U.S. to match Soviet defense, Carter warns

By EDWARD WALSH
The Washington Post

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — President Carter warned the Soviet Union Friday that, with or without a new strategic arms limitation agreement, the United States will match the Soviets' defense expenditures and military force levels.

Speaking to about 2,000 people on the campus of Wake Forest University here, the president said the United States is determined not only to maintain a strategic balance with the Soviets but is now developing forces "to counter any threats to our allies and our vital interests in Asia, the Middle East and other regions of the world."

While reaffirming his support for a new strategic arms accord, Carter said:

"We will match, together with our allies and friends, any threatening power through a combination of military forces, political efforts and economic programs. We will not allow any other nation to gain military superiority over us."

The president also warned the Soviets that they risk a loss of support for detente if they do not begin to restrain their military buildup.

"We are prepared," he said, "to cooperate with the Soviet Union toward common social, scientific and economic goals — but if they fail to demonstrate restraint in missile programs and other force levels and in the projection of Soviet proxy forces into other lands and continents, then popular support in the United States for such cooperation will erode."

Carter's tough talk on military strength came after weeks of concern in the administration about Soviet military activity, particularly in the Horn of Africa, where Soviet advisers have been aiding Ethiopian and Cuban troops against Somalia.

Speaking of this, the president said, "There has been an ominous inclination on the part of the Soviet Union to use its military power — to intervene in local conflicts with advisers, with equipment and with full logistical support and encouragement for mercenaries from other Communist countries, as we can observe today in Africa."

He also accused the Soviets of increasing their military forces in Europe "beyond a level necessary for defense." But wherever the Soviets pose a military challenge, Carter said, the United States and its allies will be prepared to meet it.

Following his afternoon at sea aboard the Eisenhower, Carter flew by helicopter to Savannah, Ga., where he spoke to a St. Patrick's day dinner Friday night.

Speech 'justifying' plans, Soviets say

By KEVIN KLOSE
The Washington Post

MOSCOW — The Kremlin Friday night accused President Carter of distorting Soviet aims abroad as an excuse to bolster U.S. armaments and said his Wake Forest speech was "testimony to a departure from the solution of ... vital problems."

The official news agency Tass declared in response to the president's speech that a dual policy of strengthened military and cooperation with the Soviet Union is "incompatible."

Tass was unusually fast in issuing a commentary on the Carter speech.

"From the essense of the president's speech it follows that it actually means a shift of emphasis in American foreign policy from the earlier proclaimed course toward ensuring national security of the United States through negotiations, through limiting the arms race and deepening detente to a course of threats and buildup of tension," Tass declared in its analysis of the Carter speech.

Tass claimed that the president's address in North Carolina attempted to "justify" new weapons programs by alleging "a Soviet military threat and alleged also that the U.S.S.R. interferes in local conflicts." It said Carter "grossly distorts" the Soviet aim of assisting African countries.

Earlier Friday, the official Communist Party newspaper Pravda reiterated recent Soviet assertions that "certain persons" in the United States seek to prevent agreement on a new treaty to limit strategic weapons.

Hanna admits to part in scandal

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Former Rep. Richard T. Hanna, D-Calif., pleaded guilty Friday to a single charge of conspiracy to commit bribery and defraud the U.S. government in the South Korean influence buying scandal.

Hanna's surprise plea came just as he was about to be tried, starting Monday, on a 46-count indictment returned last October. He thus became the first present or former congressman to be convicted in the congressional payoff case.

He faces a maximum punishment of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

In return for the plea, the Justice Department agreed to drop the remaining 39 criminal counts against Hanna, including mail fraud, substantive counts of bribery and failure to register as a foreign agent.

As Hanna entered his plea to the central charge in his indictment before Chief U.S. District Judge William B. Bryant, prosecutors released a compilation of evidence showing the former congressman had received nearly $250,000 from Korean businessman lobbyist Tongsun Park from 1969 to 1975.

This total, greater than previously believed, included $156,640 in checks from Park or his companies and $80,000 in cash. Prosecutors said Park also had paid off a $10,000 loan balance for Hanna, had given Hanna frée use of a Cadillac for a year and had purchased Hanna's home in suburban Maryland when the congressman retired in 1974.

In return for this compensation, the government said, Hanna had helped Park to obtain and keep his job as sole purchaser of U.S. surplus rice for South Korea. Hanna also wrote to and met with many Korean officials to tell them of Park's influence among Washington politicians, and he advised Park on which congressmen Park might pay to guarantee pro-Korean statements, the government stated.

At the same time, the Justice Department said it had no evidence suggesting that Hanna had paid any congressmen himself.

Judge refuses to extend back-to-work order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal judge who ordered striking coal miners back to work last week refused on Friday to extend the order after saying the miners "are not paying attention to what I do anyhow."

U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr., who issued a temporary order March 9 to send the miners back to work, made his decision Friday about a half hour before the order expired at 6 p.m. EST.

The miners, who have almost universally ignored the back-to-work order, could end the strike on their own next Friday when they vote on a new contract offer.

Robinson told government lawyers he did not feel they had proved the necessity of issuing the order in the first place, then made his wry comment on the refusal of miners to obey it.

Robinson had issued the back-to-work order under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, and the government had sought to extend the temporary order for 11 days rather than to seek a permanent injunction as is normal in Taft-Hartley cases.

Government lawyers said they wanted to extend the temporary order for fear that stronger action would adversely influence the vote on the new contract offer.

In refusing to extend his back-to-work order, Robinson in effect lifted legal restrictions against continuation of the 102-day United Mine Workers strike.

Although he refused to extend his temporary order, the decision does not mean the government cannot seek a permanent back-to-work order. Robinson told government lawyers they could ask for the permanent injunction on March 28.

Moro search continuing

ROME (AP) — Thousands of troops and police scoured hillside caves, isolated farmhouses and miles of coastline Friday in a desperate search for kidnapped former Premier Aldo Moro. A grieving and nervous nation debated how to combat a wave of terrorism and feared Italy had become the target of an international guerrilla cabal.

Late Friday night, police announced that Gianfranco Moreno, 32, had been jailed as a suspect — the first person held in the case, but investigators said they had no firm clues to Moro's whereabouts or condition.

Jittery policemen in Milan shot and killed a young man who disobeyed a stop order at a roadblock.

Israelis eject Palestinians to secure more strongholds

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli warplanes, tanks and assault troops pushed Palestinian guerrillas out of six more strongholds Friday in their conquest of a "security belt" in southern Lebanon.

Guerrillas spokesmen said 14 persons were killed when Israeli rockets hit two carloads of civilians fleeing from the coastal city of Adloun, 22 miles north of the Lebanese-Israeli border.

Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman said an "ambush by a select force" had struck at Adloun and killed the commander of a terrorist band of Palestinians but "there is no truth at all" that an Israeli commando force continued to operate in the city. He identified the slain guerrilla as "Jihad Carlos," and said he was the regional commander of the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

The major Israeli operations were aimed at consolidating a hold on a 6-by-62 mile buffer zone along the Israeli-Lebanese border.

In New York, the United Nations Security Council began debate on the Israel-Lebanon conflict late Friday afternoon, at the request of both parties. There were no firm casualty figures in the invasion, launched by Israel early Wednesday. Lebanese Red Cross officials said more than 250 Palestinians and Lebanese were killed and 350 were wounded.

The Israeli military command in Tel Aviv said its latest figures showed 14 Israeli stldiers killed and 57 wounded, with one civilian killed in guerrilla rocket attacks on Israel's northern settlements.

Israel said it launched its invasion of Lebanon Wednesday to eject the guerrillas from the zone and prevent a repetition of last weekend's terror attack near Tel Aviv that killed 35 Israelis. The Israeli government said its troops would stay in south Lebanon until it could reach agreements — presumably with the Lebanese government or Syrian peacekeeping forces — to ensure the "murderers" would not return.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin said Wednesday in Jerusalem, 17 hours after the military operation began, that it was completed. But Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, interviewed inside southern Lebanon by CBS television on Friday, said: "Everything will cease when the other side understands that when they stop shooting, so will we."

Meanwhile, the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and Palestine Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat joined Lebanon in urging Israel to withdraw its forces.

Lebanon and Israel requested a U.N. Security Council session. Lebanon said it wanted a meeting to call for Israel's "prompt withdrawal" and to reaffirm Lebanon's authority over its south, while Israel said the meeting should "consider the continuous acts of terror and violence against Israel" from Lebanese territory.

U.S. pushing to arrange U.N. peacekeeping force

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The United States is making intensive efforts to arrange a U.N. peacekeeping force for southern Lebanon before the start of White House talks with Israeli leaders next Tuesday, informed officials said Friday.

According to the sources, the Carter administration's current top-priority Middle East goal is to get a peacekeeping agreement — setting the stage for withdrawal of Israeli forces from Lebanon — prior to the arrival here of Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Otherwise, administration officials fear, the White House talks next week will bog down in discussion of the Lebanon problem — with little or no chance for a breakthrough on the more basic problems of a comprehensive Arab-Israeli peace.

