

Thirty-Five Cars Of Wheat Sold Here This Season

Thirty-five cars of wheat had been sold in Wellington through Tuesday evening, local buyers reported, and this year's crop, the best since 1937, is only about half harvested, they estimate.

It was pointed out at the same time, however, that the grain sold is no accurate indication of the amount raised in the county this year, since many farmers are selling only enough to pay for the cutting, while the remainder of their crop is stored at home.

Almost all of the wheat sold during the last week has graded No. 1, testing from 60 to 63. The price Tuesday evening ranged from $1.33 to $1.35 per bushel on a No. 1 basis.

Much of the crop is being shipped out the buyers also reported.

This year's wheat has been unusual in a number of ways. First surprise came in the yield per acre, which was believed to have been greatly damaged by early spring drouth. Actual cutting has revealed, however, that the yields are among the best in a number of years.

In most years, harvesting begins in the southern part of the county then moves northward. This year local buyers were receiving grain from the Samnorwood and Dozier sections a few days after harvesting began around Loco.

Sgt. Huffhines Still Flying

Sgt. Nolan Huffhines, tail gunner on a medium bomber stationed in England, who was reported here as missing, is still flying, later reports from his family state.

The story of a recent narrow escape over enemy territory has been released by the war department and part of this is given below:

The big Ninth Air Force green B-26 "Mar Rauder" came screeching to a sharp halt in a neat little hedgerow a few feet off the end of the concrete strip. As the nervous crew climbed out of the ship they saw an excited English farmer, pain in his face, come running toward them.

"Oh," the farmer cried in anguish, "look what you've done to my hedge." And the little pudgy fellow who had landed the ship safely on the 2000-ft. taxi strip when the hot baby was accustomed to at least twice that much, just grinned and his crew grinned with him. Then he spat on the nacelle of one engine—the one they'd been riding on for an hour and thirty-five minutes—and the metal sizzled.

Lt. Gordon Boyle, the bombardier, had just finished the business with the bomb release. Then the plane lurched like a ship taking a torpedo in the side and Boyle reached out to brace himself on a bulkhead.

One of his engines had just been knocked out by flak. They dropped out of formation and started going down.

Sgt. J. M. Mlithe, engineer-gunner from South Ardmore, Pa., knew it was time to start tossing things overboard. S-Sgt. Nolan C. Huffhines, tail gunner from Seagraves, Texas, shouted something about a statement of charges from the supply officer and out went the flak suits, guns, ammunition and everything else that wasn't riveted down. The plane steadied in relief.

All alone, with a feathered prop and a minimum armament, the stubborn medium bomber dropped to little better than 5,000 feet as it approached the French Coast. Then a German invasion-waiting ground outfit opened up with tracers from machine-guns, rifle fire, and everything but hand grenades as the plane struggled toward home. It was like a drunk staggering across crowded Times

J. R. Savage Has Leg Amputated

J. R. Savage is reported as resting in St. Joseph's Hospital after undergoing the amputation of his right leg above the knee Saturday, June 17.

Mr. Savage had been suffering from a foot infection.

A resident of this county for a number of years he is well known throughout this section.

FOUR JAP TARGETS

Japan's main industrial centers are fairly closely concentrated, centering in four areas: (1) Tokyo-Yokohama; (2) Nagoya; (3) Osaka-Kobe; and (4) the northern part of Kyushu Island. Japan has made great efforts to decentralize war industries, distributing some among home workers in households; dispersing others into Manchuria and along China coast at Tientsin, Tsingtao, Shanghai and other places.

WHERE PEARL HARBOR WAS ANSWERED

Giant B-29 Superfortresses, taking off from Chinese bases, made the second attack of the war on Japan proper on June 15. The attack was centered on northern Kyushu, the great industrial center of Japan. As indicated on the map, this is less than two hours bombing flight from Tokyo and Yokohama, that nation's two chief cities.

Earl Ponder Resigns As Norwood School Head

Earl R. Ponder, superintendent of the Samnorwood Rural High School, announced this week that he has resigned that place to accept a position in the Patton Spring High School as vocational agriculture teachers. His resignation is effective July 1.

Mrs. Ponder also resigned as primary teacher at Samnorwood to accept a place in the Patton Springs school.

In his new work Mr. Ponder will receive a substantial increase of salary.

In announcing their resignations, Mr. and Mrs. Ponder said they have enjoyed very much their work at Samnorwood and expressed their thanks to the county superintendent, the school board, the faculty, the patrons and all others who have co-operated with them in making the school a success.

Mr. Ponder added that in entering the new work, he is going into a field which he had hoped for several years to get into.

Baptist Revival Plans Complete

Plans are complete for revival services that will begin at the First Baptist Church in Wellington Sunday, June 25, and continue for two weeks.

Rev. Dick Cagle, who will be in charge of the preaching, and Rev. Dallas Alford, singer, will arrive to take over the services Monday night. The pastor, Rev. H. H. Kinkeade, will preach at the Sunday and Monday morning services.

Cottage prayer meeting will be conducted Friday night.

Rev. Cagle, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Cagle of Quail, is a graduate of Baylor University and has his Th. M. degree from the Southwestern Theological Seminary at Fort Worth. For the last four years he has been pastor of the Ervay Street Baptist Church in Dallas.

Rev. Alford, assistant pastor of a Fort Worth Church is also a former resident and received his education here.

The public is cordially invited to attend any or all of these revival services.

T-Sgt. Childers Home After 50 Missions Against Enemy

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Childers who live near Dozier were home for a few days together last week, after fighting on opposite sides of the earth, one with the Army Air Force, the other with the Coast Guard.

T-Sgt. William V. Childers, aerial engineer and gunner who has been with the 15th Army Air Force in Italy, has been decorated 13 times. His younger brother, J. E. Childers, CM 2-c, is also a gunner, and has taken part in Southwest Pacific action.

Regarded as this section's most decorated fighter, Sgt. Childers is modest about his own accomplishments, but he does make plain one point, which he has told his family and friends many times since coming home, "There's no such thing as a hero over there. Every man has a job to do and he does it."

But for doing his job, this 29 year old flyer-fighter has been awarded the Air Medal, eleven Oak Leaf Clusters and the Dis-

Local Soldier Dies June 13 In Illinois Hospital

Hardy Sherman Black, 19, who entered the Army from Wellington in March 1943, died in Hines Hospital, Hines, Ill., Tuesday, June 13, after undergoing an operation for brain tumor. Mr. Black was better known during the two years he lived here as "Shorty."

He was a brother of Mrs. Smith Baird of Wellington. During the time he lived here he made his home with her and Mr. Baird and was employed by Steve Owens.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist Church in Hollis Saturday with Rev. Frank Bough officiating. Following this, military rites were held at the Arlie Cemetery, where interment was made.

Pall bearers were T-5 Kenyard Poteet and Floyd Francis of Wellington, Hardy Kite S 1-c, Sgt. Dow Bayless, Paul Baird and Billy Wilson. Flower girls were Mary Beth Jackson of Wellington, Lorene Mayhugh, Dorthea Lee Whisenant, Leola Buchanan, Edna Mae Bennett, and Georgia Holleman.

Mr. Black was born in Hollis, Oklahoma, July 22, 1924, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Black, pioneers of Harmon County. He was reared at Hollis and attended school there and at Westview.

After entering the armed forces, he served in a field artillery battalion at Camp Butler, N. C.

Surviving are a brother and three sisters, Hugh Black and Mrs. Letress Gibson of Friona, Mrs. Doris Corbett of Dalhart and Mrs. Baird.

"Odd Lot" Shoes Made Ration Free For Short Period

An estimated seven million pairs of shoes will be made available to consumers ration-free under a provision releasing a limited quantity of "odd lot" shoes during the three-week period July 10 through July 29, the Office of Price Administration has announced.

Included in this release are men's and women's shoes of all sizes, and youths' and boys' shoes of sizes 1 to 6. Since children's and misses' and little boys' shoes were temporarily ration-free in May, they will not be affected by this action.

Dealers who sell shoes ration-free under this measure are required to make specified price reductions.

Miss Claudine Melton Accepts Place With United Gas Corp.

Miss Claudine Melton this week accepted a place in the local office of the United Gas Corp., following the resignation of Miss Mary Johnson.

Miss Geraldine Graham and Miss Melton will be in charge of the office here in the future.

Miss Melton is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Melton of Wellington and was reared here. She has been employed at the Ritz Theatre for a number of months.

Test Pressure Cookers At Quail Canning School

The Quail canning school is now open each Monday through Friday from the hours of 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., Miss Mary Hanvey, who is in charge, has announced.

Pressure cookers are also being tested at the canning school without charge to housewives in that section.

Miss Hanvey has requested, however, that those coming to can or have their cookers tested should notify her ahead of time if possible.

