Nation Will Salute Its War Dead Today

By The Associated Press

The nation solemnly salutes its war dead today in Memorial Day observances from coast to coast and overseas.

The 88th observance of the day will also find millions of automobiles jamming highways for the traditional start of the summer season.

The National Safety Council estimates traffic accidents will cost 110 lives, 40 more than on a non-holiday Wednesday.

Last year's three-day Memorial Day weekend claimed 369 traffic deaths.

Rail and airlines looked for no big travel crush because the one-day holiday falls in the middle of the week.

President Eisenhower flew to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm yesterday for a round of golf and an overnight stay. He intended to be back at his White House desk today.

In Washington Secretary of the Army Wilbur M. Brucker will place a presidential wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in the Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery.

A combined Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine honor guard and various veterans' groups will take part in the ceremonies.

Marchers from the armed forces and veterans' organizations swing up Riverside Drive in New York's traditional Memorial Day parade. More than 6,000 marchers highlight Chicago's 88th annual Decoration Day parade. Other big parades mark the day in Boston, Cleveland, St. Louis, Little Rock, Ark., and Norfolk, Va.

Ceremonies in Los Angeles include a flight of F86 jets over Hollywood Memorial Park Cemetery.

Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas will speak at Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Francisco and a Coast Guard cutter will take Gold Star Mothers to the Farallon Islands offshore to scatter flower petals into the Pacific.

Brucker Says False Security Is Dangerous

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker cautioned the American people today against being "lulled into a false sense of security that there is any easy way short of blood and sacrifice" to preserve their safety.

He declared that "the propagation of the myth that we can ever manufacture security in the laboratory or in the machine shop can lead to nothing but disaster."

Brucker stressed the importance of patriotism to national security in a Memorial Day speech prepared for delivery in Arlington National Cemetry.

Brucker arranged to lay the presidential wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier during ceremonies sponsored by national veterans' and patriotic organizations.

The Army secretary said the United States must keep itself strong in arms to "cope with the formidable military aspects" of communism. He said the United States is "threatened by the hydra-headed Communist conspiracy, which is backed by the mightiest mobilized forces on earth."

Brucker said the United States is military strong because it has what he described as a "magnificent navy," a "splendid Marine Corps," a "great Air Force with intrepid pilots and a reliable and mobile Army."

Byrd, reporting as chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, said the biggest increases occurred in the Departments of Agriculture, Interior, Commerce and Air Force.

"This was the 12th consecutive monthly increase in civilian employment by the Air Force," he said, "the cumulative increase being 3,761."

Twining To Visit Russians

WASHINGTON (AP)—With President Eisenhower's blessing, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, today accepted an invitation to attend Russia's air force show June 24.

An announcement by Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said that in addition to authorization from Eisenhower, Twining's visit to the Soviet Union also had been approved by Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson.

Twining will be accompanied by several Air Force officers.

But there was no word in the terse announcement that any of the other four members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff would make the trip.

When word of the invitation to Twining first got out last week top government officials let it be known they would give serious consideration to any bid for the Joint Chiefs to visit Russia.

Crude Oil Price Hike Is Favored

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America says that an immediate increase in crude oil prices is both necessary and justified regardles of contrary opinions by some officials of oil importing companies.

Robert L. Wood of Midland, Tex., issued the statement here today.

"Present conditions in the domestic oil industry call for ar immediate adjustment in crude oil prices to cover the increases in wages and higher prices of steel and other materials," Wood said.

"With steadily increasing costs, there has been no general crude oil price adjustment in three years and only one small increase in eight years," he said. Under these conditions, domestic producers cannot continue to find and develop the domestic reserves needed to keep pace with increasing demands."

Wood said some importing company officials who argue against an oil price adjustment on the basis that the supply situation does not justify an increase "are mixing cause and effect."

"If over-supply is a factor,' 'he said, "it is an import problem and not a domestic situation. National welfare and security require that domestic oil supplies be expanded. In the face of surplus foreign oil and higher cost, domestic producers are being denied the funds for expansion.

"A continuation of these conditions would lead inevitably to the liquidation of the oil producing industry in hte United States.";

ALGIERS (AP)—French troops today claimed they had wiped out three bands of nationalist rebels in a series of clashes in eastern Algeria.

"Two years ago," he said, "this convention recognized the Supreme Court decision relative to segregation was in harmony with the constitutional guarantee of equal freedom to all citizens and with the principle of equal justice and love for all men.

The guardsmen will return here June 16 and will spend most of the next day at the armory here cleaning equipment.

Two British Soldiers Die

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A bomb tossed into the back of an army truck crowded with British soldiers killed two and wounded 20 others outside Famagusta today. Twelve of the wounded were described as in serious condition.

British authorities attributed the bomb tossing to EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground.

The troops were returning to their camp after a rehearsal for a parade to mark tmorrow's obsevance of the Queen's birthday.

A strict curfew was immediately slapped on the town.

The deaths brought to 33 the number of British troops killed in rebel attacks on the British island colony where Cypriots of Greek descent are fighting to unite with Greece.

In Paphos, British troops shot to death a Greek Cypriot as he tried to break out of a search cordon.

The curfew imposed on the Turkish quarter of Nicosia was lifted today.

Vote Light In Primary

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson won a nip-and-tuck battle with Sen. Estes Kefauver in Florida's Democratic presidential primary yesterday.

With returns from 1,680 of the state's 1,778 precincts, unofficial totals were:

Stevenson, 212,217

Kefauver, 204,819

Stevenson had 22 votes in the Democratic National Convention to 6 for Kefauver.

The vote was light and the results closer than expected. Neither candidate could claim a smashing victory.

Both candidates already were in California in a stretch drive for that state's 68 convenqtion votes. The winner in the June 5 test—their final primary clash—will get all 68.

The Stevenson-Kefauver fight overshadowed a no-contest victory for President Eisenhower on the Republican side of the Florida primary and another primary election in Kentucky featuring a Democratic factional fight.

Eisenhower was opposed by a partial slate of rival convention delegates for Sen. Knowland (R-Calif). But Knowland supported Eisenhower and made no campaign for himself.

Florida Democrats also tossed out Richard D. Barker, their national committeeman who was censured by the state committee last spring for failing to support Stevenson as the 1952 presidential candidate. They replaced Barker with Jerry W. Carter, who said he would support this year's nominee or resign.

Stevenson took a late, shaky lead after a see-saw fight most of the way in Florida. His percentage inched up as counting progressed. Kefauver termed the close vote "a great moral victory for me."

He said he had contended against practically all of the organized political efforts, six Democratic congressman, former Gov. Millard Caldwell and "a tremendous amount of money."

Stevenson said, "I am, of course, very pleased . . . and deeply grateful to the people of Florida for their endorsement." He said the results point up "the importance of redoubling our efforts" in the California primary.

In a Kentucky primary marked by sharp dissension in Democratic ranks, Sen. Earle C. Clements won a resounding victory over forces headed by Gov. A. B. (happy) Chandler.

British Plan Favored By UN Members

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A majority of the U.N. Security Council was committed today in favor of a British proopsal to haye Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold keep working for peace between the Arabs and Israel.

But the Arabs were dubious and the stand of the Soviet Union, which has a veto, was unknown.

Britain introduced the resolution yesterday after Hammarskjold reported to the council on his month long mission to the Middle East and the cease-fire pledges he obtained from Israel, Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

Eight of the 11 council members, in three hours of speeches, supported the British proposal fully or in principle. The council adjourned until tomorrow.

Arab delegates, who are not on the council but whose views count heavily with council members Iran and Russia, showed revisions in the resolution had failed to meet their contention that it was not worded tightly enough to keep Hammarskjold from working o foster a permanent Arab-Israeli peace settlement.

Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, presenting the proposal, said the few changes in wording aimed at "accuracy and clarity." But Omar Loutfi of Egypt told reporters it still was not clear to him.

The last paragraph would have the council request Hammarskjold "to continue his good offices with the parties, and to report to the Security Council as appropriate." Reading this, Loutfi asked, "Good offices to do what?

The Arabs were known to fear that long-standing U.N. decisions on Palestine which have never been carried out — the 1947 partition plan, for example — might now be abandoned.

7 Alleged Reds Nabbed

BOSTON (AP)—Seven alleged Communist party leaders in Massachusetts, rounded up by FBI agents in three cifies, faced the holiday in jail today in lieu of $10,000 bail each.

