Hitch Develops In Plans For Burkburnett Bridge

CONSTRUCTION AWAITS END OF COURT ACTION

Toll Company Head Seeks To Withhold State Aid

HAS OKLAHOMA'S O. K.

Federal Highway Engineers Also Have Approved Project

Steps toward securing a free bridge across Red river near Burkburnett advanced a little further Monday afternoon when the county commissioners court here awarded a conditional contract for construction work to A. R. Mackey—but the award was made with a division in the ranks of the court; the whole thing may yet be knocked out and Mr. Mackey will not begin work until litigation involving the state highway department is successfully settled at Austin.

Mackey's bid of $283,723.74 on a concrete and steel structure was the lowest submitted and has been the subject of consideration by the commissioners. It has also been studied by federal highway engineers and the Oklahoma state highway commission, each of which bodies are contributing financial aid to the project. That Mackey's proposal would be accepted seemed assured early last week when the Oklahoma attorney general approved the form of the contract and thus allowed Oklahoma's participation in the matter.

Conditional Contract.

The Wichita county commissioners westerday, after more or less discussion, concluded to award Mackey the work only on grounds that the case of W. T. Willis et al vs the state highway department of Texas, now pending in the 53rd district court at Austin, is settled favorably to the defendant. Willis, operator of a toll bridge across the Red river with which the free bridge will compete, has obtained a temporary restraining order which prevents the highway commission from appropriating $163,000 of state aid for the bridge project here. The matter is now being thrashed out in Austin.

If the injunction against the highway department is dissolved and the state aid is available, Mackey will have a valid contract and will proceed with the work. Until that is done, though, he in effect has no contract at all and of course will not start work until he is assured the injunction will not be made permanent.

Vote Is Divided.

When a vote was called Monday on awarding the provisional contract, Commissioner Jackson of Wichita Falls and Commissioner Knauth of Burkburnett voted "yes" on the proposition of giving Mackey the log. Commissioner Haynes of Electra voted "no" and Commissioner Kuntz of Iowa Park simply voted "present," which was the same as not voting at all. This situation required County Judge E. D. Sartin vote and he voted "yes," giving Mackey the work.

As matters now stand, nothing more can be done until the Austin litigation is settled. If it is settled favorably to the state highway department, Mackey will start work at once on the permanent structure. If the Willis injunction is made permanent it will probably mean the whole thing will be dropped, temporarily at least.

Kip's Black Bride Hears Love Notes Read in Court

UNDERWOOD Photos

Love letters of the bride-to-be described by her own counsel as "filthy," are playing a prominent part in the trial of the suit of Leonard Kip Rhinelander, scion of one of New York's oldest and wealthiest families, to annul his marriage to Alice Jones. He declares he married her believing her Spanish, and left her when he learned that she was the daughter of a negro hackman in New Rochelle, N. Y. Photos show the two in court.

COUNCIL BANS CURB STONE BUS STATIONS

Service Cars Cannot Use Streets for Depots, City Declares

The city council sang the swan song of further use of public streets as stands for commercial service cars when it passed on a first reading Monday night an ordinance requiring all service car operators, transfer wagons and bus line companies to move their vehicles to private property and quit using the streets as places from which to solicit trade.

This action came as a culmination of agitation that has been growing for a long time. The increase in the numbers of service cars has brought increased congestion on the streets, especially Eighth between Ohio and the depot where both sides of the block are now lined with commercial machines, the council was told.

The new law, submitted by Police Commissioner Quiesser, will require that all cars and wagons operating for hire shall find private property on which to stand while their vehicles are not in use. It will probably mean that a taxi and bus line depot will be established here from which such cars will leave and return.

It is expected the ruling will prove more painful for the smaller independent operators, because of the expense a private station would entail, while the larger operators will be more able to acquire a station from which to operate.

Diogenes Well May End Search For Honest Man

DIOGENES, end your search—An honest man has been found.

This is the belief of one, J. W. Pyland, Jr., of the Burkburnett Star. Several days ago, he lost two diamond rings in a yellow envelope in Wichita Falls.

Yesterday some one called him and said: "I read your ad in the Record News, and I wondered if you're the man who lost those rings." Mr. Pyland gave him a description of the lost package, and his rings were returned.

He offered a $25 reward to the finder, D. T. Boatwright, but he would not accept it, so Mr. Pyland compromised on a $10 Stetson, anyway.

KIP BREAKS DOWN UNDER COURT FIRE

Confused, He Admits Error In Charging Wife Was Black

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 16.—(AP)—Leonard Kip Rhinelander today admitted that he had lost control of his annulment suit against Alice Beatrice Jones, his negro wife, that he had objected to the introduction of her fervid letters and that he had not been convinced she was a negress when he signed the complaint against her.

His admissions came in the course of a vigorous cross examination at the hands of Lee Parsons Davis, counsel for the defense, and at times caused audible comment from the spectators. The cross examination which had been awaited eagerly by the court room crowd began this afternoon after Isaac N. Mills, his counsel, had finished reading the last of nearly 100 of Alice's love letters.

Almost immediately Mr. Davis plunged into the question of the complaint which young Rhinelander signed while in a subway station telephone booth in New York last November.

"Did you want to sign this complaint?" he asked.

Rhinelander turned to Justice Morschnuser and asked: "Do I have to answer that question?"

Was in Doubt.

The justice nodded and Rhinelander answered: "I did."

"When did you finally become convinced that your wife had colored blood?"

"Up to March, 1925, I was in doubt whether she was of colored blood."

Davis picked up the original complaint dated in November, 1924, and read the paragraph charging Alice with practicing fraud as to her race.

"Did you sign this?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Was it true"

"Yes."

"You understand that your two answers are opposed?—which is true—that you were not convinced until March, 1925, or this contained in your complaint to which you swore?"

"The one in March is true."

Contradiction.

Several days ago young Rhinelander testified that it was in March that

$1000 Prize Secret Bared; The Record News Elephant Tipped The Scales At 6048

Second Puzzles Now Are Being Mailed To Those Who Tied For First Place In Great Newspaper Contest.

"6048"! Yes sir, that's the weight of the elephant which the Record-News readers put on the scales during the past month. Were your scales correct and did they show 6048? A number of them did and for that reason, the Record-News is now announcing that in today's mail there are a number of the second puzzles which must be worked out. Fearing a tie, the Record-News early announced that in case of contest, a second puzzle, similar to one which was carried right along in the ad, would be sent to the lucky ones. If you were one of the lucky guessers, now you will have an opportunity to try your luck again.

Mail your second puzzle in as quickly as possible. You are given a week from the day you receive it to work it out. Just as soon as these sent in and inspected the list of 25 winners will be announced. May the best man, woman or child win. An advertisement in today's paper explaining everything.

The Record-News puzzle man was "buried" beneath the answers. Thousands of them poured in and it's being rumored around town that if the Record-News ever puts on another puzzle contest, the mail man on that route will petition congress for double salary.

Every section of Texas and Oklahoma was well represented. On Saturday the real storm broke. It resembled bedlam. The puzzle man and his aide-de-puzzlers have worked day and night ever since sorting them out.

Everyone seemed to want that $1,000. To those who did guess 6048, we congratulate you and to the others, "better luck next time!"

MA RUN OUT OF MEN TO PARDON ROGERS CLAIMS

Has Police in Texas Rounding up More to Set Free, He Says

Ma Ferguson is getting ready to pardon a hundred convicts Thanksgiving. Will Rogers, world famous humorist and one-time Oklahoma cowboy, informed a packed audience at Junior college auditorium last night where he appeared as the premiere of a bill upon which the De Reszke singers played the supporting part.

"And the reason you haven't heard of Ma's pardoning anybody recently is because there aint any left in the pen to pardon and she's got the police all over Texas scurrying around pinching some more," the humorist explained.

Will was a captor of his audience from the start.

"You know up in Oklahoma they asked me to be governor once," he opined. "I refused on these grounds, I will not be governor unless I can be governor of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas all at the same time, and this because I am working for the peoples' interest. By being governor of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas all at the same time when there's an impeachment trial you folks down here in Texas will only have to stand a third of the expense."

Charges Film Fraud.

Rogers skipped from a subject in Florida to anecdotes of Hollywood and took his listeners with him every step of the way.

"Just you watch," he prophesied. "Rufus Valentino and the missus are messin' around getting a divorce because the Missus is going to release a great big picture pretty soon. That's the way all the stars do. Just before he releases the 'Gold Rush' why Charlie Chaplin went and had a baby."

Will said he could prove he was very unique in the movies.

"I am the only living moving picture actor who has had the same wife all the time", he declared.

Money No Item With Him.

Rogers said he didn't care for a whole lot of money. Had an offer to make a bunch of money in Florida but turned it down because his exemptions were just about keeping even with his income tax and if he made any more money he'd have to dig up some more levy for Uncle Sam.

"And as it is," he explained, "my babies have just about kept up with the income tax and if I made any more—well, I told the man who wanted me to invest that I'd have to talk it over with my wife."

The audience, of course, took on the convulsion stage and fairly re-echoed the auditorium with applause. Will ruffled his hair, put on his best professional blush, held up both hands and called out.

Then He Explains

"Here, now, I mean talk over with my wife whether we'd better invest. When I crack jokes to you folks I'll tell you what the point is and don't you start guessin'."

Going back to Florida Will said he'd been asked what the result of all the Florida boom was going to be.

"The result of all this here Florida boom is that a bunch of gentiles will be left owning the lots," he answered.

He kept going back to the subject of Texas, however.

After Road Contracts

"I usually look around for some wise cracks on the town in which I appear, he said, "but couldn't find much in Wichita Falls. I found plenty of trouble in your state, however. You know speaking isn't the real

DENIED LEAVE HE CONTINUES ATTACK BY AIR

Strategy Overcomes Limitations Set Down by War Department

SCORES DEFENSE

Says America Has Not Profited by Past Experiences

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Denied the privilege of leaving Washington during his technical arrest and court martial trial Colonel William Mitchell tonight addressed the country at large by radio in another lecture against army and navy administration of the national defense His strategy in this way overcame the physical limitations laid down by the war department.

The officer whose trial on charges growing out of published attacks on the air service administration, will be resumed tomorrow, spoke from station WCAP and told the listeners-in that the next modern air attack would be "much more intense than the Japanese earthquake," which disrupted the "whole life of Japan" and would be directed against "the nerve centers of the enemy's territory cities, factories, ammunition areas, water, gas and light plants."

"Unfortunately in America," he said, "we have not taken the lessons of the past into consideration. In the mechanical future of war supremacy will go to the nation with the greatest industrial resources, which means the greatest air power. The fleet is tied to the sea, the army is tied to the land—air craft can go over either."

Colonel Mitchell declared it was "impossible for people to put their trust in armies or navies alone," asserting that "air power must be given a place of equal importance, must not be muzzled, gagged or belittled."

THE WEATHER

"I was to take another music lesson today, but fortunately I had a toothache."

LYRICS OF LIFE.
By Douglas Malloch.
Our Best.

We live two lives, when one would be enough:
The life we live for other folks to see,
And then the life that's made of better stuff.
The life that isn't lived for "company."
We smirk and smile, and practice art and guile,
And yet, thank heaven, for a little while
We now and then put off the thin veneer
And seem ourselves, unstudied and sincere.
The other day a man my picture took
The proofs are here, the proofs of mortal sin;
One shows me with a fixed and glassy look,
Another with a vain and vapid grin.
In one I tried to look most dignified,
Another like a cop and blushing bride.
I've learned at least one thing I'd never guessed;
We look our worst who try to look our best.
But there was one I didn't know he made;
My hands are in my pockets just the way
I have them frequently, I am afraid.
Although it's not correct, the critics say,
I never thought that I was getting shot
And didn't care if I looked nice or not.
The posture may be awkward, I agree;
But one thing, though—the picture looks like me.
We live two lives. In one a fellow primps,
In one a fellow tries to strike a pose;
But now and then the world will catch a glimpse
Of what we are, the man our Maker knows.
We smirk and smile, we practice art and guile,
And yet, thank heaven, for a little while
At times you're you, and I am really I—
We look our best the days we do not try.

Red River Oil Fields Are Thrown Into Litigation Again

TEXANS FILE PETITION FOR RECEIVERSHIP

Claim Secretary Work Erred In Award to Burk Divide

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 16—(AP)—Ownership of oil leases in the disputed Red River channel between Oklahoma and Texas, valued at approximately $2,000,000 was thrown into litigation today when the Red River syndicate brought suit in federal district court here seeking the appointment of a receiver for $700,000 oil royalties now impounded by the secretary of the interior.

