'Horns Lose In OT

Olton beat Lockney 63-59 in overtime Tuesday night in a high-school basketball game played at Lockney. The score was knotted at 53 at the end of regulation.

The Longhorns had a 10-point lead shortly before halftime and were up by six (30-24) at intermission. The Mustangs had cut the lead to three (41-38) by the end of the third quarter.

"It was a tough one to lose," Lockney coach Ed Koester said. "We played well at times but made some crucial errors which cost us the game," he said. Steve Warren was high scorer for Lockney with 14 points. Danny Riddle and Kevin Evans were close behind with 13 and 12 points respectively. Olton was led by Kelly Cox, who scored 18.

Olton won the junior varsity boys' game, too.

The varsity Longhorns play at home tonight, hosting Lubbock Christian High School in a game starting about 8 p.m.

Girls Down Olton

Lockney High School breezed by Olton in a girls' basketball game in the Lockney gym Tuesday night. The Lady Horns won 42-25 after leading 23-18 at halftime.

Rebecca Evans led the scoring, netting 16 points for Lockney. Karla McCarter was close with 14, and Stephanie Turner added six. Jimmi Sanchez was high for with Fillies with 10.

Lockney coach Marsha Sharp said McCarter played her best game of the year, and Evans shot the basketball better than she has all year. "We got some help from the bench, too," Sharp said. "We feel that this will give us some momentum going into district play, which starts a week from Friday," Sharp added. (The first district game for LHS basketballers is January 12, when Floydada comes to town.)

The Lady Horns (and the Longhorns) play Lubbock Christian High tonight (Thursday). The girls' game starts at 6:30 in the Lockney gymnasium. No high-school games are scheduled Friday.

PARENTS' NIGHT TURNOUT GOOD

There was a good turnout for the LHS basketball "Parents' Night" Tuesday in spite of the disagreeable weather. Coaches said they appreciated the support, not only from players' parents, but from all the Longhorn and Lady Horn basketball fans who attended the Lockney-Olton games Tuesday night.

Five Games Today In Lockney Gym

The Lockney Junior High Basketball Tournament is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. today (Thursday) at the Lockney school gym. The local seventh-grade girls play at 1:30 p.m. The game will be followed by seventh-grade boys' and eighth-grade girls' game. The eighth-grade boys play tomorrow.

Also today, Lockney High School varsity teams take on Lubbock Christian High School there. The girls' game starts at 6:30 p.m. and will be followed by the boys' contest.

FIRE TUESDAY MORNING destroyed Mrs. Hallie King's home at Fifth and Locust. [Staff Photo]

Fire Destroys Mrs. King's Home

Lockney volunteer fireman braved near-zero temperatures to fight an early-morning fire at Mrs. Hallie King's home, 601 West Locust, Tuesday morning, but fire chief Robert Webb said the residence, an older structure, was a total loss. Only a few pieces of furniture, some pictures, and possibly a few other small items were saved.

Mrs. King, 86, who lived alone in the house, was not injured. Lockney policeman Charles Higgs was credited with seeing that she got out of the burning house safely and taking her to a neighbor's home.

Dorothy McLendon of Lockney reportedly first discovered the fire, about 4:30 Tuesday morning.

Mrs. King had lived in the house at the corner of Fifth and Locust for about 22 years.

Webb said the fire apparently started in the attic of the house "or thereabouts," and it was difficult for fireman to get to the blaze to extinguish it.

Important Mission (Renewal) Planned For Catholic Church Here

FATHER JULIAN ROUSSEAU

According to the Father Joe Bixenman, Pastor of the Catholic Church, Lockney a well-known Franciscan Missionary, Father Julian Rousseau, from Pena Blanca, New Mexico, is to conduct a program of spiritual renewal or Parish Mission, in San Jose Church here, from January 6 to January 12. The main service, consisting of Holy Mass, Biblical sermons, prayers and hymns, will take place every evening at 8 p.m. Sunday through Saturday. A special program for the school children will be conducted by the experienced Missionary at Parish Hall on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, afternoons.

Father Julian, far from being a stranger in this area, has been preaching Missions, in both English and Spanish, throughout the Southwest for over 25 years. Originally from Escanaba, Michigan, he spent many years preparing himself for this work as priest and missionary, by studying Holy Scripture, Philosophy, and Theology, in various colleges of Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana.

Together with the pastor, Father Joe Bixenman, the visiting Missionary cordially invites and strongly urges all Christians of this area, both Catholic and non-Catholic, to attend the inspiring services for the glory of God, for the good of their souls, and for peace in the world.

With your fiancée, go to see the person who will be officiating at the ceremony. Select your attendants.

Begin planning your new home. Choose and register china and silver patterns.

Plan for your honeymoon: consult a travel agent and send for a variety of brochures.

Three months before your wedding, your guest list should be complete.

