Mrs. Amanda J. Lockett Says She Has Long Wish- ed To Make Flight

Mrs. Amanda J. Lockett, 82 years old, mother of Mrs. Tennyson of the West highway, took her first airplane ride Monday.

She boarded the American Airways' morning ship here at 5 a. m. for Dallas.

Perfectly at ease, Mrs. Lockett said "I'm not going to miss seeing a thing on this trip. I have been looking forward to this for a long time."

Mrs. Lockett said she was too old to ride in comfort on trails and that she chose the air route for the trip to Dallas for a visit with another daughter and to consult a specialist.

The home of her daughter here is a few blocks east of the airport, where six ships land and depart daily.

Johnny Weismuller To Be Here Tuesday

Johnny Weismuller, world-famous swimmer and Al Schwartz, U. S. Olympic team member, will be passengers on the westbound American Airways ship stopping here from 10:44 to 11:04 a. m. Tuesday.

Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaiian aquatic star was on the westbound ship Sunday night.

Lions International President In City

Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth, Lions International president, and a party of prominent Lions passed through here on the Saturday night plane of American Airways en route to Los Angeles for the annual convention of the Lions. He was greeted here by a party of Big Spring Lions.

President Hyer, who is rounding out a year of service as head of the organization, will preside at the Los Angeles convention. The party was met at Los Angeles by a large number of California Lions and escorted in a parade to convention headquarters.

Mr. Hyer was wearing a suit, hat and boots of Texas raw materials and manufactured within the state. The suit is made from cotton and wool produced at the Texas Technological College and worn there by the textile students. His hat was presented to him by Lions at San Angelo and the high heel boots he will wear were made by the Justin Boot Manufacturing Company of Fort Worth and each bears the emblem of Lions International on its top.

Can Howard county accept the highway commission's proposal to build highways 1 and 9 in the county without raising the tax rate for the coming year?

That question does not bear upon the method by which the county would finance purchase of right-of-way, which would be its only obligation now or any other time.

The commissioner's court has fully shown its ability to solve such problems of financing.

From the information we have relative to the county's financial condition we feel sure the proposition can be financed without raising the tax rate. In drawing this conclusion we take into consideration that property valuations are due to fall to about 14 millions and that taxes may not be collected on more than approximately nine millions.

If the right-of-way can be bought as necessary for buying various sections of it arises—without raising the tax rate—then there is any good reason why Howard alone in all counties on Highway No. 1 in which the highway commission wishes to make improvements, should have until now given the commission no reply to its formal proposal?

That is just what has happened.

The commission, having made similar proposals to Martin, Midland, Ector, Ward and El Paso counties, and having been assured by those counties that they will provide right-of-way, Saturday appropriated $600,000 for rebuilding No. 1 in those counties.

Howard alone of all those in which reconstruction of No. 1 has been asked as yet has not given the commission an answer.

We believe at least a majority of the members of the commissioners' court favor acceptance of this proposition. We believe, also, that they realize in their hearts that the quicker the proposition is accepted the better it will be and more certain will the county be of obtaining improvement of both No. 1 and No. 9.

Then, why the delay in accepting?

John Garner, Enroute Home, Says He Is Confident Of Demo Victory

ST. LOUIS (UP)—John Garner declared here Monday, on a brief stop enroute to his home at Uvalde, Texas, that he was confident of a Democratic victory in November.

"Out of 20 men I talked to on the train from Washington," he said while waiting for the Texas-bound train here, "eighteen said they were going to vote the Democratic ticket, ten of them for the first time in their lives. That's a pretty good indication."

Two Funds Of U. S.-Canada County Taken River Treaty Out Of List Agreed Upon

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and Canada Monday agreed upon a treaty for construction of the 800-mile Saint Lawrence river seaway. The gigantic project calls for development of the Saint Lawrence for 180 miles, from Montreal to Lake Ontario. It will enable ocean-going vessels to travel to the heart of the continent. At the same time provisions for providing 2,000,000 horsepower of electricity was made. The agreement must be ratified by legislative bodies of both countries before it becomes effective.

Pastor Picks Interesting Monday Topic

Rev. Woodie W. Smith announced a very interesting subject for Monday evening at the revival at the East Fourth Street Baptist church. He will speak on "Breaking The Alabaster Box, Subject Of Rev. Smith."

