

Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

James C. Hartman, Editor

Superior, Intex To Finish NW Scurry Ellenburger Strike

The Superior Oil Company and Intex Oil Company are to complete their No. 13-278 Jordan, Northwest Scurry County Ellenburger discovery from the ten feet of Ellenburger pay it has already drilled at 8,300-70 feet.

The wildcat flowed oil from that zone for a considerable period through the casing. No gauge or sealate on the flow was made.

No Signs Of Water

It did not show any signs of formation water. The oil flow came after the 8,300-70 foot interval had been drilled and tested for 90 minutes. Gas came to the surface in 50 minutes. The gas volume was too small to measure.

No fluid came out at the top while the tool was open.

Recovery from the drill pipe, when it had all been pulled was 7,900 feet of 41-gravity free oil and no water.

Good Pressure

Open flowing bottom hole pressure was from 300 to 2,730 pounds. Shut-in bottom hole pressure after 30 minutes was 3,600.

After the test tool had been pulled the wildcat kicked off and flowed through the casing for a considerable period.

That flow was not estimated or gauged. However, operator representatives said it was sufficient to warrant completing the discovery without drilling deeper.

Location Given

Location is 600 feet from south end west line of section 37A, block 97, H&TC survey. It is two and one-half miles northwest of Fluvanna.

It is one-half of a mile southeast of the lone producer in the Winfield, (Mississippi) field.

The No. 13-278 Jordan failed to develop any appreciable shows for production in the Mississippi.

Shows In Pennsylvania

However it discovered possibilities of making an oil well in the Pennsylvania lime for an area which does not now have any production from the Pennsylvania.

The oil flow from the Ellenburger is much greater than the shows which were found in the Pennsylvania and for that reason operations will complete it from the better and deeper pay.

Plymouth Is To Test Lower Sprayberry In SE Martin Project

Plymouth Oil Company is preparing to test for production in the lower Sprayberry at its No. 1 W. R. Martin, Southeast Martin County wildcat, one and three-quarter miles northeast of Stanton.

This prospect has recovered 35 feet of free oil, 30 feet of heavy oil and gas cut drilling mud and 200 feet of drilling water, with a slight salt taste in a drillstem test at 7,804-7,948 feet.

Liner Has Been Set

The tool was open two hours and 15 minutes for that investigation. A 6-inch liner has been set and cemented at 7,948 feet, one foot above total depth.

Operator is preparing to perforate that liner at 7,973-97 feet and will wash and test on that interval. Has A Fair Chance Interested observers think there is a fair chance that some sort of commercial production may be developed from that zone.

Location is 600 feet from west and 1,900 feet from south lines of section 7, block 35, T-1-S, T&P survey.

The upper Sprayberry section at 6,986-6,991 feet made only salt water. That section is now cased off.

Anderson-Prichard Wildcat Gets Shows On DST Lime

Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1-24 Paiken, deep wildcat in the Midland Farms area of Southeast Andrews County, was drilling below 8,418 feet in an unidentified lime after taking a drillstem test from 8,350 to 8,418 feet.

Tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced in two hours and 35 minutes. Recovery was 180 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

Another drillstem test was taken from 8,350 to 8,378 feet prior to the above test. Tool was open one hour. Recovery was 45 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud.

Location is in section 24, block 42.

Humble Wildcat In SW Runnels Shows Gas, Oil

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Cleora Smith, wildcat in Southwest Runnels County, took a drillstem test from 4,981 to 4,993 feet. Gas showed to the surface in four minutes. Recovery was 10 feet.

America Fetes Independence Day

Lawmakers Push Toward Adjournment

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The nation's lawmakers are doing their Independence Day orating to each other Friday rather than on platforms at Fourth of July celebrations.

The senators and representatives called off their holiday plans to act on bills which must be passed if Congress is to meet its final adjournment deadline Saturday.

The Senate plainly showed its get-out-of-town mood Thursday night by passing a $1,389,567,800 military construction authorization bill with less than five minutes of consideration and with no copies available for the members.

GI Bill Agreement

Conferees reached agreement on a GI Bill of Rights for Korean war veterans Thursday. It would establish education, mustering-out and loan benefits of about a billion dollars.

Also passed by the Senate was a 10 billion dollar money measure which will authorize the actual funds for many of the projects included in the military construction bill. It carried $6,031,000,000 for foreign aid, the exact amount voted by the House, and $3,518,000,000 for a greatly expanded atomic energy weapons program.

These other four money measures also still are in conference.

The 46 billion dollar military spending bill.

A $1,015,000,000 measure to finance the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

A 78 million dollar bill to pay congressional expenses.

A $87 million dollar civil functions measure providing for numerous rivers, harbors and flood control projects.

