Superior Judge Freed Of Charges In Connection With McPherson Kidnaping Case

Jurist Is Pleased

Senate Court Deliberates For More Than Six Hours To Return Decision; Had Attracted Attention

(By Associated Press)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 26.—Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy was acquitted by the state senate today of impeachment charges alleging that while he occupied his bench he gave aid and advice to three Semple McPhersons, the angelist, when her story of being kidnapped was under grand jury investigation.

The senate court deliberated for more than six hours. The jurist has given a majority vote on the impeachment articles.

Gallery Starts Applause When Lieutenant Governor H. L. Barnahan announced the verdict, spectators in the gallery started to applaud. The applause was stopped when Judge Hardy declared the verdict "just" and that his trial had been a fair one.

Events leading up to the attempted impeachment of Judge Hardy date back to the spring of 1926, when Mrs. McPherson disappeared while bathing at Ocean Beach, Calif., and reappeared a few weeks later in Douglas, Ariz., with the story that she had been kidnapped, and had been in Mexico but had escaped.

The Los Angeles district attorney's office investigated her story and she had appeared before the grand jury there. A district attorney's information charging her with her mother, Mrs. Minnie E. Semple, with conspiracy to obstruct justice was filed after the prosecutor's office had gathered evidence indicating that instead of being kidnapped the evangelist had come to Carmel, Calif., in connection with Kenneth G. Crandall, a radio operator. The conspiracy

Death Toll From Tornadoes In South Mounts To 72; Property Damage High

Wrecked Homes In Tornadoes' Path

First pictures of how the tornadoes swept havoc in the Southern states, showing wreckage of homes in the wake of the twisters. Property damage is expected to total more than a million. Seventy-two lives were lost and more than 500 injured by the disturbances.

More Than 500 Are Injured; Crops Laid Bare

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA, April 26.—(AP)—Southern Georgia and a small area just over the line in South Carolina today counted a death toll of 72, an injured list approaching 500 and property damage high in the thousands from a series of tornadoes that struck late yesterday and last night. Indications were that the number of casualties reported might be greater when relief agencies covered all of the affected region and communication was restored.

Georgia with 67 killed, bore the brunt of destruction, which extended roughly from Cochran, in the south central part of the state, northeastward into South Carolina. Virtually all of the injured and most of the property loss also were in that rural area.

Residents reported as many as three tornado-like disturbances swooping down on widely scattered places during yesterday, wrecking homes, uprooting trees, killing livestock, and accompanied by hail which flattened crops and denuded budding trees.

A 30-mile sector between the Georgia towns of Statesboro and Metter seemed to have been in the center of the storms' paths. More than a score of persons were killed in the vicinity of each place and more than 100 injured. In many cases whole families were wiped out when their homes were crushed by the wind.

Appeal Is Made For Relief Of Texas Victims

Field workers of the Red Cross have estimated $30,000 will be needed, of which $10,000 already has been raised at Palestine and Slocum.

A complete check of the storm's path revealed that seven persons were killed, 37 injured, 38 homes destroyed, much farm machinery and many crops ruined.

Negro Is Executed At Huntsville For Attack On Teacher

Mathew Sanders Dies Early Today In Electric Chair At State Penitentiary; Breaks Down At Last

Confessed Crime

Condemned Man Resigned To Fate And Made Peace With His God; His Trial Was Unusually Short

(By Associated Press)

HUNTSVILLE, April 27.—Breaking down as he approached the death chair, Mathew Sanders, negro, was executed here early today for an attack on a young white school teacher at Milligan in Brazos county.

Sanders' death ended one of the swiftest moving legal dramas in Texas' criminal history. Less than a month after the young girl was assaulted, Sanders, the confessed attacker, paid the penalty.

Breaks Down At Last

Although a new found faith in religious teachings sustained the negro during his last day on earth, he broke as he approached the little green door of the execution chamber and cried out "Lord have mercy! Jesus! Jesus!"

The current was turned on at 12:09 a. m. and Sanders was pronounced dead at 12:19 a. m.

"I am guilty," he said during the day, "and I am ready to go."

Listens Quietly

He listened quietly as the death warrant was read by Capt. R. E. L. Allen, assistant warden of the penitentiary.

Gazing out of his cell toward the little green door of the execution chamber, the negro heard Allen pronounce the words which officially sealed his fate.

"I have never made an appeal and I did not ask for a commutation to life," the negro had said. "I committed the crime and I have made my peace with God. I am ready to die."

Baptized Recently

Sometime ago Sanders was baptized in the prison chapel by the negro chaplain and since that time has seemed to derive great consolation.

Daughter Shoots Her Father; Arm Must Be Removed

(By Associated Press) PONGA CITY, Okla., April 26.—Tribby Rogers, 14, daughter of E. M. Rogers, was held in the county jail at Newkirk today in connection with the shooting of her father at their farm home near here last night.

Rogers said his daughter shot him while he lay asleep. A four-year-old son was sleeping on his left arm while his right arm lay across his chest. This saved his body from taking the entire load from the 12 gauge shot gun, he said.

The girl's mother died last December and Rogers said she had been unwell since. He declared the girl had attempted to poison him recently. After the shooting the girl ran to the home of a neighbor, who called officers.

"I Feel Like I Have A New Life Before Me" Says Lady

She Was Almost A Nervous Wreck Until She Began Taking Orgatone; Now Well And Happy.

"I am simply a new woman and feel that I have a new life before me since taking Orgatone," said Mrs. W. E. Weatherford, of rural route 1, Lubbock, Texas, in her statement to the Orgatone representative.

"Yes, I feel like a new woman and I want everybody to know it," continued Mrs. Weatherford. "For about five years, I have been troubled with stomach and digestive troubles. Nothing I ate agreed with me, and gas would form on my stomach until I could hardly get my breath, and at night, I couldn't sleep at all. My kidneys bothered me terribly, and my back would pain and ache so, it would nearly kill me. I would have bloating spells and at times it seemed as if my heart would stop beating, caused from all the gas that formed on my stomach. I also had a bad case of constipation, and just got so nervous I was almost a physical wreck, and I never got a good night's rest, but always was tired and worn out. I had severe, nervous headaches.

"I tried most every kind of medicine and did everything I knew how to do trying to get relief, but I kept getting worse and finally I was so weak and nervous I could hardly do my work. Orgatone has completely changed life around for me and I just can't find words to express my gratitude for it. I have been relieved of all my nervousness and my sleep is sound and restful. My appetite is splendid now and I can eat as much as I ever could and I feel like a new woman. Those dreadful pains are gone from my back and sides and I haven't had a headache since taking Orgatone. I'm entirely relieved of every trouble and I feel better and enjoy life more than I have in years. Orgatone is wonderful and is the best medicine I ever got hold of in my life, and I am glad to give this statement and to recommend it to my friends.

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile preparation containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drug and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bovey Long Store under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Out of town customers are being supplied by mail upon receipt of price $1.29 for one bottle or $6.25 for six bottles.—Adv.

