BULLDOGS CLOSE OUT 21-8 SEASON WITH THREE WINS; SUFFER LOSS TO LEOPARDS

By DEE UNDERWOOD

The Burk Burnett Bulldogs wrapped up the 1967-68 basketball season Friday night, Feb. 9th, in Wichita Falls, as they methodically bopped the Hirschi Huskies, 56-39, ending the campaign on a three-game winning streak.

Coach Stan Owen took mercy on their hosts, getting subs in early, else the score could have been much worse. The Bulldogs finished 10-4 in conference, good for a third-place finish. It could have very well been higher. Their season record was an excellent 21-8, almost identical to last season's 22-8.

The Bulldogs jumped out to a 19-5 first quarter lead, establishing their intentions early. The Huskies seemed to realize their fate, but still gave a valiant effort. It was the locals third victory this season over the blue-clad Hirschi men.

Big John Edwards, 6'4" post man, an almost sure bet for All-District honors and a strong All-State candidate, led scorers with 16 points, while Steve Cozby and Ken Curl tallied 13 and 12 points respectively.

Earlier in the week, on Tuesday night, the Bulldogs proved that an earlier loss to Graham was a fluke, as they literally devastated the visiting Steers, 78-47, here in Bulldog Gym.

The Bulldogs hit the court determined and never let up, racing to a 19-6 first quarter lead. Steve Cozby pumped in 21 points to lead the scoring parade, while Ken Curl chipped in 20 and John Edwards, who sat out the last quarter altogether, pitched in 14 more. Ping Gough scored 12 for the losers.

It was a big night all the way for Cozby, as his was the honor of crowning the brand new basketball queen, Miss Linda Fisher.

While revenging losses, the Bulldogs traveled to Brownwood on Friday, Feb. 2nd, turning the tables on the hosting Lions, 62-56. The Lions had beaten the Bulldogs, 53-51, on a last second lay-up in a previous battle here.

John Edwards led the assault with 23 points, while Ken Curl netted 13. The Bulldogs' key to success was probably the fact they managed to stop fabulous sophomore, Jimmy Carmichael, Ed Lane Bowen, the Lion center, carried the color with 17 points.

It was these two upsets to Brownwood and Graham that knocked the Bulldogs from district contention. Now everyone admits that they should not have happened.

While on this quest for vengeance, the Bulldogs almost pulled the upset of the year, as they fell 66-65, to a second half comeback by the Booker T. Washington Leopards, Tuesday, Jan. 30, in the latter's home gym. As everyone knows now, the Leopards won the 4-AAA title with a perfect 14-0 conference mark.

It was a wild finish that saw Washington fans swarming out on the court while the locals Jim Fleegar attempted a free throw. It was clearly a case for a technical foul, but for some strange reason, the officials' whistle must have gotten stuck.

In trying to help break up the melee and clear the court, Leopard Coach Silas Goree was swung at by one of his own people. Of course the police department helped clear up that issue, acting much quicker than some in official capacity.

No one denies that the Leopards are a fine team, one of the state's best. They are real exciting to watch, but the kind of thing that took place at this game cannot happen at the playoff games. Fan action of this sort is frowned on by the Texas Interscholastic League and is usually dealt with harshly. It is not Coach Goree's, nor his team's fault, but we sincerely hope that the Leopard fans do nothing to hurt the team's chances at state.

The game featured a top-notch battle between North Texas' top basketball players, 6'5" Roosevelt Manning and 6'4" John Edwards. Although the Leopards came out on top in the game, Edwards won his battle, outscoring the "Man," 32-25, and tying him on rebounds.

Edwards' credentials should get him a good long look by the All-State committee. He has averaged 20.5 points per game for the season, although suffering from bad feet early in the season. His district average is 21.6, twice hitting over 30 in conference play. The first time was at Vernon, Jan. 23rd, when he pumped in 35, and of course, the second was 32 points against the Leopards.

Coach Mike Bridges' junior varsity also enjoyed another good season, winding up with a 17-8 record, three of those losses to varsity crews, including the champion Leopards.

