Youth Appreciation Week Nov. 8-14

Pat 'em on the Back

Piling sand bags onto a levee built to contain angry flood waters is hard, dirty, and dangerous work normally undertaken by men. Last spring, however, boys in Minnesota, Wisconsin, and other afflicted Midwestern states joined the sandbagging brigade in an attempt to save lives, city property, and valuable farm lands from the most ravaging devastation ever unleashed by the Mississippi and its tributaries.

Strangely, these youths are a part of the younger generation condemned by many for its lack of responsibility and high moral standards. These boys received no public acclaim for their efforts. They didn't expect it.

Conversation at the time focused on news of flood destruction. Also prevalent, ironically, was talk about the young volunteer's counterparts—our juvenile delinquents. The misfits who receive so much attention, fortunately, comprise but a minute percentage of the teenage population. Although they must be persuaded to change their outlook on life, they never must be looked upon as the younger set's standard bearers for they are not and never will be.

Today's teenage standard bearers are boys like those who extended helping hands during last spring's floods. They are boys we become Eagle Scouts, who are named to the dean's honor roll, who participate in school athletic events and church activities. They're young ladies who are members of the Camp Fire Girls, or the YWCA, who can bake an apple pie or sew a party dress, who are responsible baby sitters, who are interested in school and its activities. In other words, the standard bearers are like the girl or boy next door.

Believing that these wholesome kids deserve and need public recognition of their good deeds, the Optimist clubs throughout the United States and Canada this Nov. 8-14 are sponsoring their annual Youth Appreciation Week. The Optimists hope you will join them during these few days in giving a pat on the back to the nice kids you know.

Even more important, they urge you to resolve that future weeks will be devoted to appreciating today's juvenile decency advocates who are destined to become tomorrow's free world leaders.

The Burkburnett Optimist Club is joining Optimist International in stressing Youth Appreciation Week.

The Burkburnett Optimist request entries in its outstanding youth contest. The chosen youth will be honored Nov. 11. Send the entry to: Clarence J. Bizet, 1200 Clover Dr., Burkburnett, Texas.

Wiley Wisdom has pledged Phi Sigma Kappa, a social fraternity at Midwestern University, Wichita Falls, Texas.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Wisdom, Sr. Wiley lives at 903 Mimosa, Burkburnett. He is a freshman at MU.

Richardson Rockets Try For Revenge Against Kings Saturday

Step number six up the ladder toward an unbeaten season invades Burkburnett here Saturday night in the form of the Richardson Rockets.

Richardson fell victim to the Kings last September 11, in the Kings home opener by a score of 28 to 18.

Since that date no team has been able to contain the Rockets who last week beat Houston 42 to 7.

This season the Burk Kings have raised the eyebrows of many people within football circles not only in Texas but in adjacent states also.

The Kings record so far this year reads:

Kings 49, Tulsa Oilers 19, Kings 28, Richardson 18, Kings 20, Tulsa Oilers 19, Kings 37, Kansas City Dragons 7, Kings 20, Arlington Red Raiders 18.

For comparative purposes, let us review how the Kings opponents have fared.

Tulsa who will compete next year in the P.F.L. (Professional Football League of America) which includes teams from cities such as Omaha, Neb., Wichita, Kans., St. Louis, and Kansas City, has won 3 and lost 2 (Both losses were to the Kings) this season so far.

Richardson has a record of 4-1. The Kings inflicting the only blemish on their record.

Kansas City has a 3 and 2 record, having lost to the Tulsa Oilers and the Kings.

Arlington is 0 and 1, since they formed late in the season.

The Kings will be hard pressed this coming Saturday night by Richardson to keep their unbeaten string going.

Gametime is 8:00 p.m. at Burkburnett Junior High Stadium, Saturday October 23.

Advance tickets sold at First National Bank, Chamber of Commerce, Joe & Joe Barber Shop, Adams Drug.

What I don't know would fill a book, but I intend to keep on writing, nonetheless.

A TREASURE CHEST

As the head of the American Petroleum Institute has said, "... a barrel of crude oil is a veritable treasure chest." The scientists have developed the amazing total of some 2,500 different products from oil and oil derivatives. They run the gamut from cosmetics to toys, rubber goods to fabrics, anticorrosives to agricultural sprays, detergents and medicines. Yet this is only the beginning. It is believed that there may be as many as a million different molecules in crude oil — and each is a potential building block for a new product.