Mooney, After Thirteen Years in Prison, May Soon Be Freed As An Innocent Man; Trial Judge And Surviving Jurors Join Release Plea

BY PHILIP S. SINNOTT
NEA Service Writer.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Thirteen years ago he was strong, youthful and energetic. Today he is weak, white-haired, emaciated by years of ill health. A dozen years of prison life have broken him physically, although his fighting spirit is still as alive and vibrant as ever.

Tom Mooney, about whom those two contrasting pictures are painted, is still in prison. Some time this spring, however, he may get out. For Governor C. C. Young has promised to make a thorough study of the 60 pounds of affidavits, briefs and other documents that make up the records on his case, and to take some definite action on his long-standing plea for a pardon.

It was in 1917 that Mooney entered San Quentin penitentiary after spending approximately a year in all. He had been convicted of first degree murder. A jury found him guilty of hurling a bomb that exploded along the line of march in a great preparedness parade here in July, 1916, killing 10 people and maiming 35 more.

Mooney was sentenced to death in 1918 his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

Judge, Jurors Join Plea.

Since that time the judge who tried and sentenced him has become convinced that Mooney is innocent. One of the 10 surviving members of the jury that found him guilty have reached the same view. The San Francisco police captain who handled the investigation of the bombing also believes him innocent. Most of the evidence against Mooney has been proved false.

So now, after 13 years of imprisonment, Mooney's case comes up for releasing. The most famous convict in the country—the man whose case has stirred comment and agitation from one end of the country to the other—is at last about to find out whether the world at large is ready, now, to believe his constant protests that he is innocent.

Mooney was a labor leader—a radical one. As such, he had plenty of enemies. In the early summer of 1916 he was in San Francisco, trying to pull off a big street car strike. The strike, for one reason or another, hung fire.

A few weeks after that came the preparedness parade and the bombing. Mooney was arrested and charged with a high pitch. A man named Warren K. Billings, who had once served a term for illegal transportation of explosives was arrested and charged with the same crime.

History of Case.

It is necessary, now for the reader to keep carefully in mind the respective roles in the conviction of the two men.

Billings was tried first. District Attorney Charles M. Fickert and his chief assistant, James F. Brennan, produced a witness named Estelle Smith who swore Billings had carried a suitcase just before the explosion. Her identification of him as positive Fickert and Brennan contended that Billings' suitcase held a bomb, and he was speedily convicted.

Then Mooney went to trial. Lubbock, in various parts of the country, convinced that he had been arrested more because of his labor agitation than because of evidence against him, raised a defense fund and sent the late Rourke Cochran, of New York City, to defend him.

First the state produced two witnesses—Mrs. Mellie Edeau and her daughter, Sadi, both of Oakland—who said they had seen Mooney at Stuart and Market streets, where the explosion took place, shortly before the tragedy.

Then came the prosecution's trump card—Frank C. Oxman, "cat-man." He swore that he had seen Mooney, Mrs. Mooney and Billings with a suitcase at Stuart and Market streets, a few minutes before the disaster. They were driven away in a taxicab, he said.

Sentenced to Hang.

Mooney was convicted. Judge Franklin Griffin denied his motion for a new trial and sentenced him to hang. An appeal was promptly taken to the state supreme court.

Months passed. Then Judge Griffin started California by writing the attorney general, U. S. Webb, to bring the case to the state supreme court for a new trial.

