Journalism Scholarship Is Offered

ANDREWS — Seventh annual scholarship contest of the West Texas Press Association is under way. High school seniors who plan to go into newspaper journalism may compete for a $500 scholarship. Deadline for entry is May 6. All applications are to be sent to the scholarship chairman, James Andrews, Andrews County News, Andrews. Announcement of the winner will be made by May 20.

Students who are interested in trying out for this scholarship should talk with their high school principal or editor of the home-town paper, who will be glad to help them with the necessary details.

The winner will receive a $500 scholarship over a four-year period or $150 a year as long as requirements are met.

Two scholarship winners have graduated from college, which will leave five current scholarship holders in West Texas Colleges, two in WTSO and three in Texas Tech.

In submitting his application, the student should send a biographical sketch, a picture of himself, a letter telling of his intent to go into newspaper journalism, and to attend one of the 10 designated colleges. He should also have letters from his journalism teacher, his publication sponsor, from his high school principal or superintendent, and from his hometown editor or a nearby editor if there is no newspaper in his hometown. A personal interview with the editor is recommended.

The candidate must be in the upper 25 per cent of his class, must have demonstrated ability in newspaper journalism, and a desire to be a newspaperman.

The designated colleges are Abilene Christian College, Hardin-Simmons University, Howard Payne University, Baylor University, Midwestern University, St. Ross College, Texas Tech, Westland Baptist College and West Texas State College. Exceptions for other colleges or universities will be considered by the scholarship committee.

Williams To Head 3 Mishaps Are Logged In County

Gene Williams was elected president of the Snyder Jaycees Thursday night to highlight a ladies' night club dinner at the 66 Cafe.

Williams, who succeeds Billy Joe Brown to the organization's top position, is manager of Snyder Athletic Supply. He steps into the post after serving the past year as first vice-president.

All other executive offices and four vacancies in the Board of Directors were filled by the balloting members in attendance in the same night. Assuming executive positions will be Max von Roeder and Gerald Pullig as first and second vice-presidents, R. Ch. Winans as secretary, and Herb Reed as treasurer.

Chosen to man the new Board of Directors were Dave Adams, John Jarrell and Bill Dryden as two-year directors and Sam Ruble as a one-year director. Also assuming a position in that body as ex-officio member is outgoing president, Brown. The group joins shoulder directors Johnny Greenfield and Jerry Edwards in completing the seven-man panel.

Stepping down as outgoing directors are Ray Houpt, Joe Seagull, and Jerry Jackson.

Two other appointive offices were filled from the chair during the evening's meeting, those being the positions of chaplain and parliamentarian. Rev. Allen Adams and Dave Adams were named to those respective posts by Brown, who presided during the annual meeting.

The most hotly contested balloting of the night centered around the post of treasurer. Reed won, out on the third ballot over three other nominees — Kenneth Aldridge, Ruble, and Kenneth Baker. Greenfield Beas Drum.

Greenfield acted as Williams campaign chairman and placed his name in nomination. Jarrell submitted the second to the nomination.

Williams, who will be installed at a later date along with the other new slate of officers, is married and resides at 2100 Fortieth Street. He and wife, Merlene, have two daughters — Gene, 7, and Kathy, 6.

He graduated from high school in Colorado City and went on to receive his Bachelor of Science Degree from McMurry College in 1952. He has since completed academic work toward his Masters Degree at Texas Tech.

Williams served in the army from 1952-1954 and spent 12 months in Korea while a member of the 48th Infantry. He taught for a year in Snyder from 1954-55 before opening Athletic Supply and Toyland in 1955.

He has served his Jaycee apprenticeship diligently by heading up and working on various projects. In addition to his vice-presidency of the club, he has also served on the Snyder Board of Directors.

Aldridge offered the invocation prior to the meal. Business of the evening included brief reports from project chairman Winans and Ruble on the Miss Snyder Pageant of June 14 and the clean-up campaign of May 6-11, respectively.

Boy Chained To Radiator

NEW YORK (AP)—The little boy walking down the street Thursday had a chain trailing from his ankle, so when police took him home they asked his parents what the chain was for.

The parents, Felix and Hilda Lasso, were quoted as saying they had been chaining the boy to a radiator regularly since last June, because they feared the child, Jose, 5, would be struck by a car while they were at work.

