JUNIOR BAND TO BE FORMED SAYS MADDOX

Formation of a junior band was announced today by Robert L. Maddox, director of the high school musical organization. Maddox asked each boy to be a candidate for the band. The age of nine up.

The band will hold practice sessions on Tuesday and Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Maddox said. There will be no charge for instruction, and material which will eventually comprise the senior organization is being sought.

Maddox said this morning that 28 already have been registered for the junior band. He was anxious to have 35 or 40 for instruction in it, and said he was especially desirous of securing more musicians for the band.

Wealth, Law, Power Move Together For Bruno Confession

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—One of America's richest women, one of its most successful criminal lawyers, and the governor of New Jersey, allied today to bring a confession from Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

The organization became apparent only a few hours before Justice Thomas W. Trenchard was to sentence the Lindbergh baby killer to die in eight weeks. Its members were Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, commanding a multi-million dollar fortune, Samuel Leibowitz, Hauptmann's chief counsel, and Governor Harold Hoffman.

Park Body Recommends Camp Here

APRIL SHIFT DUE TO BRING CCC WORKERS

The Texas Parks Board has recommended establishing a CCC camp here April 1 for the purpose of building the proposed Cisco state park, it was announced today.

The recommendation was made known to CCC workers in a telephone conversation with Wendell Mayes, vice chairman of the parks board.

The CCC camps are to be shifted April 1. Establishment of a camp at that time would mean that Cisco had been sent a CCC group which had finished its work at another place and had come here to build up the Cisco park.

In the telephone conversation, Mayes said that the parks board had recommended to the National Parks Service that it establish a Civilian Conservation Corps camp at Cisco in the next camp allotment.

To Oklahoma City. Approval by the board at Austin sends the project to Oklahoma City to the regional headquarters. Literature on the park site, Cisco, and advantages of a park here are being sent to Herbert Maier, regional park director, it was learned today.

From Oklahoma City, it is the regional approval, the project will be sent to Washington. There the National Parks Service will be requested to give an approval to the camp location.

Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, who will be consulted concerning parks in his district in Texas, has promised Ciscoans that he will approve the camp location here as one of the first two to be located. The other, he has said, will be at Fort Griffin.

The park site has been donated after being secured by the city. It is the area comprising something more than 500 acres south and east of the dam at Lake Cisco.

Cage Eliminations Due This Weekend

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—More than 1,600 basketball teams in the Texas Interscholastic league will be narrowed to 32 this week in a series of district tournaments.

County eliminations were eliminated last week, leaving 300 teams to compete in weekend matches. These will be held at Amarillo, Pampa, Lubbock, Childress, Sweetwater, Breckenridge, San Angelo, Brownwood, Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco, Commerce, Texarkana, Nacogdoches, College Station, Livingston, Houston, Beaumont, Houston, San Antonio, Georgetown, La Grange, Victoria, Laredo, Edinburg, El Paso, Fort Stockton, Wink and Van Horn.

Alexander Pantages Found Dead in Home

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Alexander Pantages, an immigrant boy who amassed one of the world's largest theater fortunes through vaudeville was found dead in bed today, apparently a victim of heart disease.

Pantages was found by a maid who entered the room after repeated knocking failed to get an answer.

Pantages emerged from the Alaskan gold rush to found a nationwide chain of theaters bearing his name. He was forced into virtual retirement seven years ago by the charges of a 17-year-old dancer that he attacked her in his theater office. He was tried, convicted, fined, and acquitted. Last fall he launched his showbusiness chain at the time of death.

MOLTEN MASS FALLS

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Daniel Cayho, farmer, heard a whirling sound, "like an airplane" looked up and saw a trail of red fire. A minute later, an object crashed in the snow. It was a molten mass in the shape of a half moon, six inches long. Cayho sold it to Glenn Harmon, clerk of courts.

FEW WOMEN IN ALASKA

DAWSON, Alaska.—(U.P.)—The male population of Dawson outnumbered the female population ten to one. Efforts are being made to induce more women to come to the Yukon territory.

INVENTOR DIES WHILE ON TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

LA JUNTA, Colo., Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Hiram Percy Maxim, member of the famous family of inventors, died here today from a throat ailment.