Other major items of business left included a bill hiking Social Security insurance and public assistance benefits and a bill assuring farmers of higher price supports in the next three years.

Also waiting is a measure aimed at a $1,295,000,000 expansion of the defense housing program.

Taft Offers To Split Texas Delegates, 22-16, With Ike

CHICAGO — (AP) — Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio—following through on a harmony appeal by Herbert Hoover—formally offered Friday to split the contested Texas delegation to the GOP convention.

Taft suggested that 22 of the 38 disputed votes be cast for him and 16 for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Jack Porter, head of the Eisenhower Texas delegation, told newsmen that while his group would meet with the rival Taft delegation "we have no intention of compromising this matter."

CHICAGO — (AP) — An ear-shattering display of Fourth of July fireworks was set to go off before the Republican National Committee Friday—with the compliments of Texas.

Thirty-eight hefty, possibly decisive, nominating votes in next week's GOP National Convention furnished the explosive charge.

One delegation—calling its opponents thieves and worse—wanted to vote for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The other—denouncing the Ike forces as mostly Democrats in disguise—was for Senator Robert A. Taft.

The 106-member National Committee had the job of deciding—for the time being, at least—which crowd to let into the convention.

With Taft forces running the National Committee, nobody here had much doubt that most if not all the Texans winning recognition Friday would be wearing Taft buttons in their Western-type hats.

But that was far from being the end of it.

Delegates who lost their contests before the National Committee, and this year that means Eisenhower delegates with few exceptions, can appeal to the convention's Credentials Committee, and then to a vote of the convention delegates themselves.

There, on the convention floor, with the microphones and the television cameras telling the whole story to the voters, is where the real fight is going to be.

Meanwhile:

Taft was back in Washington, still saying it looked as if he might be nominated on the first ballot.

Eisenhower was moving on Chicago by train, due Saturday. Associated Press correspondent Don Whitehead, traveling with him, reported the general was mad about the lickings his people have been taking here and ready to make a real fight upon his arrival.

Eisenhower said at Lincoln, Neb.: "If I know the American people, this ruthlessness in Chicago will boomerang."

Some supporters of Eisenhower, Gov. Earl Warren of California and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota were making moves toward what could conceivably blossom into a stop-Taft coalition.

For the moment, they were concentrating on denouncing the National Committee's decision to bar

MORE CHIEFS, FEWER INDIANS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Representative Davis (R-Wis.) says a Pentagon "promotion spree" has given the Army and Air Force a total of 745 generals and 7,500 colonels.

The total, he said, exceeds that of the last war, although top officers command about a fourth as many men.

Davis cited the figures Thursday in urging Congress to establish an officer ceiling.

"The Pentagon," Davis said in a statement, "may collapse under the sheer weight of the great accumulation of brass."

Partly Cloudy Skies Promise No Relief From Summer Heat

Beneath warm and partly cloudy skies Midland Friday began its long July Fourth holiday weekend.

The CAA station at Terminal reported the temperature climbed up to 97 Thursday afternoon and then slipped back down to a low of 73 during the night.

Similar weather was expected in this area for the remainder of the weekend with thunderstorm activity reported along the New Mexico-Texas border.

Heavy clouds brought some hope of moisture late Thursday but these hopes were blown away by clouds of dust.

Light and widely-scattered showers fell in the early morning hours on the western edge of the Panhandle and the El Paso area. There was a possibility of more later in the day.

A freak thunderstorm of near-tornadoic winds swept through a 20-block area of Lubbock late Thursday with damage estimated at several thousand dollars. Wind gusts up to 65 miles an hour left a narrow path of broken windows and tree limbs.

12 Red Jets Fall From Sky In UN Attack

SEOUL, KOREA — (AP) — American Sabre jets shot down 12 Communist MIG's Friday while Allied artillerymen unlimbered every big gun on the Korean battlefield for a double-barreled July Fourth blow against the Reds.

The toll of 12 MIG's shot down, one probably destroyed and six damaged made the air battle the second biggest jet victory of the Korean war, the Fifth Air Force said.

Few MIG's have been seen over North Korea for more than three months. But Friday the Reds hurled 115 of the swift swept-wing fighters against UN fighter bombers and the 97 Sabre jets flying protective cover.

Ground Attacks Heated

On the Western Front, a Chinese Communist battalion of 750 men swarmed up Old Baldy and a nearby hill three times. Twice Allied guns hammered the charging Reds back, but still they came.

At 2:30 a.m. Friday, four hours after the attack began, the Chinese gave up the battle and pulled back to their own lines, the Army said. A spokesman said 100 Reds were killed and 200 wounded.

Slightly to the East, a somewhat smaller Communist force of about 150 men hit a newly-won Allied position under cover of a heavy mortar and artillery barrage. The Army said the attack was stopped cold.

