Library news

"I'll Take Manhattan" by Judith Krantz runs a wild gamut of human desires. Excesses were a way of life. Ambition was without consideration of others.

Many critics consider Krantz as the foremost American author of today's fiction.

"I'll Take Manhattan" is a detailed story of ambition, self indulgences of the rich, the aspiring and the famous.

Readers will feel the same woven pattern spellbinding.

Now's the time to spray pecans

Pecan growers and homeowners in Mitchell County should begin spraying for the pecan nut casebearer on June 1-6, said Mitchell County Extension Agent Mike Mauldin.

"The casebearer can completely destroy a pecan crop if it is not controlled," he said. "Casebearer eggs are found on the tips of nutlets. The eggs are white when first laid, then turn red over a 3-5 day period before turning white again after hatching."

Insecticides should be applied the third day after the first eggs hatch to kill the larvae before they enter the nutlets. Since the larvae will hatch over a week-long period or more, a second spraying may be necessary, he said.

Insecticides recommended for casebearer control include, Diazinon, Pydrin, Cymbush, Malathion and Zolone. Zinc Sulfate or NZN should be applied at the same time. Pecans require zinc for normal stem and leaf growth.

Cancer screening slated

Mitchell County Hospital will again sponsor a breast cancer detection unit on Friday, June 5.

Appointments will be taken for the Friday screening by calling the hospital at 728-3431 and asking for Anna Staats. Cost will be $50 for the mammogram.

A mobile unit from Women and Children's Hospital in Odessa will be set up in the front parking area of the hospital on Chestnut Street on Friday.

A screening mammogram is an X-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation and is designed to detect early cancers. A female technologist, training in mammography, will perform the examination.

Hospital Administrator Ray Mason said there was a waiting list of 24 following the last visit of the mobile detection unit.

Storm system threatens area

A storm system that dumped over an inch of rain in Colorado City Thursday afternoon caused local schools to act out their tornado drills.

The storm system stretched from Big Spring to Dallas and residents scanned the darkened skies for signs of a tornado although the disaster sirens never sounded.

Many parents of elementary age children picked up their children early from school as the storm clouds became more threatening about 2 p.m.

There were two unconfirmed sightings of tornadoes, one near Westbrook and one north of Loraine. No damage was reported.

Mitchell County Sheriff Wendell Bryant said there was pea-size and gravel size hail at Westbrook and near the VISA truckstop between Westbrook and Colorado City.

"There were strong winds and pretty heavy rain, but no report of damage," said Bryant.

Bryant said his department received a call from Westbrook about a possible tornado as well as one from Loraine from a resident who observed a funnel cloud north of that town.

"Both reports were unconfirmed," said Bryant.

Colorado City Chief of Police Bobby Sparks said the heavy downpours caused some streets to become flooded and several vehicles were stalled at different intersections.

Sparks said that his department did not receive any reports of any damage from the storm.

Rainfall from Thursday was varied, with most reports ranging from an inch to an inch and a half.

Stephany Pierce

Sherri Webb

Webb, Pierce receive scholarships

Robert Cooper Memorial four years in a row. She has also been involved in FHA, high school cheerleader four years and athletics.

Pierce, a Westbrook graduate, plans to attend South Plains College and major in home economics education. She has been class officer for six years, involved in FHA and UIL competition for six years and athletics.

THESE FOUR CHS students will be competing at state UIL contest Monday in Austin. From left are Shelley Blassingame, Daneshu Lusk, Jody Webb, Catherine Blassingame and Stacie Miles.

A clarinet quartet and a clarinet soloist from Colorado High School will perform Monday at the University Interscholastic League State Solo-Ensemble Contest in Austin.

Representing CHS in the quartet are Catherine Blassingame, Shelley Blassingame, Daneshu Lusk and Stacie Miles. They certified for state competition in February at the District UIL Contest.

Also performing will be Jody Webb on a clarinet solo.

The quartet will be performing "Caprice" by Karl Schlabach. They are scheduled to play at 11:50 a.m. Their judge is Bryce Taylor from Dallas.

Webb is scheduled to play at 2:30 p.m. and is to be judged by Richard Shanley from Baylor University. Webb is performing Third Movement from Mozart's "Concerto for Clarinet."

Band director David Sims said the students will receive their results late Monday afternoon.

