Foundering freighter

Waves break over the Canadian ore freighter Labrador Friday as she founders in storm-tossed Lake Erie near Ashtabula, Ohio. All 22 crew members were rescued from the vessel by U.S. Coast Guard and Ohio National Guard helicopters. (AP Photos)

Spring storm howls over Great Lakes area

By DAVID L. LANGFORD
Associated Press Writer

A storm driving snows at near hurricane force howled across the Great Lakes region Friday, wrecking homes and businesses, triggering floods and causing widespread blackouts.

At least 19 persons, including eight in Canada, died in the path of the storm, called one of the worst on record for April.

Winds of 65 mph and gusting up to 100 mph in some places ripped down power lines, tore the roofs off buildings and sent ice floes crashing into lakeshore buildings.

The highest wind was reported near Beloit, Wis., where Rock County Airport instruments recorded a gust of 100 mph.

The 325-foot Canadian ore freighter Labrador started taking on water after it was lashed by 50-knot winds and 15-foot waves in icy Lake Erie about 18 miles northwest of Ashtabula, Ohio.

A U.S. Coast Guard helicopter was sent to pluck the 20 crew-men to safety, but by late Friday night the ship remained afloat and plans were being made to tow it into port when the storm abated.

Power was shut off to tens of thousands of homes and businesses in several states, at least temporarily.

"As far as total damage and intensity of a storm of any type, this is probably the worst we have had since the March 1976 ice storm," said Jon Bartel, a spokesman for the Wisconsin Electric Power Co.

Utility companies counted 170,000 customers without electricity in Michigan's Lower Peninsula, 50,000 in the Chicago area, 40,000 in northern Ohio, 17,000 in western New York and 9,000 in western Pennsylvania.

Hundreds of schools were closed.

An estimated $10 million worth of damage was caused by the gale force winds in Illinois, the Illinois Insurance Information Service said.

An April blizzard, labeled one of the worst on record for April by the National Weather Service, left 9 inches of snow in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., a record for the date, and 7.3 inches in the Houghton Lake area.

Small turnout expected for city council election

By CINDY RUGELEY
Staff Writer

Only a handful of voters are expected to go to the polls Saturday to select three city council members and decide the fate of four proposed revisions to the city charter.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

City Clerk Wilma Thomas has predicted that less than 20 percent of Wichita Falls' registered voters will cast ballots.

Two citizen groups called press conferences Friday morning to encourage voters to go to the polls.

Reginald Robinson Jr., spokesman for the Citizens Committee for Fair Representation, said that any elderly person needing a ride to the polls can contact Community Grocery at 767-9596 for transportation.

"This can be a turning point in our community. Let the apathy be elsewhere this year," Robinson said.

Arthur Beyer, spokesman for the Citizens Committee for Good Government, also asked citizens to make an effort to vote.

"(Voting) is the only way for our officials and issues to be sensibly selected," Beyer said.

Pilot says plane rolled over twice

DETROIT (AP) — The pilot of the Boeing 727 that landed safely after flirting with disaster says the plane rolled over twice, not once, before its dramatic five-mile supersonic dive.

But 44-year-old Harvey "Hoot" Gibson says the 80 passengers on Trans World Airlines Flight 841 Wednesday night probably didn't know they were upside down because "it was smooth, very smooth."

"I was aware that the passengers were probably walking around or something so I kept positive G (gravitational) force so that the people, even though we were bottom-side up, didn't know we were bottom-side up," he told the Detroit Free Press.

Gibson was "at the controls when the airliner en route from New York to Minneapolis started to vibrate, yawed to the right, rolled over twice, nosedived and finally was brought under control after a 60-degree, 29,000-foot descent.

To support his claim, Gibson said a cabin attendant reported he had been sitting across from a couple who were having wine at the time of the dramatic roll.

"When the thing was all over and done with, the guy and his wife both had their two glasses of wine sitting in front of them and they both had a drink," Gibson said.

Gibson, a 16-year-veteran with TWA said he learned to fly at "a little grass airport in northern Illinois" at age 14 — before he had a driver's license.

He landed the plane at Detroit Metropolitan Airport about 10 p.m. Wednesday, and told the newspaper he had not yet slept because "the phone's been going crazy."

Authorities say the aircraft probably can be repaired, but first they want to find out what happened to the plane as it flew over Flint, Mich.

"Obviously, the airframe is as strong as a brick," Langhorne Bond, head of the Federal Aviation Administration, said Thursday after inspecting the damaged jet.

In Seattle, Boeing said it had been asked to send a team of engineers to Detroit to help find out what went wrong. "Obviously, we will do it," a spokesman said.

TWA spokesman Steven Forsyth said in Chicago that analysis of the flight recorder, a device that records on metal pertinent information such as voltages and pressures, should help.

A bizarre incident

By GLENN SHELTON

With baseball season under way this week, I recall one of the most bizarre incidents ever to occur in organized sports, an incident involving a midget and a baseball star who once played for Wichita Falls Spudders of the Big State League.

Frank Saucier, who played here in the late 1940s, was with the St. Louis Browns during the 1951 season. On Aug. 19, in the last half of the first inning of a game with Detroit Tigers, Saucier was stunned by an announcement from the loudspeaker:

"Number one-eighth, Eddie Gaedel, batting for Saucier!" Gaedel was a midget, 26 years old, standing 43 inches tall in his baseball socks. He had been signed from the vaudeville circuit to a one-day contract by owner William L. "Bill" Veeck Jr., who was using all kinds of zany gimmicks in desperate moves to increase attendance for his winless St. Louis Browns.

All Gaedel would have to do, figured Veeck, was to crouch at home plate and no pitcher alive could throw him strikes. Veeck was right. Detroit pitcher Bobby Cain threw four straight balls high over the midget's head. The Browns lost the game in spite of Veeck's shenanigans and the midget never played in another game.

American League President Will Harridge passed a rule that required all players henceforth be approved by him, the president. In effect, he turned thumbs down to Tom Thumb.

And Saucier, formerly with the Wichita Falls team, became the only man in baseball history ever to be taken out for a midget pinch hitter!

Rural fire districts could reduce protection problem

By JIM WEBRE
Staff Writer

Wichita County rural residents soon may see quicker response to calls for assistance in fires and other emergencies.

The county is to be divided into 99 designated geographic areas to alleviate problems caused by difficulty in location, said Wichita County Civil Defense and Fire Coordinator Sidney Smith.

Burkburnett, Electra, Cameron Gardens, Iowa Park, Kamay and Wichita West volunteer fire departments soon will canvass rural areas in the county to explain the plan and distribute maps showing the county divided into 99 grids, each measuring 2.5 miles on each side.

If the plan is successful in helping rural residents provide exact location of emergencies, Smith said, faster arrivals by emergency personnel are assured.

The grid maps show squares numbered from the northwest-most portion of the county and running left to right all the way through the southeastern corner.

"We will reproduce as many of them (the maps) as we need to," Smith said, adding the civil defense office intends to print about 9,000 of the maps initially to be distributed next week.

In the maps' upper right corner is a space for the name of the closest volunteer fire de-

Carter oil plan uses new terms

By LEON HOOTEN
Energy Editor

A category of "new-new" oil will be created and its price allowed to reach the world price of about $16 a barrel subject to a new tax called the "OPEC tax," by President Carter's new energy plan.

Robert E. Vinson, president of North Texas Oil and Gas Association, said the plan would gradually decontrol the price of crude oil.

"The Department of Energy hasn't indicated how it will define 'new-new' oil, but if it is (similar to) the Natural Gas Policy Act, a new well must be 2.5 miles and 1,000 feet deeper than existing wells and the new category will be practically meaningless," said Vinson.

"The 'OPEC tax' would reduce any price increase over the current world oil price by one-half," with the producer and the Treasury sharing the excess, Vinson explained.

Carter legally can let price controls gradually die May 31 under existing law, but Congress must authorize the new tax. Some congressmen have said getting new tax laws will be "difficult to impossible," but Vinson said he doesn't agree.

"There would be a new category called 'deep-stripper' oil with 80 percent allowed to upper tier prices, $12.85 a barrel, and the remaining 20 percent to rise

Community Day slated

Aerial demonstrations, vintage automobiles, kite flying competition and music by the U.S. Army Band from Fort Sill are just some of the activities planned Saturday for Sheppard Air Force Base's second annual Community Day.

Activities get started at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and base officials suggest visitors use the Missile Road gate to park.

Highlight of the day will be a demonstration by the F-15 Eagle, one of the United States' newest jets. A parachute jump by the U.S. Air Force Academy jump team at 2:15 p.m.; a flyover by four F-105 Thunderchiefs at 2:40 p.m.; a USAF Honor Guard drill team demonstration at 2:45 p.m.; and other demonstrations and displays are planned, including a chance to see the world's largest airplane, the C-5A, and a World War II vintage B-25 Mitchell bomber.

News in brief

Amin's allies pulling out

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Ugandan President Idi Amin's Libyan allies were reported pulling out Friday, knocking the last prop from under the dictator's tottering 8-year-old regime.

But despite this, and thousands of invaders poised to capture the capital, Kampala, Amin declared he is "a true Ugandan and will never run away from his capital."

Amin, self-styled president for life, said in a Uganda radio broadcast, "The people now want to bring shame on themselves by permitting imperialists to come and lead them."

Nurses back proposal

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Nurses Association voted overwhelmingly Friday to actively support proposals before the Texas Legislature that would allow nurses to prescribe medicine and deliver other health care under "standing orders" from doctors.

They also voted not to administer any more health care under standing orders if the legislation should fail — a stance that would make patients in family clinics, public health clinics and family planning clinics wait until a doctor could actually see them before they could get medicine for a common ailment.

Bus wreck kills 2

ANAHUAC, Texas (AP) — A bus carrying a group of student nurses from Louisiana overturned Wednesday, killing two women and injuring 16 others, authorities said.

The bus was carrying the students from the Sowela Technical Institute in Lake Charles, La., to M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

Those aboard made up an entire nursing class at the two-year community institute scheduled to graduate in May. They were on a field trip to M.D. Anderson to observe nursing procedures, said school spokesman J.D. Morgan.

Grain elevator loans urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission endorsed a measure Friday that would allow federal loans for construction of grain elevators along major railroad lines.

Daniel O'Neal said passage of such a measure would help solve problems faced by rural shippers and encourage competition among railroads and between railroads and other freight haulers.

Newton conviction set aside

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther leader Huey Newton's contempt conviction and five-day jail sentence stemming from his Oakland murder trial which ended with a hung jury last month were set aside Friday by the California Court of Appeal.

Newton's trial in the slaying of Kathleen Smith began Feb. 26 in Oakland, where the 17-year-old woman was shot on a street corner in 1974.

Wayne to present award

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — John Wayne will present the Academy Award for best picture Monday night, marking the actor's first public appearance since his cancer operation Jan. 12, Oscar telecast producer Jack Haley Jr. confirmed Friday.

Weather

(Complete Weather, Page 10A)

This weekend's weather forecast brings a little good news and a little bad. Persons getting out to vote Saturday should find mostly fair skies and a high temperature in the mid-80s.

However, Saturday night a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms exists, continuing into Sunday. High Sunday also should be in the mid-80s and low temperature Saturday night should be near 60. Wind warnings will be in effect on area lakes. Winds should be southerly at 10-15 mph.

Transcript tells last moments before crash

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Moments before the plane he was flying crashed in flames, carrying six company executives to their deaths, pilot Howard Bellows coughed over the craft's radio, "Hair and shoe on fire!"

The transcript of radio communications between the plane and an air traffic control center near Minneapolis was recently filed with the National Transportation Safety Board in Washington.

The transcript, and other reports, indicated that Bellows lost control of the twin-engine Beechcraft and battled flames in the cockpit before the crash July 12, 1978, in a wheat field near Kenyon, Minn.

Killed were Bellows, 51, president of Rauhenhorst, Bellows & Associates Inc., Olivia, Minn., one of the nation's largest sunflower seed firms; Robert J. Rauhenhorst, 49, chairman of the board; Dalton Gandy, 60, director of international and domestic sunflower development; G. Anthony Rauhenhorst, 29, director of processing; Jill Kranz, 34, corporate secretary; and Joe Baumgartner, 41, research coordinator.

The executives were flying from Olivia to Lafayette, Ind.

The crash occurred three minutes after Bellows, using his code named, radioed "Minneapolis Seven Hotel Hotel's in Trouble."

This exchange followed, the transcript showed:

Control center: "Seven Hotel Hotel center go ahead."

Bellows: "Minneapolis, Seven Hotel Hotel's in trouble."

Control center: "Seven Hotel Hotel center go ahead."

Bellows: "Roger, we've lost control. We're battling (unintelligible)."

Control center: "Seven Hotel Hotel center, did you need some kind of a clearance to help you out?"

Bellows: "Seven Hotel Hotel's gone..."

Bellows: "Hair and shoe on fire!"

Control center: "Seven Hotel Hotel, if there's anything center can do, please say it."

The reports also showed Bellows twice adjusted the plane's course to avoid precipitation, on the advice of the Minneapolis control center. The FAA estimates that the plane began its rapid descent at 22,700 feet.

One report said the plane began to break up in the air, and witnesses said both engines were afire before impact.

The NTSB isn't expected to reach a conclusion on the probable cause of the accident for at least several months, a spokesman said.

Benjamin city races contested

BENJAMIN, Texas (Special) — A mayor and two aldermen will be chosen in the municipal election slated Saturday.

Mayor Vernon D. McCanlies is running unopposed. Candidates for the council seats are Henry E. Rogers Sr., incumbent Dennis Duke and Steve Conner. Incumbent Michael Driver is not seeking re-election.

Incumbents Louis Baty and E.D. Welch Jr. are unopposed in the school board election.

Joe Barton and Charlie Groves also are unopposed for seats on Knox County Water Control and Improvement District.

Vienna Boys Choir due to sing again

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The renowned Vienna Boys Choir, silenced last Christmas season by enforcement of an old child-labor law, will be singing again at Easter thanks to legislation recently enacted by the Austrian Parliament.

A newspaper last year noted that a 1948 law prohibited child labor on holidays, and the choir management grudgingly canceled Christmas performances. The outcry that followed prompted parliamentary leaders to push through an amendment enabling the group to resume its holiday engagements.

W.H. Frith is running unopposed for Place 4.

Two incumbents on Vernon school board, Mrs. Jan Hartin and Ben Wagner, are unopposed for re-election to three-year terms. Tom Elliott is seeking the remaining year on the term of Heber Brantley. Elliott was appointed to the post following resignation of Brantley.

Two candidates are seeking three-year terms to Wilbarger Hospital Board. John Cartusciello is seeking the post vacated by Dee Wayne Waggoner. W.W. Graf is running for a three-year term and incumbents Jerry Byrd and Jim Rigging are seeking re-election to one-year terms.

AP reporter dies in crash

DENVER (AP) — Lynn Susan Callison, an Associated Press newswoman and former reporter for the Dallas Times-Herald and Lawton Constitution, died Friday in a predawn automobile collision on a Denver street. She was 26.

A passenger in the second vehicle, Howard Fillspie, 23, also was killed.

Ms. Callison was pronounced dead at Denver General Hospital, where she had been taken after her car was struck by another automobile that ran a red light at high speed, police said.

Ms. Callison had left the AP's Denver bureau a few minutes before the accident.

Police said Ms. Callison's car was struck at the intersection of Speer Boulevard and 13th Avenue near downtown Denver about 2:20 a.m. Friday.

The driver of the second car, Ravi Guerrero, 23, of Boulder, was arrested for investigation of vehicular homicide, driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving and driving with a suspended license.

Guerrero was treated for leg and eye injuries at Denver General Hospital then taken to the Denver City Jail. He was held in lieu of $5,000 bond after being advised of his rights in District Court.

Fillspie was thrown from Guerrero's vehicle and killed, police said.