Consideration also is being given to including a Lebanese military contingent in the new U.N. force.

Countdown to spring nearly over

The countdown to spring nearly is over with only two days left until the first day of the new season, according to the weatherman.

Warm afternoons and cool nights should continue in Midland. The high temperature today is expected to reach the middle 80s with the low temperature tonight falling to the lower 40s. Sunday's high temperature should rise to the 80s.

Although skies are predicted to be fair today, the weatherman said skies should become cloudy tonight continuing through Sunday. Winds are expected to be southerly today at 10 to 20 mph.

Friday's high temperature was 80 degrees, the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal said. Last night's low temperature was 36 degrees.

All area towns reported calm, clear skies Friday night with mildly cool temperatures.

Texas barrelled toward its first fine weekend of weather in months Friday, with most of the state under sunny skies and forecasters predicting more of the same for Saturday.

Byrd will request canal letters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd said Friday he would request copies of letters between President Carter and Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos on a potentially troublesome change in the Panama Canal treaties.

In so doing, the West Virginia Democrat agreed to a demand by treaty opponents, evidently hoping to blunt a major new controversy as the Senate began debating the second of the two treaties. The pact still under consideration would provide for the United States to turn the canal over to Panama at the turn of the century.

There was no immediate comment from White House officials on the call for the Carter-Torrijos letters. Carter was en route to Georgia for a brief vacation Friday.

The exchange between Carter and Torrijos dealt with the reservation attached to the neutrality treaty just before it was ratified Thursday. The reservation specifies that the United States has a right to use military force or any other means to keep the canal open after the year 2000.

Panama has objected strenuously to any treaty provision that would allow the United States to keep military forces in Panama or to "intervene" in its internal affairs after the turnover of the canal.

Carter reluctantly agreed to the reservation in order to hold onto the pro-treaty vote of its sponsor, Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., and questions quickly arose as to whether the Panamanians could accept it.

Panamanian officials were quoted as saying they were not happy about DeConcini's reservation, but said Torrijos would study it and give Carter an answer before the vote on the second treaty.

In what was seen as an important foreign policy victory for Carter, the Senate approved the first treaty on Thursday. The neutrality treaty, approved 68-32, guarantees U.S. rights to defend and use the international waterway after its transfer to Panamanian control in the year 2000.

Scarcely missing a beat after the dramatic vote of Thursday, the Senate moved immediately to debate on the second treaty on Friday. The agreement spells out the conditions for the gradual turnover of the canal and related facilities to Panama.

Opponents vowed they would work just as hard to thwart the second pact, and the White House conceded that the toughest part of the Panama Canal treaty fight may lie ahead.

Senate officers said that 51 proposed changes to the second pact, including 40 amendments, already have been filed.

These changes deal mainly with canal operations, financial arrangements, the transfer of U.S. property and possible construction of a new sea-level canal during the 22-year transition period.

Thousands evacuated in Tijuana

By LAURIE BECKLUND
The Los Angeles Times

TIJUANA, Mex. — An estimated 25,000 people are being forcibly removed from their homes and their riverbed neighborhoods demolished in a $30-million emergency federal program to cut the risk of a possibly disastrous flood here.

The immediate danger, government engineers say, is that any additional rainfall here will force the opening of all the floodgates in the rain-filled Rodriguez Dam and allow torrents of water into the riverbed.

The 40-year-old dam is structurally sound and in no danger of bursting, according to Luis Ramirez Ochoa, city public works director. But the dam is at capacity and a few floodgates already have been opened to reduce the still-rising water level, he said.

The emergency evacuations began last Sunday over the angry, tearful protests of longtime residents who begged unsuccessfully for more time to remove all their belongings before the bulldozers razed their homes.

Government officials have said 18 entire communities in the federally owned floodplain were to be leveled by Friday to prevent the estimated 25,000 residents who live there from returning to their homes.

Roberto Diaz, state public works director, said government officials are taking advantage of the emergency condition to begin a long-range resettlement program that could permanently move out of the entire area some 40,000 families over 10 years.

By Friday more than 700 families had been evacuated to a growing tent city set up by the army in suburban Otay Mesa, according to officials.

Another 3,700 families are scheduled to be moved to various federal evacuation centers and their homes destroyed behind them by the time the emergency phase of the federal program ends next Friday.

All city, state and federal work crews with construction machinery have been ordered to the river zone to help construct 22-foot-high earthen dikes designed to conduct any overflow water from the dam into the huge, half-finished concrete flood control channel near the border.

"The risk is very high here," Ramirez Ochoa said. "If the Santa Ana condition ends and even light rains come, well ..."

The last time the floodgates were fully opened was 37 years ago, when the normally dust-dry Tia Juana River Valley filled with water that reached almost to the central business district.

Tens of thousands of immigrants have built houses in squatter settlements in the federal floodplain since then and have ignored perennial government warnings to abandon their homes for higher land.

Over the years the communities have become established. Houses and land parcels were bought and sold. Businesses blossomed. Homes grew more in size and amenities. Some had electricity and power.

Many current residents of Los Angeles once lived in the riverbed neighborhoods before passing legally or illegally into the United States.

Some residents claim legal title to their land. Others say they realize they have been living on federal land but do so because they did not have enough money to settle elsewhere.

Many riverbed residents who immigrated to the area 20 or 30 years ago stood by the rubble of their homes this week and cried.

Judge says man's too smart to go to prison

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A judge has ruled that a convicted art thief who has an IQ of 140 should not have to go to jail because "we don't have the prison facilities to handle a genius."

"The system is set up for people with more normal intelligence. I don't understand the dummies and I don't understand the brighties," said Montgomery County Common Pleas Court Judge Russell E. Yeazel in suspending a two-to-five-year prison sentence and granting probation to Ronald Anthony Valerin.

Valerin, 22, had pleaded guilty to stealing $14,300 worth of art works from Dayton and Cincinnati museums.

Yeazel said in his ruling Wednesday that it would be as difficult to impose a sentence on Valerin as it would be to sentence a mentally incompetent defendant. He also said that Valerin, who graduated cum laude from Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., last year, has a serious psychological problem and is under a doctor's care.

The judge said a psychiatric report showed Valerin had an IQ — intelligence quotient — of 140, which places him in the "genius category." Persons with "normal" intelligence have IQs around 100.

"We seldom see a defendant with such an IQ," Yeazel said after the sentencing.

Police confiscated more than 60 pieces of art estimated to be worth $100,00 from Valerin's Dayton home, including an etching by Edouard Manet taken from the Cincinnati Art Museum in November.

Also confiscated were drawings and photos taken from the Williamstown College Museum of Art where Valerin had worked as a student monitor.

Franklin W. Robinson, director of the college museum, said that when Valerin worked there he had been emotionally upset. "He needed art as a part of his spiritual life but was afraid of it because of its power over him. If anything, he responded too deeply to art."

$25,000 bond set in theft

Manuel Olguin Rodriguez, 30, was in Midland County Jail Friday night on $25,000 bond set by Peace Justice Robert H. Pine.

Rodriguez was arrested Friday morning and charged with theft over $10,000, in connection with the Thursday theft of jewelry at Trinity Towers.

She estimated the value of the jewelry at $17,000.

Huge oil slick hits shoreline of Brittany

BREST, France (AP) — A huge and growing oil slick seeping from the wrecked supertanker Amoco Cadiz washed up on miles of Brittany shoreline Friday in what was potentially the worst ecological disaster ever on this spill-plagued coast.

The American-owned ship, which broke in two on rocks three miles offshore early Friday, carried 68 million gallons of Middle East crude oil, enough to create the worst tanker spill on record. But officials did not know how many of its 15 tanks had ruptured and could not forecast the size of the spill.

By Friday evening the slick covered the sea for several miles around the wreck and had soiled three miles of beaches.

Fish were spotted floating belly-up in the besmirched waters off the tiny fishing port and summer resort of Portsall, 25 miles north of here. Crews were trying to keep the oily waters from the area's prized oyster beds.

The 233,000-ton tanker lay with its bow and its sternmounted living quarters jutting up from the sea, while oil oozed underwater from rock-punctured tanks. Officials were studying the possibility of pumping oil from the ship to minimize the spill.

Ecologists marched in Portsall to protest the growing pollution. The town's 2,000 residents feared the spreading slick would bring economic activity to a standstill.

"We were fully booked for the summer, but now it looks like the season will be ruined," said a woman hotelkeeper.

Local fishermen, who pull in mackerel and pollack aboard small boats, planned a demonstration to protest the damage to their livelihood.

Politicians, in the middle of France's two-week national elections, immediately seized on the accident as an issue.

Midland woman indicted by jury

LUBBOCK — A Midland woman was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury here.

The one-count indictment charged that Lola Mae Baucum of Midland supplied a false statement to her employer, Skibell's Management Corp. of Lubbock, claiming 13 withholding exemptions when, the indictment said, she was entitled only to claim two.