Described by the Justice Department as top party functionaries, the seven were arrested yesterday after a federal grand jury in Boston returned an indictment charging them with conspiracy to violate the Smith Act.

Four men and a woman were seized in Boston; a man was arrested in Queens, N. Y.; and another was taken into custody in Chattanooga, Tenn. They are accused in the indictment of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

They included Otis Archer Hood, 56, erstwhile Communist party candidate for governor and other political offices in Massachusetts, and Michael A. Russo, 47, one-time party candidate for U. S. senator and governor in Connecticut.

Senate Okays Highway Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate passage of the highway bill early today assured the nation of mammoth program of road construction aimed at coping with the ever-swelling flow of motor traffic.

Passage came after midnight. Weary senators shouted approval of the measure that would set in motion the greatest peacetime federal building program in history. The Senate finished work on the bill at a session that ran 14 hours and 15 minutes — the longest so far this year.

Before adjourning for a Memorial Day holiday, the Senate named its conferees to meet with those from the House to hammer out a compromise bill.

This was expected to be done without too much difficulty, since both branches are agreed on authorizing a vast expansion of federal funds for roads, along with new gasoline and other taxes to help pay for them.

The legislation will give President Eisenhower a highway program of about the size he has been asking. But Congress last year rejected his plan for financing much of the new spending with special bond issues. Instead, both houses approved taxes designed to do the work on a pay-as-you-build basis.

Key senators who will serve on the Senate-House conference committee said in separate interviews they believed groundwork already had been laid for settling the major difference with the House.

This involves the controversial question of how to divide among the states 25 billion dollars in federal money to be spent on the 40,000-mile interstate systemhunder both versions of the bill.

The projected 13-year program contemplates an interstate road network to link practically every city of more than 50,000 population with no-intersection, no-stop-light roads. Also planned are by-passes around 50 major cities and inner loop expressways in some cities.

Higher Mail Rate Urged To Solve Huge Postal Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Post Office Committee called on Congress today to face up to a $1,000-a-minute postal deficit by enacting higher mail rates.

A committee report said the average annual deficit of the Post Office Department is running about 460 million dollars.

"The fact is we are losing $1,000 a minute," the report said, and added:

"The committee recognizes that continued delay (in enacting rate boosts) will not solve the fiscal problems of the Post Office department."

The committee has approved a bill to raise rates on first, second and third class mail. The increases have been asked by the administration. As recommended by the committee, the boosts would add an estimated 432 million dollars a year to postal revenues.

The committee report on the bill was made available to a reporter today after its filing with the House clerk. It will be published generally later.

House leaders have been silent on the chances of a postal rate increase this year.

But yesterday Rep. Mccormack (D-Mass), majority leader, said preliminary results from a poll among Democratic House members showed "strong feeling" against raising the price of a letter stamp from 3 to 4 cents.

The committee's bill calls for such a raise.

Its report said that "currently first-class mail not only fails to meet its allocated costs but also fails to make any payment whatever for certain additional costs of providing first-class service."

The committee said first-class mail could be charged at a rate of 5 or 6 cents a letter "and still not be overpriced."

The report noted the cost figures did not tak into account preferential treatment given first-class mail, adding:

"The entire postal service is geared to the handling of letter mail."

The committee said rate increases are long overdue on second-class mail, newspapers and magazines.

The report said the loss in handling second-class mail in the last 10 years has been about two billion dollars, which it said is levied against taxpayers in general.

Third-class mail rates, applying principally to advertisig matter, also would go up under the committee's bill.

Japanese Struck By Radiation Neurosis

TOKYO (AP)—"Radiation neurosis" is reported hitting a new high among the Japanese, twice the targets of American A-bombs in World War II.

The big conservative newspaper Asahi reported fear of dangerous radioactive fall-out from nuclear tests is especially acute in southwestern Honshu, the main Japanese island. Residents of Osaka, Kobe and Kyoto are showing signs of mass hysteria, the newspaper reported.

The government has said little to counter the fears and rumors, although local authorities have scotched some individual reports of injuries from "radioactive rain."

Radiation dangers have been emphasized heavily in Japan since the wartime bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and particularly since the 1954 Bikini H-bomb test "dusted" the fishing boat Lucky Dragon and its crew of 23 Japanese. The latest wave of fall-out fear stems from the current nuclear weapon tests the United States is conducting in the Bikini Atoll, 2,200 miles southeast of Japan.

The first test explosion at Bikini this year occurred May 5, and on May 21 a hydrogen bomb was dropped there. Last Monday the Tokyo Central Weather Station reported atmospheric pressure readings indicated another hydrogen blast had been set off, but the U.S. Atomic Energy Commision has neither confirmed nor denied this.

The announcement that the United States would conduct the tests touched off a rash of protest meetings and petitions in Japan. The tempo of the reaction stepped up as the test date approaches, undeterred by American assurances that the testing site was sufficiently remote to insure dissipation of the radioactive particles before they reached populated areas.

Japanese scientists maintain a constant check on radioacticity in the local rainfall, with the results published almost daily. The reports are always negative, but this hasn't stopped fear of "radioactive rain," according to Asahi.

A grammar school in Kyoto prefecture has started teaching students how to use umbrellas to prevent being wet by "radioactive active rain." Osaka merchants have sold nearly 100,000 raincoats. One hat shop has put up a big advertisement, "let's protect our heads from radioactive rain."

Wind, Hail Hits Section Of Panhandle

By The Associated Press

Skies cleared over Texas Wednesday after high winds, hail and rains battered the Panhandle Tuesday night and thunderstorms swept other sections.

Winds up to 60 miles an hour and nearly an inch of rain hit Amarillo.

Large hailstones were reported at Hereford. Some hail also fell at Bushland.

At Mountain Creek Lake near Dallas high winds endangered several fishermen in small boats. They were rescued by the Dallas Naval Air Station Patrol. Winds up to 50 miles whipped through Dallas, uprooting a few trees.

Wednesday morning it was generally clear in the extreme southwestern and western portions.

Considerable cloudiness prevailed over the central, eastern and southern portions, but the clouds were expected to thin out during the day.

There was a possibility of scattered thundershowers in the northern half of the state.

Temperatures ranged from the mid-70's in Central Texas to the low 80's along the coast.

Waco reported an overnight rainfall of .49 of an inch, Lufkin .50, Childress .02, and Dalhart .30.

Vote Set On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some backers of civil rights legislation expressed confidence today the House will vote on the issue before Congress adjourns.

A bipartisan group of 21 House members announced yesterday they are circulating a petition to bring the measure, embodying President Eisenhower's recommendations, to the House floor if it bogs down in the Rules Committee.

But one of the leaders of the group, Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif), said in an interview the petition is "only a standby." He said he does not think the announcement as impaired chances the Rules Committee will bring the bill out.

Southerners have opposed the measure at every opportunity and can be counted to do so again in the Rules Committee, headed by Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va), even though they are in the minority there.

Numbers For Prayer Get All Mixed Up

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—This is the gospel truth, if not the Gospel: When you dial 3-5000 in Boise you get Mrs. Eva McReynolds, not a recorded prayer.

Mrs. McReynolds' telephone has been ringing steadily since last Sunday, when a Boise minister announced that by dialing 3-5000 you would hear recorded prayers played on the 'phone by automatic device.

But he got his telephone numbers mixed. Number 3-5000 is Mrs. McReynolds' telephone. The correct numbers for the prayer are 3-000 and 3-3000.

Galindez, a lecturer at Columbia University, vanished last Month. He was an outspoken opponent of the Trujillo regime in the tiny Spanish-speaking Caribbean republic.

During the demonstration, Nicholas Silfa, a spokesman for the party, told newsmen Galindez was shanghaied sometime between March 13 and 16.

Heart Stole By Housemaid

KREMS, Austria (AP) — A pretty housemaid, jailed for stealing jewels from an English lord, has found her sentence increased because she stole the heart of a prison guard. The second theft, authorities charged, contributed to turning the local prison into a love nest.

They gave this account:

The former maid, Leopoldine Schoeb, 24, was sentenced to 2½ years for stealing some $1,000 worth of gems while in the employment of Lord Rendlesham. Behind bars she turned her attentions on a 30-year-old guard. The guard succumbed to her charms.

When the other prisoners found out what was going on they began to blackmail the guard into arranging meetings between male and female prisoners. They also made him serve as a cell-to-cell bearer of love letters.

A court sentenced the guard to eight months at hard labor. The maid got another four months tacked on her sentence. Although the jewel theft occurred in London, the maid was sentenced here under provision of Austrian law dealing with persons arrested for crimes in foreign countries.