Maxim, enroute to California with his wife from their Hartford, Conn., home was taken from a train Thursday when he became ill.

He was the third bearer of his name to achieve fame through his inventive genius.

He himself was the inventor of the Maxim silencer which revolutionized the firearms industry. His father became a British subject and was knighted in 1901 after he invented the Maxim gun, the first practical machine gun that fired 600 shots per minute. An uncle, Hiram Maxim, introduced maximite, for many years most powerful of all explosives for armor piercing projectiles.

23 Convicted Upon Food Violations

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—During the past month the food and drug inspectors of the state department of health have collected a total of 133 samples of ground meat, and of this number 48 were found to contain illegal preservative. So far, twenty-three convictions have been secured—the fine and court cost averaged about forty dollars per case. Other cases are yet to be filed.

The most common illegal preservative is sulphate of soda. This acts as a deodorant, preservative, and color restorer. Meat treated with this sulphate may look invitingly fresh even though stale and its effect as a deodorant is such that it masks the smell of decomposition.

The bureau of food and drugs has a field force of eight men whose entire time is spent in the inspection of food and drug establishments in order that articles not fit for human consumption are withdrawn from the channels of trade, and that products are properly labeled; also, that merchandise and places of business are kept clean and sanitary.

TO COLLEGE AT 81

CLEVELAND.—(U.P.)—Dr. Ellis Evans, 81, was graduated from Rio Grande, O., college 60 years ago. Later he attended Chicago Theological Seminary and was ordained to the ministry. Today he's attending Western Reserve University taking a course in social problems.

VILLAGE GETS FIRST ROAD

ALTOONA, Wash.—(U.P.)—A contract has been awarded for construction of a road to connect Altoona with the outside world. Since its founding, the village has depended on water communication.

WORK STARTS UPON ROAD IN BRAZOS AREA

FORT WORTH, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—A crew of 25 men started work today on the 70-mile stretch of road to be built from the Possum Kingdom dam site to the Palo Pinto county line at Graceland, J. G. Douglass, district project supervisor for WPA, announced today.

A total of 230 men are now at work at the Brazos river dam site, maintaining the camp, building fences, working on roads, and making surveys.

Captain H. A. Montgomery, army engineer, assigned to WPA to supervise the dam construction, set up offices in Mineral Wells today preparatory to beginning the work.

One Fined, Another Charged in Affray

Hollen Johnson, charged with affray in an altercation with Ray Judia five miles north of Rising Star Saturday this morning was fined $50 dollars and costs which was $13 and sent to jail. He will be in jail for 21 days.

Tony Johnson is in jail waiting action of the grand jury on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He also is charged with affray. Johnson has asked a jury trial. The case of carrying concealed weapons will be taken up by the grand jury in its next meeting.

Italians Rout Ethiopians On Northern Front, Move On Hills

(Copyright 1936 by United Press) FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Italian Northern Army, By Courier and Plane to Asmara, Eritrea, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Italian regulars and Fascist militiamen are mopping up the saddle shaped hill of Amba Aradam today after their biggest victory of the Italian-Ethiopian war.

The remnants of a demoralized Ethiopian force of 80,000 men is trying to sneak in small groups through the Italian lines to join the main armies to the south, while the jubilant Italians tail over the rocky hill, searching and routing out stragglers. Before the Italians lies a clear path to the rugged mass of Amba Alagi, 18 and a half miles farther south, which is expected to be the next objective and perhaps the final one before the rains of mid-March.

The Italians, in a six-day battle, routed an army estimated at 80,000 Ethiopians. It was estimated that they conquered 300 square miles of new territory.

The defeated army was led by Ras Mulegatta, Ethiopian minister of war.

The Italians claimed that they had slain 5,000 Ethiopians with a loss of only 500 to themselves.

It was believed that the Italian victory might possibly force Ras Seyoum to the north to throw his men into the breach opened by heavy losses there.

SENATE OKEHS APPROPRIATION TO PAY BONUS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The senate today approved an appropriation of $1,730,000,000 to provide funds for immediate funds for immediate payment of the soldiers bonus in baby bonds and cash.

The appropriation was attached to the independent offices appropriation bill in the form of an amendment by Senator James Byrnes, D., S. C.

