A grand jury of the 100th District Court has been called here for Monday morning, January 21, and the petit jury will convene at the same time, Judge Luther Gribble, district judge, said this week.

I have striven to render a valuable service to the community and State. As to my efforts, I refer you to the District Court Officials, the Grand Jurors and Petite Jurors with whom I have worked.

"By virtue of the experience gained in the last two years, I feel I will be able to render more efficient service in the future. It is my desire to enforce the law for the protection of society without persecuting any individual and to this end I am working, and shall continue to work.

"The co-operation and support of every citizen of the 100th Judicial District is earnestly solicited for a second term as District Attorney."

Second Concert Number Jan. 29

The Holbrooks, a dramatic duo, will be presented as the second number by the Wellington Concert Association, Jack Kopp, secretary, announced this week.

The entertainment is scheduled for Tuesday, January 29, at 8:00 p.m. in the community building.

These entertainers appeared in Clarendon last year, where they were termed the most popular of the concert numbers.

STABLE STORIES—"Stop me if you've heard this, but I got this tip right from the jockey's mouth!" That's what "Peppy," white horse at the left seems to be saying to "Thunder," right, at the Hilltop stables in San Francisco where the two horses are boarders. But being smarter than men, and using horse sense, neither stallion will put a bundle of hay on any other oatburner in any race. That's why horses eat well—straight from the feedbag.

Mrs. J. B. Castleberry Dies In Tucson Hospital Tuesday

Mrs. J. B. Castleberry, beloved Wellington woman and a leader in social, club and women's civic work here for many years, died in a Tucson, Arizona, hospital Tuesday morning, January 15. She had been in that city through the fall and winter, going there for relief for asthma, from which she had suffered for a number of years.

Her condition became worse early last week, and Mr. Castleberry, who had been there with her much of the time, returned to Tucson.

Her death came as a shock to her many friends throughout this area, most of whom were not aware of the change in her condition.

The funeral arrangements have not been made, nor is the time that the body will arrive here certain, Dewey Ellis, a brother-in-law, said. The Ellis Funeral Home will be in charge.

Mrs. Castleberry was before her marriage Bennie Bobo, the daughter of Mrs. Z. B. Bobo of Rhome and the late Mr. Bobo, long-time prominent residents of that area. She was born at Rhome April 11, 1886, and at the time of her death she was 64 years, 9 months and four days of age. Mrs. Castleberry grew up in that town, and was married there to Mr. Castleberry August 12, 1911.

A short time later, they came to Wellington to make their home.

Through the years, Mrs. Castleberry has been identified with many of the achievements made by the women of the town. She encouraged the development of cultural and educational facilities of Wellington, and while much of her work was done quietly, she had left her imprint on this part of Wellington's life.

Mrs. Castleberry was a member of the 1924 Study Club and had served as its president.

She had been a devoted member of the Baptist Church through most of her life.

Mrs. Castleberry is survived by her husband and three children, Mrs. Jimmie Gillentine of Hereford; Capt. John Ben Castleberry, stationed with the Air Force on Okinawa; and Bobo Castleberry of Wellington; two grandchildren, Sara and Buz Gillentine of Hereford; her mother, Mrs. Z. B. Bobo of Rhome; and these brothers and sisters: Mrs. C. L. Christian of Decatur; Mrs. L. W. Rershaw of Rhome; Mrs. D. G. Ellis of Wellington; Dr. Zack Bobo of Arlington; Dr. Tom Bobo of Midland; Mrs. C. E. High of Pampa; Pat R. Bobo of Muleshoe and Mrs. R. B. Huddleston of Fort Worth.

I feel that I am much better qualified to serve you in the future as I have in the past. I consider the experience that I have has taught me to perform the duties of this office, in a better manner.

"I pledge a continuation of honest and efficient administration and welcome you to check the records of the office at any time for proof.

"I feel that I have conducted the affairs of the office to meet with your approval for efficiency and honesty in such a way to merit your continued support."

"Because of the interest in roads, I do want to say that I believe the more good roads we can get the more it helps everyone of us.

The following night, January 25, the Rockets and Rockettes go to Shamrock, and a number of fans are expected to go from here to watch their favorites play.

"These are the games that lead up to our competition in the March of Dimes Benefit tournament, when our teams will be playing for keeps," McKnight declared. "You'll see lots of action in every one of these and we urge all basketball fans to come out."

In asking for your support for a second term, I feel that I can serve you much more efficiently in the future than I have in the past, and shall appreciate your influence and vote, in the coming election, and I will see as many of you as is possible for me to see."

Interest Growing in March of Dimes Event

March of Dimes activities spread in this area, as the drive entered its third week. One of the most unusual campaigns held here in many years, there is no personal solicitation, but every individual is being counted on to give, Paul Spillman, chairman, declared.

Interest is growing in the basketball tournament between the three county schools, every penny of the proceeds to go to the Dimes campaign.

Climaxing these will be the coronation of the March of Dimes Basketball Queen Saturday night, February 11.

Coronation of the Collingsworth County Basketball Queen will climax the series of benefit basketball games scheduled late this month and early in February for the March of Dimes.

The contest is sponsored by the Press Club of Wellington high school, and the nominations for queen are made by the basketball teams of Wellington, Quail and Samnorwood, Mrs. Laverne Lindsey, sponsor of the club, said.

Ruthie McCaskill was chosen by the Wellington Skyrockets as their contestant, while Jo Helen White will represent the Quail Quails. The Samnorwood candidate has not been announced.

Election will be by penny a vote, and the communities as well as the student bodies will be canvassed to build up funds for the favorite girl.

Donations may go to the principal of each high school, or in the case of Wellington, also to the Press Club, Mrs. Lindsey said.

The coronation ceremony will be held following the final games at Quail Saturday night, February 9.

The Press Club feels that this contest, besides promoting some fine inter-school spirit, will add several hundred dollars to the March of Dimes campaign, Mrs. Lindsey explained.

The first of the benefit games will be at Samnorwood, with the Quail boys playing the Samnorwood boys and the Wellington girls the Samnorwood girls. Winners of these games will play the Wellington boys Saturday night, Feb. 9 at Quail, and the girls will play the Quail girls. All games begin at 7:30 p.m. and admission is 25 and 50 cents.

"We are more eager than ever to knock polio into the limbo of conquered diseases," Spillman said, because infantile paralysis is on the upsurge and is the only epidemic disease still on the increase in America."

Mr. Spillman called the campaign in this county one of the most important voluntary efforts ever made. He asked every citizen who has not yet contributed this year to the fight against infantile paralysis to do so at once. He said:

"This is more than just a fund raising drive. It is a peculiarly individual appeal. The fight against polio is everybody's fight because everybody is eager to provide our children with all the protection possible against this crippling disease.

"Scientists report that we are definitely closing in on polio. We are faced, however, with keeping scientists at work and caring for patients at the same time. We must see the fight through with our dimes and dollars, if we are to achieve final victory. Our local chapter of the National Foundation must have funds with which to take care of those who need assistance when polio strikes.

"National Headquarters, meanwhile, has exhausted its funds for patient care for the fourth year in a row. It is in debt to hospitals that have cared for patients. That is why the drive has been expanded this year. We have all worked harder in an effort to increase our total funds. The local committee has been active for several months.

"Now we come to the final effort. These next three weeks, with the help of our citizens, can and must make the March of Dimes in this community the greatest in history."

Jo White Outstanding Player

Bobwhites Memphis Tourney Champions

The Quail Bobwhites won the Memphis Invitation Basketball tournament held during the week end, and one player, Jo Helen White, was chosen the outstanding player of the tournamnet. Miss White and two other players, Fern Neeley and Ginger Miller, won places on the all-tournament team.

Miss White received an individual trophy, and she and the other all-tournament team members were awarded gold basketballs.

The Bobwhites won their first game of the tournament over Estelline, 42 to 36, then defeated Lockney 42 to 24. Memphis came out on the little end of a 15 to 32 score, and the Quail girls went into the finals to defeat Hedley 32 to 25.

