Ciscoans Leave To Ask Road Work

AWARDING OF CONTRACTS IS DUE TUESDAY

A Cisco delegation, seeking early action on the relocation of Highway One along Eighth street through Cisco, left this afternoon for Austin, where members hoped to contact the state highway commission and ask that contracts for the route be let as soon as possible.

The delegation, including Mayor J. T. Berry, City Attorney R. E. Grantham, Secretary J. E. Spencer, of the Chamber of Commerce, and E. P. Crawford, left at 1 o'clock. Tuesday is the meeting date for the letting of contracts. In view of the fact that it is not regular hearing date, the Ciscoans were unable to secure an appointment but it was believed that they would be able to obtain one when the commissioners arrive at Austin tomorrow.

A number of state highway contracts have been let in recent weeks, but the Cisco rerouting of Highway One was not among them. The commission agreed some time ago to reinstate the project, after it had been temporarily dropped from the program. Original plans called for its completion by July.

Motor Vehicle Death Toll Last Year

Motor vehicles' death toll in the United States touched the 36,500 mark last year. There were thousands of permanent disabilities and additional thousands of temporarily disabling injuries. This according to estimates made public by the National Safety Council. The motor vehicle total in 1935 registered an all time high, increasing one per cent over the 1934 figure. Deaths were twice as high as in 1925 and 50 per cent above 1927. Two-thirds of all traffic accidents last year occurred in small towns under 10,000 population and in rural areas. Rural fatalities have increased 44 per cent since 1924, whereas deaths in cities have advanced but 27 per cent.

More than 40 per cent of the traffic victims last year were pedestrians, which should be a warning to "the pedestrian to watch his step." Only among children of school age were there fewer motor vehicle deaths last year than in 1934. No change occurred in 15 to 24 age groups and in all other age classifications there were increases. Child motor vehicle accidents have increased much less than adults since 1922, when safety education began on a national scale.

Two sections of the country were able to reduce motor vehicle deaths in 1935 despite the national increase. These were the eastern area, including New England and Middle Atlantic states. Fourteen individual states succeeded in reducing traffic deaths seven per cent or more. Texas does not appear in the list. There were more motor vehicle deaths in October than in any other single month—the total reaching 3850. November and December run second and third in that order "as the most dangerous months." Truth is the eastern area, meaning the New England and Middle Atlantic states, and the western area, meaning the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states, have the wisest traffic laws of all the states. Texas was without a drivers' license law for years and the protective act passed in 1935 is a miserable makeshift. This is no reflection on the state highway patrol and other agencies of government who are doing their level best to make life safe on the city streets and the public highways.

Cardenas to Extend Privileges

President Cardenas of Mexico called a special session of congress for a measure "reforming Mexico's labor laws by extending further the privileges of workers." A reform which the Mexican congress is certain to adopt will require payment of seven days' wages for six days work.

Cardenas has been busy since the coming of the month of February. He settled two strikes in favor of labor "and laid down a far-reaching labor policy." Facing the employers of Monterrey, the youthful president told them "if they were weary of carrying on they might turn their factories and mills and all other plants over to the workers. And then the government could step in and enact laws for the control of business as well as labor." He has outlined the organization of "one great union for all the wage

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NRA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Unlike AAA

and NRA, the Guffey Coal

Act probably will be killed by the U. S. Supreme Court before the country has a chance to learn how it would work.

The court has paralyzed enforcement of the act in advance. As the tribunal now is constituted, practically everyone is convinced, it won't stand for much of that ambitious plan for rehabilitation and stabilization of the coal industry.

Encouraged by fate of other New Deal legislation, coal operators—among them Andrew Mellon and his interests—have obtained injunctions in federal district courts relieving them from penalties provided for failure to go in under the coal code provided by the act.

Minimum price-fixing, based on costs, is the backbone of the whole scheme. And the National Bituminous Coal Commission hasn't been able to fix prices, knowing that the act would break down at once when the operators protected by injunctions cut their prices

below those fixed.

No one saw any point in going before the court with such a mess

on public view.

That's why it's so likely the Guffey Act will never have a tryout.

Some lawyers think only parts of the act will be tossed out by the court. Others say that if the majority line of reasoning in railroad cases is followed, the act will survive intact.

They doubt, however, that the present majority will follow precedent.

workers of the republic and then it will be for the government to control industry as well as labor."

Calles was the strong man of Mexico. There are strikes everywhere in the industrial centers of the republic. Calles owns a vast sugar hacienda where there has been a labor war on for months between the former dictator and his workers. Calles bluntly refused to make the concessions demanded. Now the man he made president of Mexico will step in and dictate terms of settlement.

