And Now Waco Falls In Line

Central Texas City Demands a Great Water Supply

HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD.
Record News Staff.

IT is impossible for a city to be built without water. It is impossible for a city to grow in wealth and population and commerce and finance, without an adequate supply of water. An adequate water supply has been the problem of the ages for the foremost engineers who have lived and passed on and the progressive citizens who would build and build and extend trade territory.

This is the story of history in the old world and the new world. This is the story of Texas and its cities and the men who built them. This comment is called forth by the citizens of Waco voting $3,500,000 worth of bonds to build a dam across the Bosque river to solve the water problem of that progressive city and its people. There was a total of 4,946 votes cast, and the friends of the proposal won by a narrow margin of 178 votes.

Really this is the most important movement launched by the people of Waco in many years. It means the daming of the Bosque river. It means the building of vast storage reservoir or lake. It means an inexaustible supply of pure water in the near future. It means an adequate supply for a city of 250,000 if that number of people are ever assembled in the proud city on the banks of the Brazos.

ALL growing cities have the water problem to solve. All progressive cities solve that problem. Fort Worth had the problem to solve. Fort Worth depended for years on artesian wells. There were people in Fort Worth who insisted that artesian wells would supply the needs of the people of their city for all time.

Big Bill Davis was the mayor of Fort Worth. He was a character. He had began a cowboy, but he had the head of a statesman and the courage of a gladiator. This was years ago. Big Bill proposed the daming of one of the forks of the Trinity river, the creating of a great lake, and the catching and impounding of the floods that came from a mighty water shed. He was sneered at. He was berated and denounced.

Big Bill hammered away. He forced a bond issue. He built Lake Worth and there are times when the lake contains 80 billion gallons of water. This solved the water problem for Fort Worth. Artesian wells disappeared. Artesian well champions closed their mouths and bridled their tongue. Came the world war. Training camps were necessary. Military and congressional committees visited the various cities of Texas where sites were offered.

They were shown Lake Worth. They were shown the surrounding territory. They never hesitated. They picked the site. Camp Bowie was established and then the Canadian authorities visited Texas and hangars for Canadian flyers in training were built not far from Lake Worth. Lake Worth made the Fort Worth of today possible. There is no question about it. All the men of vision in Fort Worth, the men who do big things say so. We know it to be true.

BIG BILL placed Fort Worth on the map. He gave the city a never-failing supply of water. His admiring fellow citizens rewarded Big Bill by defeating him for the office which he held. He was not sound on prohibition and he had a caustic tongue which he employed when called upon to deal with political charlatan, publicity seeking mountebanks and the little people who were jealous of the fame of a man who could do big things.

Dallas had the same experience. Dallas tested the artesian well proposition. Dallas tested numerous propositions. Dallas dallied along for years with a scant water supply until a devasting drouth came and a water famine visited the city. This called for the building of the White Rock reservoir and dam, which was supplied by a large shed. Dallas felt that it had solved its problem, but it hadn't.

Dallas continued to grow and the wise men of the city saw another water famine coming if the men of progress did not sound the alarm and build for the future. They put over a five million dollar bond proposition which called for the creation of Lake Garza, or rather Lake Dallas, in Denton county, twenty-nine miles from the city of Dallas. Contractors have been at work on this gigantic reservoir for upwards of two years and it will take another year to complete the job and perhaps an additional million or two million of dollars.

NOTED engineers say that when completed, Lake Dallas will be one of the largest artifical bodies of water in America. They are building for a water supply for a city of 500,000 population. They know what they are doing. They know what they need. They are not willing to let the future take care of itself.

Citizens at Wichita Falls, when Wichita Falls was a little hamlet, built a lake to provide for a water supply and to use the surplus water for irrigation purposes. As a result of this, a city began to rear its head to the heavens and people began to flock to the city. Then what happened. These men of the city that faith built organized and voted bonds for a great irrigation project and for a lake of water that would not only irrigate 200,000 acres, but supply all the needs, domestic and commercial, of a city of 300,000 people.

All ambitious Texas cities and towns joined the forward movement. They are building reservoirs for the impounding of the flood waters everywhere in the west. They know that city cannot

Administration Forces Routed In Hot Oratory

Solons in Jubilant Mood as They Order Satterwhite to Name Committee of Nine to Make Investigation.

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—Representative Claude D. Teer of Williamson county is to be made chairman of the house investigating committee under the probe resolution adopted, 104 to 22 Thursday, it became fairly well assured Thursday night. Representative A. C. Petch of Fredericksburg, floor leader, of the pro-investigation forces, will be another member, it is believed. Rube Loftin of Clay county, who opposed the form of the investigation, will be among probably three of the opposition who will get places on the committee.

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.(AP)—Routing administration forces, the house of representatives of the thirty-ninth legislature here in call session Thursday ordered an investigation of state department and in a jubilant mood adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday morning. The vote was 104 to 22, with one pair, one present and not voting and 20 absent.

A committee of nine, to be named by Speaker Lee Satterwhite will conduct the investigation which will start after adjournment of the call session. Findings of the committee which will set at Austin, will be reported to the fortieth legislature.

An appropriation of $25,000 from the contingent expense fund was authorized for the inquiry.

The King-Purl resolution, calling for investigation, specifies the highway commission, text book commission and pardon board, but permits the committee to investigate any other department it may deem necessary. Investigation of the books of the treasury and railroad commission to ascertain if oil and sulphur companies are paying and have paid the full state gross production tax and of activities of members of both houses of the legislature before various state departments is also prescribed.

Five Hours of Oratory.

Adoption of the resolution came after nearly five hours of torrid oratory, with Representative Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg, directing floor strategy of proponents and Representative Ruben Loftin of Henrietta, the efforts of Ferguson forces to amend the resolution by acclamation or vote and the committee report the resolution to the thirty-ninth legislature.

The resolution signed by Representative A. H. King of Throckmorton, George Purl of Dallas, and 46 others, was introduced Tuesday, and referred to the committee on state affairs. This committee Wednesday night by a 12 to four vote agreed to recommend its adoption. The favorable report Thursday divided the house into two camps. The resolution centers in the fire in the highway commission, text book commission and pardon board. It points out the general criticism of highway contracts, and the finding of a court that a large contract was let at an unconscionable price; that litigation has arisen over text book

HOUSE PUSHES ROAD MEASURE

Verbal Encounters Fail To Halt Validating Work Thursday

AUSTIN, Sept. 16. (AP)—Despite verbal encounters over investigation into state departments, and confirmation of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's recess appointments, the 39th legislature in special session, pushed forward its work of creating and validating trade, district and bond issues respectively ot the amount of $100,000,000.

The senate, under the whil lash of Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller, president, engrossed and passed 38 bills and the house of representatives passed five bills, and engrossed 132, making a total of 164 bills engrossed in the house. Speaker of the house, Lee Satterwhite, rushed the house members and when 132 bills were engrossed

Will Hogg Ill In Ranger; Suffers Paralytic Stroke

Rev. Will Hogg, well known evangelist of this section, who for the last two years has conducted revival campaigns at the Floral Heights Methodist church, is reported seriously ill at Ranger, where he suffered a stroke of paralysis just before he was to enter the pulpit of the Methodist church to preach a final sermon.

A crowd of 3,000 persons awaited him when it was announced that he suffered his third stroke of paralysis in the basement while talking to a group of children.

Rev. Hogg was a chaplain in France during the world war.

BLAST STILL A MYSTERY.

Little Headway Made in Houston Explosion.

HOUSTON, Sept. 16.(AP)—Little headway apparently was made here in solving the mystery surrounding the explosioin which destroyed the residence and store of Fire Captain Luke Cash shortly before daylight.

The nature of the explosive as well as the identity of the person who placed it in the structure had not been determined after a day of investigation. The police advanced the theory that either dynamite of nitroglycerine might have based on conjecture.

GAINS BRIEF DELAY.

Millikin Wins Short Respite in His Murder Trial.

NEW BRAUNFELS Texas, Sept. 16.(AP)—Gaining only a brief delay in his trial when an indictment charging him with the slaying last May of Mrs. Virginia Petty of San Antonio, was found faulty and quashed, A. V. Millikin today was returned to the jail at San Antonio, while deputies summoned a new venire.

The case has been reset for next Monday under a new indictment brought on Wednesday night and sprung as a surprise on attorneys for the defense Thursday when their motion to quash the indictment found last week was granted by district Judge M. C. Jeffreys.

AMIEE AND 5 OTHERS FACE PROSECUTION

Are Accused by Kays Of Conspiracy to Defeat Court of Justice

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16. (AP) Arrest of Aimee Semple McPherson, Angelus temple evangelist, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, her mother; Kenneth G. Armiston, former Angelus temple radio operator; John Doe Martin and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, was ordered late today by District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Complaints charging the five persons with conspiracy to defeat justice were formally ordered by the district attorney. Deputy District Attorney E. J. Dennison, Harold L. Davis, E. J. Likely, were instructed to draw the complaints.

The complaints will bear the signature of Charles Reimer, assistant chief of detectives under Keyes and service of them entrusted to Ben Cohen, chief of the district attorney's detectives tomorrow morning.

Cohen will serve the warrants on Mrs. McPherson tomorrow at Angelus it was announced.

Ormiston, according to his attorney, S. S. Hahn, will accept service of the warrant here in Los Angeles. Hahn, in conference with District Attorney Keyes said that he would produce Ormiston immediately. He indicated that he had been in touch with the former radio operator near Alhambra, a suburb of Los Angeles.

MEXICO THUGS SLAY U. S. MAN

Bandits, Hard Pressed By Troops, Stab Victim To Death

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16.(AP) Jacob Rosenthal, an aged American, was stabbed to death by his bandit captors on Wednesday night when the troops closed in on them.

Having failed to receive the $10,000 ransom demanded and being hampered in their flight by the aged captive, the criminals killed him rather than let him be rescued alive by the federal troops with whom they were engaged in a running fight after a ruse to trap the outlaws had failed.

Rosenthal's body bore many stab wounds.

The troops have been ordered to redouble their efforts to exterminate the bandits.

Jacob Rosenthal of Woodmere, Long Island, N. Y., a retired business man was in Mexico on a pleasure trip and was captured by a bandit gang on Sunday. His party was returning from Cuernavaca, where they had spent a week-end holiday when stopped by the outlaws.

Their Death Brings Reward

AUSTIN, Sept. 16. (AP)—Ranger Captain Tom Hickman, who recently killed two bank robbers in Clarksville, returned to Austin Thursday from Del Rio where he attended the State Sheriff's association convention and was informed that he would be granted leave to attend the Tunney-Dempsey fight at Philadelphia. A. M. Slaton and D. L. Smallwood were the bandits. Captain Hickman was invited to attend as the guest of Tex Rickard, promoter, and said he might attend. The ranger also has been invited to judge a radio contest in New York by Frank Bebe.

6 CASES COMING UP

Railroad Commission to Take Matters Under Advisement.

AUSTIN, Sept. 16. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission took under advisement evidence on six causes at its monthly hearing here Thursday.

The causes taken under advisement were: petition of carriers for revision of rates on steel furniture, and carload shipments of salt, concentration rates on cotton; and changes of regulations and rates on cement and products, and sand.

FAIR GOSPEL SPREAD AFAR IN OKLAHOMA

Texas-Okla. Trippers Tell Neighbors Just What To Expect

Staff Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Sept. 16.—A score of Wichita Falls representatives came here tonight to bring a story to Oklahoma about the Texas-Oklahoma fair, after a day spent at Wellington. The party stopped here for the night. Frederick and other points will be visited Friday and late in the evening the representatives will return to their home city.

Wellington gave Witchita Falls a most royal welcome. E. S. Shoaf, County Judge Small and Mayor Shields extended to them every courtesy. Their money was counterfeit and no greater reception could have been given a party or delegation. The Collinsworth county fair at Wellington opened with a great parade with the Wichita party in the foreground. Mayor R. E. Shepherd, Joe Huckins and Will Gray were judges in the contest for the best decorated floats and other features of the fair in which there were contests. At 2 o'clock the fair was officially opened. Mayor Shepherd was presented to the throng assembled for the rodeo and races. He delivered

Italian Steamer Is Sunk With All Hands

Ellenia Goes Down Off British Coast; Homeric Goes To Rescue

LONDON, Sept. 16. (AP)—Lloyds reports the Italian steamer Ellenia (from Norfolk Sept. 1) sunk with all hands this afternoon off the British coast. The steamer Homeric, which was nearby, rushed at full speed to the rescue.

The time of the disaster is given as 4:12 p. m., and the position of the Ellenia at the time as latitude 50 north, longitude 11.50 west.

The Homeric was five miles away from the Ellenia when the distressed vessel sank. Thenty-five minutes later she was over the spot where the ship disappeared.

There was considerable wreckage but no members of the crew was seen.

The Ellenia was of 2,798 tons register.

A wireless message from the Homeric by way of Valencia to Lloyds says:

"Numerous sail and fishing craft and one steam trawler were in sight. The weather was fine with a slight sea. 'Presume crew abandoned ship and were picked up."

TRIAL TO A CRISIS

Daugherty and Miller Case To Reach a Climax.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. (AP) The trial of Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller moved toward a crisis today.

For seven days the government has fed into the record oral and documentary evidence admitted subject to correction. Today, the seventh day of the trial, additions were made to the mass of exhibits that brought the total up to 90 with some of the exhibits containing hundreds of typewritten pages. Checks, railroad vouchers, hotel registers, letter and hotel register sheets are included in the exhibits.

MORE INDICTMENTS ASKED

Grand Jury May be Recalled In Hall Murder Case.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 16. (AP)—Recall of the April grand jury to consider indicting "three or four" Hall-Mills murder witnesses and authorizing for trial of four persons indicted for the slayings before the jury from another county, were sought today by State Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor.

Request for recall of the jury which yesterday indicted Mrs. Fracis Stevens Hall, her brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens and her cousin, Henry Carpender for the murder four years ago of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, was made to Prosecutor Bergen of this county,

Clean Up, Boys

Citizens of Wichita Falls are called on in a proclamation issued Thursday from the office of Mayor R. E. Shepherd to observe the week of September 20 as "clean-up week" in the city and attend to a general cleansing of the community.

City Auditorium To Be Aired Out In College Work

Seniors Requqiqred To Submit Themes Today On Structure

AT least fifty or more of the senior students at Junior college will know about all there is to be known of the new city auditorium by 10 o'clock this morning, as they have been busy the past 24 hours gathering up data for a theme on the subject. Miss Stella Hendricks, teacher of fourth year English, has instructed her class to present its first theme of the year to her this morning and the subject is to be "The New City Auditorium."

The themes will be graded both as to suitability of subject matter and precision and will be both an education in English and education in civic affairs.

All afternoon yesterday the students were bombarding the chamber of commerce and the city clerk's office with questions concerning the new proposition, and while these officials appreciate the interest developed in such affairs, they appreciate most sincerely the new publicity given the proposed bond issue for the auditorium which will come up for a decision by the people Sept. 30.

C-C APPROVES KATY MERGER

Directors Here Believe New Plan Will Benefit Wichita Falls

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce passed a resolution yesterday approving the proposed grouping of the Kansas City Southern, St. Louis Southwestern and Missouri-Kansas-Texas railways, which is now pending before the interstate commerce commission.

The directors discussed the proposal and came to the conclusion that this merger would be of considerable value to the Wichita Falls trade territory and would be worth a great deal to the city of Wichita Falls.

Decision on the application will probably be made within the next thirty days, it was stated by road officials.

TWO OTHERS ARRESTED AT ARCHER CITY

Deputy and Ranger Find Liquor Equipment 15 Miles From Town

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Sept. 16.—One man is in the Olney hospital, believed to be seriously wounded, and two others are in the Archer county jail here as a result of a shooting affray that came late Thursday afternoon when Deputy Sheriff Comboy Mumford and State Ranger Bonnie Ikard raided a whiskey still in a thicket 15 miles southeast of Archer City. Eugene Ettle was taken to Olney with a shattered left hip, while two men with him at the time, neither of whom divulged their names tonight, were brought to Archer City and lodged in jail.

Received Tip on Still.

The two officers, Mumford and Ikard, stated they made the raid following a tip that a liquor manufacturing establishment was in operation. On arriving at the place, they said, they found three men, all of whom had shot guns. Ikard said he called on the trio to surrender, whereupon two of them raised their arms above their heads. The third, he declared, sought to bring a gun into play.

Ikard said he fired once with a 30-30 Winchester rifle. He shot low intentionally, he asserted.

A small quantity of whiskey, 18 barrels of mash and a complete still of large capacity was found, the officers said.

ETTLE UNCONSCIOUS IN OLNEY HOSPITAL.

OLNEY, Sept. 16.—Eugene Ettle was unconscious in the Olney hospital tonight, his hip shattered by a rifle bullet. Physicians were unable to ascertain the exact extent of his injuries, but stated they might prove serious. Ettle had lost considerable blood and was in a weakened condition.

Pending further examination hospital attaches declined to pass opinions on the seriousness of his wound.

THE PETTER

—By— Beatrice Burton

Author of "Love Bound" "Her Man"

Illustrated and Copyrighted by Johnson Features, Inc., 1819 Broadway, New York City

She had never known what it was to be a wall-flower before.

READ THIS FIRST.

