Council Women To Discuss Waste Fat Conservation

Part the rural women of Scurry County will play in saving waste kitchen fats, and the immediate beginning of a county-wide educational campaign on importance of saving all waste fans constituted highlights of the Scurry County Home Demonstration Council meeting Saturday afternoon, 3:00 o'clock, in the office of Estella Rabel, county home demonstration agent.

Miss Rabel reported this week that Saturday's meeting is resulting in appointment of committees for every community in the county, and each household will be contacted in an all-out effort to save fats for war explosives.

Discussion was given Saturday afternoon to the program for next year—a program that will, it is planned, make first aid and home nursing courses available for all who wish to take them.

It is important, council attendants learned, that each homemaker produce as much food as possible, conserve it and feed the family, nutritionally correct, for strong bodies and minds.

Members of the council nominating committee named officers for the council for next year—officers who will be voted on at the council's November meeting. In adjourning, the council voted to meet in November.

Air Corps Man Here Wednesday.

A representative from Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, will be in Snyder Wednesday, October 21, to interview applicants for mechanics in the U. S. Army Air Corps. Interested young men are asked to contact the Goodfellow Field representative at the Snyder post office.

A son, John Billy, weighing seven pounds and 10 ounces, was born October 15 to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Koonsman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Maule are announcing a daughter; Linda Louise, born October 16. Weight, six pounds, 10 ounces.

Antz in Pantz

Which is the safest thing to do, when you have your "bread hooks" around the heavy end of a big slab of scrap iron and suddenly discover you have ants in your pants—drop the scrap on your feet or go ahead and load the scrap and let the ants sting where they will?

This situation faced Foy Wade Tuesday, when he and others beban to load a big pile of scrap metals. Foy suddenly discovered, when he had all the scrap he could lift, that some red ants were in his trousers, and stinging where it really hurt.

Evidencing true patriotism, however, the Snyder baker disregarded the red ants until he got the scrap metal into a truck. He swears prompt medication relieved the pain of the "enemy attack," but hopes no one ever puts a big pile of junk in an ant bed again.

Tigers Will Meet Merkel in Second Conference Tilt

Second conference game of the season for Snyder's Tigers, scheduled Friday evening against Loraine, was cancelled because of unusually heavy rainfall.

Snyder, according to Snyder sports fans, intends to make up for the cancellation of the Snyder-Loraine tilt when the Tigers clash against the Merkel Badgers at Merkel Friday of this week.

Merkel, according to dope put out by the experts, is a strong contender in Class A football, and Snyder was given an even chance this week—despite Merkel's brilliant record—to defeat the Badgers Friday evening.

Coach Frank Weaver states the Tigers are in good physical trim, and should be able to give the Badgers a close run for scores Friday evening.

Following the Merkel clash, Snyder, tentatively, will meet Loraine here November 6.

Laverne Middleton, Frances Leath Win Poster Prize Award

LaVerne Middleton emerged Friday as first prize winner, high school division, and Frances Leath as first prize winner, grade school division, in the poster contest conducted at Snyder Schools last week by the Scurry County scrap salvage committee.

Both the girls received a prize of $5 each, in defense stamps, for first place posters. Other contest winners were: Bonnie Lou Parks, second prize of $2.50 in the high school division; Richard Taylor, third prize of $1; Joe Wright Sentell, second prize of $2.50 in grade school division; and Bobbie Gray, third prize of $1 in defense stamps in the grade school division.

Not only winning posters, but other entries have been posted this week in the display windows of Snyder business firms.

City Judge Goes to Angelo Supply Camp

John DeShazo, city judge here for the last three years, left last Thursday for San Angelo, where he is working in a government supply camp. DeShazo has been attached, the past several months, with Western Auto Associate Store, east side of the square.

DeShazo, a veteran of World War No. 1 and member of the Will Layne American Legion Post No. 181, will be transferred to Pyote after working at San Angelo, federal officials state.

Mrs. DeShazo and their two children, Dale and Anna Mae, will continue to reside in Snyder. Both children are enrolled in Snyder Schools.

Certificates Not to Be Required on Trailers

Johnnie M. Ammons, county AAA administrative officer, reported Wednesday a telegram received from B. F. Vance, state AAA chairman, reveals that Certificates of War Necessity for trailers will not be needed by trailer owners.

Previously, Ammons reports, information had been released over the entire state to the effect Certificates of War Necessity would be required for all trailers. The new ruling received Wednesday will be cheering to county owners of farm and commercial trailers.

OIL LEASING IN REGION BOOMS AS TEST LOOMS

About 10 Sections Blocked This Week in Camp Springs Area, Other Deals Recorded

The Denver Producing and Refining Company of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, this week recorded oil and gas leases on about 10 sections in Block 2, north of Camp Springs, around the old Pender well which showed oil at 5,100 feet 10 years ago. The acreage is in the Houston & Texas Central Railroad Company Survey.

The Forest Development Company, it will be recalled, drilled a well near this area about two years ago, but stopped at 5,000 feet.

Leases were taken on the old Davis Ranch of eight and one-half sections, now owned by J. S. Criswell of Graham. Some of the Koonsman and Helms land was also leased to round out the block. This may lead to some wildcat drilling in Northeast Scurry County—a thing that county residents have been hopefully awaiting for several months.

Buffington & Smith have sold by lease assignment to A. L. and C. L. Wasson of Big Spring their interest in the oil and gas least they hold in the east one-half of the southwest one-fourth, Section 100; and the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter, Section 99, and a one-half interest in the west one-half of the northwest one-fourth, Section 99, for a nice consideration.

The sale, of considerable size, by Buffington & Smith was evidenced by $22 in cancelled revenue stamps on the assignment. Judge James T. Brooks of Big Spring handled legal matters in connection with the trade.

"Big Jim" Cantrell was in Snyder Wednesday, taking oil and gas leases in the Union area, where it is reported Coffield & Guthrie, Inc., will drill another well. The well, it is understood, will be drilled near the previous Coffield & Guthrie test on the old J. Wright Mooar Ranch.

Representatives of the Standard Oil Company of Texas, Pat Riley and Bill Lark, are registered at the Manhattan Hotel, and will be here some time on official company business.

This nation is now drastically in need of oil, and wildcat activity that may break loose here in the near future would add considerably to business in this trade area. Drilling activity in this county on several fronts would be warmly appreciated by property and royalty owners alike.

Nutrition Classes Slated by Agent For Three Weeks

Estella Rabel, county home demonstration agent and University of Texas graduate who is conducting the Red Cross nutrition course in Snyder, reports classes will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings for the next three weeks.

Announcement was made last week that classes would be held on Monday and Thursday evenings, but Miss Rabel reports it has been necessary to change the dates of classes to avoid conflicts of any nature.

Miss Rabel points out that attendants can miss one lesson, and at the conclusion of the course be issued a modified Red Cross nutrition certificate.

Classes henceforth for the nutrition course are scheduled for October 26 and 27, November 2, 3, 9 and 10. Each class will begin at 8:00 p. m. and continue until 10:00 p. m. All classes will be held in the county home demonstration agent's office.

84-Year-Old Woman Helps in Scrap Drive

Interesting sidelight to Scurry County's all-out scrap metals drive Tuesday was marked up Tuesday afternoon when "Grandmother" Davis, 84-year-old Snyder resident, waved down a collection truck and turned in her contribution of scrap.

Size of the donation "Grandmother" Davis made was not so important, county scrap salvage committeemen report, but the spirit in which she gave all the scrap she could find is worthy of personal commendation, committeemen declare.

The West Snyder resident has a grandson who is reported missing in the Solomon Islands, and said "every pound we can give to slap the Japs will help avenge the loss of American boys on foreign soil."

ESTIMATED 1,000 TONS OF METAL GATHERED IN ALL-DAY EFFORT

Most complete picture of 100 per cent cooperation ever witnessed here between Snyder and Scurry County people was marked up Tuesday evening, with conclusion of Scurry County's all-out, all-day scrap metals drive.

Although an exact estimate of the scrap collected in Tuesday's all-out roundup will not be available for some time, it is conceded that 1,000 tons, or 2,000,000 pounds, were piled entirely around the courthouse square.