Ms. Callison was born in East St. Louis, Mo., on July 27, 1952, and grew up in Belleville, Ill.

She was a general assignment and federal courts reporter for the Times-Herald before she joined the AP in Denver in late February.

Ms. Callison was graduated from Southern Methodist University in 1974 with a bachelor's degree in journalism. She also studied at the Alliance Francaise, The Sorbonne and the Louvre Museum in Paris, where she became fluent in French.

She served as an intern at WFAA-TV in Dallas and at the Times-Herald before joining the Lawton (Okla.) Constitution and Morning News as a reporter in October 1975.

Businesses seek Chinese trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department says U.S. diplomatic recognition of China has spurred a record-setting number of applications by American businesses for export licenses.

Officials said Friday that a government guidebook on doing business with the Chinese exhausted its first two printings in less than 60 days. They said calls and letters to department trade specialists "continue at a flood stage, and seminars are drawing unprecedented audiences."

Export activity is one way to measure trade levels between the United States and communist nations. A license is required to export goods considered sensitive to U.S. security.

Wichitans cited

Four Wichita Falls students have been named to the dean's honor roll at Texas Woman's University in Denton.

Included were Jamie G. Wiggins and Carol A. Eby, nursing; Helen B. Gehring, physical education and Deann G. Mercer, foods and nutrition.

Nation's jobless rate remains at 4 1/2-year low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unemployment rate remained at a 4 1/2-year low of 5.7 percent in March, the government said Friday in a report that revealed growing optimism among Americans that they can find jobs.

The number of people who have abandoned hope of getting work fell to 725,000 in the first three months of 1979, the lowest quarterly total since the third quarter of 1974, the Labor Department said.

The government's so-called "discouraged workers" are those who say they want work, but who have stopped looking because they feel nobody will hire them. These persons are not counted as unemployed because they are no longer considered in the labor force.

Clements wants more nuclear power in Texas

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements said Friday he wished Texas had more nuclear power plants under construction and lashed out at President Carter's proposed "windfall profits" tax on oil companies.

"There are four plants under construction. I wish we had six or eight. Sooner or later we are going to be depending on nuclear power to help with our energy requirements," Clements told his weekly news conference.

He took the unusual step of urging Austinites to vote Saturday to keep the city's 16 percent share in the South Texas Nuclear Project.

"We are going to have to use nuclear power and we are going to have to face up to it. I hope they do (pass the Austin nuclear referendum)," the governor said.

Clements said Carter's recommendation to decontrol oil prices was a "step in the right direction" but taxing half the oil companies' "windfall profits" would be absolutely wrong.

"What we heard last night (from Carter) was primarily political rhetoric, and unfortunately so," Clements said.

Clements, founder of the SEDCO oil drilling company, said oil men were prepared to accept legislation requiring them to "plow back" additional profits from uncontrolled oil prices into the search for new energy.

He said he expected a congressman, unnamed but possibly from Texas, to introduce a mandatory "plowback" bill.

Transportation hearing Thursday

By CINDY RUGELEY
Staff Writer

Citizen input on city transportation needs and on how the city is addressing those needs will be sought at a public hearing Thursday night.

A public meeting on the city's urban transportation certification package will be conducted at 7 p.m. Thursday in the council chambers of Memorial Auditorium.

Certification by the Urban Mass Transportation Administration and the Federal Highway Administration is required by the Federal Department of Transportation before the city can receive financial assistance for transportation planning and physical improvements, Roger McKinney, planning director said.

Included in the discussion at the hearing is a proposal to make a portion of Lamar one-way, McKinney said.

Included in the certification package is a prospectus outlining the organization and procedural framework for transportation planning; a brief statement explaining how previously cited transportation planning deficiencies are being met; a plan outlining transportation trends, needs and long-range and systems management elements; a summary of the previous calendar year's transportation; and a document providing for short-range transportation needs.

McKinney said the city's only deficiency has been in meeting the needs of the elderly and handicapped.

"It's not a problem unique to this city," McKinney said.

Chillicothe has trio of races

CHILLICOTHE, Texas (Special) — In Chillicothe City Council election Saturday, three places are open with six candidates vying for the posts.

School board trustees also will be elected Saturday.

No the city council incumbents, Ronald Stone, Wendell Brown or Clay Kennedy, are seeking re-election.

Seeking council posts are Ray Hopkins, Jerry Rich, Marilyn Karlovetz, Leonard Mitchell, Charles Emrick and E.L. Derr.

Two places are open on the school board due to retirements of Doyle Eads and Arthur Herschman.

Six candidates are running. Len Kent Womack, Barbara Fleming, Darrell Lankford, Clay Kennedy, Ernestine McFerrin and Robert Horner.

Horse adoption rules tightened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department is tightening the rules of its horse adoption program to ensure humane treatment of wild horses and burros removed from public lands.

Teaching back home

Patrick Crommett is back in Wichita Falls to teach ballet classes in the current Southwest Regional Ballet Festival, which will continue with a performance at 8:15 p.m. Saturday at Memorial Auditorium. (Photo by Becky Chaney)

Ballet master back home for regional dance festival

By LOUISE GREGG
Special Writer

"The whole movement of dance is burgeoning in America," says Patrick Crommett, a kind of Zarathustra of ballet.

He should know. Crommett, a native Wichitan, is back in Wichita Falls in connection with the Southwest Regional Ballet Festival, which began Thursday and will conclude Sunday morning. Now in his mid-30s, the lithe ballet master has been dancing since he was 8 years old.

"One would have to love it," he acknowledges, pointing out the stress and strain that both body and mind are subjected to in a career of dancing.

"It takes physical prowess — but most of all you do have to have a brain," Crommett, director of the Dance Foundation of Kansas in Wichita, Kan., thinks it's high time for playing down the correlation between ballet and athletics. Though basketball players are known to go through the motions of dance to improve their flexibility, Crommett says "dancing has its own realm of stardom." Besides, "dance has far less competition than sports."

Crommett is teaching five ballet classes during the festival. He's "excited" at being "home" and visiting with his parents. His schedule is hectic, but the friendly young man with the ready smile takes in stride.

He says ballet hopefuls "should have great sensitivity for theater." Ballet, unlike other careers, offers an opportunity to "release emotions" rather than restrain them. He said ballet is a marvelous interpreter of life — comparable to the novel, short story and film.

Crommett, who says he "wasn't teased" as a youngster when he was so engrossed in ballet, received a scholarship at 15 for instruction with Jeffrey

Ballet in New York. He was so pleased that he hurried up and earned his degree two years early at Wichita Falls High School. His early training was with Wichita Falls ballet teachers Frank and Irina Pal.

"It's not easy," says Crommett, as he dashes from one class to another. But his love for ballet is obvious. Enjoying every minute of the ballet festival, Crommett is living, active evidence that he chose the right profession.

One Paducah race contested

PADUCAH, Texas (Special) — The only contested race in Saturday's city council election is for Place 5 alderman, sought by former councilman Dave Willis and Manuel Cruz Jr.

Incumbents Douglas Yarbrough and Presley Canon are unopposed for re-election.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in city hall.

Cottle County voters Saturday will fill three places on Paducah school board.

Six contenders include incumbents Dr. J.W. Bratton and Carl Kent Black. Other ballot hopefuls are Janice Martin, Homer Lee Long, Jerry McClendon and Jimmy Porter.

County voters may cast ballots in the school tax office.

S. African students protest hanging of black guerrilla

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Students stoned buses Friday in a black township here to protest the hanging of a young black nationalist guerrilla amid sharp criticism of the execution by foreign governments.

Reporters said police, swinging heavy rubber clubs, dispersed about 200 students in the center of Mamamelodi, where they marched to decry the pre-dawn execution of Solomon Mahlangu, 23, by the white minority government.

Mahlangu went to the gallows inside the yellow brick walls of Pretoria central prison along with four other convicted murderers, a prison spokesman said. There were no details of the executions, and only that of Mahlangu was of a political nature.

The official Soviet news agency Tass described his trial as "a mockery of justice" because Mahlangu had not fired the shots that killed two whites in 1977.

"The crime of the authorities showed once more that South Africa constitutes a huge prison...executing Mahlangu, the racists hope to intimidate the African population," Tass said.

The ruling Social Democratic Party of West Germany, in a statement released in Bonn, accused South Africa of carrying out its policy of race segregation "with merciless cruelty" and said the hanging should "unleash shock and bitterness throughout the world."

In New York, U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim's office issued a statement deploring South Africa's failure to heed appeals from world leaders to spare Mahlangu.

President Carter was among world leaders who asked for a last-minute reversal of the execution order, but Prime Minister Pieter W. Botha declared Thursday night:

"The laws of South Africa prescribe certain procedure. It is not for me to interfere in the process of law."

Mahlangu's mother and between 1,500-2,000 blacks, mostly in their teens, waited for several hours at the cemetery in Mamamelodi for Mahlangu's body to be delivered for burial and chanted anti-white slogans.

JOY KERLEY

GERALD MARSH

Creative woman seminar set

A creative woman seminar designed to make good marriages better, enhance relationships already existing, help deteriorating family relationships and sharpen counseling skills, will be offered Monday through Wednesday at First Assembly of God Church.

Joy Kerley, a speaker for many women's meetings, will teach the course. She and her family travel and sing in churches of all denominations. She is a recording artist, the mother of two children and is probably best known as a director of Teen Round-up Inc., a retreat she and her husband operate on their 40-acre farm five miles west of Duncan, Okla.

The creative woman seminars will be 7 to 9 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the church and nursery will be provided. Pre-registration will be $10 per person and a $12.50 fee will be charged at the door.

Marriage class Saturday

Dr. Gerald Marsh will be guest speaker for a Marriage Enrichment Evening at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at Underwood's Cafeteria.

The seminar is sponsored by Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Marsh, professor of Pastoral Ministry at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, will speak on certain vital elements in marriage.

Sunday, Marsh will be guest minister for a special Miracle Day 1979 service, which begins at 11 a.m.

'Profiles in Black' set

Mount Calvary United Methodist Church, at Eastside and Fifth, will present "Profiles in Black" from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday in the church fellowship hall.

The program includes a collection of genuine African artifacts that provide a pictorial history of celebrated black personalities and their contributions. It also includes some of the great kings of Africa, including Hannibal and his army of elephants.

In addition, Irma Hall, television, radio and theater actress from Dallas, will perform some original readings. Marvin Milton, a young Dallas poet, will also appear along with others.

The Sunday presentation will show black history, beginning in Africa and continuing through the slave era in North America and the emancipation period.

On April 14, a special memorial tribute to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will be made. The public is invited to both events.

Loyalty Banquet set

A Loyalty Banquet will be conducted by Faith Baptist Church at 7 p.m. Wednesday. A discussion will be held on building new Sunday School space.

Nursery will be provided.

'Parable' to be shown

"The Parable," an award-winning film produced by the Council of Churches, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at Trinity Church, 3505 Kemp. The public is invited to attend.

Palm Sunday services slated

Many area churches have scheduled special services to celebrate Palm Sunday, the traditional beginning of Holy Week before Easter Sunday.

Following is a partial list of churches and special services planned:

University United Methodist Church choir will present an Easter Cantata, "The Last Week," at 10:55 a.m. Sunday.

Saint Mark's United Methodist Church will begin with a Palm and Banners procession Sunday morning, a covered dish supper at 6 p.m. Sunday followed by a Lenten Clow Service with the film "The Parable."

Saint Stephen's Episcopal Church will celebrate the Blessing of Palms at 10 a.m. Sunday and have daily masses at 6 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

In Burk Burnett, the Burk Burnett Ministerial Alliance will hold its annual pre-Easter service at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in First Baptist Church. The Rev. Bill Stone, pastor of JanLee Baptist Church, will preach the sermon.

St. John's Episcopal Church in Burk Burnett will hold the Blessing of the Palms at 10 a.m. Sunday.

All Saints' Episcopal Church will hold the Liturgy of Palms and Holy Eucharist at 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church will hold Palm Sunday worship and Holy Communion at 10:30 a.m. Sunday and have a Tour of the Stations of the Cross beginning at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

Dr. Gaston Foote, former pastor of First United Methodist Church of Fort Worth, will be guest speaker at First United Methodist Church of Iowa Park Monday through Wednesday at 7:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. services.

First United Methodist Church will present a sermon by Dr. Bruce Weaver, pastor, entitled "Jesus and the Palm Tree Paradox" at 10:50 a.m. Sunday.

Nuclear power stance planned

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Measured on the moral scale, nuclear power is found wanting by most major church leaders. But they're still forging a definitive stand on it.

It's a tough issue, they say, offering both great potentialities and great hazards for human beings and their home, the earth — an issue dramatized by the accident at the Pennsylvania nuclear plant.

Church representatives have been probing the moral implications for five years in consultation with top scientists, opposing or questioning various aspects of nuclear power development.

"The nuclear industry has been putting us down, saying we're not scientific enough," says a spokesman for the National Council of Churches, made up of most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations.

"But now the chickens are coming home to roost."

After prolonged studies, committee findings and preliminary reports, the interdenominational council at a forthcoming meeting May 9-11 in San Antonio is to take up a proposed policy statement opposing reliance on nuclear power for energy.

To keep such power from somewhere, sometime irreversibly damaging the earth God gave us to care for and live on would require a quality humans don't possess — infallibility, the proposed statement says.

It recognizes the necessity of risks in solving new problems such as energy needs, but argues such risks aren't justified if they mean that present human error could imperil all future generations.

"Secure handling of nuclear wastes over thousands of generations and fail-safe operations of nuclear plants require that humans and their machines operate without any mistakes or accidents," the proposed statement says.

"Human beings are not infallible; they will make mistakes. The result may be irreversible damage to the environment and to the human genetic pool."

A lengthy version of the statement was approved as a "study paper" last fall by most of the 250 representatives of the 32 denominations in the council. They asked that a shorter version be developed for consideration in May.

Earlier, against strong opposition from the nuclear industry, the church representatives in 1976 called for a moratorium on use of plutonium for nuclear power to vastly expand it but which would leave radioactive wastes highly toxic for centuries.

Plutonium is extracted from uranium, the conventionally mined and thus limited nuclear fuel.

Dependent children aid sought

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission asked Texas' top leaders Friday to obtain more money for families with dependent children.

The 15-member commission, meeting at Flower Mound near here, said the $32 a month provided for the state's 200,000 dependent children is the same it was 10 years ago and that only two states pay less.

"Texas could double amount that we now allot and still be below the national average," said an open letter approved at the meeting.

It was mailed to Gov. William Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton.

Legislative committees are voting to give a $600-a-month raise to judges and pay hikes to other state employees, the commission said. It recommended that the stipend to the children be raised by at least $8 a month.

Defense challenges official's testimony

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Someone wanting to contaminate Karen Silkwood's apartment with radioactivity could have put plutonium on her sandwich foods, a Kerr-McGee Corp. official testified Friday.

Court adjourned for the weekend Friday after the cross-examination of Wayne Norwood, 51, of Oklahoma City, who discussed his Nov. 7, 1974, investigation of the contamination of Miss Silkwood's Edmond, Okla., apartment.

He said the highest readings of radioactivity came from a package of bologna and cheese in the apartment refrigerator. Miss Silkwood usually brought her lunch to work, he said.

"If somebody was going to contaminate Karen Silkwood — if they wanted to — one area she would be sure to touch would be the sandwich foods, isn't that true?" Silkwood attorney Gerry Spence asked.

"Yes," Norwood said, "I think that would be a fair assumption."

Norwood was the health and safety manager at Kerr-McGee's nuclear fuel plant near Crescent, Okla., when Miss Silkwood died in a Nov. 13, 1974, auto crash. She was a lab technician at the plant.

Spence asked whether Miss Silkwood may have been checking a rumor when she asked about her "high urine samples" before the urinalysis was complete. Norwood said it was possible.