In addition to all this, the demand for energy, of which petroleum is a prime source, seemingly has no limits, either here or abroad. The emerging nations, such as those of Africa, will need ever-rising supplies of oil as their civilizations develop and they gradually build their living standards.

Thus, the oil industry — and those who make their careers within it — can confidently look forward to a bright and demanding future — a future filled with challenge and opportunity. The most will have to be made of the world's oil resources. And that is exactly what is being done in this country now. Today, due to advanced recovery techniques and enlightened conservation measures, oilmen can recover as much as 80 per cent of the oil in a reservoir, where a few decades ago as little as 20 per cent was all that could be produced.

The story of today's oil is, to a very imposing extent, the story of oil.

Our Surrender To Government

Writing in the Oregon Voter, Ralph T. Moore says: "Quite probably our age will go down in history as the age that tried to legislate righteousness and that tried to inculcate, via collectivism, the needed public virtue lacking in the individual. . . . We have succeeded only in levying the yoke of high taxation and rigid regulation in return for a promise of physical ease."

Those are hard words, but the record proves them. Every new power and authority that is given to government takes away one more bit of individual liberty. Every obligation and responsibility that is surrendered to government deprives the individual of qualities of self-reliance and independence that constitute the real strength of the nation.

THE BIBLE ETERNAL

The 25th anniversary of National Bible Week will be observed this year from October 18 through 24. The theme for the Week, chosen by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., will be "The Bible — Eternal."

The meaning of the word "eternal" as applied to the Bible should be felt by everyone. And it is the purpose of the Week to make this meaning come alive for all of us. Eternal means everlasting, a lifetime without beginning or end, timeless. The Bible, made up of writings accepted by Christians as inspired by God and of Divine authority sets forth the history and the happening, the concepts, that are the basis of Christianity.

The Bible has been and must remain a timeless force in our lives. To keep it so, we must read the Bible and consider the meanings that are there for each of us. It is the one Book on whose pages have been inscribed life's fundamental values — values that were meant to be eternal. Why not make every week a Bible Week — why not keep the Bible eternal?

M. J. Rathbone, retired Chairman of the Board of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), said: "The process of economic growth in a free society has been well described as continuous advance into uncertainty. The mind that is able to analyze, organize, and lead large affairs in the midst of uncertainty and rapid change is the mind that business — and indeed all the great institutions of a free people — will always prize most highly."

Vandalism and disrespect for public property in the National Forests of Oregon and Washington alone is costing taxpayers about $70,000 a year — enough to build a completely equipped 60-unit campground — according to the regional forester. Malicious vandalism has ranged from destruction of signs and picnic tables to burglary of a forest guard station.

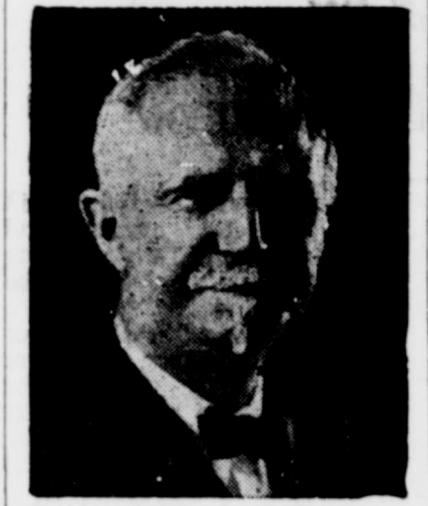

The practice of giving away road maps was initiated by oil companies in 1914, reports Marathon World. Today, about 200 million of these maps are given away each year by the industry, while other agencies contrived another 20 million.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON

CAN THE POUND SURVIVE?

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 14— This may be the year when the Dow Industrial Average conquers the alpine figure of 1,000. I discussed this in my Annual Forecast last December, and again in June. Yet, financial historians may also remember 1965 for the mighty battle to stave off disaster for the British pound. And it may ultimately be recorded that the battle was won for 1965, but the war to save the pound was later lost.

Importance of the Pound
When Winston Churchill announced, during his first unsuccessful campaign to return the Tories to power after World War II, that he did not intend to preside over the liquidation of His Majesty's Empire, he expressed a noble point of view but an unrealistic one. Many today feel that it is just as unrealistic to try to shore up the pound. Without the productive capacity and the profit capability of a great industrial machine behind England, I predict that the supporters of the pound may be fighting a losing war.