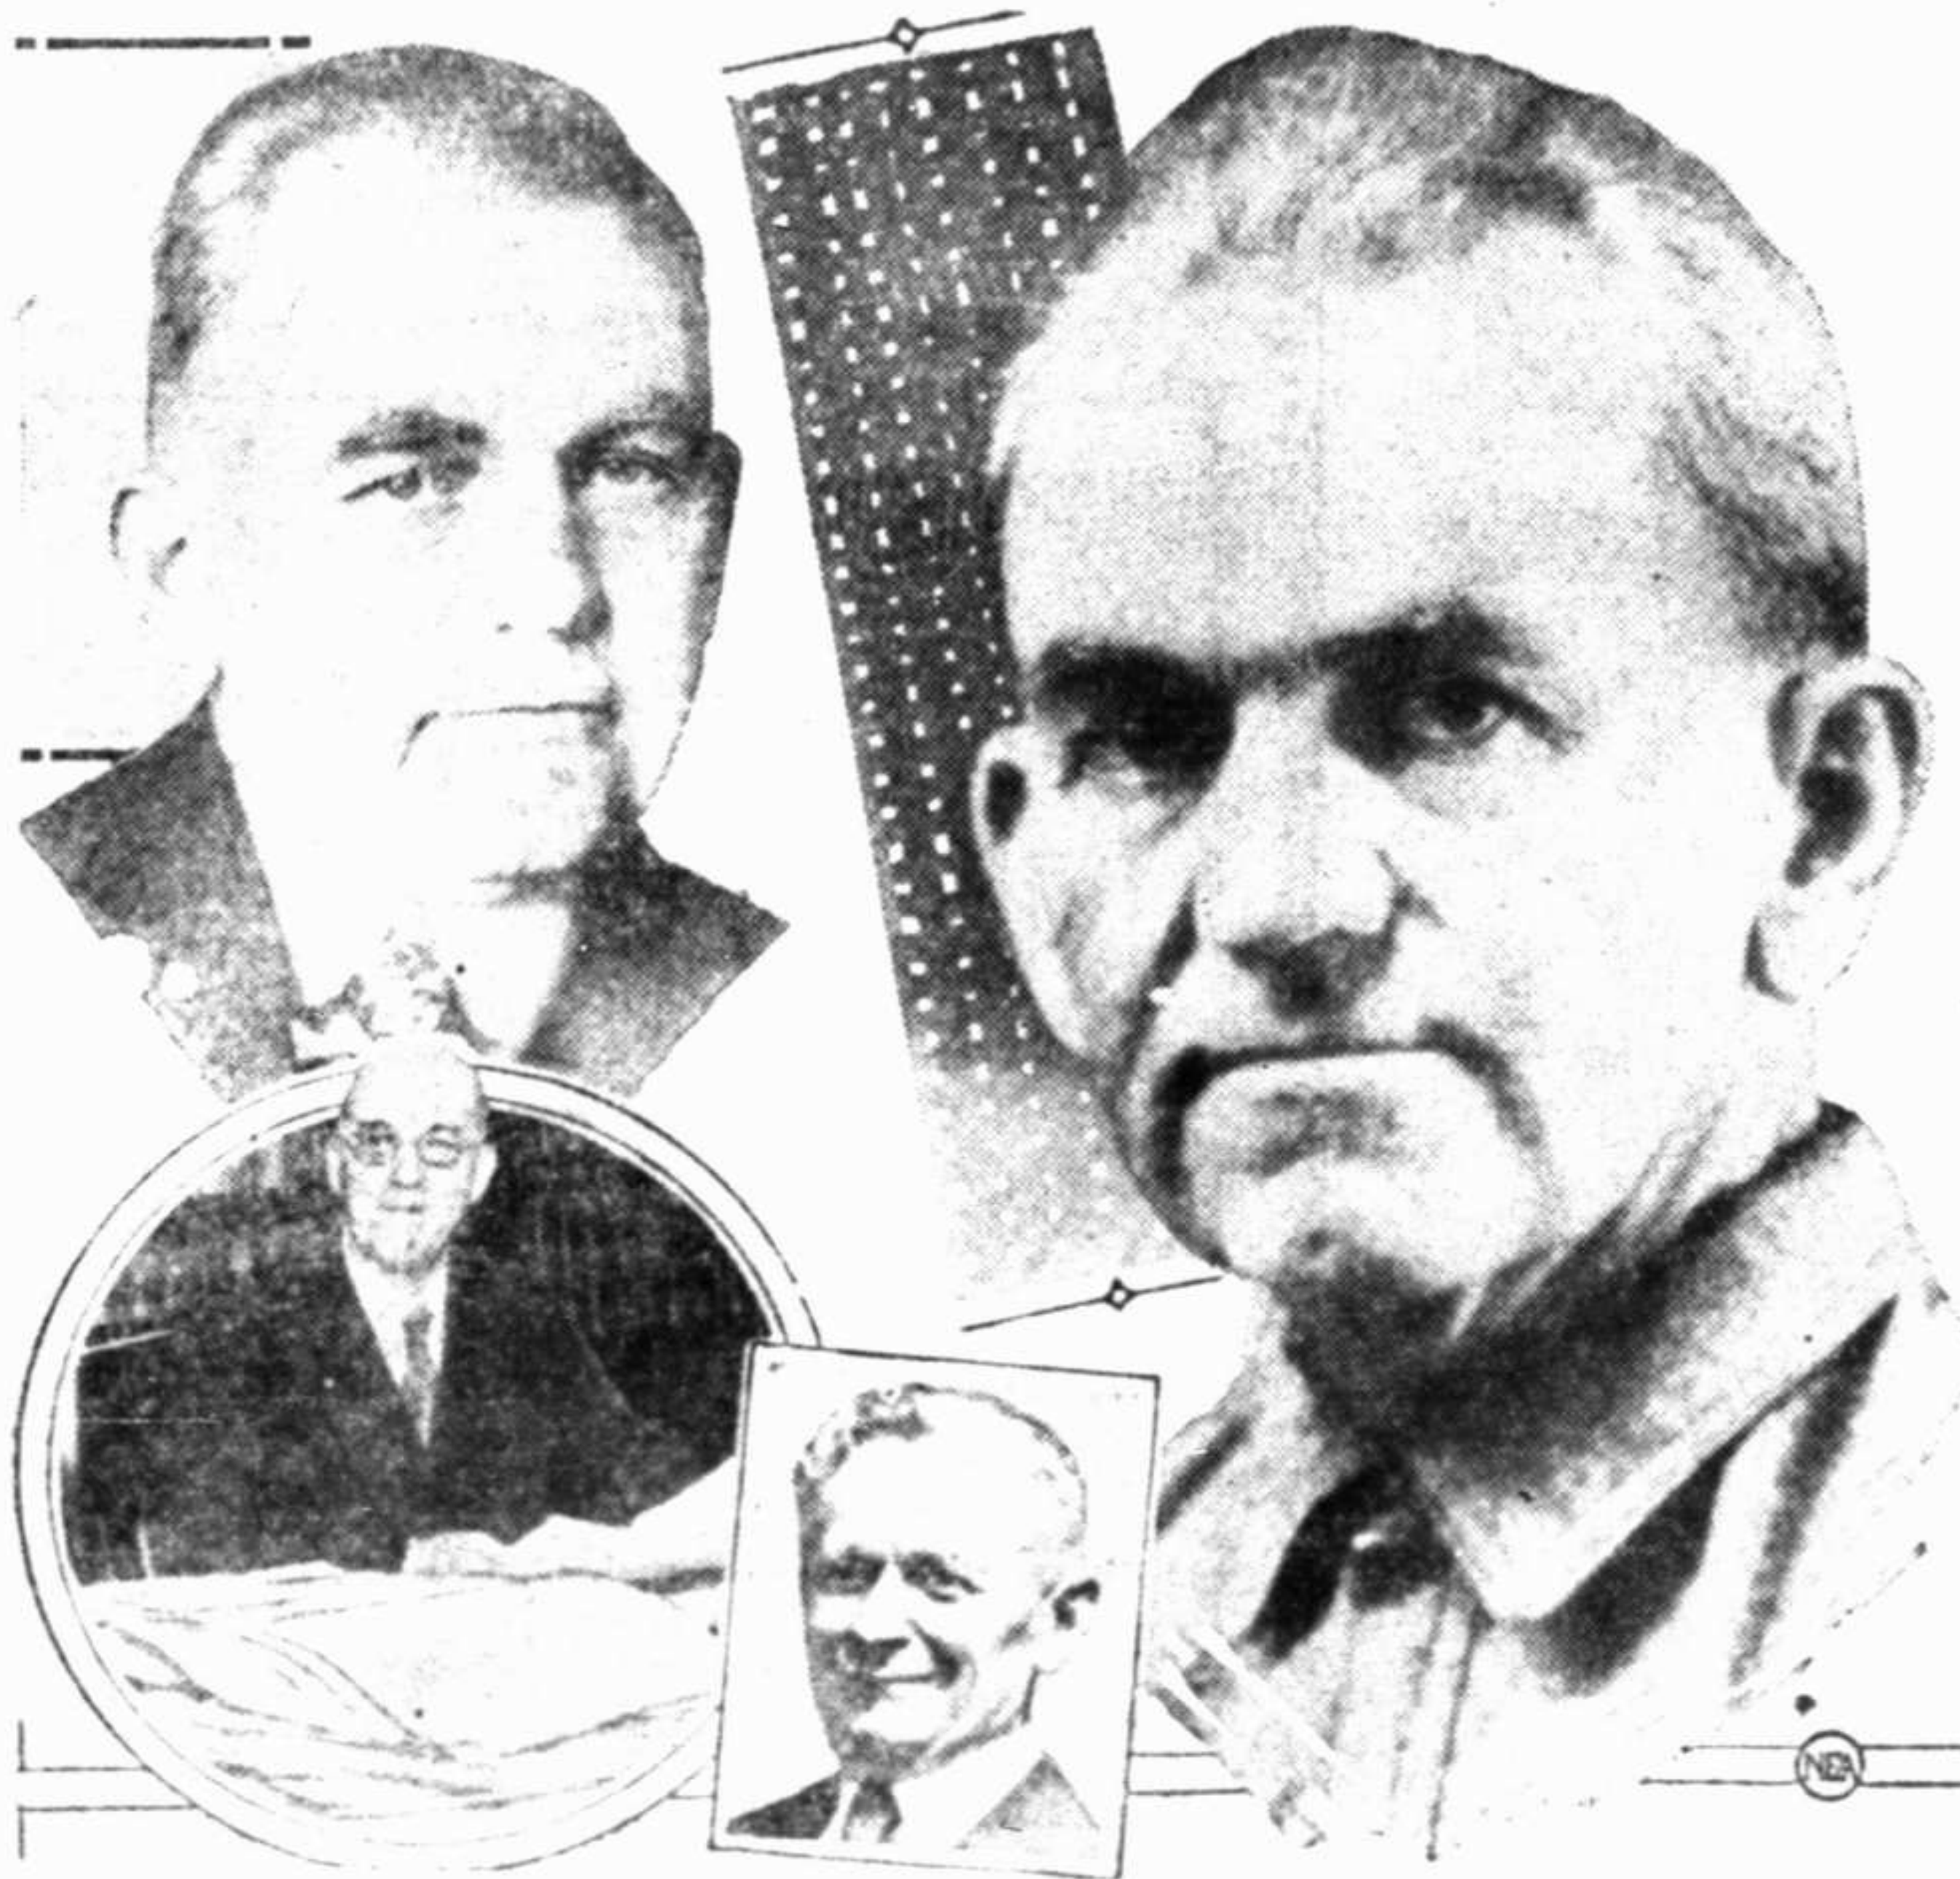

Oxman, the judge declared, had given friends in Illinois, a few months before Mooney's trial, asking one to come to San Francisco and act as an expert witness, and had rewarded transportation money.