The syndicate charged that the secretary of the interior in making final awards of Red River property, erred in awarding leases on 160 acres of oil land to the Burke Divide Oil company and T. A. Testerman.

The syndicate is the successor to the original Texas strike claimants and claims prior rights to the lease awards.

The petition asks also that the Burke Divide company and Testerman interests be declared trustees of the syndicate pending settlement of rights to the leases.

The area at issue lies south of the medial line of the river and was declared by the United States supreme court to be the property of the federal government. The court, however, did not pass on the contract right as applicable to the land. Lease rights were awarded by the secretary of the interior to the Burke Divide company and Testerman last May.

Millions Die Of Indigestion

Most Common, Yet Insidious of Fatal Diseases, Strikes Like Lightning and When Least Expected.

Protect yourself by strengthening your digestive organs with Ferraline—then eat what you please without trouble.

Nature, with her infinite wisdom, has provided in Ferraline a quick and sure relief for the millions who are living in constant fear of that dreaded disease—Indigestion. Ferraline is not a concoction made by man but is a strictly natural product, and contains the essential elements which Nature has provided to strengthen and tone up the weakened organs of digestion.

Indigestion and weak blood march hand-in-hand. No dyspeptic can have pure rich blood until his digestion is made perfect again. Stomach disorders always weaken the blood and weak blood causes anaemia, weakness and nervousness.

If you have had warnings of Indigestion do not delay another day to accept the positive guarantee that your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded if the very first bottle of Ferraline does not give you relief. Don't be misled into believing that heart-burn, gas, bloating, constipation, biliousness, sick stomach, heart and kidney pains will gradually go away. These are danger signals warning you that the dread disease Indigestion, is gradually sapping your very life. Regenerate your digestive organs at once with Ferraline, then you can eat three good meals every day without discomfort. A 10 day's treatment of Ferraline will cost you only One Dollar at your druggists.—Adv.

The well itself is reported pumping about 15 barrels of oil a day and no water. Simms and Phillips both are understood to be contemplating other tests in the immediate district.

Wichtex-Dixie Area

Gulf Production company has a dry hole in its No. 1, Annie P. Jackson, in the southeast corner of lot 131, Aldridge survey, a north offset to Wichtex-Dixie's duster of last week and southwest of the single producer in the little field. The well had broken sand at 1,561-68 feet and was shut down at that depth waiting for orders, with the sand admittedly too low to do much good.

Grisham was drilling at about 300 feet Saturday.

The stuff is located north of Archer City, central Archer county.

South Vernon

Barkley and Meadows were due to drill the plugs in both Nos. 5 and 6, Stephens, in the northeast quarter of section 83, H. & T. C. R. R. Co. survey, block 14, South Vernon yesterday. Nine feet of pay was drilled yesterday morning and the hole filled up rapidly but failed to respond in the fashion early swabbing and flowing had led to believe that it would. It will be equipped for the pump.

Landreth, Waggoner

Landreth Production corporation No. A-2, Waggoner, second location west of the northeast corner of the northwest forty of the northwest quarter of section 43, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, offsetting A-1, to the west, was on the sand and setting and cementing casing at a depth of 1,845 feet, the level indicating a rise of several feet to the west in the formation.

Landreth G-1, offsetting A-1 to the east, had the sand at a depth of 1,853 feet, had drilled three feet of it, set small casing and pulled the big pipe and were expected to drill in sometime yesterday. No. D-6, in the northeast forty, third location from the northeast corner, of the same section, had set and cemented casing and will likely be drilled in tomorrow or the day after.

Bashara, Morgan

M. J. Bashara No. 2, Marshall Morgan, about 18 miles west of Graham, western Young county, Texas, is reported doing better than 200 barrels from sand at 2,830-37 feet. The well is located in the middle of 1,900 acres of leases owned by Bashara. Two other wells, the No. 1, Morgan, and the old No. 1, fee, both about two years old, are still making about fifty barrels a day.

Lomax Area

Lomax and Staley-Wynne No. 3, Wilson, in the northeast corner of the 37 acres in block 88, ATNCL, central Archer county, was down 1,244 feet yesterday and drilling. This is the only rig running on the Lomax leases in this area.

Barkley and Meadows had spudded and were drilling yesterday on their No. 16, Wilson, in the same block, on the south line of their lease.

Cancer in Women is Penalty Of Modern Trend Which Has Made Motherhood Unpopular, He Says

Disease Is Due in Many Instances to Lack of Children, British Expert Tells Royal Institute

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Cancer is a "disease of civilization" was the subject of an address Wednesday night by Dr. Hastings Gilford before the Royal Institute of Public Health, which already is causing considerable comment.

Dr. Guilford shocked both the lay and medical sections of the audience with the flat assertion that cancer in women is very often the penalty of modernity which has been causing physical deterioration of their bodies. He suggested that there was reason to believe that the present noticeable increase of cancer among women was at least partly due to the fact that they do not have enough children nowadays and that they do not have them early enough.

Hear Reports of "Cure."

Dr. Gilford granted that the present type of boyish woman with short skirts, narrow hips and bobbed hair was highly admirable in many ways but he went on to warn the audience that it is dangerous to think that such a change can be accomplished without devastating physiological effects.

Meanwhile London medicos are excited by the news from Toronto, where Professor Blair Bell of Liverpool university announced the successful treatment of a number of cases of advanced cancer by the injection of lead salts. Comment here agrees that Dr. Bell, like Dr. Gilford, is a scientist of the highest rank and it is believed that if his Toronto speech was correctly quoted the cancer problem may have taken a long step toward its future solution.

Experts Skeptical.

A third interesting cancer item developed overnight as the result of the famous Bernard Gye experiments which shook the medical world a few months ago. The Morning Post quotes an anonymous British researcher of the highest rank who has just returned from Paris as saying that two French bacteriologists have produced a serum which will kill the toxic germ in the Bernard Gye virus under certain conditions. If true, this announcement may be of extreme importance, but all reputable observers while awaiting the formula to be announced with the keenest interest, remain deeply skeptical.

Mrs. Saunders Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Relieved Troubles of Change of Life

Knoxville, Tenn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound while going through the Change of Life. I was very nervous, could not sleep and had melancholy spells. In fact, I was nearly insane at times and my memory was almost a blank. I was so weak I could not do my housework half of the time and suffered dreadfully with my back. My doctor said I would have to worry it out and I went through this for three years before I began taking the Vegetable Compound which I saw advertised. I think it was eight bottles that I took. It has been two years since I took any and I haven't had a doctor since for that trouble. I do all my washing and ironing and I have gained from 116 to 138 pounds. I advise all women who suffer physically and mentally as I did to give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. I hope it will do as much for them as it did for me."—Mrs. T. A. SAUNDERS, 711 E. SUB ROSA — BY MIMI — TUES

DO YOU LIKE HIS FRIENDS?

Peggy, the other evening, was overheard to say airly: "No, I don't like any of Rod's friends. They all see perfectly dreadful and fast—but still I'm marrying him and not his pals—so I don't care."

Now Peggy's views seem sensible enough at first glance. She loves Rod and after they're married he may have his own evenings with his men friends—and she need not be disturbed unduly by them.

Besides, Rod will probably be awfully busy earning the money to pay for the handsome new birds-eye maple set of furniture, and won't have time for his old cronies.

So the chances are Peggy won't be bothered with the group of men who are Rod's closest friends, and whom she finds not at all attractive.

But there's another angle of the case which shes' overlooked—why does she dislike the best friends of the man whose tastes should be similar to hers?

If she finds them stupid—what is there about Rod that makes him select dull, slow companions?

If she considers them too fast, too gay, she should ask herself whether perhaps there are not some qualities in her Rod which make him choose rather fast-going company?

Perhaps they're all rather loose moraled, and she has always taken great pride in the fact that Rod is different from his friends.

But if the men he chooses to associate which she's overlooked—why isn't it just possible that the same sort of weaknesses may begin to crop out in Rod?

Just because her man presents a pleasant contrast to his friends, while he's on his best behavior and doing his utmost to make a good impression on the future in-laws, doesn't say that his opinions and tastes differ from those of his boon companions.

Perhaps Rod is nicer than his chums. Perhaps he lives a steadier, more decent life.

In that case his reason for running around with a crowd of men whose standards of living were not as high as his own might be that he had a secret admiration for their sort of wrong-doing.

And that secret admiration might in time grow to be an overwhelming desire to emulate their example. Which would be rather hard on the girl who happened to love him.

Don't follow Peggy's example, and dismiss the question of your man's friends with a careless: "I should worry."

Figure out what's wrong with THEM and then tell yourself honestly what's wrong with HIM to make him seek their society.

Be sure that your Perfect Man is really better than his Awful Pals before you consent to burden the fourth finger of your left hand with a solitaire.

SMALLER AND BETTER FILMS.

Alleged monopoly practices in the motion-picture industry are now under investigation by the federal trade commission. One prominent producer, himself described as an independent, denies that the big combinations of producers, distributors and exhibitors are engaged in Schrecklichkeit against the "little fellows." To the extent that the big fellows dominate, the reason lies in superior merit. "Pictures, unlike oil or motor cars, cannot be standardized. Each picture must differ from every other. But there can be maintained a certain standard of excellence in the pictures themselves." The assertion follows that the best pictures have been supplied by the big interests, and that the independents with their cheaply made pictures bring the industry into disrepute.

To the public it will be news that the movie, unlike the automobile, cannot be standardized. If in theory it is impossible, then the impossible has happened. If there is any article of popular consumption that carries the stamp of sameness, it is the "pictures." The least observant citizen can tell at a glance a dozen makes of motor cars from each other. He can usually tell last year's model from next year's. But except for the obvious differences between the wild west picture and the picture of "passion" it is doubtful whether within each category he can tell one picture from a hundred others. The range of variation in Troy collars and safety razors is incomparably greater than in the movies.

Whatever may be the outcome of the hearings before the federal trade commission, the movie interests cannot overlook public opinion. It was in response to something like a popular uprising that Mr. Will Hays was brought into the industry some years ago. But there is one method by which the producers might enlist a fairly important element of the public on their side that has not yet been tried. And that is to appeal to the more intelligent movie audiences by giving them better because smaller pictures. For the whole of their business it is not to be demanded that the producers shall stop thinking of audiences of ten millions and go in for placing the hundreds of thousands. Yet a certain amount of screen footage might be devoted to that smaller audience even if it involves a financial loss.

Business men recognize the value of prestige, even the ultimate money value. On the spoken stage the producer will now and then pay a tribute to merit in disregard of the box office. Book publishers like to have on their lists, along with a majority of books that sell easily, some books that have dignity and worth. It would seem that an industry which deals in such vast money figures—dazzling salaries, lavish productions, enormous acreages of canvas and auditoriums—could wisely court that smaller but not insignificant public which long ago learned to smile at the "art" of the silver screen. When the industry is on trial, before trade commissions or popular opinion, the support of that smaller public would be an asset.

FATHER LOVE TRIUMPHS.

Paradoxical as it may seem, father love is given credit for triumphing in a strange way over common law and humanitarian principles, in the case of a Colorado doctor who murdered his 34-year-old imbecile daughter and who has been freed on motion of the state's attorney. Jurors in the case, at first disagreeing, later told court attaches the man would have been acquitted had they continued deliberations.

While the cold idea of the survival of the fittest may have entered into this case, which was widely studied by physicians and scientists, it is hardly probable that such a concrete idea entered into the mind of the father as he slew the "child woman", whose body and brain had been inactive since she was stricken with infantile paralysis in babyhood. From the time of the mother's death this father watched alone in agony at his daughter's suffering, which he was powerless to relieve. In a state of nervous exhaustion he told in detail on the witness stand the story of the child's life in her home. Other children of the family, grown and married, bore out the truth of the father's story in their testimony. The kindest of fathers, the gentlest of physicians and the most respected of citizens, according to the testimony, he killed to prevent suffering. Tried by a jury of his friends and neighbors, his case resulted in a hung jury, but the prosecution's dismissal met with the approval of virtually all of them.

Here is one case where even the verdict of "12 good men and true" must be subservient to that reached between the man and his higher being. For him alone was the agony of seeing his own child suffering beyond his power to relieve, and he alone, in this case, is the one to answer if an answer is to be made.

ALIMONY.

A judge in Brooklyn, N. Y., started something when he declared that childless wives, separated from their husbands, should not have alimony.