A UN armored raiding column shot up Communist positions near the Panmunjom truce talks site Thursday, killing an estimated 50 Reds and wounding 50.

90,000,000 Jam Highways Across Nation

Americans by the millions took a brief holiday from their normal round of affairs Friday to celebrate Independence Day with parades, ceremonies and picnics.

U. S. citizens abroad, too, marked the 176th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. But in Korea, the grim business of war went on as usual for thousands of American troops.

In a special message to the U. S. Eighth Army men fending off renewed Chinese attacks along the shell-torn battlefield, Gen. James A. Van Fleet declared: "We continue the crusade of the Minute Men of 1776 in the interest of 'life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'"

Across the land, parades and patriotic speeches were the order of the day in the biggest cities and the smallest towns.

With most work at a standstill and Summer's heat in full sway, millions dragged out the swimming suits and picnic baskets and headed for a holiday. The National Safety Council estimated that some 60 million Americans, riding in 40 million cars, would take to the highways during the three-day weekend.

Of these, the council predicted at least 430 would die in accidents.

In New York, hundreds of extra ticket sellers at train, bus and air terminals faced long queues of men, women and children eager to get out of town for the holiday.

One Frugal Note

But for a million or more Americans the only celebrations were pitched on a frugal note. They were the families of the 400,000 striking steelworkers, 146 since June 1 and of the 400,000 or so persons in allied industries laid off as a result of the walkout. Many of them just didn't have the money to leave home.

For at least two groups of politicians, too, there was little promise of rest. In Washington Congress remained in session, hoping to clean up pending business before the week's end and adjourn for the Summer.

Republican bigwigs in Chicago pushed ahead with final details before the opening of the party's National Convention Monday.

U. S. Embassies throughout the world held receptions and parties. One of the largest was given by the U. S. high commissioner to Cuba, John J. McCloy. He invited 4,000 guests to a reception at his headquarters in Bonn.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson, in Brazil on an official courtesy visit, took time from his official duties to speak at a Fourth of July picnic of American residents in Rio de Janeiro.

Senior ships of the U. S. Sixth Fleet, scattered in ports throughout the Mediterranean Sea, fired 21-gun salutes in celebration of the anniversary.

Allies Join Observance

In Britain, U. S. airmen observed the day with traditional festivities and the American Society in London—perhaps with tongue in cheek—sent an invitation to the boss of the empire that the 17th's signers spurned. The society chose British Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton to be chief speaker at its July 4th dinner Friday night.

Lyttelton was only one of many Allies joining in the celebration. Governments and newspapers across the seas paid tribute to America's past and present.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, in a message to Acheson, said his people hope that the United States will continue to be "a protector of the occasion of Independence Day."

Cuba, which this year is celebrating the fiftieth year of its independence, conceived a special five-day observance of American independence, sponsored by President Fulgencio Batista as a "special appreciation of the people of the United States."

Polio Wave Dims Texas' Holiday Fun

Independence Day gaiety in many Texas homes was marred Friday by the spread of polio.

In Houston, the greatest mass experiment in the fight against the crippling disease continued without a break. Mothers and children stayed away from July Fourth picnics to line up at eight clinics for inoculations.

The experiment started Wednesday and will end when about 35,000 children have been processed in the clinics. Half of them are getting shots of an experimental blood serum-gamma globulin. The other half get a non-effective substitute.

Cases, Death Mount

Polio researchers hope to prove from the experiment that gamma globulin will prevent paralysis in polio cases.

A 46-year-old man died Thursday in Houston of polio. His death made five polio deaths and 118 cases in Harris County, six deaths and 270 cases in Houston proper, and six deaths and 108 out-of-county cases treated in Houston.

One new polio case was reported in Dallas as doctors tried to make more room at the Parkland Hospital polio center by transferring 15 long-term cases to other hospitals.

Two polio nurses reported for emergency duty in Dallas Thursday. Six other nurses trained in handling polio patients are expected in Dallas within the next week. They were recruited in a special drive staged by the Red Cross.

SNOWBALLS IN JULY—Russell Green, nine, of Levittown, N. Y., holds a placard advertising his unique Summer treat—nice, cold snowballs which he's been hoarding in the family's deep freeze. Russell only intended selling them for cooling-off purposes, but the little boy at left thinks it's a fine time to revive a favorite Winter sport—snowball fighting.

Southwestern Bell, Union Agree On New Wage Scales

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Agreement on a new labor contract covering 82,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone Company employes in a six-state area was reached early Friday.

Company spokesmen said the agreement provided for wage increases totaling approximately 12 million dollars for the workers in some 500 cities in Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, and parts of Illinois.

The company and the Communications Workers of America (CWA) began negotiations on the new contract May 6.

