Four Quail School Board Members Seated Over Protests of Group

Quail School Board at special meeting Thursday, April 12 canvassed the election of four members to the school board over protests of a group of 15 taxpayers claiming seven members had been elected in the April 7 election.

Some of the group has been involved in a lawsuit contesting a Quail School, District bond election and another suit concerning revaluation of the district's tax rolls.

Attorney Paul Spillman (who said he was acting as an individual taxpayer and not in his professional capacity for the group) cited a 1946 Texas Attorney General's opinion as applicable to the Quail School election. Spillman said that because Quail School changed from a rural high school district to an independent school district last year, an entirely new board of seven members should have been elected this year.

Quail School District has had nine trustees for many years, the apparent result of consolidating small school districts and adding representation from those districts. Board president Donald Langley and superintendent Wilford Arthur said the school had been advised by the Texas Education Agency "to stay with nine."

Three regular terms on the nine-man board expired this year, and one one-year unexpired term was due to be filled. These four places appeared on the ballot.

Elected in the April 7 election to the four places were John Farris, Jim Kennedy, Donald Langley and Don Hall.

The taxpayer group said that in addition to the four, candidates who polled the next three highest number of votes should also take seats on an all-new board of seven members. The next three highest candidates were write-in candidates Earl Patterson, Allen Havens and Jimmy Coleman.

But after consulting with an attorney by telephone, the board swore in Hall, Kennedy and Langley. (Farris was absent.)

The board then unanimously elected Donald Langley president, Cary Don Neeley vice president and Dan Guthrie secretary.

On other matters, Superintendent Wilford Arthur reported to the board that a bill before the Texas Legislature would provide a school of Quail's size with a minimum of 12 state-funded personnel units, which, Arthur said, would "definitely help our financial situation." "Under this bill, 90% of our teachers will be paid for by the state," Arthur said.

Arthur also reported that approximately 8% of the district's 1978 taxes were overdue, approximately 47%

County, City Will Update Plans to Cover Disaster

How well prepared is Wellington to take the brunt of a tornado?

Thinking of one-fifth the population in Wichita Falls homeless--20,000 people--Wellington residents are raising questions about their town's preparedness.

Updating the county's Civil Defense plan is going to be a No. 1 priority, says County Judge Bob Watson. His office makes him the county's Civil Defense Director.

He was in Austin to attend a Civil Defense meeting a short time ago when a death in the family brought him home. He is due to attend another in May.

Watson indicates he won't wait until May to tackle the CD updating, working with other officials and Mayor Bill Hatch.

"It is an absolute necessity to have a disaster plan as soon as possible or revise and bring up to date the one we have," he declared. Watson heard probate, county and commissioners court sessions Monday and Tuesday and said he hoped to talk with Mayor Hatch Wednesday on the Civil defense plan.

After seeing devastation at Vernon first hand, Chief Deputy Jerry Settle said storm watch operations carried on by the Sheriff's department will be stepped up.

A good many county residents, using scanners and CB radios, already monitor storm watch progress as relayed by the watchers.

Wellington has two warning systems. The primary system is the fire department siren--two long, even blasts. The two blasts are repeated within a few minutes. If a tornado is spotted, the warning may be sounded again.

There is no all-clear signal. Each person uses his own judgement as to when to come out of storm cellars and basements.

Complaints remain that some cannot hear the siren. Officials believe part of this is due to closed doors and windows, air conditioners in operation and television listening.

The second warning system is in conjunction with Cablecom General. Operated manually from City Hall, the warning goes out over all channels except 7 and 10, both in Amarillo. This includes Channels 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 11, 12 and 13.

Dorothy McGill, Cablecom manager, explained that if the warning is used on Channels 7 and 10, the picture and sound quality are affected.

Should a tornado be sighted in the Wellington area there are a number of shelters in the business district. Watson reviewed these, which were designated as fall-out shelters some years ago.

Basements in the court house, Wellington State Bank, City State Bank, and Southwestern Rail Products, could house several hundred persons. However, all are closed after working hours and on weekends. Few people are downtown then either.

The basement of Bura Handley Community Center will always be open, says City Manager Glen Taylor. For a number of years, people have come to the community center, when especially savage clouds gather.

Mayor Hatch believes that Wellington could come through a tornado with fewest casualties if every family or individual looked around the neighborhoods and located storm cellars or basements where they could take shelter, if they do not have one of their own.

Most have done this long ago but Hatch repeated the warning for newcomers who might not have storm cellars.

