

NEW COLLINGSWORTH WHEAT STORAGE

The 150,000 bushel capacity elevator of the Dodson Farmers Co-op Society was finished last week, literally hours before the first wheat driven into the pit house. The five grain tanks are all steel construction. "I never knew the Co-op had so many friends until we started to raise the money for the elevator," Edwin Crowder, manager, commented. "The money was put up in a surprisingly short time, and one friend left word at the bank that he'd put up an additional $5,000 or $10,000 if it was needed." The elevator can receive wheat at the rate of 4,000 bushels per hour.

Chamber of Commerce to Build Livestock Show Barn

Directors of Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce voted Monday night, June 6, to buy lots and build a livestock exhibit barn to be used at the annual fair and by other groups requiring such a building.

The board also voted to incorporate as a non-profit institution and secure a charter, Manager N. M. Higdon reported.

The new livestock barn will be one of the major projects of the year and will be a valuable step in building the livestock division of the Collingsworth Free Fair, he pointed out.

"Many people, especially hog raisers, have been reluctant to bring in their stock and leave them out in the hot sun all day," Higdon explained. "We believe it will do more than anything else toward the growth of that part of the fair."

The deal for the lots has not been closed, but Higdon revealed that from 5 to 7 lots will be bought. He was authorized by the board of directors to go ahead with the purchase, with the location to be announced later.

A committee composed of Jake Tarter, Ben Hurst, Wood Coleman and Higdon will visit towns in this area having livestock exhibit barns this week and report to directors in a special meeting Monday, June 13.

The Chamber of Commerce is proposing a sheet metal building 28 to 30 feet wide and 60 to 80 feet long. It would have partially open sides.

"We believe we can build an exhibit barn such as this for $3,500 or less," Higdon said.

The board of directors then gave considerable time to the discussion of three projects in which no action was taken but which it considers of importance.

John Coleman reported on the meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Dumas June 2, and discussed the WCCC proposal urging

Minimum Wheat Loan Price Set at $1.79

The basic minimum price-support rate for 1960-crop wheat in Collingsworth county will be $1.79 a bushel, Millard P. Brown of the county agricultural stabilization and conservation office announced.

This rate is based on the minimum average wheat support of $1.77 a bushel for the 1960 crop announced last summer. Loans will be available at the minimum rate early in the price-support period. The final national and county rates will be determined on the basis of supply and parity figures as of July 1, and any loans made at the minimum rate will be adjusted as necessary at that time.

In addition to the county rate, the ASC office now has information on minimum rates for support wheat stored in terminals. Farmers needing terminal rate information may obtain it at the county office. In general, the terminal rate exceeds the county rate by the amount of handling and freight charges necessary to get the wheat to the terminal.

As in previous years, the price of the 1960 wheat crop will be supported through loans on farm- and warehouse-stored wheat and through the purchase of wheat delivered by producers under purchase a-

Templeton and Emmert Win in Second Primary

Collingsworth county voters elected a new county attorney, and those from precinct 3 chose a new commissioner in the second primary election Saturday, June 4.

Voting in the only contested state election, the county followed the state-trend to elect a new judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Judge R. L. Templeton received 899 votes for county attorney to 791 for Paul Spillman, the incumbent. The latter is serving his first term in that office.

Clyde Emmert received 315 votes as commissioner of Precinct 3 to 268 for Pat O'Hair, who has held that office ten years.

In the criminal appeals court race, W. T. McDonald received 772 votes to 609 cast for Lloyd W. Davidson, the incumbent.

"It is especially important that we have everyone working on the reunion present, for this will be the final meeting before the reunion," Berg urged.

Record Rain Dumps 8-10 Inches from Rolla to Quail Early Tues.

The heaviest rain in the memory of the community residents fell at Rolla, Buck Creek and Quail in the early hours Tuesday, June 7, depositing from 6 to 10 inches in three hours. With it was the most prolonged electrical storm of recent years, lasting about three hours.

While the entire county received moisture, the rainfall in other sections ranged down to an inch and a half Tuesday, but other rain 24 hours earlier left cotton and feed farmers with most of their crops to replant, and the wheat harvest halted as it barely began.

The largest rainfall amounts were reported at Buck Creek, where Billy Joe Patterson reported 10 inches, and L. W. Hartman, at the end of the FM pavement, measured nine and three-fourths inches.

Water on Highway 203 halted traffic east of Quail Tuesday morning, and at 1 p.m. Ed Haynes, in charge of maintenance for the State Highway Department, said it was still running-board deep.

A slab of pavement approximately 250 feet long was washed out on a curve west of Rolla and deposited in broken chunks at the side of the road bed.

Approximately 2,000 yards of dirt was washed out near the Buck Creek bridge on FM 338, Haynes said, and the pavement north of Quail was damaged, as was a section under the small bridge on FM 1981 leading into the Lillie community.

Joe Alex Coleman, road supervisor for the county, reported that in Precincts 1 and 3 alone 10 tin culverts washed out, 5 small bridges completely out, and the abutments of four others washed out, and that at least 100 miles of road-bed was impassable.

Bridge destruction included two spans, 40 feet, out of a bridge over Buck Creek above the Highway 338 bridge; another 20 foot bridge northeast of Friendship Church in Buck Creek community, a 20-foot bridge over Cottonwood Creek near the Clyde Emmert farm, one on the old Memphis road a half mile south of Swearingen school, a 20-foot bridge at the Billy Joe Patterson farm six miles west and one mile north of Wellington.