Tuesday's drive opened immediately after a brief concert by Snyder's Tiger Band, and raising of the U. S. flag. Within 30 minutes after Major Jim Byrd and Captain Collie Fish issued their final commands, scrap metal was being unloaded on the courthouse lawn.

All Snyder stores and business firms were closed Tuesday for the drive, and men, women and children took part in the gigantic drive. Streets, alleys, lots and all other places in Snyder were combed thoroughly for the precious scrap.

Members of the Scurry County scrap salvage committee, and members of community committees, report nothing has ever happened here like Tuesday's drive.

Several hundred used car and tractor tires were brought in, as were several miles of used wire and dozens of old car bodies, scores of tin tubs, innumerable pieces of heavy machinery, and in fact everything needed to blast Hitler and the Japs off the map.

The 1,000 tons of scrap metals collected in Tuesday's drive will be sorted, graded and taken as soon as possible to the railroad, and sent direct to smelters of the nation. Wells and Bruton Wrecking Yards have purchased the enormous collection of scrap, each getting one-half.

Proceeds from the drive, after cost of shipping is paid, will go to the American Red Cross, salvage committee officials state.

Something in the neighborhood of 150 trucks and pick-ups participated in the drive over the entire county. Morale of the Snyder business people, county farmers and ranchers who helped in the campaign was high throughout the day.

L. W. Carter of the Frasier Milling Company, Hereford, furnished a public address system and a sound car all day to direct truckers and salvage workers.

Due to the fact Tuesday's drive was an unprecedented success, scrap salvage committeemen wish to thank all who took part in any way. Special thanks to any one person, or group, would be difficult to single out officials declare.

Curtain for the drive was raised Tuesday morning, 7:00 o'clock, when the fire siren, gin whistles and oil mill whistle over town aroused Snyder residents. By 8:00 o'clock, something like 300 men and boys were on the courthouse lawn, and some 65 trucks and pickups assembled to start bringing in the scrap.

Due to the fact members of the closing committee got in the list of some firms late last Wednesday, who closed Tuesday for the drive, The Times wishes to add these names to the list published last week:

Dunnam Brothers Mattress Factory, Carden Service Station, Hunnicutt Service Station, Herman Doak, Conoco assignee, Bryant-Link Company, Times Publishing Company, Hugh Boren & Son;

Snyder Abstract & Title Company, E & H Cafe, J. M. Newton Grocery, King & Brown, J. H. Birdwell Produce, E. L. Darby Blacksmith Shop, Melvis Neal, Wilson & Company, W. W. Morgan, Snyder Implement Company, Irwin's Drug Store, Texas Electric Service Station, Stinson Drug No. 2, J. H. Sears & Company, Frank's Department Store, A. B. Eicke, O. P. Tate, Frank Arnett and Ben Franklin Store.

Names of any other firms which closed, and which accidentally might not be listed, is due entirely to an oversight on the part of scrap salvage committeemen, who wish to say: "Thanks everybody in Scurry County. You all did a grand job Tuesday!".

Death of Girl at Fluvanna Ruled Suicide at Inquest

H. C. Flournoy, Fluvanna justice of the peace, Friday morning returned a verdict of "death, from wounds self inflicted" in the case of Susie Edith Lindsey, 21, who died last Thursday evening, 9:45 o'clock, at the Lindsey residence two miles east of Fluvanna.

The Lindsey girl, according to findings of the justice of the peace, killed herself with a blast last Thursday evening from a shotgun.

Sergeant Albert B. Carlton, former Snyder boy who was reported missing after the fall of Corregidor, is still alive, according to Mrs. Leon B. Withers of Dallas, a sister, who declares she saw Sergeant Carlton's picture in last Thursday's Dallas News.

Mrs. Withers declares Albert picture was included in the group picture of American soldiers loading a plane with bombs on Guadalcanal Island.

"I'm sure that was my brother," the Dallas woman states, "and I know, in my own heart, he's still alive."

Carlton is with the U. S. Marines. His mother, Mrs. W. B. Carlton, and sister, Nelle, are now residing in Abilene.

THREE INCHES OF RAIN FALLS FRIDAY NIGHT

Hunt for Man in Union Section Is Sidelight to Heavy Downpour —But He Wasn't Lost

Snyder and Scurry County were drenched Friday night by three and one-half inches of rainfall, and Snyder volunteer fire department had a lost man hunt to spice the activities of the night.

R. L. Jones, resident of the Union community, was reported missing Friday night, after he failed to reach his home—where he had gone to get a tractor and pull his stuck car out of the mud about one mile from his residence.

The story of the missing man turned out happily, however, when Jones was located—en route to his car with a lantern—a few minutes before Snyder firemen arrived at the site.

According to stories related to firemen, Jones left his wife and some other women, late Friday afternoon, in the family car, which was stuck, and told them he would go home and bring a tractor to pull the car out. When he failed to return, an alarm was sounded. Jones, it developed, was kept from reaching his house by heavy rains, and took refuge at a neighbor's.

The Camp Springs and Midway communities, in Eastern Scurry County, reported three and one-fourth inches of rain, plus considerable hail.

The Dermott and Fluvanna sectors of the county received around four inches of rain Friday night, and water, for several hours, ran across Highway 7 between Snyder and Dermott. Traffic was temporarily halted until the overflow waters subsided.

Cotton crops over the county were damaged, to an extent, by Friday night's rain. Around three inches of rain was reported in the Hermleigh, Dunn and Ira communities.

Southwest tip of the county, lying in the Colorado River watershed, reported almost four inches of precipitation in a five-hour period.

Firemen Completing Course in First Aid

N. W. Autry, Snyder volunteer fire department chief, reports two more classes will be held after this (Thursday) evening's class in first aid, which will be held at the fire station.

Jim White of Colorado City is conducting the class in first aid for the Snyder fire department. Total of 24 firemen and auxiliary members are enrolled in the course.

Completion of the course will be marked by the awarding of certificates to those who pass the course.

Sixth Candidate for Senator Announces

Frank S. Roberts of Stephens County has thrown his hat into the ring to become the sixth candidate for state senator of the 24th District.

With the entry of Roberts into the race, the names, in addition to his, which will appear on the official ballot for the special election, to be held at the same time as the general election November 3, are:

A. A. (Pat) Bullock, Snyder.
Cleve Calloway, Cross Plains.
Charlie Jones, Fisher County.
Cecil A. Lotief, Rotan.
Howard C. Davidson, Rotan.

Let'Em Fly!

Snyder and Scurry County people who have been witnessing frequent night flights of advanced training planes and twin-engined bombers across the county are becoming aware of a greatly increased tempo in training activities of army flying schools in this trade area.

Representatives of flying schools in a radius of Snyder advise that such flights will become more frequent, as more and more flying cadets are trained for Uncle Sam. County residents are asked to refrain from getting out in open spaces, when planes fly over at night, and attempt to attract attention of fliers by waving lanterns, or clicking flashlights on and off.

200 Kits for Men In Service Called For by Red Cross

Estella Rabel and Mrs. Ixon Joyce, co-chairmen of the Scurry County Red Cross soldier kit project, issued an appeal this week to women of Snyder and Scurry County to help fill 200 kits for men in service at the earliest possible date.

"If you are willing to help us with our service kit project," Miss Rabel and Mrs. Joyce state, "please leave your contributions at the Red Cross roo many week-day afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00 o'clock.

"All donations are on a voluntary basis. We are not demanding that you donate, but we do believe your dollar couldn't serve any better purpose than to help fill service kits for our boys serving Uncle Sam.

"Have you ever thought of the numerous items of pleasure you could by for $1? Would you be willing to stay at home a few nights, or do your own home work in order to help fill service kits for the boys overseas?" Miss Rabel asks.

The co-chairmen report that each American boy, as he sails, is presented with a kit—one which contains envelopes, pencil writing pad, cards, cigarettes, razor blades and other needed items.