METHODISTS MARK SIXTIETH YEAR OF LOCAL CHURCH

Methodist Church In 1908

Methodism in Burk Burnett had its beginning in the Graham home of East Sixth Street which was, at first, only Sunday School. Later the Methodist Preacher from Iowa Park came over occasionally for "preaching services." This was in 1907. In late 1907 and early 1908 money was raised to build a Church Building. The building was completed and on April 12, 1908 the first sermon was preached by Reverend ram A. Boas, who later became Bishop. The church began with its charter members in 1908 and by 1910 had grown to 110 members. This year saw the addition of Sunday School and preaching services at Clair and Bacon. The three paid a preachers salary of $400.00 per year. Burk became a "Station" in 1914 with 157 members with a $3,173.00 budget of which $800.00 was preachers salary. By 1921 there were 176 members and a Sunday School which was third largest in Texas with an average attendance of 704. Mr. R. H. Henry was then Sunday School Superintendent.

In October of 1928 the "Woman's Missionary Society" reported 32 members with $230.37 sent to Conference Treasurer, $508.15 spent on local work and $192.00 contributed to the needy — a total of $930.52.

The membership reached 739 in 1928 and has remained from 500 to 824 ever since with 721 members at the present. From its meager beginning in 1908 to the modernized facilities of today, Methodism will continue to reflect the concern for people true to its nature and character.

The selected theme is Golden Opportunities of Youth. The judges will be selected from outside of town to insure impartiality.

C. A. Deuschle, manager, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, presents the first 1968 telephone books to Mayor A. H. Lohofener. The new Burk Burnett book, held by the Mayor, sitting, bears a drawing of the Burk Burnett Library.

DELIVERY OF 1968 PHONE DIRECTORIES IS UNDERWAY

New telephone directories will be delivered this week to telephone customers in Wichita Falls, Burk Burnett, Henrietta, and Iowa Park. The delivery will begin Tuesday, Feb. 20. The new telephone directory will feature on its cover a colored picture of the Wichita Falls Central Fire Station.

Deliveries should be completed by Friday, February 23, C. A. Deuschle, Manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company said.

Telephone numbers for telephone customers in Wichita Falls, Burk Burnett, Henrietta, Iowa Park, Charlie, and Holliday are included in the new telephone directory. The directory has approximately 47,268 listings. It has 156 white pages and 244 yellow pages. More than 92,000 directories have been ordered, Deuschle said.

In addition to the Wichita Falls directory, Burk Burnett, Henrietta, and Iowa Park customers will receive telephone directories for their own communities.

Instructions have been included in the information pages of the new telephone directories for placing Direct Distance Dialing long distance calls. These instructions are not usable now, but will be usable when Wichita Falls, Burk Burnett, Henrietta, and Iowa Park are connected to the Direct Distance Dialing network in the later part of 1968.

Area Reservists Slated To Receive Extra Training

The Army Reserve's 980th Engineer Battalion, which includes members from Burk Burnett, has been designated a selected reserve force (SRF) and will receive some extra training during the next year. The unit is headquartered in Wichita Falls.

Army officials said the SRF designation was part of a program to continue the improvement of reserve training and did not mean the unit was about to be called up.

Reserve units hold 48 drills a year. Units designated as SRF this year will hold an additional 24 drills to work in extra training in their fields of specialty.

The 980th Engineer Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. George B. Acton of Wichita Falls, will receive additional training in its specialty field, construction. Unit members learn to build such things as airfields, bridges, hospitals, barracks and pipelines—performing all jobs from initial planning to completion.

The battalion has subordinate units at Waco, Lubbock and Dallas.