MERRY LOCKE, gay and pretty as her nickname, is a born flirt. She has no ambition beyond having a good time and plenty of beaux. At 20 she fails in her course at business school because she does not study. Then, when her father dies, she goes into LILLIE DALE'S beauty shop at a tiny salary.

At that time she is having the first real love affair of her life. The man in the case is TONY GAINES, an ambitious young lawyer who wants to marry her. Their engagement ends when he learns that Merry goes out with other men. He goes to Montana to live, and later Merry hears he is going to marry a girl there. She tries not to care.

HELEN, the oldest of Merry's sisters, marries and two years later dies in childbirth. CASSIE, the second oldest, marries MORLEY KAUFMAN, her rich employer. Merry envies her her soft, easy life. JINNY, the youngest sister, elopes with one of Merry's former sweethearts, DERRICK JONES, who lives next door. They come home and go to live with Derrick's parents.

Through Cassie, Merry meets BILL ERSKINE, a wealthy bachelor much older than herself. She becomes engaged to him, but he keeps putting off the wedding day.

MOMS, her mother, takes Lillie Dale into the house as a boarder. Then she rents another room to a MR. HEFFLINGER, and a year later marries him. With her stepfather "ruling the roost," home is no longer the pleasant place it once was to Merry.

She meets LES PURCELL, who was "sweet on her" in her high school days, and sees a great deal of him, not knowing that he is married. His wife tries to kill herself, after threatening to name Merry as the "other woman" in her divorce suit. She and Les finally return to each other. But Bill Erskine hears the story from Morley Kaufman's sister, MURIEL, who is jealous of Merry. He writes from Florida to tell Merry that he does not think she is ready to settle down. Merry tells Moms about the letter and Moms says she'll take things into her own hands!

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER L.

Moms cut the fat from a T-bone steak viciously.

"You go and bring me my writing paper and pen," she said, drawing her thick black eyebrows together. "I may as well settle Bill Erskine's hash right here and now! There's no use in letting it go."

When Merry came back with pen and paper she had cleared a space at one end of the kitchen table. She sat down and began to write, while Merry peered over her shoulder.

"Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heffinger, of Chester street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann Locke, to Mr. William ——" She got that far and stopped, her pen poised in the air like a dagger

"What's Bill Erskine's middle name?" she wanted to know, looking up questioningly.

"Haynes," answered Merry. "You're not going to send a notice of our engagement to the paper, are you?"

"Why certainly!" Moms' voice was sharp. "Then, if you decide you don't want to marry Erskine, well and good! But if there's any throwing down to be done, it's going to be YOU who'll do it! I'll show him he can't write and tell you he's through with you, and get away with it! Not if I know it!"

She put the announcement into an envelope, addressed it and stamped it.

"I'll write him a letter, too, later in the day, when I can put my mind on it!" she said, grimly. "Just see if that steak's burning, Merry!"

Moms never could put her mind on much of anything but Mr. Heffinger's breakfast until it was out of the way every day.

Mr. Mr. Heffinger demanded a breakfast that was more like a luncheon than the first meal of the day. And not only did he demand it, but he demanded it on the dot.

At eight o'clock every morning he appeared at the table. He started off with iced orange juice andf ollowed it with eggs, meat and followed it with eggs, meat top off with three or four cups of coffee.

He explained that hotel meals during his years of traveling, had spoiled him for the ordinary toast and coffee breakfasts that the Locke family were used to.

Ever since he had become Moms' second husband the entire machinery of the household revolved around Mr. Heffinger. If he was late for supper, no one sat down to the table until he came. No one ever used his chair beside the sitting room lamp but himself.

His lightest word was law to Moms.

There was the matter of talking at meal time, for instance.

Moms and the two girls were in the habit of doing their best talking at the table. It was their time to relax and be at their ease. They would sit, chatting and gossiping over their breakfast coffee cups, or over their dessert at night—often for a half hour or more.

That is, until Mr. Heffinger became a member of the family.

He frowned upon talking during meals. Once or twice when Merry and Lillie had had some lively dispute at the table, he had gone so far as to walk out of the room, shutting the door forcefully as he went.

This morning when Merry passed through the dining room on her way to the mail box with Moms' letter, he was at his place at the head of the table.

He said "Good morning" without glancing up from the morning paper.

The paper did not belong to him. Lillie had been taking it for over a year and she paid for it. But she never got a look at it until he was through with it.

Nothing, she had told Merry, "got her goat" like the sight of Mr. Heffinger reading her perfectly good paper while she twiddled her thumbs.

She was just opening the dining room door to go in when Merry came back from the letter box on the front porch.

"Hello, Cutie-Peachie!" she greeted her affectionately. "I'll bet I know what you were doing! Mailing an answer to that nice fat letter I saw on the hall table last night, eh? Is Bill Erskine still holding his mother's hand, or is he ready to come to see you?"

Merry laughed half-heartedly. "I guess he's still holding his mother's hand, Lil," she answered.

Mr. Heffinger cleared his throat loudly to let them know that their talking bothered him.

"Where's your mother? Cooking the fatted calf?" she asked her, and Merry nodded silently.

Lillie turned her bright eyes to Mr. Heffinger. "How you eat all the junk you do eat every morning, is a mystery to me!" she declared, while he looked frowningly at her. "I wouldn't be able to do a lick of work 'til noon if I ate the way you do!"

Just then the kitchen door opened. Moms, looking flushed and flurried, came in bearing her lord's steak, his eggs and his fried potatoes, on a large tray.

"Ed, I'm a little late this morning," she said apologetically. "But I had a little extra work to do for Merry." She sank down into her chair and poured the coffee.

Several minutes went by in silence, broken only by the rustle of Lillie's newspaper in Mr. Heffinger's hands.

Then suddenly Lillie Spoke.

"Sadie," she said, turning to Moms, "I just wish you'd been in the shop yesterday! A woman about your age came in with her hair dyed every color of the rainbow. She'd been trying to do it herself—and I just wish you could have seen her! Wasn't she a sight, Merry?"

"I don't know," Merry murmured in a low tone. "I didn't see her until you'd finished with her."

"Why, sure you did!" Lillie contradicted in her loud, cheerful, vulgar way. "Don't you remember? You brought me the towel to pin around her shoulders—"

"MUST we have these endless arguments at every meal?" Mr. Heffinger cut in in a deep angry voice. His grey face was mottled with bright color. "Can't we learn to eat in peace and quiet in this house? You may not know it, Miss Dale, but any kind of excitement upsets the stomach at meal time." upsets the stomach at meal time."

Lillie glared at him and set down her coffee cup with a clatter.

"Does the sound of my voice excite you, Mr. Heffinger?" she demanded to know.

Mr. Heffinger said he was sorry, but it did.

"Well, then, give me my newspaper, and I won't bother you!" Lillie snapped at him. She reached for the paper and buried herself in it.

"My good kid," she said later to Merry, when the two of them were out in the April drizzle on their way to the beauty parlor, "how your precious Moms ever tied herself up to that old wet-blanket of a Heffinger I don't know? You ought to thank your lucky stars that you're going to get married and get out of the house. I'm going to move myself. I can't stand old Gloomy Gus!"

The name curiously suited Mr. Heffinger. He was the soul of gloom. He made it known to Moms that the sound of the piano, rattling out jazz under Merry's light quick fingers, annoyed him.

Moms passed the word on to Merry, and the voice of jazz was no longer heard in the house.

On the Sunday night after Merry's engagement was announced in the newspaper, Muriel Kaufman came running in to see her.

She was sweet and affectionate once more, as she had been in the early days of their friendship. She put her arms around Merry and kissed her.

"Honey, I'm so dee-lighted about you and Bill Erskine!" she chirped. "I just rushed in with this little engagement present. I can't stay a second. Cabby's out here in his car waiting for me. All-oops!" And waving her slim arm with its tinkling jingling bracelets, she was gone.

With a queer little smile Merry opened the package. Inside the scented tissue paper was a pair of white silk stockings. Not the ordinary kind that can be bought for a dollar and ninety-five cents, but the most gorgeous ones that Merry had ever seen or dreamed of seeing.

They were ivory chiffon, embroidered with tiny pearl beads and French knots. The kind of stockings that nobody but a princess or a bride would ever think of wearing!

Merry sighed as she ran her hand through one of them. She wondered if she would ever wear them.

Then the next morning she had a letter from Bill Erskine. A stilted short letter, stating that he would see her within a couple of weeks, and that he was "As ever, Bill."

That was all. Nothing to read between the lines. Just the bare statement that he was coming.

It was on the first Tuesday in May that Jinny telephoned one night while Lillie and Merry were doing the supper dishes.

"Derrick and I are flinging a party," she said in her high, young voice. "Some of his fraternity brothers are in town, and we need an extra girl. Will you come along with us?"

Almost without thinking Merry said that she would. It was a relief to escape from the house, nowadays.

A half hour afterward Merry was squeezed into their little Ford with them. They were going to the White Peacock to dance, and they had plenty of "juney" along, so they told her joyously.

"Juney?" asked Merry, puzzled.

"Synthetic gin, in other words," Jinny explained. "Not that I ever touch the nawsty stuff, but the rest of the crowd loves it!"

The "crowd" was waiting for them at a big round table in the White Peacock. Four of Derrick's college friends, and three girls with their hair cut above their ears and their skirts cut above their knees.

They all seemed like kindergartners to Merry. Her own partner, a red-headed youth named Angus Miller, was probably about her own age, but seemed years younger to her—this "dancing fool" of a boy who thought it was smart to get drunk.

With the air of a man of the world, he showed her a glass flask in his coat pocket. "Hot, eh?" he asked her. "Hot juney! When the rest are dead on their feet, you and I will still have this, eh?" He hitched his chair closer to hers and reached for her hand under the table. Merry pushed his away.

"Whassa matter? Too cuddly for kisses?" he asked in meaningless slang. "All right, papa go by-by."

Then he got up and walked over to a table on the far side of the crowded dance palace. Presently Merry saw him doing a mad Charleston with a strawberry blonde.

Derrick and Jinny got up to dance. One by one the three other couples followed them out on the floor.

Merry was left all alone.

She had the next dance with Derrick. Then she was left all alone again, at the table—a wallflower, sitting there trying to smile.

It was a new experience for her. To sit there, and see other girls walk off with the men, and leave her sitting there like an elderly chaperone.

Then all at once she saw that a man at the next table was looking at her—not as if she were a wallflower, but as if she were the one girl in the room that he wanted to look at. Her eyes slewed around and met his.

One Thin Woman Gained 10 Pounds In Twenty Days

Skinny Men Can Do The Same

All weak men and women.
All nervous men and women.
All skinny men and women.

Can grow stronger, healthier and more vigorous and take on solid needed flesh in 30 days just by taking McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets four time a day—as easy to take as candy.

And what a hit these flesh producing tablets have made. One druggist tripled his sales in one week.

Everybody knows that nasty-tasting evil-smelling Cod Liver Oil is a wonderful vitalizer, flesh producer and health creator.

But who wants to swallow the horrible stuff, when these wonderful tablets—McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, are just as good and so easy to take.

A box of 60 tablets for 60 cents and if any skinny man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days—money back. Ask Smith and Renfro Drug Stores or any druggist.

Be sure and get McCoy's, the original and genuine, and don't forget there is nothing on earth so good to make backward, listless, underweight children grow strong and robust.—Adv.

How to stop BOILS!

There's only one way to stop boils. Stop the cause of boils! That's common sense—isn't it? All right. Boils thrive because the blood gets so weak in healthy, red cells that it can't throw off the impurities that get into the body. There's not enough rich, red blood to purify the system.

Now—S. S. S. builds back the blood to fighting strength. S. S. S. builds red-blood-cells—builds them by the millions! Boils dry up!

S. S. S. is the thing. Impurities that cause boils and other skin eruptions can't stand up against the rich, healthy, red blood that S. S. S. builds. That's all there is to it.

Stop boils with S. S. S. It's the way. Get it at any druggist. The large bottle is more economical.

COLLEGE OPENS IN CLARENDON

29th Annual Session Started With Many Notables Present

With Dr. J. T. Griswold president of the board of trustees presiding, Clarendon College opened its doors as a senior college with a formal program of unusual interest and significance. About 200 distinguished visitors representing the pastors, presiding elders and laymen of the Northwest Texas conference many ex-students and new students and the citizens of Clarendon taxed the capacity of the college auditorium during the program.

President Morgan's address was marked by an appreciative tribute to the retiring president Dr. Geo. S. Slover who served as an efficient president for nineteen years resigning because of ill health. Honor was given liberally to other presidents of the post including Dr. G. S. Hardy of Sweetwater who was present for the day's program. Dr. Morgan's forceful message and strong personality enabled the audience to get an inspiring vision of the future of a greater Clarendon college.

Bishop John Moore principal speaker of the occasion spoke of the place of the church school emphasizing the importance of a college education and stressing the opportunity of a Christian college.

Schools in Seymour Open With Great Prospcets for Year

SEYMOUR, Sept. 16.—Seymour schools were formally opened on Monday morning, beginning the session for 1926-1927 with the brightest prospects in history. A splendid program was enjoyed in the auditorium of the High School, conducted by Mrs. W. A. Baker, principal of the school. After opening remarks by Mrs. Baker, Rev. J. R. Balch of the Baptist church led the school in prayer, then led the scripture lesson for the hour. Greetings were brought from Mayor Jas. A. Britain; Hon. Joe A. Wheat as president of the chamber of commerce; Mrs. A. K. Moilliett, representing the Parent-Teachers Association; R. R. McDavid, the board of education, O. C. Harrison, editor of Baylor County Banner; Mrs. S. L. Webb, president of the P.-T. A.

A piano solo by Mrs. Lee Coy and readings by Miss Margaret Crozier of Dallas, who is the expression teacher were numbers much appreciated.

J. M. Bailes Is Buried in Seyomur

SEYMOUR, Sept. 16.—Funeral services were held at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church for Jas. M. Bailes, who died at his home here at 11 o'clock Monday evening, with Rev. E. C. Cargill in charge, assisted by Rev. C. E. Cogswell, pastor of the Christian church.

Mr. Bailes was 65 years old, was born in Ellis county and came to Baylor in the early year of 1880 and has continued his residence here for 46 years. He has been in the grocery business since 1906, and at his death was one of Seymour's leading grocerymen.

He has been in failing health for more than a year and has been confined to his bed for two months. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. J. M. Bailes and two brothers, W. E. Bailes, Walter Bailes and one sister, Mrs. J. A. Baccus, all of this city; four children, Mrs. Laura Bailes Smith of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Jas De [illegible] of Bryan, Texas, Wallace [illegible]dens and Miss Claudia Lee Bailes, who live here.

GASSES HIS VICTIMS.

Police Hunt Nocturnal Prowler Who Uses Perfume.

DALLAS, Sept. 16.(AP)—A nocturnal prowler who sprays a mysterious drug or perfume into homes here is being sought by police following two instances where residents have been awakened by a sweet, sickening scent in their rooms during early morning hours.

Three women awakened by the odor Thursday morning called police, who were unable to find any signs of a prowler or robbery. At three separate times the women said, the scent was wafted through the house. They were made slightly ill.

BIG AERIAL WAR.

San Antonio to See Gigantic Demonstration.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 16.(AP)—One of the greatest military demonstrations since the World war is planned for San Antonio the first week in October.

The maneuvers will involve every branch of the service, when the third attack group from Galveston, the first pursuit group of Selfridge Field, Michigan, and the 21st airship group of Scott Field, Illinois, join local flying organizations and ground troops from Fort Sam Houston and Fort Barrancas, Florida, at Camp Stanley.

RAIL MAN DEAD.

Popular Golf Coast Car Inspector Dies in Houston.

HOUSTON, Sept. 16.(AP)—Robert F. Moffett, 55, general car inspector for the Gulf Coast Lines and one of the best known and most popular railroad men in south Texas, died Thursday at his residence, here after a long illness.

Mr. Moffett began service with the Gulf Coast Lines as general car foreman at Kingsville in 1921. He came from Denison where he had previously been employed by the Missouri, Kansas and Texas in an official position. After the Gulf Coast Lines became a part of the Missouri Pacific Lines he was transferred to Houston where he became general car inspector.

SUNDAY LAWS RAP SESQUI

Court Holds Exposition Has No Right to Violate The Sabbath

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 16. (AP)—The Philadelphia Sesquicentennial exhibition association is denied the "right, privilege or authority to open, hold or conduct" the exposition on Sunday under a decision of the Dauphine county court today.

The court held that the operation of the exposition on Sunday is "wordly employment," that it is not a work of necessity or charity and that the amusements and recreations within the exposition grounds are clearly in violation of the act of 1794. This act is the so-called "blue law" prohibiting worldly amusements on Sunday.

The court in its conclusions pointed out that its decision was not a reflection upon the directors and officers of the association in determining to operate on Sundays.

Pessimistic Wails Draw Fire From U. S. Congressman

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Pessimists who raise a hue and cry over the fate of the American home and bemoan the fact that the United States has gone "jazz crazy" were taken to task today by Congressman Martin L. Davey of Ohio.

Addressing the international convention of Life underwriters, he cited the unprecedented volume of life insurance sold in America as reason why there need be no fear as to the future of the home and why the "jazz" charge is unfounded.

"Life Insurance," he declared, "is a positive expression of the great home instinct. Love is the motive power that makes possible the greater proportion of the tremendous volume of life insurance that we see in force among our people. Life insurance is a material evidence of something fine and wonderful in the character of America. So long as that something remains America is safe and her future assured."