The above pictures show what 13 years of prison life have done for Tom Mooney, who, it is expected, may soon be freed as an innocent man. At the left is the alleged San Francisco dynamiter at the time of his arrest in 1916, and at the right is Mooney as he appears today. Below (left) Charles A. Whitmore, private secretary to Governor Young, is shown with part of the mass of evidence which the executive is studying before taking action on the petitions for pardon. In the center is Governor Young.

Had he known this before Judge Griffin said he himself would have granted a new trial. Now, however, the case is up to his jurisdiction. Will he grant a new trial? The question is being decided.

President Wilson Intervenes.

Months after the United States had entered the World War, Organized labor, which was being appealed to in order to stay put and help the great industrial machine win the war, had taken the conviction of Mooney and Billings much to heart. United labor got so disgruntled about it that President Wilson in May of 1917, wrote Governor Griffin of California asking him to postpone execution. At the same time, he asked for a complete review of the case.

Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson to investigate. After months of study, this commission reported that Mooney should have a new trial.

John B. Quinn, then a solicitor for the Labor Department, did some extensive research work. In the fall of 1918 he reported that Billings' conviction was due to witnesses who had since been discredited, and that Oxman was chiefly responsible for Mooney's conviction. Oxman's credibility had been destroyed by his attempt to get other witnesses to perjure themselves.

A few days later Governor Stephenson commuted Mooney's sentence to imprisonment. Shortly thereafter, however, the U. S. supreme court refused to review the case. Mooney and Billings apparently were doomed to spend the rest of their lives in prison.

Years passed by. Governor Stephenson was succeeded by Gov. F. W. Richardson. He refused to act on Mooney's case. Richardson was succeeded by Governor Young—who has finally agreed to review the entire mass of evidence.

"Perjury," Says Trial Judge.

Judge Griffin, who originally sentenced Mooney to hang, is the most active worker of all for the man's pardon.

There were only four witnesses against him, and every one has been proved a perjurer," he says.

Oxman was tried on perjury charges arising out of his letter to his Illinois friend, but was acquitted. McDonald, a witness who testified against both Mooney and Billings made an affidavit in New York that while he had seen men with a suitcase near the scene of the crime, the police had forced him to swear that the men were Mooney and Billings.

Former Policeman Draper Hand testified that much of the police case against Mooney had been framed.

Then most sensational of all, Estelle Smith, the woman whose testimony convicted Billings, recently declared that she had never been positive that the man she saw was Billings. District Attorney Fickert and a "cat" employed by the street railway company, she said, had forced her to swear to his identity. A drug addict, she had taken morphine tablets throughout the trial.

Bill Smith Heads Slaton Rotarians

Santa Fe Man Elected Club President Friday; Other Officers Re-Elected; Lubbock Men Visitors

SLATON, April 26.—(Special)—W. H. "Bill" Smith, local agent for the Santa Fe railway company and one of the city's leading civic workers, was today chosen as president of the Slaton Rotary club for the year just ahead. Lloyd A. Wilson, chamber of commerce manager, was selected as vice-president and song leader; Allan J. Payne was re-elected as secretary. Tom Ables was re-elected as sergeant-at-arms, and Tom Overby was re-elected as treasurer.

John W. Hood, retiring president, and Mr. Smith became members of the board of directors automatically, due to their offices. Two other directors, Bob Smith and Pink Burks, were chosen to fill out the board. In she added.

Prosecutor Is Defeated.

Fickert, incidentally, was defeated for re-election in 1919, in a campaign in which the Mooney case was the issue. The man who defeated him, Matthew Bricker, is still district attorney—and is one of those seeking a pardon for the two men.

A pardon for Mooney, it is believed, would necessarily carry with it a pardon for Billings. Both men have insisted that they will never accept a parole. To do so, they say, would be a tacit admission of guilt.

So, Mooney and Billings are waiting for a re-hearing—after 13 years Mooney is in bad shape physically. His hair is white, a series of stomach ulcers have sapped his strength and emaciated his once powerful frame.

But he is still fighting—fighting for the justice that he says was denied him 13 years ago.

each case the officials were chosen by unanimous vote.

Claude Anderson, whose talents have been apparent, was re-elected as chairman of the "eats" committee. Out-of-town guests at the luncheon included J. A. McCelvey and Chas. A. Guy, members of the Lubbock club.

Business English Club Formed Here

A business English club has been organized by Lubbock business and professional men following the completion of a twelve weeks' extension course in business English and letter writing offered down-town by the extension department of Texas Technological college. The purpose of the club is to continue the interest which has been aroused in the class.

The Woman's Day

By Aliene Sumner

Lady Grace Drummond Hagg is planning an around-the-world cruise in the Graf Zeppelin in which she made its first transatlantic trip as the only woman passenger. She thus got more publicity for the Graf than any other element.

Funny how we talk in this modern day of the "death of the womanly influence" and the "utter destruction of woman's power" and yet the commercial world uses the woman presence over and over again for commercial gain.

"EASY SEX"
Women, they say, are the "easy sex." Listen, sisters and brethren, Walter Orr of Comordia, Kan., ran away from home and tried to kill himself so that he could get away from life insurance agents whom he could never turn down.

Few indeed are the families which do not have their legends of the set of books daddies bought when the babies needed shoes.

"LIKE HER DAUGHTER"
"Like daughter, like mother," is probably a reversal of an old adage now being said concerning Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of famous red-headed evangelist, Aimee Semple McPherson. Aimee was accused, though acquitted, of "love-nesting," and now her mama is accused of trying to inveigle some old freezer into matrimony. Why quibble at the romantic strain in human souls? After all, Aimee put on a good show, and so does her mama.

After all, too, blackmail is always out after celebrities, and even the mothers of celebrities.

MAYBE ALL THE SWEETER
Somehow it seems too bad that when Mrs. Gann, half-sister and official hostess of Vice-President Curtis, was invited to that nice dinner given by the Chilean legation, and took her seat of honor as ranking lady present, she had that distinction only after all the glamour and show about it. This, perhaps not so bad as that. "It's personalities enjoy the fruits of victory after a terrific battle more than easily won pomegranates."