This summer the battalion is scheduled to spend the last two weeks in June at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, for annual unit training.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

HURLOCK, MD., DORCHESTER NEWS: "In the past few years there has been a tremendous growth in so-called consumer protection legislation. Intended to 'protect the public,' there is also a great danger that this is intended to strip business of all freedom to act, and to impose unreasonable requirements on business. . . . Perhaps it is well to remember that in order to set up a completely socialized system of government it is first necessary to regulate business to the point where it cannot make a profit, and then use that as an excuse for the government to take over industry. We must be careful that government does not accomplish this by a back-door method of setting up unreasonable regulations against business with such bureaus as a Consumer Protection Division. The name sounds good, but what of the motives?"

YORK, NEBRASKA, NEWS-TIMES: "Well, the government has come out with a report which says in effect that if you and your family of four aren't spending at least $9,000 a year, you're not living moderately well. The report doesn't say what you should be MAKING to live moderately well. It just says what you should be SPENDING. But since it's a government report, you have to conclude that the folks who prepared it expect you to follow your government's example and spend more than you take in."

WATERVILLE, WASHINGTON, EMPIRE-PRESS: "It would seem the labor unions have neglected the most important challenge they face — the training of apprentices. We need a larger reservoir of skilled workers. This would make it possible for industry to hire many of the presently unskilled, untrained workers. . . ."

SULLIVAN, ILL., PROGRESS: "One expert recently stated that you 'shouldn't judge a modern girl by her clothes' and he's right too — there just isn't enough evidence."

ITALY, TEXAS, NEWS-HERALD: "What is probably the most sensible idea to come out of Washington in a good many years is the one made by a congressman . . . that able-bodied men on relief rolls be required to do some work in exchange for their checks. One possibility was picking up debris along public roads. Many similar types of work could be considered. This suggestion is probably quite appalling to most of the present generation of relievers who have been brought up in the belief that the government owes every man a living, but those of us who can remember the depression days of the 1930's are made to wonder how, why and when the idea of performing some service in return for government support was dropped."

WALTHAM, MASS., NEWS-TRIBUNE: "When financial hot shots of the U. S. government were questioned by a congressional committee . . . it was developed they could be off as much as $8 billion in their estimates of how much the administration is actually cutting the federal budget in the big hassle over taxes and economy. This has to be definitely comforting to those of us who have sweat it out for hours trying to track down a 36-cent discrepancy in balancing our bankbook."

DELTA, COLO., INDEPENDENT: " . . . we doubt that many people fully realize how vital advertising is to our society in spurring competition and thus protecting the consumer. . . . Advertising, more than any other factor, establishes prices and protects the buyer from being charged exorbitantly. . . . Because of advertising, the public is becoming harder and harder to bilk. . . . Thus, those suggestions for more stringent regulations and limitations of advertising are aimed, through perhaps indirectly, squarely at the heart of freedom of the press. Restricted advertising means, in the final analysis, press censorship. . . . advertising is the very foundation of the free press. And that is why freedom of the press, freedom of enterprise and the unrestricted right to advertise will all succeed or fail together."

MESA, ARIZ., TRIBUNE: "The statistics of the Saturn V rocket are so stupendous as to be virtually meaningless to the ordinary person. Attempting to comprehend the power and complexity of this machine is like trying to visualize the national debt. It can't be done."

SANTA PAULA, CALIF., CHRONICLE: "Inflation, in sapping the purchasing value of the earned and saved dollar, is the most vicious form of taxation ever devised."

From The Office Of SEN. JOHN G. TOWER

A NEW CONGRESSIONAL YEAR WITH THE SAME OLD PROBLEMS

This year's congressional session is now well underway. Unfortunately, it has resumed with last year's problems — crime, inflation and war — still with us and of even more serious dimensions. We might have made more progress toward a solution of these problems last year had not the Administration been committed to "gradualism" policies in each of these fields.

The Administration did not allow really vigorous prosecution of our Vietnam effort until a few months ago. Thus we still have a "peace gap" in Vietnam, and our indecisive action in Asia now is actually encouraging further communist encroachments on the rights of free nations and on freedom of navigation. The Administration only gradually recognized the national breakdown of law and order, and it allowed anti-crime legislation to remain bogged down. It made only half-hearted attempts last year to curtail red-ink spending and to protect our dollar's value.