You should, at this point, begin shopping for your trousseau, select and order attendants' dresses, select a portrait photographer and order invitations and announcements at least four weeks before you want to begin addressing them, to allow sufficient time for engraving.

Make honeymoon reservations.

Plan details of ceremony and reception with caterer, florist, etc.

One month in advance, mail invitations; order flowers; choose gifts for groom and attendants; order groom's ring; have final fitting for wedding gown and headpiece; have portrait taken; arrange for newspaper announcements.

Two weeks before, go for marriage license with your fiancée; send announcements to newspapers; complete honeymoon arrangements.

One week before, take care of last minute details. Begin moving possessions to your new home.

Estimate number of reception guests and send tabulation to caterer.

PEOPLE in the NEWS

A lot more people are accepting the fact that it is possible for a woman to be a loving parent and still fulfill a demanding career outside the home.

outstanding example of this point, Martha said, "I was raised with the idea that a woman's role was to take care of her husband and the family and that was about it." The turning point came in 1964 when her children, then a parish priest asked her to help out temporarily by teaching the fourth grade in St. Joseph's Grammar School.

With no previous teaching experience, she began. Her progress in the next 13 years was phenomenal. She moved from St. Joseph's School to teaching kindergarten in the Signal Hill Public School District while earning advanced degrees in special education from Southern Illinois University.

She was soon asked to coordinate the elementary education program in the University's School of Education. From there she returned to Signal Hill School District as assistant superintendent. And just four years ago the amazing Martha O'Malley capped her career by becoming the first woman elected superintendent of schools in St. Clair County, Illinois' second most populous county.

There is untapped potential in every life. Martha O'Malley learned that in her own life. You can do the same in yours. Use your talents, that's why God gave them to you.

"ID" Card-A Must For Some

Medical

A medical identification card could save a life. In emergencies, a medical "ID" card can speak for the patient who cannot tell doctors about special needs or problems.

People who need a medical "ID" card are those with certain diseases or drug allergies and those who take medicine regularly—along with those who have any other problems that might affect medical treatment. To prepare a medical "ID" card, make clear, direct notes about needs or problems.

Among diseases that require notes on a medical "ID" card are diabetes, asthma, epilepsy and heart or kidney disease.

For example, if a person is diabetic, that note is necessary, because of the possible need for insulin in case of injury.

Also, an insulin reaction can be mistaken for drunkenness and result in improper medical attention.

DRUG ALLERGIES

Any severe allergies need a note, especially those caused by certain drugs.

Penicillin and sedatives often are used in emergency situations, but if a victim is allergic to these drugs, the treatment might cause more problems than the original emergency.

Write down known allergies to various insect stings, such as bees. These require immediate action.

Include the date of the last tetanus immunization—and whether or not the person is allergic to tetanus anti-toxin.

Care and safety tips for kitchen appliances

Chances are that once the flurry of wedding activities are over, you'll realize you are now the owner of a multitude of portable kitchen appliances.

These appliances will offer you many conveniences and save you valuable time and energy, if you use them safely and care for them properly.

To help keep your new kitchen appliances sparkling clean and in good working condition, follow these suggestions:

• A clean appliance will usually operate more efficiently than a dirty one; be sure to read the manufacturer's instructions for any special cleaning directions.

To quickly and effectively clean smudges, fingerprints and everyday dust and soil, keep a bottle of Glass* Plus* cleaner handy.

Just spray this versatile cleaner on washable surfaces—refrigerator, countertops, glass, plastic, chrome and unplugged small electrical appliances—and wipe with a paper towel or lint-free cloth.

• Immediately repair or replace any frayed electrical cords, faulty plugs, or otherwise damaged equipment before using in electrical appliance.

To avoid receiving shocks from safe, well-kept electrical appliances, be sure to keep the floor and countertops around them dry.

Also, unplug any electrical appliance, such as steam irons and coffee percolators, before filling with water.

MONKEY BREAD

1 cup Kellogg's All Bran
3/4 cup vegetable shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 cup lukewarm water
2 cakes compressed (or dry) yeast
2 Eggs well beaten
2 teaspoons salt
6 1/2 cups flour
1/2 pound margarine melted
Put All Bran, shortening and 1/2 cup (minus 3 teaspoons) sugar into large bowl. Pour boiling water over mixture. Stir until shortening is melted. Let stand until mixture is lukewarm. Crumble yeast into 1 cup warm water along with 3 teaspoons sugar. Beat eggs well, to which has been added salt. Fold the beaten eggs into the All Bran mixture, then add yeast cake mixture. Blend well on a mixer using low speed.

Gradually add 3 cups flour and beat thoroughly, still using mixer. Add remaining 3 1/2 cups flour by hand. Turn out about 1/2 the dough on a lightly floured board and knead lightly until smooth (about 1 minute). Roll out to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut in 2-inch diamond shaped strips with sharp knife.