Local resident serving aboardship

Victoria Haskins told her future husband a year and-a-half ago that before she signed any marriage license, he should know she's already signed another piece of paper—an oath of enlistment with the U.S. Air Force.

But now, the 23-year-old airman first class is serving aboard a U.S. Navy vessel.

Haskins, daughter of Felix and Lucy Franco Sr. of Colorado City, is one of 65 Air Force people chosen to augment the Navy's newest hospital ship, USNS Mercy (T-AH 19), on a five-month humanitarian and training mission to the Republic of the Philippines and the South Pacific. The ship left San Diego Feb. 27 at the request of President Reagan to provide medical assistance to the Philippine government.

The Mercy is the largest military hospital ship afloat in the world. Staffed with more than 700 medical and support people from the Army, Navy, Air Force, U.S. Public Health Service, Military Sealift Command and the Philippine medical community. It's 12 operating rooms, 80-bed intensive care unit and 1,000-bed hospital make it the largest trauma center in the United States.

Haskins, a medical technician, is working and training side-by-side with Filipino medical communities visited by the Mercy during the ship's circumnavigation of the island nation. She is also part of a medical team which goes ashore to pre-established field clinics to provide medical assistance to nearly 1,200 patients a day. Those requiring special surgery are brought on the Mercy to Haskins' intermediate care ward where they usually have a three-day stay. Haskins says that her ward accommodates about 85 patients a day.

"I've never worked on a ward before," says the young airman, who is used to working in the clinic at Peterson Air Force Base, Colo. "In the clinic, we do a lot of patient evaluations and histories and assist in minor surgeries, but there is much more demanded of you here and the hours are long. Sometimes we don't get out of surgery until 8 or 9 at night."

But the hard work does not keep her from feeling good about what she's doing.

"Being a part of the Mercy crew and knowing we are helping in some way gives me a good feeling," she says of her maiden voyage. "I now have experience working on a ward and have learned a great deal from our Armed Forces of the Philippines counterparts—I don't feel lost any more."

Haskins says her husband, Dennis, of Colorado Springs, is understanding of military demands, including dealing with the long separation the Mercy mission involves.

"Even though he isn't crazy about the length of the trip, he knows this is something I felt would be a good experience," she says. "And I've learned quickly that life at sea is not so glamorous—it can be very lonely. A trip like this really helps you find yourself again."

The medical field is important to Haskins because, she says, she is filling a need in providing care for the sick. "By trying to absorb everything taught me and learning through this education, I'll be able to do all I can for the Air Force in whatever medical mission we are needed."

When the Mercy mission ends in July, Haskins will return to Peterson to complete her tour here. The Mercy will return to Oakland, Calif., where the ship will be home-ported and maintained in a reduced operational status, ready for emergency deployment within five days.

This is a story about three gradeschool runts - Ike and Mike, identical twins born just a couple of commercials apart - and me.

None of us had hips for our pants to lean on, so we wore suspenders. We lived on opposite sides of the same block. In between was a sort of forest - a thicket of trees that seemed to have no other purpose than to be there for kids.

You could climb a small tree and see the water tower in the next town. You could dig foxholes and forts in the soft dirt, and you could hide from your parents until their throats grew hoarse.

Lucille, the female dog of questionable breeding, that belonged to Ike and Mike, had seven pups in one setting. But like Ike and Mike and me, two of them were runts.

One was a black-and-white pooch named Spot, a boy pup, and a reddish-gold one named Goldie, a girl pup.

Lucille did her best to be a conscientious mother, and no one blamed her for the shortages that occurred.

At first her stomach had dragged the ground as she walked, sometimes with members of her family being dragged along in the dirt. But gradually the pouch drew up, and Ike and Mike and me had to help out by feeding the runts from a doll's bottle.

Both preferred their mom, but every time they piled into the mess hall, their brothers and sisters tried to trample them.

Spot died after three or four weeks, despite our best efforts, and Ike and Mike's grandmother buried him for us out by the cellar. We sniffled but took comfort in knowing Spot would never be hungry again.

Goldie was the last pup to be given away. We came home from school one day, and she was just gone. "Some very nice people wanted to give her a home," their grandmother said.

Ike and Mike lived with their grandmother because their mom had been killed for some unexplained reason, and their Dad was way up north doing men things.

