'POLY' BANK SHOOTING BRINGS MURDER CHARGES

Young Quanah Farmer Charged Here With Fatal Stabbing Of Iowa Park Boy

ED HEDGCOTH AWAITS ACTION OF GRAND JURY

Frank Stepp Under Charge Of Accessory After Fact In Death Case

ALL-NIGHT PURSUIT

Pair Arrested in Hardeman County by Three Texas Sheriffs

Ed Hedgcoth, 23-year-old Quanah farmer, was charged with murder Wednesday afternoon in connection with the fatal stabbing of R. D. Burnett, 19, after a dance at the J. W. Ashlock home near Iowa Park shortly after midnight Tuesday.

Frank Stepp, who lives with Hedgcoth and left with him after the affray, was charged with being an accessory after the fact. Both men were lodged in the Wichita county jail pending the action of the 30th district grand jury which reconvenes here on April 28.

Girl's Name Involved

Burnett, stabbed through the heart, died in the office of an Iowa Park physician about 12:30 Wednesday morning. In statements made to District Attorney Sam Spence and Mike Anglin, assistant, the two accused men said the stabbing followed a quarrel growing out of an insulting remark alleged to have been made by Burnett about one of the young women present. Burnett and Hedgcoth met for the first time at the dance, the prisoners declared.

Hedgcoth and Stepp were arrested about 11 o'clock Wednesday morning after an all-night investigation conducted by Sheriff W. G. Bralley in connection with Charlie Gant, deputy, Sheriff G. T. Hawkins at Quanah, and Sheriff Wyatt Smith of Childress.

Arrests Near Kirkland

The quest ended near Kirkland when the two men, in Stepp's car, were arrested after a brief chase along the Quanah-Childress highway.

In statements made to the district attorney's office, Hedgcoth and Stepp said they left the scene of the stabbing without knowing how badly Burnett was hurt. They were on the way to the home of a relative at Childress at the time of the arrest, the two accused men stated. The knife used in the fight was left in the drawer of a cabinet at the home of Stepp, the prisoners explained.

Hedgcoth declared that he had drawn the knife after first striking Burnett with his fist in protest against a slurring remark against the young woman.

Jack Powell, who accompanied Burnett to the dance and rushed him to Iowa Park for medical attention after the affray, told investigating officers that Hedgcoth followed Burnett to the car after the dance, pulled him from the seat, and drew the knife. Powell said

Jim Ferguson Opens Fight To Place His Name Or His Wife's On Demo Ballots

AUSTIN, April 16. (UP)—Either "Ma" Ferguson or "Farmer Jim," her husband, will run for governor.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson today said he would soon file his application with the Democratic state executive committee and today he made application to the supreme court for leave to file a petition in mandamus compelling the committee to place his name on the primary ballot.

If he fails in his attempt, his wife, also a former governor, will run, Ferguson announced.

In referring to his own "American" party, Ferguson said he never had bolted the Democratic party after participating in one of its primaries.

"If through the fates and uncertainties of political and judicial fortune, the people should be denied the right to vote for me, my good wife again will throw herself on the altar of public service," he said.

LOVE ARGUES MANDAMUS PLEA

AUSTIN, April 16. (AP)—Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas told the supreme court today in arguing his application for a mandamus to compel the state Democratic executive committee to place his name as a candidate for governor on the 1930 primary ballots, that he would not bind his conscience to support the nominees of a primary as the price of any office.

The name of Senator Love and other candidates for state office who failed to support the Democratic presidential electors in 1928 was to be denied a place on the ballots when the committee meets June 9 to certify a list of candidates to county chairmen, the committee at a meeting here Feb. 1 having adopted resolutions barring 1928 bolters as candidates. Democrats who strayed from the fold in opposition to Former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, Democratic national standard bearer, were invited to participate as voters, however.

Court Recesses

The court recessed until tomorrow when the arguments will be concluded.

Senator Love declared that laws had long ago been passed to protect the sanctity of the ballot and that the right of a candidate to participate in a primary election was guaranteed both by the constitution and the law.

He declared unconstitutional the law under attack must be specifically inhibited by the constitution and that he had read every line and between the lines of that document without finding any such inhibition.

Senator Love said the bill giving the supreme court jurisdiction had been signed with him by 24 of the 31 senators and by a majority of the house membership, and was passed by both bodies by a two-thirds vote in order to put it into immediate effect.

Nicholson Case Due

Arguments will be closed by Sen. Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas, in support of Senator Love's application, and by C. C. Renfro of Dallas and William H. Burges of El Paso for the executive committee.

The court was to take submission at the same time of a suit brought by J. W. Nicholson and others of Wichita county against the county Democratic executive committee there, involving the right of an executive committee to oust its members for refusing to support the nominees of the party.

Nicholson and 12 others who voted for the Republican presidential electors in 1928 had been unseated by a vote of the committee.

Seven New Derricks Appear In Sight of Nash-Windfohr Gusher

(By Staff Correspondent)

GRAHAM, Texas, April 16.—Seven shiny, new derricks, peeped over the mesquite thickets north of Graham today, the first sproutings for a forest of skeleton-towers which will surround the Nash & Windfohr No. 1 McCloud, the unrivalled gusher.

Before the end of the week at least five more derricks will rise above locations selected by geologists and engineers as promising production from the 3750-foot lime formation which has yielded more than 100,000 barrels of oil through the hole on the McCloud bonanza. Two tests near the well already are in operation.

The big well today gauged 422 barrels per hour, just three barrels less than the official figure for Tuesday. This flow is being made against 135 pounds back pressure and does not represent the gusher's total potential production. Admittedly making a small amount of water, the well improves daily in the eyes of its owners and scouts sent here to watch developments.

The Texas company's six-inch line from the Bryson field will be tied into the well Thursday and after the carrier is tested it will begin transporting the rich fluid from the lease, possibly by Thursday night.

Panhandle Refining company shipped out 34 cars of crude from the surface ponds today and will load 40 tanks Thursday. Further drilling operations on the McCloud lease are expected to await removal of all of this surface oil.

OBJECTIONS TO LIQUOR LAWS HALT TRIAL

Prospective Jurors Tell Court They Could Not Send Man to Pen

NEW VENIRE CALLED

Wichita Officials Exhaust Panel Without Securing Complete Jury

The disqualification of prospective jurymen who declared they would not send a man to the penitentiary for violation of the liquor laws Wednesday afternoon exhausted the weekly jury panel in the 89th district court and temporarily halted the selection of 12 men to try T. J. Cossey on charges of the possession of whisky for sale. Efforts to obtain the jury were abandoned after 10 men had been chosen, seven had been disqualified, and several others had been scratched by the state after they declared themselves out of sympathy with the prohibition law.

Seven of the panel members definitely asserted themselves disqualified for service in a liquor trial. One man, asked whether he would follow the law in spite of his views against prohibition if he took the juror's oath, laconically declared that he would not take the oath.

WICHITA WINS LEAGUE PRIZE

7,080 See First Game Here, With Beaumont Next

Wichita Falls and Fort Worth were named as the winning cities in the Texas league opening day attendance contest in an announcement made Wednesday by J. Alvin Gardner, league president. The community chests of each city will receive a check for $250, the prize offered the league for the city having the largest attendance.

Narrow Margin

Wichita Falls, competing with Beaumont, Shreveport and Waco, won by the narrow margin of 80 clicks of the turnstile. The official attendance figures for this group follow: Wichita Falls, 7,080; Beaumont, 7,000; Shreveport, 5,722; Waco, 2,392.

Fort Worth won the prize for the group of larger cities with an attendance of 16,018. Figures for other cities in the group: Dallas, 9,142; Houston, 9,062; San Antonio, 6,398.

In all, 63,014 people in Texas and Louisiana saw the start of the Texas league season in their home towns, the statistics revealed.

Mr. Gardner announced the prize winners after returning from Shreveport, where the season was opened Wednesday, the Wichita Falls Spudders defeating the Sports, 8 to 6. Shreveport was the last city in the league to have its official opening.

Shreveport Last to Open

Wichita Falls won the prize in the group of smaller cities in the face of a handicap in the form of the New York Yankees' exhibition game here only a few days before the season opened. Babe Ruth and his coterie drew about 9,000 fans to Athletic park. However, interest in the opening day game of the Texas league was maintained, chiefly through a slogan contest sponsored by the athletic committee of the chamber of commerce. The slogan adopted was "Pack the park and swell the chest!"

Wichita Falls opened against the Shreveport Sports on the same day, April 9, Dallas played at Fort Worth; Waco at Beamount; and Houston at San Antonio. Dallas' first home game was played next day with the Cats. On April 11, San Antonio played at Waco; and Beaumont at Houston. Shreveport's opening game Tuesday completed the list.

Hear Ye, Men! Our Mayor Declares The Hour of Straw Lids Has Arrived

Already several straw hats have made their appearance upon the streets of the city, but the official season for such wear does not start until Thursday. For this reason that day has been set aside by the city's chief executive as "Straw Hat" day.

Following is Mayor Nelson's proclamation:

"Whereas, the season has arrived and our merchants are supplied with plentiful stocks of straw hats, for the comfort of our male citizenship;

"I, Walter Nelson Jr., mayor of the city of Wichita Falls, do hereby set aside Thursday, April 17, for Straw Hat day, and urge all men folk to don the new top pieces at this time.

"Walter Nelson Jr.

"DEAD BANDIT" REWARD PLOT LAID TO PAIR

Two Accused Men Held in Jail at Fort Worth Without Bail

HEARING THURSDAY

John Alsup, Former Officer, Denies Frame-Up to Collect Money

FORT WORTH, April 16. (AP)—Charges of murdering the two negroes slain April 10 in the attempted robbery of the First State bank of Polytechnic were filed early tonight against John Alsup, who killed the two negroes, and against A. P. Boyt, barber.

Alsup, former policeman, and Boyt were placed in the county jail and were held without bond. They were charged with murder of Will Tate and George Terrell, negroes. Boyt did not participate in the actual slaying.

Chief Signs Charge

The charges were signed by Chief of Police Henry Lee and were filed before Justice Walter Prichard by Walter Morris, assistant district attorney. An examining trial will be held Thursday.

The Texas Bankers' association has a standing reward of $5,000 for each "dead" bank bandit.

Alsup Denied Charge

An investigation by city and county officials of the attempted bank robbery and slaying of the two negroes, one of whom was unarmed, has been under way since a few hours after the killings. Alsup knew that night his part in the slaying and his actions before then were under investigation but he denied there had been a frame-up for the negroes to be slain so the $5,000 "dead bank bandit" reward might be collected.

Several negroes told officers they believed the robbery had been framed.

Officials of the bankers association announced after the shooting, however, that the First State bank of Polytechnic had never contributed to the reward fund, and for that reason no reward could be paid by the association.

Identification

Earlier today the negroes failed to identify a close friend of Alsup as the man they had seen talking with Tate several times at and in the neighborhood of his home. The man was held in custody for several hours and was not charged.

Boyt was identified by a slit in the lobe of his right ear, a point of identification that had been given officers last Thursday.

Alsup, when the charges were filed, declined to comment. Boyt would say nothing except that he is a barber.

Census Figures Begin Climb As Wichitans Aid Federal Workers

sus to reflect the actual population of this city was the distribution of 12,000 blank forms among school children during the afternoon. The form which was carried into each child's home emphasizes the fact that any one who has any doubt whatever about having been enumerated should fill out the form and return it to the school teacher from whom the child received it. The form also makes an appeal to municipal and national patriotism in an effort to procure the desired response.

Employes of one of the largest mercantile establishments in the city were assembled Wednesday morning for a check-up on the census. It developed that more than 25 per cent of those present had not been enrolled. Various reasons were given. Families with which some of them have rooms failed to name such tenants, probably thinking that enumerators in the business district would register all such persons, it was said. The head of this store made inquiry elsewhere and found that a similar situation existed in other stores. Steps are being taken now, it was announced, to organize a definite agency Thursday for working on the problem from this angle.

Three Northwest Texas towns show population gains over the count of 1920 in final census reports received from the Associated Press Wednesday night. The reports follow:

Claude, Armstrong county, 1,035, increase, 265.

Hedley, Donley county, 800, increase 206.

McLean, 1,518, increase, 777.

Hoover Answers Questions

Even President Hoover is lending direct aid to the Wichita Falls enumerators and citizens in the effort to obtain a correct tabulation of the local population. In the news-reel now showing at the Majestic theater, Mr. Hoover is shown giving his name, age, etc., to the enumerator. During the brief interview he stresses the importance and patriotic duty of supplying the information asked for, and of seeing that it is given if not asked for.

Principals of the public schools were assembled at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, city superintendent, and were asked by him to give every possible aid in the effort to enumerate every resident of the city. They were instructed in the use of the 12,000 blanks supplied for that purpose. All teachers were urged to make sure that their names appear as residents of Wichita Falls.