He believes that alimony in general is an evil. It keeps couples from being reconciled, keeps certain women lazy, gratifies their revenge, makes men miserable and serves no great ends."

This is a masculine view. Yet there are women who argue likewise, holding it due to feminine self-respect for a woman to make her own living when she is able to do so, after a separation as before marriage.

At any rate, here is another striking phase of the new sex equality slowly emerging in our modern society. A few years ago no judge would have ventured to suggest so radical a departure from the traditional view of woman's natural economic dependence on man.

Uncommon Sense

WHAT IS YOUR PERCENTAGE?

If every man could keep all he earned he would soon be comfortably off.

But other people's hands are stretched out for part of his income, among them that of the landlord, the butcher, the baker and the tax collector.

All he can keep is a percentage of what he makes.

And often that percentage is so low as to be negligible.

The wage or salary worker sells his services on the installment plan to an employer.

The employer is supposed to pay him a fair price for them—which sometimes he does, and sometimes he doesn't.

It is the man's duty to get all he is worth, and to be worth more every year, which is the only practical way of getting more.

Also it is his duty to keep his eye on his percentage.

A man with a very good income said to me one day:

"When I was making a quarter of the money I am now I could save something. Often it was only ten—sometimes five per cent of my earnings, but I saved it.

"Then when I began to earn more I readjusted my style of living. I began by getting more comforts. Then I began to get luxuries.

"When my salary was really considerable I expanded, till pretty soon nothing remained at the end of the year.

"Then we began traveling with new friends, who had more money than we had, and tried to keep up with them.

"Today I am in debt, and have nothing to show for twenty-five years of hard work. I would be better off if I had stayed poor."

If this man had continued to save his ten per cent, he would today be free from anxiety.

He could have done it easily enough if he had tried.

But when the money began coming easily, he felt that financial worries were at an end, and no more thoughts of percentages crossed his brain.

In one of John D. Rockefeller's diaries is budgeted his receipts and income and donations to the church.

All were on a fixed percentage.

Mr. Rockefeller got one of the greatest fortunes in the world because he had unusually keen financial brains, but with his system he would have prospered, even if he had not been a business genius.

Whether we work for ourselves or for others, we sell our brains day by day for what we can get for them.

Always it is necessary, to defeat the appetite of the wolf to save something out for ourselves, even though it may be little at first.

That sort of saving was the foundation of a competence for Benjamin Franklin for many others.

Life is more complex now, but preserving the percentage is still possible. And without it there can be little hope of anything but an anxious and an unhappy old age.

And if there is one time in life when poverty is terrible, it is when the years have broken a man till he is no longer able to care for himself.

TEACHER COUNTS MOST.

Dr. Dallas Lore Sharp, nationally known educator, naturalist and preacher, had nineteen consecutive years of formal schooling. Out of that period he recalls five big days on which teachers affected the fundamentals of his life so profoundly that they had given him "in five days all his education."

The first day came when he was 12 years old. On that day, inspired by a teacher, he used money he had earned himself to buy a book. That was a mighty step in education.

The second big day came two years later when a teacher sent him away from the class room to search for mistletoe, and he found for himself that he had the power of discovery.

The third big day, a "day of wonder," came when a scientist opened for him the gizzard of a yellow-billed cuckoo and showed him how struggles of nature were going on even in secret places.

On his fourth day, "a day of power," a teacher led him through his interest in natural science to put his thoughts in words and his words on paper.

The fifth day came in his final year in seminary when, through the interpretation of an old rabbi teacher, he realized that God was leading him, leading all men, regardless of race and time and place.

Without such events, Dr. Sharp intimates, years of formal schooling may be worthless. And he emphasizes the fact that it was not the school, or the subject being studied, but the teacher who made these occasions outstanding and valuable.

'How little the building counts! How little the method counts! How infinitely the teacher counts!" is Dr. Sharp's estimation of the important factors in education.

MAKE IT UNDERSTANDABLE.

In their efforts to revise the income tax law and reduce the total levy congressmen can render a much needed service by simplifying the law. The present law may be understood at Washington, though even that is to be doubted. Certainly very few people out in the provinces understand its provisions and how to make out an accurate report. A very large part of the dissatisfaction with the national tax laws is due to the inability of the public to understand just what the law means.

Not many people who pay income tax are law violators and the vast majority have no desire to become known as law violators. But their good intentions furnish mighty poor protection when the matter of paying an income tax comes up. Try as they may they can hardly avoid mistakes and mistakes that are calculated to cost them dearly. Even so-called "experts" are often powerless to help, for reports made out by members of the department itself are returned as incorrect and the unfortunate citizen who has asked departmental aid in making out his report is called upon for an additional payment.

The law ought to be made as simple as possible; the best laws are those that all people can easily understand. But measured by the test of simplicity the income tax law is one of the worst offenders the public knows. Whatever else congress does with the matter it should make the law easily understandable.

Reformers who howled against bathing beauty contests should turn now to their old copy books and read that one about "Give a Calf Enough Rope."

Colonel Mitchell may be up in the air, but with the support he seems to be getting it is possible that he may not have to get out and walk back home.

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore, after hours of exciting adventures aboard mysterious vessels in Long Island Sound, has plunged overboard from the last of them and is swimming toward shore. It is pitch dark but in the water she comes in contact with a creature whom she instinctively believes to be a friend. It is Bugle, a dog. Connemara was to have announced her engagement tonight, but, instead, stole away from her Aunt Celimene's home. Later she found herself in the company of rum-runners—or revenue officers.

The dog swam along beside her. "Nice boy, good boy!" she murmured at intervals, and always in return there was the friendly little "Woof! Woof!"—if only the warp too were as well intentioned and kindly, thought Connemara, who, though never ostentatious in her display of wisdom or erudition, was acquainted with mottoes and classic quotations, however slightly.

On they swam. "Home, Bugle, home please!" pleaded Connemara. She slackened her stroke, and the dog stopped too. He began nosing about her shoulders, and she realized that he was seeking a tooth hold, whereby he might take her in his mouth and carry her home.

"Oh, Bugle, if you were a man, I'd marry you, dear, however you felt about it!" Bugle, unacquainted with the plot, seemed to appreciate the compliment. For, though the gossamer chemise du jour which clung lankly to her shoulder blades offered no hospitality to his gallant teeth, when her arm was about his neck he started to swim again, and and was making fair headway with his lovely burden, of whose bodily beauty he was unaware, though her sweetness of heart must have spoken to his nobility through her gentle voice and touch.

"No, no, Bugle, dear," she addressed his woolly ear, "I cannot let you support me. I'm tired, but I can still paddle along." So she took her arm from his neck, and started once more to swim by his side. But not for long. Bugle, like most successful heroes, had not undertaken his rescue till safety was in sight. For soon, on a downward stroke, her arm was entangled in seaweed.

"Land," she exclaimed, like Columbus and Cortez, "is near."

And, like Columbus and Cortez, she was right. She felt for bottom and touched it. It was a rough bottom, and a rocky one. How fortunate that she had been unable to shed the slippers which now protected her delicate feet.

"We never know, or at least not always, do we, Bugle, when our misfortunes are blessings!" Bugle, still swimming beside her, did not answer, but she felt that somewhere under the dark water he had wagged his prankish tail.

The water was only to her hipbones. It seemed quieter here and calmer. Bugle must have led her to a cove—one he knew, probably, and therefore a safe haven, for no such dog as this could have been developed in any but refined and respectable surroundings. Which shows how well Connemara knew the world.

There was a sputtering and shaking at her side. Bugle had stopped swimming and come to his feet. What a tall dog he was! His head was level with her waist. Even as she walked uncomfortably over the stones, Connemara speculated on the breed of this noble animal, for she was ever interested in the sciences, natural or applied, and in history, natural, personal, or private.

Shallower and shallower grew the water, nearer and nearer the shore and peace, at least until day broke all over anything. But until then she would sleep tranquilly on this strand of sandy beach, secure in the protection of a strong and chivalrous friend.

But it wasn't a sandy shore; it was one of those interesting arrangements of slime, reeds, seaweed and small stones cleverly sharpened on three sides with which the north shore of Long Island is irrevocably bound.

Plowing through the slime of mud and clams, active and extinct, her knickers and chemise of apricot siffle bound with tourquoise, her silken silver stockings rolled just below her rosy dimpled knees, water dripping from her glorious cuprous tresses on her creamy marble back, Connmara must have presented a picture of appealing beauty had there been light and an eye to behold her. But, alas, there was neither. Only the soughing of summer winds, the lap of little black waves as the tide raced out to sea and the stout heart beating, beating beneath the shaggy coat which pressed her thigh, guiding her gently. Safely ashore, they shook themselves, as it were, by mutual consent. Then Bugle's sweet cold nose in her palm and his gentle "R-r-r" said as plainly as words of one syllable, "Come with me!"

Slowly he guided her a little way up the shore, slightly inland. Connemara walked carefully over the stones fearing a little to turn her ankle which, without costume or chaperone, might be awkward.

Bugle stopped and Connemara knew they had reached a destination.

"Here, Bugle?" inquired Connemara affectionately.

"R-r-r," replied Bugle distinctly, and lay down.

Sand! Soft and warm sand. The intelligent and thoughtful beast had surmised that she was in need of rest, and led her to what was probably the most comfortable place for miles around.

Connemara lay down beside him and snuggled close to his hide. By this time he was almost dry and, though still a little damp, was warmer than the girl he had decided to befriend.

In a few minutes Bugle was asleep.

Propped gracefully against him, Connemara would have slept too, but for the questions which raced inanely through her mind, just as though there were answers for them. Why had McTish left her, or had he? Who was Lacy? What happened after she left the ship, and why should any of it have happened? And oh, why, why had Aunt Celimena made such ridiculous conditions? It was all her fault, really.

This thought was rather comforting, and, snuggling a little closer to Bugle, she fell asleep.

She was awakened by a gentle touch. Opening her eyes, she saw that it was nearly dawn. A grayish light, faintly suffused with pink, made visible the green bushes in whose shelter she had slept in a patch of sand. Then she saw Bugle and knew what had waked her.

Bugle was covering her up. He had realized that she was cold, this kindly and intelligent beast. . . Beast? No, never—hero was a better word. Connemara was too young and too cold to reflect how often they are interchangeable.

"Angel!" She thus addressed Bugle, and he wagged his tail appreciatively in acknowledgment of her praise. But in a moment he was off again, having covered her carefully with something big and heavy, which felt very good.

Connemara huddled beneath it for a moment, and then sat up to see what it was.

An oilskin coat, and a very nice one. Not an old flung-away one which Bugle might have found in the bushes, but a clean, quite new one, which he had either dragged from a closet or someone had lent him, at his request, to cover her up.

Connemara stood up to examine it. A good one indeed! Except, as she noticed a minute later, for a square patch which had been torn jaggedly out of one of the fronts.

Who was he? She wondered as she slipped the thing on. Tall, she knew that, for his coat flapped around her feet. Nice? She thrust her hand in his pocket. A clean handkerchief, large and of fine, pure linen. No monogram, no perfume, not even a laundry mark.

WILL ROGERS

reason I came to Texas. I've got some money for a bond and a couple of spades, and so I thought I'd come down here and get a road contract.

"Speaking of your road fight. Well, there's Dan Moody. I don't blame him for looking for the money. He's going to run for governor and he'll need it. Lynch Davidson's going to run for governor but he's got all the money he needs to run, and so that leaves the Fergusons. And I'm warning you now they're going to beat all of you.

"By golly, you've got to hand it to Jim for one thing, anyway. He has proved that there's at least one man in this world who absolutely dominates his wife.

More About Ferguson

"But getting back to this here subject of roads. Dan's out looking for the money and you folks are out looking for the roads. Why they ain't two roads in Texas on speaking terms. You run out a little way from Wichita Falls and then lose yourself. And of course that's unusual for a man like me who comes from Oklahoma—a legitimate state.

"But let me tell you some more about Jim Ferguson. He aint in a class with politicians in my state. Why up there Jim Ferguson would just about be a justice of the peace."

Will had to take a jibe at Wichita Falls' traffic signals. He said he was waiting for to cross the street and thought he had hit the right signal to go and somebody yelled "Hey, there, don't you know nothing," and he come to find out he had to wait for the green.

"When it turned yellow I says to someone what's the yellow for and they says 'Oh, that's to get ready.' So you see I figured out the yellow was for the old men who had waited so long for the green that they needed to limber up so as to be in condition to make it across the street when the green started."