Norwood had testified on direct examination that he was suspicious when Miss Silkwood asked about the urine samples when the results had not yet been announced.

Spence asked several questions he said established Norwood's position as "a company man."

"So the ultimate control of this plant and you rested with people who were interested in production and money-making, isn't that true?" Spence asked.

"Yes, sir," Norwood answered. Spence also challenged Norwood's accounts of conversations he had with Miss Silkwood by asking if there were any disinterested third parties who witnessed the exchanges.

Norwood said that in most cases, there were not. He also said he did not take notes about some of the conversations when they occurred.

Norwood said that when Miss Silkwood called her roommate, Sherri Ellis, and told her to stay out of the bathroom and kitchen in their apartment, Miss Silkwood knew it was likely those areas were contaminated with plutonium.

Sales tax vote set in Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A city election on a proposed one cent sales tax increase was set for May 22 by the City Commission Friday.

The tax, if approved, would raise an estimated $160 million to finance capital improvements. It would go into effect July 1 and expire June 30, 1985, unless extended by another election.

Improvements being considered under the tax include street widenings, two new fire stations, two storm water detention ponds, water line extensions, sewage plant expansions, a bridge over the Arkansas River at 71st Street and a low water dam on the Arkansas River.

New weapons

Lt. Ace McCown, commander of Oklahoma Highway Patrol "G" Troop in Lawton, Okla., holds a "mini-14" rifle recently issued to all OHP troopers in Oklahoma. Funds for the rifles were authorized last year by then-Gov. David Boren after three troopers died in a shootout with two escaped convicts near Caddo. OHP officials said about 640 of .223-caliber weapons were distributed to troopers. McCown said all 31 troopers assigned to "G" troop received their weapons about two weeks ago. Sooner prison escapee captured

Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A prison escapee, convicted in the execution-style slayings of three members of an Oklahoma City family, was captured Friday night in Jones, Oklahoma.

A spokesman for the Oklahoma Highway Patrol said Karale Donnie Wayne Draper, 28, was captured by Oklahoma City police about 7:15 p.m. Friday when his car was forced into a dead end street.

The patrol said Draper was captured on Hillwood Road, off of Anderson Road after a chase of six or seven minutes.

One Oklahoma City police car received minor damage during the chase.

About 50 officers were reportedly watching three locations in Jones where Draper's relatives, including his wife Sheila, were said to live.

A police source said Mrs. Draper went to the Oklahoma City police station Thursday night requesting protection, saying Draper had written threatening letters to her.

Draper apparently escaped from the state penitentiary at McAlester Thursday afternoon by hiding in a truck loaded with mattresses. Nancy Nunnally, Corrections Department spokeswoman, said Draper worked in the prison mattress factory and apparently hid aboard the truck headed for Roman Nose State Park near Watonga.

It was theorized he slipped from the truck at a stop near Shawnee.

Prison Warden Norman Hess said Friday a personnel board hearing will be held to consider possible disciplinary action against prison employees who might have failed to perform their jobs and allowed Draper to escape.

Hess said that possibly three persons might be disciplined. "They just weren't following procedures," he said.

Draper, Ray Charles Carolina, 18, and Lawrence Lee Breedlove, 20, were sentenced to death on conviction of slaying Howard Siler, 32; his wife Judy Ann, 28, and their son, Christopher Todd Siler, 6, in 1972.

Siler, a drivers license examiner for the state Department of Public Safety, was moonlighting at a convenience store and his wife and son had come to pick him up after work.

Police said three men came into the store bent on robbery but panicked when they saw Siler's uniform shirt hanging in the back room. The Silers were forced into the back room, made to lie face-down on the floor, were tied and then shot in the back of the head. Police said the robbers got about $50.

The death sentences were commuted to life in prison after the U.S. Supreme Court struck down Oklahoma's death penalty law. Breedlove and Carolina are still in the penitentiary.

Police Maj. M.A. Maxwell said Draper, described during his trial as the triggerman, showed a "total lack of remorse" after the slayings.

"The only remorse he showed at all was the fact that one of the other members of the gang beat him out of some money," Maxwell said. "I'll never forget that as long as I live. The murders seemed totally insignificant."

Dinner slated

Rainbow Assembly No. 117 and Red River DeMolay will sponsor a chicken spaghetti dinner from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets for the event at the Pine Room of Maskat Temple will be $2.25 for adults and $1.50 for children.

Tickets can be purchased at the door.

Amtrak: on saving fat

Spring is termed Amtrak-cutting season by supporters of the federally-subsidized passenger railway service, but in most respects Amtrak is its own worst enemy.

Amtrak's lack of efficiency is no reason to continue to cut service in a forlorn hope that at some level the break-even point will be reached between service and expenses.

Previous Amtrak cuts have been of only passing interest to Texans, reducing in minor fashion the list of destinations. Now Amtrak, in the view of many Texans, has "stopped preaching and started meddling" by proposing service cuts in the Lone Star State.

The Department of Transportation has proposed eliminating two of the three Amtrak routes running through Texas. Cutting the Inter-American route, which stretches from Chicago to Laredo through Fort Worth and San Antonio, and the Lone Star route between Chicago and Houston through Dallas-Fort Worth would virtually eliminate Amtrak service in Texas.

Left would be only the east-west Sunset Limited route between New Orleans to Los Angeles, which serves Houston, San Antonio and El Paso.

What needs to be cut is Amtrak's overhead, which amounts to 69 percent of its total funding. Department of Transportation proposals would reduce Amtrak service by 43 percent while reducing funding requirements by only eight percent. As anybody can see, this is no way to run a railroad.

Higher education help

Texas' educational system possibly is unique in the 50 states, with public education largely funded by income from public lands the state retained when it joined the union.

One of the most unusual programs is what House Speaker Bill Clayton terms "a meaningful public policy...to help thousands of deserving young people attend (independent) colleges or universities."

Texas has had a financial aid program since 1971, designed to help young people to help themselves. Under the program eligible students may receive Tuition Equalization Grants based on financial need in order to attend private universities when the programs they wish to pursue aren't offered by state-supported colleges or universities.

Students under the program must provide about 80 percent of the cost of their education at private universities. Possibly no other state provides assistance for students to attend other than state-supported universities.

Clayton said the program in effect is an offer of the state to provide a partial subsidy to the student who won't be using the state-supported system, which he said provides "90 percent of their education costs" through state appropriations.

While we aren't prepared to concede that state universities cost only 10, or even 20 percent, as much as private institutions, we agree that the assistance program is fair and equitable to both students and taxpayers. Other states could do well to provide such programs for their students.

In Washington

Let poll readers beware

By MARTHA ANGLE & ROBERT WALTERS
WASHINGTON — The only thing in life as certain as death and taxes is existence, somewhere or other, of a poll purporting to measure public opinion about both.

No aspect of modern living, no corner of the American psyche is safe these days from the probing curiosity of the professional pulse-takers.

Pollsters are everywhere, and they're ready and able to prove anything you'd like them to. As the aphorism goes, figures don't lie but liars sure can figure.

Is President Carter looking for public support for the administration's forthcoming Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty with the Soviets? Then he shall find it, in polls by CBS and New York Times (63 percent in favor) and by NBC and Associated Press (81 percent support).

Do opponents of a SALT II treaty question such responses? Of course they do, and why not, when a survey by George Fine Research Inc. shows only 20 percent of the public in favor of such a pact?

Should Congress adopt tougher gun control laws? One would think so, judging from Gallup and National Opinion Research Center polls which have shown, for nearly two decades, that upwards of two-thirds of the public favors such a move.

But why be hasty? A new Decision Making Information survey shows an identical two-thirds majority opposed to additional gun controls.

The examples could go on indefinitely. For every poll producing a majority opinion in favor of something, another can be found to yield exactly the opposite result.

'Unification' due little chance

By GEORGIE ANNE GEYER
PANMUNJOM, South Korea — The most meticulous hostess would have sighed over the table. The green tablecloth was exquisite. There was only one problem. Half the guests deliberately didn't show up.

You could call the whole thing just plain impolite, but the North Koreans again missed the "unification" meeting called by South Korea.

It was such a perfect, delicate, early spring Korean day, with the buds huddling inside their closed leaves, that one felt something ought to happen. But it is increasingly clear that, despite recent hopeful speculation, nothing is about to bud in the "South-North dialogue" over Korean reunification.

When South Korean President Park Chung Hee suggested dramatically on Jan. 19 that unification talks again begin, there indeed was hope that the two-ships-that-pass-in-the-night status of the two Koreas might change just a trifle, or that the two "countries" might even talk.

Then it all began again. North Korea said it wouldn't deal with the South Korean government at all, and instead came forward with a front group called the "Democratic Front for the Unification of the Fatherland."

This was interesting because that just happened to be the precise name of a similar "friendship" group formed once before by the North Koreans. To be exact, it was formed just weeks before the north invaded the south in 1950.

The north also, first, said "no conditions." Then it proceeded to lay down a whole series of them. And then there was Ping Pong. Yes, Ping Pong again.

The two adversaries, the south thriving economically and the north willing, are trying to work out a way for the south to take part in an international sports tournament, the first international tourney to be conducted in Pyongyang.

The radical regime of Kim Il Sung refuses to allow the South Koreans to play as an independent team, and so the South Koreans don't go to Panmunjom either when this is to be discussed. Then, as on Tuesday, it is the North Koreans who soberly march down the wide steps from their headquarters, put their tea out, wait five minutes and leave.

To top it all off, there is no direct communication between the two. The south, wanting to start with small steps instead of one grand design in the north's suggested manner, has proposed installing a telephone hookup between them. The north refused.

So it is that they announce by radio when one delegation will come. The delegation solemnly goes. The other does not.

As I stood in the spring sunlight on this strange non-meeting place of the world, with its Maginot line of fences and stone barriers stretching back on both sides for miles, I asked a Czech general who is one of the "neutral" observers why the two sides do not communicate through him.

"Communicating," he said dryly, "is not the problem."

Despite all of this, the situation here has an important story to tell. The hopes of last year, which existed even among many South Korean officials, now have given way to the idea that the north agreed to renewing the long-stalled talks only to gain secondary, outside advantages.

"We felt it necessary to take a chance on the speculations," Dongbok Lee, head of Seoul's South-North Coordinating Committee, said. "It could provide a litmus test to test the minds of the North Koreans."

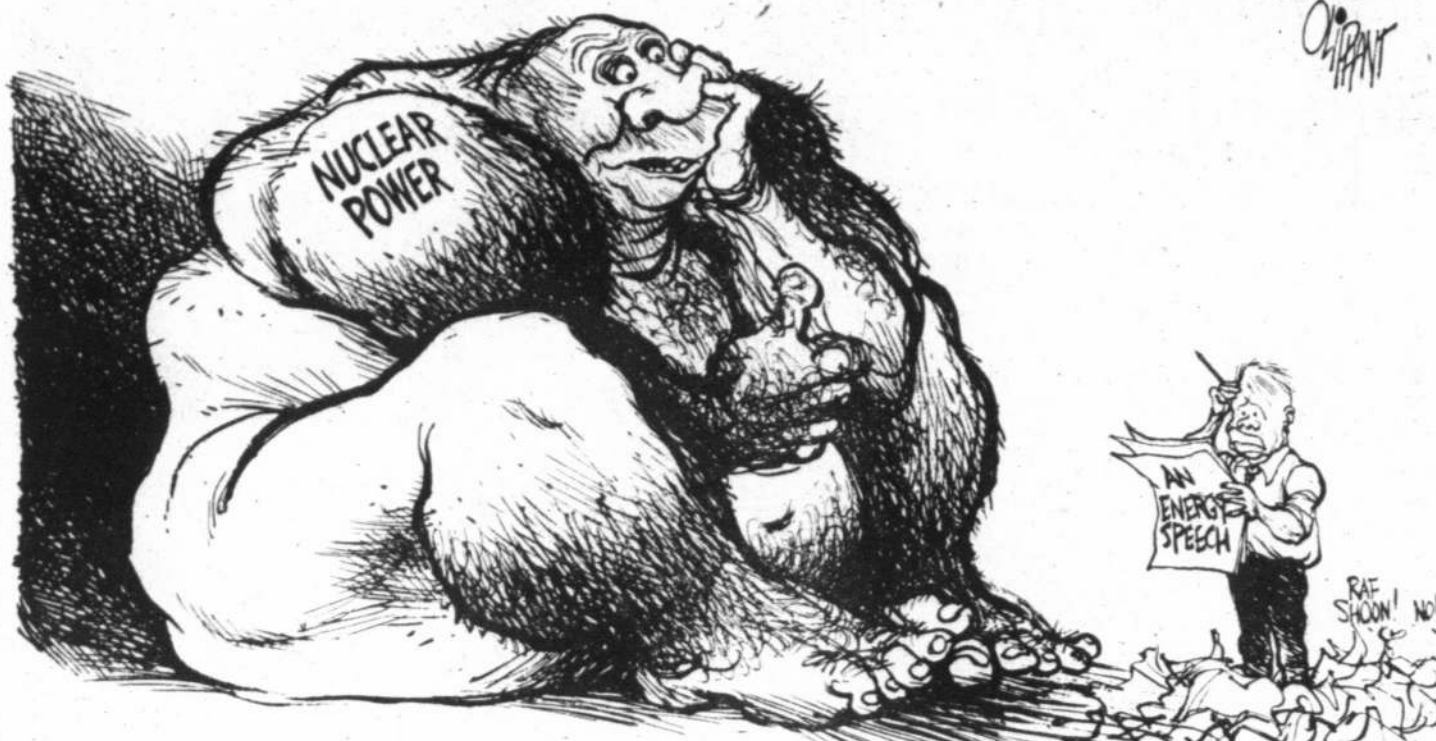

"But now we have concluded that the original hopeful speculations were not correct, that they were not interested in the substance of inter-Korean relations, but that they were interested only in creating the impression that the two sides were talking. The maneuver was oriented toward diplomatic purposes. It involved their desires to influence someone in Washington or maybe in Japan."

It seems clear that this is the crux of the matter, at least right now.

So, yes, there is a "New Asia," and it is one in which the pro-western capitalist democracies are thriving and the Communists are in squalid shambles. Part of the "New Asia" has involved North Korea's curious new charade, but that charade seems about to be proven short-lived in this curious diplomatic Ping Pong.

When it comes the two Koreas, it is part of this special Asian mystique that what you do not see often is more important than what you do see.

Inside Report

Schlesinger: newest decontroller

By ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Energy James Schlesinger betrayed undeniable satisfaction early last week when he told oil industry lobbyists that President Carter's "first option" on energy, unveiled a few days earlier, had been shot down by Democratic senators.

The satisfaction stemmed from Schlesinger's opposition to that "first option," making decontrol of crude oil prices dependent on a severance tax that could wipe out the benefits of decontrol. For months he has been fighting backstage with the White House over energy. Schlesinger has argued that significant decontrol is essential to expand the supply of energy; many Carter political advisers fear it may be the last straw in alienating the liberal community.

With Carter's delayed energy message almost complete, Schlesinger scored a limited victory. The decontrol plan is less thorough than Schlesinger would prefer in removing Uncle Sam's heavy hand from energy production, but it goes well beyond the desires of White House staffers.

It is remarkable that, after more than two years in office, Carter has spent the last two weeks still seeking an energy strategy. Even more remarkable is Schlesinger's new role as decontroller-in-chief.

The pipe-smoking Dr. Schlesinger remains the butt of fuzzy-bureaucrat jokes at businessmen's conventions. He is still a candidate for lynching in Texas, where Gov. Bill Clements (his arch-enemy and former deputy at the Pentagon) poisons the well. Contrary to this largely uninformed hostility, Schlesinger has cast off his former role of puritanical conservationist and has recognized the necessity for promoting energy production.

