Large crowd attends luncheon honoring Sheriff Keith Collier

By Wade Warren
Staff Writer

More than 500 people filled the Scurry County Coliseum floor Thursday at noon for a luncheon honoring a man that the top gun of the Texas Department of Public Safety described as a "gentle giant."

It was the highlight of a day termed "Keith Collier Appreciation Day" in honor of the retiring sheriff of Scurry County.

When Collier retires at the end of the year, he will have served 32 years as sheriff of the county.

Col. Dudley Thomas, newly appointed director of the Texas Department of Public Safety and the featured speaker for the event, said Collier represents what law enforcement is all about — honesty and integrity.

Thomas expressed his appreciation for the cooperation between the sheriff's office and the DPS over the years.

"Our troopers have always spoken highly of Keith Collier," Thomas said. "They have never said anything but good about Keith."

Thomas summed up his statements by saying if Texas had a hall of fame for lawmen, Keith Collier would be in it.

Collier spoke briefly and expressed his appreciation to all the law enforcement personnel in the county, including judges and prosecuting attorneys.

"They all help make Scurry County a safe place to live and raise children," said Collier. "I am proud to have been a part of it."

District Judge Ernie Armstrong served as the master of ceremonies, and after Collier concluded his remarks, brought laughter from the crowd as he quipped, "You have just heard the most words ever spoken by Keith Collier at one time."

Collier and his wife, Janice were both presented gifts during the program.

Texas Ranger John Billings presented the sheriff a plaque made by an inmate in the state prison system.

"It's appropriate that this gift be made by a TDCJ inmate," said Billings, noting that it was Collier who first came up with the idea of locating a state prison in Scurry County.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: The Colorado City Record reports that the hospital board in Mitchell County so far has found no takers to become a partner in the city family health clinic.

The board has been trying to interest Methodist Hospital into taking a more active role in the clinic for more than 2½ years. Mitchell County is classified as a medically underserved area.

Also, State Rep. Rob Junell was in town, armed with charts and graphs, to explain the delay in the opening of the state jail in Colorado City.

Thump the Tors!

James Roberts, in the Andrews County News, noticed that the federal government was holding the largest public auction of mobile homes and travel trailers ever held in the U.S.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) asked the General Services Administration to supervise the sale of 2,200 manufactured homes and 255 travel trailers, which have been on standby, or utilized during natural disasters throughout the United States.

"Did'ja ever wonder what the federal government is doing in the mobile home business?

"Except these three bedroom mobile homes were outfitted with special northern climate insulation. What natural disasters have we had in northern climates.

"We recall disasters in Florida, California, the Carolinas and perhaps Oregon — but Wyoming, Montana, the Dakotas, Michigan or Minnesota — nah!"

Trustees decide...

Track to get new surface

Tiger Stadium's track will get a new surface as a result of last night's Snyder Independent School District board of trustee meeting.

Four bids were received to resurface the track, ranging from $53,420 to $80,967. Trustees accepted the bid of $53,420 from Vibra-Whirl with construction to start immediately after football season. The contract calls for the project to be completed prior to Jan. 31. The district has budgeted $60,000 for the project.

District maintenance director Lawton Taylor said the company has excellent references in the area as well as from the past summer Olympics.

Taylor said the company built a number of practice tracks in the Atlanta area for the Olympics.

He also stated the new track will have a life of eight to 10 years.

Trustees also accepted high bids on two vehicles the district had advertised for sale. A bid of $350 was accepted on a 1970 Chevrolet Suburban and $275 was accepted on a 1982 Chevrolet pickup.

The board also awarded the district's property/casualty insurance to the low bidder, Quisenberry and Associates. The company currently has the district's insurance and it bid $74,026 — a figure that is some $19,000 lower than last year's cost.

In other matters, the board approved La Trix Gladson as a sixth grade teacher at West Elementary and adopted local policy updates on second reading. Trustees also gave their okay for Delta Kappa Gamma to place a historical marker at the Humble-Smith School honoring an early teacher in the program, Nellie Smith.

Also approved was a program known as the statewide education flexibility waiver. Curriculum Director Wendell Sollis told the board that this will allow the district to use up to 25 percent of the district's matching funds for Title II programs at its choosing.

Charles Anderson presided. All board members were in attendance, including Luann Burleson, Richard Chambers, Mark McCormick, Glenn Clarady, Geraldine Parker and Janet Stribling.

Community colleges don't get 'fair share,' candidate tells group

By Wade Warren
Staff Writer

Incumbent State Rep. David Counts told a class of Western Texas College students and a smattering of Snyder citizens Thursday morning that community colleges such as WTC do not get their fair share of money from the Texas Legislature.

"In our last session, community colleges took a 1.6 percent cut in appropriated money while the four-year colleges received almost a seven percent increase," said the Democrat from Knox City.

When asked why that was so, Counts replied that senior colleges had more exes in the legislature than community colleges.

"They out-vote the few of us who just have community colleges in our districts," said Counts.

David Counts

"And there's nothing fair about that," he added.

Counts said he is currently waiting on a report being prepared at Texas A&M University on the future of community colleges and what part they are to play in the educational process. Counts and others met with Texas A&M officials at WTC this past March to get local input on the report.

Counts said a state income tax is not an option for the legislature because voters would have to approve a constitutional amendment before one could be put in place.

"I'm not for it (state income tax), but we do have to have some relief on local property taxes."

Counts said the only way he can see citizens voting for a state income tax would be in conjunction with eliminating personal property taxes.

"I would love to see some relief on property taxes," he emphasized.

Most of Counts' early comments dealt with the last legislative session.

"I feel it was one of the best sessions we've had in years," said the representative, who has served four full terms and part of another.

He said elected officials from the governor on down put partisan politics aside and did what was best for Texas.

"Governor Bush, Speaker (Pete) Laney, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock — they all got together and set the atmosphere for the rest of us," said Counts.

Among the major legislative accomplishments Counts mentioned Thursday were the adoption of a $79.8 billion two-year budget with no new taxes,

FBI arrests 5 militia members

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI has arrested five members of a West Virginia militia group on charges they plotted to blow up a the FBI's West Virginia-based national fingerprint records complex, law enforcement sources said today.

The five members of the West Virginia Mountaineer Militia were in FBI custody in Clarksburg. The bureau planned an afternoon news conference at a nearby field office, said the sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

In Huntington, W.Va., a local television report said Edward Moore was charged in federal court with conspiracy to manufacture explosive materials. FBI agents refused to say whether Moore had a connection with the alleged plot.

Among others charged was Ray Looker, commander of the Mountaineer Militia, who accused federal agents last year of staging the bombing of the Oklahoma City federal building to justify a crackdown on the militia movement, said one law enforcement source.

The five were arrested on charges they plotted to place explosives near the FBI facility in Clarksburg, which the bureau recently opened as its fingerprint records center.