Judge Watson suggested that people stock their cellars or basements with cans of food that would not need cooking, along with drinking water, a coal oil lamp or lantern--enough to last several days if they lose their homes.

Both Hatch and Watson repeat: "Find shelter."

The mayor urges that doors on storm cellars be left unlocked during the storm season. An abandoned cellar on a vacant lot will give protection from an approaching tornado. Those who must resort to this are reminded to watch for snakes.

What is the capability to care for the injured?

Some years ago a 200 bed CD emergency hospital was stored in the community building basement. Later officials were notified to destroy certain outdated drugs. This was done, but present officials do not know if they were replaced.

This whole hospital unit will be checked and updated, Watson says.

It could be set up in any building that escaped a tornado; community center, armory, schools, even under a tent.

Dr. Carter Holcomb warned that "If your hospital goes,

GIRLS TRACK TEAM

Wellington High Rockette track team's regional qualifiers will compete Friday and Saturday in Odessa. From left are Kathleen Reeves, Mary Sue Thompson, Valerie Van Pelt, Laura Gragson, Pam Ingram, Renessa Cardwell, Wanda Thomas, Susie Chandler and Vanessa Ingram.

Nine Rockettes Go to Regional Track Meet

Nine Rockettes will represent Wellington and UIL District 2-A in the Regional track meet at Odessa Friday and Saturday, April 20 and 21.

The girls, with Coach Debbie Chisum, will leave Wellington Thursday morning and stop in Lubbock for a practice session.

UIL competition for Class A will start Friday afternoon, and all events in which Wellington students compete will be finished Saturday afternoon.

"We are running faster and stronger than last year," said Coach Chisum.

The Rockettes will field two relay teams. In the 880 relay will be Pam Ingram, Laura Gragson, Mary Sue Thompson, and Kathleen Reeves.

Running in the mile relay will be Reeves, Valerie Van Pelt, Wanda Thomas and Renessa Cardwell.

Vanessa Ingram will compete in the mile run. Susie Chandler in the shot put. Thompson will also compete in the 80 yard hurdles and Van Pelt in the 440 yard dash.

Several parents are due to accompany the girls and their coach to Odessa.

Coach Chisum had praise for the support the community has given the Rockettes.

"We appreciate all the support the girls got at the district 2-A track meet. We were the only team there that had any support at all, and that shows how our townspeople do support our kids," she said.

Norwood Teenage Students Among Those Learning CPR Technique

A person stricken with a condition that causes his heart beat to stop can find emergency help in most parts of the Samnorwood school district. Some of those who give this help will be as young as 14 years.

A class of 34 completed the Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation course sponsored by Samnorwood Young Homemakers and taught by Johnny Brown, a certified instructor.

Their training will enable them to sustain heartbeat and breathing in an ill or injured person until an ambulance can arrive. They can continue resuscitation in the ambulance or emergency vehicle en route to the hospital if this is necessary.

They were members of the authorized American Heart Association course, and those successfully completing it will be certified by AHA Brown said.

Eight who learned the technique of keeping a failing heart beating, or starting heartbeat where it has already stopped, are Samnorwood School students.

Four were 8th graders, Crystal Breeding, Stan Tate, Tony Carter and Scott Peoples.

Steve Knoll is a high school freshman and Sally Kincannon, Russell Schaub and Lynn Tate are sophomores. All of these understand the urgency of getting a stopped heart beating again, within four minutes.

Others enrolled in the course were Connie Dwyer, Karon Tate, Bonita Myers who is a teacher, Leon Myers, Bobby Leon Myers, Jr., Harriett Schaub, Butch Tate, Mary Waters, Clifford Oldham, Worth Shields, Frances Barker, Dianne Breeding.

Mrs. Noah Stice, Mrs. Floyd Tate, Pat Breeding, Jimmy R. Breeding, Donald Coleman, Rudie Tate, Sam Carter, Norma Carter, Martha Coleman, Joe F. Knoll, Lois Knoll, LaVerne Bentley, Ellie Peoples and Sherrie Martindale.

"It surprised us how quickly they learned," said Marshall Peters, another CPR instructor.

Instruction included class work to give an understanding of the procedure and practice on the teaching mannikins to gain proficiency.

"I feel we are real fortunate to have these people qualified in this life-saving technique, and exceptionally glad that students were included," said Supt. Rex Peeples.

In addition to this group, faculty members received CPR instruction on an in-service day last year.

All those certified may keep certification current by taking a refresher course at regular intervals, Brown pointed out.