Work of the guards brought praise from coaches and spectators alike, for with their aggressiveness and alertness, coupled with speed, they cut sharply into their opponents activity.

"Jo Blevins, a senior led the way in winning these games. She stole the ball several times and held her forward down to very few points. Fayteen Peeples, a sophomore, is one of the most outstanding prospective guards Quail has ever had, and Ginger Miller turned in some outstanding work," Herman Moseley, who is coaching the girls, said.

Starters were Jo Helen White, Fern Neeley and Betty Duckworth, forwards, and Jo Blevins, Fayteen Peeples and Ginger Miller, guards. Substitutes were Wanda Rose Phipps, Erma Lee Farris, Shirley Robinson, Juanita Boen and Alice Wilkerson.

Allen Harp, district attorney of the 100th Judicial District, this week announced that he is seeking re-election to that office. He is asking to serve a second elective term.

To Drive Pan-American Highway

Frazier Savage Assigned to New Post in Central America

Chief Warrant Officer Frazier Savage, who has been on an assignment with the Army in Washington for the last two years, was in Wellington Sunday and Monday, January 13 and 14, en route to his new post at San Salvador, El Salvador.

His assignment is as a military attache at the American Embassy in this Central American country.

He was the guest of his brother, Claude Savage, while a brother and sister, Curtis Savage of Sudan and Mrs. Bernard Seay of Lakeview, with their families, met him here.

Warrant Officer Savage is doing what many Americans going to Central America would like to do — he's making the trip by car and plans to arrive in about twelve days. This will allow him time to visit at various points along the way.

This is not his first time to serve in Central America, nor his first time in El Salvador, for he was military attache at the United States Embassy in Managua, Nicaragua, in 1948-49. Since returning to the United States, he has been an instructor in the Strategic Intelligence School for the Intelligence School in Washington, where his duties were to instruct personnel assigned to military attache duty.

"I'll go by way of Mexico City, on the Pan American Highway. It's paved through Mexico, except for 170 miles in the extreme southern part of Mexico. I'll have to put my car on a flat car there and go by rail that distance. The Pan American highway is finished in Guatamala and El Salvador, although it is a dirt road through mountainous country. This is the dry season, though, so I don't expect any trouble," Savage said.

En route, he will visit two sisters at Fort Worth, Miss Blanche Savage and Miss Lelia Savage, in Waco, and with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hardy in Austin. He will also stop in Mexico City and Guatamala City to visit friends.

Savage visited all the Central American countries during the time he was stationed in Nicaragua, and he recalls San Salvador as a semi-modern city, although by American standards, about two thirds of the people belong to the poorer class. Those of the more wealthy group, have built fine modern homes in the newer section of the city.

"Many of the more educated speak English, and they're proud of it! They use it as much as they can, and if they are talking to you, they'll let you know that they have studied in the United States or visited here," Savage said.

Savage was one of the first men from Collingsworth County to enter the U. S. Army under Selective Service in 1940. During the war he served in North Africa and Italy.

"I expect to see quite a bit more of the world while I'm in service, and if things quieten down in Korea, I'd like for my assignment to be to the East," he said.

Judge Gribble Asks Re-Election

Judge Luther Gribble, judge of the 100th District Court, this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his re-election to that office, making the following statement:

"I want to thank the people of the 100th Judicial District for the honor and privilege of serving you as your District Judge. Also, I wish to express my appreciation for the splendid cooperation given me by the officers, Grand and petit jurors and lawyers residing in and who have had cases in the District Court of this district; such cooperation has enabled us to dispatch the business of the District Court with very few delays.

"I earnestly solicit your support for re-election as your District Judge."

DOZIER

By MRS. E. L. RANKIN

(Intended for Last Week)

This area received at least .60 inch of moisture during last week's storm. Most of the ice was scraped from Highway 1036 Sunday, however there were a few places Monday morning.

There was no Sunday School at the Methodist Church Sunday. The few who came went to Samnorwood to attend Quarterly Conference that was being held there.

Fewer than usual attended services at the Church of Christ Sunday. The roads have been too icy to travel and everyone, it seems, has been really careful.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright of Pampa were week end guests of her brother, Ernest Schaub, and family. Robert came to hunt quail.

Mr. and Mrs. Helvey Caperton and children of Dallas were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Caperton during the holiday vacation.

Warren Carter of Quail, a former resident of this community, was here Sunday calling on all neighbors, among whom were the C. H. Capertons and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Norwood.

John Van Huss of the Abra community was a patient in Shamrock General Hospital more than a week, suffering from an attack of pneumonia, according to his daughter, Mrs. White of Lela. Mr. Van Huss was improving nicely and could go home last Saturday.

Make the Farm Flock Profitable

"We will soon be starting our chicks again so let's do a little planning and do a good job. I offer you ten suggestions," J. W. Thomas, county agent, said this week.

1. Starting with stock bred to lay. (Certified or ROP pullets of purebreds, or quality inbred hybrids.)
2. Rearing young stock completely apart from older birds and on clean range. (Best insurance against disease).
3. Provide ample room to guard against crowding at any time. (Check your tables for roost, nest, floor, and feeder space).
4. Practice labor saving devices to the limit that size of flock will permit. This more important on commercial farms).
5. Use all-pullet flocks, pushing pullets to their limit for 12 months; then sell and replace with younger birds.
6. Good quality eggs deserve a premium beyond that of the usual current receipts eggs that reach the market.
7. Practice weekly or monthly culling to maintain a high level of egg production the year through.
8. Plan and follow a disease prevention program so you won't have to treat sick birds. Use recommended vaccines in this preventive program. Take care of internal and external parasites.
9. Either full feed your flock or sell them. Good birds properly fed usually return a profit in good years and bad.
10. Grow out a brood or two of broilers each year, so that your equipment will be kept busy.

Singers to Meet at Missionary Church

The Collingsworth County Singing Convention will be held Sunday, January 20, at the Missionary Baptist Church at 10th and Arlington Streets, beginning at 2:00 p.m., Mrs. Ed Warren announced.

The new song books have arrived, and everyone liking to sing is invited to come and learn the new songs, she said.

A number of out of town singers are also expected.

Winter Fires Are Threat to Farms

Farmers—like everyone else—face more danger from fire in winter than in the summer, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Farmers are at a special disadvantage because they do not have the fire protection facilities available in the cities. However, farmers should check the suggestions below to increase their fire safety during the winter season:

1. Check all heating facilities, including furnaces, portable heaters, gas, coal, elecrtic and wood stoves.
2. Open all roads as soon as possible after a storm so you can get help quickly in case of a fire. This should include opening the road to the pond, lake or river that would furnish your water supply for fighting fire.
3. Place well-filled water buckets in cellars, attics, and around outbuildings. As an anti-freeze measure, add four pounds of calcium chloride to each gallon of water. This solution will not freeze unless the temperature drops below minus 20 degrees F.
4. Not all fire extinguishers are safe from freezing in the winter. Find out if yours is usable in the winter by reading the instructions on the extinguisher and also check this point with the man who sold you the extinguisher.
5. Do not drive tractors or cars in the barn in the winter—or anytime! Sparks from the exhaust may start fires.
6. If electric power fails, as during a winter storm, turn off all electric motors and appliances. When current comes back on, it may not be strong enough to make motors run properly. This may cause serious overheating.
7. Farmers do a lot of repair work on machinery and buildings during the winter months. Be careful with blow torches and forges. Do not over-load circuits and be sure that fuses are of the size recommended for the circuits.

Daniel to State Political Intentions

AUSTIN — Price Daniel, Texas fighting attorney general, will make his long awaited announcement of his political intentions for 1952 in a statewide radio address Monday evening, January 21, at 7:30 o'clock.

Since Governor Shivers has announced that he would run for re-election, there has been much speculation as to whether Daniel will run for re-election, for governor or for the United States Senate. Capitol newsmen are predicting it will be for the Senate.