In use for more than a year, the facility houses fingerprint records that the FBI has collected from police departments nationwide. The identification division provides information to state and local police departments about wanted criminals.

Looker, a Stonewood, W.Va., real estate developer, claims his militia has members in 37 of West Virginia's 55 counties. He will not say how many are in the group, which bars outside observers from its drills. "You don't divulge your strength or weakness to the enemy. Currently, it's Bill Clinton and the press," Looker has been quoted as saying.

An unsuccessful candidate for the state legislature in 1994, Looker contends the federal government is trying to take guns away from the American people.

In a pamphlet Looker wrote and distributes, he also asserts that 1 million troops of the United Nations are stationed at U.S. military bases and that the government has set up 130 concentration camps at abandoned military bases to house "law-abiding citizens."

Located 120 miles south of Pittsburgh, the $200 million Criminal Justice Information Services Division complex eventually will employ 2,600 people. It also will house the National Criminal Information Center and the Uniform Crime Reporting Center, FBI units now located in Washington.

The fingerprint identification facility will use computer programs to enable fingerprints to be converted into electronic images.

Bank robbery hardly commonplace

LAKE JACKSON (AP) — It is believed to be the first bank robbery that Lake Jackson has ever had. And it was hardly commonplace.

About 10:45 a.m. Thursday, police responded in force to a telephoned bomb threat to an elementary school in Lake Jackson.

About 20 minutes later, on the other side of town, a woman in a black wig and a hot-pink sweater walked into the First National Bank and handed a teller a bag with a note attached.

Her note said a bomb under her sweater would explode unless she got money.

She got money, but had to fight past the bank president and a maintenance man in her attempt to leave the bank.

Then, someone followed her as she drove 10 miles to her residence in Angleton.

Police say the suspect, Janet Brown Hubble, 35, was herself a bank employee in nearby Clute.

Q—Why are there no bins for plastics along with the other recyling bins?

A—Plastics oxidize quickly so they must be picked up often. At present, there isn't enough demand for frequent pickup. There is a plastics bin at the recycling yard, east of the sewer plant on Thompson Road.

Farm scene: canola variety may help prevent one disease

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — What's a flower without petals? For canola, the answer soon could be healthier, safer and more profitable to those who grow it.

Canadian researchers have developed a new "naked" variety of the oil seed plant that has no petals on the flowers.

They may not be as pretty, but researchers believe the naked flowers, known scientifically as "apetalous canola," will help prevent a disease that is notorious for routinely damaging the crop in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

"This could prove to be a big breakthrough," said Art Lamey, a North Dakota State University plant pathologist who has been tracking the Canadians' progress. "Right now, there is literally no satisfactory way to manage the disease."

The disease, sclerotinia, comes from a tiny spore in the soil. When it attacks, usually during cold and wet spells, it does so by first attaching itself to the plant's flower petals. Once there, the disease works its way down the branch, infecting the main stem and often killing the plant or damaging it so much as to make it useless.

Lamey said researchers decided if they can't kill the spore, which has proven difficult and expensive, the next best thing is to develop a canola plant that is not susceptible. And since sclerotinia almost always attacks petals first, researchers decided to do away with them genetically.

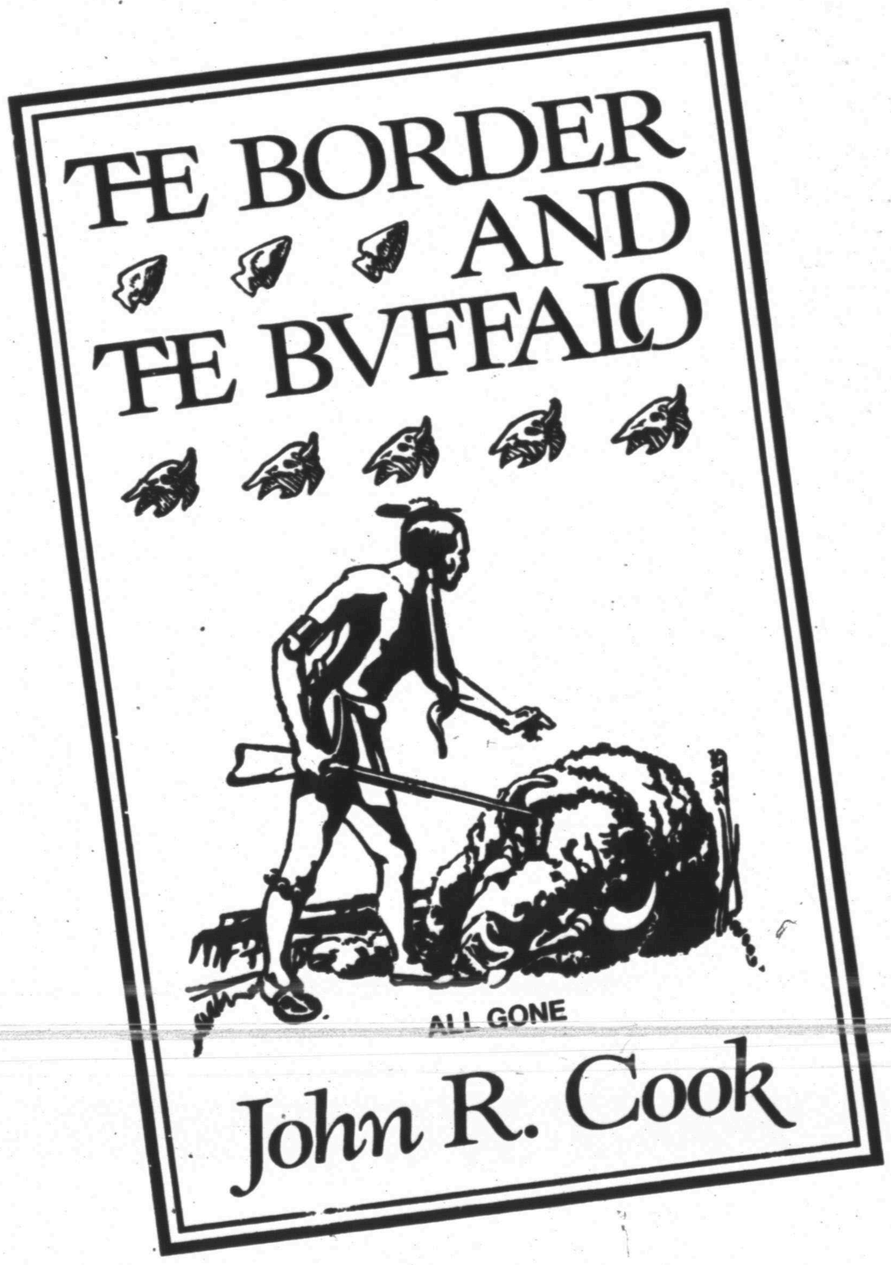

Preliminary tests indicate petalless canola varieties could help manage the disease, Lamey said.