Miss Rabel and Mrs. Joyce stress the fact $1 is a small amount to give for a soldier, sailor, marine or air corps member who will fight our battles for us. Those unable to give $1 are asked to "chip in" with a few neighbors and pool their contributions.

Two Buy $1000 War Bonds Here Tuesday

Tuesday's all-out scrap metals drive in Scurry County brought a type of patriotic response from a source salvage committeemen had not suspected—purchase of $1,000 U. S. war bonds each by two patriotic citizens.

Buster Cauble, member of the county's price control committee, and Dr. W. R. Johnson, veteran Snyder physician, each purchased a $1,000 war bond Tuesday to boost this county's contribution to the war effort from the viewpoint of cash money. Pat Bullock, county war bond and stamp sales chairman, reports a few such purchases "will put Scurry County over the top with vitally needed war bonds well before the deadline approaches."

Carnival to Appear In Snyder Next Week

J. D. Pigman, commander of the Will Layne American Legion Post No. 181, announces this week that a "feed" for ex-service men of Scurry County and their families will be staged Wednesday evening, November ... the Legion hut.

Further details of the "feed" and entertainment program will be carried in The Times.

Rains Slow Ginnings As 12,804 Reported

Slowing down considerably from previous weeks, unofficial figures gathered late Wednesday reveal Scurry County cotton ginnings, 1942 season to date, through noon Wednesday stood at 12,804 bales.

Rainfall Friday night made it impossible for harvest hands to get into cotton fields until Monday afternoon—and in instances not until Tuesday or Wednesday.

PICTURES FAIL TO ARRIVE

Pictures of Scurry County's scrap drive conducted Tuesday, which were scheduled to be run on today's front page, failed to arrive in time for this week's edition from the engraver. The pictures will be printed next week.

HERMLEIGH TO GET NEW MAIL ROUTE NOV. 2

Camp Springs and Hobbs Will Be Served by 47.72-Mile Circuit South and East of Snyder

Fruition of a movement that has been gaining headway for the past several months was visualized this week for the Hermleigh, Midway and Camp Springs communities, with announcement from Ambrose O'Connell, first assistant postmaster general, Washington, D. C., that a new rural mail route out of Hermleigh would become effective Monday, November 2.

The new rural route, as outlined by O'Connell, will embrace the Camp Springs Star Route, carry locked mail pouches from the Camp Springs post office, and make possible a new mail service to the Hobbs community.

O'Connell sets length of the new rural route as 47.72 miles, with pay for the carrier to be set at $2,160 annually—plus payment of five cents per mile.

The rural route has been defined as Route 3 out of Hermleigh, and the carrier will go north from Hermleigh to Highway 15, at the Gabe Williams place.

From this point, the carrier will go by Walter Sumruld's, by Strayhorn and Camp Springs post office. Thence to Hobbs and return to Camp Springs, after which the carrier will go south to Midway; then two miles west to the W. O. Aucutt corner.

From the Aucutt corner, the route goes south to the Moore place, east to the Nachlinger place and from this point southwest into Hermleigh.

Notified this week of the new route, Postmaster W. C. Fargason of Hermleigh said: "We are happy to have this opportunity of serving the people of Eastern Scurry and Western Fisher Counties in this way, and will spare no effort to give patrons the best mail service possible."

The Post Office Department points out Rural Route No. 3 will result in a speed-up of mail service to the Midway, Camp Springs and Hobbs communities.

When chosen, the route carrier will leave Hermleigh at 8:45 a. m., and return to the Hermleigh post office each day by 1:00 o'clock.

Radio Report of County Boy Is News to Parents

Concern of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Adams of Route 1 over the fate of their son, Private First Class O. R. (Othello) Adams, U. S. Marine Corps, was relieved Tuesday when they heard a radio news flash relating Adams' heroic act.

The hero of the day, according to a radio broadcast from the Pacific battlefront, was Private Adams, who slipped through the brush and shot down six Japanese and destroyed a Jap machine gun nest. Two buddies stood back with the fear that Adams would never return.

When Adams returned from his foray against the six Japs on Guadalcanal, he came to a little house and slipped from tree to tree until he got close enough to make a run and kick down the door to the structure.

The buddies of Adams believed, as the marine entered the house, that he was "done for," but Adams soon called them to "move up, for everything has been cleared out."

When Adams' two buddies got into the small house, they discovered the Scurry County boy had killed 14 Japs with his machine gun. The marine has been cited for heroism, and is expected to receive a distinguished service medal within the next few days, according to radio broadcasts.

AAA Officials Hear Car Necessity Rules

Johnnie M. Ammons, county AAA administrative officer, Ruth Davis, clerk, and S. L. Terry, member of the county Triple A committee, returned Friday evening from Big Spring, where the group attended last Thursday and Friday a district AAA meeting.

Information on Certificates of War Necessity for all commercial vehicles emerged as the chief topic of the district meeting in the Settles Hotel. Government loans on farm stored cotton were discussed, as were 1943 cotton acreage allotments.

Hobbs Boy Who Manned Gun on Carrier Yorktown Will Go Back into Pacific Fighting to Get More Japs

Private First Class Harold L. Horton, graduate of Hobbs School and son of C. W. Horton of the Hobbs community, who arrived over the week-end from San Francisco to visit his folks, is going back to get more Japs.

Private Horton was one of 95 U. S. marines who manned anti-aircraft guns on the Yorktown, the mighty carrier which made the Pacific so hot for the Japanese they passed up other targets to concentrate on her until they finally sent her to the bottom in a suicidal plane attack in June.

Harold is known to a number of Scurry and Fisher County people, and while attending Hobbs High School won considerable recognition as a member of the Hobbs football squad. He attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, before he enrolled in the U. S. marines in July, 1940. He was assigned to the Yorktown a year ago.

He will have a 30-day furlough before being assigned to the marine complement of another ship.

"The Yorktown wasn't just a place to park aircraft," Horton stated, full of pride in his ship. "It was a great fighting ship."

For 104 days, on the carrier's last battle cruise, the marine gunners stood by their posts, searching out the enemy in the Marshall and Gilbert Islands, in the Coral Sea, off Midway and in many other naval actions.

Not a single plane which dived at the Yorktown ever escaped, Horton claimed. The Japs and Germans reported her sinking several times before she went down, he added.

A little yellow pilot thumbed his nose at them in the Coral Sea battle, Horton reported. It was the last thing he ever did. A moment later a marine machine gun cut him in two before he could release his torpedoes.

"It's hard to explain this new type of naval warfare," the young Texan stated. "The worst thing is standing by, waiting for the action to begin. In the thick of battle, you never realize the danger, even when bombs hit near you. When it's all over, though, you get kinda nervous and fidgety. That first smoke really tastes good!"

While in San Francisco last week, Horton was issued his third set of uniforms. He lost his first in the Coral Sea when a 500-pound aerial bomb bored through the decks and demolished the marine quarters. A month later he parted company with his second issue in the battle of Midway.

Horton said he came through all the action without a scratch. His closest shave was when a bomb tore off a section of the ship's cat-walk near him and exploded in the sea, sending a shower of shrapnel near his gun crew.

More Women for War Work Needed

Mrs. J. G. Hicks, director of Red Cross production work for Scurry County, makes another appeal this week to women of Snyder and the county to help with the program. She states that women may call at the Red Cross center, east side of the square, and carry materials for making blouses to their homes.

Mrs. Bud Rogers has set a noble example for other women of the county, Mrs. Hicks says. Of the county quota of 240 blouses, Mrs. Rogers has turned out 50. Mrs. Hicks hopes that others may catch the spirit and realize the need for production of the blouses. Because of complete directions given by Red Cross officials for making the blouses, almost any woman can turn out several garments daily.

20,065 Sheep of County in Peril By Worm Ravage

Scurry County ranchers and farmers were advised Tuesday by Edward S. Hyman, county agricultural agent with Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, that burning of vegetation on pastures and grazing lands in this area is not a successful method of controlling the ravages of stomach worms in sheep and goats.

Latest figures available reveal the approximate number of sheep on Scurry County ranches is 20,065 head.