"I think Schlesinger has gotten religion late in life," one well-informed oil lobbyist said. Indeed, the energy secretary has helped educate the president and his staff, attributing oil shortages to government interference that began in response to the 1973 Arab oil embargo. Thus, Schlesinger's erstwhile critics in big oil now support him; the political left, led by Sen. George McGovern, demands a new secretary of energy.

Oil lobbyists accordingly were unpleasantly surprised by the "first option" presented to them March 23 by presidential aide Stuart Eizenstat. The good news was that the president would totally decontrol oil prices. The overriding bad news was that decontrol would depend on congressional passage of a $3-a-barrel oil severance tax to recapture "wind-fall" profits.

Eizenstat suggested that this revenue could go into the social security fund, in effect making the tax permanent. Lobbyists, taking out their pocket calculators, figured the feds would be taking out in taxes four times as much from producers as they would be putting back in higher prices. The supposed incentive to greater production was chimerical.

Trade ambassador Robert Strauss privately had advised that Congress was no more inclined to an oil tax now than when it rejected previous Carter proposals. The White House went ahead anyway, becoming convinced of the futility only after varied Democratic senators said no. Prominent among them was Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, chairman of the Finance Committee.

It was then that Schlesinger reported back to the oil industry that a plan he regarded with some scorn had crashed.

Retirement of two Wichita Falls public school principals, Miss Norma E. Rollins of Carrigan Elementary and Fred D. Burnett of Bowie Elementary headed the list of administrative changes for 1969-70 announced by Dr. Don Waldrip, superintendent of schools.

A 29-year-old citizen of Biafra was selected for a graduate assistantship at Midwestern University, the second person ever named to the faculty whose basic language is not English. Ibo is the native language of Matthias E. Iwundu, who will become a teaching assistant in the English department in September.

Paul Yeager, director of public safety, said airline passenger boardings set an all-time record for the first quarter of this year. Nearly 20,000 passengers boarded commercial flights at Wichita Falls Municipal Air Terminal the first three months of 1969.

Incumbent Alderman Lloyd C. Thomas polled 2,323 votes to edge out his nearest opponent by 224 votes in the mayor's race, according to unofficial returns.

Supplies for the forthcoming polio vaccine trials have arrived in Wichita Falls and are being assembled for distribution to various schools in the city from Harrell School. The vaccine is expected soon and vaccinations will be announced in the near future, said Dr. Houston H. Terry, director of Wichita Health Unit.

The annual issue of Public Management, official publication of International City Managers' Association, lists Wichita Falls as the second largest of the 31 cities in Texas that have adopted the city manager form of government. The publication shows that Fort Worth is largest and Sweetwater the smallest city in Texas having a city manager.

Five hundred and sixty-three votes were cast in the annual school trustee election. C.H. Clark, Paul B. Scott, Carter McGregor and J. T. Harrell were elected to the school board for two year terms.

A fad at Wichita Falls High School is that of going through the daily routine "hoseless," or without any covering on the lower limbs.

The jail bond issue in the election carried by a safe majority. Complete returns have not been received, but enough boxes have reported to make certain that the proposition carried by fully a hundred votes. Totals reported are 310 for and 191 against.

New buttons for the chamber of commerce have arrived and are being distributed among members. In the center of the button, traced in gold lines on blue enamel, are the railroads entering Wichita Falls. About the rim of the button, on white enamel in gold letters, are the words "Wichita Falls Pulls Together."

What a bargain

About 1,000 motorists crowded into a service station in Wichita, Kan., Friday when a radio station offered gasoline for 14 cents a gallon. Only a fourth of the cars got filled up, however, since the radio station, KEYN, bought only

3,700 gallons for the promotion, limiting an individual fillup to 20 gallons. Unleaded gas usually sells there for 75.9 cents a gallon. (AP Photo)

14-cent gas reappears after 40 years

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Daniel Poon reached in his jeans pocket and pulled out $1.60 in change. "Fill it up," he told the service station attendant. "But this is all I've got."

The 19-year-old college student shouldn't have worried. He got 75 cents back after his compact car took 6.1 gallons. He then raced into the station and asked for a receipt.

Four seeking City View posts

Four persons, including three incumbents, are seeking election to three positions on City View School Board Saturday. Incumbents Tomas Gonzales, Glenn Payton and Dale Shook are seeking re-election, challenged by Claude Draper.

Voters may cast ballots at the school from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Election is for three-year terms. City View school teaches kindergarten through eighth grade. High school students attend Wichita Falls or Iowa Park schools with tuition paid by City View Independent School District.

Draper is vice president of First-Wichita National Bank. Gonzales, a civil service employee at Sheppard Air Force Base, was elected two years ago.

Payton, an employee of Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation, was appointed to the board last June. Shook, 57, an asphalt contractor, attended City View School and has served on the board for several years.

Spilled oil reaches Sweden

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Oil spilled from a Soviet tanker aground off the Lithuanian coast has reached the Stockholm area, some 200 miles across the Baltic Sea, the Swedish coast guard said Friday. It said thousands of sea birds and seals and some of the area's finest beaches were threatened.

Fifteen coast guard patrol boats equipped with skimmers were trying to stem the spread of the oil. Soviet reports said 1.6 million gallons had spilled from the tanker, which went aground Feb. 27.

"I won't call it a catastrophe yet," said coast guard spokesman Sven Uhler. "But our efforts to shovel up the oil clouds seems at times hopeless. The strong winds push more and more oil toward the beaches."

"I want 14 cents written on there, you know, sentimental value," he said.

Fourteen-cent-a-gallon gasoline returned to this city of 265,000 for the first time in some 40 years, part of a promotion by Wichita radio station KEYN, an AM station that bills itself as "Radio 14."

But the gas didn't last long. An estimated 1,000 drivers crowded their cars, vans and trucks into the shopping center parking lot to wait their turn at the pumps of a Sears service station.

Only about 250 of the vehicles got gas at the 14-cent rate — about 60 cents below the regular pump price — since the radio station had purchased only 3,700 gallons. Each car was limited to 20 gallons.

Many of the cars were turned away by security officers. Those drivers who didn't get gas were placated by free movie passes, coupons for pizzas and discount coupons.

"We had a few traffic jams, but people don't mind because of the price," said security supervisor Jim Fenner.

Drivers of all ages and means waited in line for hours in a scene reminiscent of the lines of cars that waited for allocated gasoline during the shortages of 1973.

Marsha Willison, one of the first in line, drove 25 miles from Goddard, Kan., and arrived with her fuel gauge showing empty. She waited three hours for her fillup.

Like others in line, she had listened the night before to President Carter predict on national television that Americans would see gas prices rise.

"I expect by the end of the summer it will be up to $1 a gallon," said Mrs. Willison, a housewife. "This is all very interesting today but I don't think there'll be too many people who get a chance to do this."

Mrs. Alvin Smith toolled up to the pump in her Cadillac Coupe de Ville and watched as her luxury car took 16 gallons. She then opened the trunk and pulled out a five-gallon gas can to purchase her limit.

"That'll take care of my mower for a while," she said.

Richard Ambriz, a 16-year-old high school student from Derby, had to have his car pushed out of the pumps after running out of gas while waiting in line. But he didn't seem to mind paying $2.80 for his 20-gallon purchase.

Sub's christening to dramatize debate

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — The Saturday christening of the first Trident submarine, USS Ohio, promises to dramatize the debate over the floating missile base as a major weapon in the U.S. arsenal.

More than 2,000 guests, including first lady Rosalynn Carter, are expected to hail the $1.2 billion submarine during ceremonies at the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

Outside the shipyard anti-war organizers have promised to stage New England's largest anti-war rally with more than 1,000 protesters and a number of pre-arranged arrests.

U.S. Rep. Christopher Dodd, a Democrat whose 2nd District includes Groton, said Friday that people are free to object to the Trident-carrying submarine. "I'm willing to accept the necessity of it," he said of the 24-missile Trident.

But one protest leader described the USS Ohio and the dozen or so Trident subs scheduled to follow it to sea as "the most destructive weapon the world has ever seen" that can only accelerate the U.S.-Soviet arms race to an even more dangerous point.

"The danger is that in a crisis, one side or the other may be so fearful of the first strike by the other that it would launch its own missiles first," said Marta Daniels of the Trident-Conversion Campaign.

The wife of U.S. Sen. John Glenn of Ohio breaks the traditional bottle of champagne on the sail superstructure of the sub during the morning ceremony. The christening will be followed by a keel-laying ceremony with Mrs. Carter using a torch to mark her initials on the fourth Trident, the USS Georgia.

Just two days after the christening of the USS Ohio, the Nautilus, world's first nuclear-powered submarine, will cast off from New London, Conn., across the river from Groton on her final cruise nearly 25 years after she joined the fleet.

The Navy said the Nautilus, which once set non-stop sailing records on her nuclear engines, will head for Mare Island Naval Shipyard in Vallejo, Calif., to be inactivated this fall. The Navy said it has not decided what ultimately to do with the pioneer submarine.

Lawton shooting death probed

LAWTON, Okla. — Comanche County sheriff's deputies Friday were investigating the death Friday afternoon of a Cache man who was apparently shot and killed in his home with an antique rifle.

Sheriff C.M. "Junior" Hawkins said Friday night an autopsy would be performed Saturday on the victim, described only as a man in his 20s. Hawkins said the name was being withheld pending notification of relatives.

"From what we've been able to determine so far," he said, "the shooting occurred about 1 p.m. Friday in a residence in Cache." He said there were two other persons in the home at the time of the shooting.

The victim was apparently shot once with a muzzle-loading antique rifle.

"We've made no arrests at this time," Hawkins said. "We're going to wait and see what the autopsy tells us."

He said the two other persons in the house had been questioned. He described the weapon as "about a .45 caliber. It was one of those old ball and powder rifles."

He said the victim was dead at the scene.

Indecent exposure suspect arrested

LAWTON, Okla. — A 20-year-old Lawton man was arrested Friday after he drove past a store where a woman he allegedly exposed himself to was giving his description to a police officer.

Patrol Officer Harry Ezell said a woman told him she was going to a convenience store at Sixteenth and Avenue D about 5 p.m. Friday when the suspect drove up and called out to her. When the woman turned and looked, the suspect reportedly exposed himself and drove off. Ezell said he was talking to the woman minutes later when she looked out at the street and said "there he goes." Ezell got into his patrol car and pulled the suspect over after following the suspect for two blocks, he said.

The suspect remained in city jail Friday pending state charges.

Murder suspect reportedly seen

By ROCKY SCOTT Staff Writer

The common-law husband of a woman whose severed head was found last Saturday in a dump near Old Lake Bowie was being sought Friday evening north of Nocona after he was reportedly seen earlier in his pickup truck.

Montague County Sheriff W.F. Conway said Truman Carl Clark, about 47, was seen near the Red River about 5 p.m. Friday.

"We found his pickup about 6 p.m.," Conway said. "I've got about eight or 10 men out near the river and we've sealed the area off. We're just waiting for him to come out."

Montague County deputies and Department of Public Safety troopers were involved in the search, which Conway said was "away from any main roads."

A warrant for Clark's arrest was issued Tuesday in Montague County after a Dallas pathologist identified the head of a woman found Saturday in a garbage dump as that of Lea Clark, 47.

Clark and the victim's mother had reported her missing March 24. Conway said the head appeared to have been in the dump "about eight days."

Clark, who was a county road worker, reportedly had not been

'Day of Disaster' program causes chaos in Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Worried homeowners called authorities and state police ordered motorists off an interstate Friday when a radio station broadcast a report on tornadoes moving through Kentucky — five years after the fact.

"It's from one end of the state to the other that Louisville was wiped away," said a state police dispatcher in Frankfort.

"We've got posts all over the state getting calls, and the governor's office is getting calls."

The source of worry was a report from Louisville radio station WHAS, a 50,000-watt clear channel heard in 40 states. The station broadcast a documentary entitled "Day of Disaster — The Tornadoes of April Five Years Later." The program recalled a string of killer twisters that ravaged the state on April 3, 1974.

Shortly after the broadcast began — despite many announcements that it was a documentary — telephones began ringing off the hook in the offices of police agencies across the state.

State police in Elizabethtown ordered motorists off Interstate 65 because of the tornado reports.

State trooper Mike Pratt, who patrols the Spencer County area adjacent to Louisville, said he "flipped on my radio and heard that (documentary) and looked up into that clear sky, and said, 'What's going on?'"

Rabies clinic slated

WALTERS, Okla. (Special) — A rabies vaccination clinic is scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday at Geronimo City Hall.

Nearly residents may bring their pets to city hall for vaccination.

The clinic is sponsored by Geronimo Good Neighbor Group.

Severin said the station was deluged with calls during the hour-long evening broadcast.

"Orson Welles would be proud," she said, referring to the 1938 radio adaptation of H.G. Wells "War of the Worlds" that listeners mistakenly thought was radio coverage of a Martian invasion of Earth.

"We decided on purpose to wait until it was a nice day," she said. "But everyone has gotten hysterical. We've been getting calls from the state police and the governor's office. Some people are screaming that they're going to write to the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) and have our license lifted."

THE STORM ALARM. THE BEST WAY TO USE OUR NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE STATION.

The U.S. Government's weather warning system is now in our city. And the product that supports it — The Storm Alarm — is now at our store. The system is designed to protect you from tornadoes and other storms. Especially at night, when your family is asleep and most vulnerable. This is how it works. Any time a danger threatens, the weather station sends out a special signal. The signal sets off the Storm Alarm. (Just like smoke sets off a smoke alarm.) Your family is warned even if sound asleep. After the alarm goes off, a complete report on the emergency and survival instructions are heard. When the conditions are normal, the Storm Alarm picks up the weather station's continuous, up-to-the-minute forecasts. Superior reception from as far out as 40-50 miles. Works on household current. Built-in back-up battery feature if electricity fails. Unit only 3" x 5" x 1 1/4". Each year, severe weather injures and kills more and more people in our community. That's why we're one of the few U.S. cities to get a weather transmitter. Take full advantage of it with the Storm Alarm. Get the protection of this low-cost early storm warning system as soon as possible.

'Trade practices bill defended by Farabee

By STEVE OLAFSON
Staff Writer

A bill before the Texas Senate amending the 1973 Deceptive Trade Practices Act is not a device to protect big business to subvert consumer protection, said State Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls.

He characterized the new bill as merely an attempt to tighten up a law that was too generally worded. The bill sparked a 15-hour Senate filibuster by a group opposed to the business-supported bill.

Farabee, who presided over about three hours of the filibuster, said he supports the bill, which would require consumers to prove they were intentionally misled or defrauded in order to collect triple damages.

"The act is too general," Farabee said. "It needs to be limited to smaller consumer transactions. If you're going to treble the damages, it needs to be restricted."

Farabee cited a case in Comanche County in which a seed dealer was found liable for peanut seeds that failed to germinate.

Graduate student wins MSU award

Danielle Kinney, Midwestern State University graduate student majoring in special education, has been presented the second annual Sheila Brisbane Special Education Award.

The award is presented to the most outstanding MSU graduate student completing a degree during the 1978-79 school year.

Sheila Brisbane was a special education teacher and graduate of MSU.

Kinney is employed by West Wichita County Co-Op as a speech therapist. She is a member of the Council for Exceptional Children, Texas Speech and Hearing Association, Texas Association of Educational Diagnosticians, Texas State Teachers Association and Alpha Chi.

She was graduated magna cum laude from MSU with a bachelor's in speech and hearing therapy.

minate. The $1 million judgment ballooned into $3 million in damages under the Deceptive Trade Practices Act.

Farabee said the present law can put small enterprises out of business while bigger businesses can pass the bill's costs to the consumer.

"There is a point where we all end up paying the bill," Farabee said.

While he said he has no gripes with consumer legislation, Farabee said, "There has to be a balance of all these things."

He added that the Deceptive Trade Practices Act has slowed down such shady practices as baiting and switching, but he said the law has given businesses a rationalization for higher prices.