Rev. Woodie W. Smith announced a very interesting subject for Monday evening at the revival at the East Fourth Street Baptist church. He will speak on "Breaking The Alabaster Box." He has preached this sermon in a great many churches in his evangelistic campaigns and it is hoped that many people will hear him.

Sunday's services were of unusual interest. There were twelve additions to the church, making twenty-nine during the revival. He preached Sunday morning on the "Resurrection of Jesus." He spoke in the main as follows:

"My sermon will be divided into four parts. The first point I wish to discuss is 'The Fact of His Resurrection.' Jesus appeared to His disciples and others at least ten different times. He appeared to Mary Magdalene directly after His resurrection as recorded by Matthew in Chapter 28, verses 1 to 10. He appeared to His eleven disciples, which is recorded in Matthew 28 and 16. He appeared to two of his disciples on the road to Emmaus, Luke 24:13-25. He appeared to His disciples, Thomas present, John 20:26-29; to certain disciples at sea, John 21:1-11. He appeared to 500 or more as recorded in 1 Corinthians 15:6-7. He appeared to James and all the apostles, Acts 1:3-8, and to Paul on his way to Damascus, Acts 9:3-6.

"The second point I wish to discuss concerns the manner of His resurrection. Jesus rose from the dead as had been predicted, according to the Scriptures. The fact that Jesus rose from the dead proved beyond all doubt that the claims He had been making during the years of His ministry, Luke records that, 'It behooved Christ

Martial Law Is Defended

The following statement in defense of martial law in the East Texas oil field has been mailed to members of the East Texas Oil Club by H. L. Stegall, Tyler, secretary.

"In August, 1931, three days before martial law was declared, 3,000 East Texas landowners and independent operators assembled in a mass meeting at Tyler passed a resolution demanding that the governor declare martial law in the East Texas oil field to suppress incipient rioting, which was certain to result from the orgy of illegal overproduction, unequal takings of oil by pipe lines from adjoining leases and outright stealing of oil from small land and royalty owners then being practiced in the field. Hundreds of wires and letters were sent to the governor by local East Texas officers and people making the same demand.

"No major oil company asked for martial law. Some of the major companies vigorously opposed it.

"In the preceding 60 days they had seen independents, unable to drill their property on 10-cent oil, forced to sell out to the big companies. During that 60 day period 35 per cent of the field passed out of the hands of the small oil men to the hands of the big companies.

"After martial law was declared it was found perfectly satisfactory by all land owners and all law-abiding lease operators. On several occasions there were newspaper reports that martial law was to be lifted and on each occasion the governor was stormed with requests by letter, telegram, petitions and phone calls that martial law be continued.

"The people living in and near the oil field know this is true and realize what a great friend of the people and the state their governor has been. Elsewhere in the state the governor is pictured as the tool of selfish major oil companies and martial law in the East Texas field is pointed to as his

$610,886 Is Appropriated For Highway One In West Texas

Howard Work Not Included

Commission's Program For Re-Building Broadway Starts

AUSTIN—The Texas highway commission Saturday authorized expenditure of $610,886 for the improvement of highway 1 in El Paso, Midland, Ector, Crane, Martin and Ward counties.

The improvement to be carried out through the maintenance division of the highway department, will consist mainly of widening the roadway, flattening slopes, scarifying and widening the base and placement of additional base materials and double bituminous surface treatment.

Approximately 100 miles of highway 1 was involved.

In El Paso county, the state agreed to pay the entire cost of improving highway 1 from Ascarate to Yuleta. The estimated cost was $169,903.

Appropriations for other counties in the highway 1 improvement program were:

Midland $129,513; Ector $80,672; Crane $8,150; Martin $82,396; Ward $147,252.

The total appropriations for road improvements made today by the commission aggregated $803,623.

The commission appropriated $2,000 for construction of a district office building at Atlanta.

Other orders and appropriations included:

Tom Green, $7,216 for widening and flattening slopes on highway 30 from highway 9 to Christoval, 17 miles.

Howard county's section of Highway No. 1, the Broadway of America, is included in the highway commission's reconstruction program.

The county has been offered construction of this road, as well as No. 9, the county to provide 100-foot right-of-way, fenced.

The Howard county commissioners court, however, has not acted on the commission's proposal. This is the reason given by commission officials to The Herald for not including Howard county's part of the highway 1 reconstruction program.

The commission had received assurance from the other counties that they would provide needed right-of-way.

