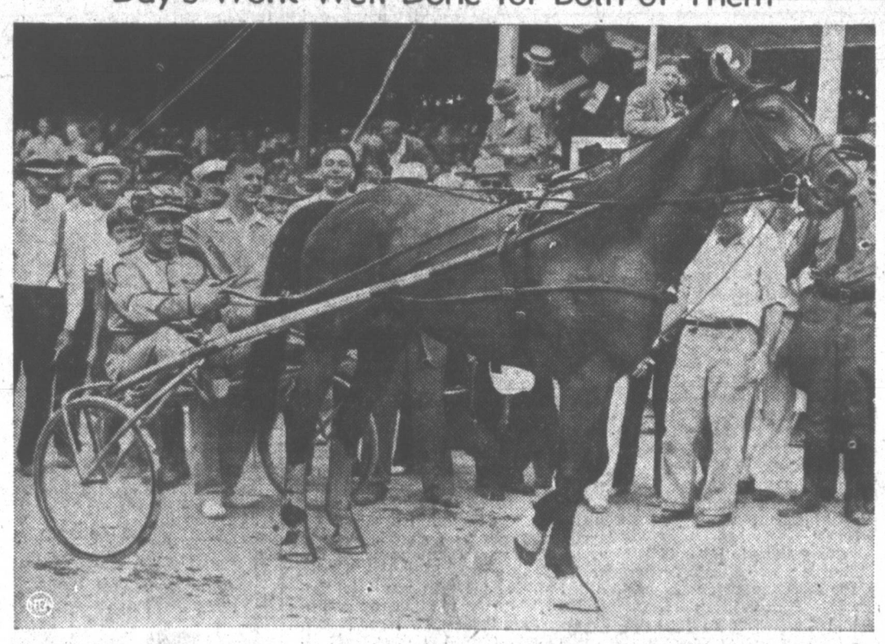

Then Beck decided to do something about that excess poundage. He started exercising. Here he is on one of his daily 4½-mile runs on Seattle's Montlake Boulevard . . .

After: Here's the new "streamlined" Dave Beck. Brisk, buoyant, full of the old pepper, he says the slim life is the only life, intends to stay at his present 169½ pounds.

Federal Agents Seize $600,000 Opium Load

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The treasury announced the seizure at a Brooklyn pier today of the largest single shipment of illicit opium in more than a decade.

Elmer L. Irey, treasury enforcement coordinator, said 1,330 five-tail tins of opium were found on a boat belonging to Frank R. McCann of Brooklyn. McCann was taken to the customs house in New York for questioning.

A tael Chinese unit of weight, is equivalent to about one and one-third ounces.

Treasury officials said the quantity seized was worth about $600,000 and that the seizure was the "largest made any place in the world within ten years."

Army Cadets Killed In Plane Collision

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Two army cadets, tentatively identified as Edward D. Willard and Robert K. Whitehouse, were killed today when the planes they were flyng in formation collided near Dilley, Texas.

Willard, 22, was listed as from Modesto, Calif., while Whitehouse, 21, came from Evanston, Ill.

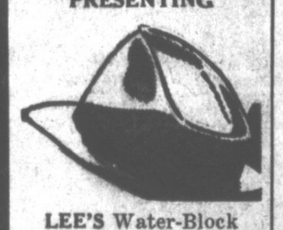

The two ships crashed at about 1,500 feet, army officials here said. The plane of Cadet Willard sput to earth, crumbled at the impact and caught fire. The body of the pilot remained in the plane and was burned almost beyond recognition.

With part of his ship's tail ripped away, but with the plane still manageable, Cadet Whitehouse climbed to about 3,000 feet.

FROME KILLING SUSPECT HELD

EL PASO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Arrest of a 35-year-old patent medicine salesman in West Texas suddenly spurred Texas authorities today in their long unproductive investigation of the six-months-old Frome murder cases.

Texas Ranger Frank Mills left here today for Seminole, Texas, where the suspect was in custody, to question him concerning the desert slayings last April 3 of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her daughter, Nancy, of Berkeley, Calif.

The suspect, whose residence was given as Lubbock, Texas, was arrested in Plains, Tex., Friday night after three Hobbs, N. M., night club entertainers had been criminally assaulted. Charges were filed against him after he made a written admission when confronted by the girls, according to Sheriff W. Kerley of Lea county, N. M.

Sheriff John Sartin of Seminole took the suspect to Pecos, Texas, today where he was to be viewed by persons who reported seeing a mysterious man trailing the automobile in which Mrs. Frome and her daughter were traveling east from El Paso. Their mutilated bodies were found nude on the West Texas desert near Van Horn, 135 miles east of El Paso.

Ranger Mills said he expected to have some important evidence in the case by tonight.

Mills said the assault on the Hobbs night club girls was among the most brutal he had investigated as a peace officer. They had been beaten and stabbed, although not critically.

The ranger questioned the suspect in Hobbs Friday, and with Sheriff Kerley searched his rooms in Lubbock Saturday.

The suspect was described as weighing 180 pounds and with a scar on his left cheek.

Suits And Dresses Made Out Of Milk

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP) — Fashion experts soon may suggest: "Wear skim milk suits and dresses."

The agriculture department hinted as much today in an announcement that its scientists have developed a process of making synthetic wool from casein, a by-product of skim milk.

The new fiber, the department said, has a chemical composition similar to wool. It was described as faintly yellow, closely resembling the best grade of thoroughly washed and carded merino wool.

Bobby has been on probation because of his third jaunt to sea, and broke his parole by hiding in the Elena.

His total nautical mileage as a stowaway is 20,200.