Farabee predicted the bill will pass the Senate after 10 or 15 more hours of debate, but he said there likely will be more changes after the measure passes the House.

With about two months left in the session, Farabee noted that the Senate has yet to deal with three major problems: implementing the Tax Relief Amendment, adopting an education finance program and passing a budget.

"Those are the big issues," he said.

Farabee said the lawmakers are going to have less money to spend than they previously thought, which means many persons and groups are going to come away with less than they had hoped for.

Farabee said he supports an effort to raise the drinking age to 19, although he said the measure "needs to be refined."

"The bill is a response to problems with young people in high school," he said.

He also voiced support for a bill that would allow substitution of generic name drugs for name brands, which should save consumers money.

Despite his support, Farabee said substantial opposition from drug firms and the medical profession should make passage of the bill "difficult."

Pie-throwing, protests don't mix

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nuclear power and pie-throwing collided head-on Friday when a University of Wisconsin student pie-throwing contest featuring Wisconsin Gov. Lee Dreyfus became a general rum-pus as between 500 and 700 demonstrators protested nuclear power.

There were no arrests and no reports of injuries.

The afternoon started out peacefully with Dreyfus as guest of honor at the Wisconsin Student Association's First Celebrity Pie-Throwing Contest. WSA President James Mallon auctioned off the opportunity to hit Dreyfus with the pie to Stu Levitan, Capitol reporter for the Madison Press Connection, who promised to donate $70 to the WSA for the privilege.

Between 500 and 700 people, according to Madison Police Department estimates, watched as Levitan pushed the banana cream pie into Dreyfus' face. At that point protesters broke into chants and began to throw debris.

The demonstrators threw eggs and mud, and several persons broke through the line of city and campus police to beat Dreyfus' car with their signs. One woman threw a frosted cake in the shape of a nuclear power plant at the car as it was driven away.

Once the car was out of sight, the demonstrators set fire to an effigy of Dreyfus, decorated with a sign that said "Make that pie radioactive."

Before the Dreyfus incident, about 250 protesters marched to the State Capitol to call for a moratorium on additional nuclear plants and the orderly phase-out of Wisconsin's four nuclear reactors.

In Wichita, Kan., a group protesting construction of the Wolf Creek nuclear plant in eastern Kansas called on one of its builders, Kansas Gas & Electric Co., Friday to scrap the billion-dollar project.

Following a rally at a downtown Wichita convention center, about 100 members of Kansans for Sensible Energy marched to the offices of KG&E several blocks away.

KG&E and Kansas City Power & Light Co. are constructing the state's first nuclear power plant near Burlington, Kan. The Wolf Creek project is about 30 percent completed.

The protest group's petition asked that construction be immediately ended and the plant site returned to farmland.

Teamster negotiations break down

By OWEN ULLMANN
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking Teamsters and trucking industry bargainers broke off contract talks Friday, dashing hopes for a quick end to the longest trucking shutdown in U.S. history.

Chief federal mediator Wayne L. Horvitz said that after two days of talks, bargainers were "no closer (to a settlement) than we were at the time the strike started last Saturday night."

The breakdown in the negotiations made it virtually certain that the six-day nationwide work stoppage would drag into next week and threaten new economic disruptions, particularly in the hard-hit auto industry. The government predicted layoffs of auto workers would climb past the 200,000 mark next week because of parts shortages.

Despite the developments, the Carter administration repeated its decision not to seek a court order to end the shutdown.

"Our stance at this point is that the impact on the nation's health and safety does not warrant" using the Taft-Hartley Act, said one administration official who asked not to be identified by name. The law permits the president to seek a court order to end a work stoppage.

Horvitz said he would remain in contact with representatives of the two sides over the weekend, but added he was not optimistic talks could be resumed that quickly.

He told reporters that bargainers remained at odds over the "total cost package" of a new three-year contract.

J. Curtis Counts, industry's chief bargainer, said the union was demanding a settlement that would violate the Carter administration's anti-inflation guidelines and be "tremendously costly" for employers. Asked how costly, he replied, "Megabucks."

Union President Frank Fitzsimmons said he believed the union's demands would fit the guidelines.

Even so, he added, "We're not negotiating a contract on the basis of the guidelines. We're negotiating on the basis of inflation."

Fitzsimmons also complained that Counts has no experience in the trucking industry and at one point alluded to the industry bargainer's "incompetence."

In Detroit, Chrysler Corp., the No. 3 automaker, said it would have to shut nearly all 41 of its plants and furlough 85,000 workers for the duration of the shutdown if a settlement is not reached by Monday.

Waurika hunt set

WAURIKA, Okla. (Special) — About 500 registered hunters are expected to converge on the countryside of this Jefferson County community Saturday and Sunday for the 18th annual Waurika Rattlesnake Hunt.

About 8,000 to 10,000 spectators are expected in Waurika for the two-day hunt that has been tabbed the "World's Largest and Best" snake hunt.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday at snake headquarters on Main Street. Jennifer Adkins, a senior at Waurika High School, will reign as Snake Queen. Dub Park, fire chief of the sponsoring Waurika Volunteer Fire Department and Jaycees, said caravans of hunters will leave for the hunt areas about 10 a.m.

Activities will include snake sacking contest during the afternoon on both days, special reptile displays and a performance by Texas Martin of Texarkana, Texas, who will perform the "Kiss of Death" with Cobras. He will be assisted by George McDonald and Mike McMillan.

Awards will be presented Sunday afternoon for live rattlesnake over six and a half feet, longest snake, shortest snake, snake with most rattles and marked snakes. A dance will be held Saturday night in the Jeffco Fair Building.

Park said all live rattlesnakes will be purchased. Snake pits and butcher pens also will be manned during the event. He said snake steaks, hides and rattlers will be available.

Out 'N About

Sandies in spotlight

By JOHN THOMPSON
Outdoor Writer

Sand bass, or white bass as they are known in some areas of the state, are said to be our second most popular game fish. They are ranked only behind the crappie as the choice of statewide anglers.

Certainly they have done as much for family fun fishing as anything, chiefly because they are often easy to catch by any one of several methods.

It isn't unusual to see a gang of boats circled around a school of sandies working the surface of an area lake. Everyone will be casting his choice of lures, and almost everyone will be pulling in some of the scrappy little fish. It is great sport and one which all can play without worrying about how many you catch. You simply take all you want, and turn back the rest. Even with the tremendous fishing pressure being exerted in our lakes these days, the sandies seem more than capable of holding their own.

That might not be the case always, however. You see, it has recently come to light it is not against the law for sandies to be caught and sold by commercial fishermen on the market.

It was against the regulations of the state until the laws were re-written to make them simpler. Somehow sandies were omitted when it came to naming the fish which are game fish and not for commercial use.

The well-kept secret is now out, because the bill has been introduced into the state legislature which would put the sandies back on the protected list. When this became known, the commercial fishing interests immediately jumped on the bill and began working hard to get it killed.

They immediately began to come up with all sorts of reasons why the sand bass should be left in the commercial status. "There are lots of white bass in our lakes, why not let us catch some?" came the question.

Well, there are some pretty good reasons why they should be given back to the sportsmen alone.

First of all, the commercial fishermen cannot be trusted, as a group, to fish by legal means and methods. Before we could get our boats cranked up, there would be gill nets strung across every lake in the state which had a decent population of white bass. It wouldn't be legal to catch them that way for the market, but because there was some money to be made, the nets would be there just like they are in certain bays along the Gulf coast which have been closed to netting for 15 years.

You black bass fishermen might also want to work against the commercial interests and try to get this bill passed.

Also under our current laws, it is legal for commercial fishermen to bring black bass into Texas from Mexico and sell them on the open market.

I don't like the idea of black bass being caught anywhere for the market, and secondly, once a bass is on ice it's impossible to say whether it came from Mexico lakes or Texas lakes.

Both of these problems would be corrected by the passage of H.B. 2038. The bill is being sponsored by Rep. Benney Bock of New Braunfels. Bock is chairman of the Environmental Affairs Committee which has charge of the bill, and he has said it looks like the bill will be defeated because all he has heard is against it.

Refuge preparing for season

By BRUCE FISHER
Regional Staff Writer

CACHE, Okla. — More than a million visitors flock to the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge every year, and assistant refuge manager George Constantino said refuge employees are busy getting ready for summer — the busiest season of the year.

There are about 30 permanent employees who work in the refuge, Constantino said.

He said some are busy preparing for some new programs to be offered this year. One will be the opening of four lakes to small hand-powered boats.

Lake Elmer Thomas has always been open to these small boat users, but beginning May 1, Constantino said refuge officials plan to make Lake Jed Johnson, French Lake, Rush Lake and Lake Quanah Parker open to small motorless boats.

Constantino said plans are to open a new area to backpackers soon.

He said Sharon Gardens Wilderness area near Treasure Lake will be opened to backpackers who will be able to plan up to three-day excursions on a reservation basis.

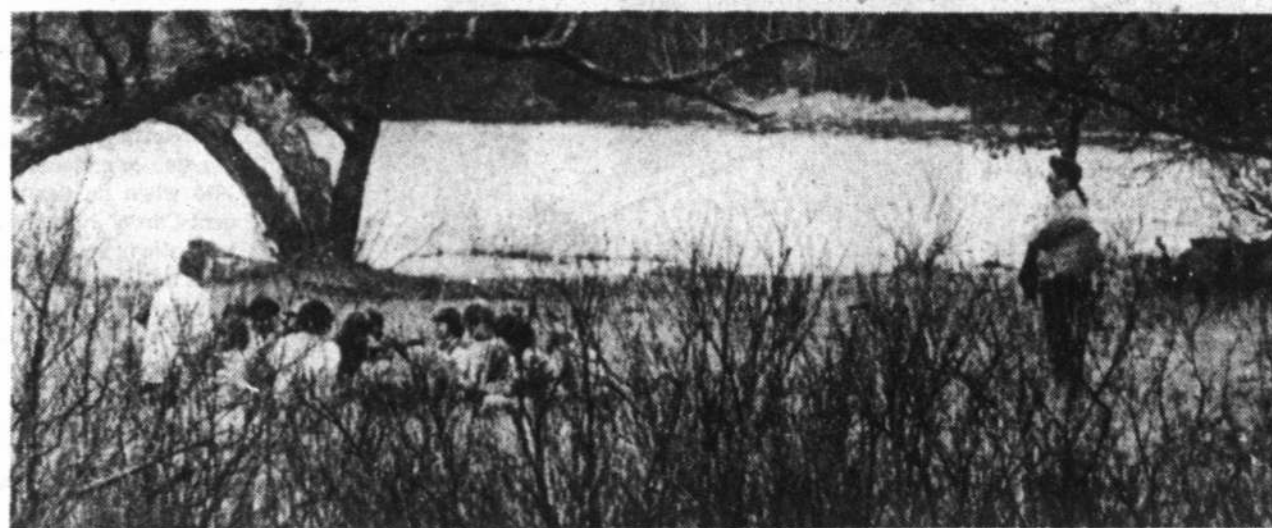

Bob Carges is manager of the 59,000-acre refuge. About one-third of the refuge is open to the public. The other two-thirds, which is the north central, and northwest sections, is kept closed to preserve wild game and its native habitat.

In the closed portion of the refuge lies Lake Gramma. The lake is not fished — not even by refuge employees — which is a common rumor, Constantino said.

Lake Gramma is used for fish studies. One of the fish and game studies proposed for Lake Gramma will be a test batch of hybrid white bass-strippers, Constantino said.

The project will be coordinated by Oklahoma University fishery researchers through the Oklahoma Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Constantino said the study will be to determine how well the new hybrid fish can survive in a natural lake — that is one that is not fished or otherwise tampered with by human beings.

Lake Quanah Parker

A group of youngsters and their sponsors pause to take notes about the wilderness area around Lake Quanah Parker in the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge. Many groups from Texas and Oklahoma travel to the refuge each spring for field trips. (Photo by Bruce Fisher)

Other test batches will be distributed in regular lakes open to the public to complete the study, he said.

Some capital improvements are under way now in the refuge including resurfacing of the roadway from the Cache Gate to the Meers "T."

The administration of programs and projects at the refuge is not conducted without some help from area citizens, Constantino said.

He said a citizens advisory committee made up of civic-minded residents from surrounding towns and rural areas advises and offers other assistance to refuge administrators.

"There is a recreation development plan that has been developed by the advisory committee and it will be enacted using an implementation plan that should be finished by sometime in May," he said.

Partly as a result of efforts by the advisory committee, he said several buildings in the refuge have been listed in an historic conservation survey and five sites are eligible for entry into the National Register of Historic Places.

One of those structures is the old Buffalo Lodge located at the northeastern corner of headquarters residential area in the refuge. The lodge was built in 1913 by the Forest Service for offices. It has masonry load bearing walls and a wood frame roof. Cobblestone and composition shingles were used as the primary building materials.

There is a root cellar located on the part of the refuge closed to the public. It is the only structure that still stands in the closed portion, and nobody remembers at refuge headquarters just how old the cellar is. It was one of several ranch buildings located on land that was fenced off for the refuge.

The refuge is part of Southwestern National Monument Association now, and membership in the organization will allow refuge officials to set up visitation centers in the refuge to sell literature about the game and other aspects of the refuge.

Constantino said the money from the sale of the popular and scientific literature which is to be printed on high-quality paper for a top grade product will be turned over to SNMA, and the refuge will be eligible, as other association members are, to apply for grant funds from the association to pay for projects and programs to be implemented or set up in the refuge.

Some of the literature will describe animals sheltered in the refuge which include about 600 buffalo, 350 longhorn cattle, 450 or more Rio Grande turkeys, roughly 500 white tail deer, and about 450 Rocky Mountain elk.

The Rocky Mountain elk were brought to the refuge in 1925 from Jackson Hole National Elk Refuge in Wyoming, according to Tom Westmoreland, one of the law enforcement officers who lives in the headquarters area.

He said Frank Rush, a former manager of the refuge, was the top administrator when the Rio Grande turkeys were brought to the refuge. Westmoreland said Rush's wife brought 15 or so of the turkeys in and cared for them until they reached full growth.

Rush was the owner and operator of Craterville Park, an amusement park located just north of Cache roughly just south of the Cache entrance gate to the refuge. Craterville was moved to a location just south of Lake Altus in Jackson County when the refuge and Fort Sill military reservation crowded Rush out of his first location.

California governor, Linda Ronstadt leave for safari

NEW YORK (AP) — California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. left here Friday — the eve of his 41st birthday — for an African safari with rock singer Linda Ronstadt, inviting speculation about their romance and the trip's impact on his political future.

The governor and Miss Ronstadt left Kennedy International Airport on a Pan Am flight to Liberia. The flight left two hours behind schedule due to maintenance problems, authorities said.

Brown and Miss Ronstadt, who entered the aircraft about two minutes apart via a rear entrance, were not made available to the media.

Brown, who is considered a likely contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1980, has dated Miss Ronstadt off and on since the early 1970s.

He has been governor since 1975 of the nation's most populous state, and has often been seen in public with the attractive 32-year-old singer. There has been frequent speculation that marriage might be in the offing.

LINDA RONSTADT

Brown's mother, Bernice, said her son told her Miss Ronstadt would accompany him on his 10-day vacation in Africa, but she said "I haven't any idea" if they planned to be married during the trip.

Unidentified friends of Brown were quoted Friday as saying he agonized over the political implications of a vacation with Miss Ronstadt.

"Finally, he just said, 'To hell with it!'" one friend was quoted as saying.

"He's straight-laced and I think it's fair to say he would know a trip like this would invite speculation about their plans," said another unidentified friend.

In a telephone interview at her Beverly Hills home, Mrs. Brown said her son telephoned her Thursday night to tell her about the trip to Africa.

Brown, whose father was also a two-term governor of California, gained national attention in 1976 when he defeated President Carter in several late Democratic primaries. But Carter went on to win the Democratic nomination and later the presidency.