Who Owns the Air Above Your House?

CHICAGO, Sept. 16. (AP) — A suit to determine who owns the air above an apartment house will come up for final hearing in the courts here tomorrow, a legal dispute growing out of radio rivalry involving two tenants and a landlord.

Norman Bremner enjoyed all the privileges of a radio fan until Fred Marke, a radio engineer, moved in with a transmitting set. Bremner could get nothing on his set while the engineer broadcast.

He registered complaints with the landlord, Jacob Lowenberg, but the landlord supported Marko, who paid a sum for roof rights, tearing Bremner's aerial down. Bremner, backed by the Broadcast Listeners' association, took the case to court, suing Lowenberg for $1,000.

Whoee! Look At The Pretty Whistle

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 16.(AP)—No longer will residents along the right of way of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad be awakened from sound slumber by the shrieking of locomotive whistles, in the opinion of Eugene Duval, local general agent of the road.

Locomotives are being equipped with a new "chime" whistle, sounds from which are described by the designer, E. K. Silliox, as "soft as the wood winds of a symphony orchestra."

Duval said that while the sound of the new whistle is mellow, it can be heard as far as the screech of the usual type.

M'GOWAN RESIGNS

He Quits Post Rather Than Accept Big Salary.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 16.(AP) Samuel McGowan, rear admiral United States navy, retired, and paymaster general during the war, resigned today as chief state commissioner of the South Carolina highway department, effective October 15. Admiral McGowan accepted the post 16 months ago on the stipulation that he would receive no salary, although the legislature provided $6,000 a year compensation. Recently the highway commission called upon him to accept pay for the entire period, stating that his gratituous service might set a precedent which would be embarrassing to succeeding commissioners.

DAD'S A WISHING.

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 16. —Dad Sweetser is right in the front line of the gallery watching Bobby Jones and wishing son Jess were here to repeat what he did at Muirfield. Jess, recovering from illness, is tuning up at Asheville, N. C., with a putter on the lawn of his new home for next year's tournament.

MAYOR SUSPENDED

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 16.—(AP) Mayor W. W. Gordon of Kansas City, Kan., was suspended from office by the supreme court today, pending the final outcome of the ouster suit brought against him by the attorney general. The supreme court appointed T. C. Wilson of Wichita as its commissioner to make findings of fact in the ouster case.

TO ALL CITIZENS OF WICHITA FALLS:

Our general clean-up compaign in compliance with the mayor's proclamation, will begin next Monday, Sept. 20. Wagons and trucks will be sent to all parts of the city to haul the rubbish out for you free of charge.

All we require is that you put it in containers and set it out along side of the alleys and men will pick it up. Please don't pile cans out without containers, it takes the men too long to gather it up.

No garbage or brush will be hauled on these wagons. Please have all trash ready Monday morning next. Cut all your weeds in alleys and rear of your home lots.

Laying Pipeline For New Producer

ABILENE, Sept. 16.—Construction of a pipeline from the Phillips Petroleum company new well on the Winter farm five miles northwest of Merkel in southwest Jones county, was started Thursday morning. The line is to be laid three miles south to the Texas and Pacific railway where a switch track and temporary loading rack are to be built. The new strike is making 1,000 barrels of oil per day by actual guage and the play continues active.

CASE GOES TO JURY

Donaldson Trial Concluded Thursday In Indiana.

GARY, Ind., Sept. 16. (AP)—Trial of William (Red) Donaldson, former Texas cowboy, charged with the murder of Joseph Mullins, with whose wife he is alleged to have been enamoured, went to the jury at 12:30 p. m. today.

Mullins was shot from ambush as he walked with his wife in a park and Mrs. Mullins, in whose home Donaldson boarded, admitted that Donaldson had paid her attention. She is under a charge of murder, but testified against Donaldson.

U.S. FAILS TO GET $3,000,000

Fourth Time Government Is Baffled in Big Collection Try

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16. (AP)—For the fourth time since its suit was filed three years ago the government today suffered a setback in its attempt to collect $3,000,000 alleged excessive charges from the Charles A. Fuller company of New York, which constructed the wartime cantonment at Camp Funston, Kan., at a cost of $8,756,985.12.

The eighth circuit court of appeals in a decision filed here affirmed a decision of the Kansas district court sustaining a demurrer in which the defense alleged the government had failed to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

City Investigates Fatal Explosion

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 16.(AP)—Investigations by the city and county of the gas explosion in a water works tunnel under the Missouri river here yesterday which cost the lives of eight workmen will get under way today and Saturday.

H. F. McElroy, city manager, ordered the city investigation and appointed a committee of three to conduct it. George Harner, one of the men in the tunnel shaft when the blast occurred, and Howard E. McGuire, electrician on the night shift, will be questioned by the committee which is composed of the three supervising engineers on a sewer project here.

LEVEE GIVES WAY.

Iowa River, Rising Rapidly, Threatens Farms.

WEAVER, Ia., Sept. 16.(AP)—The Skunk river levee broke near here today. The main section of the levee, which is protecting thousands of acres of farm land, was still intact, but the river rose a half foot during the night. With the break above, men working on the lower section of the levee have withdrawn, fearing that efforts to stop the break may not be successful.

OLD MAN'S GAME.

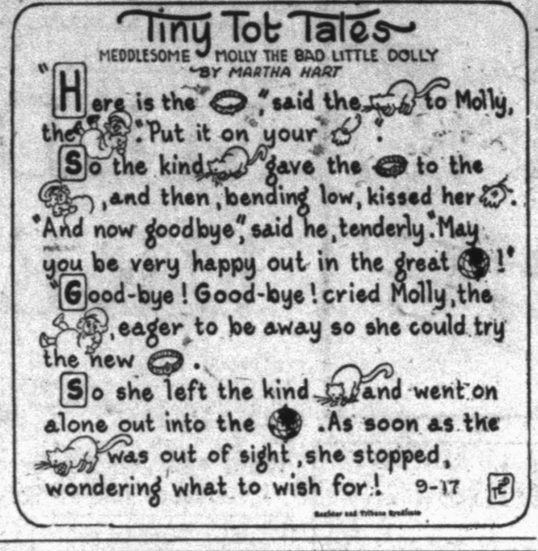

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 16.—Yes sir, it's an old man's game, this golf. The ages of six of the eight survivors for the third round of the national tournament ranged from 31 to 36; the other two were doddering veterans of 33.

Multiply this saving by 40

THE average family, let us say, consumes about 40 cups of coffee a week. Consider the saving M·J·B gives you by its concentrated strength and richness. For you can use less of M·J·B to each spoonful and still have a rich, satisfying cup of coffee. Now multiply this saving 40 times each week—it counts up, doesn't it?

It is true you buy coffee by the pound but you drink it by the cup. So it's really the cost-per-cup that counts! And measured by this scale, M·J·B is the most economical coffee you can buy.

Put it to a week's test and see!

Stops Chatter and Keeps The Motor Cool

When your clutch, reverse and brake bands slip and chatter, and your motor overheats, you are using the wrong oil.

The transmission bands are lubricated from the crank case by the same oil that is used in the motor. If the wrong oil is used, or if your oil is seriously diluted, these bands become oil-soaked, gummy and slick—and chattering and slipping result.

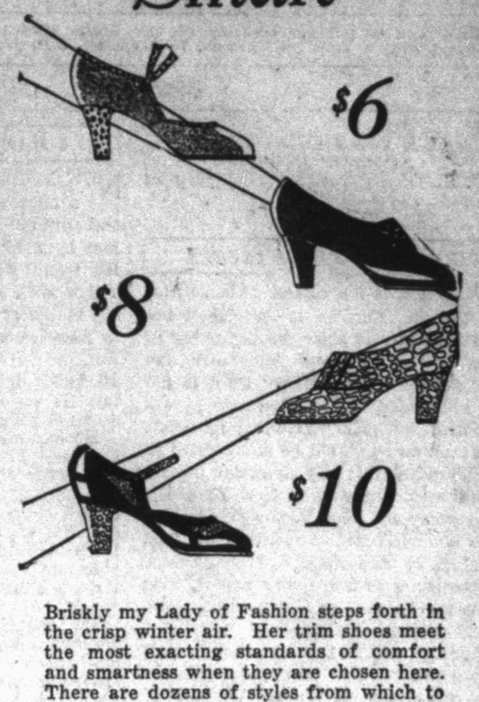

Use Flivolene—change the oil in your crank case every 500 miles—keep your transmission bands properly adjusted, and you will get the best service from your Ford at the least cost.

Flivolene is manufactured and guaranteed by the Humble Oil & Refining Company, refiners and marketers of the high-grade line of Humble Motor Oils. You can buy it wherever you see the Humble Signs.

MONEY AND ITS MASTERS

AMERICA is the richest nation under the sun. America is the richest nation that existed since the beginning of time. America has one billionaire and 11,000 millionaires. Henry Ford is not the billionaire. Henry Ford may have a billion dollar plant, including materials and cash on hand, but he is not rated as a billionaire. This only American billionaire lives in the state of New York. His name may be John D. Rockefeller Jr., who has succeeded to many of the vast holdings of his father.

According to a treasury expert, nine years ago there were 11,800 millionaires. Many of these millionaires were the owners of war babies and they accumulated and revelled in wealth while the war was on and until 1920 when 2,800 of the 11,800 lost their holdings and were carried to parts unknown by the undertow of the flowing sea. Many of the war millionaires were wiped off the income tax list by the end of the 1920 financial depression.

Joseph S. McCoy, one of Mr. Mellon's men, has figured it out that one out of every ten thousand four hundred and fifty Americans is a millionaire. New York has 2,800; Pennsylvania has 1,052; Illinois has 800; Massachusetts has 610; California has 470; New Jersey 390; North Dakota, where the non-partisan party was born, and where the people send two non-partisans to the American senate, is without a millionaire. North Dakota has thousands of big wheat farmers, but not a wheat farmer under the skies of the state has crawled into the millionaire class.

New Mexico, South Dakota, Idaho and Nevada have one millionaire each. In the old days when Nevada was a territory, the Mackays, the Floods, the Fairs and the O'Brians became multi-millionaires. They were lucky miners and they extracted millions from the earth. Having accumulated vast fortunes they deserted Nevada for California and later for New York.

Texas has 96 millionaires. Houston houses an even dozen. Oklahoma has 33 millionaires. They made their fortune in the petroleum industry. Iowa and Kansas are great agricultural states. Iowa has 33 and Kansas 17 millionaires. Michigan has 312, Maryland 129 and Minnesota 110. Ohio, the step-mother of president, has 361 millionaires. Wisconsin, which is a rich agriculture and dairy state, has 95 millionaires and two La Follette senators.

Wyoming has only two millionaires. There are treasury experts who say that the Wyoming millionaires are United States senators. If so, John B. Kendrick, who is a native Texan and a democrat, is a millionaire. There are 74 Americans with incomes of $1,000,000 a year. There are three Americans worth $1,000,000,000 between them. Of course it wouldn't be right to guess that the three are members of the Mellon family of Pennsylvania and the head of the family is secretary of the United States treasury and regarded by men who are qualified to speak, as a greater financier than Alexandra Hamilton.

Rhode Island, a manufacturing state, would be lost in the original Tom Green county, away down in Texas. There are 83 millionaires in little Rhody.

REED TO RETIRE

SENATOR JAMES A. REED of Missouri expects to retire to private life in 1928. He will not be a candidate for re-election. He will have served the people of Missouri 18 years and their senators at the conclusion of his third term. He knows what he wants. He is weary of official life. Reed is a poor man. He is one of the great lawyers of the great west. He is going to give all of his time to his practice in order to have a bank account when he grows old. He is 64 now.

He has been an office holder for more than 30 years. An office holder who is an honest man cannot live on his salary and accumulate a fortune.

This man from Missouri has admirers everywhere in the United States. He is the boldest fighter in American politics at least on the democratic side and as a debater he hasn't an equal in the American senate unless it be Borah of Idaho and Reed and Borah never clash.

Borah is a republican but Reed and Borah think alike and vote together on issues which are uppermost with the sole exception of prohibition. There they are wide apart.

A MAN WITH A MEMORY

NEW YORK is the proud possessor of a citizen of 87 who made his first and only public speech at a dinner given him by a big corporation in that city. His name? John O'Connell. He is doing active work as a foreman of one of the big plants of the corporation. He came to America when he was 13. He began working for the corporation in 1856. He starts his day at 8 o'clock in the morning. He has never taken a vacation and does not believe in them.

He has seen 52 mayors of New York City and 17 American presidents have held office since he began his work for his company. He has seen the horse-drawn stage, the horse cart, the cable car, the elevated, the subway and the trolley car in their succession. He remembers the time when there was no Brooklyn bridge, no telephone, no typewriter.

He votes the democrat ticket straight. He loves his pipe. As for liquor, he does not care. He is neither an anti or a pro. He insists that a man should be temperate in his habits and temperate in his language. Now at 87 his ambition is to put in five more years with the company, then go back to Ireland for a brief vacation and to see another New Yorker elected president.

He was a Grover Cleveland democrat and he never hesitates to say that Grover Cleveland was the greatest president the country has known since Abraham Lincoln departed this life.

Now when should a laborer retire from active work and dwell in the shade of his own vine and fig tree?

BUYING IS BRISK

IT is said that installment buying in America now totals $6,500,000,000 a year and the economist and credit men of the country are studying its benefits and its evils. Installment buying is like the motor car. It is here to stay.

A wise man marches with the procession. He does not permit the procession of marchers to leave him far behind, nor does he permit the procession to toss him aside or walk upon him by standing still in the middle of the road.

There is Joseph Weldon Bailey, last of the Mohicians, brilliant as an advocate and wise in his knowledge of the fundamentals of constitutional government. He permitted the procession to get a million miles ahead of him and now he is growling about knee skirts, jazz music and bobbed hair.

A democrat should never stand still. He should move with the procession. He should bow to the inevitable. He should realize that a living civilization is better than all the dead civilizations covered by the dust of time.

WHEAT KINGS OF KANSAS

THERE are wheat kings in Kansas. They are not all nordics. Samuel Fishman is a Jew. He is the owner of 35,000 acres of Kansas wheat land. He is the republican nominee for legislature in his district. He preaches the gospel of co-operative farming. He was the organizer of a flourishing colony of 100 Jewish farmers in western Kansas.

It is said there are 75,000 Jews in the United States now settled on 15,000 farmsteads. There is a Jewish farming community in Connecticut growing tobacco; another on the Toms river in New Jersey, operating a poultry district; a third in the Michigan fruit belt. Jewish agriculturists are most numerous in New England, New York and New Jersey. California is said to have an increasing Jewish population growing fruit and poultry.

Furthermore the information is given by a national Farm Weekly that the Jewish Agriculture society has loaned more than $5,000,000 to 6,900 farmers seeking a foothold on the land.

Hence it is not true that a Jew has no love for the land. He is finding his way back to the soil.

In the Kansas wheat belt there is a negro, Tom King, who is a wheat baron. He is the negro wheat king of the southwest. He harvested a crop of 22,000 bushels of wheat from his 600 acres of land this year. It is worth something like $28,000. In the front yard of his home he had one wheat pile containing 10,000 bushels.

Fifteen years ago this negro wheat king was a day laborer in a city. He became disgusted with city life and city poverty. He moved from the city to Kansas, taking his family with him. He rented land and underwent all the trials of a tenent farmer.

Now he has one of the biggest bank accounts in his county. He does not owe a dollar on his land holdings and rides in a big high powered car.

There are romances in the country as well as in the city. Just as there are sermons in stones.

The Most Terrible of All Threats

The Infernal Machine

By F. Britten Austin.

Below, on the quayside criss-crossed by railroad tracks, locomotives puffed and shrieked as they butted their trains of clanking freight-cars, vehicle by vehicle, to the tips. Car after car, quoined on the platform of the cages, rose its twenty feet upon the elevator, heeled suddenly, and discharged its black contents with a clattering, clanging roar, down the iron shoot into the bunkers of the ship. Train beyond train, of coal and merchandise, stood ranged upon the sidings, awaiting its turn for sling or cataract.

Towards one of those trains, the nearest, he crept stealthily from shadow to shadow, weak-kneed fear and diabolical malice at conflict within him. He cursed, automatically, under his breath, in an escape of nervous tension, as he approached it. It stood engineless, unguarded, but to his disgust not one car of it was in the shadow.

For a moment he had hesitated, his burden heavy in his arms, in a temptation of relinquishment. Then the image of Rose Bauermann, her smile of enigma turning upon him, had come up before him—and the fierce little chemist's exultant phrase, "Blow de belly out of her!" had echoed in strange depths of him, an invocation that called up a flood of his bitter primitive hatred for these phenomena of a civilization from which he was excluded, and which he himself was impotent to create. The Sioux prowling around the stockade, the Barbarian bursting in upon the monuments of ancient Rome, ground their teeth even as he, in just such a blind jealous rage of destruction.

During long minutes he had crouched in the shadow for his spring, awaiting opportunity. Then, in a temporary complete desertion of that stretch of quay, he leaped forward to the nearest truck, the last in the train.

In the full illumination, the white car number, the black on white of the large label—'34518'—Bunker-Coal-S. S. Gargantuan—were vividly distinct before his vision, on a level with his eyes. He judged his distance, and buried the thing he carried. The lump of pseudo-coal fell upon the heaped-up coal of the truck, indistinguishable from any other lump.