"We'll do the emergency work first," Coleman said. "That's where people can't get out of their places." He added that all work will be done as rapidly as possible.

No attempt has been made so far to estimate the total damage to roads in the county. Coleman said there was damage from washing to roads in Precincts 2 and 4, but it was less serious.

In Wellington, rain measured 1.6 inches Sunday night, 2.5 inches Monday night and early Tuesday, and .70 in the early hours Wednesday for a total of 4.80 in the three-day period.

Crops over much of the south half of the county will be to replant, with some farmers planting for the third time and a few individual fields the fourth time.

Workshops and Fun

Annual County 4-H Club Camp Scheduled for June 16 and 17

Collingsworth county 4-H Club boys and girls will hold their annual camp Thursday and Friday, June 16 and 17, directed by Miss Kathryn Potter and Bob Lynch, Extension Service personnel.

The tentative program includes at least four guest speakers, then the boys and girls combine study with demonstrations and fun.

The camp will be held at the National Guard Armory and some of the recreation activities will be at Marian Airpark.

Following registration at 9 a.m. Thursday, the Rev. Glenn Hickey, pastor of First Baptist Church will speak.

A panel of 4-H boys and girls will discuss teen age manners, and this will be followed by a representative of the Department of Public Safety discussing "Safety."

Mrs. Helen Hurst, home economist for West Texas Utilities Company, and Slim Davis, district game warden, have been invited as Friday speakers.

Lynch and Miss Potter will direct the study sessions both days on leading recreational activities and keeping record books.

There will be recreation periods both days, with one session of swimming at Marian Airpark pool for those who want it, and the big 4-H Club party Thursday night.

The 4-H Clubbers will break camp between 3 and 4 p.m. Friday.

While the camp is held for and by the youngsters, parents and adult leaders are urged and invited to attend, Miss Potter said.

The following rules and regulations were announced by the camp directors:

Bedding rolls and cots will be needed, and those who want to swim should bring their own swimming suits.

No shorts are to be worn by the girls.

A letter will be mailed each 4-H Club member telling the food to bring, but if a club member does not receive a letter by Wednesday, June 15, one of the county agents should be contacted.

The camp fee this year is $1.00, and this covers the swimming pool fee and insurance for the duration of the camp.

Rev. Cleveland Here

Methodist Pastors Returned to City

Two of Wellington's Methodist pastors were returned here by the Northwest Conference which convened recently in Amarillo, and a third returned after an absence of 7 years.

The Rev. Frank Weir is again pastor of First Methodist and the Rev. J. F. Michael pastor of Kelley and Dodson churches.

Coming to Trinity is the Rev. L. D. Cleveland, pastor of First Methodist Church at Woodson, near Breckenridge, for two years. He succeeds the Rev. James Futch, who moved to Estelline as pastor.

Rev. Cleveland was pastor of the Wellington circuit, which served Loco, Quail and Salt Fork communities. Trinity Church is the outgrowth of the reorganization of these rural churches into a central town church, and Rev. and Mrs. Cleveland will work with the same groups as during their former pastorate.

Their daughter, Bessie Lee, who will be remembered by many here, was married last year to James Chambliss and now lives in Abilene.

Since leaving Wellington seven years ago, Rev. Cleveland has been pastor of churches at White Flat-Flonot, Fluvanna, and Kirkland.

Mrs. May Hix, Beloved City Woman, Dies

Mrs. May Hix, who came here as a young girl and was closely identified with the town's church, lodge and business activities, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Saturday, June 4 at 2:15 p.m. It was only after an illness two years ago that her active life was slowed, although she continued to carry on many special interests until a few weeks ago.

She was four times Worthy Matron of the Wellington chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star, a record not equaled by any other member. She first held this office in 1909, and through the years held the other offices leading to that honor. Mrs. Hix was a member 56 years, and was recognized by both the local chapter and the Grand Chapter. She once recalled that in the early years of the chapter it was often necessary for those meeting to go down on the street and get all available members, along with a Mason to help conduct the session, in order to have a quorum of 7.

The greatest number through out the county and adjoining area knew her in her business life. For more than 20 years she was associated with The Hub, and prior to that she was with Baker-Hannah and Ellis Department Stores.

Her graciousness as a saleswoman endeared her to countless people, who relied on her judgment and help. These dealings were on the basis of friendship and she included in this circle of friends those in all walks of life.

Mrs. Hix was a member and past president of the American Legion Auxiliary and a member of the Auxiliary of the 8 and 40 and the Past Matrons and Patrons Club. She was active in the Wellington Garden Club also.

She was a member of First Baptist Church and past president.

Sunday in Benefit Game

Old Ball Players to Swing Wicked Bat

A great crowd of boozers and boosters are expected Sunday afternoon, June 12 at the baseball park, for the big game between the old Wellington Dukes and a combined team of Kiwanis and Rotary players.

Game time is 3 p.m. This is a benefit game, with all proceeds going to the Wellington kids baseball program.

Manager Lewis Morris of the Dukes states that he has a formidable team ready for battle. He is bringing back some of the old team such as Wayne

Jones of Hollis, Virgil Francis of Ron, Okla., and Bus Doran of Wheeler. And of course the Neeley boys, the Morgan twins, Woody Wilson, Lefty Young and a host of other old timers.

Sam Adams, meanwhile, has not been idle. As manager of the K-R team, he has been fortunate in securing the services of some of the outstanding players of yesteryear. It has been pointed out that a broken bone of any kind automatically disqualifies a player for the rest of the game.