If this program is carried out Howard will eventually be, if the local authorities do not accept the proposition, the only county across the entire state whose section of highway No. 1 will be in bad shape, compared to the remainder of the long route, which is a part of the transcontinental Broadway of America and one of the most widely-traveled tourist routes in the United States.

In his letter to the county commissioners court outlining the proposition Judge W. R. Ely, chairman of the highway commission, said that his department was anxious to get work started on No. 1 across this section of West Texas, adding that he had not anticipated any delay by the various counties in accepting such a liberal proposition.

Women Supporters Of Sterling To Join In Rally Here Tuesday

Following the leadership of Mrs. C. C. Carter, who maintains that women should carry their ideals into their balloting and other expression of citizenship, a group of Sterling supporters among the women of the city ask all politically minded women to meet with them at the Federation Club house Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock to organize a woman's Sterling-Ford Governor Club.

Mrs. J. G. Merritt, of Colorado, a woman widely known throughout West Texas for her breadth of view and experience in politics, has agreed to give a talk to the women.

Mrs. W. R. Douglas, formerly a resident of Colorado, and a good friend of Mrs. Merritt, will introduce her.

Wendell Bedichek will open the meeting, presenting the issues at stake and giving a short talk on the reason for organizing such a club.

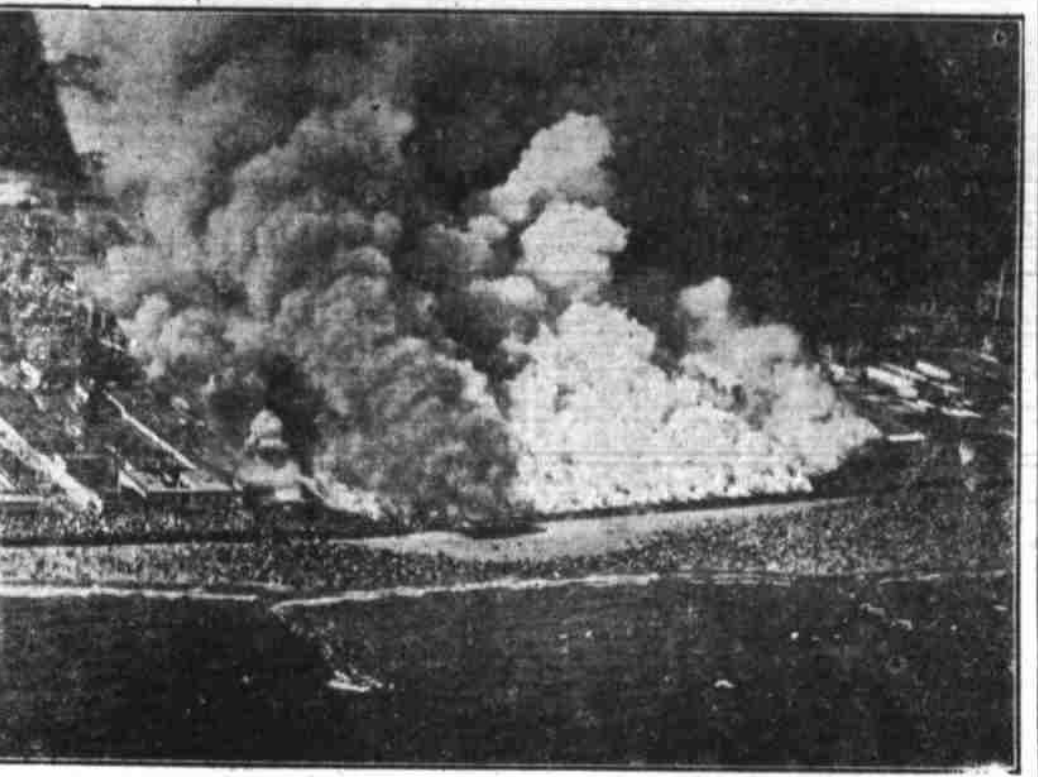

If Sterling supporters turn out and bring their friends, one good pep meeting of this sort will be enough, declared Mrs. Carter. She said further that many women, who already intend to vote for Gov. Sterling, need to know why, in order to present his cause effectively to others.

Mrs. Merritt has spoken in Big Spring before. She is the organizer of the Colorado Woman's Sterling-Ford Governor Club and is an unusually forceful and dynamic speaker. She is bringing several Colorado friends with her, all women with experience in politics.