Bond Rally June 27 Will Highlight Local Campaign

Board Named To Help War Veterans With Employment

R. L. Gillentine has been named chairman and Lee Fortenberry a member of the reemployment committee to work with returning veterans of World War II in connection with their reinstatement in former jobs, it was announced this week through the local selective service office, to which the committee is attached.

In connection with this, a recently issued directive regarding reemployment of veterans was also announced, analyzing the sections of the Selective Service Act of 1940 as it applies to reemployment.

Highlights of the directive include: Eligible for benefits under the Act are persons who entered the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard (male or female) subsequent to May 1, 1940, but the veterans seeking benefits must have a "certificate" indicating satisfactory completion of service in the armed forces.

The Act requires the veteran to make application for re-employment "within 40 days after he is relieved from" training and service. This is mandatory and compliance is essential if the veteran is to enforce his reemployment rights over the objection of the employer.

A veteran, in order to claim reinstatement in a position, must be qualified to perform the duties and functions of that position, and this is a question of fact to be determined by common sense and experience. So long as there is any doubt the veteran is entitled to a chance to prove that he can do so. If unable to qualify for an upgraded job, he is, nevertheless, entitled to a position equal in seniority, status and pay to the one which he left.

A veteran is entitled to reinstatement in his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay, even though such reinstatement necessitates the discharge of a nonveteran with greater seniority.

A veteran is entitled to his former position or one of like seniority, status and pay, and may refuse another, even though the pay is greater and offers other advantages.

Seniority rights accumulate during the veteran's period of active service in the armed forces in the same manner as they would have accumulated had he remained continuously at work in his civilian occupation.

In the case of jobs created by war expansion, the "permanent" or "temporary" character of the job likewise depends upon the facts and circumstances in each individual case.

The memorandum further points out that:

A veteran entitled to reemployment may not be discharged from his restored position "without cause within one year after such restoration." The question of what constitutes "cause" is to be determined by "standards of common sense" and is to be measured by "practices and customs generally acceptable in industry or practices and customs in common and accepted use in the particular place of employment."

A veteran who has been reinstated in his former position cannot within one year be displaced by another, on the ground that the latter has greater seniority rights.

A soldier who is placed in an inactive status and transferred to the Enlisted Reserve Corps, at his own request, on the condition that he will engage in essential industry, loses his reemployment rights if he does not apply to his former employer for reinstatement within 40 days after his transfer.

for further assignment. While here, he was married to Miss Annie Ruth Young of near Samnorwood. She will accompany him to Dallas.

Sgt. Childers attended Hobbs High School, near Rotan and later moved to this county with his parents.

J. E. Childers came Thursday morning of last week for his 30 day leave, and the entire family is most happy because the two brothers could be here together.

He, too, has little to say about what he has done, other than that he's seen plenty of action. His fighting has been done in the South Pacific battle zone.

When his leave ends, he will report back to San Francisco for assignment.

There is a third brother in service, Robert Childers, a seaman second class with the Navy, stationed on an aircraft carrier. He, too, has taken part in combat ac-

County Pioneer Presents Ranch History To Library

A copy of "Short Grass and Long Horns" by Laura V. Hamner of Amarillo was presented to the county library Tuesday by J. H. White, pioneer of this area.

This book is a story of historic ranches of the Panhandle and the cattle industry of the section.

Ranches in this county discussed in the book are the Rocking Chair, the RO and the Diamond Tail. Information on the Rocking Chair ranch was given the author by Mr. White, J. H. Birchfield, and Senator Clint Small.

In presenting the book to Mr. White immediately after it was A highlight of the 5th War Loan Drive in this county will be the featured speaker at the rally, telling of his fighting experiences and urging the group to invest their surplus in bonds. Music will be furnished by a 7 piece hillbilly band.

The program will start promptly at 8:00 p. m., Horace Clark, Ritz manager, said. The show will follow immediately after the rally and admission will be only to those who have bought a bond at the rally or sometime during the drive.

"Life Boat," starring William Bendix, and considered one of the outstanding pictures of the year, has been secured by The Ritz for this showing.

Bond buyers of the county had invested $28,656.25 through Saturday night, June 17, John Forbis, chairman of the drive announced Monday. This is a little more than one tenth of the $265,000 quota that Collingsworth County is being asked to raise.

Mr. Forbis pointed out that these were voluntary purchases. As yet no solicitation has been made.

"With farmers so busy in the wheat harvest, we believe it will be advisable to wait a few days yet before beginning our solicitation. The government wants you to give every hour of your time to raising food and fiber for our armed forces. We are working this drive out so it will be most convenient both for those who solicit in the communities and those who are asked to buy," Mr. Forbis said.

Once the harvest peak is passed, the drive will begin in earnest, he warned, and every person in the county will be contacted and asked to buy as many bonds as possible during the drive.

"Our men from this county on the Normandy beachheads, in Italy and the southwest Pacific aren't failing. It's up to us to see we don't either," he reminded.

Marine Hopes R. L. Templeton Will Be Elected To Office

Junior Montague, who is on active duty with the Marines in the Pacific wrote this week saying that he hopes R. L. Templeton would be elected and that he thought he would make a good one. His letter follows:

As I wrote you two letters this last week, I haven't anything to say except that I received a Leader today, which makes the total of three. This Leader was dated April 20. I read it all. Will Joe Cummings, who is now in my Company, read it too, then we took it over to Skeet Clark. The either of them haven't as yet received one. But I always take them one.

I am no longer in action, so now we have shows to go to of a night, which makes things a lot better, and next week we start boxing. That's when it will be nice, although I'll probably be whipped because I'm weighing so much. I weigh from 170 to 175. At home when I was boxing I weighed 145.

I see where R. L. Templeton is running for Representative I would really like to see him get it.

Pfc. R. Horton Tells Of Beachhead Landing

A casualty on the fifth day of fighting at Salerno, Pfc. Raymond Horton was already taking part in his third battle since landing in Italy. All of the time since he got a little too high out of his foxhole and was hit by German fire has been spent in Army hospitals, but now he is well enough for convalescent leave and during the last week he was in Wellington, his former home, visiting his brother and sister, Alvin Horton and Mrs. Ernest Harwell.

Pfc. Horton was accompanied here by his wife and father, W. M. Horton of Coleman. He is stationed at Brooke General Hospital at Fort Sam Houston.

Although he was in North Africa through that action, he didn't fight there. But there weren't any tracks on the beach when I got there, he said, recalling that he was in the first wave of the first troop to reach Italy when the invasion came. The men landed just at dawn September 9, and met plenty of resistance. Nevertheless, they were able to move in about 10 miles that day.

Next Pfc. Horton fought at Alta Villa, a little town that the American troops lost twice and won three times, the last time for keeps. Here they were fighting a panzar division, some of the best trained troops of the German Army. These troops fought with tanks, artillery, in fact everything.

These United States infantrymen withstood this for five days and when they finally took the town on the fifth day, Pfc. Horton described Alta Villa as "not much left but a pile of rock."

It was just a short time later that he was wounded at Salerno. (Continued on Page Ten)

Mrs. J. O. Pollard, Former Resident, Buried Here

Funeral services for Mrs. J. O. Pollard, 57, of Dallas, a former Wellington resident, were conducted from the Methodist Church here Sunday afternoon at 5:00 p. m. with Rev. Hubert Thomson, pastor, in charge. Mrs. Pollard died Thursday afternoon, June 15 in Dallas.

Mrs. Pollard made her home in Wellington for a number of years preceding the death of her husband, about two years ago.

She was a native Texan, having been born in Johnson County August 27, 1886. She was the daughter of F. W. and Josephine Teague Browning. Mrs. Pollard had many friends in this section.

Surviving are seven children: Mrs. H. L. Streater and J. M. Pollard of Dallas, F. W. Pollard of Goldsmith, Miss. Carlene Pollard of Pasco, Washington; Miss Jo Beth Pollard of Englewood, Calif.; J. Y. Pollard and Harold Pollard of the U. S. Navy. Other survivors are six grandchildren and these brothers and sisters: Earl Browning of Idalou, Mrs. Mamie Hollingsworth of Sanger, Bert Browning of El Centro, Cal., Metz Browning of Cleburne, Sanford Browning, Mrs. May Bragg and Morgan Browning of Valley View, and Mrs. Beulah Wilson of Gainesville.

Pall bearers for the funeral rites were Monty Skipper, Oran Stark, O. B. Raburn, John Forbis, Mike Burkhalter and Sam Lassater. Flower bearers were Nellie Lentz, Katie Lentz, Winnie Fulcher and Mrs. Eva Fulcher.

Hymns included "Shall We Gather at the River," and "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be," by the choir. Interment was in the Wellington cemetery with the Ellis Funeral Home in charge.

