Glimpse Gives Hostage Families Some Hope

Va-Room!

The fun of the holidays lingered today for Justin Hearon, five-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gray of 300 Star. The youngster was busy revving the make-believe motor of a Christmas treasure this morning before sending it spinning away with another load in an adventure limited only by the magnitude of a child's imagination. Local youngsters will have plenty of opportunity to enjoy their Christmas toys with schools out of session until Jan. 5. (Brand photos by Mauri Montgomery)

The families and friends of more than a dozen Americans held hostage in Iran got a precious present on Christmas — a brief glimpse of their loved ones alive, and apparently well — in television film taken by the Iranians.

"We were certainly glad to see her, although we certainly weren't glad she isn't here," said Elsie Koob of Jesup, Iowa, mother of hostage Kathryn Koob, who was pictured receiving communion from Papal Nuncio Anibale Bugnini.

The six-minute silent clip, made by Iranian television Thursday and shown on the three U.S. commercial TV networks and Cable News Network, was the first film of the hostages released since Easter services in April.

About 90 minutes of additional footage was to be transmitted from Iran today. The film reportedly contained holiday messages from 45 of the 52 hostages who marked their second Christmas in captivity.

In Thursday's film, 11 of the hostages were readily identifiable and an additional six could tentatively be identified. The film showed hostages being greeted by Bugnini, receiving a few presents and celebrating Mass.

Richard Hermening, the father of 21-year-old Marine Sgt. Kevin Hermening, said after seeing his son on film, "I think he's doing pretty well ... as well as can be expected for the conditions."

Hermening, of Milwaukee, said he thought his son looked good but had lost some weight and had a different hairstyle than in pictures released at Easter.

Robert Moore, an Ohio State University student, said his captive father, 45-year-old Bert Moore, "looked real good. I was very encouraged to see him."

"He looked perfectly normal to me. He looked like he'd been treated adequately well, as far as I could tell," the younger Moore said from the family's home in Mount Vernon, Ohio.

State Department officials had said earlier they believed some of the hostages may not be receiving proper medical care. There was no comment from the State Department on Thursday's film.

Those hostages who could be identified in Thursday's film were Cooke, of Memphis, Tenn.; Joseph Hall of Elyria, Ohio; Hermening; Steve Kirtley of Little Rock, Ark.; Miss Koob; Paul Lewis of Homer, Ill.; Moore; Richard Morefield of San Diego, Calif.; Charles Scott of Stone Mountain, Ga.; Elizabeth Swift of Washington, D.C.; and Phillip Ward, no hometown available.

Others were identified tentatively as William Belk of Columbia, S.C.; John Graves of Reston, Va.; Gregory A. Persinger of Seaford, Del.; Jerry Plotkin of Sherman Oaks, Calif.; Regis Ragan of Johnstown, Pa.; and Donald Sharer, no hometown available.

Firemen

Avert

Barn Damage

A quick response by Hereford Volunteer Fire Department members helped avert serious damage to a barn at the Harland Fry farm near the Easter community this morning.

According to Fire Marshal Jay Spain, an electrical service line had evidently rubbed against the side of the storage barn and ignited the wood.

The fire was smoldering when firemen were notified, and according to Spain, emergency units arrived in plenty of time to prevent the fire from growing serious.

The barn contained valuable antique items including a rowing machine and an old Caterpillar tractor.

None of the barn's contents were damaged.

Firemen were fortunate enough to enjoy a Christmas holiday devoid of alarms, according to Spain.

Iran Threatening Hostage Trials

By The Associated Press

As the U.S. hostages spent their second Christmas in captivity in what a papal envoy called good health and high spirits, Tehran Radio said the United States must either accept Iran's "logical" terms for their release, including $24 billion in cash and gold, or watch them be tried as spies.

The papal envoy to Iran, Anibale Bugnini, visited 25 to 30 of the 52 hostages Christmas morning and reported them in good health and spirits. Bugnini saw groups of the captives twice previously since their capture on Nov. 4, 1979.

In a brief report today, Tehran radio said the "52 U.S. spy hostages" also had a Christmas visit Thursday night from a group of Algerian government envoys who saw them at "their places of detention." Algeria has been acting as intermediary between Iran and the United States in negotiations on the Americans' release.

Iranian officials Thursday released to U.S. television networks a film of the visit to the hostages by Bugnini and several Iranian Christian clergymen. It was the first film of the hostages seen on American TV since Easter.

The officials promised an additional 90 minutes of film today, reportedly containing holiday messages from about 45 of the hostages to their families.

Pars, the Iranian news agency, said 49 hostages attended services at "the place of their residence," and that three others detained at the Foreign Ministry in Tehran had Christmas services later Thursday.

Iranian officials will not disclose the whereabouts of the 49 hostages, said to have been dispersed around Iran by the militants after the failed U.S. rescue mission last April.

Bugnini said he did not know where the hostages were housed because he was driven blindfolded to the five-hour meeting.

"It was very fine and very beautiful," Bugnini said.

Bugnini and Iranian Roman Catholic Archbishop of Tehran, the Rev. Youhanan Semaan Issayi, described the hostages as physically well.

Earlier this week, U.S. officials said they feared some of the Americans might be in prison and not receiving proper medical care. State Department officials refused to comment on the issue Thursday.

Two Iranian Protestant ministers whose identities were not revealed apparently met with other hostages, but that also was not disclosed by Iranian authorities and could not be confirmed by Bugnini.

Bugnini, who visited the hostages last Christmas and about a week after they were captured, said that he had been invited by Iranian authorities to take part in the service at the last minute.

Tehran Radio again raised the threat of spy trials Thursday unless the United States meets Iran's "clear, specific and complete" demands for their release.

Thefts, Vandalism Under Investigation

Hereford police investigated a number of complaints of theft and vandalism during the Christmas Eve-Christmas Day period.

Officers encountered a relatively quiet Christmas Day, however.

Police received a complaint concerning the theft of three bottles of liquor on Christmas Day from Joe Garcia of 122 La Villa.

Officers also took a 51-year-old man into protective custody here and put him for the night on Thursday.

Several thefts were reported to police on Wednesday. Mrs. E.L. Lawhan of 601 East Third reported the theft of a battery valued at $40 from her driveway.

Ralph Owens of 328 Douglas informed officers of the theft of a CB radio unit valued at $325 plus several eight-track tapes. The items were taken from Owens' vehicle while it was parked at 415 Fir.

D.R. Holt of 307 Park notified police concerning the theft of a Model 12 Winchester shotgun from his vehicle. Thieves broke the driver's window of the vehicle to gain access.

An incident of vandalism was reported to police by Manuel Vargas of 720 Stanton. He informed officers that two tires of his pickup were slashed Wednesday.