The alleged violation of the Internal Revenue Code carries a maximum sentence of one year imprisonment and-or a $500 fine upon conviction.

Kite flyers get official warning

Texas Electric Service Co. Manager C. W. Barclay Friday warned kite flyers of the danger of flying kites in the vicinity of electric power lines.

"If your kite should get caught in electric wires, call TESCO, and someone will be sent to get it down for you," he said.

Barclay recommended that, for safety, kite flyers use dry string with no metallic threads and kites made of wood and paper. He also suggested that they not fly kites on rainy days, avoid busy streets and highways, not pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a trapped kite and always fly kites away from electric or power lines or television and radio antennas.

Roberts faces double challenge

By The Associated Press

In this election year, the usual contrasts between the urban, Republican 3rd Congressional District and the rural, Democratic 4th Congressional District contain at least one dissimilarity that Rep. Ray Roberts could do without.

Rep. Jim Collins, R-Texas, faces no opposition in either the May primary or the November general election.

Meanwhile, Roberts this spring faces two candidates in the Democratic primary, each of whom has been scurrying around the district that stretches from north of Dallas to the Oklahoma border and eastward into Northeast Texas.

The 64-year-old Congressman is only the second person to represent the district since 1912. The other was Sam Rayburn.

Roberts is being challenged in the primary by Rudy Dockray, a farm editor for a Sherman television station until last January, and Dr. Barbara Montgomery, a junior college professor from Rockwall.

But most political observors feel Roberts' seat is secure, based on his eight terms in office and his position on the public works and veterans affairs committees.

Dockray, however, has keyed part of his campaign to themes about farmers and this has not gone unnoticed by voters whose livelihoods are tied to agriculture.

When he announced his candidacy in January, the 42-year-old graduate of Oklahoma State said "people have been victimized long enough by big government."

Ms. Montgomery, a middleaged history teacher at El Centro College in Dallas, was the first of the candidates to announce for the race. She is said to be trying to build a coalition of women and blacks.

She says "people are too far removed from Congressman Roberts."

Whoever gets through the primary will have to face Republican Frank Glenn of the tiny town of Flint, near Tyler in Smith County.

The 45-year-old businessman faced Roberts in 1976. The Republican was soundly defeated although he did manage to carry a couple of counties.

Glenn, a Ronald Reagan-style conservative, has again attacked big government in Washington and too much federal control. He asks for "relief from excessive taxation."

Roberts is beginning to gear up his campaign operation. His years as a Rayburn aide, his terms as a state senator and his public works committee products for his district make him a formidable opponent.

Fords moving into new house

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Gerald and Betty Ford move into their rambling new 15room desert home this weekend, and the former first lady says, "It's turned out even better than I expected. Both of us are very happy."

In recent weeks Mrs. Ford took time out from writing her autobiography to oversee lastminute touches to the 6,000square foot ranch house adjacent to the Thunderbird Country Club golf course in the Rancho Mirage section of this desert oasis 100 miles east of Los Angeles.

"Since it's been painted, it looks like a jewel," she said. "The furniture has been made; the drapes have been made, and it's ready."

Mrs. Ford spoke in a recent interview about the new California lifestyle which she said she and the former president have adopted with ease.

"Palm Springs agrees with me," she said. "I didn't think it would be agreeing with me so much ...I feel great. My (health) problem is arthritis and the desert is great for my arthritis."

The Fords retired to Palm Springs in January 1977 following his defeat by Jimmy Carter in the 1976 presidential election.

They moved into a temporary, rented home near their new residence and announced that they had contracted to write separate books.

When the former president is at home, he golfs.

Photos tell it

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The use of photography as a sign language that can often be more eloquent than the spoken word is being demonstrated as a communications tool to junior high and high school students and their teachers across the nation through a multimedia show.

The 35-minute Eastman Kodak Company presentation, which is offered free to the schools, shows how pictures can be used to convey emotion more strongly than words through the use of slides that illustrate loneliness, joy and triumph.

The presentation, entitled "Photographically Speaking," explains how visual images have a language all their own.

Iowa craftsman's business really going great guns

By MICHAEL HOLMES

ROCKWELL CITY, Iowa (AP) — Rex Merrill is a man who knows his guns.

"I made my first one in 1948," he said. "I've been working on it, off and on, ever since."

Merrill makes pistols. Perfectly balanced, deadly accurate, carefully crafted, much-desired pistols.

He makes them by hand.

"We don't turn 'em out like popcorn, you know," he said as he turned a weapon over in his oil-stained hand. "One gun dealer told me I could sell 10,000 a year if I could make'em. But ..."

He can't make 10,000 a year. Even now that he's hired a fulltime, nonfamily employee, Merrill's tiny shop has turned out only about 200 pistols.

What he turns out — carefully, quietly, with his son, grandson and his other employee — are single-shot target and hunting pistols that have won shooting tournaments, bagged game and earned the praise of gun magazines across the country.

"We don't do any advertising at all," he shrugged. "Don't have to. No use spending money on advertising if you can't keep up with the orders you've already got."

The orders — listed by hand in a simple ledger book — are backed up at least 60 guns. Buyers from Puerto Rico to Alaska have placed orders. Gun buffs from England to Australia have written for information.

"Sold the first one of these in 1969 to a fella over in Carroll, Iowa," Merrill said. "He seemed to like it. Word got around, I guess."

Each of numerous small boxes in the shop contains a single set of the parts that go into a Merrill Sportsman. All 34 parts are made in the two-room shop crammed full of equipment.

Not one is welded or machine-stamped. They are cut and turned, one at a time, on aged machines. They are measured, filed and fitted, one at a time, by hand. The carved wooden grips, in teak or walnut, are turned one at a time on a machine Merrill designed and built.

The boxes of parts are then placed before pipe-smoking Steve Bierstedt. One at a time, Bierstedt fits each piece into place. File in hand, he removes a thousandth of an inch of metal, one stroke at a time.

Assembly takes Bierstedt about four hours per gun. When he's finished, an incredibly thin sliver of metal measuring foil will slide through the openings. A human hair will not.

This is the way Rex Merrill wants it. The gun bears his name and represents 30 years of work.

"We get nearly $300 for these. I don't want them to jam. That's what I like about this," he said, a flannel-shirted arm gesturing around the shop.

"We've had offers from other gunsmiths who wanted to make them under our name. But, you can't tell what they do to us." Rather than sell out, rather than collect royalties, rather than turn the business over to outsiders, Merrill spends his days among the machines and pistol parts.

There are no dealers with shelves full of Merrill Sportsman guns. A hardware store in town does sell a few, "but he doesn't have any on display."

And except for the wall rack in the corner that cradles each of the five designs Merrill has evolved over three decades, there are no guns on display in his shop, either.

Each employee owns a Merrill Sportsman. That's how Bierstedt came to his job. He was talking about his hobby, guns, one evening with Rex's son, Buzz. He later went hunting with a borrowed Merrill Sportsman and liked it, but couldn't afford one.

"Rex said he needed a little work done," Bierstedt said. "I worked off my gun. Then the wife wanted one, so I worked off hers.

New church home begun

Construction is beginning on the new home of Midland's Church of God of Prophecy.

The structure is being erected at Rocky Lane and Thomason Drive, in far west Midland.

Upon completion several months hence, the structure will provide classrooms, sanctuary, baptistry, a kitchen and offices.

Participating in groundbreaking ceremonies for the new building last weekend were Bishop Hector Ortiz, state overseer for West Texas for the Church of God of Prophecy, and the Rev. R. A. Sircy II, pastor of the Midland church. They were joined by members of the local congregation.

The Church of God of Prophecy has been in Midland for the last 20 years and now has a congregation of approximately 50 members. World headquarters of the denomination are in Cleveland, Tenn.

Ross Payne, pastor, will deliver the sermon at the Sunday morning service but all other participants will be young people. The public is invited to attend the 11 a.m. service, as well as the evening service beginning at 7.

The collective program, featuring works by J. S. Bach, Healey Willen, Samuel Scheidt, Ludwig Krebs, Marcel Dupre, Joseph Jongen, Helmut Walcha and Paul Manz, among others, emphasized worthwhile service music, or music suitable for worship services, said Mrs. Bruce Barthel, head of the AGO chapter.

Dr. Virgil P. Howard

Guest to speak in last service

A sermon by Dr. Virgil P. Howard of Dallas will highlight the third and final service in the Sunday Night Preaching Mission at Midland's First United Methodist Church.

The service will begin at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary, North Main and Ohio streets, and will be open to the public.

Dr. Howard is professor of preaching at Perkins School of Theology of Southern Methodist University. His sermon topic for the Sunday evening service is to be "Doubt: The Pain of Faith."