She will also answer any questions the women want to ask about the state candidates.

The Federation Club house will be the place and 4 o'clock the hour. The meeting will begin promptly and last about an hour. A good crowd is expected and women are asked to be on hand early.

Now It Should Be Remembered

By EDWARD C. ELIOT
President of Purdue University

THIS IS A frightened old world.

Clear evidence of this is presented on every page of the news which we read. All of us have a feeling that the material things we value are likely to slip away from us in spite of all we can do. From this panicky attitude comes a new danger that we shall lose our wits along with our wealth.

We know what an orgy of speculation has done to the world's productive industries. This would put us on our guard against the risk of an orgy of speculation in our protective ideas and our progressive ideas.

These observations are made as I come from an official review of a large Reserve Officers Training Corps. The chief reviewing officer was a high ranking soldier of the army, one to whom the nation owes much for his distinguished service and valor in the Great War. As we went down the straight lines of straight, stalwart young men—two thousand in all—we watched the competent looking student officers competently executing the responsibilities of their commands, there was for both of us the schoolmaster and the soldier.

After a very delicious supper the guests spent the evening very pleasantly in conversation.

Those attending in addition to the host and hostess and honorees were Mrs. Walter Pike, Mrs. Loretta Stockton, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Northington and Miss Elizabeth W. H. Crenshaw and Jack Crenshaw.

Ackerly Takes Two Week-End Games From Mexican Tigers

Les Brown's slugging Ackerly crew hammered out two wins over the Mexican Tigers last week-end, defeating the Big Spring team on the Ackerly field Saturday afternoon 11 to 8 and copping a 12 to 11 decision Sunday in thirteen innings on the local diamond.

Manager Brown scored the winning run in the thirteenth inning from second base as an easy grounder took a wicked hop over Valdes's head for a single.

Ingram and Lopez, starting pitchers, were both driven to the showers and their successors, Wright and Subis, had each one bad inning before settling down. Subis's nemesis came in the seventh when Berry's home run and Madison's triple featured an eventful inning, while the Tigers scored three runs in the ninth to knot the score.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN PICTURES

LIBBY RETURNS HOME TO FORGET

Six weeks after Libby Holman arrived in Winston-Salem, N. C., the bride of Smith Reynolds, tobacco heir, she left the palatial Reynolds estate a widow. In the privacy of her parents' home in Cincinnati she hopes to forget the horror of her husband's death by a gunshot wound. She is shown here, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Myron Kahn (left) and her mother, Mrs. Alfred Holman (right) as she left Winston-Salem. (Associated Press Photo)

YOUNG REYNOLDS' SUICIDE NOTES

My Bill has turned me down. Good bye forever. Give my love to Mary, Nancy, Dick etc. Good bye cruel world. Smith (over)

P. S. Hope you don't feel hurt about this will.
P. S. You think I am tough, but I'm not.

Will
I will my car to Al, if he finishes it. My house to Nancy. My money to Dick. My reputation to Virginia. My god looks to Mary (sketch it).

The above notes were given to a coroner's jury investigating the fatal shooting of Smith Reynolds. His widow, the former Libby Holman, presented the notes to show that the young tobacco heir considered suicide on several previous occasions. The notes were supposed to have been written several years ago. (Associated Press Photo)

PROHIBITION PARTY'S NOMINEES

GANG CHIEF SLAIN, PALS SURRENDER IN BATTLE

Two New York gangsters are shown after their capture by detectives in a raging gun fight in Albany, N. Y., in which their leader, Edward "Fate" McCarthy was killed. In the rear of the car is George Kelly, leaning over because of a bullet wound in his leg. Basilio Basile, who threw his gun away and surrendered. Basile is being held for New York's Harlem "Baby Massacre" of last July. At right is Detective Thomas Riggs who ran the gang down.

Aftermath

Mrs. Almee Semple McPherson Hutton (above), evangelist, fell in a faint causing concussion of the brain when she learned that a $5,000 verdict had been returned against her husband, David Hutton, in the breach of promise action brought by Myrtle St. Pierre (below) in Los Angeles.

Seeks Beauty Throne

Rosalie Grandjean Brown was one of the favorites to win the title of French queen of the Olympic games in a competition sponsored by the French colony in Los Angeles.