Although major U. S. cities have increased only 3.8 per cent in population in the last five years, suburban areas have increased 27.8 per cent.

Spadea's american designer pattern

by Claire McCardell

If Claire McCardell didn't actually invent the shirtwaist dress, she certainly is the designer responsible for making it one of America's greatest classics. In her 1956 version there is a new easy quality. The tiny standup collar band has a separate, narrow string tie. For hot weather spots, you might prefer short sleeves, instructions for which are included. In addition, because this is a hand cut pattern, the measurements are really accurate so that the fine detail can be handled without difficulty. Make it in tie silk, novelty cotton, shantung or sheer wool. This hand cut, custom made pattern is not standard sized but is the only pattern available with exclusive designers retail sizing measurements for a more accurate fit, better styling, less altering. Open perforations for easy markings without damaging tissue; also time saving, fabrics saving, money saving; no tracing wheel or carbon paper needed; easy to follow instructions for beginners. From this chart select the size best for you. Size 12 requires 3⅞ yards of 36-inch material for dress and ½ of a yard of 35-inch material for interfacing. To order pattern No. 1255, state size, enclose $1.00. Airmail handling requires 25c extra. Address American Designer Patterns, P.O. Box 535, G.P.O., Dept. S-13, New York 1, N.Y. Education Fellowship Is Received By Snyder Girl

LUBBOCK, — Miss Jane Gilmore, Texas —Tech English instructor, was one of 30 women in the United States chosen this year to receive a $2,000 educational fellowship from the American Association of University Women.

Miss Gilmore, the first Texas Tech teacher to receive an AAUW fellowship, will use the grant to help finance her doctoral dissertation. She has been working part-time on her Ph. D. at Tech since 1952.

Her dissertation will be entitled, "The House As A Symbol in the Work of a Group of Nineteenth Century New England Writers." She will treat the house as a significant part of the writers' environment and as a meaningful symbol in relation to both structure and content of their work.

The AAUW fellowship was awarded on a competitive basis with members of the organization and specialists in the various academic fields serving as a panel of judges.

A 30-year-old native of Pyron, Tex., Miss Gilmore has received all her advanced academic training at Tech. She received her B. A. degree in journalism in 1944 and her M.A. degree in English in 1945. Since then she has taught high school journalism and English at Snyder and Levelland in addition to her teaching at Tech.

She is a member of Alpha Chi, honorary scholastic society, Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism fraternity for women, Sigma Delta Pi, honorary Spanish fraternity, and Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English organization.

SALAMI - SHARP CHEESE ROLLS WITH PICKLE-TOMATO SAUCE

2 cups water
1 cup uncooked white rice
1 teaspoon salt
¼ lb. sharp yellow cheese
6 slices (½ lb.) large salami
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
½ cup water
3 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

Put the water, rice and salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover with a lid and leave over this heat 14 minutes. After the rice cooks 14 minutes, remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on until ready to serve, at least 10 minutes. While rice cooks, cut the cheese into six strips about 2½ inches long, but shorter than the salami slices are wide. Roll a slice of salami around each strip of cheese. The cheese should be completely covered. Fasten the salami roll with a wooden toothpick. Melt the butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add the salami-cheese rolls and quickly brown on one side. Turn and brown on the other. Some of the cheese may cook out of the rolls. After the salami - cheese rolls are browned, stir in the tomato sauce, water and pickle relish. Heat, stirring frequently. To serve, place the hot rice on a platter. Arrange the salami rolls over the top. Pour the sauce over the rice and salami - cheese rolls. Makes 6 servings.

Not Winning—Losing

There are those who believe that the meeting of heads of state at Geneva last year opened the floodgates for the special kind of propoganda the Kremlin has been carrying out so assidously. When the chiefs of state of Britain, the U. S. and France sat down with the putative chief of state of Russia the meeting lent a glow of respectability to the Russians they had never before enjoyed.

This was calculated to convince the people of the Soviet Union and the Iron Curtain satellites that the Kremlin crowd could go almost anywhere and meet on equal terms with the great of the earth. Nothing came of that meeting except the breaking down of the moral berriers that separate the captive world from the free world and Russia has been making use of the same technique ever since. The visits to india and Burma were followed by Adenauer's visit to the Kremlin, and the recent visit of Premier Mollet of France. Neither of this pair got anything from the Kremlin, but the Kremlin enhanced its prestige by the spectacle of two Western chiefs of state making the pilgrimage to Holy Russia. To Iron Curtain peoples Adenauer and Mollet were doing what Chamberlin twice did on the eve of World War 11 when he kowtowed to Hitler.

Malenkov, then Bulganin and Khrushchev made medicine by visiting Britain. This latter precious pair had tea with the Queen — and thereby still further enhanced their growing reputation as just a couple of statesmen who love peace and know how to balance a saucer of tea.

Currently Russia is pressuring for a visit from high-level U. S. air chiefs to Moscow. It is a tricky situation. If our chiefs go, the visit will heighten the impression that the world waits on the Kremlin. If they refuse to go, the U. S. will be accused of refusing to engage in peaceful commerce. Either way we jump, Russia calculates to strengthen the impression, on both sides of the Iron Curtain, that (1) she is entirely respectable and trustworthy, or (2) the U. S. is an old sour puss deadbent on war, depending on which way we jump.

We are not winning the cold war of diplomacy; we are not holding our own. We are losing.

A Divided Sentiment

The more evenly divided the races, the more difficult the problem of integration. That is axiomatic, a situation exemplified throughout the deep South.

For the Catholic Digest, George Peabody ran a survey of the integration sentiment of the county for its June Clip Sheet and established as nearly as such surveys can establish that 48 per cent of whites and 90 percent of Negroes felt the races should be integrated.

In the South, the whites opposed registered 74 percent, those in favor 17 percent. Among Southern Negroes 8 pecent opposed and 87 pecent favored. Nine pecent of whites and 5 percent of Negroes had no opinion.

In the North, 32 percent of whites felt the races should be kept apart, 58 percent favored integration and 10 percent had no opinion. Among Northern Negroes the division was 95 to 3 in favor of integration, only 2 percent undecided. In the whole country 48 percent of whites wanted integration, 42 percent did not.

Religiouswise, of Northern white protestants 33 percent felt the races should be kept apart and 58 percent that they should be brought together. Nine percent had no opinion. Northern Catholics voted 30, 61 and 9 percent on these propositions while Jewish sentiment was 31, 44 and 25 percent respectively.

Among Southern white Protestants 75 percent opposed integration, while among the Catholics the percentage was even higher—76 percent — possibly because some prelates had pushed integration in parochial schools rather vigorously, and thus raised the issue directly. Among those of Jewish faith in the South the percentages were: Kept apart, 45; bring together 33; no opinion 22.

The question that evolked these results was rather loosely put, or generalized. It read as follows: "Most suggestions for solving the Negro - White problem seem to be of two general kinds. One is to keep the two races far apart, the other is to bring them closer together. Which do you think is the better idea—to keep them apart or bring them together?"

Maine To Mexico Without A Stop Light Is Goal Of Nation's Highway Planners

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation is on the eve of a huge new superhighway program costing about 27½ billion dollars over the next 13 years, with the federal government putting up 25 billions and the states the rest.

It will mean a system of 40,000 miles spanning the country, linking the main ciites, with six, four and two lanes, overpasses, underpasses, and a minimum of stoplights.

What will it be like? Rep. Russell V. Mack (R-Wash) recently painted a picture of it:

". . . Thirteen years from now the American motorist can travel . . . northern Maine to the Mexican border south of San Diego, Calif., a distance of 4,500 miles, over four-lane divided highways on which traffic will not be interrupted by a single stoplight."

Sound romantic or far-fetched? An official of the government's Bureau of Roads, which will supervise the project, said, "No, that's just about right."

In Congress the House has passed a bill to set this system in motion. The Senate was expected to pass a similar one today. There will be differences between the two remaining to be ironed out. President Eisenhower is expected to make the measure law.

Why such a superhighway network? For one thing: defense, or speed in case of war. For another: to meet traffic needs. Ten years ago there were 34 million registered vehicles on the highways. Today there are 62 millions. In 10 years there will be about 85 million.

But the 27½ billion dollars for the superhighways is not all the money the government and states will spend on highways. They will probably spend an additional 23 billions over the next 13 years on primary, secondary and urban roads. The federal government's shape should be about 36½ billion dollars.