Daniel has gained national recognition for his fight against organized crime and corruption in Texas and for his fight against federal officials in their attempt to take Texas tidelands from the Texas Public School Fund.

February 1 Peanut Deadline

The PMA State Committee has set February 1, 1952, as the final date for accepting applications for 1952 "new farm" peanut allotments, Millard Brown announced.

To be eligible for a new farm allotment the applicant must (1) file an application prior to the closing date, (2) he should have had experience in growing peanuts at least two of the past five years, unless the producer was in the armed services during World War II, then he should be deemed to have met the requirements if he had experience in growing peanuts during one year either within the five years immediately prior to his entry into the armed services or since his discharge from the armed services. (3) The farm operator is largely dependent on the farm for his livelihood. (4) The farm is the only farm owned or operated by the farm operator for which a peanut allotment is established in 1952.

District VFW Trustees Named

Three members of the Glynn Moore Post of the VFW were appointed trustees for District 13, VFW at the last district convention held in Floydada recently.

The trustees are Sunday Bill Smith, J. M. Moore and Donald Curry.

Their duties are to audit the books and reports of the district Quartermaster, Jim Leach, who is also a member of the local post.

Garretts Here From Coleman

Among the more recent comers to the county are Mr. and Mrs. Rex Garrett, formerly of Coleman. Mr. Garrett is land manager for the Doneghy interests, and recently he was elected a director of the City State Bank.

They are living at the Turkey Farm southwest of town.

At Coleman, Mr. Garrett was a dairy owner and Jersey breeder, owning one of the two registered Jersey herds in the county. He disposed of his herd upon coming here.

He was active in the Coleman County Dairy Association, the Farm Bureau, as well as other farm organizations, and has helped with the Coleman County Livestock Show for a number of years. This is one of the larger stock shows in West Texas.

Mrs. Garrett is a former secretary and president of the Coleman County Home Demonstration Association, and was active in PTA work.

They are members of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Garrett was reared at Coleman and graduated from Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins. Mrs. Garrett, who grew up in Denver, Colo., also attended that college.

They have four children, Tom, age 12, Sheron, 11, Carol, 8 and Kent, 6.

The llama and alpaca are domesticated animals related to the camel.

Harmony, Luxury in Interiors

In its line of De Luxe coupes and sedans for 1952 Chevrolet provides a note of luxury never before present in the popular-price automotive field. This photograph of the Styleline's spacious rear seat shows the striking effect achieved by solid colors and pattern cloth. Harmonizing interiors of green, grey or blue employ nine different materials to furnish an atmosphere of rich custom coachwork.

DEN DOINGS IN DEN NO. 1 PACK NO. 31

Our den consists of nine boys whose names are Robert Hackler, Ronnie Rudy, Clifford Harper, Keith Crawford, Earnest Lee Maxwell, Bobby Shaw, Roy Lee Cotton, Richard Mauldin and Dan Catherall.

We met at our Den, January 14, for our weekly meeting. All of the boys mothers were present except Mrs. Hubert Mauldin, Mrs. Clyde Crawford, Mrs. Lula Cotton.

We played several interesting games, checked and compared different hobbies and collections. Among the collections were a box of lovely sea shells from the ocean and Galveston Bay. A box of petrified wood and the knee bone of some prehistoric animal were also shown. This petrified knee bone was found in the mountains near Raton, New Mexico, and has been in the Vernon Rudy family for some time. The boys also got to see an original Austin Stone, which is used extensively, throughout this building area. This stone is cut and polished, in the mountains near Austin, Texas. After the polishing process it is then placed on a flat car and shipped to other building centers.

This month we are studying the solar system, and each cub scout is to make a space ship of any available materials. We practiced first aid among the group, told stories, and sang songs and a good time was reported by all.

Norwood Teams List Victories

The Samnorwood Eagles and Eaglettes brought home victories in a majority of the games played during the past week, Supt. Orville Cunningham, reported.

January 8, the Samnorwood girls defeated Wellington 37 to 32 and the Eagles defeated the Rockets 58 to 27 in a surprise upset.

Claude girls won over the Eaglettes 21 to 16 January 11, after the Norwood girls had led until the half. The Eagles, however, stacked up 60 points to 24 for the Claude boys.

The Eaglettes again lost to Hollis January 14, 30 to 26. At the end of the first quarter, Hollis led 18 to 3, and the Samnorwood girls were never able to catch up. The Eagles defeated Hollis 32 to 26 in one of the most exciting of their recent games.

Hollis will return the games on the Norwood court within a short time.

Boy Scout Troop Formed to Serve Norwood Youths

Organization of a new Boy Scout troop at Samnorwood was announced for the Southern District of the Adobe Walls Council.

The Troop, No. 39, is sponsored by the school, and will meet each Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 p.m. This is unusual, it was pointed out, but was necessary since the troop serves such a wide area that it would be impossible for all the boys to attend at night.

Olan Richards of Samnorwood is Scoutmaster, and James M. Whitfield of Samnorwood and Jack Lowry of Lutie assistants.

The troop committee includes Ernest D. Tate of Lutie, chairman, Guy Lindley of Samnorwood, C. M. Simpson of Lutie, C. T. Amerson of Samnorwood and Roy Hoffman of Dozier.

DOZIER

By MRS. E. L. RANKIN

Services at both the Methodist and Church of Christ were well attended Sunday. The Rev. Bean filled his regular appointment at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and evening. Mrs. Bean and their two daughters were with him. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Clark and Troy for lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Hubert Bounds and family in Brownfield. A brother of Mrs. Davis, the Rev. Fred Stockton, and wife are caring for the Davis farm while they are away.

Mrs. Bruce, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Kincannon, and family for some time returned to her home in Olustee, Oklahoma, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Throckmorton and children of Amarillo, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Neece and other relatives here over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Tanner and children of McLean were guests in the J. F. Payne home Sunday.

Bill Bradstreet, who has been farming on Ott Clay's place the past two years, will operate the farm of Mrs. Ella Phillips this year. The family moved to their new location last week.

The warm days since the snow and ice melted off has caused the farmers to begin to get another crop started. Jim Clark has been doing deep breaking for some time. Ernest Schaub has borrowed Jim's plow to try out and see if he has power enough to do deep breaking, J. H. Oldham has a one-way hooked to his tractor all ready to start farming. No doubt others are making similar preparations.

The first barbed wire was made in 1873 by Joseph F. Glidden of DeKalb, Illinois.

Norwood Eagles Defeat Rockets

By CHARLES DOUGHERTY

The Samnorwood Eagles met the McLean Tigers Friday night, before the Christmas holiday. Samnorwood started off good and went on through the game with a good scoring percentage. At the half we led the Tigers by a large margin, at the third-quarter we were still ahead and the final score was 61 to 28 in our favor.

Tippie had the boys together for workouts four times during the Christmas holidays. One night during the week the Exes came up and scrimmaged against our boys.

We started the year off right when we went to Quail the first of the year. We were figuring on a hard game but at the half we had a load on them of 16 points. The last half proved to be unlucky for the Eagles for Quail came up pretty close to them. But they were too far behind to come up and win. Although our boys were tiring they kept on going until the whistle blew. The boys from Samnorwood had brought home another victory.

Tuesday night, the eighth, was figured to be a little different for the Wellington team came down here to meet our boys.

Everyone figured that it would be a bang-up game because Wellington is the only team that has managed to mar our record this year. They beat our boys one point in the overtime on their home court.

The game started off very close. At the end of the first quarter the score was 12 to 10, at the half it was 25 to 19. We finally started pulling away from them in the third quarter.

With four minutes to play in the third quarter Overcast fouled off, but we kept on pulling ahead. In the last quarter Dougherty fouled off.

The out-come of the game was a victory of 58 to 27 in favor of the Eagles.

It was generally figured that the boys made up for the earlier loss.