County sheep and goat raisers are advised that the animals absorb the larva of stomach worms while grazing, and the first stage of the life cycle of the pest begins in the stomach. Sheep men who have directed inquiries to the county agent's office are reminded that "plowing the land, or burning the grass, cannot be depended upon to control the pest. Burning the vegetation could at most destroy only those larvae which are at the time upon the vegetation."

"Studies on stomach worms," Hyman declares, "show that infested animals spread the stomach worm eggs wherever their droppings fall. The infective larvae is migratory, crawling to the tips of the grass blades at night and descending to the base of the grass as daylight advances. The ascending and descending movement continues for 20 to 30 days, after which the larvae enters the ground, where they remain for a year.

The county agent points out that the depth to which the larvae burrows into the soil suggests that they are able to protect themselves against the most unfavorable conditions. In view of the known habits of the pest, burning the grass as a means of control not only is likely to fail, but creates a hazard for woodlands, wildlife and grazing areas so necessary to meeting wartime production quotas, Hyman observes.

Monday Night Pre-Scrap Drive Rally Hears Jay Address

An unusually large crowd gathered Monday evening at the band stand, northwest corner of the courthouse lawn, to hear Ed F. Jay of Sweetwater, Farm Credit Administration field representative, urge Scurry County "to give its all Tuesday in the county-wide scrap metals drive."

Snyder's Tiger Band, directed by A. M. Martin, gave a brief concert preceding Jay's address. E. O. Wedgeworth, Scurry County Chamber of Commerce manager, spoke briefly and had general charge of the rally.

"I was with General Pershing's group of soldiers when the Armistice was signed to World War No. 1," Jay said, "and I plead with you to give all the scrap metals you can, buy all the war bonds you can and do everything else you are called upon to keep Johnny Doughboy on the firing line for Uncle Sam."

Meat-Sharing Group Suggests Maximums

These suggested weekly meat allotments for children under the government's voluntary share-the-meat program, were announced by the Food Requirements Committee:

Children under six years of age, three-fourths pound of beef, pork, veal, lamb or mutton.

Children between six and 12, one and one-half pounds of the same meats.

The committee also announced that sausages are not to be included in the two and one-half pounds of meat to which every adult has been asked to limit himself. Poultry, liver, tongue, sweetbread or kidneys, brains, tripe, hearts, knuckles and fish also are not included.

Permits for Farmer-Owned Cars Slated

W. M. Hairston, chairman of the recently created Scurry County Farm Transportation committee, urges all Scurry County commercial vehicle owners to meet either today (Thursday), Friday or Saturday with the board and sign applications for Certificates of War Necessity.

Tabulations made this week indicate 208 owners of commercial vehicles in the county—including all owners of trucks, pick-ups and other vehicles which come under the commercial ruling.

Hairston points out that no owner of a commercial vehicle can obtain gasoline, repairs, tires or tubes for commercial vehicles after November 15 unless the owner has a Certificate of War Necessity.

New angle to this business of putting V's for victory in conspicuous places, and using the morse coding, three dots and a dash, for the letter was notified Tuesday on the Model A Ford coupe of a passing motorist.

The motorist, not to be outdone, had the V for victory across the entire top of his vehicle, and the three dots and a dash appropriately in front of the V.

Snyder business men who noticed the car figure the motorist must have been at least air-minded, for only planes, or people in upstairs locations, could fully appreciate the symbol from a bird's eye point of view.

Regulations on Sale Of Clothing Given In Price Pamphlets

All Scurry County merchants who are selling clothing were advised Wednesday by Giles Bowers, general chairman of Scurry County's War Price and Ration Board, that the board now has a quantity of pamphlets explaining how to set ceiling prices for men's and boys' tailored garments and staple work clothing.

It is vitally important, the board points out, that every merchant in the county have one of the pamphlets for a reference in his place of business.

One of the pamphlets deals with Maximum Price Regulation No. 177, governing the price for men's and boys' tailored garments such as suits with short pants, suits with knicker or golf pants, suits with long pants, and suits with breeches; separate coats, including sport coats, sack coats, and blouses made in the manner commonly used for coats, separate vests, ceremonial and religious vestments, topcoats and overcoats.

The other pamphlet deals with Maximum Price Regulation No. 208, governing the price of staple work clothing such as bib overalls, overall jackets, waist-band overalls or dungarees, work shirts and pants, one-piece work suits and work breeches, and such work clothing materials as denims, carded yarn shirting chambrays and coverts; finished jeans and drills, cottonades, whipcords, moleskins and twills.

Lions Meet Monday In Weekly Program

Good attendance marked Monday's regular weekly Lions Club luncheon held in the Manhattan Hotel—staged one day earlier than customary to allow Snyder business men to participate in Tuesday's county-wide scrap drive.

Mrs. Margry Noel, faculty member of Fluvanna Schools, gave several musical numbers for the club's entertainment program, and Rose Marie Clawson, head of the speech department in Snyder Schools, gave an immediately popular reading, "What Does America Mean to You?"

Announcements concerning Tuesday's all-out scrap metals drive were made by club officers, and members were reminded the club would meet next Tuesday noon, as usual.

Gas Rationing to Not Affect Farm Labor Movement

Gasoline rationing will not hinder movement of migratory farm laborers in Scurry and adjoining counties, the Scurry County U. S. Department of Agriculture War Board learned Tuesday.

Citing instructions from William M. Jeffers, War Production Board rubber director, the Scurry County War Board personnel points out that migratory workers who move with the harvest from one section of the country to another will be entitled to supplementary gasoline rations to move about as their work requires.

Under gasoline rationing already in operation in the East and under plans being prepared for nationwide tire conservation, workers engaged on farms rank as essential workers in the war effort, and need have no fear of being stranded away from home.

Vance added that workers now away from home who continue working in the areas where they are located will be entitled to gasoline rations necessary to carry on their work and to get them back to their homes when their work has been completed.

Army Needs Younger Men for Enlistments

U. S. Army representatives announced Tuesday that Elvin E. Gruver, PFC, DEML, R. S., is now substation commander at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Sweetwater. Gruver replaces Sergeant Costello, who was formerly in charge of the Sweetwater recruiting station and who has been transferred to another district.

Gruver states the army is badly in need of younger men from Scurry, Fisher, Borden, Garza and other counties in this area. Those interested in enlisting through the Sweetwater station are asked to contact Gruver at the earliest possible date.

Snyder Soldier in Alaska Says That Things Look Good.

Mrs. Lillie Horton, 1010 26th Street, this week received a letter from her son, Sergeant John Horton, who is with the U. S. Army Medical Corps in Alaska, that will prove interesting to Times readers.

John, as a number of Snyder people recall, attended Snyder School, and was reared in the Camp Springs community. His letter to his mother follows:

"There isn't much to say, except that I'm o. k. and hope you are the same.

"The danger here is less every day. You can believe most all the news you hear, although it's old. Things look pretty good now. I'll get out my long handles and dig in for the winter. I still have a warm place to work and the food is as good as can be expected.

"They have started giving furloughs to a small per cent of the men, but the ones who have been here the longest get to go first.

"I sure enjoy the paper. Tell Leon Guinn I enjoy his column, and wish I could add a few words about how some of the people are acting.

"Love,
Johnny"

John joined the army last October, and was first stationed in the United States before being transferred to Alaska.

Mrs. Horton will have two service stars in her window, for she has another son, Don, who is with the U. S. Army in Hawaii. Don, well known to Scurry County people, is a private, and has been in the army since last April.

The long-time Scurry County resident has a third son, Homer of Houston, U. S. Navy, Retired, who sailed the seven seas for more than 16 years. He is well known o older residents of the county.

New Wire Service to Service Men Offered

Mrs. Margaret Deakins Burge, Snyder Western Union operator, announces Western Union has adopted "expeditionary force messages" as a means of getting word from parents, wives and sweethearts to the boys now in military service.

Communications that may be sent boys in military service under the heading, "expeditionary force messages," the wording may not consist of more than three numbered texts from a long list she has.

Cost of the messages, in most cases, is 60 cents, outside of the federal tax. The messages may be sent from any telegraph office.