According to John Boswell, general manager of the chamber of commerce, every agency of that organization will be applied to the task of enabling Mr. Ball to obtain a correct enumeration during the next few days.

the two men had exchanged words as they left the house but that he had not been able to understand what they said.

Burnett Silent

Burnett stumbled back into the machine after the knife wound was inflicted, Powell said. The wounded man whispered: "Let's get to a doctor. I'm cut bad," and was silent during the rest of the trip. He died a few minutes later in the office of the physician.

The search for Burnett's assailant began when Sheriff Bralley learned the identity of Stepp as the companion of the man with the knife. The two were traced to Quanah, where Sheriff G. T. Hawkins joined the searching party. The officers visited the home of Stepp's parents near Kirkland after Sheriff Smith had been added to the posse. It was on the return trip toward Quanah that the car bearing the investigators came upon the car bearing the two men. They were brought at once to Wichita Falls where detailed statements of the whole affair were taken by members of the district attorney's office.

Burial at Covington

Funeral services for Burnett will be held in his former home at Covington, in Hill county. Burnett had joined his family in Iowa Park only about two weeks ago, coming there from Pampa where he had been employed in the oil fields. Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Burnett, proprietors of the Roselle filling station, he is survived by four sisters and three brothers.

The sisters are Mrs. Effue Faulkenbury, of Texarkana, Ark., Mrs. Myrtle Broxson of Pampa, Mrs. Lily Edmons of Iowa Park, and Mrs. Minnie Cunningham of Pampa. W. H. Burnett of Iowa Park, E. A. Burnett and F. M. Burnett Jr., both of Pampa, are the brothers.

City Government Shows Saving Of $29,403 in Year's Operations

Every Municipal Department but One Operates Within Budget for Work

A saving of $29,403.53 was shown in the annual report of the income and disbursements of the city of Wichita Falls for the fiscal year of 1930 which began April 1, 1929, and ended March 31, 1930, according to the announcement made by W. E. McBroom, city clerk, Wednesday.

The total income was $1,025,568.10 and the actual expenditures out of the cash current receipts were $996,164.57. Of the expenditures, a total of $409,280.69, including $121,069.70 for the fire department and $92,925.46 for the police department, was for general expenses and $94,058.89 was for street maintenance and repairs. Library expenditures were $15,457.61 and $68,004.87 was spent on the parks and cemetery. The sewer disposal plant and maintenance of the plant cost $20,695.63, the waterworks $123,634.12; while $190,002.76 was paid on the bonded debt and $177,580.00 was used for the sinking fund which included the principal.

A total of $103,000 taken from the reserve fund was used to pay off waterworks bonds at times during the year, Mr. McBroom said. Every department of the city with the exception of the Memorial auditorium stayed within its budget and the auditorium department went over for the purpose of changing the insurance policies from one to three year policies, thereby saving one half year's premium expense, Mr. McBroom pointed out.

The income was slightly larger than the estimated revenue, which was $1,011,349.75.

Of the amount, $648,788.66 was in the form of property taxes, and $260,436.40 from the sale of water.

Veniremen 'Can't' Convict Leggers

Several other prospects admitted a prejudice against the 18th amendment, but said they would put it aside in the trial of the case. The state exercised its right of peremptory challenge and excused the jurors.

The court faced the same problem Thursday in the selection of a jury to try Dan Norwood on charges of manufacturing whisky and operating a still. The numbers of the panel were materially reduced at that time by the objections of the jurors to a penitentiary sentence for liquor law violators. By the time the jury was finally chosen the list had been so depleted that the selection of a second whisky trial jury was impossible Wednesday.

JURY DEADLOCKED ON LIQUOR VERDICT

Sent back to resume consideration after they had declared themselves unable to agree on a verdict, the jury trying Dan Norwood on charges of manufacturing whisky and operating a still Wednesday evening announced that it was hopelessly deadlocked and had abandoned efforts to reach an agreement.

The case went to the jury in the 89th district court shortly before noon Wednesday. Norwood was indicted after his arrest at a giant still captured in operation near Electra last fall. He told the jury he had happened upon the plant while looking for a neighbor who had hogs to sell and was merely watching it work when the raiding officers appeared.

Officer Killed In Seizure of Still

HOUSTON, April 16. (AP)—A raid on a still near Satsuma, about 25 miles north of here tonight resulted in the death of W. C. Williams Jr., 23, a deputy sheriff who was a member of the raiding party.

Williams, according to fellow officers, was shot to death by A. T. Botkins, an aged man who had led them to the still. Botkins, according to meager details of the shooting reaching here, fired when Williams entered a rear door of a shack housing the still.

Botkins was being questioned here by Sheriff T. A. Binford in connection with the slaying. Williams, shot through the heart with a high-powered rifle, died instantly.

MITCHELL ASKS CURB ON LAWS

Attorney General to Rest On Prosecutions

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—Ready to take over the enforcement of prohibition, Attorney General Mitchell wants to "get our house in order" before any new statutes are enacted making more crimes.

Giving this view to the senate judiciary committee the attorney general warned that the prison population of the United States is so great today that it is inexpedient to stimulate any further prosecutions.

Mitchell reported that the total of federal prisoners had increased in the last nine months by 6,277 including those confined in county, city or state institutions. He said every federal institution was overcrowded. He attributed most of the new prisoners to the prohibition law.

He appeared before the judiciary committee to talk on the resolution for a senate investigation of prohibition and he opposed this on the ground that it would "paralyze" enforcement work during the inquiry. He urged, instead, that congress enact the prison relief legislation and the measure transferring prohibition from the treasury to the justice department.

Presenting data showing considerable increase in federal prisoners in the last 20 years, the attorney general attributed the "over-taxing of the federal machinery" to the prohibition, white slave, narcotic and automobile theft laws.

"It makes me feel," he said, "that we ought to get our house in order and increase our facilities for handling the criminal business we already have before we start passing any more federal statutes that make things federal crimes that are not at present."

Pointing to the overcrowded condition of the penitentiaries, he said, "we have reached a point where, of course, further stimulating activities of prosecution under any law will get us into difficulties."

The attorney general proposed increased pay and numbers of district attorneys. He listened to a discussion of a proposal by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, to establish "auxiliary" federal judges to take care of the so-called police court work now falling upon federal district judges. He gave no opinion on this point.

Conference Establishes Leather Goods Tariff

Eight Indicted In Julian Briberies

LOS ANGELES, April 16. (UP)—A new story of asserted bribery in California political office came out of the county grand jury room here today in a true bill charging bribes had changed hands on Spring street, financial center of Los Angeles.

Jacob Friedlander, former state corporation commissioner, Charles Crawford, politician; S. C. Lewis, former president of the collapsed Julian Petroleum corporation and four "John Does" were indicted on charges of conspiracy to offer, give and receive bribes.

The true bills resulted from testimony of J. H. Roth, broker and former associate of C. C. Julian, promoter of the oil company he sold before it crashed. Roth said $250,000 changed hands when Lewis and Crawford forced brokers to pay as high as $5,000 for permits to sell stock and that some of the money reached Friendlander.

COTTON PROFITS GETTING SLIM

Manufacturers Report Low Farm Earnings

HOUSTON, April 16. (UP)—Last year will go down in cotton manufacturing history as a year in which curtailment did not curtail, according to the monthly bulletin of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, issued today.

Despite repeated warnings early in 1929 and subsequent reports of extensive curtailment, the report stated, cotton consumption per active spindle actually increased, not only over that of 1928 but over the previous high record for all time established in 1927.

"The production of cotton yarns and cloth reached a new record for volume in the year 1927, much of which was in excess of demand and a large surplus was carried over into 1928," the report said. "In 1927 the consumption of cotton per active spindle was 113.8 pounds; in 1929 it increased to 116 pounds.

"With 2,143,000 less active spindles in 1929 than in 1927 the cotton consumed only decreased 350,713 bales, each spindle reported active ran 3,285 hours in 1929 compared to 3,209 hours in 1927 for an increase of 76 hours per active spindle over the previous high record in history.

"The effect on prices has been just what might have been expected. The manufacturing margin, as determined from the average price of 10 print cloths, continued on its downward path with a drop of 2.31 cents a pound for the first quarter of 1930 as compared to the same period last year. Depressing as that statement sounds it is even more disturbing when compared to previous years. It is 2.22 cents a pound less than the average of 1929, 3.99 less than 1928 and 6.51 less than 1927."

WELD PREDICTS FIVE PER CENT CUT

WASHINGTON, April 14. (UP)—A prediction that cotton acreage of the United States would show a 5 per cent decrease this year was made by Phillip M. Weld, vice president of the New York cotton exchange, after a call upon President Hoover today.

Mangum Revival Draws Record Breaking Crowds

Special to The Record News

MANGUM, Okla., April 16.—Record crowds are attending the revival meeting being conducted at the North Mangum Methodist church. Rev. C. W. McNeely, pastor, is being assisted by Rev. Leroy Simmons of Brinkman.

An except from Tuesday's sermon follows:

"Wanted, more non-skid religion. Some folks can't grow a smile without a wart on it. Backsliding begins in the knees. A cold church, like cold butter, never spreads well. An open mind is better than an open mouth. Brain storms are caused by hot air currents. The man who laughs is a doctor without a diploma. You can't judge an automobile, or a man, by the sound of the horn. The Christian life is like an airplane—when you stop you drop."

Argotane Has Made a New Man of Me and Relieved Me Of My Trouble

"Since Argotane relieved me of my troubles, I just can't help praising it to everybody," said J. T. South, of Lubbock, Texas. Mr. South is a well known ginner of this part of the state and owns and operates to J. T. South Gin company.

"For several years," he continued, "I suffered from stomach disorder and a general run-down condition. I had very little appetite and three or four hours after eating, gas would form and cramp my stomach so that nothing would relieve me of the agony; I was in a very weak condition and was tired and worn out and didn't feel like doing my work. I had a severe case of constipation and had severe headaches.

"My first bottle of Argotane seemed to hit the spot and I have been getting better ever since. I can eat anything and everything I want. I don't have any trouble with gas, my stomach is tuned up and I feel better in every way than I have for a long time. Argotane has saved me a lot of suffering and money and has made a new man of me. I want my many friends to know about it."

Officers Dig Out Horse Pistols and Derringers for Gun Contest

Texans and Oklahomans to 'Shoot It Out' When Convention Opens Here

The family heirlooms are missing from the deer antlers above the mantle but the wife is unduly alarmed for a thief hasn't taken them. They were only an old style derringer and a blunderbuss of questionable age, and her husband, who is a peace officer, has merely taken them out for a little airing and a little private practice, for the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma peace officers are going to shoot it out between themselves in their meeting here April 24-25.

The weapons will be pistols at 25 paces. All bystanders are warned to be out of range, although they will be welcome to watch if they wish to take a chance. All ranchers within six miles of Call field are preparing to start the annual roundup the day before the shooting begins, so that they will be sure to have all stray cattle and horses herded into the northwest corner corral, well out of range.

The massing of forces will start on the morning of April 25 and hostilities will begin some time during the day, when the first nervous rod-toter accidentally fires his weapon to start the fray.

Each and every officer in Wichita Falls has pledged allegiance to his city and is putting in his spare moments shooting at dimes thrown in the air, partially to accustom himself to the sound of his thumbbuster and partially to show fellow officers that he really knows when to pull the trigger.

Horse pistols ranging in size from a small .22-caliber to a .40-something-or-other, and in length from a two-and-a-half-inch barrel to barrels long enough to pass for a 30-30 carbine are being dug out of old trunks up in the attic and scraped and oiled for the affair.

There is a great talk of hair triggers and perfect balance, and the same are being exploited before envious and admiring on-lookers. Marksmen are proudly comparing practice scores and guns that result in talk such as the following:

"Just try that one, Mr. Pogue. If that hasn't got a hair trigger to it there never was any such thing invented." Pogue takes the gun, cocks it and leans heavily against the trigger, but she stays cocked.

"I believe that is a little hard on the trigger yet, why don't you have some one file it down a little more?"

"Say, you don't know how to shoot a pistol. Give'er here." The owner takes the gun and clamps onto the trigger with both hands, and presto, the hammer falls.

"See there, I told you so. That is about the easiest gun around here."

Private scores are showing high. Group scores are not so good, but easily explained. When there are others shooting around, a heretofore uncovered self-consciousness appears and disturbs the aspirant so that he is unable to distinguish the bull's-eye from a hapless spider hanging from a tree limb, six feet to the left of the target.