Dip each strip in the warm melted margarine and let drain a moment. Stack strips in ring mold or tube cake pan, filling not more than half full. Cover and let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) for 1 1/2 hours. Preheat oven and bake at 300 degrees for 10 minutes, then raise temperature to 400 degrees and bake until golden brown about 15 minutes.

Remaining dough may be kept in refrigerator, as recipe makes 2 loaves. Better than bread freezes well, too.

According to Dr. Helen DeRosier, a New York psychiatrist, approximately 16 million Americans suffer from depression. She decided to do something about it by forming an organization called Depression Anonymous. By helping to heal hundreds—perhaps thousands—of those whose lives are tormented by feelings of being inadequate and unwelcomed, she made a great contribution.

I was intrigued by one of her techniques. Dr. DeRosier, as the members of her organization spend 20 minutes a day doing something they enjoyed in the past. I wonder if the staggering increase in the numbers of those suffering from depression has anything to do with a raging intellectual epidemic called solipsism.

The word comes from the Latin "solus" which means alone. It is the theory that the self can only be aware of its own experiences, that nothing else is real, nothing else is important. These ideas have led countless people to leave their jobs, their friends, and even their own families in search of self-realization. Most of them end up needing help.

I believe in the old bro-mide: an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. So I would advise those who want to avoid future depression to read the Gospel for five minutes every day. Purging the mind of solipsism early may be the best preventive defense for depression. The Gospel helps one to live in the reality of truth.

4-H Conservationists Take Action

Our planet's lakes, streams, rivers and oceans provide scenic beauty and recreation. But more important—they contain the water that is vital to the existence of all life on earth.

4-H conservationists identify community projects, points out Birch, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Here are some examples of 4-H conservationists in action. In Cole County, Missouri, 4-Hers initiated cleanup campaigns, planted trees in reforestation projects, set up wildlife shelters, and built bird feeders. Poster contests encouraged other young people to use their talents in conservation efforts. Last year, the county won a $50 award for the best 4-H conservation program in the state.

4-H'er Luke Lind, 17, of Windsor, Colorado, cleaned up a stream near his home, stocked irrigation ponds with trout, and planted grass in a three-acre wildlife habitat. Lind was one of six national winners in the 4-H conservation program last year.

John Deere offers a variety of awards to recognize the conservation accomplishments of 4-H members, clubs and counties. Awards are arranged by the Cooperative Extension Service.

In addition to six national scholarships $1,000 each, one 4-H member per state can earn an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago. And four members per county are eligible for medals of honor. Four clubs per county and 10 per state are awarded certificates of recognition. A $50 cash award goes to the one county in each state reporting the most outstanding 4-H conservation program.

For more information on the 4-H Conservation of Natural Resources Program, contact the county Extension office, adds Lobban.

Educational programs conducted by The Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, or origin.

Data Available On Vietnam-Era Veterans

A new statistical profile of the 8.7 million men and women in military service during the Vietnam Era is available in a Veterans Administration report, "Data on Vietnam-Era Veterans."

The report reveals that VA readjustment programs and other benefits for this youngest group of veterans amounted to $6 billion during the last fiscal year. More than $40 billion has been spent during the 14 years since the beginning of the Vietnam Era.

VA's total budget for all programs for nearly 30 million veterans of all wars was $18.4 billion last fiscal year. Education assistance payments for Vietnam veterans consumed more than half of the $40 billion total spent since 1965 on Vietnam veterans' programs.

"Because Vietnam Era veterans are the best educated group of veterans in the nation's history," VA chief Max Cleland said, "they have outstripped both World War II and Korean Conflict veterans in their use of the GI Bill education program."

Nearly 65 percent of the Vietnam veterans used their education benefits compared to 50 percent after WW II and 43.3 percent after the Korean Conflict. "More Vietnam veterans have used the GI Bill for college than the total for WW II and Korean Conflict combined," Cleland pointed out.

Compensation and pension payments comprise the second largest VA expenditure to Vietnam-Era veterans, a total of almost $8.1 billion through Fiscal Year 1978.

Medical care expenditures for Vietnam-Era veterans have amounted to $3.1 billion through Fiscal Year 1978. Other highlights from VA's data book show that Vietnam-Era Veterans:

- * have bought 1.8 million homes worth $47 billion;
- * have a 95.1 percent chance of being employed;
- * are the least likely (because of their relative youth) to have been hospitalized;
- * are 31.9 years of age on the average;

Quitaque News

The cotton harvest finally got underway in this area in mid-December, but not before the UNPREDICTABLE WEATHER took its toll. The extended wet spell that lingered day-after-day especially plagued the peanut producers, for many of them were caught in the middle of harvest, and damage was inflicted on the partially harvested crops. Cotton producers were MORE FORTUNATE, although they also had MANY ANXIOUS MOMENTS before the weather finally cleared and the bitter cold shifted to another region. It now looks as if a better than average crop will be made across the Quitaque Valley, and, if prices continue to hold, farmers should have a reasonably good pay day.