A recent survey of 85 fields in North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota found sclerotinia was the No. 1 problem facing the crop this year. On average, 14 percent of the stems surveyed were infected, resulting in an estimated yield loss of about 10 percent.

When American farmers might be able to use the petal-less canola is uncertain, Lamey said. In the meantime, agriculture officials are making progress toward getting the expensive fungicide Benlate approved for limited use to control sclerotinia.

First Baptist Church sets October revival

Dr. H. Bailey Stone, Jr. will be preaching in a revival at First Baptist Church Sunday through Wednesday. He is currently director of evangelism of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Services for the "Jesus Loves You: Join The Faith Adventure Revival" will begin with an 8:15 a.m. Bible Study Sunday. Worship will follow at 10:45 a.m. Sunday evening services will begin at 6 p.m. with a "finger food" fellowship in Fellowship Hall following the service.

Revival services Monday through Wednesday will be conducted at noon and 7 p.m. A noon luncheon will also be served. The cost is $2 per meal.

Monday night is designated Family Night. Families will sit together and be recognized. Thursday night the children will meet in the Family Life Center for supper at 5:45 p.m., then sit together during the revival service.

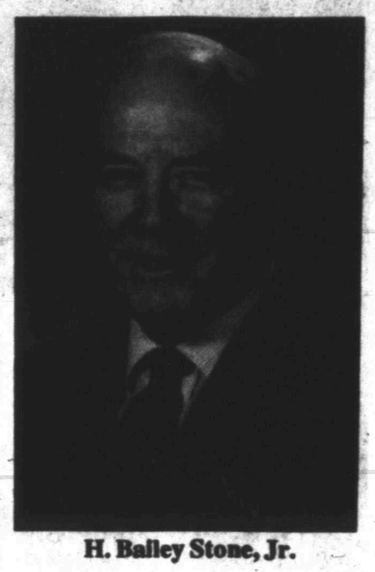

Wednesday night has been designated "Youth" Night. Following the Revival Service the youth will enjoy a pizza supper in the Family Life Center.

There will be a nursery provided for every service. Everyone is invited to attend.

Dr. Stone and his wife, Joyce, reside in Fort Worth. They have three sons.

He formerly pastored in Tennessee; McKinney, Bryan and Odessa. He has served in many areas of denominational work and has spoken at many crusades and conventions.

Rev. Jim Handorf will lead the music. He is the minister of music at Greggton First Baptist Church in Longview. He and his wife, Lorraine, have three children. He has directed music at hundreds of revivals and has sung at many concerts, retreats and special meetings.

South Plains Section Mission Convention set

The South Plains Section Mission's Convention is being held Sunday through Thursday, with services locally at the Lighthouse Assembly of God, 30th Street and Avenue G.

Conducting Sunday's 9:45 a.m. service will be the Rev. Geoffery Tomtania.

Bro. Tomtania pastors Calvary Temple Assembly of God in Lome, Togo, West Africa. The Republic of Togo is located on the Gulf of Guinea in Western Africa, immediately north of the equator. The population of Togo is approximately 3 million. There are 21 major and many minor ethnic groups.

Monica Tomtania is president of the Women's Ministries for Togo, which has a population of about 366,000.

Bro. Tomtania has his bachelor's degree from WAAST and has completed two-thirds of his master's degree. Monica Tomtania is a graduate of Southern Ghana Bible Institute.

The 6 p.m. service will be conducted by Rev. Triplett.

Other services will be at 7 p.m., with Rev. Jimmy Beggs on Monday, Rev. Wade Southerland on Tuesday, and Revs. Mercer and Nixon on Wednesday.

On Thursday, the missions banquet will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the First Assembly of God in Lamesa. The Rev. Glenn Beaver will be the banquet speaker.

Hurricanes, rain ruining crops in North Carolina

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — They weathered two hurricanes to be soaked by remains of a tropical storm. Now farmers in southeastern North Carolina are trying to salvage what's left.

About half the crops that Hurricanes Bertha and Fran missed are rotting in fields flooded by tropical storm Josephine, said Bryant Spivey, crops agent from the Cooperative Extension Office in Duplin County.

Duplin lost about 65 percent of its corn to the hurricanes. Agriculture agents didn't know how much of the remaining 35 percent would be ruined by a five-inch rain on Monday, but farmers near the Northeast Cape Fear River say corn is rotting in the fields.

Tavarez promoted

FHTNC — Marine Pfc. Roy Tavarez, son of Roy J. and Aurora Tavarez of Snyder recently was promoted to his present rank while serving with Headquarters, 3rd Battalion, 3rd Marines, 3rd Marine Division, Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii.

Tavarez was promoted based on sustained superior job performance and proficiency in his designated specialty.

The 1995 graduate of Snyder High School joined the Marine Corps in December the same year.

Blind man kills would-be robber

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Courtney Beswick couldn't see his assailant, but the blind man used his martial arts training to flip the attacker over his shoulder and place him in a wrestling hold until police arrived.

The would-be robber was declared dead at the hospital, but police say charges probably won't be filed because Beswick acted in self defense Wednesday. Neighbors say the dead man had bullied Beswick, 28 and blind since birth.

"Courtney said he asked the guy to leave him alone more than once," Barbara Harper said. "He told the guy that he wasn't giving him his money, but the man kept bothering him."

The dead man, Anthony Ervin, had been arrested eight times in the last nine years on assorted robbery, weapons and assault charges, police said.

Autopsy results were not available yet, but city Health Department spokesman Jeff Moran said Ervin suffered a neck injury.

Reached at home, Beswick said he was not injured, but would not otherwise discuss what happened. In 1987, he was named Most Valuable Wrestler for the Eastern Atlantic Association for Schools for the Blind.

"He's a good guy," neighbor Kareem White said.

Pair plead guilty in district court

Two probated sentences were handed down Wednesday afternoon in 132nd District Court.

Saul Salinas, 18, of 2808 Ave. K pleaded guilty to burglary of a building and was assessed a two-year sentence in a state jail facility, probated for five years. Salinas was also fined $500 by District Judge Ernie Armstrong.

Salinas was charged with the Sept. 2 burglary of a building owned by Sagit Shlezinger.

Also pleading guilty was Stevie Van Leatherwood, 24, of 947 North Ave. N. Leatherwood was charged with felony driving while intoxicated, a Sept. 29 offense.

Judge Armstrong sentenced Leatherwood to five years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, probated for five years. Leatherwood also was fined $750 and ordered to participate in a 30-day court-approved treatment program.