The federal government and the states for years have been chipping in on the cost of primary (main, most traveled highways), secondary (less-traveled) and urban (highways going into cities) roads.

In this country there are now about 240,000 miles of primary, 500,000 miles of secondary, and perhaps 15,000 miles of urban roads. Where does the new supersystem fit into this picture.

Of the 240,000 miles of primary roads, 40,000 will be designated as part of the interstate system. Does that mean no new roads will be built, that the 40,000 miles of primary roads will simply be improved? No.

Some of those 40,000 miles will be widened, straightened out, over passed or underpassed, or otherwise improved. But about 32,000 miles of new roads— which will become the primary roads—will be built.

For example: a present primary road—or parts of it—may have to be diverted to make it shorter or more direct.

One official of the Bureau of Roads figured the program will mean employment for maybe 400,000 men a year working directly on construction and perhaps for 600,000 a year in business connected with roadbuilding.

This isn't all free. Taxes are going up on motorists and truckers. For example:

A boost of 1 cent a gallon to 3 cents on the gasoline tax, special motor fuel and diesel fuel; an increase on the tire tax from the present 5 cents to 8 cents a pound; a new tax of 3 cents a pound on camelback used for retreading; a rise of two percentage points—to 10 per cent—in the manufacturer's tax on trucks, buses, and trailers; and a higher tax on trucks weighing over 26,000 pounds

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

CASSANDRA. By Frances Clippinger, Rinehart.

According to the jacket Cassandra "could have had any man, but wanted only one."

That's not unusual, and she had several, it develops in the course of this purplish novel, but the one she wanted was her brother John. He is at Princeton, and he is narrator. The sister, four years his senior, had had a wretched evening at a ball given by her rich New York parents, and it wound up when she in her late teens hopped into bed with John, in his midteens. She was seeking only the comfort a brother might legitimately offer, ostensibly, but her father wasn't so naive and packed her off to England and his son to college.

Nothing could go wrong with several thousand miles between them even in this age of miracles. But now she has returned. Cutting classes and skipping a date with another girl, John rushes off breathless to New York and Cassie.

Father does not approve of this, either, and again he is right. He wants her to marry Carl, wealthy, willing and dull, but John and Cassandra exchange constant notes, "Dearest, meet me here, meet me there" at concert, theater and museum—where among the antiquities they see a statue of a Pharaoh who did marry his sister. Cassandra, the elder and leader of this madness, at last rents a hide - away, but they no sooner close the door than a detective leads father to their lair.

For this novel there is no happy ending, as you can guess. However, this does not rise to the level of tragedy; instead of a trial of two souls, this is a fictional situation though to be sure a permissible one developed painstakingly and not offensively.

Cross-Country Phone Call Routine In New Jersey

By FRANCES LEWINE

ENGLEWOOD, N.J., May 30 (AP)—It's routine here to telephone across the country, just by dialing, in about 20 seconds.

Bell Telephone Co. customers in Englewood pioneered in 1951 a new 3-D—direct distance dialing—that now is possible in 101 communities across the nation.

Some 800,000 people in these areas in nine states can just flick the dial and be connected over distances as far as 3,000 miles away.

Thirty-five cities in New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Missouri and California will be added to the network in the next six months.

Some day, the telephone company hopes, all telephoning will be automatic, with the operator there only for trouble calls or special services.

It's automation at the peak, with the most amazing electronic brain equipment doing all the work of the telephone operators, plus making out the toll charges. The nation is divided into zones, each with a three-digit code, like 2-0-2 for Washington, D.C. the zone code is dialed and then the regular number.

While you dial and as you talk vital data about your call is punched onto a roll of paper tape that looks like the rolls fed to the old player pianos.

Later, it goes through a machine that translates the punchholes into toll charge bills.

It may sound easy, but the equipment involved in one typical dial center in Newark, N.J., takes up three stories with floor-to-ceiling apparatus that would fill 50 freight cars.

By the end of this year, two million customers at 180 locations will have direct distance dialing.

Success May Bring Disillusion, And It Takes Courage To Pull Up And Start Over

By HAL BOYLE

SYLVA, N.C. (AP)—Many men who dream a big dream and make it come true learn to their surprise that it isn't what they really wanted after all.

But what can they do? Most remain embittered prisoners of a phantom success they no longer enjoy but are afraid to give up.

It takes a good man to give up his hard-won position at the peak and fight back down the rocky road he has traveled in order to regain something finer he lost earlier on the way up.

Such a man is John Parris, the only reporter I can name offhand who covers his beat in his own Cadillac.

John's ancestors journeyed from the coastal plain into the mountains of western North Carolina along rude horse and oxen paths shortly after the American Revolution, and the family has put its roots down pretty deep here since then.

But John, who became a reporter at 13 and never encumbered his mind with college lumber, got a yearning for the far places. Like most small-town newspapermen, he dreamed of becoming a top by-line writer in the big city.

He did. Before he was 25 he was writing daily feature articles out of New York for a news agency.

But more distant fields called. John went to London during the blitz raids. He landed as a war correspondent with the initial Allied forces that invaded Africa on Nov. 8, 1942.

After the war, John returned to New York, became a diplomatic correspondent for the Associat New York, became a diplomatic correspondent for the Associated Press and covered the birth and development of the United Nations. He scored a number of notable beats. Covering the homburg hat set and its intrigues was heady, exciting and important. Yet something, he didn't know what, was missing.

In 1946 he met and within five weeks married Dorothy Luxton, a pretty art teacher from Topeka, Kan. But he had the forethought to tell her when he proposed:

"Honey, you may have to learn to use a double-bitted ax to cut up wood to keep a fire going."

Soon after, his father, a jeweler here, died, and John took a leave of absence to come down and settle the estate.

"Almost as soon as I got here," he recalled, "I realized what was missing in my life. It was a kind of happiness I had known in the hills, and hadn't been able to find anywhere else."

It took a lot of courage for John to resign his job as a diplomatic correspondent at the United Nations and start is career all over in his old home town. It took a lot of understanding on his wife's part to back him. But she did. Neither has regretted the decision.

It wasn't easy. John spent two years on a novel that didn't quite come off, but, as he says, "may yet."

But in 1950 he began promoting "Unto These Hills," a pioneer outdoor drama of the Cherokee Indians that this year may draw its millionth spectator. On top of this and some magazine writing chores John started writing a column called "Roaming the Hills" for the Asheville Citizen.

It spread faster than the rhododendron does in June. A book of his collected vignettes of mountain people and old mountain customs recently sold out a first edition printing of 10,000 copies in a few weeks. more books are in prospect.

Everywhere John goes in the mountains he is recognized and welcomed. He purrs his Cadillac 200 to 300 miles on an average day, and may ride through four rainbows. He never drove through a single rainbow on his way to work at the United Nations.

Missile Launching Brings On A Flurry Of Activity

By VERN HAUGLAND

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., May 30 (AP)—Crash boats scurry out to clear all shipping from within five miles of the cape jutting from Florida's east central coast.

Air traffic between Daytona Beach and Palm Beach is diverted westward. Strangers are herded off this 12,000-acre auxiliary Air Force base. Visiting reporters are escorted to Patrick Air Force Base, 18 miles south of here, and kept indoors.

No explanations are given, but word gets around that a "bird" is to be launched. At the Air Force missile test center, this may mean any one of a variety of missiles.

Security restrictions are tight, but after the sirens stop and the tension eases, you learn that the bird was the North American Navaho—a guided missile designed to carry a nuclear warhead from one continent to another faster than a plane can fly.

The Navaho is one of two intercontinental missiles which have been put through their paces at this testing ground for the most destructive birds in the world. The other is the Northrop Snark, which nudges but has not yet exceeded the 760 m.p.h. speed of sound. Both have ranges up to 5,000 miles.

In addition the cape has seen a whole arsenal of shorter range missiles, developed through a program which this year will cost a billion dollars—but whose potential value to the nation can never be measured.

The test center has come a long way since its first missile— a combination of the WAC Corporal and a German V2 rocket— was launched by the Air Force July 24, 1950. It has expanded almost as swiftly as the number, range and complexity of the fantastic weapons it helps to perfect.

The birds which rise from Cape Canaveral now have a clear track down a range stretching more than 1,000 miles across the Caribbean. Eventually they will have a right of way across more than 5,000 miles of ocean, to Ascension Island in the South Atlantic and even beyond.