Now, in this new year, there is some evidence of over-reaction on the part of the federal bureaucracy. I have a nagging fear that in place of last year's discredited "gradualism" policies we may now be confronted by at least equally unwise "panic" policies. For instance, there is a good deal of loose talk around Washington about the alleged need for unlimited "hot pursuit" in Vietnam, for increased wiretapping, and for restriction of American profit-making investments overseas.

I can report to you that I find the mood of the Senate this year, indeed the mood of the entire Congress, a cautious one. This is shaping up as a relatively independent Congress. And I get the feeling Congress is not taking too seriously some of the panic solutions to our difficult problems. This Congress is listening much more to the voice of the people than to the voice of the President. It will insist on firmness in Vietnam, on law and order at home, and on cuts in federal red-ink spending. I certainly cannot and will not vote for any federal tax increase unless there is first a sizable reduction in federal expenditures and a good-faith, long-term effort established to restore fiscal sanity to federal financing.

Southeast Asia

I completed my fourth trip to Southeast Asia late last year and was able to see measurable progress in our effort there. We are winning. To pursue our current advantage to a successful conclusion, to guarantee a peaceful future for Asia, we must be possessed of patience and continued resolve. The only place we can lose this war now is in Washington.

New Isolationism

There still are some vocal spokesmen in our nation who cannot accept our nation's challenge freedom in those places.

The United States is in and of the world. The national interest of the United States is international. Our leadership role is inescapable, and most Americans want to meet it. It is our nation's highest moral calling to help create in this world a climate in which freedom and self-determination may flourish. The more free the world remains the more secure is our nation. There is no security in isolation.

Peace Negotiations

It is possible that before too long the North Vietnamese will seek to "negotiate." Certainly, useful talks can be developed and we remain open to all such possibilities. But, Texans should recall that "negotiations" with the communists in Korea went on for two years and 575 meetings while 20,620 Americans died before a ceasefire was agreed to. It is a lesson to be kept in mind whenever Reds offer to "negotiate."

Texas Growth

New Census Bureau projections advise us that our state will add 1.8 million persons in the next 10 to 14 years. That will amount to adding the equivalent of one new City of Beaumont each year. It will require us to give increasing attention to our people's needs. We must find sources of water for our more arid areas and present a united state effort in talks about water with other states along the Mississippi, Missouri and other river basins.

The Bureau of International Expositions has given HemisFair'68 its all important stamp of approval, making the six-month event truly a World's Fair.

STEELHEAD: A FISH FOR ALL SEASONS

This is a warning to Eastern trout fishermen. Don't venture West in search of steelhead. If you do, the Beaverkill, Neversink and your favorite local streams will never have quite the same appeal.

It was early December, and the first blanket of snow covered the East. Tying flies and recalling last summer's rainbow outings just wasn't enough.

I had been promising myself a go at the winter steelheads for years and the time seemed right. A call to "Pappy" Davis in Portland, Ore., reassured me the run was on.

The steelhead is one of the more fascinating species available to sport fishermen. Born in the rushing rivers and streams of the Northwest, they make their way to the Pacific Ocean to grow big and strong. At spawning time they return to the site of their birth, fighting the currents for months and traveling perhaps 1,000 miles, without food. Stout and silvery as they leave the ocean, the steelhead gradually assumes the traditional rainbow markings of his non-migratory cousins.

"Pappy" met me at the Portland airport and we headed southwest to a spot on the Nestucca River about 20 miles from the Pacific. Few men know this wild, wonderful country the way "Pappy" does, and the ability to locate holding water where steelheads rest on their long swim plays a major role in this kind of angling.

The weather was terrible. A cold, driving wind swept the steady drizzle across our faces as we took to our small boat. Just to keep upright in the muddy swollen river seemed like an accomplishment. "Pappy" assured me that all the discomfort would be worthwhile when I landed my first "bragging size" steelhead.