A Parent in the Stands Means a Harder Working Player

From one parent to another—this is an appeal for support of the summer youth baseball program. It was written by one of the men working with the teams. Here is his appeal.

It is rather heart warming to see over a hundred enthusiastic youngsters coming out full tilt for the baseball season. This is a considerable increase from 1959, which attests to the fact that there was a lot of groundwork laid in the past to enable us to have such a large 1960 program. This program is one the people from all corners of the county can be justly proud of, as it took the combined efforts of all to get it started.

A plea to you parents: There is nothing that lights up the face and eyes of a youngster than to look up in the stands and see you sitting there rooting for his team. He will try just a little harder to make you proud of him, for to be a good player, a boy must have the desire to win, be a good sport, regardless of the outcome of a particular game and learn the true meaning of close association with the other boys.

In essence, we are attempting to build, not a baseball club, but the moral and physical fiber of our future. In a very few short years, these boys will be guiding our destinies and we would like to think that they were headed in the right direction when they were younger.

So we will be expecting to see a lot of parents and spectators at each game this summer. You will have a schedule of games, so that you might rearrange some of your summer plans to fit your son's game schedule.

Times Demand National Unity, More Positive Foreign Policy

The administration and the American people both should take stock of the international situation and come to sound conclusions as to what to do about it, now that they have had time to catch their breath after the pyrotechnics at Paris.

It's time this country planned a program with a positive approach, based squarely on principle. Instead of improvising every time the Kremlin creates a crisis, instead of taking the negative approach of attempting to give up as little as possible each time the Kremlin makes demands, the administration should be planning a program designed to make communism give up its ill-gotten gains.

Before building up such a program, urgent though it is, President Eisenhower should take a long hard look at the State Department and the Central Intelligence Agency, which bungled the U-2 affair and its sequels.

Christian A. Herter has not shown himself to be a strong secretary of state. He is not well advised. Allen Dulles' performance as head of the C. I. A. is poor.

The President should be putting his official house in order. Unfortunately it is reported that relationships between the White House and the State Department and the C. I. A. remain unchanged.

The American people should demand that a more positive foreign policy be adopted. We should, for example, encourage the satellite peoples' determination to regain their freedom instead of indicating that so far as we are concerned they might as well reconcile themselves to their fate.

While the world situation now is more unsettled as a result of the summit conference's blowup, it probably is not in actuality much worse. Perhaps the torpedoing of the conference by Khrushchev may develop into a good thing since this time, unlike past occasions, we did not give up any positions, make any costly compromises, or sign any agreements for the Reds to break as they broke the pledge made at Geneva to permit unification of Germany following free elections.

It is time to return to the old, time-tested methods of traditional diplomacy instead of trying to further the device of "summitry" which is little more than a Soviet propaganda forum.

The country should unite behind the President. This is not time for dissension. But—while the administration has the right to expect the backing of a united people, the people have the right to demand better, more positive leadership.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a New York subway worker got his job back after the state Court of Appeals ruled that a little stealing is no legal excuse for firing a man.

My pro-underdog neighbor says he is glad to see a Court ready to protect poor workers from narrow-minded bosses wanting to take a man's job away from him just because he steals.

Says, after all, this is a more civilized way for a man to better himself than making people give him their money by threatening to shoot them or put them in jail.

I see where a Navy finance officer is about to be discharged as a mental case on account of he wouldn't sign reports which fudged on the rules a little.

My scrupulously neighbor says any day now he expects to be nabbed as a psycho because he don't overdrive speed limits, even if some authorities do say it's a man's Christian duty to violate laws he don't approve of.

Says he guesses he's a ctch for a straight-jacket anyhow, though, if it's ever found out that he don't cheat on his income tax.

I note that it's possible to worry on either side of a question, and the same experts who were alarmed by a threatening population explosion are now afraid same has been quenched.

My ex-popular neighbor says, though, the declining birth rate in the U.S. is not anything that couldn't be fixed by proper legislation.

Says folks have just noticed prices are so high they can't break even when trying to raise new taxpayers for the government on a measly $600 a year expense allowance.

I see where our Congressmen sometimes get accused of playing politics if they vote for some fool bill just because that's how they can get re-elected.

My fact-foiled neighbor says what we need is more Statesmen in Congress, with nerve to defy the majority and vote for the good of the country.

Says anyway, after their one term in Washington they could always get jobs as bartenders serving carrot juice to people who order Scotch.

I see where the Students National Defense Act is now working in high gear to loan money to help colleges turn out some people as smart as the Russians.

My loosed neighbor says he notes that some of these Defense Students are studying home economics, art, drama, folklore, etc., so as to be prepared to meet any Russian challenge.

Robert's Rules

Whether it's the nomination of a presidential candidate at one of the national political conventions, or the monthly meeting of your neighborhood PTA, a set of procedural rules compiled 80 years ago by an almost-forgotten Army General usually has much to do with the way the business is conducted.

You have probably heard of "Robert's Rules of Order" that was published in 1876. General Henry M. Robert ordered only 4,000 copies of his original edition, but since that time 1,500,000 copies have been printed. The rules have been modernized from time to time but the revisions have been slight.

Actually the rules for conducting a meeting go back to the early days of the English Parliament, although General Robert based his upon the rules and practice of the U.S. Congress.