Would Bar Credit Cars

Discussing traffic problems, Rogers said his simple little rule of solving traffic problem was to prohibit any car from using the street unless it was paid for.

Will started out his lecture by talking about Mitchell.

"The army started out to capture Mitchell, but now it looks like Mitchell has captured the army," he insisted.

Will said he was in favor of aviation, however, and especially in favor of Henry Ford's going into aviation.

"Tell you one thing, though," he warned, "when you get to flying around in Henry's flivvers you can't get out and crank them."

Rogers explained the U. S. had two dirigibles, the Shenandoah and the Los Angeles.

An Enemy Agreement.

"But we can only use one of 'em at a time," he added, "because when we want to start up one we've got to get the helium gas out of the other to use in the one we want to fly. And when we have our next war we're going to have an agreement with the enemy that they do all their fighting with us where the dirigible is that's got the gas in it, or else make the enemy promise to shoot one of them down right where the other one is so's we'll not lose all our gas

"They're sending both of them ships to California. That's a good plan, too, because any two real estate men in california can blow both of them up for us."

He sought to explain disarmament rules.

Couldn't Sink a Boat.

"We agreed with Japan," he said, "that every time she builds a battleship, we'll sink one of ours. We had put about thirty million into the Washington when somebody told us Japan had finished another ship and we had to sink the Washington. We put both the army and navy to it and they couldn't shoot enough to sink it and finally a storm sunk the big boat. If it hadn't been for nature we'd still have the Washington.

Can't Even Aim a Gun

"They don't even let us aim our guns like we want to by reason of this here disarmament conference. That's something about elevation. So now in the next war the only way we can point 'em is at ourselves I guess.

"No, sir, folks, it's a fact. You got to hand it to America. We never have got licked in a war and we never have won a conference."

Rogers proposed Jack Dampsey for secretary of war.

"Because we never would have any fighting," he explained. "And if we did Jack would demand such a heavy financial guarantee that our enemy wouldn't want to fight us. You heard that about that coon Wills, haven't you, who said he wished he could fight Mista Dempsey instead of having to wait to see his grandchildren whip him."

Rogers wants Peggy Joyce to be secretary of the treasury because she has had so many husbands that we'd all have plenty of money.

"And for secretary of the interior," he added, "there aint any two ways about it. Our secretary of the interior ought to be one of the Mayo brothers."

Will had one joke he told the audience he was "awfully anxious they'd get," because that was the way he had of telling whether or not he was talking to riff-raff or sure enough highbrows.

"Mrs. Rex Beach came out to my house in Hollywood one time and told me Rex had a dandy new play for me to star in a movie.

"I can see Mrs. Beach yet as she drove up to our house and got out of her royalty on the Spoilers."

Quite a few in the audience got it, whereupon Will opined:

"Yes, I'm talking to the Wichita Falls' highbrows. There aint no riff-raff here tonight."

The De Rezke quartette program was immensely enjoyed by the audience, and Rogers concluded his appearance with his lassoing and rope tricks.

It should be added that Will kept very close companionship with his audience as his talk progressed.

Once a baby wailed.

"Now you mother with that baby," Will announced. "You just let that kid holler as loud as he wants to. Don't nothing make me feel more at home than to hear a baby cry." And another lusty wail from the youngster seemed to welcome his appreciation.

Then another time, Mayor and Mrs. R. E. Shepherd who had arrived late, were ushered down the aisle to their seats near the front of the auditorium.

"Don't ever let anybody stand up while I get through," said Will, "Usher you just oring those folks down. They're from the country and they've come a long ways to hear me."

Guy Waggoner Wins Race With Death To Bedside Of His Dying Sister, Electra

Record Breaking Time Is Set By a Special Train Texas Millionaire Chartered From St. Louis to New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—After a race with death in a special train for which freight and passenger trains were shunted to sidings, Guy Waggoner, wealthy oil operator of Fort Worth, Texas, was at the bedside of his dying sister, Electra, tonight. The racing special train covered the 1051 miles between St. Louis and New York in three hours less than the scheduled time of 23 hours of the fastest expresses on the Pennsylvania railroad.

Mrs. James A. Gilmore, the sister, suffered a relapse Thursday from an old illness. Three physicians and four attending nurses decided that her brother should be called from Fort Worth. He missed connections at St. Louis and ordered the special.

News of the special was flashed ahead and all other traffic was sidetracked. After accomplishing the 113 miles between Pittsburgh and Altoona in 2 hours 13 minutes, equalling the record for the distance which has long been the boast of the Pennsylvania, engines were changed at Harrisburg and once more Waggoner was off.

A limousine waiting here with a traffic policeman on the running board to clear the way completed arrangements and Waggoner sped to the bedside of his sister in record time. The trip cost him more than $10,000, five thousand of which went to the train crew, Mr. Waggoner having promised them that sum if they made the run in 20 hours or less.

When he climbed from his coach here and started for the limousine he called back over his shoulder to the crew, "You win, boys. You are wonders."

CITY OF ELECTRA NAMED FOR MRS. GILMORE

Mrs. James A. Gilmore, the former Electra Waggoner, is a member of a wealthy Texas family. The city of Electra, 30 miles from Wichita Falls, was named for Mrs. Gilmore.

he was shown his wife's birth certificate describing her as "black."

Taking up the question of Alice's love letters Mr. Davis brought the admission that they were used without the complainant's permission, although the witness later confessed that he was willing enough to have them read if they could be of benefit to his case. Despite the apparent contradictions in several of his replies, young Rhinelander answered cooly, traces of the impediment in speech which he first displayed having virtually disappeared.

Rhinelander said the letters were in a trunk in his father's house on 48th street.

"They disappeared without your knowledge," Mr. Davis said, referring to that admission made several days ago by the witness. "Who took them?"

"Mr. Jacobs." This answer referred to Leon R. Jacobs, one of the plaintiff's counsel.

"Didn't you object to his taking those confidential letters?"

"In a way, I did."

Suit Out of His Control.

"You promised to keep those letters sacred—that is, secret. But you were willing to forget when told that they would benefit you?"

"Yes."

"Was it within your power to control your own law suit?"

"No."

This answer caused an audible gasp from spectators which was interrupted by the next question.

"Then you were powerless to prevent the use of the letters?"

"Yes."

All through this battle of questions and answers Mrs. Rhinelander was slumped in her chair, her face buried in her coat and tears flowing steadily down her face. She had cried a little at other times during the trial, but apparently today was overcome by emotion when her husband was subjected to the unending succession of merciless questions.

Again reverting to Mr. Jacobs, Mr. Davis sought to show that the suit had been instigated by forces outside of young Rhinelander's control, this point having come into the opening statement when the defense contended that the action was really inspired by Phillip Rhinelander, the plaintiff's father.

The cross examination will be resumed tomorrow.

Love Letters.

Earlier in the day Mr. Mills introduced the last of a cycle of Alice's love letters, attempting to prove through them that she had pursued young Rhinelander, had tried to arouse his jealousy and had threatened to jilt him if he did not marry her.

In one of these letters many of which were characterized by erotic passages, Alice wrote:

"You are going to be mine, now or never. I have thrown down two chances for you. I would keep things a dead, dead secret. After you are mine I would keep quiet until you are your own boss."

In another letter she told him:

"I love you but you will have to come and marry me."

In still others she suggested that they take an apartment together and that Leonard keep his whereabouts unknown to his father.

U.S. GRAND JURY MAY REPORT TO COURT TODAY

Panel Organized at Opening of November Term Yesterday

The grand jury in United States court, northern district of Texas, which was impaneled with the opening of the court yesterday, is expected to report some time this morning. No report had been made by the jury when court adjourned yesterday afternoon. It was assumed, however, that a report might be made some time Tuesday morning. The grand jurors were impaneled by Judge William H. Atwell immediately after court convened and F. F. Knott of Wichita Falls named as foreman. Other members are Joe Smith, Knox City; C. M. Ladd, Vernon; Phillip Kleinman, Wichita Falls; Thomas Bragg, Bellevue; C. H. Golden, Bowie; S. R. Hill, Graham; T. F. Hannon, H. J. Anderson, W. H. Keil, Wichita Falls; T. B. Donnell, Eliasville; R. G. Milford, Knox City; E. D. Preck, Belcherville; Paul Browning, Burkburnett; James L. Boase, Burkburnett; A. A. Hingst, Vernon; G. S. Babbs, Bellevue; G. Z. Wright, Bellevue; P. B. Vernon Firm Fined $100 In Food Law Case

A fine of $100 was assessed Monday by Federal Judge William H. Atwell against the Vernon Cotton Oil company when a plea of guilty was entered to a charge of violation of the pure food and drug act. This was the first of several charges of a similar nature involving cotton oil mills in north Texas which are scheduled to come up before Judge Atwell in this term of court.

The complaints are based on alleged failure of cotton oil cakes manufactured by the defendants to measure up to the pure food standard which requires 43 per cent protein in their oil cake products. The cakes are used extensively as food for livestock.

In the case against the Vernon company it was alleged that some cakes manufactured and sent out under a label certifying 43 per cent protein in reality contained only 41 and a fraction per cent. Counsel for the defendant in a statement to the court explained that soil conditions under which cotton is grown cause wide variations in the protein content of oil cakes made from cotton seed and that is sometimes impossible to detect a slight drop below the government requirements.

The government did not contend that a wilful violation of the pure food law was apparent and since it was a first offense, the court prescribed a light penalty.

Woman Freed On Charge Of Owning Rum

A verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury in federal court Monday afternoon after evidence and arguments were heard in the case of the United States vs Mrs. Ella Lyon, charged with possession of about 18 gallons of whiskey.

She declared she had never seen the whiskey until it was brought out and set on the table in the court room yesterday.

The jury deliberated but a short time.

Nobles Heart Balm Case Is Transferred

Trial of the suit in which Mrs. Angie Nobles, one-time wife of Leslie Nobles, seeks damages of $200,000 from her wealthy former parents-in-law, must be had in district court at Amarillo, it was decided Monday afternoon by Judge Guy Rogers of the seventy-eighth district court here. He sustained a plea of privilege filed by the defendants in the case and this automatically sends the matter to Potter county where H. A. and Mrs. Callie Nobles, co-defendants with their son, make their residence.

Counsel for Mrs. Angie Nobles indicated after the court's ruling was made that an appeal would be taken in an effort to force a trial in Wichita county where Leslie Nobles resides.

The whole case grows out of the marriage several years ago of Leslie Nobles. His wife, Angie, charges in her original suit that after their marriage her parents-in-law alienated the affections of her husband and that finally, after three unsuccessful attempts, her husband obtained a divorce decree against her. This was given in Yucatin after suits had been started in Amarillo, Reno, Nev., and an Idaho town. These latter three actions, it is alleged, were dropped by the Nobles' when the defendant filed answers in each case.

Since the divorce was obtained, the plaintiff alleges that her former parents-in-law have used devious means to besmirch and damage her character and reputation.

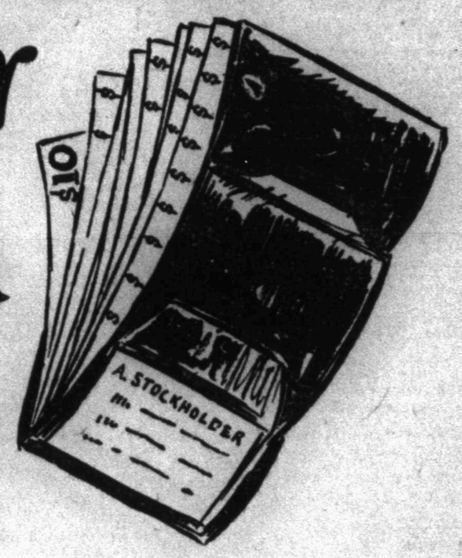

Oil Deal Is Basis Of Suit for $2,913

Suit for damages of $2,913 was instituted in the seventy-eighth district court Monday by J. M. Thrasher vs. M. J. Bashara, the action being based on alleged failure of the defendant to go through with a contract entered into with the plaintiff for drilling an oil well in Caldwell county.

The petition recites that in May of this year the plaintiff agreed with the defendant to put down a test near Lockhart for a consideration of $6,000. To do this he asserts he bought a new rotary rig in Houston and shipped it to Lockhart; but that before he could start work, the defendant breached his contract to the plaintiff's damage.