NICE JOB
Miss Mona Oser, a biochemist, transferred 600 Albino rats down Fifth Avenue the other day, taking them from one laboratory to another. When the queer outfit arrived, Miss Oser was $16 to the good, as she had 604 rats, worth $4 head.

That's not the point of the story. The point is that women are doing more and more interesting things these days, even to rat-in-rate with the care given babies in order to experiment with vitamins upon them.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

"Today I am going to initiate you into the mysteries of an arm treatment, a simple rite quite as important to a well groomed appearance as the manicure, and one never overlooked by women whose social duties demand the frequent wearing of evening clothes in the usual sleepless fashion."

Remember that the skin of your arms and shoulders, like the complexion of your face and neck, should glow with a healthy, luminous radiance as only good care can assure.

Don't neglect them and think that a hasty dusting of powder at the last minute will make up for a fundamental skin treatment. Usually the skin of the arms is smoother and finer than that of the face, naturally, since they are more often protected from dust and weather. But too often the careful treatment you give the skin and flesh of your face and neck keeps them fresher and softer in appearance than the less cared-for skin or flesh of your arms, so that they show up to a disadvantage.

Take this treatment on the day when some function requires a flawless costume, and see how much more attractive your arms will appear. Even if the first treatment fails to make a startling difference, the knowledge that a complete sense of good grooming gives you less self-consciousness in using your arms. You will feel that they with your hands (for an arm treatment cannot stop at the wrist) have had proper care and attention and an face a critical gaze successfully. Continued treatment will improve their appearance noticeably by them and see.

Begin in your bath by scrubbing shoulders, arms and hands with a hard soap and brush, roughened to skin thoroughly, particularly at articulation to a healthy activity. If the arms are too heavy, use a reducing soap instead of the usual complexion soap or washing preparation. Rub the cake of soap on the flesh vigorously until a foamy lather results. Let it remain for a few minutes, manipulating and massaging them in the meanwhile. Then wash off and dry carefully.

After your bath continue the treatment by filming the arms with cleansing bleaching cream. If the skin is dry and roughened, follow this with an application of a good liquid stimulant that will bring up the blood and freshen the skin to a rosy glow. When the circulation has been thus awakened you may use a nourishing cream to double advantage if your arms are dry and the skin appears roughened. Or if they are plump and seem not to need feeding use the bleaching cream again. The skin will have been made more receptive to its active effect by the use of the liquid stimulant. When the cream has remained on for an hour or several minutes—leave it while you take a nap or as long as you can, remove it with cleansing (use) and sponge the arms with a skin toning lotion or a cool astringent tonic to close the pores and freshen.

If the treatment I have described seems more elaborate than you happen to need, you may modify it as you like. The important steps are cleansing, stimulating, which means increasing the circulation, bleaching, "toning and toning. To make a treatment simpler and less expensive you may substitute the following somewhat less effective method. Take your cleansing step with soap and water. You may soften with a plain cleansing or cold cream and do the last three steps in one, by sponging with a wash made of equal parts of lemon juice and water. The lemon juice is an active bleach and has mild stimulating and astringent properties as well.

Often the Sign of Constipation. Theodor's Black-Draught Drives Out Impurities.

Decatur, Ala.—Mrs. A. B. Roberts, of 1704 Fifth Avenue, this city, says: "My mother is a great believer in Black-Draught. She has used it for many years in her family. When we were growing up, she gave it to us whenever we complained of indigestion."

"Since I have been married and had a home of my own, I have continued to use Black-Draught as a household medicine, and have found it very good for constipation and biliousness."

"Whenever I wake up in the morning feeling dull and languid, I know that I need something to cleanse my system. Sometimes I feel dizzy and uncertain of myself. I begin to take a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal for several days. Then I begin to feel fine again. My system clears up and I have more energy."

"I am glad to recommend Black-Draught to others, as I have found it to be a great deal of help to me." Theodor's Black-Draught, in yellow 25-cent packages, is a powdered herb medicine of highest quality. Refuse substitutes.

Presently she put a hand to her eyes and pressed hard. When she put it down again she saw Stephen coming toward her and the sudden disappearance of her blues, the leap of gladness in her heart terrified her. Falling in love with him?

The question flashed through her mind, but was unanswered. She hadn't time to think. Stephen was quite near now, looking directly at her. She smiled a welcome, trying to be coolly composed.

And then the smile vanished. Her face became a blank, betraying no thought, no sign of the shock she had just received.

Huntsville Plans Celebration For Shrine Dedication

Texas Political Leaders To Gather For Ceremonies In Dedication Of Houston's
Home As State Shrine

(By Associated Press.)
HUNTSVILLE, Apr. 26.—This old Texas city is planning the greatest celebration in its history for May 3 and 4—dates on which the homestead of General Sam Houston will be formally dedicated a state shrine, and semi-centennial observance of Sam Houston Teachers college, both of which are located here.

Texas political leaders, historical authorities, nationally known educators, members of the college's first class and others will do their parts to commemorate the occasions.

Moody To Talk
The celebrations will get under way on Friday afternoon, May 3, when, from the back porch of the home of the first president of the Republic of Texas built, Governor
Dan Moody will deliver an address.
His listeners will stand among trees and other things placed about the home of the hero of the San Jacinto.

Many improvements have been made about the Houston home, but visitors will find many relics of Texas Revolutionary days in the house just as Gen. Houston had placed them. One of these is a streaked full length mirror. A four-poster bed, which was the general's favorite couch in his travels, has been moved to his old home from the inn where it was located.

Pageant Scheduled
The college celebration will open Friday evening with a brilliant illuminated outdoor pageant. Some of the actors of the show will be clothed in the filmy raiment of Ancient Greece, others will wear the bustle and sweeping skirts of the latter part of the nineteenth century and the third group will represent the present day creations.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker of Austin, is scheduled as one of the principal speakers of the Saturday program of the college celebration.

She was one of the 28 members of the first class of the institution.
Dr. Oscar H. Cooper of the University of Texas, and a member of the college's first faculty, also is to address the gathering.

The college was the initial state normal school, and one of the first created in the South. It was started under the terms of the Peabody grant to southern normals, the state appropriation being matched with moneys from the Peabody funds.

Citizens of Huntsville donated the building and five acres of ground which constituted the old Austin College, established in 1849, on condition that the new school would be named for their distinguished citizen.

Dr. H. P. Estill, now president of the college, was a member of its first class.

Willacy County Ships Out
400 Cars This Year

RAYMONDVILLE, Apr. 26. (AP)—
Probably the banner onion farmer this year from Willacy county, so far as returns from a given acreage are concerned, is Floyd Page, who lives east of Raymondville. Mr.
Page received $3,408 returns from a 20 acre patch.

Another good yield was that of Dobe and Myers, who received a net return of $8,500 on 65 acres planted in between citrus trees. This acreage produced a total of thirteen cars of onions.