HERE AND THERE:

*(1) New Businesses—Two new businesses opened in Quitaque during December, and both GREATLY IMPROVED the looks along Main Street. On the west end of town Allsup's Convenience Store opened its 145th store in Texas and New Mexico, and Clyde Dudley is the manager and operator. Down in the middle of town Anne Fuston and Katy Robinson opened a new ladies beauty salon and men's hair styling and barber shop. A line of ladies shoes will soon be added, and the new business is called "Heads and Heels." The building has been remodeled, and has an attractive skylight that accentuates the large planter and hanging baskets in the center of the shop.

ACHIEVEMENTS AND AWARDS:

*(1) Highest Degree in Agriculture—Jeff Tiffin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Tiffin, and a 1978 graduate of Valley High School, received the HIGHEST DEGREE IN AGRICULTURE recently when he was awarded the American Farmer Degree of the Future Farmers of America at the National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri. Jeff was one of a select group of less than 1% of all FFA members in the U.S. who received this award.

*(2) What Makes Jerry Run? That was the headline Pioneer Seedlines Magazine recently concerning Jerry Monk, formerly of Quitaque, who now manages and operates Kelly Green Seeds in Farwell, Texas. The article went on to extol the tremendous job that 24-year-old Jerry has done in managing the operation and expansion of the elevator and seed firm since the responsibility was placed on his shoulders five years ago. Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L.B. Monk of Quitaque and his wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Prof. Patrick.

*(3) Honorary Lone Star Farmer Degree—One of the highest awards that can be conferred on a business man by the Future Farmers of America was awarded to O.R. Stark, Jr. recently at the District F.F.A. Banquet at Valley High School. A plaque was presented to O.R. by the members of the local F.F.A. chapter which conferred on him the symbolic Lone Star Farmer Degree.

*(4) Honors at Texas Tech University—Kim Ham recently returned from an all expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., where she was honored for her research and work on "The Journal of Financial Research," of which Kim was Managing Editor. At the Washington, D.C. meeting Kim gave a presentation before the Southern Finance Association. While at Tech Kim has been elected a Senator of the University, and has been on the Dean's Honor Roll every semester.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Farm Groups Are Upset

Budget Cuts May Victimize Conservation Work

WASHINGTON — Some farm groups are almost as upset over talk of sharp cuts in favorite programs administered by the Agriculture Department as they are about still-secret plans that President Carter may consider to reorganize the agency.

The National Farmers Union, for instance, says if Carter's goal for "fiscal austerity" is achieved in his new budget "there'll be blood on the carpet" at USDA.

As the farmers union sees it, programs that are costing the department $18.3 billion in the current fiscal year "would presumably cost $19.5 billion" next year because of inflation.

Speculating further, the farm union says in a recent newsletter that the agriculture department's share of the total reduction Carter wants would be about $400 million for the 1979-80 fiscal year.

Thus, it said, the total reduction - allowing for inflated dollars - would be about $1.6 billion for USDA programs.

Some big programs, including food stamps and farm stabilization programs, "will obviously cost more" next fiscal year, the union said. Thus, "where to find places to cut will be a puzzle."

The organization suggested cuts are likely to be proposed for the $190 million Agricultural Conservation Program, which helps farmers pay for carrying out approved soil and water conservation practices, and the special milk program which will cost around $142 million this fiscal year.

The group said "other likely targets" for budget-cutters will be the Soil Conservation Service, the Food for Peace program, agricultural research, and federal extension operations.

"It appears unlikely that anything near $1.6 billion in reductions can be found without serious damage - without blood on the carpet," the farmers union said.

"The administration may simply have to end up under-estimating what the programs will cost. This tactic makes the executive branch look good at budget-making time and the Congress look bad when needed funds must be voted."

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland said in a recent talk his department is undergoing a policy of "stringent belt-tightening" in its budget planning.

"However," Bergland said, "high-priority programs affecting farm income, farm exports, human nutrition and some others will not be materially changed."

But he said "actions and recommendations" are being considered that would reduce the department's work force, curtail or postpone some "lower-priority" programs, place a cap on pay raises and apply a "sunset" review to all projects under way.

"Sitting Around" No Way To Market Farm Products

AUSTIN — "You never get anywhere by just sitting around" is the salesman's familiar line on the TV commercial, but the Texas Department of Agriculture is showing that this philosophy can pay off in the real world of foreign agricultural trade.

As part of the continuing effort to get more Texas agricultural products onto overseas markets, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown recently completed a 10-day mission to Europe to meet with government officials, trade representatives, agricultural specialists and potential customers. The prime objective was a stopover in Paris to discuss possible sales of Texas food and fiber at SIAL, one of the world's largest international food and trade shows.