Creek Searched for Body of Man Who Drank Poison in Small Rowboat

HUGO, Okla., April 16. (UP)—The body of J. C. Stacey, 65, who committed suicide yesterday while a group of friends looked on, thinking he was joking, had not been recovered today from the Kiamichi river.

Yesterday Stacey invited two friends to "come to the river and watch me commit suicide." The friends accompanied him, thinking he was joking.

Stacey led them to the mouth of Rock creek, where a boat was moored. When he invited them to get in the boat with him, the friends refused, saying they would watch proceedings from the bank.

Stacey rowed slowly to the center of the stream. Suddenly he stood up in the boat, and reached in his hip pocket. His friends, thinking he was reaching for a gun, retreated behind trees.

The aged man drank from a bottle he had in his pocked, slumped to the edge of the boat, and slipped into the water.

A search was made for his body immediately, but no trace of it had been found today after 18 hours of dragging the river bottom.

Stacey formerly lived at Bokchito. The motive for the suicide had not been determined. His son, George Stacey of Bokchito, could throw no light on the matter when called by officials.

Girl Missionary Freed by Bandits

HANKOW, April 16. (AP)—Miss Nina E. Gemmell, an American missionary formerly of Girard, Kan., and Tacoma, Wash., arrived here today from a bandits' camp in Kiangsi province mountains where she had been held for ransom.

As a result of her experiences since she was kidnaped March 27 in a raid upon Yuanchow, Kiangsi, Miss Gemmell is confined to bed. It is understood, however, that the bandits released her, hoping to persuade the mission officals to pay the demanded ransom of $60,000 Mexican ($30,000 gold).

The Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Porteous, English missionaries, kidnaped at the same time, are reported to have been moved farther into the mountains by bandits to evade provincial troops.

LONGVIEW, Texas, April 16. (AP)—J. S. Guinn, 35, of Gladewater was killed instantly east of Gladewater today when a truck in which he was riding was struck by a Texas and Pacific passenger train.

American and Family Rescued in Caribbean

PANAMA CITY, April 16. (AP)—Stranded for nine days in a motor launch in the Caribbean sea east of Colon, J. W. Miller of Jacksonville, Fla., and his wife, and nine children and a negro seaman were rescued by the Cuban gunboat Patria when their doom from starvation and exposure was imminent.

Miller and his family started out from Bocas Del Toron, Panama, for Colon April 1 in a small motor boat. On April 6 they ran out of fuel while only a short distance from their objective.

Catholic Population of America Is 20,078,202

The volume also shows that there are four cardinals, 12 archbishops and 102 bishops, occupying sees in this country. Under them are 26,925 ordained priests.

FLEAGLE CHIEF TO FACE TRIAL

Head of Notorious Family Evades Taxes

GARDEN CITY, Kan., April 16. (UP)—"Old Jake" Fleagle, head of the most feared family in western Kansas whose "Horseless Horse ranch" was revealed as a bandit rendezvous, may be brought into court here the latter part of April in the leading role of the last chapter in the law's battle against four notorious brothers and their father.

Old Jake is the father in the family which figured in extensive manhunts and litigation after the sensational bank robbery and killings of Lamar, Colo., in 1928. He is charged with evading taxes on mysterious riches.

He is the last of the five Fleagles to be brought to trial on charges ranging from hoarding and evading taxes on ill-gotten wealth, to bank robbery and murder. The other four are his sons, Ralph, "Silent Fred," Walter and "Little Jake."

The history of the Fleagle family since they were brought into the limelight after the Lamar killings has been confused in a maze of litigation, but in all except one instance the law is closing slowly in upon the entire group.

Ralph is in a death cell at Canon City, Colo., appealing from a death sentence imposed as leader of the Lamar gang.

"Silent Fred" is in jail at Larned, Kan., unable to raise heavy bond on a charge of leading the $23,000 robbery of the First National bank there in 1927.

Walter has moved himself and his personal belongings to the county jail here, claiming he was unable to pay a similar fine for tax evasion, and is working it out on the road gang, calculated to take him 30 years.

The last and most mysterious is "Little Jake." He is at large with a $20,000 reward on his head, dead or alive, and has never been captured since the family first was implicated in the Lamar incident.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We've been reading a review of Clemenceau's "Grandeur and Misery of Victory," and in the beauty of a spring day, we wonder over a life that was full of fire and fury and rancor.

◇ ◇ ◇

The reviewer says that one can hardly believe him dead; that he seems somehow to be, in some life beyond the grave, still lashing his foes with the whip of his tongue and "searing them with the vitriol of his pen."

◇ ◇ ◇

Clemenceau's comments on our own great men are bitter. "Pershing," he said, "did not wish to obey and Foch did not want to command." He speaks of Pershing "with his tight lipped smile," and of Woodrow Wilson "with a smile like a benevolent wolf." But he admired Wilson. The latter drew from him almost an unwilling tribute.

◇ ◇ ◇

Few people won tribute without criticism. Our Colonel House was among the few. Of him he writes, "a super-civilized person escaped from the wilds of Texas, who sees everything, who understands everything and while never doing anything but what he thinks fit, knows how to gain the ear and respect of everybody. A good American, very nearly as good as a Frenchman, a sifting, pondering mind, above all, the traditional gentleman."

◇ ◇ ◇

We would resent the "almost as good as a Frenchman," were it from any one but the embittered old man. But how we wish he might see the "wilds of Texas" this April morning.

◇ ◇ ◇

A row of silver leaf poplars on Elizabeth street, pointing their shining heads to the sky, yet waving so gracefully in the spring breeze. By some subtle magic of adaptation, they seem fitted to outline the very grounds they do—the home of a lover of nature.

◇ ◇ ◇

Orchid iris that came from old home gardens in Kentucky and in Mississippi and that spread their sweet odor generously in the clear Texas air, are in the garden at the rear beside roses crowning green bushes with glory.

◇ ◇ ◇

Then at the home of Mrs. C. E. Beavers on the same street, is a sight worth walking miles to see. There's a trellis at the side of her house on which there is a climbing American beauty rose. It must have at least 1,000 full bloom roses on it and uncounted buds. We cannot tell of its beauty, but we wish every one might see it.

◇ ◇ ◇

Mrs. Beavers has a garden growing wild with larkspur and we almost held our breath, thinking of the pastel colors that would soon glorify it. And on its borders, fluted orchid iris bloomed, some with white ruffles making them seem to wear another sort of gown.

◇ ◇ ◇

Just back of her house, there is a rose garden with American and red radiance roses already blooming in it.

◇ ◇ ◇

There is the purest, whitest flower we have ever seen. We have waited until the last to mention it—a white American beauty. An enormous bush, covered over with enormous buds and full-bloom roses. It seems fit that it should blossom just before Easter, with its virginal whiteness.

◇ ◇ ◇

And we cannot stop without speaking of the sword plant that has broken into white blossom up and down the tall stems, in the Huggins' yard on the corner of Huff and Eighth street.

"The wilds of Texas"! Humph!

Clubs winning in points of perfection were Benjamin Sorosis club, first place; Moran Study club, second; Vernon Home Siders club, third; Jack County federation, fourth, and Woman's Study club of Goree, fifth.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, district president, presided at all sessions of the convention and was presented a black walnut gavel made by the manual training students of Tarleton college, Governor Moody, who spoke on "farm relief" on the legislative program Wednesday, was introduced by Mrs. Guy Rogers of Wichita Falls.

Moody Delayed

Gov. Dan Moody who was expected to address the first district Texas Federation of Women's clubs at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at Tarleton auditorium, arrived in the city at 11:25 after a large portion of those expecting to hear his talk had decided that something had happened again to delay his coming.

He was first announced to speak on the "president's evening" program Monday and was unable to keep his appointment on account of attending the funeral services of a prominent Austin citizen.

Governor Moody also shared honors with Miss Rebecca Smith, instructor on faculty of T. C. U. in Fort Worth as honor guests at a luncheon served at the First Methodist church by the education department of the first district Texas Federation of Women's clubs which Mrs. J. Thomas Davis was hostess and Mrs. George O. Ferguson presided.

Reports of clubs and sub-chairmen were given throughout the morning, practically every city and community club in the first district being heard from. Mrs. R. E. Buchanan of Fort Worth discussed the club reports heard in the previous afternoon session, and Mrs. M. H. Hagerman, discussed the reports of the Wednesday session.

In the fine arts section of the program, Mrs. Harry Kariseberg of Bowie, chairman of the department of citizenship, gave an interesting report, urging the first district clubs to initiate a movement to have American flags displayed by all homes on patriotic occasions just as they are displayed in business sections of practically all cities and towns.

Mrs. T. A. Hicks of Wichita Falls, chairman of the division of Americanization and citizenship, was an interesting speaker on this program.

Mrs. R. F. Lindsay of Mount Pleasant, state president, in her formal message to the first district explained the state federation's position on the penitentiary relocation bill.

Mrs. Lindsay said in part "there has been some confusion with regard to the federations endorsement of the prison reform bill.

"The 1929 convention which met in Mineral Wells endorsed the majority report of the prison relocation committee. This represents the position of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs."

QUITS DRINKING

Gets Suspended Term After He Tells of Taking Pledge

H. L. Womack was given a five-year suspended sentence for burglary Wednesday afternoon after a jury in the 89th district court had heard his sworn statement to the effect that he hadn't taken another drink of liquor since he got drunk on money obtained by selling brass stolen from the Reid & Costley warehouse.

The statement asserted that after he had finished the liquor bought from the first sale of brass fittings he had returned to the warehouse for other materials that went the same way. The confession included three separate trips to the warehouse, the junk yard and the bootlegger. It was while he was under the influence of the third bottle that he was arrested, the defendant declared. Since that time, he added, he hasn't been thirsty.

Wilson Richardson, an 18-year-old negro boy, was given a two-year suspended sentence when he entered a plea of guilty to passing a forged check. The cases for the state were handled by Mike Anglin and George W. Anderson, assistants to the district attorney.

JURY QUIZZES TEXAS STENO

Girl Tells of Meeting Major Shepard

TOPEKA, Kan., April 16. (AP)—Miss Grace Brandon today was given an opportunity to relate before a federal grand jury the story of her acquaintance with Maj. Charles A. Shepard, army medical corps officer, accused of poisoning his wife.

For an hour and a half, the Brooks field, Texas, stenographer was before the grand jury investigating the death of the officer's wife at Fort Riley, Kan., last summer. Sardius M. Brewster, United States district attorney, announced she would be called tomorrow for further questioning.

The jury had an opportunity to obtain her version of her admitted meeting with Major Shepard prior to his wife's death while he was stationed at Brooks field in 1928.

Although she has been quoted in dispatches from San Antonio as asserting her only acquaintance with him was through his residence there with several other officers in a rooming house in which she lived, federal authorities at Denver have been quoted as saying she had received a proposal of marriage from Major Shepard.

Miss Brandon was described by Denver authorities at the time of Major Shepard's arrest there last month as the unwilling recipient of his attentions.

District Attorney Brewster said he planned to conclude questioning of witnesses before the grand jury tomorrow.

MODERNIZATION PLANS PRAISED

Bridwell Urges Support of Homes Bureau

An urgent plea to the entire citizenship of this city to give the fullest possible cooperation to the home modernization bureau in its current program was voiced Wednesday by J. S. Bridwell, president of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce.

"This plan which has been worked out by a group of our citizens who were inspired by motives of true civic patriotism," said Mr. Bridwell, "is one of the most important ventures launched for the good of the city in a long time. Its possibilities are almost unlimited, but can be realized only if every property owner in the city goes into the campaign with genuine and practical enthusiasm.

"It would be impossible to estimate the value, in dollars and cents, which will accrue to our citizenship directly as a result of work which will be accomplished in this campaign during the current year. Enhanced property valuations, preservation of buildings, improved appearances and improved civic pride in like measure—these are the beginnings of the full results to be gained. Material alleviation of the local unemployment problem is another highly commendable objective of this movement.

"Every citizen should find himself interested in giving the bureau every possible aid. Particularly is this true of the supply and lumber dealers, real estate men, and others who have opoprtunity to render the direct service."

Higher Court Denies Story Plea for Appeal

AUSTIN, April 16. (UP)—The criminal court of appeals today overruled motions by Yancy Story to reinstate appeals he has entered from sentences in Falls and Denton counties for robberies.

Story's applications claimed that the appeals had been dismissed under an agreement with officials that the two sentences, totalling five years and 100 days, run concurrently had not been carried out. Story now is a fugitive from justice.

Yet, to be polite,

SHE SAID:

"Excuse me, I see an empty seat."

... until she ended "B. O."

THE OTHER seat was on the sunnyside not so desirable as this one. What made her young neighbor change? A trivial little incident, yet it spoiled her whole train trip. She remembered other similar experiences. For years, it seemed, people deliberately avoided her.