She was one of those gray-haired grandmothers with a 40-inch waistline, and a large cotton print dress which managed to cover everything but her bare feet.

When she wasn't scrubbing Ike and Mike's ears and running a brush across their fingernails, she was sewing together look-alike print shirts with wide collars.

Occasionally we got into trouble, Ike and Mike and me. One time we hiked to a nearby lake and found a five and two ones on the way home.

We thought about trying to locate the owner for a second or two, then spent it all on pocket knives at the hardware store.

When our parents found out, I got grounded, and Ike and Mike had to throw their knives down the well in their back yard.

Another time the three of us got a whipping from the teacher at school for coming in late from recess. The paddle made Mike wet his pants.

Goldie wasn't really given away to nice people. It took us a couple of months to figure that one out, but after a block of wood was discovered serving as a tombstone in a remote area of the woods, it all came clear.

It only took a minute or two to dig up the grave for the proof we needed, and Ike and Mike got only a little upset about the deception. Their grandmother, we figured, was just trying to spread the pain over a little more distance.

Mike and I grew up and got fat, but Ike never made it. They didn't have a public swimming pool in this town, so Ike and Mike started going to a stock tank on hot summer days.

Ike just went under water one day and never came up.

I was a luckier runt, I guess. We moved to a larger town - one with a municipal swimming pool.

I have no idea how Mike survived.

Ring bearer was Zach Moser of Lewisville, cousin of the groom.

The groom and groomsmen Davenport, Martinets and Kilpatrick wore Texas A&M University Corps of Cadets uniforms. The other groom's attendants wore identical gray tuxedos with mauve cummerbunds and bow ties.

The bride presented a white and mauve rose to her mother as she entered and one to the groom's mother following the ceremony.

For "something old", the bride wore a diamond ring which belonged to the groom's grandmother. Her "something new" was her wedding attire. "Something borrowed" was diamond earrings belonging to Judy Bennett. "Something blue" was two garters, one made by Betty Sharni and one by Mary Gilbert.

Mothers of the wedding couple wore mauve dresses and lit the unity candles prior to the service. The mothers wore mauve orchid corsages and the groom's grandmother, Nan Cade, wore a white orchid.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table featured the traditional wedding cake. Mints, nuts and mauve punch completed the setting.

The groom's table featured a chocolate cake with seals of A&M University and the U.S. Air Force. A silver coffee service completed the table which was accented with a large arrangement of flowers including the bridesmaids' flowers.

Foster parents needed in area

There are children in this area who have been severely abused and neglected and need foster parents who can nurture and understand them and provide them a temporary home environment, while a permanent plan is being made for them.

The Texas Department of Human Services Children's Protective Services is mandated by law to investigate referrals of abuse and neglect of children. When an investigation determines that a child is in danger of being harmed in their home, a court order is secured and the child is removed and placed in protective foster care. It is at this point that foster parents become a very critical resource in the protection of these children.

TDHS needs individuals and families who really care for children and enjoy them and want to help, who will be willing to be licensed to provide temporary foster care while the agency works with their families to improve the home environment.

At this point Mitchell County has two foster homes. The Department needs several more foster homes in Mitchell County. There will be an orientation meeting to give persons who would consider being a foster parent additional information on Tuesday, June 2, 7 p.m., City National Bank Annex Room, 228 Elm in Colorado City. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Foster Parents are reimbursed at the rate of $8 a day for birth to age 9 and $9 a day for ages 10 and over. All medical expenses are paid. Families, single persons, and working mothers are welcome to consider foster parenting.

Susan Harrison receives degree

Susan Harrison of Colorado City received a bachelor of science degree in pharmacy during commencement ceremonies at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center May 9 in Oklahoma City.

"THROUGH LIFE'S STRUGGLES TO GOD'S BLESSINGS"

Rev. Robert Bracy - Pastor

St. James Baptist Church

When I was a youth and young adult, I chose to always attend worship and got joy out of going to church. I now know better reasons for that joy. Growing up in Mt. Zion Baptist Church, my pastor each week would fervently preach the Word of God. He challenged, inspired and encouraged us. What a great need there is today for those who will teach and preach the Word of God to challenge, inspire and encourage.

Life is full of struggles and moments of trials and we need the Word of God to give us direction. In looking at the Word of God, we see that Jacob wrestled all night with the Messenger of God, and would not let the angel go until he received a blessing. To know that God changed Jacob, let us know that God can change anyone. Paul tells us through the Galatian Letter, "And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we do not faint."