Robert's Rules come close to being "law of the land." They are given added legal status by the fact that the charter, constitution and by-laws of almost every organization you can name—your wife's literary society, your labor union, or the corporation you work for (large or small)—ordinarily state somewhere that all meetings will be "conducted in accordance with Robert's Rules of Order." Special rules may be made by any organization contrary to Robert, but if such folklore scientists might help us win the race to the moon by running down a copy of the cow that jumped over it.

I see where some fellows running a knitting mill decided to close it up, but the National Labor Relations Board ruled the employees had to be paid right on, anyway, until they got other jobs that suited them.

Seems the employer-employee relationship is getting sort of like marriage, and breaking it up is liable to cost a boss some stiff labor alimony.

My sinking heart neighbor says soon if we hire a man to mow the lawn, we'll have to promise before a J.P. to cherish and keep him until death or a better job do us part.

provisions are not in the by-laws his little book—where incorporated in such by-laws—remains the "Bible" to be followed strictly.

All this means, in effect, that if a serious question arises over the legality of action taken by an organization a court might have to consider General Robert's rules with the same care as it does the law to determine whether the action in question was proper.

If you take an active part in church, school, civic or fraternal organizations, some knowledge of Robert's Rules is important. At your lodge meeting, for example, things go much smoother if both the chairman and the members on the floor follow Robert and stick to the business at hand. That way you'll get home before the wee, small hours, and still have time for some relaxation after the business session.

There are many simple guides to Robert that will help, and unless you are chairman of a large and important meeting it probably isn't necessary to know all the details in the whole book.

Now we move to adjourn until next week—a motion which General Robert says takes precedence over everything else.

Thinking About Your Vacation

Most people are at this time of the year, but far too often the big question is where to get the money to take the kind of a vacation you want.

Look around your premises and you may find the answer—stored away in the attic or the storeroom or even sitting out rusting in your own yard or on your farm.

There may be any number of things that you no longer use, but which might be desirable for someone else.

What about that old chair or that bedroom suite you have not used for years. What about the hand mower you replaced with a power mower? What about some of the farm implements you no longer need? What about hundreds of items you are no longer using?

SOMEBODY NEEDS THEM and will buy them if the Price is Right.

Leader Want Ads have sold a multitude of such items in the past and they can do it for you this summer. They pack a big selling wallop and at very moderate cost.

NEWS LETTER from Congressman WALTER ROGERS

Whither We?

One of the most curious pastimes to emerge in the United States during the past 15 years is a parlor game called "What's Wrong with America." People of all ages and occupations, prompted by the compelling nature of our country's foreign and domestic affairs, indulge almost daily in this simple substitute for Canasta and Scrabble. "What's Wrong with America," which has achieved almost universal appeal today, is one of the most unprecedented and deadly serious activities developed since World War II.

The object for each player is to outline in some detail his assessment of the "mistakes" America has made and the fear-some future she faces. Two or more players seldom agree and even less seldom achieve any certainty concerning their ideas for a solution. Political disagreement, of course, is as American as the Fourth of July and has lent distinction to our history for more than 180 years.

But "What's Wrong with America" is more than a political disagreement. In many respects, it is strictly non-partisan. The recent debate in Congress over the so-called Civil Rights Bill was a clear-cut issue, with opponents and supporters. It was discussed almost entirely on its merits or lack of same. But when we begin playing "What's Wrong with America," much of our effort is disjointed and all but lacking in purpose.

The game dies if an agreement should be reached on "what's wrong," just as one of our television Westerns would collapse if the hero ever lost one of those Main Street duels. If anything at all is really wrong with America, it is probably the fact that for the first time in our history public opinion ranges across such a wide field as to inhibit the thoroughgoing, prompt, and effective action that has been our hallmark for so long.

This scattering of public opinion would not be unusual so long as it was directed to specific public issues. But so much of the world is out of step with itself that many who deal with "issues" discover a tremendous growth of ambiguity within the public forum since 1945. In the backwash of momentous technological, economic, diplomatic and social strides taken since V-J Day, the "issues" have simply not been given the opportunity to settle down into any sort of sharp pattern.

As a result, the world at large has lost a number of extremely important allies. These allies are not geographical entities, but are psychological concepts such as "predictability" in foreign affairs or "clarity" in domestic policies. Much of our time on the international scene is spent on the defensive simply because we are so often incapable of translating Russian action into commonly accepted terms. At home, so much of our life is burgeoning with our efforts to get a grip on the subtle implications of this or that policy that little time remains to seek out a national purpose as a whole and act upon this purpose with dignity, determination and vitality.

The American people, in a majority of cases, have not yet decided what, if anything, is "wrong." And obviously, very little can be done by either government or by individuals to correct the situation when we are vague and inept about basic problems and issues. Countless goals, which almost everyone wishes to pursue, have been "reached" by sweeping them under the rug with a slight change here and there. The goal is thus only put off, not actually reached, and the process strongly suggests the approach to an appealing but illusory mirage in the midst of a great desert. We are not going to measurably reduce our serious national debt, for example, with a sporadic budgetary surplus now and then. This task will require much more in the way of a carefully planned program accepted and understood by enough citizens to keep it rolling.

A profound gap exists between the political, social, and economic postures which events have forced us to adopt on the standing of these postures on one hand and our basic under-the other. This gap, more than anything else, has sparked our vague search for something "Wrong."

I earnestly believe that "What's Wrong with America" can be played with immense profit for each of us as well as our nation. We can struggle to seek out and define our nation's problems with the knowledge that we will eventually succeed in clarifying the forces of the 20th Century. But this must not obscure our search for the understanding which will close the gap in our knowledge and place us, once again, with God's help, on the road to confidence and vitality.