Now at last she knows the reason. "B.O."—body odor. She knows, too, the simple way to correct this distressing fault. Today she is no longer unwanted, has many warm friends. Loneliness vanished with "B.O."

• • •

"How can anyone have 'B.O.' and not know it?" you ask. Very simply. We all perspire. Pores give off a quart of odor-causing waste daily even in cool weather. We become so used to this ever-present odor that we don't notice it in ourselves. But others do!

Yet it's easy to avoid offending. Millions have found the way. Just wash and bathe with Lifebuoy. A delightful toilet soap—cleansing, refreshing, purifying. Its creamy, searching, antiseptic lather penetrates every pore—ends all danger of "B.O."

Herbert Kaufman's IN MEMORIAM Daily Editorial

EXISTENCE was a paltry price for glory at Thermopylae—to fall in the thin red line at Balaklava—to perish with the handful at the Alamo—and to die with that company of good knights and brave ladies on the consecrated deck of the Titanic.

Soldier and sailor and merchant prince, mummer and journalist, peasant and nobleman, Saxon and Latin and Celt and Jew—strangers in motherhood, wrought into brotherhood—equal at last in the splendor of their end.

There was Millet whose paint throbbed with the song of souls. And Harris, who climbed back from a lifeboat to give his seat to a child. And Straus, who would not save himself, and his wife who would not go alone.

And there were a thousand more and none were less than these: Stokkers, scullions, room-stewards and bar-men—when and wherever before was there woven so mighty a memory with such strange and varied strains of caste?

"They" told us that the breed of Winklereid and Rienzi and the old guard and Lawrence and Hale had passed.

But so long as men are left to cry, "Women and children first"—so long as fear is crushed under the heel of duty—so long as laurel blossoms on fields of peril—so long as humble landsmen stand up a sinking ship and, with the billows swirling against their breasts, play through and go home to the Master with never a quavering note, "All's well with the world."

STORM-CLOUD IN THE EAST

THE PROHIBITION question is essentially an urban and not a rural problem. The Volstead act discovers no difficulties on enforcement in the smaller towns and villages, where all folk live in glass houses and community behavior is under unescapable scrutiny.

Gay white ways don't wend through farming districts or wind among towns of negligible population. The bootlegger may have his customers on Main street, too, but they are not cabarets and night clubs. Those webs for "fly parties" and training schools for sophistication only flourish where truants may escape observation and whoopee-makers hide their trails in unfrequented streets. Everybody knows where everybody goes in sparsely settled hamlets. But gossip cannot control the morals or intimidate the experimental appetites of big-city youth.

Consequently, the cities alone are threatened by the sordid, illicit habits which incompetent management of the 18th amendment has fostered. And so it was to be expected that the first public feminine protest against the 18th amendment should be called by the women of New York.

The group of club leaders, social workers and church society heads assembled at Carnegie hall on Sunday night, met there to fight for the preservation of Manhattan home life against the small town bigots who assumed entire right to regulate metropolitan conduct.

These women are not opposed to prohibition, but disgusted with its breakdown, and heartsick at the piper's bill which an unworkable statute increasingly calls upon their families to pay. Sanctimonius hypocrisy spits in the wind when it brands such demand for repeal as rebellion against registered majority will.

Majority will was never consulted by the blue-nose influence which thrust the 18th amendment into its constitution.

Majority will never had a chance to cast its ballot for prohibition.

Prohibition never has been a declared issue of national politics. It was imposed upon the people of the United States by legislators which did not consult their constituents before they voted confirmation.

And the processes by which confirmation was procured are plainly indicated in a suspiciously opportune statement from the board of temperance and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, which palpably intends to remind congress that the powerful minority which removed 22 of the 23 originally dissenting senators from the capitol will do its utmost to thwart the re-election of any other member of congress who refuses to march his views under the white ribbon.

A 19-year-old California boy confessed robbing a home and burning a barn in the hope he would be sent to prison and given an opportunity to play on the convict nine. The boy seems bound to have his innings. While he was about it he might have committed a more serious crime so as to be sure to swing for the team.

A new type of ladies' hand bag is shaped like a mail bag. The reason perhaps is that it usually contains collections of the males.

Looking Over the Wall

JUST how important motor bus transportation has become to residents of our smaller cities may be learned from attending hearings on applications in sessions like those held in this city on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Certification of the degree of "public necessity and convenience" brings numerous citizens of the communities concerned to these hearings, along with operators of the various bus lines interested in each case. Quotations from traffic statistics maintained by the carrying companies reflect numerical patronage amazing to those who have little occasion to utilize, or observe, motor bus service. Accustomed during the past few years to new convenience of travel, the citizens of an inland town regard with dismay any proposed change in service which would throw them back upon the railroads and privately owned conveyances as the only avenues of "getting around."

This remarkably increased tendency to "travel" is one of the most interesting results of motor bus development. It has extended to the non-car owning public a large measure of that facility for covering the country in detail which accrues to the possessor of an automobile. Circulation of money and people has been further accelerated.

Attendance at such a hearing as that held here reflects also the fact that the motor bus division director has a man's-size job. Compiling material evidence bearing upon the constantly changing problems of a hundred and one different freight and passenger lines constitutes a sizeable assignment. If the attitude shown here toward Mr. Marshall in this and past hearings may serve as a basis for opinions, it may be observed that the state is fortunate in having his leadership for the direction of a rapidly growing public utility.

Mellon and Raskob

ANDREW W. MELLON and John J. Raskob are rival chieftains of the two major political parties. Ultra-dry senators of the Brookhart type have inaugurated another drive which they hope will send Mellon back to the stage of private life. Senator F. N. Simmons of North Carolina, who led the Hoover forces in North Carolina in 1928, is directing his drive against Chairman John J. Raskob.

Uncle Andy will retire when he gets good and ready. Chairman Raskob will do the same.

It goes without saying that the regulars of the Republican party are staunch followers of Mellon, and that a large majority of the regulars in the Democratic camp are not clamoring for the resignation of the national chairman of their party.

During the spring and summer months these political sharpshooters who are classified as irregulars will furnish plenty of copy for the newspapers and do their level best to keep their faces daily in the big picture. They love publicity as a babe loves its mother's milk.

The Price of High Ideals

WHETHER or not a man is satisfied with his achievements seems to depend largely on the nobility of the goal he has set himself rather than on his actual performances.

There committed suicide in Boston recently a 29-year-old student at the Harvard Medical school. He was considered one of the most brilliant students that famous school ever had. He was in his fourth year there, and because of his splendid work was spending his final semester performing research work at a hospital.

Surely, if any man of 29 can call himself a success, this young man might have. Yet he took his life because he considered himself a failure!

The young man must have had a very exalted goal in the back of his mind if his brilliant achievements seemed to him so far short of what he had intended to do.

Traveling by Air

IT IS becoming quite evident that our airways are going to take an increasingly large slice of the passenger transport business as time goes on.

National Air Transport announces tentative schedules for a 140-mile-an-hour service between Chicago and New York, with big passenger planes covering the 730 miles in six hours and 20 minutes and making two stops en route. New legislation now pending before congress, providing that air mail carriers be paid for their cargoes by space instead of by weight, and that air mail be placed on the planes of all responsible passenger lines where time can be saved, is expected to aid the passenger transport development. Col. Paul Henderson, vice president of National Air Transport, says:

"The United States has led all civilized countries in air mail development, and this plan will insure its continued leadership."

Why Not a Wilson Monument?

CONGRESS has passed a bill providing for erecting a memorial monument to William Jennings Bryan at a cost of $30,000, another $50,000 monument memorial to Theodore Roosevelt, to be located on the summit of the continental divide in Montana, and the erection within the Panama Canal zone of a $50,000 statue of Maj. Gen. George W. Goethals, builder of the canal. Why not a memorial monument as tall as the sky to Woodrow Wilson, the great war president of the United States?

The Girl With The Red Hair by Rob Eden

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Gay Terris has agreed to marry her wealthy employer, Frank Patterson, whom she does not love, in payment for a loan of $5,000 to send her sick mother to Arizona. Since making her contract, she has fallen in love with Patterson's nephew, Mark Loring. Loring and Gay ask Patterson for her release but he definitely refuses. In order to earn $200 for luxuries for her mother, Gay agrees to represent Fania Crandall, a crook, posing as a society woman, at the Van Schuyler masquerade. At the ball, a valuable necklace is stolen and Gay learns through Paul Ladishaw, Fania's accomplice, that Fania is the thief. Mark disappears and Gay is certain Fania is responsible. Gay goes to Andy Grant, newspaper reporter and friend of hers, and tells him all she knows of the theft. He takes her to Captain Bennett of detective detail. Fania appears at Bennett's office and denies Gay's accusations. Bennett decides to send Gay to a phychopathic ward where she will be held until definite details are obtained and Ladishaw is questioned.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Worse the next morning. For Mrs. Matthews insisted on giving the doll a bath before she had her breakfast. And Gay had to sit there, because she was afraid and dared not refuse, and watch. The sight nauseated her, and yet withal, she felt pity for the thin tired woman whose brain had so evidently snapped.

The other inmates of her ward seemed rational. The girl near her own age—Gay heard her hum a popular song as she dressed, and pinch her hair, wet and glossy, into a smooth wave.

The fourth occupant was an elderly, grandmotherly woman, with almost white hair, and a kindly wrinkled face. She spoke nothing but French, and as no one in the room spoke French she conversed with herself.

Breakfast was eaten in a big dining room. Gay noticed that a woman across the table from her made no attempt to eat. She just sat, her hands folded in her lap, glaring at her plate.

"Thinks everything is poisoned," Rose, the girl in Gay's ward explained, "so she won't eat a bite." Rose had appointed herself monitor for Gay. "She's a card."

After breakfast there was work to be done, the wards and recreation room to be cleaned. Everyone had their tacks. Gay was through quickly because she only had her own bed to make, and her own particular corner to straighten up.

"What's the matter with you?" Rose asked, when they were both through their work and were sitting in the recreation room.

"Nothing," the girl answered shortly.

"Nothing the matter with me either, yet I've been here a week. Don't know when they'll let me go."

A week! If Gay was worried before, she was frantic now. Did she have to remain here for a week? A week of Mrs. Matthews, a week of the blank, hopeless faces . . . a week of this . . .

"Yeh, I've thought of running away, but they'd catch me. You know, they keep a pretty good watch on you, even if they don't seem to be looking." Rose went on.

Gay had thought of running away. Last night, when she couldn't sleep, when she lay wide awake, afraid every minute something would happen, some one might stick a knife in her—horrible ideas, she couldn't control, because of the things she had heard about madwomen — she had thought of escaping. Running away from this place she loathed. Every time Mrs. Matthews had stirred in her sleep, she held her breath.

Last night—how terrible it was—A woman was sitting on the floor in the corner, rocking her body to and fro.

"Won't ever sit down on a chair. Hasn't since I've been here," Rose whispered. "What sights you see here!"

Gay was positive, the more she talked to Rose, that the girl was as sane as she was. How she happened to be here, she didn't know, but somehow it must be a mistake. Rather pretty, too, Rose was, in a blond way. Her skin was anemic, unhealthy. She needed fresh air, sunshine, the country. Instead she was cooped up here.

The nurse who had taken Gay from the doctor's office last evening, appeared at the door, and the girl went up to her. "How long do I have to stay here?" she asked. She had to know. What if she were kept a week, as Rose had been. She would go mad . . .

"I don't know, Miss Terris. We can't tell here. We seldom keep our patients very long."

That was a relief. But a week here would seem a century.

"How are you feeling this morning?"

"Fine, but I don't belong here. The place frightens me—I can't stand it!"

"There, there—these people are perfectly harmless. You mustn't be afraid." The nurse patted her shoulder, and walked away. Gay caught up with her again.

"Rose is all right, isn't she? She's sane like I am?"

"Rose? Why are you worrying about Rose?"

"She seems too sane to be here—I don't understand."

"There are many things you won't understand, Miss Terris. I'm glad you've made friends with Rose."

Not telling her whether or not Rose was sane. Stalling. Impatiently she joined Rose.

"What did you ask her?"

"I wanted to know how much longer I'm going to be kept here."

"Oh, you'll never get any information out of any of the nurses, or the doctors, for that matter. Don't waste your energy. They'll not give you any satisfaction. Will you play double solitaire with me?"

So the two sat down at a table and began their game. Gay's thoughts were far away from it. On Fania—what was she doing now? Eating breakfast in bed, no doubt, smiling because Gay was here—with crazy women as her companions. The girl was very bitter when she thought of Fania Crandall. Why should Captain Bennett believe Mrs. Crandall instead of her? Why should he think she was deliberately lying?