The company said the average increase for each employe would amount to 9.2 cents an hour. The company's 1951 payroll amounted to 180 million dollars and spokesmen estimated the new agreement would add from 11 1/2 to 12 million dollars to that figure.

The 12-month contract begins effective July 6. Wage increases incident to the agreement are beyond wage stabilization limits and the contract must be approved by the Wage Stabilization Board.

The agreement also calls for the reclassification of several cities in the wage scale level.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

TEL AVIV — (AP) — A disastrous fire, called the biggest in Israel's history by an insurance official, destroyed two large stores and damaged a military supply depot in the Jaffa harbor area Friday.

PUSAN, KOREA — (AP) — President Syngman Rhee Friday night won his fight to shift election of a Korean president from the National Assembly to the people. The Assembly adopted a series of compromise constitutional amendments which may mean an end to Korea's political crisis.

WIMBLEDON, ENGLAND — (AP) — Frank Sedgman of Australia, already holder of the U. S. singles tennis title, Friday defeated Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, for the Wimbledon title.

Varied Events Dot West Texas Calendar

Varied Fourth of July events over West Texas attracted a large attendance of Midlanders Friday.

Rodeos, baseball games and other annual entertainment filled the holiday bill.

Odessa started its day of celebration with a parade at 11 a.m. A carnival was scheduled for the afternoon, highlighted by the selection of Miss Odessa.

Big Spring and Odessa, battling for the Longhorn League championship, were to meet in an afternoon baseball game in Odessa. Midlanders also were planning to attend the doubleheader between Midland and San Angelo in San Angelo. Game time is 7:15 p.m.

Festivities at Crane will open at 5 p.m. in the Crane Community Park and Swimming Pool. Swimming contests, baseball and a beauty review are on the program.

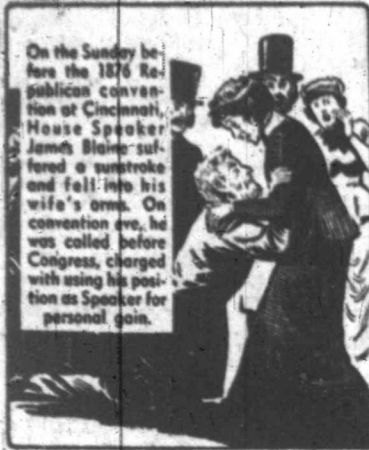

Perhaps the bulk of Midland rodeo fans away for the day were in Pecos. The West of the Pecos Rodeo will give its second performance Friday night.

Several Midlanders were in Stamford for the Texas Cowboy Reunion. Others headed for New Mexico points including Ruidoso.

While fellow townsmen scattered as far away as Dallas and other downstate cities, a majority of Midlanders took advantage of the holiday to "take it easy" and enjoy family gatherings.

It is a quiet holiday in Midland. Most retail business establishments closed in observance of Independence Day. City and county offices will continue to be closed Saturday.

No public celebration was booked in Midland. The Midland Country Club will stage its annual Fourth of July fireworks display at 9:15 p.m. A swimming meet and picnic supper is planned earlier in the evening.

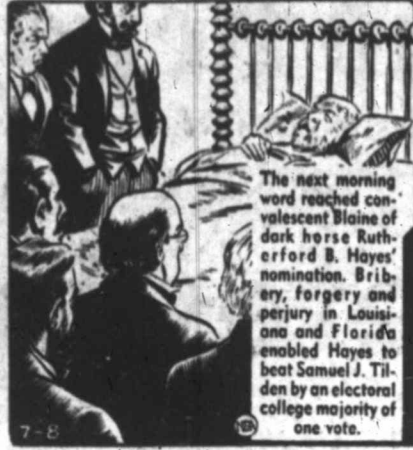

On the Sunday before the 1876 Republican convention at Cincinnati, House Speaker James Blaine suffered a stroke and fell into his wife's arms. On convention eve, he was called before Congress, charged with using his position as Speaker for personal gain.

At the convention opening, Illinois' Robert Ingersoll compared Blaine to an "armed warrior... a plumed knight." He roared the delegates, "Blaine! Blaine! Blaine!" Then late dealt the "Man from Maine" a third cruel blow.

Before a ballot could be taken, the ball's lighting equipment failed. Blaine's eyes had covered the main gas pipe.

The next morning word reached Congress: Blaine of dark horse Lutherford B. Hayes' nomination. Bribery, forgery and perjury in Louisiana and Florida enabled Hayes to beat Samuel J. Tilden by an electoral college majority of one vote.

The MATURE PARENT When You Shut Children Out Of Adult Talk, Explain Why

By MURIEL LAWRENCE Mrs. Joe Armstrong is pretty mad at Mr. Armstrong. She is hurt at the way he is carrying on at the dinner table with his mother and sister, who have come for the weekend.