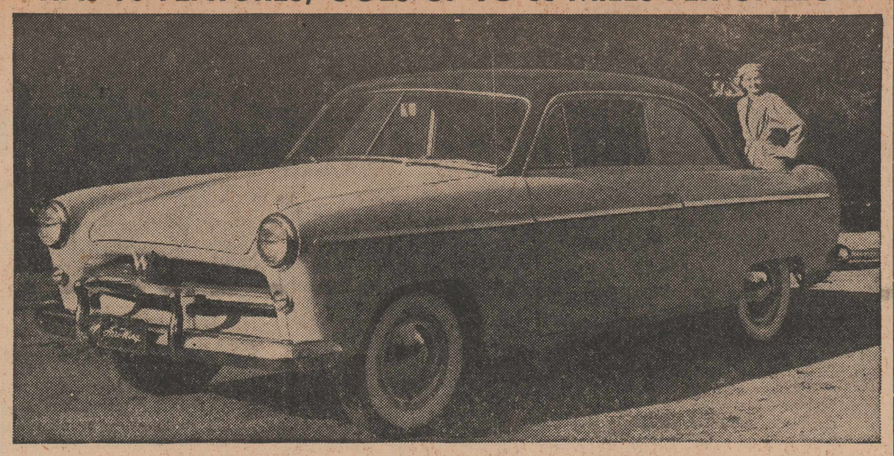

A son, James Leslie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Van Pelt of Memphis Decembers 31. The baby weighed six and one-half pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Gulley are the parents of a daughter, Martha Beth, born December 11 in Fort Worth. She weighed eight pounds and two ounces. The baby is the granddaughter of Mrs. E .M. Gulley and Mr. and Mrs. L. G. McMinn .

NEW AERO WILLYS SEDAN INTRODUCED BY DEALERS; HAS 90 FEATURES, GOES UP TO 35 MILES PER GALLON

TOLEDO, O. (Special)—One of the few entirely new automobiles to be introduced by an American manufacturer in over two decades, the new Aero Willys sedan is now on public display in showrooms of Willys-Overland dealers.

It is named the Aero Willys because of being "more fully engineered than any previous auto to combine principles of aeronautical design with advanced automotive engineering," according to Ward M. Canaday, company president.

Long rumored as the car which may prove to be the automotive industry's most outstanding design innovation of 1952, the Aero Willys is powered, Canaday said, with "one of the world's most efficient engines and has 90 features that add up to an entirely new concept of motoring convenience, comfort and economy."

Answer to Rising Costs

The car is designed to meet the challenges of rising motoring costs and increasing traffic density.

"Gasoline economy is unsurpassed," according to Willys engineers, who cite tests of various models "from which, with overdrive at 30 miles an hour, up to 35 miles per gallon has been obtained."

The company's mileage tests, which show proportionate fuel economy at higher speeds, have been made with regular gasoline, despite the high 7.6 to 1 compression ratio of the car's newly developed six-cylinder F-head engine, it was stated.

High operating efficiency on regular gas is a timely feature, the engineers pointed out, in view of threatened shortages of lead for high octane fuel.

The traffic problem is attacked by "revolutionary design to obtain a compact 9-foot wheelbase automobile which at the same time contains big interior space for passengers and riding qualities heretofore associated with expensive long wheelbase cars," they reported.

Roomy Comfort for Six Adults

"The Aero Willys, for example, has room for six good sized adults. Sixty-one-inch seating width, both front and rear, is wider than most cars, while the exterior width of 72 inches is narrower than most cars, providing a full foot of clearance on either side in entering a standard 8-foot garage doorway.

"Aero-Frame construction following principles closely similar to those used in airplane building, has been used to provide a stressed steel body having reinforcing steel members welded into one strong, solidly rigid unit that will stand up under years of use without body bolt squeaks or rattles. The unit is cushioned from road shocks, and road and power transmission noises by extensive use of rubber pillows.

"The proof of a car's quality is in the driving," the engineers pointed out. "The Aero Willys goes over even rough, multiple railroad crossings smoothly at better than average speeds. Low center of gravity, only 23 inches high, virtually eliminates sway on curves.

"Wind resistance is greatly minimized by a low, tapering hood with the leading edge shaped like the edge of an airplane wing and a low roof only 60 inches from the ground. Air turbulence behind is lessened by vertical fins on the rear fenders. The highly efficient engine enables the car to cruise at 75 miles an hour using only 65 per cent of its capacity, leaving plenty of power in reserve for hills."

Driver Sees All Fenders

Other features claimed for the Aero Willys which contribute to convenience, comfort, easy driving and safety include airborne ride, with all six passengers "cradled" between the axles; panoramic visibility, enabling all four fenders to be seen from normal driving position and enabling driver to see road as close as 10 feet in front of the bumper; automatically stabilized and silenced ride; finger tip steering; oversize brakes; 19-foot turning radius; quick starting and warmup; 24 cubic feet of luggage space; pull-out glove drawer.

The car even has a feature designed to make things easier at the gas station. The gas tank inlet is located at the rear, easy to reach from either side.

Rocket Boxers Defeat Hamlin

Rocket boxers won all ten bouts fought with the Hamlin team Friday night, Coach John Lee said.

"From the fans standpoint, these weren't such good fights, but from the standpoint of sportsmanship displayed by our boys, we're mighty proud of them," Coach Lee said. "Hamlin is a first year team, and after they go there, we realized that they were overmatched with our experienced boys. The Rocket fighters were instructed not to knock these boys out."

"It is increasingly difficult for a school to break into boxing, because it's almost impossible to fight these young, inexperienced boys with experienced boxers and take the punishment they do. That's what's killing boxing, because then it ceases to be a sport. We felt that for the good of high school boxing, we couldn't turn our boys loose to give the knockouts they could have taken," Lee explained.

"We want to assure the boxing fans that the remainder of the fights here will be more evenly matched, and you'll see boxing that will be worth your money," he concluded.

Mrs. Scott McCall has been teaching the homemaking classes on a temporary basis during the first semester, but she, too, is leaving at the end of the semester.

We're neighbors

Wherever you live in Texas, the oil industry is your neighbor. For the Texas oil industry is the bread-and-butter, the opportunity, the daily work of some 190,000 Texas men and women.

The girl who sits next to you in the bus; the hearty-looking man who waves as you pass on the highway; the family behind you at the PTA: in Texas, they all could be, some certainly are oil workers. Bookkeepers, stenographers, executives, drillers, roughnecks, stillmen, geologists, salesmen, pipe liners, petroleum engineers—the oil industry supplies the livelihood of all, and many more.

Neighbors of yours these people are, folks who pay taxes like yours, spend their money in the stores you patronize, drive the same kind of automobile, send their children to the same schools.

. . . . The oil industry is more than a balance sheet, a set of statistics, an investment in derricks and pipe-stills. In Texas, it's the family next door.

Styling and Performance Never Before in Low Priced Field Featured in Chevrolet

A brilliant array of smart, new colors, a richness in passenger compartments never before achieved in the low-price field, an easier ride and readier power response headline an impressive list of advances in the 1952 Chevrolets.

Distinguished in styling and performance, the new Chevrolets meet in every respect the exacting standards that have won the company its dominating position in the automobile industry. In 1951 Chevrolet sold more cars than any other make for the twelfth consecutive peacetime year.

Specifically, the new models on display (January 19) at Clark Chevrolet showrooms offer:

Greater comfort through radically re-engineered power mountings and a re-design of shock absorbers.

Improved performance under extreme operating conditions through refinements in carburetion.