Northrop and North American, builders of the Snark and Navaho, each have two hangars. Another houses the famed missile built by, and named for, the Redstone Arsenal in Alabama. The Redstone is a ballistic missile, which differs from a guided missle in that its direction is not controlled once it has been launched. A ballistic missile may speed as high as 8,000 miles an hour—12 or 13 times the speed of sound.

There are other hangars for Martin Aircraft, builder of the Matador pilotless plane, and Boeing, maker of the supersonic guided missile Bomarc. Nearing completion is a hangar for the Convair Division of General Dynamics Corp., which has a contract for the intercontinental ballistic missile Atlas. The Atlas reportedly is designed for a speed of 10,000 m.p.h. and a range of 5,000 miles.

Resources Combined To Make Alcoholism Fight

By [illegible]

WELLINGTON, Kan., May 26 (AP) — Doctor and priest, welfare chief and prosecutor, sheriff and editor have joined in a common effort to make the "zeros' count again in this rural community.

They're members of a remarkable organization known as the Sumner County Council on Alcoholism.

"Alcoholics are zeros in their community,' Dr. Karl E. Voldeng, one of the council's founders, said. "Most of them don't contribute anything. They don't even fix up their back yards.

"And that makes them a community responsibility. The alcoholic must be helped to live with himself again — he has to learn once more to be a good husband, father and neighbor."

The council pits the weight of community resources in an intensive campaign against alcoholism, which has been described as the nation's biggest unsolved public health problem.

Kansas' State Commission on Alcoholism helped launch the project and supports it. Lewis Andrews, executive director of the agency, says the group probably is unique on the American scene.

The idea was to determine whether and how a small town can tackle the complex problem on its own. Today everybody connected with the experiment is pleased with the results.

Founded less than two years ago, the council is zealously propagating the view that alcoholism is a medical as well as a moral problem. Its earthy, homespun approach has paid off in reclaimed individuals and reunited families.

Wellington is a county seat of some 8,000 residents in south central Kansas. Its situation with respect to alcoholism is no worse, and perhaps a little better, than in most similar places. But alcoholics aren't rarities, here as anywhere else.

There are some four million problem drinkers in the United States, authorities say, and economic losses attributed to them run to 800 million dollars each year. In Kansas, which repealed prohibition only six years ago, there are an estimated 21,100 alcoholics.

The Sumner County council is active not only as a guidance agency, but also as an information center that work with the schools, furnishes speakers and lecturers, shows movies and distributes literature on the subject of alcoholism.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Politics Is Made Taboo By Congressonal Club

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Politics is taboo when wives of members of Congress get together for social and charitable doings, and no middle aisle separates Democrats from Republicans as it does on Capitol Hill.

Every spring the ladies, all members of the Congressional Club, join in honoring the First Lady at a gala brunch at a downtown hotel. The Senate Ladies, who meet weekly to sew for the Red Cross, also get together at a festive luncheon for the President's wife.

"In our Congressional Club," one member told me at the annual brunch, "there are no prima donnas. There is no display of temperament or pettiness. All pitch in and help to make their every gathering a success."

* * *

Congressional wives have much to write home about and have ben urged to "write your experiences down on paper, maybe for publication, but at least for the benefit of your children and nieces and nephews."

Giving this advice was Mrs. Len Jordan, whose husband, a former governor of Idaho, is new chairman of the International Joint Commision of the United States and Canada.

So many people like to hear the experiences that families of government officials have, and to compare them with their own, Mrs. Jordan said. It was the many leters she herself received on her book, "Home Below Hell's Canyon," that prompted her suggestion to the congressional wives. Mrs. Jordan's book tells of the pioneer existence led by her family when it operated a large sheep ranch in almost - inaccessible Hell's Canyon from 1933 to 1941.

Mrs. Henry Holland, wife of the assistant secretary of state for inter - American affairs, is proud possessor of a guaca, a gold lucky piece she picked up in Costa Rica. It features a design of a frog eating a two-headed serpent. Beautiful Mrs. J. Raphael Oreamuno, wife of the former Costa Rican ambassador, has several guacas. She wears them pinned to the front neckline of her dresses.

Certified Junk

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Thomas Connor barely made cab fare from the sale of his old car. He was ticketed for driving with defective parts while going to a junk yard to dispose of the jalopy. He got $20 for the car and was fined $18.35 for the ticket.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The essential part of a contest is a set of rules. But every once in a while the rules can be mighty perplexing—as The $64,000 Challenge (CBS-TV) discovered Sunday night.

Returning for the fifth time, Gloria Lockerman, 13, of Baltimore, and Andrew Douglass, 12, of Greenwich, Conn., tied at the $64,000 level in a spelling contest. Gloria is the defending champion speller as a result of her success on hte $64,000 Question last August.

Now the two will return next Sunday to see if a decision can be reached on who's the champ and who gets the $64,000. But since both have reached that highest plateau, some people have asked why shouldn't both kids get $64,000 apiece?

In answer to that Steve Carlin, executive producer of the show, says "There's no understanding with contestants that they get the full $64,000 unless their position is absolutely uncontested — and both Andrew and Gloria are still contesting each other."

Suppose both tie next Sunday night?

Then they'll split the take at $32,000 apiece.

"Our original idea," says Carlin, "was to follow the traditional spell-down. One winner and sudden death to the other. We planned to keep them coming back until there was one winner. But in the case of two swell youngsters like Gloria and Andrew it seemed cruel and quite unfair to keep them coming back. They're both good. The tension just isn't fair to them."

Others connected with the program say Gloria and Andrew are most satisfied with the decision to split the purse.

Well, if they split the take, who is the champ?

"That," says Carlin, "is a question we have to resolve before next Sunday. Sometimes in a boxing bout when there's a draw the purse is split. That might be the decision in the event that Gloria and Andrew tie on Sunday. Gloria would remain the champ. Or again, with the tension of the money taken away, we might ask them to return on the following Sunday to decide only one question: Who is the champ?"

In any event, here's a bit of fresh news that should encourage both contestants: The sponsors of the program, making a special exception to the rules in the case of these two youngsters, will set up a fat scholarship fund for the loser—if there is a loser.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

IF THE YANKEE immortal Mickey Mantle, keeps up his present homerun pace for the balance of the season, he'll wind up with something like 73 round trippers for his 1956 work.

Mickey clubbed his 8th of the season yesterday and the Yanks have only played 39 games. If our arithemetic hasn't failed us, that's a homer ever 2.1 days.

Figuring the Yankees will get in all their 154 games this season, Mickey should swat the horse hide into the wild blue yonder 73 times.

It isn't likely that Mantle will continue his current homer pace for the rest of the season but it does look like the Oklahoma blaster has a good shot at the all-time record of 60 set by the Bambino, Babe Ruth, in 1927.

Still A Long Way To Go

It will still take some healthy slugging on the part of Mantle to either equal or best Ruth's record.

The Yankees have 115 games remaining on their 1956 schedule. If Mantle hits one out on an average of once every three days he'll finish with 56 circuit wallops.

So, he'll have to go some to average better than one every three games, a feat he'll have to do if he is to set a new homer mark.

Mantle, to date, however, hasn't shown any signs of letting up.

If Mantle does hit a homer skid later on, the Yanks, more than likely, will skid with him.

Right now Whitey Ford is the only Yankee that can be depended upon to hurl a decent game for the Bronx Bombers. When Whitey isn't on the mound, the Yanks have to depend on the sheer batting power of Mantle, Yogi Berra, Joe Collins et al.

The Yankee power has been paying off pretty regularly so far as their first place standing will attest.

If the Yankees have to continue to depend on their power for the remainder of the season, the load, we believe, will be to great on the batsmen and it could mean the Yanks will surrender first place before the season is out.

But I wouldn't bet on it.

Another Note On Tiger Diamond Success

Wonder is anyone has looked at the 1956 District 4-AA baseball race in this manner:

Abilene's Eagles had four all-district performers, two all-staters and four second team all-staters from their 1955 team who returned for the 1956 campaign.

The Tigers, on the other hand, didn't have any all - district players in '55 who returned this year and, since they didn't compete in the state tournament, they didn't have any all - staters last year. (Last year's all - state team was picked only from the teams who played in the state tournament).

Taking these facts into consideration, you can see what an amazing feat it was for the Tigers to share the 4-AA crown with the vaunted Eagles.

Just another proof of the tremendous job coaches Speedy Moffett and Horrace Bostick turned in during the '56 diamond campaign.

Athletics, Cubs Triumph In LL

The West Texas State Bank Athletics and the Lions Club Cubs used big innings last night to chalk up victories in Little League action.