As she puts the dessert on the table, Mr. Armstrong is laughing so hard at what his sister is saying that he doesn't hear his wife's request for the serving spoon.

But two days later, this same Mrs. Armstrong who is so allergic to discourtesy, excludes her small daughter from the conversation at her table. As she pours her husband's coffee, she says, "Mable Halsey's in a terrible state again. Joe, Bill's back on the b-o-t-t-l-e. Someone brought him home d-r-u-n-k again last night and poor Mable!"

to think of themselves, "How nice of her! How did she know I needed that to be said to me?" These feelings of appreciation are the renewals of love, the reassurances we all need to feel that we are committed to trustworthy people.

Oh, Mely's love for her mother won't be hurt by such a small forgetfulness. But because we do not love love does not mean that we never can ever afford to pass up chances to add to it.

World population has been increasing at a rate of about one per cent every year.

Atomic Bathing Suit's Passe, Paris Says

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS—The "Bikini" bathing suit and other atomic beachwear will be gone from the seaside scenery this year.

That's what Paris has decreed—but don't put away those dark glasses, monsieur. Almost gone is more like it.

The fashion world says the "Bikini" has been relegated to the department of "bright young things." No style-conscious woman over 25 will appear at smart resorts in anything but a one-piece swimsuit, unless, of course, she is a professional model or the possessor of what our grandfathers used to call a "faultless academy."

Boulevardiers, scanning the fashion pronouncement, see nothing wrong with the idea at all.

There is nothing really wrong with the one-piece idea, either. The 1952 models are brief, usually boned through the midriff, and cling to the body like paper on the wall.

The top part can be either strapless, like an evening gown, or equipped with a halter neckline and sometimes has twin straps. Black, white and navy are standard colors, and there are added choices of deep rose red, teal blue or even burnt orange.

Jacques Heim, whose beachwear was atomic long before the atomic bomb, still specializes in the younger set and budding starlets, and hasn't observed the one-piece decree.

Strapless bodice and sun-hat in "Kissnet" pattern by MAGEY Rouff is Paris idea of resort wear for off the beach.

He has, for instance, a two-piece model trimmed above and below with a five-inch band of twine fringe. Underneath are miniumum of black satin, visible when the breeze blows.

Carven, also a young peoples' specialist, favors the one-piece swimsuit with eye-catching patterns through the waistline which follow the wearer's every movement.

In the lounging department, on or off the beach, slacks this season all taper off somewhere around mid-calf, or just a little below. It's all a question of individual silhouette.

Andre Ledoux, stylist for the better-class ready-to-wear market, likes to add a little note of femininity. There's a pair of slacks called "Acrobate" in black linen with a narrow self-fringe running down the side seam. They're topped by a blouse in a "lightning" print.

Beach wraps are kimono-cut, and vary from thigh to calf-length in printed, reversible, or plain terry cloth in exotic colorings. Even the atomic Helm includes one in a roomy Mother Hubbard type.

Bikini suits may be out-moded, but who'll miss 'em when they have beach scenery like this, designed by Jacques Heim.

Packing Tricks Aid Travelers

Travel tips for Summer vacationers from singer Nadine Conner (left) include folding technique (right) learned from checking on clothes as they arrive from dry cleaners and department stores. She makes a check-list of travel needs, packs small items in shoes to save room, always carries an emergency mending kit.

By ANNETTE GREEN
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Beauty on the road is no problem for Nadine Conner, famous Metropolitan Opera star. Her concert engagements all over the country have taught her many packing tricks—some of which will be helpful to you in your travels this Summer.

"The most important tip I can give to any vacationer," says Miss Conner, "is to travel light. Don't take along a lot of clothes that you know you will never wear."

If, it is at all possible, the singer recommends that you use plastic clothes carriers for everything you can. And she suggests weight-saving gimmicks. Miss Conner, for instance, puts all her make-up in "lighter-than-air" plastic containers. Jars and bottles are definitely out.

In a small plastic tube, no bigger than a lipstick, she carries a miniature razor, a nail file, emery board, orange stick, eyebrow pencil and nail polish.

Since you never know when an emergency mending job may present itself, follow her advice and bring along a tiny sewing kit the size of a match book. It holds a variety of thread coffers as well as a couple of needles. You can find most of these little items in the dime store.

The compressed wash cloth is another wonder find for the traveler. About as big as a nickel, it is chemically treated to blow up into a handy personal wash cloth when it touches water.

Miss Conner learned the technique of folding her clothes by watching how they arrived from department stores and the cleaners. She recommends that you pack big things first, working smaller items around the rest. "Make everything dovetail," is her packing motto.