The American Heart Association is encouraging the course in schools for students in the sixth grade and above.

Oklahoma is planning to start CPR instruction in elementary grades on a state-wide basis, according to information received here.

had been paid into a court fund (because of litigation over a tax increase) and the remainder had been paid to the school.

Arthur also said that no hearing date had been set on the tax suit.

More material and labor have been donated to the school toward completing the cafeteria building, Arthur said.

The board and Arthur also answered several questions from the taxpayer group.

The group asked why the school had purchased a new automobile, and Arthur said that he had personally purchased the automobile but had licensed it under the school's name because it was used for driver education classes and his insurance would not cover those classes.

The group asked if tax money would be used to finance the senior trip, and Arthur said that senior trip money will come out of the school's activity fund which is raised by the annual pie supper and other projects.

you're in real trouble."

It is standard hospital procedure here and elsewhere to move all patients, in their beds, out of rooms into the hospital halls and away from possible flying glass, he pointed out. Any mobile patients might be taken to the basement.

"Our ambulance service is excellent," he declared. If its equipment is left intact, it would begin operating immediately.

"You have to call on outlying medical service and ambulance service," said Dr. Holcomb.

All hospital personnel would report immediately, he said. "They all know what to do and you don't have to call them in event of severe weather. They are excellent about reporting to the hospital."

He warned those who would give help: "Unless people are in life-threatening situation and it is imperative that they be moved immediately, the patient may be better off left where he is until someone trained can move them. There have been severe injuries inflicted on people by well-meaning good Samaritans who were not trained in moving the injured."

The county's disaster program has not had a dry run recently, Dr. Holcomb pointed out. Some of those named to key positions have moved away or are no longer active. Memories need to be refreshed," he declares.

If a tornado struck Wellington today, the doctor believes it would be "a mass of confusion."

Wellington's school's tornado procedure was outlined by Supt. E.W. Clement. If there is time, all children would be brought to the high school basement. There are both automatic and manual cut-off valves for gas and water to the boiler system.

If elementary school children could not be brought, they would be taken into the hall and office area, into rooms with double walls and roofs, including offices and rest rooms, said the superintendent.

It would be hoped there would be sufficient time to dismiss school and get all children home.

Any parent, during threatening weather, can now call at the school and pick up a child by checking with the principal and the child's teacher.

Samnorwood School is stepping up its disaster drills this week, said Supt. Rex Peeples. The school has an underground shelter away from the buildings for approximately 200 people—large enough to house all students and people living in Samnorwood.

Quail community is the county's best authority on tornados and the memory of the one that destroyed the entire school campus two years ago is vivid.

Supt. Sonny Arthur said that in case of an approaching tornado during school hours, children could be evacuated to a storm cellar on campus and at the homes of Donald Langley, Mrs. Virgie White and Albert Gollighugh within two or three minutes.

Both Quail and Samnorwood have had a twister go through those communities already this spring. Samnorwood lost a bus barn; vacant houses and barns were destroyed in both areas.

Tommy Hudson, West Texas Utilities manager, said the first procedure following a tornado would be to kill all downed lines.

Wellington normally can receive power from both Childress and Shamrock. Should one section of the transformer station be knocked out the other begins receiving electricity automatically.

He stressed that should Wellington be struck by a tornado it would have to depend on outside help to restore power. WTU has portable generators that would be available.

Should a neighboring power company in Oklahoma or other parts of the Panhandle, have a portable generator nearer to Wellington, it would be borrowed.

The role of other agencies will be discussed in a later article.

Many people believe that a key is an effective amulet against the evil eye—especially if that eye is looking through a keyhole.

Approximately 140 Dodson ex-students held their banquet and reunion Saturday night, April 14.

The meal was served by Nellie Roberson in the Dodson Cafe dining room. Table decorations were red and black, the school colors.

The class of 1939 celebrated the 40th anniversary of its graduation. Seven of the original 22 members were present. Laura Helen Ford Vandivere of Phillips presented a tribute to the class and to the class sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis, who now live in Wellington.

There were 5 present from the class of 1954, which celebrated its 25th anniversary. Lonnie and Barbara Roberson and Jeanette Swift Moore were the MCs.

B.J. Boyd of Lutie is in Baylor Hospital, Dallas, following surgery on one leg Tuesday, April 10. He had undergone surgery for the amputation of a portion of this leg earlier.