Other stops included London to meet with American agricultural attaches and potential buyers; the Netherlands to visit the offices of Great Plains Wheat and the U. S. Feed Grains Council; and Bonn, West Germany to meet with U. S. embassy officials.

"Our agricultural industry has long been aware of the vast potential that trading with other countries offers," Brown noted. "The Texas Department of Agriculture has been, and will continue to be, a major factor in the steady growth of foreign agricultural trade.

"This trade is of tremendous benefit to Texas and American farmers, who now harvest one out of every three acres for shipment to other countries," Brown noted.

"But foreign sales of agricultural goods also boost the general economy by helping offset the staggering U. S. trade deficit. In addition, it is estimated that over one million jobs in this country are directly tied to farm exports."

Brown noted that Texas agricultural exports increased some 16 per cent in 1977 over the previous year, and totaled nearly $1.2 billion. Major export goods included cotton, grain sorghum, wheat, rice and soybeans.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has long been involved in helping market the state's farm goods, and, realizing the importance of foreign markets, recently strengthened its efforts in this area with the addition of two international trade specialists.

These professionals recently arranged a meeting in Dallas at which the Republic of China (Taiwan) agreed to purchase some $11 million worth of Texas corn.

Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner

WHO SAYS AMERICANS DON'T LIKE MEAT? According to surveys done by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the grocery industry, meat continues to be a mainstay of the American diet, notes Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

"Fresh beef was the leader in retail food sales in 1977, with consumer expenditures of more than $11.5 billion nationwide," Brown said. "Sales of broilers and turkey totaled some $9.5 billion, while consumers purchased $2.7 billion worth of fresh pork."

Brown stated that sales of provisions, which include packaged bacon, cured hams, frankfurters, sausage products and cold cuts totaled $10.3 billion. Consumers purchased $731 million worth of veal and $626 million worth of lamb, he added.

"As rising food prices continue to get widespread publicity, I feel it is important to point out that consumers paid more for beer and cigarettes in supermarkets last year than they did for fresh beef," Brown said. "While they bought $11.5 billion worth of beef, a total of $11.7 billion was spent on the other two items."

THE EFFECT ON TEXAS of an upcoming federal review board proposal could be tremendous if the suggestion is taken seriously, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown notes.

"According to statements made by U. S. Sec. of Agriculture Bob Bergland, a federal panel plans to recommend that government price supports and farm loans be eliminated for irrigated farms and ranches," Brown said. "While this would apply only to states where water supplies are short, Texas would be included, as well as most of the states west of the Mississippi River."

"The impact on Texas would be tremendous, especially when 60 per cent of our crop production comes from irrigated operations," he stated.

Brown added, however, that he does not believe this proposal will be seriously considered by the administration, and would run into stiff opposition from farm state political leaders.

Cattle Feeding Profits To Be Slim In 1979

COLLEGE STATION — Despite higher prices for fed cattle, the cattle feeding business may well be in for a squeeze in 1979 due to increasing costs. These costs are in the form of high feeder cattle prices.

"While there will be good feed supplies at generally favorable costs, people in the cattle feeding business will be faced with higher prices for the cattle they will be putting into their feedlots," reports Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

According to the Texas A&M University System specialist, high feeder prices are a result of two things - massive liquidation of the cattle herd since 1975 which has brought on a dwindling supply of feeder cattle, and inspiration from spring and summer profits in cattle feeding. Looking at feeder prices, Uvacek points out that the yearling steers at Ames billion acres of farm land will average in the upper $50s (per hundredweight) this year, or less than one-half of 1978, about 46 per cent of the total, or less than last year. Prices are likely not to increase half as much in 1979. However, a report from Choice Yearling Feeder Steers Control Number printed on will probably average in the mid- to upper $60s.

As far as the feeder cattle business is concerned, cattle prices should also be up next year and will be in the upper $50s. Follow-up letters average in the upper $50s. This rise, however, will depend upon supplies of cattle and meat and consumer demand, notes Uvacek. "All this means that margins for cattle feeders will be slim during the winter months, and there may well be a lean time."

Despite careful screening the mailing lists used, persons not engaged in agricultural activities will receive report forms. Those persons should return the form with that fact noted in order to stop additional mailings.

Nation's 21st Agriculture Census

The 1978 Census of Agriculture gets underway this week with the mailing of report forms to all farms and ranches in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. Department of Commerce, announced today.

Farmers and ranchers are being asked to report on their agricultural operations during 1978. This 1978 census is a series that started in 1940, will update data most recently obtained in 1975 for 1974 operations. Information will be sought on all agricultural operations.