The A's erupted for 10 runs in the third inning and then went on to a 12-5 decision over the Trinity Methodist White Sox in the night's opening game. The Cubs then put together four hits for three runs in the sixth inning to come from behind for a 5-4 victory over the Kiwanis Club Braves.

On both occasions the ultimate winners were behind when they staged their big innings.

The White Sox were leading the Athletics 1-0 before the A's exploded for their 10 runs in the third. White Sox pitcher Jimmie Wilson retired the A's in order in the first two innings but ran into trouble in the third.

West Texas Bank put together seven hits, four White Sox errors, two stolen bases and two passed balls for their 10 runs in the third.

Third baseman Travis Hatter drove in the first two runs of the inning with a two-run homer.

Richard Bailey, who had 2 for 2 for the White Sox, homered for the losers.

In the second game, the Cubs trailed 4-2 going into the sixth and final inning but pulled the game out with a three run rally. Braves pitcher Bubba Fleming walked Bill Weaver leading off in the sixth to open the door to the big Cub frame.

Fleming got Bob Smith on strikes but then surrendered successive singles to Weldon Ware, William Robinson and Adam Romero that resulted in three runs. Fleming settled down and whiffed the next two but the damage had been done.

The Braves threatened mildly in the lower half of the sixth when pinch - hitter Robin Watson walked with two away. Watson moved to second on a wild pitch but was stranded there as Cub pitcher Weldon Ware got the final Brave on strikes.

Both teams got two runs in the first inning and the score remained at 2-2 until the Braves went ahead with two in the fifth. Fleming, the losing pitcher, gave up all his hits in the first and last innings, hurling hitless ball in between.

Pampa Oilers To Try Again

By The Associated Press

The Pampa Oilers Tuesday night got a new lease on life in the Southwestern League and, as a token of gratitude, came through with one of their most lopsided victories of the year.

Shortly after it was announced by the community-owned club that the team would not fold, the Oilers bashed out four home runs and 1 other hits in crushing Roswell 13-5 in a game that was called at the end of five and a half innings because of rain.

It had been announced Tuesday morning that the club would fold because of lack of funds, but club officials Tuesday night announced the team would continue to play the rest of the season.

In the other games, Hobbs clung to its one and a half game lead on the pack with a 9-1 rout of Ballinger, San Angelo clipped Carlsbad 4-3, El Paso edged out Midland 3-2 and Plainview had no trouble in whipping Clovis 16-7.

The clubs all are in the same locations Wednesday night.

FOR BASEBALL SCHOOL

Meridian Expects Top Enrollment

MERIDIAN, May 29 — Johnnie Carrigan, whose Big State Boys Baseball Camp for boys ages 9 through 19, at Meridian, Texas, has been rated tops in the nation, is rapidly preparing these days to handle what may well be the largest influx of youngsters his busy camp has yet trained in baseball, good sportsmanship and clean living.

The Big State camp has been rated No. 1 baseball camp in the country by many of the Major and Minor League Baseball Scouts as well as by Porter-Sargent's camp rating service in Boston.

The results are already evident, for Johnnie reports that advance registration for his summer boys baseball camp is already 50 per cent ahead of enrollment to the same time last year. Ten states are already represented as well as Saudi Arabia. Carrigan's fame is spreading. He was recently invited to open a similar camp in California, in addition to the big one in Meridian. Johnnie inspected several prospective sites in California, and expects to open a camp in that state in 1957. Over 1300 boys have attended the Big State camp during the past five years, where their weak points have been made stronger and their strong points developed.

"We are up here to teach," says Johnie. "If a boy doesn't feel he is properly coordinated, then he is just the type we like to teach."

Carrigan has gathered an all - star teaching staff for his 1956 camp, which will have three sessions of three weeks each, the first starting June 10, the second on July 1, and the third on July 22. The first session has already been filled.

Monty Stratton, the former Chicago White Sox pitcher again will head the Big State staff. Monty destined to be one of the real greats of baseball until a hunting accident cut short his diamond career, has never given up baseball, has developed into one of the game's finest teachers.

Jim Tongate, with 10 years as a player and 30 years as an umpire behind him, has been added to the staff, to instruct in umpiring as well as the fundamentals of baseball.

'We feel Jim is a very important addition," says Carrigan, "Boys should know the rules of the game. It will help in their playing." Carrigan, former pro player with Fort Smith, Chattanooga, Indianapolis, and for a dozen years a major league scout, himself serves as active camp director and instructor, and Mrs. Carrigan will again serve as Camp Mother.

For further information write Johnnie Carrigan, P. O. Box 1826-BB, Waco, Texas or telephone 2-8650, Waco.

"THE EIGHT BALL"—Dale Long, Pittsburgh Pirate first baseman, reaches for the ball that he slammed into the right field stands for his eighth homer in eight consecutive games in Pittsburgh, Pa. Dale broke his own record of seven in seven games. Bobby Friend, who pitched a two-hitter that beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3 to 2, backs up the throw.

Nixon, Bosox Whip Yankees

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Last season, when Willard Nixon was the only pitcher to beat the New York Yankees four times, Manager Casey Stengel observed, "We gotta find out somethin' about that fella." Yesterday, the Yankees found out they "gotta find out somethin' " more about the Boston right-hander.

Stengel's champions finally got to Nixon late last season, beating him the last two times they met. And right off the bat this spring, they put him under the showers after five innings the first time they faced him.

Nixon got the Yankees squared away again yesterday. He almost had 'em wrapped up in the first perfect game since 1922, retiring the first 20 men he faced. Then all sorts of things happened and he had to settle for a 7-3 decision and a three-hitter.

The defeat sent New York into today's Memorial Day doubleheader bill with Washington four games ahead of second - place Cleveand, which was idle, in the American League. Chicago's White Sox, in fourth, picked up a game by banging Kansas City 7-4 in 12 innings. Washington beat Baltimore 6-5.

In the National, Don Newcombe put an end to Dale Long's home run streak and Pittsburgh's four-game winning streak as the Brooklyn Dodgers broke out for a 10-2 decision. Cincinnati defeated Chicago 10-4, with Gus Bell hammering three home runs and two singles for seven runs batted in, in the only other game scheduled.

Nixon, a 28-year - old Georgian who is 9-5 lifetime against the Yankees, lost his chance to match the only other modern-era perfect game—by the White Sox's Charlie Robertson, 2-0 over Detroit—when he walked Mickey Mantle with two out in the seventh. Billy Martin's two-out tripe erased the chance for "even" a no - hitter with two out in the eighth.

And then, after a two-out error in the ninth, Mantle socked his No. 18 home run into the bleacher to junk the shutout. Yogi Berra tripled and scored the third run, all unearned, on an error.

Billy Goodman and Sammy White led the Red Sox's 13 - hit attack that gave Don Larsen his first defeat. Each had three hits, including home runs. Ted Williams started for the first time in five weeks, but was hitless.

Newcombe, winning his seventh in 10 decisions, also smacked a three-run double and a single as part of 14 - hit support by the Brooks for his seven-hit pitching.

Bell's perfect day was just about the whole story for the Redlegs, who also had a homer from Ed Bailey. Brooks Lawrence was the winner, padding his perfect record to 6-0. Sam Jones was the loser.

Rain delayed the White Sox's winning rally for 75 minutes at Kansas City. An error scored the tie breaker in the 12th after Chicago had blown a 4-2 lead in the ninth. Losing reliefer Ed Burtschy also walked home a run in the three-run 12th, in which the Sox scored three with but one hit—Fred Hatfield's bunt single.

Harmon Killebrew, Washington's first bonus baby, didn't have a hit this season until he whacked a pair of homers for three runs against the Orioles. He came on in the third as a replacement for second baseman Pete Runnels—who suffered a severe spike wound that will lay him up a few days.

Hermleigh In 6th Straight Win

Hits were as scarce as hen's teeth in last night's City League game pitting league leading Hermleigh and Snyder Furniture at Towle Memorial Park.

Hermleigh won the pitching duel, 3-1, Ted Masters hurling a two-hitter for the winners.

Dwayne Prince gave up only three hits in going the route for the Hermleigh nine. Hermleigh scored what proved to be the deciding margin in the first inning when they scored twice without the aid of a hit.

It was the 6th straight win for Hermleigh against no losses in City League play.

Conrad Wins 4th Match

TROON, Scotland (AP)—Defending champion Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex., defeated John Mill of Scotland, 6 and 5, today in the fourth round of the British Amateur Golf Championship.