A graduate of Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa., he holds a theology degree from Dubuque Theological Seminary in Dubuque, Iowa, and served as pastor of Methodist churches in Dubuque and Waterloo, Iowa. He has taught at Schiller College in Heidelberg, Germany and,while studying for his doctorate at the University of Marburg, served as pastor of a church in Runzhausen, Germany. He came to SMU's Perkins School of Theology in 1975 as visiting professor of New Testament. He was appointed assistant professor of preaching this past September.

"Is God really listening when I pray?"

No one could care more than God does, what happens to you.

When you understand even a little of His goodness and care, and turn to Him trustingly—you find what you need to solve any problem.

How God answers prayer is shown in the Bible, and is an important subject in our Sunday School. Anyone through age 19 is welcome, any Sunday.

Visitors to lead worship

A visiting team of ministers, teachers and musicians will lead the Sunday evening worship service at Midland's Church of the Dayspring, 310 N. Weatherford St.

The team operates as a mobile church, traveling widely throughout the Southwest and elsewhere to encourage Christian love and commitment, said Tom Wood, pastor of the Church of the Dayspring. He is inviting the public to Sunday hear the team in the service, scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. A nursery will be provided for child care.

Church gives to college

LOS ANGELES (AP)—St. Paul Baptist Church, a black congregation with fewer than 500 active members, has donated $500,000 to Bishop College in Dallas to endow a faculty position in social science.

A large contribution for a church of any size, the amount "was money we started saving 21 years ago," said the Rev. John Branham, pastor of St. Paul for nearly 35 years.

Branham is a trustee and 1937 graduate of Bishop College, the largest black private college west of the Mississippi River.

Ensemble to appear

The Golden Angels, a Dallas group, will appear Saturday night and Sunday afternoon at the St. Ann Spiritual Church, 1800 E. Illinois Ave.

The musical events will begin at 8 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday. Mother Scott Williams, pastor, has invited the public to attend.

Republicans may take district races, Wright says

By MILLER BONNER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Jim Wright said Friday that he had ample support among fellow Democrats to retain his House majority leader's post but expressed concerns over a possible Republican uprising in two Texas congressional districts.

The House Democratic Caucus elected the Fort Worth congressman majority leader by a slim one-vote margin last year. When Congress reconvenes after the November general elections, however, Wright feels he is in control of the situation.

"Some of my friends spent the last three days talking to the 262 (Democrats) who are intending to return," he said. "I have 191 firm pledges... that's not quite three out of every four."

But Wright admitted the Texas Democrats are going to "have a fight on our hands" in two of the six House seats being vacated after this session.

"I'm not a political pundit or haven't seen any polls but I think the (George) Mahon district may be vulnerablee and perhaps the (Bob) Krueger district. I'm not predicting Republican wins, you understand... a lot will have to do with who we nominate as Democrats and if we have a strong candidate."

Mahon, Congress' senior member, has announced his retirement after this session. Krueger is leaving the House to run for the Senate seat occupied by Republican John Tower.

"I think we have a pretty good chance this year," said Wright. "Probably a better chance than we've had since Sen. Tower was first elected, but it's not a cinch."

Wright also noted that historically the political party in control of both Congress and the White House have lost seats. "There are two exceptions," he said. "The most recent one was in 1934 when Mr. Roosevelt was president. The average loss (for the party in power) has been 27 seats in situations like that. That's on a national scale."

Wright also used Friday's press conference as a forum to promote the Democrats' campaign spending bill that is faltering badly in the House.

Under the proposal, candidates in general election races for the House would be eligible for up to $50,000 in federal money to match private contributions. With some exceptions recipients would have to accept a campaign spending ceiling of $150,000.

The Republicans, with roughly eight times more money in their war chest to spend on the November general elections according to Federal Election Commisson figures, are up in arms over the proposal because the measure would also reduce by 70 percent — from $50,000 to $15,000 —the amount a political party's fundraising committee could contribute to a House candidate.

Wright admitted chances for the bill's passage are "questionable" but added: "I think something ought to be done to correct flaws in the election law. For one thing, we tried several years ago to establish a binding and enforceable ceiling on total expenditures in congressional races and I think that's desireable.

"I don't think you ought to put a seat in the U.S. Congress up for bid to the highest bidder like a seat on the New York Stock Exchange.

Missionary to speak at Sunday services

The Rev. Glenn D. Stafford, an Assemblies of God missionary to Indonesia, will be guest speaker Sunday night at Gardens Assembly of God, 2901 W. Kansas Ave.

Stafford and his wife have served as missionaries for more than 20 years and have been working in Indonesia since 1975 where they are active in evangelism, Bible teaching and literature distribution. The Staffords also have served their church in Burma, Malaysia and Singapore. In Burma, the couple pioneered and established an Assemblies of God evangelistic center in Rangoon. They were among six missionaries of the Assemblies of God to establish a special missions outreach in South Vietnam in 1973.

Stafford is a graduate of Southwestern Assemblies of God College at Waxahachie and has had post-graduate study at West Texas State University, Canyon, and Texas Tech University, Lubbock. Prior to missionary appointment, the Staffords pastored churches at Lubbock and Amarillo.

The Sunday service at Gardens Assembly at which Stafford will be speaking is scheduled for 7 p.m. The public is invited to hear him and to view the color slides, curios and costumes which he will show at the service.

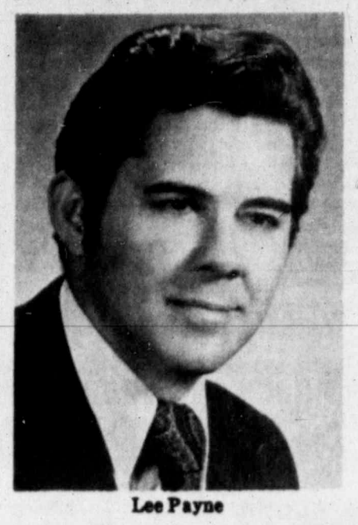
Rev. Glenn D. Stafford

Newspaper defended

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The Ombudsman for the Washington Post, commenting on that newspaper's recent publishing of excerpts from H.R. Haldeman's book, "The Ends of Power," said Friday "anything that is news is fair game to a newspaper."

Charles Seib, whose job it is to criticize, praise, or defend his employer through his published columns or inter-office memos, spoke to the 1978 convention of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors.

Seib contended that Haldeman, former President Nixon's chief of staff, was a public figure and anything he had to say was of sufficient interest to the public that it should be published.



Lee Payne

Soloist set for concert

Gospel soloist Lee Payne will be featured in a special concert during the 10 a.m. Sunday service at Kelview Heights Baptist Church, west of North Big Spring street near Scharbauer Drive.

Payne has sung at the Midland church on several past occasions and has many fans and friends here, said the Rev. Frank Johnson. The public is invited to hear his upcoming program.

Payne also serves as pastor of Temple Baptist Church at Springdale, Ark., while continuing a busy schedule as gospel singer throughout the Southwest and elsewhere.

Suit blocks land purchase for prison

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants (CURE) filed suit Friday to block the purchase of 6,741 acres of land for a new prison in Hidalgo County.

CURE said in its petition for an injunction that the State Board of Corrections' vote to buy the land was void because the Texas Open Meeting Act was violated.

Purchase of the property cannot take place until an "approval board" consisting of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and prison board chairman James Windham gives its okay.

The panel has scheduled a March 28 meeting in Austin.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Five Farms Corp. said reports that the firm would turn a $4 million profit from selling the land to the state for the new prison were "absolutely false."

Frank Westerman said the 14,500-acre Monte Cristo Ranch cost more than the $10 million reflected in Hidalgo County records.

"There was a substantial down payment. We're really making a modest profit off of this," Westerman said.

The prison board has an option to buy not only the initial 6,741 acres for $8 million but the remainder of the ranch for an additional $6 million.

CURE's suit alleges that when the prison board voted March 13 in Palestine to buy the land, its agenda did not reflect the issue would come up.

Closed meetings are permitted when land acquisitions are discussed, but a state board's agenda still must reflect all items, even those to be taken up behind closed doors.

The suit says that as a result of the alleged violation, the vote to buy the land "is voidable and should be set aside by the court."

CURE opposed construction of a West Texas prison in the last legislative session, and is against the South Texas prison on principle, said director Charles Sullivan.

The Legislature authorized construction of a West Texas prison.

"We're for a moratorium. We want to delay the building of our traditional maximum security prisons until a maximum development of community programs has taken place," Sullivan said.

He said he would be in Edinburg Monday and Corpus Christi on Tuesday to distribute petitions asking the "approval board" to block the purchase of the prison site.

Commission to study methods of setting electricity rates

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Alternate methods of electric rate-making will be discussed during hearings in June before the Public Utility Commission (PUC), the agency announced Friday.

The sessions will be the first to consider the general issue of electric rates rather than those of a particular company.

"The price of electricity is on the verge of wiping out the retirement dreams of old people and the viable dreams of a better life for poor people," PUC Commissioner Alan Erwin said in a statement. "We have to find an alternative."

Recommendations from the hearings will be forwarded to the Legislature, which ordered the commission to evaluate alternative rate systems and allow public input to rate-making.