WATER REPELLENT

A new water-repellency treatment for cotton, developed by USDA chemists, produces an unusual finish that keeps water out but lets air through. Instead of coating the fabric and this sealing off the tiny open spaces in the weave, as some waterproof finishes do, the chemicals in the new finish penetrate the fibers and make them so highly water-repellent that the fabric sheds rain. Although the treatment is not yet being used commercially, it appears promising because it is not costly and can be applied with the same equipment used in applying other textile finishes. It can be applied along with flame-resistant and crease-resistant treatments.

SADDLEBAG M. D.

The doctor of the early frontier who carried his medicines and implements in saddlebags as he rode over the range calling on his patients was called a saddlebag doctor.

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buster Hughs was their daughter, Miss Patti Hughs and her roommate, Miss Pat Echols of Lubbock.

10 KILLED IN 1 WRECK

The worst fatal crash of the year 1959 occurred on February 15 in Hidalgo county, when ten persons were killed in a head-on collision between two passenger cars, not far from Alamo, the site of the state's most disastrous traffic accident where 29 were killed in a truck and train crash on March 14, 1940.

4-H Group to District Camp

District I 4-H Club Camp was held Tuesday, May 31, Wednesday, June 1 and Thursday, June 2 at Don Harrington Boy Scout Camp, south of Amarillo in Palo Duro canyon.

Going from Collingsworth county were Sue Saunders, Alcie Holliman, and Alona Sain, Miss Kathryn Potter, Bob Lynch, and Mike Mitchell. The group left Wellington Tuesday morning and returned on Thursday.

A much-filled two and a half days was spent by the campers. The 4-H Club members were trained in the various phases and activities of the 4-H Club work. They are expected to take their information back to the county in club work by taking an active part.

Wildlife, recreational leadership, swimming and eating were the most popular activities of the camp life. Other groups held during the camp which each individual attended at least one time in a study group or activity were: records, electricity, 4-H Council workshop, and general recreation from the recreation leadership group.

The letter advising Postmaster Charles Allen of faster mail service for Wellington arrived one day late from Amarillo. But then The Leader's D. E. Scott, some time back received a business letter that was five days coming by air mail from Des Moines, Iowa—five hours longer than Pony Express once made its route from the Mississippi to the Pacific, more than twice the distance. And again he received a letter that was 11 days in the air from Des Moines. This was just after the last increase in postage rates.

One of the nice things every spring is going with Bonnie Willis to the School Leaders Conference at Canyon. Not until you are with a group like that do you realize how many outstanding Panhandle teachers have come out of Collingsworth. President of the conference next year is Bob Selby of Amarillo, who lived here as a boy; Dr. Darrell Manney of Borger, who taught at Shiner, heads the supervisors group, and Bill Phillips of Hereford is an officer of one group. Rose Powell, now of Amarillo, is active. Bonnie herself is a past president of the supervisors section. These are just a few.

When Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Raburn saw their youngest, Douglas, get his high school diploma recently, they realized that when September comes, for the first time in 27 years, they will not have a child in school.

Glynell Elbert barely took time to get acquainted with her new diploma when she was off by plane for Florida, where she already has a job in the office of a construction company. Glynell is one of the group to finish school in three years.

Karen Breeding, home from West Texas State, is working in the county clerk's office, encouraged by her father, Buck, who says he thinks all girls should know what it's like to hold down a job.

Eli Wolf came by and eased himself down in a chair like someone in pain. Then he started talking about the Kiwanis-Rotary baseball practice Sunday afternoon getting ready for the benefit game with the former Dukes. "And I did an awfully foolish thing," he commented. "I was on first and decided to steal second. I was nearly there when I felt the ball coming behind me and I had to slide—and I can tell you, that was a lot of humanity to slide into second."

Mrs. Chester Fires was in to say that the Garden Club invites everyone to make suggestions for "The Beauty Spot of Wellington," which the club

Donations Asked for State Chapel for the Children

There is a child from Collingsworth county at Austin State school, a 45-year-old state institution for retarded children. There are more than 2,000 children at the school. There is no house of worship on the grounds, and of course it isn't practical to take very many children to churches off the campus.

Three years ago a group of volunteer men, women and ministers began the work of raising $95,000 to build an all-faith Chapel for the Children. Only $25,000 remains to be raised. Although contributions have gone in from people in 123 countries, no money has been received from our county.

There may be among our readers who will want to have a part in doing for these children who cannot do for themselves.

Contributions are fully deductible. Checks or money orders should be made to: Chapel for Children, Austin State School, and mailed to Mrs. Homer Leonard, Secretary, Volunteer Council, Austin State School, 3222 Gilbert St., Austin 3, Texas.

Charter Granted

Golf Club Ready to Begin Construction

A certificate of incorporation for Marian Golf Club, Inc. was received Thursday, June 2, giving the green light to actual golf construction, Jack Sanford, president, announced this week.

The next step will be signing the agreement with the City of Wellington for the unused part of Marian Airport for the golf course.

In the near future, a bulldozer will be rented and all groens built. Postmaster Chas. Allen has volunteered to operate the machine.

A 9-hole course is the goal of the club, but only a putting green and two or three holes will be finished this year.

With approval of the charter the club will begin a membership drive, and Sanford pointed out that membership is open to any person interested in playing golf. There is a membership fee, and a green fee will be charged, with the course open to the public.