It was an appropriation out of treasury funds and no effort to provide for raising the money.

After attaching the bonus rider to senate approved the entire independent offices bill, which provides $879,732,000 for independent offices and agencies.

'Skeleton Murder' Trial Continued

EASTLAND, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The trial of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Henry on murder charges in connection with the "skeleton" death of H. L. McBe of Rising Star today was continued until May 18 upon motion of the state, on grounds that material witnesses were absent.

WEATHER

EAST TEXAS—Cloudy, probably rain south tonight and Tuesday; sleet or snow in northeast tonight, considerably colder tonight and in south Tuesday, temperatures 16 to 21 in north, 22 to 26 southwest and freezing southeast except on coast, livestock warnings.

WEST TEXAS—Partly cloudy, colder, temperature 22 to 26 south, east, colder southeast, rising today, temperatures north Tuesday, livestock warnings north and east.

JUNIOR C OF C GROUP PLANS TO ORGANIZE

First definite action toward formation of a Cisco Junior Chamber of Commerce was taken this morning at a committee in the form of a breakfast at the Laguna hotel.

Emphasizing the fact that the organization should be for the purpose of cooperation with the Senior Chamber of Commerce and should seek to furnish young manpower for the general program as outlined by it rather than as any sort of competitive body, the group named a sub-committee to contact the Chamber of Commerce directors at their regular meeting Tuesday evening.

The sub-committee, composed of Dallas Wales, Frank Langston, and Dr. Hubert Seal, will offer the new organization's cooperation and seek sponsorship by the older body. The subcommittee will ask that the Chamber of Commerce name one of its directors an ex-officio director of the young organization in order to secure closer harmony between the two bodies.

Membership Drive

A membership drive will be staged as soon as possible, with special effort being made to reach and enlist young men not now engaged in civic work as carried on by other organizations. A low membership fee of $3 a year was set in order to reach as many of the young men as possible. This will include both the state Junior Chamber of Commerce membership fee and that of the local organization. It will entitle the members to attend the banquets and other functions of the organization without further charge.

For the membership drive two teams were selected, to compete against each other for membership. The first team is composed of Dallas Wales, Frank Langston, A. G. Tuttle, Dr. Paul Woods, and C. S. Karkalis. The other includes Jack Anderson, Horace Conley, Dr. Hubert Seal, Cleon Cogswell, and F. B. Altman.

The membership drive will not begin until after a report from those named to contact the Chamber of Commerce.

It was pointed out at the meeting this morning that a Junior Chamber of Commerce would furnish excellent training for young men in civic work, giving them experience that would enable them to take part in senior chamber of commerce service in a few years.

Seek Young Men

There are many young men of the city who would be glad to serve Cisco in any way possible, one committee man said, if they were asked, but who have not done so because they felt a reticence about pushing themselves into an activity.

The new body, while it will be composed somewhat of former members of the now inactive Cisco Boosters, will be organized on an altogether different plan, as nearly as possible like that of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce. It will seek to have a definite membership, with a large working body rather than a small one, and with many young men rather than a few of the older group at work on community enterprises.

It was pointed out that the junior body, while it possibly could not hope to have great financial power, could furnish manpower, the members actually doing much actual work on projects sponsored by the senior body and aiding it in other ways.

Horace Conley presided at the round table discussion this morning.

ALL POINTS ARE UPHELD BY 8 TO 1 JUSTICE VOTING

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The supreme court today upheld constitutionality of the New Deal's vast Tennessee Valley experiment on all points placed in issue in the present test.

The vote of the supreme court to uphold the general constitutionality of the TVA was 8 to 1. The lone dissenter was Justice James McReynolds. Four justices, however, presented a concurring opinion in connection with majority decision read by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

The opinion of the court was so sweeping that New Deal power and legal experts immediately asserted it had given the right of way to the New Deal's other vast experiments, such as Grand Coulee, Bonneville, and Fort Peck.

Injured Transient Grateful to Cisco Folk for Aid, Bed

Ciscoans are the finest people in the world, in the opinion of Marvin Payne, 25, who today said he was "very comfortable" after new friends had given him food, shelter, and medical attention.