Burglars pried open a back door at Bluebonnet Laundry, 909 Union sometime Wednesday or Thursday. They opened a soap vending machine but the only thing found missing at the business was a case of soft drinks.

David Rincon of 102 Obregon reported the theft of a truck tire valued at $150.

The theft occurred at Rincon's residence sometime during the period from Monday through Wednesday.

Burglars broke into a warehouse at Barrett Plumbing on East Highway 60 Tuesday night or Wednesday. Owners have not yet determined if anything was taken in the break-in.

Police are investigating an incident of vandalism which occurred late Tuesday or Wednesday morning at Gebo's on North 25 Mile Ave. A window at the local business was broken out. No damage estimate was available from police.

Ernest Tijerina reported the theft of a pool table valued at $900 from a residence at 312 Norton on Wednesday.

Roy Defries of 701 Seminole reported the theft of a small amount of cash and change from his residence sometime during the period from Monday through Wednesday. Police have a suspect in the theft.

Officers made one arrest for DWI following a chase that ended in the Veteran's Park area on Christmas Day. Police investigated one minor traffic accident during the Christmas holiday and issued six traffic citations.

Search Continues

For Cop Killers

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Two men were in custody today and dozens of officers spread out over the frozen Texas Panhandle terrain to search for three others following the Christmas night shooting death of an Amarillo police officer.

Barry McGuire, 26, died of a gunshot wound to the head after he arrested one of several persons in a car he had stopped on a dirt road in southeast Amarillo, according to Police Capt. Herb Hill. McGuire had been an Amarillo officer since July, 1978.

Officers arrested two Dumas men, one of them still wearing McGuire's handcuffs, near the Canadian River bridge about 17 miles north of Amarillo about two hours after the shooting, police said.

The two men were in custody early today pending the filing of charges, police said.

Three others fled near the bridge and became the object of a massive manhunt early today. Potter County deputies, Texas Department of Public Safety officers and others used two helicopters and dogs as they searched a wide area near the river.

Temperatures were well below freezing as the officers, aided by lights from the helicopters, searched for traces of the men. An officer said some fresh footprints were found near the river bank.

One of the men reportedly called a relative and asked that a car be sent to the bridge to pick up some men, police said. Officers stopped the relative from bringing the car, a spokesman said.

Officers said the three men being sought were from the Dumas-Dalhart area.

Officers said McGuire was apparently shot to death after he stopped the car, argued with the occupants and arrested and handcuffed one of them. Police said McGuire called for additional officers, but he was found shot to death in a ditch when the help arrived.

Witnesses told police of the shooting and gave officers a description of the car, including a license number. The license was registered to a Dumas resident, police said.

Amarillo Police Chief Lee Spradlin, who assumed personal command of the investigation, offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the individuals involved in the shooting of the officer.

Iraq Opens Third Front

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraqi President Saddam Hussein says his nation will keep all captured Iranian territory

as its "military border with Iran ... as long as the state of war exists," and confirmed that his forces opened a third front in the 95-day-old war, striking at Iran's northwestern province of Kurdistan.

"Our forces crossed the Iranian-Iraqi international border into Kurdistan a week ago," Hussein said in a statement distributed Thursday by the official Iraqi news agency.

"Iraq's military borders with Iran have been stretched northward to the remote frontier juncture with Turkey." "Our military borders as long as the state of war exists will remain in Abadan, Ahwaz, Dezful (refinery, capital and military garrison cities respectively), Gilan Gharb and Kurdistan."

Until the invasion of Kurdistan, the battlefield stretched 300 miles north from the northern tip of the Persian Gulf and was largely unchanged during the past two months.

Hussein said he ordered the new invasion because of Iran's "intransigence" and declared he would accept no proposal of an Iraqi pullback until Iran proffered "unequivocal recognition of Iraq's full sovereignty over the Shatt al-Arab waterway."

Services Saturday For Elmer Kimball

Services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. for Elmer L. Kimball, 62, of 521 Star, in the First United Methodist Church here with Dr. Clifford Trotter, pastor of Polk Street United Methodist Church in Amarillo officiating, assisted by Rev. William McReynolds, pastor of First United Methodist Church here.

Graveside services will be held at 4:30 p.m. tomorrow at Rest Haven Memorial Park Cemetery in Lubbock. Arrangements are under the direction of Rix Funeral Home of Hereford.

Mr. Kimball, a long-time Hereford resident, died Thursday morning at 6:10 a.m. in Deaf Smith County General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Born Oct. 17, 1918 in Elk City, Okla., Mr. Kimball came to Deaf Smith County 25 years ago from Lubbock. He and his wife, Leona, were married in 1957 in Lubbock.

Mr. Kimball was in the Air Force during World War II and also the Korean conflict. He was a pilot in the 16th troop carrier squadron, the 16th troop carrier group and a pilot during the Korean War.

Mr. Kimball served on the board of the American Heart Association, was a member of Easter Lions Club, and the Methodist Men's Association at the First United Methodist Church here. Mr. Kimball was also a Sunday School teacher and farmer.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Sharon Knibbe of San Antonio; two sons, Lee Kimball and Larry Hill, both of Hereford; three sisters, Mrs. Myrl Sechrist and Mrs. Roy Harwell, both of Kilgore, Tex., and Mrs. Helen Lowe of Oklahoma City, Okla.; and five grandchildren.

Rites Tomorrow For J.C. Allred

Funeral services for J.C. Allred, 95, a pioneer resident of Deaf Smith County, will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. Doug Manning, pastor, and the Rev. Wallace Kirby, chaplain of King's Manor Nursing Home will officiate.

Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Allred died Thursday in Deaf Smith General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Coming to Deaf Smith County in 1900 by covered wagon, Mr. Allred married Della McClain in February of 1907. She preceded him in death in December of 1972.

Mr. Allred, known locally as the "clock man" came to Hereford on a cattle drive from Vernon. He worked on his father's seven sections of land south of Wildorado. In 1924 he was elected Deaf Smith County commissioner, around the time the original county hospital was built. Allred also served as deputy sheriff.

A man with many talents, and a former resident of King's Manor, Mr. Allred had resided in Amarillo for a couple of years, digging graves for Liano Cemetery.

A resident of King's Manor since 1971, Allred moved to Westgate Nursing Home around the first of June. On June 14 of this year, Mr. Allred was named as "Father of the Year" by KPAN station.

J.C. ALLRED

Born in 1885 in Fort Worth, Mr. Allred attended the Womble School, across the road from the present Palo Duro Baptist Church. He was among the 12 charter members of the Palo Duro Baptist Church in 1901. Mr. Allred was a farmer and rancher.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. D.W. Henry of Plainview; Mrs. Lottie Anderson of Hereford, and Mrs. Garland Mayo of Kent, Wash.; two sons, Cecil Allred of Amarillo, and Jimmy Allred of Hereford; a brother, R.M. Allred of Amarillo; nine grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren; and three great-great-grandchildren.