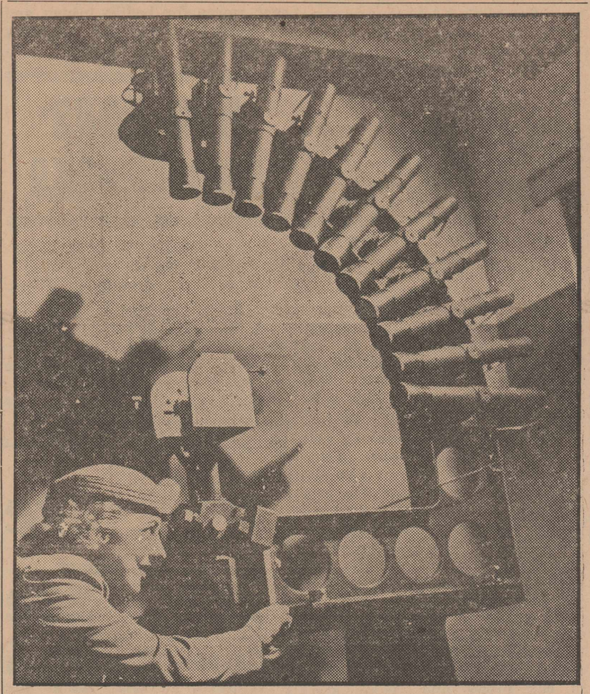

A wide variety of solid and two-tone color exteriors combined with harmonizing interior fabrics that give the customer an amazing 129 choices when he buys a Chevrolet.

The models to be shown here are representative of eleven body types comprising the Chevrolet passenger car line for 1952. Again this year, the company will produce two series, the Special and De Luxe. Ranging from the ultra-practical business coupe to the swank Bel Air, the line affords an unusually complete assortment in bodies, appointments and accessories.

In eye-appeal the latest Chevrolest present a balanced beauty of design. A new radiator grille, fresh ornamentation and bright metal-work impart a lower, longer appearance.

Bodies by Fisher retain the same spaciousness of a year ago, but more than ever before interiors possess an utmosphere of custom coachwork. In the "harmonic interiors" of De Luxe sedans, for instance, two-tone upholstery is furnished in gray, blue or green. Instrument panel colors correspond to upholstery material.

Chevrolet announces its body colors "the most varied ever offered in the low-price automotive field." As an example of the range, exterior options include Onyx Black, Birch and Dusk Gray, Emerald and Spring Green, Admiral and Twilight Blue, Sahara Beige, Regal Maroon, Honey Dew, Beach White, Bittersweet and Cherry Red.

HOW NOT TO GET LOST—Theresa Peters, an airline hostess, sights through a "collimator" at her employer's repair base in Kansas City, Mo. The complicated looking mechanism is used to test the accuracy of periscope sextants with which each airliner is equipped. The sextant, with the help of the stars, is used to determine a plane's position in flight.

Some of the most glamorous new colors are offered on the Bel Air. Two-tone interiors of blue, green, brown, maroon and gray; black and gray; or coral and white harmonize with the choice of exterior color. In exteriors such exclusive and exotic combinations as Bittersweet and Beach White, Sahara Beige and Saddle Brown, and Birch Gray and Twilight Blue are among the options.

Convertibles as well benefit by the new "Royal Tone Styling." Ten colors will be available, including Honey Dew, Saddle Brown and the strikingly new Cherry. Top fabric options have been increased to five — black, blue, gray, green and tan — to complement the new body colors. Two-tone passenger compartments make use of genuine leather and leather fabric.

To the passenger, the added riding comfort of the newest Chevrolets will be noteworthy. As a means of eliminating vibration in the passenger compartment, engineers devised a new method for engine mounts. Known as "Centerpiece Power," this has involved the substitution of three-point mountings for the previous mounting at five points in the frame.

The new mountings include softer rubber members with greater vibration damping characteristics so that less vibration is transmitted from the engine to the car, giving a softer feel. Increased stability in the driving controls is another advantage.

Additionally as an aid to the comfort in the new cars, the company claims a smoother ride on rugged highways due to new shock absorber action. Greater resistance to the "pitch" sometimes induced by rough roads is also credited to the improvement.

Several modifications in the idle and the accelerator pump systems and the fuel bowl of the carburetor are responsible for greater efficiency in carburetion.

Chevrolet's popular automatic transmission, the Powerglide, which over the last two years has proved its value in the hands of more than a half million owners, again is listed as optional equipment on De Luxe models. The performance of the Powerglide models will be even further enhanced by an automatic choke in 1952. This device assures top power efficiency by automatically controlling the carburetor choke in accordance with engine load and weather conditions.

1951 Peak Year For Payment of Liability Claims

NEW YORK — Preliminary reports indicate that the number of automobile liability claims for bodily injury and property damage received by capital stock insurance companies during 1951 set an all-time high record, William Leslie, general manager of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, announced today.

The reports also indicate, Mr. Leslie said, that payment of these claims will make 1951 the peak year to date in insurance history in the payment of automobile liability claims by the capital stock companies.

"It is a certainty that the capital stock companies in the aggregate will experience an underwriting loss on automobile liability insurance again in 1951 as in 1950," Mr. Leslie stated. "Also it is a possibility that the underwriting loss on bodily injury and property damage may set a new high record. The most adverse previous year was 1946 when a countrywide underwriting loss of almost $79,000,000 was sustained on both coverages by the capital stock companies entered in New York State."

The record number of bodily injury and property damage claims reported to insurance companies during 1951 was generally attributed by Mr. Leslie to the increase in the number of motor vehicles insured and the increase in motor vehicle accidents. There were more cars on the road, more of them were insured and more were involved in accidents than ever before, he said. At the close of 1951 the total registrations of motor vehicles numbered about 52,500,000, a record number, he pointed out, and the total motor vehicle mileage for 1951 undoubtedly was well over the estimated 465 billion miles driven in 1950.

Motor vehicle accident figures for the full year 1951 are not yet available, but official statistics for 29 states and the District of Columbia for the first six months of 1951 and for the same period of 1950 showed motor vehicle deaths up 4 percent, injuries up 10 per cent and accidents up 17 percent, according to Mr. Leslie.

"The all-time high in the total amount of money that will be paid out by the insurance companies on bodily injury and property damage claims reported to them during 1951 is attributable to three major factors," Mr. Leslie stated.

"First, insurance companies received more claims because more cars involved in the increased number of accidents were insured.

"Second, the cost of settling claims for both bodily injury and property damage has been steadily rising.

"Third, the adverse situation resulting from steadily increasing claim costs has been further aggravated by a marked upturn in claim frequency, that is, the number of claims per given number of insured automobiles.

"The average paid claim cost for bodily injury increased 55 percent from 1941 through 1950. For property damage, the average claim cost increased 125 percent during the same decade. There was a substantial further rise in average claim costs in 1951, and preliminary figures indicate that current costs are running almost 70 per cent higher than in 1941 for bodily injury and approximately 150 per cent higher than in 1941 for property damage.

"The large increase in hospital fees over the past 10 years and the marked rise in the size of jury verdicts rendered in liability suits during the same period have naturally contributed toward raising the average cost of claims for bodily injuries. Hospital rates for room, board and nursing service in some instances have risen as much as 174 percent; and the average verdict for the plaintiff in liability suits in New York State, for example, has almost doubled, the increase being 94 percent. Jury awards in other areas also have followed the same upward trend.

"The jump in the average cost of property damage claims is due to a number of factors, and the chief of these is inflation. The cost of automobiles and the cost of repairing them have soared upward. The average wholesale value of new passenger cars in 1950 was 125 percent above the prewar figure. Automobile repair costs — parts and labor — jumped 134 per cent from 1940 to 1950. These figures, furthermore, do not take into consideration the further increases in car prices and repair costs which have taken place since the Korean war.

"The modern design of cars has also been a factor in higher claim costs for property damage. Before the war a broken fender was just that — a broken fender, and it could be replaced for $10, but a fender on today's car includes a headlight or taillight and in many cases a substantial part of the body, too, and replacement costs $90. Not all car repair costs have taken such a large percentage increase. A front end replacement which cost $100 in 1940 has gone up 190 percent to $290. Certainly the elaborate grillwork, curved windshields and other innovations on the latest car models have also made repairs and replacements more costly."

The reason for the large underwriting losses sustained by the companies over recent years on automobile liability insurance is found in the upward trend of loss ratios, according to Mr. Leslie.