Life has its struggles, but also its blessings if we choose to do God's will.

Letter to the Editor

To the editor:

The time has come for everyone that is a parent (even if all your children are grown) to give some help to the Teenage Baseball League. A few men have been trying to keep the league going. A. W. Phillips, Jack Pharris, Randy Phillips, Light Rivera and Danny Molina have been working for years with the young men (13-15) who play ball at this field.

These men have jobs that they work at all day but still have time four nights a week to work with these young men.

They need coaches and managers and more boys who want to play.

Do any of you remember the good times you had playing or watching games on this field? Now is the time to help make good memories for the young people in town instead of dropping your kids off as you go to the softball field. I think there is room for both, softball and baseball, but right now these men need your help.

Thank you,
Doris Pharris

The letter to the editor in the May 28 issue of the RECORD written by a Mrs. Frieda Blair is not the Mrs. Fielda Blair who lives in Loraine.

An early Little League show-down was to have been played yesterday (Saturday) afternoon for sole possession of first place in the Freshman League standings.

The Dodgers and Pirates won this past week to remain as the only unbeaten Freshman League teams with 3-0 records and were scheduled to play each other Saturday at 4 p.m.

The Pirates temporarily had sole possession of first place after edging the Indians 11-10 Wednesday night. The contest was a make-up game rained out the prior Friday.

Richard Gomez pitched for the win that lifted the Pirates to 3-0. Gomez relieved starter Michael Humphrey who lasted three innings and left the mound with his team trailing 3-1. Gomez struck out seven in four innings of work.

The Indians took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning when center fielder Chad Moore doubled then was scored on catcher Jeff Haggerton's double.

M. Humphrey tied the score at 1-1 with a home plate steal for the Pirates in the top of the second. Jeffrey Stockton and Mark Contreras scored for the Indians in the bottom of the third to give their team a 3-1 lead but the Pirates went ahead 4-3 in the top of the fourth with scores by Gomez, M. Humphrey and Pete Rivera.

Frank Briseno started on the mound for the Indians and left trailing 4-3. Reliever Haggerton gave up three runs in the top of the fifth as the Pirates went ahead 7-3. The Pirates went on to get one more run in the inning but the Indians answered with six in the bottom half for a 9-8 lead.

Gomez and M. Humphrey scored in the sixth to give the lead back to the Pirates at 10-9. Indians left fielder Eli Ornelas' score tied the game at 10-10 in the bottom half. John Forbes, Gomez, M. Humphrey and Marvin Williams singled for the Pirates in the seventh and Forbes' scored gave his team an 11-10 lead. The Indians were held in the bottom of the final inning as Adrian Martinez was put out attempting to take home plate.

The Dodgers kept pace with the Pirates at 3-0 by beating the Astros 14-4 Thursday night. Heath Mann pitched for the win while Zach Findley took the loss for the Astros.

Scores by catcher Doug Conner and Mann in the first and by first baseman Brian Ritchey in the second gave the Dodgers a 3-0 lead but the Astros tied it up at 3-3 with scores by Nikko Biggers, Ryan Galey and Justin Dockrey that included a Galey homerun. The Dodgers put the game away with 11 runs in the fourth on 10 walks and singles by Scott Dyer and Johnny Gonzales.

Following the Dodgers win over the Astros was an Indians vs. Yankees game. The Indians rebounded from the tough Wednesday loss to the Dodgers by beating the Yankees 6-3.

Frank Briseno pitched for the win while Justin Zamarippa took the loss. The Yankees led 3-0 until the bottom of the fourth on scores by Adrian, Zamarippa and James Lopez.

John Fuller, Rusty Blair, Briseno and Terry Dickson scored for the Indians in the fourth and Haggerton and Fuller scored in the fifth to extend the Indians' lead. Briseno struck out 13 Indians.

In Minor League action Tuesday night the Blue Sox remained one of two undefeated teams with a 12-10 win over the Mets and the Colts kept within a game with a 5-3 win over the Cubs.

Races scheduled

The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring a 5K race and 1 mile Fun Run on July 4.

The race is to be held in conjunction with the July 4th-Fest, which will include food and craft booths, exhibits, live entertainment, a pet show, and free swimming for race contestants immediately after the race until 11 a.m. Many other activities will be scheduled throughout the day.