Information from Mrs. Boyd late last week was that he was in the Baylor Intensive Care

Mrs. Boyd and a relative remained in Wichita Falls and were barely missed by the tornado that struck the city Tuesday.

She said she and the relatives with whom she was staying were barely missed. Three grandchildren and their families "were left bare but they are alive, not injured," she said.

"Parents need to sign up in the school business office which is in the elementary building. Otherwise, the children can be transferred only as hardship cases," Clement said.

Quail Girl in Distinguished Student List

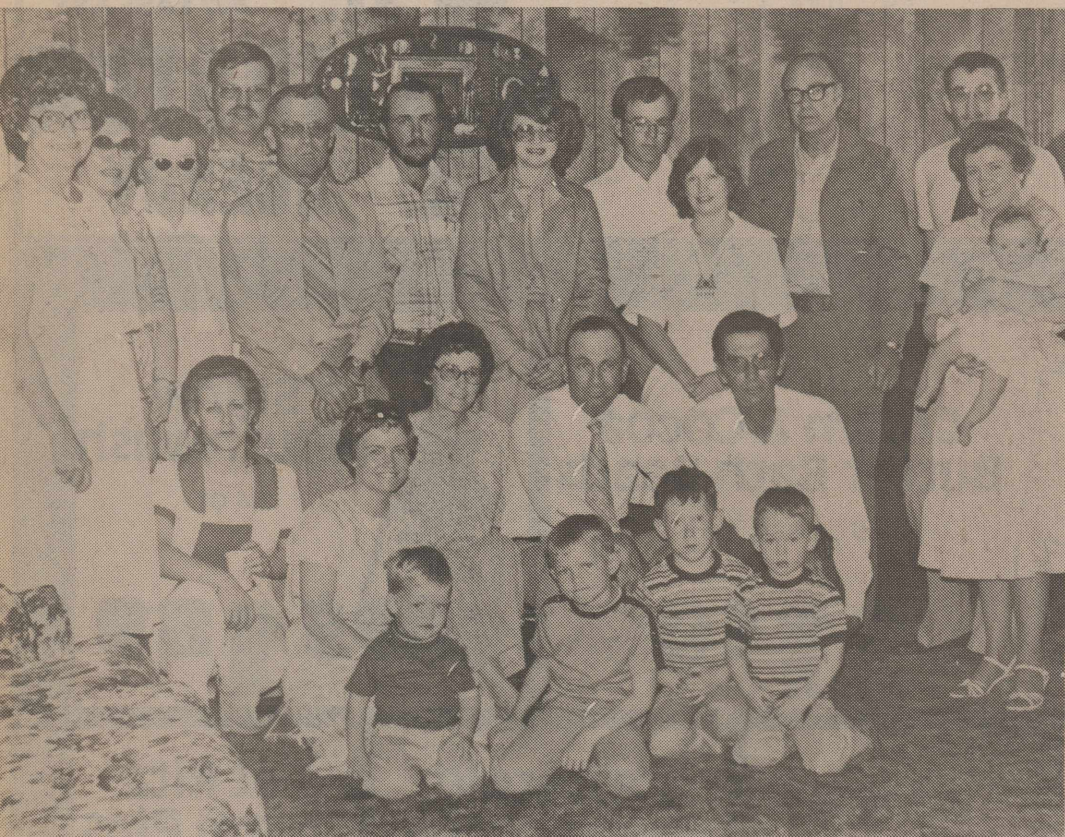

Beverly Kris Patterson, a Quail high school student, has been selected to represent the school in the Society of Distinguished American High School Students, called "one of the most selective high school honor societies in America."

"This is quite an achievement for a junior and one of which you may be proud," wrote E. Vinson Givens, administrator, to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Patterson.

Beverly's membership will be announced in the 1979 edition of "The Society of Distinguished American High School Students," which will include her high school biography.

Members are considered for scholarships through the National Awards Program supported by American colleges.

"You may feel justifiably proud, since membership in the society is an acknowledgment of superior accomplishments during the high school years and is only bestowed upon approximately two per cent of the nation's high school students," Givens wrote.

A TREE FOR EVERY BABY

Wellington Garden Club is encouraging the parents of every child born this year to plant a tree for the youngster at the family home. Although it is three months late, Mrs. W.F. Harbin, president, turns the first spade of earth for Rob Barjenbruch's tree. Holding him is Mrs. Charles Cason. His parents are the Mike Barjenbruchs.

A New Baby, A New Tree, Goal of Garden Club

A new tree planted in Wellington for each baby born in the town this year is the goal of Wellington Garden Club.