Lasso, 32, works as a clerk, and Mrs. Lasso is a Bronx housewife. They were charged with endangering the health of the child.

Police said the boy appeared well fed and in normal health. They asked the parents what Jose did for food while he was chained.

"We left him a banana on the radiator," police quoted the mother as saying.

There was no immediate explanation of why the boy was walking in the area with the chain attached to his ankle.

Marines Have New Recruiter For Area

The new Marine Corps Recruiter for the Snyder area is S. Sgt. Joe Counce.

He recently assumed his duties after completing a nine-week course on recruiting at Parris Island, S. C.

Sgt. Counce recruits from a 16-county area surrounding Abilene, where he maintains his office. He plans to visit Snyder on the fourth Thursday of each month to talk with young men interested in the Marine Corps. He will be at the Post Office here.

Those who are unable to contact him personally are invited to call or write his office in Abilene for information concerning Marine Corps enlistments.

Involved were a 1956 Chevrolet driven by Floyd Wayne Newman, 2808 Avenue N., and a 1962 Ford driven by Thomas Wayne Galvan, 503 Twenty-seventh Street. Damage to both cars was described as moderate. There were no injuries.

At 1:40 a.m. a one-car turnover was reported three-quarters of a mile south of Thirty-seventh Street on the old Colorado City Highway. Tommy Darrell Campbell, 19, Rt. 2, Snyder, was reported to be the driver of the 1955 Chevrolet.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: You were wrong when you said "the customer is always right" in regard to the air-conditioning in a restaurant. It is far easier to get customers than it is to get a good waitress. If the waitress wants it cooler, we make it cooler. And we serve hot coffee for the customers who need it.

IN BUSINESS 30 YEARS

DEAR ABBY: Just read the complaint from CHILLED. I have been an air-conditioning engineer for years so can speak with some authority on the subject. In eating places where the hostess stands still, she is cold. The waitress who rushes around is hot. The customers are both cold and hot. The younger ones who get up and dance are hot. On ships, the woman with the baby says you are giving her baby pneumonia. The man in the next stateroom says it is so stifling he is getting sick.

Nuts to everybody!

WALT, THE SOURPUSS ENGINEER

DEAR ABBY: One of my sons has been taking money from my purse since childhood. He is now 18 and is about to graduate from high school. We are still unable to leave money around without having it "disappear." He seldom admits to taking it, but there is no question about his guilt. We've tried reasoning with him, punishing him and even increasing his allowance. Nothing works. Can you suggest any other methods to break him of this habit?

ANXIOUS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Psychiatrists tell us that many youngsters steal money because they feel cheated of love or affection. The money fills the real or imagined void. Your son appears to need professional help.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISAPPOINTED FATHER: you will pull a few wires while your children are growing up, you won't have to pull any strings to get them into a "good" college. (Suggested wires to pull: television, hi-fi and telephone.)

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

FASHION WRAPS UP SPRING MOODS . . . Spring Takes The Wrap From Her Moods

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Fickle, fifti-spring is so like a woman that nobody really understands her, but the couturiers at least have learned to live with her.
Without trying to perceive the whys and wherefores of her vacilations, they accept them as a part of her never-dull personality and profit by preparing for them.
Resulting is a greater variety of styles, fabrics and colors than at any other time of the year.

It is not a one-coat season.
Recently the New York Coat and Suit Association aptly demonstrated this with a sampling of spring coat collections as diverse as females themselves.
There were all kinds of silhouettes because there are all types of shapes to the spring dresses and suits that coats are made to cover. Some are eased over flowing, fitted or plumb lines. Others are straight from shoulders to hem with underpinning in front.
Some have cascading back fullness like a choir boy's surplice.

Some swagger into belted trench types.
Tissue light coats do little more than shield bare arms from too much air conditioning, while warmer but lightweight suedes have shaggy fox collars to burrow into at a change in the weather.
Inspiration reaches from the bathroom where a shower robe is the basis for a casual coat, design to the exotic spots where the rajah's coat and the matador's jacket are captured in feeling.

Powder blue and pink are the supreme colors in spring coat fashion. Other consistently used hues are red, white and blue, alone or patriotically together.
Fabrics are sleek and silken, or crisp and linenlike. Or they are texturally interesting because of twists, bubbles, loops, boucles souffles, ruffs and puffs.
There are all moods of coats, for all moods of woman, and all moods of spring.