It is important, too, to bring along clothes that can "double." Change a costume with the help of accessories. Remember, when you are packing, that there is plenty of room inside your shoes, handbags and even gloves for such items as hankies, belts and hose.

If things get wrinkled, Miss Conner always turns on the hot water shower faucet in her hotel and hangs her crumpled clothes inside the bathroom door. Fifteen minutes usually takes care of all the wrinkles. Naturally, the ideal travel fabrics are nylon, dacron and orlon. They eliminate all ironing problems.

Another good idea Miss Conner offers is to carry a small plastic bag to use for your clean but still damp personal laundry or bathing suits. The bag will be especially helpful if you are moving from place to place.

"I always make a check-list of my packing requirements," explains Miss Conner, "to be certain I haven't forgotten anything. But even the most careful planner can overlook a tooth brush or bathing cap. There's no point in worrying though. Unless you're headed for Timbuctoo, you always can buy that forgotten detail."

It's no wonder Nadine Conner looks well-groomed no matter how much traveling she may have to do. Follow in her footsteps, and you're bound to reach your destination in perfect order.

Independence, Self Reliance

Independence Day celebrates our birth as a nation. What we gained on this day in 1776 was political independence, freedom from the domination of a mother government whose colonial policy showed little understanding of the problems and interests of remote America.

Yet too often the fact is lost sight of that we won another kind of independence in the American Revolutionary War. That historic uprising was a social as well as a political revolution.

We fought for more than the lifting of the yoke of foreign domination. We wanted freedom from all manner of economic restrictions. We wished the liberty to be ourselves completely, to develop as our talents and interest and our particular environment gave promise we could.

From that struggle grew a nation wedded to the ideals of independence and experienced in the practice of it. Americans made up a rugged company, self-reliant, rich in individual resource, proud of personal freedom.

The circumstances of life in this nation, and on this earth, have changed mightily since the first century and a half of America's growth. Industrial civilization, a tremendous engine of production, has transformed the things we do to get our essential substance.

The complex interplay of economic forces turned loose by this great engine has brought many problems that are beyond the control of individual men. They often are victims of economic events far removed from their small sphere. They find themselves helpless to combat the effect of these incidents.

To men in a breadline, independence is a hollow word. So when the great depression struck, they looked to the only force they could see which was big enough and powerful enough to hit back at the mysterious forces robbing them of their livelihood. That was government.

It happened that Americans called upon the Democratic Party to use the power of government at this moment in history. But many historians believe that any party sooner or later would have been compelled to follow the same course. Men could not have been allowed to starve through no fault of their own.

No one can quarrel with the aim of safeguarding free men from disasters beyond their control. What seems unfortunate, however, is that somehow, in this painful adjustment to the complexities of a new age, we seemed to lose some of our traditional reverence for the independence of spirit that had made us great.

Whether the party in power is or is not partly to blame for this is for the politicians to argue. It is important here to note only that the loss appears real. The habit of independence, of drawing on one's own resources, is not so strong as it once was.

It would be absurd to argue that we could return to the kind of independence we knew as a budding nation in the nineteenth century. But it is just as absurd to contend that because our difficulties are vastly complicated today, we therefore can do nothing for ourselves.

A man whose house is demolished by storm or fire rightly may welcome the band of neighbors who pitch in to help rebuild it. But he should not therefore look expectantly down the road each day for neighbors who might help him tend his fields and his stock. The normal labors and trials of life he must shoulder alone.

This is an occasion for Americans to remember their old habits of independence and to begin to give them fresh meaning against a totally new backdrop. The task calls for courage, for a rising to the challenge. Americans have that courage, and they have never run from a real test.

Viewing With Pride

All Americans rightly can view with pride the completion of the magnificent new passenger vessel, the SS United States, built by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, and to be operated by United States Lines.

This is the largest passenger craft ever built in American yards. It probably is the fastest liner afloat, although its true top speed is a secret. Its sleek lines are a triumph of ship design.

And since it is built for quick conversion to troop-carrying, and can bear a full division of men at a time, it is an important addition to our naval transport. Congratulations are in order all around.

Some folk wonder why Americans drive on the right side of the street. It never pays to drive on the wrong side!

According to reports, pancakes were made thousands of years ago. Even then, one good turn deserved another.

Why is it folk so often stop in the kitchen for a quick sandwich on the way to a church supper?

Young folk who wish they were grown-ups wish they were young when they are.

Gall and Wormwood

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Independence Day recalls U. S. battle for freedom; 176 years see lush changes in fighting forces; inefficiency and waste mar super-equipped services.

WASHINGTON—One year ago today, Americans in two widely separated parts of the U. S. showed a shocking lack of knowledge—even fear—of the Declaration of Independence, signed by the founding fathers in Philadelphia 176 years ago.