"For 61 stock companies, the automobile liability loss experience has grown steadily worse since the third quarter of 1950," he stated. "Data for the 12 months ended September 30, 1950 as compared with the 12 months ended September 30, 1951, the latest period for which data are available, show that the experience, on a comparable rate basis, has been 11 per cent worse for bodily injury and 24 percent worse for property damage."

The four guests who were present at both the wedding and golden wedding were Mrs. W. E. Hall of Wellington, sister of Mrs. Warrick, Mrs. H. T. Sears of Wellington, a cousin, and Jack and Marion Springer of Kress, cousins of Mr. Warrick.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Warrick

While the anniversary was an occasion for Mr. and Mrs. Warrick to see many of their friends, some of whom they had not seen for ten years or longer, it was also an opportunity for the friends to visit with each other, and a large group came from Hereford and other Plains points who formerly had lived in Collingsworth County.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Warrick were born in Arkansas, she in Sharp County, he in Izard County. Before her marriage, Mrs. Warrick was Fannie Buchanan, the daughter of Lure and Willie Lou Buchanan. She grew up in Sharp County, attending school at Sidney and Brickle Springs.

Mr. Warrick was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Warrick. His father died when he was only three months of age, and for almost as long as he can remember, he was carried more than the usual responsibilities in life. He received his education in Izard County. When he was 15 years old, the family moved to Sharp County. "It was just far enough to say we moved, about a mile and a half, but it was across the county line," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Warrick met at a party, held about half-way between her home and his. Mrs. Warrick was fifteen at the time. He was 19. They met again. The third time they met was at a Fourth of July picnic, and he rode home with her. Both reminded that they did their courting on horseback then.

Two and a half years later they were married at her parents home January 12, 1902. The minister was Rev. Ford, the father of the late B. F. Ford of Wellington, and the grandfather of Frank Ford and the late Corbett Ford.

They lived on the farm belonging to Mr. Warrick's mother following their marriage, and he farmed and operated a gin.

In 1904, they moved to the Indian Territory, at Durant, where he again bought a gin and mill. Here many of their dealings were with the Indians and they recall that some of their firmest friends were among these people. Mr. Warrick recalls that he soon learned that when an Indian brought in his corn to be ground, he shouldn't tie the sack of meal, but should let the owner do it. Had he tied it and the sack come undone on the way home, that Indian would have been his enemy

In 1909, Mr. and Mrs. Warrick moved to Wellington, arriving in a wagon pulled by mules. They reached here Christmas eve, and Mrs. Warrick discovered that the eggs she had been saving to bake the Christmas cake had been left behind. A little later, while investigating a dugout near where they had stopped, she found a stray nest holding a dozen eggs!

Mr. and Mrs. Warrick settled south of Wellington, on the farm now owned by A. J. Fires, and built the lovely home now standing. In 1923, Mr. Warrick established the J. E. Warrick & Co. Feed Store, and four years later he added a farm machinery line.

The business has grown and prospered through the years, and the first thing that comes in sight as the traveler approaches Wellington is the J. E. Warrick & Co. elevator. His two older sons, Lawrence and Velman, now operate the business.

Mr. Warrick operated the old Farmers Gin here shortly after it was built.

Nine years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Warrick moved to Hereford, locating southwest of that growing town. He now operates 1,000 acres of irrigated land and an additional acreage of dry land. There were only two wells on the farm when Mr. and Mrs. Warrick moved there, but now there are seven.

Friends and the family recall Mr. Warrick as one of the hardest working men they know — and he has been all his life.

"I never bought a bill of groceries on the credit in my life, or a bill of dry goods either," Mr. Warrick said. "If we didn't have the money we just did without, and we always got by."

This is typical of Mr. Warrick's sound thinking.

For ten years, Mrs. Warrick worked at the feed store and mill here. "They didn't pay me, so I went home," she jokes.

Mr. and Mrs. Warrick are the parents of five children, three of whom are living. Their daughter, Marie, died at the age of six months, and a son, Eual, died in an accident at the mill here. Their two older sons, Lawrence and Velman, live here, and the youngest son, J. E. Warrick Jr., at Hereford, where he helps his father in the operation of the farms.

There are six grandchildren, Clifton of San Antonio, Billy, Glenn, Joyce, Frances and Dan of Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Warrick are active in community life at Hereford, and attend services at the Frio Church.

"One of our neighbors remarked that attendance would be slim Sunday because everyone was coming down to our anniversary," Mrs. Warrick remarked.

Out of town visitors, many of them former Wellington residents, who registered at the celebration were:

Messrs. and Mmes. D. M. Springer and F. J. Springer of Kress; Harmon Lindley, R. L. Simpson, Leo Hall and girls, Owen Andrews and family, W. J. Dickson and Dale, E. B. Berryman and Lamerlas, J. H. Simpson, Sam Lindley and boys, Elza Warrick, W. A. Springer and Charles Ralph, C. N. McClure, Lee Little, Herbert Schmidt, and boys, W. G. Drummond and family, T. L. Sparkman, T. L. Sparkman Jr. and children, all from Hereford.

In spite of the bad weather last week, the double-header basketball game between the Quail Quails and Bobwhites and the Eagles and Eaglettes of Samnorwood was well attended. The Quail Gym was practically full with people from Quail and Samnorwood and we also saw a few familiar faces from Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and Connie Tom, and Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Robinson and Gary of Wellington, visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Mathis of Margaret, Sunday. Mrs. Alec Shields received word Sunday that her nephew, Erwin Jett, of Pasadena, California, was killed in a car wreck near Albuquerque, New Mexico. His wife's condition was reported as fair. Erwin was a nephew of Mrs. Shields and Joe Jett. Mrs. Shields and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jett of Amarillo left Tuesday morning for Ordway, Colorado, to attend the funeral services which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:00.

We welcome to our community the A. C. Price family who have moved to Quail from Quitaque and have bought the Osa Black home place.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Neeley and Patsy and Barbara Norman attended church at the Primitive Baptist Church in Wellington Sunday.

PRAYING FOR PRISONERS OF WAR—At early mass in San Francisco's St. Mary's church, two women pray for the quick return of their dear ones whose names were on the list of prisoners of war released by Communist negotiators in Korea. For some the list brought hopes; for many, heartbreak. Of 11,000 Americans reported missing in action, only 3198 were on the Red record of captives.

Dr. John Carroll Speaks to TSTA

"Teachers As Builders of Freedom" was the subject of Dr. John S. Carroll, head of the Department of Education at Texas Tech, for his address before the Collingsworth County T. S. T. A. banquet Tuesday night, January 8.

Charles T. Roberts, superintendent of the Wellington schools, gave the invocation. Herman Moseley, superintendent of the Quail school, introduced the guest speaker, and Dalton Vaughn, principal of the Samnorwood school, gave the benediction.

Song pantomines were presented by four of the county schools which included Wellington, Quail, Samnorwood and Dodson.

Dr. Carroll pointed out several of the qualities required in a teacher assuming the responsibilities of helping to develop the freedom and democracy in America. These qualities including orderliness, reasonableness, art, religion and government.

Reasonableness, according to Dr. Carroll, is being able to look at the facts and reaching a sound decision without ones emotions influencing the answer. He also stated that the affairs of teachers should be managed in a business like manner, resulting in orderliness.

Dr. Carroll traced the contributions of the different peoples concerning these qualities and how they helped to build our type of government.

An eight-year drouth was broken in 1948 when bantamweight Leon Palacio (Amarillo) and welterweight Eugene Cooper (Pampa) won Texas Golden Gloves championships for the Amarillo region.

Tom Attra, representing Austin, Temple and San Antonio, has won four light heavyweight titles in Texas Golden Gloves tournaments.

Janice and Tommy Harwell of Childress celebrated their birthdays at the home of Jim Langley who is their uncle on Monday, January 7. Those present for the occasion were Jody, Troy, Eddie, Rita and Don Crow, Melba Langley, Mrs. Nannie Johnson and Mr. Langley.