"Blow de belly out of her!"—the fiercely vindictive phrase of the little German-Jew cripple had rung in his ears as he turned and fled into the night.

Back at his comrade's meeting place, and quivering with the news, his heart thumped heavily and unsteadily in his breast as he gave the arranged sequence of knocks upon its muddied door. He waited. It opened not. He knocked, more loudly, yet now sure in advance that there would be no response. The house echoed under his knock like a place deserted.

Then a policeman came round the corner, approached him with the measured, unhurried step of a patrol upon his normal beat. Jake waited not for that scrutiny he never dared confront. Whelmed in a disappointment that chilled his body, he had slunk away, a bitter curse upon his lips.

He was filled with a sombre anger against his confederates as he shuffled off to the miserable garret which was his home. They had better not play any tricks on him—or, sure as hell, he'd peach! He'd show 'em whether he, Jake Bravinsky, was a man to be trifled with!

In the morning Jake had awakened with the touch of a hand upon his shoulder. His blind start from the bed was the instinctive movement of an animal habitually under menace and now trapped. He looked up, in a pang of terror, into the face bent over him, the heavy impassive countenance of a policeman. As he glanced around him, in the chill grey light of early morning, he saw that his garret was abnormally peopled—another policeman behind the one who had awakened him, and, near the door, two men in plain clothes whom he instinctively recognized as from Scotland yard.

"Come quietly, Jake," had said the voice from that moustachioed face up to which he stared, "We've got you."

The tightening of the grip upon his shoulders bore in upon him the hopelessness of escape. He let himself relax, resigned himself.

"What's it for?" he had asked sullenly. He remembered now, vividly, the sudden panic fear he had all but betrayed. Was it for his last night's job? The thought drove the blood from his heart—a life sentence loomed startlingly inevitable, life or little less. He had not dared to raise his eyes.

It was one of the plain-clothes men who had answered.

"I have a warrant for your arrest, Jake Bravinsky, on a charge of arson in Glasgow last May. I give you the usual warning"

Glasgow last May! He had almost shrieked mocking laughter in the revulsion of his relief.

A few hours later, shrunken between the two large policemen, he had shuffled into the dock of a district police court just commencing its business of the morning. The magistrate had glanced up at him with contemptuous indifference, registering him evidently as merely yet another of the miserable dead-beats presented to him by organized society for temporary elimination.

The magistrate could not suspect the exultant, savage triumph which filled that distorted little soul behind the pinched and pallid face.

Absorbed in an exalted gloating, Jake had scarcely heard the charge as it was read over to him. It concerned something very remote from him—he had almost forgotten that warehouse in Glasgow—the real, vital thing for which he was responsible was hidden from these blind fools. He exulted childishly. And they'd never know—for once he was certain of immunity in his war against an unsympathetic world, for once he'd done 'em! He felt savagely contemptuous of the stolid policeman who gave evidence of arrest.

Then one of the plain-clothes men stood up in the court, addressed himself to the magistrate. What was he saying?

We should be obliged if you would make an order without adjournment of this case. We hold a warrant for the extradition of the accused. He passed it up to the magistrate. "His presence in England is urgently required for a trial with his confederates already arrested. We have retained a passage for him on the Gargantuan, which sails tomorrow morning.

The Gargantuan! The name, a cymbal-clash of significance, awoke him with a shock at the heart to full realization of the detective's matter-of-fact request. The Gargantuan! Upon the moment he stood paralyzed in an awful terror, sweat pearling upon him, his tongue dry in his mouth, yet impelled, almost beyond restraint, to shriek a protest. No! No!—not the Gargantuan! He jerked a wild, eye-dilated glance around him, as though in a dream of visible appearance of the supernatural. The irony which condemned him to his own destruction was nothing less than this to his primitive mind. He gasped for his only sound.

Questions from the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

Young Married Couples Can Retain Their Love Through the Years if Each Will Soft-Pedal the Other's Faults and Focus, Instead, on Virtues—True Romance Also Means Actively Doing Something for the Other Each Day.

A young man writes me:

"I am about to be married. My fiancee and I are very much in love with each other, but as we look around among our married acquaintances we see that most husbands and wives have lost all of the romance and sentiment with which they also must have started out on the matrimonial voyage. They, too, must have once been ardently in love. Now they are indifferent to each other. Sometimes they are even hostile. Nearly always they bore each other.

"We do not want this calamity to befall us. What can we do to keep our love as fresh and beautiful when we are 50 as it is now when we are 25?"

Well, son, virtually all of the advice about how to retain a husband's or a wife's affection passes the buck to the other party. It puts the job of keeping a man vamped up to his wife, and sentences a man to a lifetime of domestic philandering if he wishes to keep his wife from offering her lips instead of the back of her ear to his kisses.

Undoubtedly, these tips about how to keep the home fires burning are worth playing. If we wish to be attractive we must make ourselves lovable. If we wish to be attractive we must keep ourselves looking good. There is nothing in a slouchy, untidy woman, in a soiled gown and run-down-at-the-heel slippers to raise a thrill in a man's breast. Nor does the man with a three-day stubble of beard on his face, a dirty shirt, and no collar, look like the hero of any woman's girlish dreams.

Neither do any of us, male or female, enjoy the society of one who knocks our faults and reminds us of our shotcomings, who douses our every plan and enthusiasm with cold water, and who is fretful and whining and complaining, or glum and grouchy.

So when a woman is told that if she wishes to keep her husband in love with her she must make herself easy on his eyes, and go daily fishing for him with the bait with which she originally hooked him, it is good advice. And when we tell a man that if he wishes to keep his wife thanking God that she married him, instead of wondering what on earth made her fool enough to do it, he must look the part of the lover instead of resembling an old clothes dummy; that he must bear in mind that getting married did not pull his wife's sweet tooth, and that she craves love-making and compliments just as much as she did in their courting days, it is sage counsel.

But you can't turn the entire business of keeping you in love over to the other party. You have to lend a hand at the task yourself.

A woman should do all she possibly can to keep her husband fascinated. A man should make every effort to keep his wife thrilling at the sounds of his footsteps, but when they have put forth their utmost endeavor to keep love alive on their hearthstone, the individual must supplement it by making a few passes overhimself.

HUNT FOR BODY.

GALVESTON, Sept. 16.(AP)—The Seawall boulevard in the western part of the city was thronged again this morning as search was renewed for the body of Eugene Fisher, 14-year-old boy who was drowned while swimming in the gulf yesterday afternoon. Efforts to locate the body Wednesday evening failed. Young Fisher was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Fisher.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

UNCLES

Uncles are rather funny men,
Not strangers, not exactly dads,
And yet they pat you now and then
Like fathers do with their own lads.
A lot of folks a fellow knows;
An uncle's different from those;
Whatever kindness others do,
You just expect an uncle to.

When other people come to call
A fellow wants to run away,
But uncles you don't mind at all,
I wish that mine came every day.
An uncle understands a chap,
You don't mind sitting on his lap,
He's most as nice as parents are,
And never so particular.

And, when he talks, some things come out
You never heard before, somehow;
I guess my father was about
The kind of boy that I am now.
My father never once was bad
At all, according to my dad;
But Uncle laughs, and winks his eye,
And Dad turns red. I wopder why?

Tomorrow: GIVE ME AN OLD MAN.

LICKETY-WICKETY

The only wood in the world which seems to have tissue of a sort of braided make-up is lignum-vitae, which means tree of life. It is so called because it is impossible to split it, or to chop through it with an ordinary axe, owing to its contorted wood. Like life it goes on forever. However, a saw can cut it and a lathe can turn it, and on account of its hon-splitting qualities it is often made into tops. A lignum-vitae top in the game of split-top is a formidable weapon in the hands of a street urchin, who generally ocorrupts the name into lickety-wickety.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. The most primitive living American bird is the loon.
2. The chief peculiarity of hoatzins is that when young they have a rudimentary claw on the tip of the wing by which they climb or cling, showing that the wing is a modified foreleg of a lizard ancestor.
3. The call of the bittern is like the noise of a stake being violently driven into marshy ground.
4. The habitat of curlews is along low reedy shores.
5. The cry of the plover is "killdee!"
6. Flimingoes are found in the West Indies and India.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

VIRGO

Today's planetry aspects are quite variable. In the morning, they are adverse, in the afternoon, they are favorable, while, in the evening ,they revert again to the adverse stage. Today does not hold out any encouraging prospects, except during the few brief hours from noon to sundown. This is altogether too short a time in which to accomplish anything that savors of constructive effort. It would be advisable to defer any definite action of importance until some more propitious opportunity presents itself, and to follow the line of least resistance. The influences that prevail during the greater portion of the day will, unless overcome lead to quarrelsomeness and bickering.

Children born today will, like most other infants, suffer from several minor ailments. These need not cause alarm, and certainly threaten no danger, if care be shown in method and nature of alimentation. As they grow up, they will develop along normal lines, and, although possessing no exceptional degre of physical strength, will have the compensating gift of wiriness. They in disposition, will be tractable, and amenable to love and affection. Force, if resorted to, will only accentuate the evils which it sets out to eradicate. They will possess high ideals, and will think along right and clean lines. Not over ambitious, they will, however, study with avidity and what they learn they never will forget.

If today is your birthday, your mind is decidedly analytical, and you never take anything for granted. Faith does not enter much into your life and you always "want to be shown." This, of course, robs you of a great deal of happiness that others enjoy, but once you have sized up a question and looked at it from all angles, your final opinion is taken, and you feel satisfied, although no one may agre with you, that you are right. You are painstaking, reliable and competent ,and in a moterial way, are generally successful. Your character is so matter-of-fact that there is not much rom in your "make up" for romance, or for the dreaming of those dreams that often produce mental intoxication. You will chose a mate by mind and not by heart influences.

Successful people born this date are:

Samuel Hopinks, theologian.
Lucius Q. C. Lamar, justice of the U. S. supreme court.
James R. Haskell, inventor.
William E. Griffis, educator and author.

AFTER CROSSING THE ATLANTIC.
A Revised Classic.
(With the Usual to Walt Whitman)
By James L. Simmons.

O Captain, my Captain,
We're home at last, by heck!
Once more my feet walk down a street
And not a bloomin' deck.
You said the sea was calm, Cap,
But do you call to mind
How, green and pale, I clutched the rail
And what I left behind?
O Captain, my Captain,
No doubt you like the sea,
But let me say the U. S. A.
Is good enough for me!
No ocean wave for mine, Cap,
With crested, curling ridge . . .
I herewith state I'm gonter wait
Until they build a bridge!

YOU'RE EXCUSED.
By Molly A. Bender.

The Professor of English Literature was in a savage mood that morning, and so when a pale faced youth cautiously opened the door a few minutes after class was called he pounded the desk and leaped angrily to his feet.

"Ah, ha!" he shouted. "Late to class, eh? What's your name, sir!"

"Jones," said the pale youth, meekly. "Harry Jones."

"What do you mean by coming in ten minutes late!" leered the professor. "You're a numskull—I can see it sticking out all over you! Give me the first six lines of Pope's Essay on Criticism! What! You can't? Why, you idiot! When was Thomas Carlyle born? Eh? You don't know?"

"No sir," stammered his victim.

The professor made a wry face at his class, then continued his attack.

"Who was Sir Walter Scott? Eh? Why the fellow doesn't even know that! What do you mean by coming in here like this, Jones? What do you mean? Speak out, Jones, before I kick you out! Tell the class—speak loud!"

"Well, if you really want to know—I'm not a student. I don't go to school here. But my father owns the flat where you live and he sent me here to tell you that if you don't pay the rent by tomorrow he's going to throw your dirty collars out on the sidewalk!"

I get in a vile temper and stride along while I snap something about her keeping up. It gives me a great opportunity to reflect on the incapabilities of women in general. FIVE HURT IN CRASH.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 16.(AP)—Five persons were injured, one fatally, Thursday when a truck with eight passengers, all of San Antonio, headed for the cotton fields of north Texas and a large automobile, occupied by a man and a woman, collided on the Austin road, 21 miles north of San Antonio. Marcus Flores, 10, died several hours after the crash. Both of his legs were mangled and crushed and he died from the loss of blood, according to officers.

The injured consisted of members of his family.

Phils Pull Style Show Of Pitchers As Card Salvo Captures Double Header

Hornsby Crew Sets Season Record By 28-3 Victory and Ties Reds at League Top.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.(AP)—The Cardinals took two games from the Phillies today and went into a tie with Cincinnati in the hot National league pennant race.

The Cards smothered the Phillies in the first game, 23 to 3 and took the second game in easy fashion by the score of 10 to 2. St. Louis' 23 runs is the season's record in the senior league. The previous record for the season was made by Cincinnati, 21 runs, also against the Philadelphia team August 11.

The first game was poorly played and the second was little better. The only pleasure the fans appeared to get out of the double header was a dispute between members of the Philadelphia team and Umpire Klem in the sixth inning of the game. Catcher Wilson was put out of the game for making a protest to Klem and in the argument that followed Manager Fletcher was also sent from the bench.

"Catfish Klem."

Then a yellow sign bearing the words "catfish Klem" was hung from a window of the clubhouse and Umpire Klem held up the game until it was removed. Who hung the sign there could not be learned by the umpire.

There was an attendance of about 8,000 and many in the crowd jeered as the Philly pitchers were sent from the mound one after another in the first contest. Six hurlers were used in the first game. It became a rout in the third inning when the pennant chasing Cardinals scored 12 runs. Knight, Kelly, Baecht and Pierce were batted from the box.

Rhem Starts.

Rambo retired the side finally and stuck it out until the sixth inning when Taber went in and finished the game. He yielded two runs in the ninth inning. Rhem pitched for the Cardinals and was relieved in the fifth only because his team was well in front and Manager Hornsby deemed it wise to have his star twirler, Herman Bell, who replaced him, gave up only one hit, a single by Huber who pinched hit in the ninth. The Cards made 22 hits and the Phillies used 22 men.

The second game was listless. Clarence Mitchell held the visitors fairly well for five innings, but was knocked out in the sixth when Pierce finished the game. Reinhart held the Phillies safe all the way while the Cardinals were piling up 10 runs.

S. M. U. BACKS ARE PLENTIFUL

Mustang Coach Has An Abundance of Good Material

DALLAS, Sept. 16.(AP)—The chances for any of the younger Mustang backs doing more than relief duty this coming football season seem exceedingly light. Coach Ray Morrison of S. M. U. has 18 candidates for back field but the first string quartet will be made up of four letter men the coming season, if practice sessions so far this year may be taken as a criterion.

It is almost certain that the first string backfield will be made up of Mann, quarter; Cortemeglia, and Craig, halves, and Wade, fullback. Mann will do the passing and Cortemeglia will do the punting.

Will Have Subs.

This means that W. C. Lynch, Redman Hume, Ross Love, Sammy Reed, William Campbell and Patt Knieff will be substitutes. Lynch and Hume were sensational high school stars in 1924 and newspaper critics have been boosting them for regular places on the Mustang team for the coming season. Of the new back field material, Patt Knieff, 165-pound halfback from Wesley college, is considere dthe outstanding prospect. Qnieff has more drive than any other back on the team and in the first scrimmage of the year against the varsity aggregation ripped off 20 yards for a touchdown, the only one made during the scrimmage.

Bud Brown, 200-pound tackle, injured his shoulder with a tackle Tuesday and will do only light work this week. Brown is an all-city man from Forest high and is considered an outstanding candidate for tackle. The rest of the Mustang squad is in good condition, with only minor injuries here and there.

BRAVES WIN FIFTH

BOSTON, Sept. 16.(AP) — Boston stretched its winning streak to five straight games today by defeating Chicago, 4 to 1 in a smoothly played game. Bobby Smith pitched well for the Braves and until the final inning was in little danger. A fast double play killed off a threatened rally by the visitors. The Cubs raised their double play total to 170. The league record is 173 made by Philadelphia two years ago.

Monty Takes Up Work at Rockdale

Coach T. V. "Monty" Montgomery, for several years director of athletics at Wichita Falls Junior high school and well known in local sport circles, will be missed this year. Monty decided to try the school administration field and secured the superintendency of the Rockdale public schools.

Manty, a former Tarleton all-round athlete, made a good name for the teams of Junior high and was well liked. He was also muchc in demand in local city league basket ball tournaments.

Succeeding Montgomery in the coaching of Junior high teams are J. L. Golden of West Texas Teachers college and H. E. Lewis of North Texas Teachers college. When the new Polk street junior high is completed one of these men will be in charge of that institution and one in charge of the Broad street school.

MAROONS WORK STEADILY

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.(AP)—Rain failed to halt the Maroons in the regular workout Thursday afternoon. Kit Carson took his youngsters over to the dry end of the field and put them through the regular paces, just as if jupiter pluvius had not smiled on Austin.

The workout, however, was of a lighter nature because the soggy field materially slowed up the Austin high team and hemmed them into a small territory in which scrimmage on a large scale was impossible.

NO LOTTERY PLAY HERE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16(AP)—The proppsed plan of President Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals for distributing the St. Louis world's series tickets does not appear to constitute a lottery within the meaning of the penal code, it was decided Thursday by Solicitor Horace J. Donnelly of the postoffice department.