I was using a Mitchell 410 fast-retrieve reel on an eight-foot, light action Conolon rod with 10-pound test Bonnyl mono. "Pappy" and I each chose lures of artificial salmon egg clusters. The lure cast deep, the sinker bouncing along the river's rocky bottom. It takes time and a delicate feel to tell a hit from a snag. But soon a throbbing rod and singing line told me I had my first steelhead strike. He took off down stream as if he was returning to the sea. Suddenly he broke through the bubbling surface and arched his shining body like a crescent moon. My muscles ached from the cold, and my numbed fingers were hard put to keep a tight line. He continued his spectacular aerial offensive right up to the net, eight pounds of fighting fish, still trying to make his way home.

He had provided me with a shining new memory, and earned the right to make his contribution to succeeding generations. I released him.

It didn't take long for "Pappy" and I to boat our limit of two steelheads and head for the warmth of a nearby lodge. Funny, but from the time that first steelhead hit my line, until we found shelter, I hadn't thought about the cold and rain.

"Pappy" could see I was bitten by the steelhead "bug," and put the hook in a little deeper. "You should try fly rod fishing for the summer run in early October," he said.

And I did. The steelheads were close to home then, and carried the familiar rainbow markings. The earth still held much of the summer's warmth and the air was clear and sweet. But that's another story.

Quick Tricks for Baby Care

YOU CAN save time and temper with these baby-care shortcuts suggested by the makers of Desitin baby products:

Sandpaper Shoes

Toddler in the house? Sandpaper the soles of his shoes to keep him from slipping and falling. If he does go head-over-teakettle, apply a medicated ointment to the sore spots immediately. Desitin, the diaper rash ointment with Norwegian cod liver oil, also works to heal skin irritation on elbows and knees. It's priced from about 69¢ locally.

Wrap-Up

Tiny infants and the great outdoors mix well if you take precautions. Before dressing baby for an excursion, make sure he is freshly diapered and powdered. Then apply anti-bacterial Desitin baby oil or lotion to all exposed areas. The powder, oil and lotion all contain special medication to protect an infant's delicate skin. Each is priced from about 60¢ at stores here.

Bundle up a baby in a warm blanket and pop a pillowcase over it, like a sleeping bag. The case keeps the blanket securely in place and keeps blanket fuzz off you!

Report from Congress

GRAHAM PURCELL, REPRESENTATIVE, 13TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

Dear Friends,

This past week, the President sent his special message to the Congress describing the Administration's requests for legislation to protect the American consumer.

In the message, the President proposed an eight-point program consisting of legislation, special studies by the government, and a request for creation of a new office within the Justice Department. His specific recommendations were to:

- Crack down on fraud and deception in sales.
- Launch a major study of automobile insurance.
- Protect Americans against hazardous radiation from television sets and other electronic equipment.
- Close the gaps in our system of poultry inspection.
- Guard the consumers' health against unwholesome fish.

- Take steps to prevent deaths and accidents on our waterways.
- Add new meaning to warranties and guarantees, and seek ways to improve repair work and servicing.
- Appoint a government lawyer to represent the American consumer's interest.

The areas covered by these recommendations represent cause for true concern by each of us as individuals. We are consumers, and most of us either have direct knowledge of the results of bad practices by unscrupulous operators, or have been aware of others who have suffered through unfortunate experiences.

Two of the measures requested by the President have already been introduced in the form of legislation and are proceeding toward the possibility of an early passage by the House of Representatives. The bill on fish inspection is presently the subject of hearings before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

The bill on poultry inspection is the result of a study I requested last session shortly after the signing into law of my bill to update our national system of meat inspection. I have introduced legislation to insure safe poultry products after the studies indicated that the situation with regard to poultry prepared for human food revealed greater opportunity for unsafe practices than was the case with red meat. Hearings have been scheduled on this bill before my subcommittee within the next two weeks.

Certain forms of consumer legislation to erase obvious abuse are vitally needed in many instances; but I think that there is a necessity to avoid, where possible, limitations on freedom of choice by an individual to buy what he really wants.

