Oratory Endurance Tests To End Texas Primary Campaigns

STATE OFFICE SEEKERS SPEED UP SPEECHES

Schedules Crowded For Final Dash With State Covered

MOODY ANSWERED

Governor's Opponent To Reply to Charges By Moody

AUSTIN, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Vocal endurance qualities of a host of embattled political aspirants, bidding from the stump for the people's favor at Saturday's election, will undergo final tests Thursday and Friday in speeches at places liberally representative of the state's geography.

Incumbents of the two highest offices seeking reelection — Gov. Dan Moody and United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield—will be in North and Central Texas, respectively, Thursday.

Governor Moody, who completed a rapid sally into West Texas at Haskell Wednesday night, is scheduled for Terrell Thursday afternoon and Dallas at night. Shortly after his Dallas speech he will hop a train for the capital, touching Austin briefly for the first time in nearly two weeks. After an hour or so here, he will leave by automobile for San Saba early Friday morning to speak there at 11 a. m. He expects to stop briefly at Lometa in the afternoon enroute to Waco for his windup at Waco Friday night, election eve.

To Broadcast Speech

The Waco speech will be broadcast by radio if present plans are carried out.

Senator Mayfield will be in Bastrop Thursday morning, Smithville in the afternoon and will address a home town crowd in Austin Thursday night. His closing speech is set for San Antonio, Friday night.

The governor's Dallas speech will be 24 hours in the wake of one by one of his most active opponents, Louis J. Wardlaw, who promised in Dallas to take the governor to task in his Wednesday night speech

Police Quit Hunt For Suspect in Girl Murder

BROWNWOOD, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Officers today abandoned their intensive search for Bert Mayfield, 23, charged with murdering Miss Ruby Osborn, 17, of Goldthwaite, who was found unconscious on a highway near her home a week ago.

The sheriff's force assumed a policy of watchful waiting after scouring the hills of South Hamilton county last night and reporting no trace of Mayfield, who disappeared from his home the day after the girl was found.

Drinks Served at Vare Election, Is Testimony

PHILADELPHIA, July 25. (INS)—Drinks were served male voters, the ballots were computed hours before the polls closed and the ballot boxes "stuffed" after they had been closed, in the fifth division of the first ward here in the 1926 election, according to testimony submitted today in the hearing of the contested Vare-Wilson senatorial election, which is being conducted in city hall by Senator Waterman, Republican, of Colorado.

DONACHADEE, North Ireland, July 26. (Thursday) (AP)—Miss Mercedes Gleitze, London typist, started at 2:57 o'clock this morning to swim the north channel to Port Patrick, Scotland, a distance of 21½ miles.

Slayer and Wife in Love Triangle

Alpheus E. Dickson (inset), wealthy Denver theater owner, was held by police after Herbert Powell, 19-year-old grocery boy, was shot to death in the Dickson home. The theater owner returned home suddenly and found Powell with Mrs. Dickson, he told police. Mrs. Dickson had taken her husband to a train earlier in the day, but he told authorities the trip was "faked" so he could investigate reports that his wife was friendly with Powell.

Cook's Hot Reply to Opponents Lends Zest to Final Candidate Meeting

Arising in his own defense Wednesday night as candidates for office in Wichita county brought a three weeks' speaking tour to a close before 1,500 citizens at Bellevue park, Judge W. W. Cook neatly folded, wrapped up and handed back some of the parcels his three opponents for nomination as judge of the 78th district court have been handing him.

"I think I owe it to myself to reply to the accusations of my opponents," Judge Cook declared. "I've tried to keep personalities out of the campaign for reelection, but it has been impossible to do so.

"At Burkburnett two of my opponents charged me with being defeated for a second term as county judge of Montague county. They both were wrong. I served two years, ran for reelection and defeated two opponents. I did not at that time run for reelection to a third term. About 10 years later, however, I was prevailed upon by friends to enter the race again.

Close Race

"At this time I had more votes than either of my two opponents in the first primary. In the run-off I lost by 23 votes to a capable and efficient young man.

"My opponents have been promising to speed up the trial of cases in the court. Speeding up some cases would be disastrous. I have in mind a suit where by mutual agreement of plaintiff and defendant a slow payment on a bill is being made. By agreement the case remains upon the docket. Forced trial and a judgment would injure both parties. Dismissal would result in invalidation of the claim. Under this agreement the defendant slowly is paying the debt. If you want the injustice a forced trial or dismissal would bring about, then elect one of my opponents."

Judge Cook was preceded by Ben P. Allred, George A. Smoot and H. F. Weldon, his opponents for the office.

Judge Weldon, in a brief address, decried the delays in courts of this county, which he claimed were caused by inefficient judicial officials. He also referred to the plan of "one of my opponents" to run the district court along the lines

ABSENTEE VOTE SETS RECORD

362 Cast Ballots For Demo Primary

All records for Wichita county are believed to have been broken Wednesday when 105 persons voted, by way of the absentee route, in the office of Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk. This brought the total number of votes cast in preelection absentee voting to 362, as compared to an estimate of slightly less than 300 absentee votes cast in the primary of 1926.

Of the total votes cast, 71 were mailed to Miss Hall after the absent voters had been mailed ballots. The remainder were marked in Miss Hall's office during the past week.

The ballots, all sealed in envelopes by the voters, will be mailed to the correct precincts Thursday afternoon, Miss Hall said.

Two men who reached the county clerk's office about 5:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon were dismayed to find the office closed. Miss Hall had just left and had not yet reached her automobile. Two candidates, both in hotly contested races, happened by, saw the plight of the voters, and out of kindness, perhaps, volunteered to recall the county clerk.

'Sidewalks of New York' Parnell's New Song in Fight On Tom Love

"The Sidewalks of New York," the famous song attached to Al Smith, entered Texas politics Wednesday probably for the first time when R. E. Shepherd, who gained national recognition as the "singing mayor," announced that he would start all of his addresses to be delivered during this week on behalf of former State Senator J. D. Parnell, candidate for lieutenant governor, by singing the ballad.

Coincident with the action of Mr. Shepherd was the announcement of Miss Reva Reyes, cabaret singer of El Paso, who sang before the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Fort Worth, that in all her appearances she would sing "The Sidewalks of New York" on behalf of Senator Parnell

Linking the song with Senator Parnell is the result of his announcement that although he is a prohibitionist, he will support Al Smith because he is of the opinion that if the Democratic presidential nominee is elected that he will do his utmost to enforce the provisions of the Volstead act.

Senator Parnell, now on a speaking tour in West Texas, has attacked Tom Love and Barry Miller, his opponents for their alleged violation of Democratic principles.

Love, Senator Parnell claims, has violated a principle in that he has repudiated the presidential nominee of his own party, and Miller, according to Senator Parnell, has violated a principle in asking a third term for an honorary office.

WRANGLE IN WIDOW'S TRIAL ON POISONING

Testimony of Justice Of Peace Excluded By Trial Judge

MOODY SUMMONED

Governor Not Expected To Answer Call to Take Witness Stand

BASTROP, Texas, July 25. (AP)—A sobbing excursion into hysterics kept Mrs. W. W. Waybourne off the witness stand Wednesday while defense counsel got a setback in its efforts to prove that Hugo Middleton, her alleged blacksmith lover, implicated her in the murder of her husband to conceal Middleton's alleged part in another supposed homicide.

Presiding at the 48-year-old widow's murder trial, Judge J. B. Price excluded defense testimony about the recent exhumation of the body of J. J. Middleton, the blacksmith's father and the alleged finding of poison in the stomach.

Middleton is charged with killing his father by putting poison in a quinine capsule last fall.

Jury Retires

After a wrangle which resulted in retirement of the jury, the defense proposed to prove that Middleton falsely denied guilt yesterday on the witness stand and proved by Mrs. Waybourne that the blacksmith allegedly told her he poisoned the elder man.

"We are not trying that case," Judge Price said tersely, excluding the testimony of Justice of the Peace E. J. Gresham concerning the exhumation and analysis of the stomach. E. W. Wardlow, state chemist from Austin, was here to testify in that connection.

Mrs. Waybourne is expected to go on the stand Thursday. Sobbing hysterically, she was unable to testify Wednesday, physicians said. She finally came into court in the afternoon however.

Moody Summoned

Governor Moody, who offered a $250 reward for apprehension of the slayers of Mrs. Waybourne's husband at Smithville last March, has been subpoenaed as a witness in the case, but after the turn of events Wednesday, it was considered doubtful whether his presence will be insisted upon.

Joe Morales, Mexican, whom Middleton claimed to have hired at Mrs. Waybourne's bidding to kill her husband, is still missing.

Former Marine Is Heavy Favorite In Title Go

By DAMON RUNYON
Universal Service

NEW YORK, July 25.—Up from the antipodes comes a man from the fighting forces of the Anzacs in the big war, barrel-bodied, hairy-chested Tom Heeney of New Zealand, to battle the former United States marine, Gene Tunney, for the world's heavyweight championship at the Yankee stadium tomorrow night.

They will present an incongruous picture as they square away.

Tunney, the champion, is tall, graceful and handsome, a veritable Adonis of the prize ring, a man of cultured bearing and poise.

Heeney Thick Set

Heeney is short and stocky, with gray hair about his temples and great corrugations in his face. He would pass for a prosperous cattle drover.

Short of arm and thick of leg, there is nothing about the New Zealander that they call "The Rock of Down Under" to inflame the imagination, while Tunney is the beau ideal of the fighting man, in appearance, at least.

Yet Tom Heeney, at 30 years of age, fought his way through a barrier of pugilistic contention during the past year to the position he occupies tonight—the challenger and possibly before midnight tomorrow, the new champion.

Outside Chance

He has an outside chance to win, the so-called "dope" favors Tunney, a skilful glove man, to outpoint him easily in the 15 rounds, for Heeney's fighting style is to surge forward constantly, never taking a backward step, and that style figures to impale him on the sharp left hand of the champion.

But the element of luck may run for Heeney, as it ran for Tunney in his fight with Jack Dempsey in Chicago a year ago, when Dempsey failed to retreat to the proper corner after knocking Tunney down.

Tunney May Be Dull

The element of luck, good or bad, is sometimes represented in the prize ring by a bad cut, a foul, a fall, or some other mishap.

Then there is the possibility that Tunney's fighting edge may be

TWO CAR LOADS OF GANGSTERS MURDER PAIR

Two Boys and Woman See Brutal Killing On City Streets

NOTED RUSSO DEAD

One of Three Brothers Riddled by Fire Of Speed Guns

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 25. (UP)—Gang warfare was renewed here late today when Jimmy Russo and Mike Longo were killed by machine gun fire.

Two automobile loads of gangsters directed a stream of bullets upon the two notorious gangsters and Jack Griffith, their companion, in a street of University City, a suburb.

"This is our own affair," he told police, "and we'll handle it ourselves."

Two boys and a woman witnessed the shooting. They were so frightened they were unable to tell police details. The two automobiles drove up, opened fire, and the three men crumpled, they said.

Russo and Longo were found dead in a vacant lot, their bodies torn with bullets. Griffith was shot 10 times but had crawled a block by the time officers arrived.

Russo was one of three brothers, powerful among the gangs here. The slaying of his brother "Shorty" last year precipitated the Sicilian gang war which has raged since last August. His brother William is considered by police as one of the most influential gang leaders in St. Louis.

CASPER, Wyo., July 25. (AP)—The board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana today branded as "unqualifiedly false in its entirety" a report from New York concerning a working combination of the Indiana Standard and the Sinclair Oil corporation.

The board, headed by Colonel Robert W. Stewart, its chairman, is in Casper on an inspection tour of Wyoming properties.

Wife of Former Convict And Writer Gets Divorce

TRENTON, N. J., July 25. (AP)—Mildred M. Morrell today was granted a divorce from Edward M. Morrell of Newark, author, lecturer, former convict and prison reform crusader. She accused Morrell of cruelties equal to those, he said, were practiced in San Quentin in his book, "The Twenty-fifth Man."

The woman produced a dagger at hearings before a special master in chancery, and testified the two notches it bore represented men Morrell had killed, and that he had threatened to make her death the subject of another notch. The weapon was said to have been made in prison.

Byrd in his polar flight, is scheduled to be in Dallas Thursday on a 10,000-mile tour over the United States after leaving Chicago on June 25. NAMESAKES

Father Names Twins After Champion And Challenger

NEW YORK, July 25. (US)—Well, they weighed in Tom and Gene today.

Tom weighed one pound less than Gene. And Gene weighed nine pounds, no foolin'!

Joseph Gordon was so proud of the twins born to Mrs. Gordon in Riverdale Maternity hospital that he named them for the famous fighters who will mix it tomorrow night at the Yankee stadium.

Both boys appeared ready for a good scrap, and while Joseph is betting his money on Tom, his wife, Sally, is putting her money on the Shakespearean pugilist.

CAR MAGNATE QUITS HOOVER

William H. Woodin Throws Support to Smith

NEW YORK, July 25. (US)—Another "big business" Republican today announced his support of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for president.

The Hoover bolter was William H. Woodin, president of the American Car and Foundry company, and the American Locomotive company, and director in a dozen great industrial organizations.

In announcing the party switch made by the captain of industry, Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee, disclosed that a fund of between $2,500,000 and $3,500,000 will be sought to place Governor Smith in the White House.

At the same time, Raskob denied published reports that he soon will sever connection with the General Motors corporation and explained that his resignation as chairman of the finance committee of the organization was tendered voluntarily on July 17, in order that he could devote his entire time to the Smith campaign.

Other developments at the Democratic headquarters in the Biltimore hotel were:

Formal notification of Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, as the Democratic vice presidential nominee, will be held at Little Rock a week following the ceremonies at Albany for Governor Smith.

Michael Igoe, Democratic leader of the Illinois assembly, predicted that Governor Smith will carry Cook county, in which Chicago is situated, by 150,000 which will give him better than an even chance to win the electoral vote of Illinois.

Weary Cops Leave Chase Of Steers to Cowhands

KANSAS CITY, July 25. (AP)—Harried police today turned over to regular cowhands pursuit of the seven remaining Hereford cattle which escaped along with more than 100 others when a Santa Fe freight train was wrecked near the union station.

The patrolmen finally abandoned the 24-hour chase, throughout the city's business and residence sections where a fractious steer planted its feet on the running board of a patrol car and mooed loudly into the officers' faces. Another chase terminated earlier when a closely-pursued steer dived into Penn Valley park lake.

REGENTS URGE LARGER SUM IN CONFERENCE

Increase of $2,000,000 For Institution's Appropriation Is Called For

MORE SALARIES

Payroll Hike of $800,000 Suggested Under Plan Of Board

AUSTIN, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Requests for appropriations totaling about $7,000,000 for Texas university and its branches for the biennium beginning Sept. 1, 1929, was laid before the state board of control and discussed Wednesday by the university board of regents.

This is a $2,000,000 increase over the sum currently appropriated.

The increase includes provision for $800,000 additional salary funds at the main university, including raised salaries and creation of new places. Provision is made for enlargement of the law faculty and increase of present salaries.

A boost in salary funds at the medical school branch at Galveston also is requested.

The regents up to late today had not considered action on whether Athletic Director L. Theo Bellmont will be retained after his year's probation, but were in closed session again Wednesday night. The regents maintain a policy of closed meetings and some of their actions have not been revealed until days after.

In the budget estimates, a $425,000 building program was for the school of mines at El Paso. The attorney general ruled recently that this branch of the university does not come under the constitutional inhibition against appropriation for building purposes.

Two Youths Found Dead On Railroad Tracks

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 25. (INS)—Two unidentified youths were found dead along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Nashua, near here, today. Both had fractured skulls, leading police to believe that they had been hit by a train or had been riding the train and either fallen or been knocked off.

Personal effects found in the clothing of the two boys, who appeared to be about 18 years of age, indicated that they might be Joseph Dudich and George Buchko of Cleveland, Ohio. An address, believed to be that of Buchko, was found on a piece of paper. It was 3729 E. 91st street.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 25. (AP)—District Judge Sam Hookers today declined to issue an injunction sought by Fred Strauss and George Strauss of Kansas City against J. I. Cromwell, Oklahoma City oil man, in a suit involving approximately $750,000.

Rains Promise Abundant West Texas Grass Crop

ALPINE, Texas, July 25. (AP)—Ranchers in this section of the state were jubilant today over prospects for abundant grass next winter. Almost four inches of rain had fallen here since Sunday.

Considerable damage will result to the cotton crop through boll worms and weevils if the rains continue, in the opinion of O. K. Barnes, agricultural agent of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

The worms and weevils already have received considerable encouragement from the weather, he said.

However, a hopeful sign is seen in the rain which should promote the growth of a better stalk for the cotton. The stalks have been rather light this year, Mr. Barnes explained, and the rain will tend to strengthen them.