TENTING ON FORBIDDEN GROUNDS

Police orders barring them from sleeping on the capitol grounds melted before the determination of several hundred "bonus marchers" from California, who with a night-long march, sought to impress upon congress the necessity for immediate payment of the soldiers bonus. Veterans are shown here resting on capitol grass. (Associated Press Photo)

Three berths are open in every event for the American team, and the rest of the talent in the final trials faces a hard job in keeping Henry Brocksmith, "Hoozier Hurricane" of Indiana university, (above) from grabbing a place in the 1,500 meters.

Gene Venzke, Pottstown, Pa., high school boy (above), is the red hot favorite to win No. 1 rating for the 1,500 meters on Uncle Sam's Olympic team in the final trials July 15-16 at Palo Alto, Cal. Venzke rushed to the top with a sensational campaign indoors last winter.

Quits Tragedy Scene

'DEATH BY PERSONS UNKNOWN'

"Death by a gunshot wound inflicted by person or persons unknown," was the verdict returned by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Smith Reynolds, young tobacco fortune heir. J. Erle McMichael, assistant solicitor, read the verdict to a packed courtroom in Winston-Salem, N. C., following the inquest. (Associated Press Photo)

JACK GETS THE CHAMP'S BELT

VICTIM AND CAPTIVE IN GUN FIGHT

Jer Davis (right), marshal of North Baltimore, Ohio, was slain in a gun battle with the Storey boys of St. Paul, Minn., who, police say, had staged a series of robberies in northwestern Ohio. Manly Storey (left) was captured. A brother, Bert, was injured and another brother, James, escaped by forcing a motorist to drive him from Toledo to South Bend, Ind.

SEIZED IN $50,000 KIDNAP PLOT

Peter Gunniff (left) and Joseph Vardico were seized by Chicago police as suspected members of a gang which threatened to kidnap two-year-old Patricia Durand of Lake Bluff, Ill., if her father, Jack Durand, did not pay $50,000 to them.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

Obie Bristow, the local siege gun of the golf course, focused his wood clubs and his heavy, goose-neck putter to the exact degree Sunday afternoon and toured the Lubbock Country Club in exactly 69 strokes to take first place in the tournament sponsored for the attending coaches of the Texas Tech coaching school with a snappy 144 for 36 holes.
 L. D. Hennig, Sweetwater mentor, supposedly as good a golfing coach as Bristow, sneaked in with nothing better than a 162 which tied him for second place in the second flight.

Bob Scott, the Mitchell county ranchman, evened the score with Shirley Robbins yesterday in the Colorado-Big Spring fraces, taking the decision on the nineteenth hole. G. R. Porter continued to take his men into camp, winning 3 and 2, and enabling the Big Spring team to cop low ball honors.
 Harry Lees, the cleaning and pressing magnate, started after a course record Sunday afternoon in a "bloody" foursome at the country club. Harry birdied No. 16 with an approach that even Dr. Bennett conceded, went one under par on No. 11 with a long, sloping putt, and sank one from the edge of the green for a trey on No. 12. He was last seen, however, trudging stolidly after a hook that was two fair-ways over and in the rough.

Local tennis players will have another crack at San Angelo this week-end when the Concho noters appear on the high school courts. Howard Smith has returned from the University of Texas and will be a welcome addition to the team.

Julian Vega, the accent is on the "ian" like in horse, in an impromptu conversation Sunday afternoon, declared that his Tigers were far and away the best club in Howard county or in any other county that he knew of. Mr. Vega added, however, that he knew the names of only three counties: Borden, Howard and the county in which Marfa is in, which is really only two. Of course Ackerly won two straight games last week-end, but Vega points to the weakened condition of his roster during the series. Martin, the outfielder, was playing with his original love, Caden refinery, and Payne was not in uniform.

Julian announces that he will try to bring his club across the tracks for the tournament here Aug. 21, 22, 23, 24, and would just play Moss Simms' Abilene Oilers a home and home series, all expenses to be paid for the visiting team, as not. Which is a lot for Mr. Vega to say.

Jimmy Fox, the Athletics first baseman, must be considered a serious rival for Babe Ruth's hiterto customary home run honors in the American League. Fox to date has clouted out 38 and in several games ahead of Ruth's schedule during his record-breaking year.