Dear Abby

Family Is Hot About Son Who Rekindles Old Flame

DEAR ABBY: A year ago, my son learned that a girl he had dated in high school 30 years ago was living about an hour's drive from where he lived. He hadn't seen or heard from "Susan" since he joined the Air Force in 1966. When he heard that she was in the hospital recovering from heart surgery, he went to see her. Well, that was the end of his marriage to "Jan," a kind, loving wife and mother.

He left a wonderful wife for a selfish, conniving divorced woman. I still consider Jan my daughter-in-law. Never will I accept the homewrecker he married. He has alienated himself from his brothers and parents.

Abby, please tell people who feel nostalgic never to rekindle an old flame. The fire my son started has burned his entire family. Now, we have only ashes for memories.

Jan still is considered a member of our family. She always is included in family gatherings. He is not even invited.

BITTER IN OHIO

DEAR BITTER: Although your relationship with your former daughter-in-law was a good one, all could not have been rosy between your son and Jan. Had his marriage been solid, he would not have been tempted by his old flame.

Please talk to your son. Perhaps he had good reason to leave Jan for Susan. If so, be more supportive of his choice and more accepting of Susan. You can remain friends with Jan and include her occasionally, but in the interest of family harmony, make time for your son and his present wife.

DEAR ABBY: I am 60 years old. Somewhere in the past, I acquired the habit of pushing my plate toward the center of the table when I finished eating.

My ladyfriend, who was born and educated in England, says this really gets on her nerves.

I never noticed it before because I have always thought it was proper — that it signals to the server that you are finished with that course. Please advise.

SERIOUS IN BOSTON

DEAR SERIOUS: Pushing one's plate toward the center of the table is not proper. To signal the server that you have finished eating and are ready to have your plate removed, place your knife and fork together diagonally across the upper right corner of the rim of your plate. The knife blade should face inward and the fork should be on the inside.

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, Mrs. Mamie Geraci of Metairie, La., explained how her late husband, an embalmer, removed rings from the deceased. She said the technique also would work on the living.

When I was 14, my mother gave me an amethyst for Christmas. I have worn it for almost half a century. As the decades passed, my fingers grew fatter and the ring became more and more difficult to remove. Several years ago, it would no longer come off. It was becoming painful, but I didn't want to destroy it by cutting it off.

My wife and I tried Mrs. Geraci's solution, which worked in less than a minute. I am so happy to have the ring off, with both it and my finger still intact.

Thank you for a practical but little-known tip.

FREDERIC ZERLA, TAMPA, FLA.

Boy who helped Yanks win, toast of town

OLD TAPPAN, N.J. (AP) — A few days ago, Jeffrey Maier was just a Little League pitcher, a kid who loved the Yankees so much he cut school to see them play the Orioles in the opener of the American League Championship Series.

On Thursday, only a ticker-tape parade was missing from the 12-year-old fan's whirlwind day, when he was featured on national television, feted by a newspaper and reviled in Baltimore.

Jeffrey's quick glove took a fly ball away from the Orioles on Wednesday and turned it into a game-tying home run for the Yankees, who went on to win.

Since then he has been a big celebrity among Yankee fans.

The fawning continued today as more than a dozen reporters and cameramen surrounded the boy as his parents escorted him to school, where his principal said the boy would not be punished for skipping school.

"It's amazing what one catch could do for someone," said classmate Joe Murphy.

Maier tried to deflect the attention Thursday as he was being squired in style around the city.

"I'm not as famous as the Yankees," he told a horde of reporters at The All-Star Cafe in New York City. "The players go out there every day. The Yankees deserve the credit."

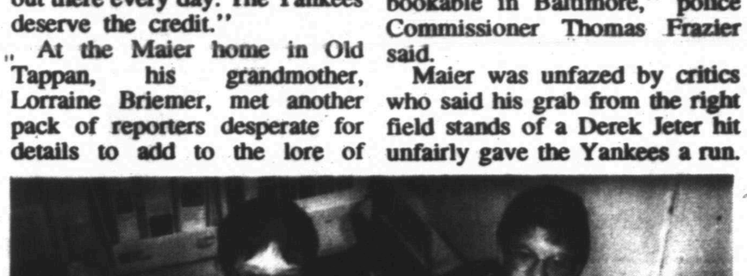

At the Maier home in Old Tappan, his grandmother, Lorraine Briemer, met another pack of reporters desperate for details to add to the lore of Jeffrey's fast-growing legend. She obliged, saying Jeffrey's dream is to be a pro baseball player.

The Old Tappan Deli offered "the Jeff Maier Special" — turkey sandwich, cherry Coke, small pretzels, $4.75.

Baltimore fans had no plans of their own to lionize the boy. Officials jokingly suggested Maier should be arrested.

"That's grand theft and it's bookable in Baltimore," police Commissioner Thomas Frazier said.

Maier was unfazed by critics who said his grab from the right field stands of a Derek Jeter hit unfairly gave the Yankees a run.

How would you play in six spades? West leads the ace and king of clubs.

In this auction, North, having bid only two spades, can afford to cue-bid her singleton club when South takes another bid.

The declarer, Rae Frenkel from Australia, ruffed the second trick in the dummy. She played a spade to her king, cashed the spade queen, played a spade to dummy's ace and ran the diamond 10. When West discarded, declarer claimed 12 tricks. Unwisely, the defenders accepted. But later Frenkel realized that she couldn't avoid a diamond loser. After repeating the diamond finesse, she is stuck in her hand with no dummy entry remaining. To her credit, Frenkel found the opponents and conceded one down.

The winning line is to unblock the heart ace before playing a spade to dummy's ace. Then declarer can cash dummy's heart king and discard the jack or queen of diamonds. Two diamond finesses are sufficient, as the second trick established South's club jack as her 12th trick. She wins five spades, two hearts, three diamonds, one club and a club ruff in the dummy.

Concede what must be lost

By Phillip Alder

When have we matured from childhood to adulthood? Sydney J. Harris, an American journalist, claimed it hasn't happened "until we move from the passive voice to the active voice — that is, until we have stopped saying, 'It got lost,' and say, 'I lost it.'"

The declarer in today's deal was adult in her approach. But with a better line of play, she wouldn't have had to exhibit such laudable ethics.

Tigers-Tors open loop play tonight

By Brent Taylor
Sports Editor

Six teams have five weeks to play for three playoff spots and the race begins tonight in District 2-4A as the oldest rivalry heats up at Tiger Stadium.

The Lamesa Golden Tors will blow in and hope to repeat last year's effort which produced their only loop win. The Snyder Tigers will be looking to take the circulation out of the Tors and eye post-season play for the second year in a row.

"Lamesa seems to play extremely well against us, extremely emotional and extremely hard against us, so we are expecting that type of ball game tonight," said SHS coach David Baugh.