Payne, a transient who drifted to Cisco in search of work, was hurt Saturday when he stepped from a truck here. He suffered a badly sprained and possibly a fractured ankle.

In terrible pain, he was immediately given medical attention. Then a cot was arranged for him at the police station and Ciscoans he came into contact with made up a little money to buy him food.

Payne, who came from Sand Point, Idaho, and who has worked in mills and has shipped on the west coast, was trying to get to the gulf and perhaps land a job on a ship. He heard of Brownwood as "a good town, a college town", though, and decided to try his luck for a part time job there, so that he could study a little until something opened up.

Lying on his cot today, he expressed his gratitude to Cisco folk for helping a transient who had run into misfortune and could not help himself.

RULING WON'T AFFECT TWO TEXAS RIVERS

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—The supreme court ruling in favor of the TVA has no effect on the Colorado river authority nor the Brazos Construction program.

An adverse decision likewise would have affected either.

SPANISH MOBS GROW VIOLENT AFTER VOTING

MADRID, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Grave disorder broke out in Spain today as an aftermath of yesterday's general election.

One person was killed and four injured in Madrid in a clash between demonstrators and police. Dispatches from Cartagena said 900 prisoners mutinied at the jail there, killing a warden and setting fire to the building.

The Madrid demonstrators headed by laborers at Madrid University laid down their tools and declared they were starting a strike.

The cabinet decided to declare a state of alarm throughout Spain. It is one of the legal steps leading to martial law.

LET'S MEMORY BETTER

TOLEDO.—(U.P.)—Toledo legionnaires scored 62 per cent higher in a memory test than students chosen at random, at Ohio State University, according to Arthur Grapov, who conducted the questionnaire here. At that, only eight out of 58 knew the color of their auto license plates.

House Boy Given Life Sentence In Death of Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, Feb. 17.—(U.P.)—Modesto Trujillo, not yet 16, today pleaded guilty to a murder charge in the second degree in the slaying of Carl Taylor, western writer who employed him as house boy. The youth was sentenced to 99 to 100 years in the New Mexico state penitentiary.

Taylor was shot to death in his cabin 25 miles from here Feb. 5, and investigators at first believed he might have been killed by a member of the strange religious cult of Penitentes, about whom he was writing. Later Trujillo confessed he killed Taylor to rob him.

W. M. Clark Funeral Is Held Here Today

Funeral services were held today for W. M. Clark, 76, at 2 o'clock at Neil's Funeral Home.

Mr. Clark died Saturday at 11:30 p. m., at his home on East Ninth street. He had been a resident here with his family about three years. He was not established in business. He is survived by his brother, J. Q. Clark of Cisco, his widow, and one daughter.

The American People Want Peace

The American people want peace. The people of the United States, Canada, Mexico, and the republics of Central and South America want peace.

There are some persons, many of them leaders, in each of the nations on the American continents who want and would profit greatly, financially or in military power, from war, but the people who make up the bulk of the population in each nation have had enough of strife and bloodshed. They want peace.

The United States and some of the other nations of the Americas were involved in the fighting that, although it had its roots far back in the history of Europe, actually began with an assassination at Sarajevo in 1914. Two nations of South America have recently passed through a period of economic self-strangulation in the war of the Gran Chaco. All of us have had enough of the struggle of man against man, nation against nation for the profit of a few whose names and whose designs we do not even know. We want peace.

In Europe a general conflagration is being kindled by power-seeking dictators and munition makers who are using the oppressed people as kindling and hate as the spark. The United States, despite the fumbling about of its politicians, wants peace. Like the other American nations, it wants no part of a foreign war which will tear down all that has in either the eastern or the western hemisphere.

President Roosevelt has recently written to the presidents of the republics of both Americas—we can be thankful that the American nations have not stooped to dictatorship as those of Europe has—requesting a peace conference. It has been announced that he has already received replies to some of the letters and it is known that such a peace plan is viewed with favor in the other republics.

Whether such a conference will be held and if so what its outcome will be only time will tell. If the people of the American nations are considered, which is more likely in the Americas than in any other part of the world, the Western World will have peace.

It appears that it may be too late to halt the march to war in Europe, in Asia, and in Africa. But if the Americas are really "the land of the free," they will not press their men into servitude of a few who want war and send them away to die for an end that is now worth having even the fomentors of war die for.