T-Shirts will be given to all race entrants and trophies to top finishers in each age division. The race will begin at 8 a.m. at the swimming pool in Ruddick Park. For more information, call Ed Levesque at 915-728-5636 or contact the Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 242, Colorado City, 79512, phone 728-3403.

Big wins posted

Mitchell County Church League softball completed four games Tuesday night but had four games rained out Thursday.

St. Ann's began Tuesday's contests by finally pulling away from the First Baptist Saints for a 15-4 win. St. Ann's led off with three runs in the top of the first but after three innings their lead was only 3-2.

Eight runs in the fifth gave St. Ann's breathing room at 11-2. Eddie Benitez was on base in four of five at-bats for St. Ann's while Joe Espinoza was on in three of four at-bats.

Heath Blasingame was on three of three times for the Saints.

The Calvary Scrubs downed the St. Ann's Lobos 19-7 in the second game Tuesday after taking an 8-3 lead after one inning of play.

On base four of four times for the Scrubs was Jardy Powell. Three for five and three for four, respectively, were Jeff Hammond and Mike Griffith.

Rudy Molina and Ricky Salazar had the top on-base-percentage for the Lobos.

The St. Ann's Lowriders defeated Calvary 15-6 in the third game. Calvary led 5-4 after five innings but the Lowriders scored eight in the sixth and three in the seventh to overcome. Bobby Arispe and Lee Wallace went four for four and three for three, respectively, for the Lowriders while Benny Arispe and Greg

Rodriguez got on base three of three

UGSA begins

Thursday's contests were rained out but the Mitchell County United Girls Softball Association completed two games following Tuesday night's opening ceremonies.

A 7:30 p.m. division I game saw the Jaguars edge the Babes 8-7 and following it was a division II 15-11 win by the Unicorns over Dynamite.

four times at bat.

Reggie Gardner and Johnny Forbes went two for three for Calvary.

In the final game the Prophets completed the night's fourth big winning margin by downing the Over 40 Gang 23-1. Marvin Mayfield scored four times for the Prophets with Ricky McPhaul adding three runs. Bob Rely got the Gang's lone run.

COLORADO HIGH SCHOOL assistant coach Rick Robinson starts the secondary backs on a bear crawl while the rest of the defense looks on during an off-season workout.

EACH DAY CAN BE A NEW BEGINNING

With certain few exceptions your body has the means to restore itself. If your muscles are weak, you can exercise to increase their strength. If a bone is broken, it can be healed.

If your body does not serve you well, you can assist it to do a better job. Whatever the problem, the odds are that your physician can help you correct it. Depend less on self-treatments and more on a physician's guidance. You will save much sickness-time.

BARBARA POWELL, a representative for Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc. book company in Dallas, conducts a workshop for CISD teachers Wednesday afternoon to prepare teachers for a new set of reading books to be used in CISD schools next school year.

Information sought on family

The story of immigrant James Knott who came to Virginia on the ship "George" in 1617 will shortly be published by James Dewey O'Brien, 812 Braeburn Dr., Fort Washington, Md. 20744, a native of Louisiana who is also descended from the Knotts.

O'Brien said that a descendant of the Knott family, James Burford Knott, who was born in Calloway County, Ken. and who lived of a while near his other relatives in the Beulah community of Natchitoches Parish, moved to Mitchell County, Texas, around 1878 with his wife Henrietta, his son William Tarpley Knott and other children. O'Brien asks the Texas descendants of the family to write him so that their data can be included in the book. At the time of the death of Henrietta Knott (1902), the family lived near Loraine.

O'Brien's book will describe the voyage of the George and conditions in Virginia upon its arrival; the death of Pocahontas, a fellow passenger, just before departing England; and the Indian Massacre of 1622 referred to in an affidavit given by James Knott around 1635.

TEXAS GARDENER TIPS

If you are serious about getting the most for the money you spend on gardening, make it a point to always purchase only high-quality, long-lasting tools.

Money saved by buying poorly constructed, ill-designed, flimsy gardening tools is false economy. These bargains will end up costing you more in the long run, for two simple reasons: They will have to be replaced within a year or two and, perhaps even more importantly, they will result in extra "wear and tear" on your body.