Brown admits asking AFL-

CIO leaders if organized labor would support him instead of Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., for the presidential nomination in 1980. He said he got no commitment.

Brown opposed California Proposition 13 property tax cuts until the proposition was adopted in a voter landslide. Then he embraced it as a plank in his re-election platform, and he went on to espouse the calling of a constitutional convention to draft an amendment requiring a balanced federal budget.

This stand brought him into direct opposition with President Carter, whom Brown also has strongly criticized on the issue of inflation.

Miss Ronstadt launched her singing career over a decade ago. She won her first Gold Album with "Don't Cry Now" in 1973. Other Gold and Platinum Albums followed for "Heart Like a Wheel," "Prisoner in Disguise," "Hasten Down the Wind," "Greatest Hits" and "Simple Dreams."

Her "Blue Bayou" won a Gold single award in 1977.

Miss Ronstadt won the Grammy Award as the best country vocal female in 1975, was adjudged the best pop vocal female in 1976, and won the American Music Award in 1978.

Final report due on building flaws

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Officials say an independent engineering firm should have its final report ready by the end of April on allegations of flaws in the $16.5 million Olympic Fieldhouse here. The allegations, in a confidential report compiled last December, reportedly center on three areas: a sag in the roof trusses, faulty welding and weak concrete.

The Precision Haircut Explained Precisely.
Because your head is unique, the way your hair grows is equally unique. Really quite different from every one else's.
Precision haircutting is a technique for cutting the hair in harmony with the way it grows. Your hair eventually grows out but it doesn't lose its shape with a precision haircut. Consequently your haircut will look as good after five days as it does after five minutes. And because the hair falls naturally into place you won't have to keep fussing with it. Usually a shake of the head does it.
At Command Performance we shampoo, precision-cut and blow dry your hair for fourteen dollars, whether you're a gal or a guy. And no appointments are ever necessary.
We also offer permanent waves, coloring, frosting and conditioning. But we really shine with precision. And so will you.

HEAVEN CAN WAIT

Stock market session mixed, DJI off 1.91

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, winding up its fifth consecutive week of gains, turned in a mixed showing Friday in another busy session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks slipped 1.91 to 875.69, but nevertheless finished the week with a 13.51-point gain. Since late February the average has risen more than 67 points.

The day's volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 34.71 million shares, up from 34.52 million Thursday.

Some of the blue chip and glamor issues that had led the market's advance Thursday pulled back a bit.

Du Pont lost 1 1/4 to 143 as the 4 p.m. close in New York; Eastman Kodak was down 1 1/4 at 64 1/4, and International Business Machines dropped 2 1/4 to 318 1/4.

As expected, President Carter outlined plans Thursday night for gradual decontrol of domestic oil prices, and called for legislation providing for taxes on "windfall profits" of oil companies.

Anticipation of a decontrol has been cited as a major factor behind the stock market's recent strength.

The idea of a windfall profits tax, naturally, was received far less warmly on Wall Street. But there was also considerable debate over whether Congress would approve it.

Among actively traded oil issues, Texaco was unchanged at 27; Gulf Oil rose 1/4 to 27 1/4; Exxon was down 1/4 at 53 1/4; and Atlantic Richfield gained 1 1/4 to 65.

McCulloch Oil was up 1/4 at 6 1/4 and Houston Oil & Minerals slipped 1/4 to 20 1/4 among the volume leaders at the American Stock Exchange.

Advances slightly outnumbered declines in the daily tally on the NYSE, while the exchange's composite index of more than 1,500 listed common stocks eased .02 to 58.04.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials dropped .14 to 115.24, and S&P's 500-stock composite index was off .08 at 103.18.

Ann Landers Says Why let someone take advantage?

Dear Ann Landers: My father-in-law is a heavy drinker, gets physically violent, is obnoxious, vulgar and sometimes, I think, just plain nuts. My mother-in-law stayed with him for the children's sake. She also is not too bright. My husband's youngest brother is on drugs. He's been picked up for burglary, forgery, car theft, and has served time in prison.

Every time my brother-in-law gets into trouble they call Jack. This has gone on for over 10 years.

We get calls every time my father-in-law belts my mother-in-law around. Then we get all the details of how the fight started. We know how she fell, where she fell, how much he drank before he hit her, etc., etc., blah, blah, blah.

I've asked my mother-in-law to keep all that garbage to herself. That was three years ago but she hasn't stopped. I can't reason with her. She's always got some mess going. And then, after not being able to take care of her own business, she tries to tell us what to do.

All I want is a normal home life for us and a good environment for our children. Please comment or advise. — Sign Me Resentful

Dear R.: You will need your husband's cooperation if you want to separate your family from the unfortunate demands of your in-laws and all the dumping they do on you.

I suggest you make an appointment with an unbiased third party (not a relative or social friend). Explain the situation and ask how to go about removing yourselves as referees, fixer-uppers, sounding boards and just plain victims.

I have always said it takes two to create a situation like the one you describe — a party who hooks people into his own personal problems, takes their time and energy (and money), asks for advice (never taking it), and ends up doing one crazy thing after another. On the receiving end is someone who is weak or foolish enough to allow it to happen time and time again. The net of the problem is this: No one can repeatedly take advantage of anyone else without his permission.

"Sexual freedom" presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High School Sex and How to Deal With It — A Guide for Teens and Their Parents." For each booklet, send 50 cents plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Garden Hints Time to graft trees

By DON DECKER
County Extension Agent

It's fun and easy to do—grafting pecan trees. The bark is beginning to "slip" which is the signal for the grafting season which will last a little more than a month.

A pecan grafting and budding shortcourse is set for Tuesday and Thursday to teach techniques of these propagation methods. The Tuesday session will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Reddy Room of Texas Electric Service Co. in Wichita Falls. This will be classroom instruction demonstrating the procedures and reasons for various techniques in pecan propagation. The instruction will be provided by Birgil Woodfin, chairman of the county pecan and fruit growers.

The field work on Thursday will begin at 6 p.m. at the Iowa Park Research Center. This time will enable those working at jobs to participate after working hours. There will be ample daylight for the practical work. Each person will be given an opportunity to graft or bud a pecan tree. Participants are encouraged to bring a sharp knife, small hand saw, aluminum foil, one quart plastic bags and horticulture or electrical tape.

A person needs to have completed the classroom instruction in order to thoroughly understand the procedures for the field work. This field training will be under direction of Tim Hunter, station superintendent; Wesley Davis, pecan grower, and Virgil Woodwin.

Graft wood or budding wood will be available from Woodfin at the field training for those who desire to graft their own pecan trees. Wood from the most desirable varieties for this area will be available such as Mohawk, Choctaw and Wichita. The cost will be nominal.

Grafting is the best and easiest method of propagation, in my opinion. There are about five things which can happen to budding, and four of them are "bad." Grafts can be placed on branches from 1 1/2 to 3 inches in diameter. This is not applicable to all situations, but grafting is by far the most popular method of pecan propagation.

Anyone who attends both sessions should have no trouble in grafting pecan trees. The favorable moisture situation helps to increase the percentage of successful grafts.

A growing graft is only the beginning. Rapid growing grafts which are unattended will often "blow out." The growing grafts must be kept pruned back to about 2 feet or they can be braced with a small board nailed to the tree to support the shoot.

BAGWORMS

Bagworms can cause serious damage to the cedar type plants; however, it is too early for any control measures. Mrs. Vernon Stogdill has been pondering what she could do to prevent a bagworm infestation.

My recommendation is to inspect the trees late in May or early June for small bags less than a half inch long. As soon as the bags form, they can be controlled by spraying with either Malathion, Sevin or Toxaphene. If the bags are permitted to develop more than 1 inch in length, there is no chemical control.

Preventative applications of insecticides are never recommended. The use of a pesticide is recommended only when the pest is present and is causing damage. Then the specific pesticide for the insect is applied at the minimum rate for control.

PLANT FLOWERS

The major garden emphasis this year continues to be vegetables; however, let's not forget the quick, colorful, summer-long landscape beauty which can be achieved by planting annual flowers. Summer annuals are easy to use in the landscape as they offer a wide choice of color, form and size.

The right site location is important. For shady locations, consider impatiens, fibrous begonia, coleus, or caladium. The bright sunny spots are good for petunia, zinnia, marigold, verbena, geranium, salvia, periwinkle, portulaca, ageratum, copper plant, celosia and dusty miller.

Dramatic landscape effect can be achieved through mass planting. For example, try all red, all white, all pink. Don't plant a hodgepodge of varieties and colors.

Chi Omega has banquet

Members of the Wichita Falls Chi Omegas celebrated their Spring Eleusinia with a banquet at Bird's Thursday evening.

Mrs. Winnie Bowker of Little Rock, Ark., former national president of Chi Omega, was guest speaker. She was graduated from the University of Arkansas where she was a two-term president of Psi chapter.

Before becoming national president, she served 16 years on the governing council as treasurer. She talked about the founding of the first chapter 84 years ago, and also discussed the installation of the chapter at Midwestern State University in 1966.

The Eleusinian banquet is held annually to celebrate the founding of Chi Omega, April 5, 1895, at the University of Arkansas, to honor outstanding women.

Special recognition was given to Mrs. Frank Holcomb for her work and dedication to the MSU chapter. She has been adviser for that chapter 10 years.

New alumnae officers were installed: Mmes. David Anderson, president; Tom Perkins and Randy Delcours, vice presidents; Paul Ernst, recording secretary; Dick Conley, corresponding secretary; Eldon Alderman, publicity, and Mike Bailey, treasurer.

Advisers for the MSU chapter are Mmes. Frank Farnsworth, personnel; Steve Fischer, financial; Ron Watkins, pledge; Linda Gossom, scholarship; Rusty Eubanks, Panhellenic, and Dan Shores, rush.

The alumnae presented two special awards to members of the college group. The Diane Neale Memorial Scholarship was awarded to Jean Holder. The non-officer award was presented to Teresa Deutsch.

The MSU chapter gave the program. Mrs. Bowker was honored at a tea Friday in the Chi Omega chapter room at MSU given by Omicron Theta chapter.

Joanna: One of the saints

By EDITH DEEN

(Seventh of eight parts)
Joanna was among that small group of women honored as "one of the saints in Christ Jesus" in Paul's salutation to the Ephesians. She was one of the women who went to the tomb to embalm the body of Jesus and found that he had risen.

The apostles had left after the burial, but a handful of women were faithful until the resurrection three days later. When the apostles heard Mary Magdalene's announcement, they thought it an idle tale fabricated by women. But then they went and saw the empty tomb themselves.

Little is known about the personal life of Joanna, except that she was the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and that her name appears among those other women "of means" who were faithful to Christ throughout his ministry.

What is most significant is that Joanna gave spiritual comfort to Christ as well as material support. Her faithfulness to him clarifies his parable that follows her name in the book of Luke:

"A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed some fell along the path and the birds of the air devoured it. And some fell on the rock and, as it grew up, it withered away because it had no moisture. And some fell among thorns and the thorns grew and yielded a hundredfold."

Joanna "fell into good soil," grew spiritually and yielded a hundredfold. Because she did not hold her light under a bushel, her life has lighted the path of believers for centuries. Her faith came from above and it had great power, making us sure "The Lord preserves the faithful."

Without our faithful Joannas—humble, serene, believing women—there would be little hope for the downhearted overtaken by insurmountable problems. Without their kind of faithfulness—"reaching to the clouds," as the psalmist described it—the world would be a dreary place. The faithful ones like Joanna carry a light that dispels darkness wherever they go.

Often these Joannas are right beside us, but we don't recognize their worth because we are looking for those with big names, palatial houses, spectacular careers.

We forget that Joannas walk by faith, not by sight. They know that "faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen." (Tomorrow: Resurrection)

A free microwave school, open to the public, will be held at Johnson's Magnavox, 3406 McNeil, beginning Tuesday.

Carol Woodard will be the instructor for the 10 a.m. class, which will be held each Tuesday.

Mrs. Woodard has attended several microwave training schools. Crunchy Oven-Browned Chicken is typical of the recipes to be demonstrated:

CRUNCHY OVEN-BROWNED CHICKEN
1 1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
1 cup dry bread crumbs

Members of Omega Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mrs. Sharon McCluskey for a meeting and salad supper.

Delores Berry presided and chapter committee reports were given. Mrs. Judy Keesee reported on the service program.

White Elephant gifts were for the area convention to be held in

1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
1/4 teaspoon powdered thyme or poultry seasoning
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 1/2 to 3 pound frying chicken

Microwave butter and garlic in two-quart glass baking dish, one minute or until melted. Combine bread crumbs, parsley, almonds, salt, thyme and pepper in shallow bowl; mix well. Dip chicken pieces in garlic butter; coat with crumb mixture. Arrange skin-side up in baking dish. Sprinkle with any remaining crumbs. Microwave 19-21 minutes on high.

Wichita Falls in October were collected, and plans made for the Spring Tea Sunday. Rituals were led by Mmes. Judy Keesee and McCluskey.

Faceting marvels to be seen at gem show

Among many outstanding demonstrators at the North Texas Gem and Mineral Society's 16th annual show will be John Lapham of Fort Worth, who will be faceting and demonstrating the Lone Star cut from precious stones such as rubies, sapphires, opals and emeralds.

"Faceting is rapidly coming to the front in the lapidary field," Mrs. Jim Belcher, publicity chairman for the show, said. "Lapham's faceted stones exhibit will be on display for the public's viewing pleasure."

Another demonstrator of interest is Jim Cook of Abilene who will be working with channel jewelry inlay.

The Housers of Arkansas are among the best in their field of sand painting. Mrs. Belcher said, and if time permits they also do individual work for people that have special bottles, etc., to be filled.

A Sheppard Air Force Base couple, P. J. and Douglas Green, will be stone-cutting, polishing and silversmithing, showing the beginning and the finished piece. Local club members will demonstrate goldsmithing, do repair work, showing the lost wax process, and Ken Adair will demonstrate the art of scrimshaw carving on ivory.

For the public's buying pleasure the Road Runner Rocks and Gems from Longview will feature lapidary equipment as well as a large supply of rough material for the rockhound; Texas Mineral and Supply, Fort Worth, with minerals and supplies of all kinds; Sandy's Rock Shop; Jim's Gems, Jim and Peggy Belcher.

The show is open to the public Saturday and Sunday. Hours are 10 a.m.-6 p.m.-10 a.m.-9 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Sunday.

Midwestern hitters take a walk

Indians whip DBC

It was a case of grand larceny. Midwestern State, needing to take four games from Dallas Baptist this weekend to stay alive in the Texas Athletic Conference baseball race, accepted some generous base on balls by DBC pitchers in Friday night's first game of a two-night double-header at Hoskins Field and came away a winner, 5-4.

At presstime, Midwestern had a 5-2 lead over Dallas Baptist entering the seventh inning.

In the opener, Midwestern garnered only three hits but thanks to nine walks from DBC pitchers Skip Mills and David Smith, the host Indians took the victory to stretch their overall record to 16-9-1 and conference slate to 3-6. Dallas Baptist falls to 17-16 and 1-8.

Midwestern stretched the three hits and nine walks enough for five runs, and although MSU ace hurler Daryl Frazier was not at his usual best Friday night, the host tribe came out of the opener with the win.

After Don Reed opened the first inning with a hit to left for Midwestern, five Indians — Dave Connacher, Joe Guillot, Danny Hagen, Will Kelly and Brett Patty — took separate turns parading to first via free tickets and DBC pitchers Mills and Smith walked in three runs with the base loaded to give Midwestern a 3-0 lead.

Dallas Baptist fought back for one run in the second and two in the fourth to tie it at 3-3. In the second a walk to Eddie Salaiz and a run-scoring double by Frank De La Garza tallied the run. A walk sandwiched in between doubles by Salaiz and Stan Baker accounted for the fourth-inning tallies.