With report forms for the 1978 census drastically reduced from the 22 pages of the last census, most agricultural operators will receive a four-page form in the mail, and about 20 percent will receive a five-page version. The overall time required by farmers to complete the form has been reduced by more than one-third.

The census will continue to monitor trends in domestic production and control of land. The last census showed a five-year gain in the number of U.S. corporate farms from 22,000 to 29,000; the amount of acreage they farmed rose from 80 to 97 million acres, and the value of their farm products rose from $6 billion to $14 billion.

The census asks whether a farm is operated by an individual, or partnership, a family-held corporation, an investor-owned corporation with more than 100 stockholders, or some other legal entity such as a cooperative, estate or trust, or an association, etc.

The apparent increase in farm ownership of land raised questions in the past about the business of agriculture.

A Department of Commerce survey showed about 5 million acres of the Nation's farmland is owned by foreign interests, or less than one-half of 1 per cent of the total. Prices of new farm census will likely not increase half as much in 1979. However, a report from Choice Yearling Feeder Steers Control Number printed on will probably average in the mid- to upper $60s.

All respondents will be asked to report either from their records or by estimate, the following information: amount of farm acreage by use of ownership; land use; rearing, production, and sales of a number sold of livestock selected farm operations. About 20 percent of the farms are seeking any land and buildings for production of farm labor, pesticide use, fuel usage, etc.

Congressional agencies, agricultural and business groups rely on the data to develop farm programs, railroad and cars during from farm fertilizer developed.

Nation's 21st Census Of Agriculture Begins This Week

The 1978 Census of Agriculture gets underway this week with the mailing of forms to all farms and ranches in the 50 states, District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. The Department of Commerce, announced today.

farmers and ranchers are asked to report on their agricultural operations during 1978. This 21st farm census, a series that started in 1900, will update data most recently obtained in 1975 for 1974 operations. Information will be sought on all agricultural operations.

With report forms for the 1978 census drastically reduced from the 22 pages of the 1975 census, most agricultural operators will receive a 10-page form in the mail. About 20 percent will receive a five-page version. The overall time required by farmers to complete the form has been reduced by more than one-third.

The census will continue to monitor trends in domestic ownership and control of land. The last census showed a five-year gain in the number of U.S. corporate farms from 22,000 to 29,000; the amount of acreage they farmed rose from 80 to 97 million acres, and the value of their farm products rose from $6 billion to $14 billion.

The census asks whether a farm is operated by an individual or family, or partnership, a family-held corporation, an investor-owned corporation with more than 100 stockholders, or some other legal entity such as a cooperative, estate or trust, or farming association, etc.

The apparent increase in foreign ownership of land in the United States has raised questions in the Congress and with business and agricultural groups. In a Department of Commerce survey showed about 5 million acres of the Nation's farmland are owned by foreign interests, or less than one-half of 1 percent of the total.

Prices for new farm census will likely not increase half the increase in 1979. However, each report form will have a choice of two different control numbers printed on it, one for the 1978 census and one for the 1979 census. Because of the change in control numbers, a response is required by law.

As far as the feeders are concerned, the cattle prices should also be affected by the Bureau of up next year and will likely average in the upper-$50s. This rise, however, will depend upon supplies of corn and soybeans, and the cost of feed.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Van Hoose Sunday. Their children, Frances and William Hensley and family of Denton, Cecil and Betty and daughters of Kingland, John and Wayne VanHoose of Levelland, Alford and Barbara of Lubbock were all present. Pauline's sisters and brother were all present but one. They are as follows: Judy and Marie Strickland of Kingston, North Carolina; Eddie Joe and Gail Fortenberry, Marcia and John of Lockney; and Eula Mae Wilson of Ralls.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Danny Durham and baby and Jimmy Durham of Lockney were present for dinner. Lyn Hensley stayed for a few days and Richard VanHoose and John D. took him home as two years.

Census officials also point to these features of the 1978 census:

--A second copy of the report form which the respondent can complete and keep for his own records.

--The option of receiving major county data merely by checking a box on the form.

--A time extension which will be granted farmers who request it.

--An improved mailing list, and a "Were You Counted?" campaign for any farmer inadvertently omitted.

The law which requires farmers to answer the census items also protects the privacy of answers. Since 1900, census report forms have been confidential by law. They may be seen only by sworn Census employees and may be used only for statistical totals. Even other government agencies cannot obtain or use the reports made by any farm operator. Neither can anyone use legal means to obtain a copy of the report retained by the operator in his files.

Farm operators who do not receive a form during the first week of January should request one from the Bureau of the Census, 1201 East 10th Street, Jeffersonville, Indiana 47132.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

CAR TRADE-IN VS. SELLING

When deciding whether to sell or trade in an old car, consider that the trade-in will bring less time, but selling will bring more money, says Sharon Hillis, County Extension Agent.