Church Forced To Lock Doors

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The Rev. John Broome was always proud that the Holy Trinity Episcopal Church kept its doors open 24 hours a day for prayer, study and meditation.

But the church is closing its doors at night these days since derelicts began sleeping in the pews and the sanctuary became a battleground for two warring gangs of transients.

"It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and they were so drunk, so out of it, they didn't even know how early it was," Broome said. "A big fight started in front of the church and, before anyone knew what was happening, they came running inside and were screaming, bleeding and chasing everyone with their broken wine bottles."

An open-door policy was in effect for decades at many of Greensboro's churches. Gradually, however, difficulties arose with transients and ministers became convinced that their churches had to be protected.

Holy Trinity was a holdout, but at a cost.

"We'd become the last remaining downtown hotel for a colony of drunks, winos and transients," Broome said. He said the interlopers slept in pews and on carpets and "couldn't even control themselves. It was unbelievable to see what they were doing to the church."

Lt. Bob Brewer, coordinator for patrols in the downtown area, said similar occurrences had forced the closings of other churches — sending the transients to Holy Trinity in droves.

"The same thing happened recently at West Market Street United Methodist Church and we met with the ministers and other church leaders in efforts to help them," said Brewer.

Cuban Refugees Celebrate Christmas

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP) — Cuban refugees at Fort Chaffee spent their first American Christmas puffing on good Cuban cigars, munching on turon cookies and guava jelly and listening to a Roman Catholic bishop celebrate Mass in Spanish.

"I wanted to be there to just tell them they weren't forgotten," said Bishop Theodore E. McKerrick of New York. McKerrick said Mass in a packed chapel on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

"The refugees...they were delighted that somebody was there," he said. "Your heart breaks for them at Christmastime."

Slightly more than 6,000 refugees remain at the relocation center in western Arkansas. The population at the base had swelled to nearly 19,000 shortly after the "Freedom Flotilla" began in April.

Along with McKerrick, there were many people remembering the refugees.

Base officials say a man dressed as Santa Claus hand-delivered more than 7,000 Christmas cards that came from all parts of the country, many from the Miami area.

$1 Million Left

To Government

ALVIN, Texas (AP) — Lee Hamlin Edwards, who felt privileged to have been born an American, never lost faith in his country. And when he died, he left the bulk of his fortune to the government.

Shortly after the first of the year, his attorneys will turn over about $1 million to the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas.

Edwards, who died at the age of 78, explained in his will that he was making the bequest as a token of his appreciation to the government.

"I count as one of my highest blessings the fact that I was privileged to have been born in the United States and to have lived a good life under the government of such a country," Edwards wrote in his will.

In the two years since his death, attorneys have been busy trying to locate Edwards' fortune — mostly royalties, stocks, government bonds and cash stored in at least 17 different banks. And the lawyers say they still aren't sure they've found it all.

Shift to Sun

Belt Encouraged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States should adopt an urban policy that not only accepts but actually encourages the current population shift from the Northeast and Midwest to the Sun Belt region, a presidential panel says.

The Washington Post said today the recommendation was contained in a new report drawn up by the President's Commission for a National Agenda for the Eighties.

The commission's report acknowledged that the new urban policy it recommends could have "traumatic consequences" for Northern cities.

However, it declared that there was "a fundamental problem" in trying to stop the decline of the nation's older metropolitan areas.

"In our view the moral and material resources of government would be better expended in planning for the future and helping people to adjust to future imperatives in ways that derive from an understanding and acceptance of change," the report said.

The panel urged programs to assist older cities in coping with financial pressures, particularly welfare costs.

Transforming older cities from manufacturing centers to ones focused on services and consumption "will require that their 'health' be defined at new, and often, lower levels of population and employment," it said.

Needy get Christmas Charity Across Nation

By DAVID GREEN
Associated Press Writer

Strangers cheered a Cleveland couple distraught over a missing child, and thousands of elderly and needy people sat down to free meals ranging from simple turkey to rabbit in champagne sauce as Americans marked Christmas with the spirit of charity.

Meanwhile, more than two dozen people died and others were forced to flee into record-breaking cold as fires raged through homes in a number of cities.

President Carter and his family spent the day in Plains, Ga. Carter gave his wife a television set, said Rosalynn Carter, because the family didn't have one in that community, where the Carters will settle next month.

In Los Angeles, President-elect Ronald Reagan celebrated Christmas at home with friends and family.

In Fort Chaffee, Ark., Cuban refugees who have been detained since arriving in the United States earlier this year were treated to a Christmas featuring Cuban cigars and traditional Cuban treats like guava jelly.

Across the nation, Americans gathered for traditional feasts and gift-giving under twinkling trees. For those without homes, there were dinners to help them mark the day.

One of the larger free dinners was held in San Francisco, where the Franciscan fathers of St. Boniface Church served turkey to 4,000 people in the seedy Tenderloin district.

The dinner attracted down-and-outers from the area, but lots of those who attended were just out of jobs or old, said Father Floyd Lotito.

"We ask no questions and give no sermons here," he said.

In Vineland, N.J., the celebration was fancier as about 100 senior citizens dined on rabbit in champagne sauce and candied fruit in brandy sauce, prepared by Mayor Patrick Fiorilli.

"We were just sitting in the office" and thinking about what senior citizens with no families do on Christmas. It must be the loneliest time of year," Fiorilli said.

At the same time, however, Christmas Day fires claimed 30 lives.

In Sioux City, Iowa, six children ranging in age from 10 months to 14 years were killed when fire engulfed their home. Their parents had left for a short time to collect presents at the house of a nearby relative. The fire may have started when a Christmas tree ignited, officials said.

In Upper Arlington, Ohio, six people died when fire swept through a two-story house. A hot fireplace chimney may have ignited floor joists, officials said. Among the victims was Carol Schoonover, 38, a former nun who was awaiting the birth of her first child.

Four members of a family were killed in a house fire in Richmond, R.I. Another house fire in Pines, Ind., also took four lives, and two people died in a Mount Pleasant, S.C., blaze.

Fatal fires were also reported in New York, where four died, and in Indianapolis, Frankfort, Ky., Portland, Maine, and Pittsburgh, Calif., blazes that claimed one life each.

In El Monte, Calif., 5-year-old Mark Herron was riding his first two-wheel bicycle, a gift of his parents, when he was struck and killed by a hit-and-run truck driver, officials said.