On paper, Lamesa does not appear to be as strong of a team as the Tigers have seen in preseason. Four of the five non-district opponents Snyder has faced were playoff teams a year ago.The Tigers came out with one win against them and picked up another over a team that would have been in post-season if not for playing an ineligible player.

"I hope that our pre-district games were tough enough to get us ready to go for a run at the district championship. I think playing an extremely hard schedule against good competition...really five games against really good people...so I think it has got to help us get ready for the district race."

The Tigers opened the season with a last-second field goal by Scott Sanders for a come-from-behind win over Andrews, 22-21, but then lost to Sweetwater, 27-16, and to Wylie, 35-7, before coming back to knock off Big Spring, 21-15 then losing to Lake View last week, 28-6.

Lamesa also opened with a win over Pecos, 21-6, but has since lost four straight — to Lake View, 35-3, Fort Stockton, 41-16, Crane, 49-29 and Colorado City, 34-6.

Tonight's game will also be the first league contest for Lamesa head coach Tim James, who takes over the program from Gary Yoder.

James' defense will run a multible five and also a 60 which is an eight-man front, according to Baugh. "It's sort of a hard defense to prepare for because they give you different looks and then they hop into an eight-man front and that is completly different than what they have been doing, so it is not an easy team to prepare for."

One thing to keep in mind, the Tors have allowed an average of 33 points a game.

On offense, Lamesa runs from an I-set with two wide outs. They will also split the backfield and at times get into a two tightend set. Kevin Larry is the main running back for Lamesa. "I think he (Larry) is the man we have got to stop."

In the area rankings, Lamesa is eighth in total offense with a per game average of 215.8. On defense, the Golden Tors are 10th, giving up 367.2 yards.

Larry is not listed in the top 10 in the area, but quarterback Anthony Trevino is. For the year, Trevino has completed 26 of 70 attempts for 394 yards, including seven interceptions and two touchdowns.

Overall, Snyder should have more team speed than Lamesa, according to Baugh.

As far as injuries go for Snyder, Marshall Early is the only Tiger listed as doubtful. Early has not worked out this week due to a bad hip. Zeb Alexander will be back after missing the Lake View game with a concussion suffered at Big Spring. Dan Pulattie will be back after seeing limited time in San Angelo. David Wagner made his return last week and should see even more playing time tonight.

Even though he will play, Russell Riggan is still nursing a sore ankle. "Russell is not as quick on his ankle and that has caused us to change some of the things we would like to do," Baugh said.

Kyle Beck will play, but will still have a cast on his thumb. Beck still has to wear the cast during workouts and practice, but not while doing other daily activities.

"We have not played a complete game yet," added Baugh. "Hopefully tonight we will."

Kickoff is set for 7:30 in Tiger Stadium.

Levelland and Estacado opened the league Thursday with the Lobos scoring in the fourth quarter to take a 28-21 victory over Estacado.

The other opener tonight finds Frenship at Plainview.

JV remains unbeaten

Jacob Hodge scored on a 61-yard run to open the contest. Justin McNair hit Mac McCraw on a 52-yard catch and run for the JV's second TD.

McNair got the final touchdown on a 34-yard gallop. Andy Parker converted all the extra points and added a 21-yard field goal.

The JV will be at home Thursday to host Frenship.

Freshmen take 8-point win

The Snyder freshmen hung on to take an eight-point win over Lamesa Thursday, 38-30.

In the first quarter, Paul Camp scored on a 10-yard run. The two-point conversion was good on a pass from Sonny Cumbie to Isidro Villasana.

In the second period, Mark Rangel scored from 10 yards out and also ran for the two-point conversion. In the second half, Camp came back to score two more times on runs. Camp ran for the two-point conversion the first time and Trevor Kerr hit Adam Beck on a pass for the second conversion.

The final TD came on a 35-yard pass from Cumbie to Bebos Martinez. The extra point failed.

Next action for the freshmen will be Thursday at 7 p.m. in Frenship.

8th grade splits with Tors

The Snyder Junior High eighth grade black team lost to Lamesa Thursdy, 28-16.

Jamaal Wofford was responsible for all of the scoring on two touchdowns and both two-point conversions. Wofford ended the game with 101 yards on 23 carries.

Josh Arizmendi gained 72 yards on seven carries. Jeremy Bowden gained seven yards on two carries and had eight yards receiving. Jessie Haines picked up 10 yards on one carry and was two for two passing.

Jared Thornhill was two of 17 passing for 25 yards. Will Ballard hauled in one pass for seven yards, Matthew Grimmett caught one for 18 and Brandon McCraw one for eight.

Lance Foreman and and Lance Highfield were singled out for their offenseive efforts on the line. Defensive standouts were Chad Thomas, Trenaine Johnson, Mark Medley, Justin Englert, Brandon Leatherwood, Robert Early and Ballard.

Johnson had a fumble recovery.

The black team won 32-6 over Lamesa to pick up its first win.

Annabal Martinez scored four times on his way to 109 yards on 13 carries. Garrett Luft had the other touchdown for the eighth grade team.

David Beard picked up 70 yards on 10 carries with a two-point conversion. Ralph Ramon carried seven times for 26 yards and was one for one passing for 42 yards. Luft was three for three for 20 yards.

The entire defense was single out for its play.

The eighth grade gold team is now 2-4 on the year while the black team is 1-3-2.

Seventh grade wins two

Tito Alaniz and Brooks Nunley scored on runs of five and eight-yards respectively to give the Snyder Junior High seventh grade black team a 12-6 win over Lamesa.

The A team was also victorious by a score of 18-12. Wade Pinson scored twice, the first time on a 70-yard kickoff return and then on a 20-yard run.

Both seventh grade teams are now 3-3. The two teams will travel to Sweetwater Thursday.

Orioles tie series with 5-3 win over Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — This time, no little kids stole the game. This time, the record-setting power was enough. This time, the New York Yankees didn't manage a movie-script comeback.

"We should be going home 2-0," Rafael Palmeiro said after his two-run homer in the seventh led David Wells and the Orioles to a 5-3 victory Thursday that tied the AL championship series 1-1.

"We'll take a split," he said, echoing the thoughts of many relieved Orioles. "That was the goal coming in. We're going home for three days."

When the series resumes tonight at Camden Yards, Mike Mussina will pitch for Baltimore against Jimmy Key, Roberto Alomar will finally get some cheers and the Yankees won't be able to count on a glove in the stands.

Just in case the Orioles tried to forget, Jeff Maier sat in a first-row seat behind the Yankees dugout, courtesy of the New York Daily News. The 12-year-old created the game-tying homer in Game 1 when he reached out of the stands to grab Derek Jeter's fly ball to right fielder Tony Tarasco and umpire Rich Garcia failed to call fan interference.

The Yankees won in extra innings, and the kid was given just about every honor New York has to offer short of a ticker-tape parade down Broadway.