A pre-hearing conference will be held April 13. Prefiled testimony is due May 22. Utility companies will testify June 1214, other parties will testify June 19-21 and public testimony will be given June 26-28.

Commissioner hearing examiner John Cunningham will preside. Utilities must furnish prefiled testimony, while citizens may fill out forms when they testify.

The commission said it is especially interested in testimony concerning declining block rates, lifeline rates, time-differentiated rates and cost-based three-part rates.

The study will be funded by $80,000 from the commission's general appropriation.

The agency said spiraling energy costs combined with concerns for the environment and energy conservation prompted the commission to schedule the hearings.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective April 14, 1978.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish an increase of 11.4 percent in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality, and is available for inspection in each of the Company's public business offices.

Man convicted in youth's death

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — A state district court jury in Wichita Falls Friday convicted a Slaton man of capital murder in the death of a 6-year-old Lubbock youth.

The jury deliberated one hour and 40 minutes before finding Philip Carey Brasfield, 28, guilty in connection with the Oct. 26 abduction and slaying of Johnny Turner Jr. The child's decomposed body was found nine days later in a rugged canyon near Lubbock.

The trial was moved here from Lubbock on a change of venue.

Lubbock prosecutors rested their case Thursday afternon after emotional and tearful testimony from Florence Turner, the victim's mother.

Braniff flights to start

DALLAS (AP) — Following a United Kingdom edict that had put Braniff International's London flights into a 16-day holding pattern, it now appears the Texas-based carrier's first flight will lift off Saturday.

President Carter made the announcement Thursday that the United States and Britian had reached agreements that would lead to lower fares and liberalized charter service between the two countries.

The lower price of Braniff's daily London flights originating at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport were at the heart of the problem.

Richard Rivera sprays a mixture of water and sand onto a wall as he goes about his full-time city job of erasing graffiti in the City of Commerce, Calif. (Los Angeles Times Photo)

Californian, 57, holds full-time job eradicating graffiti from buildings

By STEVE HARVEY
The Los Angeles Times

CITY OF COMMERCE, Calif. — When Richard Rivera sees the writing on the wall, he erases it. Or paints over it.

Even in an age of specialization, Rivera is unique: his full-time job for the City of Commerce is eliminating graffiti.

He must be vigilant.

"One time I saw a guy who was 18 or 19 walking a baby carriage down the street," recalled Rivera, 57. "He reached inside it — for the baby's bottle, I thought.

"But he pulled out a (paint) can and sprayed a mailbox. I yelled at him, 'Hey, why don't you get a little can for the kid?' He told me what I could do, too," said Rivera, laughing in spite of himself.

But Rivera feels he's gradually winning the battle. In fact, success even allowed Rivera and his boss, Mike Eley, to go over to the other side, so to speak, recently.

"CBS called up and said they wanted to get a shot of a wall with a lot of graffiti on it in good light for a segment they were doing," Eley said. "We'd cleaned up most of the bad places, but we found one.

"Then they phoned to say they couldn't come out, so we erased the writing. But a day later, they phoned again and said, 'Do you still have that wall? We're coming out.' So Richard and I repainted the graffiti on the wall."

Naturally, they erased it after the filming.

Graffiti has long been a problem for the City of Commerce, which borders East Los Angeles, because several gangs operate in the area. And wall-painters from other areas can make use of the city's free bus service — one of the benefits available to residents because of the city's large industrial base.

Rivera's weapons are a portable, rifle-like device that shoots out a mixture of water and sand (for unpainted surfaces) and a paint brush (for painted surfaces).

He's been using his antigraffiti gun for almost three years now, and he thinks there is less writing on the wall: "It isn't as much fun for the kids when I erase something right after they've written it."

To offset those wall writers who don't discourage easily, Rivera mixes paints in his garage to approximate the colors of frequently struck targets — then tags the paint for future use.

Some spots in Commerce are left alone. "They don't seem to hit churches or cemeteries or private residences," Eley said. "Also, they leave most brown buildings alone. One market used to get hit all the time when it was green. Then it was painted brown and there hasn't been any trouble since."

Rivera said obscene graffiti is rare: "Mostly, they just write their names or gang names."

"If one gang finds another gang's writing in its territory, it will X it out or write over it," Eley said. "Too bad they don't just erase it."

Rivera could use the help sometimes: "Once I painted the men's room at a park and left the door open so it could air out. While I was painting the women's room, some kid ran into the men's room and marked it all up again."

As in other disciplines, the true craftsman is fading from the scene in the art of graffiti. Most practitioners have substituted the hard-to-aim aerosol spray can for the more careful strokes of the paint brush.

"You can have a locked storeroom and they'll get in somehow and spray the wall," said Tom Sykes, a park supervisor. "Who knows how they get in? They just want to show you it's not impregnable. Graffiti's their way of saying, 'Hey, I exist.'"

The most tireless artist Rivera has found was one who signed his gang name on 13 buildings during one spree, then wrote "The End" on the 14th, and left an empty aerosol can.

"I wish the writing were as easy to remove as it is to put on," Rivera sighed.

Badly injured police officer says no to desk assignment, retirement

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — When a Tucson policeman suffers a serious injury, his superiors are likely to offer him what they call "light duty," their lingo for desk work.

But Policeman James O'Harra, whose hip was smashed when his motorcycle and a car collided just after he got off duty one night, says he wants no part of that.

O'Harra says he hopes to be back on patrol duty within three months. That's pretty quick, considering that his doctors have told him he will be in traction half that time.

But the 34-year-old officer is familiar with getting out of a hospital bed and doing the hard work required to overcome an injury and return to patrol work. Five years ago, he lost his left leg below the knee at the scene of a car wreck.

After going through therapy and being fitted with an artificial leg, he successfully ran the police department's obstacle course and got a doctor's OK to become the first officer to return to street patrol here after losing a leg.

"I've been through this once," O'Harra said from his bed at Tucson Medical Center. "It will be the same as last time, only not as bad. I made it then, and because of that, I know some short cuts and it won't be as long this time."

Realizing he could take a desk job or retire, O'Harra says, "I enjoy working the street. I could have taken physical retirement, but then there's nothing else I want to do."

But O'Harra will make a major change in his life.

"I've had 20 years riding cycles and 20 years really enjoying it," he said. "But this is enough now that I'm going to quit riding."

Water hearing to resume May 1

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—Hearing in the lawsuit between Texas and New Mexico over deliver of Pecos River will resume in Denver May 1, Assistant Attorney General Doug Caroom reports.

Caroom, who returned to Austin after two and one-half weeks of evidentiary hearings, said the recess was ordered by Special Master Jean Breitenstein to allow New Mexico to respond to a groundwater study introduced by Texas.

That study, presented by Bill Klemt of the Department of Water Resources, deals with groundwater in the Pecos River Basin.

Most of the data in this first part of the case deals with engineering data and studies on the 1947 condition of the river, on which delivery of water under the Pecos River Compact is based, and presentation of a model of 1947 conditions.

Caroom reports Judge Breitenstein "expressed concern" at some points as to whether the two states have a compact or simply a "vague, unenforceable agreement.'

But, he adds, it appears there is little danger the compact itself would be overturned.

In its lawsuit, Texas contends New Mexico owes Texas an accumulated deficit of 1,400,000 acre-feet of water because of "man's activities in New Mexico."

Also called during the first part of the trial were Texas Pecos Compact Commissioner R. B. McGowan, consultant Frank Bell (formerly with the U.S. Geological Survey), and DWR employees Dr. Krishna Murthy (cq) and Dr. George Chang.

Opening lead — ♡ 5

Declarer took the ace of hearts and returned a club. East played low, and South won with the king.

Now South had to get to dummy to lead another club. It seemed "safe" to lead a spade to the king, but this play cost South his contract. East took the second club and fired back the king of diamonds to force out dummy's ace. This removed the entry to the clubs, and South couldn't make nine tricks without bringing in the clubs.

MUST LEAD DIAMOND

After winning the first club with the king, South must lead a diamond to dummy's ace. East can take the next club and cash three diamonds, but then the defenders are through.

It looks dangerous to open up the diamonds, but it is unlikely that either opponent has five of the six missing diamonds and also the ace of clubs. The diamond play is therefore less risky than the "safe" spade play.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S-A985; H-K106; D-876; C-KQ4. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. This sort of hand, with 2½ Quick Tricks, was once considered a sound opening bid, but it is now considered a point or two short.

Writer of Civil War history happy to get back to novels

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Books Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — After spending 20 years on a writing job he originally thought would take him two years — "at most" — to finish, Shelby Foote once again is doing the novels he loves.

The bearded, 61-year-old Foote says he had five novels to his credit when he was asked by his publisher to write a short history of the Civil War.

"I agreed," Foote says with a smile, "figuring the book would take me a year and a half, maybe two, to finish since I felt I could write history faster than I could fiction.