In Cleveland, a family in despair over the loss of a small child and distraught about a burglary were cheered by a parade of sympathetic strangers who brought them food and presents despite bitter cold.

Earl Gravely, his common-law wife, Patricia Wright and their children, Elizabeth, 7, and Connie, 5, prepared for a subdued Christmas because Denise, 3, has been missing since August. On Tuesday, a burglar ransacked their home.

But publicity about the burglary brought people to their door.

"They really made it nice for us," said Gravely, 33. "You know how bad the weather was. This has cheered us up a whole lot."

In Elizabeth, N.J., about 270 inmates at the Union County Jail received 5,000 cookies as a present from the sheriff's mother.

And in Denver, Charles Fluty, an unemployed cook, spent a quarter of his $197 monthly pension check on holiday treats and stayed up all Christmas Eve to cook dinner for 52 fellow tenants of a shabby transient hotel.

Fluty spent $50 on green beans, cranberry jelly, yams and marshmallows, marsh potatoes, stuffing, bread and tossed salad. Bill Weaver, manager of the DeWitt Hotel, put up $20 for a 24-pound turkey.

Without Fluty's charity, many of the tenants might have spent Christmas at a nearby mission or soup kitchen.

"Those are the ones I'm doing it for — the ones who can't afford to go out," Fluty said.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth; a son, Kenneth DeHart of Hereford; a brother, E.M. DeHart of Dublin; a sister, Mrs. Ada Blackstone of Dallas, and three grandchildren.

The family requests that memorials be made to the American Lung Association.

Texas Briefs

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — The city of Grand Prairie has created a finance corporation to issue tax-exempt bonds to finance a 350-unit apartment complex in the Dallas suburb.

Money from the corporation's $16 million bond sale will be given to Dallas developer Trammell Crow, who will build the project and be responsible for paying off the bonds.

Under Texas law, the finance corporation is an independent municipal agency that can use the city's tax-exempt municipal bond status.

The Grand Prairie City Council set up the finance corporation last February to issue bonds to back low-interest home mortgage loans, but under state and federal law the corporation can also finance apartment complexes.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — A Lubbock man was killed and his wife critically injured Thursday when their sailboat, a Christmas gift, came into contact with a power line.

Officers said David Bostwick, 29, and his wife, Gail, 30, were sailing the boat in a plays lake when the mast came into contact with the power line.

An ambulance attendant, firemen and policemen administered emergency first aid at the scene, but Bostwick was pronounced dead. His wife was in critical condition late Thursday at a Lubbock hospital.

RICHARDSON, Texas (AP) — Police in this Dallas suburb say they have saved more than $20,000 by buying 10 used cars for non-patrol purposes.

The police department bought 10 cars for $5,161 each. The cars were 1980 models that had been used as rental cars.

"The cost of the cars new would have exceeded $7,000, representing a $20,000 savings," according to police director L.F. Eudy. He said the used cars will be used by investigators and administrative personnel only.

"We will, however, continue to purchase new automobiles for patrol purposes because of the high mileage the cars accumulate during a 12-month period," Eudy said.

Official said they believe it's the first time a Dallas area police department purchased used cars, but there are indications other departments may do the same.

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas man was shot to death late Thursday as he stood outside a lounge near the downtown area, police said.

Officers said Ignacio Molina, about 30, was shot in the chest. He was dead upon arrival at St. Paul's Hospital, police said.

Witnesses told police Molina was standing beside a car in a parking lot at the time he was shot. No arrests have been made, police said.

DALLAS (AP) — An argument over a pool game has left one man dead and another wounded, police said.

Officers said Fletcher

McNeall, 35, of Dallas, was shot to death during a scuffle. David McNeall, 27, was shot in the leg, police said.

Witnesses said the men got into an argument Thursday with another man. They said Fletcher McNeall struck a man with a pool cue. The man opened fire, they said, killing one of the men and wounding the other in the leg.

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas man died late Thursday when fire swept through a duplex in south Dallas, according to firemen.

The victim was identified as Jim Brown, 45. Mrs. Bessie Akes, about 80, was able to escape from the burning duplex, firemen said.

WAILUKU, Hawaii (AP) — A California man will be arraigned Jan. 6 on charges of negligent homicide in connection with a Christmas Eve traffic accident that left four people dead, according to police.

John Joseph Madigan, 45, of San Jose, was released on his own recognizance and returned home Thursday following the worst accident in the history of the island of Maui, police said.

Madigan was driving a rented car shortly after arriving on a cruise ship when he allegedly ran a stop sign and hit a pickup truck near Maui's Kahului Airport, police said.

Killed in the accident were the driver of the truck, Julie Ann Brown, 30, of Wailuku; two of her children, Glenwood, 11, and Gabriell, 9; and Madigan's wife, Mary, 52.

The force of the collision then drove the truck into an on-coming tour van carrying 14 passengers and a driver.

One passenger in the van, Christine Gibson, of Amarillo, Texas, remains in satisfactory condition at Maui Memorial Hospital, a hospital spokesman said Thursday.

Names in the News

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Nancy Reagan was very mature as a student at exclusive Smith College, even then displaying a devotion to the movies and acting, former roommates and friends recall.

But Mrs. Reagan, the next first lady, was also remembered as being just one of the girls.

"She was just like the rest of us," said Jean Wescott Marshall of Wilmette, Ill., Mrs. Reagan's best friend through grade school, high school and college. "I would say we were strictly average."

"She was very mature for her age," said former roommate Patricia James Ackery of Richmond, Va., who recalled being impressed during a college visit to her roommate's "huge apartment" in Chicago. Mrs. Reagan was Nancy Davis then, and after her graduation took up a career in Hollywood.

"Nancy was a big movie fan and devoted to acting," Ms. Ackery said. "I wasn't surprised at all to see her in Hollywood. She would have made a success of anything she tried. When she put her mind to something, that is what she did."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Norman Cousins, longtime editor of the Saturday Review, was hospitalized for tests after experiencing a shortness of breath, his wife says.

Cousins, 65, entered UCLA Medical Center on Monday, said Eleanor Cousins.

"He had intestinal flu last week. Then he developed shortness of breath," she said Thursday.

Cousins was editor of the Saturday Review from 1940-71 and from 1973-77. He has been teaching ethics and medical literature at UCLA's School of Medicine for the past two years and is the only professor at the school who is not a physician.

Among books Cousins has written are "Talks with Nehru," "The Good Inheritance" and "Modern Man is Obsolete."

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II has appealed to Britons in her traditional Christmas message to follow the example of earlier generations and face the country's "grave problems" with "courage and calm determination."

"In difficult times we may be tempted to find excuses for self-indulgence and to wash our hands of responsibility. Christmas stands for the opposite," she said in the message, delivered Thursday.