The general tendency of the rain is really to make the crop 'shakier' than it has been," the agriculturist declared. "In addition to aiding the weevils and worms, it has in many cases kept the farmers out of the fields and the weeds have grown rapidly.

"The feed crops, however, are in excellent shape. The rains have benefited them, and also have washed off many of the chinch bugs."

Prophecies Tuesday night for more rain developed into reality Wednesday, when slightly more than one-half of an inch fell over

CRIME LINKED WITH DRY LAW

Eighteenth Amendment Is Scored in Bar Report

SEATTLE, July 25. (AP)—The influence of prohibition upon crime in the United States was the subject of a report to the section of criminal law and criminology of the American Bar association Tuesday night by Arthur V. Lashly of St. Louis.

The report was read by his brother, Jacob M. Lashly, president of the St. Louis Bar association, as the author of the report was not attending the convention.

The report, which embraces a symposium of opinions taken from officials, publishers and law enforcement agents in most of the large cities of America, found:

"That crimes being committed by professional criminals constitute the large majority of crimes of the urban communities of the country.

"That in a large majority of cities of 100,000 inhabitants and over, the forces of organized crime have not been materially strengthened or affected by the prohibition amendment, although in practically every one of these communities the sentiment of the people is for the most part opposed to the enforcement of those laws and there is more or less indiscriminate trafficking in intoxicating liquors in violation of the law.

Bootlegging and Crime

"That in many, although not in a majority of the larger cities, organizations of criminals are fed by the profits of bootlegging; that the gunmen, thugs and bombers used by these organizations to prevent attack by hi-jackers and to suppress competition are often used for purposes of extortion and to influence elections by terrorism and that many murders, holdups and other major crimes are committed by them.

"That the profits of bootlegging are often used to bribe public officials and to purchase protection from corrupt public officials.

"That such alliances between crime and politics, result in the breaking down of all laws and the administration of justice.

Disrespect for Law

"That wherever these conditions exist there is a tendency toward disrespect for all law and a growing skepticism concerning the integrity of all public officials.

"That the enormous profits derived from the bootleg industry being unlawful and therefore considered legitimate prey, have excited the cupidity of politicians and state and government officials generally to such an extent that bribery and corruption have become of common occurrence. Therein is to be found the real problem of crime and failures of justice in many parts of the country."

Remedies Offered

Among the remedies suggested in Lashly's report were recommendations that:

Bureaus of criminal statistics should be organized to provide more adequate means of determining who are habitual offenders.

Habitual offenders should be permanently confined.

The prohibition laws should be enforced or repealed.

"The bootlegger, the rum runner, the gangster, the hi-jacker, the bribe giver and the bribe taker," he said, "must be suppressed if orderly government under the law is to be restored."

A vigilant and informed public must insist upon honesty in their officials.

The report cited conditions in Chicago, New York and other metropolitan centers as centers of crime, and continued through a detailed study of conditions in other urban centers throughout the United States.

Troops Snub Old Chinese Leader

PEKING, July 25. (UP)—General Chang Chung-Chang, former military governor of Shantung, and commander of a small army, probably is the most snubbed leader in China's civil strife.

When the northern troops left north China for Manchuria, they declined to take Chang Chung-Chang and his soldiers. When the nationalists arrived, Chang's offer to become a nationalist was refused.

So Chang and his soldiers are stranded in no man's land between Tientsin and the great wall, with the prospect that the nationalists may drive them out.

Chang is said to have a comfortable sum of money in Dairen banks. But if he leaves his army, his career is ended. No war lord wants to give up an army, even a small one. He is still hopeful that some army will come along and befriend him.

MODESTO, Calif., July 25. (AP)—Police officials here were notified today by Sheriff A. C. Francis of Midland county, Texas, to release William Carter, itinerant laborer, who was arrested here Monday upon suspicion of being C. C. Baze, who escaped jail at Midland after being charged with murder in the death of two Mexicans at Stanton, Texas, last December.

Sheriff Francis reported that the photograph sent him by California officials did not resemble Baze.

Negro Lawyer Faces Disarmament Move

JACKSON, Miss., July 25. (AP)—Initial steps looking toward disbarring Perry W. Howard, negro Republican national committeeman from Mississippi, and several of his associates, as members of the Jackson bar, were taken in chancery court here today when a committee was appointed to investigate their character and fitness for membership. Howard and others were indicted by the recent federal grand jury at Biloxi in connection with the sale and purchase of public office in Mississippi.

Two Oil Field Men Die of Blast Burns

The dead: Stanley Chatham, driller, 50 years old; Andy Hart, tool dresser, 40 years old.

"Haw-Haw-Haw"—Mynah Bird Gives Opinion of Dry Laws in Interview

By ALFRED P. RECK
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 25. (UP)—Herbert Hoover should refrain from talking too much economy and Governor Smith had better watch his step in Georgia, Bill, the talking mynah bird at the national zoo, warned today in a political interview.

In the solitude of his brand new cage out in Rock Creek park, Bill has plenty of time to study the political situation and is eager to talk about it.

He plays no favorites. Both candidates come in for his criticism.

Bill was especially anxious to air his political views today. He had been moved to the new birdhouse, not yet opened to the public, and consequently has had few visitors to talk to.

"Hello, boy," Bill shouted.

Talks Distinctly

His enunciation is perfect—more distinct than a parrot—a deep bass—more like a man talking into a megaphone—and three times the volume of a voice for such a small bird.

"How about a little politics today, Bill," he was asked.

"Haw—haw—haw," bill replied. He shifted from one thin leg to another and his velvet-black throat vibrated with the force of his laughter. He nodded his orange tipped head knowingly until the yellow flaps over his ears shook.

"Feel like talking, Bill?"

"All right, all right," the mynah bird replied.

"How about Hoover? What do you think of Hoover?"

Bill cocked his head to one side. His black, beady eyes sparkled.

"Hoo-vah—Hoo-vah?" Bill questioned, and then laughed.

"How about Hoover?"

Wants the Cash

"How about the appropriations" Bill countered. That was as far as he would discuss Hoover's candidacy, but he left one with the impression that Hoover should not stress economy too much.

"How about Al Smith?"

Bill listened, twisted his throat but the words were too sharp for him.

He lifted a claw and scratched an imaginary fly on the top of his head.

"Georgia, Georgia—look out, look out," Bill warned.

"What do you think of prohibition?"

Bill stretched his slender neck.

"Haw—haw—haw," he laughed. "So's your old man."

Bill evidently is a scoofer of the worst kind.

Embarrasses General

The mynah bird came into international prominence a few years ago when he had the courage to tell General Lord, the federal budget director, what he thought of curtailed appropriation, much to the embarrassment of the general.

Bill had been taken to a budget meeting by zoo officials and when General Lord entered the room shouted: "How about the appropriations?"

At that time money was needed to erect a new bird house and Bill was presented to speak for his feathered brethren. All he would say was: "How about the appropriations."

"We never taught the bird to talk," Dr. Mann, director of the zoo, said. "He just picked it up naturally."

Native of Java

The bird has been in the zoo for a number of years. It is a native of Java.

Zoo officials did not know it could talk until one day an attendant tripped over a broom in the bird house and started swearing. Bill's keeper explained.

"Haw—haw—haw," Bill laughed. "Who you laughing at?" the attendant shouted.

"Haw—haw—haw. So's your old man," Bill replied.

"Good bye," he said, when the political interview was over.

A tense situation has existed between Poland and Lithuania for several weeks over the failure to reach an agreement concerning possession of Vilna. Poland has charged that Lithuania was preparing an invasion.

TEXAS MOTOR TRIP ARRANGED

Two Governors Expected To Meet at Cavern

Special to The Record News.

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 25.—The governors of two states may meet in Carlsbad Cavern August 7 upon the occasion of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce district convention and motorcade party in the Cavern. Governor Dillon of New Mexico has already agreed to meet Governor Moody of Texas, and a committee composed of Judge J. C. Hunter of Van Horn, R. L. Holliday, member of the board of regents of Texas university, and Adrian Pool, El Paso, member of the Texas legislature, will invite Governor Moody to meet the New Mexico governor. Invitation has already been extended Mrs. Moody to join the party, and she assured the committee who called her over telephone that she would be glad to accept and would accompany the governor if he could go. Two years ago when the first annual motorcade visited the Caverns Governor Hannett of New Mexico joined the party and delivered an address in the big room of the cave.

Hunter to Lead

Additional details for the motorcade visit were announced by Judge Hunter who will act as leader of the party while in the Van Horn territory. The night of August 7 will be spent in McKittrick Canyon on the camp site where General Albert Sydney Johnson and Robert E. Lee camped during their campaigns in Texas. The site is seven thousand feet above the level of the sea and it is declared this is the highest point in Texas suitable for camping parties of considerable size. Incidentally it is the first time a large party has camped in the canyon since General Johnson and his troops camped there before the civil war. The site is at the base of the cap rock of Guadaloupe Peak, Texas' highest mountain. The cliffs rise perpendicularly 2,000 feet from the site selected for the camp. The Simmons Coyboy band will accompany the motorcade.

New Scenic Wonder

The McKittrick canyon is the newest mountain scenic wonder to be opened to the public in Texas. There is no commercialization of the canyon, which is the property of the Grisham Hunter corporation of Abilene. Officials of the corporation have private lodges there which will be at the disposal of the motorcaders, but except for these lodges the canyon is still as it was when the Indians roamed the country. Big horned mountain sheep, perhaps the only herd left in Texas, roam the mountain. Black bear, mountain lions, and black tailed deer are still there in abundance. Of course there is no danger from the wild animals, but it will not be unusual for the party to glimpse a bear, or herd of deer, and perhaps to hear the roar of a mountain lion at night. Occasionally a mountain sheep may be glimpsed on some crag of the Guadaloupe. These sheep are rigidly protected and are said to be multiplying now.

The canyon possesses majestic scenic beauty. Pine trees rise to a height of nearly 100 feet. Junipers, mountain ash, fir and all kinds of mountain plants thrive in abundance. A beautiful stream flows down the mountain-side for a distance of five miles then sinks into the earth as a "lost river." The stream is well stocked with mountain trout, and there are holes of water 20 feet in depth. Half a day will be spent in the canyon on August 8 which will enable the party to enjoy all the scenic beauty of the place.

Entertainment Planned

El Paso and Van Horn people are planning royal entertainment for the motorcaders in the canyon. Nearly 200 residents of these towns and citizens of Carlsbad, N. M., will join the party and spend the night in the canyon. A chicken barbecue will be served complimentary on the first night. Breakfast and lunch will also be served without charge to the party. Judge Hunter stated today that arrangements have been made to transport a number of cots to the camp site for use of the party, but that the motorcaders must provide their own blankets. Incidentally they will be needed at this 7,000-foot altitude notwithstanding the heat of August which will prevail in the lowlands.

A night of revelry will be enjoyed by the party. The champion fiddler of New Mexico will be present to regale the party with his music. A big dancing platform will be provided for those who feel the urge of his music. Mountain folk and cowboys from the range will give an exhibition Virginia reel dance and a big square dance will be participated in by all who care to join in. All in all, the day and night spent on the slopes of Texas' highest peak promises to develop into the most enjoyable feature of the trip, and those who are present will have a chance to see one of the last bits of the old frontier in exactly the same form it appeared to the pioneers who blazed the trail to the West in 1849. Through the efforts of the state highway department and of Culberson county, a road has been constructed into the canyon which now makes this spot of Texas scenery accessible via automobile.

Mayor Head Party

El Paso is taking a great interest in the trip. Mayor R. E. Thomason will head the delegation from the Pass City. The mayor of Juarez has also signified his intention of joining the party. Others from El Paso who will greet the motorcade party include Judge E. B. McClintock and wife of El Paso county; Judge W. D. Howe and wife; R. L. Holliday and Mrs. Holliday; Adrian Pool and wife; Fred Wilson, county engineer of El Paso county, and Mrs. Wilson; Harry L. Hussmann, General George Moseley of the United States army, post commandant of Fort Sam Houston; H. L. Birney, president of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Birney; H. L. Hunter, El Paso newspaper man, and Wallace Perry, El Paso editor, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Perry. It is expected that the New Mexico governor will also accompany the party to the canyon, and Robert C. Dow, attorney general of New Mexico, will complete the official party from the Sunshine State. President A. M. Bourland and Mrs. Bourland with staff members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, including Manager Homer D. Wade, will be in official charge of the motorcade. Numerous registrations of Texas people who will make up the party have already been received. W. R. Ely, state highway commissioner, together with Mrs. Ely and their son, Walter, who won first place in the Home Town Speaking contest of the West Texas convention will be members of the party. R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the highway commission, is also expected to go. The highway commissioners will take the opportunity to study highway conditions and needs in that section of the state. Commissioner Cone Johnson was a member of the party last year and may join the party again. Nearly a score of towns are already assured of representation. Although it is planned to hold the motorcade party to 150 people, the enforcement of the limit will not be rigid, and Mr. Wade stated that he believed all who wanted to make the trip could be accommodated. A chuck wagon will serve as commissariat for the party, at points where local arrangements have not been made. A trouble car will be along to look after car trouble and flat tires. The trip will require about 10 days to cover the entire itinerary which will take the party through the Davis mountains and down the Rio Grande to Del Rio. The Llano and Devil's river country will be visited on the return trip from Del Rio.

Purpose of Trip

The purpose of the motorcade is to better acquaint Texans with the scenic possibilities of their own state, and to encourage the development of this resource of Texas, which when developed will afford Texans recreational and vacational opportunities without the necessity of going to other states. This is the third trip of the kind which has been sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"Balloonist" Seeks Rich Red Blooded American Gal As Flying Partner

NEW YORK, July 25. (UP)—The chance that comes once in a lifetime is waiting for a red-blooded American girl with lots of money, and Bert Campbell, Australian aviator who has advertised for a R. B. Amn. girl with L. of M. is becoming a trifle puzzled at her non-appearance.

Campbell is the chap who will give the right party the thrill of her young (preferably) life by letting her fly across the Atlantic with him in his 250-foot dirigible.

"Big-Hearted Bert," as they call him in Australia, stipulates only that the woman who makes the first England to America dirigible flight with him must be rich. Naturally, he wouldn't be expected to confer immortality upon a lady for nothing.

Two More Days

"Big-Hearted Bert's" offer will be withdrawn Saturday, he announced a trifle sadly today. The reason is that at that time he will be forced to resume his duties as night watchman in the steward's department of the White Star liner Cedric, sailing on that date.

"I don't understand it," he said. "I declare, I've always heard your rich American women would do anything daring. I still think one of them will make a historic and perfectly safe flight with me."

Campbell has spent two weeks in Germany and has assured himself that he knows enough about dirigibles to bring one across the ocean very handily, especially a little one such as he says will be ready to start by the middle of August.

He has practically completed plans for the flight. If he gets a good offer, he will take a girl along. If he gets another good offer, he may even include a reporter. Then there are the movie rights.

Campbell has spent a good deal of thought on the movie rights and decided on a way to enhance their value. He thinks they will be most remunerative, because when he is half way across the ocean he intends to stop above the S. S. Cedric and let down a rope ladder.

The crew of the Cedric is to take hold of this ladder and make it fast to a belaying pin, and Commander Campbell of the dirigible is going to climb down and deliver a message to the captain of the Cedric.

Won't that knock the captain of the Cedric's eye out, especially when Commander Campbell used to be the Steward's night watchman on that very ship?

Commander Campbell admitted that he hadn't approached the captain of the Cedric about this part of the plan, as yet, but he has the rope ladder.

In fact, the only missing link in the whole plan so far is a R. B. American girl with L. of M., unless it is the location, builder and general design of the dirigible.

Campbell is not ready to reveal these minor details at the moment.

AL PLAYS FOR YOUNG VOTES

Smith Managers Plan Capture of Rising Generation

NEW YORK, July 25. (UP)—Democratic leaders are planning a special compaign to win the young voters' support for Governor Alfred E. Smith.

This includes those between 21 and 30 years of age, with special emphasis upon the youngsters who will vote for the first time. The idea of a special appeal for the younger generation's vote came here in a letter from a western leader who traveled extensively and reported strong support for Smith among the young people in the West.

Veteran leaders who have grown up with Smith, and know something of psychology through long experience in politics, say he has a particular appeal to the youngsters. They plan to stress the New York governor's personality to reach this voting class, which is always sizable and whose party preference is doubtful.

Chief among the advisors in this campaign will be Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, publicity director. Mrs. Moskowitz is a student of human psychology.

She also is a champion of the New York governor, becoming interested in his career when he began his efforts for social service legislation. She is responsible for many of his legislative moves since that time.

The New York governor's career from this angle, as well as his rise from a New York newsboy, will be emphasized in campaign literature for the younger voters. It also will present him in the "happy warrior" role drawn by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There will be something, too, about the young man who rode for miles on his bicycle to court Katy Dunn, now mistress of the executive mansion at Albany, in those days when traffic was not so heavy and there were no "stop" and "go" lights.