The onion harvest season is practically closed, with a total of about 400 cars for the county.

caped with a companion who waited outside in a sedan. The three left in

State Department Won't Deport Man

Raoul Madero, Alleged Rebel Allowed To Stay In Texas, Says Note To Garner From Department

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 26.—The state department has advised Representative Garner of Texas, it has no intention deploring Raoul Madero, alleged rebel, held at El Paso, for crossing the border without immigration papers. Madero, who had appealed to Garner to help him, was so advised today in a telegram from the house minority leader.

"Question of asking you to depart from this country can be decided at some future time," the telegram said.

Madero, a brother of Francisco Madero, late president of Mexico, said in a telegram to Garner he had no immigration papers but his life was in jeopardy when he crossed into Texas and that if deported he would be subject to "arbitrary and lawless execution and possibly be shot without trial, notwithstanding my being a brother of the murdered President, Madero."

House Committee Considers Bill Regulating Power Of Governor On Execution And Commutation

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, April 26.—Outspoken opposition to the death penalty in the House Committee on criminal jurisprudence today resulted in consideration of a bill by Representative Bailey Hardy of Breckenridge, allowing the Governor to set a death sentence commutation and reset the execution date, if the condemned man made his escape. After Representative John White of Berger had moved that the measure be reported, unfavorably, the committee decided to place the bill, which Hardy said was written because of Bob Sledge's recent escape with a committee of three.

Stocks Enmeshed In Credit Crisis As Prices Settle

Month-End Period Dampens Situation: Call Rate Is Sent Up To 12 Per Cent; Sales Total 4,006,200

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—The stock market itself enmeshed in another month-end credit crisis today with call money shooting up to 12 per cent, but traders took the situation calmly and selling was kept within moderate bounds.

The day's transactions amounted to only 4,006,200 shares.

Prices generally sagged, but a few issues made substantial progress, about a dozen reaching new high prices for the year. The Associated Press index of 30 industrial stocks was depressed but 1-2 of a point at the close.

Mitchell Sends Funds.
Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank, who investigated a controversy over the credit situation that reverberated throughout the country by coming to the aid of the market on March 26, again acted to save the money market from complete demoralization today by sending funds to the loan desk to be put out in certain amounts at progressively higher rates.

The May 1 settlements usually cause a temporary tightening of funds, but the extraordinary stringency at this time was attributed to another assortment of favorable earnings reports.

U. S. Steel Mounts.

Many investment shares were well supported, American Can rising 2 points to a new high, and American Telephone selling up about 4 points. U. S. Steel mounted about 2 points to 187, and closed just under 186. General Motors held fairly steady in spite of the reduced earnings in the first quarter.

Allied Chemical, Allis Chalmers, Burroughs Adding Machine, Calumet and Arizona, Houston Oil, Ingersoll Rand and National distillers were among issues depressed from 2 to 4 points.

Further Declines Of Cotton Shown On Gotham Board

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Cotton showed further declines today under a continuation of the recent selling movement, which evidently was stimulated by a favorable view of the weather news, easy Liverpool cables and favorable crop reports from the Southwest. July contracts broke to 18.62, making a net decline of 29 points and a loss of approximately 180 points from the high price touched toward the end of the month. Covering caused rallies late in the day and July closed at 18.75, with a general market closing steady at net declines of 7 to 24 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 7 to 13 points in response to the lower cables and the favorable weather map. There also seemed to be selling on reports that the Texas crop was getting a satisfactory start, and active months soon showed net losses of about 13 to 15 points. Some trade buying of old crop positions contributed to a recovery which carried prices up from 18.50 to 18.62 for May and from 18.80 to 19.11 for December or back to about Thursday's closing quotations on the active months. The demand tapered off on this bulge, however, and the market weakened again in the early afternoon.

May broke to 18.35 while December declined to 18.76, making net declines of about 29 to 39 points on the active months and new low ground for the current movement. Closing quotations showed rallies of several points from the lowest net week-end covering.

Exports today 27,193 making 7,322,213 so far this season. Port receipts 9,456. Port stocks 1,427,720.

Cotton Continues Downward Drop On Orleans Mart

NEW ORLEANS, April 26. (AP)—The cotton market today continues its downward trend begun yesterday and sold off to levels practically $1.50 a bale below the previous close. The selling was made up of general liquidation on the favorable weather, which uncovered stop loss orders on the scale down.

The market gradually sagged and July contracts traded to 18.57, October to 18.69, where it closed net 23 points lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 17 to 23 points.

Liverpool cables were considerable lower than due and were reflected in our opening decline here of 11 to 13 points. The lower prices induced shorts to cover and as a result July rallied to 18.36, October 18.57 and December 18.69, or 12 to 13 points above the lows and to within 3 points of yesterday's close. July dropped to 18.57, October 18.59 and December 18.69, or 31 to 32 points below the previous close. October closed at 18.69 and December 18.80.

MID-WESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, April 26. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Further declines were enforced around the 11 market circulation on fat lambs. A very few early sales were completed at steady figures, but later was at 15 to 25c lower levels.

Chicago had an early top of $17 for fed, cooled lambs, while choice Arizona springers in Kansas City went at $17.85. Total offering were around 47,700.

Curtailed hog receipts and a fairly broad shipping demand resulted in a general price advance of 10 to 25c. The day's extreme top of $11.90 was paid in St. Louis. Aggregate receipts were around 57,900.

Dallas Man Named Scout Executive

As active scout executive, H. B. Yates, of Dallas, school teacher and Boy Scout worker, will assume duties with the South Plains Area council, Boy Scouts of America, on June 1, and has been employed until September 1, it was announced yesterday by K. N. Clapp, present acting executive.

Two section camps will be conducted by Yates, one from July 1 to 10 and the other from July 10 to 20.

charge was dropped, however. Last fall, Mrs. Kennedy, who had left an official post at Angelus Temple, her daughter's church, after a disagreement with Mrs. McPherson revealed that $2,500 had been given to Judge Hardy, presiding over the criminal courts of Los Angeles. The mother hinted, too, that her daughter's kidnapping was not true.

The American Bar Association ousted Judge Hardy from membership because of the $2,500 incident. Both Mrs. McPherson and Judge Hardy admitted the transaction but declared it had been a "love offering" and had no legal connection with the evangelist's legal trouble.

lation from religion. Sanders died for an attack on a young white girl, a school teacher at Millican Brazos county. His arrest, trial and execution required less than a month, setting what is believed to be a record in Texas criminal annals.

Officers after the negro's apprehension allayed a rising tide of feeling against him by promising that justice would move swiftly if the law were allowed to take its course.

He was convicted and sentenced to death within a week after the attack.

The negro was arrested at his home a few hours after the attack, which occurred on a Saturday night. He was taken from the Brazos county jail the following Sunday, after a mob had gathered. The next Tuesday he was returned to Bryan, indicted, and on Friday faced a jury which inflicted the death penalty. He was convicted with the attack through hair of the girl found on buttons of his coat and was identified by her.

Impeachment

Senate. The House ignored the accusation that the Governor attempted to plot the murder of a representative because he opposed Long's legislative program, although it received the evidence of H. A. (Battling) Bozeman, former bodyguard of the Governor, who said the Governor requested him to do the killing.