In Madison, Wis., John Hunter, a reporter for the Capital Times, asked 113 people attending a 4th-of-July celebration to sign a petition embodying the wording of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. Only one out of 112 was willing to sign.

In New Orleans, Allen Johnson, a reporter for the Item, had somewhat the same experience. Only 12 out of 36 people were willing to sign. The reaction of those approached was that "the stuff sounds Russian," that it ought to be "narrowed down," that the man circulating the petition was a "Communist."

Subsequent editorial reaction was that "McCarthyism" had instilled such fear of any free doctrine or belief, that people were afraid to sign anything having to do with freedom.

Yet freedom was the founding principle which the nation fought for on the anniversary we celebrate today.

New Copies Of Declaration Following this woeful lack of understanding of the Declaration of Independence, the columnist suggested to a printer in Virginia, birthplace of Thomas Jefferson, that he print several hundred thousand copies of that document for distribution to schools, veterans' posts, and business offices.

So August Diets of the Dietz Press, Richmond, patriotically did so. He not only prepared a decorated copy of the Declaration for five cents, including mailing charges, but he went further. He arranged with the Sertoma (Service to Mankind) clubs, of which he is a member, to circulate about one million copies of the Declaration to schools all over the nation.

The Bank of America in California did the same thing, and this distribution of the Declaration is continuing. However, one million copies of Jefferson's stirring words, signed in Philadelphia July 4, 1776, is a mere drop in the bucket among a population of 150,000,000.

Q—Who discovered the new drug aureomycin?

A—Aureomycin is obtained from a mold which was discovered by R. M. Dugger of Pearl River, N. Y. The name of the new antibiotic is derived from its golden color.

Q—Why were there 13 stars in the Confederate flag?

A—The Confederacy hoped for a total of 13 member states at the time the flag was adopted. Only 11 seceded, but the number of stars was kept.

Q—What was the eagle in United States currency and when was its use discontinued?

A—Eagle was for many years the popular name of a $10 gold coin in the United States. It was first coined in 1795, and was discontinued in 1934.

Q—When was the moon photographed for the first time?

A—The first photograph of the moon was taken by John W. Draper in 1840.

The American infantry battalion has 100 men engaged in communications work. The comparable Russian organization gets along on 23.

The committee blames the traditions and luxuries of the past for bloating the armed forces with fat. Navy and Air Force.

The committee didn't address its stinging rebuke solely to the Army, but also took a few swipes at the Air Force and Navy.

"We cannot consider an organization efficient when it requires 1,000 men—plus supply line too long to be estimated—to put 75 single-seat aircraft into the air," the report fires its barbs at the other two services. "We cannot consider a training base efficient when it requires two men to handle every three pupils. We cannot consider a ship efficiently run when it is manned by three and one-half times the number of seamen required to conduct a similar operation in private commerce."

"Victory," says the Johnson committee, "has usually gone not to the largest army but to the best-organized army. Military superiority has been measured not by the number of guns but by the destructive power of the guns that can be brought to bear. We face an enemy who outnumber our manpower as the grains of sand on the beach—whose vast resources have yet to be encompassed in numerical terms. Against that manpower and those resources we must counterpose our superior ability at organization and our superior productive capacity."

The committee's recommendation: "It would appear to us that the most eminent Americans should be assembled to devote themselves to this task. Ample authority should exist under the National Security Act of 1947. The secretary of Defense can appoint a commission to make the necessary studies and make the necessary recommendations without further action by the President."

JOHNNY HAMILTON told Nystrom the next morning about his talk with Kovatt. The trainer's eyes were bleak. "He's a tough one to fight, Johnny." He laid a friendly hand on Johnny's shoulder. "You're kind of young to be making hundred thousand dollar decisions."

"If you were in my shoes, what would you tell him?" "I'd tell him to go jump in a lake." The trainer smiled. "But I was never very sensible." His smile faded, and he looked thoughtful. "You know, all you've got is Godhue's word for all this. Maybe you ought to check it more closely."

"You mean get another lawyer?" Nystrom looked doubtful. "Not exactly. It's pretty touchy, you know, one attorney checking on another. They have their ethics, and it would tip our hand."

"What then?" "I could look up Judge Garry. He was a friend of your dad's." "I'd appreciate that," Johnny said.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

What sort of bridge hand makes you think of fireworks? Probably a slam. But not just an ordinary slam, expertly bid and played. Let's take a look at a slam that shouldn't have been bid.

Certainly there's nothing much to recommend in the slam contract shown in today's hand. Experts should stay out of a slam when the opponents have two aces. But when this hand came along in the Decoration Day tournament in New York, most of the North-South pairs staggered into six no-trump. In a way, it's not to be wondered at. The defense had just two bare aces between them, not a jack more.