I'll hand it to folks. They've had the patriotism to hold down their speed. But imagine war restrictions ended. Man, you'll see old cars overdoing till they can't chug another mile. You'll see every repair shop crowded for months, but I'm figuring to duck that! Of course, I couldn't see everything coming when I originally had this engine OIL-PLATED. I'd simply overheard that any engine forms dangerous corrosive acids. It made sense to try protecting the engine by OIL-PLATING it with Conoco Nth motor oil. I switched to Nth. You can suit yourself about thinking it's the only oil or not, but first read the whole label. You'll see where Conoco Nth oil's special synthetic fastens OIL-PLATING to your engine's fine inside finish. Then OIL-PLATING is really sort of a special surface to block steady acid corrosion. When repairs might be just a promise, and you can only pray for a new car, you're way ahead with your engine safely OIL-PLATED by Conoco Nth.

World's Deepest Producing Oil Well Announced

Completion of the world's deepest producing oil well, the Buckley-Bourg No. 2 in the DeLarge field, Terrebonne parish, Louisiana, has been announced by the Union Producing company of Shreveport, which operates the field, jointly owned by themselves and the Fohs Oil Co., the DeLarge Oil Co., and Foroy Petroleum, Inc.

The well was drilled to a total depth of 13,586 feet, but production is from the plug back depth of 13,512 feet. Producing sand was topped at 13,498 feet. Closed in pressure was 2800 pounds.

Tubing was set on packer above perforations, 13,498 to 13,503 feet, and with flow pressure of 2100 pounds, production was at an estimated rate of 500 barrels of oil and 2000 MCF of gas per day through a quarter-inch choke. No tanks were available for final tests which will be made as soon as the tanks can be constructed. The oil tested 36.4 gravity.

The previous record holder for deepest production was the Fitzpatrick and Vizard Unit No. 1 well, a gas-condensate producer completed in the same field in July, 1943, by the same operators, itself supplanting the former record holder, the Buckley-Bourg No. 1, drilled in 1938.

The above records are deepest production and not for deepest drilling operations. The present drilling record is held by an oil company which drilled to a depth of 15,279 feet in Pecos County, Texas.

The KCL-A2 well in Kern County, California, went to 15,004 feet in 1938, but this well's production is from a depth of 13,170 feet.

No Increase In Shoe Supplies Now Likely

There is no indication that any increase in shoe supplies will be available for civilians during the remainder of the year, according to a joint statement from the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration.

Shoe rationing will continue in this country until there is a marked improvement in the supply situation, the officials stated in response to reports that shoes would be lifted from rationing on September 1.

Your County Agent Says . . .

By J. W. THOMAS

WHEAT HARVEST, FARMERS—Do you need a combine crew, tractor driver, truck, etc.?

CUSTOM COMBINE HARVESTERS—Do you need extra acreage to cut? The county agents office is a good place to bring these two together.

HORN FLIES AND STABLE FLIES—Control these flies on your milk cows with a mixture of 10 pounds of wettable sulphur and one pound of 5% rotenone. Use in a dust gun or 1 pound of this mixture in 10 gallons of water.

POULTRY—Special attention should be given to the feeding of pullets which will be used in the laying flock soon. They need a well developed body in order to withstand the future strain of high egg production. Proper feeding will do the job. Do not allow them to rustle for themselves just because they are not in production now. These pullets should be wormed and vaccinated for fowlpox at from 12 to 16 weeks of age especially if you have had fowlpox on your farm before.

SELECTING AND STORING GARDEN SEED—Select seed from individual plants which are true to type or variety, productive, resistant or disease free, and other factors most desired in the particular vegetable. Clean seed such as squash, tomato, watermelon, and cucumber by washing the seed thoroughly through two or three waters to remove all fruit pulp and foreign matter. Dry these seed by placing in thin layers on wire (to drain). Place in sun for one or two days. Store on pantry shelf or other places where the atmosphere is cool and dry. Treat corn and all types of beans and peas with highlife to control weevils.

CATTLE—A group of farmers and ranchers met in the courthouse and discussed the cattle and the feed situation. Since the number of cattle is the largest ever recorded in the United States, 82,000,000 head, and the feed supply is expected to decrease this year the following suggestions were made by those present in the meeting.

Each farmer and rancher in the county should cull his herd and keep only the number of cattle that his feed and pasture will adequately care for. Cull grass fat cattle through the summer and early fall since it is likely that the packers will not be able to handle all cattle placed on the market in the fall. 27,000,000 head of cattle were handled last year by the packers, 36,000,000 head must be handled this year to bring the cattle number down to the 1943 levels. It is estimated that the packing facilities in the United States can care for only 35,000,000 head in 1944, and a portion of these must come through the summer months.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(The following letter was written by S/Sgt. John R. Henard, Jr. to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Henard.)

Sardinia

Dear Folks:

Hope you have gotten some mail from me now, I try to write once a week anyway, but a few of us are on D. S. and maybe I did let my writing go a little too long. We have a very nice place to stay in and not too much work at present. We are in the nicest barracks I have lived in over here; tile floors and good showers, plenty of room and good windows. Our food is really O. K., pork chops, chicken, fresh butter, plenty of fruit, and even hot cakes for breakfast quite often. We get to go to a Red Cross Beach Club quite often, where they have a very beautiful beach and Villa.

One of my best buddies got to come home on rotation the other day, but the percentage is so small I have no hopes.

Love,

Snooks.

(The following letter was written to Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Berg, who receives their mail on Rt. 3, Wellington, by their son, S 1/c James Harmon Berg.)

May 29, 1944

My Dearest Mother, Dad, Sis and Brother:

How are you all getting along by now? I am O. K. and felling fine. It looks as though my mail is getting to me now. I have got quite a few letters in the last few days, and am far behind with my letter writing. But I will start catching up by writing you and Katherleen first. I also got two copies of the Wellington Leader and boy, was I glad to read the old hometown paper. Got several letters from Sam, one a five page and one four pages. He was O. K. and feeling fine. He says he is happy. Well, that is more than I can say, for I will never be happy until I am home again. I also got a letter from Lorraine. She wrote a very nice letter.

I got a letter from Aunt Jewell, and sure was glad to hear from her. Sam said Alfred was a Sergeant now. I guess he is doing O. K. Say, I read in the paper that piece you had put in about son and I. Well you were right. We have given them Hell several times since.

Bob Childress was lucky to get back home. I have seen his ship in various places at different times. Sure would like to see him now.

Glad to hear that my young heifer was doing fine, but hated that they both have bull calves. Maybe the cows will do better, at least I hope so. The white faced bull should make a good gilling beef in a year, that is next winter. And I hope I am there to help eat it. I can sell the other one maybe.

Hope you continue to have good luck with the chickens. Maybe they won't be too big to eat when I get back home. And I haven't seen the chicken yet that was too big to be good. They may get to old.

How are the gilts getting along and when will they farrow? Hope you have good luck with them.

I was sure glad that Aunt Ika and Aunt Winnie were able to visit with you. Wish I could have been there. Guess you sisters had a good time. Maybe they can visit while I am home next time. At least I hope so. I won't have time to spend a day or so with each of them. And you know there is someone else I hope to spend part of the time with. Well, I must close for this time. Will write again soon. You write as often as you can.

With all my love, your son,
James H. Berg.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP

This is to announce that we have purchased and are now operating the Confectionery formerly known as

THE J. W. CHAPMAN CONFECTIONERY

At this time we would like to extend a cordial invitation to each one of you to visit us. All of the regular services that Mr. Chapman conducted so faithfully for so many years will be continued.

And as time goes on the stock of merchandise will be enlarged and new lines and new services will be added. It is our purpose to develop a business that will be a credit to the town in which we are located.

In this enterprise we invite your co-operation and your suggestions, for we realize that it is only by efficient and courteous service that any business can prosper and grow.

We are grateful for the many words of friendship and encouragement we have received since returning to our old home, and again we invite you to come around and see us whether you buy anything or not.

BEFORE THIS WAR IS OVER, there may be only two kinds of people in America . . .

1. those who can still get to work in automobiles,
2. those who are forced to walk.

If you want to be in the fortunate group who will still be riding to work in automobiles, join Gulf's "Anti-Breakdown" Club today. How do you do it? Just come in for Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan!

This plan was conceived by experts in car care. Gulf developed it because car maintenance is a most important civilian job. (The Government says civilian car maintenance is one of the services essential to winning the war, because 8 out of 10 war workers use automobiles to get to work.)

Here's Gulf's Protective Maintenance Plan..

1 It protects your car at 39 DANGER POINTS!

GULF'S Protective Maintenance Plan includes Gulflex Registered Lubrication which reaches up to 39 vital engine, chassis, and body points. Six different Gulflex Lubricants reduce wear.