French Ministry Orders Paris Flight Cancelled

PARIS, July 25. (US)—The transatlantic flight of the French seaplane Le Fregate has been abandoned by orders of the French ministry of marine, and a war cruiser despatched to the Azores to bring Lieutenant Paris and his two companions back to France. Motor trouble, which developed yesterday when the plane attempted to take off for America was given as the reason for the ministry of marine's action.

Youth Dies of Lockjaw After Slight Injury

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., July 25. (UP)—Earl Wilbur Heagy, 12, son of Mrs. Roy F. Heagy, principal of the Chilocco Indian agricultural schools, five miles south of here, died in a hospital here today of lockjaw.

A week ago last Thursday the boy ran a sliver of wood into his hand while attending a boys' camp at Stillwater, Okla. A last minute attempt to save his life by amputation was unavailing.

East Indian Rebels Slay Dutch Commander

AMSTERDAM, July 25. (UP)—A despatch from Kutaradja, Dutch East Indies, declared a Dutch brigade had killed four rebels in an engagement in which the Dutch brigade commander was wounded and two Dutch soldiers killed.

Ramblin'
with
Marie Theresa

ETHEL ALLEN NELSON, local violin instructor, has among his collection of valuable old violins, one that is neither old nor valuable.

The reason he is keeping the violin is that he doesn't know but that it is the sensible thing to do with it. You see, the violin was given to him, and, at the same time, it wasn't. And he can't make up his mind whether the musical instrument was intended for a gift or for a courtesy, and just what the difference between the two is, anyway?

And after getting a slanting glance at the violin, I can't help him any. The only suggestion I would offer is to segregate it, whatever that may mean. But my suggestion has not been taken, and the violin is a member of an otherwise distinguished group of violins, both ancient and modern.

While a layman like Marie Theresa fails to find anything of interest in the instrument itself, there is an element of interest in the manner of presenting the violin, and in the history of the people who made it.

The violin was received by Mr. Nelson some time ago from a strange woman—strangers bearing gifts, as it were, with instructions on what is to be done with the violin if he decided not to want it, and never a word as to procedure if he does want it.

Keep it?

That's a sensible suggestion, and that is what he is doing with it.

Now for a glance at the people who made the rustic violin. It was made by the Tarahumara Indians of Chihuahua, Mexico.

Of interest to a stylist is the mode of attire among the Indians mentioned. The men are dressed in breech cloths, straw hats and walking sticks. The women are dressed similar, sans the hat and walking stick.

These Indians are considered the fastest runners in the world (and one can see a reason for that) and frequently hunt wild game by running it down. They still use the bow and arrow for defense and occasionally for hunting.

AN EXAMINATION of the violin will reveal no finish whatsoever, the instrument itself is made from a tree block of proper length, split with a machete. The violin is then formed with no instrument other than ordinary knife and a piece of glass. F holes are burned with an iron. Strings are made from the intestines of deer and the bow from the hair of a horse's tail.

The instrument is then ready for market and is brought into Santa Barbara or Parral during the harvest season and sold for a sum of two pesos, equal to about two dollars.

AND NOW there is no space left to comment on the rain—but there was nothing unusual about it, just like yesterday's rain and the rain of last night.

More raincoats were purchased today than yesterday, dealers say, so I guess it will clear up soon.

POSING UP TO MRS. HOOVER

Candidate's Wife Movie Director

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 25. (UP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover is the movie director of the Republican presidential campaign.

As an experienced and enthusiastic amateur motion picture photographer, the wife of the nominee has become the advisor of the news reel photographers who are covering the campaign of her distinguished husband.

Mrs. Hoover has indicated to photographers that she would desire them to be fair and permit her to decide just as every other subject decides now, when and where are taken her pictures and those she makes with the nominee.

When they posed together at the request of movie men on the grounds of their beautiful campus home, Mrs. Hoover refused to follow all of the suggestions of the cameramen and made the final decisions as to what views should be taken.

The photographers say her judgment was excellent.

Hoover had little business left on his desk today. He has not finally concluded revision of his acceptance speech and he wants to work it over again when he sees it in the printed form in which it will be prepared for distribution to the press. His mail is almost cleared up and he is ready to start Saturday on his camping and fishing trip into the redwood district of northern California. Before that, on Friday, he will go to San Francisco by train to receive the welcome of the city in a home-coming celebration which has been arranged by Major Rolph.

Proceeds From Cotton Field Aids Ladies' Club

M'KINNEY, Texas, July 25. (AP)—While the average ladies aid society is content to raise funds from occasional ice cream festivals and bazaars, the ladies of the Baptist church at Prosper, Texas, are determined to enrich their treasury from the soil.

Proceeds of a 27-acre cotton crop will be used to add to a church building fund. The women earned money enough by quilting to buy seed to plant their crop and it was cultivated by their husbands and sons.

CHIC CHERIE — LATEST FASHIONS

At last, that's Cherie's story. She had a tremendous fish on her hook and if they hadn't all come up shrieking and making a lot of noise and wearing those even noisier clothes, the fish wouldn't have got away. Beginning at the beginning—Cherie went fishing wearing a sweater almost too good for that occupation. A sweater of angora and metal in the proportions indicated. She also wore a wide-brimmed hat of white felt and a white flannel skirt. About the fish—she insisted afterwards that it must have been a whale, but Jonah said that, too. Getting back to the sweater. It is a mixture of silver and green and shadowy grey and couldn't have frightened any fish afloat.

But Dina and Kitty and Emily came rampaging up, not only calling her but wearing sweaters of such brilliant and vivid colors that any fish would know something was wrong with the landscape and go leaping back under a rock. Dina's sweater was white and several loud and violent tones of red. Kitty's was a new lisle tuck-in sweater of white with colored dots. Emily's was bouclette and zephyr in several shades of violet and purple. It was quite too, too much for the fish, although very smart in every other way. Because sweaters may be anything but plain this season. They are worn with white hats, white skirts, white scarfs, and, yes, even with white slippers and stockings.

Kitchen Dealer Judges Wives by Purchase Of Cooking Wares

NEW YORK, July 25. (UP)—Richard W. Lewis, partner in the oldest kitchen furnishing concern in New York, says a man's chances of getting an ideal wife are three out of ten.

He bases his deductions on years of experience in watching women choose fittings for their kitchens.

"American wives fall into five classes," Lewis says. "They are home-makers, the ideal type, 30 per cent; jazz, or can opener type, 20 per cent; nagging type, 15 per cent; drudge type, 20 per cent, and the baby doll type, 15 per cent.

"Women are just as interested in their kitchens today as they were in grandmother's time. Give them good 'makins' in their kitchens and the percentage of the ideal type will jump."

Makes Her Own Skin Bleach

Known for having one of the most beautiful skins in New York, Miss Mildred Ball, favorite artists' and photographers' model, recently made the statement that most of the New York models use a skin bleach of their own making.

According to Miss Ball, "we get three ounces of Orchard White from the druggist and add to it the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a perfectly harmless yet marvelously effective bleach. Applied to face, neck and arms, it bleaches any dark or discolored skin a beautiful rosy white. It also makes any rough or coarse skin soft and smooth. Many of the girls use it, too, for a tan and freckle bleach. Nothing like this wonderful mixture can be bought ready to use because it acts best when freshly prepared. The cost for several weeks' supply is only a few cents."—Adv.

Dorothy Dix Defends 'Elopement' And Shows Folly of Big Wedding

Dorothy Dix Gives Her Views on The Folly of Big Weddings—Why Should Women Be More Virtuous Than Men?—Readjusting a Collegiate Marriage.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Must a girl be dressed in white and have a dozen attendants to be happily married? Do all elopements make for unhappiness and sorry brides? Isn't the girl who gives up all her dreams of lace and tulle and a rainbow wedding and is quietly married to please her boy friend more likely to stay in love longer than the girl who will make him wait years until they have saved enough money for a flashy wedding? Is it not better for a young couple who are not rich to spend the money they waste on a big wedding on furnishing their home? In 10 years from now will the elopingbride of today repent her haste when her friends show her their wedding pictures and their yellowed wedding finery, and blame her husband for having been in such a hurry to have her that she missed the excitement of a big church wedding with hundreds looking enviously at her?

These are the questions that our crowd was discussing one rainy night, and, of course, we could not agree. So we are asking you for your opinion on the subject.

—THE GANG.

Answer: I am strong for the elopement, though I shouldn't use that word in describing a marriage between two young people who step quietly around to the parson and there, with no curious and critical eyes looking on, take upon themselves the most solemn vows that human lips can utter. I should call such a wedding a rational wedding. An intelligent wedding. A sober, serious, God-fearing, self-respecting wedding. And I should expect it to stick.

When we speak of an "elopement" we have in mind a stolen marriage, a marriage in which the bride and groom sneak away and get married in defiance of the wishes of their parents or guardians and against the advice of their friends. Sometimes this is justifiable because parents are not always the best judges of what will make for the happiness of their children, and of whom they should marry. Very often a father's and mother's sole objection to a boy or girl is nothing but a prejudice. They object to his or her religion, or race, or they don't consider him or her in their particular social set, and young hearts should not be broken over such trifles.

But very different from the elopement is a sane wedding, without any fuss and feathers, and when John and Mary, whose respective families heartily approve of their engagement, come home some evening with a shiny new wedding ring and a marriage certificate on which the ink is hardly dry, they need not fear to face papa and mamma.

On the contrary, their parents' "Bless you, my children," will have an added fervor to it, for a big wedding virtually bankrupts a family of moderate means. Indeed, not long ago I went to such a one and the father, looking around at the decorations and the supper and the ornate bride's cake and the flummery generally and casting up in his mind the cost of the trousseau, smiled wanly as he said: "I have served notice on my other girls that if they don't elope I'll never forgive them."

Believe me, my children, that the young couple who put their money in furniture instead of into a show wedding, and who begin their married life free of debt, instead of having a pall of bills hanging over them, have a hundred times better chance of happiness than do those foolish young people who have mortgaged their future for the sake of white satin and a tulle veil and ushers and bridesmaids and picture hats and all the other silly paraphernalia of a display wedding.

For there is nothing harder to do than to pay the fiddler after the dance is over; to sit in the cold, gray light of the morning after counting the cost, and to realize that what one got was not worth the price. There is nothing over which a husband and wife can quarrel so bitterly as over money. And there is nothing that kills romance as quickly as the bill collector. So, if you want your marriage to be a success, don't handicap it by starting out in debt.

Figure to yourself whether a show wedding is worth what it costs. Suppose a girl has dreamed all her life of being married in tulle and satin and orange blossoms and having a ring-bearer, a matron of honor, etc.

From the time the bride enters the church leaning on the arm of her father and the organ begins pealing out, "Here Comes the Bride," until the time she leaves on the arm of her husband is only 10 or 15 minutes, yet it has cost hundreds, perhaps thousands of dollars. Isn't it about the least run for the money than anybody ever gets?

You speak of envious eyes looking on. Not envious but critical, sneering eyes. Did you ever listen to the comments at a wedding? Don't you remember how people whisper behind their hands? "What do you suppose he ever saw in her to make him marry her?" "How do you reckon she ever caught him?" "Did you ever see her look so badly? But brides always do." "My soul, isn't he a little shrimp?" "How do you reckon her family is ever going to pay for this blowout? Bet they will live on bread and water for the next year." And so on, and so on.

Believe me a wedding furnishes a Roman holiday for a girl's enemies and they all have their thumbs turned down. Nor need any girl ever be afraid that she will regret it if she has a sensible wedding. It is our foolishness we regret, not what we do in our lucid moments.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Why should a woman, who has strayed off the straight-and-narrow path hide or shield her secret? Don't you honestly think that women have the same right to their lives, their passions as men? I don't believe in women indulging in illicit love affairs with every Tom, Dick or Harry, but at the same time I think that no man should expect a woman to have kept herself wholly virtuous while he has had his loves and passions and freedom. I cannot see where a girl should be judged guilty or unfit to marry any man because she has gone down the primrose path. Don't you think that God would, in justice to any woman, wipe their slate clean and forgive and forget that he even remembered when she listened to the voice of passion?

—FAIR PLAY.

Answer: I am not one of those who presume to speak for God, or who know by what standards He will judge us poor, weak mortals. We are told that when Christ forgave the Magdalene He said to her "Go and sin no more." He didn't give her carte blanche to go along listening to the voice of passion.

It seems bitterly unfair and unjust to women that there should be one code of morality for women and another for men; that men may do things with impunity for which women are damned—that the woman who sows her wild oats is sent to Coventry by society, while the man who sows his wild oats is merely regarded as a gay young blade; that the greatest rake demands purity in his wife, while few women would dare to investigate the past records of the men they marry. Unjust. Unfair.

But did not nature ordain things that way when it makes the woman bear the child of shame, while the father goes scot-free, and when it makes the penalty of immorality far more disastrous to a woman than it is to a man?

The chastity of women is a biological necessity, and it will be an evil day for the human race when men no longer demand purity in their wives, and women feel free to follow their every animal impulse.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am in love with a man who, during his college days, secretly married a girl because at that time it was considered the romantic and collegiate thing to do, and intriguing to be able to say: "Oh, yes, my wife is away at school." Now he is out of love with her. They have nothing in common except a child born of that marriage. They are husband and wife in name only. We worship each other and our love grows daily, but we want to do the fair and honorable thing. What is it? —D.

Answer: Go to the wife and talk the thing over with her. Probably her youthful romance has burned itself out as completely as the man's and she will be glad to be freed from the burden of such a marriage. There is no reason for three lives to be wrecked for a youthful folly. —DOROTHY DIX.

HOOVER TENDS TO ADVISE

While Smith Selects Men Who Can Think

NEW YORK, July 25. (UP)—Herbert Hoover as president would not hesitate to tell foreigners how they ought to behave, whereas Governor Smith would be opposed to getting into many arguments with foreign governments, Walter Pippman, chief editorial writer of the New York World, said in a radio address tonight under auspices of the League of Women Voters.

He said both party platforms are vague and raise no important foreign policy issues.

"Secretary Hoover is a man who has had wide experience in international affairs and has very definite opinions of his own on most international questions," Lippman said.

"Governor Smith has no experience in international affairs and no definite views. In my mind Secretary Hoover would, if elected, appoint a secretary of state to carry out his own ideas, whereas Governor Smith would appoint some one of experience whom he could trust. The state department under Mr. Hoover, would, I think, resemble the state department under Wilson. It would be run from the White House.

Young Mentioned

"Under Mr. Smith the state department would be much what it was When Mr. Coolidge was president and Mr. Hughes secretary of state. It is a fair guess, I think, that Mr. Hoover would look for a secretary who would take orders and Governor Smith would look for one who would take charge and initiate policy. I should expect Mr. Hoover to look around for a competent and loyal subordinate for what you might call a first rate, second rate man, and I should expect Governor Smith to look for some one, say Owen D. Young, who is fully able in his own right to handle the foreign affairs of this country."

Lippman said Hoover is an expert while Smith uses experts.

"Mr. Hoover has many ideas on foreign policies, some of them firmly fixed," Lippman continued. "Smith has few ideas and an open mind.

Choice Important

"It is not important that the president should be an expert on China, Mexico, France, Great Britain, Russia, the league and everything else. What the president has to be is an expert in his choice of men. He has to know an honest man from a crooked one. He has to know a statesman from a selfish politician.

"Mr. Hoover is a believer in using the financial and political power of the United States in a somewhat assertive way to push American interests. Mr. Hoover has a natural tendency to give advice to everybody, and that includes foreign governments."

Man Found Unconscious In Gas-Filled Room

EL PASO, Texas, July 25. (INS) Fred Johnson, 40, was found unconscious in a gas filled closet at the Y. M. C. A. here today. A gas tube which he held in his teeth at one end was lying close to a large crack under the closet door, and this probably saved his life, police said.

Johnson came here from Denver in 1924. He is believed to have been originally from Alta, Iowa.

Newton Baker Optimistic

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 25. (UP)—The Democratic party has better chances for winning the 1928 presidential election than it has had for many years, Newton D. Baker, Cleveland, secretary of war during the administration of Woodrow Wilson, said here.

He refused to make any predictions concerning the result of the ballot.

Report of Rockefeller's Defeat By Col. Stewart Fails to Excite 'Street'

NEW YORK, July 25. (INS)—Wall street displayed only mild interest today in published newspaper stories reiterating that John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s effort to force Col. Robert W. Stewart out of his position as chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana has failed because Stewart has obtained control of 51 per cent or more of the stock of the corporation by ownership or proxy.

Stewart is portrayed as having apparently beaten the Rockefeller family in this fight and to have become the unquestioned dictator of the policies of the $500,000,000 corporation. For half a century the Rockefellers have dominated the oil industry.