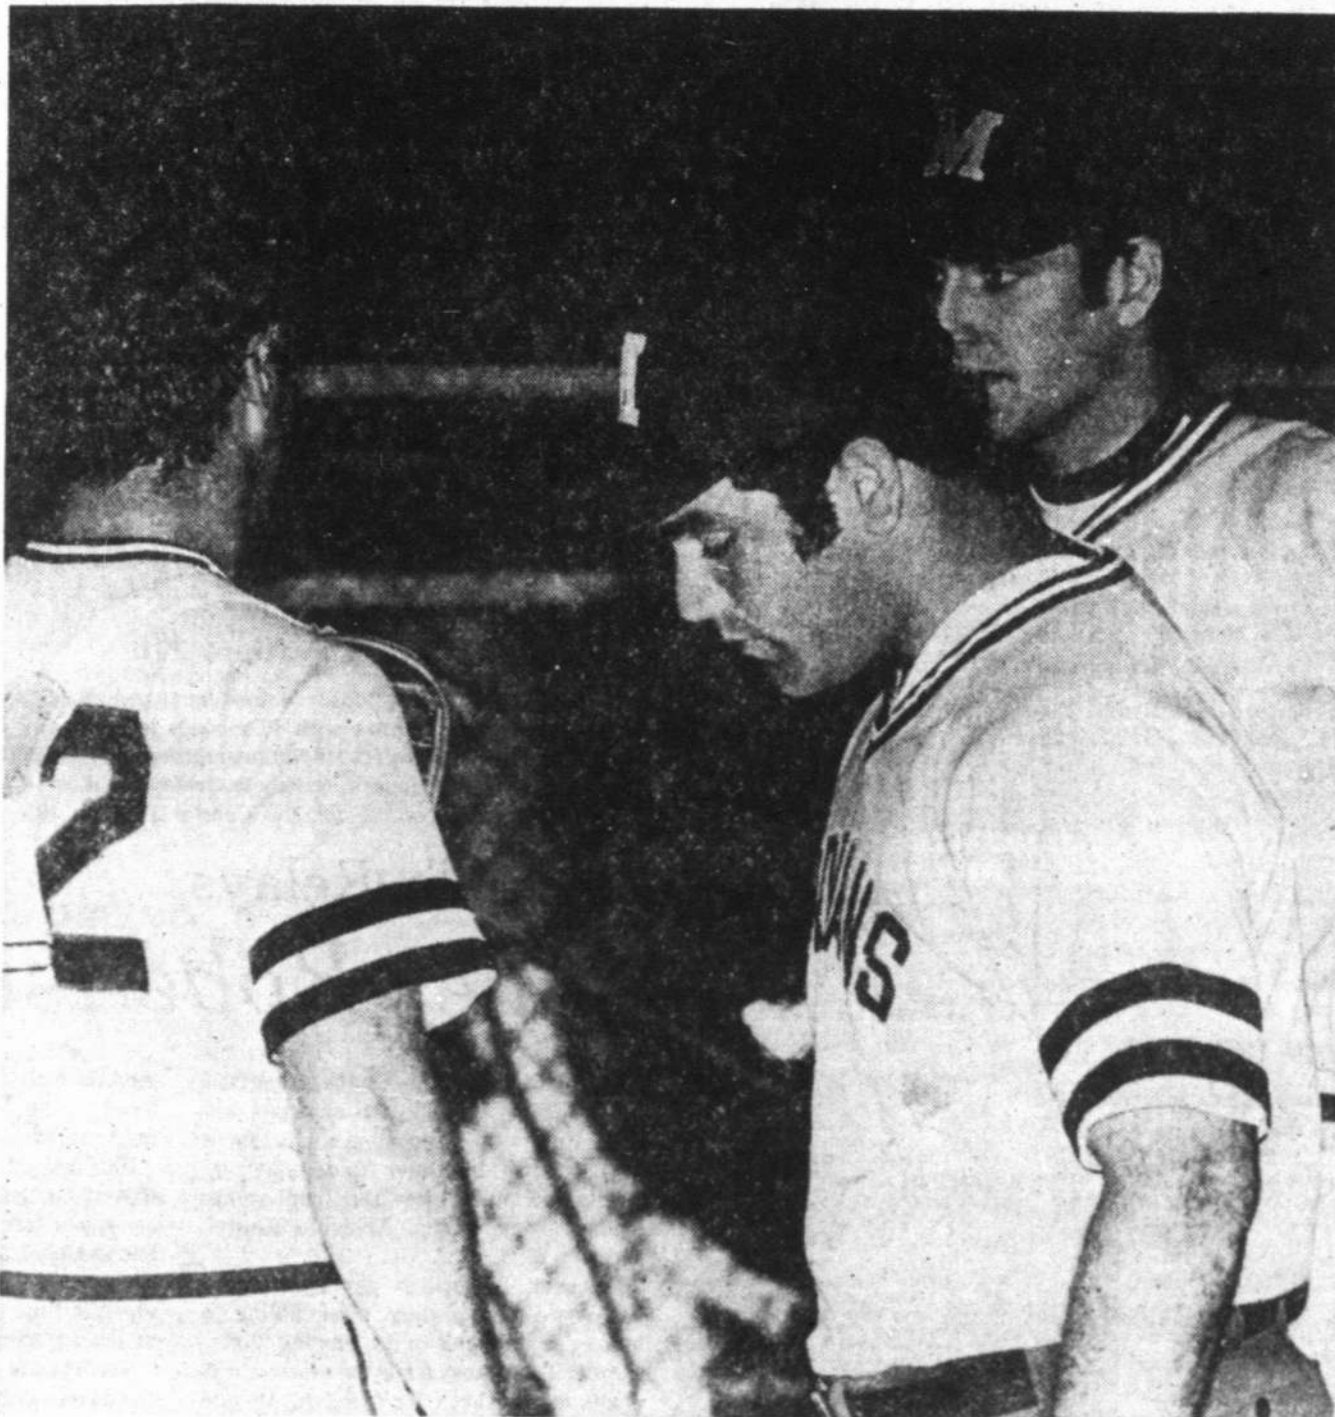

The visiting Indians took the lead in the top of the fifth with a smashing clout that flew over the left field fence by Kevin Smith. The 400-foot shot gave Dallas Baptist a 4-3 advantage.

Midwestern tied it in the bottom of the inning on a single by Joe Guillot, a two-base error on centerfielder Chuck Stafford and an RBI grounder by Danny Hagen.

In the sixth, Midwestern scored the winner on a walk to Reed, a stolen base, a wild pitch and an infield single by Steve Newell.

Frazier, who struck out 10 but also gave up 10 hits, had one of his worst nights of the season as the Iowa Park native was nursing an injury. However, despite repeated attempts by MSU coach Mark Benedetto to rest his ace right-hander, Frazier would not budge from the mound.

"I asked him several times if he wanted to come out, but he just kept saying he wanted to stick with it. It was one of the guttiest performances I've ever seen," Benedetto said. "Frazier is the type of player that rises to the occasion, and when the DBC players started rattling him he just got pumped up more and more."

Texas to open today, maybe

DETROIT (AP) — Dave Rozema was Manager Les Moss' choice to pitch Saturday's delayed American League bayeball opener against the Texas Rangers.

Texas Manager Pat Corrales, however, indicated he was sticking with Steve Comer, the 6-foot-3 righthander who was 11-5 as a rookie for Texas last season.

The shuffle in the Detroit lineup means Milt Wilcox, who had been slated for opening day pitching duty, will have to wait until Monday in Kansas City before he gets his first work of the new season.

Wind and unseasonable cold Friday caused the Tigers' opener to be postponed for the second straight day.

The club did, however, manage to workout indoors Friday at the University of Michigan's Yost Fieldhouse in Ann Arbor.

All Opening Day tickets will be honored Saturday, said Jim Campbell, Tigers' president and general manager. Fans with Saturday tickets should keep as rain checks which will be good another day, Campbell said.

Moss took the delay with typical resignation.

"There's nothing you can do about it," the Tigers' first-year manager said Friday before boarding the team's bus for Ann Arbor. "What the heck, you can't change the weather."

Moss said Wilcox would be given a good workout, throwing indoors Friday.

"Rozema pitched two days ago in Florida, so he's due," Moss said. "There are no other changes (in the lineup) that I can see right now."

Comer was pressed into opening day service for Texas because of injuries to Ferguson Jenkins and Jon Matlack.

"I was ready to pitch," Comer said. "This weather doesn't help much. I don't care if I am used to the cold. Being from Minnesota doesn't help much. I hibernated in the winter anyway."

Moss said that if Saturday's opener also was postponed, Rozema would be his choice again Sunday against Texas. If, however, Rozema works on Saturday, the Tigers plan to go with Kip Young against the Rangers on Sunday.

Raiders fall to Lewisville, 7-3

Farmers keep Rider from avenging grid defeat

By TROY BRYANT
Staff Sports Writer

Some Rider fans looked forward to Friday's game as an opportunity for revenge for last Fall's big football game which decided the 6-A AAAA champ — Lewisville.

But even though the result was the same Tuesday at Hoskins Field as it was on the gridiron last Fall, Rider fans can take consolation in the fact that the 7-3 baseball loss wasn't nearly as damaging as the football loss.

Pitcher Mark Ijames belted a pair of doubles and scattered Rider's eight hits in taking the 6-A AAAA victory which left the Raiders and the Farmers tied at 1-1 in district play. Lewisville had lost to Newman Smith 4-2, while Rider beat Denton by the same score Tuesday.

The Farmers jumped on Rider starter and loser Bobby Whiteley for three runs in the top of the first hitter Mike Lemley's sacrifice fly. With two out, center fielder Tommy Lovett walked, stole second and scored on Anderson's single.

The Farmers added another in the fifth when first baseman Jody Hinkle singled with two out, and came home on Ijames second double of the game. In the seventh, Lewisville added a pair of runs when Wilson led off with a walk and moved to third when shortstop Clay Kendrick was safe on a Rider fielding error. Hinkle sacrificed Wilson home and another fielding error on Ijames' grounder allowed Kendrick to score.

Rider staged a comeback which fell short when right fielder Steve Dotson was safe on a fielding error and pinch runner Jeff Murllette moved up when Lemley walked. Lovett's fielders' choice erased Lemley, but moved Murllette to third. Whiteley singled, bringing home the final run for the Raiders.

Whiteley, 3-3 on the season, was tagged with the loss even though he stuck out eight Lewisville batters while only one Rider batter went down on strikes.

The Raiders get back into district action Tuesday when they travel to Carrollton for a date with the R.L. Turner Lions. Game time is 4 p.m.

After Whiteley struck out a Farmer, first baseman Jody Hinkle singled in Nixon. Nixon went to second on a fielding error, stole third, then raced home when the attempt to nab him at third skipped into left field.

Rider left fielder Britt Anderson hit safely in the first inning for Rider, but a double play erased him and ended the inning without a threat.

Lewisville added another run in the third when Ijames doubled with two out, and was promptly sent home by second baseman Doug Arthur's double.

Larry Bird

ISU star says Celtics No. 1 choice

BOSTON (AP) — Larry Bird, the nation's collegiate Player of the Year with Indiana State, said Friday night the Boston Celtics are his first choice in professional basketball, but left the door open for other offers.

"Boston is definitely my first choice, but if things don't work out here I'll just have to go somewhere else," the 6-foot-9 All-American told a news conference after his first visit to Boston Garden, where the Celtics lost 107-101 to the Denver Nuggets.

Bird, described by many basketball experts as one of the greatest players to come out of the college ranks, flew to Boston for his initial visit after choosing local attorney Bob Woolf as his bargaining agent. The Celtics surprised the National Basketball Association world by making Bird their number one pick in the draft last June although he had one year left at Indiana State.

"That was a big surprise, when I was told that they were going to draft me," Bird said. "Sure, I was surprised, and I have to love them for that. Now we have to see what happens."

The Celtics, winding up one of their worst seasons in history despite their 13 NBA championship flags as the most successful team in probasketball history, picked Bird last year in one of many coups engineered by Red Auerbach, now president and general manager after his years as the winningest coach in pro history.

"We're going to do our best to sign Larry Bird," Auerbach said. "We expect negotiations to start next week."

Woolf, who has negotiated for many players with Auerbach in the past, said "We will carry on impartially, even though I'm in Boston. There will be no partiality."

"I want to be fair to the Celtics, but my first duty is to Larry Bird," Woolf said. "However, in all fairness, the Celtics will be given all opportunity to sign him. We have an open mind."

Woolf has set a target date of May 15 for the Celtics to sign Bird. However, he said that is a date agreed upon by him and Bird.

If Bird does not sign with the Celtics by the NBA's annual draft in June, he will go back into this year's draft.

That would enable him to be picked by another club with a poorer record than Boston, the Chicago Bulls or the Los Angeles Lakers, who have the lowly New Orleans Jazz' number one pick in the lottery.

ISU hires O'Dell

Gerald O'Dell, a Wichita Falls native, was recently named to the Iowa State University football staff as coach of defensive ends by head football coach Donnie Duncan.

O'Dell, 30, was named Recruiting Coordinator at the University of Oklahoma last summer after spending spring practice as an assistant coach at Mississippi State. Prior to his brief stay at MSU, O'Dell had been a defensive line coach at Oklahoma for three years.

"We are extremely happy to have Gerald on our staff. I have worked with him for several years and know that he is an excellent coach. He will add a youthful spirit to our defense and will do an excellent job with our defensive ends," Duncan said.

Saturday at modest Salisbury race track in the rolling Wiltshire countryside. His appearance was expected to attract a capacity crowd of 9,000 and will be seen by a television audience of millions, including those in the United States who will see him ride on a delayed telecast.

"If things go right, it could be that I ride here regularly for the rest of my career," the Walton, Ky., rider said on his arrival in London earlier this week.

Cauthen needs 56 more victories to chalk up 1,000 winners in a career marred only by a 110-race losing streak in California last winter, which he snapped before crossing the Atlantic.

The 5-foot-2, 112-pound Cauthen, youngest to ride a winner of the Triple Crown, is riding in Britain for millionaire owner Robert Sangster and trainer Barry Hills. Sangster has guaranteed him earnings of $200,000 but he could triple that if he learns to master the ups, downs and twists of English courses.

With former British jockey Jimmy Lindley as his guide, Cauthen has spent much of the week on horseback, getting a crash course on the unpredictability of English riding conditions.

The going is usually soft in England's wet climate, the terrain undulating and "straight" courses sometimes require jockeys to negotiate tricky doglegs to the right or left.

"Steve is a highly intelligent young man and I don't anticipate him having any difficulty coping with this track," said Washy Hibbert, clerk of the Salisbury course.

Cauthen rides first on Marquee Universal, a three-year-old colt and 11-to-4 favorite handicapper.

Referee better

CINCINNATI (AP) — Veteran National Basketball Association referee Don Murphy reports he is recuperating well and is in good condition after heart bypass surgery he underwent this week at Christ Hospital.

Murphy underwent the bypass surgery after suffering a heart attack March 18 during an NBA game in San Diego between the Clippers and Golden State.

New ump's best?

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Jocko Conlan, whose place in the Baseball Hall of Fame attests to his umpiring skills, says he's all for the younger umpires taking advantage of the strike by major league umpires.

"I've seen some very good umpires in the American Association, the International League and the Pacific Coast League," said Conlan, 79, who spoke to a civic club luncheon here Thursday. "Some of these guys have been around for eight to 10 years, and they're good umpires."

"They are entitled to a chance. What would those big league umpires do for them? The young umpires have got to take advantage of the opportunity while they can."

Conlan is sympathetic with the umpires, saying they should be getting a better wage, more pension benefits and better daily expense money. But he doesn't admire the way Richie Phillips, the umpire's lawyer, is handling the case.

"In my book, Mr. Phillips is looking out for Mr. Phillips," Conlan contended.