ROBINS NOSE PIRATES

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Robins found their first worm in six days, defeating Pittsburgh today 2 to 1, after their loss of five straight games to Cincinnati. The game was a duel all the way through decided by two timely clouts by Mariott, Brooklyn third sacker. The Pirates made their one and only bid for honors in the first inning when Cuyler stole second after forcing Waner, reached third on a wild throw by O'Neil and crossed on Wright's single. Brooklyn tied it in the fourth on Mariott's triple driving in Herman. The winning tally was scored in the 8th when Mariott again hit driving in Felix. Jess Barnes kept Pittsburgh's six hits scattered. Meadows went the full distance for the Pirates. The buccaneers lost a run when Wright's long drive to center was adjudged a three bagger. He had crossed the plate before the ball could be extricated from beneath a tarpaulin by the fence and was ordered back to third. Two had been retired when Rhyne grounded out.

Longhorns Train Lightly Thursday

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.(AP)—Heavy rainfall Thursday morning routed the Texas Longhorns from their regular training field at the Texas memorial stadium to historic old Clark field for their two daily workouts. Officials and coaches were afraid that the practices would tear up the turf to such an extent that it might slow up the initial game of the season, that the Texas team has with the Oklahoma State Teachers college September 25.

Doc Stewart was content to let his men go through a light workout today without scrimmage, as the Longhorns got a full hour of the rough stuff in Wednesday's practice. The workout Thursday consisted chiefly of tackling practices, hitting the blocking dummy and pass receiving and blocking. The linemen were drilled by Wild Will James in the art of charging and blocking.

Ed Olle, letterman at end last season, joined the team and took a full workout with the rest of the boys. He was attired in full uniform. Olle has been playing baseball during the summer and his delay was caused by a late season game.

HOGS BOWL ALONG MERRILY.

Largest Attendance of Season Expected at T. C. U. Game.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 16. (AP)—Without a week left for practice before the season's opening game, the Arkansas Razorbacks are bowling along at a merry clip in their preparation for a gruelling football season. More than 30 aspirants for varsity berths report twice daily for the hour sessions.

The Homecoming day contest with Texas Christian university here will bring the highest admission price of the season in the revised ticket sales scheme. The general admission will be charged with 50 cents extra for reserved seats.

NO FIRST TEAM AT RICE.

HOUSTON, Sept. 16. (AP)—Rice institute will have no first team this fall, it has been indicated by the Owls coaching staff. With slightly more than 40 candidates, competing for places on the institute eleven, and with practically every player a potential letter man for the season, Coach John W. Heisman does not intend discriminating.

Rather than having the men work for places on a "first team," the candidates will toil every day in the week in the hope of gaining enough "credits" to besent into conflict with opposing elevens. Heisman has divided his players into three groups, picked at random, and football warriors from each section will be used in the games.

NET STARS TO START.

HOUSTON, Sept. 16. (AP)—Basketball practice at Rice institute next Tuesday, Coach Franklin B. Ashcraft announced Thursday. The Owl cagers will be put through three practices a week until football season closes, after which the squad will start in earnest on a rigorous program of practice.

Ashcraft will have a fairly large crew of men to work with during the fall months. Prospects of his taking the Owls out of the cage cellar are bright.

Richard "Urch" Morris, Portland, Ore., is captain of the team.

Athletic youth, the glorious physical equipment that can be depended upon to bear up under titantic demands—does it still remain with Jack Dempsey? That is the question which tinctures the coming championship engagement with the flavor of uncertainty that must characterize every genuine heavyweight titular contest. Odds are being quoted at three to one that the champion retains his title. With the Dempsey of old for a known fact they would be ten to one, and with few takers.

Tunney's arenic abilities are familiar to all. Dempsey, though champion, and a once mighty one at that, is the mystery. That sounds queer, but 'tis true. Jack is thirty-one, and has been fistically idle for three years. That is the explanation, and it is as simple as it is convincing.

The mystery of the present-day Dempsey's fighting qualities will remain insoluble until the combatants swing into the fray in Philadelphia a few weeks hence. Though Dempsey will perform daily in his training camp, banging his sparring partners about, testing his "wind"s on the road, and otherwise endeavoring to reveal his fitness, the dyed-in-the-wool skeptics will remain unconvinced. They understand that no infallible "line" may be obtained on his competitive condition in such performances. Battles are not won in the gym, but in the ring. The sparring partner is a poor imitation, generally, of the opponent. Miles of road work do not sap a man's stamina as do a few well driven punches to the ribs. A boxer's condition in the training camp is often a magnificent falsehood. They are living examples of Shakespeare's line—"A goodly apple rotten at the heart; O, what a goodly outside falsehood hath!"

Dempsey, already appears goodly on the outside. He may, like the bard's famous pippen, be unsound inside. That is the puzzle the keen dopesters are working on, but there are no X-rays at hand to illuminate their searching. They'll have to wait for ringing, whether or not they know it. They'll have to wait for ringtime, whether or not they know it. They'll never find the answer in Dempsey's camp at Atlantic City.

DEMPSEY AND SULLIVAN

The deductions of the training camp grind are deceiving, as past performances show. But here is a "lead" of a different nature, which may shed some light on Dempsey's chances of displaying his old-time form. Every think of comparing his career and fighting style with that of John L. Sullivan? Perhaps it's worth a snatch of consideration. At any rate it's rather interesting.

Old-timers will tell you that Dempsey not only fights like Sullivan, but that he bears a striking resemblance to the Boston Strong Boy when the latter was enjoying his palmy days. Dempsey, as did Sullivan, depends on a cyclonic style, with quick finishes a specialty. Sullivan relied on his wonderful strength, his catlike speed, his crushing punch and the ferocity of the berserker. Once his athletic youth had departed, the stamina that supported his diabolical attack, John L. was no more. So it will be with Dempsey.

Here is the nub of the yarn. Take it as a "tip" if it tickles you:—

Dempsey is 31. Sullivan at the same age fought one of his best battles, a desperate 75-round engagement with Jake Kilrain, in which John L. won by a knockout. He had been out of the ring about a year and a half at the time. During that spell he lived riotously, as was his wont. Dempsey has been idle three years, and has taken comparatively excellent care of himself. That more than evens up the case for Jack Dempsey, it would seem.

If you think that Dempsey is at least the equal, physically of John L. Sullivan at the latter's best, and that Kilrain was as formidable then as Tunney is now, then you must have a pretty good hunch Dempsey will win.

At any rate, that "dope" on Dempsey is as reliable as any you'll glean from his training camp.

There are those who think. Tunney will be somewhat rattled at the prospect of encountering the great Dempsey face to face. That is possible, though there is no evidence of such terrors in Tunney's demeanor at his camp.

THE PART FEAR PLAYS

Joe Grim, the once famous Italian fighter, won many a battle simply for the reason that he did not know what stage fright was. He was willing to tackle anybody, no matter what weight he was or what reputation he had. When Grim challenged Jeffries, a man twice his weight, he did so in all seriousness, even after some one had pointed out that a blow from Jeffries might kill him. Grim was not afraid of anything that walked on two legs, and while he was not much of a fighter, he won many a battle on his nerve alone.

Terry McGovern, for many a day the lightweight champion, won most of his battles on his pluck and nerve. In fact, after Terry became well known as a pugilist, he did not have much trouble in vanquishing his adversaries. Long before he rose to the top of his division his powers as a puncher became known. Some of those who faced him realized what their fate would be if Terry got home just one blow. So this fact almost frightened them out of their wits, and when they left their chairs to start to fight they were scared almost to death. Most of them, although they were skilled and heavy punchers, forgot all that they ever knew about fighting and were easy.

John L. Sullivan was a pugilist who, in his time, never knew what stage fright was. Sullivan never quaked before anything that walked, and he defeated most of his opponents by instilling fear before entering the ring. His very name at one time made prospective rivals cower, and when they went into the ring he had them licked. A former backer of the ex-champion said that all Sullivan had to do in a fight was to look at his antagonist to make him shiver. Of course, in his day he was a great fighter, but his way of making his opponents fear him added considerably to his success.

Dempsey is like that.

Handsome Trophy For Texas Winner

GALVESTON, Sept. 16.(AP)—A handsome silver loving cup will be presented to the team winning the state amateur baseball championship in a series to be played here Saturday and Sunday between the McFadden compress team of Galveston, and the Victory-Wilson team of Dallas. The trophy is being given by Clark W. Thompson and Edward A. Sims, both Galveston business men and will be known as Thompson-Sims trophy.

The trophy will be given under the auspices of the Texas amateur athletic federation and to become the permanent possession of a city must be won three times.

This marks the first time that a trophy has been offered for the winner of the state amateur baseball championship and was put up at the suggestion of Koger Stokes of San Antonio, president of the state federation.

AGGIES SCRIMMAGE

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 16. (AP)—The Aggie varsity football squad was put through the first scrimmage of the training season on Kyle field Thursday afternoon. The first quota of 60 freshmen players were given their second workout Thursday. Saturday the freshmen squad will be augmented by 40 additional men, making a total freshman squad of 100 men. While Head Coach Bible and Line Coach Rothgeb directed the scrimmage practice of the varsity squad, Freshman Coach Bender and his associates, McIntosh, Anderson and Eitt put the freshmen through their paces.

WACO HIGH STARTS

WACO, Sept. 16.(AP)—With 116 prospects reporting to Coaches Tyson and Bernhauser daily at the Waco high school field, the prospects of a powerful team this year are rosy indeed. The backfield, which will start the opening game next Friday will probably be Rex Kathcart, captain and duarter back; Weldon Mason and Claude Meadows, halves, and Flournoy or Meroney, full back. The line is still a problem as Tyson has only two veterans, Boyd and Winton, back this year. The Tigers open the season against Belton high, Friday, September 24. Mason is getting off some very good passes in practice against the cannon fodder.

CINCY GRABS 8TH STRAIGHT

Donohue Bests Barnes In Brilliant Box Duel, 3 to 0

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds kept in the van today in the dash for the pennant by stretching their winning streak to eight in a row in a shutout of the New York Giants, 3 to 0. The game was a brilliant pitching duel in which Pete Donohue, Red hurler, conceded only four hits, while his mates nicked Virgil Barnes for six scattered ones. Cincinnati's leadership in the league was shared with the St. Louis Cardinals, who took two in a double header from Philadelphia. It was the Reds' second win against the Giants at the Polo grounds this year. Hendricks' men performed in impeciable style, committing no errors, but two Giant mistakes, one in the first and another in the fourth, accounted for scores. Cincinnati started it in the first when Christensen rolled a slow one down the third base line. Lindstrom threw high to Kelly and Christensen went to second, he scored on a single by Walker. Frisch, of the Giants, held up the game in the fourth when he was knocked out in a collision with Terry over Dressen's long one. He recovered and returned to his post after Dressen had taken two bases. Critz and Hargrave were given free passage by Barnes, filling the bases. Ford then poled a single into left, driving in Dressen and Critz for the final tallies of the game.

Coyotes Material Looks Strong But Coach Has Real Task Before Him

With Only Five Veterans Back Squad Is Pretty Green on Eve of Walters Game.

Coyote activities took another big jump Thursday when the squad was divided into two groups, with Coach Bud McCallum in charge of one and his brother, Brown McCallum, bossing the other, for some real intensive drill on top of the conditioning that has been the chief number on the program thus far.

With a squad of near 40 candidates, many with plenty of weight and speed, material looks exceptionally good. Scrimmage Wednesday and Thursday revealed, however, that the chief quality of the bunch is greenness about pigskin tricks. The small sprinkling of old men was not sufficient to make things head the right way, and Bud realized that he faced a tremendous task to line up enough skill and power to take care of the strong Walters eleven which is to be entertained on the college field here Saturday afternoon.

But five letter men of the Red and Black of 1925 have reported thus far, including Wilkes Dobson, tackle; Hunky Ray, guard and kicker; Walter Pinney, center; Jewel Sisk, end, and Coyal Francis, halfback and captain. Among the new men who are showing up well may be counted Perk Ray of basketball fame, who is a classy half; Ballard, big three-letter tackle from Arkansas; Mills, from last year's basketball squad, who, though inexperienced in football, is a hard-working 180-pounder with enough speed to burn up the field; Allred, back, and Holstein, 220-pound tackle from two years ago. New men are coming in practically every day from other sections of the state, leaving no lack in material.

Captain Francis drew the first mark on the injury list with a slight bruise Tuesday that will, however, probably not keep him out of a chance to direct his team against the Oklahomans Saturday.

Texas Athletic Awards Made

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.(AP)—At the first meeting of the University of Texas athletic council this season, scholarship awards were decided upon and student managers of baseball and track for the incoming season were elected.

Since Ed Gossett, president of the Texas student body had not appointed the new members of the council, the old student members served at the meeting along with the new faculty and alumni members.

A silver scholarship award was given Hugh Dunley for making the highest grades on the freshman tennis squad. A gold award was given Ed Mather for making the highest grades on the varsity tennis squad. Both these men made straight A's through the entire season.

Reid Westmoreland was elected student manager of the 1927 track team. J. R. McMurray was elected student manager of baseball for the 1928 season.

Burk May Be First Opponent for Tribe

Junior college Indian gridsters will be given another week of conditioning before being put through the paces of regular competition. Coach Ludgate is doing quite a bit of angling for opposition to be furnished the Tribe before the conference season opens.

Ludgate stated that a game with Burkburnett, Ludgate's former post, is under consideration to begin the practice season. Burk had a first-rate team the past year and is expected to have a better one the coming round. The oil-town lads this year are coached by Howard Eaton, quarter for the famous four horsemen of Notre Dame of 1922. Accordingly the Maroon and Gold mentor is expecting a good test for the local lads if the game is played.

Signal drill in vigorous quantity was introduced into the Indian practice yesterday, two teams being kept in the traces at a fast clip. Candidates are rounding into form so that it should soon be possible to venture some guessing at prospects.

Cleveland Boots Yanks In Both Games of Twin Bill, 2 to 1 and 5 to 0

Levsen Outpitches Reuther in Opener and Buckeye Holds Hugmen to Two Hits in Second.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16.(AP)—Cleveland cut New York's lead to four and a half games today by downing the Yankees in a double bill, 2 to 1, and 5 to 0. In the first game Levsen outpitched Reuther and won his own game with a single in the ninth. Buckeye held New York to two hits in the second game and although he passed 10 batters and hit another he was effective with men on bases, New York having 12 men left. Ruth was passed twice in the first game and four times in the second. Although Levsen and Ruether each passed five men in the first game each was sufficiently effective to neutralize his lack of control. Levsen in fact allowed but two hits and the only score off him was the result of a wild throw by Spurgeon to the Cleveland dugout, in an effort to complete a double play. That was in the sixth inning of the first game when Gehrig doubled and Ruth walked with one out and Gehrig scored on the error when Meusel forced Ruth. Cleveland scored its first run on a pass to Summa and a double by Lutzke in the second inning. With the score tied in the last half of the ninth, Autry, catching for Cleveland, because L. Sewell, the regular receiver, got a damaged hand, led off with a single. Lutzke sacrificed and Myatt, running for Autry scored when Levsen proceeded to win his own game with a single to center. In the second game Pennock allowed but one Indian to reach first in the first six innings but in the seventh round the Indians punched hits off him and drove him from the box. Spurgeon led off with a single. Speaker followed with a double. A wild pitch scored Spurgeon and sent Speaker to third, when he scored on Burns' single to center. Burns took second on a passed ball and scored on J. Sewell's single to right. Summa sacrificed and Autry passed. Pennock threw wide to third in an effort to head off Sewell and the latter scored. In came Myles Thomas to replace Pennock. Lutzke greeted the relief hurler with a double and Autry scored.

MACKS WIN AND LOSE

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Philadelphia and St. Louis divided a double header here today the Browns taking the first 1 to 0, and the Athletics the second 5 to 1. The Browns got only four hits in the first contest, but Sisler's triple in the 6th, followed by Scang's single, gave them one run which was enough to win. The Athletics pounded Ballou for twelve hits in the first eight innings of the second game. Poole hit a homer with one on in the 6th. Philadelphia made a triple play in the first inning, Gray to Wamby to Poole.

ORLEANS GETS DIXIE OPENER

First Game Will Be Played September 22 In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16.(AP) The first game of the Dixie series between Dallas of the Texas league and New Orleans of the Southern association will be played in New Orleans Wednesday, September 22. This was agreed upon late today at a conference of officials of both clubs. President Martin of the association and President J. Doak Roberts of the Texas league.

New Orleans clinched the Southern association pennant today by winning from Birmingham. The schedule for the series will be: September 22 and 23 at New Orleans.

September 24, travel.

September 25, 26 and 27 at Dallas.

September 28, travel.

September 29 at New Orleans.

Should a seventh game be necessary, a coin will be tossed to decide where it will be played.

Admission prices at both Dallas and New Orleans will be box seats $2.75; reserved seats, $2.20; grand stand, $1.65; bleachers and standing room tickets, $1.10; children under 14, 75c.

Umpires selected are Hunter B. Hill and Henry N. Fanning of the Texas league and William Brennan and Bick Campbell of the Southern loop.

In order to be eligible for the series, players must have been on the roster of their club for a month before the close of the season.

SENATORS TAKE TWO

DETROIT, Sept. 16.(AP)—Washington took two games from Detroit today in the second of two consecutive double headers bringing the series for the two days to three won and one lost. The Senators took the first game 3 to 2, when Stoner weakened in the seventh and won the second 5 to 4 by getting to George Dauss with three hits in the eighth.