Frank Carideo, All-American quarterback at Notre Dame and now head football coach at Missouri University, says fame is fleeting. Carideo was at Lubbock during the coaching school there and introduced himself with an account of his arrival in Texas. He stopped Saturday at Houston and a stranger walked forward to greet him. "Aren't you Frank Carideo?" the stranger demanded.
 "Yes, sir," said Carideo modestly.
 "You're the guy," the friendly chap continued, "who played for Northwestern last year, aren't you?"
 Another stranger came forward and was introduced.
 "Carideo, eh?" said the second man. "What time do you wrestle tonight?"

The keen rivalry between Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen for top golfing honors has brought forward many stories concerning their matches on the links. But the best is one dated in 1923, when Sarazen was just a kid professional and Sir Walter was at his prime.
 The two were playing together in the U. S. open. A group of girls, passed and pointed to the golfers, evidently enjoyed a bit of conversation concerning them among themselves.
 "Did you hear what they said?" Hagen inquired curiously.
 Sarazen nodded. "She said, 'there goes Gene Sarazen the greatest golfer in the world I wonder who he's playing.'"

Robinson, yesterday afternoon turned the franchise over to the league. President J. Alvin Gardner immediately announced the appointment of Clarence O. Kraft, peer of the Texas league sluggers as a member of the Cats during their pennant winning days, president. Roy Meehan will continue as business manager and secretary.

In turning back the franchise to the league, Lard and Robinson donated the use of the park, grounds and all equipment for the remainder of the season. With the franchise went the players.

The announcement came shortly before the start of yesterday afternoon's game with San Antonio and quieted many rumors that had prevailed here for the past week or so.

"Because of my ranch in New Mexico and other business, I have turned the franchise back to the Texas League," said Lard, chairman of the board and major stockholder.

Robinson, who with Lard purchased the club in June, 1929, from W. K. Stripling, has been president. However, his business has carried him to Dallas and he was unable to actively continue at the head of the club.

Kraft, who was a member of the Cats from 1918 through the 1924 season, was persuaded to take over the presidency by Gardner and several business men of this city. He has been engaged in the automobile business here since retiring from baseball at the end of the 1924 season. He will continue his business in addition to heading the Fort Worth club.

"Only through his love for the game and the good of Fort Worth was Kraft persuaded to return to baseball," said Gardner. "We could not have obtained a better man for the position."

"The club here has been placed in complete charge of Kraft and Meehan and they will operate it as they see fit."

Kraft came to the Panthers in 1918 and the next year, 1919, they won the second half only to lose to Shreveport in the playoff for the pennant. From 1920 through 1924, Kraft's home runs and his play at first base was an important factor in the consecutive pennant winning streak of the Panthers.

The latter year he set a new Texas League home run record of 55, which still stands. Although when he retired Kraft had been with the Panthers at that time five-time Texas League champions, four-time Dixie Series champions, for seven seasons, it was not until 1921 that he crashed into the home run circle.

He hit 31 in 1921, came through with 32 in 1922, and the same number in 1923, then climaxed his work with 55 in 1924.

Kraft no doubt quit at the height of his career, as the 1924 season was one of the best he ever enjoyed both afield and at bat.

He was rated one of the smartest players, one of the hardest fighters and also one of the cleanest, most sportsmanlike players in the minor leagues.

You Can Spend Your Money and Have It TOO

...and this goes for business firms as well as individual consumers

Imagine such a thing!—"Spend your money and have it, too." But stop a moment and reason it out for yourself.

As a consumer, you know that practically everything you buy costs less today than for many years past. In a large number of cases, your dollar today has grown in purchasing power to such an extent that about half of it will buy the same commodity that it takes all your dollar to buy in normal times.

So, you see—you can save half your dollar and spend half your dollar—and still acquire as much in goods as your whole dollar would bring you ordinarily.

Farsighted business men, likewise, are taking full advantage of the opportunity. By investing money in adequate advertising programs they are not only securing immediate sales, but also are building a solid foundation for future leadership in their particular lines.

To win sales and good will, manufacturers and merchants must first win the confidence of customers. To do that, goods must be honestly made, fairly priced—and honestly advertised. So today, perhaps more than ever before, advertising is a protection to the consumer and a builder of business.

Cosden Beats Coahoma Nine

Oilers Victorious By 14-6 Count; Bob Potter Winning Hurler

Cosdoma met her superior for the day Sunday when Cosden Oilers invaded the eastern Howard county town. Battering, three pitchers, Cosden took Coahoma in to camp 14-6.