Moreover, the tree would be planted in the child's own yard, to grow as he grows. The first tree was set out Thursday, April 12, honoring the first 1979 baby, Rob Barjenbruch.

Rob and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Barjenbruch,

A.L. Robinsons Host Family

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Robinson of Quail over Easter were seven sons and daughters.

These included Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Brown and Geana of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Robinson of Fritch; Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Owen and Jason of El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jett of Nebo, Mo.; and the Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Mathis of Goldsmith.

Two sons could not attend. Joining them from Wellington was Millard Brown, Sr., father of Eugene Brown.

moved into their new home at 1821 Corsicana Street, and the tree planting was postponed.

Mrs. W.F. Harbin, Garden Club president, turned the first spade of earth for Rob's fruitless mulberry tree, already about 5 feet tall. Mrs. Charles Cason, a past president, held the youngster.

The program is optional with parents, Mrs. Harbin pointed out. "We are urging that each set of parents set out a tree, and as it and the child grow, teach him to love and care for it."

The tree for the first 1980 baby will be given by Mrs. Sam Adams. She is a garden

Family Visits Mrs. Lindsey

Visiting Mrs. S.L. Lindsey during the Easter holidays have been a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lindsey of Milwaukee, Wis.

Before coming here they visited his brother, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lindsey of Tyler, and two sisters, Mrs. Tiffin Young, Jr., and Mrs. Lola Stafford of Corpus Christi, and with an aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Massey of Batesville, club member.

The responsibility of planting the tree belongs to the baby's parents, Mrs. Harbin pointed out.

They may buy a tree from a nursery, or, if they prefer, they may bring a wild tree, native to Collingsworth County from a creek or river—hackberry, chinaberry, cottonwood or tamarisk (salt cedar).

Young trees with balled roots may be set out at almost any time, except mid-summer, and with care, they will live and grow. From fall through early spring is the ideal time, Mrs. Harbin said.

Guests over the Easter holidays in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Estes were Dr. and Mrs. Darrell Manney, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Campbell and Katy from Houston; Mr. and Mrs. S.S. Bayless, Hollis.

Pat Thomas of San Diego, California and Eric Thomas of Amarillo spent the Easter holidays with their mother, Virginia Thomas.

Ark. On Sunday night, Mr. and Mrs. Tiffin Young, Jr. were here en route to Amarillo, where his father, Tiffin Young is hospitalized.

Methodist Women Study "Loneliness and Aloneness"

Lydia Group of United Methodist Women met Monday afternoon, April 16, for a study of "Loneliness and Aloneness."

Mrs. L.B. Bratten was the hostess and Mrs. A.V. Lowrie presented the program.

She pointed out the scriptural references to the times when Jesus was alone. "Good advice in regard to being alone is to talk to God and give God time to talk to you. A good way to keep away loneliness is to sing, talk to a friend, take a walk and pray," she said.

Mrs. Lowrie named major resources for dealing with loneliness as an inner life of positive thinking and a sense of humor; a Christian faith to help one see life in its wholeness, to fine purpose and meaning in living. "Christian faith makes us feel God's presence at all times and places," she added.

An organized church can, through a youth director, help the loneliness of youth; a church bus can gather senior alone people.

"I'd like for our pastor to have a few minutes of little people's church, for children ages two to twelve, before preaching of the message. This would fulfill the aloneness of little children, who do not feel they are needed in our worship service," declared the speaker.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Fred Covey, Mrs. Chester Fires, Mrs. Flora Graham, Mrs. Charles Michael, Mrs. R.R. Crawley, Mrs. Bob Hightower, Mrs. Lowrie and the hostess, Mrs. Bratten.

Amarillo's 'Deserts'

Does Amarillo "deserve a seat on the Civil Appeals Court? The Amarillo Daily News declares, editorially on Monday, that it does.

Quoting Rep. Danny Hill (himself an Amarillo attorney) the editorial declares that "we agree with Rep. Hill's statement that Mary Lou's (Judge Mary Lou Robinson) seat should be filled by an Amarillo attorney. This is the unspoken rule..."

Well, now that the "rule" is no longer "unspoken", let's get it out in the open and give it a good dusting.

It seems to us that the primary consideration in filling any seat on the important Court of Civil Appeals should be the competence of the lawyer to be appointed or elected...not his geographical residence.

In this case, Governor Clements will appoint a successor to Judge Robinson to fill her unexpired term when she moves up, as expected, to the federal bench.