Mark, too, had a big share in her thoughts. Andy had said he would find out where Mark was. She glanced at the big clock on the white wall. Nearly noon. Queer Andy hadn't left word for her in the morning. He had said he was going to help her. Perhaps, though he had and it was not given to her. She missed several plays and Rose gloated triumphantly. Rose was an old hand at double solitaire. She had played it constantly for a week. There was not much more to do here to pass the time, for she didn't sew.

Lunch—and a rush for a dining room. The food was palatable, though plain. Gay was frankly hungry. She hadn't eaten much breakfast, and the morning already seemed a full day, she had arisen so early.

"Visiting hours begin at 2," Rose announced after lunch. Gay took heart at this. Andy might come at 2. At 1:30 she was called again into the doctor's office. This time she was more herself, and paid stricter attention to the questions he was asking. She was there about half an hour, when he dismissed her. On the way back to the women's ward, she asked the nurse once more how long she would have to stay here, and receive the same answer. And again, she protested she was sane.

"Of course you are, Miss Terris," the nurse comforted, as she unlocked the big door into the recreation room. "Of course."

"Then why am I here?"

"For observation."

"That doctor is trying to find out whether I'm sane or insane?"

"Exactly, Miss Terris."

"I don't see how he can tell—"

"He will know."

"Does he ask Rose the same questions he asks me?"

"No."

"Please tell me what's the matter with Rose!" she begged although she knew beforehand her question was useless.

The nurse looked at her for a moment. "Rose was found wandering the streets a week ago—her memory gone. Now are you satisfied?"

"Her memory gone?" she repeated dully.

"Yes, she has no idea who she is. We are trying to find out—awaken some chord of memory in her. We named her Rose when she was brought here. She knew nothing, but she is quite intelligent."

In silence Gay went back to Rose's side. Not to know who you were, or where you came from. To have no memory of your past at all. How awful . . . She was very kind to the girl as she resumed her seat. She had only been there a few minutes, when one of the attendants came up.

"A visitor for you, Miss Terris. If you'll come with me—"

Gay was excited. She jumped up and ran after the attendant. A visitor. Good news probably. Andy—

The attendant led her to the end of the corridor and through another locked door. She found herself in a pleasant room, where several patients she recognized were talking to strangers. Some of the strangers were men, and some women. It was a relief to see street clothes again, instead of blue aprons and white uniforms.

Andy came toward her both hands stretched out to greet her. She took them gratefully, and tears gathered in her eyes. To see someone she knew.

They sat down on a couch. Several attendants were hovering in the room, watching the patients. Gay was conscious of them . . .

"Good news?" she smiled through her tears.

Andy's face lengthened.

Tomorrow—More Lies.

Q.—Does much time have to be given to the preparation of a radio program?—W. B.

A.—It varies with the program. Usually, much more time is given to rehearsal after the program is prepared than the time that will be occupied in broadcasting. It must be fitted with the greatest nicety to the time it is to have.

Q.—When was the Association of Junior Leagues of America formed? —E. L. B.

A.—The nucleus of the present association was the Junior League of the New York college settlement, organized by Miss Mary Harriman in 1900. This was followed in 1906 by the founding of a second league in Boston. Baltimore, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, having meanwhile joined the ranks, the first general conference was held in 1911. In 1930 the 39 leagues then existing were organized by Mrs. Willard Straight (Dorothy Whitney) into the present association, and six years later a national headquarters was established in New York City, and in the following year an anthology of Junior league poetry was published. In the same year the bulletin, since 1912 the official organ, was converted into the Junior League magazine. There were 101 leagues in the United States, representing 39 states, and three additional leagues in Canada in 1928. The same year a national club with offices and exhibition rooms was established in New York City.

Q.—In going from Sydney, Australia, to London, is it nearer by way of the Suez or the Panama canal?—M. O. D.

A.—It is a little shorter through the Suez canal. The distance is approximately 12,600 miles by way of the Suez canal and 12,800 miles through the Panama canal.

Q.—What was the exact date of the marriage of George and Martha Washington?—W. W.

A.—The exact date was lost for nearly a hundred years, when it was made known in a letter written by Mrs. Bache to her father, Benjamin Franklin, and dated January, 1779, part of which is as follows: "We danced at Mrs. Powell's on your birthday, or night, I should say, in company together, and he (Gen. Washington) told me it was the anniversary of his marriage; it was just twenty years that night." Dr. Franklin was born on January 17, 1706, by the old calendar in vogue at the date of his daughter's letter. The discrepancy between the old and the new calendar was eleven days, which fixes Washington's wedding day as the sixth of January.

Q.—What are the credentials that an ambassador presents to a ruler? —S. F.

A.—An ambassador is sent by the head of a sovereign state as his personal representative to negotiate with a foreign government and to care for the interests of his own country. The credentials consist of a sealed letter addressed from his sovereign or ruler to the one to whom he is accredited and embody a general assurance that his ruler will confirm whatever is done by the ambassador in his name.

Q.—Is the expression "dime novel" used in England?—L. T.

A.—England has its own equivalent "penny dreadful."

Q.—How does the number of cattle west of the Mississippi compare with the number east of the river? —C. H. S.

A.—Last year the number of cattle east of the Mississippi was approximately sixteen million and the number west of the Mississippi was about forty million.

Q.—Did the Indians in the eastern part of the United States wear the feathered war bonnets found in the West?—M. A. H.

A.—The Indians of the eastern United States did not make use of elaborate headdresses as did the Indians of the western plains region, although a single feather or perhaps a small number of feathers may have been worn by some of the tribes.

Q.—Where is the largest steam shovel in the United States? —B. S. A.

A.—What is said to be the largest steam shovel is in use at Colstrip, Montana, in the Northern Pacific's surface coal mines. It lifts 15 tons of earth at a time, raises it 100 feet in the air, and dumps it 300 feet distant. The giant shovel weighs 1100 tons, has a 120-foot boom, 90-foot dipper sticks, and a 10-cubic yard dipper. It strips the earth from the top of the coal.

Q.—What is a "Kulak?"—T. S. C.

A.—In Soviet Russia at present a kulak family is one whose "means of production" is valued at $700 or more. In 1928, any farmer who raised $250 worth of foodstuffs or more, after deducting $10 a head for family consumption, was considered a kulak. Such farmers are to be taxed until their wealth is reduced to the common level.

HIKE IN AIRMAIL RATE PLANNED

Mileage Basis Adopted as Best System

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—Postmaster General Brown disclosed before the house rules committee today that President Hoover had urged him to increase the air mail postal rate from 5 cents an ounce "ever since I have been in office."

Appearing before the committee in support of special legislative status for the Watres bill to change the basis of payments to air mail lines from poundage to mileage, the postmaster general said that "immediately after the bill is passed, I intend to raise the air mail rate."

The present rate of 5 cents an ounce for first class air mail, he said after the committee meeting, probably would be increased to 7 or 8 cents.

PARENTS BURN GIRL AT STAKE

Severe Punishment Given Child of Six

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., April 16. (INS)—Six-year-old Betty May Abrams was burned at the stake, by her mother and foster father, according to charges filed here today.

Mrs. Abrams and her husband were arrested charged with cruelty, to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Brady. Betty May told police her parents frequently beat her with willow sticks.

The foster father defended his actions by explaining that the papers were piled far enough away from the chained girl to avoid burning her and that he was only trying to frighten the child.

Betty May said that in addition to burning papers around her, that her parents forced her to stand in the cold water of the Mississippi river up to her neck to discipline her.

Won the One Thing She Wanted Most

"The thing I have wanted more than anything else came so easily I can hardly realize it. For years I have had to favor my stomach because there were so few things I could eat without gas forming so bad. I would wish I never had to eat again," says Mrs. J. H. Burke of 1521 Foster St., Chicago. "A dose of Acidine, which was given to me when I had one of those spells, was the beginning of a different story. I have been taking Acidine night and morning since then, and I don't know what it is to have a sour stomach now, no matter what I eat."

Pain after eating, gassy belching, nausea, sour risings and a dry sensation in the throat are signs of an acid stomach. Sweeten it with ACIDINE. Takes only a minute or two, tastes nice, and costs so little. ACIDINE is sold at all drug stores.—Adv.

Work of the Skin

Many people regard the skin as a sort of dead covering and neglect to give it the proper care which it needs to carry on its tremendous amount of work which is does at all times.

Leather is nothing more or less than dead skin and considered one of the toughest materials known. The living skin is quite different from leather in that it is not only alive but is more flexible and performs an astonishing number of functions.

The skin must be regarded as an organ just as the heart, liver, lungs and kidneys are regarded as organs. The skin is capable of doing more different sorts of work for you than any other one organ. It is the production manager, controlling the output of oil and prespiration—the growth of the hair, lashes and nails. It is also a bodily thermostat, busily regulating your temperature for you—quite a perfect regulator of temperature when we consider that it maintains the normal temperature of 98.6 degrees whether at the north pole or in the tropics.

It is different than most of our organs in that it is external to the rest of the body. Some of the other organs have an advantage for this reason: For example, we cannot powder our kidneys or touch up our hearts with a little more rouge shade, put lipstick on our livers or sun-tan on our lungs because we cannot get at them.

The skin is also a very valuable observing station, being connected by a very efficient telegraph system to the brain, and reports almost immediately whether there is danger from pain, fire, cold or discomfort from wet and heat.

In many cases the skin is called on to perform some of the functions of the other organs when they are diseased. This property is known as compensation. For example, the kidneys may be assisted by the excretion of liquids through the skin.

The skin plays a part of respiration, assisting the lungs. When a burn involves about two-thirds of the skin of the body, death results from the toxic poisoning. If the pores of the skin were completely blocked, one would die within a very short time.

Because the skin is a living organ, it responds quickly to a change in the diet. After the living habits are changed for the better, the old cells which are constantly falling off show the new cells that are being nourished by a better blood stream, and this produces a newer and better complexion.

The general health of the body if often clearly depicted by the condition of the skin. The disease of any important internal organ undoubtedly has its effect upon this body-covering. An examination of the skin forms an important part of very doctor's examination. One who is in the pink of condition has a clear, rosy skin without blemishes and it should be the aim of everyone to attain this type of complexion which can be done through building the general health and through proper skin cleanliness.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Pains in Stomach

Question: Mrs. R. L. O. asks: "What is the cause of a pain in the stomach at night which disappears upon arising? Have been bothered with this for about six years. Am 26 years old, 5 feet tall, and weigh 107 pounds."

Answer—Such a pain is often caused simply by the formation of gas which is generated during the night. Do not expect me to diagnose your trouble in this column, as it would be unwise for me to attempt to do so. Go to a good physician and have a diagnosis made, then if you are not improving under his treatment, write me again, giving me the diagnosis, and I will be glad to send you what advise I can.

Low Weight and Unsound Sleep

Question: O. M. V. asks—"Will you please tell me how I can put on weight? I am a girl of 20 years old and only weigh 97 pounds. The most I ever weighed was 106 pounds. I am five feet, seven and half inches tall. Also, please tell me what would cause my sleep to be disturbed by dreams every night regardless of whether I eat or not before retiring, and why I am so tired every morning even when I retire early."

Answer—There is no doubt but what your weight is too little for your height, but don't stuff yourself. Look for functional causes, such as liver and gall bladder trouble. Any girl who is as thin as you are must have a tendency to extreme nervousness, and this is no doubt what keeps you awake at night. You need phychological, as well as physiological, treatment. Read every book you can get hold of on the subject of psychology, auto-suggestion, psycho-analysis, etc. In addition to this, go to a good practitioner of psycho-analyst. PANTAGES PLEA FOR BAIL LOST

Theater Magnate Denied Jail Release

LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 16. (INS)—The application of Alexander Pantages, millionaire theatrical man, for release on bail was denied today by Judge Charles W. Fricke. Four doctors had testified regarding Pantages' ailments, which two of them said might result in his death, unless he were freed on bail.

Pantages has been in the county jail pending an appeal, since his conviction of charges of having attacked Eunice Pringle, young dancer.

Men, Women and Girls Afflicted by 'Jake Foot' Seek Cure in Oil Ponds

WICHITA, Kan., April 16. (AP)—With scores of men and even women and girls dragging inert feet to Petroleum slush ponds on southern Kansas for a week, hoping to find relief from "jake paralysis," a malady believed caused by drinking jamaica ginger, health authorities here today said the pilgrimages were futile.

Dr. R. E. Hobbs, city physician, who was conducting a survey to learn if there were enough needy victims here to warrant opening an emergency ward in the civic auditorium, declared the slush pond waders had not been aided.

"It's the bunk. It would be impossible for the sulphur compounds in the fluid to get through the skin," Dr. Hobbs declared. "If it were a skin disease the wading might help. But 'jake paralysis' is clearly a nervous ailment, and the victims must rest and wait for the nerves to become built up."