Why, then, do the money managers of the U.S. and of most other Free World Nations do everything in their power to keep the British monetary unit afloat? Frankly, because when the bell tolls for the pound, it could also toll for the dollar. It is in our own self-interest that we are working so hard to hold the pound close to its recent parity of $2.80.

Of Men and Nations

For nations, after all, are not so very different from men. If a man is a hard worker and a high earner, he can borrow with a greater chance of paying off his debts than an individual who is inefficient and a low earner. And if friends insist on loaning heavily to the low-earning citizen—to tide him over a family crisis—they surely know that the risk is high. Furthermore, if they want to be sure of being repaid, they will take pains to see that the borrower lives frugally and saves a part of his income for repayments. Certainly if the man in debt should go on a spending spree, his creditors would become alarmed and take him to task. They would not loan him more money, to continue wasting money.

England—stripped of her empire and with her huge prewar foreign investments dwindled—has been spending more abroad than she has been earning. This is the heart and core of the pound's difficulties. A quick cure for her overspending would be devaluation of her monetary unit. This would make it easier for her to sell abroad, harder for her to pay for foreign goods. Devaluation would be self-correcting. But the aftermath of devaluation could funnel out to financial nooks and crannies all over the world. For the British pound has been widely used — second only to the dollar — for setting trade balances between nations. Its devaluation could touch off reprisals in the shape of devalu-ing of many other currencies.

Try We Must

Even more serious could be the impact on our dollar. This is actually the currency of the world. But the U.S. too has a skeleton in its financial closet. Our foreign spending has been exceeding our foreign income for a long time. We have worked hard to cure the trouble, but are still running a deficit in our balance of international settlements. Hence, anything that shakes the confidence of the world traders in the pound could also shake the international faith in the dollar. This is why we have worked so hard to get other nations to join in loans to Britain to shore up her money. . . . even though the total loans exceed her present capacity to repay. This is why her Labor Government has promised to pull in its citizens' belts and strive to increase English exports.

But the eventual success of all of our combined efforts is open to grave doubt. I would surely like to view the future of the pound with Pollyanna faith. The job, however, is of staggering size. And I seriously doubt the will of any electorate to vote for more work and less pay. The tide of history has been running in the other direction. My hope for a successful turnaround would be greater if I could see our own country working harder to put its own international financial house in order. Much depends on the physical condition of our President.

Guard Against Food Poisoning

A backyard barbecue, eaten leisurely on a hot day, can send a whole family to the hospital!

Many foods prepared in advance and left outside for a time before they are eaten are subject to poisoning. Deadly organisms multiply with amazing speed on unprotected foods with no effect on taste, smell or appearance.

There is often a tendency to forget sanitation and common-sense rules for food preservation when dining on the backyard patio. Most cases of food poisoning result when food is handled too much, is properly cooked and left exposed for several hours.

Hands and utensils should be clean, and no one should prepare food who has an open sore or is coughing and sneezing. These are prime conditions for the spread of staphylococcus bacteria, principal cause of food poisoning. Another major source of contamination is the common fly which can spread salmonella infection.

Foods most vulnerable to poisoning are potato salad, egg products, fish, poultry, pork products, sauces, dairy products and pastries.

The best insurance is portable refrigeration and an outdoor stove.

Milk, eggs, pastries, and salads made from meats, sea food, poultry, beans or potatoes should be kept in an ice chest. Manufactured ice is readily available in packages at supermarkets, and to cool liquids. Ice plant ice is hard-frozen, and lasts much longer than cubes removed from kitchen trays.

Hot, creamed or scalloped dishes should be cooked just before meal time and kept hot until served.

If harmful bacteria are present, heat will destroy them and cold will prevent them from growing and producing toxins.

Food poisoning is a hot weather hazard, but the proper precautions can avoid a family disaster.

Jimmy Creel Is Honored In Merit Scholarship Test

Jimmy Creel, a student at Burkburnett High School has been honored with a Letter of Commendation for his high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMQT) given last spring. He is among 38,000 students across the nation recognized for scoring in the top two percent of students who will complete high school in 1966. The Commended students rank just below the 14,000 Semifinalists announced last month.

"In a rigorous competition like the Merit Program, it is unavoidable that many fine students will miss being named Semifinalists by a narrow margin. Nevertheless, the student in this situation is very capable and deserves generous recognition for his distinguished effort."

"The Commended students have considerable ability, which should be developed through further education. They deserve every encouragement, and their promise is great. They represent an important intellectual resource which our nation needs."