Insuring product safety, particularly for substances such as food or pharmaceutical preparations, is a necessity in my opinion beyond the real needs of the consumer—unreasonable restrictions, made in the name of "protection", will create more problems than they will solve.

Cordially,
GRAHAM PURCELL

P.S.—This past week my wife, Betty, and I celebrated our twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, and the same day I entered my seventh year as Representative for the 13th Congressional District. We both deeply appreciated the many kind sentiments of our friends on this happy occasion.

Ask Dr. QUIZMEE

Dr. Quizmee, our information specialist, is happy to answer his readers' questions in his weekly column. All responses are verified by Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

Burt F. writes: "How can a machine tell if you're lying?" Lie detectors are designed to indicate changes in blood pressure, rate of breathing, and perspiration in the hands which frequently occur when an outwardly calm person is faced with the need to lie.

Harold S., entering college next year, asks: "What is the oldest college in the United States?" The answer, by all odds, is Harvard College founded in Cambridge, Mass., in 1636, only a few years after the Pilgrims arrived in the vicinity.

Fred H. asks the next question: "Why is the planet Mars associated with war?"

Mars is a red planet, and it is our association of red with anger, danger and blood that reminds us of war. The planet was named after the Roman god of war.

If you are the first to submit a question to Dr. Quizmee, in care of this newspaper, (the writer of this column to be sole judge), you will receive free the full 25 volume set of Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

Students To Compete For $5,525 In 10th Annual Regional Science Fair

Wichita Falls — Students from Wichita Falls and the surrounding area will compete for $5,525 in cash and savings bonds at the 10th annual regional science fair March 13-16 in Clark Student Center at Midwestern University.

Midwestern and the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce co-sponsor the science fair each year.

The awards should provide an incentive for high quality in the exhibits and projects. Dr. Arthur Beyer, chairman of the university biology department and coordinator of the fair, said,

He added that fair activities stimulate students to take more interest in the study of science and provide encouragement and recognition to young scientists.

Any student enrolled in the 5th through 12th grades in a public, private or parochial school is eligible to enter provided that he has been through a previous contest in a district or school science fair.

There will be four major divisions for science fair entries. They include senior high biological, senior high physical, junior high and intermediate.

A maximum of 30 exhibits may be entered from each high school, 23 from each junior high and two from each grade school.

High schools which include ninth grade may enter eight additional exhibits from the ninth grade, and junior highs which include only seventh and eighth grades are restricted to 15 exhibits.

Dr. Beyer said exhibits should be set up between 8 a.m. and midnight Wednesday, March 13 in Clark Student Center.

"University facilities make it necessary to impose rules limiting the size of exhibits," Dr. Beyer pointed out. The maximum space for senior and junior high division exhibits is 48 inches wide by 30 inches deep, with a maximum floor-to-ceiling height of 11 feet, 5 inches.

Grade school exhibits will be restricted to 20x24 inches and a maximum height of six feet. Exhibits will remain on display until 9 p.m. March 16, and must be removed by 3 p.m. March 17.

Projects will be judged on creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, beauty and dramatic value. Awards will be presented at 6 p.m. March 16 in the Science Building.

NEW NOTE: COPYRIGHT REVISION A LONG BUT NECESSARY PROCESS

New York (NAPS)—Congress, to its credit, has enacted a joint resolution extending until December 31 of next year copyrights which otherwise would expire this year on more than 57,000 songs ranging from the classical to many of the mainstays of that great American institution—the barbershop quartet.

Certainly no American who sings or listens to such folk classics as "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now", "Down By The Old Mill Stream", "Alexander's Ragtime Band", or "Shine On Harvest Moon" would want to see their talented composers go unrewarded for commercial performances of these great bits of Americana.

Performance rights almost everywhere else in the Western world bring the composers or their heirs royalties for life and a substantial period thereafter. Presently in the United States a copyright is valid for only twenty-eight years and must be effectively renewed for another twenty-eight years—the maximum term for a copyright in this country.