Other officers serving with Sanford are James Richardson, vice president, and Frank Anderson, secretary. Directors are Zook Thomas, Jones Singley,

Attend Dumas WTCC Meeting

Representing the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce at a regional meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Dumas last week were John Coleman, WTCC director; N. M. Higdon, manager, and George Shadid.

There were two high points, as far as the local men were concerned. First was the discussion of full-feeding steers as a stepped-up industry for the Panhandle, which the local men feel is well adapted to Collingsworth county.

Also, during the business session, Tucker Teutsch, Dumas banker, was elected a vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Teutsch was reared at Dodson and is a brother of Floyd Teutsch. About 20 years ago he worked at the First National Bank in Wellington, going from here to Dumas.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Stephens of Quail had as their guest for nine days recently their granddaughter, Sherry, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stephens of Spearman. The latter couple will attend the summer session of West Texas State college. Now visiting in the Stephens home at Quail is a grandson, Stevie Miller of Sweetwater.

Johnson Will Teach at Adrain

Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson of Quail have been elected to teach in the Adrain schools for the 1960-61 year.

Mrs. Johnson, who received her degree this month from West Texas State College, will teach homemaking, and her husband, who graduates from WT in August, will be the Adrain coach.

Both were graduated from Quail high school four years ago and also attended Texas Tech. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Quail and she is the daughter of Jack Phipps of Wellington.

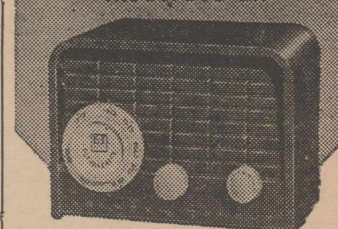

Mrs. Ethel Brickey and Mrs. Ella George of Shamrock visited Mrs. George's sister, Mrs. Stella West over the week end.

ARE YOU SATISFIED

...with LESS than you pay for?

WOULD YOU BE CONTENTED with eight eggs for a dozen...three quarts of paint for a gallon...one and a half socks for a pair? No? Yet, as a matter of fact, you actually do get short-valued — on the things you buy away from home.

It's basic economics, you know... some 30% of the price tag-on goods is community overhead expense — city, county, school services, and the development of better job and business opportunities for the exclusive benefit of the people who live in the community where the purchase is made.

Which simply means that trading in the area where you live is the only way to get all of your money's worth.

4-H Youths Enter State Contests

Four Collingsworth county 4-H Club boys compete Wednesday, June 8, in the state contests held annually along with the 4-H Club Roundup at College Station.

Don Amerson of Samnorwood 4-H Club participates in the public speaking contest, while the Dodson soils evaluation team, composed of Lynnel Black, Kenneth Norman and Glenn Hunt, competes in that division.

County Agent Bob Lynch accompanied the boys to College Station and served on the grass judging committee.

The group left Wellington Monday at noon and spent that night at Tarleton State College, where they visited over the campus before going on to College Station.

A barbecue honored the 4-H boys and girls from over Texas on Tuesday evening and a variety show entertained them Wednesday night.

Lectures and educational motion pictures also formed part of the program.

The group is due to return home Friday.

For Youths

Name Conservation Contest Winners

Two Quail youths were winners of the first Soil Conservation contest for Future Farmers, sponsored by Salt Fork Soil Conservation District, and based on the conservation program carried out in connection with a cotton program over a one-year period.

First place went to Travis McGuire, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis McGuire. He received a cash award of $40.

Tommy Haralson, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haralson, was second place winner, and received $20.

The awards went to these two winners at the meeting of the board of supervisors of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District Saturday night, June 4.

The boys were judged on the lint and seed production of their cotton, along with staple and grade. An important factor was the management of their land from the standpoint of conservation practices carried out during crop production, as well as those after harvest, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service said.

This is the first year Salt Fork SCD has carried out an awards program with the Future Farmers, and it will be sponsored again for the 1960 crop year, Squyres added.

Four Methodist Churches

Church Fellowship at Kelley Sunday

A special stewardship-fellowship meeting will be held at Kelley Methodist Church Sunday evening, June 12, the Rev. J. F. Michael, pastor, announced. It will be preceded by a covered dish dinner.

This is a combined service of the Kelley-Dodson, Trinity and First Methodist Churches, he added.

The Rev. Hugh Hunt, town and country worker for the conference, will show the film "The Lord's Acre," and a special guest will be the Rev. John English of Childress, the new district superintendent of the Childress district.

This will be Rev. English's first visit to a county church since his appointment. He comes to the Childress district from First Methodist Church at Abilene, and succeeds Dr. J. Edmund Kirby, who was appointed treasurer of the Northwest Texas Conference and has moved to Abilene.

The supper will begin at 6 p.m. at the church, and those attending are to bring a covered dish.

Rev. Michael extended an invitation to all members of the four churches to attend.

He announced also that he will preach at the Dodson Methodist Church at the Sunday morning service.

A special feature will be two night classes, one for seniors and adults and the other for junior boys.

The morning sessions will be from 9 to 11 o'clock and evening classes will be from 8 to 9:30.

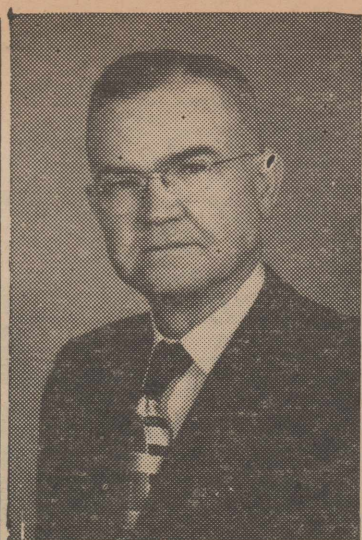

Transportation will be provided for those who need it.