Only the highest-scoring students in each state, the Semifinalists, remain eligible for further consideration in the competition for Merit Scholarships. Although students receiving Letters of Commendation advance no farther in the Merit Program, their names are reported to other scholarship-granting agencies and to the colleges they named at the time they took the NMQT as their first and second choices. NMSC also reports home addresses, test scores, anticipated college majors and career intentions of the Commended students to the same colleges.

Let's Go Fishin'

BY BOB BREWSTER

Outdoor Editor, Mercury Outboards

Thousands of fishing boats will be sold in the next few weeks in summer resort areas during those "two weeks"

majority of once-a-year anglers will find this fishery, but catches may be less than those folks, the Mercury outboards, the following advice:

The crack of dawn is the most productive time to fish because of surface activity. Develop later in the day because water temperatures are at their lowest point.

Waters that delight anglers and water skiers are also good for game fish. So even if you're not a water skier, look for disturbances going on in the water. Fish still will seek the cooler depths. During the day, the water loses some of its oxygen, and the fish make feeding forays into the food-filled shallows.

For this reason, the best time to fish is at night-time temperatures most favorable to many species of bass and walleye, particularly in the evening. They are extremely active during the dark hours. This is the best time to fish for them in the resort area or not.

If you do fish during the day, go down into the water. Water temperatures and currents are more tolerable during the day. By drifting slowly and bumping minnow jugs, you may be taken.

Resort areas and resorts, resort area fishing is usually a challenging sport. But, they add, it wouldn't be much different if the resorts weren't there. The year and type of fish is the problem.

With these general rules in mind, you can't expect too much. When the unexpected happens, it usually does!

"Communism Impairs Patriotism" Theme Of Program At Study Club Meet Monday

"Communism Impairs Patriotism" was the theme of the program for the Burkburnett Study Club Monday night in the home of Mrs. W. H. Preston with Mrs. Maxine Creel as Co-hostess. Mrs. James Bohner, program chairman, joined the members in reading aloud the American's Creed, then presented the panel to discuss "Americanism versus Communism."

Mrs. P. A. Carpenter explained what Communism is biologically, politically, socially, internationally, psychologically, ethically and theologically. She told what Russia is really like. She defined a communist who follows as his International Guide: the overthrow of capitalism, the abolition of private property, the elimination of the family as a social unit, the overthrow of all governments, the establishment of a Communist order with communal ownership of property in a classless, stateless society. Young Communists are being taught that all evils of the world—poverty, servitude, suffering and war are caused by two things... Capitalism and Religion.

Mrs. George McClarty gave an inspiring explanation of Americanism. She said, "I am an American because I believe that America is on the side of Truth, goodness, beauty and justice and in the end they will

Low-Calorie Fudge

Foolproof recipe calls for an amount of oil which is half the usual amount of shortening, thereby cutting calories.

Do you have to count your calories and watch your fat intake? Does your mouth water whenever you have to say, "No, thanks," to dessert?

Cheer up. Unless you're on a hopelessly thin diet, there's probably room to maneuver within your limits so that you can enjoy some of your favorite taste treats.

One method is to substitute a liquid vegetable oil for the solid shortening you're accustomed to using in your cooking and baking. This frequently—but not always—means you can use less oil than the amount of solid shortening traditionally called for, which can mean fewer calories.

Whether using oil in this way cuts calories or not, your results will contain less saturated fats—an important consideration. The more poly-unsaturated the vegetable oil, the farther it will go toward counterbalancing the saturated fats inherent in any diet. Safflower oil is the most highly poly-unsaturated cooking oil on your grocers' shelves.

Smooth, creamy velvet fudge can be made easily with safflower oil. This recipe calls for an amount of oil which is half the amount of butter usually called for.

Velvet Fudge

- (Makes one 8x8x2-inch pan or 16 squares)
- 2 packages (6 ounces each) 2 tablespoons Saffola oil
- semi-sweet chocolate pieces 1/2 cup hot milk
- 3 cups sifted confectioners 1 cup coarsely chopped nuts
- sugar

Melt chocolate over hot water. Remove from heat; blend in remaining ingredients. Spread in lightly oiled 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm; cut into 16 squares. Store in refrigerator.

Hardin Group Has Meeting Wednesday
In Roderick Home

The Hardin Demonstration Club met Oct. 13, 1965 in the home of Mrs. Roy Mahaffey, 605 N. Ave. C. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Roderick, President.