TRADE-IN VS. SELLING

Selling the car could mean a couple of hundred dollars more than trading it in but will usually take more time. Whichever route you take, start by determining the asking price for the car.

Read the local newspaper's classified section to check car prices.

Also, check the National Automobile Dealers Association Official Used Car Guide or the Kelly Blue Book Market Report. Banks, credit unions, insurance agencies or auto dealerships have copies of these books.

Often a phone call is all that is needed to find out the average retail and wholesale car price.

For trade-ins, the dealer will usually offer a price near the wholesale price.

Consult the used car guides ahead of time to see whether his offers are on target or not.

CAR SELLING

If the decision is to sell, start with a thorough clean-up to ready the car for sale. But, don't invest much money in repairs.

Wash the body, wheels and tires thoroughly. Scrub white walls and remove any tar from the body. Then wax the car.

Clean the interior by removing the mats, vacuum the seats and rugs and use spot remover for spots on cloth upholstery.

Don't forget to clean the trunk also. Eliminate noises and rattles that might create uncertainty in the buyer's mind.

Lubricate hood, trunk and door latches.

See that the windshield wipers are in good condition and replace any burned out bulbs.

Clean all leaves, insects and debris from the engine compartments.

Clean the battery and its terminals.

Change the oil if necessary and add coolant to the radiator if it is low.

ADVERTISING CAR 'FOR SALE'

To advertise the car, consider placing a "For Sale" sign in the window, but use them only if legal.

Weekends are among the best times to find car buyers from placing ads in the classified section of the newspaper.

Before buyers arrive, check with the county Tax Assessor-Collector to learn the procedure from transferring the car title.

Prepare for buyers to inspect the car and if they want to test drive it, go along with them.

When you find a buyer, it is best to take payment in cash or a certified or bank check.

Lewis To Speak On Tri-Lateral Commission

by U.S. Sec. of Culture Bob Bergland, a panel plans to amend that government supports and farm loans eliminated for irrigated and ranches. Brown "While this would apply to states where water is short, Texas will be included, as well as of the states west of the Mississippi River.

The impact on Texas would be tremendous, initially when 60 per cent of crop production comes from irrigated operations," he added, however, he does not believe this will be seriously considered by the administration, and would run into opposition from farm political leaders.

Cattle Feeding Profits To Be Slim In 1979

COLLEGE STATION — Higher prices for feed will mean the cattle feeding business may well be in for a squeeze in 1979 due to rising costs. These costs in the form of high feeder prices.

"While there will be good supplies at generally favorable costs, people in the cattle feeding business will be faced with higher prices for the cattle they will be putting into their feedlots," reports Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

According to the Texas A&M University System specialist, high feeder prices are result of two things—massive liquidation of the cattle herd since 1975 which has brought on a dwindling supply of feeder cattle, and aspiration from spring and summer profits in cattle feeding.

Looking at feeder prices, a survey showed about 5 million acres of the Nation's yearling steers at Amarillo, Texas, owned by foreign interests, or less than one-half of 1 percent of the total, or less than last year. Prices for new farm census will likely not increase half the increase in 1979. However, each report form will have a choice of two different control numbers printed on it, one for the 1978 census and one for the 1979 census. Because of the change in control numbers, a response is required by law.

As far as the feeders are concerned, the cattle prices should also be affected by the Bureau of up next year and will likely average in the upper-$50s. This rise, however, will depend upon supplies of corn and soybeans, and the cost of feed.

Washington Events Affecting Our Community

How much you have to pay for the next shirt, sheet, or pair of socks you buy may be affected by the activities of some people in Washington. Charles L. Schultze, the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers recently sent a memorandum to President Carter, pointing out that in light of the President's concern about inflation, "It is important to ensure that any new regulations do not impose unnecessary or uneconomic costs on American industry."

GOVERNMENT REGULATIONS can affect inflation.

Nevertheless, and despite the opposition of a number of legislators, the government has issued some unnecessary regulations for the cotton industry that could be very expensive for consumers.

This new standard would require industry to purchase as much as $2.6 billion in new equipment and involve greatly increased annual operating costs. Adoption of the proposal has already led to costly lawsuits.

Such expenses, economic experts say, could tend to raise consumer prices of the more important things we buy made of, or with, cotton. As cotton prices rise, the costs of other fibers will go up, too.

LITTLE KNOWN FACTS

When putting a sweater or shirt with a small opening over a baby's head, remember that baby's head is more egg-shaped than ball-shaped. Gather the sweater into a loop, slip it first over the back of the head and then forward, stretching it forward as you bring it down past the forehead and nose. When taking it off, pull it over the face, then slip it off the back of the head.

There's no need to look dowdy while you're expecting. Put some zing in your life by donning snappy outfits like this soft-knit polyester and cotton turtleneck with back zipper that slips easily under a fluttersleeve striped sweater from Mothercare, retailing specialist for mothers under five. An exclusive easy-to-adjust button-elastic waist on the coordinated pants allows plenty of growing room.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU DRINK?