Conlan, a resident of Scottsdale, Ariz., said he met with Buzze Bavasi, Los Angeles Dodgers general manager, when umpires threatened to strike July 4, 1964. Conlan suggested the lawyer representing the umpires meet with the league's representative during the All-Star break 10 days later. The lawyer met with the leagues and a possible walkout was averted.

Giants whip Cincy again

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill Madlock drove in three runs and scored three and Darrell Evans drove in two more as the San Francisco Giants beat Cincinnati 7-2 Friday night for their second straight victory over the Reds.

After Madlock singled home the Giants' first run in the fourth, Evans capped the rally with a run-scoring double.

Dan Driessen homered for the Reds in the fifth before Evans' RBI single in the sixth boosted San Francisco into a 3-1 lead.

The Reds scored their final run in the bottom of the sixth on George Foster's RBI double.

The Giants put the game away with a four-run ninth highlighted by Madlock's two-run triple, helping John Montefusco win his first start of the season. The loser was Tom Hume.

The game was played before a sparse crowd of 15,343 in near-freezing weather and was officiated by a four-man crew of amateur umpires because of the strike by major league umpires.

Expos 3, Pirates 2

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tenth-inning errors by Willie Stargell and Dale Berra resulted in an unearned run that gave the Montreal Expos a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday in the baseball opener for both teams.

The Pirates, who emphasized defensive improvement in spring training after leading the National League with 167 errors last season, committed a total of five errors as the temperature dropped into the low 30s on the wind-swept field.

With the score tied 2-2 in the 10th, Andre Dawson was hit by a pitch from reliever Kent Tekulve.

Dawson took second when Tekulve's pickoff throw got by Stargell at first base. He advanced to third on a ground out and scored when Ellis Valentine's bouncer was muffed by third baseman Berra.

Elias Sosa pitched the final two innings for Montreal and got the victory.

The Pirates trailed 2-1 into the eighth inning before Omar Moreno beat out an infield single with two outs to drive in Phil Garner, who had opened the inning with a double and took third on a ground out by pinch-hitter Mike Easler.

Orioles 5, White Sox 3

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rich Dauer's two-run single keyed a three-run Baltimore rally in the second inning and the Orioles went on to defeat the Chicago White Sox 5-3 in an American League opener Friday behind the three-hit pitching of Jim Palmer.

It was the 1,000th major league baseball victory for Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, the 31st in history to reach that plateau, and ruined the managerial debut of Chicago's Don Kessinger.

Dauer grounded his single on a 1-2 pitch from Jack Kravec after the Orioles had loaded the bases on an error by first baseman Lamar Johnson and two walks.

With the wind gusting more than 40 mph in chilly Memorial Stadium, Rick Dempsey's short fly ball to right fell safely for a single, reloading the bases. After Al Bumbry hit into a force play at home plate, the third run scored on Mark Belanger's sacrifice fly.

Astros 2, Braves 1

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston third baseman Enos Cabell drove in two runs with a first-inning single off Atlanta's Phil Niekro and the Astros made it stand up for a 2-1 season-opening victory over the Braves Friday night.

It was the seventh straight opening-day loss for the Braves, in the game played before a crowd of 28,998 in the Astrodome.

Niekro, who retired 13 straight batters during one stretch, walked leadoff batter Terry Puhl and Jose Cruz in the first inning. Cabell, the Astros' most valuable player last season, then drove them home with a line drive single to right-center field.

Houston starter J.R. Richards loaded the bases in the first inning but escaped on a double play and shut out the Braves until the sixth when he allowed a runner to score on the second of two wild pitches.

Richards, 18-11 last season, got the victory but left the game in the sixth for Joaquin Andujar, who got only the second save of his four-year major league career.

Niekro, 19-18 last season, didn't give up his second hit until Puhl led off with a single in the sixth. Cabell doubled in the seventh for his second hit of the game.

Niekro went the distance and took the loss despite yielding only three hits.

Cardinals 8, Phils 1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Reitz and Tony Scott each collected three hits and drove in three runs apiece, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to an 8-1 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies behind John Denny's five-hitter Friday night.

Reitz' double and two singles, and Scott's single, double and triple highlighted an 11-hit Cardinals' attack off Philadelphia left-hander Steve Carlton and reliever Doug Bird as St. Louis won its opener for the fourth straight year.

Philadelphia took a 1-0 lead on Garry Maddox' two-out homer in the second, but the Cards tied it on Ted Simmons' drive over the left field wall in the bottom of the inning.

Keith Hernandez' scratch single then ignited a two-run rally which included singles by George Hendrick and Scott and was capped by Reitz' double, putting St. Louis ahead 3-1 in the fourth.

Scott doubled, Reitz singled and Mike Tyson delivered a sacrifice fly for the Cards in the sixth. In the seventh, St. Louis drove Carlton from the mound and scored four times on two walks, Garry Templeton's single, Scott's bases-loaded triple and Reitz' single.

Manny Trillo singled in the second and eighth. Pete Rose singled to start the ninth, and Greg Luzinski singled for Philadelphia's only other hits off Denny, who walked two and struck out two.

Renner overcomes win for 1-shot lead

JACK RENNER
...leads by one

Scores in scoreboard

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Jack Renner, his slender frame rocked by the howling winds, maneuvered his way to a 1-under-par 71 and a 1-shot lead Friday in the second round of the $250,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

Renner, a 22-year-old who scored the best finish of his career with a runner-up performance in this tournament a year ago, put together a 36-hole total of 139, 5 under par on the wind-raked, 6,934-yard Forest Oaks Country Club course.

The skinny 6-footer managed a third-place performance in the sand-laden winds of Sawgrass at the Tournament Players Championship two weeks ago and found similar conditions here. The winds, if anything were worse than those in Jacksonville, with gusts recorded at 46 mph.

"I'm just very happy to survive with a 71," said Renner, who emerged from a five-way tie for the lead at the end of 18 holes to take sole possession of the top spot halfway through this chase for a $45,000 first prize.

"I'll admit I'm beginning to feel confident about playing under these conditions," he said.

Post, Higuchi tied, too

Nancy shares 3-way lead

RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Nancy Lopez rattled off a string of four consecutive birdies Friday en route to a 70 as she shared the second-round lead in the $305,000 Dinah Shore Women's Circle with Sandra Post and Chako Higuchi.

Lopez, who won nine Ladies Professional Golf Association events last year and already has two victories to her credit in 1979, birdied the ninth through 12th holes at Mission Hills Country Club to move to 6-under par 138 for the tournament.

Defending champion Post had identical scores with a second round 70 to go with an opening 68.

Higuchi, the Japanese star, had matching 69s to share the lead in this tournament, richest on the women's tour.

Just a stroke back of the three leaders was JoAnne Carner, who shot 70 Friday to go with her first round 69 over the 6,272-yard, par-72 Mission Hills course. Carner, like Lopez, is gunning for her third LPGA victory of the year.

Judy Rankin, the first day leader with a 67, slipped to a 74 for the second round and was tied with Donna Young and Jo Ann Washam, three strokes back of the leaders.

Washam clipped five strokes off par with a second round 67. Young carded an even-par 72 on the second-day after firing a first-round 69.

"I'm hitting the ball well, and I've got my confidence with my irons back," said the 22-year-old Lopez, in only her second year on the tour. I was struggling some last week."

Although Lopez was pleased with her second round, she remarked, "I feel I can play better than that."

Post won the Winners Circle last year on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff, downing Penny Pulz. She said she would like nothing better than to repeat.

"This is a very special tournament for the players on our tour," said Post, a 30-year-old native of Canada. "Everyone wants to play their absolute

Newman Smith belts Pack 8-1

CARROLLTON, Texas — The Wichita Falls Coyotes, defending 6-AAAA champions, lost their second district game in as many starts here Friday as the Newman Smith Trojans upped their record to 2-0 with the 8-1 victory.

Smith pounded out nine hits off Coyote starter and loser Tommy Youngblood, 3-3, and relievers Joe Guthrie and Ron Hopper while Smith starter and winner Robert Jayroe surrendered only four hits in going the distance.

Smith took the early advantage as right fielder Bobby Brady sent Youngblood's first pitch sailing for an opening home run. The Trojans added another run in that frame as catcher Tim Liberto walked and came home on first baseman Billy Lewis' single.

The Coyotes' center fielder Kevin Gandy powered his third home run of the season over the left field fence in the Pack's second inning, narrowing the lead to 2-1.

Youngblood sailed along until Smith's half of the fifth when the Trojans pushed across four runs.

In that inning, two batters walked and Liberto's single brought home a run before another walk loaded the bases. Shortstop Gary Paulette's single brought home the remaining runs.

Smith added two more in the last of the sixth on a base hit by third baseman Jimbo Hawes, center fielder Bobby Elder and by Brady. A fielder's choice brought Elder home.

In addition to Gandy's home run, Coyote hitters were second baseman David O'Neil, right fielder Brett Hensing, and pinch hitter Bruce McAfee.

The city's leading hitter, Coyote third baseman Wes McKenzie, went hitless in three at-bats, dropping his average from .363 to .333.

Smith had defeated Lewisville earlier in the week and now holds a 2-0 record in first-half play.

Wichita Falls, which dropped to a 6-6 season record in falling to the 0-2 second half mark. The Coyotes lost to another Carrollton team, R.L. Turner last week to open district play.

The Coyotes get back into district action Tuesday at Hoskins Field against Lewisville, which is 10-6 and 1-1 in district play.

Graham upends Huskies 3-0

GRAHAM, Texas — The streaking Graham Steers whipped the Hirschi Huskies 3-0 here Friday, taking the lead in the 4-AAA first-half race with a 4-1 record.

Graham's Hugh Bates hurled a one-hitter and designated hitter Ricky Ray knocked home two runs with a third-inning double to lead the surprising Steers over the Huskies.

Steers bats pounded out eight hits against Hirschi's ace pitcher, Steve West, who dropped to 5-2 on the season.

Hirschi's second baseman Mark Andrus got the only hit off Bates, who needed relief from Peter Bennis in the seventh inning after Hirschi had loaded the bases. Bennis got the final two outs, picking up a save.

The win upped the Steers' season record to 6-5, while Hirschi dropped to 2-2 in district and 8-3 for the season.

Graham pushed across two runs in the third as second baseman John Sedberry was safe on a wild pitch on the third strike and center fielder Bobby Brown was safe on a sacrifice bunt.

First baseman Tim Clark walked to load the bases and Ray's double brought home Sedberry and Brown.

The Steers added their third and final run of the afternoon on three consecutive base hits by shortstop Charles Casey, third baseman Chris Williams and left fielder Bobby McClanahan.

Hirschi had threatened in the first three innings.

Baseball

In the first, shortstop Jerry Chavez and third baseman Kyle McFarther walked before center fielder Troy Bathman was hit by a pitch to load the bases. Bates pitched out of trouble, however, by striking out first baseman Phil Smith.

In the second inning, catcher Craig Coheley almost scored after reaching base on an error. He stole second, but the throw from catcher glanced off Coheley and into center field. Coheley was tagged out at the plate trying to score on the miscue.

In the third, Hirschi threatened as left fielder Moses Esquibel and Andrus walked. Chavez was safe on a fielder's choice, but the inning ended when right fielder Robert Dandridge went down on a called strike three.

Hirschi resumes 4-AAA action on Tuesday as they travel to Burk Burnett while Graham travels to Weatherford for their final first-half game for both teams.

Rider wins! City netters dominate 6-AAAA tourney

DENTON, Texas — The Rider tennis team won a pair of championships to coast to the team title in the 6-AAAA district tournament completed here Friday.

The team of Joanie Walto and Leslie Towry — winners of last week's Wichita Falls Spring Classic — captured the girls doubles crown, while teammates Robert Driver and Philip Franklin won the boys doubles championships. The two titles helped Rider collect 22 points, good for a six-point victory over second-place Wichita Falls.

"We did real well," Rider coach Jerry Franklin said. "In fact, all the Wichita Falls kids did well. I think it's representative of the type of tennis played in the city."

The first and second place winners of this tourney will qualify for the regional tournaments later in the month, and in addition to Rider's champions, five other city players qualified for that competition. Wichita Falls' Eleanor Bibb finished second in the girls singles; Rider's Cristi Gowan and Susan Jeter were runners-up to Towry and Walto and Ken Huddleston and David McCright of Wichita Falls also took second place, in boys doubles play. Girls regionals will be April 19-20 at Texas Women's University in Denton, while the boys will play at North Texas State April 26-27.

Papers sponsoring trips

The Wichita Falls Times and Record News is sponsoring two fishing trips in conjunction with Parkair Travel Service and agents will be on hand to discuss details about the Canadian expeditions at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium at Times Square at 1301 Lamar.

The first trip will be a six-day excursion from June 10-15 and the fee for this trip will be $729. The second trip will involve a $669 fee for transportation arrangements and lodging, plus other arrangements for the fishing tour on the shores of Lake Manouane about 175 miles north of Montreal. Lodging arrangements will be made with Camp Kanawata.

The second trip will be a five-day trip from June 18-22. George Carpenter, owner of Camp Kanawata; and Frank Andreas of Air Canada will be at the meeting Wednesday to explain details of the trip and arrangements.

There is still room on both trips for more fishermen. Interested parties should be at the Wednesday meeting.

Monday, April 16, is the deadline for signing up for the trips and making deposits.

The Kanawata Camp has been designated with the highest rating the Canadian tourist bureau uses in qualifying tours and camps.

EPA ESTIMATED MPG

Remember: Compare these estimates to the "estimated mpg" of other cars. You may get a different mileage, depending on how fast you drive, weather conditions and trip length. Also remember that your actual mileage will probably be less than the EPA estimated highway fuel economy. California EPA estimated mpg lower.

Your horoscope

By JEANE DIXON
Saturday, April 7

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Be discreet in affairs of heart and don't let passion rule head and you'll experience rewarding growth in love and marriage relationships. Money supply is more abundant. Career frustrates you at first, but patience pays off in terms of job satisfaction, income. Your ability to lead gains recognition. Health remains good so long as you keep tension down. Watch over-eating.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Weekend in country helps repair domestic difficulties, brings parent and child closer together. Independent nature offends some neighbors. Romance very much in picture.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Short trip could provide extra pleasures. Romantic dinner could upset diet resolutions. Visit to sale could prove to be expensive bargain. Family ties improve.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Home repairs not only enhance surroundings, but generate warm feelings within mate, partner. Buy materials carefully to avoid waste. Evening out leads to exciting romance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Pay more attention to personal appearance — good looks may open some doors. Watch spending. Don't depend on information from friends. Take care of odds, ends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Avoid arguments with loved ones. You lose through forcing methods. Choice is up to you, to win or lose. You may prefer your own company to spending social evening with others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Sort out family problems. Accept special task — display awareness, sense of responsibility. Do not tolerate nonsense from offspring. Avoid trips mid-day. Family member needs comforting.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Take nothing for granted. Conduct business cautiously. Avoid involvement in speculative ventures. Unexpected gift from unknown admirer will boost your ego.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Rely on yourself and your abilities. Do some remodeling. As day progresses, your enthusiasm is contagious. Family members will share your late-day activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Widen your circle of friendships. Romance can be extremely happy. Married folks may launch a new project together. Seek experts' advice on new business.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Get early start if going bargain hunting. Possible to obtain secret information now to beat out competition. See situations, people as they are, not in idealistic way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Catch up on professional reading. Don't expect to spend entire day on your own pursuits. Include loved ones in plans. Surprise outing pleases loved ones.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Travel plans up in air. Language, communication more important. Careful assessment of wardrobe could save time, money. Look for quality.

Payroll tax gets low priority

WASHINGTON (AP) — The annual push by District of Columbia officials for authority to impose a payroll tax on suburban commuters is getting a low priority in this year's legislative program.

Mayor Marion Barry has sent his first legislative package to the Capitol, but enactment of the tax is not mentioned prominently.