Various committee chairmen were asked to report. Mrs. Hageman, treasurer, gave a club balance of $55.91. Mrs. Howard, council delegate reported that she had attended an interesting meeting in Wichita Falls.

Various old business was discussed. The entertaining of the other club, out-of-town, which had been scheduled for Oct. 27 was cancelled as our invitation could not be accepted at that time. It was re-set for Nov. 10 and we hope that that date will be acceptable with the other club. Entertainment will be chosen by Alice Daugherty, Carol Roderick, and Mildred Mahaffey. Johnnie Hageman and Icie Howard will work out food schedule.

The club discussed having a rummage sale combined with a bake sale. It was decided that we would hold the combined sale on Sat., October 30.

Carol Roderick read an invitation from the Texas Electric Co. to our club members to attend a Christmas program. It will include information regarding Christmas decorations and will be held Nov. 2. We agreed to try to attend the afternoon session on that date.

Carol Roderick also reported her attendance at the Community Service Council meeting. The first project undertaken by the group is a cleanup program for the town of Burkburnett.

Miss Thelma Wirgges brought an interesting lesson on family financing or budgeting. She said that a family must establish goals and plan for home and shelter, daily expenses, a "rainy day", children's education and retirement. She emphasized that different families will certainly have different goals and that no two families with the same income would choose to spend it the same way.

Members present were Alice Enderli, Johnnie Hageman, Sal-

OUR HEALTH

By J. M. Amberson, M.D.

Your Teeth And Your Health

Would you believe that there are many millions of Americans who never raise a toothbrush to their mouths? Incredible but unfortunately all too true. This flagrant disregard for tooth care can lead to problems of pain, illness and disease.

Your dental health should be one of your prime concerns. First—and foremost—you should brush at least twice a day—oftener if possible. A vigorous brushing cleans the teeth and massages the gum area.

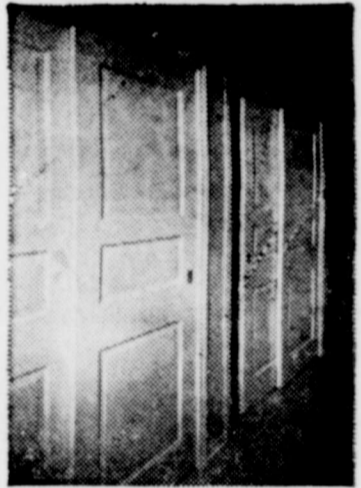

Secondly, you must see your dentist periodically. Don't wait till you have a twinge of pain. Cavities treated early can often save a tooth, yet cavities are not the only reason for seeing your dentist. You may not know that periodontal diseases—diseases of the gums—cause more loss of teeth in adults than anything else.

In the bad old days, fear of dentistry—and pain—was a major factor in keeping people away. Recently, giant strides have been made in new equipment, methods and medications that make a visit to the dentist virtually painless.

High-speed drills with accessories like diamond burs and cold water sprinker systems not only reduce discomfort and painful heat, but also cut the time spent in the chair.

Local anesthetics have come a long way since the pioneer days when a shot of whisky had to serve the purpose. For example, one topical anesthetic called Chloraseptic, is used by many dentists and periodontists post-operatively to relieve surface pain from sore gum tissue or the post-pulling pain of extractions.

Another new approach to painless dentistry is the use of psychological devices: Pleasant music piped into the room; tranquilizers prescribed the morning of a visit; a set of earphones that play "waterfall" sounds to divert the patient's attention from the dentist's activities. All these strides are geared toward helping you maintain your dental health. But it's your move first.

Sliding doors are problem solvers in hallways or other areas where limited floor space makes conventional doors impractical. Attractive panel doors of ponderosa pine are easy to hang, slide open and close at a finger-tip touch, and provide deep shadow line beauty.

HOUSE Talk

Memo to spring cleaners: Don't ignore your vacuum cleaner while going about your major chores. It may look mighty innocent, sitting there in the closet, but your vacuum is really a powerhouse of energy in getting spring cleaning done.

If window screens are on the agenda, be sure to dust them with the dusting brush of your cleaner. Before hanging the screens use a small paintbrush to lightly coat each side with kerosene. Then, wipe carefully with a clean, soft cloth. This ensures cleanliness, and will keep screens safe from rust.

This is just one tip many a homemaker can use while she's going about her spring cleaning duties, explains The Eureka Home Care Institute.