All living cells of the body function in a fluid environment. This fluid is steadily lost through the gastrointestinal and urinary tracts. More is lost by respiration and through the lungs. It must be replaced because the skin cannot absorb moisture from the air no matter how humid the day.

The body usually functions best if two quarts of liquids are taken in each day. One quart is considered the minimum. So estimate how much you get each day in coffee, etc., and drink additional water to help keep you healthier.

Tax Payer Education Seminar Coming to Floydada

The Internal Revenue Service has established certain requirements for taxpayers filing income tax returns this year.

The following is a list of the minimum amount of gross income which would require a taxpayer to file a return.

Single persons can earn up to $2,950 before they are required to file. Single persons aged 65 or over have a gross income limit of $3,700.

Married persons filing a joint return have a gross income limit of $4,700. Married persons with one spouse over 65 filing a joint return have a gross income limit of $5,450. Married persons who are both over 65 filing a joint return have a gross income limit of $6,200.

Married persons filing separate returns have a gross income limit of $750, while a surviving spouse (qualifying widow/widower with a dependent child) has a gross income limit of $3,950.

In addition, taxpayers are required to file a return if:

- They have received tips from which social security tax was not withheld, even if gross income was less than $2,950.
- They were in business for themselves and had net earnings of $400 or more (called self-employment income).
- They had unearned income of $750 or more, such as dividends or interest from savings accounts, and can be claimed as a dependent by their parents. This is particularly important to students.

These and other questions concerning your 1978 tax return will be answered in the Taxpayer Education program. This public service course, jointly-sponsored by the Lubbock Chapter of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and the Internal Revenue Service will be offered Feb. 6 and 8, 7-10 p.m.

CPAs volunteer their time to assist taxpayers during a two-night informal program, which provides both instruction and question-and-answer sessions. The course is available to the public at a charge of $1 to cover administrative costs.

Classes will be held at Lubbock High School; Atkins Junior High; Evans Junior High; Smyle Wilson Junior High; O.L. Slaton Junior High; Roosevelt School; Plainview School; Floydada High School; and Littlefield High School.

Fairview News

By Mrs. Clyde Bagwell

January 1. This is the beginning of a new year and the ground is covered with snow. A sleet and ice storm hit here Saturday. Sunday and Monday we had snow and the temperature dropped to near zero.

Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Allen and Mike visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy. Charles Beedy of the ranch near Claude was also there. He came Friday and visited with his parents several days. Then on Sunday night, New Years Eve, Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wilson and Harvey Judy and Mike Allen and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye visited in the Bill Beedy home.

Lee Burton visited Christmas Day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook.

Tuesday December 26 Mrs. Don Winters and daughter Nancy of Amarillo visited Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cook.

Mrs. Ray Cook received word from her son, Lt. Col. Keith Whitfield, saying he had been transferred to Charleston, South Carolina. He and his family have been making their home in Arlington the past several years. His family will join him in Charleston as soon as school is out.

Karen Pruitt spent Wednesday night with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye and on Saturday night Christy Pruitt spent the night with her grandparents. Rick Carthel of Lubbock spent Friday night with his sister and family. Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Cozby and Kara. Saturday all of the above named had dinner with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gene Carthel.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson visited Mrs. Walton Wilson Friday.

Sunday, New Years Eve, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson went to Plainview and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. M.O. Stapleton and remained to see the old year go out and the new year come in.

Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Payne returned home Thursday afternoon from Oklahoma City where they had gone on Christmas eve to spend the holidays in the home of their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Nicholas, Kelli, Lance and Chad.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Marsee of Norman, Oklahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Seth Percy of Wayne, Oklahoma, visited in the home of their sister, Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Walls and all attended the funeral of Mrs. D.D. Tate in Lockney Thursday. Mrs. Tate is a sister of Mrs. Marsee. Mrs. Walls and Seth Percy.

We sympathize with Anne Swepston in the loss of her aunt Mrs. Ruth Bostick of Matador. Anne went to Matador Friday to be with the family, but she did not return on Saturday morning for the funeral service due to real bad icy roads.

Those visiting during the past week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Graham were Mrs. Ted Bell and Shannon, Steve Lloyd, Ozell Chappell, and Mark Hart of Wayland College.

Mr. and Mrs. Kay Crabtree, Becky, Sam and Anissa were Sunday dinner guests in the home of his mother Mrs. Kate Crabtree. They also came to be with Mrs. Lige Moore and Robbie, who spent the holidays here in her mother's home. Mrs. Moore and Robbie were to leave Tuesday.

Mrs. Jewell Teague visited at the Floydada Nursing Home Wednesday with her aunt Mrs. Ethel Roy and also with Mrs. Mary Harris.