"The night session will be a special feature. Many adults have never had a chance to attend a Vacation Bible School and this will give them an opportunity," Min. Patterson said. "The adult class will be an analytical study of the Holy Spirit."

Teachers for the children's groups were announced:

Ages two to four: Mrs. J. L. Souder and Mrs. J. D. Gibson; four to six years, Mrs. Frank Thomason; six to eight years, Mrs. D. C. Thomason; nine and ten, Mrs. L. A. Gilmore and Mrs. Roy Thomason; 11 and 12 years, Mrs. Buddy Yarbrough, Mrs. L. A. Davis and Mrs. Curtis Winton; 13-year-old girls, Mrs. J. R. Patterson.

Jimmy Hugh Wood of Dalhart is spending two weeks here visiting in the home of his aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lindsey, Dicky and Drenda.

John Coleman

John Coleman WTCC Director

ABILENE.—John S. Coleman, president of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement has been chosen director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for Wellington.

Announcement was made by J. Carter King, Jr., of Albany, newly elected president of the 132-county regional chamber.

Local directors of the WTCC represent local members of the regional chamber in meetings of the organization's board. They determine policy for the nearly 4,000-member body and are responsible for maintaining local financial support for the work of the WTCC. Six major fields of activity for the organization are state and national affairs, community services, industrial development, agriculture and livestock and water resources.

The 42nd annual convention of the organization was held recently in San Angelo. The 1961 convention is to be held in Mineral Wells.

Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service, flew over the southwest and west parts of the county Tuesday morning inspecting damage. In some sections, every terrace system has at least one break. In other areas, damage is less serious, he reported.

Several farm tanks broke, some of these being older tanks that have withstood heavy rains in the past. Most of these broke down the middle, indicating the spillways were unable to handle the fall.

Buck Creek overflowed into the bottom lands and many residents reported it higher than they had ever seen it.

Heavy damage to terraces and other soil conserving structures, and badly washed land is of deep concern to many farmers.

"I'm not as worried over the loss of my crop as I am the damage to my land," Dennis Lacy told a friend Tuesday. A number of farmers indicated Tuesday they will be unable to do any repair work on terrace systems until fall.

R. T. Savage, mail carrier on Route 1, estimated that not more than 10 per cent of the cultivated land on his route has crops worth leaving.

North of Salt Fork river, Dozier received .88 inch of rain Sunday night and 2.11 Monday night, for a total of almost three inches. Mrs. James Throckmorton reported at the Elmer Strong and W. R. Breeding places at Abra, three and one half inches fell early Tuesday, plus 1.5 Sunday night, totaling 5 inches.

Rufus Sweat, mail carrier on Route 6, reported three inches for a total Sunday and Monday nights in the area east of Lutie. Some wheat is beginning to fall.

Individual rainfall reports to Tuesday noon from over the county are:

E. G. Pierce, Marella, rain gauge ran over.
W. L. Green, Indian Creek, 2 inches.
John Jackson, Fresno, 1.60.
W. O. Vaughan, Dodson, 1.25.
Dudley Phipps, Crossroads, 3 inches.

There were numerous reports in the Quail area of 6 and 7 inches.

A. C. Patterson, Buck Creek, 5 inches.

Frank Fourmentin, Rolla, 4.5 inches.

John Nash, west of Rolla, 8.5 inches.

J. R. Godbey and Frank Lindsey, west of Quail, 5 inches.

Herbert Bearden, farm east of Wellington, 1.4 inches.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Massey attended the Massey reunion at Thorp Springs last week.

When the soil is hungry, the people who are supported from that soil become starved also.

Pickin' Time Here

County Agent Gives Bag Worm Treatment

Bagworms are, or soon will be, active in all parts of the State. The time to obtain good control of these pests is when they are young, as chemicals applied after the worms are grown gives no control, says Bob Lynch, county agent.

After hatching, the larvae immediately start to feed on the foliage of ornamental plants. The young worms spin a silken bag about themselves and as they feed attach bits of foliage to this bag. The worms carry this bag with them as they move about. When the worms are grown, this bag is one and a half to two inches long and affords the worm almost complete protection.

In September the female worm deposits her eggs in the bag and then dies. The bags should be picked from infested plants and burned because the eggs for next season's worms go through the winter inside the bags.

Lynch recommends 10% toxaphene or 4% malathion dust as a control. Lead arsenate, toxaphene or malathion spray can also be used. Remember, he warns, these chemicals are effective only if used when the worms are young.

For additional information on control of bagworms, ask the county agent for L-199, "Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants."

For grown bagworms, local residents find about the only effective measure is picking the worms off.

greements. Loans and purchase agreements will be available from harvest through January 31, 1961. The loans will mature March 31, 1961.

To get wheat price support, Brown points out, a farmer must have complied with his 1960 acreage allotment.

In general, the basic support rate is for No. 1 wheat. Premiums and discounts are applied to determine the rate for wheat which is of other grades or has other quality factors. There is a discount of 20 cents per bushel for certain previously announced varieties which have inferior milling or baking qualities.