The victory, Conrad's third easy one in the tournament, put the little Texan into the round of 16.

Conrad, still playing cool, steady golf, was one over par for the 13 holes he played over the hard, 6,583-yard Troon course. Par is 35-36—71.

Only three other Americans were left in the running as the fourth round began. They were Gene Andrews, 1954 U.S. Public Links champion from Pacific Palisades, Calif.; Pete Grant of Phoenix, Ariz.; and Lt. Gene Eyler of Olean, N. Y.

Lt. Robert (bobby) Cavazos, nation's second high scorer for Texas Tech's 1953 football team, is now with the 24th Division in Korea.

Speedway Champ To Get $75,000

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A battle the lead as wild as the Bill Vukovich-Jack McGrath duel last year was a practical certainty today in the 40th running of the 500-mile auto race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The weather forecast of possible showers in the afternoon made front running the only sound strategy, apart from the fact that the leading car earns $150 extra each trip around the 2½-mile track.

The total purse, based on the gate, will be around $250,00, with the winner taking about $75,000.

Rain stopped hte, 1925 race at 40 miles and the 1950 race at 345, giving the lion's share of the purse to leaders Frank Lockhart and Johnnie Parsons, respectively.

It takes 255 miles to constitute a race. If it is stopped short of that, it will be resumed as soon as possible with cars restarting in their order when they stopped

The Vukovich-McGrath duel last year ended when McGrath's car developed engine trouble. Vukovich died in a four-car crash as he was leading in the 57th lap. McGrath was killed later in the season in a dirt track race.

Bob Sweikert, a Hayward, Calif., native transplanted to Indianapolis, won the '55 race and was a definite possibility to repeat in a new Kuzma car entered by racing associates of Indianapolis. Only two-in-a-row winners in the 39 previous 50s were Mauri Rose, 1947-48; Wilbur Shaw, 1939-40; and Vukovich, 1953-54.

The popular favorite is Jimmy (Cowboy) Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz., runner-up to Sweikert for the national big car racing championship last year after winning it in 1954.

Pat Flaherty of Chicago was the fastest qualifier with a record 10-mile run at 145.596 miles an hour and earned the No. 1 starting spot in the field. He bucked a semi-jinx against victory by the fastest qualifier — achieved only by Jimmy Murphy, 192; Tommy Milton, 1923; Billy Arnold, 1930; and Vukovich, 1953.

Besides Flaherty in the front row were Jim Rathmann of Miami, Fla., driving the rebuilt car in which Vukovich was killed, and Pat O'Connor of North Vernon, Ind., a protegee of three-time winner Wilbur Shaw, in the same car in which he finished eighth last year in spite of fuel line failure.

It was a field loaded with driving talent and the best racing vehicles that money could buy. It included former winners Parsons, Sweikert and Troy Ruttman, the 1952 champ. The average qualifying speed of the 33 cars was 142.507 miles an hour, compared with a previous record of 138.796 last year.

Texas Tech's football record for the past five years, under Coach DeWitt Weaver, reads 35 wins, 17 losses, and 3 ties, top mark among major colleges in the four-state area of the Southwest and Border conferences.

Sparks Holds City Bat Lead

Dick Sparks of Sun Oil maintained his individual batting lead in the City League through games of Saturday although he went hitless in his only appearance last week.

Sparks drew a blank in two times at bat against Hermleigh last week to drop his average from .500 to .429. Sparks still holds a 44 percentage point lead over his nearest pursuer, teammate Jimmy Smith who is sporting a .385 mark.

Sparks has 6 hits in 14 trips while Smith owns 5 base knocks in 13 tries.

Justin Corbell of Hermleigh tops the league with most runs—8.

CANADIANS BATTLE

Pipeline Plan Sets Off Row

OTTAWA (AP)—A project to build a 2,200-mile pipeline to carry gas from Alberta to Quebec has plunged Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's government into one of the bitterest controversies in the history of the Canadian parliament.

Cries of "Fascist" and "rapist" have been raised by opponents of the way the government is backing the 375-million-dollar project.

The parliamentary battle has raged for two weeks over the plan for temporary government financing of two major parts of the line to be built by Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd., a largely U.S.-backed corporation.

June 7 is the deadline set by the government for parliamentary approval of the measure. It would provide a loan of up to 80 million dollars to finance 90 per cent of the cost of building the line's 575-mile prairie leg to Winnipeg.

If the deadline is not met, trans-Canada is released from its agreement with the government to complete the western section this year.

The opposition Progressive Conservative and Cooperative Commonwealth Federation (Socialist) parties have waged a determined effort to block the bill. They charge it is a sell-out to U.S. interests, who own 88 per cent of Trans-Canada.

The government counters that Trans-Canada is the only agency which can build the western line this year because no Canadian company can get the necessary materials. Trans-Canada already has them.

It appears a tossup whether Prime Minister St. Laurent's government can meet its deadline for the bill's passage.

It needs to replenish its supply of funds from Parliament by May 31. An attempt to get approval for expenditures beyond that date would require introduction of a government money bill. Opposition debate on that bill could block passage of the pipeline measure.

The over-all project is for the biggest pipeline in the world. Connected developments in distribution systems and changeover of facilities would involve a total investment of an estimated one billion dollars.

The bill provides — besides the loan to the prairie section — for joint financing by the federal and Ontario governments of the 118-million-dollar section of the line through northern Ontario from Manitoba to Kapuskasing, Ont.

The prairie loan at 5 per cent must be repaid by next April 2. If Trans-Canada defaults, the government can take over the project

Lone Star Flag Greets Texas Group

TOKYO (AP)—When a Texas Good Neighbor delegation landed at the Tokyo International Airport, the Lone Star flag greeted them.

"Any place you go in the world, there are Texans," said Niki S. Kuzumaki, recently a student at Trinity University in San Antonio. "That's the reason I carry this," he explained, waving the little Texas flag.

Kuzumaki, an honorary citizen of Bexar County, had a special greeting for his "Texas mother," Mrs. Preston Dial of San Antonio. She is leading the party on the eastern tour.

Another welcomer was Lt. Col. chiba Taketo. A doctor, he studied at San Antonio's Brooke Army Medical Center and recalled a New Year's Eve party at Mrs. Dial's home.

Mrs. Dial was "Texas Mother of the Year" in 1950 and "Our Texas Mother" to many Japanese students.

The 13 Texans—11 women and two men—stopped at Honolulu on the first leg of their trip. Next they go to Korea, then to Formosa, Hong Kong, Manila and other points around the globe.

Two Children Abandoned

DALLAS (AP)—A 21-year-old expectant mother who told officers "I don't love them. I can't take care of them," as her two young sons clung to her skirts, was held in jail today.

The attractive woman called juvenile authorities Saturday and said she planned to abandon the boys, ages one and two.

Det. A. M. Andrews and Policeman B. Rondeau found the mother and boys in an ill-kept, three-room apartment.

She told them the father was arrested for disturbing the peace Thursday and disappeared after being let out of jail on bail. She told of harsh treatment at his hands and officers quoted her as saying she had no idea where the father was.

Policemen said both parents formerly were from Oklahoma City.

The children were placed in foster homes and officers said the woman technically was being held for child desertion.

Ruling On Union Shop Aids Cause

AUSTIN (AP)—The Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Co. claimed today that its fight against a union shop contract was strengthened by the U.S. Supreme Court's decision last week in a Nebraska "right to work" case.

The railway's claim was made in the face of widespread interpretation of the Supreme Court ruling as striking down state 'right to work" laws as they apply to railroad workers.

The Santa Fe's assertion was made in a supplemental brief filed in the State Supreme Court. The railway, joined by some employees, is seeking a court order forbidding execution of a union shop contract between the Santa Fe and 15 non-operating unions.

The suit also seeks to restrain a strike to force execution of such a contract.

The railway contended that in the Nebraska case, the U.S. Supreme Court did not rule on the direct question of whether a full union shop contract may be required of a railroad. The Santa Fe also noted that the high court had ruled that the record presented in the Nebraska case did not raise constitutional questions of whether freedom of expression guaranteed by the First Amendment would be violated.

"It is clear that the (U.S. Supreme) court did not decide the questions presented in our present record," said the Santa Fe.

The railway said the Supreme Court had limited the issue in the Nebraska case to a holding that railroad employees may be required to pay periodic dues, initiation fees and assessments.