IJHS downs Westbrook

Ira Junior High pulled off a 33-14 triumph over Westbrook Thursday.

Ira's Donnie Sims scored first for the Bulldogs with 3:44 to play in the first quarter. Seth Sterling threw to Bryce Wilkins for the extra point.

Sims scored again with 2:25 in the opening stanza on a six-yard run. The extra point was good again on a pass from Sterling to Wilkins.

Wilkins scored on a five-yard reverse with 1:42 to play in the second. For the third time, Sterling hit Wilkins for the extra point.

Sims scored two more times before the game was over. With 1:14 in the second, Sims ran the sweep for 28 yards to make it 27-7. With 5:34 in the third, Sims ran 30 yards for the touchdown.

Ira is now 4-1 on the year and will face Highland on the road next week.

Erratic driving leads to one arrest Thursday

One person was arrested Thursday and two theft reports are being investigated.

Following a report that a person had hit a pole two times while attempting to drive through the drive-in window at Lota' Burger, officers arrested a 41-year-old male at 6:28 p.m. in the 2200 block of Avenue O for misdemeanor driving while intoxicated.

Margie Shelton notified officers at 9:41 a.m. that someone had stolen some plants from her front porch at 2311 Ave. M. An offense report for Class C theft was submitted.

Juanita Wright notified officers at 4:04 p.m. that some items had also been stolen from her yard at 3618 41st St. An offense report for Class B theft was submitted.

In other activity Thursday, an officer was requested in the area of the Park Village Apartments in reference to someone hearing gunshots. Investigating officers did not locate anyone with a gun. Another report of gunshots being fired was made at 8:44 p.m. from the 100 block of Peach. Officers did not find any evidence of a gun being fired.

One minor accident was also investigated. At 3:48 p.m., a two-vehicle accident occurred at College Avenue and 24th Street. Involved were a 1992 Ford driven by Melissa Craig of 3605 40th and a 1987 Nissan driven by Pete Wadleigh of 3307 40th Place.

Travel agent convicted

OLONGAPO, Philippines (AP) — A British travel agent was sentenced to 16 years in prison today for promoting child sex tours in the Philippines.

The evidence presented against Michael Clarke included a brochure he allegedly distributed in London for an adult tour package to "Sin City" and the "OK Corral," where "dozens of headstrong young fillies are tethered."

A spokesman for a London-based church group testifed Clarke had personally offered him sex with a child prostitute.

Clarke, 50, of Eastbourne, Sussex said he will appeal the verdict. It was the third conviction of a foreigner in a 14-month government campaign against child abuse.

Debate continues over higher speed limits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since the federal government let states raise highway speed limits last winter, at least eight states that did so have seen increases in highway deaths, an Associated Press survey found.

Yet, four other states that raised limits actually saw fatal accidents drop slightly.

The conflicting statistics have led the American Automobile Association and the government's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to caution that it's too soon to draw firm conclusions. Many states, for instance, have yet to gather data since raising speed limits.

Many troopers out on the roads, however, echo Utah Highway Patrol Lt. Robert Flowers, who says he's seeing more damage from high-speed crashes: "It opens vehicles up. Doors come off, windows come in."

A little more than half the states have increased limits on at least some highways since Congress ended the federal cap of 55 miles per hour — 65 mph on rural interstates.

Before the change, highway deaths had been increasing for the previous three years, highway safety groups note. And the increases that have occurred since might be attributable to reasons besides higher speeds, including bad weather or higher rates of drunken driving.

Many officials estimate it could take up to three years to get good data. Yet in some cases, the increases are startling and are worrying state officials.

Early counts show highway deaths up in Alabama, California, Missouri, Nevada, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Texas.

Missouri highway patrol spokesman Lt. Ron Beck said officials simply don't know if that state's jump is because of higher speed limits, now 70 on rural freeways and 60 on city interstates.

California statistics released Thursday indicate that although overall traffic deaths are up, traffic deaths attributed to unsafe speeds — either too fast or too slow — are down.

In Oklahoma, Lt. Gerald Davidson said that since his state raised limits to 70 mph on most interstates and 65 mph in urban areas, speed has been a factor in 30 percent to 33 percent of traffic deaths, up from 20 percent in traffic deaths before. However, he said it is too early to determine if the higher speed limits were a factor.

On the other hand, fewer people died in Florida, Massachusetts, Montana and Utah despite higher speed limits on significant numbers of roads. Massachusetts officials attribute the drop to enforcement of seat-belt and drunken-driving laws.

Several states still are mulling whether to raise limits. Others, like Michigan, have increased the limits in just a few selected areas as a test.

While the death toll has varied, one thing seems clear: Raising the speed limit means more people can drive legally.

California Highway Patrol Officer Hector Marquez patrols a busy stretch of Interstate 5 near Sacramento: "I haven't seen a great change in people's driving habits. Many drove right around 70, even with 55 limit. Now that it has been raised to 65, people are still hovering right around 70."

But Utah officer Flowers said he sees an increase in damage since the speed limit was boosted to 75 mph on most rural freeways and 65 mph in cities. Under the old limit of 65 mph on rural freeways, a car would roll over one or two times, Flowers said. But now, cars roll as many as seven or eight times, he believes.

When debate over the speed limit swirled through Congress, Montana and Nevada were often singled out as places likely to see increases in speeding and deaths.

In Nevada in the first six months of this year, 167 people lost their lives in accidents, 20 more than at the end of June 1995. The speed limit was boosted to 75.

But the fact that Nevada's population is booming may account for some of that.

"With the massive growth in our state, you're going to have more accidents," said Gordon Absher, spokesman for the Department of Motor Vehicles and Public Safety.

As of Sept. 30 the state had recorded 152 deaths, down from 165 in the same period a year ago.

Owner steals his dog from death row

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — Buster is on the run from doggie death row.

The owner of the retriever-chow mix snatched him from the pound and spirited him out of state a day before the dog was to be put to death for killing a goat.

"He's gone, buddy, never to be seen down here again," owner James Hurlock said Wednesday.

Hurlock said he took Buster from the Jackson County pound on Tuesday while a friend distracted animal control officers in another room.

As a result, Hurlock himself could be in legal trouble. The matter has been referred to the district attorney, county officials said.

"I knew that yesterday was going to be my last chance," Hurlock said. "I'll take the consequences. I'm not hiding from nobody."

County commissioners handed down the death sentence earlier this month after Buster killed a neighbor's goat. Hurlock admits his dog killed the goat, but said state law is too harsh.

Animal control officers said Wednesday that Hurlock told them his brother had taken the dog to California.

Oregon law is unclear about whether the county can ask the state to extradite the dog. "But if we find it, we're going to put it to sleep," Jackson County Commissioner Jack Walker said.

Ex-Plano mayor pleads guilty to bank fraud

BEAUMONT (AP) — One of the most prominent civic leaders in Plano's 115-year history has pleaded guilty to bank fraud.