2 It gives you a CLEANER, smoother running motor!

GIVE your car a good motor oil and change regularly. Gulf offers two outstanding oils . . . Gulfpride, "The World's Finest Motor Oil," and Gulfube, an extra-quality oil that costs a few cents less.

3 It stretches your "A" coupons!

AIR-FILTER and spark-plug cleaning, and radiator flushing help give better mileage. A clean air filter makes gas burn more economically; clean plugs increase power; a clean radiator prevents overheating.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Why wait for some patriotic citizen to come around to ask you to buy a war bond? Why not go and buy them now.

Last week Gene Howe wrote about war bonds from an angle that should be considered by every American. What he said follows:

Have you read the magazine accounts of the slaughter in France? Accounts of our boys being mowed down on the beaches. The Germans stacked them up—our boys—like cordwood in places.

And YOU must know and realize that if this War Bond drive fails; if it doesn't go over with a bang, many thousands of our boys may be unnecessarily lost. The Germans are watching. If we begin weakening here on the home front, they'll fight with redoubled ferocity. Weakness at home is their LAST hope. They're watching the American people.

This is the most critical of all war drives. YOU buy and buy NOW. Please, please, please. It's so important, so important. Apathy now could mean the loss of the war. And this is the God's truth.

At the recent meeting of the Texas Press Association in Dallas, I heard Ralph Heinzen, former chief of bureau of the United Press in Paris, who was recently repatriated after having been a prisoner of the Germans.

Hitler lost the war at Stalingrad, Heinzen said. His generals wanted to withdraw from a hopeless military position, but Hitler ordered them to take the key Volga city at all costs. The German soldiers were good; but they were not as good as the good Russian troops. It was there Hitler's back was broken.

Heinzen also listed the three greatest liabilities of Germany today. These were:

1. Shortage of manpower.
2. Shortage of oil
3. Loss of air supremacy

Concerning the manpower shortage, Heinzen pointed out that Germany had never released a total casualty list. German people, however, are permitted to insert a short notice of some eight or ten lines telling of the death of their son. The notice costs about $40 in American money and must end always by the salutation: Heil Hitler. In these they are permitted to mention the age of their son and the front on which he died.

Although no total figures were allowed, there was great significance in these death notices. Before Heinzen left Germany there were notices of 16 and 17 year old soldiers and of 45 year old soldiers being killed in action. But there practically no notices of deaths of soldiers between the ages of 25 and 29. These were the men who were in their prime when the war started in 1939. They constituted, perhaps, the most formidable army ever assembled. Now they are either dead or prisoners of the Russians or they are in hospitals in occupied countries. The Nazis do not take their wounded back to Germany.

In spite of these things, Heinzen warned that the Germans would fight to the bitter end. Hitler studied history. Even if he did not study the history of Napoleon's winter campaign in Russia—at least he studied the history of the last World War. He saw that the Kaiser had no alternative when the German generals told him to leave; because he had no armed guards. So Hitler built the Gestapo and the S S Troops who swear allegiance not to the German Government but to Hitler and Himmler. Under such a rule there is no chance of collapse inside Germany until the German military forces have been utterly defeated.

Next week, perhaps, there will be something of what Norman Lodge, Associated Press correspondent, said of the Japs and the war in the Pacific. His story was grim. But one thing he did say was that he considered Gen. McArthur the greatest military mind since Napoleon.

Now to things here in Collingsworth. Both Jones Singley and Lawrence Warrick tell me that the wheat is turning out far better than anyone expected. Everyone has heard of the tremendous crop that is about to be harvested on the north plains, but little was expected of the yield here. It is very satisfactory.

Incidentally, Velman Warrick has a big dog that he would like to give to someone in the country. I make no personal recommendations on this dog like I did on my black one who found a good home in the country. You will have to ask Velman to recommend him.

Grows Cotton In Foxhole

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC—Farming in a foxhole under the circumstances, but a fella's gotta have something to take his mind off the war.

Marine Gunner Sergeant Lynn L. Whitworth, Long Beach, Calif., has succeeded in growing the first boll of cotton ever seen on a virtually barren island occupied by American troops.

He may not be able to find a market for his crop come "cotton pickin" time, but he has been known to count his 18 bolls and observe, "it sure seems like old times to be growing cotton again."

The gunnery sergeant has a daughter, Joan Clay, who lives at Waco, Texas, scene of his first experience as a cotton planter.

Square. They weren't touched. The crippled plane continued toward England.

And just so this take doesn't get to sound like the squal to "The Perils of Pauline," they found an airfield that was a dummy air-drome set up to deceive the enemy. They soon found another, dropped flares and without time to wait for landing instructions, came in on the short taxi-strip. The machine sped past sleeping bombers parked in dispersal areas and "ate up" the concrete. The pilot gave her plenty of brake and the nose kept buckling under the pressure.

The gallant ship finally slowed down and stopped safely. They started to get out of the ship and there the English farmer, pain in his face, came running toward them.

He said something that sounded sad—but the crew just grinned.

Farm Ponds Can Supply Fish For Family Table

COLLEGE STATION. — There are more than 100,000 fishin' holes in Texas in the form of farm ponds, which many farmers and ranchmen are drawing upon to supply their tables with fish. With this resource, R. E. Callender of the A. and M. College Extension Service, believes it is as reasonable to think of raising fish by the acre of water as of other crops by the acre of land.

Good management in stocking with right varieties, numbers and combinations of fish, and increasing the food supply during the past few years has raised the production of fish in the average farm pond from a few to several hundred pounds per surface acre of water annually.

Intelligent management helps to produce more fish and in line with this Callender, who is the game management specialist, recommends that if possible ponds should be located on a sodden watershed to prevent silting. Sunshine, which is needed to grow fish good, cannot penetrate muddy water. A pond should be stocked with a combination of the right varieties, and blue gill bream, bass, and catfish (channel cat) are the most common and acceptable varieties for Texas. He suggests as a good combination to use in fertilized ponds for each surface acre of water: 100 minnows early in the spring; 25 bass fingerlings; 50 crappie fingerlings, and 500 blue gill bream fingerlings. If channel cat alone is preferred they may be stocked at the rate of 200 fingerlings to the acre in fertilized ponds.

The fish population should be in keeping with the available supply of food. Over population means a flock of small fish. A pond is capable of producing only so many pounds of fish—lots of little ones or a fewer number of larger ones.

The degree of fertilization governs the growth of small plants and bug life which the fish live on, and determines the poundage of fish per acre. He recommends the following formula for each surface acre of water yearly: either 400 pounds of cottonseed meal, or 1,500 pounds of barnyard manure, and 200 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate.

— from the — Army Navy Air Force Marines Coast Guard

Pfc. Buster Barker arrived Tuesday from Camp Boca Raton, Florida, for a visit with his wife and two children. Pfc. Barker is in the Army Air Forces and has completed his training in radio work, and when his furlough is up early in July he will report for duty at Camp Dix in New Jersey.

Barker had the good fortune of catching a ride in an army plane to San Antonio and came the remainder of the trip by train. He rode with Col. Clinton Hughes in a B-25 which was being flown to San Antonio for repair after combat duty.

Buster left Wellington 16 months ago to go into service and at the time he left was reporting on the Wellington Leader.

Cpl. William S. Atkinson, home after twenty-five months in Alaska, is spending his eighteen day furlough in Wellington with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.

S. Burgess and family. Cpl. Atkinson made his home in Wellington with his grandparents before going into the army three and one half years ago.

Atkinson is serving in the infantry and saw action while in the Alaskan area. After his visit here he will report to San Antonio where he really expects to thaw out some of the Alaska cold.

Fred Bell Ordained To The Baptist Ministry Sunday

Members of the Fresno Baptist Church met Sunday afternoon, June 18, for the purpose of ordaining Fred Bell to the ministry of the gospel. Rev. Tom Burn, pastor of the Fresno Church, acted as moderator and Rev. C. H.

Blassingame as clerk of the presbyterate and examiner of the candidate.

This service was followed by the ordination prayers led by Rev. Vernon Jones. Others taking part in the ceremony were Rev. W. C. Davis who delivered the charge to the church and Rev. R. L. Porter who delivered the charge to the candidate.

The ordination sermon was delivered by Rev. W. W. Elum.

Deacons Preston Judd, Green Hodges and Jack Black were also present and are members of the presbyterate.

tory. You know how you can help: BUY WAR BONDS WITH EVERY DOLLAR YOU HAVE! Now is the time to buy extra Bonds—as many as you can.

If you are already buying Bonds on a payroll savings plan, whoever you are, whatever you do, ask yourself this question: "What did I do today that some mother's son should die for me tonight?" Then double the Bonds you bought before—make them know you're with them! And not next week or next month, but NOW, when every bullet and every dollar counts MOST!