"Applying the holding of the Hanson opinion to the facts of the instant case, it is clear that the union shop agreement sought by respondent unions herein goes far beyond the permission granted by (the federal law), is not authorized or permitted by that statute, and must be held unlawful," said the supplemental petition.

Arguments in the appeal already have been heard by the State upreme Court. It once said it would delay decision pending outcome of the Nebraska case in the U.S. Supreme Court but later changed its mind and said it would proceed with consideration of the matter without waiting for the Nebraska decision.

New German Navy Taking To The Seas

BONN, Germany (AP) — For the third time in this century a new German navy is taking to the seas.

By 1959 it may be a hard-hitting force serving as West Germany's naval contribution to the Atlantic Alliance. Its main task will be to guard the Baltic Sea, Russia's gateway to the Atlantic.

Germany's first navy, built before World War I by the Kaiser, was defeated in World War I. The Germans themselves scuttled most of what was left. Germany's second navy went down under World War I Allied bombardments of Germany's harbors and naval bsses.

The new navy will be unique in many ways. All in all, it will number 170 ships manned and serviced by 2,00 men. No ship will exceed 3,000 tons displacement, excepting a training vessel of 4,50 tons.

There will be a number of destroyers, each with a tonnage of 2,200 and crews of from 25 to 280 men. The speed of these ships will average around 34 knots. They will be armed with new-type guns usable against aircraft as well as against ships.

There will be none of the gigantic cruise-type of submarine as in World Wars — and II. The new subs will be under 30 tons. Each will carry a crew of 18 and be equipped with "snorkels" enabling them to remain submerged for 10 days.

Services Are Told To Air Differences

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The national commander of the American Legion says it's a good thing for the branches of the armed forces to air their differences in the open.

J. Addington Wagner, who flew in from Washington Monday to make advance preparations for the Legion's national convention in September, said the squabble "is a healthy sign as long as it is kept within reasonable bounds."

Candy Bennett Gets California Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Candy Bennett was miffed, she told the court, when she flew to Omaha to meet her husband's train and discovered he was being met by another woman.

She was granted a divorce from TV commentator Myron J. Bennett Monday when she also related that he was "cold and aloof . . . He had a chip on both shoulders." She charged cruelty.

Students To Be Honored At Lincoln School Program

Eight students of Abraham Lincoln School here will graduate from that school at 8 o'clock tonight at promotional exercises in the school's auditorium.

C. A. Thoms, principal of the Carver Junior-Senior High School at Midland, is scheduled to be main speaker at the program. Thomas, a graduate of Sam Houston College and who holds a master degree from Praire View, has been in school administration 14 years. He has served as president of the Texas Supervisors and Counsellors organization, president of the Central Texas District Teachers Association, and as Texas representative of the Southern Regional Conference.

While the Lincoln students are being given promotional certificates, several other students are to be recognized, including several honor students from the lower grades and several students who are now attending high school after finishing Lincoln.

Leading the high school students is Esther Gift, who graduated last week from St. Peter Claver Academy high school in San Antonio. St. Peter, which offers courses in the grammar grades and four years of high school, is accredited by the State Department of Education. Most of the Snyder Negro students who have gone to high school after completing grammar school here have attended there. Miss Gift, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sanders, 3407 Avenue L, graduated with honors at St. Peter and plans to attend college next fall. She is working in Snyder this summer. She is being considered at two colleges for scholarship awards, Xavier University of Louisiana and Texas Southern College of Texas. She will, when she enters college, be the first in the history of the Lincoln school to reach the height of education, according to Daniel Johnson, principal. A local scholarship fund is being raised for her, and it is is expected to be $30 to $50. Tonight she is to receive here a certificate for completion of a typing course at St. Peter at 63 words per minute.

Other local students now attending high school who will be recognized, and the grades to which they have been promoted, are Rosa Davis, senior; Hubert Gift and Alene Williams, juniors; and Joe Baucham and Annette Harrison, sophomores, all at St. Peter, and Ruby Spells, junior at Carver School, Midland.

Awards for honor students will go to Langston Aaron Powell, Mary Elizabeth Johnson, Yvonne Sanders, L. J. Brooks, Woodruff Leonardi Powell, Pearlie Scott, Jearl Dene Turner, Cornelius Davis, and Raymond Johnson, all students of the lower grades.

Karen Sue Gift, younger sister of Esther Gift, is valedictorian of the eighth grade class, and she will speak during the night's program on the subject, "On Our Way." Salutatorian is Norma Gene Littles, granddaughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Turner, whose talk will be "Courage In the Face of Defeat."

The Lincoln Chorus, directed by Miss Anniece Hawkins, will sing several numbers during the evening's program. Other music will include a solo by Jack Newsome, one of the students being promoted. Charlie Joe Archie, another of the graduates, will be soloist during one of the choir numbers.

The invocation will be by the Rev. M. W. Knox, pastor of the Mount Zion Baptist Church at Sweetwater.

Talks, other than those made by the two honor graduates, will be made by three other students, Mendia D. Hunter, Moziel Braziel, and A. C. Thompson.

Johnson will introduce the speaker.

Members of the graduating class are Karen Gift, Norma Littles, Jack Newsome, Mendia Hunter, Moziel Braziel, A. C. Thompson, James Choyce, and Charlie Archie.

ALPINE BUS CRASH KILLS 19— Wreckage of a tourist bus lies on its side in an Alpine stream bed near Bolanzo, Italy, after crashing off the Brenner Pass highway in an accident that killed the driver and 18 Austrian tourists. Twenty-five other tourists were injured when the bus crashed through the broken guard wall upper right. Police said the bus brakes failed as the driver headed into 3,000 foot high Ega Valley on its way to Austria.

It's Bad Business

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Leaving the keys in a parked auto is bad business for any officer, Det. W. E. Douglas could tell you. He left the keys atop the sun vistor in an unmarked police car he parked in front of headquarters Saturday—and officers are still searching for it.

Ecaudor Election Outcome In Doubt

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The next President of Ecuador will be a man in his 40s. That is the only sure prediction on the outcome of the June 3 elections.

The four candidates range in age from to 42 to 45. The four-year job they want is held now by Jose Maria Velasco Ibarra, 63, a stormy political figure for four decades.

Men and women in this nation of 3½ million also will pick a vice president and a new Congress.

Presidential candidates are:

Raul Clemente Huerta, 42, of the National Democratic Front. This is a coalition of parties pledged to "halt the advance of conservative reaction."

Camilo Ponce Enriquez, 44-year-old standard bearer of the Conservative party.

Jose Ricardo Chiriboga Villagomez, 45, candidate of independent liberal groups and supporters of President Velasco Ibarra. A former ambassador to Washington.

Carlos Guevara Moreno, 42, and the only candidate who is not a lawyer. A biochemist, he is the candidate of the concentration of popular forces and regarded as left of center.

President Velasco Ibarra has denied charges by the National Democratic Front that he was working for the election of Chiriboga, who failed in a bid for the presidency four years ago. The President said the government has no official candidate, but that he couldn't stop his friends from supporting anyone if they acted legally.

Conservatives are united behind Ponce Enriquez, whereas the liberals are divided between Huerta and Guevara Moreno.

Wage Fixing Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd says reports indicate a move is underway "to insert a Washington wage fixing provision in the Senate highway bill."

Silent Film Star Is Hit

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mary Pickford, sweetheart of the silent screen, has disclosed that a bullet grazed her head when a pistol was accidentally discharged on her estate.

The former actress made light of an incident she said took place Saturday night as she and her husband, producer Buddy Rogers, were returning home with Marion Davies and the latter's husband, Capt. Horace Brown.

Miss Pickford said yesterday that Brown, formerly of the merchant marine, was showing his pistol to Rogers when he slipped in a spot of oil in the driveway.

The gun discharged, she reported, and the bullet ricocheted from the driveway to her forehead. Dr. Eliot Corday said he treated Miss Pickford for a slight abrasion.

Crane Gets An Offspring

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Crip the whooping crane whooped it up like any other proud father today after his mate presented the bird world with the first of its species born in captivity.

The long-awaited offspring made its appearance yesterday at the Audubon Park Zoo. It is the 31st whooping cranes known to exist.

Crip's mate Josephine set the bird world talking a month ago when she laid the first of two eggs. The second still remains to be hatched.

The shy newcomer occasionally came from beneath its mother's wing as photographers eagerly awaited an opening. They had some trouble since the baby crane's color blended with its surroundings.

The whooping crane is the tallest bird in North America. It is long-necked, long-legged, red-faced and white-bodied.