BOB-OUIMET BATTLE TODAY

Atlanta Marvel Continues His March Toward Third Crown

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 16. (AP)—Bobby Jones carried on today through another bitterly fought deal to triumph over stout-hearted Chick Evans of Chicago in the drive toward his third successive national amateur golf championship 3 and 2 in a 34-hole struggle.

Jones and Evans finished their gripping battle just behind another bitterly fought match in which another veteran, Francis Ouimet of Boston, with a sensational finish, shook off the pursuit of Frederick J. Wright, Jr., Massachusetts state champion, to win at 5 and 3.

The verdict brought the bespectacled Boston star abreast of Jones, and tomorrow they oppose each other. It will be their third meeting in the semi-final round in recent years with honors even. In 1920 Ouimet defeated Jones while four years later Bobby came back and crushed Francis by a one-sided score.

The other match of the semi-finals tomorrow will bring together George Con Elm of Los Angeles, finalist two years ago against Jones and George Dawson of Chicago, former Illinois university star. Von Elm today overwhelmed Bobby's Atlanta pal, Watts Gun 8 and 1, while Dawson triumphed against Eddie Held of St. Louis, 2 and 1.

STEERS 3; CANNIBALS 2

M'KINNEY, Sept. 16. (AP) With difficulty, the Dallas Steers defeated Longview Cannibals here Thursday by the score of 3 to 2. It took 10 innings to subdue the Cannibals.

Cox, 20-year-old McKinney high school pitcher, dazzled the slugging Texas league champions with his curves, and in the eighth inning, with the score 2 to 0 against him, he hit a homer over left field fence with Stagner on base. This tied the score and forced the herd to a 10-inning rally.

T. C. U. FROSH OUT.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 16.(AP) Fifty freshmen are expected to report to Dutch Meyer, freshman coach at T. C. U. tomorrow afternoon when equipment for the fish football squad will be handed out. The first workout for the Meyer squad will be Saturday.

The first year squad of the Horned Frog institution will contain some promising material. There are two boys from Graham, Adkins and Moore, who won laurels in high school circles last season by their kicking ability. Adkins is a place kicker, Moore a punter, and both were rated among the best nl the interscholastic league.

THE 16TH ROW.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. Sept. 16. —Dad Dempsey will be in the 16th row when son Jack begins to fight at 8:30 p. m., standard time, a week from tonight. That is as near front as Jack could buy. Mrs. Jack presumably will extend her good wishes the eve of the fight in the champion's nightly phone call to Los Angeles.

SNOW IN MONTANA

First Fall of Year Recorded In Three Cities.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 16. (AP) Snow fell in three Montana cities today as the first touches of winter in the treasure state.

A light mantel of snow overlaid Mount Helena at the outskirts of this city while both Great Falls and Havre reported an inch of the flaky stuff.

PORTS BUILD WISELY

Committeemen Say Ports Handle Their Money Well.

GALVESTON, Sept. 16. (AP) Texas ports, destined to grow rapidly within the next 10 or 15 years, have used federal appropriations wisely and have built far beyond the general conception congress has had of these parts, members of the rivers and harbors committee declared on their inspection of the Galveston port today.

The committeemen, here after attending the Corpus Christi port opening celebration, inspected the Galveston harbor and port facilities during the afternoon, leaving tonight for Houston. They will go to Beaumont Friday, it was announced.

ILL LUCK AGAIN

Sikorsky Plane Unable to Leave for Flight.

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 16. (AP)—Ill luck which has shadowed the Sikorsky biplane S-35 in several guises, has caused another postponement of its scheduled hop-off on the projected non-stop flight from New York to Paris.

After a leak in one of the gasoline tanks had caused a last minute postponement of the hop-off this morning the date for departure was re-set for tomorrow morning only to be postponed a few hours later when government weather reports were received telling of threatening storm conditions over the Grandbanks off New Foundland.

MAIL PLANE WRECKED

OTTAWA, Ills., Sept. 16.(AP) C. L. Lindbergh, pilot of the St. Louis-Chicago air mail plane, kept from landing at Chicago tonight by a heavy fog, dropped from his plane by parachute safely here tonight. His plane was wrecked.

He Pays Tribute To a Real "Flower" By Wearing as Bouquet

AUSTIN, Sept. 16.—The cotton boll is the imperial flower of Texas, so far as Representative James Finlay of Lampasas county, is concerned.

While thoughts of the legislators run to symbolism and to emblems, and Representative J. H. Boggs of San Angelo wears his gold-and-enamel star, the badge of the new legislative fraternity-to-be, Mr. Finlay pays tribute to the glistening crown of King Cotton.

In the legislature Thursday Representative Finlay appeared wearing a fully-opened boll of cotton in his lapel.

Yaqui Jose Slams It On Romonoff Decisively By Grabbing Straight Falls

Russian Injured by Flying Mare and Not Able to Do Much on Comeback; Kopecky Wins.

Wrestling in Wichita Falls is at a standstill.

Yaqui Joe has beat all-comers, so now there's nobody to match him with.

The Sonora Indian downed the veteran Billy Romonoff in straight falls last night at the Eleventh and Ohio arena.

He outspeeded the Blonde Russian and outguessed him, but won the match in surprising manner.

The two had mixed it freely in what, judging by the roars of the fair-sized crowd present, was the most pleasing exhibition of the past several months when Romonoff worked the Indian into a damaging leg split. The punishing hold lasted 60 seconds or so with Joe finally rolling out merely to be caught in a series of headlocks that seemed destined to bring his downfall quickly and decisively. Redskin, seemingly groggy and almost out on his feet, suddenly lurched sideways when Romonoff made a leap to apply what surely would have been the finishing skull crusher, grabbed an arm with a lightning movement and flipped his pale-skinned adversary heavily to the mat with a flying mare. The wrestlers came to their feet, Romonoff a bit the worse for wear. Three consecutive reverse flying headlocks were tagged on by Yaqui in rapid order, the last bringing the fall. First honors had been won in 43 minutes flat, and Romonoff had injured a couple of ribs.

On the comeback the Russian was not his usual self but appeared several times about to turn defeat into victory. However, the Indian won the second fall in 12 minutes with a crotch and head hold converted into a body slam.

Joe Kopecky beat Kala Pasha two falls in three of a comparatively interesting melee. Kopecky took the first fall in 21 minutes with a Japanese toe hold and hammer lock.

The Turk balanced accounts in eight minutes with a reverse crab hold that put a momentary kink in Kopecky's spinal calumn. Kopecky came back to win in 17 minutes with a hammer lock and toe hold.

They Understand

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16. (AP)—Agriculture department officials have been puzzled for some time over the wide demand for the 1904 agriculture year book. Close inquiry disclosed that the book contained a number of recipes with illustrations for making clarets, burgundies and other red and white wines. Officials now understand.

Both Bills Lose Out

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 16. (AP)—The downfall of "Big Bill" Tilden, six times champion, today at the hands of Henri Cochcet of France, in the quarter finals of the national tennis title tournament was followed by the defeat of "Little Bill" Johnston by Jean Borotra, another French star.

Both of America's famous Davis cup stars were victims of sensational five set reverses.

Tilden was put out of the running for his seventh straight title by scores og 6-8, 6-1, 6-3, 1-6, 8-6, while Johnston lost to a startling come back of "bounding Basque" at 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

The smashing upsets left Vincent Richards as the lone American in tomorrow's semi-finals as a result of his straight set victory over Jacques Brugnon, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

HOUSE PUSHES

in 29 minutes, Carl Phinney, chief clerk, said a record for speed was set.

No opposition was shown in either house against validation.

Passes 48 Bills.

The senate passed 48 validating bills, most of them for districts in southern counties. They go to the house for consideration. Ninety-one additional bills have been reported on favorably by committees. Of the 223 validating bills introduced only three are not validation, two being for the payment of deficiencies amounting to more than $1,500,000 and the other the per diem and contingent expense bill.

The bills were declared emergencies and were voted on under suspension of the constitutional rules.

Eleven bills by Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin were the first to be passed. They were for districts one, two, three, four and five in Guadalupe county; dtsirict B in Hays county; district one, two three, four and five in Blanco county.

23 By Holbrook.

Twenty-three bills by Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston were passed. They were for districts one, and four in Chambers county; districts one and four in Bend county; districts one, two, six, seven and eight in Matagorda county; district two, four, five, six, fourteen, eight, nineteen, twenty, twenty-three, eleven, nine, ten and twenty-four in Brazoria county.

Four bills by Senator Thomas G. Pollard of Van Zandt county were passed, being for districts four, five and six in Smith county, and district four in Van Zandt county.

Bills by Senator Ben J. Berkley, for districts one in both Reeves and Uvalde counties, were passed. Four bills by Senator Archie Parr from Duval county were passed, being for districts one in Hildago, one, two and three in Zavala county.

Three bills by Senator Joe S. Smith, Fisher, for districts one, four and three of Fisher county were passed.

Two bills by John T. Bailey of DeWitt county, for districts one and three in DeWitt county, were passed.

RIVER ABOVE FLOODSTAGE

Continuation of Rains Brings Serious Situation.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.(AP)—Continuation in Indiana, Illinois and other middle western states, last night and today of the rainfall which had been a daily phenomenon in many localities since September 1, brought the Mississippi more than 10 feet above flood stages at Quincy, took one of its tributaries on an excursion over hundreds of acres of lowlands near Burlington, Iowa, and threatened Beardstown with inundation by the Illinois river.

DARBY ELECTED

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 16.(AP) Dr. John W. Darby, pastor of the Central Christian church here will head the ninth district of the Texas Christian Missionary society for the coming year.

NEW NUTRITION HEAD COMING

Miss Mary Sutherland Of Portland Expected in City Next Week

Miss Mary E. Sutherland of Portland, Ore., is expected to arrive in Wichita Falls early next week to take charge of the Red Cross nutrition work in the public schools. She succeeds Miss Beatrice Hall, nutritionist, who recently resigned to do work in a normal college in Oregon.

Miss Sutherland comes to the city highly recommended, Mrs. T. B. Smith, executive secretary of the Red Cross, said yesterday. She is a graduate of the Oregon agricultural college, Columbia university, and has done graduate work in the University of Chicago and at John Hopkins university.

She has had nutrition experience in the Oregon agricultural college at Corvallis, was former supervisor of home economics in elementary and high school at Grand Forks, N. Dak., and was extension specialist in foods and nutrition at the State college of Washington.

New Superintendent On Duty at Hospital

Miss C. R. Smith who has been superintendent of the Royal Victoria hospital at Darrie, Ontario, has taken charge of her new position as superintendent of the Wichita general hospital, it was announced yesterday. She takes the place made vacant by Miss Florence Watson who recently resigned.

Miss Smith is a graduate of the Baylor School of Nursing at Dallas, and had charge of the operating room at the Baylor hospital at Dallas for four years. She did duty over seas and also served with the Red Cross in France. Following the war she was located in Waco in charge of the Central Baptist sanitarium, and from there she went to Darrie, Ont.

Rural Schools To Have New Grades

In an effort to secure standardization of all schools of the state and to provide an incentive to the individual schools to make it the best in the county, a new system has been inaugurated whereby rural schools in Wichita county will be graded this year in accordance to a chart prepared by the state department of education, it was announced yesterday by County Superintendent Burl Bryant. A certificate of standardization will be awarded each school which receives the proper grading.

Visits to the various schools in the county will be made by Mr. Bryant in the latter part of October or in November when he will begin the grading and rating.

Each school will be given a chart so that teachers, pupils and patrons may co-operate in bringing the school to a high grading point.

CHURCH MEMBERS MEET.

Members of Floral Heights Methodist church and friends about 200 in number gathered at the church for a get-to-gether meeting Wednesday evening.

Because of bereavement in the homes of two members of the church, hymns were sung and prayers offered in place of the regular social hour. A singsong was led by Milton Johnson, and refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. T. R. Boone, president of the missionary society.

Prayers were also said for Rev. Will Hogg, evangelist who was with the church two years in revival campaigns. He recently suffered a stroke of paralysis at Ranger while in a revival.

FINNEY IS ELECTED.

Dr. L. E. Finney of Burkburnett was elected moderator of the Wichita County Baptist association in the annual meeting now in session at Iowa Park Baptist church Rev. J. T. Newman, pastor of the Iowa Park church, was elected secretary.

Rev. T. J. Furniss, pastor of the South Side Baptist church, gave the annual sermon Wednesday evening, and committees were appointed to report on the denominational work.

The speaker Thursday was Dr. F. S. Groner of Dallas, general secretary.

GEOLOGISTS IN MEETING HERE

Society Gets Acquainted With New National Manager

The problems and new work facing the American Association of Petroleum Geologists since the recent establishment of the organization's headquarters at Tulsa, were the principle topics discussed Thursday night by J. P. D. Hull, new business manager of the association, at an informal dinner at the Wichita club.

The meeting was held for the purpose of acquainting members of the North Texas Geological society, which composes the local membership in the national association, with the new business manager. Mr. Hull stressed the importance of supporting the new publication, "The Journal of Paleonthology," which is being fostered by the association. He also discussed plans under way for the accumulation of an association library and the establishment of an employment bureau for the benefit of members of the association.

"A closer co-operation of local societies with the national association will be necessary for the carrying to completion of plans now under way," Mr. Hull declared in his address.

Mr. Hull is on his way to Denver to address a joint meeting of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, American Mining congress, Western Silver Producers' association and the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. He will stop at Amarillo for a meeting with the geological society there.

School Board Is Guest of Rotarians

Members of the Wichita Falls board of education were guests of the Rotary club at noon and with three students from Junior high school who provided music, were the principles on the program at the weekly meeting at the Kemp Thursday in the noon luncheon.

Fred T. Couper, acting chairman of the boys' work committee, introduced Mrs. Hermoine Stewart Vaughn, music instructor at Junior high school, who in turn called on three boys from the school who were chosen for their ability. Paul Seeds Jr., recently of San Antonio, son of Paul Seeds, instructor of saxophone and wind instruments, played a saxophone solo with Mrs. Vaughn at the piano. Daniel Packard, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Henry Packard, played a piano solo; and Durwood Park, first violinist in the Junior high school orchestra played a violin solo, with piano accompaniment by Miss Irma Nala Voss, music supervisor in the public schools.

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of city schools made a short talk on the problem of confronting the school board.

Auto Club to Be Organized in City

Plans are rapidly being completed for the organization of an automobile club in Wichita Falls which will be maintained under the auspices of the Automobile Associations of America, and the movement was given the hearty endorsement of the chamber of commerce yesterday at a meeting of the board of directors.

Julian McFall, L. J. Bryan and Carl Waelder are promoting the club which will be open to every automobile owner in the city, and will operate along the protective plans of the A. A. A. which has gained the rank of being the most effective automobile association in the world.

Northern Farms To Exhibit Fine Cattle

Two fine herds of cattle will be exhibited at the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year from northern farms it was announced yesterday when contract was made for the showing of a herd of Hereford and a herd of Ayreshires.

D. D. VanVoorhis of Beacher, Ill., will send down twenty head of his finest Herefords to complete for the Hereford prize money which totals $1,995; and fifteen head will be shipped from the Ayreshire farm in Darlow, Kan., to compete for the $570 in prizes.

Many other exhibits in the cattle division have also been assured for the fair, including the best production in Texas and Oklahoma.

Cotton Picker Calls Come in Rapidly

Calls for cotton pickers to harvest the crop of 1926 are coming in to the Salvation Army and the Municipal Welfare board, it was announced yesterday.

Yesterday a landowner called for 75 pickers and asked that they come as quickly as possible for the cotton is ready to be gathered.

Applications may be made by calling the welfare secretary at 7645, or the Salvation Army at 6221, it was said.

VALUATIONS INCREASE.

Announcement was made Thursday by Tax Collector W. R. Hyer that total valuations of property subject to school taxes in this city amounted this year to $48,795,800, the largest total in the history of Wichita Falls.

School taxes will aggregate $487,-958, and real estate valuations $38,-058,030, and personal property valuations aggregated $10,737,770. A better record this year is expected over that of last when the tax collector's office succeeded in collecting 90 per cent of the assessed taxes for the year, Mr. Hyer stated.

HARRISON TO PITTSBURGH

The board of directors of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce authorized their general manager, Hubert M. Harrison, to attend the convention of National Associations of Commercial Organization Secretaries, at their meeting yesterday.

The convention opens at Pittsburgh, Pa., October 24, and Mr. Harrison will be on the program of speakers, having been requested to read a paper on "Five and Ten-Year Program of Work."

Scholastic Scoops

Miss Carmen Yeager, a talented pianist of the city, will entertain students, teachers and friends during the lunch hour at the Alamo school today, with piano selections while the lunch is served for the first time in the new cafeteria. The cafeteria, which is said to be one of the best in the city, has been built this summer, and is just finished for regular use. The Parent-Teachers' association will have a formal opening in the form of a reception for the teachers, parents, friends and patrons of the school Friday night, September 24.

Fifty enthusiastic girls were reported to be in attendance at the first Girl Reserve meeting of the year the the junior high annex Thirteenth and Bluff, Thursday evening. Girl Reserve songs were sung and talks were made by the sponsor, Mrs. L. A. Albritton, and the teacher-advisor, Miss Minnie Baker on the meaning of Girl Reserve work. Officers will be elected at the next meeting.