Another big Cities Service Customer-Ownership Campaign is to be held in this section. Another opportunity is to be offered to our customers and friends to become profit sharing partners in the $553,000,000 Cities Service organization which includes over 100 subsidiary companies operating in 31 states in the United States and in foreign countries—the organization which supplies hundreds of thousands of people daily with services and products essential to modern life—electricity, gas, water, heat, ice, oil and gasoline.

What are you going to do about it this time?

Perhaps you bought Cities Service Preferred Shares before. Probably you know some of the thousands of other people who bought. Many of them live right here. They are all over the United States, these Cities Service Security Holders—over 200,000 of them. These thousands have returned the verdict: "The Cities Service organization is a good place for our money." That's because they are well acquainted with these ten points we have pictured here—the points we would like for you to know.

The First Four Points Deserve Your Special Attention

The four main points about this investment are: 1. Your money is safe; 2. You can get it out if you need it; 3. You get a good yield; 4. You get your dividends monthly.

Safety is, when you invest, always the first consideration. You want to hold on to the money you have worked for and saved. Safety is, perhaps, the greatest reason why so many people buy Cities Service Preferred Stock. The figures tell the story of safety. Every dollar you invest in this security has back of it over $3.00 in substantial assets. Then, when it comes to paying your monthly dividends, the company earns about three times as much as is needed to pay them

We hardly need to analyze each point in detail. They speak for themselves.

During this campaign, employees of our company will be ready to give you further information and to take your order for preferred shares.

We ask that you go over these ten points shown in the panel herewith and give each one some thought. They are vital to you—because they have to do with the wages your money earns.

"Customer Ownership" Not "New Capital" the object of this Campaign

This is not a campaign to raise money, but to increase the number of customer owners. The stock which will be offered is not newly issued stock, but will be bought up from large holders and re-distributed here. The local company does not make a cent by selling the stock to you; but experience has shown that we get something greater than money—an increased number of friends and co-operators.

Cities Service Company believes that the investor, rather than the speculator, should own its securities—to the mutual benefit of both the company and its customers.

Cities Service Stockholders Keep Buying More Shares

It is a notable fact that a large percentage of Cities Service Preferred Stockholders keep buying more stock. Many of them buy more shares every few months. They can find no better place to put their money—to have it safe—where they can get it out—and where it pays such a good return.

If you bought this security before, this is a good time to get more. Buy on the partial payment plan if you do not want to pay cash.

According to our experience in past campaigns, we can expect that over ten thousand people will purchase Cities Service Preferred Shares in this campaign. We believe that each of these people will be making one of the best investments possible.

Will you be one of these investors?

SECOND PROBLEM —IN— THE WICHITA FALLS RECORD NEWS

Puzzle Contest

For Eliminating Ties On the First Problem

The solution of the first puzzle is 6048. As more contestants submitted this solution than there are prizes, all those who submitted any other solution are eliminated from further participation in the contest under the rule that as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied on any one solution before a prize is awarded for a less correct solution.

Only one solution of the second puzzle may be submitted. No correction or change may be made in it after it is sent in.

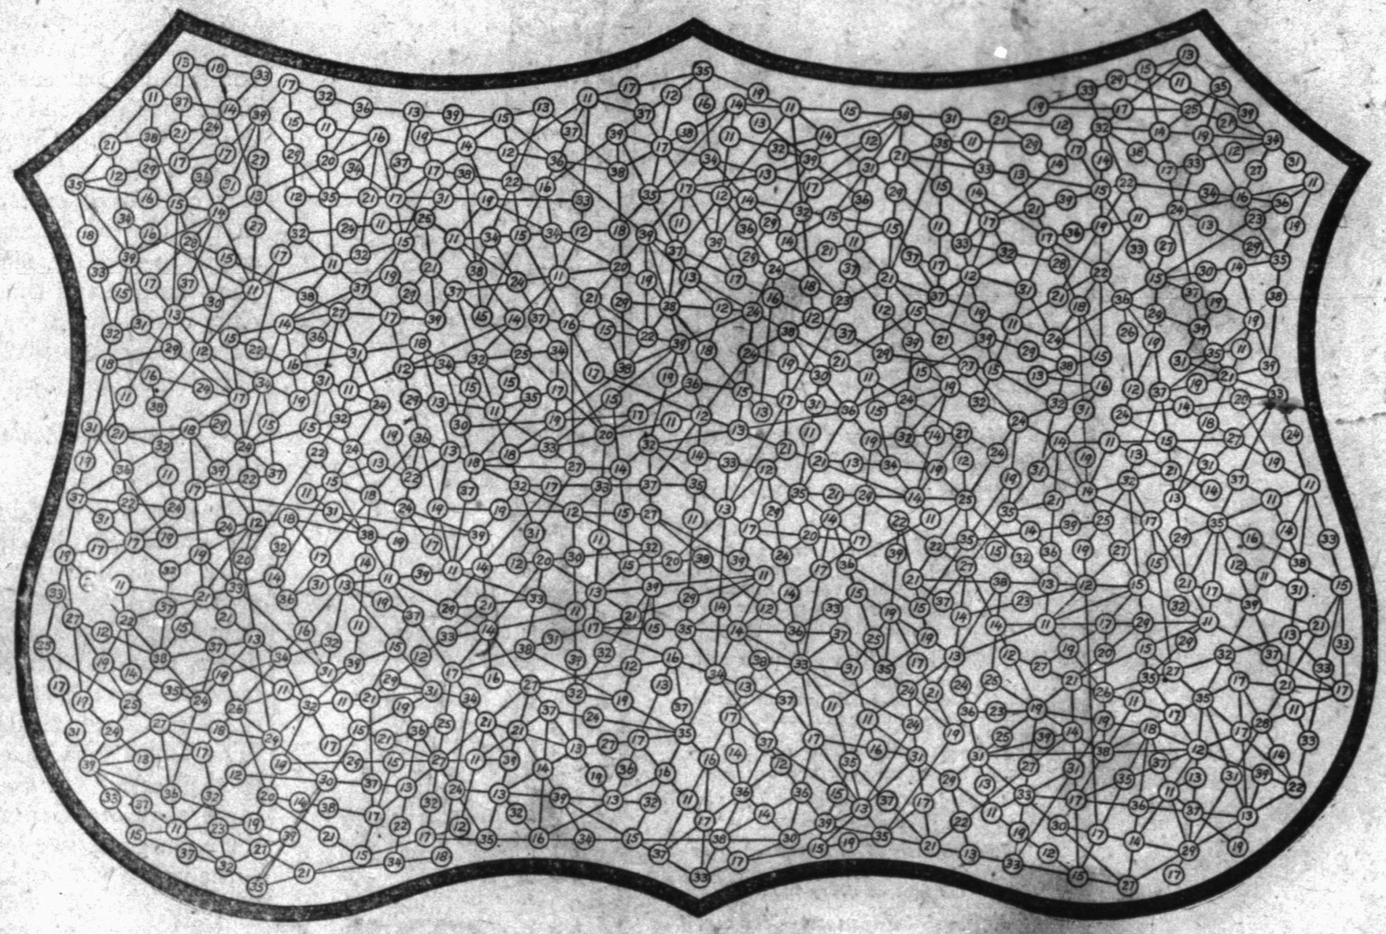

No additional payment on subscription is required with solutions of the second puzzle. Those who paid less than the full amount with their solution of the first puzzle, however, will be permitted to send any amount between what they paid and the full amount they might have paid, if they desire in the event of winning either of the high prizes to be awarded the maximum amount of such prize.

Three additional charts of the second puzzle will be mailed to those entitled to solve it, and one full week from the date the charts are received will be allowed to solve it. Due allowance will be made those residing at a greater distance than those in Wichita Falls and adjacent territory. This time will be reckoned according to mail schedules, and date of postmarks on return envelopes containing solutions of the second puzzle. All solutions of this puzzle must be sent by mail.

SECOND PUZZLE CHART

This chart with blank beneath must be cut out neatly from this sheet and sent in as your solution.

Solutions will not be accepted if mailed from points outside of the territory specified in the first period of the contest, or held beyond the time limit.

THE PROBLEM

Draw a continuous line across the face of the chart so that the numbers in the circles through which your line is drawn when added together will total the largest sum. The figures in the chart form double numbers such as 13 (thirteen), 18 (eighteen), 11 (eleven), and so on. In drawing your line observe the following rules:

Following the lines in the chart each section of your line must pass through at least three circles, but not more than six circles, in an absolutely straight line before you proceed in another direction. If you have any doubt about a circle being in a straight line with any others, lay a piece of straight-edged paper, or any straight edge along the lines connecting the circles and you will see at a glance whether the circles are in a straight line or not.

Use either a black, blue or red pencil, drawing your line either entirely through the circle, or to the center of any circle where you make a turn. Do not use ink, as that would likely obliterate the numbers in the circles through which your line is drawn. In following the lines shown in the chart draw your line slightly to one side so as to make it plainly discernible to those checking your chart.

Begin at any circle you wish, putting the letter "S" at the starting point and the letter "E" at the circle where your line has to end. These letters may be drawn in ink provided they are inserted in such a way as not to obliterate any circled number. Under this rule, you may start your line at any circle you select and continue in any direction you wish, as long as you keep within the rules.

Your line must not cross itself at any point, nor is it permissible to pass through any circle more than once. While each section of your line must pass through not less than three circles in a straight line it may pass through as many more as you may find desirable up to a total of six circles, wherever, of course, there are more than three circles in a straight line.

The last circle in any section of your line must also be regarded as the first in the section following, but in adding the number together for a total, the number in the circle where one section ends and the next begins is to be counted but once. By "section" is meant the portions or parts of your line, which connect three or more circles in a perfectly straight position.

In enumerating the total number of circles your line passes through, which you have to insert in the solution blank, do not count the circles at the points, or angles, where the line turns but one each. Do not confuse this with the rule that when drawing your line, the last circle in any one section is also to be regarded as the first circle in the next section.

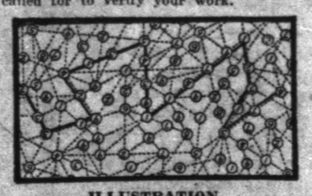

The prizes will be awarded to those submitting respectively the highest sum totals of the numbers in the circles through which the lines drawn by contestants pass. In the event of ties on any sum totals, and if there be a difference in the number of circles the lines pass through those passing through the least number of circles will be declared the winners. In the event or ties on both the sum totals and the number of circles the lines pass through, the puzzle, with conditions slightly changed, will be submitted as many as four times, after which, should any ties exist, each tying contestant will receive the full amount of the prize tied for.

Any error or neglect in complying with the foregoing rules will disqualify the solution of the contestant submitting it.

Be sure to attach your chart to the solution blank, so your solution can be properly checked. Solutions submitted without the charts accompanying them will not be considered, because they cannot be checked and verified.

The lines are in the chart to prevent any question arising over which circles are in a straight line.

Do not send anything but the chart and the solution blank, but hold all working papers subject to examination if they should be called for to verify your work.

ILLUSTRATION

The little chart with the line across it illustrates, among other things, the counting of the last circle in one section as the first in the next. For instance, starting at figure 4 on the left-hand side of the chart, the first section passes through three circles, thence downward through three, then further downward through three, thence upward through six and so on. Note also that the line runs alongside of it, but not directly over the dotted lines, which like the lines in the puzzle, indicate the directions to follow. The figures encircled are 4, 7, 3, 1, 7, 2, 1, 9, 7, 4, 1, 1, 9, 3, 4, 5, 3, 1, 4, 2, 9, 1, 3, 5, 7. The sum total of these numbers is 103. The line passes through twenty-five different circles. The line does not cross itself or pass through any circle more than once.

Remember, you do not have to start at any specified point, but at any circle in the large puzzle chart you wish, provided you can proceed by passing through not less than three circles in a straight line and so on. You may proceed in any direction you select, zig-zagging back and forth as you wish until you reach a point where you can go no further without violating the rules. You may start right in the middle of the chart, or at any other point you select.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE BARD MILITARY

No longer let carping deriders
Make fun of the metrical game,
Nor jeeringy say in their cynical way
That poets are placid and tame.
Our bards of the North may be lacking
In the impulse to dare and to do,
But a different kind you will speedily find
If you ever should go to Peru!

Down there when the laureate argues
A question of taste or of style
At a dinner or lunch he contributes a punch
That makes the discussion worth while.
And if it so be he is worsted,
His temper he sternly controls
Till the argument's done, then the chap who has won
Is suddenly shoe full of holes.