David B. McCall Jr., 72, on Thursday became the second former mayor of Plano to admit a role in more than $25 million in fraudulent loans made in the mid-1980s.

McCall agreed to pay $379,000 restitution to the federal government. He faces a fine of up to $250,000 and five years in prison. Had his case gone to trial on Nov. 25, as expected, he faced a prison term of up to 15 years.

His plea came Thursday in federal court in Beaumont. McCall pleaded guilty to making, and causing to be made, false entries in the books of the failed Plano Savings and Loan Association. mid-1980s.

McCall served as Plano's mayor from 1956 to 1960 and currently represents the city on the North Texas Municipal Water District board.

Does new drug improve osteoporosis?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 58-year-old female diagnosed with severe osteoporosis, due to the fact that I had a complete hysterectomy at 23 and didn't take any hormone supplements until now. I've been placed on Fosomax and calcium. Will the prognosis be good, or has too much time passed for this to be effective?

DEAR READER: The initial reports on Fosomax, a new prescription drug that strengthens bones, were glowing. The medicine clearly retards the rate of mineral loss from bones and helps regenerate new bone.

However, Fosomax has not been marketed long enough to establish a track record: No one knows — based on special analyses called bone-density studies — how long the beneficial effects will last.

I believe that your physician made a wise choice in prescribing the drug, along with calcium, but I cannot comment (nobody can) on whether it will reverse your osteoporosis, thereby preventing complications of the disease, such as compression fractures.

In addition to using Fosomax, you could be helped by estrogen supplements. The risks of this therapy are slight in women who have had hysterectomies, because there's no fear that the estrogen could lead to uterine cancer. Ask your doctor about this option.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Osteoporosis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: At a recent dinner, I overheard one person saying that an acquaintance died from arthritis of the lung. As a veterinarian with a wife who is a teacher of medicine and surgery, I simply shook my head. This just can't be. The man became irate when I questioned him. Since then, I've scanned books unsuccessfully, but found a health magazine that talked about arthritis of the liver. Why are these terms being used?

DEAR READER: Arthritis means inflammation of a joint. The use of the term in some other context is inappropriate. Have you ever heard of pneumonia of the finger? A sprain of the stomach? Tonsillitis of the heart?

Your dinner companion has been severely misled. You and your wife are correct. There's no such thing as "arthritis of the lung," although — as you know — certain forms of arthritis, such as lupus, can also affect the liver. In such instances, doctors would refer to "hepatitis," which is the standard term for liver inflammation.

Each profession has its terms and jargon. Medicine is no exception and sometimes these words can lead to confusion. But with arthritis? No way. Arthritis is arthritis. Period.

Astro-graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Saturday, Oct. 12, 1996

In the year ahead, you might become involved in an impressive project with someone who is far more adventurous than you are. This could be a successful learning experience for both of you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will be in a favorable cycle for endeavors that you either conceive or control. You will have several allies, but you will call the shots. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) An endeavor to which you have devoted considerable energy and imagination will come close to a successful resolution today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Two valued friends may soon play major roles in your affairs. Even though their efforts will be unrelated, collectively they will have a positive impact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Opportunities could begin to pop up in several areas in which you experienced setbacks previously. Work as if the boss is peering over your shoulder.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Plans formulated today should not be discounted. Pursue these ideas enthusiastically. Your concepts will have far-reaching, constructive effects.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A big change might take place soon, and it could generate additional income for you. Even if you are on a tight budget, look for ways to invest your money.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Partnership arrangements will take on more significance at the end of this week. One arrangement in particular could generate impressive benefits.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A number of interesting developments could be in store for you at work in this cycle. You might get a raise or a promotion.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Conditions look promising in the romance department. If you're already in love, your situation could get even better. If you're single, it won't be for long.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A matter which has worried you looks like it will be resolved happily. What occurs now will pave the way for something promising in the future.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ingenious new twists might change your present plans. Your new ideas could eventually bring you the success you've hoped to achieve.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you can breathe new life into your financial affairs. Start scouting around to find ways to enhance your financial position.

EARTHQUAKES IN THE BIBLE!

THE INHABITANTS OF THE BIBLE LANDS WERE NO STRANGERS TO THE PERILS OF THE EARTHQUAKE! THE BIBLE TELLS OF SEVERAL OF THESE CATACLYSMIC CALAMITIES! ONE OF THE MOST REMARKABLE OCCURRED IN THE 27th YEAR OF THE REIGN OF UZZIAH, KING OF JUDAH. THE PROPHET ZECHARIAH TOOK NOTE OF IT AND MENTIONED IT IN HIS PREACHMENTS TO THE PEOPLE (ZECH. 14:5). AMOS, THE PROPHET, ALSO MENTIONS THIS EARTHQUAKE (AMOS 1:1), BUT IT IS FROM JOSEPHUS, THE ANCIENT HISTORIAN OF THE JEWS, THAT WE LEARN THE EARTHQUAKE ACTUALLY SPLIT THE ROOF OF THE TEMPLE AND SENT ONE HALF OF A MOUNTAIN, SITUATED TO THE WEST OF JERUSALEM, CRASHING INTO THE VALLEY BELOW, DESTROYING AND COMPLETELY.... ....COVERING UP THE ROYAL GARDENS (JOS. ANTIQ. IX. 10, 4) THE DESCRIPTIONS OF EARTHQUAKES ARE TO BE FOUND SEVERAL PLACES IN THE SCRIPTURES. THE SHAKING OR TREMBLING OF THE EARTH....THE HILLS MOVED TO AND FRO (JER. 4: 24) (PS. 18:7) AGAIN, ANOTHER NOTABLE EARTHQUAKE OCCURRED IN THE 7th YEAR OF THE REIGN OF HEROD THE GREAT WHICH DESTROYED MUCH CATTLE AND MORE THAN 10,000 LIVES WERE LOST (JOS. ANTIQ. XV. 5.2) THE DEATH ON THE CROSS OF JESUS CHRIST WAS SIGNALIZED BY AN EARTHQUAKE, ACCOMPANIED BY COMPLETE DARKNESS AND THE RENDING OF THE VEIL IN THE TEMPLE, (MATT. 27:45, 51-54) JUST AS ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE HERALDED HIS RESURRECTION (MATT. 28:2)!

Major drug trafficking ring smashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. law enforcement authorities working with counterparts elsewhere around the world smashed a major drug trafficking ring involving Nigerian nationals, Attorney General Janet Reno announced today. The Justice Department said there have been 34 arrests.

The smuggling ring operated from southeast Asia to the streets of major American cities, including Boston, Chicago, Detroit and Milwaukee, Reno told reporters at a Justice Department news conference.