"But once I began it seemed to me that there was no sense in writing a short history because, after all, if you are going to understand this country you have got to understand the Civil War. It was the greatest event we ever had. It, more than anything, determined the kind of country we were going to have. At least, I think so."

So, says Foote, a native Mississippian "and all my people before me," he began the research — "it was a tremendous amount of work but it all was a pleasure" — and writing that took 20 years of his life. The result was the 1,600,000-word, three-volume, "The Civil War: A Narrative — I. Fort Sumter to Perryville; II. Fredericksburg to Meridian; III. Red River to Appomattox."

Foote, a soft-spoken, relaxed man, says that while he was working on his massive history "I never felt that I had left the novel. Everything I had ever learned as a novelist went into writing that book. After all, a weaving together of facts, whether they come out of historical papers or out of one's imagination is still a weaving together of facts. Both fiction and non-fiction pose technical problems — such as multiple plots — that fascinate writers. Writers don't want to give the world a secret truth, they want to work out the problems inherent in creating a book."

With his history finished, Foote says he returned to the novel form, planning at first to write a long novel and then deciding instead to write a short one.

"Even though I'd already published five novels," says Foote, "I felt that after all the time I'd spent on the history my fictional skills might be kind of rusty. So I decided to write a shorter book, a book that had been in my mind since the late 1950s."

The result was "September September," a well-written story about the kidnapping of the grandson of a rich black man by three whites. The action is centered in Memphis, the city where Foote now lives with his wife.

"I'm very happy to get back to the novel," Foote says. "I've always liked the form, so much so that even my short stories are not really short stories but excerpts from something larger than I am writing."

Foote describes himself as "a slow writer" although he estimates he turns out 100,000 words a year. He writes in long-hand rather than use a typewriter and currently is at work on a long novel which he calls "Two Gates to the City."

"I'm still blocking it out," he says, "but I should start to write it pretty soon. It's going to be a big, family novel — not, mind you, a saga but a book about a family.

"I can't say when I'll finish. I'm getting older, and I'm slowing down. Why, it used to be when I was younger that I could finish one novel in the morning and start another one in the afternoon. I don't do that any more."

Loss of major customer fails to daunt Lockheed

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — The possible defection of Eastern Air Lines as a major customer will not damage the economic prospects for Lockheed's L-1011 TriStar aircraft program, Lawrence O. Kitchen, chairman of Lockheed Corp., said here Thursday.

The company expects to sell 300 TriStars for more than $7 billion between now and 1987, Kitchen said.

Eastern flies 30 TriStars, but is now negotiating to buy 23 airliners worth $550 million from a European consortium. The European A-300 would become a mainstay of the Eastern fleet, and the airline would sell some of its L-1011 aircraft to other carriers.

Eastern is "a great customer and a good airline, but they have their own decision to make," Kitchen said in an interview after a speech to the National Aviation Club thursday. "We think the L-1011 fits in with Eastern's needs. They have to decide what kind of equipment they want."

Eastern and other carriers, concerned about large numbers of empty seats on big aircraft, have become interested in the A-300 because it carries about 200 passengers, considered an optimum load on many routes. The basic L-1011 carries 256 to 272 passengers.

Lockheed's specialized entry for the smaller-load market will be a shortened version of the TriStar, called the L-1011-400. It will carry about 200 to 230 people and will be valuable for serving such pairs of cities as Denver and New York or New Orleans and Philadelphia, said company spokesman.

Lockheed is now testing the markeplace and offering the smaller TriStar 400 design to potential customers, Kitchen said.

The company already has begun producing a long-range version of the L-1011, called the 500, for such intercontinental routes as New York to Rio de Janeiro.

With these two versions supplementing the basic L-1011, "we expect to provide TriStar users with greater flexibility," Kitchen said in his speech. "And we expect to increase our market share with these and other derivatives.

Preliminary production work probably will begin this year on the TriStar 400. Kitchen said Lockheed will have an advantage by entering the market with a derivation of its basic TriStar instead of creating an entirely new aircraft.

"We can enter the 200-passenger race with a proven design that has all the technology of a new design concept," Kitchen said. "It is a new-size version of a proven, quieter transport — a plane pilots like to fly, with an economic performance that will compete in every major market in the world."

Critics who have suggested that Lockheed abandon the TriStar program misunderstand the future earning potential, Kitchen said.

The $1.6 billion already invested is an "entrance fee ... for access to the vast airliner market of the 1980's. We may have to pay more for further improving the breed and introducing new technology. But the major costs are behind us. Now we look forward to reaping profits through the '80's," he said.

Bobcats edge Lee for Tall City crown

The San Angelo Bobcats have a new hero from Odessa High after Friday night's Tall City Relays at Memorial Stadium, and you might say Midland Lee has a new villian.

Odessa High's Glen Fink played a big part in the Tall City run, even though the Broncs finished last in the eight team field with 30 points. Fink passed Lee's Jami Berry at the finish of the mile relay to hand San Angelo the title with 112 points. Lee was a close second with 108 points while meet favorite Odessa Permian was a distant third with 83 points while Midland High followed with 62.

LEE NEEDED a victory in the mile relay to insure the championship since the Rebs were leading by four points going into the final race. San Angelo easily won the race meaning Lee needed second place to force a tie with the Bobcats. Fink proved to be "The Fink" by bringing Odessa High to second place ahead of Lee.

Odessa Permian easily won the junior varsity division with 133 points while Tascosa and Lee followed with 81 and 81 points each. San Angelo captured their second title ot the night in the girls division with 162 points while Permian was second with 136 markers.

Even though Lee lost the meet, it was not a lost cause since many of the Rebels shined Friday. Sophomore 440 sensation Phil Carlton won the quarter with a 50.5 while knocking off more than a second of his best time this year.

CARLTON ALSO ran a splendid leg on the mile relay team, bringing the Rebs from fourth to second at one point.

Lee's Steve Hooper, a winner in the mile last week for Lee, turned in a 9:54.6 in the two-mile run for Lee's only other individual first place finish.

The Rebels took the neet lead after winning the 440 relay behind the running of Jerry Moore, Jami Berry, Doug Guthrie and Dwight Washington with a 42.9, the top time posted in West Texas this year.

Another surprise came from Lee's Elmer Montgomery, who is just out for track following basketball. Montgomery got a second in the long jump, and third in the 220 and a fourth in the 100.

LEE'S JEFF McCowan got a second in the shot put with a toss of 55-1¾, losing again to Permian's Tommy Sager. Rodney Taylor had his best throw of the year with a 52-10¾ for third.

Arthur Pertile came home with a fourth in the 880 while Berry had a fifth in the 220 and Washington a fifth in the 100. Washington's was Lee's big disappointment with no points in the 100 where he qualified with the fastest time and the fifth in the 220, another race in which he was supposed to have a shot at winning.

MIDLAND HIGH also got some good performances, especially from Alvin Price. Price won his first race this season with a 22.6 in the 220, but that was not his best time. However, Price did run away from the field and controlled the race, a thing he has not been able to do this year. Price also blazed to a 9.8 in the 100, his best time, but it was for second as Ector's Alvin Woodard ran a fine 9.7 to win.

Midland High also placed second through fourth in the two-mile run as Pat Darden, Gene Tuttle and Bob Glenn all followed in Lee's Hooper, who just missed the record.

Chuck Stump placed second in the 880, losing to San Angelo's Ed Bruning for the third time this year.

Jeff Adkins, who won his first two miles this year, lost for the second week in a row with a sub-par 4:32.4. He lost to San Angleo's Lon Albert for the first time this year.

Amarillo Palo Duro's Richard Buck, a state class hurdler, put on quite a show in the varsity division as he set records in the 330 and 120 hurdles. He had a 38.5 in the intermediates and a 13.9 in the highs.

THE MIDLAND High girls posted 86 points for fourth place while Lee was last with 23.

The Bulldogs got 24 of their points in the mile run as Donna Repman led the 1-2-3 sweep with a record setting 5:50.5 while defending champion Loryanne Coon was second and Shirley Cassin third. Midland was also second in the mile relay and second in the 880 with Wanda Caldwell, who set a record last week in Odessa. Jana Trolinder gained a thrid in the 440 while Terry Dean was fourth in the shot put. Nan White got the other point with a sixth in the 440.

Lee's Leshia Watkins set a new record in the high jump with a leap of 5-0 while defending record holder Deborah Ledbetter was third with a 4-10. Terry Reyes got a third in the 880 while Shelli Speck placed in the 80 hurdles.

THE LEE junior varsity performed well, but Mike Yabara stole the show. Mike won the 100 and 220 dashes while running a leg on Lee's winning sprint relay team.

David Sinmons gave the Bullpups two victories by winning the discus and the shot put. His throw of 51-2½ was his best mark of the year. He has been throwing for the varsity. James Lary, another promising sophomore, got two seconds in the same events for Midland High.

Sutton and prized pupil ...guard Moncrief

Sidney Moncrief to play tonight

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton said Friday he expects guard Sidney Moncrief, who was injured in Thursday's 74-70 upset of UCLA, will play in tonight's Far West regional basketball tourney final against Cal State-Fullerton.