Cisco's Fire Insurance Credit

Announcement by the state fire insurance commission of the credits and penalties upon the key rate of the various cities of the state last week brought good news to Ciscoans, who learned that next year—effective March 1—they will receive a 10 per cent credit on their key rate.

The key rate is based on fire records for the entire state. Those cities which have a fire record better than the average are given a credit up to 25 per cent. Those with records below the average are assessed a penalty ranging to 15 per cent. Two of the neighboring cities, Ranger and Breckenridge, received penalties because their fire records were below the average during last year, while Cisco and Eastland, with good records, were awarded credits.

It is to the benefit of every property owner to keep the fire loss low. When Mr. Smith has a fire that causes $1,000 damage, that damage is charged up against the city, so that it affects not only the rate Mr. Smith must pay next year but that which his neighbor, Mr. Jones, must likewise pay to insure his property.

Cisco has been very fortunate in the last few years in keeping the fire loss low and consequently in receiving a credit upon its insurance rate. This good fortune has not been pure luck but cooperation between the fire department in fire fighting efficiency and the citizens in fire prevention. The combination has worked well in the past. Remembering that everyone is affected in the insurance rate, Ciscoans can hope that it will continue to do so.

OUT OUR WAY

UNDER THE DOME AT AUSTIN

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—(AP)—Lullaby of another special session of the Texas legislature has faded so rapidly that people no longer ask: "When will the special session begin?" The new query is: "Will there be a special session?"

The answer, probably, is "No." So long as state finances continue to improve and liquor taxes keep on building up a fund to pay old age assistance claims there is little chance of a session.

An offhand remark of Governor Allred caused most of the talk of another special session. It was made at the end of the last called session in 1935. He told a house committee sent to notify him of ad-journalment: "Good bye until January at least." The legislators took it as an indication they were to reconvene in January.

A session was considered seriously during January. Governor Allred sent out a questionnaire on it. After reading the answer and a report on what must be done before pension payments begin, he said there would be no "immediate" session. He has not discussed it since. Legislators, generally, have concluded there will be no session here until the regular biennial meeting of the legislature in January, 1937.

A new legislative body will assemble then. A majority of the present state senators have expiring terms. Others are taking Federal appointments or running for congress. Many members of the house of representatives hope to be senators in 1937 and sit at the east end of the state capitol instead of the west.

Senator John Hornsby, Austin, who boasts never having been absent from a day's session of the senate in eight years, will seek to return and add four years more to his perfect attendance record.

When Governor Allred started out as a mercy governor, he said there was one class of convicts he would not pardon—hi-jackers. There was therefore surprise when a dispatch from Springfield, Mo., told of conviction there of Jack Long, with the information that he had been released from the Texas penitentiary.

Long had received a 5 to 99 year sentence for robbery in Dallas. An immediate search of pardon records was started. Long's sentence had been commuted to 12 years by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson a short time before she went out of office. Convicts earn extra credit on their sentences for overtime work and good behavior. Though he had been convicted in 1928, he already had earned nine years and nine months time when he was commuted. He finished the remaining two years and three months in time to be released No. 1, 1935 without any clemency from Governor Allred.

The Texas Bar Association has expressed concern lest examinations of the law school of the University of Texas are too tricky. The lawyers should see the tests that were given girl applicants for stenographic jobs in the Drivers' License section of the state department of safety.

Beside the usual tests on dictation, copying, spelling and punctuation, applicants went through practical tests to determine concentration, understanding, accuracy and speed.

Each was given a test paper upon which there had been drawn a square, a circle and a triangle. The geometrical figures were so placed that part of the circle was within the square and within the triangle. Another part of the circle was within the square but outside the triangle. Another part of the circle was outside both the square and triangle. The same was true of the square and the triangle in reference to the others. The girls waited with poised pencils until the examiner told them to place certain figures in the various kinds of territory. They had five seconds to do it.

Oil is oil in east Texas, but it probably will be classified and identified soon. To tighten up oil law enforcement there now is a plan to have the gravity of oil specified on tender applications. A tender is a legal slip of paper upon which the oil and its products are free to move out of the oil field. If a processor gets a tender for 10,000 barrels of oil, he is able to move all the products that could be made from that much high grade oil.