Thousands of employees of the Southern Pacific lines in Mexico are organizing to walk out unless their wage and other demands are conceded. Executives of the rail lines threatened declare that they have never made a dollar in Mexico in the shape of dividends and that there is a deficit of millions of pesos awaiting adjustment with bondholders and banks which have made loans to carry on the system.

"Seven days' pay for six days' work" is something new in labor demands in and out of Mexico.

DAVENPORT TO ASK PLACE AS COUNTY CLERK

The Cisco Daily News and American and Roundup are authorized to publish the following statement from R. L. Davenport concerning his candidacy for the office of county clerk.

To the Voters of Eastland County:

In presenting my claims to the citizens of this county for the responsible position of County Clerk, I realize that every citizen is entitled to know some of my qualifications and fitness for this office and I therefore feel justified in submitting you something of my training and experience that in my judgment qualify me for public office.

I was born and reared in Central Texas and moved with my father to Eastland county in 1888 where I have resided continuously with the exception of two years spent in Fort Worth, Texas, where I was engaged in the mercantile business. I am a graduate of the Metropolitan Business College of Dallas and after completing this work I was employed by some of the leading mercantile establishments of Eastland as bookkeeper and accountant. I was elected to the office of District Clerk of this county in 1904 and served for two terms, and I point with pride to the record which I established as your public servant. I have had several years experience as manager of abstract companies located in Eastland in which work I became thoroughly familiar with the records of the various courts of the county and especially those of the office of County Clerk. I married in Eastland county and have reared and educated my children in the public schools of our city, and have at all times been interested in the development and progress of our community.

If the voters of this county feel that I am worthy and qualified for the office I seek, I would appreciate the hearty support and influence of every citizen.

Respectfully submitted,
R. L. (BOB) DAVENPORT.

Eastland Man Is Given Citizenship

EASTLAND, Feb. 24 — Restoration of citizenship of Dave Collins of Eastland convicted and sentenced June 9 1930 at Eastland on charges alleging possession and transportation of liquor was shown in a proclamation by Governor James V. Alfred on file in district clerk's office Saturday. The proclamation stated the governor received a letter Jan. 24 this year from J. Frank Sparks, Eastland attorney, urging restoration of Collins' citizenship. "It has been represented to me that since Collins' return from the penitentiary, he has regained the respect of the citizens of that community to a large extent and has lived the life of a law-abiding citizen," Alfred's proclamation stated.

"PENNS WOOD" POPULAR HARRISBURG, Pa. — (UPI) — Reports and inquiries at the Department of Forest and Waters indicate that there's a steadily increasing demand for Pennsylvania produced wood by large manufacturers. A most recent query came from a manufacturer who specializes in gun stocks.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGIN HERE TODAY JANE WEDON feels her dreams have come true when she sets out on a three weeks' ocean cruise, created in payment for the salary due her when the magazine for which she worked as typist suspended publication. On board the ship she meets handsome DIRK STROH, expert ski jumper, as glamorous as Jane. The trip was a gift to him from the parents of a child whose life he saved. Dirk introduces Jane to his friend, SNOWSHOES, a detective, who on board are NORA LANE, famous actress and owner of the Kukinor diamond; wealthy, eccentric MADAME DOHREMI; DUTCH LENE, and MANNIE JACKSON, blackmailer; TINO ROSSI, opera singer; KEN MARTIN and LINDA BAYES. Dirk and Jane spend much of their time together. Then a misunderstanding occurs between them. Dirk hears Nora Lane complaining about noises near her stateroom and trades staterooms with her. Later she dances with him. "Mannie Jackson tries to take her picture and she is terrified. Dirk strikes Mannie and snatches his camera. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XI

THE room was breathlessly still. Lights were lowered. Nora Lane's voice was resonant and clear and charged with emotion. She made every listener feel the despair and stark tragedy of her role. And then the lights were back, and Nora Lane was smiling, and bowing. She sat down amid applause that filled the room. Ken Martin tried to talk and eventually was able to be heard. "We have with us this evening another international figure," he said. "Ladies and gentlemen, I give you a brilliant star on the operatic horizon, the baritone, Signor Tino Rossi." Again applause rang out. Tino flushed but he did not rise. Instead he looked annoyed. "No, no," he said. At last he stood up, bowed and sat down again. "I can not sing tonight!" he said to Jane. "Sing, Rossi!" a man called insistently. "Sing!" became the refrain. Tino stood up angrily and put a hand to his throat. "I have a slight ailment of the larynx. I came on this cruise to cure it, and I am under strict orders not to sing. I must beg you to excuse me."

Nora Lane started the applause, because she couldn't see a fellow professional humiliated. But the answering applause was weak. When the orchestra began to play Tino stood up and made as if to leave. Jane had no alternative but to follow. "I am greatly annoyed," he said. "It is regrettable. We will go on deck under the stars. We shall be alone."