"I think he's going to play but he's very, very sore," said Sutton.

"Perhaps if it was some other player on our ball club I might be very, very concerned. But he's one of the fiercest competitors I've ever coached and I'm sure he'll find some way to get himself mentally prepared for the contest...," said Sutton.

The coach said his talented guard, who is tied with Ron Brewer for the best scoring average on the team at 17.8 and leads the club in rebounding with an eight board per game average, suffered a slight concussion, a bruised left shoulder and jammed a finger on his left hand.

"His head seems to have cleared," said Sutton. "But his shoulder is very sore and very sensitive to touch."

Moncrief shoots with his right hand so his scoring ability may not suffer too much, said Sutton.

"That was a nasty spill," said Sutton of the fall the 6-foot-4 Moncrief took after UCLA's 6-9 David Greenwood tried to block his shot in the waning seconds of the HogBruin contest.

Moncrief was taken out of the game and examined by a physician.

Notre Dame, DePaul win

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Notre Dame's Kelly Tripucka keyed an 11-0 run in the final minute and the Irish surged past Utah 69-56 Friday night in the semifinals of the NCAA Midwest Regionals.

Earlier, Dave Corzine poured in 46 points to become DePaul's leading career scorer in a 90-89 double-overtime victory over Louisville.

Notre Dame, now 22-6, blew a five-point lead early in the second half and trailed the Utes 50-49 when Tripucka sank a baseline jumper to make it 51-50.

Utah's Earl Williams drove in for a layup at 6:01, but the Utes then hit a fatal dry spell, going scoreless until Greg Dean hit a pair of free throws at 1:32.

Tripucka, a 6-foot-7 freshman who led the Irish with 20 points, accounted for seven of Notre Dame's next 11 points as the Irish grabbed a 62-52 lead with 2:42 left.

Utah, ending its season as 23-6, was led by Jeff Judkins with 16 points.

Corzine, a 6-foot-11, 250-pound senior, scored the winning basket for DePaul with less than 20 seconds left in the second overtime. His 44 points surpassed the DePaul career record of 1,870 points set by George Mikan.

Corzine's shot came seconds after Rick Wilson gave the Cardinals an 89-88 edge with a short jumper.

DePaul held a 36-35 halftime lead and Corzine scored eight during a 14-4 spree to grab a 54-43 lead for the Blue Demons.

Wilson hit a 20-footer for the Cardinals to knot the score 74-74 at the end of regulation.

DePaul's Curtis Watkins forced the second overtime with a follow shot to deadlock the game at 82-82.

DePaul Coach Ray Meyer called Louisville "one of the best clubs we've played all year. It was one club I didn't want to play in the regional."

Rebels, Pack in twin bills

The Robert E. Lee Rebels and Midland Bulldogs hit the of road today for a pair doubleheaders on the road with Andrews and Lamesa.

Both twin bills start at 1 p.m. with the Rebs taking on the Mustangs in Andrews and the Bulldogs battling the Golden Tornadoes in Lamesa.

Lee sports a 7-4 season record while Midland is now 5-5 on the year.

The two doubleheaders are tuneups for the opening of baseball action in District 5-4A when Lee faces Odessa High in Odessa and the Purple Pack entertains Odessa Permian at the Memorial Stadium diamond.

Leading hitters for MHS include James Allen, Jimmy Zachry and Tracy Gann. Allen is hitting .423, Zachry .387 and Gann .351.

Tyler Alcorn is hitting at a .571 clip for the Rebels while teammates Clay Calhoun, John Hopkins and Doug Schmidt, are also hitting well.

Calhoun owns a .407 average while both Hopkins and Schmidt are hitting .375.

Orange team nabs spring grid tilt

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A pair of fourth quarter touchdown passes from Ted Constanzo to split end Mike Lockett triggered the Texas Orange squad to a 21-0 victory over the White Friday night as the Longhorns ended spring practice.

Ten starters missed the game with a variety of injuries.

Villanova, Duke take cage wins

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Eugene Banks and Jim Spanarkel scored 21 points apiece to lead seventh-ranked Duke to an 84-80 basketball victory over Pennsylvania Friday night and a spot in the NCAA East Regional finals against Villanova on Sunday.

Villanova upset 13th-ranked Indiana 61-60 in the other NCAA East semifinal at Providence Civic Center on Rory Sparrow's winning basket with 13 seconds left.

The winner of the Duke-Villanova game will travel to St. Louis for the NCAA senifinals.

Penn, ranked No. 20, threatened to upset Duke by taking a nine-point lead, 66-58, with about 8 minutes remaining in the game.

But Banks, a 6-foot-7 freshman forward, and Spanarkel, a 6-foot-5 guard, hit on a variety of short jumpers and the Blue Devils' defense held Penn to one basket in nearly 6 minutes.

Duke had led 44-40 at halftime on two free throws and a basket at the buzzer, and the Quakers' hustling defense forced Duke turnovers and fastbreak baskets for Penn.

But Penn's offense went cold except for the driving layups of guard Bobby Willis, who had 16 points, and forward Tony Price, who had 17. Duke limited Penn's high-scoring forward, Keven McDonald, to 12 points.

In the first game, Indiana led by as many as 11 points early in the second half, but Villanova's late switch from a zone to a man-to-man defense choked off the Hoosiers.

Villanova's Keith Herron kept the Wildcats in the game in the first half with 19 points, and the Villanova defense limited Indiana to 17 points in the second half, 12 by the Hoosiers' Mike Woodson.

Indiana, 21-8, took a one-point lead with 35 seconds left, 60-59, on Jim Wisman's lone basket of the night.

Lee Rebel JVs advance to finals

PECOS — Larry Latch scored the winning run in the top of the seventh inning here Friday night to lead the Lee JVs to a 3-2 victory over Andrews and vault them into tonight's finals of the Pecos Junior Varsity Baseball Tournament.

The Rebels will play the winner of the Midland High-Pecos semifinal tilt, which is scheduled for this morning.

Dwayne Holmes picked up the win with some relief help from Kenny Maxwell in the seventh. Wade Cartwright, Lee Johnson and Latch all had two hits apiece.

Three sharing lead in TPC golf

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, wildly erratic in biting cold and gusty winds, fought his way to 1-under-par 71 and retained a share of the second-round lead Friday in temper-testing conditions at the rich Tournament Players Golf Championship.

Nicklaus, who has finished second, first and second in his last three starts, was tied with Ben Crenshaw and Lou Graham at 141, only 3 shots under par for two trips over the windswept 7,174 yards of reclaimed marsh land that make up the Sawgrass links.

Graham, a softly-drawling former U.S. Open champion, birdied the last two holes for a 70. Crenshaw, traditionally a wild man off the tee but playing with careful, dedicated control this cold, windy day, shot a 71.

ALL THREE PLAYED in the afternoon half of the field which enjoyed the best of the very severe conditions that produced some fantastically high scores—rapidly becoming a tradition in this ambitious event billed as the annual championship of golf's touring pros.

"It was bad enough when we played," said Crenshaw. "I'd hate to have had to play in the morning."

"Somebody said the morning players actually had an advantage," Graham observed, with tongue firmly planted in cheek. "All the lakes were frozen over."

Some other scores: Gary Player, 73-147; Ray Floyd, 77- 154; U.S. Open champ Hubert Green, 77-153; Hale Irwin, 75- 150; Jerry Pate, 76-152; Arnold Palmer, 78-152.

Nicklaus had some unusual difficulty on short putts. He 3-putted twice once from 12 feet for a double bogey, and missed three others from seven feet or less. He recorded six birdies, three bogeys and the double.

HE TOOK SOLE control of the lead with consecutive birdies on his eighth and ninth holes, dropped back with the double bogey that triggered a 5-5-5 stretch, then regained a share with birdies from 12 and six feet.

Graham wedged to five feet on the 16th and needed only an 18-inch putt after a fine sand shot for a birdie 4 on the 18th.

Crenshaw had to work hard to retain his piece of the lead in the event that offers a total prize of $342,000. He got his drive in the water, had to drop out, thread the next shot through trees, then play a sand wedge over a bunker to about eight feet. He made the putt for par 5.

"I felt like I threw away a shot when I got it in the hazard, then I felt like I'd regained it when I made the par," he said.

It was but small exaggeration. "I'd guess the temperature was about 35 degrees and the wind was about 35 miles an hour when we started," said Australian David Graham, one of the early players.

In addition to Nicklaus, Crenshaw and Lou Graham, only Larry Nelson could better par for two rounds. He had a 72-143.

"The only way you could describe (playing conditions) is 'miserable'," the soft-spoken Nelson said. "It was really ridiculous. I started out playing with two sweaters, my windbreaker, mittens and a toboggan cap. And I had to run to the 10th tee to try to get my feet warm."