No. 101 of the printed texts is expected to prove most popular with Scurry County boys in service. It reads: "Have sent you ____ dollars." No. 7 reads: "Letter and telegram received, many thanks." Other printed texts may be found at the Snyder Western Union office, in the lobby of the Manhattan Hotel.

TEXAS COTTON CROP ESTIMATE 3,403,000 BALES

Government Prediction Is Based on October 1 Condition of 77 Per Cent Normal Production

Texas cotton growers are expected to produce this year 3,403,000 bales with an average of 201 pounds of lint cotton to the acre, based on an October 1 condition of 77 per cent normal.

This is the forecast of the United States Department of Agriculture as announced last Thursday.

Texas 1942 ginnings to October 1 were announced by the Bureau of the Census as 1,227,020 bales, compared with 809,168 bales to the like date last year.

The agriculture department estimated this year's cotton crop at 13,818,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight each, based on October 1 conditions.

The estimate compares with 14,028,000 bales forecast a month ago. Last year's production was 10,774,000 bales. The 1931-40 10-year average production was 13,109,000 bales.

The condition of the crop on October 1 was 80 per cent of a normal, compared with 79 a month ago, 65 a year ago, and the 1931-40 10-year October 1 average of 65.

Indicated acre yield is 285 pounds of lint cotton to the acre, compared with 289.3 pounds indicated a month ago, 231.9 pounds produced last year, and 215 pounds, the 10-year average yield.

The census bureau reported that cotton of this year's growth ginned to October 1 totaled 5,009,180 running bales and excluding linters, compared with 4,713,059 bales a year ago, and 3,923,172 bales two years ago.

Old Drivers' Licenses Expire October 31

Scurry County motorists were advised this week that they had better apply for drivers' licenses immediately, if they have not already done so.

No old style drivers' licenses—the kind with two detachable segments—will be good after November 1. The law provides that, unless holders of these old licenses get their applications for renewal in before midnight, November 1, they will have to take an examination.

Attaches of the Texas State Police report a representative of the Drivers' License Division will be in Snyder, at the sheriff's office, Tuesday and Thursday, 1:30 to 4:00 p. m., for the remainder of October. The drivers' license representative urges all county motorists who can to contact him Tuesday of next week.

Loan Rates on 1942 Cotton Boosted One Cent by Forecast

Weekly cotton market review of the agricultural marketing administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture, reports loan rates on the 1942 cotton crop have been boosted one cent per pound the past week.

"The official forecast," the agricultural marketing administration points out, "shows a forecast of 13,818,000 bales—a reduction of 210,000 bales from the September forecast.

"Loan rates on the 1942 cotton crop," the review declares, "have been raised by the Commodity Credit Corporation from 85 to 90 per cent of parity. Additional payments will be made to producers who have already obtained loans on the 1942 crop.

"The Dallas price Friday was 18.78 cents, 23 points higher than that of a week ago. The basis strengthened further in the Dallas market reflecting the strong demand among shippers for current offerings. Growers continue to hold off, pending the final outcome of price legislation," the review concludes.

McAdams Says We Must Not Be too Late

"Not a single American boy should die because we failed to get him fighting equipment," Joe B. McAdams, assistant executive secretary of the Texas general salvage committee, told people of this trade area Saturday afternoon, at a rally staged on the courthouse lawn.

"We have witnessed the plight of other countries who gave too little, too late," McAdams said, "and we hope Tuesday's all-out scrap drive will put Scurry County right at the top of the list."

Snyder's Tiger Band gave a concert of patriotic numbers, and E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager, acted as master of ceremonies for the pre-scrap drive roundup.

RED CROSS AT SNYDER MEETS SPONGE QUOTA

Goal of 650 Surgical Dressings per Day Made During September, And New Quota Assigned

Mrs. Gerald G. Gordon and Mrs. J. P. Nelson, in charge of Red Cross surgical dressing work in Snyder, report the Scurry County quota of 650 surgical sponges daily, Monday through Friday, have been turned out at the Red Cross center since opening of the division in September.

Mmes. Gordon and Nelson were advised Tuesday afternoon that an other quota of 25,200 surgical dressings have been shipped to Snyder. This means a renewal of interest in the dressing program, and greater efforts to meet the new quota assigned.

The women in charge of the program invite more women of Snyder to attend on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays to help the local unit reach its goal.

Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Nelson issue an appeal to clubs and churches of Snyder to encourage members to give freely of their time for Red Cross surgical dressing work. It is not only a duty, they declare, but a privilege to help with war work.

A number of women, it is reported, are giving more than one afternoon a week, and others are asked to donate as much time as possible.

The supervisors of the surgical dressing program state an old stove, one which burns coke, coal, wood or kerosene, will be needed in the work center. Anyone who will donate such a stove is urged to contact Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Gordon or E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce manager.

Loans on Cotton In Farm Storage To Be Made Soon

W. M. Hairston, chairman of Scurry County's Agricultural Adjustment Administration committee, reported Wednesday that government loans on cotton in farm storage will be made this year for the first time.

This announcement has been eagerly awaited by hundreds of Scurry County cotton producers, who are, in many cases, reluctant to offer cotton from the 1942 crop for outright sale—due to the muddle farm price legislation in Congress has been in the past few weeks.

Previously, only cotton in commercial warehouses could be placed in government loans, and the liberalized provision is expected to make loans on farm stored cotton possible throughout the Cotton Belt.

Under the 1942 cotton loan program, Hairston explains, loans will be available only to cooperators on eligible cotton stored in approved farm structures. The farm storage phase of the loan program will be administered by the ACC, and a member must approve all loans.

Jeffers Says Tires to Be Available for All

Top question asked in recent days by Snyder and Scurry County people has been woven around the gasoline rationing program and enough automobile tires to keep essential cars in operation.

Postmaster Urges Small Packages Be Mailed to Service Men Overseas

Postmaster Warren Dodson of the Snyder post office reminds Snyder and Scurry County people this week that Saturday, October 31, will be the deadline for sending Christmas packages to boys in military service overseas.

Packages sent to boys overseas, as a number of Scurry County people know, should not exceed 42 inches in length any way, and not weigh more than 11 pounds.

New postal regulations state positively, for instance, that the fluid must be out of any cigarette lighters sent to boys in uniform.

But please, Mr. and Mrs. Scurry County Citizen, don't send the soldier, sailor or marine a "white elephant" for Yuletide. Because a service-man's life is lived according to strict regulations and his available space for non-essentials is nil, the plea is for small, non-bulky items which can be carried about and easily packed.

Recent surveys conducted by the USO, Red Cross and other agencies reveal that cigarettes, for example, rank first with the army, and fifth with the navy.

Contrary to the general conception of service men, games of all types rank high on the "junk" list. Either the service men are not interested, or ample facilities for recreation are not provided at the fighting fronts.

Home made cookies, cakes and prepared foods always rank high with service men, but they may be shipped outside the United States only if hermetically sealed.

Books, magazines and stationery occupy high places on the list of presents a man in the service wants for Christmas. Pen and pencil sets with clips are rated "tops."

Packages for men in the United States, Dodson declares, are subject only to ordinary postal regulations. For men overseas, however, one package from any one person should be sent in a week.

All packages sent to service men are subject to inspection. Anything that will make opening easier will be appreciated by the postal department. This censorship is for the good of the person to whom the Christmas cheer is being sent.

And please be sure, when sending a Christmas cheer package to that boy of yours, or your sweetheart in service, to write, print or type his full address. His rank, unit to which assigned and name of his ship or post office is of prime importance if he is to receive his package on schedule.

Farmers, Others Must Get Permit To Operate Cars

The Scurry County Agricultural Adjustment Administration office announced Tuesday, through Johnnie M. Ammons, county administrative officer, that "Certificates of War Necessity" will be needed by every county owner of a commercial vehicle after November 15.

Figures compiled early this week indicate there are 208, commercial vehicles in the county. After November 15, a "Certificate of War Necessity" will be needed before the owner can buy gasoline, oil or parts.

Personnel of a Scurry County farm transportation committee will be named Saturday at the county AAA office.