DIRK watched them leave, then turned to Nora Lane, at his side. She had an appeal which, to Dirk, was beauty and talent combined. In her face he saw a spiritual and intellectual quality he had never met before. "That man on board," she was saying to Snowshoes, the detective, "The one they call Mannie Jackson—I'm sure he's a notorious black-mailer."

Snowshoes nodded in agreement. "Unfortunately," the actress went on, "my troubles seem to be in headlines all the time. There's no secret about them. But I have to face extortion and blackmail threats, just the same. They terrify me. I'm afraid I chose the wrong place for a rest."

"For a house detective," Snowshoes put in, "this cruise is about as restful as a typhoon. Take a look around you—"

Dirk laughed suddenly. "I'm sorry, but a ridiculous thing has happened. My foot has gone asleep."

Nora Lane smiled. "That isn't very complimentary to us, do you think, Mr. Blake?"

"To be exact," Dirk added, "the whole leg, the one I injured on that ski jump, has lost all feeling. It happens occasionally. I'll have to go out on deck, massage it a little and walk up and down. I won't be long. Please excuse me."

Dirk walked slowly across the room, trying the leg, putting his foot down with a soft tread, all his weight on the other member. It was an ordeal and when he reached the cool deck his forehead was beaded with the sweat of throbbing pain.

He sat down in a deck chair and rubbed the calf of his leg to

WARREN HULL MAKES DEBUT UPON SCREEN

Hollywood, ever on the lookout for new talent, has drafted another star from radio. He is Warren Hull, whose mellow baritone voice has been heard by countless radio listeners who tune in on the nation wide chains.

Hull has been given a long term contract by Warner Bros. His first assignment is the male lead opposite Margaret Lindsay in the comedy drama "Personal Maid's Secret," which opened at the New theater on Sunday.

Despite his comparative youth—Hull is only thirty, though he looks even younger—he comes to films with a colorful career in musical comedy, the legitimate stage and radio behind him. It was on the ether waves, however, that he gained the national fame which has led oles. Later his activities in musical comedies occupied so much of his time that he was forced to abandon his broadcasting entirely. He had featured parts in "The Student Prince," "My Maryland," "Rain or Shine," "Follow Through" and other productions.

Hull now intends to continue his radio career in Hollywood, as his Warner Bros. contract permits him to do.

"Personal Maid's Secret" is a hilarious comedy interspersed with dramatic situations and a glamorous romance. The plot carries a most unusual twist and is based on a Saturday Evening Post story by Lillian Day.

There is a talented cast including Margaret Lindsay, Hull, Anita Louise, Ruth Donnelly, Arthur Treacher, Frank Albertson, Henry O'Neill, and Ronnie Cosby. Arthur G. Collins directed the production.

Most every house in Cisco has been subject to window frame and door frame shrinkage and as a consequence, cold air continually sweeps in and makes the fuel bill pile up when you try to stay comfortable. This weather stripping is easily put on and gets results. Our carpenters can put it on for you economically, or you can do it yourself. Weather stripping is economical and efficient, and will soon pay for itself. Call us for FREE information or demonstration.

TUCKER TO BE CANDIDATE FOR COMMISSIONER

The Cisco Daily News and American and Roundup are authorized to publish the following statement concerning the candidacy of Robert Tucker for the office of county commissioner of precinct four:

To the Voters of Precinct Four,
Eastland County, Texas.

After thorough consideration of the matter and believing myself fully qualified for the office I have decided to announce my candidacy for the responsible position of County Commissioner of Precinct No. 4, Eastland County, Texas, and in doing so I feel that every citizen should know something about my qualifications and fitness for the office. I therefore submit to you some of the things that in my judgment qualify me for the office.

I was born and reared in Eastland county, my father, M. C. Tucker, having moved to this county in 1880 at the age of twelve years and having resided here continuously since that time.

I have lived in the Pleasant Hill community in Precinct No. 4, all my life except three years spent in Cisco while employed in the building of roads in this precinct.

I feel that I have enjoyed fair success as a young man in handling my own business affairs and the affairs of my community in which my home is now located and feel a keen interest in the public affairs of the taxpayers' money of this county should be spent in a conservative manner.

Having had eight years experience in handling road machinery and building roads in this precinct, I feel that I am thoroughly qualified to fill this very important position.

Neither I nor any of my family, have ever asked for a public office and being a young man thirty-eight years of age, I feel justified in asking for a place in which to serve the people of this Commissioner's Precinct, and if you will elect me I will devote all my time to the best interests of this people.

Respectfully,

ROBERT TUCKER.

ment is equipped to serve your