Military Notes

Marine Lance Cpl. Murray K. Hazlett, son of Kenneth G. and Shirley E. Hazlett of 113 Aspen, recently participated in training at Yuma, Ariz.

He is a member of Marine Attack Squadron 211, based at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ann, Calif.

While at Yuma, the squadron practiced heavy weapons deliveries and defensive tactics in their F-4 "Phantom" jet aircraft.

The "Phantom" is an all-weather fighter capable of tactical bombing and providing close air support for ground troops.

A 1976 graduate of Hereford High School, Hazlett joined the Marine Corps in January 1979.

Ann Landers

Therapy Vs. Job

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You often advise people to get "counseling" or therapy. Well, I did. Here's the part you left out: What do people like me tell employers when we go for therapy appointments? I must see my psychiatrist twice a week for at least the next two years. I can't schedule visits during non-working hours because those time are taken. Changing doctors is out of the question.

I am not working now, but I must find a job soon - and this has been holding me back. I am afraid if I make this a condition of employment nobody will hire me.

What would the average employer consider an acceptable excuse for long-term absences at non-lunch times? Naturally, I would expect to make up any time I missed by working through lunch or coming in early.

Please answer - I will watch every day. - Time Out
DEAR TIME: The most awkward, naked truth is better than the slickest, dressed-up lie. If you present your problem with dignity and candor-and promise to make up all lost time - you should find a sympathetic employer somewhere.

Most therapists, as they terminate patients, move others into the more desirable time slots. Hopefully, yours will do this for you. Good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few years ago I read an article in a ladies' magazine that told about the ability to predetermine the sex of your child when it is conceived. I didn't pay much attention to it because I was a teenager and motherhood was not one of the things I was interested in. The idea was to create (by douching) either an "acid" or an "alkaline" environment. I cannot remember which "environment" was supposed to produce a boy and which would guarantee a girl.

Could you find out from your medical experts?

Also, Ann, do you know of anything that might produce twins? It would be nice to have the whole family at once.-Planning Ahead in Buffalo

DEAR PLANNING: Sorry, there is no scientific evidence to support the acid-alkaline theory.

As for assuring twins - nothing sure-fire here, either, but women who have taken fertility drugs have a better chance of multiple births. Take it from someone who knows, dear; one baby at a time is a lot easier on the mother.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today, when I drove from my home to the office, I counted six American flags waving proudly in the breeze. Three of these flags were either faded from the sun or badly beat up from being exposed to the elements of nature. One had two large holes in it.

Please tell your readers who fly the American flag that their patriotism is a beautiful thing, but they do the flag a grave injustice if they let it fly when it no longer looks like a symbol of glory, but an old, beat-up rag.-Down The Flagpole In Massachusetts

DEAR MASS.: Thanks for a good letter.

And now, to those of you who are flying Old Glory, please go check it out. If the letter-writer is talking about your flag, take her down and go buy a new one.

CONFIDENTIAL to All You Readers Who Wrote to Ask if Proctor & Gamble Has Been Purchased by the Moonies: The answer is NO. The symbol on the label has nothing whatever to do with that religious cult.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts" will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Bar Foundation Informs Citizens About Legal Rights Informing the citizens of Texas about their legal rights is a prime concern of the Texas Bar Foundation, according to Harlow Sprouse of Amarillo, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Texas Bar Foundation.

Sprouse noted that the Texas Bar Foundation is an educational and charitable organization established by a group of concerned Texas attorneys interested in furthering justice and legal education for both the public and the profession. The Foundation funded the State Bar of Texas "Crack the Shell" campaign, a catalogue brochure placed in major grocery and convenience stores throughout the state.

All materials available free of charge through the State Bar of Texas are listed in the brochure Your Legal Rights. The brochure, which includes a mailback order form, is distributed through the cooperation of H.E.B.

Birth Order Affects Child's Life Success

COLLEGE STATION--Birth order can affect life successes, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

However, birth order does not box children into categories and expected successes or failures, she points out.

Miss Taylor is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Nevertheless, children do tend to display certain characteristics according to birth order.

At first glance, it seems that firstborn and only children have the enviable position in the family, Miss Taylor says.

They are usually joyously welcomed and have undivided attention of parents.

Firstborn are also the group that is expected to become the achievers in the family-a goal some may or may not be able to fulfill.

Consequently, firstborn are the group that seek psychological help most often because of pressures to succeed.

Only children are usually achievement-oriented but do not lose their center-stage position with parents to other children in the family.

Thus, the need to shine is not as consuming as with firstborns.

Middle children learn early to become diplomats, the specialist continues.

They learn to compete for attention from both parents and other siblings, thus developing extraordinary skills in handling others.

The major drawback in being a middle child is that he may never be adequately recognized nor rewarded for grocery stores, Safeway grocery stores and 7-11 (Southland Corporation) convenience stores presently. Several other major chains in Texas are also considering distribution of the pamphlet. Grocery and convenience stores were considered the most direct route of contact with the public since everyone finds it necessary to purchase food items on a regular basis.

Requests as a result of the program have come in at an average of 100 per day with over 40,000 brochures having been sent to citizens who asked for them.

Another project funded by the Foundation is the recently published Media Law Handbook which was introduced at a Media Law Conference held in Austin in September. The Conference featured Harvard Law School Professor Arthur Miller and University of Texas Law School Professor Lucas Scot Powe as moderators of a panel composed of one-third judges, attorneys and media representatives.

The Foundation co-sponsored the Handbook noting that the need for a better understanding between the legal profession and the media was essential.

According to Sprouse, the Texas Bar Foundation was created in 1965 and has funded numerous educational projects since that time.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN

Opening gift packages is one of the joys of Christmas, but it isn't the simple matter of untying or cutting some strings that it used to be.

Packaging materials is much more sophisticated lately, and that may be the cause of inflation. Take tape, for instance. There are about a jillion different kinds and they all do a good job of holding things together, if used liberally. And tape always is.

The good thing about that is, you don't get packages from the postoffice with contents spilling, no matter how much they have been mashed. The bad thing is, you may need a meat axe to break through all the tape.

You discover that Cousin Clementine has swaddled her package in mailing tape, going around lengthwise and crosswise. Under that is stout brown paper and inside the paper a carton. It has strapping tape around it in both directions.

Enclosed in the carton is the gift package wrapped in bright Christmas paper, well glued together with more tape. It covers a box but when you try to lift the lid it is fastened with transparent tape completely sealing all edges.

When you finally get into the box, you feel the notepaper it holds is not worth all the trouble. Especially if you've tried the opening act with your fingernails just after getting a manicure.