And Here Are 5 MORE Reasons for Buying EXTRA Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

The total of 15,883 American casualties, including 3,283 killed, in the first 11 days of the invasion campaign, is a grim figure, viewed by itself. Yet by any system of military reckoning, it means that the cost of the effort has been smaller, so far, than might have been expected. It represents probably less than 5 per cent of the total number of men engaged. It must be appreciably smaller than the enemy's losses, which include 8,500 captured. And it is not a large figure in the light of the nature of the undertaking and the success which was recorded.

In making public the figures so promptly, the war department is acting with wisdom. In 1918, when the armistice was signed, the Argonne offensive had been in progress several weeks. Prior to that time, American casualties had been rather light. Not until after the armistice was it announced that the Argonne drive had cost many thousands of American lives. It is a far better policy to make the figures known at brief intervals. The public knows that there is a stiff price to pay for every mile of ground gained, but it has a right to know, as quickly as possible, what the price really is.

Whether the loss ratio in France will be lighter or heavier as the fighting develops depends on many considerations. The Germans have learned some lessons in Normandy and they are likely to be prepared, when other attacks are launched, to exact a higher toll. On the other hand, the Allies also have learned, the hard way, how to save lives. There is basis for the hope that subsequent operations will see the casualties lighter rather than heavier.—Wichita Daily Times.

Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, told the Russians that nearly all Americans consider themselves members of the middle class. Probably he forgot about the newest tax law, under which we will not even be in the middle.

Berlin commentator Ludwig Sertorius said the Germans in Italy were "yielding elastically to the overpowering pressure." Recalling Berlin big-talk of the early war years, one's conclusion is that Marshal Kesselring's elastic yielders are reclaimed grade Nazis.

Release of steel for baby carriages is another indication that we're perambulating down the victory road.

No Military Mistake

A mistaken has been made, say some. The present War Bond drive takes in June 15th when so many people had to mail in checks to the government on their income taxes. They are pretty well cleaned out; and some resent it.

All right, all right, a mistake has been made. But it's been made by some barrel-brained executive up there at Washington. It isn't the mistake of our boys over there in Normandy or in Italy or over Japan.

Have you read the magazine accounts of the slaughter in France? Accounts of our boys being mowed down on the beaches. The Germans stacked them up—our boys—like cordwood in places.

And YOU must know and realize that if this War Bond drive fails; if it doesn't go over with a bang, many thousands of our boys may be unnecessarily lost. The Germans are watching. If we begin weakening here on the home front, they'll fight with redoubled ferocity. Weakness at home is their LAST hope. They're watching the American people.

This is the most critical of all war drives. YOU buy and buy NOW. Please, please, please. It's so important, so important. Apathy now could mean the loss of the war. And this is the God's truth.—Gene Howe in The Amarillo News.

Whither?

"Childress will be a ghost town when the air field is closed."

That is a prediction often heard these days, and it is a prediction that may or may not come true—depending largely upon what the citizens of Childress want to do about it during the next few months.

If the citizens of Childress choose only to make a fight for retention of a military installation here and fail; if the citizens of Childress slip back into the WPA state of mind and rely on federal handouts for economic well being; if citizens of Childress are content to drift along and take only what comes our way, then there is a good chance that wild rye will thrive on Main street within a few years.—Doyle Vinson in The Childress Index.

Bravery

Loneliness is written on the little boy's face. It is behind his blue eyes and haunts his smile. The madness of war is difficult to explain to a child whose daddy has been sucked into its awful vortex. Empty days plow through barren stalk fields of memories. Being brave is not always easy when bravery means a familiar footstep no longer echoes in the twilight; that strong, gentle arms will not bridge the day's absence. Something is gone forever from the little life; the closeness, the love and understanding. Weeks are robbed of their golden wealth of comradeship. A small boy glances at the empty sky as the son of an absent sailor must often look at the deserted sea.—Douglas Meador in The Matador Tribune.

A Letter A Day

Letter according to an army officer who is in the thick of the fighting in Italy, do more to keep up the morale of our soldiers than do good food, victories in battle or any other one thing.

Writing letters to soldiers is something which everyone of us can do toward helping to win the war. It is a little thing to us—but it is so important to the men in the field that the army sees to it that mail is delivered even during the most heated battles.—Roland L. Holford in The Hico News.

A true incident (when this writer was police reporter in Memphis, Tennessee): A negro about to board a train for the penitentiary comforted his wife with, "Don't cry honey; I'll serve dis 14 years in a jiffy an' be back wid you."

Speaking not long ago before the Panhandle-Plains Historical Association annual dinner, this chronicler remarked:

"History is not the exclusive property of the Ph. D.'s—much less of the writer of that most unread and unreadable production of the human brain: the master's thesis.

"Nor is history solely an account of things of long ago. History is anything important and significant which has happened. It might have been in 1492 or it might have been yesterday.

"And history is not the doings of generals and politicians. Wherever men have planned and played and plowed, wherever they have smiled and sung and splendidly swaggered, wherever men and women have wooed and wed and worked and wrought and worshipped, wherever they have dreamed and died—there is history.

"Texas history is not something that is past and dead but is a mighty, living force projecting itself into the present and profoundly affecting the future.

"I am not one of the Coronado addicts. He was picturesque, all right, in his armor, hunting for non-existent cities of gold—but I see no need to spend a lifetime trying to decide whether he camped for a single night three miles west or six and a quarter miles east of the present city of Abilene.

"To me, there is more romance in the weather-beaten countenance of a Texas rancher and there is more nobility in the heroic features of a ranch wife and mother—a couple who, with raw courage and bare hands, despite northers, sand, wind and sun—or perhaps because of these challenging conditions—wrought in the wilderness a civilization that is richer in dollars and infinitely richer in human values than the seven golden cities that Coronado sought—even if they had existed."

BRIEF TOPICS

Somebody wants to know why they need so many bureaus in Washington. That's easy. They have to have some place in which to keep the red tape.

The same slogan is appropriate for war bonds and victory gardens—dig down.

Getting along with everybody is one way of getting a long way toward happiness.

So many little pigs have gone to market that points have been declared off. Now we can cry "Whee, whee, whee" all the way home.

If you're kicking about the cost of living, just stop and think what it is really worth.

We're still waiting for someone to invent brakes for our car that will stop the car behind us.

The Nazis are said to be already planning their next war, but the Allied Nations have some plans, too.

Bond Drive

That rural sections of the United States are "Going to Town" in the Fifth War Loan Drive is suggested by scattered early reports received by the Agricultural Section, War Finance Division, Treasury Department. In Carroll County, Georgia, agriculture's $100,000 share of the county quota was over-sold by $80,000 on June 6, six days before the drive opened. In Alabama, where county farm quotas are broken down into "beats," roughly equivalent to townships in other states, several beats had surpassed their quotas. Gregory County, South Dakota, reached its goal two days before the drive officially opened. More than 20,000 farm machinery dealers in the U. S. have been enlisted as workers in the Fifth War Loan Drive.

Buy Extra Eggs Nok

If every housewife will buy an extra dozen eggs now and store them in her refrigerator she can solve a big storage problem now facing the War Food Administration. At present, WFA says, there are 1,400 carloads of eggs for which no cold storage space can be found. By using their refrigerators, housewives can make it possible to save 25 million dozen eggs. Egg production has begun to decline seasonally, and it will soon be possible to handle all supplies in the usual manner.

Jobs In Washington

More than 12,000 clerks, stenographers and clerk typists are needed immediately to fill vacancies in Washington, D. C., principally for the War and Navy Departments, the Civil Service Commission reports. Also, within the year between 8,000 and 10,000 additional vacancies must be filled. Positions will pay from $1,752 to $1,971 a year for the Federal work week of 48 hours. Local Post Offices and offices of the United States Employment Service can give interested persons information about these openings.

Used Car Price Control

Beginning July 10, all used passenger cars come under price control, the Office of Price Administration has directed. All sellers—individual owners as well as dealers—come under the program. Ceilings will vary by model, body type and make and will cover about 6,000 models manufactured from 1937 through 1942. There will be an "as is" and a "warranty" price for each model and body type. Ceilings will drop at the rate of four per cent of the "as is" price every six months. Permissible additions to ceiling prices are provided for extra equipment. Separate prices are given for each of three geographical regions. When a sale has been completed, the buyer and seller must fill out a transfer certificate and turn this in to the buyer's local War Price and Rationing Board. Nearly four million motor vehicles went out of use in the United States in 1942 and 1943 and have not been replaced, the Federal Works Agency reports.