The break between Rockefeller and Stewart came as a result of Stewart's defiance of the senate investigating committee and his subsequent trial for contempt and later for perjury. Rockefeller deplored the attitude of Stewart and demanded that he resign. This Stewart refused to do and the matter, according to newspaper stories, settled down to the struggle for control of the corporation.

Wall street generally regards Colonel Stewart's position in the Standard Oil of Indiana as impregnable. It was recalled today that at the last annual meeting of the corporation, last March, when directors were elected, that there was represented at the meeting 6,315,211 shares out of 9,234,000 outstanding shares. When the question of electing Stewart a director came there was a more or less "showdown" between Stewart and Rockefeller. Stewart received 4,980,355 votes. The Rockefellers did not vote. The fact that Stewart received 4,980,355 of the 6,315,211 votes represented, attested to his strong position in the corporation. No votes were cast against him.

Reports are again current that Stewart may tighten his allegiance with Harry F. Sinclair, head of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company. The operations of Sinclair Oil and Standard Oil of Indiana already have been combined in the purchase of crude oil and the transportation of oil by pipe line. Sinclair's company and Stewart's company each have a half interest in the Sinclair Pipe Line corporation and it is now reported they plan to increase the output from 50,000 barrels of oil a day to 100,000 barrels.

Frederick Leader Suggests New Plan

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., July 25.—In order to train boys for scouts who are too young to become Tenderfeet, it was proposed at a meeting of scout executives of Navajo mountain council held at Lugert dam recently that junior troops be organized composed of boys from 8 to 12 years of age. This matter was mentioned by John Russell, scoutmaster of the Frederick troop, at a social held Monday night at the dining hall of the First Methodist church. It met with the approval of all present. Russell said he has been able to hold some of the scouts after they have passed 16, the age when most members drop out, and he believes that by putting these older scouts in charge of the juniors the responsibility will prove as beneficial to the older boys as it does to the juniors.

Rev. John Salter, W. W. Childers, Charles McFall, all of the scouts present and some others spoke briefly. Ice cream, cookies and lemonade were served. Russell's troop doing the honors both in the kitchen and in serving. Some games were also played. It is planned to have similar socials from time to time.

'LUCK' HEENEY'S ONLY CHANCE

Tunney in Fine Fettle For Onslaught

dulled by his lay-off of a year, and that after the early rounds he may find himself unable to hold back the surges of the New Zealander.

Tunney's record would seem to belie this possibility, because he had not fought for a year before he met Dempsey the first time to win the heavyweight title, and he did not fight again for another year afterward, only to beat Dempsey again.

In the manner of his living, Tunney is well nigh an acolyte. He is always in good physical condition, and he is in good condition now.

Faster Than Ever

He comes out of his training camp at Speculator, in the heart of the Adirondacks, tomorrow by airplane, trained to the minute, faster than ever, according to his observers, and punching as accurately as ever. His manner of training has convinced them that Tunney will try to stop Heeney.

Never accounted a damaging puncher, but always more of a defensive boxer, Tunney has intimated that he will endeavor to put a little of that "killer" phase to the proceedings that the customers love.

He ought to be able to hit Heeney with every punch he knows and while "The Rock of Down Under" has never been knocked out, Bud Gorman and Paolino had him on the floor in his earlier fights in this country.

Bets Are On Gate

The odds of 3 to 1 against Heeney, with no Heeney money in sight, reflect the sentiment of the pugilistic public toward the affair. Also there is the slack demand for tickets. There is more betting on what the fight will draw tonight than on the result, and the opinion seems to be that it is a financial flop.

That Rickard would like to see Heeney win tonight there is no doubt, because he knows he would probably draw his long dreamed of $3,000,000 gate with Heeney and Dempsey.

But there is nothing, as I have said before, in the "dope" to give the promoter much hope that his dream will come true.

I doubt that Tunney can knock out "The Rock From Down Under." I look for the fight to go 15 rounds, with Heeney getting badly outscored in the first six heats, but coming on stronger toward the finish.

Tunney Confident

If Heeney should win tomorrow night it would be the greatest upset since James J. Corbett licked the supposedly invincible John L. Sullivan nearly 40 years ago. It will be greater than the upset at Philadelphia two years back, for while Tunney was the short ender in the betting there was enough money for him to devastate the Dempsey-loving westerners.

Tunney himself undoubtedly thinks Heeney will be little better than a punching bag for him tomorrow night. It may be so, but my advice to Mister Tunney is to make it as short as possible, or otherwise do plenty of that "conservation of energy" that he is always bloviating about.

Dempsey to Rescue

By EDWARD J. NEIL

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—The final blare of the ballyhoo horns woke New York today to realization that there will be a heavyweight championship fight in the Yankee stadium tomorrow night.

But it was not the anouncement that Gene Tunney, aviation enthusiast, scholar, and king of the leather flingers, would match his speed, ring science, and stamina for 15 rounds against Tom Heeney, the horseshoe twister from New Zealand, that turned the trick. Into the picture again was forced the familiar figure of Jack Dempsey, the Manassa Mauler, who never yet has failed to quicken the pulses and loosen the purse strings of Tex Rickard's fight faithfuls.

Dempsey Second

This time it will be Dempsey, chief second and adviser of the challenger, on whom the promoter must depend for the injection of life into a match that today bore all the appearances of a financial corpse. If all goes well, and the New York athletic commission, like Barkis, is willin', then Dempsey tomorrow night will climb again through the ropes of the Yankee stadium ring, this time lugging a water bucket and with a towel slung over his arm rather than draped about his massive shoulders.

The former czar of the heavyweights agreed today to second Heeney in his effort to batter the big marine into oblivion. At a special meeting of the boxing commission, called for 10 a. m. tomorrow, Rickard has promised that Dempsey will apply for his license. One of the fistic fathers declared today that there was nothing in the rules to prevent Jack's acting as a second and there appeared no reason for refusing it.

Old Attraction

Thus did Rickard, in his hour of need, turn again to the man whose personality has drawn millions of dollars through the turnstiles while his thudding fists painted one drama after another on the pages of ring history.

Carter Tells Lions Of Baseball Tourney

A plan for the Twilight league to send a team to Denver to participate in the annual baseball tournament in that town was announced Wednesday at the luncheon of the Lions club by Roy E. Carter. He said it would be done if the trip could be financed.

It was also announced that, due to the rains, the Lions-Optimist baseball game for the benefit of The Record News-Times Milk and Ice Fund would be postponed to Tuesday.

E. F. Bohmfalk led in community singing and W. L. Scott of Olney was introduced as a visitor. Frank Cripliver told of the recent international convention of Lions clubs at Des Moines, Iowa. It was announced that Dr. R. H. Graham, president of the local club, will address meetings of the Burkburnett Lions Tuesday and the Electra Lions Thursday.

DUCKETT SEEKS COURT WRIT

Accused Man's Fight To Start Monday

Hearing on a writ of habeas corpus seeking the release of George Duckett will be held in Archer City Monday morning at 10 o'clock, Judge E. G. Thornton of the 30th district court announced late Wednesday. The time of the hearing previously had been published as 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Duckett was ordered held without bond for investigation by the Archer county grand jury at a hearing Wednesday morning before County Judge H. V. Pearston in Archer City. The hearing, it was said, was merely a formality, little attempt being made to secure Duckett's release on bond.

Duckett is being held on murder charges growing out of the fatal shooting at Dundee a week ago of Charles McDaniel by a man who is alleged to have attempted to rob the First State bank there. Duckett was arrested in Newcastle Friday morning.

Few Transfers Of Voters Made by Raley

Only a few persons had transferred their vote from other counties to Wichita county on Wednesday, the last day for such transfer, according to Guy C. Raley, county tax collector. Transfers from precincts outside of this county have been in progress all during the year, however, Mr. Raley pointed out.

Wichita county citizens who wished their precinct voting places changed had to make the change not later than Tuesday.

Talk Marathon Ends Campaign

for certain references the governor has made to him.

Moody Complimented

The capitol, unusually quiescent in a political way for the past two weeks, produced two developments in the situation Wednesday. In a statement complimentary to the governor, W. L. Hilliard of Taft, vice president of the county judges and commissioners association of Texas, urged the young executive's reelection.

W. E. James, opposing state school superintendent S. M. N. Marrs for reelection, took exception in a statement addressed to "the people of Texas" to Marrs' statement that a "vote against Marrs is a vote for the American Book company."

Marrs Attacked

"I wish to say," James said, "that any statement, by any person or campaign committee that a vote for me is a vote for any book company or that any book company has contributed one penny to my campaign is an infamous falsehood. Furthermore, the statement that a vote against Marrs is a vote for the American Book company is an insult to the dignity and honor of every man and woman in Texas who desires to vote for any one of Marrs' opponents."

Women Busy

Marrs said Wednesday his campaign is practically closed.

The two women candidates—Mrs. Edith Wilmans for governor and Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham for senator—are remaining active to the last in their jumps about the state in automobiles, Mrs. Wilmans has made a swing into West Texas and Mrs. Cunningham, coming from a speech at McKinney Wednesday afternoon, is scheduled to apear in Houston Thursday. She will close at Galveston Friday night.

Other Aspirants

Congressman Tom Connally, candidate or the senate, is to speak at McKinney and Cooper Thursday afternoon and nigth, respectively, while Col. Alvin Owsley, one of his opponents, is speaking in the same order at Arlington, and Fort Worth.

Another senatorial aspirant, Congressman Tom Blanton, has 10 speeches scheduled for the last two days of the campaign. Five of these are set for Thursday, beginning in the morning at China Springs and on through the day as fast as he can travel and make them at Clifton, Morgan, Walnut Springs, winding up at Iredell at night.

VERNON AUTO VICTIM BURIED

Driver of Car Under Care Of Physician

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, July 25.—Funeral services for Henry Byars, 28, who was killed Tuesday night when his automobile collided with another, were held at the home of his father, Lon Byars, city commissioner, Wednesday afternoon. Hundreds of friends gathered to pay homage to the young man.

Robert Wilson, who was driving the car which collided with the Byars machine, is under the care of a physician here suffering from nervous shock. Neither he nor Kelly Parker, who was with him at the time, were injured in the crash beyond a few bruises. In addition to Mr. Byars' widow and two children and parents, he is survived by six brothers, Mack, Rufus, Earl, Leslie and Ben of Vernon, and Dewey of Chillicothe, and a sister, Mrs. Ira Tidwell of Vernon.

Cook Replies To Opponents

of the federal court as an absurdity which the people do not want.

Mr. Allred, second judicial speaker, asked that the people "promote" him to the office of district judge, reminding them that he was the only man in the race who had held office by virtue of a victorious contest.

"Judge Weldon," Mr. Allred said, "resigned from the judgeship of the 30th district court to which he had been appointed because 'he couldn't afford to give the best years of his life to public service.' What about his race for election now, people?"

The youngest candidate for the judgeship also took time out to assail The Daily Times in reporting a meeting of this group at Burkburnett. If I had The Times on my side like Judge Cook has, I know I would win this race easily," Mr. Allred declared.

He then read a clipping from The Daily Times of Wednesday which said Judge Cook "served two terms as district judge of Montague county."

Judge Cook referred to this item in The Times as an error.

George A. Smoot characterized as a misrepresentation the statement of Mr. Allred and Judge Weldon that he planned to run the district court "as the federal court is run."

"I said that I intended to run the docket of the court as the docket of the federal court is run, and if I am elected I will do so. When the cases are called they will be dismissed or tried unless some legal reason for their postponement is advanced," he said.

Disclaims Record

Sam Spence, candidate among four for the office of district attorney, renounced all claim to the record made by the district attorney's office, while he was assistant as his individual property.

"I do not now and never have claimed that record as my own, as you will hear Mr. Fruechte do in a short time. It is the record of the district attorney's department, in which Mr. Allred, Mr. Fruechte and I worked, and we all are proud of it. It is the only platform Mr. Fruechte can find to run on and he is welcome to it.

There is more to the office than throwing men into the pen because the office has that power. It is not necessarily the severe sentence which is important.

"Certainty of punishment and not the severity of its deters crime."

W. L. Scott declared that before this campaign he had thought Ben Allred was district attorney, but that now he was almost convinced that Mr. Fruechte had been. "When you hear Fruechte's speech, you will find that Ben had nothing to do with it."

Mrs. John B. Rhea spoke briefly for her husband, who is at home recuperating from a major operation.

E. F. Fruechte, fourth candidate in the race for district attorney, reviewed his record during the 21 months in the office as assistant district attorney.

"Mr. Scott," he said, "has been trying civil cases for so long that he thinks one can convict in criminal cases by default."

Other candidates speaking Wednesday night included:

Justice of the peace, precinct 1, place 2: J. O. Cowart, C. B. McConell and O. L. Gibbs.

District clerk: Jesse Smith and Miss Eunice Jackson.

Constable, precinct 1: B. L. Hoskins, A. J. Berry, Frank Morgan and C. L. Bradford.

Tax collector: Arthur C. Howard, and Guy C. Raley.

Judge of the county court-at-law: Irvin Vogel, C. M. McFarland and Ralph Pittman.

Sheriff: H. L. White, W. G Bralley and S. M. Spruiell.

BUSINESS MEN TALK COTTON

Banquet To Be Held In Dallas August 1

DALLAS, Texas, July 25. (INS)—With the object of discussing cotton production, price stabilization and marketing, more than 100 business, finance and farm leaders will gather here Aug. 1 as the banquet guests of the East Texas and Dallas chambers of commerce. The two commercial bodies sponsored the affair at the request of Gov. Dan Moody.

The meet is one of a series to be held throughout the cotton producing states and which have been sponsored by the Southwide Cotton conference organized at New Orleans July 6, as the result of the Jackson, Miss., conference called by Governor Moody earlier in the year.

Clarence Ousley, of Dallas, member of the executive committee of the conference, said the meeting is for the purpose of getting plans and ideas from the various elements represented, upon which the conference's future program will be based.

Establishment of a cotton institute, along the general lines of the American Petroleum institute, will be discussed at the banquet, which has no connection with the Southwide Cotton conference scheduled to be held here Aug. 6, under the auspices of the Farmers' Marketing Association of America.

Among those expected to attend the banquet are Governor Moody, Ousley, C. E. Thomas, Montgomery, Ala.; T. W. Davidson, Dallas; A. S. Fant, Columbia, S. C.; S. Odenheimer, New Orleans; A. H. Stone, Dumleith, Miss., and N. C. Williamson, Milliken, La.

Texan Will Race Against Hunger

EDINBURG, Texas, July 25. (INS)—Planning what he declares to be one of the most unique and unusual physical endurance tests ever attempted, Claude Armstrong, of Edinburg, will on August 20, start an indefinite fast, hoping to set a new world's record.

Fasting is not unique, Armstrong admits, but the fact that he will attempt to drive an automobile to the capital of each state during his fast is, to say the least, unusual. It is a feat he claims no one else ever has attempted. He estimates the trip will last from 30 to 50 days and will cover approximately 17,500 miles, averaging 500 miles or more per day.

Armstrong is on a special diet at present. This is adding half a pound of weight each day. He will continue this diet until the start of his fast.

A relief driver, a physician and a newspaper man will accompany Armstrong on his unusual trip.

Heflin Tells Truth About Bed Scene

He Scented Plot, But Slats Were O. K.

WASHINGTON, July 25. (UP)—Senator Thomas J. Heflin, Alabama Democrat, issued a statement tonight describing as "incorrect, misleading and untrue" a newspaper report which he said was headlined "Heflin Scents Plot When Bed Breaks."

The report which Heflin said was carried from Asbury Park, N. J., several days ago, purported to be a description of a fall out of bed by him as a result of a plot.

"I wish to state, for the benefit of those who read the article, just what did occur," Heflin said.

"I spent Saturday night at the Monterey hotel at Asbury Park and occupied a room on the fourth floor—room 467. There were two single beds in the room. At about 10:30 o'clock that night, someone rapped at the door and I opened it and two men were standing there—one who appeared to be about 19 or 20 years old, and the other a man of 35 or 40.

"I asked them what they wanted. The younger man said, 'We want to fix your bed.' I said 'which bed?' And he didn't know, he said.

"I then said that I had not asked for anybody to fix a bed and that there was nothing the matter with the bed so far as I knew. The young man said, 'I was afraid the bed might fall down with you during the night.' I said, 'How did you know which one of the beds I was going to sleep on?' He appeared greatly embarrassed—the other man standing by silently all the time. He had in his hand, I believe, a screwdriver and some other working tools.

Both Good Beds

"The young man turned up the mattress on both beds," Heflin continued, "and found there was nothing the matter with either of them. I said, 'This is rather strange that you should come to this room to fix a bed and there was nothing the matter with the bed, and I had not called for anyone to do any work on a bed.'

"The young man, who seemed more embarrassed than ever, said that when he made the bed up that morning he was afraid it was weak and might fall down.