For twelve years Congress has been endeavoring to enact a general revision of the copyright laws to replace archaic provisions enacted in 1909 before the advent of electronic reproduction. This measure, on which the House has already voted favorably, would extend the period of copyrights to the life of the composer plus fifty years so that heirs may enjoy some of the benefits of his talents as they do the benefits of talents of other professionals and of businessmen.

Today, moreover, composers receive no royalties for use of their works in another American institution—the jukebox. This, too, would be corrected in the long overdue general revision of copyright laws.

While many commend Congress for the interim extension, there is reported to be widespread hope that the general revision bill will receive urgent and early consideration in the second session of the 90th Congress. For those who contribute so significantly to our American heritage and culture are fully as entitled to modernization of the laws affecting them as are other important segments of the American economy.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

The Will To Win

THE policy of placating the enemy and refusal to win the struggle against communism has already placed our country in great jeopardy. The strengthening of the communist bastion in Cuba proceeds at a rapid pace. At the Bay of Pigs it could have been eliminated with only a minor gesture — now it will require a major effort. Likewise, because of our refusal to win in Vietnam years ago when it would have been easy, we are facing an increasingly difficult situation there.

Our unwillingness to deal decisively with brush fires wherever they break out has convinced many nations of the world that there is no safety in depending upon an alliance with us. As that conviction spreads we shall progressively lose not only our allies but our friends, and will eventually be driven back to the concept of "fortress America."

Building up our defenses, keeping a crushing lead over the Kremlin in nuclear power, and developing an anti-missile system, while resolutely putting down communist aggression wherever it appears, as we did in Greece and Lebanon a few years ago, would insure not only the safety of this country but of the freedom loving people around the world.

The alternative to this course is continued rapprochement with communism on a basis that will gradually substitute their system for ours. Some of our leaders in high places have been working toward that end for many years. The bulk of the American people have not yet awakened to the significance of this great change that is taking place. The Fabian socialists have so softened the self-reliance of the American people as to appear to make it doubtful if they are capable of rallying strongly in defense of their freedom.

Put a frog into hot water and he will immediately jump out unharmed. But by dropping him into cold water and then ever so gradually raising the temperature, he can be boiled without stirring a muscle. That's what's happening to the American people. We continue to hope, to pray and to work that something will shock them into a realization of this tragic situation before it is too late.

Local School Students Invited To Attend Annual Area Youth Concert

Students of our schools have again been invited to attend a special concert of Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra. The seventh annual Area Youth Concert will be presented at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, February 24, at Wichita Falls' Memorial Auditorium.

The concert will present a 50-member orchestra conducted by William Boyer. A highlight of the concert will be a guest appearance of dancers of Wichita Falls Ballet Theatre who will portray young people of seven nations in an audience-participation, music and dance number entitled "Hello World."

From stage, narrator-singer Ray Davidson will work with students to enable them to say "hello" in seven languages.

Also on the program is a brilliant young pianist, Mike Preddy, 17-year-old senior from Deer Park, Tex., who will be soloist with the orchestra for the first movement of the Shostakovich Piano Concerto No. 2. Mike was winner of Wichita Falls Music Teachers Association Texoma Young Artists Competition held in December.

The orchestra will also be heard in a merry light work entitled "Dance of the Clowns," by Rimsky-Korsakov.

Complete program background is being provided local sponsors in order that students may learn about the music to be played prior to attending the concert.

KITCHEN COUNTER THAT COOKS!

A crowd-stopper at the recent home builders show in Chicago was a unique "Counter-That-Cooks," probably the first new idea in rangetops in decades.

It's a flat sheet of gleaming white glass-ceramic with no visible burners, installed flush with top of a kitchen counter. Electric heating elements are out of sight underneath, and they send heat up through the glass-ceramic into matching cooking vessels that look almost like Corning Ware pieces.

Surprisingly, the only parts of the glass-ceramic that get hot enough for cooking are decorated areas the size of ordinary burners. Other parts remain cool enough to touch.