Dick Holt, assistant attorney general who has been making a record for successful oil litigation, admits that when he began the job all he knew about oil was to have the filling station operator service his car. Now there is little that can be put over on him in the complicated industry. Holt takes nothing for granted. He gets out in the oil fields. He has meandered along Glade creek, gone through refineries; chunked clods of earth into fugitive oil; watched drag lines destroy open pits and investigated everything for himself.

Glade creek, incidentally, might claim to be the richest stream of oil in the world. The fugitive oil that has passed along its course has been worth much gold. Along its narrow way are crude contrivances to trap off the oil. One oil man told a recent east Texas visitor he would rather own Glade creek than 20 oil wells.

OATS THRIVE

PALMAR, Alaska — (AP)—Oats weighing 42.6 pounds per bushel were produced last season by colonists in the Matanuska valley. H. J. Leckner, superintendent of the Matanuska experiment station, announced. Most of the oats grown in the United States do not exceed 36 pounds per bushel, Leckner said.

ICE MAKERS AT EASE

TOLEDO — (AP)—Ice manufacturers of Ohio and Michigan met in annual convention here with easy conscience, during the cold wave. "We might as well be here as home," a spokesman said, "for nobody is buying ice this kind of weather, anyway."

PRISON FAILS TO REFORM

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — (AP)—More than half of the inmates at the state penitentiary at Walla Walla are "repeaters." One prisoner is in for the ninth time. The prison population is 1,523, compared to 1,000 a year ago.

DIGESTION is often overtaxed by our tense hurried existence!

HERE DELICIOUS FOODS TEMPT APPETITE—the famous Gold Coast Dining Room (above) at the Drake Hotel in Chicago. And here the fragrant, delicate smoke of Camels rises while Erik, famous maître d'hôtel, watches alertly over all to see that no wish goes unsatisfied. "So many of our guests smoke Camels," Erik says, "for they have found that choice tobaccos add to the pleasure of the meal. Camels are tremendously popular—a leading favorite here."

Smoking Camel Cigarettes Aids in Assuring Natural Digestive Action

"Hurry—hurry—hurry" seems to be the order of the day. People get caught in the lockstep of modern life. Tension finds the weak spot, so often—digestion. It has been shown that smoking Camels improves digestion . . . wards off the consequences of hurried, nervous living. Camels stimulate digestive action. They promote the feeling of well-being and good cheer so necessary to the proper assimilation of food. Camels set you right! And, in smoking Camels for digestion's sake, you may enter a whole new world of smoking pleasure. So turn to Camels. Expect an enticing mildness. Enjoy the appealing flavor of costlier tobaccos! They never tire your taste!

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

F. B. FOWLER on Star Route 1392, Maine, says: "It's eat-and-run with me, but I always top off with Camels. They are good for digestion."

WATCH YOUR STEP—a scene in which we all are actors. The rush tells on even the strongest. It's comforting to know that smoking Camels promotes healthy digestion . . . gently stimulates the natural processes.

HARD HITTER. Jane Sharp, tennis champion, says: "Smoking Camels helps me to digest my meal. Camels taste grand!"

WEATHER STRIP all windows and doors. This will keep out drafts of cold wind and will also keep out the dust when the spring winds begin. Most every house in Cisco has been subject to window frame and door frame shrinkage and as a consequence, cold air continually sweeps in and makes the fuel bill pile up when you try to stay comfortable. This weather stripping is easily put on and gets results. Our carpenters can put it on for you economically, or you can do it yourself. Weather stripping is economical and efficient, and will soon pay for itself. Call us for FREE information or demonstration.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGIN HERE TODAY JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she sets out on a three week ocean cruise. She received her ticket in place of the salary due her when the travel magazine employing her as a typist suspended publication. One board Jane meets handsome DIRK STROM who has been skiing at Lake Placid. He introduces her to his friend, SNOWSHOES, a detective. Snowshoes tells them that NORA LANE, famous actress, is on board. Jane owns the famous Kokoiar diamond, and it is known that she usually has it with her. The detective, looking over the crowd, says, "It looks as though a new game war has been set on all sailing to this ship."