"They left in a little while and I called the clerk and asked him if he had sent these two men up there. He said he had not, and I asked him if this boy made up any beds in the hotel, and he said that he did not, that they had girls who did that work.

"I was then convinced that the visit to my room was very remarkable to say the least of it. It was evident to the young man that I was both indignant and watchful."

Pacific Fliers To Attempt New Hop

SYDNEY, Australia, July 25. (UP)—The first men to fly from mainland to mainland across the Pacific ocean are contemplating a trip by air across the Atlantic in the near future, it was learned here.

Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith and Charles T. P. Ulm, pilots of the monoplane Southern Cross on its epochal flight across the Pacific from the United States to Australia, have progressed so far with their plans that they are considering abandonment of the Southern Cross, it was said.

They hope to span the Atlantic in a single motored plane of the type used by Colonel Charles Lindbergh in his New York to Paris flight, it was learned from an authentic source. The Southern Cross is a three-motored ship.

One flight at least remains for the Southern Cross, however. Kingsford-Smith and Ulm plan a round trip from here to New Zealand before the Atlantic venture.

To the People of the 30th District:

We, the undersigned citizens of Olney, and neighbors of W. L. Scott, candidate for District Attorney of the 30th district, have this to say of him:

We know him, believe in him, and heartily endorse him to all law-abiding, Christian people in the district, as being in every respect suitable for this High Office.

He is not in the race by his own seeking, but was sought and brought into the race by great moral forces who stand for better law enforcement, and because this district needs a lawyer of experience and ability, and a man and citizen of clean, sober, Christian character, in that office and he is ALL OF THAT.

It is seldom that a lawyer of ability can be induced to run for this office—since he can make so much more in private practice—and in our judgment, the people would make a serious mistake if they did not avail themselves of this opportunity of electing a REAL, SURE ENOUGH, OLD-TIME DISTRICT ATTORNEY to that important office.

FARMER STUDY TRIP PLANNED

W. T. C. C. Sponsors Excursion to California

STAMFORD, Texas, July 25.—The first of a series of California trips to be made at a nominal cost under auspices of the agricultural department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of studying poultry, dairying and irrigation methods in the Golden State has been announced by Exhibit-Agricultural Manager B. M. Whiteker.

The party will be limited to 25 members and will start within one week of the time that number is signed up, or as soon as a bus can be chartered for transportation. From 14 to 17 days will be consumed by the excursion.

In addition to inspecting farming methods around Los Angeles, San Francisco and Petaluma, a number of interesting side trips are arranged for, such as to San Joquin and Sacramento irrigated valleys, Burbank orchards, sight-seeing tours and other big features. The entire transportation cost, including side trips will be but $50. With meals at a special price of 50 cents and with hotel accommodations for the farmers at $1 per person, the average cost of the whole journey is estimated at from $90 to $100 for each.

Mr. Whiteker observes that the trip will be of inestimable value to the farmer interested in poultry, dairying, and irrigation, or in general improvement of his farming methods. Close study will be made of Californian methods of feeding, housing and care of poultry, as well as marketing, of highly successful dairying carried on in an intensive manner even where there is no pasturing or raising of own feed, and of money making crops raised on from 2 to 5 acres through concentrated farming that cannot be understood until seen first hand.

Californian methods in all lines of agricultural development were studied by Exhibit-Agricultural Manager Whiteker last summer when he went to that state on an excursion instigated by J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls.

From the enthusiastic reception given his report of the trip by thousands of farmers over West Texas, Mr. Whiteker conceived the idea of a low cost trip arranged to give such men a first hand observation of agricultural activities in California. Wherever he has mentioned this crusade, lively interest has been manifested, and it is thought the required number of farmers of Texas will respond to the plan at an early date.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By GRANT DIXON

NEW YORK.—A hitherto undiscovered phenomenon of the automobile age has been unearthed in the byways of Greenwich Village. Who would think that such a thing as a not obnoxious back seat driver existed? And yet that is just what has been found—calmly smoking his pipe in the dark recesses of the hook and ladder company 5, station house, at Perry street, near Seventh avenue.

His name is Charles Yunhold and he manipulates the mighty steering wheel on the rear of the company 5, 65-foot hook and ladder wagon.

Despite the common belief that the job of steering the rear wheels of a ladder truck must be a very intricate operation, all the boys who have done it insist it is a pipe. All you've got to do, they say, is to follow your nose—keep the back end in line with the front and trust that the streets aren't slippery. Of course there have been times, they will admit, when it took a level head to avert disaster—but not often.

Yes, under repeated questioning they will admit that there have been some close squeaks. For instance, that time up in Harlem:

The boys in hook and ladder company 99 were lolling around the station house; it was Christmas eve and their thoughts were of things remote from fires, rescues and false alarms.

Of a sudden they were spurred to action by the clanging of the station alarm call. To reach the fire they must rush down Amsterdam avenue to 141st street, down 141st to Broadhurst and from there a few blocks to the fire. It's about six blocks downhill from Amsterdam to Broadhurst on 141st and the streets were polished with a midwinter sheen of ice. The weather man was giving Santa Claus a break, but thwarting the progress of the foes of fire. No time to think about that, however; some one might be in danger down on Broadhurst avenue.

The heavy apparatus left the warmth of the station house and swung up Amsterdam avenue to 141st street. It had just turned the corner and started down the grade when something funny happened to the wheels of the truck pulling the ladders. They weren't moving at all and yet they seemed to be gathering a lot of speed. Just as the driver up front was starting to get the car under control, the back end buckled and swung toward the side of the road.

All the time they were slipping forward at a terrific speed past cross streets, parked automobiles and crowds of screaming people. Old Garrity, a veteran of the department, was up on the back end manning the wheel. All the way down the hill, six blocks, sliding from side to side, he stuck to his controls, doing his best to keep the wildly swaying back end from crashing into the curb and overturning the entire apparatus with all hands aboard.

At Broadhurst avenue the hill levels off. The truck hit the glazed space at the bottom and went into a new sideways skid. The back end, Garrity and all, spun completely around, over the curb and against a tree. But no one was hurt, and the ladders moved on to the fire a few months later.

Just one of the times when it's nice to have a good back seat driver.

The policeman was chatting to one of his cronies on the beat. The pleasant rhythm of his baton suddenly was interrupted by a persistent tug at his coat. Looking down, he discovered a little girl of three, one of the stickiest-faced in the neighborhood, gazing at him in awe and wonder.

"Cop, I d'ink mulk," she said earnestly in baby accents.

Six feet one looked down on two feet nothing and grinned. Bluecoat knew the kid had something up her sleeve but did not quite see what. But she was a pretty little roly-poly and so he grinned some more.

How was he to know that a blue coat is what the well dressed bugaboo will wear according to any infant who doesn't like milk? Mamma says so and she knows.

Men's Coats and Women's Dresses

WE HEAR a great deal these days of woman's fight for sex equality, but there is one point in which woman gets all of the breaks. That is in the matter of hot weather clothes. Custom demands that a man must keep his coat on, no matter how hot the day or how clean his shirt.

There is hope, however. In Berlin recently a business man, sitting in his office, removed his coat. Then he called his stenographer to take dictation. She took one look at him and fled. Then she filed suit to recover her wages, charging that her employer's removal of his coat constituted immoral conduct which compelled her to give up her job.

The court, we are glad to hear, decided against her, ruling that a man's right to escape the heat by sitting around in his shirt sleeves is inalienable.

That's fine. Some day we hope that coats will be laid away when July comes to be donned only on the approach of autumn.

Up 100 Stories

A NEW YORK architect remarked the other day that 100-story office buildings will be relatively common in a few years.

From the structural viewpoint there probably are no obstacles. It has been demonstrated pretty thoroughly that designers can make steel girders go to almost any height.

But there are such grave objections to the 100-story skyscraper that we doubt very much if it will materialize.

Traffic congestion in our major cities is almost unbearable even now. A monster building of 100 stories would treble it. It would concentrate too many people in one spot. The result would be an addition to the traffic stream that would simply paralyze things.

Cities of the future should aim at diffusion of downtown workers not concentration. The 100-story skyscraper would be fine to look at, but it would be a distinct menace to the city that built it.

There Is Charity

THERE is a pretty deep streak of kindness and generosity in most people, if you care to look for it.

Not long ago a gang of bandits staged a holdup in Kansas City. A policeman, James Smith, interfered. They shot him dead and escaped. He was survived by a widow and several small children, and the future looked pretty black for them.

Then his fellow townspeople got busy. Smith had died in the line of duty, defending Kansas City against thugs; would Kansas City see his family suffer poverty? Kansas City would not. A collection was taken to establish a trust fund for them; then another collection was taken to build them a house. Now the house is under construction, and nearly $25,000 has been placed in the bank for the widow and children.

People are, after all, pretty generous and kind if you appeal to them properly.

Failure's Rough Hands

"ALTHOUGH I have perhaps achieved more than the average person at my age, still what I have achieved is so very far from what I wanted to achieve that life is not worth living."

After writing a note containing these words, Henry Druckliev, middle aged New York real estate broker, killed himself by sending a revolver bullet into his head.

It is tragic to reach middle age and find that one's dearest ambitions can never be realized; tragic enough to make many people besides this real estate broker think of suicide. Yet it is the inevitable lot of all of us. Our reach, invariably, exceeds our grasp. We can never quite do the things we want to do.

This inevitable disparity between the desires of the spirit and the capabilities of the flesh is at once a curse and a blessing; a curse because it brings suffering and tragedy, and blessing because it is the mainspring of all human progress.

Never a young man began life without high hopes. A boy in his 'teens looks ahead to certain triumphs. He will be a better man than his father; the stumbling blocks that trip others will not trip him. He feels his own expanding powers and is sure that they will carry him through to any goal he seeks.

In the fullness of time the boy becomes a man and finds it isn't so easy as he imagined. Life is more complicated than he thought. One by one he sees his towering air castles dissolve in the hard light of every day experience, and at last, no matter how successful he has become, he has to admit that he has not gone as far as he once expected to.

This is always a painful awakening, made endurable only by the fact that it comes very gradually. Yet most of us survive it. The men who commit suicide are the exception. We learn to discount the notes drawn by our high expectations.

But always, fortunately, we remember what we dreamed. Always we have in the back of our minds a picture of what life might be like if we had not failed. We are persuaded, thereby, that the world is potentially a better place than we have made it, and that we ourselves are, at bottom, better men than we seem. We must be; cannot we dream gorgeous dreams?

So, in the midst of our disillusion, there remains a spark of deathless optimism that persists quite irrationally. It makes us receptive; and now and then, when some man greater than the rest of us comes along, shows us a great ideal and demands that we follow it and stop worshipping Baal, we obey. And when it is over, although we have not followed as far as we intended, we find that we have, after all, made progress.

FARMER RELIEF SOUGHT.

With the farmers of the middle west receiving such profitable prices for every line of products from the farm, including livestock, the Democratic orators and press are facing a hard task in the endeavor to make the farmers believe that they are being badly treated.

Down in this section farmers have never been in such prosperous conditions as they are right at the present time. And they are not going to vote for any change of administration. They are building better homes, sending their children to school, driving good cars and enjoying themselves. And they are not worrying about the return of light wines and beer. They are content.

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service — NEA FICTION — by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Virginia Brewster is in love with a poor artist, Nathaniel Dann, but she is tricked into promising to marry Frederick Dean in one year if she fails to earn $100,000 which he alleges her father cheated him out of in a bootlegging deal.

Brewster had lost his fortune in speculation before his sudden death so that Virginia is left destitute. She pawns some of her jewelry and a broker friend, Oliver Cutter, promises to invest it for her and try to earn the hundred thousand.

She avoids all her wealthy friends and seeks work at an agency under an assumed name but without success. She finds orchids at her hotel one evening from Dean and wonders how he learned her address. A call from the agency brings hope but when she goes there Mrs. Phelps tries to dissuade her from working and advises her to marry. Virginia suspects that Dean has bribed the agency not to help her, and this conviction is strengthened when she finds that she is being shadowed.

She tries other agencies, but word leaks out that the "Brewster girl" is job-seeking and she is besieged by reporters. Among the group that are trying to interview her, she recognizes the man who has been following her.

Cutter insists on taking her out to dinner, and when she consents Niel retaliates by going to a party with his model, Chiri Mond.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER XXXI

Oliver was smiling, but not with his eyes. In them Virginia saw a peculiar, challenging question. It was as though he were thinking of some secret he shared with her. It gave Virginia the impression that it needed an answer. Intuitively she felt that whatever her own expression implied it should be in the negative.

She leaned forward also. They were very close over the table. Her lips held the faintest hint of a smile for his words, but her eyes were as cool as a forest pool.

"It cannot be easy for any girl to make a hundred thousand dollars," she said steadily, "unless she does something spectacular and thrills the world."

"Perhaps it isn't necessary to thrill the entire world," he suggested after a slight pause.

Virginia's eyes probed into his, searching for the hidden meaning of his words. At last he drew back his head and looked away from her, picking up a glass of water to hide his discomfiture.

She too settled back in her chair and her eyes reflected bitter thought.

"Oliver, are you a rotter?" she asked acridly.

Oliver was startled. "Virginia, what a thing to say!" he exploded in an injured tone.

Virginia sat very still while he went on to tell her how badly mistaken she was if she thought he'd meant anything.

"Well, frankly, I wasn't sure that you were not suggesting an easy way out of my difficulties," she replied levelly. "Your remarks gave me the idea."

"See here," Oliver flared; "I think all this miserable mixing up with the world you're indulging in is doing something to you, Virginia. You act as if I'd picked you up on the street corner."

Virginia winced. "Well, I'm sorry if I misjudged you, Oliver. But if you could have seen your eyes!"

"Lord, you don't expect me to look at you as if you were a stone wall, do you?"

"No, but I don't expect you to look at me as if I were a girl you'd picked up, either."

"That's your new touchiness," he insisted. "You're imagining things."

"If that's true, then just what did you mean?" Virginia asked him. "Why should it be easy for me to make money?"

"Apparently you don't think much of my financial ability," Oliver remarked in aggrieved accents. "I might remind you, you know, that it isn't everyone who can play the street without losing."

"Is that all you meant?" Virginia pressed, not quite convinced that he was guiltless as he would appear. "You really think it will be easy for me with your help?"

"I think it's about the only chance you have." Oliver was not too modest to tell her. "I don't think it's very flattering to me to worry so much about it. You might make an effort to enjoy yourself."

Virginia sighed. "I can't," she said truthfully. "It was a mistake for me to come with you, Oliver. I'm not in a mood to cheer anyone."

"Well, I don't know what's on your mind, but if it's money, forget about it, Virginia."

"It isn't only money. You know that. And you've given me something new to worry about."

"Now, Virginia . . ."

"Oh, it isn't what I thought a while ago. If I hadn't decided I was wrong I wouldn't stay. But I can't help wondering if you aren't right about a change in me. Maybe I am imagining things. There's Miss Evans, for instance; it seems to me she is acting very strangely."

Oliver did not answer for a moment. The waiter came and removed their plates and Oliver asked for some cigarets. When he turned back to Virginia he spoke off-handedly of her last remark.

"Miss Evans is a queer egg," he said unemotionally. "Moody. Want a savory?"

"She makes me feel as if she doesn't want to have a word to say to me," Virginia told him, ignoring his abrupt suggestion of a cheese tidbit to top their dinner.

"Don't pay any attention to her. That's just her way. Not so good for my business, but she's invaluable to me. Can't let her go."

"She hasn't said anything about me, has she?"

Oliver opened his eyes blankly. "Why should she?" he asked. "Surely you aren't upset about her. Days she hardly speaks to me except she has to."

Virginia looked relieved. "I'd hate to believe I was looking for trouble," she said.

"It's an easy habit to fall into when trouble begins to look for you," he said sententiously.

"That's what you've made me afraid of . . . that I am getting touchy and quick-tempered."

"And suspicious." Oliver supplemented with a laugh. Then, more seriously: "But I understand, only I hope you won't doubt me again."

Virginia felt a little ashamed. He was so boyishly in earnest and he was doing so much for her. In return she had half charged him with an unforgivable purpose. Oliver saw a dull red color her cheeks and quickly changed the subject.

"Of course you wouldn't care for a show," he said sympathetically. "Shall we drive up the Hudson or out on Long Island? Unless you're too tired," he added hurriedly, noting at once that she did not care for the suggestion. He had no wish to urge her, especially just now when he had only managed to get off thin ice by the shabby trick of browbeating her into believing the mistake he had made was her own. His privately admitted opinion was that she would have been as dumb as a cow if she hadn't known what was in his mind. But her direct attack upon his unspoken campaign warned him that the time was far from ripe for any further efforts along that line.