Prices On Certain Fruits

Highest average retail prices for the country as a whole that will result from ceiling prices established for certain fresh fruits have been announced by OPA. These prices per pound are: Italian prunes, about 14 cents; plums, about 19 cents; sweet cherries about 40 cents, except in California, Washing-

Oil Protects Sweet Corn

To protect growing sweet corn from the corn earworm, use an inexpensive white mineral oil (medicinal oil), the Department of Agriculture advises. Wait at least 3 days after the silk first emerges before oilings, and not later than 7 days. An ordinary glass medicine dropper when half full of mineral oil is enough for a small ear of corn, and about three-fourths full for a large ear. Insert the medicine dropper about a quarter of an inch into the silk mass, just inside the tip of the husk. Since not all silks mature the same day, treated ears may be marked with a crayon or strip of cloth. The oil kills worms in the silk and prevents the entry of others.

Cpl. and Mrs. Hoyt Short of Mineral Wells visited last week in the home of Mrs. J. L. Hays and other friends. Cpl. Short is stationed at Camp Walters.

J. C. Young, S 1/c, has been here during the last week visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Young who live near Samnorwood. He has been attending a motor tender school in Maryland and has been assigned to duty in New Orleans.

He has been in service almost two years.

Pvt. Denzil Bevers, of Fort Benning, Ga., is here this week on furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bevers. Another guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bevers, and in the A. J. Firesome is Miss Nancy Huntington of Chama, N. M.

Pfc. Wayne Parker is serving overseas in England. Mrs. Parker learned in a recent letter, the first she had received in two months. He told her he was getting along fine and that he was a pretty country.

At the same time he said he couldn't buy matches or handkerchiefs and asked that she send cigarette lighters and handkerchiefs from here.

He was stationed at Camp Pickett, Va., before being sent overseas.

Pfc. Jim Brown, stationed with unit of combat engineers at Camp Butner, N. C., came Wednesday of last week on a 10 day furlough, which he is spending with his wife and children here.

His mother and sisters, Mrs. Foster Brown, Miss Mary Brown and Miss Hazel Brown, of Amarillo came during the week end, and Mrs. Brown remained here to be with her son.

Pfc. Brown has been in service since February.

Pvt. Carrol W. Tolleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tolleson of Amarillo and former Wellington residents, left for overseas duty three months ago is now in Italy with the U. S. Army General Hospital. He went from Oran, in North Africa to Italy and states that he likes Italy much better. His wife is making her home in Wellington with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Thomas.

Pfc. Howard and Harvey Jones arrived June 16, for a fifteen day furlough with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Jones. Howard is from Victorville, Cal., where he has been stationed for the past twenty-two months. He is in charge of the mail for Section "A" in the section day room.

Harvey is still at Yuma, Arizona, where he has been stationed for ten months. He is a mechanic on the Flying Fortress. This is zona, where he has been stationed first furlough the boys, who are twins, have had together.

S-Sgt. John Shadid returned this week from Italy after serving 20 months with the Air Corps in the Mediterranean theatre. He went to North Africa with the first U. S. troops when they landed at Casa Blanca. Sgt. Shadid was in North Africa 13 months, and was transferred from there to Italy. He was on his way home when Rome was taken by U. S. troops. He is on 21 day furlough.

J. Leon White, of Hollis, Okla., just returned from Toledo, Ohio, after completing a 16 weeks course in store keeping. Leon finished with his highest grades in Disbursing and was placed in the paymasters dept. His new assignment will take him to Treasure Island, San Francisco, where he will receive his last four weeks of training and receive the rating of Petty Officer. He was able to come home because of a delay in route. Leon entered the navy in Nov. 1943.

His wife and three sons, Jimmy, Kenneth and Keith, returned at the same time. They had been in Toledo visiting Leon for the past six weeks.

T/5 Kenyard Poteet from Fort Knox, Kentucky, left Monday after a seven-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Poteet. Poteet has been in the service for 16 months and is serving in the transportation division.

With two years and a month of service in the Aleutians behind him, Cpl. Louis McPherson is in Wellington this week visiting his brother, Arkansas McPherson and family. Their sister, Mrs. Martha Aldridge of Lefors, is also here to be with them.

In telling how happy he was to be back in the States, Cpl. McPherson said that men stationed in the Aleutians enjoy the best of health, and most have gained from 10 to 15 pounds in weight. In fact, they are among the healthiest soldiers in the U. S. Army, but they don't like the Aleutians. They all agree on that.

WHAT YANKS HAVE BEEN DODGING

Sgt. William A. Hill of Charleston, S. C., holds measuring sticks beside four German shells of the type the Yanks (late of the Anzio beachhead) have been dodging. Left to right: 150-mm., 180-mm., 210-mm., 280-mm. (The "280" is minus its nose cap; all there, it would be about two feet longer.)

"If I have to go across again, I hope it's the other way," the corporal said.

McPherson's unit was building an airport. He recalled that there were no roads or anything else when they landed. Now it's one of the best of the Army Air Fields. At one time his particular field was supply base for the Aleutians. After the Japanese were driven from Attu and Kiska, the base was moved farther out on the Aleutian chain.

In moving his men around, soldiers begin to wonder if the Army could be playing tricks. In the Aleutians Cpl. McPherson said that it never gets hot. Rain and snow fall during the entire year and the wind gets to a reported 150 miles per hour—and it feels it.

On being sent home he reached California, where he visited, during the hottest weather that state has had since 1932. And there he was in his winter uniform. He got to Wellington during the first really hot weather of the year, and now he's going on to Camp Shelby, Miss., where he's expecting some really hot weather.

Cpl. McPherson came to Wellington in 1925 and lived here for a number of years before going to California. Before entering the Army three and a half years ago, he lived in Fresno, Calif.

Pvt. Elmer Hite left Tuesday for Camp Butner, N. C., after visiting for 15 days with his wife and children here. Pvt. Hite formerly was manager of Shamburger Lumber Co.

Dear Mr. Wells and Leader Force:

Enclosed you will find a money order for $2.50 to cover the subscription price of the Leader for another year. We really do enjoy our home town paper, for it's news is so complete that we are able to keep up with the happenings there almost as if we were in your midst. We congratulate you and your staff for the grand and interesting paper you are editing, even through these crises; with scarcities of material and manpower, as I've sure you have felt the pinch of both.

Surely hope Mother Nature smiles upon the farmers of your section and gives them bumper crops this year, and also that this terrible war may soon end and your good people may begin turning home from everywhere.

Good Luck and God bless you all in our prayers.

Sincerely,
 Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Curtner

Miss Thelma Hensley of Farmersville is visiting Miss Frances Stevenson this week.

Between the hours of 2:00 p. m. and 4:00 p. m., Friday, June 23, the girls taking Summer Project work and their sponsors, Mrs. Irene Harris and Mrs. Abbie Burch, will be hostesses at an Achievement Day Open House and tea in the Homemaking rooms at the high school. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to call during these hours and see what the girls have done, both at home in the form of projects and the department in the form of improvement.

The students will bring their finished projects to the homemaking rooms by 10:00 a. m. to be placed on exhibit for the day. These projects are to be accompanied by their project plan and story. Plans for other projects which they plan to do during the summer to finish up their 100 hours of work should be ready to be checked and approved at this time.

Group meetings were carried on in the form of supervised sewing in the morning and general cleaning and improvement in the afternoon. Some of the improvements in the department are as follows: varnished floors in foods and clothing laboratories; painted garbage cans, trays, flour cans, flower pots, kitchen table; washed and ironed curtains and made ironing board covers. Two new ideal storage units were added to the foods laboratory and these were refinished.

Girls who put in one day working at school in a group meeting and complete 100 hours work on individual home projects which are properly written and evaluated will be given one-half credit toward graduation. There are approximately 50 girls taking Summer Project work this year.

Mrs. Melvin Mathis Given Bridal Shower At Quail June 16

Complimenting Mrs. Melvin Mathis, who was before her recent marriage, Miss Eunice Robinson of Quail, a shower was given in the home of Mrs. George Thomas of Quail last Friday afternoon. The guests were received by Mrs. W. P. Gilbreth and the hostesses.

Throughout the afternoon humorous games and contests were played. Climaxing the entertainment was a treasure hunt in which the honoree found an overflowing chest of wedding gifts. The bride was directed to go to the windmill tower and from there she was directed back to the guest room where she found the guests assembled waiting for her to open the gifts.

Refreshments of poly-pop and assorted cookies and candy were served to the following: Mmes. Arthur Robinson and Connie Tom; C. E. Hall, L. D. McMinn, A. L. Gilbert and Jimmy Don; Gorman Bilbreth and Jimmy Don; Garmen Owens, H. O. Breden, Ben Farmer, A. W. Boyett, John Bishop, A. C. Amerson, G. C. Graham, Grover Pettitt, Jim Lowe and Billy Evelyn; J. B. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell of Quail, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gilbreth and Richard Gilbreth made a trip to Panhandle last week end where they visited in the Gilbreth home. While there they went fishing six miles west of Panhandle and reported catching 101 fish weighing from one pound to two and one half pounds.