No whining and pallid browed poets
Who run less to nerve than to hair,
And who find no delight in a good gory fight
Are found making verses down there.
Their bards have come down from the Incas,
Who once were the kings of the land,
They know how to shoot and to end a dispute
With a good trusty gun in each hand.

They may not be Byrons or Shelleys,
Nor as fond of the little home nest
And the pretty cute ways of their old boyhood days
As our own Mr. Edgar A. Guest;
They may lack the wallop of Kipling
In the poems and songs that they write,
But they're worthy of fame and of praise just the same—
For they certainly stand up and fight!

ONCE UPON A TIME — THE PUMPKIN-PIE PRINCESS—II

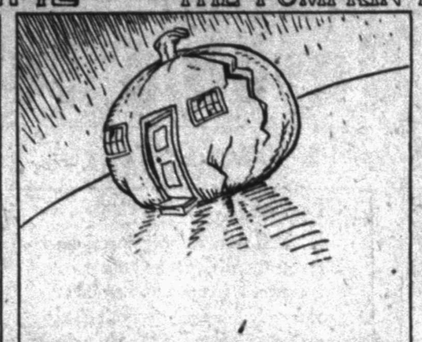

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

THE STORY UP TO NOW

THERE WAS ONCE A TINY GIRL WHO LIVED ALL ALONE IN A BIG PUMPKIN ON THE EDGE OF THE WORLD. OFTEN THE WIND WOULD STEAL UP TO HER PUMPKIN AND MISCHIEVOUSLY ROCK IT TO AND FRO, AND IT WASN'T A VERY PLEASANT FEELING THAT TO SLIP OFF THE EDGE OF THE WORLD WOULD MEAN FALLING DOWN, DOWN, DOWN TO NOBODY KNEW WHERE. WELL, ONE NIGHT THAT IS JUST WHAT HAPPENED. THE WIND TIPPED THE PUMPKIN A BIT TOO FAR, AND OVER THE EDGE IT WENT, TWISTING, TURNING AND TUMBLING.

THE WIND WAS SORRY FOR WHAT HE HAD DONE AND TRIED HIS BEST TO KEEP THE PUMPKIN FROM FALLING TOO FAST.

BUT, EVEN SO, IT LANDED WITH A THUD QUITE HARD ENOUGH TO KNOCK OVER ALL THE FURNITURE AND MAKE A GREAT CRACK DOWN THROUGH THE WALLS AND CEILING. THE PUMPKIN COULD NO LONGER BE OF MUCH USE AS A HOME.

WHEN THE PUMPKIN STOPPED SO SUDDENLY THE LITTLE GIRL POPPED HER HEAD OUT FROM UNDER THE BED CLOTHES AND WAS SURPRISED TO SEE A DAZZLING LIGHT STREAMING THROUGH THE WIDE, JAGGED OPENING. SHE COULDN'T UNDERSTAND THAT, FOR SHE KNEW IT WAS STILL NIGHT.

SHE PUT ON HER CLOTHES AND RUSHED TO THE DOOR. THERE SHE LOOKED OUT ON A GREAT SILVERY, SHINY SURFACE AND AS FAR AS SHE COULD SEE IT WAS AS SMOOTH AS A POLISHED DOOR KNOB, WITH NO TREES, NO HILLS AND NO GRASS.

DUMB DORA

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

We, certainly would like to be able to give the stove leaguers a morsel or two to chew on this morning, but there just naturally isn't any. Spudder status is about the same and there's nothing startling breaking in the diamond world at large today.

Spudder President J. A. Gardner pepped the situation up a bit yesterday afternoon when he advanced the information that the managerial situation is on the verge of being cleared up. Yessir, they're right on the edge of closing through for the services of a first class athlete to fill the slices vacated when Skipper Buddy Tanner announced retirement at the close of the 1925 season.

Gardner, because the transaction hasn't been completed, doesn't want to run the risk of a slip-up by giving the matter any publicity, but he said that the affair has been settled as far as the two contracting clubs are concerned. This man is playing with a class AA league team, and cannot come to Texas on an outright sale, until waived out of the league.

THE HINGE.

The Spudder official gave it as his opinion that since the player in question has the chance to again become a manager the rest of the league probably will do the sporting thing and let him go. However, he's the type of an athlete any club owner in his league would like to have on his team.

We know whereof we speak, having been acquainted with all the facts in the situation. We know the player and his record both as an athlete and as a man, as was said in this column several days ago. He's the real article. His name is withheld at request of the Spudder management.

CLEAR IN TEN DAYS.

Gardner declared he expects, barring, of course, the possibility of the league refusing to let him travel the waiver route successfully and the chance of any other se.back in the deal, that the transaction will be closed within the next ten days.

The outlook is of a very rosy hue. The player is a veteran, able to work anywhere on the infield or outer works, and mauls the apple at a vicious clip. That sounds quite unusual, but nevertheless is true.

CAL STILL WITH US.

Several weeks back this column commented to effect Monty Callaghan may figure in this particular trade. He was offered, but the outcome so far is Callaghan stays with Wichita Falls and the Spudders get their new manager, but there is quite a possibility Silent Cal will return.

It would not be surprising, however, to learn later this winter that Callaghan has figured on some other kind of trade. Spud mags are dickering for a shortstop, a catcher, and possibly more outfield material. And, of course, are on the look out for new strength in the pitching department.

AMATEUR STOCK CLIMBS.

Wichita Falls amateurs are now on the inside track, thanks to the efforts of L. O. Doc Landon, sporting goods gentleman and president of the twilight league. This city will be affiliated with the Texas amateur athletic federation, organized Saturday in Waco, whereby teams from this city will be allowed the chance to enter annual concerted drives for various amateur sports championships of the state.

The federation will take charge of nine sports including barnyard golf, and attend to the settlement of the various championships each year. Wichita Falls probably will participate in the baseball, basketball and tennis competition. Basketball, of course, is first on the slate this year. The quintet which wins the championship of Wichita Falls will be given the privilege of entering organized state competition.

Plans have been simmering for the past several weeks toward the organization soon of a six-team cage league here, the advance being held up because of lack of playing facilities. However, school officials meet this week to discuss the idea of allowing the city leaguers use of the Junior college courts. A majority of the school board and the high school and Junior college coaches are in favor of giving the downtowners full sway, it has been learned, on certain nights of each week.

THAT HEAVY MILL

That heavyweight mill slated for the legion feature bout Thursday night in the 812 1-2 Scott ring, although not bringing together any of the topnotch boys should prove a whale of a slugging affair. Neither George Lee nor Buster Martin, the former Wichita Falls heavy, can be acclaimed as anything in the way of a finished product, but each is comparatively tough, and they're heavy swingers. Personally, we expect to see this match eclipse anything held so far this winter here by way of real intensified ring action.

NOW THEY SAY GRANGE TO JOIN CHICAGO BEARS

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Latest rumors today concerning "Red" Grange were that he would turn professional under the colors of the Chicago Bears when he draws the curtains on his intercollegiate career next Saturday.

Reports also said that Earl Britton, another Illinois halfback, would be Grange's running mate when the Wheaton iceman turns to the field where he can reap greenbacks instead of glory.

Powell Leads Coyotes To Victory Over Vernon's Lions

CARDINAL AND BLACK RALLIES IN 3RD PERIOD TO COP GREAT CONTEST BY 19 TO 7 SCORE

Big Ed Plunges Pack Across Goal Twice; Pass, Francis to Horton, Nets Third Score.

By BLONDY CROSS.

Vernon's Lion forced an infuriated Coyote at bay!

Oldtimers of the plains will tell you that in doing so one makes a painful mistake.

For like the snarling, ripping, slashing, insanely fighting animal this lithe beast of the prairie lands when cornered, hemmed up in its chaparel chicket lair, Wichita Falls' Cardinal and Black moleskin machine, 11 warring demons led by a wiry, smashing, charging back, repulsed and then routed the Grey of Vernon.

Big Ed Powell, somber, solemn faced lad, but one who battles with the cold fury of the immortal Beowuit, arose to the heighis of an already spectacular football career, and when others failed, rallied his team on the brink of disaster, and by his own might and dauntless courage carried the Cardinal and Black from the gloomy depths of apparently impending defeat, bore back the vicious advances of that roaring Lion to conquer.

Vernon fell before the black wave of Wichita Falls, 19 to 7, Monday on the Spudder park gridiron in combat which will find its niche in the football annals of this section as one of the most thrilling and exciting battles staged. Play was for the eastern half district one championship. The victors earned the right to meet Plainview Saturday for the district title in the current marathon for Texas high school honors. Location of this game will be settled today, announced Wichita Falls Coach Bud McCallum, last night.

After throwing away an early chance to score when on first down 12 yards from the goal, Wichita Falls heaved into the end zone merely to see the toss grounded and the ball taken from the Cardinal and Black clutch and given Vernon, after an impressive and valient stand, their backs to the last white line, the oval three yards from a coveted score and four downs for the Lions to make it in, after Benton Ryan, brilliant Vernon quarter, had slipped off the black left tackle through a wide cut swath smashed there by Roy Key and Burrows, cut back across in a scintillating dash from near midfield and eluded all tacklers to vault the goal standing up and after Ryan had booted from placement to amass a 7 to 0 margin for the Wilbarger eleven in that second period, Big Ed Powell, Buck Steed, Dempsey Moore, Coyal Francis, Swede Wainscott, Tank Horton, little Jewell Sisk and the rest of their Coyote mates tore back in the final two periods of that beefic affray, tears in their eyes, fighting ire aroused, pale with rage, and displaying a stalwart advance which brooked no barrier, swept the vaunted opponent down, down to dungeon mire of defeat.

Advance Starts in Third Period.

It was midway in the third period when the advance which brought victory began. It was a break of the game, too, abetted by terrific smashing of Wichita Falls tacklers, for in sweeping off left end, Castleberry, packing the oval for Vernon, was waylaped so hard that he fumbled. Coyal Francis pounced on the pigskin. There from the Lion 40-yard line, the snarling Coyote rushed the ball over the goal. A meteoric forward pass, Francis to Powell, netted a 30-yard advance. Then it was Powell, fighting Ed Powell who plunging the Vernon forward defense for all the world like an American battle tank raging through first line defenses in the din and smoke at the Battle of the Marne, charged over on three attempts. The two teams lined up on the ten-yard line after the completion of that lightning-like pass. Powell took the pigskin on the first play and ploughed right tackle with Dobson, Pack left tackle, leading the way for a five-yard advance. Then Big Ed took it again. This time he smashed center. When Referee Richenstein had burrowed down and disentangled the ball from a myriad of arms and legs it lay a scant 15 inches from the final white chalker. Vernon's secondary defense rallied in behind and the forward wall pulled in close. It was the last stand. Big Ed should not pass! Smash! And both teams piled up in the center of the line as Big Ed's body, the ball tucked under one arm, hurtled into what appeared to be a stonewall barrier. Again Referee Richenstein disentangled the oval from a mass of sweating bodies. It was over! Try for point failed, but the Vernon lead had been narrowed to a slim one-point advantage.

'Twas Just Powell and More Powell.

The two battalions arrayed themselves in kick-off formation. Vernon received the boot, and was downed 39 yards from its goal. Williams lost a yard at left end. A bad pass from center put Williams in a hole on the next play. He dropped back, scooped up the oval and heaved into space. And again it was Big Ed Powell who, leaping high, pulled down the heave and was halted 40 yards from the goal. A pass was knocked down. Then Buck Steed raced around right wing for an eight-yard nettage. Powell broke through center three yards for first down. Vernon was penalized for offside on the next play. Moore was cut down four yards back of the line of scrimmage when Lion forwards, rallying desperately, swarmed through to smear an attempted left end run. But Dempsey came right back and regained the yardage lost on a thrust off left tackle. Steed advanced two yards through right end. Then the inevitable Powell tore through center nine yards to a first down. Francis clipped the same sector four yards. The ball was on Vernon's 10-yard line. Steed gained two yards off left end. Thrusts by Francis and Powell at the middle of the line brought first down with the ball a paltry few yards from the goal. Again Vernon's Lions rallied desperately to the defense. But Francis smashed through almost to the goal. Powell tore into the massed defense, and when he was pulled out from under the heap the pigskin was a bare few inches from the line. The quarter ended before the next play could be run off. They changed to the other end of the field and Richenstien in measuring the distance from the ball to the goal had only to use his whistle, the distance was so short. On the first play of the fourth period, Powell rooted through center behind Penney to score, giving the Coyotes the victory margin. Big Ed Powell crossed 'em up on try for point after the touchdown by bucking five yards and over the goal on a fake placekick.