Some of the waders have reported, after their footbaths, that they felt a little better, but so far as could be learned nobody has been visibly helped.

Chippewa Indian Probe Favored

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—The Schneider bill to authorize appropriations of $3,000 for an investigation of the condition and tribal rights of homeless Chippewa Indians in Forest, Langlade and Oneida counties, Wisconsin, said to be in destitute circumstances, was approved today by the house Indian affairs committee. The inquiry would be made under the direction of the secretary of the interior, who would report to congress whether the Indians belonged to the Lake Superior Chippewas of Wisconsin or to the Chippewas of Minnesota.

He also would determine what tribal rights they have with any tribe in either state and what benefits in land or money they would have received had they moved to a reservation in Wisconsin.

BARRAGE KILLS CRAZED NEGRO

Barricaded Maniac Shoots One of Siegers

KANSAS CITY, April 16. (INS)—A negro maniac was slain here today and a policeman wounded after a two-hour pitched battle with a squad of police and detectives armed with machine guns and riot guns.

The negro, barricaded in a rickety shanty in a thickly populated negro district, first attracted the attention of the police when he began firing at passersby and persons in adjoining houses.

When tear bombs and machine gun fire failed to check the negro's shooting the police rushed the door of the house, breaking it down and firing on the crazed man.

Before the negro was killed, Morris Cole, detective, was shot in the left shoulder. He was taken to a hospital in a weakened condition.

The negro, said by neighbors to be a "voodoo" doctor, was known only as "Old Tom."

Electric Bond and Share Profits High

WASHINGTON, April 16. (INS)—The Electric Bond and Share Co., giant holding company, with interests in 26 states and a number of foreign countries, earned at least 106 per cent net profits last year, Judson C. Dickerman, utility expert of the federal trade commission, told the commission today.

Gross earnings last year reached the huge total of $292,386,901, he said. The organization, together with its direct and indirect subsidiaries, produced approximately 14 per cent of the total power output of the United States in 1929.

Dickerman testified that of the $292,386,901 gross total, $63,709,207 accrued from foreign interests.

Electric Bond & Shareholdings, he said, embraced not only interests in utilities, but also embraced holdings in banks, insurance companies and other interests.

He said the company had refused access to some of its books pending court litigation surrounding the commission's investigation of the so-called "power trust."

LEGGE PLEADS CUT IN WHEAT

Farm Board Head Again Asks Curtailment

WASHINGTON, April 16. (INS)—The federal farm board is asking wheat farmers to reduce their acreage at least 10 per cent because it does not believe they can put their industry on a profitable basis in any other way, Chairman Alexander H. Legge said today in a national radio address.

Legge said it would be impracticable for the world market price to apply only to surplus production and to have the tariff effective on the wheat sold at home. He explained France was paying a bounty of 20 cents a bushel on the export of certain grades of wheat of which they have an excess supply, while Great Britain was taking steps to retaliate.

Legge declared the board was not asking the wheat farmer to reduce his income, but believes his income would be improved by curtailing production with consequent higher prices.

He said cotton farmers were being asked to improve the quality of their cotton as well as to limit plantings to 40,000,000 acres as compared with 46,000,000 acres last year.

"Less than half of the American cotton crop is sold in the world market," he said. "In the past 10 years the amount of American cotton taken by the world market has been standing almost still while the use of foreign cotton has increased measurably.

"Competing countries in the world market have been giving attention to the improvement of their cotton as well as to increased production. In this country, due largely to the boll weevil menace, the tendency in the past decade has been in the other direction so far as quality is concerned. Extremely short staple and volume producing varieties were introduced for early maturity before the weevil could get in its deadly work. The result is that last year 30 per cent of the American cotton was nontenderable for staple compared to only 5 per cent of that quality 10 years ago."

Legge said the mills of the world did not seem to want the short staples which comprise such a large percentage of the American crop. They will not buy them except at a discount and this discount reflects itself largely in the price paid for the whole American crop.

Spanish Ruler Plays Prank On Youthful Nephew

SEVILLE, Spain, April 16. (AP)—Spaniards tittered today at the prank by their sovereign, King Alfonso XIII, upon the duke of Spoleto, youthful nephew of the king of Italy, who, rumor has it, soon will become engaged to the Infanta Beatriz, Alfonso's eldest daughter.

In the presence of the Infanta Beatriz and other members of the royal family, King Alfonso led the young man to a trick bench in the palace gardens of Alcazar, here the family and their suite are remaining during holy week.

The duke was invited to sit on the bench, and did so, his weight releasing a spring which controlled a concealed fountain. He was drenched with the water from the spray, while King Alfonso, the Infanta, the duke's mother, the duchess of Aosta all laughed merrily.

The discomfited duke, brushing water from his eyes and trying to wring out his waterlogged clothes, grinned with the rest. King Alfonso is 43 years old, and the duke is 30. Princess Beatriz will be 21 June 22.

Crash Fatal To Air Cadet

Brooks Field Registers Another Death

SAN ANTONIO, April 16. (AP)—Lieut. Stanley H. Ayre, student flier at Brooks field, was killed when a De Haviland airplane he was flying crashed near Southton, six miles southeast of here this morning. His home was at Monticello, Ill.

The accident, the second fatality at Brooks field from airplane accidents within the year, happened near the same point, almost exactly a week to the hour from the crash that resulted in the death of his classmate, at both West Point and Brooks field, Lieut. Bert C. Muse. Both accidents were similar also in a De Haviland plane, the last of which will soon pass from the service, were being flown by both pilots.

Officers who investigated the wreckage expressed belief that the accident was not due to structural failure. The ship did not burn, as in the crash that killed Lieutenant Muse.

SPUDDERS OPEN TWO-GAME SERIES WITH STEERS HERE TODAY

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Carl Williams and his home run hitters will be back in the old home town today for a two-day encounter with the Dallas Steers, and 15 other bouts scheduled to take place on the home lot.

Returning with the figures on the won side heavily outweighing the numbers denoting games lost, the Spuds should prove effective against the Bovines. The series will be interesting to watch, in as much as both the Steers and the Spudders sent the Fort Worth Cats, reputedly the best club in the league, scurrying for cover, the Steers winning three from Snyder's men and the Spuds winning two of their three games with the meowsers. Again, the Steers carry on their roster this year Mr. George Blackerby, who has made his home in Wichita Falls for several winters past, and who has been doing some slugging for Jakie Atz. It will be interesting to see what he can do on the home lot.

Quit worrying, Theodore, the first straw hat of the season has already appeared. It was last Monday, and the straw was perched on the dome of a gent unknown to us, but he looked something like our former c-c sec'y.

I know I ain't no saint or nothing, but when a stop sign is put there, I think it orter mean something; now you take just this afternoon, I was coming up Brook and what do you think one of these here darned fools did but drive right through a stop sign and if I hadn't swerved right quick we'd a hit; and if I hadn't slowed down right quick I'd a hit another car ahead of me; but I didn't hit it, because I cut the wheels; now I bet you don't know this, that when you cut the wheels of your car right quick to left or right it checks the momenterm of the car and makes you stop quicker; now you take this afternoon, that's just what I did, but I wouldn't of had all that trouble if that fool hadn't uh cut through that stop sign; I tell you it's dangerous; now you take . . .

RAIN STOPS SPORTS' BATTLE

First Road Trip Brings but One Defeat

Robbed of their game with Shreveport Wednesday by a downpour of rain, Carl Williams' Spudders will alight from a railway coach here at 2 p. m. Thursday afternoon and proceed direct to Athletic park to meet the Dallas Steers in the first game of a two-day series.

The Spudders will return from their first road trip of the season with a record of three victories and but one defeat, the latter having been administered by the Fort Worth Cats in the opener of the three-game series in the Panther city. Back on the home lots, the Spudders, after Thursday's and Friday's games with the Steers, will meet the Shreveport nine here again Saturday and Sunday. A three-game series at Dallas will follow, and then the Spudders return home for a lengthy stay, during which Waco, Beaumont, Houston and San Antonio will send their teams on the invasion to the North.

Speculation here Wednesday was that Carl Williams will send either Lester White or Hal Wiltse against the Steers Thursday, both having rested up after brilliant performances at Fort Worth. Milt Steengrafe handled the situation at Shreveport Tuesday and so was out of consideration for Thursday's game. Earl Caldwell was another probable starter against the Steers mentioned. Manager Williams could spring a surprise by starting Ash Hillin, who has not yet figured in the season's play.

The Czecho-Slovakian who holds the world's professional championship found himself unable to cope with the brilliant play of Big Bill.

Stamford W. M. U. Meeting Adjourns

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, Texas, April 16.—More than 400 out-of-town delegates registered for the annual conference of the 17th district Baptist Women's Missionary union which adjourned here Wednesday afternoon after a two-day session. Abilene was selected as the meeting place of the organization for next year, and Mrs. C. M. Caldwell of this city was re-elected president of the body.

Slight Mistake

The perspiring film director dropped to the ground after finishing a hot outdoor scene. Looking around he saw a dummy of old clothes and straw.

"Heavens!" he yelled, "who was it we threw over the cliff!"—Tit-Bits.

An average of 3,000,000 persons are ill in the United States every day.

Marshal Glenn Rated as Best Athlete in West Virginia U.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 16. (AP)—Marshal Glenn may be just another nine-letter athlete to the natjon, but to West Virginia university he is the greatest athlete in the history of the school.

Students have just renewed their appreciation of the athletic prowess of this brilliant three-sports man by naming him The Mountaineer, an honor conferred each year upon the man who was of most benefit to West Virginia during his undergraduate career. It is the highest honorary title that can be conferred upon a student here.

Glenn, who bears the fantastic nickname of "Little Sleepy," earned three letters in football and basket ball and is after his third in track now. From the very first day he became eligible for varsity competition, he has been the most consistent and outstanding athlete in the university.

This last year—his last in intercollegiate athletics—Glenn captained both the football and basket ball teams.

Weighing slightly less than 180 pounds and tall and rangy, "Little Sleepy" for three years was quarterback on the varsity eleven and was a consistent scoring threat on the basket ball court. He was the only man in this district ever to repeatedly equal the flashy work of Charley Hyatt, Pittsburgh's great forward. Glenn outmaneuvered and outscored Hyatt on both meets of the Mountaineers and the Panthers last season.

In track, Glenn concentrates on the high jump and appears ready to pass the six-foot mark.

"Little Sleepy" also is an outstanding student and is majoring in chemistry. He is a cadet major in the University R. O. T. C. Next fall he plans to return to school to work on a master's degree in chemistry and in addition to assist Coach I. E. Rodgers in handling the football squad.

"Little Sleepy" got his unusual nickname for no other reason than that he was the young brother of "Big Sleepy" Glenn who worked in a railroad tower while attending school and, originally, was called plain "Sleepy" because he frequently nodded daytimes.

Dempsey and Gibbons Turned Down Fortunes Offered in Their Prime

By DAMON RUNYON
(Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc)

NEW YORK, April 16.—'Tis only a matter of about five short years back that your faithful operative met Mr. Eddie Kane, of Chicago, in the grill room of the Friars club in New York, and said to him, said he:

"Mr. Kane, if your Mr. Tom Gibbons will fight Harry Wills under the auspices of the milk fund, your Mr. Tom Gibbons can have $150,000 flat, and the managerial end of $150,000 at the normal rate of 33⅓ per cent is—"

"How dare you?" demanded Mr. Kane, or words to that effect.

"How dare I what?" your operative asked, innocently.

"Ofer me $150,000 for that match," said Mr. Kane.

"Is it too much?" your operative inquired. "Harry Wills has accepted $100,000 for his end. The match will draw about $500,000."

"I want $250,000 for Gibbons," said Mr. Kane and your operative reeled out into the night slightly stunned.

I suppose Mr. Jack Dempsey has refused more money in a single gob for a fight than any other gladiator that ever lived. I know that Mr. Tom O'Rourke once had backing to post $500,000 cash for a match between Dempsey and Wills. But next to Mr. Dempsey, I think Mr. Tom Gibbons, per Mr. Kane, turned down more money in one chunk that time in the Friar's grill than was ever refused by a fighter for a non-championship bout.

Later on in 1925 Mr. Tom Gibbons was to take $100,000 and a flattening at the hands of Mr. Gene Tunney. I had a sneaking idea that Mr. Tom Gibbons might have licked Harry Wills at the time I made Mr. Kane the offer, but as long as he was to be flattened by someone, I thought he missed a good business deal by not permitting himself to be flattened by Wills at the difference in price.

When you consider the figure that Mr. Kane refused for Mr. Tom Gibbons, it is rather remarkable to find Herr Max Schmeling and the Sharkey man fighting for a percentage of the gate receipts for that same milk fund, though of course in this instance the heavyweight championship of the world is involved, and it is unlikely that they will get less than $200,000 apiece.