WELLINGTON, TEXAS

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER
Thursday, January 17, 1952

Important State Issues in 1952 Election

Texans who place value upon the privilege of citizenship should be under strong inducement this year to qualify as voters and to make use of the franchise in the approaching elections.

Aside from the fact that it is a presidential year, there is a statewide aspect to the 1952 elections which gives them —and the Jan. 31 deadline for paying poll taxes—and added significant.

For one thing, Texas will elect a congressman at large. The growth in population gave the state an extra congressman after the 1950 census, but the Legislature did not reapportion the state by congressional districts and the new one will be chosen on a statewide basis. No one area should have a disproportionate voice in his selection, and at the same time, the sections most heavily populated should have their rightful weight.

The elections, however, which most directly affect citizens are those for the State Legislature. There are completely new apportionments for most of the 31 Senate seats and 150 House places. Because redistricting was accomplished at the last session, the entire Senate will be elected this year instead of by the staggered system under which those four-year terms are filled normally—15 in one election year and 16 the next.

House seats, filled only for two-year terms, represent new areas, for the most part, this year.

Because of their greater population increases, urban areas have a greater voice in public affairs and, as in the election of a congressman at large, should get their full strength to the polls. Likewise, those rural areas which have lost some representation should make sure they exert their full influence.

Add these statewide features to the normal interest in local public offices and the state positions which are filled in the even years, and you have every reason to pay the poll tax.

It is inconsequential whether you approve or disapprove of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting. It is required by law now, and the elections are being held now.

A recent study by Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd showed that more than four million Texans would be eligible to vote if they would qualify. Yet two years ago only 1,552,945 paid the tax and there were only an estimated 1,832.475 holders of poll tax receipts and exemptions. In 1948, 1,720,083 paid. Tarrant County, which had 72,813 paid poll taxes for the 1948 presidential election, dropped to 55,603 in 1950. This year, the county should double the 1948 figure. So should Texas—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

When a School Forgets Its Education Goal

About three weeks ago we went through the printing and journalism building of the University of Kentucky. The building itself cost $400,000, but not all of it came out of the taxpayer's pocket for a change. Almost a quarter of a million of that was given by the student paper which is a money-making proposition.

What we were primarily interested in, however, was the wonderful place it made for training students. The print shop itself has perhaps $150,000 worth of machinery where students can learn a trade. The student newspaper is a model for learning the publishing business.

A great opportunity lies in that plant, but no doubt the same should be said for the department of agriculture, and perhaps a dozen other departments on that campus.

Shirley Porter Williamson and I are probably the only people from this county who have ever had even a passing interest in that department of the University. On the other hand, perhaps 200 from this county have seen a basketball or football game in the last 12 months, and several hundred have kept up with the newspapers and radio on these sports. The simple truth of the matter is that just about all we know about the University is what happens in sports.

This last week this sport business back-fired, and the results have made just everybody a little sick at the stomach.

The hardest blow came when word got out that of the nine famous basketball players only five had ever graduated. To us this fact is harder to take than the fact that they accepted bribes trimming scores.

Whenever a school loses sight of education for an activity, it is in a sad shape. And that goes for high schools as well as universities. — The Casey County (Liberal, Ky.) News.

Be a Good Sportsman — Ask Before You Shoot

Shooting has started — on ducks and geese, that is — the real invasion got underway Saturday at noon when hords of hunters took to the fields in this area after pheasants.

Before it's over, one, two or more valuable cows or horses may succumb to "wounds of war." Generally the farmer stands the loss, unless the hunter is a real sportsman.

That's the reason, of course, why so many fine hunting fields are posted. Most farmers don't mind having hunters on their place if they have assurance that none of the stock will shot up.

The best way is for the hunter to ask permission to hunt and then take care to see that he hunts in a area away from stock—The Minidoka County (Rupert, Idaho) News.

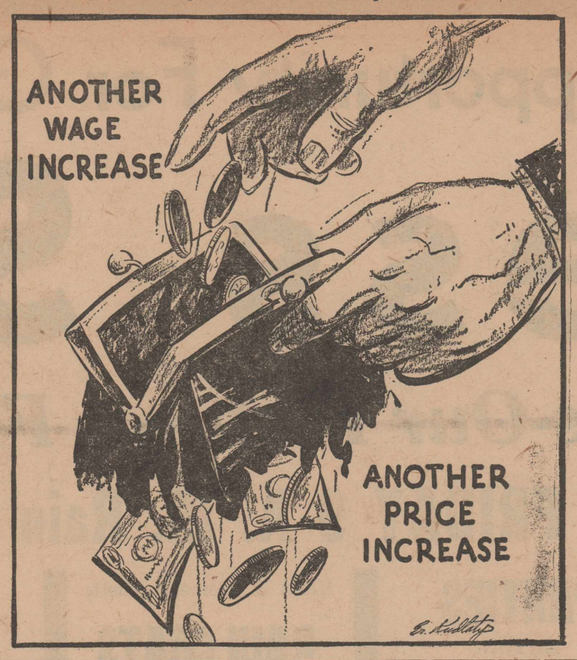

People Without Homes

As we sit in our warm, comfortable houses, secure in the friendship of our neighbors, it is difficult to imagine the distress of being hundreds or thousands of miles from home, friendless in a strange land. Yet the National Geographic Society estimates that between thirty and sixty million persons are in just such a position.

These persons are refugees driven from their homelands for a variety of reasons. Some left because they could no longer endure the tyranny of police states. Others were driven to their wanderings by natural catastrophes such as floods or earthquakes, or set our on their journeys because they lived in over populated lands where the choice had come to move or face starvation. Some were dispossessed in wars or political purges.

Many of these refugees look forward to better days when they will be able to return to their own lands. Others have left their homelands behand them forever, and plan to build new lives and new homes in any friendly land which will offer them haven. We who have homes can feel sympathy for those who seek for soil in which they can set their roots. An awareness of their plight may help us to make it easier for them and may give us a keener appreciation of our own good fortune. — Corsicana Daily Sun.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek is taking his usual backward attitude tdis week, his letter reveals.

Dear editar:

Lately I've been readin about the South and the Southwest, how we're gettin industrialized and how there's some hope of us improvin our standards, raisin our mental status, broadenin our vision, splittin our votes, multiplyin our traffic problems, maybe even decreasin our illiteracy, although there's something to say for bein illiterate, you ain't heard of any illiterate bein investigated in Washington for his wife's mink coat, every man I've heard of who's resigned under a scandalous atmosphere from a government job recently has been able to read and write, and while I have never been opposed to progress, I want you to know we had our good points before progress set in.

As I understand it, the classic description of the unindustrialized South gave it as a pretty awful place, where, when they buried a man, they buried him in a suit made in New York, shoes made in Boston, socks made in Philadelphia, a shirt made in Cincinnati, and a coffin made in Chicago, with even the marble tombstone bein imported from Vermont and the grave bein dug with a shovel from Pittsburgh. All the South furnished, accordin to that celebrated editar, Henry Grady of the Atlanta Constitution, was the corpse and the hole in the ground.

This was supposed to be an unanswerable indictment of the South's backwardness, but it never has affected me that way. What I want to know is what's wrong with it?

If some man in Boston has the energy to make my shoes for me, I say let him do it. If I'm backward because some bird in Cincinnati sews a shirt for me, just keep his needle threaded and keep him thinkin I'm backward. I don't even care where they make shovels, already too many produced as it is.

In fact, it never has struck me that you measure a town or an area by its ability to produce all its own goods. That is, not in these days. Maybe in Carthage in 112 B. C., but you try to make every area industrialized and self-supportin these days and you'll ruin transportation, not to mention the billboard people and drive-in cafes.