It is certainly possible that the Governor may find a fully qualified appointee from the ranks of the Amarillo attorneys, but this should not be the decisive factor in this appointment. It is equally possible that the Governor might find a fully qualified attorney from Berger or Dalhart, Perryton or Canadian, Plainview or Levelland, Lubbock or Childress, or from any of the scores of other towns and cities in the district which covers the Panhandle and South Plains area.

Amarillo has neither a God-given right nor a Constitutional one to claim one seat on the three-member Court for its absolute own, and the declaration by the Amarillo newspaper that Amarillo "deserves" one is, in our opinion, the height of arrogance.

Ben Ezzell in The Canadian Record

Stepping on a Bug

Those of us outside the legal profession, and we suspect a great many inside it, have trouble following the reasoning of our appeals courts these days when we read of one decision after another which turns criminals loose on a matter of sheer technicality.

The appeals court reversed a murder conviction of a former Amarillo policeman, convicted of a murder of a high school girl two years ago on the grounds that the murderer's oral confession was improperly admitted at the trial.

An escaped prison inmate from Louisiana was convicted of the brutal murder in 1976 of the Matador sheriff who was blasted to bits after stopping an automobile on a country road.

This prisoner was asked how it felt to kill a man and he said "Just like stepping on a bug."

The Louisiana convict was convicted of the murder, largely on the testimony of two eye witnesses to the murder and his own signed confession.

Last week the Court of Criminal Appeals overruled the verdict because of a technicality, an error in the wording of the bill of indictment under which the man was brought to trial.

Several years ago the Court of Criminal Appeals threw out another murder conviction, a case in which one man stomped another to death. The reversal was awarded because the indictment did not specify that the stomping was done with the feet!

Another murder conviction was reversed on a technicality and involved an incident in which a burglar murdered a grandmother, then drowned her two year old granddaughter in the commode. The Court of Criminal Appeals found a technicality in the judge's charge of the jury.

These cases, and many more just like them, make us wonder where is the justice in this state and in this nation.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Texas Senate passed legislation this week by Sen. Bill Meier of Eules that will alter the Consumer Protection Act. Some say "alter" is not a strong enough word for what the proposed changes will do to the six-year-old consumer law.

Backers of the consumer act had predicted such a seige would happen this session, and when the attack came, proponents of the law, led by Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin and Sen. Babe Schwartz of Galveston, vowed to grind the Senate to a halt with filibusters and talkathons.

Doggett claimed Meier's bill would "gut" the consumer law. Schwartz said the proposed changes would tip the scale in favor of the seller and leave the buyer out in the cold.

Despite such charges, Meier easily garnered enough votes to bring up his bill on the Senate floor and when he did, the fight was all but over to save the consumer protection act from becoming what some observers said would be only a ghost of its former self. Lacking enough votes to kill Meier's legislation, opposing senators could only hope to put off the inevitable and maybe squeeze a compromise or two out of Meier and his forces.

Doggett, in his now famous filibuster tennis shoes ("Not sneakers," he said. "It's the sneakers we're after here.") and Schwartz, running on what appeared to be an endless supply of energy, engineered two separate filibusters lasting a total of almost 25 hours.

One talkathon by Doggett was against a measure by Sen. Tom Creighton, not Meier. But Creighton's bill, which eventually passed the Senate, which lets auto dealers add on a $35 charge for getting cars licensed and registered, drew fire from Doggett, Schwartz and others because it too, they felt, like Meier's bill, was spawned by the business lobby and left consumers to fend for themselves.

While each side traded flak over Creighton's bill, senators tried to reach some compromise on the real target of the Doggett-Schwartz filibusters—the consumer protection law.

Some compromises were worked out, but those were called "cosmetic" by Doggett, who helped write the consumer protection act before ever coming to the Senate, and there were few who disagreed with his appraisal of the compromises reached.

If Meier's bill gets through the House and past the governor's desk, consumers can expect these changes in the law that for the past six years has guaranteed them a redress of their grievances with the business world: 1) consumers would not have the right to bring class action suits, but the attorney general will still have that power, 2) triple damages will no longer be mandatory but up to the judge or a jury, 3) consumers will now have to prove that a businessman knowingly sold them a deceptive product or committed a fraudulent act, and other "alterations."

Meier said his bill "strikes a balance" between consumer and businessman. But Sen. Ron Clower summed up the opposition's feelings when he said: "We don't have a consumer protection act. We have a consumer-fraud act."