Still, if Mr. Tom Gibbons had taken the Wills match, and the chance of winning, nothing could have kept him out of a second crack at the world's title with Jack Dempsey, with a big financial guarantee. And Mr. Tom Gibbons had once fought Dempsey 15 tough heats for practically nothing.

Those were the halcyon days of real big money for the gladiators some five, or six, or seven years agone. You may marvel at what some of them are getting today, but it was nothing to what they were grabbing in those bright times. Yet oddly enough, Mr. Tom Gibbons once accepted proportionately less money for a battle for the milk fund than any other fighter save one that ever appeared under its auspices.

He came into New York in 1922 with a roll of 21 consecutive knockouts behind him, such as they were, and he accepted $12,500 for a fight with Harry Greb in the old Madison Square garden. It happened, however, that the $12,500 was more money than Mr. Tom Gibbons had ever before received for a bout, and he was tickled to death, especially as he thought Greb a very soft touch for him.

As it turned out, the show drew $117,000, and Mr. Gibbons got a pasting. Greb wasn't middleweight champion then. He was fighting light heavies, mainly, and Greb, too, thought Mr. Gibbons was pretty likely to out-fumble him. It is only fair to say that Tom was a sick man that night before he entered the ring, and if he hadn't been fighting for the milk fund, he would have cancelled the date.

Instead of Gibbons and Harry Wills, the milk fund put on a middle-weight championship show in 1925, signing up Harry Greb, who had in the meantime licked Johnny Wilson for the title, with the new sensation of the day, M. Ovila Chapdelaine, otherwise Jack Delaney. Greb was getting $50,000, and Delaney almost as much. It was what the boys call a "natural" and would have drawn big.

Jack was taken down with an attack of appendicitis after plans for the show were well under way, and a hurried canvass of the field of middleweight contenders developed that something was wrong with every one of them. Also Poul Berlenbach, then the biggest drawing card in the East, who was matched to meet Young Stribling in a six rounder, which was regarded as 50 per cent of the strength of the card, got a badly cut eye, and had to pull out.

'Twas a sad time for the milk fund promoters, accustomed to huge successes. Tommy Loughran was dug up at a late hour to take Berlenbach's place, but that didn't help much. Then it was that Mr. Wilton Farnsworth, of the promotial forces, remembered that Ted Moore, one of the leading English middleweights was in this country under the management of Josephus Jacobs, now Herr Schmeling's favorite manager, and your operative hastened to Mr. Jacobs forthwith armed with a line of categorical questions.

"Mr. Jacobs," was the first question, "do you think Ted Moore can lick Harry Greb?"

"Like breaking sticks," was the answer.

"Then if you think Ted Moore can lick Harry Greb, you would take a match with Harry Greb for very little money, would you not?" (question No. 2.)

"Very, very little," replied Mr. Jacobs.

"Well, you are going to be offered very, very little," said your operative. "Very, very, very, very little. But if you honestly think Ted Moore can lick Harry Greb, it's enough to pay you for the match, because you can make plenty out of the title. If you don't think Ted Moore can lick Harry Greb, just forget the offer. You can have $3,500."

Mr. Josephus Jacobs didn't bat an eye.

"The match is on," he said.

It isn't often a contender thinks that well of himself.

Moore didn't beat Greb. He didn't even come close. Greb cut $20,000 off his price at the change in opponents. He had a low estimate of Moore's ability. And yet I always had a lot of respect for the Englishman in grabbing at his one big chance.

Leland, Bracey to Race in Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 16. (AP)—A continuation of the sprinting duel between Cy Leland and Claude Bracey of Texas was assured today when University of Kansas officials announced the late entry of Bracey in the 100-yard dash at the eighth annual Kansas relays here next Saturday.

Bracey from Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, was the sensation of the Southwest a year ago. He was timed in 9.5 seconds at the Texas relays and in 9.4 seconds the day following at the Southern Methodist relays, running with the wind at his back.

This year, Leland, representing Texas Christian university, stole his thunder, defeating him four consecutive times before Bracey managed to win a race. At the Texas relays Leland was timed in 9.7 seconds in beating Bracey and the next day at the S. M. U. games was clocked in 9.6 seconds after being set back one yard for a false start. Bracey again was second. In both meets this season the sprinters fought the wind and in the Texas games the track was heavy from recent rain.

The Book of Mormon has been published in 15 languages.

Must Clothe "Dogs"

LISBON.—Peasants of Portugal must say good-bye to barefoot days. The government has just issued a decree saying: "Everybody must wear shoes because the sight of an unshod foot and leg is repulsive to many foreigners, is unhealthy and unesthetic. It furthermore suggests backwardness in the country."

Last of Spitball Masters Anxious To Rebuild Boston's Battered Braves

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 16.—Burleigh Grimes, one of the last of the spitball masters, has a new hobby to add to his great loves—thoroughbred horses and the winning of baseball games. He wants to help Bill McKechnie build the Boston Braves into a pennant contender in the National league.

While rain pattered on the sidewalks outside, ruining activity on the ball fields, Burleigh stood in a hotel lobby, puffing a big cigar, improving the acquaintance of his new Brave mates, and bemoaning the fact that he isn't ready yet to get out there and fatten his pitching average in these "soft" spring games where batting eyes are none too brilliant.

Grimes, an inveterate wanderer on the face of the baseball earth, has no regrets at the surprise trade that wafted him suddenly from the topmost hurling berth on the pennant contending Pirates to the tail end Braves. Already he has pitched for Brooklyn, New York, and the Pirates for two different periods during 14 Major league campaigns. Now if he can find a nice place to exercise his fine saddle horses in Boston he'll be perfectly content.

"I'm getting in shape slowly," he said. "I'll be ready to take my turn in about two weeks. My arm feels great, so good that I'm tempted to take chances that aren't worth while. When your arm feels bad you nurse it wisely. When it feels good you're liable to overdo it. Rebuilding the Braves is a three-year job and I want to be at my best to help the most. I've been around a long time and can help our young pitchers a lot. But I sure would like to get in a few of these soft spring games. Once it gets hot every team in the league, contenders or not, gets plenty tough."

Neither the sudden shift from the topnotch Pirates to the bottom notch Braves nor the lengthy salary controversy with Barney Dreyfuss that led to the trade has left an ytouch of bitterness on Grimes.

"My worst wish for Dreyfuss and the Pirates is that they go out and win that pennant," he said. "I hope Percy Jones, the pitcher they got for me, wins 25 games. In fact I wish there were eight pennants in each league so we could all win one. I'd like to see them win every game—er, that is, every one except those I pitch against them."

MORE TENNIS STARS LOSE

North and South Tourney Provides Upsets

PINEHURST, N. C., April 16. (UP)—If the North and South championship were important enough, there would be wholesale switches in United States tennis rankings resulting from the past two days of play in the current tournament.

George Lott, Chicago, and John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., were added today to the list of superstars eliminated in the 12th annual north and south competition.

Lott lost to Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., 9-11, 6-2, 6-3, and Van Ryn was pushed out by Berkeley Bell, Austin, Texas, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, in quarter final play.

In addition to Lott and Van Ryn, ranked fourth and fifth, Francis T. Hunter, ranked second; Wilmer Allison, seventh, and Fritz Mercer, sixth, were eliminated in third round play yesterday.

The only members of America's first 10 still in competition are Johnny Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif., ranked third, who defeated Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, today; Bell, ranked ninth, and Mangin, ranked tenth.

Emmett Pare, Dayton, Ohio, disposed of J. Gilbert Hall, East Orange, N. J., 6-2, 6-1, in the fourth quarter final match today.

Doeg and Bell, Pare and Mangin meet tomorrow.

Gar Wood Claims New Speed Record

Three City Sandlot Leagues Swing Into Action Early Next Month

The first week in May will see three amateur baseball leagues in the city swing into action, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of the city park department, sponsor of the sandlotters.

The Sunday league, a new city loop, opens its season May 4. The league is made up of the E-Z Auto laundry, Pond laundry, Sullivan's grocery, Headquarters company of national guard, Clarence Saunders stores, and McElreath Motor company. This loop will play only Sunday games. The complete schedule has not been made.

On May 5 the Merchants league, now reorganized, will blast the lid off. The league is composed of W. B. McClurkan and company, P. B. M. company, and Southwestern Glass and Paint company, holdover members from last year; and the Texas Electric Service company and a team made up of furniture store employes. A sixth club may be added in the future, officials said.

The Bankers league, made up of the Security National bank, First National bank, and City National bank, are planning to start training soon. The fourth member of the league, the Wichita State bank, has withdrawn.

The Dimock Plumbers, DeMolays, and the Fairview Ramblers, three teams not included in a league, may be grouped into another city loop, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 16. (AP)—Some early irregularity was followed by advances in cotton today on a renewal of covering by near and late month shorts which seemed to be combined with a little trade and commission house buying on the rather steadier showing of Liverpool and doubt as to whether rains in the Southwest had been sufficient to relieve droughty conditions. May sold up from 15.74 to 16.13 and closed at 16.08 with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 27 to 39 points.

Closing quotations were a few points off from the best under realizing.

While there was comment on the somewhat steadier showing of Liverpool and expressions of uncertainty as to whether the western belt rains had been sufficient to fully relieve droughty conditions, the day's fluctuations were attributed largely to readjustments of the technical position. At the close May was 13 points under July and 95 points over the new October.

Liverpool cables said further liquidation there had been absorbed by trade calling and covering.

Port receipts today 8,546. U. S. port stocks 1,739,167. Exports 16,071, making 6,116,475 so far this season.

Futures closed steady, 27 to 39 points higher. Spot steady, middling 16.30.

NEW ORLEANS, April 16. (AP)—Following an early decline cotton rallied today under a demand stimulated by unfavorable crop news from Texas and Oklahoma. The option closed at 15.87, or 30 points net higher, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 29 to 34 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively steady and initial trades here showed gains of 1 to 4 points.

The market advanced in the afternoon in active trading making new highs for the day near the end. May advanced to 15.78 and October 15.20, or 36 to 41 points above the lows. The close was at or near the best.

Further Profit Taking Brings New Reduction in General Stock Level

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 16. (US)—Further profit taking put the list lower on the average today, although several specialties forged ahead to new high record levels as a result of individual influences. Selling was well taken under the influence of easing money and more favorable mid-week steel reviews and losses were limited to a point or so in most instances.

American Telephone dropped 9⅞, General Electric 3, General Motors 1⅜, Westinghouse 3¾, International Telephone 1¼, Columbia Gas 1⅛, Public Service 1⅛ while Steel dropped fractionally. Vanadium jumped 5⅝, Sears Roebuck gained 2⅞, Montgomery Ward 1⅝, and Eastman Kodak jumped 6 points. Volume increased a little further above the 4,000,000-share level. Call money eased to 3½ per cent from renewal of 4 per cent.

Once again the "blue chips" have proved the best buys. Diamond Match and Eastman Kodak, the possibilities of which were outlined here two months ago, both featured with new highs for the move. As diamond Match hit the 200 level there was further talk of cutting that was forecast here exclusively some time ago. Eastman Kodak responded to the buying of the strong interests who took a position after an extensive investigation and survey of possibilities. It became known also that one of the most important groups in the European chemical field have taken fairly substantial block of Eastman. As usual the "good news" of the American Telephone rights brought profit-taking but Westinghouse continued to soar to new high territory due to expectation of melon cutting.

Exclusive report of Universal Service giving details of the Radio acquisition of General Electric and Westinghouse patents in exchange for 6,500,000 shares of its stock will be confirmed by the official announcement tomorrow morning. Those interested are prepared for some profit-taking on the "good news" but continue to voice enthusiasm over long pull prospects. Most of their bullish earnings forecasts are based on what they believe 1931 results will be. The deal places General Electric as the outstanding and most powerful organization in the world in so far as Radio communication, manufacture etc., is concerned. There was some idea that some stockholders might be against the plan but it was stated that a huge majority are in favor of it.

Recent buying of G. R. Kinney is said to be for the account of new interests who will have a voice in the management. They plan extensive expansion and other measures which they expect will bring further increase in earnings. Those who are interested in General Gas are said to have been "pulling a fast one" in the report that Cutten was interested. Denial is made that he has any stock or has had anything to do with the operation. It is claimed that "special price inducements" have been given to those who can induce buyers to hold for several months. Further improvement in Gillette earnings is reported in April and some forecasts are made that May income will run up toward $2,000,000.