The manufacturer, Corning Glass Works, said the new rangetop is sold now in two and four-burner models in more than a dozen areas of the country, with full national distribution coming during the first part of 1968.

Other countertop sheets of glass-ceramic were shown installed the same way, but these didn't cook. They are rugged, countertop work surfaces, and reportedly resist knife scratches, won't stain and take hot pans and skillets. In fact, one was shown directly beneath a new home-type infrared food warmer, mounted on an overhead cabinet.

All three items will be seen soon, according to Corning, in display rooms of kitchen remodelers and home and apartment builders.

Outside the kitchen, the home builders saw emphasis on packaged fiberglass bathrooms, widened uses for vinyl, and attractive new uses for woods and simulated wood patterns. Displays of the latter emphasized the natural beauty of grain. But one exhibit showed the side of a house that was almost completely made of solid vinyl-siding, soffits, gutters, downspouts and even shutters.

Plenty of ROOM!

Have you ever, when on a vacation, in the peak of the tourist season, looked and looked along the highway for a roadside park with an empty table so that your family could have a picnic lunch and rest? Then, of course, all might travel refreshed. How nice it is to come upon a park like this one, with the breeze blowing across the water.

Isn't it wonderful that there is always plenty of room at the House of God? There is always a church where you can receive spiritual food, and sweet rest of the soul. The church holds out its arms in welcome to all, inviting everyone to come and learn of God. Won't you attend this week?

"Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Matthew 11:28.

Coleman Adv. Ser.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

METHODISTS OBSERVE 60th ANNIVERSARY

Beginning Sunday, February 25th and continuing through March 1st the First Methodist Church in Burkburnett will observe its 60th anniversary. Methodism has a history in Burkburnett which is almost identical with that of the city. Its beginnings were through a Sunday School which met in the Graham home on East 6th Street and later moved to the school house in north town. By April 21, 1908 the Methodist built the first church building in Burkburnett at the corner of 5th Street and C Avenue. This building was then used by other denominations until such time as they could provide a place of worship of their own. The Methodist Church continued use of this building and location until in 1925 when the present main building was completed and occupied. In 1957 the present Educational wing was added.

During the week long celebration we will be privileged to hear the following ministers: Sunday, February 25, 0:35 a. m., Bishop W. Kenneth Pope; 7:00 p. m., Dr. Earl A. Hoggard, District Superintendent; Monday, 7:30 p. m., Rev. Mervin Turner, former Associate and Minister of Youth and former pastors, Tuesday, Rev. Felix Kindel Wednesday, Rev. Carol Copeland; Thursday, Rev. Leon Turner, and Friday, Rev. Theo Wright.

We hope that, as in the beginning, all will join with us in this celebration with gratefulness for the church in our community in the past and a willingness to accept the challenge of the church in the future.

Caring For Your Car

Your car may be more of a steal than you think it is. This year, more than 400,000 cars were stolen—and this number is rising alarmingly. The real tragedy is that more than half of these cars were stolen by youngsters under 18 years of age. The "joy ride" taken in someone else's car is often the first step toward a life in crime—which might never have begun but for the temptation of a car at the curb with the keys in the ignition.

Women in the know take precautions to prevent such tragedies from happening. Sixty percent of all car thefts occur when a driver leaves the car with the key in the ignition. Even if you're only leaving your car for a few minutes remove the key and take it with you. And don't leave the switch in an unlocked position. Leaving valuables in open view in your car also provides temptation to a thief. All too often the car is stolen to get these objects. Lock them in the trunk where they can't be seen. And to make stealing that much more difficult lock all your doors and close all car windows tight. Even if you only leave your windows open a bit at the top, it's a snap to open the doors with a wire coat hanger.

Women in the know realize the value of taking these simple precautions, plus getting all-inclusive insurance coverage for their car. If you want to know what automobile policies can cover, ask your Travelers man for more information. Protect your car with good insurance and these safety procedures. Remember, if you're careless, you may end up careless.