Virginia seized the chance he purposely offered her to say she was too tired to think of going anywhere, and Oliver consented to take her home. He hoped his thoughtfulness would completely wipe out any remnants of suspicion that might remain in her mind in regard to the true measure of his friendship.

His cunning succeeded well. Virginia, repenting her hasty temper toward Nathaniel and believing she had misjudged Oliver, was willing to concede that it was nice of him to let her break up his evening without protest. It did not even occur to her to suspect him of such deep-dyed scheming as he was guilty of. Her chief concern was that she was losing her sense of values—beginning to cross bridges that might never be built. Oliver realized this. He decided to take advantage of the fact.

On the way to her hotel he made a point of sitting as far from her in the tonneau of his car as the space would permit. He wanted her to feel that he was not going to risk a second error on her part. His clearly apparent attitude touched Virginia with a deeper feeling of ignominy.

She moved over nearer him and put a hand on his. Oliver made no effort to capture it, neither did he lean toward her as impulse prompted him to do. Virginia relaxed against the soft cushioned back of the seat with a sigh of comfort. Her eyelids drooped and she let herself dream of success. There would be no cars like this, perhaps; they belonged to the past that could not be brought back. But the past that had held all heaven's promise of happiness with Nathaniel was not gone forever—not if she could free herself from her bargain with Frederick Dean. And for the moment, once more in the stimulating atmosphere of wealth, she looked upon a fortune of $100,000 as not too difficult of acquisition. It was a mere bagatelle to this man beside her.

The thought strengthened her confidence. He had said it would not be hard to acquire it. How lucky she was to have his help! And how terribly, terribly unjust she had been to him! Of course he knew how impossible it would be for her to succeed unaided. He had only meant to tell her that, for her—a girl with the right contacts—it would be easy.

She pressed his inert hand gratefully. Oliver shot her a quick glance, then swore silently. Only a complete and utter ass could have failed to mistake the ecstatic expression of her smile-parted lips and half-closed eyes. Oliver remained motionless but until Virginia removed her hand she was in imminent danger of being shocked into a more exact realization of the distance that separated her from the money she must have to redeem her happiness.

When they reached her hotel and stopped before the unpretentious entrance Oliver openly expressed his dissatisfaction with the place as an abode for Virginia. "It isn't necessary," he protested. "Don't be a fool, Virginia. Take some of the money I've made for you. There's still time enough to make your wabbly little hundred thousand and with half what you have now."

"Time! Oliver, every minute until the day you tell me I have all of it will be an eternity to me."

"Bosh! I've given you my word you will have it."

"I know, and I'm happier than I've been since I found out I'd have to get it. The hotel doesn't matter. I'm getting used to it. You'd be surprised how little luxury counts against happiness, Oliver."

"Well, I hope I never find out. It's my opinion that we ought to have both."

"If gratitude can make you happy you will always have it," Virginia assured him. Her eyes were bright with feeling and her fingers carried the message of her thankfulness as she offered her hand to say good night.

Oliver shrugged. "Virginia, I've told you I hate that word. Some day I hope you will find a better expression."

EZRA TALKS OF POLITICS, RELIGION

The Wichita Falls Record-News,
Wichita Falls, Texas.
Dear Editor:

There have been, since religion began, those conscientious workers after right as they see it, who have insisted upon mingling with their religion a bit of politics. History has shown that this has not been a wholesome union.

Kings of France, at the zenith of their power, allied themselves with the church, that peculiar advantages might accrue. It took a bloody revolution to save the nation from utter destruction and to separate the state from the church.

Rulers of Spain, when that nation was the most powerful on earth, permitted the churchmen of Rome to take over the temporal powers of government. The Spanish armada sailed the high seas against England, sent out with a Roman pontiff's blessing, and the armada was scattered to the four winds.

The Church of England, revolting from Rome as did other protestant organizations, began a persecution of the Pilgrims and Quakers—and lost the nation its most valuable colony, the broad land which became the United States of America.

And so this nation was builded on a premise that all men were created equal, each with a right to worship his God according to the dictates of his own conscience. The church and the state were to be forever separate here. Manhood and ability were to be the rule by which office holders must be measured.

And now comes the Right Reverend Bishop Cannon of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, whom I honor highly as my Christian peer, and dabs his hands into the political controversy of the nation.

Al Smith is a Catholic, a member of that church which was father to the bishop's and mine—the Methodist Episcopal church — and our bishop decrees that Methodism shall not vote for the Catholic.

And John Wesley turns in his grave at the political turn his methodical and studious God-worshiping infant has taken. The scion of the great Wesley has joined itself with the hooded order of the Klan to mete out to free-thinking people orders of political preference.

Why, Good Bishop, must you forget the words of your teacher, who when questioned by scheming charlatans said — "RENDER UNTO CAESAR THAT WHICH IS CAESAR'S . . .?"

But Bishop Cannon rules a dominion extended far beyond the confines of Wichita Falls. The proclivities of the pastor-politician can be found in our own back yard.

I would refer you to Dr. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor of the First Christian church of Wichita Falls.

With sincere efforts to promote the cause of his Lord in this fair state he ties him to his typewriter and composes an admonition to those of his small kingdom, admonishing members of the First Christian church to "consider these men (members of the Christian church who are seeking office) and if they appeal to us as qualified for the office, that we whole-heartedly speak a good word for them to our friends."

Oh, Campbell, what is this thing you fostered? Oh, Carpenter of Nazareth, who are these followers who forget thy mission of building the Kingdom of God?

He was offered a kingdom of this earth and refused it. Because He would not touch a hand to the political ills of His world, though pagans were in power, "He came unto His own and His own received Him not."

Dr. Bash in his efforts to see political triumph of his particular brand of religion, which I question as being better than mine, has listed the names of candidates who are members of the Christian church, beginning with a candidate for lieutenant-governor and following through to a candidate for justice of the peace.

What manner of religion is this which preaches, "Judge not that ye be not judged, for with that judgment ye judge ye shall be judged," and which practices the denouncing of those whose construction of the Master's teaching may be different from their own.

"RENDER UNTO CAESAR THAT WHICH IS CAESAR'S AND UNTO GOD THE THINGS THAT ARE GOD'S."

Yours,

EZRA.

JACK'S OFFICERS LED BANDIT CHASE, HE SAYS

Editor, The Record News:

In the July 20th issue of The Record News, on page 10, column 2, Deputy Sheriff Belcher of Wichita county is quoted as saying that he led the officers in the chase that resulted in the capture of Lewis Tilghman, Billy Keyes and John Reid in Jack county after the robbery of the Loving State bank in November, 1924.

In an interview, Sheriff W. F. Middleton of Jack county, L. T. Richardson, and city marshal of Jacksboro, J. D. Counts say that Richardson and Counts engaged the robbers in a gun battle within two hours after the holdup, about seven miles west of Jacksboro. No one was injured, although the car in which the bandits were riding was riddled with bullets. After a 24-hour pursuit in Jack county, directed by the officer named above the three men were captured the next morning at Balsora in Wise county by Middleton, Richardson and a deputy sheriff of Jack county. Counts was following another clue at the time of capture.

Mr. Belcher came to Jacksboro the night following to assist in identifying the prisoners.

This statement is made for the reason that it is felt that Mr. Belcher was misquoted in the article referred to and to give credit for the actual capture to the men who made it.

ANOTHER VOICE TO OUR CANDIDATES

Editor, The Record News:

A very timely and just editorial appeared in The Record News of July 20 concerning the expressed attitude of our various county candidates toward their support of the national ticket.

The editorial was entitled, "Let the Candidates Come Clean."

Every good citizen of this county is ready to echo the sentiment expressed in the caption of that editorial—Let the Candidates Come Clean.

And further, if the candidates will come clean they will have nothing to fear from the voice of the people of Wichita county as expressed at the polls on July 28.

Hollywood Free of Love Pitfalls, Says Lindsey

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 25. (UP)—"Hollywood is freer of love pitfalls than any other spot in the world," Judge Ben B. Lindsey declared when he departed for Denver after spending three months in the film capital.

"When one considers that love making is the commodity of Hollywood and that there, as nowhere else in the world, men and women are reduced through professional and psychological forces to almost elementalism, there is cause to wonder why it is not really the modern Babylon an imaginative world has erroneously declared it to be."

REVIEW

Just stand aside and watch yourself
As you go passing by;
And view yourself as others do;
With cool and piercing eye.
Pick out the flaws and weigh the faults,
And you will surely see
That you are not one-half the man
That you would like to be.

Condemn the things that you condemn
In others that you know;
You'll find you haven't got much room
In which to boast and blow.
Just meet yourself, as man meets man;
Back to yourself you'll go
More tolerant toward fellow man,
More kind toward all you know.

Yes, it's revealing to a man
If he will only try
To use his head and stand aside,
And watch himself go by.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE — (354) A Reference Stand

All boys like to have places where they can keep their possessions. This stand is very handy. You need three boxes, each 11 inches deep, 15 inches wide and 25 inches long. The size is not compulsory, but be sure the boxes are alike in dimensions. Two top boards will be needed, half an inch thick and a little wider than the boxes.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright, 1928-26.

For the legs you need strips 31 inches long. There are four legs, each requiring two strips, which are joined.

Besides the legs there are four strips the same length which are inside supports, or facing strips. Ta. Sketches and Specimens.

Two of the boxes are placed upright, one crosswise. Mark carefully the places where your two shelves will be placed so they will be correct. Study the picture before you start to nail and you will see how the boxes are placed. Fasten on the four legs and the strips after you have nailed the boxes together.

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

As Told by Them to

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By C. C. PYLE

The gentleman on the right is Mr. C. C. Pyle—"Cold Cash" Pyle—who promotes football games, tennis meets, or what do you want?

"Collect Cash" Pyle's latest cache was derived from the promotion of the weirdest footrace ever run—a transcontinental "bunion derby" from California to New York.

About the time the traveling caucus of calluses reached Manhattan there was a rumor that "Cash and Carry" Pyle didn't have the cash for the prizes. The tabloids crammed their great open spaces full of wisecracks, but at the appointed hour "Count Cash" Pyle counted out and handed over cash prizes of $48,000—all in one bills.

"All of that bunk the news sheets printed about my not having the cash," Pyle told me, "and the following idea, are the two funniest things I've ever heard.

"During the war," he went on, "in a southern training camp, a rookie in the cavalry was told to report to his lieutenant for some special detail duty.

"'Private Rooney,' said the lieutenant, 'take my horse down and have it shod.'

"At around 2 o'clock that afternoon Private Rooney was told to report again to his lieutenant.

"'Private Rooney,' the lieutenant asked, 'where is that horse I told you to have shod?'

"'Omigosh!' exclaimed Private Rooney, as his face paled. 'Omigosh! Did you say "SHOD"?'"

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Mr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

HOW WE THINK

The human brain is the most complex organ that physiologists have to study. It is the ruler of the body and, together with the nervous system, is in intimate contact with all growing functioning parts. The brain is most interesting because it is the seat of that illusive something, "the mind."

The brain is such a very delicate organ that it is protected with a bony covering all for itself in the skull cavity. It is composed of nerve cells and conducting fibres which are intensely complicated and connect the various cells together in such a manner that one stimulating impulse will bring an almost endless chain of associated ideas until some new stimulation attracts our attention.

Most of our conscious thinking is performed with the frontal and upper division called the cerebrum. Our muscular movements are coordinated and made smooth principally by the lower back division of the brain known as the cerebellum or "little brain." Beneath this is a still smaller part known as the medulla oblongata, which tapers into the spinal cord.

The brain has often been compared to a complicated telephone switchboard. But it has the additional faculty of solving the problems that are presented to it by the nerves, and issuing orders that seem most correct to it when it compares the problem to similar ones that have occurred in the past. If the problem is a new one, the brain at least makes an attempt at trying to find a solution. That is the way we learn, first by trying one method after another until we find the correct solution.

Next time you have a difficult problem to solve, just try to keep track of your thinking processes to find out the way the brain continually brings up new ideas and rejects them until at last it finds a solution that it deems satisfactory. Only actual experiment, however, will prove the value of the decision. From this you can see the value of observing carefully, and learning as much as you can, so that the brain will have plenty of information to base its decisions upon. You will not then be likely to make so many mistakes.

You have undoubtedly noticed that all of your conscious thinking is done in word forms. This type of thinking is very handy because it enables us to frame out words before they are spoken. Many people think out loud, and from this you can see the intimate connection between the brain and the organs of speech. Even when you do not make a sound you can feel the vocal cords tighten and relax during word thinking.

When we reach a conclusion without the word process, it is called by various names such as sub-conscious thinking, intuition, and premonition. It seems that in this process, sometimes even parts of the body that are far away from the brain are brought into play as a thinking reflex. This is especially true with all thought that is deeply emotional.

The brain is divided into halves called hemispheres that appear much like each other. The outer part is grey and the inner fibers are white. Since most of the thinking seems to take place in the grey matter, we use the expression "lots of grey matter" to designate a good thinker.

By means of experiments and observation, physiologists have been able to localize the functions of each part of the brain with such accuracy that they can determine almost the exact spot that a tumor, clot, or pressure is located simply by the symptoms of paralysis and mental derangements present.

While the average weight of the male brain is greater than the average weight of the female brain, it has been definitely proven that the size is not an indication of relative intelligence. It seems that the more intelligent, the more convolutions in the grey matter.

Questions and Answers

Question: Interested writes: "I had my tonsils removed three years ago and ever since have had a buzzing in my head and ears which is worse at night when I lie down. Does this trouble come from having removed the tonsils, and what can I do to relieve it? Am 58, and well otherwise."

Answer: The entrance to the ear tube leading to the ear from the throat is sometimes injured by the tonsil operation, but such injury is hard to determine. It may be that the buzzing in your head is caused by the same catarrhal condition that you had before the tonsils were removed.

Question: Mrs. V. C. asks: "Will you kindly publish your method of making Melba toast?"

Answer: Melba toast is made by cutting the crust from white bread and slicing the bread a quarter of an inch thick. Dry these slices over night and toast in a slow oven at least 20 minutes to brown the toast all the way through. It is not sufficient to simply dry the toast, but it must be turned into a golden brown color before it is completely dextrined. This browning turns the starch into dextrin.

DEMPSEY'S SECONDING OF HEENEY SHORTENS ODDS ON GENE

FIGHTERS REST IN SECLUSION

Tunney Flies to New York Today; Tex Faces Loss

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 25. (UP)—An astounding last minute development has lured Jack Dempsey back to the prize ring, and when Gene Tunney faces Tom Heeney in Thursday night's heavyweight championship bout at Yankee stadium the old Manassa Mauler will be in the challenger's corner as a second.

Aroused by the call to battle and sensing a chance for revenge over the man who lifted the heavyweight crown from him and later defended it against his murderous fists, Dempsey will attempt to help Heeney conquer the man he couldn't.

"I knew how to beat Tunney," Dempsey said sadly today, "but my legs wouldn't respond to my urge. I'd give anything to have Tom Heeney's legs and be in there tomorrow night, but that's impossible. The next best thing is to give Heeney the benefit of my experience in two fights against Tunney. I believe I can tell Heeney how to win and I believe Heeney will succeed where I failed."

Heeney's three managers were elated over Dempsey's decision to act in the challenger's corner.

"Stroke That Beats Gene"

"This is the stroke that defeated Tunney," Charles Harvey said. "Jack knows where to hit Tunney and Tom has the punch to hit him there."

That Dempsey was willing to cast his lot with Heeney was interpreted along Broadway tonight to mean that the challenger has a chance to win. The odds have shortened from 3 to 1 to 12 to 5 and a lot of Heeney money has made its appearance within the last 12 hours.

In far away places the champion and challenger rested tonight each in his own way aloft from the contest of the morrow.

High up in a little log cabin in the Adirondack mountains at Speculator, Tunney spent the day before the battle with his bosom friend, Oril Nobles, vagabond painter from Seattle. Tunney read and chatted and reflected upon things far from his mundane existance.

Tunney's last request before he went to bed Tuesday night was that no one mention the fight to him until after he climbed out of the ring, a conqueror or a beaten warrior.

Tunney will sleep in his secluded cabin tonight and fly from Speculator to New York Thursday morning. The plane will take off from Lake Pleasant at 10:30 a. m. and is expected to land in the upper New York bay near the Statue of Liberty about 1 p. m. The champion will be met by a launch and transported to the mainland.

Heeney Aboard Yacht

Somewhere off the Jersey coast, Tom Heeney is resting aboard a small yacht which will be his home until Thursday afternoon when the craft will bring him to New York for the weighing in procedure.

Never in the history of modern pugilism have two opponents for the heavyweight title remained so utterly unruffled on the eve of the contest. There is no hint of excitement in either camp, and the atmosphere had radiated to the public.

The pre-battle hysteria of last year's fight at Chicago, the 1926 fight at Philadelphia, or the Dempsey-Firpo fight of 1923, is sadly lacking along Broadway, and in the roaring Forties tonight.