In The House

Legislation regulating strip mining of coal, lignite and uranium has glided through the House with so few objections that you would think legislators didn't know Texas was sitting on substantial deposits of those resources.

In fact, by 1985, Texas, already third in uranium reserves, will probably become one of the country's biggest producers of coal and lignite. Deposits stretch from Texarkana to Laredo.

Legislators are aware of such facts, and some lawmakers even pointed out that not long ago you couldn't have passed a strip mining bill without lengthy and sometimes heated discussions. But, at this point, legislators appear resigned to the fact that bills pushed by Speaker Bill Clayton and his "team" are for all practical purposes unstoppable. The strip mining bill is only one example.

"I may have been born under a tub, but I wasn't born yesterday," said one lawmaker. "Ten or 25 people can't stop 'em," that same legislator added, speaking specifically about the strip mining legislation muscled through the House by the Clayton forces.

The strip mining bill passed by the House was 80 pages long and some members complained about not having time to thoroughly understand the document. Other lawmakers said it wasn't worth their time or effort to fully understand the piece of legislation and then maybe mount some opposition against it since it was almost a foregone conclusion that Clayton and his supporters would pass the bill and pass it easily.

Short Snorts

Saudi Arabia—one of the world's largest producers of oil—announced this week that it would be cutting back its contribution to the world's oil supply by one million barrels a day. Since demand for oil already almost outstrips supply, Saudi Arabia's decision to reduce production will certainly mean yet another jump in the price of gasoline.

BAREFOOT ON THE SQUARE

City Bakery has taken over an older drug store building, but the old sign has not been painted over in this photograph, circa 1900. The bakery was located on the south side of the courthouse square at the west end of the block. Rock foundation stones and wooden sidewalks were typical of early business houses in Wellington.

Sometime this week, the House will probably start debate on a general appropriations bill for the state that is already out of committee. The bill carries a $20 billion-plus price tag. The legislation, passed by the House Appropriations Committee, trims $70 million from the Legislative Budget Board's spending proposals, and a rider on the bill, initiated by Speaker Clayton, could whack off another 2 percent across-the-board, reducing spending by an additional $400 million.

House, too, but the House calendar has remained crowded. This week alone, before Thursday adjournment, House members dealt with over 100 Senate and House bills and resolutions.

With so many bills coming out of committees and now reaching the floor of the House for debate, certain issues are drawing considerable attention from people in the district. My mail shows that you are concerned about the Blue Law, teacher pay raise, Legalized bingo, mandatory headgear for motorcyclists, utility rate settings, and various bills related to child care services.

Many of you, I know, are keenly interested in the status of particular pieces of legislation. For your convenience, a Legislative Information Service was established in 1975. This was a joint venture of the House and Senate. The information center is located in the Legislative Reference Library on the second floor of the Capitol. The toll free telephone number is 1-800-252-9693.

Seven operators are on duty Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The operators use computer terminals to research a bill when persons call in with questions. The information is updated every ten to fifteen minutes.

Bills are indexed by number, author or subject matter. It is possible for you to call the toll free number and learn the status or committee scheduling of any bill introduced this session. I think this is a tremendous service for the people of Texas.

Winners of Dodson Parade Announced

Dodson had its first parade of any kind in a number of years on Saturday April 14, when the Dodson Christian Center sponsored its Easter Parade.

"The crowd was unbelievable," declared Linda Swearingen, who coordinated the event.

Special entry trophies were awarded in three categories: to the Shamrock American Legion float; Amy Cuevas for the best decorated bicycle, children's division; and Robert Francis for his go cart in the car division.

Three baskets of Easter eggs and bunnies were presented by the Dodson Civic Club for runners-up in the children's division.

After the parade, the crowd went to Dodson Park, east of the business section, for free Coke, donated by Shamrock Coca Cola, and cookies given by Howell Grocery.

"Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the fellowship," said Mrs. Swearingen.

Children of the town met earlier and cleaned the park thoroughly.

Plans are already under way to hold the parade in 1980, Mrs. Swearingen reported.

"People who came are thinking about what they will do next year and we have entries for next year's parade in addition to those entered this year," she added.

Little League Baseball Out This Season

Because of lack of interest, it appears there will be no Little League baseball in Wellington this summer.
This decision was reached following a meeting called to organize the league Thursday, April 12.
Jim Ingram, president last year, is working out of town and can not serve in this capacity this year.
Mrs. Ingram said that if anyone is interested in taking charge of Little League they should call her at 447-2949 for details to this point.
According to Mrs. Ingram, she will be willing to help anyone who will take charge of the boys baseball program.