Farmers of the county who own trucks, including pick-ups, are urged to go to their county farm transportation committee either Thursday, Friday or Saturday, October 22, 23 and 24, and obtain assistance in filling out applications for "Certificates of War Necessity."

Farmers and others who own commercial vehicles, it is pointed out, will have to obtain certificates after November 15 because the nation is already getting underway with an all-out effort to save rubber and automobile equipment.

The county Triple A office declares that rubber stocks are dipping to a new low, as pointed out by the Baruch rubber fact finding committee, and that supplies of repair parts are critically short. Ways must be found to keep every essential vehicle rolling for the war's duration; but such steps will require the utmost in conserving tires, vehicles and cutting out every unnecessary mile of travel.

Each summer Texas State College for Women conducts a school for students of Spanish at Saltillo, Mexico, directed by the department of foreign languages of the college, in which conversational Spanish and lectures on Mexican civilization and literature are given by Mexican instructors. Begun in 1941, it has been called an unusual experiment in inter-American education.

"Deep in the Heart of TEXAS..."

This song about Texas has become the Nation's Number One hit tune. They hum it in Boston, whistle it in Denver, and sing it out loud in Memphis. Texas is a swell place: ask any stranger what he likes most about Texas and his quick answer is, "The friendliness and open hospitality of Texas people."

That same friendliness and warm spirit of helpfulness is a very tangible part of the service we render. We're proud to be known as "Just Folks" who attend strictly to business, but who also take pleasure in applying the Golden Rule of friendship in our business dealings.

Boll Worm Situation

According to information received this week from the State-Wide Cotton Committee of Texas, reports which might be made now on pink boll worm infestation in this area or other sections of the state must of necessity be incomplete. Gin trash inspections, which have been started in this trade area will be finished by mid-December, but green bolls—which tell the true story of boll worm infestation—will not be inspected until next June. So farmers are cautioned against too much optimism.

The boll worm situation, at this early date, is encouraging though, for gin trash samples that have been inspected show no spread of the pink boll worm in areas not previously affected. Let's hope, one and all, that final checks on the boll worm situation will not result in still more sectors of this trade area being placed under plant quarantine regulations, a thing that always hits the cotton farmer where the "hair is short."

Hatchet for the Japs

The following reprint of a Times story, plus the timely comments of State Press, or J. J. Taylor, appeared in tht State Press column of The Dallas Morning News:

"Scurry County Times: A hatchet that killed a trapper in Borden County in January of 1937 was donated this week to the Scurry County scrap salvage drive, to be remelted to slay Germans and Japs. So was unfolded Wednesday the history of the hatchet, which was contributed by J. P. Billingsley, county clerk. Billingsley served as district clerk in 1937, when the hatchet slaying occurred. Some former bootlegger in the county at least showed his patriotism this week when he donated a part of a whisky still to the scrap collection pen on the southwest corner of the square. The still, remelted and properly used, can slap the ears off several Japs, it is pointed out.

"The mementos of crime, both violent and otherwise, are suitable contributions to a move designed to wipe out two of the greatest gangs of criminals still at large. The hatchet from the Borden County murder case will do its part when melted down, but the copper whisky still, even more valuable, will go further toward achieving victory in the scrap metal drive. The metal in the still, it is said, can slap the ears off of several Japs if it is melted and used properly. This is no exaggeration if you stop to think what the still was able to do to the mash and other ingredients passing through it. The output of this still, known colloquially, perhaps, as Scurry County Mountain Dew, could make its victims rise up and smack their ole pappy down."

Editorial of the Week

A STOP-GAP MEASURE

The closing of school in the South to help gather the big cotton crop in the face of a huge labor shortage is a fine thing, but it must be admitted that insofar as the whole critical farm labor problem is concerned it is only a temporary, stop-gap measure.

There is a disposition in Washington to wishful thinking in the matter of labor shortage on the farms of America, and it stems from evident unwillingness to face the whole labor problem of the Nation after abject surrender to the pressure of the union labor racketeers. It showed plainly in the so-called anti-inflation drive of the administration, blithely trying to save face with the buying public, after having brought about the abnormal increase in living costs by the most unprecedented wage increases in all history. These fellows were too willing to stop the living cost rises at the expense of the farmer, who had never been able to achieve parity, which had been so glibly promised him by this same administration.

With the almost certain inevitable food shortage facing them, these leaders now call for such weak measures as closing the schools for a short period, as a sop for the farmers in their plight of finding themselves in competition with war factories, and labor already moved to the urban centers.

Yes, we are closing our schools, and we ought to do it to get by the present cotton gathering crisis, but it will not solve the farm labor problem of next year and the year after next. It will take a labor control measure with teeth in it to undo the damage that is already done. Closing the schools for a week or two is only a stop-gap measure—don't forget it.—The Clarendon News.

We've been trying, as a nation, to think up new ways and means of getting in more scrap metals to junk yards, have even read of public buildings being razed to get reinforcement steel, and have, all this time, overlooked the juke boxes of the nation. . . . From the way music blares forth from most juke boxes, we could well do without them for the duration—without involving loss of life or property. . . . In fact, the junking of most juke boxes would prove the sweetest music to ears of the general public—believe it or not. . . . Which is the juke box worth the most as—a public nuisance or machine guns for soldier boys?

The Office of Price Administration is making a supreme effort to translate its regulations out of involved and technical language into wording that the average storekeeper on the corner can understand. . . . Lack of understanding, and difficulty of getting concise information on price laws, is given as the major cause for non-compliance in various sections of the country.

Current Comment

By LEON GUINN

Editor's Note—Expressions or opinions contained in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the opinions or policies of The Times. Current Comment is merely carried as a feature column.

Remember how readily both soldiers and civilians alike began to take to the United Service Organization, when the movement was first started? . . . Well, USO officials are burning under the skin in a nice way because the Red Cross is monopolizing on the entertainment of soldiers overseas, and are pulling plenty of wires behind the scenes trying to muscle in. . . . Due to limited funds, of course, the USO couldn't well keep abreast of service organizations for our boys overseas, whereas the Red Cross has had facilities for many years—just in-case such thing as another World War happened along.

Believe it or not, but Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy is beginning to worry over a possible invasion of his country. . . . Mussolini has distributed Italian troops to the point where from 10 to 12 divisions are now in Soviet Russia, 15 in North Africa, and 30 in the Balkans and the Eastern Mediterranean Islands. . . . Outside of Italy's invasion fear, things have been growing increasingly worse in the land of the olive tree and lemon groves since Mussolini began to neglect affairs of state several months ago in favor of feminine admirers. . . . Bits of news reaching reliable neutral sources indicate that Italy faces one of the most critical food shortages in years, and civilians in the hard pressed land will have to draw in their belts several notches before another harvest rolls around.

☆

We thought several years ago the United States would never get around to the matter, but billeting of war workers is now being seriously considered in a number of production areas, and is closer than most people think. . . . Affaches of the National Housing Agency are considering plans in 42 cities which would permit the owners to remain in a few rooms as tenants and rent the remainder to war workers at moderate price levels. . . . The housing problem is becoming acute in war production areas, and something is going to have to be done if war workers get places to stay. . . . Areas not engaged in war work do not realize, of course, how serious the situation is, but already are having the situation hammered home in no uncertain terms.

☆

In various sections of the country, the scrap metals drive is still not bringing in as much of the right kind of metal as the steel industry would like to see. . . . Men in the steel business are hoping that scrap metals shipments to smelters will pick up sharply before snow flies, because a lot of scrap will remain dormant throughout the winter unless moved before bad weather sets in. . . . Such drives are staged here in this county, where the population goes all-out, and are needed immediately to insure continuous operation of steel plants during the winter months.

Civilians may look for another sharp cut in civilian goods manufacturing around January 1, reliable hints from Washington this week indicate. . . . Studies are already underway to determine which civilian articles will be eliminated, and those civilian goods which are most needed will be produced under drastic simplification and standardization to trim off frills. . . . When we get a lot of the glamour stripped from us, we will awaken to the stark fact that we are engaged in an all-out global war that requires a whole list of personal sacrifices if we are to emerge victorious.