It all reminds me of a pet peeve aimed at the whole packaging industry. Why does something like a box of crackers have a damp-proof oiled paper cover, then a damp-proof box, then a foil lining, then the contents divided into smaller packages, each wrapped in plastic?

That's overdoing it, and when you pay for all the wrapping it makes the crackers too expensive, and people blame the wheat farmers for that.

Anytime you have an ailment or accident that you feel is a little unusual - not so common as a cold-I've observed through the years that you soon find dozens of people who've had it, or their Aunt Sophie did, and she died of it.

Though eye surgery is much more an ordinary thing now than a few years ago, it's been a surprise to me to find how many people here tell me about their lens implants since I had one lately.

Roberta Campbell is recovering nicely from the latest operation I've heard about, though someone said Lilah Grubb was due for surgery and may have joined the fraternity by now. Jim Shaw also has been added to the list since my time.

At a meeting recently I talked with Carroll Newsom and Eunice Petersen about our eyes that were mending nicely. It hasn't been long since Carrie Mae Doak, Stella Hershey and Grant Hanna had the same experience - and those are just the ones I think of at the moment.

LET FAITH CONSOLIDATE YOUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

As the season of fun and festivity draws to a close, let us give some serious thought to a worthwhile task which most of us have undertaken rather half-heartedly at this time every year, despite our good intentions. Driven by a natural impulse to turn over a new leaf in our lives as well as on the calendar, we compile our annual list of personal reforms and even try to follow it for a few days before consigning it to limbo along with its predecessors. This year for a change, try simplifying it into one all-encompassing resolution: to attend the Church of your choice regularly throughout the coming year. If you will do so and try to live by the lessons you learn there, this will be the only New Year's resolution you'll ever need.

"Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."
— Romans 12:2

I'll turn over a new leaf. — Miguel de Cervantes

In Wild Card Playoff Match With Dallas

Key to Rams' Attack Rest With Ferragamo

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Can Vince Ferragamo do it to Dallas a third time?

The poster-boy quarterback, a key to the Los Angeles Rams hopes in the National Conference wild-card playoff game Sunday, has been looking good lately against the Cowboys.

He threw three touchdown passes against them in each of their last two games.

The more memorable of the two, perhaps, was the Dec. 30, 1979, NFC divisional playoff meeting in Dallas. It turned out to be Roger Staubach's farewell performance as Dallas' quarterback.

The Cowboys, of course, figured they'd have Staubach calling the signals for him for another game or two... say, in the conference championship and Super Bowl. And despite Ferragamo's long TD passes of 32 yards to Wendell Tyler and 43 yards to Ron Smith, the Cowboys (thanks to Staubach's 2-yard scoring toss to Jay Saldi) owned a 19-14 lead.

And with the Rams in their own territory in the closing minutes, the lead seemed secure. Then Ferragamo struck again. The Rams' quarterback, who had replaced injured Pat Haden in mid-season, unloaded a 50-yard shocker to Billy Waddy just 2:06 from the final gun. It shot down Dallas, vaulted the Rams into the conference title game (a 9-0 victory over Tampa Bay), and finally into the Super Bowl, where they finally fell to Pittsburgh 31-19.

More recently was the Dec. 15 regular-season game in Los Angeles, when Ferragamo's scoring bombs of 40 yards to Waddy, and 34 yards to Preston Dennard and a 1-yard flip to Drew Hill propelled the Rams to a 38-14 victory over the Cowboys and into Sunday's game against them in Dallas.

Danny White, Staubach's successor, promised after that debacle that things would not be the same in the playoffs. "When we meet them in two weeks, it'll be a different story," he said. And Cowboys defensive end Harvey Martin noted, "Ferragamo had a great night—but we contributed to it."

Like Ferragamo a year ago (and again early this year), Jim Plunkett of Oakland was ready when the Raiders' No.

1 quarterback went down with an injury. Since Dan Pastorini suffered a broken leg in the fifth game this season, Plunkett has guided the Raiders to nine victories in 11 games and back into the playoffs for the first time in three years. They'll take on the visiting Houston Oilers in the American Conference wild-card game Sunday.

"Fortunately, we had a quarterback in the wings who was ready and had prepared himself, and he did an outstanding job," said Coach

Tom Flores.

The game will also bring together Earl Campbell and the man who sat in his shadow a year ago. Campbell, the Oilers' super runner, gained 1,934 yards this year to win his third rushing title in his three seasons in the league. Kenny King, who rushed three times for nine yards in 1979 before being traded to Oakland, rolled up 761 yards for the Raiders this year.

DePaul Meets UCLA

CHICAGO (AP)—It will be life in the fast lane when top-ranked DePaul plays host Saturday to No. 3 UCLA in a nationally televised meeting of college basketball unbeatens.

"We want to run with them. That's our game," said Coach Ray Meyer, whose Blue Demons have contributed eight wins this season to his career 631 victories, tops among active coaches. "We stopped running the last couple games and I think that's why we looked stale on offense—we were standing around too much."

"The people we were playing were slowing us down," he added. "They got us playing at their tempo."

And if UCLA has its way, the tempo Saturday in the sold-out Rosemont Horizon will be red-hot.

The Bruins (6-0) look to 6-7 center Kenny Fields and 6-6 forward Mike Sanders for the rebounds to key the fast break and to 6-1 guard Rod Foster to push the ball up the court.

Meyer plans to have floor leader Clyde Bradshaw shadow Foster as one means of putting the skids on UCLA, but the Bruins are so quick that he fears their secondary break almost as much as the break off the defensive rebound.

"If you don't get back in a hurry, they'll burn you," said Meyer. "Their transition game is superb. But our kids like to do a little running themselves, and we'd be glad to go the full 40 minutes."

The Blue Demons hope to counter the UCLA quickness by pressing over most of the court and playing a rugged man-to-man defense. Fields will draw 6-9 Terry Cummings, a leaper who "is one of the premier young big kids in the country," said Bruin Coach Larry Brown. "I'm excited for the opportunity for Kenny to play against him."

Sanders likely will pull the unenviable assignment of covering 6-7 Mark Aguirre, DePaul's all-arounder.

"We know Aguirre is going to get his points," said Brown, "but we have to make him work. We can't let him get them easy."

In recent games, Aguirre has been playing a high post in the Blue Demon offense, often working as a decoy and the focal point of the passing game. But, while Meyer often has been pleased with the resulting offensive flow, he plans to give college basketball's most awesome offensive machine free reign against UCLA.

"Mark will be involved in everything," said Meyer. "He'll have his hands on the ball 70 percent of the time and he'll do something with it."

"Mark has had the greatest practices in the last 3-4 days since he came to DePaul," added Meyer.