Altrurian Club Hears Rev. Maguire

The lounge of the Martilla Am-Womans' Club was the scene of the Altrurian Club's recent meeting.

Following a short business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Dave Harlin, president, Mrs. Alvie Dole introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Max Maguire, chaplain at the Big Spring State Hospital. He gave an enlightening talk on "Brighter Outlook on Mental Health." He said in part:
"Mental illness is the number one health problem, but it is no longer hopeless with the new treatment methods making it possible to save thousands of mental patients. All patients in the hospital receive the benefits of modern treatment, not by just one doctor, but a group of doctors working together."

In expressing the objections of the National Association of Mental Health, he said - "We need to provide separate treatment services for the mentally ill children as well as a special schooling for them. To provide psychiatric clinics and psychiatric services in all general hospitals, so that patient can get immediate treatment right in their own communities. To make sure the recovered patient gets the help needed and follow-up medical care. The mental health association is acting now, to achieve these objectives, working with other voluntary and professional organizations and with government agencies."

In closing he said: "We can help conquer mental illness by joining and supporting the Mental Health Association."

The room was bedecked with arrangements of beautiful roses.

The table was laid with a cutwork table cloth centered with an arrangement of pink roses. Mrs. H.
G. Towle and Mrs. J. W. Leftwich were hostesses.

Serving the 40 guests and members was Mrs. J. C. Simson at the silver coffee service, and Mrs.
J. A. Hinkins at the crystal punch service.

Following the meeting the group was privileged to view the art exhibit by the Texas Fine Arts Association in the main auditorium of the clubhouse.

HARDLY BIGGER THAN A MAN'S HAND

By-Products Of Science Still Produce Many Possibilities

BY INEZ ROBB

In this aggressively scientific world, which continually stuns adults whose only acquaintance with science consists of a hit-and-run encounter with high-school chemistry, I try to bring enlightenment from time to time.

Such enlightenment, in turn, is handed on to me by a few friendly spies toiling in the laboratories that are rapidly remaking the world nearer the heart's desire of the Bunsen burner and the test tube.

A letter from a secret operative begins: "I have just run across some special intelligence on the Scientific Front that ought not to be withheld longer from your public. Word has just reached me from the laboratory over the hill that the boys in the back room, to their amazement, have developed a solid-state martini."

"Their amazement stems from the fact that these Ph.D.s were (1) working on some esoteric space problem and (2) that neither the prime nor any of the subcontractors involved have everything remotely to do with the liquor business."

"The discovery of the solid martini appears to have been the accidental product of high thinking and low resistance. It is now regarded in the laboratory as a reward of hard work and good, clean living. The scientists responsible sneaked a little of the stuff over to my lab, and it is actually true that you can spread the stuff on a cracker or eat it with a spoon. "I have promised not to reveal anything more about it, as the inventors are thinking of applying for a patent. But I can say that it tastes like a liquid martini and acts like a martini and is a solid."

"Also, in defense of modern scientists, who are still regarded as dreamy, impractical fellows who are trying to blow up the world, I want to report the practical comments of one of the men responsible for the solid martini. He pointed out to me that such a martini would solve the problem of the man who recently consulted his doctor because his — the patient's — hands shook so alarmingly."

"The patient suggested that possibly he was drinking too much, but the doctor said a cocktail or two before dinner was therapeutic."

"But, Doc, I really drink," the patient insisted.

"How much a day?" asked the physician. "A pint, a pint and a half."

"Gosh, Doc," said the patient, "I just to show you what practical men of affairs scientists have become," my spy continues, "this scientist guarding the secret of the solid martini said, 'Our product would eliminate that sort of waste. This hadn't occurred to me,' my scientific correspondent concludes, "because I had been too busy dreaming of spreading the stuff on a cracker or eating it with a spoon. But the above is not the only communication from the science front. The second is from a Ph.D. engaged in research and development for one of America's largest chemical firms. He writes to say that one of the greatest achievements of American science is the cannibal-resistant American."

You may remember that some weeks ago a titled Britisher in the House of Lords flatly stated that Americans are no longer a gourmet item among cannibals, where we were so long a favorite, because of the amount of DDT in our respective systems.