Excitement runs high. The House was in excitement nearly all day. In the midst of a debate Earl Long, younger brother of the Governor, had a fight in the corridor outside the House chamber with Representative Harney Bogan, one of the impeachment leaders. Bogan came into the chamber with his face bleeding and said he was called an epithet by Long and that he had struck Long. The Governor's brother, Bogan said, sunk his teeth into the Representative's neck. Bystanders pulled them apart.

After a parliamentary wrangle the House agreed to recess until noon May 15, at which time the body will stand adjourned sine die if a quorum is not present.

Two of the negroes paid their fines yesterday afternoon and were released from custody.

Air Terminal Of Future Provides Every Comfort Of Travelers; Seattle Will Have One Of Most Modern

idge to veto the McNary-Haugen bill, said he would oppose "both the equalization fee and the debenture plan because I want a bill passed at this session which I believe will be beneficial to agriculture." Watson said he would "explain his position" later.

"If I understand the Senator from Oregon correctly," Robinson declared, "then he is opposing the equalization fee, and the debenture plan because the administration—I presume he means the President—is opposed to them both, is that correct?"

Must Forget Views. "I stated very plainly that sometimes you must forego your views in order to get legislation," McNary replied.

"My attitude is that I want Congress to pass a bill that will be signed, and such a bill in my opinion will be of great benefit to agriculture. If it proves to be weak and ineffective, I will join the distinguished Senator from Arkansas in putting into it some provision that will do the job."

"Yes," the Arkansas Senator came back, "but we have been dealing with this question now for twelve years and every session we say, 'it we do not do anything now, we will do something some other time.' When is the time coming when we are going to take decisive action and pass a farm relief bill that will eliminate this question from politics and afford whatever relief can be afforded?"

Robinson declared he understood that Watson "wants to perpetuate it." "He has thrived on it," he continued, "and thinks he will continue to do so."

Enforcement

reports that Chief Justice Taft, who long has urged reform in the federal judicial system, and is an adviser of the president, looks with disfavor on the appointment of Justice Stone. His position is said to be that the members of the supreme court should refrain from participation in the reorganization work.

There will be no announcement of the membership of the commission until Mr. Stone either accepts or declines the appointment, but among others about whom the president is making inquiries is Circuit Judge Arthur C. Denison of Grand Rapids, Mich., who sits on the sixth circuit bench at Cincinnati.

A searching inquiry concerning prohibition enforcement will be one of the duties of the commission.

PERMISSION GRANTED

Salvation Army Will Hold Services In Courthouse

Permission has been granted the Salvation Army, according to Ensign J. H. Burdick, to hold their Sunday services in the courtroom.

Services will be in charge of "Pa" and "Ma" Burdick. Sunday school scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m. and the night services Sunday at 8 o'clock. The county court room will probably be used. Burdick announced. If the crowd is such that a larger room is necessary, they may move to one of the upper chambers where more seating capacity obtains.

PORT WORTH, Apr. 26.—(AP)—Led by the Davis Brothers, the Terrill Prep school track team won over the T. C. U. Polliwogs and N. T. A. C. here today. Terrill scored 37 2-3 points, the Polliwogs 34 5-6 and N. T. A. C. 34 2-4.

Wet Voyage Ends

Steamer Docks; 112 Bottles Dumped

NEW YORK, April 26.—(AP)—The liner Leviathan docked today at the conclusion of its first "wet" voyage under the American flag. At the 12-mile limit 112 bottles of liquor were heaved overboard in accordance with the law that permits only medical stores to be brought nearer the coast.

Passenger traffic will pass from the ticket office through the passenger concourse directly into the cabins of the planes without once leaving cover, just as in a modern railroad station. No more sloping muddy landing fields, dodging whirling propellers.

The Boeing Airport, to cost ultimately $1,500,000, exclusive of the 160-acre site, will be the first major terminal of the "airport of the future" as conceived by the airport engineers of the Austin Company of Cleveland, Ohio, engineers and builders.

The eyes of the entire aviation industry are focused upon the port and some authorities predict that it will revolutionize airport construction. Even the Croyden Field in England, the Tempelhof Field in Berlin and the Littorio Airport at Rome are said not to be comparable in design to the port being built for the west-coast city.

Although a purely public enterprise, it is named in honor of William E. Boeing of the Boeing Airplane Company, one of Seattle's leading citizens.

Covered Concourse. The passenger station will consist of three building units built above the covered concourse.

There are loading areas for the planes, one 100 by 75 feet, the other 100 by 125 feet, both with 25 feet clearance. The construction provides for indefinite expansion.

When the passenger alights from his taxi at the station, he enters the general waiting room, purchases his ticket and goes to the passenger concourse on the mezzanine level.

There he may watch the arriving and departing planes through windows while awaiting his own. When his plane is called, he descends one of the stairways and walks through a rail-in passage-way and the open cabin door of the plane directly to his seat.

Dangers Eliminated. As planes taxi to and fro between the loading area and their hangars, there is no danger, as in the present type of airport, of hitting a careless visitor strolling along the taxiing runways. No one can gain access to the field except those with business there.

The station is to be provided with all the conveniences for travelers to be found in a railroad station. In addition to the general waiting room on the first floor of the main building will be a restaurant, concessions, air mail and express departments, and rest room. It will also house offices for United States customs and immigration inspectors as Boeing Airport will be an official port of entry.

The upper part of the main waiting room will be on the mezzanine. On the first floor of the intermediate pier will be Department of Commerce and field offices; on the mezzanine, the pilots' dormitory, radio room and weather bureau.

The lights control room will be on the first floor of the outer pier, and the airport manager's office on the mezzanine. The observatory will be located above, on the second floor of a tower.

The entire construction will be of brick and steel, including the hangars detached from the depot, and will comprise 55,650 square feet of floor space. Building is being rushed in order that the "airport of the future" may be in full operation before the end of the year.

DECORATE GRAVES

U. D. C. Hold Services For Vets at Cemetery Friday

The S. W. Wilkinson U. D. C. chapter and Anokwaki Camp Fire girls decorated graves of Confederate veterans yesterday morning in a ceremony at the Lubbock cemetery at 9:30 o'clock.

Following a flag salute, Rev. G. P. McCollum led in prayer and a quartet, composed of Ronnie Shepherd, Fred Hinger, Wade Hartrick and Bert E. Woods, sang.

Mrs. Sue McMurphy read a paper on the origin of Confederate memorial day and Mrs. J. F. Tom gave a reading. The Camp Fire girls, which Mrs. Mike Barrier is guardian, placed wreaths, which they had made, on the graves and sang appropriate songs. Girls in this group are Billy, Masha, Beatrice, Mills, Irene and Kathleen James, Norma Roberts, Pauline Phillips and Ruthanna Jackson.

WORK IS STARTED

Littlefield Hotel Remodel Work Begins

(Special To The Avalanche) LITTLEFIELD, April 26.—Work has begun on remodeling throughout the Littlefield hotel. This, the largest and oldest hotel in Littlefield, is to be completely remodeled and refurnished, and made second to none for home like accommodation and conveniences.