Aguirre had to look no further than last season to find incentive as the surprising Bruins upended No. 1 DePaul 77-71 in the second round of the NCAA playoffs before surrendering to Louisville 59-54 in the finale.

DePaul, which claimed a 99-94 win over UCLA in Pauley Pavilion in their only regular-season meeting last year, had ambushed the Bruins in the NCAA playoffs the year before.

Miffed Davis Leads Suns to Win Over Spurs

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—San Antonio guard James Silas says he can't remember the exact comment. But unfortunately for the Spurs, Phoenix Suns' guard Walter Davis does.

After scoring 30 points to beat Phoenix in San Antonio November 5, Silas was quoted as saying that Davis—a three time all-star forward—didn't belong at guard in the National Basketball Association.

Thursday night, Davis scored 16 first-half points in leading the Suns to their sixth straight victory overall and third in a row over the Spurs, 131-111. He had tallied 31 points in a 130-127 Phoenix win over San Antonio November 12 and 22 points during a 122-107 rout December 2.

"What he (Silas) said does motivate me a little," Davis said. "But I don't intentionally try to play better when I'm facing him. It just seems to come out that way."

Silas, who scored 13 for the Spurs, shrugged at the situation.

"What I meant to say was that he didn't seem to be the same Walter Davis at guard that he was at forward," Silas said. "But he definitely looks like he belongs there now."

Phoenix Coach John MacLeod concurred.

"I think Walter has proven that he belongs at guard," said MacLeod. "And I think he showed certainly some versatility by going both ways. He came in and gave us a whale of an effort."

Eight points by Davis and seven from forward Len "Truck" Robinson put Phoenix ahead 30-25 after the first period. Davis then teamed with fellow guard Dennis Johnson to spearhead an 18-point Suns' scoring spurge for a 67-50 halftime lead.

Johnson put in Phoenix's first eight points of the second half and the Suns led by as many as 25 midway through the third period.

Guards George Gervin, with 16 points, helped San Antonio cut the lead to 97-83 entering the final quarter. But the Spurs could come no closer.

"We were close in every statistic to the Suns except in turnovers (23 to 14)," said San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck. "When Phoenix forced us into making one, they wound up scoring seven times. We scored only once on their turnovers and that was the big difference."

So was Davis.

"When he comes out smoking, Phoenix is very difficult to beat," Albeck said. "Walter has just grown in maturity. He looked hesitant in that first game against us—feeling his way around. But the more that he plays that position, the more confidence he seems to get."

Albeck said Gervin "gave his usual solid effort" by scoring a game-high 32 points. Newly-acquired guard Ron Brewer had 16, while forwards Reggie Johnson and Kevin Restani had 14 and 12, respectively.

Johnson led eight Suns in double figures with 23 points. Robinson added 20 and a game-high 11 rebounds.

The victory moved Phoenix (31-8) six games ahead of idle Los Angeles in the Pacific Division. Midwest Division-leading San Antonio fell to 24-14.

Hawaii's capital city, Honolulu, which means "sheltered bay" in the Hawaiian language, was a small village when visited by Westerners for the first time in two British ships in 1786—eight years after Capt. James Cook had discovered the islands.

Gray Claims Victory in 43rd Grid Classic

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — With the final seconds ticking away, the Blue team defensive line clamped a pressure squeeze on quarterback Jay Venuto to squelch a Gray comeback and claim victory in the 43rd annual Blue-Gray All-Star Football Classic.

"We just put the pressure on the quarterback," said Blue defensive coach Jimmy Johnson, after the Blue team defeated the Gray 24-23 on Christmas Day.

The North squad foiled two passing attempts by Venuto for a 2-point conversion in the last 31 seconds of the game.

Gray Coach Doug Barfield and the Wake Forest quarterback elected to win rather than tie the game after a last-minute scoring strike from Venuto to Auburn's Byron Franklin brought the Rebels within a point.

Venuto's first pass to Ken Toler of Mississippi was incomplete, but a penalty gave Venuto another chance. Under heavy pressure from the Blue defensive line, Venuto again threw incomplete to Marvin Harvey of Southern Mississippi.

Johnson said he thought the Blue squad played extremely well in the second half.

"We made some mistakes in the first half, but not in the second. The Gray team was great ... they're just one point shy of the Blue," he said.

Blue offensive coach Joe Restic said of the Gray's come-from-behind attempt, "I didn't think we would get out of there alive."

Restic said he was satisfied with the way the North handled the ball. He said the Blue squad's winning margin would have been wider if it had not fumbled on a long drive early in the fourth quarter. The South recovered in its own end zone.

"These were two fine football teams, and they played their hearts out," Restic said.

The Blue team's offensive attack was led by Harvard's Brian Buckley and Drake's Rick Casko.

Buckley's 65-yard scoring pass to Southern Cal's Kevin Williams in the first quarter gave the Blue squad a 7-7 tie.

The Gray team pulled ahead 14-7 in the second period, but Casko engineered a Blue scoring drive capped by his 12-yard scamper into the end zone.

SOCIAL SECURITY

In January, the Social Security payroll tax will be taking a deeper bite out of American paychecks, the first phase of increases scheduled over the next several years to keep the system solvent for the remainder of the decade. In the first step, the payroll tax rate goes from the present 6.13 percent to 6.65 percent, the biggest jump since 1965 when Medicare was added to the system. At the same time, the salary base on which the tax is applied also moves up, from $25,900 to $29,700. At the start of 1982, the tax rate again goes up, to 6.70 percent, but then levels off for the following three years. Maximum taxable income continues to rise, however, bringing the tax paid by those earning the maximum wage and more to $2,412 by 1984, an increase of approximately 60 percent over the 1980 figure of $1,588.

Washington Briefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an eye toward the history that hasn't been made yet, the archivist of the United States wants President-elect Ronald Reagan and his associates to plan now on keeping a record they will leave behind.

Historian Robert M. Warner, the national record keeper, says his advice to the new president is: "Be interested in the preservation of the historical record, start right away to be sure that the record is something that's going to be useful to the future." Warner noted that no other great power makes its records as quickly available so that citizens and presidents alike can learn from the mistakes of the immediate past. "It's an American trend we can be proud of," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States should adopt an urban policy that not only accepts but actually encourages the current population shift from the Northeast and Midwest to the Sun Belt region, a presidential panel says.

According to the Washington Post, the recommendation came in a new report drawn up by the President's Commission for a National Agenda for the Eighties.

The panel said there was "a fundamental problem" in trying to stop the decline of older, metropolitan areas in the Northeast and Midwest. Instead, it said, government resources would be better used "in planning for the future and helping people to adjust to future imperatives."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The average price of a newly built home in the Washington metropolitan area has been climbing at a rate of 18 percent a year and now stands at $113,700, according to a local study.