"What an incredible achievement!" this scientist writes, explaining of the cannibal-resistant American. "Of course, the cannibals are missing a good bet. If only they resumed their normal diet of a Yank in every Sunday pot, they also would get a little DDT in their blood. This would enable them to resist the anopheles mosquito and its friendly tenant, malaria, which kills so many of them."

"Resistance to elephantiasis, yellow fever, dengue, yaws and bubonic plague would be only a few dividends from a return to the menu of chlorinated Yankee soup." (Copyright, 1963, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Columnist Jumps To Conclusion

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions—and how many do you agree with?

The best insurance against a feeling of uselessness in old age is a garden.

Sorrow's crown of sorrows among the elderly is the realization they are no longer needed. To stay young in heart and purpose you have to dwell in a world that is dependent upon you and cannot get along without you.

When you plant a garden you create such a world. It will wither without your hand.

A Social Security pension at 65 is a fine and welcome thing. But Uncle Sam would have a happier senior citizen—and improve the landscape—if at retirement time he gave every man and woman a quarter acre of earth and a pocketful of seeds.

It's hard to feel old when you're busy helping something to grow.

One of life's pleasantest sights is a fat woman having a belly laugh. There is so much of her having a good time—she's a real mirthquake.

Are you tired of magazines that devote their entire issues to a single general subject—such as women, money or the atom bomb? They give me a big yawn.

I never trust a man who says he feels good on Monday mornings. He is bound to be either a liar or a hypocrite.

An optimist is a person who gives a modern child a penny and expects to get back a look of gratitude.

It takes a born critic to be a good writer.

The worst part of being a career diplomat is having to pretend you like caviar.

When a woman doesn't care much about a man she addresses him impersonally. But if she is fond of him she gets a tireless thrill out of calling him by his first name. Thus you can always tell what a girl thinks of you by how often she employs your name.

Life is never utterly hopeless to a fellow as long as he can still enjoy eating corn on the cob.

Wishful dreams in the first martini: folly flowers in any poured thereafter.

Nine out of ten husbands never read the fine print in their life insurance policies—but four out of five of their wives do.

A single girl doesn't become an old maid until she brings home her second cat.

An old bachelor never seems lonely when he's trying to make friends with a baby.

If there were only one tree in the world, what kind would you want it to be? I'd like it to be an apple tree. Second choice, Oak. Third choice, Elm. Honorable mention: Maple.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOGS

QUESTION: How did cocker spaniels come to be so popular?

ANSWER: The spaniels are a group of dogs developed in France and England for hunting purposes. They are somewhat smaller than the large hunting dogs such as setters and pointers. Spaniels are very alert and intelligent, as well as affectionate and playful. The little cocker is the baby of the family, which includes such big brothers as the Brittany and springer spaniels. The cocker is especially useful to the hunter in flushing the low flying bird called the woodcock and this is how he got his name. But, as dogs became household pets and companions, the cocker became widely known and appreciated, not because he could flush woodcock, but because he had a specially cheerful, gay and merry disposition. A cocker is always ready to join in whatever is going on, as our picture suggests. Whatever the plan is, little Rover wants to be in on it. Cocker are practical dogs as well as affectionate ones. Big enough to go for long rambles, they don't make their owners feel there is a pony inside the house. These are some of the reasons why the cocker has become one of the most popular breeds in America.

FOR YOU TO DO: You could make the cocker in this picture very attractive by coloring him gold or buff. The boy's shirt could be blue, making a good contrasting note.

The new moderator of the General Assembly, highest court of the 228,000-member Presbyterian Church in the U.S., served as a chaplain with the Marine Corps in the Pacific during World War II.

Among other decorations, he received the Silver Star for gallantry and the Purple Heart. The Silver Star was awarded for tending a wounded Marine under hazardous circumstances. The Navy has said he is its most decorated chaplain.

He preaches six or seven sermons a week, visits hospitals, personally screens applicants for food and clothing, calls regularly at jails and the county farm and confers with law enforcement officers.

He makes $300 a month in his present job.

Kirkindall stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 200 pounds. He has a voice like a carnival barker and he talks just as fast.

"People will listen to me some times," Kirkindall said. "People in college towns, people a lot smarter than I am. And do you know why?"

The California Senate has declared former President Eisenhower an honorary citizen of California.

Sen. Lee M. Backlund, introducing the resolution in Sacramento, noted that Eisenhower is a regular winter resident at Palm Springs.