It may be the height of backwardness, but there ain't a hand bein turned out here at Buck Creek to make our own atom bombs, ain't nobody oopenin up a new car factory, very few heavy bombers bein planned here, the last home-spun suit wore out durin Cleveland's administration, we'd starve to death if we depended on our own lightbread.

The way we figure it is, when we go to the trouble of raisin something, it's somebody else's job to take it from there and manufacture something out of it. If I get my cotton hauled to town, that's as far as I can go.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Interview That Changed a Man's Life

Among the greatest recorded conversations of all time is the interview of Jesus with Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews.

As related in the third chapter of the book of John, Nicodemus comes to Jesus under the cover of darkness to inquire about things he perceives but does not understand.

Because he came by night, Nicodemus has been often described as timid. Yet he revealed great courage in making his way through the dark and dangerous streets. That he did so is a tribute to his determination.

Nicodemus asked Jesus, "How can a man be born when he is old?" and was immediately rebuked for Jesus replied, "Art thou a master of Israel and knowest not these things?"

Had not Nicodemum been sincere in his desire for enlightenment, this rebuke might have turned him away.

Jesus then went on to discuss regeneration, eternal life, and the love of God. So persuasive were His words and so memorable the conversation that from that day on Nicodemus was a faithful friend of Jesus, ready to defend Him without thought to the risk involved.

The experience of Nicodemus provides a valuable lesson, teaching us the importance of determination and courage.

We must make our way to God no matter how dark or dangerous the path, secure in the knowledge that "whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

And like Nicodemus we must not be turned away or discouraged by rebukes. For but one glimpse of God's glory and truth may enrich all of the rest of our days.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

PROFITS ARE PRODUCTIVE

On a broad strip of land jutting into the Delaware River near Trenton, New Jersey, construction contractors and their engineers are directing the finishing touches on a brand-new steel-making plant, the nation's biggest. In two nearby modern residential communities families are beginning to occupy the 20,000 attractive new homes. Stores, shops, churches, theaters and playgrounds round out the residential areas. Tre families are those of employees who will operate the great new Fairless Works of the United States Steel Corporation.

The sprawling plant will bring a healthy expansion to America's peacetime economy, benefitting every citizen in the country, and will pour vast new strength into the nation's military production effort. Its capacity of nearly 2-million tons of steel is enough to make 900,000 automobiles, or 45,000 tanks a year.

MAKES NEW WEALTH

In a very real sense this new steel plant is a producer of new wealth, converting an unspendable natural resource, iron ore in the earth's crust, into a saleable product worth tens of millions of dollars. And the significant thing is that it is being built out of profits made and the promise of profits to come. In fact, the Fairless Works is a good example of the workings of our American profit economy; likewise it may be pointed to as a dramatic example of the value of corporation profits to the American workingman and to the public ienerally.

In all, 25,000 people will be employed in the new plant. The jobs they will occupy are new — they didn't exist before the plant was built. Each of these new jobs will represent an investment, a hard cash expenditure by the company, of about $25,000 per worker. And most of the income from sales by the new enterprise will be paid in wages and benefits to the employees and for raw materials.

WHERE IT GOES

The profit to the corporation will be a few cents of each dollar of income (perhaps 6 cents), and with this profit: (1) the stockholders must be paid dividends big enough to keep their money coming; (2) a sum must be set aside for replacing machinery and plant facilities as they wear out; (3) another sum must be set up as surplus so that slack earning periods may be weathered; and (4) still another sum must be set up to help finance expansion of production, such as the Fairless works, which makes more jobs for the children of U. S. Steel families.

The public benefits by the millions in new money flowing into the channels of commerce, as reflected in: (1) pay checks being spent at grocery stores, department stores, for automobiles, television sets, washing machines, on entertainment, etc.; (2) increased demand for allied materials which other workers in other plants must make and which are needed in steel making; (3) expanded transportation needs; and (4) the maning available of more of the basic steel for a limitless array of other products whose production now can be expand, requiring more workers, more allied materials.

WHOLESOME INCENTIVE

Thus the bringing into production of such a great new source of wealth-making as a new steel plant starts an almost endless cycle of expanding industrial activities — more automobiles, more washing machines, more buildings made of steel, more machine tools, more everything that makes life in America better, in a material way, for everyone.

And at the base of the whole cycle, the element that feeds it and keeps it alive is the profit motive. The people who want to see the Government take over our industries and regiment our lives according to a planned blueprint are constantly trying to undermine respect for the profit motive — it comes from one of God's laws. Instead, they merely want to get the industries into their control so that they and a handful of political favorites and bureaucrats will be the sole beneficiaries. Profits then would go down the rat-hole of political greed and corruption.

Every American has a stake in seeing that our industries are kept free of government control and operating under the wholesome incentive of the profit motive.

Preparedness Can Reduce Damage From Windstorms

Experience of recent years shows that windstorms can occur at almost any time of the year. Many parts of the country have stormy seasons, but the "out of season" storm is not uncommon.

Protection against windstorm damage has become an increasing concern of property owners.

Windstorm damage can to a large degree be prevented, just as property can be safeguarded from fire, the National Board of Fire Underwriters says.

One of the important factors concerns building construction. The less engineering and architectural supervision a building had had in its erection, the more likely the building is to be damaged by windstorms, according to the National Board.

Another factor is the preparedness of the property owner himself. Residents of the "hurricane belt" in the Gulf States and Florida have learned by experience that precautions taken after the first storm warning will safeguard lives and prevent much property damage. Here are some of the precautions to be taken:

1. Place all loose objects and movable objects, such as boards, garbage cans, porch furniture, etc., where there is no danger of their being lifted and blown against a building or through a window.

2. Movable awnings should be raised and securely tied, or removed entirely.

Shutters should be firmly and securely attached.

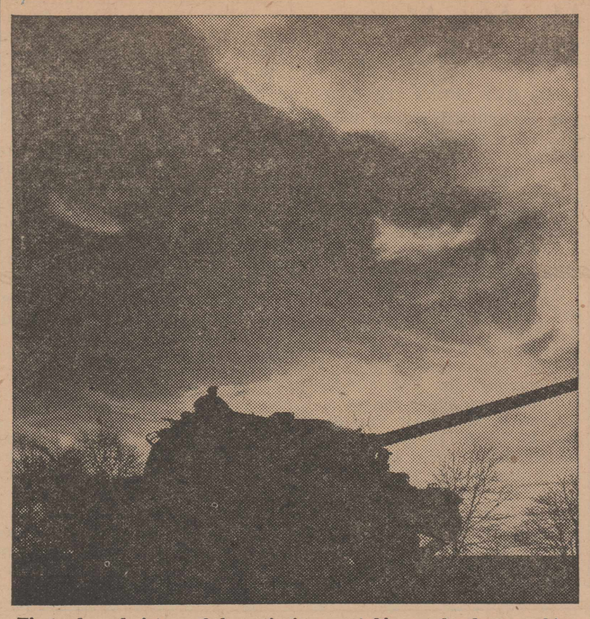

4. Temporary lighting, preferably flashlights, should be arranged in case electric current is cut off.

5. Large doors such as garage doors should be securely braced against movement in or out.

6. Keep hammer, saw, nails and boards handy in house for emergency use.

7. Cut down dead trees or branches near buildings. Brace small trees or shrubs.

Cunningham Home Burns Recently

While visiting in the county during Christmas, Supt. and Mrs. Noah Cunningham of Whiteface told of fire damage to their home a few days previously, estimated first at between $15,000 and $20,000, and believed to be even more.

The fire occurred while Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham were attending a school party, his brother, Orville Cunningham of Samnorwood said. The origin of the blaze has not been determined, and since several of the inside doors were also closed, the fire itself was confined to only a part of the house. The heating system conduits, however, carried heat and smoke to all rooms, and the fire was so intense that part of their clothing, hanging in closets, has taken on a hard glazed finish, and paper is peeling off the walls, Orville Cunningham reported.

The house, two years old and valued at $40,000, is property of the Whiteface School District.

They formerly lived at Quail where he was superintendent of schools.