A vacuum cleaner is also handy for cleaning standing radiators. First, cover the entire radiator with an old blanket or towel, after dampening them thoroughly. Attach the hose to the blower end of the cleaner, place the other end on the covered radiator—and turn on the cleaner. All you have to do is discard the dirt-filled material. Other suggestions from the Institute:

- Use the soft dusting brush attachment when cleaning venetian blinds. The work goes faster if the blinds are turned flat, and each side cleaned.
- Give mattresses a good airing, and follow with a thorough vacuum job, using the upholstery nozzle. The crevice tool will remove lint around seams.
- When putting away winter clothes, try the crevice tool to clean out trouser pockets, and the upholstery brush for hats.

World Service Sends Food For Africa's Homeless

Summering rebellion against the colonial regime in resulted in reprisals against the natives that shocked the world. Since 1961, over 300,000 Angolans have fled the country trying to find a place of tranquility in the Congo.

Many of these children, like little Donana pictured above, owe their lives to the high-protein, milk-based food supplements they are given at the relief stations. This essential food for life is provided by the "Share Our Substance" program of Church World Service, the overseas relief and rehabilitation agency of the Protestant churches of America. Twenty-nine denominations conduct the SOS appeal every year during Thanksgiving week.

In 1964 nearly 25,000 cartons of protein supplements were sent to the Angolan refugees in the Congo by CWS, which also channels huge quantities of food and clothing to the needy in other parts of the world.

Student Council Holds Meeting

International Favorite

Many are the ways of fixing potato salad. In Scandinavia, they often combine potatoes with apples, beets and herring. In Spain, anchovies and capers turn up with potatoes in salad and in the Basque country, they even fill a hollowed apple with cubed potatoes which have been marinated in an olive oil-vinegar dressing. French potato salad consists of simple sliced cooked potatoes dressed with vinaigrette sauce. German potato salad sometimes appears with bits of crumbled bacon or the potatoes may be flavored with dill and garnished with cucumbers. At the Castellana Hilton Hotel in Madrid, a "Salad Americaino" listed on the menu turns out to be potato salad garnished with tomato wedges and hard-cooked eggs.

Whatever the country of origin, the dressing for potato salad is all-important. Most connoisseurs also feel that the cooked potatoes should first be marinated in fragrant olive oil, preferably a Spanish olive oil. An old Alsatian trick is to add a couple of tablespoons of boiling hot water to the potatoes just before tossing them with oil—important if raw onions are used with the potatoes, it blends the flavors more smoothly. Vinegar is never added until last, shortly before serving. Sometimes vinegar is omitted altogether and mayonnaise added, but many an otherwise delicious salad has been ruined by too much mayonnaise.

Spanish Potato Salad

- 4 potatoes, cooked, diced
- 1 garlic clove, peeled
- 1 small white onion
- 1 tablespoon diced pimiento
- 2 anchovy fillets, chopped
- 1 tablespoon capers
- 1 tablespoon hot water
- 1/4 cup Spanish olive oil
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 12 pimiento-stuffed olives

Rub out garlic clove over wooden salad bowl. Slice onion thin, or dice fine. Add to bowl with potatoes, pimiento, anchovy and capers. Add hot water, toss lightly. Add olive oil and salt, toss again. Let stand at room temperature until an hour before serving, then chill. Just before serving, add vinegar, toss lightly, arrange over salad greens. Garnish with sliced stuffed olives. 6-8 servings.

New All Weather Garden Hose

Unlike ordinary hose, Boston "All-Seasons" garden hose crack, discolor or become brittle with age when exposed to elements. In addition, the hose will not soften or burst heat—even in the desert areas where temperatures run 100 degrees Fahrenheit. This built-in resistance comes from its cover of "Nardel" hydrocarbon rubber, one of the newest and most durable synthetic rubbers on the market.

"Nardel", tested by Du Pont for three years in outdoor applications prior to its introduction, shows no deterioration from ozone, sunlight, and weathering.

"Nardel" also gives the hose resistance to deterioration due to accidental contact with fertilizers, insecticides, bleaches, and other common garden chemicals.

"All-Seasons" hose, manufactured by the Boston and Rubber Division of Biltite, may be purchased at hardware and retail stores.

reinforced with hard cord for added toughness and durability and can be scuffing, dragging, crushing, and pressure. It is lighter in weight than other high-quality rubber hoses and is leakproof, abrasion resistant.