Today, there must be more than 100 types of gardening tools and, if you believe their manufacturers, you must own one (or more) of each if you expect to have any chance at all of growing a good garden. However, the truth is there are only five tools that you really need to grow a garden in most areas of Texas; a shovel, spading fork, hoe, garden rake and a sprayer.

Other desirable tools, in order of their importance, include a water hose, soil thermometer, cultivating fork and trowel. On the "not necessary, but certainly nice to have" list is a wheelbarrow and a rototiller.

When selecting these or any other tools, not only should they be of good quality, but make certain they fit your needs. Obviously, you do not need a rototiller if you have only got a small garden. And by the same token a 75-foot water hose is worthless if your garden is 80 feet from the nearest faucet. Also, before plunking down your hard-earned money at the checkout counter, actually go through the motions of using the tools while in the hardware store or garden center. Make sure they have the proper length, weight and balance for your particular height and build. If you are over 6 feet tall, you will be amazed how much better your back will feel after working up your garden soil using a spading fork with a 30- to 32-inch handle instead of one with a 28-inch handle.

A good, deep soil is sought by all gardeners. Add to this a good soil texture (loam or fine, sandy loam), gentle slopes and no hardpans, and you have the basics for bumper crops and beautiful landscapes.

If you do have a good, deep soil and deep-rooting crops that root 18 inches or more, you need to pay close attention to the suggestion: "Give it a good deep soaking." This is sound advice. If you have a soil 2 feet deep and have trees, shrubs or vegetables that root that deep, you need to wet the root zone 2 feet deep. Some crops root even deeper.

It is one thing to accept the "good deep soaking" advice but quite another to carry it out. When you try to irrigate by deep-soaking, do you really do it?

Stenholm questions new bill

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Charles W. Stenholm personally delivered a letter to Department of Labor officials expressing his concerns about the new Immigration Bill's regulations on temporary agricultural workers.

Under the immigration laws passed in 1986, a program called H-2A was implemented to regulate the temporary hiring of aliens in the ag field. The H-2A provision was supposed to provide a workforce for labor needs not met by the American population. However, the proposed regulations announced by the department drastically limit the "seasonal and temporary" workers to a narrow definition that excludes most of the livestock industry.

Cattle imports concern Bentsen

By Lloyd Bentsen
United States Senator

Last year, the United States imported 1.065 million head of cattle from Mexico. Given the rate of imports during the first three months of 1987, that number could increase to more than 1.9 million—1.4 million into Texas ports alone.

Are these cattle imports subsidized?

Are U.S. cattlemen being harmed by the sharp rise in imports?

Will this upsurge continue throughout the rest of the year?

We simply do not know the answers at this point. However, it does appear that U.S. cattlemen, particularly those on Texas ranches, are indeed subject to harm from these imports.

That is why—as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and in consultation with the Senate Beef Caucus—I am asking that the Finance Committee direct the International Trade Commission to get some answers.

My interest in the Texas cattlemen's situation is longstanding.

In 1979, for example, I authored the Meat Import Act, a major modification of the law. In a recent letter, Beef Caucus members said this law "may be more vital to the U.S. beef industry than any other piece of legislation ever to pass Congress."

At that time, there was little need to worry about live cattle imports.

POUND PUPPY - Rocky, a German short-haired pointer, is available for adoption from the city pound located at the Mitchell County Veterinary Clinic, Highway 208 South. Rocky is an adult male and should make a good watch dog. For more information about him or other pets available for adoption, call 728-8055.

"Now, the situation may have changed," Beef Caucus members said. "Such large numbers of cattle have crossed the border that many cattlemen fear the U.S. cattle market may be seriously undermined."

According to one study, American cattlemen have lost money nine of the last ten years. While they have not asked for government assistance and do not plan to, I think it is the duty of those of us who represent the cattlemen to—at a minimum—see that their interests are not undermined by unfair foreign competition.

The information provided by the ITC study should help us determine a reasonable response to this situation. The facts of this matter—including the impact on the cattle industry in Texas and other border states—must be documented so that we can take appropriate and informed action.

clear that, particularly with our current economic difficulties, we can ill afford unnecessary harm to such a vital industry.

Our cattlemen have earned their reputation as producers of the world's finest beef, and they are working harder than ever. But forces beyond their control can still rob them of profits and a decent return on their capital and labor.