It said that within the District of Columbia, the average price of new homes was currently more than $215,000 — mainly a result of the opening of several high-priced luxury developments and condominium complexes.

The study was prepared by Housing Data Reports, a research firm based in suburban Bethesda, Md.

Lighter Side

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Betty Armstrong got a unique Christmas message this holiday season.

Spokane Police Officer Ronald J. Peters said $10 was taken Wednesday in a theft at Mrs. Armstrong's home.

But the thief left this note: "I'm sorry I ripped you off. I promise to pay it back."

Peters said it was signed: "The Rotten Thief."

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — It had all the appearances of a typical arrest report — until you read it closely.

Then it became clear that police in this northwest Missouri community were just having a little seasonal fun.

The report, contrived by Trenton police in the early hours of Christmas morning, said authorities were called shortly after midnight to a residence to find a 5-foot-6, 250-pound man stuck in a chimney.

Police were told the man, dressed in a velvet suit, had been seen flying from rooftop to rooftop and from chimney to chimney, the report said. He was identified as St. Nicholas, a toymaker from 1201 Reindeer Lane, North Pole.

Officers said the Trenton Fire Department assisted in extricating the man while they examined his vehicle — described as a red convertible with nine reindeer tied to the front. Officers reported they found numerous packages in the vehicle.

According to the tongue-in-cheek report, St. Nicholas was taken to police headquarters, the animals were directed to a veterinary clinic and the convertible was towed to a local body shop.

Asked how many stops he'd made, the man told police five or six million.

Asked if he knew where he was, the man replied, "Trenton, New Jersey?"

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Changes during menopause

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a female, age 52, and I am obviously going through the menopause. My biggest complaint is sweating. I have sweats, 10 to 15 times a day, and they soak my neck, under my arms, my back and under my bra. When I am outdoors and the weather is cold I think my soaked clothing makes me more likely to catch a cold. Should I be taking some medicine for this? I chill and have had a recurring cold all winter. What else can I expect from my menopause? You hear of women having nervous breakdowns and getting fat. Any information you can give will be appreciated.

DEAR READER — You are certainly in the right age group and your symptoms can be caused by the menopause. Sweats can also be caused from other things. You didn't mention some important information related to a menopause. The onset of irregular menses or stopping all together is, of course, essential to making the diagnosis.

There are a lot of stories about the menopause that are simply not true. Depression in the middle-age period is not caused by the menopause. However, both can occur together and the onset of menopause with symptoms is a change in life that can cause a woman to be depressed. The depression, if one occurs, is not related to a decrease in female hormones. Some women also tend to gain weight at that time in life but that is not all due to hormones either. Decreased physical activity and sometimes eating more has a lot to do with it.

Hot flashes and sweats as part of the menopause are caused by a decrease in estrogen. Small amounts of estrogen replacement is specific in stopping these symptoms.

The different changes that are associated with the menopause are discussed in The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Most of these changes can be delayed or prevented by the judicious use of hormones provided there is no risk in their use for that individual. Some women sail through the menopause without many symptoms because the adrenal gland produces enough female hormones to protect them.

The decision then of whether to use hormones has to be made on an individual basis.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My doctor tells me I have sprue and must refrain from eating wheat, rye, oatmeal or oats in any form. I don't know how long I have had this disease, perhaps a few years, as I have been losing weight steadily.

Since I cannot use whole wheat or other roughage, my bowels suffer and I must take a laxative. Would you tell me how long I have to stay on this diet? What if I don't?

DEAR READER — If you have sprue, you have an allergic reaction to gluten, a protein found in all cereals except rice and corn. These and all products made from these cereal products must be completely eliminated from your diet. This is a life-time affair. You can use corn starch, rice flour and soybean flour in food preparation.

Sprue commonly causes diarrhea and that plus inability to absorb foods because of the sprue is probably responsible for your weight loss. If you don't follow your diet you can have a serious bout of diarrhea, malnutrition and complications which include bleeding from your colon.

For your bowels, use a bulk expander that does not include cereal. Check with your doctor for a good choice for you.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 67-year-old man. I take Inderal and Hydrodiuril for high blood pressure. These medicines keep my pressure around 150 over 85. My one worry is that I notice when I am taking my pulse that every 60 to 70 beats my heart stops beating for a beat or two and then starts beating again. My heart is strong and steady except for this.

My heart doctor listens but never waits to catch the miss. The electrocardiogram never picks up the missed beat. When my heart stops for one or two beats, will it cause a heart attack in time? I do not drink, never smoked and never use coffee or colas. If you have any information on this, please send it to me so I will be better informed.

DEAR READER — You are doing great. Your blood pressure level for your age group is well controlled. The Inderal you are taking also helps to prevent heart skips.

Now you think your heart stops but that is not likely. You probably have a premature beat that isn't strong enough to pump blood out to your wrist so you feel it as a skipped beat when it is really early. This is explained in greater detail in The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias that I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

These are quite common and if we were able to record continuous heart beats on everyone, we would find almost everyone has some. All the astronaut candidates I examined with long-term monitoring had an occasional irregularity that they were totally unaware of.

Their significance has to be judged in each particular case. In the young healthy person, such as the astronauts, they may be of little or no significance. An increased number along with heart pain may be a complication of an acute heart attack.

The occasional skipped beat such as you experience is not dangerous. They have a habit of occurring when you are quiet at home and like an automobile going to the garage, fail to occur when you get to the doctor's office. That is not unusual.

I'm glad to hear that you are following a good program. We do know that smoking cigarettes, drinking alcohol and coffee or tea may aggravate the condition.

The infrequent early beats you now experience probably do not require any treatment. If they were frequent or really bothered you, then there are medicines to control irregularities. Inderal is one of these that works for many cases.

But you are also taking Hydrodiuril, which can wash out potassium as well as sodium. So be sure and eat a reasonable amount of fresh fruit or drink fruit juices every day to keep your potassium level up. A low potassium level can increase the heart's tendency to have irregularities such as you describe.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I had a mammogram done. Everyone seemed to have been so busy that I was left in the X-ray room after the X-rays were completed for about a half hour before the doctor came in. Is there any danger of my being overexposed to harmful rays during that time?

DEAR READER — No. The machine doesn't emit additional rays unless it is turned on. There will not be enough residual rays scattered in the room to pose any problem either.

DOES THIS CONFUSE ANYONE?

It's very simple. It's explaining how the crop residues - or raw manure applied to your field for that matter - largely escapes to the air - EVAPORATES! Now in compost the humus is concentrated. The humus gives your soil structure - meaning less tillage needed and better water efficiency. And did you know the value of the N&P in our compost gives you free humus. Get the facts.