The talk concerned Jack Dempsey's decision to second Tom Heeney, more than champion or challenger.

The public's attitude toward the fight is reflected in the box-office, and for the first time in history Tex Rickard may promote a financial flop.

Advance Sale Slow

Unofficially, it was reported today that the seat sale had reached only $600,000. Tunney has a guarantee of $525,000 and Heeney a guarantee of $100,000. Other expenses run the total bill up to $780,000.

Rickard hopes to sell $250,000 worth of tickets Thursday but the chances are against his doing that much business if the attitude of the public tonight was an indication of what it cares about the heavyweight title bout of 1928.

A conservative estimate places the probable crowd at 60,000 and the gate receipts at $850,000. Seats for 88,000 have been provided at Yankee stadium and Rickard's original goal in dollars was $1,000,000.

Both fighters are magnificently trained for the battle. Tunney expects to weigh 189 or 190 and Heeney 198 or 199.

Tunney Favorite

A final analysis of the chances of the two fighters reveals that Tunney is the logical favorite to defend the title if he fights the calm, cautious battle of Chicago, barring one almost fatal lapse in the seventh round.

But there is every reason to believe that Tunney will throw caution to the winds and attempt to knock out Heeney. If Tunney elects to fight Heeney, man for man, the champion has only an even chance, certainly no better, of leaving the ring with his laurels.

Tunney undoubtedly has developed a terrific right hand, but Heeney has taken the best shots of Sharkey, Delaney, Risko, and Paolino and never wavered, and for the champion to risk his title gambling for a knockout may prove disastrous.

Rugged, rock-ribbed, and stout of heart, Heeney soaked up punishment, and he most of all wants Tunney to stand up and fight.

"No man can knock me out with six ounce gloves," Heeney said.

Stamina Big Factor

Neither fighter has ever been knocked out and there is nothing on which to base the opinion that either of them will have the fatal ten tolled over him Thursday night.

The winner should be the man who has the strength and stamina to set the pace from the tenth through to the fifteenth round, and Tom Heeney certainly has a better than 1 to 5 chance to do that.

Tunney, however, may be able to pile up enough points in the early rounds to offset any late rally Heeney may stage.

Whatever the outcome of the bout, Gene Tunney is on the threshold of one of the hardest fights of his career.

Oklahoman Leads Western Open Golf

CHICAGO, July 25. (UP)—Bill Tinder, Amerison, Ind., professional, and Phil Hesler, a Bristow, Okla., pro—as oddly mated a pair as could be found among the entrants—held the lead today at the end of the first qualifying play in the western open golf championship. They were tied at 70.

Because of the large entry list, totaling 250 players, qualifying play will take two days. Half of the entrants competed today and the remainder of the field will play Thursday. The low 150 scores and ties will play an additional 18 holes on Friday, and the 64 low scores at the end of Friday's play, will compete in a 36-hole championship round Saturday.

BILL ELIGIBLE FOR CUP PLAY

Ban Lifted at Request Of Ambassador Herrick

NEW YORK, July 25. (US)—William T. Tilden will represent the United States in the Davis cup challenge round, thanks to the efforts of Myron T. Herrick, American ambassador to France.

The United States Lawn Tennis association, in a statement issued tonight, said that Ambassador Herrick had requested Samuel H. Collom, president of the United States Lawn Tennis association to allow Tilden to play against France.

Thus the man who loaned pajamas to Lindbergh entered a new role—that of world tennis arbiter.

Action of "Good Will"

The U. S. L. T. A. in a statement issued tonight said:

"Inasmuch as our ambassador to France is the personal representative of the president of the United States, to have refused his request would have been an ungrateful act and a discourtesy.

"Therefore, without in any way changing our belief that in the highest interests the course which the U. S. L. T. A. has followed is correct, and realizing that Ambassador Herrick is in a position to determine whether international goodwill and diplomatic considerations should outweigh the principles which were the basis of our action, the U. S. L. T. A. advised Collom to accede to the request of the American ambassador."

Ambassador Herrick's action is believed unparalleled in sports and diplomatic history.

Ban Lifted Temporarily

A "hands-off" policy has always been followed in diplomatic channels in disputes between athletes of different countries.

Tennis, therefore, may be considered the only game which has attracted diplomatic attention.

The lifting of the ban on Tilden, however, is only temporary. The reinstatement will only permit Big Bill to appear in the matches against France. Afterward, presumably, Tilden will again be subject to automatic suspension and will be given a formal hearing on the charges of violating the amateur rule.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

IS PUGILISTIC HISTORY to be repeated tonight? Will Tom Heeney, the Anzac, follow the trail blazed by his countryman 31 years ago and win the heavyweight championship of the world from an Irish-American? That is an interesting angle to this battle tonight between Heeney and Tunney, and one inclined to believe in signs and omens might see much of portent in the similarity of nationalities of the challenger and champion in titular battles of 1897 and 1928.

It was at Carson City, Nev., in the summer of 1897 that James J. Corbett, the conqueror of the mighty John L. Sullivan, defended the crown as king of all the heavyweights against Bob Fitzsimmons, the Australian. Fitzsimmons, of gangling, spindly legs and massive muscular power in arms, shoulders and back, knocked out Corbett in the fourteenth round.

TONIGHT, TOM HEENEY, the Anzac, faces another Irish-American champion also named James J. and who like his illustrious predecessor, is conqueror of a mighty fighting man—Jack Dempsey. Indeed, the striking similarity in the men fighting tonight and 31 years ago extends to the fact that both Corbett and Tunney defeated fighters of like styles—men who were knockout "killers" and of average boxing skill.

Hagen Beats Compston In 72 Holes, 6 and 5

RYE, N. Y., July 25. (US)—Walter Hagen still is the king of clubs. There was some doubt about Sir Walter's status after Archie Compston, the giant Britisher, humiliated him 18 and 17 at Moor park in the spring but today the American professional champion squared himself with the golfing world by berating this same Compston, 6 up and 5 to play.

When the Haig came down from Boston today with the John Bull representative leading by a single hole after they had played the first 36 of their 72 hole match at Sandy Burr it looked as though Archie had the well known Indian sign on Walter. Hagen quickly made up his slight deficit this morning and then went on to give his "hated rival" a right royal trouncing.

SPUDS WHALE BEARS AND LEAD LOOP

PAYNE PITCHES 10-3 TRIUMPH

Galloways Pound 16 Hits And Field Errorlessly

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 25.—The Spudders are viewing the rest of the Texas league from the topmost pinnacle. Thanks to a 10 to 3 defeat of the San Antonio Bears while Houston was idle, Wichita Falls today went into first place, half a game in front of the Buffs. They are two games in the van of Dallas and three and a half of San Antonio.

George Payne, who a few fans in his home town said couldn't win, showed today that with proper support he still is a mighty hard chucker to beat. The "screw ball" artist held the Bears to seven hits and after his comrades established an early lead, breezed home in front.

The Spudders certainly accorded Mr. Payne plenty of support, both at bat and afield. They pounded Dana Fillingim, the veteran spitballer, and Tink Riviere for 16 blows. Fitzgerald and Jenkins maced three knocks each, one of Howard's smashes going for a triple and one by Tom for two bases.

They Hit and Field

Benton, Turgeon, Stanton and Smith each pounded out two knocks and every Spudder got a hit except Swenson.

Then there was their fielding. They played errorless ball, and Benton, Turgeon, Fitzgerald and Jenkins flashed some flashy defensive work to aid of' George Washington Payne.

Wichita Falls was off to a lead in the first inning with two runs. Benton singled. Goggess threw wide on Turgeon's bunt, Benton going to third, and Turgeon to second. Fitzgerald singled to left, Benton and Turgeon scoring.

The Spudders scored in the second. Stanton was hit by a pitched ball and went to third on Smith's double. Payne was out on a bunt to Boggess, Stanton scoring.

Another was tallied by the Spuds in the fourth. Jenkins doubled. Swenson popped to Flaskamper. Stanton walked. Smith singled to right, scoring Jenkins.

Bears Score

The Bears tallied in their half when Boggess hit a home run over the left field wall but the Spudders came back with three in the fifth.

Turgeon singled to left after one was out and stole second. Fitzgerald tripled, scoring Turgeon. Riviere relieved Fillingim. Eldred doubled, scoring Fitzgerald. Eldred went to third while Chapman was tossing out Jenkins and scored on a wild pitch.

San Antonio counted its last pair in the fifth. Meyers doubled and took third on Najo's single. Riviere singled, scoring Meyers and sending Najo to third. Najo scored while Flaskamper was forcing Riviere, Turgeon to Benton.

Wichita Falls added two more in the sixth. Stanton singled. Smith strolled. Payne singled, Stanton scoring and Smith going to third. Benton popped to Boggess. Turgeon singled, Smith scoring.

The Spudders registered their final in the ninth. Fitzgerald singled. Eldred sacrificed to Riviere. Jenkins singled, scoring Fitzgerald.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 25. (AP)—Early declines prompted by favorable weather and crop advices, were followed by partial recoveries in cotton today. October contracts, after selling off to 20.46 or 21 points net lower, closed at 20.57, the general market closing steady at net declines of 8 to 10 points.

Selling was encouraged by reports of further showers in the southwest and expectations of a favorable weekly review by the weather bureau.

The latter proved about as anticipated. The weekly weather report attracted more or less generally favorable comment, but it was supposed to have been partially discounted by selling earlier in the week. Private crop advices from the south showed an improvement on the average, but placed enough emphasis on the boll weevil to suggest the possibility of damage next month.

Port receipts today were 1,816 bales. U. S. port stocks 659,394. Exports today 20,446 making 7,724,372 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 25. (AP)—The strength of the July position which soared practically $3 a bale was a sustaining factor in an otherwise bearish cotton market today. Following an opening advance the market weakened on favorable crop news and declined nearly $1.50 below the opening levels. Prices strengthened later but turned downward again and October contracts, which had rallied from 19.86 to 20.05 closed at 19.98; or 11 points net off for the day. The general market closed steady at a net decline of 9 to 11 points.

Liverpool cables were 2 to 5 penny points better than due and the market here opened higher in sympathy, first trades showing gains of 3 to 7 points. The early demand, however, was readily supplied by selling induced by favorable crop advices and a report from the Texas agricultural department placing the estimated yield at from four and a half to five million bales based on a condition average of 71 per cent of normal. The report also said weevil infestation up to the present was slight.

Before the offerings were absorbed October had sold off to 19.92 and December 19.85, or 17 to 19 points below the previous close. When the weekly weather and crop report proved favorable prices eased a little further to levels 23 to 24 points under the previous close.

Later the market rallied sharply in sympathy with the unexpected rise of 60 points in the July position which traded up from 20.30 to 20.90, practically $3 a bale up. The advance was not maintained, however, as a renewal of spring selling carried October off to 19.94. In the final trading the market had another rally under trade buying based on reports of weevil infestation. The improvement encountered another flurry of selling and October closed at 19.98 and December 19.93, or 9 to 11 points net down.

Uneasiness Over Federal Reserve Statement Slows Stock Market

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, July 25.—Stocks held firm in quiet trading today, with the market gradually slowing down as a result of uneasiness over what the federal reserve statements would show when issued this afternoon. The shorts in General Motors were punished a little and it took the leadership from American Can as increasing profit taking halted the rise there and in Montgomery Ward as well as other recent favorites. Selling increased in the final half hour and the list looked weakest at the close. Tobacco shares added to their gains on exclusive report here that consideration was being given to putting cigaret prices back where they were two months ago. The outstanding development, advance in acceptances to within ¼ of 1 per cent of the rediscount rate was rather overlooked although it was the best possible evidence that there will be none of the easing in money conditions talked of by the bulls for some weeks to come.

Advance Feared

A few of those who noticed the higher acceptance rate feared it meant another advance in the rediscount rate here before long. However, unless there is an increase in the Bank of England rate there is little likelihood of such development for it would be likely to upset all the work of the international bankers during the last two years. The higher acceptance rate is evidence of the tightening in the credit situation resulting from the reserve bank campaign to repair the damage done by the wild stock trading of earlier in the year. There was some belief that further big reduction would be shown in loans this week as a result of the clearing out of "frozen bonds."

'Can' About Faces

It was evident that the "good buying" in Can told of here on several occasions during the past few months changed to "good selling" as the tip on the stock was broadcast by leading wire houses. Can is well thought of in good quarters but the boosting of the last few days has been seized as opportunity for passing out Montgomery Ward, Nickel and other pool stocks. Union Carbide was another in which important profit taking was evidenced under the strength of the few most talked of shares.

Motors Lose Gains

Chrysler and other independent motors lost most of their early gains. The further extension of time for Dodge deposits caused further talk of the merger not going through. However, there always are a number of those who own stock who hold off from making such deposits in the hope of being offered better terms. There is little likelihood of any more favorable terms being offered than the basis of exchange on which most Dodge shareholders have already sent in their stock. Chrysler and his associates are confident of what they can do with the Dodge organization and are not expected to be over-particular as to a small percentage of the stock not coming in. Eastman Kodak was strong throughout under influence of discussion of the private exhibit of its new machine which is to be given over the week-end.

G. M. Interesting

General Motors was an interesting battleground in the closing moments of trading. There were professionals and others trying to force it down and brokers who reputedly work for Durant fighting such activity. Of course, a Durant operation in one stock often covers activities in others but all those in the group express confidence that special distribution will be made when directors meet Aug. 9. Inquiry of those who usually know most of General Motors affairs indicates that neither the finance committee nor other directors have discussed the coming dividend action as yet.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 25. (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—Firm prices were maintained around the circuit on well-finished yearlings but a weak to lower undertone prevailed on beef steers and half fat yearlings. Shipping demand for weighty fed steers has been narrow, the past few days and prices are sharply lower than early last week. Feeder buyers continued to support the market on well bred western grassers. Choice yearling steers in Omaha scored $16.85, a new high level for the season. Chicago realized $15.10 on heavy Texas steers.

Total receipts estimated at 35,850 as compared with 39,727 last Wednesday and 43,993 a year ago.

Relatively light receipts of hogs stimulated demand and a general 10 to 15-cent advance was put into effect with some points reporting as much as 25c gain. St. Louis realized the day's extreme top of $11.60. Offerings around the loop approximated 61,500, a shortage of 8,500 from last Wednesday and an increase of 23,000 from a year ago.

The sheep supply was estimated at 45,400, showing a slight increase over a week ago and 5,400 in excess of the corresponding day last year. Fat lambs were on a weak to 25c lower basis, but aged stock registered no material change. Choice Washington lambs in Chicago topped at $15.25 while the best price on the river was $14.85, paid at Kansas City for the first Colorado range lambs of the season.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, July 25.—Grains up early today sold off late in the session. Wheat closed with a loss, but July corn gained about a cent. The deferred corn futures just about kept their chin above the previous closing level.

At the end wheat was down 1¼ to 1⅜; corn was ⅛ to 1⅛ higher; oats were ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher; rye was unchanged to ⅛ off.

In its advances July corn goes ahead like the leader of a political party whom the voters won't follow. The bull deal in this future displays none of those highlights that are reflected from the brilliant sunshine of success. It looks like a costly business.

The mere fact that July corn in this city is selling approximately 15 cents above July corn in Kansas City is a deadly indication that corn is not wanted at this time by those who haven't got nearly so much as the July bulls were confident would be the case.

Today the Corn Products company retired from the cash corn market. This organization is one of the biggest users of corn industrially. In the cash market high grade corn was reported to be unchanged to 2 cents higher, but lower grades were 3 to 5 cents lower.

Wheat disappointed bullish expectations today when it turned weak late in the trading periods. A sharp advance at Liverpool was an incentive to uplift in our market at the opening.

Prices here jumped up about a cent, but the enthusiasm waned rapidly. Although the market held pretty well until late in the session, it never got up into its early high ground again with force enough to go on.

Short covering and buying by local traders had given the market most of its support. One might suppose that the market will advance tomorrow. That is what it ought to do if there is really anything bullish in the situation with wheat at the present price.

In the cash market wheat was 2c lower; corn was 2 higher to 5c lower; oats were 2 to 4c lower; rye was dull; barley was steady.

RAIN DELAYS ELECTRA TEST

Shallow Wildcat Would Extend Field

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 25.—E. L. Gallinger, Herman Barrow and associates, drilling on a wildcat test on the Peter Weisenfels farm, one-half mile northeast of the country club have been hindered considerably by showers since Saturday, but expect to resume drilling as soon as the weather permits.

The owners of this test have a likely block of acreage in that area and expect to drill to 1,150 feet if oil is not found at a lesser depth. A well in that section would cause much new drilling, as it is 2½ miles to the nearest production on the north.

C. P. Sheldon No. A-7, Frankl-Cohen subdivision 327, Waggoner colony lands, 8½ miles northeast of Electra, is drilling below 1,500 feet with rotary tools.