Dirk asks Jane to go to the dance that night but she declines. She does not want him to think she is too interested in him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER V

DIRK STROM folded his expensive tweeds and hung them up carefully on hangers in a closet. He went to his traveling bag and took out the new white linens for the tropical phase of this cruise.

"How can I fill up a three-room suite with the contents of one bag?" he said, half-aloud, and laughed at himself in the mirror. "Here I am on a de luxe cruise in the most expensive suite," he mused. "It's more than a bride's suite. The bellhop said it was the royal suite. The King of Siam used it on his last transatlantic crossing. Who'd ever have thought it? One year ago today I was marooned out in the High Sierras, and had never seen a big ship. Nor a street car," he added, smiling. "Nor a building higher than the three-story saloon in Truckee."

Dirk got out his safety razor and took it inside the green-tiled bathroom, intending to shave before dinner. He had two hours to kill before 8 o'clock.

Then he took a silver trophy from his bag, and placed it on view on a stand in the big sitting room. He paused to admire it. It was the figure of a ski jumper poised in a mad flight through the air—symbolic of Dirk's victory in a ski jumping competition at Lake Placid.

Dirk went back into the bedroom and began to undress. When he stood by the bed in shorts and athletic, he ran a hand in his pants pockets and began to count his money, flinging it down on the covers. "Five dollars and sixty-two cents!" he said, aloud.

Dirk Strom had spent 20 years in an isolated mining town high up in the Sierras of California, self-educated in arithmetic as well as in skiing. Way back there in the eighties his father, a Norwegian, had been imported—since they are imported into the Andes today—for the task of carrying the mail to isolated mining camps on skis.

THROUGHOUT the nine months of isolation in the high Sierra snows, skis were the only practicable means of running swiftly over the ground from post to post. Old Lars had frozen to death in the blizzard of 1927, and his wife, a sturdy Norwegian, had taken his job until Dirk was old enough to become the pack animal and postman on the hazardous, sky-high route.

Then one day a celebrated skier had seen him jumping on the rude hill at Truckee, and, observing his style and terrific distance leaps, had sent him on an exhibition tour of the Rockies, the middlewest and the east with all expenses paid.

It was the man who had been following Dirk and Jane earlier. Instinctively Dirk barred the entrance.

Now on board the S. S. Oceanic, Dirk sat down in a chair and began to massage the tendons in a leg.

He had injured the leg in a fall on his skis at Lake Placid and it had cost him a coveted place on the American Olympic team this year. A little girl of five had run out on the jumping hill, in the path of his downward flight on skis. He had landed safely and was speeding straight toward the child at 60 or 70 miles an hour when he took the spill to avoid hurting her. He had rolled over and over and landed against a post.

With an injured leg he couldn't make the trip to Europe with the Olympic squad, and it was a bitter disappointment. The father of the child whose life he had saved had showered wealthy intentions on Dirk, all of which he refused except the one—a letter to a prominent ski manufacturer who accepted Dirk's new design for skis and gave him a job in a hickory sawmill down south where all the skis came from.

But when the doctor said it'd be a wise thing for Dirk to do a lot of sitting down and basking his leg in the sun, he accepted this offer of a cruise under a tropic sun.

Now, as he went into the bathroom to shave, Dirk smiled at his lone suitcase in the middle of this royal suite. The child's grateful father had ordered the best! Even

"Don't mind me, I'm not a forward guy. Name's Mannie Jackson. There's a friendly little game going on downstairs. Craps—they got it stacked up like a mint in there. But I don't like the noise. I came on this cruise to get a little shut-eye. Wouldn't care to have a drink on me at the bar before dinner? Aren't you lonely up here?"

Dirk hesitated. It all sounded harmless enough. And it was a pretty dull prospect—sitting around whittling on a stick when there might be something lively going on in the bar.

IN the back of his mind he kept saying: "This bird is up to something. I may as well see what's on his mind now. I don't want him prowling around here at night." He went out on deck with Mannie Jackson, and they made their way through the swarm of men in the bar.