Allen I. Smith, who lives in the north part of the county, was called to Wheeler by the serious illness and death of his mother, Mrs. Josiah Smith, who died June 9.

Blitz Bacteria Battalions

Victory on the home-canning front is easily won by those who understand the ruthless nature of the enemies—yeasts, moulds, and bacteria—that sneak into jars of food to cause spoilage. Usually they go into the jar on the food. Decayed spots and crevices or broken places in the skin of fruits and vegetables serve as their favorite foxholes.

Rules which if followed in every detail will insure victory for the home canner all along the line. They are:

1. Use jars made for home-canning purposes.
2. Examine every jar, cap, lid, and rubber before using. True, these are inspected before they leave the factory but many things can happen to them before (and after) they reach the home kitchen.
3. Use jars, caps, lids, and rubbers by the manufacturer's instructions.
4. Unless vegetables grow in your own garden or can be bought from a grocer who will gather them early in the morning of the day they are to be canned, forget about canning them. Vegetables that have had a night out of the garden are not in fit condition for canning.

6. Every vegetable should be washed clean before its skin is broken. Washing away particles of dust and soil also washes away bacteria, yeasts, and moulds. Green beans and okra require special attention because the short thick nap or fuzz on them holds dust. The blossom end of okra may hold both dust and insects.

7. All non-acid vegetables should be precooked and packed hot for processing.

8. Vegetables should be packed in jars loosely enough to permit the liquid to circulate between the pieces. Food values are higher when vegetables are canned with the water in which they were precooked, provided the water is not wasted when the food is used, but the flavor, and possibly the keeping qualities, of some foods is better when they are canned in fresh boiling water.

9. Vegetables usually have better flavor if small amount of salt is added at the time of canning, but they keep as well without it.

10. Remember that every minute wasted between the steps of preparing, packing, and processing is a minute in which bacteria grow stronger.

11. When possible, use a steam pressure cooker for processing all vegetables except tomatoes, and even use it for tomatoes if you like. But the use of a pressure cooker will not guarantee success unless it is in good condition and operated according to the manufacturer's instructions.

12. If you have no pressure cooker, process vegetables by boiling in a water-bath canner. Yes, the vegetables will keep if all rules are kept, and they will be safe to eat if they are boiled for fifteen minutes before they are tasted.

13. Never taste canned vegetables, regardless of how processed, until they have been boiled fifteen minutes. The boiling doesn't necessarily destroy the bacteria that cause the toxin; so left-over canned vegetables should be reboiled before serving.

Mrs. Clyde Wisdom Given Shower By Rebekah Lodge

The members of the Rebekah Lodge entertained on Friday evening, June 16, at a miscellaneous bridal shower honoring Mrs. Clyde Wisdom, recent bride. Mrs. Wisdom was before her marriage, Miss Thelma Fisher.

Childers-Young Wedding Rites Solemnized In Hollis Friday, June 9

Miss Annie Ruth Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Young of Samnorwood, became the bride of T/Sgt. William V. Childers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Childers of Samnorwood, on Friday afternoon, June 9. The wedding was solemnized by the County Judge of Harmon County at the courthouse in Hollis, Oklahoma.

The bride wore a navy blue sheer dress with white trim and used white accessories.

Mrs. Childers attended high school at Samnorwood where she graduated with the May class of 1944. While in school she took an active part in athletics, playing four years on the basket ball team, three years on the tennis team and two years on the soft ball team.

The groom, an aerial engineer and gunner of a 15th AAF B-17 Flying Fortress, is at home visiting his parents after combat duty in Italy. He has been decorated for his heroism and to date has received 13 decorations including 11 Oak Leaf Clusters.

S/Sgt. Childers attended Hobbs High School near Rotan, and at the time of his enlistment on September 24, 1941, he was employed by an oil company. He received his wings in May 1942. In March of this year he completed his fiftieth combat mission over Vorona, Italy.

After visiting here with their parents, T/Sgt. and Mrs. Childers will go to Dallas where T/Sgt. Childers will report at Love Field.

Shower

The Samnorwood Community gave a surprise shower for the couple on Friday evening, June 16, in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jarrard of Samnorwood.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Young, Bob Conway, Cecil and Cleo Brown, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Young, and Guy, Opal and David; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Fritts, May Jean and Belya; Mr. and Mrs. Willis Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Odie Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. John Oldham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Mr. and Mrs. Ozzell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. DeBord, Mr. and Mrs. George Childers, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Walker, Mrs. Louise Glazner, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conway, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neeley, Henry Westmoreland, Mr. and Mrs. Guy

Mrs. William V. Childers
Mrs. Childers was before her marriage on June 9, Miss Annie Ruth Young. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess A. Young of Samnorwood and graduated in the spring class from Samnorwood High School.

B. & P. W. Club Members Hold June Social Meeting

Friday evening, June 16, members of Business and Professional Womens Club were entertained at the home of Miss Bessie Rainer when the losing side in an attendance contest entertained with a party. Miss Dora Elizabeth McClaskey was captain of the losing side in the contest and assisted in entertaining. Miss Rose Erisman was leader of the winning side.

The evening was spent visiting and playing games. Hostesses served a dessert course to the following: Mmes. Clay Sullivan, Cleo Templeton, H. A. Wynn; Misses Hattie D. Wells, Katherine Boverie, Viola Hudson, Rose Erisman, Dorothy Allday, Bonnie Willis, Dalene Nall, Bula Bess Bell, Dora Elizabeth McClaskey, Juanita Clark, Inez Leach, and Peggy Whitstone.

Miss Bonnie Willis, president of the club, will divide the members into two groups to entertain in the months of July and August.

Mrs. F. A. Hatch and Mrs. Frank Gribble, who lives in Eldorado, Okla., left Sunday for Louisville, Ky., where they will visit their son and daughter, Cpl. and Mrs. Fred Gribble. Mrs. Hatch also plans to visit her son, Pvt. Billy Hatch, who is stationed near Louisville.

Mrs. George McBayer of El Paso is visiting Mr. and Mrs. John McBayer.

Mrs. Morris Reed is visiting with her parents in Memphis, Tenn.

Lindley, and hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jarrard.

Make Your Own

Be determined to do your part toward saving food, canning equipment or no canning equipment. Don't glibly use the shortage of equipment as an excuse for not getting busy and filling those pantry shelves with jars of non-rationed food, put up just the way your family likes it best.

A few suggestions for home-made canning equipment are illustrated in the photograph above. They are:

1. A lard can to use as a water-bath canner. A pail, sirup bucket, wash boiler, or any other container in which water can be boiled, will serve, provided it is twelve or more inches deep.

2. Funnel. This was made from a No. 10 tin can.

3. A rack or platform to fit in the bottom of the canner. Make by tacking strips of ordorless wood together.

4. Coal tongs (part of fire set) make good jar lifter.

5. Strong string looped (slip hitch) around neck of jar. Use when neither jar lifter nor tongs can be found.

6. Wire basket to hold the jars while they are in the canner. Made from a scrap of wire mesh. (Poultry wire will do.)

Reunion Dinner Held In Jones Home Thursday, June 15

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jones entertained in their home last Thursday with a dinner and all-day reunion honoring their son, S-Sgt. James Hezz Jones and wife and daughter, Gaylon, of Camp Shelby, Mississippi. All members of the family were present with the exception of one son and family who reside in New Mexico.

S-Sgt. and Mrs. Hezz Jones and daughter, Gaylon, left Saturday to return to Mississippi. They also visited Mrs. Jones' mother while in Wellington.

Among those attending were Mrs. J. E. Perry of San Bernardino, California; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buse and family of Hereford; Mrs. Jack Birchfield and daughter and children of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Jones and family of Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Jones of Wellington and hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jones.

MY HEART IS OVER THERE

That's why my HANDS are busy here!

MILLIONS of American women are applying their hands over here, answering Uncle Sam's call to help with our national food crisis. With 20 million Victory Gardens and five billion jars of home-canned foods, they conserve our resources of fighting foods in 1943.

In 1944 you are being asked to raise and preserve 20 percent more, to assure every fighting Yank and his brother—as well as the home front—with needed nourishment.

For success, can with care, following proper instructions, and use BALL JARS. They have been the housewife's preference for more than 60 years. Leaders always!

LETTERS
PEOPLE

(Editor's Note: The following excerpts were taken from a letter written by Mrs. Charles King, the former Mayme Ruth Clark, to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Clark. Mrs. King is living in St. Louis and her husband is now serving in the U. S. armed forces in China.)