Increasing criticism of those controlling the Copper industry and the management of one company especially has resulted from the reduction in the price of copper metal. Some brokers go so far as to express belief that the main influence behind the manipulation of the Copper metal market was the desire of that company to recapitalize and get rid of high interest paying bonds. As a result those who believed the repeated statements that the metal price would be held are caught in the stock at much higher level and have reason to worry about when they will see daylight again. It is now proven that manipulation of the Copper metal market was even worse than that in Sugar a decade ago. Sugar has not recovered from that episode yet.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, April 16. (AP)—While cash wheat on the Fort Worth market today was slightly higher, corn and oats both showed declines with demand dull. Light offerings of wheat were readily absorbed by mills on bids of $1.13@1.14 for ordinary No. 2 hard delivered Texas common points. Barley was in fair demand with none on the market. Cane seed were scare and a little higher.

Corn— No. 2 mixed 95@96c; No. 2 white or yellow 98½@99c.

Oats—No. 2 red 57@58c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds germination and clean-out $4.25@4.60.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top, per 100 pounds according to origin, type, germination and clean-out $4.25@4.60.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 16. (AP) — Unabated drought in much of the wheat belt Southwest, especially, Western Kansas and Oklahoma, hoisted wheat values today. There were indications that export demand for wheat from North America had broadened to a notable degree, and that shipments from Argentina were curtailed.

Wheat closed nervous but at nearly the day's top level 1¼@2⅝c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1@1⅝c up, oats 1¼@1⅜ advanced, and provisions showing 5@12c gain.

Dispatches were received saying that unless general soaking rains came before May 1 Kansas might not raise 100,000,000 bushels this season compared with 138,000,000 bushels last year.

Estimates were circulated that new export business in North America wheat totaled far in excess of 1,000,000 bushels. Forecasts were made that Argentina would ship only 1,727,000 bushels of wheat this week as against 4,085,000 bushels last week.

Corn owed much of its strength to news that lake vessels were passing through the straits of Mackinaw. It was reported that therefore the Chicago grain fleet would clear shortly for Buffalo, and that a decided reduction of Chicago stocks of corn would result.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, April 16. (US)—The wheat market showed a strong tone at the close today. While some of Liverpool's strength was undoubtedly due to short covering prior to the Easter holiday period of inactivity, it was generally felt that at least some technical correction was due after the intensive declines in all markets of the past week.

Opening of navigation is expected to increase interest in the corn market. Heavy clearances from Chicago's relatively light stocks are expected within the next week, which should relieve pressure caused by generous arrivals. Missouri river markets are reporting a somewhat improved demand for spot arrivals which may remove recent pressure from direct offers to this market.

While weather is unfavorable for movement of corn from the country it is excellent for putting soil in condition for the corn planting.

Argentine wheat markets are to be closed Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Liverpool is to be closed Friday. Saturday and Monday and American exchanges will be closed Friday.

Weekly Argentine wheat shipments are expected to be very small, being estimated at 1,727,000 bushels, compared with 4,085,000 bushels the previous week. Part of the decline is laid to the shorter shipment week because of the Easter holidays.

WATER STOPS IN MOORE WELL

New Strike Soon to Be on Production

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., April 16.—Salt water which threatened to destroy the important discovery in central eastern Moore county, the Panhandle field of Northwest Texas, that Operators Royalty company, Sunray Oil company, Dana Oil and Gas company and Barnsdall Oil company made in No. 1 Jones, in the southwest of the southwest of the southwest of section 164, block 10, of T. & N. survey, has been cased off and the oil and gas is reappearing, field reports show.

The well, which found the producing pay at 3057 to 3410 feet, and made an average of 109 barrels an hour, at the latter depth, was drilled to 3415 feet and it then filled up salt water, drowning out both oil and gas. A lead plug was run and the hole plugged back two to three feet and the water effectively shut off. The gas that at one time was as high at 65,000,000 feet, came back for 5,000,000 feet Sunday and Monday was increasing at the rate of 15,000,000 to 18,000,000 feet. Panhandle field men estimate the Jones-Moore test as capable of doing 1,200 barrels a day when completed.

AKIN TALKS ON MANAGER PLAN

'Politics and Business Don't Mix,' Says Former Mayor

Information relative to the city-manager form of government in Wichita Falls, for use "in case the question should come up later on," was given by J. W. Akin, former mayor, in an address to members of the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

The charter adopted by this city in order to provide for the manager-form of government is the most drastic, and therefore the best, in the United States, according to Mr. Akin, because it places practically all responsibility upon one person. Every city employe except the city clerk and city attorney is employed by the city manager, the speaker said. The council retains only the power to fire the manager, he added.

"Aside from the statement that our manager is a czar, the other principal objection raised has been that we went outside of this city to get a manager. Wichita Falls never had had a manager form of government, and for that reason, no experienced men in this line of work were in our city. Furthermore who knew no one here, so as more we believed it best to get a to eliminate politics. In this position, a man must run the city like a business executive runs his business. Politics and business don't mix."

Mrs. E. W Watkins and Jimmie Fox, well known performers in Little Theater productions this year, presented a short skit Wednesday under the direction of Miss Lurlene Turner, formerly of this city and now of New York. R. D. Ford led a club singsong, with Miss Lorene Tucker at the piano. The program was arranged by Clifford Deaton.

BUILDING PERMITS

One building permit and one permit for repairs were granted Wednesday by F. M. Rugeley, city engineer. The building permit was let to Will Lucas for a frame residence costing $1,800 at 800 Tulsa street. J. W. Williams will be the contractor.

The repair permit was taken out by R. P. Dorian, owner, to make $1,200 worth of repairs on his residence at 1500 Tilden street. R. C. Cato will be the contractor.

Jury Awards $1,800 To Boy, 5, in Suit

James Sopher, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Sopher was awarded judgment for $1,800 against Dr. Walter B. Adams for damages suffered in an automobile accident in 1928 by a jury in the 78th district court Wednesday afternoon.

The suit was brought in behalf of the child on the ground that he had suffered permanent injuries and was robbed of the perfect use of his body when the automobile in which he was driving with his mother on a Wichita county highway was struck and overturned by a machine driven by Dr. Adams. The petition asked for $5,000.

A former trial of the case resulted in a mistrial after the jury had awarded the full $5,000 but had included contradictory answers to other issues in the judge's charge. The plaintiff in the suit was represented by the firm of Weeks, Morrow, Hankerson, and Weeks.

Even if his very labored smart-Aleck antics were easily comical to the average customer, it still would be hard to state just how the half-hour or more of cute tricks fit very well into the scheme of William Haines' "The Girl Said No," now at the Majestic. Under the story drawn for Mr. Haines and a new blonde, Lila Hyams, his exasperating conduct may indeed appear to roil the starchy rival, but must a hero—even one who really was funny in "The Smart Set"—construct his entire case from bits of sophomore clowning?

There is something about Wil-liam's studied cuteness that robs it of the appeal which indigenous humor has for the populace generally. His lines are all in the script for the play, of course, and even the great William probably must accept suggestions. But his jokes are the kind that are far more apt to accomplish his speedy ejection rather than his serious objectives—if any. The type of monkey-business with which this young man has been laden in recent appearances lacks spontaneity, without which even so ordinary a blonde as Miss Hyams hardly could be stormed by such an attack.

◇ ◇

After many, many moments of letting Mr. Haines get out of his system all the little funny tricks he could think of after "Navy Blues," the picture moves on to some really entertaining scenes. A momentary glimpse of Polly Moran is a large part of a good show. Eleven minutes with Marie Dressler—this is a new type of jag she gets this time—relieves much bromidity. In fact, the entire last half-hour of "The Girl Said No" moves along well enough. One is quite ready for fun by that time, and can applaud the one moment for which Mr. Haines appeared not to have rehearsed painfully. This is the scene in which he hurls a telephone through Mr. Sutton's door. Watch for it, as one who waits.

LIONS HEAR DR. MOORMAN

Pasteurization of Milk Urged by Tuberculosis Expert

Passage of a city ordinance here requiring that all milk sold for human consumption to be pasteurized as a measure of preventing the spread of tuberculosis was urged by Dr. L. J. Moorman of Oklahoma City in a brief address before members of the Lions club Wednesday noon.

Doctor Moorman is head of the clinical division of the National Tuberculosis association, and is conducting a three-day diagnosis clinic in this county, which will end Thursday night.

Fifty-five persons were examined in this city from Tuesday morning to Wednesday noon, the speaker said. He discussed the prevention of the spread of the disease through fixing of environment and breaking contact between patients and other persons. Doctor Moorman was introduced by Dr. Felix R. Collard, president of the Wichita County Tuberculosis association.

The executive committee of district 29, Lions International, of which the local club is a part, will meet at Electra Thursday noon, it was announced, to make plans for a model group luncheon to be presented before the state convention of Lions clubs at Austin in May.

Musical entertainment given Wednesday consisted of numbers by a trio of trombones, played by W. P. Lacy, Leo M. Underwood, and E. F. Bohmfalk, accompanied by G. C. Collum of Dallas.

The luncheon was held in the old First Methodist church building at Tenth and Lamar, being served by ladies of that church.

Texas Rail Commission Closes Bus Hearings for Wichita Area

Hearings conducted by Mark Marshall, head of the motor carrier division of the state railroad commission, on applications concerning freight and passenger motor bus lines in this section closed at noon Wednesday after a crowded session which began early Tuesday morning.

All of Wednesday morning was given to thorough airing of various statistical and opinionative data relative to the service maintained between Wichita Falls and Sweetwater by the Southwestern Coaches, Inc. The application filed by the operating concern asks for permission to cancel one two-way schedule daily between Stamford and Sweetwater.

Under the present schedules, a passenger bus leaves Stamford southbound at 6:45 a. m., and another leaves Sweetwater, northbound, at 6:20 a. m. The next bus leaves Stamford at 10:45 a. m., and that from Sweetwater leaves at 10:35 a. m. Under the terms of the application filed, only one schedule each way would be maintained before noon of each day, the bus from Stamford leaving at 7:15 a. m., and that from Sweetwater at 10:15 a. m. Two-trip service daily each way between Stamford and Sweetwater would replace the present three-trip daily schedule. From Stamford to Wichita Falls, no change would be made.

Taking of evidence in this case occupied the commission until noon. Representatives of Sweetwater, Hamlin, Stamford and Roby were present. Hearings were held in the gray room of the Kemp hotel. All findings will be taken before the railroad commission at Austin by Mr. Marshall for decision within the near future, it was said.

18 Firms Here Arrange For Space at Display

Approximately 18 business firms of the city have already reserved display space for the coming six months in the old Martin Printing and Stationery company building in which a manufacturers and jobbers exhibit will be sponsored by the Junior chamber of commerce beginning May 1, according to officials of the organization.

Local firms have taken active hold of the proposition, Junior chamber of commerce officials said, and are planning to install extensive displays within the next few days. Members of the committee in charge of the project have spent two days in presenting the matter to local business concerns, and Wednesday reported that 18 reservations of space had been sold.

Judge Forfeits $1,000 Bond of Defendant

Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Wednesday afternoon ordered the forfeiture of a $1,000 bond in the case of Frank Reynolds, charged with transporting whisky.

Reynolds was given a two-year sentence after a conviction here several months ago. The case was reversed by the court of criminal appeals on the ground that the trial judge had failed to submit the issue of a suspended sentence to the jury. The defendant failed to appear when the case was called for trial again Wednesday.

ROOFS BLOWN FROM HOUSES DURING STORM

FORT WORTH, April 13. (AP)—A strong wind that unroofed houses inflicted damages of about $100,000 in Fort Worth tonight stopped all street cars and interurbans between here and Dallas and the rain of .24 inch, accompanied by heavy hail beat many leaves off trees and damaged backyard gardens.

ORDINARY GALES

Property owners realize that Windstorm Insurance not only indemnifies against cyclones and tornadoes which destroy everything in their paths; but also against ordinary gales which unroof houses and blow down chimneys. Branches from trees or moveable property break windows and jab holes in roofs and walls, too.

In proportion, the little losses cost just as much as the big ones. Windstorm Insurance indemnifies for both kind of losses—for little money.

HOW WHITE IS WHITE?

WE USUALLY think of newly laundered things as pure white. But the truth is that most of the time they are not white at all. Sometimes they are gray, sometimes they are yellow, and sometimes they are even blue. It all depends on the soap.

White things will emerge from washing absolutely white if they are washed with a soap that is absolutely pure. And White King Granulated Soap is the purest soap made. No "filler" nor foreign matter—nothing but the finest vegetable oils, good enough to eat!

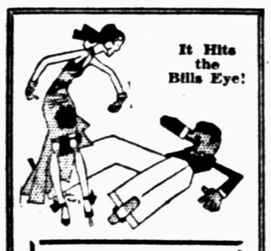

It's economical too! Because White King is condensed, a little of it goes a long way. One teaspoonful in a basin of water, one cupful in the tub. Safe and swift for blankets . . . dishes . . . lingerie. Your grocer has it.