Moon Certain To Effect Elections

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since cave-men days the moon has exerted undue influence on human affairs—and now it threatens to affect the 1964 presidential election.

A lively debate is under way on the big question:

Should we spend $20 billion—more or less—on a crash program to land men on the moon in this decade?

President Kennedy says yes. Some others, notably Republicans, express grave doubts. The scientific community is split.

Thus the moon is turning true to form in mixing into human lives.

Everybody knows about moonstruck lovers. Most everybody knows, too, that in olden days the lunar orb was supposed to be able to convert sane people into lunatics.

Less well known, perhaps, is the fact that the moon confounded ancient calendar makers. For centuries astute Babylonian astronomers—and later the even smarter Greeks—tried in vain to construct a satisfactory calendar based on the moon's movements. Twelve moons simply do not make a year—and that's that.

As for the current controversy, it is evident that President Kennedy is following closely the arguments of his critics that too much money is being spent on space, at the expense of other scientific undertakings and of earthly needs at education and housing.

He expressed the suspicion that if budget cutters succeeded in slashing space funds, they won't allow the savings to things like education. Then, he said, when the Soviet Union makes another big breakthrough in space, his critics will ask: "Why didn't we do more?"

A number of Senate Republicans complain that the space program threatens to cut unduly into the domain of private enterprise.

For example, Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said he was informed that eventually 50 per cent of all physical scientists would be working for the government.

This was disputed by James F. Webb, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Making a pitch before the Senate Space Committee for NASA's $5.7-billion budget for the coming fiscal year, he said 90 per cent of NASA's work would be

Ex-Gambler Now Head Of Mission

By HARRY A. HAINES

Editor, Blytheville, Ark. (AP) — One night in 1953, Paul Kirkindall propped a Bible against the twin beer spigots of his tavern and began preaching the Gospel.

Since that time he has spent $31,000 of his own funds in a new career as pastor of this town's most despised citizens.

Once a gambler known over the southern and midwestern states, Paul Kirkindall underwent a sudden transformation.

Today he heads Blytheville's Mississippi County Union Mission which has an annual budget of $31,000. The mission is governed by some of the area's most prominent business and professional men. It serves thousands of poor people in northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri.

He preaches six or seven sermons a week, visits hospitals, personally screens applicants for food and clothing, calls regularly at jails and the county farm and confers with law enforcement officers.

Kirkindall, 52, has done his job so well that last month he was offered "an annual salary of $10,000, plus a home, car and certain expenses to take over a mission in an eastern city."

"I don't think the Lord wanted me to go," Kirkindall said.

He makes $300 a month in his present job.

Kirkindall stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 200 pounds. He has a voice like a carnival barker and he talks just as fast.

"People will listen to me some times," Kirkindall said. "People in college towns, people a lot smarter than I am. And do you know why?"

Because once they hear what I was and then get some idea of what I stand for today, they know I've just gotta be sincere."

His about-face took him completely by surprise, says Kirkindall.

Moons Provides Its Own Sterilization

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A space scientist says sterilization of spacecraft sent to the moon may be abandoned with the launch next December of Ranger 6.

Robert J. Parks, who directs the Jet Propulsion Laboratory's lunar and planetary program for the national space agency, said Thursday "it appears that the intense ultra violet radiation on the surface of the moon would kill any micro-organisms that might be carried up from earth."

The idea that "technological fallout"—earthly benefits—will be vast as a result of the coming journeys to the moon is disputed in some scientific circles. If the economy needs pepping up, some scientists say, space exploration is a roundabout, uncertain way to do it.

Dr. Philip H. Abelson, a leading physical chemist, it appears that "a re-examination of priorities" is in order. "Not more than a small fraction of the cost" of the moon program "will be recovered through technological fallout," he writes in the magazine Science, the organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

SEEK YE FIRST THE KINGDOM

Light

in the dark

We are in peril... everyone of us, every business, home, church, nation - the whole world. But there is a Beacon Light to Guide us. How foolish if we batten down the hatches, close the doors, and speed-up the noisy music. We may shut out the sound of waves, sight of rocks, and the roar of storms, BUT WE CAN'T SHUT OUT GOD. He is the Light in every storm and will surely guide your ship when the seas are heavy. There will be light in darkness for those who look upward. His church supplies hope for souls whose ambitions have been wrecked. There shall be "LIGHT IN THE DARK."