☆

Continued policy of slow pay habits with government agencies are proving a tough problem with a number of war industries. . . . The government, unlike individuals, partnerships or corporations, takes its own time to make payment on any type of account, and one Midwest tank maker recently had to borrow $2,000,000, for example, to meet payrolls until the government got some cash money en route to the arsenal. . . . We all like a democracy as the world's best form of government, but hate to see so much red tape, even in war-time, clutter up the democracy's functions to the point where firms engaging in vital work cannot get their pay promptly. . . . If we had more action and less "advisement" in government agencies, we would be far better off as a nation.

Due to the fact physical breakdowns among registrants over the 35-year age level is becoming increasingly alarming, the U. S. Army is pressing hard for early drafting of 18 and 19 year-old youths. . . . Indications in Washington over the week-end were that drafting of 18 and 19 year-old boys would get well underway over the nation by early November, since we are supposed to have a 10,000,000-man army by the end of 1942. . . . We have, at the moment, in excess of 6,000,000 men under arms, and by January will be inducting men at the rate of 950,000 per month.

Despite all that has been said and done in recent months, the high cost of living for the average American family still is on the upgrade, although President Roosevelt and his key officials have done all in their power to halt the ascending prices of household goods and commodities. . . . Wide-spread violations of OPA ceiling prices and price regulations are making the problem tougher, and OPA is still burning over the fact civilian goods are being cheapened in quality all the time—although still selling at prices as high as ever. . . . Should the government crack down too much on firms still making civilian goods, they can retaliate by reminding the government they have not yet received a cut of the war production pie.

Frank S. Roberts Of Breckenridge In Senate Race

Frank S. Roberts of Breckenridge this week announced his candidacy for the Texas Senate from the 24th District to succeed John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, democratic nominee for lieutenant-governor, after Smith takes office in January.

Roberts, a member of the law firm of Roberts & O'Connor of Breckenridge, is the son of a country doctor, worked his way through high school and college and taught school for a while. He said he is offering his services to the people as their senator based upon public service experience. This dates back to the Spanish-American War, in which he served as a Rough Rider under Teddy Roosevelt.

As an appointee of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel as a member of the State Board of Public Welfare, district judge of the 22nd District while residing at Lockhart, director of West Texas Chamber of Commerce and delegate to the Democratic Conventions in 1936 and 1940, both of which nominated President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Judge Roberts is known to many throughout this senatorial district.

He bore the distinction of being one of the youngest in service in the Spanish-American War, the oldest man in officer's training camp at Leon Springs during World War 1, where Buford Jester, railroad commissioner nominee, was the youngest, and offered his services in the present war but could not be assigned to duty because he was past 60. He served two and one-half years in World War 1, part of which was overseas.

He moved to Breckenridge following his discharge from service and there has served as president of the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce, commander of the American Legion Post and president of the Breckenridge Rotary Club.

In an interview at Breckenridge he said he felt he could serve effectively in the Senate during the war and in the after-war reconstruction, for business and the returning soldier, in which he emphasized he feels the preservation of states rights will be of vital importance.

He added: "I have never supported any man whose honesty and loyalty to the common good was questioned. I am 100 per cent for President Roosevelt and his program for winning the war, and the last ounce of energy, the last penny of our wealth and the full man power of the nation should be drafted to defeat the enemy and hasten our victory. I would give a 24-hour service of supply to our boys who are now fighting and dying on the battle fields of the world for our liberty."

Recruits Sought for Air Corps Divisions In Snyder Saturday

Sergeant C. W. Vinsant of the U. S. Army recruiting station, Sweetwater, announces he will be in Snyder Saturday, at the post office to interview prospects for the U. S. Air Corps, Ordnance and U. S. Signal Corps.

Sergeant Vinsant points out that boys 18 and 19 years of age now have their choice of 13 different branches of the U. S. Army, if they enlist at once.

The Sweetwater recruiting station official will arrive Saturday morning, 9:00 o'clock, at the Snyder post office. He declares that October 31 will be the deadline for men 18 to 50 to get what they want in the army.

Sergeant Vinsant points out that men from Scurry and nearby counties who enlist through the Sweetwater recruiting station will be first assigned to air corps at Big Spring, if they like. Saturday, however, will provide the only chance men will have to be assigned at Big Spring. All interested men are urged to contact Vinsant.

Fred Merrell Makes Record as Marksman

Corporal Fred Merrell, grandson of Mrs. Giles Garner, who is stationed at Camp Roberts, California, with the U. S. Army, was reported this week to have made an outstanding record as an army sharpshooter.

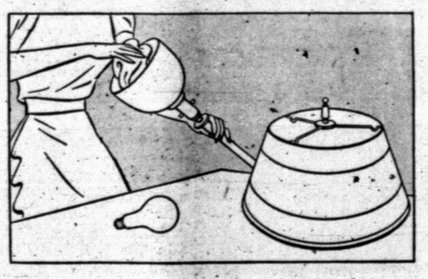

Corporal Merrell recently, in one shooting contest, scored 167 bulls-eyes out of a possible 180, and 176 out of a possible 200 in another match. He will receive a regulation sharp shooter's medal, army officials report.

Tips on How to—
Improve Your Lighting

Keep Lamps and Fixtures Clean

Dust is a frequent cause of poor light. Keep lamps and fixtures clean by regular washing of bulbs and diffusing bowls and you will get up to 30 per cent more light. Include a thorough cleaning of your lamps and lighting fixtures on your next housecleaning program, and see how much brighter your lights will be.

KEEP FUSES HANDY so if one should burn out, it can be replaced quickly and your electric service will be back on in a jiffy.

Boll Worm Situation

According to information received this week from the State-Wide Cotton Committee of Texas, reports which might be made now on pink boll worm infestation in this area or other sections of the state must of necessity be incomplete. Gin trash inspections, which have been started in this trade area will be finished by mid-December, but green bolls—which tell the true story of boll worm infestation—will not be inspected until next June. So farmers are cautioned against too much optimism.

The boll worm situation, at this early date, is encouraging though, for gin trash samples that have been inspected show no spread of the pink boll worm in areas not previously affected. Let's hope, one and all, that final checks on the boll worm situation will not result in still more sectors of this trade area being placed under plant quarantine regulations, a thing that always hits the cotton farmer where the "hair is short."

Hatchet for the Japs

The following reprint of a Times story, plus the timely comments of State Press, or J. J. Taylor, appeared in the State Press column of The Dallas Morning News:

"Scurry County Times: A hatchet that killed a trapper in Borden County in January of 1937 was donated this week to the Scurry County scrap salvage drive, to be remelted to slay Germans and Japs. So was unfolded Wednesday the history of the hatchet, which was contributed by J. P. Billingsley, county clerk. Billingsley served as district clerk in 1937, when the hatchet slaying occurred. Some former bootlegger in the county at least showed his patriotism this week when he donated a part of a whisky still to the scrap collection pen on the southwest corner of the square. The still, remelted and properly used, can slap the ears off several Japs, it is pointed out.

"The mementos of crime, both violent and otherwise, are suitable contributions to a move designed to wipe out two of the greatest gangs of criminals still at large. The hatchet from the Borden County murder case will do its part when melted down, but the copper whisky still, even more valuable, will go further toward achieving victory in the scrap metal drive. The metal in the still, it is said, can slap the ears off of several Japs if it is melted and used properly. This is no exaggeration if you stop to think what the still was able to do to the mash and other ingredients passing through it. The output of this still, known colloquially, perhaps, as Scurry County Mountain Dew, could make its victims rise up and smack their olepappy down."

Editorial of the Week

A STOP-GAP MEASURE

The closing of school in the South to help gather the big cotton crop in the face of a huge labor shortage is a fine thing, but it must be admitted that insofar as the whole critical farm labor problem is concerned it is only a temporary, stop-gap measure.