The county support rate, Mr. Brown said, will be adjusted for any future freight rate decreases that may occur during the 1960 period of price-support availability. Non-recourse price support on 1960 production of wheat will be subject to a $50,000 limitation as required by a provision of the 1960 Agricultural Appropriation Act. A producer will be exempt from the limitation on non-recourse price support if his 1960 acreage of wheat is reduced at least 20 per cent below his 1959 acreage. Loans will continue to be made in excess of $50,000 on a recourse basis under which the borrower agrees to repay any amount over $50,000 by January 31, 1962.

full-feeding of cattle to utilize the big feed crops of West Texas.

This has the full approval of the Collingsworth group.

The proposed designation of the Salt Fork River bridge north of Quail as a memorial bridge to those who died in action in World War II was discussed and endorsed, but formal action was postponed until the C-C can confer with a veterans group.

Billy Hatch and Donald Curry discussed with the chamber of commerce directors the Wellington Ex-Students Association plan to sell store front decorations to merchants. These would include banner type decorations similar to those the business houses usually rent for the Fair.

One of these store front units is on display at Hatch Dry Goods, and includes a banner, with streamers on each side.

The tentative plan is for the Chamber of Commerce to put these up and take them down each year for the Fair only, charging the merchants a fee that will only cover the cost of labor. The decorations would be used for other events as well, but the C-C would not be responsible for putting them up.

Hatch and Curry pointed out that the cost will be little more than the rental usually paid for one use of such decorations.

Miss Henry at Local Bank

Miss Myrna Henry began work June 1 in the bookkeeping department of the Wellington State Bank, C. T. Hubbard, executive vice president of the bank, announced this week.

Miss Henry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry, and was a member of this year's graduating class.

C-C Office in New Location

The office of Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce has been moved to 719 West Avenue, just north of City Grocery, Manager N. M. Higdon announced.

The Housing Authority office was included in the move.

The building was redecorated and office lighting fixtures installed.

The C-C office was on the east side of the square for several years.

Births Outpace Deaths 3.5 to 1

Births outpaced deaths by a ratio of 3.5 to one in Texas last year, provisional State Department of Health figures show.

The department's section on records and statistics counted a total of 248,700 births for 1959, as against 73,753 deaths. That's an increase of 174,947 births over deaths in the 12-month period.

The 1959 births represent an increase of 3,194 over the 245,606 births recorded during 1958. State Health Department statisticians described the 1958 birth rate as the "lowest in several years" but do not speculate as to the reason.

The 1958-1959 death rate remained fairly constant, with an increase of only 310 between the 1959 figure and the 73,443 deaths registered in 1958.

The department said that in the 10-year period between April 1950 and April 1960, there had been 2,351,464 births registered, compared with 683,244 deaths, for an excess of 1,668,220 births over deaths in the decade.

Disregarding immigrations and migrations, this represents a natural population increase of 21.6 per cent over the 1950 Texas population of 7,711,944—contrasted to an increase in population from births alone of 20.2 per cent for the preceding decade between 1940 and 1950, the department said.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McCutchen and family of Amarillo visited here over the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Cagle, and with his mother, Mrs. Earl Epps and Mr. Epps.

Two Games Slated

Little League Play Off to Good Start

On May 31, Coach Verrell Leeper's No. 4 team defeated Coach Tom Wilkins' and Wesley Busby's No. 1 team by a score of 8 to 5. It was a well played game, with Paul Jones and Mike Wolf going the route for the winners and Bill Spillman and Randy West for the losers.

This was the first official game of the 1960 season and it is expected that fans will see some heads-up ball played by these boys during the summer.

On June 3, Coaches Fred Squyres and Troy Marsh piloted their No. 2 team to a 6 to 3 win over the No. 3 team coached by Ray Moody and Eldon Holley. John Barjenbruch and Leroy Childress formed the pitching staff for the winners while Dennis Holley and Tommy Franklin were hurlers for the losers.

No. 4 team will meet No. 3 in a game on June 7th while No. 1 will engage No. 2 on June 10. All of these games are being played at the Marian Airpark baseball diamond. City Manager Bura Handley has installed a new water fountain at the park, the grandstand has been repaired and is in good shape for the season. Doc Barjenbruch has completely remade the diamond into regular little league size, moving home plate back near the stands.

Mrs. May Hix (Continued from Page 1)

ident of her Sunday School class.

Mrs. Hix, was born May 27, 1882 at Bethel, in Ellis county. She was the former May Godfrey, the daughter of Kinson and Hettie Mae Godfrey. In 1897, the family moved to Childress, and to Wellington in 1901. She was educated in the schools of Ellis county and at Childress.

In 1911 she was married to E. M. Hix, for many years a cotton buyer here. He preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted at First Baptist church Monday at 3 p.m. by the Rev. Glenn Hickey, pastor, while friends filled the church to capacity.

Pall bearers were David Baumgardner, Donald Nunnell, Billy Hatch, Alvin Horton, Bryan Denley, Jack Davis, Courtney Brooks and Wesley Savage.

Burial was in West Wellington Cemetery by Kelso Funeral Home.

Two daughters survive Mrs. Hix, Mrs. Kenneth Neal, the former Margaret Hix, of Roswell, N.M., and Mrs. Tom Draper, the former Argen Hix, of Hereford. There are two grandsons, Marion and Kenny Neal. Other survivors are two sisters and a brother, Mrs. Joe Baumgardner of Wellington, Mrs. Grady Brooks of Lubbock, and Col. L. T. Godfrey of Roswell, N. M.

The mission meeting at the Baptist Church on Arlington street is continuing, Elder L. Stonecipher announced.