JOHN MAHAFFEY, a third-place finisher last week, matched par 72 and was at 144. He was followed by Mike Morley, John Schroeder and Andy North at 145. Schroeder had a 75, Morley 73 and North was one of only four men to break par at 71. The field is composed of all the world's great shot-makers and none have yet broken 70 on the links-type course that normally plays under a whipping wind.

Some of the scores bordered on the ridiculous.

There was Tom Weiskopf, a winner last week, taking 80 and a 153 total. There was Johnny Miller, once the game's leading light, shooting 82 and 159. There was PGA champion Lanny Wadkins taking 82 and a 161 total. And there was Tom Watson, the 1977 Player of the Year and a two-time winner this season, shooting 78-154. Watson missed the cut for the second time in a row. It took a score of 153 to make it.

LEE TREVINO had 78-153 and withdrew, saying the cold, windy conditions were playing havoc with his injured back.

Oakland, Los Angeles take exhibition wins

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Wayne Gross tripled home one run and later scored what proved to be the winning run on Sheldon Mallory's squeeze bunt in the ninth inning as the Oakland A's held on to defeat the Seattle Mariners 10-9 in an exhibition baseball game Friday.

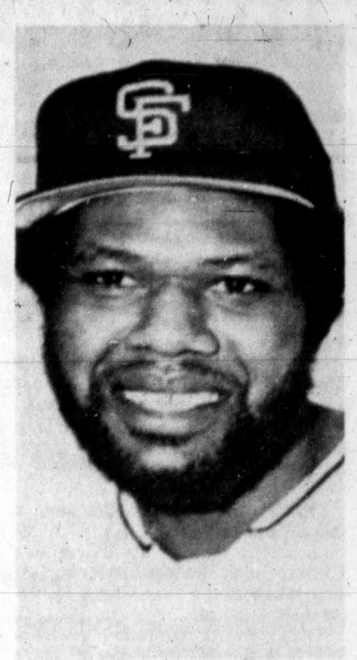
The two teams committed a seven errors between them.

Seattle had rallied from a 8-4 deficit to tie the game in the eighth inning. Mariner centerfielder Ruppert Jones homered in the bottom half of the ninth but the rally fell short.

Oakland continued to reap a harvest from the Vida Blue trade as ex-San Francisco Giant Gary Alexander slammed two home runs. Another acquisition in that multi-player deal, Gary Thomasson, had hit two homers the previous day.

Yet another ex-Giant, pitcher Dave Heaverlo, gained credit for Friday's victory. Byron McLaughlin, yielding his first runs in nine innings of work this spring, took the loss for Seattle.

Mitchell Page of the A's also connected for a home run.



Ex-Giant Gary Alexander ...slams two homers

Dodgers romp

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Steve Garvey slammed two doubles and a single Friday to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 12-1 baseball exhibition triumph over the Minnesota Twins.

The Dodgers, now 3-4 this spring, collected six runs in the seventh inning when Minnesota pitcher Greg Thayer experienced control problems, walking five. Two came with the bases loaded.

Tommy John hurled five innings for Los Angeles, giving up one run on six hits, all of them singles. Mike Garman and Lance Rautzhan finished up for the Dodgers.

Doubles by Dusty Baker and Rick Monday produced Los Angeles' first run in the second off starter Dave Johnson. The Dodgers added two more in the third off losing pitcher Steve Hargan. Garvey and Baker each had doubles in that inning as the Dodgers pounded out seven two-base hits for the game.

The loss was Minnesota's third against five victories.

Cleveland wins

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Buddy Bell pounded a three-run homer and drove in another run with a long sacrifice fly to spark the Cleveland Indians to a 6-2 exhibition baseball victory over the California Angels and pitcher Nolan Ryan Friday.

The Angels, 7-3, jumped into a 1-0 lead off Cleveland starter Rick Waits. Lyman Bostock reached base on an error by first baseman Andre Thornton with two out in the first, stole second and came home on a single by Joe Rudi.

The Indians, 4-4, were held scoreless through the first three innings, but batted around against the fast-balling Ryan in the fourth. Johnny Grubb walked leading off and was forced on Thornton's grounder. Willie Horton fouled out to the catcher, but the wild Ryan walked Larvell Blanks and Bell followed with a towering home run down the left field line.

Friday, snapping a 1-1 tie and igniting the Houston Astros to a 7-2 win over Montreal.

Starting pitchers J.R. Richard and Ross Grimsley went four innings each for Houston, the longest outing for either man during the spring season.

Watson's homer came at the expense of losing pitcher Rick Sawyer.

Rookie Tom Dixon picked up the win for the Astros as Dave Bergman added a two-run blast in the ninth to complete the scoring for Houston.

Reds rip Yanks

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Dan Driessen drilled a two-run homer off Catfish Hunter and the Cincinnati Reds bombarded Rich Gossage for six runs in one inning for a 9-2 exhibition baseball victory over the defending world champion New York Yankees Friday.

Right-hander Bill Bonham turned in his second straight scoreless outing, pitching five innings of two-hit ball. The former Chicago Cubs' hurler has not allowed a run in eight innings this spring.

A two-run double by Cesar Geronimo and a solo homer by Don Werner keyed the fifth-inning outburst off Gossage. Hunter permitted only two hits in four innings but suffered the loss.

The Reds, now 4-3, marked St. Patrick's Day by wearing green uniforms.

Padres blanked

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — San Francisco starter Ed Halicki and relief hurlers Lynn McGlothen and Gary Lavelle pitched the Giants to a 4-0 shutout over the San Diego Padres Friday in exhibition baseball play.

The sparkling mound work dropped the earned run average of the entire Giants' staff to a skimpy 1.17 and raised the club's exhibition record to 7-1.

The Padres now are 3-6.

Halicki pitched five innings before being spelled by McGlothen in the sixth. Lavelle, an all-star last season, mopped up in the ninth. Starter Bob Owchinko picked up the loss for the Padres.

Giants' centerfielder Larry Herndon scored in the first on a Mike Ivie double and knocked in catcher Marc Hill with a double in the second frame to lead the Giants' five-hit attack.

Houston wins

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — First baseman Bob Watson, suffering from a sore wrist for most of spring training, lofted a three-run homer to left field in the top of the sixth inning

Cubs bombed

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Larry Hisle and Jim Wolford each cracked three-run homers and the Milwaukee Brewers had five three-run outbursts as they bombed the Chicago Cubs 15-1 in an exhibition baseball game Friday.

Hisle connected in the first inning off loser Mike Krukow and Wolford in the eighth off rookie Bill Caudill.

Jerry Augustine worked five scoreless innings and gave up three hits for the Brewers. Chicago's only run came on successive doubles by Larry Biittner and Bobby Murcer off Milwaukee pitcher Barry Court in the the seventh inning.

All three Cub pitchers were hit hard, particularly rookies Manny Seoane and Caudill. Seoane gave up five hits and walked two in a three-inning stint ancd Caudill yielded six hits and two walks in two innings.

Bucs post win

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Omar Moreno, hitless in four previous trips, stroked a 2-2 pitch over the right-field fence with two out in the 10th inning Friday to give Pittsburgh a 3-2 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays in an exhibition baseball game.

With a count of 1-2, Moreno took a ball which just missed the corner of the plate and drew a long stare from losing pitcher Mike Willis. Moreno caught the next pitch and made winners of the Pirates for the first time in eight games this spring.

TESORO TANK LINES COMPANY
Midland, Texas

Let us reason together.

There's never been a better time.

Reason 1: The Peugeot 604 and 504 sedans are among the best riding and handling luxury cars you can buy. They both have four-wheel independent suspension, Peugeot patented shocks, rack and pinion steering, plus power-disc brakes on all four wheels. This adds up to give you uncompromising performance.

Reason 2: The Peugeot 504 wagon is one of the best riding and handling wagons you can buy. Unlike most wagons that are a little more than modified sedans, the Peugeot wagon is specifically engineered from the ground up to be a wagon, with an extra long wheel base, a heavy-duty solid rear axle and four coil springs in the rear instead of two.

Reason 3: When you buy a Peugeot Diesel, you're buying experience. Our 1978 diesel sedans and wagons are the result of 56 years of refinement. One test drive and you'll see why we've sold over a million of them.

Reason 4: Unparalleled quality control. Not only does every Peugeot have tens of thousands of checkpoints subject to rigid quality control, but each one is individually test-driven over Peugeot's special test track.

Reason 5: There's never been a better time to come in and talk to us.

GRAND OPENING OF Frank See Chevrolet

I'm sure that most of you in the Midland area know that about the only new thing in this Grand Opening is the new sign on our building... Frank See Chevrolet. And it's true. But there's a good reason. Everything that the former owner, George Huckabay did in running this business is exactly the way we want to run it.

Taking good care of customers means more than selling or leasing a good car or truck at a fair price. It also means paying attention to your needs in the months and years ahead. And that's exactly the way we want to run this business.

The sign is new... but the traditions are old, tried and true at Frank See Chevrolet.