There is a disposition in Washington to wishful thinking in the matter of labor shortage on the farms of America, and it stems from evident unwillingness to face the whole labor problem of the Nation after abject surrender to the pressure of the union labor racketeers. It showed plainly in the so-called anti-inflation drive of the administration, blithely trying to save face with the buying public, after having brought about the abnormal increase in living costs by the most unprecedented wage increases in all history. These fellows were too willing to stop the living cost rises at the expense of the farmer, who had never been able to achieve parity, which had been so glibly promised him by this same administration.

With the almost certain inevitable food shortage facing them, these leaders now call for such weak measures as closing the schools for a short period, as a sop for the farmers in their plight of finding themselves in competition with war factories, and labor already moved to the urban centers.

Yes, we are closing our schools, and we ought to do it to get by the present cotton gathering crisis, but it will not solve the farm labor problem of next year and the year after next. It will take a labor control measure with teeth in it to undo the damage that is already done. Closing the schools for a week or two is only a stop-gap measure—don't forget it.—The Clarendon News.

We've been trying, as a nation, to think up new ways and means of getting in more scrap metals to junk yards, have even read of public buildings being razed to get reinforcement steel, and have, all this time, overlooked the juke boxes of the nation. . . . From the way music blares forth from most juke boxes, we could well do without them for the duration—without involving loss of life or property. . . . In fact, the junking of most juke boxes would prove the sweetest music to ears of the general public—believe it or not. . . . Which is the juke box worth the most as—a public nuisance or machine guns for soldier boys?

The Office of Price Administration is making a supreme effort to translate its regulations out of involved and technical language into wording that the average storekeeper on the corner can understand. . . . Lack of understanding, and difficulty of getting concise information on price laws, is given as the major cause for non-compliance in various sections of the country.

Current Comment

By LEON GUINN

Editor's Note—Expressions or opinions contained in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the opinions or policies of The Times. Current Comment is merely carried as a feature column.

Remember how readily both soldiers and civilians alike began to take to the United Service Organization, when the movement was first started? . . . Well, USO officials are burning under the skin in a nice way because the Red Cross is monopolizing on the entertainment of soldiers overseas, and are pulling plenty of wires behind the scenes trying to muscle in. . . . Due to limited funds, of course, the USO couldn't well keep abreast of service organizations for our boys overseas, whereas the Red Cross has had facilities for many years—just in case such thing as another World War happened along.

Believe it or not, but Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy is beginning to worry over a possible invasion of his country. . . . Mussolini has distributed Italian troops to the point where from 10 to 12 divisions are now in Soviet Russia, 15 in North Africa, and 30 in the Balkans and the Eastern Mediterranean Islands. . . . Outside of Italy's invasion fear, things have been growing increasingly worse in the land of the olive tree and lemon groves since Mussolini began to neglect affairs of state several months ago in favor of feminine admirers. . . . Bits of news reaching reliable neutral sources indicate that Italy faces one of the most critical food shortages in years, and civilians in the hard pressed land will have to draw in their belts several notches before another harvest rolls around.

☆

We thought several years ago the United States would never get around to the matter, but billeting of war workers is now being seriously considered in a number of production areas, and is closer than most people think. . . . Attaches of the National Housing Agency are considering plans in 42 cities which would permit the owners to remain in a few rooms as tenants and rent the remainder to war workers at moderate price levels. . . . The housing problem is becoming acute in war production areas, and something is going to have to be done if war workers get places to stay. . . . Areas not engaged in war work do not realize, of course, how serious the situation is, but already are having the situation hammered home in no uncertain terms.

☆

In various sections of the country, the scrap metals drive is still not bringing in as much of the right kind of metal as the steel industry would like to see. . . . Men in the steel business are hoping that scrap metals shipments to smelters will pick up sharply before snow flies, because a lot of scrap will remain dormant throughout the winter unless moved before bad weather sets in. . . . Such drives are staged here in this county, where the population goes all-out, and are needed immediately to insure continuous operation of steel plants during the winter months.

Civilians may look for another sharp cut in civilian goods manufacturing around January 1, reliable hints from Washington this week indicate. . . . Studies are already underway to determine which civilian articles will be eliminated, and those civilian goods which are most needed will be produced under drastic simplification and standardization to trim off frills. . . . When we get a lot of the glamour stripped from us, we will awaken to the stark fact that we are engaged in an all-out global war that requires a whole list of personal sacrifices if we are to emerge victorious.

☆

Continued policy of slow pay habits with government agencies are proving a tough problem with a number of war industries. . . . The government, unlike individuals, partnerships or corporations, takes its own time to make payment on any type of account, and one Midwest tank maker recently had to borrow $2,000,000, for example, to meet payrolls until the government got some cash money en route to the arsenal. . . . We all like a democracy as the world's best form of government, but hate to see so much red tape, even in war-time, clutter up the democracy's functions to the point where firms engaging in vital work cannot get their pay promptly. . . . If we had more action and less "advisement" in government agencies, we would be far better off as a nation.

☆

Due to the fact physical breakdowns among registrants over the 35-year age level is becoming increasingly alarming, the U. S. Army is pressing hard for early drafting of 18 and 19 year-old youths. . . . Indications in Washington over the week-end were that drafting of 18 and 19 year-old boys would get well underway over the nation by early November, since we are supposed to have a 10,000,000-man army by the end of 1942. . . . We have, at the moment, in excess of 6,000,000 men under arms, and by January will be inducting men at the rate of 950,000 per month.

Despite all that has been said and done in recent months, the high cost of living for the average American family still is on the upgrade, although President Roosevelt and his key officials have done all in their power to halt the ascending prices of household goods and commodities. . . . Wide-spread violations of OPA ceiling prices and price regulations are making the problem tougher, and OPA is still burning over the fact civilian goods are being cheapened in quality all the time—although still selling at prices as high as ever. . . . Should the government crack down too much on firms still making civilian goods, they can retaliate by reminding the government they have not yet received a cut of the war production pie.

Frank S. Roberts Of Breckenridge In Senate Race

Frank S. Roberts of Breckenridge this week announced his candidacy for the Texas Senate from the 24th District to succeed John Lee Smith of Throckmorton, democratic nominee for lieutenant-governor, after Smith takes office in January.

Roberts, a member of the law firm of Roberts & O'Connor of Breckenridge, is the son of a country doctor, worked his way through high school and college and taught school for a while. He said he is offering his services to the people as their senator based upon public service experience. This dates back to the Spanish-American War, in which he served as a Rough Rider under Teddy Roosevelt.

As an appointee of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel as a member of the State Board of Public Welfare, district judge of the 22nd District while residing at Lockhart, director of West Texas Chamber of Commerce and delegate to the Democratic Conventions in 1936 and 1940, both of which nominated President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Judge Roberts is known to many throughout this senatorial district.

He bore the distinction of being one of the youngest in service in the Spanish-American War, the oldest man in officer's training camp at Leon Springs during World War 1, where Buford Jester, railroad commissioner nominee, was the youngest, and offered his services in the present war but could not be assigned to duty because he was past 60. He served two and one-half years in World War 1, part of which was overseas.

He moved to Breckenridge following his discharge from service and there has served as president of the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce, commander of the American Legion Post and president of the Breckenridge Rotary Club.

In an interview at Breckenridge he said he felt he could serve effectively in the Senate during the war and in the after-war reconstruction, for business and the returning soldier, in which he emphasized he feels the preservation of states rights will be of vital importance.

He added: "I have never supported any man whose honesty and loyalty to the common good was questioned. I am 100 per cent for President Roosevelt and his program for winning the war, and the last ounce of energy, the last penny of our wealth and the full man power of the nation should be drafted to defeat the enemy and hasten our victory. I would give a 24-hour service of supply to our boys who are now fighting and dying on the battle fields of the world for our liberty."

Recruits Sought for Air Corps Divisions In Snyder Saturday

The Sweetwater recruiting station official will arrive Saturday morning, 9:00 o'clock, at the Snyder post office. He declares that October 31 will be the deadline for men 18 to 50 to get what they want in the army.

Sergeant Vinsant points out that men from Scurry and nearby counties who enlist through the Sweetwater recruiting station will be first assigned to air corps work at Big Spring, if they like. Saturday, however, will provide the only chance men will have to be assigned at Big Spring. All interested men are urged to contact Vinsant.