Citation 4-Door Hatchback

CHEVY CITATION.

Citation goes a long way on a tank of gas. But that's just the start. Citation has the traction of front wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, front disc brakes, and a transverse-mounted engine that's cradled in rubber-cushioned mountings to reduce engine vibration. Sleek Citation is easy to park, yet big enough for five adults and lots of cargo. See Chevy Citation for yourself. And to really appreciate it, get behind the wheel.

EPA ESTIMATED MPG 24 CITY ESTIMATE
38 HIGHWAY ESTIMATE
With standard 4-cylinder engine and manual transmission Remember: Compare the estimated MPG to the "estimated MPG" of other cars. You may get different mileage depending on your speed, trip length, and weather. Your actual mileage will be lower in heavy city traffic, and your actual highway mileage will probably be less than the estimated highway fuel economy. The "estimated MPG" is more likely to reflect actual overall mileage than the "combined estimate". Chevrolet cars are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions.

146 Come Home for Quail Reunion Church of Christ

"This community has something special...there is a closeness among the people," June Howell Tofte of Lake Oswego, Oregon, summed up her feelings after she had received the gift for traveling farthest to attend the Quail Ex-Students Reunion Saturday, April 14. Others had made similar statements all through the evening.

Altogether, 146 ex-students and their guests were present for the banquet, which followed four class reunions held during the afternoon.

These graduates came from across the country--from Oregon to North Carolina, but most of them still live in the Panhandle area.

Benny Carson, Ex-Student association president, presided at the banquet, students introduced themselves by classes and County Judge Bob Watson, was the speaker, reminding the group of the advantages of growing up in a community such as Quail.

In the short business session, Mike Guthrie, a member of this year's graduating class, was elected president for the 1980 reunion, Darrell Colson vice president, Ann Messer Wauer, secretary-treasurer, and Shirley Horton Smith, reporter.

Present for this reunion was Mrs. Mary Clay of Hedley, who attended Quail school and later served as class mother for five separate classes of which her children were members.

Judge Watson, whose wife, Dorothy White Watson, graduated from Quail, urged the ex-students to think of the advantages of being brought up in a rural setting, of "It is worth more to you than gold itself," he declared.

He paid tribute to the "parents, school and community that trained you."

A former probation officer, Watson praised law enforcement officers as the "first line of defense between you and the criminal element."

"I'd like to appoint each of you as an Ambassador from Quail and Collingsworth County," the county judge said in closing. "As you go about your work, if you see a business or a doctor who wants to move, remember us. You can do much for Quail and for the county, if you find someone like this, call me," he requested.

Mrs. Tofte, whose husband, Dr. John Tofte, is a dentist in the Portland, Oregon area, graduated in 1949, attended Texas Tech and the University of Texas, and has two children, a son 15 and a daughter, 12.

This was the first Quail ex-students reunion she has attended. She and her sister, Janice Howell Wilson of Lubbock who also attended the reunion, were also visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Elmer Howell of Hedley. Mrs. Tofte was presented a pail of ceramic quail, hand crafted by Mr. and Mrs. Benny Carson and Mr. and Mrs. Cary Don Neeley, and given by them.

Those who registered for the banquet were: 1939: R.D. Horton. 1941: John Carson. 1942: Elmer Neel of Memphis.

1943: Eva Creed Gosnell of Olney; Trudie Ogletree Peters.

1944: Evelyn Jo Farmer Carson; Rhunell Fielding Yost of Dallas.

1945: Lorene Lowe Limer of Memphis; Bill Carson Borger and Cleo Robinson of Amarillo. 1946: Alvie T. Clay of Hedley; Mildred Langley Langley; Loyd Langley; and Weldon Sullivan.

1947: Delbert White.

1948: Billie Thomas Oatman of Hedley, Lonnie Needham, Louise O'Hair Timmons of Perryton, and Alice Guthrie Lee of Pampa.

1949: John and Mae Patterson of Hereford; Pat DeBord Emerson and Waldo Emerson of Cordell, Okla.; June Howell Tofte of Lake Oswego, Oregon; Rosey Sweden Pettett of Choctaw, Okla.; Audry and Ruby Needham of Amarillo; Maude Minyard of Pampa; Calvin Tow of Amarillo; Avyrilla White; Marilyn Watkins Price of Tempe, Arizona; Delores Hook of Pampa; Mearl Parker of Del City, Okla.; and Dorothy Lee White Watson.