Mannie seemed to have sized him up accurately from the appearance of his suite, for he said: "You don't look like one of these Broadway playboys—too much shoulder and fist—but you got a bridal suite on this cruise, and no bride. What's your racket?" he added.

"I haven't got a job at all, just now," Dirk said. "I'm only a ski jumper, with a bad leg."

They ordered drinks. "Oh, one of those things in the news reels," Mannie said. "I don't want to be personal. But you could go places—a young guy with a pan like yours."

"What's the matter with it?" Dirk said.

"You got it," Mannie said. "Looks and class with it. There's a lot of easy dough for smart guys in this world." He reached in a pocket, and showed him a picture of the actress, Nora Lane. "Now you take a dame like this one. She's on board. Now, if I was a guy like you I'd get to know her."

Dirk looked at him sharply, but Mannie assumed a confidential tone. "She's traveling under a false name. Nobody knows where in U. S. A. on our 'Educational Film News.' Admiration and astonishment make us a request of getting a series or a copy of your bulletin. He came to my room looking for the actress. Because it was the largest suite. They'll find her, sooner or later."

He said, scoffing: "Nora Lane wouldn't know me. Why, she's famous. She's in your school. The letter was signed, 'Yours sincerely, The Kobe Wakonahama P. S. E. F. D. T. Gotoz.'"

His eyes pounced upon the picture of Snowshoes Blake. He lifted a hand, and Snowshoes came toward him. Mannie Jackson stood up, and excused himself quickly.

"I'll see you later," he said. "Dirk," He paid the bartender and slipped away from the bar just as Snowshoes came up.

"I see you're consorting with the jungle," Snowshoes said. "I don't get you!"

"That snake who just left you. He's one of the few that ain't in captivity—yet. I've seen him in police court somewhere. Can't remember where. Shall we have another drink and go down to dinner? I want to show you some more of the jungle beasts that ain't put in zoos yet."

33 Are Present At County Christian Endeavor Meeting
The County Christian Endeavor Union meeting which was held at the First Christian church in Eastland Friday night February 14, was attended by 33 members, 14 from Cisco, 15 from Ranger, two from Abilene and 22 from Eastland. The business meeting presided over by Miss Florence Richardson was opened by a song service as follows: "Living For Jesus" led by Mrs. W. A. Richardson, with Miss Florence Richardson at the piano; "We Chose Christ" led by Miss Clara Geistman of Abilene; "Smile" led by Miss Richardson with Miss Clara Geistman at the piano. This service was followed by a prayer by Mrs. W. A. Richardson, and the reading of the minutes of the last meeting which was held at Cisco by the secretary, Miss Nadine Porter of Ranger.

Miss Clara Geistman and Ben Hallock of Abilene gave talks on the district convention to be held in Abilene March 6-8. All who can possibly do so were urged to attend this convention. The program was then turned over to Miss Mary Helen Childs of Ranger, who gave a talk on "Christian Endeavor Pledge". The 14 different sections of the pledge were represented by 14 members of the society, each representing the link of a chain and carried in his hand the link of a chain. Each gave an interesting talk followed by one verse of a song appropriate for the occasion. As each talk was given the links of the chain were joined. Miss Mary Helen Childs ended the program with a short talk on the efforts of the endeavor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Are Bridge Hosts
Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wood entertained friends with a bridge party in their home last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Henry Morris and Gene Brown won high scores. Mrs. J. O. Barnhill was winner of low scores. A Valentine motif predominated in accessories for the games and was repeated in refreshments of cake with whipped cream, hot chocolate and candy hearts which were served to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Maddox. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morris, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Barnhill, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Nance, and the host and hostess.

We cure each tobacco in a Chesterfield the way that is best for that tobacco

... another reason why Chesterfields are milder and taste better

When we say that a tobacco is good enough for Chesterfield cigarettes, we mean just this—

... TOBACCO that is ripened in the sunshine, then picked, leaf by leaf, when fully ripe.

... TOBACCO that is cured just right by the farmer—flue-cured, air-cured or sun-cured to seal in its good aroma and flavor.

... TOBACCO that is aged and mellowed in hogsheds or bales for two years or more until free from harshness or bite.

That is the kind of tobacco we use for Chesterfields—mild, ripe tobacco, cured just right and aged for flavor and taste.