Mahoney, starting pitcher for Coahoma, was early blasted from the mound with a four-run quart. Beryl Cramer followed suit later in the game after Cosden bats consistently pecked his offerings out for base blows. J. Walker took over the twirling job in the final innings, but his luck was not much better than his predecessors.

Bob Potter, Oiler ace, held the Coahoma players well in hand and was at no stage forced to bear down. His portfolio throws held a mystery for Coahoma batters, for he sent twelve back to the bench via a strike out route.

MARTIAL—

Should Tell Friends.
"The East Texas Oil Club is an association of landowners and small oil operators organized for the purpose of disseminating information and assisting the Railroad Commission in the enforcement of law in the field. It is purely non-political, but it has become the duty of every member to convey to his friends and acquaintances in other parts of the state that if there are 10,000 reasons why Ross Sterling should not be re-elected, his martial law program is not one of them."

"We owe the Governor of Texas a debt of gratitude and every member of this club should be willing to write a letter to acquaintances or to get into a car and drive out in the state where he has acquaintances and personally explain to them what martial law in East Texas has been and that the governor is not guilty of a crime in declaring martial law, as pictured by the hirelings of the oil thieves and as pictured by candidates for office who are trying to capitalize on the natural prejudice against big companies by declaring that their opponents are dominated by the big companies in their efforts to maintain law and order in the East Texas oil field."

"The governor with martial law saved the financial life of the small operators and landowners of the field, and they should tell the people of the balance of the state about it and correct lies that have been told."

to suffer and to rise from the dead on the third day," and in 1 Corinthians 15:3 we read, "And that He arose again the third day according to the Scriptures."

"The third point I wish to discuss is 'The Meaning of the Resurrection.' First it proved that Jesus was the promised Messiah. Second it guarantees the resurrection of his own redeemed. Third, it brings peace and comfort to his children."

"The fourth point I wish to discuss is 'The Reminders of the Resurrection.' In the first place, all nature reminds us of the resurrection. The budding of the flowers, the singing of the birds all remind us of the resurrection of our Saviour. Second, the Lord's Day, the Christian Sabbath, is a reminder of the resurrection of Jesus. Jesus rose from the dead on the first day of the week, on Sunday. Ever repetition of his resurrection. Too there is an immortal hope planted in every human breast that Jesus arose from the dead. The last reminder I wish to call your attention to is the ordinance of baptism. The ordinance is a moving picture which testifies with accuracy and sacredly the burial and resurrection of our Christ. It also teaches us that the baptized is a new creature who is dead to sin and has arisen to live a new life. In Romans 6 and 4 we read, 'Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death; that like Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.'" very foolish if it did not accept the offer and bring up its end of the bargain in the best way possible.

To say that every sober-minded, progressive citizen, unincumbered by prejudices or misconceptions, would oppose accepting such a proposition would be insulting his intelligence.

But, nevertheless, indifference of many business and professional men of this community is in part responsible for this needless delay in accepting the commission's offer.

A majority of them really wish to see the roads built and if they have considered the present proposition at all they wish to see it accepted.

The type of indifference being shown is the very stuff from which arises most all the ills that we so often and so impotently pity ourselves for.

We have the opportunity of obtaining construction for which only 80 years than two-thirds of the voters balloted two years ago to pay $500,000 for—and now it is offered for considerably less than $100,000 total cost to the county.

We have the opportunity all but thrust upon us of having great construction program carried out within our own county with its offerings of employment to our people (for local, American labor always is given first chance on Texas road-building projects).

We have the opportunity of getting our roads built in such manner that will be serviceable and passable the year 'round, with reduced costs of operating our motor vehicles, with attendant growth in tourist traffic and business there from, with reduced cost now and always to farmers in carrying their products to market.

And bear this in mind: a farmer residing ten or 20 miles from his market is better off with a paved road one to five miles from his farm than with a dirt road to that market running alongside his farm.

Why the delay?

city on Reconstruction Corporation loans.

Conversely the house gave way on the home loan bill, accepting at last the Glass rider which will make possible nearly a billion dollar expansion of the currency.

President Hoover is expected to sign both Tuesday.

In the dragging finale caused by the final-day deadlines on the two points, the senate turned to prohibition, debating at length upon the Glass resolution to submit a substitute for the 18th amendment.