Douglas Bros. Oil company No. 5, L. P. Douglas, 1½ miles northeast of Electra, is drilling below 600 feet, but is being hampered by weather conditions.

Oil Curb Talked

ELECTRA, Texas, July 25.—Plans and suggestions for the curtailment of drilling operations in the Waggoner pasture pools, southwest of Electra, were discussed at a meeting of lease owners and operators held at the Waggoner refinery recently. R. L. Moore, manager of the Waggoner interests, called the meeting and the waste of over-production was stressed.

All pipelines and storage in the field there are already taxed to the limit of their capacity. The completion of the wells now on the sand, if proven as prolific as some of the recent producers, would further aggravate an already acute situation, according to reports submitted by Mr. Moore.

Henshaw Test Reported Flowing

COLEMAN, Texas, July 25.—Carefully guarding production gauges, the Henshaw Oil corporation's No. 1 I. W. Harris, south of Valera, in section 25, G. H. & H. survey, which topped the Fry sand at 2,612 feet Sunday drilling, still in the horizon, to a total depth of 2,620 feet, was reported to have flowed two heads during the day and operators were preparing to swab the well as additional storage was being moved to the location.

Although the swab had been run and rumors of two flows during the day were known at the location, which is 2,790 feet from the south and 200 feet from the east lines of the section, no estimates of the production gleaned from the operations during the day were made public. However, the fact that additional storage was being moved to the location of a wildcat, convinced oil men that a good producer had been opened in the Fry sand.

The well is three miles south and west of other production developed and is thought to be the first Fry sand oil found in that western section of Coleman county. North of the Henshaw Oil corporation's No. 1 Harris, Roth & Faurot have both gas and oil production on the Sealy & Smith estate, but only the gas is coming from a horizon that corresponds at all with the oil in the No. 1 Harris. While east of the Henshaw discovery, Continental Oil company and M. G. Cheney, et al., have production on the Overall ranch, the oil is mostly coming from a shallow sand found around 1,500 feet to 1,600 feet.

Seminole Halts Slump By Gaining 1320 Bbls.

The comparative production report follows:

Promotion Wizard Of Arkansas Oil Field Comes Back

ELDORADO, Ark., July 25. (UP) Made a millionaire oil operator again by a decision of the New York supreme court yesterday, Pat Marr, 30, promotion wizard, declined in his debonair way to be interviewed here today.

Marr's meteoric rise to riches from the sidewalks of New York's east side, his swift fall into poverty, and now his startling recovery of his lost wealth, is an Arkansas oil field epic.

"Why I haven't a thing to say," Marr told the United Press representative after he had been told of the court's decision. "The less said the better, you know. Anyway, the papers have already told all there is to tell."

Marr was standing in front of a downtown restaurant where he had just been handed $1,500,000 in securities in the Marr Oil corporation, traded by him two years ago before his sentence to federal prison on a charge of using the mails to defraud for stock in the ill-fated Southern States Oil corporation.

Friends crowded around Marr to congratulate him, and everywhere he was again accepted as the smiling financial wizard of the Arkansas oil fields.

RELIC OF OLD KINGDOM DYING

Island Queen Still Rules Population of 50

LONDON, July 25. (UP)—A country with a queen and a parliament is gradually disappearing off the face of the earth. Its present population is 50, but there is a yearly decrease.

The country is St. Kilda's island, lying just short of a hundred miles west of the mainland of Scotland, and 50 miles west of the Outer Hebrides. The St. Kildians lead, perhaps, more isolated lives than any other community of Britain. This year their Christmas mail was landed in March.

The natives are all Gaelic-speaking. To the old people English is an unknown tongue, but the younger generation speaks English very slowly and clearly. It is this younger generation that is gradually bringing about the extinction of St. Kilda.

Old Folks Pass

The young people leave for the towns on the mainland; the old people are gradually dying. Soon St. Kilda will be uninhabited except for its innumerable sea birds.

It is only during the summer months that there is a regular steamer service to the island. From the end of August, except for an occasional visit from a whaling vessel, or a deep-sea trawler, St. Kilda is entirely cut off from the outer world.

Women Go Barefooted

The great institution is the parliament. Each day the men of the village assemble. After much eager discussion—each man speaking at the same time and endeavoring by sheer lung power to impose his views upon the community — the work of the day is decided.

The people may decide to sail across to the neighboring island of Soay to clip the famous St. Kilda sheep. Or, if the weather be very fine and the Atlantic swell negligible, they may arrange an expedition to Boreray, the most remote island of the group.

The women of St. Kilda are strong and handsome. They go barefooted. They are fond of bright-colored shawls, and a woman's hat is unknown on the island.

When the men were busy shearing sheep, the women used to be landed on the Isle of Soay. There they remained, for a week or more, snaring puffins. The woman in charge of the expedition was known as the queen, and although the custom has now died out, there is still a queen of St. Kilda. She is one of the oldest inhabitants.

WILSON BACKS DEMO TICKET

Candidate Pledges Vote To Party Nominees

W. E. Wilson, candidate for the Democratic nomination as county attorney, answering an editorial query appearing in The Record News a few days ago, declared Wednesday that he would vote the Democratic national ticket, even though "there may be some local, district, state and national nominees that I am not so very strong on."

The Record News asked that candidates express their stand on the party's nominee.

Mr. Wilson is first of the candidates for county attorney to express an attitude on the national nominee through The Record News.

Mr. Wilson's letter announcing his stand follows:

"To the Record News and Times:

"You have asked the question, 'Will the candidates for local offices support the national ticket?'

"I wish to answer for W. E. Wilson, a candidate for the office of county attorney. My grandfather was a Confederate soldier. From the age of seven years I was partly reared in his home, and I have heard him go over the stormy times of '61 to '74, when the white man was denied the right to vote or hold office in this southland of ours.

"I have been a life-long prohibitionist, never yet voting a wet ticket. There may be some local, district, state and national nominees that I am not so strong for, but having gone into the precinct convention and taken the vow, and having heretofore never scratched the ticket, I feel to do so now would be disloyal to the Democratic voters who are supporting me.

"Yours very truly,
W. E. Wilson"

"The Big Killing," another of Paramount's mirthful Wallace Beery-Raymond Hatton hits, is opening at the Olympic theater Thursday. It has been rated high as a comedy.

While in the making, the Paramount lot was visited by George Contreras, head of the Los Angeles county dry squad. He inspected the still and moonshinery that was used in the filming, and pronounced them perfect. The cavern moonshine plant was one of the most elaborately prepared sets in the picture, according to Paramount notices, and was copied in detail from one recently raided by federal prohibition agents.

Clara Bow will be seen here at the Majestic starting Saturday in "Ladies of the Mob."

Summertime fun in a downtown window shooting marbles will be the lot of a couple of boys Saturday at 818 Indiana avenue from 8 o'clock in the morning to 3 o'clock in the afternoon as the introduction to the hypnotism act of the Young Rajah at the Mission theater starting at 3:30 o'clock. The boys will be put under the spell and then will be told by the Young Rajah to play their best game of marbles for the crowd outside. The act will be the first summer vaudeville at the Mission and will be presented Saturday and Sunday.

"Good Morning, Judge" at the Majestic is a typical Reginald Denny picture. It has rapid action, excellent comedy and a pleasing romantic angle. In this picture, the star is seen as a scion of wealth being brought before a judge after participating as an innocent bystander in a fight. Someone has stolen his wallet and he is unable to pay his fine, so the fun starts. Those who enjoy Denny will find this picture up to his usual high standard.

Bash's Letter Shows Dangerous Trend in Politics, Says Writer

Holding that the recent letter from Rev. Floyd Allan Bash to his friends asking them to consider certain members of his own denomination for public office is indicative of a "dangerous course in which we are rapidly drifting," F. W. Fischer has addressed a letter to The Record News replying to Dr. Bash.

The letter, which objects to "religious tests," is in direct reply to the public explanation Rev. Bash made of his letter to his friends, and follows:

Editor, The Record News:

The Rev. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor of the First Christian church of this city, in a statement which was carried in The Record News of July 25th, attempts to defend his action in circulating to the membership of his church a letter, a copy of which was published in The Daily Times and The Record News of July 24 and 25, wherein he reminds the members of his church that at the approaching Democratic primary, John B. Rhea, M. A. Bundy, Wm. E. Davenport, J. D. Parnell, C. B. McConnell and Burl Bryant, all members of his church, are candidates for the Democratic nomination for office, and that these men should receive the support of the church membership.

Analyzes Letter

Mr. Bash evidently believes that the discovery and publication of this letter to those outside of his church has brought criticism upon his church and defeated the purpose that he set out to accomplish, that is, the election to public office of men who are members of his church over those who are members of other churches. Therefore, he has hastened to declare that the letter was not a church letter to its membership, but only a personal letter to a few of his friends. Evidently he believes that this will be accepted as a satisfactory explanation of his political activity, and he will thereby extricate himself from the position in which he has placed the church as well as himself, and will ameliorate the effect of his conduct.

Was this letter intended merely as a personal communication to a friend? Or was it a veiled command by him as head of the church to its members? The letter itself discloses its character, and the purpose of its issue. After naming the candidates for office, who are members of his church, Rev. Bash says: "I think it is good 'church sense' to work and vote for those who are working for the church." The phrase, "church sense," used by him must have been intended to impress the member that it was for the benefit of his church that these men be elected to office, for he couldn't have intended that the member would construe it as being for the benefit of the Baptist church.

He further says: "I do not seek to direct your vote, but to stimulate action." For whom did he want action stimulated? Surely not for those candidates who belonged to the Methodist church, but for those candidates he had named who were members of his church.

Dangerous Course

He further says: "If this letter suits you, tell others; if it displeases you, kindly tell me, not others." He evidently believed that some of the members would not be pleased with his ticket. If so, he didn't want them to say anything about his use of the church roster for a political mailing list. This very statement precludes any idea that this letter was but a personal letter to a few of his friends, for it would have been unnecessary for him to warn his personal friends if they were not pleased with his conduct to say nothing about it to others.

As one who still believes in that provision of the bill of rights contained in the constitution of the United States, as well as the constitution of every state in the union, that no religious test shall be a qualification for any office of honor or trust, I have addressed myself to Rev. Bash's letter as being indicative of the dangerous course in which we are rapidly drifting, which, if not changed, will soon find us in a turmoil of religious wrangles for public office, and success of candidates being dependent on the strength of the membership of the church to which they belong.

DENVER MEN TALK HOSPITAL

Reorganization Outlined By W. M. Crawford

Representatives of each group of employes of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad met Wednesday night at the I. O. O. F. Hall for the purpose of discussing the reorganization of the comany hospital department.

W. M. Crawford of Fort Worth, chairman of the Employes Hospital committee of the Fort Worth and Denver and Wichita Valley railways presided at the meeting and explained the movement to the railroad employes.

Mr. Crawford stated that the reorganization of the hospital department was not because of criticism of the present hospital executives but because representatives of the employes of the company had requested representation in management of the hospital affairs which, he said, they are not given under the present system.

It is proposed by the hospital committee that the department be put under a board of 10 trustees of which five shall be appointed by the vice president and general manager of the company and five elected by and from the various groups of employes. Preliminary negotiations for the reorganization of the hospital have been carried on by the employes' committee with the management of the railroad and every employe of the company will be given a chance to vote on the question by ballots sent out by the company before a change in the present hospital system is established, Mr. Crawford said.

With few exceptions employes along all points of the Fort Worth and Denver and Wichita Valley lines are strongly in favor of the change in the hospital management as it is proposed by the hospital committee, it was declared by Mr. Crawford.

A. J. (Jack) Berry, candidate for constable of precinct No. 1, announced his candidacy at the meeting and asked the votes and support of the railroad men.

Members of the hospital committee are as follows: W. M. Crawford, chairman; S. L. Greenwood, secretary; J. R. Aldridge, J. H. Davidson, R. Q. Mills, O. G. Hurdleston, W. O. Beaver and C. C. Neal

Noted Planes Expected Here In Legion Celebration Labor Day

Indications are that Wichita Falls will view a record gathering of aircraft on "Aviation Day" which has been set for Labor day, Sept. 3, under the auspices of the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion at the Wichita Air Transport field.

Inquiries are coming in from several states, and according to the management practically all aircraft factories will be represented.

The program for the day will be brought to a climax with stunt flights by such huge ships as the Port of Houston piloted by Maj. Barnard Law. This ship is a sister ship to Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis and is powered by a Wright whirlwind engine. Another well-known shop expected here is the Peerless Princess which was piloted by Bert Griffin in the Dole air race.

In the acrobatic contest each entrant will be given 15 minutes in which to demonstrate his stunt ability. In this event the most skilful fliers in the Southwest will compete for cash prizes and silver and gold flying trophies.

Another event of unusual interest will be the "spot" landing contest. Participants will be required to shut off the motors at 1500 feet and land at a designated place marked with white.

The program will also include a complete show performance by the International Flying circus with thrilling stunts.

Free parking space will be provided.

Summer School Graduates Hear Allred at Commencement Exercises

"Success does not always lie along the paths that are known, and some of the world's greatest men are unsung heroes," said James V. Allred, in making the commencement address to the graduates of the summer school in the junior college, senior high school and junior high school departments at the Wichita Falls Junior college Wednesday.

"Your commencement here today is not an end of things but a beginning," he said. "You have one voyage to make on the sea of life and you cannot travel back and forth. The one thing that really matters is that you really do your work well."

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools, introduced Mr. Allred. Dr. G. B. Hall, pastor of the First Southern Presbyterian church said the invocation. Dr. P. H. Packard, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, pronounced the benediction. Miss Mildred Anderson played a piano solo "Russian Rhapsody," and Durward Park and Miss Loraine Mathis played a violin duet.

Dr. Cantwell presented the diplomas to the junior college graduates, and W. B. Chauncey, president of the school board, presented the diplomas to the senior and junior high school pupils. Immediately after this, the report cards were given out for the summer work to all the pupils who were there to receive them.

AIRPORT DEED HANDED CITY

Final Acceptance Waits Attorney's Approval

The deed conveying the Wichita Falls municipal airport to the city of Wichita Falls has been received by the city, it was learned from George D. Fairtrace, city manager, Wednesday. With the deed is the contract to purchase by the city.

The deal has not as yet been closed as it is awaiting final checking of the title by the city attorney, Theibert Martin.

Purchase of the airport for $28,000 is in accordance with a decision of the city council last Thursday.

The abstract of title shows that a number of years ago, plans were made to drill the land for oil and that one man made complete arrangements for the drilling.

"Lon" A. Smith for Railroad Commissioner

Efficiency
Economy

Re-election
Second
Term

Having been elected four years ago by a large majority over three opponents to fill the unexpired term of the late Allison Mayfield as Railroad Commissioner of Texas, and it being a well established principle of democracy to re-elect an honest and efficient servant for a second term, the Democrats of Texas are rallying to the support of "LON" A. SMITH and asking their friends one and all to go to the polls on July 28th and re-elect him for his second term by a large majority.

"LON" A. SMITH, who is seeking election to the full term as a member of the State Railroad Commission, was born in Henderson, Rusk County, Texas, and reared on a farm. He obtained his education while working on the farm, and taught school for thirteen years in his native county. His first entry in political life as an office holder was when he was elected County Clerk of Rusk County, a position to which he was twice re-elected. After six years in this office he was elected from his senatorial district as State Senator. Following six years of service as State Senator, he was elected and re-elected as State Comptroller, serving four years in this office. He then successfully fought election to the State Railroad Commission to fill the unexpired term of the lamented Allison Mayfield.

In fraternal circles "LON" A. SMITH is a Knights of Pythias, a Dokey, member of the Maccabees, Degree of Honor, Woodmen of the World, Fraternal Aid Union, Praetorians and is past president of the Texas Fraternal Congress.

He served for six years as State Commander of the Sons of Confederate Veterans; is a honorary member of John B. Hood Camp, U. C. V. Austin; Albert Sidney Johnston Camp, U. C. V., Houston; Jefferson Davis Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Houston; and also of the national organization of U. D. C.

In religion, "LON" A. SMITH is a Baptist, being a deacon of the First Baptist Church, Austin; past vice-president Baptist General Convention of Texas, and he now teaches a men's Bible Class in the Confederate Home in Austin.

"LON" A. SMITH is an ardent friend of education and as State Senator supported all measures for the benefit of education. He is also a supporter of the organized labor program.

The two candidates for Railroad Commissioner are "SMITHS," but there should be no confusion in the names. "LON" A. SMITH has been holding public office for a number of years, and he bases his candidacy for re-election on his faithful and efficient record of four years as Railroad Commissioner. This experience has fitted him to render valuable service in this office.

"LON" A. SMITH has made the people of Texas a most faithful and efficient officer during his first term as Railroad Commissioner and in our judgment should be re-elected for a second term.