Tasted Blood; Liked It; Got More.

The Coyotes having tasted blood, liked it, but were still not satiated. Hardly had the battle been resumed before another march to the goal was begun. Wichita Falls kicked off. On the second play, this Powell jumped right into the thick of the melee again and snapped in another Vernon pass. He caught the fleeting oval on his own 45-yard line, and twisted to within 39 yards from the enemy goal before being pulled down. Then he hit Vernon's right guard two yards. Steed duplicated the advance over right end. It was third down and six to go. They passed, Francis to Sisk, but it netted only three yards. Steed, stepping high and lively, slipped off left tackle for first down. Two more attempts at the line netted but three yards. Then Francis uncorked a pass over the left side of Vernon's front defense to Horton who had slipped out into the open. Tank gathered the oval into his arms and lunged across the goal line. The game was over. Try for point failed, and there remained yet more than half of the fourth quarter, but hostilities had ceased. Yes, the game was over.

Ed Powell and his cohorts rested on their laurels, waged a sterling defensive game, and once or twice came near to getting away again. Vernon, Ryan leading the way, opened with an aerial attack in final effort to overcome the commanding lead, but the Wichita Falls goal was never menaced seriously.

You have to hand it to the whole Wichita Falls line, for the lads who formed that forward rampart fought the battle of their lives. Penney was everywhere. Dobson and Wainscott waged a stiff defense. Ray was in there hard. But much credit should go to Powell who backed up that line and bore the brunt of attack.

In the Vernon contingent three players topped the list. Gelhausen, Ryan and Cleis Key stood out head and shoulders above the lot. In the first two periods, off tackle plunging by Gelhausen all but killed Coyote hopes for victory. Ryan, weakened by illness and injury, played but a portion of the game. But while in there, the Vernon club showed a different front. And for condensed play, Ryan's performance was overshadowed only by the work of Powell. Key at right guard, probably staged the greatest game of his career.

JUNIORS SEEK REVENGE OVER ARCHER CITY

The Coyote Pups are settling down this week to whip themselves into shape for the game here Friday with Coach Wilson's Archer City club. The Archer City team won a 19 to 0 game from the Pups earlier in the season, but the Juniors have shown such improvement of late that they should stand a very good chance to win this time.

This improvement is shown in the club's win over the Burkburnett second stringers last week. The Pups have been continually plugging away at practice for some time and with each week of practice have steadily been improving.

Dale Carter, Clyde Fly, Roy Brackett, and Hunky Farris have been working smoothly together, and last Friday showed up as one of the best backfields the Junior high has turned out for some time. True the backfield of last season was better, but this year the backfield was formed from a groupe of green players.

With the great lineplaying of Pete Powell, Red Nichols, Clarence aBins, Hack Giles and Ted Davenport in the last games the Pups stack up as a very formable looking club.

The Pups will be at work all this week at their regular practice grill and are working hard for a chance to win.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16.—(AP) Captain Herman Clark of the T. C. U. football team may be out of the Thanksgiving day battle here with Austin college on account of an injury suffered in the final minutes of the tilt last Saturday with Arkansas. His right collar bone was torn away from the shoulder, but he stayed in the game and helped score the points that won the contest.

Iowa Half Leads West Conference

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The points piled up by "Cowboy" Nick Kutsch, Iowa halfback, a month ago, still holds the lead in the Western conference football point scoring honors. In the last three games he has not scored, but still ranks as the leading scorer.

Benny Friedman of Michigan has been at his heels for weeks, but is two points behind.

Almquist of Minnesota is the leading touchdown maker with seven, but nicks the field goals which put Kutsch and Friedman in the leading places.

RESULT OF GRID TILTS IN EAST NOT IMPORTANT

Green Wins Rag—Princeton Big 3 Champ—Amherst "Little" King

NEW YORK, Nov. 16—(AP)—Football's sprint for the finish post this season looms as an anti- climax Two weeks of gridiron campaigning remain, but for the most part particularly in the east and far west, the main battles have been won and the laurels distributed. Dartmouth, for instance, not only has clinched a clear claim to the mythical eastern team crown, where the green a year ago was forced to share the top with Yale and Pennsylvania but also has put forward a potential claim for national championship recognition on the strength of a clean-cut inter-sectional triumph over Chicago.

Princeton by astonishing victories over Harvard and Yale on successive Saturdays, has clinched the "big three" title; Amherst has wrenched the "little three' championship from Williams, while in the far west the University of Washington has at least broken the magic spell of California's supremacy in the Pacific coast conference. In the south and middle west alone are major title claims still in dispute.

Seldom if ever in the history of eastern football has so little importance so far as titular aspirations are concerned, been attached to the closing three classics along the Atlantic seaboard, those between Yale and Harvard at Cambridge next Saturday, Cornell and Pennsylvania at Franklin field Thanksgiving Day and the Army and Navy at the Polo Grounds November 28. Tradition is the lone factor that makes these annual struggles stand out now.

WESTMINISTER NEAR CHAMP

MEXIA, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Westminister won the right to play in the semi-finals for the district championship in eastern Junior college circles of Texas by defeating Rusk college 45 to 0 today. Potter, brilliant Westminister halfback, made three touchdowns, and the passing done by Shires is seldom equalled in southwest conference circles.

INGROWN NAIL
Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.
A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing toenail reduces inflammation and pain and so softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON a

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—(AP)—The cotton market while less active, developed a fairly good business today. The trend of prices was downward, but good trade buying held the decline within moderate bounds. Prices eased off 17 to 20 points within the first half hour of trading, but they soon recovered 12 to 13 points on trade buying and receded again to the lows or a shade below on hedge selling and liquidation due to the better weather.

During the afternoon the easier tone was more pronounced and prices at the lowest in the final trading showed losses of 24 to 29 points. The close showed net losses for the day of 22 to 26 points on the near positions and 13 to 15 points on the more distant.

The start was irregular on more favorable cables than due and later months opened 7 to 10 points down. The opening prices of 20.10 for December, 19.90 for January and 19.59 for March proved to be the highs of the day. The market eased off gradually with occasional rallies of 12 to 13 points until the final lows were reached in the late trading at 19.74 for December, 19.61 for January and 19.40 for March, or 24 to 29 points under the previous close. The close was near the lows.

Exports for the day totaled 164,416 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The cotton market was lower today under pre-bureau liquidation and southern selling. January contracts eased off to 19.72 in late trading, 28 points under Saturday's closing quotation, and closed at 19.77. The general market closed steady at net declines of 19 to 30 points.

The opening was barely steady at an advance of 6 points on December, but generall 4 to 16 points lower in spite of relatively firm Liverpool cables. Many over-Sunday selling orders appeared at the start which included considerable hedging for southern account. After they had been executed prices worked up a few points, but met increased offerings above the 20-cent level for March deliveries, reaching the lowest levels of the day in late trading.

No definite opinions were expressed on the probable showing of next Saturday's government report, but there appeared to be uncertainty as to the figures and after the advances of last week, the evening up of accounts naturally included considerable realizing of liquidation. Otherwise, business was rather quiet and enough covering or trade buying on scale downward orders gave the market a fairly steady undertone at the close. December sold off from 20.75 to 20.42 and March from 20.17 to 19.70 with the close showing slight rallies on the near months.

Exports today 164,416, making 3,082,620 so far this season.

Port receipts 88,465. U. S. port stocks 1,550,581.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Speculation for the advance came to an abrupt halt in today's stock market despite several favorable dividend developments and prices plunged downward under heavy selling for both accounts. Trading was again in large volume, the day's sales running over 2,500,000 shares.

Out of town banks are reported to have called about $5,000,000 in loans which, together with the absence of strong buying support for the motor shares probably precipitated the selling movement. Sporadic attempts were made to rally the list by bidding up selected oils, rails and specialties, but they failed to make much of an impression.

Motors broke wide open under the hammering of bear traders. Chrysler dropped nearly 13 points to 200 and then rallied to 203¾. Hudson dropped 9 points to 101. Jordan fell over 7 points to 44¼ and Chandler, Dodge Brothers "A", Mack Truck, Moon, Nash, Packard, the Pierce Arrow issues, Willys Overland, White and Yellow Truck declined 1½ to 5 points.

Rubber and motor accessory shares also were hard hit. Fisher Body collapsed 15½ points to 100, U. S. Rubber showed a decline of 4½ points at 88¾ and Goodrich, Kelsey Wheel and Stewart Warner yielded 2 to 4 points.

Dupont failed to respond to the announcement of a $5 extra cash dividend breaking 21 points to 226 and then rallying to 228. Raising of the annual dividend on Kennecott Copper from $3 to $4 also failed to benefit that stock, which closed over a point lower at 96½.

Oils developed a temporary burst of strength early in the session under the leadership of Standard Oil of New Jersey, which touched 46 but fell back later to 44¾ on the official denial of rumors that the company planned to retire its proffered stock.

Rails also failed to follow up their recent advance, although an opening display of strength in the Van Sweringen issues sent Chesapeake & Ohio and Nickel Plate common to new high records. Such popular issues as Baltimore &Ohio, Atchison, New York Central, Lackawana, Lehigh Valley, "Katy" common, Reading, Southern Pacific and Southern Railway showed net losses of 1 to 2 points.

There were a few independent strong spots. Foundation company was bid up 8 points to a new record high at 179 and the "rights" to subscribe to the stock of the new foreign subsidiary were quickly run up form 15 to 24½, closing within a point of the top. International Nickel also attained a new peak at 43¾.

Marking up of the call money rate from 4½ to 5 per cent was somewhat of a surprise in view of the huge excess reserves shown in last Saturday's clearing house statement, but it was explained by the calling of loans by interior institutions in preparation for the withdrawal of government funds to meet Liberty loan interest payments. An advance in the Cleveland federal reserve rediscount rate was announced after the market closed. Time money and commercial paper rates held firm.

Foreign exchanges moved within narrow and irregular limits. Demand sterling and French franc held relatively steady at $4.84⅝ and 4.01½ cents, respectively.

TEXAS VEGETABLES

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16.—Texas fruit and vegetable rollings of the week-end were the heaviest to date this season. The movement included for yesterday [illegible] of mixed vegetables, six of grapefruit, two freight, two express cars [illegible] beans, 13 sweet potatoes, one eggplant, 3 tomatoes, and for Sunday one tomatoes, 11 grapefruit, two sweet potatoes, four mixed vegetables and six express cars of string beans. Total rollings of commodities for the nation as a whole follow: Saturday, mixed vegetables 51, spinach 31, grapefruit 104, egg plant two, cucumbers two, celery 80, cauliflower six, lettuce 39, onions 98, peppers 7, pears 24, sweet potatoes 65, tomatoes 14, grapes 82, green peas 18, potatoes 537, apples 830, cabbage 158. Sunday: Apples 16, tomatoes 11, white potatoes 20, grapefruit 57, cauliflower six, celery 32, mixed citrus 2, lemons 22, onions 7, sweet potatoes 7, cabbage 2, mixed vegetables 16, green peas 8, oranges 143, lettuce 17, grapes 26, pears unreported, peppers 2, spinach four, string beans 10.

As the week closed, potatoes at Idaho Falls were dull around $2.50@2.60 for sacked Russets carload fob cash trade for shipment to California. Cabbage at Rochester was about steady with good Danish bringing fob usual terms $18@22 ton against $23@25 at Kenosha, Wisconsin. Wenatchee valley apples, extra fancy winesaps were quoted at $2.30 with fancy bringing $2.05. The Yakima Valley loaded extra fancy Jonathans for $1.85 and extra fancy delicious $2.60. The Hood river section listed extra fancy yellow Newtons at $3 box carlots fob usual terms.

TEXAS TURKEYS

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 16.—(AP)—Turkey markets of the state today were very unsettled. There was a strong undertone to trading on account of the light receipts and yet a very decided unwillingness on the part of trade to advance to any price levels that would add to the speculativeness of this deal. The freight movement so far is believed to have been very light and express shipments which are to clear by today and tomorrow not showing up as numerously as was previously expected. Heavy weather in the middle western states and warmer temperatures in the northwest however were considered as decidedly firming factors in the local market for it is now believed that country dressed stock will be in much lighter supply terminal markets and a boom in prices is anticipated.