A contract has also been signed for a $60,000 brick hotel here, work to begin as soon as architect's plans can be approved.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., April 26.—(AP)—Twenty-five persons were injured, three critically, in a collision between an east-bound Pony tri-cab freight train of the Chicago, South Shore and South Bend Railroad at the Eleventh and Ohio street intersection at midnight.

The seriously injured were Sterling Peak, Detroit, and Jack Atherton, Detroit, drivers of the bus, and Clifford Meach, or Chicago, bus passenger. The other 23 victims were taken to hospitals.

president of The Austin Co.

"Nowadays when a business man, quite as a matter of course, takes a plane to keep a business appointment in a distant city and returns the same day in time to transact business in his own office, he wants to appear presentable and be comfortable."

"European airports are no models for the United States, for the people of this country are accustomed to and insist upon a degree of comfort unknown there."

Austin predicts that American cities eventually will build terminals where air, rail, bus, and, in some cases, water transportation will converge and be co-ordinated.

DATE GETS MIXED UP

Lovington Celebration To Be Held May 26th

The all-day barbecue celebration erroneously published as being set for yesterday, at Lovington, N. M., will be held on Sunday, May 26.

Elaborate plans are being made for the affair, a number of prominent speakers having been engaged, including some of the state officials of New Mexico.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP)—President Hoover gave his approval in an address here last night, to the program for the beautification of government buildings on the south side of Pennsylvania Avenue.

Emphasizing the need of such structures, the president declared that nearly 25,000 of the 70,000 federal employees in Washington are now housed in temporary buildings many of which are unsanitary, with the various departments divided among scores of scattered buildings.

CHICAGO, April 26.—(AP)—Two bombs, one of which drove 50 families to the street and injured one person, exploded during the night. The first explosion was in a vacant building on the near Northwest side and may have been caused by labor troubles.

The second bomb was tossed from an automobile at the Alyce Apartment hotel. It exploded beneath the apartment in which Elmer Sweeney, packing company worker was asleep. He was cut by flying glass.

Police could ascertain no motive for the bomb attack.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP)—Regulations for a federal quarantine restricting movement of fruits and certain vegetables from Florida to prevent the spread of the Mediterranean fruit fly will be promulgated by the agriculture department as soon as they can be drafted to proper form.

EULOGIZE JOE BAILEY

DALLAS, April 26.—(AP)—The Junior Bar Association of Dallas today adopted a resolution eulogizing Joseph Weldon Bailey, former United States Senator, who died at Sherman several weeks ago.

"Slaves of the Gods," by Katherine Mayo, is her rebuttal to the storm of criticism which greeted her former "Mother India." But with all the revilings and denunciations and insistences that she spoke half truths in that book, combed India for only its wrongs, and found them, just as one could compile a similar book by looking at the cesspools of any nation, she clings to her point, and the new book gives no jot nor tittle to her critics.

There is something rather magnificent in sticking to one's theme, no matter what the protests. Some might call it stubbornness, but Katherine Mayo's consistency better than the rather weak explanations, for instance, which Joan Lowell is now putting about to explain the filth of her book. Utter denial would have been a bit more magnificent.

CANDY AND LIMOUSINES

When he found five cents' worth of candy in his sweetheart's room, and knew that the bag of sweets had been given her by his rival, Harry Klym of Brooklyn shot and fatally wounded the girl.

Human passions seem rather monotonously the same. In the same case, a news some other sweetheart shot his girl when he discovered her riding in the new limousine given her by another sweetie. Five cents' worth of candy or limousine, all the same! It's the principle that counts!

THIS SEX TO-DO

The trial against Mrs. Mary Ware Dennet, charged with sending "obscene matter through the mails," though the pamphlet in question, "The Sex Side of Life," has been endorsed by persons obviously more qualified to judge than the jury which sits in judgment upon her, continues.

Meanwhile the row continues at the University of Missouri for the sociology department's distribution of a questionnaire aimed to procure the student's ideas on various debatable problems of today.

LAUGH AT US

And how the kids of 1930 will laugh at all this modern-to-do about sex! It will seem as silly to them as the discovery of some old archive dealing with an ancient tribe's horror at a public discussion of whether soup or bread should be served at table.

Sex is on the road to getting the casual, accepted place in life it merits, and all the calamity howlers can't stop it.

LURE OF THE ANTIQUE

The National Woman's Party, after being reluctantly ousted from its headquarters in the historic "Old Brick Capitol," which was our Capitol following the raid of Washington by the British, has purchased another historical and antique building for headquarters.

The building is said to be the oldest house in Washington, built by Lord Baltimore for his daughter in 1772, and set fire to by British soldiers in 1784.

One wonders if this craze for the old, the historic, is a modern fad, or if our funny peas-in-a-pod brick bungalows with laundry chutes will be as prized in 2500 A. D. or long after that?

'Back To Nature' Move Shocks France

Nudity Improves Both Health and Morals, Leaders of Cult Flourishing In Europe Declare In Defense

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer

PARIS, April 26.—They are "worshipping nature" just outside the city right now, and Paris is holding its breath.

Dressed in the manner to which previously only certain statues and paintings were accustomed—which is to say not at all—a large cult of French men, women and children, have provided France with a brand new Moral Problem.

Religious leaders protest. Exponents of the "simple life" applaud. Psychologists and moralists debate. And meanwhile the members of this daring colony have established themselves on the outskirts of the French capital where they meet three times a week to scorn convention and—clothes. Quite unadorned, they engage in innocent sports and pastimes as in an exclusive country club.

The colony is new to France, but is patterned after those which have sprung up in Germany since the war and now claim a combined membership of over three million.

On the theory that man was created to live in an unclothed state and that conventions of today are "unnatural" and "unnatural," Dr. Pierre Vachet, professor of the School of Psychology and well known writer on sex problems, has given his whole-hearted support to the nature worshippers. Therein, he says, lies the strength and freedom of body and mind. To the wearing of clothes he claims to be able to trace most of the ills of mankind in its social struggle.

Supporting Dr. Vachet is M. K. de Monroet, another prominent pillar in this revolutionary movement. Writing in a magazine of the movement here, he says:

"One of the causes of our lack of equilibrium, of the evils that ravage humanity today and of degeneracy is the sex problem. It makes young men old, shatters lives and hardens the heart so that simple joys are no longer appreciated. It destroys in man his independence and makes him a slave to himself and others around him."

"How can normal education be happily created if we condemn the practice of nudity which kills sensual curiosity and suppresses exaggerated imagination excited by the half-mystery which veils the human body."

"Each time that man breaks the natural laws that govern the universe he commits a crime against humanity," he concludes, and infers that the wearing of clothes is one of these violations. "Yet," he says, "it is a subject upon which most people will not allow themselves to meditate."

Dr. Vachet is not one of these. He says the sensation of shame in the presence of nudity is an artificial impression acquired through years of avatism and strengthened in the course of centuries of civilization.

"A distinct evolution is developing in morals and practices pertaining to them."

Plane Carries 100 Passengers

This photo just received from Germany shows the Roland, new Rohrbach traffic plane, which will carry 100 passengers and two pilots. It has three motors of 350 horsepower each. It is to be used for long distance flights.