Dearest Folks:
Well, me and the Chinese went to the Ice Capades as I was telling you we were going to, and we had a wonderful time. There were sixteen Chinese and a few more Bellevillians and Emersonians. You see, Clyde Coventry, who organized the party lives in Belleville and works at Emerson's the same as I do. So there were some of each who bought the Chinese tickets. We took two Chinese officers and had quite a merry time. They spoke English quite well, but but not fluently. I carried my Chinese scarf and they explained the meanings of the various insignias on it. It has the Flying Tiger, the medical corps, and the one indicating the American force in China. They also tried to tell me how the women did the delicate embroidery, but their knowledge of embroidery terms was somewhat limited.

The Ice Capades was a beautiful show. Of course, all the show was done on ice skating and there was a wonderful mixture of skill, beauty, and comedy. In one show the chorus girls (called Ice Capets) rode stick horses and gave a rodeo. They were magnificent horses with wooden heads and cloth covered bodies. Each girl had a pair of legs and boots on the outside so that it looked as if she were really riding the horse. They were both pretty and funny. They even had a horse race.

After the show, our party had our pictures taken. That proved to be quite an attraction, too. At least we had a large audience. I have one of the pictures and am very proud of it. Besides the Chinese officers, it has a splendid picture of the Emerson Queen, and two of the skating girls, who joined the group for the novelty.

Clyde's wife works at Scott Field; so she took the picture out to show to the Chinese. She said they gathered around and "yapped" for a while. Then one of them brought the picture back to her and said, "We want copies. How many dollars?" We thought that was funny. The picture only cost 35 cents.

We all enjoyed it very much and were glad we were good neighbors. But we are doubly glad now, because they have reciprocated and have invited us to a Chinese dinner Friday night. Isn't that grand? If all the Chinese are like these fellows, then I like the Chinese, but of course these men are the cream of China, or they would not have been chosen to come to this country to study. They are all officers, all in the air force, and have been in actual combat. They will be teachers in radio when they go back to China. (These men were picked by Mme. Chiang, who personally pinned their wings on them.)

I had a very nice time at our Chinese dinner, but I was sickish the next day. We had a soup, roast pork, chicken with Chinese sauce, beef with spinach and Chinese celery, rice with ham and eggs, shrimp with tomatoes and peppers, and ribs cooked in a wine sauce. Practically all Chinese dishes contain meat of some kind. Then we had almond cakes and tea for dessert. The next day my tummy was rolling around like everything. We ate with chopsticks, not altogether, but we gave them a good try. Everything was cut in bite size pieces—which isn't such a bad idea at that. We all exchanged autographs and then took pictures. A man from the St. Louis Globe Democrat was there. He wanted a picture of the Chinese eating rice, but they refused to have such a picture taken, because it was unsuited to their dignity. Rice is the poor man's food. They compromised with a picture of them drinking tea. Our Emerson photographer took group pictures of all of us, but I haven't seen any of them yet.

One of the officers is named St. Sho. He was dubbed the Shoo Shoo Baby and he remained so. He was immensely popular partly because he spoke English better than most of the others, and also because he was extremely social and likeable. He likes America and says he would like to come back after the war is over.

Most of these fellows have been in the army seven years. One had just received notice of the birth of his third son, and he was very pleased. Another has a little girl six years old whom he has never seen. He doesn't hear from his wife any more and has no way of knowing if they are alive or not. They must be in occupied China. The more I have seen of these Chinese, the better I like them. Maybe Charles isn't in such a bad place after all.

Mayme Ruth Clark King.

What news will Gen. Eisenhower get from us?

You know now what we've heard from him.

We've heard that Eisenhower and his Americans have hurled themselves like a thunderbolt against the bristling defenses of Hitler's Wehrmacht!

We've heard that they are battering and smashing at our foe—sparing neither steel nor sweat nor blood in one final, furious assault that marks the supreme military effort of this War!

And what news do Eisenhower and his men expect from us?

Men and women of America—what the Invasion is to our fighting men, the 5th War Loan is to us at home!

For us, as well as for them, this is the crisis—the time for tremendous, overwhelming effort! Make no mistake! The 5th War Loan is the biggest, most vitally important financial effort of this whole War!

If the 5th War Loan is to succeed, each one of us must do more than ever before—must buy double . . . yes, triple . . . the Bonds we bought last time.

Our men expect to hear that we are buying double—that we are matching their sacrifice as best we can—that the American nation, soldiers and civilians together, is making one gigantic effort to win this War!

That's the news our men expect to hear from us.

Will you personally see that they get it?

And here are 5 more reasons for buying Extra Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

Rockets Look Like Sure Winners To Duncan

By PAT FLYNN
Staff Writer Amarillo News

The Wellington Skyrockets will not fizzle this year when the red and white clad eleven takes the field in opposition to other teams of this district. With 14 letter men returning to the fray and boosted by some fast, clever and start-threatening men, Coach Al Duncan is justly optimistic over chances for district championship and regional play.

Three practice games this spring between his squad of 32 starters proved the men eager, chance-taking and proficient in both offensive and defensive strength. Accurate passing combinations were found, good blockers, broken-field runners, quick punters and hard tacklers is all any coach desires to open a season. Duncan has all of this plus ample reserve strength to make a fair bid for the title.

And just as Shamrock's Fighting Irish point to the Wellington Skyrockets' annual Armistice Day clash, the Skyrockets retaliate in feverish excitement over the classic. It is the big game of the year and probably as closely contested as any competition the district affords.

The McLean Tigers is another team the Skyrockets watch each year and look forward to playing with a vengeance.

Seasoned veterans Harold Maddox, Quince Fulton, Alton Hobbs, Capt. I. D. Russell, Ted O'Neill, Tim Hatch, James Winter, Harold Burns, Co-Capt. Dan Austin, Edward Harrison, Jack Covey, Ernest Kendrick, A. B. Smith and Kenneth Winter have seen action with the Skyrockets last year. They are even better in spring practice than during the season play last winter, local fans agree.

But offering competition for a regular Skyrocket berth will be such fine material as Newman Brown, Frank Orr, W. C. Baird, Clifton Clark, Billy Nelson, Fane Derryberry, Benny Moore, O. B. Raburn, Herman McCutchen, Frank Jones, Jimmie Mauldin, Billy Gene Hunt, Junior Orr, Dan Trew, Parker Turner, Sam Raburn, Jap Thomas, and Walter Johnson.

For his backfield starters, Duncan recommends Russell and Austin as quarterbacks; Winter and Hatch at fullback; Brown and Maddox at right half; and O'Neill and Junior Orr at the left half position.

Spring Officially Ushered Out With 100-Degree Heat

So far as Wellington is concerned, this near 100 degree weather has been summer, but the calendar says it was the last two days of spring.

Monday, June 19, was the hottest day of the year here, with the temperature rising to a little above 100 degrees during the hottest part of the day, and still registering 100 at 6:00 p. m. Tuesday, the hottest day for most of the state, was two degrees cooler.

Wednesday, officially the first day of summer, gave all indications of being just as hot.

berry and Raburn at right guard; Frank Orr and Copeland, right tackle; and Covey and Harrison, regular right ends.

Competition for starting berths is extremely keen and the coach has not too many worries on any eleven he elects to place on the field.

The 1944 Skyrocket schedule follows: Sept. 15, open; Sept. 22 Paducah, here; Sept. 29, Childress, there; Oct. 6, Clarendon, there; Oct. 13, Lefors, there; Oct. 20, Memphis, here; Oct. 27, McLean, here; Nov. 3, Lakeview, there; Nov. 10, Shamrock, here; Nov. 17, Crowell, there; and Nov. 23, Wheeler, here.

Skyrockets are no better or brilliant than their fuse and powder. Duncan has both in the form of 32 sturdy gridsters, anxiously awaiting the opening kickoff whistle in September. Fans say they will shoot higher and brighter than in many years. The coach says he will wait and see what happens, but appears optimistic when he says it.

Pfc. Horton -

In describing this to the correspondent for a major wire service just after returning to the United States, he said he was watching a lively tank battle and cheering from a foxhole. He was down on his hands and knees, but still a little too high, and was hit in the shoulder and lungs. Crawling back to a first aid station, he was hit by rifle fire.

For eleven days he was unconscious. Later he was moved to North Africa by plane, where he was hospitalized for several months. Then he was sent home by hospital ship and from the east coast to McCloskey Hospital at Temple by plane.

He feels the treatment he received during this time was wonderful. "It was the best possible and that's pretty good," he said. For the last three months he has been at Brooke General Hospital.

Pfc. Horton wears ribbons showing that he has won the Purple Heart, the good conduct ribbon, Pre-Pearl Harbor ribbon and the European-North African Theatre of Operations ribbon.

Reared in the Lillie community, this young soldier attended school there and at Quail. He moved from this county to Coleman with his family seven years ago, and two years later volunteered for service in the Army.