Junior college and high school students, although not as crowded as pupils in other schools, must share lockers this year, it is said. All rooms are in use and a few classes are crowded, but schedules and programs are unusually well arranged for everyone. Junior college students are expressing regret at the changing of the old "college get-together room" to a regular classroom, thus necessitating the use of the halls or campus for conferences and study.

Miss Alice Bennett, who has taught in the Wichita Falls public schools for a number of years and in the Alamo school for five years, has resigned her position in the Alamo school and will teach in the public schools of Fort Worth.

Miss Ivo Wilson, who has been connected with the Girl Reserve work in the schools here for the past year, will leave tonight for the Texas Technological college at Lubbock, Texas, where she will take up work as a student, and also as director of the student Y. W. C. A. in the college.

Divine Healing Is Stressed Here By Visiting Speaker

"Why I Believe In Divine Healing" was the subject of the message brought last night by Evangelist A. E. Davis of Wilmore, Ky., at the interdenominational revival meeting at Eighteenth and Holliday, when two hundred persons gathered to hear him.

Giving as his chief reasons for believing in divine healing, the evangelist recited example after example, not only in his life, but in that of his family and in the ministry of others of such healing, how persons were made well in answer to their prayer of faith. He called for those who believed in divine healing and had received health through their faith, and a score of hands went up in testimony. He took his text from the third and fourth chapter of Acts.

One man testified that he had been healed of a fever; another that he had been cured of rheumatism, and in a previous meeting, Mrs. Annabel Lane of Temple, stated that she had been cured of tuberculosis. Instructions were given by Evangelist Davis and showed that certain rules should be followed. He advised reading "The True Lightbearer," a pamphlet which was distributed among the audience, and to read scriptures in the Bible before giving themselves to the prayer of faith.

Interest is being shown in the meeting, and the crowds are increasing daily. Services will be held at 9:30 o'clock each morning and at 7:30 each evening.

New Sunday School To Be Organized

A get-to-gether meeting of the community in the neighborhood of Fannin school is planned for Friday night at the North Side Community house when plans for organization of a Sunday school will be perfected, it was announced Thursday by Rev. R. G. Percival, assistant pastor of Floral Heights Methodist church.

The Sunday school will be organized Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the community hall, 416 Houston, to be known as the "North Side Community Sunday School," it was said.

COUPLE WED

R. A. Gilbow of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Lovie Barton of Haskell, were married at the court house late yesterday afternoon, County Judge C. M. McFaland performing the ceremony. The groom presented a license issued by the county clerk of Haskell county.

GRACE CHURCH MAKES GAINS

Conference Reports Read At Meeting Held Thursday Night

Reports Thursday night at the fourth quarterly conference of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church indicated that a successful year has just passed and that the organization is entering a period of unusual prosperity.

The pastor's report, given by Rev. Leslie Miller showed that in the majority of departments of the church there has been an interest and increase of numbers surpossing any previous record of the church's history. There has been the largest attendance at Sunday school and the largest weekly attendance in the Sunday services. During the year there have been 70 additions to the church bringing the roll up to 420 at the present time.

Mrs. C. E. Jetter reported on the ladies aid; Mrs. O. W. Ross on the Woman's Foreign Missionary society; and Mrs. Otto Juhl on the Woman's Home Missionary society.

Budgets in Good Shape.

J. Floyd Friberg, financial secretary of the church, gave the report showing that benevolences and and the local church budget were in better condition than at any other time during the present pastorate. He also reported on the Sunday school showing that an average attendance of 223 has been maintained throughout the year, and that more than 300 have been present at various times. The present enrollment is 325.

H. L. Hunter told of the work of the board of trustees. W. L. Dalton acted as recording secretary for the conference.

Junior League.

Mrs. B. H. Davidson reported on the Junior league work, and Dr. Howard Thomison, district superintendent who presided at the conference, said that hers was the best report he heard in the entire district on Junior league work.

Dr. Thomison said this department for children was organized as well, if not better, than any other similar department in the entire conference.

The quarterly conference unanimously voted in asking the return to this city for another year the pastor, Rev. Miller, and also asked that his salary be increased.

"The spirit of the meeting was the best of any quarterly conference we have had since I have been in the pastroted," Mr. Miller said last night at the conclusion of the meeting. "Indications are that the church is entering another prosperous year."

C-C Will Aid In Entertaining Realtors

When the attorneys for various insurance companies of Texas meet with the state insurance department at Austin October 20, to present their claims for an increase in insurance key rates, they will meet with considerable opposition from various chambers of commerce and other civic organizations of northwest Texas, and principal among these will be the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Wichita Falls will not be missing in the line-up at Austin for a committee of local men will be appointed by J. C. Mytinger, president of the chamber of commerce, to attend the meeting at Austin and protest such action in behalf of the city.

Statistics recently compiled show that a total of $605,000 is spent yearly in insurance premiums in Wichita Falls alone, and should even as much as a ten per cent raise be authorized it would cost the people of Wichita Falls more than $660,000 a year.

The fire rate throughout Northwest Texas is thought to be unusually high at present figures and the greatest effort possible will be made to hold the rates to the present key.

PICKERS SUPPLIED

When the general manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce established a cotton pickers bureau at the Iowa Park office of the chamber of commerce he didn't realize the extent of business the office would develop, but a report of the activities made before the board of directors yesterday shows that hundreds of pickers have been located on jobs and dozens of farmers have been furnished pickers through the bureau.

Every day since the opening of the bureau a steady stream of pickers have been diverted to the proper parties where they have found employment, and much good have been accomplished for both the picker and the producer.

The board of directors heartily approved of the cotton pickers bureau.

MA'S POWER FELT AGAIN

Six More Recess Appointees Confirmed Thursday By Senate

AUSTIN, Sept. 16. (AP)—With the confirmation of six more recess appointees of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson by the senate in the call session of the 39th legislature, strength of the present administration was manifested Thursday.

Every appointee reported by the committee on governor's nominations had been confirmed and some opposition was open against some of them. With the six confirmed today, 38 of the governor's 167 appointees will serve out such terms as the offices have.

Those confirmed today are: Charles O. Austin, state banking commissioner; R. L. Daniels, state insurance commissioner; Turner E. Hubby, game, fish and oyster commissioner; Roy I. Tennant, member of the state board of control; Dallas J. Matthews, adjutant general and T. H. McGregor, commissioner, on interstate water conservation.

Moseley Still Coming.

The governor's nomination commission has yet to report on Hal Moseley of Dallas and John Gage of Stephenville, members of the highway commission. Around them a bitter fight is assured, as supporters of Attorney General Dan Moody, governor-nominee, have baled themselves together in an effort to out these men. It requires only 11 senators to oust an unconfirmed appointee, and if either Moseley or Cage are confirmed, it will show that the Moody followers are few in the senate. However, rumors that same trading in politics has been done, may be substantiated according to the way fickle fortune turns on the appointees.

Moseley will go out with the administration, regardless of whether he is confirmed because of the expiration of his term, but Cage would be in for more than three years more. Matthews and McGregor are to go out in January, but Tennant is appointed for six years, and although Hubby's term would not expire in January, he is not expected to remain unless reappointed.

Robert M. Lyle, unconfirmed states attorney to the court of criminal appeals, and John Cage, highway commissioner, both were seen in the senate chamber today.

After the senate adjourned the governor's nominations committee went into executive session and heard the case of W. S. More, judge of the 18th judicial district, contested by Judge Alvin Owsley. Colonel Alvin M. Ousley, of Dallas, represented his father. No report will be made until next week.

Governor Ferguson has more than 100 other appointees to submit to the senate for confirmation and but ten days from the beginning of the session in which to do it.

Ross Funeral To Be Held Friday

Funeral services for Judge Orus O. Ross, prominent local lawyer who died at his home late Wednesday evening, will be held at the home today at 2 o'clock. The body will then be sent by the Merkle Undertaking company to Pilot Point for burial. Pallbearers will be as follows: Astice: Messrs. W. S. Langford, Ewing Craggett, F. W. Fisher, P. A. Martin, E. E. Fisher and H. M. Wilson. Honorary: Messrs. Tarlton Morrow, W. F. Weeks, J. T. Montgomery, W. W. Cook, E. W. Napier, P. B. Cox, Leslie Humphries, T. R. Boone, A. H. Carrigan, Bert King, P. P. Langford, B. D. Donnell, John C. Kay, J. W. Akin, Guy Rogers and W. E. George.

Miss Sybil Hancock, daughter of Mrs. T. P. Kelm, and Miss Mary Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ferguson, will leave Sunday for Denton where they will enter the College of Industrial Arts for the fall session.

HOUSE ORDERS

contracts, which also have occasioned general criticism, and that more than 2,000 acts of executive clemency have been granted within 20 months.

James E. Ferguson, former governor, husband and advisor of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, frequently was referred to by proponents of the resolution as "the governor," or the "governor in fact." Attorney General Dan Moody, democratic gubernatorial nominee, repeatedly was eulogized by the proponents as the leader of Texas democracy and no opponent of the resolution belittled him or his accomplishments.

On the showdown, at least 25 members who had voted with Ferguson leaders in their efforts to have the investigation start immediately registered "aye."

The aye votes: Speaker Satterwhite, Acker, Alexander of Limestone, Anderson, Atkinson, Avis, Baker, Barron, Bateman, Bobbitt, Boggs, Brown, Bryant, Cade, Coffey, Conway, Coody, Covey, Cox of Navarro, Cox of Lamar, Cummings, Davis of Dallas, Deberry, Dinkle, Downs, Dunlap, Dunn of Falls, Durham, Elliott, Enderby, Fields, Finlay, Florence, Forbes, Graves, Hageman, Hall of Harris, Hall of Mitchell, Harmon, High, Hornaday, Jacks, Jordan, Kemple, King, Kinnear, Kittrell, Lane of Hamilton, Lane of Harrison, Lipscomb, Mankin, McBridge, McDonald, McFarlane, McGill Mc,Kean, Merritt, Montgomery, Moore, Nicholson, Parish, Pearce, Perdue, Petsch, Poage, Pool, Pope, Powell, Purl, Rawlins, Renfro, Rice, Rogers, Rowell, Rowland, Runge, Schleyer, Sheats, Simmons, Simpson, Sinks, Smith of Travis, Smith of Nueces, Smyth, Stell, Stevenson, Stout, Street, Teer, Thompson, Tomme, Turner, Veatch, Walker, Wallace of Freestone, Wallace of anola, Webb, Wells, Westbrook, Wester, Williams, Williamson, Woodruff, Young.

The Noes.

The noes, Albritton, Barker, Bean, Bird, Dale, Daniel, Davis, of Wood, Farrar, Fly, Gray, Hefley, Hull, Johnson, Laird, Loftin, Masterson, Maxwell, Morris, Pavlica, Shearer, Storey, Woodall.

Frank and Dielman were paired, Dielman being absent. Frank on the record his reason for voting "no," declaring if there were irregularities they had been checked immediately and not permitted to continue until the 40th meets.

Representative Harper was present, and not voting.

Those absent: Alexander of Bastrop; Blount, Bonham, Carter, Dunn of Hopkins, Foster, Irwin, Jones, Justice, Kayton, Kenyon, Low, McDougald, Sanford, Sparks, Strong, Taylor, Wade, Wilson.

A successor has not been selected to the place of H. S. McNatt who died recently and the personnel of the house is now 149. Mr. McNatt was from Fort Worth.

Norman G. Kittrell, Sr., of Houston, was largely responsible for appropriation of a specific sum. His first proposed $15,000, and when this proffered amendment was lost, he raised the amount to $25,000.

Kittrell, rated one of outstanding oratory of the house, despite his advanced years, said: "There is no more bitter opponent for the present administration than myself; but I would vote against the resolution, rather than turn loose a committe with a blanket fund.

Voted Against Jim.

"I votd against the Fergusons in the first and in the second primary of 1924. I pay no more attention to the iniquitous, damnable primary pledge than I do to the first chapter of Genesis. That so-called pledge is not binding on the conscience of any man."

He said he favored a fair, impartial probe, as he had learned from 20 years experience on the bench never to condemn without first hearing the testimony.

Representative Loftin closed for the opposition and R. L. Bobbitt of Laredo, is slated for the speakership of the 40th legislature, for the supporters of the resolution. Bobbitt was given an ovation when he took the floor, and cheered at intervals throughout his militant speech.

Loftin declared that any investigation should start immediately and that he favored an investigation, though he feared it would prove futile.

"The passage of the resolution will disrupt the membership and may hurt validation of bonds. Not one of the investigations of the past has benefitted the state.

"The supporters of the bill say there is graft. I don't believe there is any; but if corruption is rampant why wait more than 90 days for convening of the 40th to remedy conditions.

"This proposed committee could not fine for contempt. The Texas supreme court has held that libel judgments growing out of stories about investigations of a legislative committee should be affirmed and the committee would have to hold closed door hearings.

Opposes Committee.

"Intensive and extensive Travis county grand jury investigation under the able direction of the capable attorney general, came to naught. And as the grand jury failed to find indictable offenses, I am opposed to appointing a committee to do some smelling for another grand jury."

At this point, Representative H. W. Wells of Edna asked Loftin if he was aware as foreman of a Travis county grand jury that investigated the highway departmnt was placed shortly after adjournment of the body on the highway department payroll at $250 a month.

Loftin said he had not heard of th matter before, but heard that only nine members of a grand jury are needed to return an indictment.

After Loftin had declared the urgent need of remedying the financial plight of the public schools, Representative Tom Deberry asked.

$500,000 FIRE IN LOUSIANA

Two City Blocks Are Swept Away By Disastrous Blaze

HOMER, La., Sept. 16.—(AP)—Fire originating in the Planters Compress building here last night swept two city blocks, threatened to spread to nearby residence sections and caused a loss estimated at $500,000. The blaze burned furiously for two hours before being brought under control.

The compress contained about 4,000 bales of cotton, all of which was destroyed. The blaze spread to the warehouse of the Claiborne Motor company and the woodworks department of the L. & N. W. shops, both structures being destroyed. Ten box cars loaded with cotton, lumber and machinery were also destroyed.

a brief address and invited all to attend the T.-O. fair. He told the people of Wellington that their interest was Wellington's interest and Wellington's interest was likewise Wichita Falls' interetst. He paid his respects to their co-operative work and declared he knew of no other county making such strides as was Collingsworth county, due to this wholehearted co-operation.

Their Big Brother.

Judge Small in introducing Mayor Shepherd declared that Wellington looked upon Wichita Falls as its big brother and expressed his appreciation for the people of his city for the part Wichita Falls is playing in the development of the west.

Collingsworth has one of the best fairs in six years of it's history. Some of the finest farm products that have ever been shown in a west Texas fair were on exhibit. The prize winning exhibits will be grouped and brought to the T.-O. fair. The same may be said of the livestock and poultry departments. The fair was a revelation to the Wichita men. Collingsworth county has the most wonderful crops in all her history. It is expected the county cotton yield will be better than 90,000 bales. Enough feed, many farmers said, has been produced to last for three years and the farmers are profiting by experiences of the past and are storing it away for the years to come.

Go Into Oklahoma.

Leaving Texas about 3 p. m. the delegation arrived here about 4.30 o'clock. They were greeted by Secretary B. E. Davis of the chamber of commerce and Greer county fair association. City officials also extended every courtesy.

Some wonderful county exhibits are displayed here and it is expected a display will be sent from this county to the Wichita Falls shows. Never before has a delegation of Wichita Falls men been given a more wholehearted welcome than on this trip.

Mayor Shepherd classes it with the most successful trip of the kind ever made. He is given assurance everywhere that great crowds are coming from Texas and Oklahoma to the T.-O. fair.

The party was joined today by Carl Williams, head of the Swine department of the T.-O. fair and he is busy seeing the livestock exhibitors, interesting them in the Wichita exposition. Clyde Bartlett joined the party here tonight and assisting in telling Mangum about the big exposition Wichita Falls is planning.

Altus, Frederick and other places will be visited Friday, but most of the day will be spent in Frederick.

be built, that it cannot grow after it has been built, without an ever failing supply of pure water.

Waco and its people are to be congratulated. They had a problem and they have voted to solve it. It can be done. Fort Worth solved the problem. Dallas solved the problem. Wichita Falls solved the problem and the growing town that fails to solve the problem will not continue to be a growing town.

Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackaill in "Subway Sadie"

Dot Mackaill Is On At Strand Today

An ultra-smart fashion show, unsual scenes in New York's subway, a night club scene that for sheer brilliance has rerely been equaled, a sweet and simple story well told, well directed and well acted and settings that deserve unstinted praise are the outstanding features in First National's latest picture, "Subway Sadie," which opens today at the Strand theatre here.

Dorothy Mackaill, Jack Mulhall and Charles Murray are featured, and First National could not have made a better selection of players. These three are ideally cast.

"Subway Sadie" is a story about a New York working girl who meets a subway guard. They fall in love with each other. But the course of true love never does run smooth, even in pictures. The romance is called off when Sadie gets her cherished opportunity to go to Paris as buyer for her store. The marriage that had been planned is indefinitely postponed, and the subway guard is heartbroken.

But he is injured in an accident on the day Sadie is to sail. And Sadie comes to him. So they get married after all. After this comes the surprise of the picture. This we will not tell you.