In the meantime the live market to the farmer ranges anyway from 25 to 28 cents with an occasional lot bringing upward of 29 cents delivered dressing plant. Cut backs for grade are heavy however. The carlot market of the week end between the local operators was around the 38 cent mark, but it is not believed today that good dressed stock can be purchased at this figure on account of the firming tendency, although so much uncertainty still prevails as to the competition of more northerly states that a swing back may be registered at any time.

San Antonio: Number one stock bringing 27@28 cents, old toms 25c, No. 2 18, culls 14 cents, live weight basis delivered packing shed.

Fort Worth and north Texas market receipts moderate. Steady. Number one mostly 27 cents, number twos 15@17, old toms mostly 24 cents pound live weight basis.

MARKET GOSSIP

R. E. Flowerree and company, brokers, Staley building, today received the following market comment from Fenner & Beane of New York, New Orleans and Chicago:

Cotton

Cotton values slipped a little today largely on account of profit taking by last week's buyers.

Better weather over Sunday than expected coupled with forecast of generally fair and warmer seemed to check outside buying almost from the start and was responsible for much of the day's selling. Spot news was good with demand active everywhere. Some Oklahoma points however, claimed the cotton being produced there was turning out of better grade than expected at first. Experts were large and crossed the 3,000,000 mark. The amount on ship board indicates further heavy movement abroad.

The market acted today like the hedge was off the buying side for the moment and that we are in for a period of profit taking which may send prices some lower before it runs its course. The underlying factors, however, are constructive.

Grains

Wheat, highest prices of the day made at opening, after which there was persistent selling, particularly in December, by previous buyers and the tone was weak most of the day. The fear of a movement of wheat from the northwest said to be principal topic of discussion, but the difference between Minneapolis and Chicago has narrowed and at the moment there is little chance of addition sales being made. We were a little disappointed at the news from the seaboard today, exporters reporting an indifferent demand, whereas it was hoped and expected that the improvement noted last week would continue. Should the market ease further while in the process of digesting the selling that took place today we believe purchases will be in order, as the strong position of our December delivery will again assert itself unless northwestern prices decline sufficiently to bring wheat here at a profit.

Coarse grains—Corn showed independent strength today, although the volume of trade was small. A decrease in visible brings the total down to only 1,458,000 bushels against 7,685,000 last year.

Receipts are disappointingly small and cash handlers report very meagre offerings to arrive. At present the amount available in Chicago for delivery on December contracts is negligible and unless country holders loosen up shorts in the December might find themselves in an uncomfortable position. Oats continue to lack individuality.

Stocks

Today's stock market recorded lower levels for almost the entire list. Following the sinking spell during the first hour, a stronger tone developed and many issues had recovery, particularly the leading industrials and rails. This improvement however, was of short duration and was followed by another selling movement. The motors continued under heavy pressure and had dragging influence on the rest of the list. Chrysler dropped over 12 points, with Mack the heaviest loser, showing about 25 points setback. Selling was in face of further constructive news developments, including an increase in the Kennecott dividend and an extra dividend on Dupont. U. S. Steel was under pressure all through the afternoon.

The market was active the final tone uncertain with liquidation brought on by considerable calling of loans by the banks.

Sheep 6,000; [illegible] fed lambs 15.00@15.40, top ewes 7.85.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16.—The large supply of cattle arriving Monday was bound to exercise a depressing influence upon the market, and it did, sending the stock to lower levels—butcher cows by 15@50c and canners and cutters down by 10 to 15c. Beef cattle were steady along with other grades of slaughter stock, and calves under the influence of strong buying by outsiders, bettered their market status by 25 to 50c.

Receipts were posted as of 7,700 grown cattle and 3,000 calves. These figures, 3,100 more in the case of cattle than a week ago and 2,000 less than a year ago. Calves were here in about the same numbers as a week ago and 2,600 less than a year ago.

Beef steer trade opened early, differing in this respect from the movement of last week. A good grade of fed cattle notched $7 to 7.25, other cattle off grass taking up to $6.50.

Butcher cows felt the influence of numbers and succumbed to a decline of around 25c. The early rounds developed sales at $3 to 4.50 on the desirable cows, few taking a better figure and canners and cutters were slow movers at the time to 15 cents less, the former ranging from $1.85 to 2.15 and the latter selling at the spread of $2.35 to 2.60.

Bulls were more active than at the close of last week and a trifle gain was noted in rates. Bolognas went over at $3.75 to 3.75. Five full loads moved at $3.60 to 3.70.

The calf trade was in the hands of shippers at the start, consignments selling 25 to 50c higher than at the close of last week's disastrous movement. Light veals cleared up to $7.50, and many sales of heavy calves were reported at $5.75 to 6.50.

The stocker and feeder trade presented a pleasing feature of the day's trading. Consignments were not only numerous but presented good quality in the feeder line. A right choice class made up to $7.50 and sales were frequent at $7.65 and down for stockers.

Packers contributed 2,100 "directs" to the 2,700 yard receipts of hogs. As in the case of calves, shippers took an early and active part in getting three cars at $10.00 choice butchers. The regulars gathered in the rest of the medium to choice and of the supply at $11.75 to 12.00. Market steady with last Friday. Pigs and packing sows unchanged.

Five Texas shipping points contributed to the 2,400 sheep supply—the market looked a dime higher on aged slaughter sheep, wethers moving at $8 and 8.35. Yearlings had a spread of $10.50 to 12. Wooled thin wethers moved as stockers at $7. Bulk of the sheep unsold at noon.

Cattle 10,700, including 3,000 calves; market steady: beeves $5.25@8.00; stockers $4.50@7.00; fat cows $3.00@4.00; heifers $4.50@7.50; yearlings $5.00@8.00; canners $2.00@2.85; cutters $3.40@2.70; bulls $3.50@3.75; calves $3.00@9.50.

IRRIGATION

Root Rot Not an Imported Disease.

Many of our plant diseases and insect pests have been imported into the United States from some foreign country. The San Jose Scale, chestnut blight, boll weevil, and alfalfa weevil are examples of imported pests.

In the case of the cotton root rot, a trace of its ever having been imported can be found. It is thought that it is a native of Texas, or at least that it was prevalent in Texas on wild and other vegetation when the early settlers first began to raise cotton.

It found killing vegetation out on the native prairies or in the timber lands far from any farming operations.

About seventy counties in Texas are known to be infected with Root Rot. There are probably other counties which have not reported as yet.

It is known to exist in Oklahoma, Arkansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Southern California and samples of roots bearing the disease have been received from the state of Durango, Old Mexico.

So far as is known it does not exist in Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia or other states to the east where soil and climate are similar to those in Texas.

Just why these eastern gulf states are not affected is not yet known. There are still many unsolved problems in connection with this mysterious disease.

When it's Thanksgiving—and the teams are drawn up for battle on the gridiron—when the first touchdown goes over and the grandstands rock with frenzy
—have a Camel!

WHEN the college bands are playing to make your blood tingle. And the cheers and answering songs sweep back and forth between the opposing thousands of rooters. When, following that tense hush, a swift player darts out from the flashing formations on the gridiron and races across the goal for the first touchdown—oh, man, or superman, when the taste of joy is too keen to endure—have a Camel!

For Camel is the boon companion of your joys. Roam as far as you will from the prosaic things of every day, Camel will be the truest smoke friend you ever had. Not a tired taste, not a cigaretty after-taste, not a regret in a million Camels! Just full and fragrant smoke contentment, just added zest in living.

So when your own college's team tears through for its first smashing goal this Thanksgiving Day—when life seems fullest of the frenzy of happiness—joyfully apply the fire and taste the smoke that's loved by millions.

Have a Camel!

Into the making of this one cigarette goes all of the ability of the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men. Nothing is too good for Camels. The choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. The most skilful blenders. The most scientific package. No other cigarette made is like Camels. No finer cigarette can be made. Camels are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

Our highest wish, if you do not know Camel quality, is that you compare them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

LAST RITES FOR MRS. G. C. WOOD HELD MONDAY

Hundreds Join in Last Tribute to Beloved Citizen

Hundreds of sorrowing friends paid last tribute to the memory of Mrs. G. Clint Wood Monday afternoon when they gathered around the flower-laden bier at the family residence, 1000 Brook, to pay farewell to the woman they loved so well, and to bring comfort to the grief stricken relatives.

Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of which Mrs. Wood had been active during her residence here, officiated. "She hath done what she could," was the theme of the brief talk he made in which he recounted the events of her life.

Burial Was in Riverside.

Music at the funeral was furnished by the members of the choir. The pall bearers were Preston Lea, Bert Broday, T. B. Noble, Walter D. Cline, M. D. Rowe, R. O. Harvey, Dr. J. C. A. Guest, E. P. Bass, W. P. Ferguson, W. A. Freear, J. A. Sandefer, W. L. Robertson, Lee Wilson and J. I. Staley.

Mrs. Wood was stricken with apoplexy late Saturday afternoon and death came suddenly.

Surviving her are her husband, and four children, one daughter, Mrs. Raymond Myers, and three sons, Frank Wood, Clint Bailey Wood, and Preston Wood; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Leesville, La.; and sister, Mrs. P. G. Tye, Leesville, La.; and three brothers, J. E. and J. L. Martin, Leesville, La.; and Tom B. Martin, of this city.

Organization of a Girl Reserve club will be perfected Monday morning at the Alamo school, according to plans made by 31 girls at the school yesterday afternoon when Miss Ivo Lorene Wilson, girls' work secretary explained the workings of the organization, and showed posters of the club. Miss Ida Mae Collins will be adviser of the club.

The Ford car driven by Rev. A. J. Holt, pastor of Lamar Avenue Baptist church collided with another car early Monday morning at Eighth and Travis, damaging both cars. Neither driver was hurt.

Mrs. Sarah Hobson Is Buried Monday

"Finis" was written yesterday to the last chapter in the life of Mrs. Sarah Hobson, 63, pioneer resident of Wichita Falls who died Sunday morning at the General Hospital following a long illness. The funeral service was held Monday afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Carter, 2014 Ninth, with the Rev. Milo Atkinson, pastor of the First Christian Church, officiating.

Mrs. Hobson was well known for activities in church and club work. She was for many years an active member of the First Christian church.

Her pastor spoke briefly on her beautiful, upright life in the service. Music was furnished by Miss Dorothy Burks and Alva Willgus, with Mrs. Willgus at the piano. Burial was in Rosemont Burial Park beside the grave of her late husband.

Surviving Mrs. Hobson are her three children, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. F. A. Ray, W. R. Hobson, and three grandchildren, Wilbur, Jimmie and Elizabeth Carter, and two brothers and a sister who reside in Kentucky.

Ex-Wichita Youth To Sing for Radio

Carlton Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bowman, former residents of Wichita Falls but now citizens of Denver, Colo., will sing for the radio over station KOA in Denver at 8:30 tonight, friends here havev been informed. Bowman is only 18 but his excellent baritone voice has attracted much attention. While a student in Junior college here last year he was a popular entertainer. His work in Denver attracted the attention of the Rotary club there which offered him three years of training in New York with expenses paid, but because of his youth, the offer was declined. KOA is a popular station with radio fans here.

A. J. Catlin who has been ill for the past three weeks with flu at his home on Speedway is reported to be improving.

Robert Farmer is expected to return today from Houston where he went to attend the funeral of a friend.

Rex Watland, local business man who is suffering from a nervous breakdown, is reported to be gradually improving in the Timberlawn sanitarium at Dallas. He is still unable to see visitors.

Kemp Will Speak At Irrigation Meet

A meeting of landowners of the Holliday canal section has been announced for next Monday night at 7:30 at the Bowman school house when definite arrangements will be made for the organization of a new irrigation district.

J. A. Kemp, president of Irrigation District No. 1, will make the principal talk at the meeting when he will outline the plans for the or

J. W. Chatham who has been working for the past month with the landowners in this section will be ready to report on the work he has been doing in securing lands for this new project.

Medicine Park Due To Become Great Private Resort

Medicine Park, for the last 20 years a popular southern Oklahoma resort for north Texas and southwestern Oklahoma tourists, will be closed henceforth to the general public and open only to the restricted membership of a new club which is being organized to take over its facilities, according to an announcement made here recently. The property, consisting of some 600 acres and numerous buildings and amusement facilities was recently purchased by a group of about 35 Oklahoma and Texas business men with a view to making a desirable club and recreation place for members of a club they were fostering.

Invitations to secure a life membership in the new organization have been received here and H. D. Mitchell of Oklahoma City, working in the interest of the organization of the club, is in Wichita Falls now working in the interest of the organization of the club.