"This is unique in the size and scope of the oeration," said Thomas Constantine, director of the Drug Enforcement Administration, a part of the Justice Department.

"This is a graphic example of the new organized crime in the United States," he said.

Constantine said the ring began 15 years ago as a group of Nigerian women smuggled heroin in small amounts of heroin for organized crime groups. Since then, he said, "have progressed to the point where they are as powerful as any in the world."

Constantine said the ring directed heroin smuggling from Singapore, Bangkok and other Far East points to Amsterdam and Paris. The drugs were then transshipped by boat to Central America and taken over land through Mexico to the United States, said Constantine.

Reno and the DEA chief praised foreign law enforcement agencies for their crucial cooperation in the ring. Constantine singled out the Royal Thai police for its role in cracking the case.

Constantine said the Nigerians had been making decisions that "would be a part of our crime problem ... in the next month or so."

GM reportedly stockpiled parts from Canadian plants

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. began stockpiling parts from Canadian plants several weeks ago to keep at least a few key U.S. plants operating during a prolonged strike by the Canadian Auto Workers, a newspaper reported today.

The plan, drafted last month in anticipation of a possible United Auto Workers strike, will allow the Saturn plant at Spring Hill, Tenn., and a truck plant in Janesville, Wis. to stay open at least through late October, GM and union sources told USA Today.

About 100 workers at a GM transmission plant in Ypsilanti, Mich., on Thursday joined 800 colleagues who were laid off Monday, because the parts they make were not needed at plants being struck in Canada.

In Tonawanda, N.Y., 1,050 workers at an engine plant were also laid off Monday.

Workers at Ontario plants in Woodstock, London and Windsor walked off the job Wednesday, joining the strike at GM's other Canadian plants. The total number of strikers rose to 28,510 and shut down the Canadian subsidiary of the world's leading automaker.

GM spokesman Tom Klipstine said the automaker would not speculate on how the CAW strike might affect production and jobs in the United States.

Obituaries

Mrs. von Roeder

1912-1996

Graveside service is set for 11 a.m. Saturday in Hillside Memorial Gardens for Nannie "Pat" von Roeder, a long-time Scurry County resident. She was 84. Officiating will be the Rev. C.J. Smith, Baptist minister, and arrangements are under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. von Roeder died at 5:29 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 10, in Cogdell Memorial Hospital following a long illness.

Born on Sept. 29, 1912 in Lawn, she moved with her family to the Arah community at the age of one. She was a homemaker and a member of the First Baptist Church.

She married R.B. von Roeder on June 23, 1947 in Big Spring.

Mrs. von Roeder was preceded in death by a daughter, Patsy Burney, in 1995; and by a grandson, Steve Burney, in 1991.

Survivors include her husband, R.B. von Roeder of Snyder; two sisters, Jerry DeShazo of Hermleigh and Ruby McKenzie of El Paso; a granddaughter, Patsy Ruth Bryant of Sonora; three great-grandchildren, Kevin Shifflett, Tyson Shifflett and Robyn Smith and three great-great grandchildren, all of Snyder.

Catholic bishop, exiled activist to share Nobel

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A Roman Catholic bishop and an exiled activist won the Nobel Peace Prize today for their work to end the conflict in East Timor, a former Portuguese colony annexed by Indonesia in 1976.

Indonesia expressed "regret" at the decision to honor Bishop Carlos Filipe Ximenes Belo and Jose Ramos-Horta, accusing Ramos-Horta of being "clearly involved in inciting and manipulating the people of East Timor."

The Nobel committee, for its part, accused Indonesia of persecuting the people of East Timor and said the prize was given in hopes it would "spur efforts to find a diplomatic solution to the conflict in East Timor based on the people's right to self-determination."

"This was about to become a forgotten conflict, and we wanted to contribute to maintaining momentum," committee chairman Francis Sejersted told reporters.

He said the committee was aware the prize award could trigger a crackdown on East Timor activists by the Indonesian government, a fear echoed by Amnesty International, a human rights group that won the peace prize in 1977.

"We're concerned about what happens next," Amnesty spokesman Rory Mungoven said in London. "There will be an outpouring, a celebration, on the ground. Our worry is that it will be met with repression."

The Vatican welcomed the news with "deepest satisfaction."

"It is my wish that this may contribute ... to concrete results that respect the rights of peoples," said Vatican spokesman Joaquin Navarro-Valls. He said the prize recognized Belo's work as a "man of the Church characterized by an untiring search for dialogue always directed at peaceful solutions."

East Timor is located between the Indonesian island of Java and the northwestern tip of Australia. Indonesia, the world's largest Muslim nation, sent troops onto the predominantly Roman Catholic island during East Timor's civil war in 1975. It annexed East Timor the next year.

The United Nations and most countries still recognize Portugal as the territory's administrator.

Ramos-Horta, 51, briefly served as East Timor's foreign minister before Indonesia's takeover. He fled to Australia and since has traveled the world to campaign for East Timor's independence.

He recently has promoted a peace plan for East Timor that calls for five to 10 years of self-rule, followed by a vote on whether to become independent.

"I hope that this award is not only a personal gain for me, that it will help the struggle of the people of East Timor," Ramos-Horta told the Australia Broadcasting Corp. from his mother's home in Sydney. "The next two or three years are going to be a turning point in our struggle."

rewriting the state's public education laws to give the local people more control of the schools and shortening the stay of death row inmates.

Counts also said the legislature wrote a new Juvenile Justice Code that reduced the age in which a youth can be tried as an adult from 15 to 14 for capital and first-degree felonies.

Counts is being challenged in the November election by Republican Scott McLaughlin of Big Spring.

Kissing kid back in trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — The 7-year-old boy who was suspended for kissing a girl and ripping a button of her skirt was in trouble again this week.

School officials in Queens said they tried to suspend De'Andre Dearinge after he bit and punched a teacher and a classroom aide at his elementary school Tuesday. The Board of Education blocked the move.

De'Andre became part of a national uproar earlier this month when principal Gerri Perriott suspended him for sexual harassment two weeks after a North Carolina boy was suspended for kissing a girl. That suspension was lifted after publicity about the case.

De'Andre is classified as a special education student because he attends a special class for help with reading. The classification means he cannot be suspended without permission from the Board of Education.

"These people down at the Board of Education should go out and work in community schools several times a year," said James B. Egan, president of the local school district. "People in the ivory tower have lost touch with what's going on in the schools. We have an obligation to provide a safe environment for all our kids."

While district officials said they regretted calling the kiss sexual harassment, they defended the suspension, saying De'Andre has a history of discipline problems and had been involved in at least two other incidents since the beginning of the school year.

Board of Education spokeswoman Chiara Coletti refused to comment about the new suspension attempt, but reiterated schools Chancellor Rudolph Crew's position on the first, saying that the action was "inappropriate and lacked common sense."