This is a brilliant picture. Dorothy Mackaill was never better. She is convincing. Jack Mulhall acts the part of a subway guard naturally and well. Charles Murray is always amusing, and he was never funnier than in the role of a taxi driver in this picture.

Standing out in the highlights is the unusually smart fashion show. Another scene calling for special mention is the night club scene in which a huge silver slipper opens and reveals a group of dancing girls who stage a decidedly pleasing entertainment.

Latest News of the Markets

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.(AP)—Extreme nervousness characterized the trading in today's stock market with final quotations disclosing marked irregularity. Fears of an increase in the New York federal reserve re-discount rate which again proved to be unfounded, undoubtedly accounted for some of the early selling, but when the call money rate was lowered from 5 to 4½ per cent in the early afternoon a number of venturesome pools started bidding up their favorites, but failed to carry the rest of the market with them.

While the opinion is widely held in business and banking circles that commercial expansion, as reflected in the volume of re-discounts, has not yet reached the stage where a higher bank rate is necessary.

It is felt that the recent increase in brokers' loans may provide sufficient justification for a higher rate in the near future on the theory that it would act as a brake on extravagant speculation in securities.

General Motors regained the leadership of the market with buying influenced by unconfirmed rumors of another liberal extra cash disbursement on the stock at the next meeting. At its top price of 153¼, the stock was four points above yesterday's final quotation and allowing for the recent 50 per cent stock dividend, at a new record high figure. Most of the other motors were heavy. DuPont, which has lare General Motors holdings, touched a new record high for all time at 315½. Packing shares moved upward under the leadership of Cudahy, Wilson "A" and Wilson company prefrred all at new peak prices. Thompson's restaurants responded to reports of large current earnings by touching 50½ and was followed into new high ground by Adams Express, Union Tank Car, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Granby Copper and Collins and Aikman common and preferred.

Railroad shares continued to offer better resistance to selling pressure than the industrials.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were easy, demand sterling ruling just below $4.85 and French francs between 2.80 and 2.85 cents. Japanese yen touched another new hight at 48 9-16 cents.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.(AP)—Opening advances in the cotton market today were followed by a break which carried prices into new low ground for the movement and which appeared to be inspired by talk of increased southern hedging or optimtistic views of probable mid-month condition and crop figures. December contracts sold down from 16.67 to 16.28 and closed at 16.50, the general market closing steady at net advances of six to 13 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 19 to 26 points. Reactionary sentiment after the servere decline of the past week, was probably encouraged by relatively steady Liverpool cables. October sold up to 16.46 and January to 16.75, but the bulk of the demand appeared to have been supplied at these figures and the afternoon market turned easier.

Late weather news indicated that two of the tropical storms were no longer a threat to the crop, while it was evidently considered that the third was hardly likely to cause any serious damage even should it reach the south Atlantic coast.

Southern selling was a feature on the early afternoon break while there was reselling by early buyers and additional stop orders were uncovered as prices broke through the 16½ cent level for winter months. October sold off to 16.12 and January to 16.38 or 11 to 14 points net lower but the expected hedge selling did not develop in the last half hour and there were closing rallies of 20 to 25 points from the lowest.

A private crop estimate of 15,625,000 bales by a Memphis trade interest, probably was a factor on the etarly afternoon decline and encouraged talk of a well maintained or slightly ncreased mid-September crop indication next week.

Exports today 132,549 making 72[illegible],609 so far this season. Port receipts 53,837. U. S. port stocks 763,712 bales.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16.(AP)—The cotton market was again active today and prices fluctuated sharply. While there was a lack of definite trend in the improved technical position of the market brought about good rallies from the lower levels forced by the hammering of ring shorts and hedge selling. The presence of three separate tropical storms in southern waters while helping the rallies, had no serious influence owing to the belief among traders that none of them actually threatened the cotton country. Following an early advance of 14 to 15 points on covering, the market turned easier on the continued good weather, and outside of a slight rally around midsession prices were on the downgrade until they showed losses of 32 to 35 points from the highs. The market rallied 33 to 38 points from the lows in the afternoon and although there was a slight reaction in the late trading the close showed net gains for the day of one to 10 points.

Liverpool came in several penny points better than due and first trades here were 10 to 12 points up. Prices advanced further after the start until October traded up to 16.45, December to 16.59 and January to 16.64, or 14 to 15 points above the previous close.

The market then turned easier on good weather and hedge selling and continued to decline with a slight rally near midsession until at the lowest October touched 16.10, December 16.27 and January 16.32, or 32 to 35 points under the early highs and 18 to 20 points under the previous close. The market rallied sharply during the afternoon on covering and made new highs with October at 16.43, December at 16.60 and January at 16.65, or 33 to 38 points up from the lows, some of which recovery was lost in the final trading.

Exports for the day were heavy totalling 112,549 bales.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.(AP)—The grain market was generally higher today. Wheat scored sharp gains on continued reports of unfavorable weather conditions over the Canadian northwest and the pronounced strength in the Winnepeg market. Buying was good on the breaks but heavy profit taking sales and selling against offers brought about a reaction from the best figures of the day. The close was strong, with wheat showing a net gain of 1⅛ to 1⅝c, corn finished ⅝ to 1¼c higher, oats advanced ⅛ to 1½c and provisions varying from 10c up to 15c down.

Wet weather over part of the corn belt, coupled with the strength in wheat caused corn values to reach higher price levels. The forecast was for unsettled weather over the greater part of the belt with lower temperatures.

Oats showed pronounced strength with other grains there being a good class of buying with outside trade showing a tendency to broaden.

Provisions were firmer with hogs and grain.

Over a Million a Year To Be Saved By Industrial Gas Users Here

UPHAM MAKES C-C REPORT

Connection Mains Here To Give Cheaper Fuel At Once

Definite assurance that the Upham Gas company would be within the city limits with their pipe line was given officials of the chamber of commerce yesterday, work on the huge main being pursued as rapidly as possible and no hitch or delay of any kind expected in the future. The company is now serving patrons at Vernon, having completed their line to that city, and a continuation to Wichita Falls is well under way.

A huge saving to fuel consumers of the city will be effected by the Upham company it was disclosed by a report made to the chamber of commerce yesterday. This report was compiled in the office of the chamber of commerce and was examined and approved as accurate by three reliable engineers.

Save Over Million

The sum of $1,042,284 per year will be saved twenty-four of the larger users of fuel in the city when the Upham Company connects its line, it was shown in the report. The figures used were based on the present prices of fuel oil, which is $1.50 per barrel, and the report covers 24 of the largest users of fuel here.

The total daily gas consumption for the 24 concerns was placed at 22,000,000 cubic feet, which would amount to approximately 650,400,000 cubic feet per month, or 7,804,800,000 cubic feet per year. The estimated daily capacity for the Upham wells is 200,000,000 feet which is an ample supply for the required uses of this city, allowing for a huge increase in consumption as well.

Some of the larger users of gas are the American Refining Company with a 4,000,000 cubic feet daily capacity, the Texhoma Oil Company using 1,500,000 feet daily; the Wichita Falls Brick & Tile Company using 1,000,000 feet daily; the Wichita Falls Sash & Door Company using 1,300,000 feet daily and the Wichita Falls Electric Company, using 2,000,000 feet daily. All of these have signed up to use Upham gas under the contract offered by the company in the franchise granted them.

A Conservative Figure

Feeling that the saving of over a million dollars a year might be figured too highly, the chamber of commerce consulted three engineers well posted in this matter, and found that the engineers declared the chamber of commerce figures too conservative if anything and would have increased the amount of saving to nearly a million and a half a year. However the officials believe that this one calculation is conservative enough to be absolutely correct and is a big enough item within itself.

Scores of smaller concerns have also signed up for the gas, and they with the large consumers have run the total amount of daily consumption already signed for up to 22,030,000 cubic feet, and officials of the company point out that this amount can easily be carried through the mains without shortening the supply as the capacity of the pipeline being constructed is for 35,000,000 cubic feet per day.

Enlarge Building For Auto Show

The contract for enlarging the automobile building at the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition was awarded to the Bert Adrain Construction company by W. S. Langford, chairman of the building committee, and work has already begun on the addition. The completion of the new part will make the building one of the largest in the southwest given over to automobile exhibits.

It is said space for 125 more cars will be made by this addition. More than 30 makes of motor cars are expected to be on exhibit this year.

KATY OFFICIALS HERE

A special train bearing a number of M. K. & T. railway officials including H. E. McGee, general manager of Denison and E. E. Hanna, superintendent at Denison, stopped in Wichita Falls for an hour last night. The train is on a general inspection of the road and will continue on to the northern terminus of the line.

Financial Needs For Hatchery Bridge Soon To Be Raised In Full

Complete finances for building a bridge and repairing roads at the diversion dam, which will give access to the proposed site for the new fish hatchery and park, will soon be in the hands of the committee appointed to raise the funds, it was announced yesterday by C. E. Basham, chairman of the committee. When Turner E. Hubby approved a fish hatchery for this section, he did so on provision that the bridge be built and the road to the hatchery repaired. The chamber of commerce agreed to build the bridge and in consequence Mr. Hubby has gone ahead with plans for the hatchery. Engineers are now surveying the site and will have a report of their findings within a few days.

The cost of the bridge and gravelling of approaches was fixed at $7,500, and the committee has been collecting funds by popular subscription. More than $4,500 have already been subscribed, and the balance will probably be collected within the month, and work on the bridge will begin within a few days.

One of the underwriters of the fund was the Hoo Hoo club, which has a club house near the site. The Hoo Hoo club is composed of local lumbermen, many of whom are members of the chamber of commerce and have subscribed additional funds to the bridge as well.

Community Builder Is Off the Press

The September number of the Community Builder, official organ of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, is now in the hands of the local people and is one of the finest issues of that publication for the year.

In addition to giving full and detailed information on the Texas-Oklahoma fair, the magazines also tells about the new municipal auditorium, the fish hatchery, the cotton mill, and the latest developments in an agricultural way.

H. J. Adair, editor of the magazine, has added a new feature in the way of an editorial page. This contains some pertinent remarks about the city's development and also carries a most complimentary letter for the Builder. The chamber of commerce is to be complimented on the ever increasing quality of their official magazine.

SURVEY COMPLETED.

A comprehensive industrial survey of the city of Wichita Falls has just been completed by the chamber of commerce and was approved by the chamber of commerce and was approved by the board of directors at their regular meeting yesterday. The survey included accurate figures compiled from all data available, showing the condition and development of every institution within the city.

Wheeler County To Bring Fair Exhibit

Additional entries for the Texas-Oklahoma fair are increasing daily, the latest acquisition being that of Wheeler county, Texas, which filed their formal application for space yesterday. Individual exhibits are also coming in by the scores, and letters seeking information are still being received.

Much interest is now coming up over the concessions at the fair. Applications for concessions ranging from peanut stands to ice cream factories are being disposed of as rapidly as possible by the management.

TO ATTEND BUS HEARING

J. W. Chatham, industrial commissioner of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will attend the meeting of the interstate commerce commission at Dallas Monday when a hearing on motor bus and motor truck operations will be held, along with a number of similar hearings which will be held throughout the country.

The object is to learn more about bus traffic and to see whether it needs any regulation or not.

Mr. Chatham will represent Wichita Falls at the hearing and will be ready to give statistics on the operation of motor busses and trucks in this vicinity.

C.-C. DIRECTORS MEET.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday afternoon with President J. C. Mytinger in the chair. A large business docket was disposed of. Among the many subjects discussed were the approval of various committee reports and the authorization of a number of new projects which were brought to hand.

The business session lasted for more than three hours, and concluded with most of the standing business disposed of.

Ask Business Men To Decorate Stores

An open letter to all the business men of Wichita Falls is being mailed out by the chamber of commerce this week, requesting them to get their building decorations ready for the Texas-Oklahoma fair, and also to have the decorations ready and up by the 28 of this month in honor of the state convention of Texas Realtors which will convene here on that day.

It is proposed to put up all the decorations for the fair by the 28, when they will do service for the realtor convention and then leave them up for the fair.

The letters are making a special appeal to everybody to decorate up to the limit for this year's celebrations, as the fair association is making unusual efforts to have a large attendance and will probably have a larger crowd than they have ever had before.

Fall Round-Up Of Church Begins In Byers Sunday

BYERS, Sept. 16.—The big fall round-up of the Methodist church of this city is scheduled for Sunday at the church, according to the pastor, Rev. T. H. Browning.

Dinner on the ground and a series of services throughout the day will be featured. The day marks the twentieth year since the church was established in the city of Byers.

Members of the Sunday schools of Byers, Benvenue and Valentine communities are invited to join in a joint session at 10 o'clock. At 11 o'clock the pastor will speak on the subject, "Rounded Up In Glory." Dinner will be served at 12:30, and will be followed by a singsong at 2:30, led by E. F. Bohmfalk of Wichita Falls. Special music by the male quartet of the First Methodist church of Wichita Falls will also be given. An old fashioned "love feast" is announced for 3:30 o'clock.

The evening service at 8 o'clock will be in charge of the pastor who will speak on "Power For Witnessing."

Big Crowd Due At Council Sessions

A large attendance of local business men is expected at the business council of the chamber of commerce today because of the fact that the developments of the Texas-Oklahoma fair program will be fully described by officials of that organization. Todays business council meeting has been completely turned over to the fair officials, and two visiting participants will be present to address the council.

W. B. Hamilton, president of the fair association will preside at the council, and will also be the principal speaker of the day. He will tell of many new improvements made at the fair grounds, and something of a number of brand new attractions which will be featured at the fair.

Hal Worth, who is staging the Pageant of Progress at the fair, will tell about his plans for this gigantic spectacle, and will also announce a part of the cast.

John T. Wortham, of the Wortham shows has been invited to be a guest at the council and will be asked to speak along the lines of the show business, and to give some of the details of the attractions the show will present here during the fair.

MAN DROPS DEAD.

The body of Manuel de Leon, 45, foreman for the Wichita Falls Traction company, who dropped dead at the home of a neighbor near his home on Flood street, is being held at the Burris-Dalton Funeral home awaiting funeral arrangements. A coroner's verdict of death by reason of an attack of acute indigestion was given by Justice of the Peace R. V. Guinn.

BIG SIGN FOR VERNON ROAD

Chamber of Commerce To Put Up "Welcome" Idea On Wilbarger Line

Authorization for the erection of a large sign across the paved high way at the Wilbarger county line was given by the board of directors of the chamber of commerce yesterday, and construction will be started within a few days. The huge sign will be in the form of a semi-circle, about 20 feet high across the road, and will bear the inscription "Welcome to Wichita County" in large letters and other information about the county in smaller letters. The sign will be constructed at a cost of $190, fifty of which will be paid by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce and fifty by the chamber of commerce at Electra.

A similar sign will be erected across the highway to Burkburnett when the new bridge across the river is finished, and possibly other valuable publicity in the way of road information will be furnished.

Civic League Asks For a Clean-Up

Wichita Falls' property owners and housewives are requested by the city officials and members of the Civic league to begin cleaning up their premises preparatory to September 20, when trash wagons will start to collect rubbish.

Circulars distributed by the Civic league request that all trash be burned that will burn and that trash be placed in cans and boxes and placed in the alley to be collected by the wagons.

Reports of neglect of property owners to Mrs. C. C. Randle, president of the league or to Mrs. W. B. Jarrell, sanitation chairman, will also be appreciated by the league, according to the announcement.

Mrs. Millington Dies Thursday At Hospital Here

Mrs. R. M. Millington, 28, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tancred of 1717 Elizabeth street, died Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in a local hospital from septic poisoning. The funeral service will be held from the Floral Heights Methodist church Friday afternoon with the pastor, Dr. S. A. Barnes, in charge. Burial will be in Riverside. Pallbearers are announced: Henry Welch, T. J. Waggoner, Jr., J. C. Penrod, J. L. Jackson, Jouette Bonner and Jack Speagle.

Mrs. Millington is survived by her husband, R. M. Millington, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tancred, two sisters, Mrs. Skeen Staley, Miss Mary Tancred and a brother, John Tancred, Jr.

She was a former teacher in the Wichita Falls high school, having taught French in 1919-20 and 1920-21. She made her home here until her marriage when she went to Mississippi and had only recently returned here.

TO ADVERTISE FAIR.

The publicity department of the chamber of commerce has been authorized to expend approximately $150 with local newspapers for display advertising welcoming visitors to the Texas-Oklahoma fair this year.

The advertising will be in the form of large space ads bidding a cordial welcome to all the visitors both in behalf of the Fair association and the city of Wichita Falls.

Insurance Boost Sought By Companies Will Be Opposed

Ample co-operation with the local real estate board was accorded yesterday by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, when the board of directors agreed to underwrite the expenses of the state convention of realtors, which will convene here September 28. The chamber of commerce agreed to stand one-fourth of the expenses of the publicity of the convention to a sum not to exceed $500, and also authorized the publicity department to decorate the town for the convention.

The local real estate board is making elaborate plans for the convention, with a four-day session which will include much pleasure and entertainment in addition to the business sessions. Several interesting golf matches and a golf tournament has been arranged. Banquets, a dance and a motor sight-seeing tour, and possibly a trip to the big lake will be included in the festivities.

More than four hundred visiting realtors from the various towns and cities of the state will be here, and this is thought to be one of the greatest opportunities to advertise Wichita Falls ever offered the city.