Table with columns for NORTH, WEST, EAST, SOUTH (B), and various card suits (Spades, Hearts, Diamonds, Clubs).

By way of compensation North had a good five-card suit, and South had an even better one.

If the defense had held about the same value—but not in the form of two aces—the slam might have been less cold because of the strength of the red suits.

I wouldn't compare this slam to fireworks if it were just an unlucky hand that was set because the defenders had two aces. The astonishing thing about it is that most of the experts who bid the slam managed to make it.

At most tables West opened a club, and South won with the jack. He then led a diamond, hoping that somebody would take the ace and would return anything but a spade. Then he might make four diamonds, five hearts and three clubs.

As things turned out, however, West played a low diamond at the second trick, and dummy won with the king. East's nine-spot now indicated quite a different way of playing the hand. There was a good chance that East had no more diamonds, and there might be good luck in spades.

So most of the experts now shifted to spades, and East could do nothing to defeat the contract. He would take his ace of spades whenever he liked, but he couldn't lead a diamond to his partner's ace.

South managed to win three spades, five hearts, one diamond and three clubs. Twelve tricks even though the defenders each held an ace.

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been: West North East South 1 Diamond Double Redouble? You, South, hold: Spades 7-5-3. Hearts 7-6-3-2. Diamonds 6-5-2. Clubs 8-4. What do you do?

A—Bid one heart. A "free" bid over the redouble usually shows some strength, because you can afford to pass any weak hand and let your partner show his best suit. The exception occurs when you have five cards in the suit that's cheapest to bid. You bid one heart doesn't indicate a playable trump suit if he steps North from bidding one spade or two clubs if he happens to have a really good suit; but it does indicate to have a fairly good three-card holding in hearts.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 7-6-3-2. Hearts 7-5-3. Diamonds 8-4. Clubs 6-5-2. What do you do?

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Taft And Ike Tend To Differ In A Big Way On Foreign Policy

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

CHICAGO—If, as claimed by Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the principal differences between him and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower are little matters of emphasis on points of foreign policy, then it becomes necessary to understand what those little differences are.

The record of Senator Taft happens to be much clearer than the record of General Eisenhower. Senator Taft has written a book. Also, his voting record in the Senate is clear proof of his ideas.

Take this voting record first, over the last four years. In 1948 he voted against the North Atlantic Security pact. He voted against the foreign military aid bill. He voted to cut Marshall Plan funds by 10 per cent and foreign military aid by 80 per cent.

Next year he voted against the $48,000,000 start for the Point Four Program of aid for underdeveloped countries. He voted against naming Gen. George Marshall as secretary of Defense. He voted against $2,700,000 more for the Marshall Plan, but he voted in favor of the first $100,000,000 for Spanish Lictator Franco.

In 1951 Senator Taft voted against universal military training. He voted against sending troops to Europe without congressional authorization. He voted to cut the Marshall Plan funds by $500,000,000 and he voted to cut defense appropriations by $5,500,000,000.

So far this year on key foreign bills he has voted for ratification of the Japanese peace treaty. He voted for re-study of further foreign aid.

General Eisenhower's foreign policy speech at Denver, in fact, tends to show that his differences with Taft are anything but small. On the main objective of peace, they are in agreement, as is everyone. It is on the means of obtaining peace that they differ.

General Eisenhower is for full support to the UN. He believes in "collective security," meaning alliances with foreign governments as opposed to merely making America strong at home. Eisenhower favors foreign aid as a good investment, to give America the most security for the fewest dollars.

The general is for full support to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Europe is where the senator says he would cut down. Eisenhower sees no more hope for solution in Korea than Taft. But the general would keep Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa. The senator has said he would turn them loose to attack Red China. He puts far more emphasis on Pacific affairs, while General Eisenhower would put the main effort on the Atlantic.

On this last point, General Eisenhower has come out strongly for the promotion of international trade, since his return from Europe. Frequently thrown at him, that he is an "isolationist" in New York last February he said, "We can't get out of Europe or Korea at the there. They would arrive at Atwater Fields late that afternoon, he learned. Ed Nystrom was back by noon, and the pale blue eyes were bleaker than ever. He said, "The judge didn't like what I had to say. This Godhue, it seems, is a sort of protégé of his. He helped put him through law school. He even landed him with your dad." "You don't even think I should see another lawyer?" "You'll have to decide for yourself. I've a lot of faith in Judge Garry's word. His judgment is pretty sound."

Johnny gulped, and his eyes went to the stables. "Okay. It's up to the horses then. I can't raise the money any other way."

IF Adonis lived up to what they had a right to expect, if Bella continued the streak she had enjoyed as a two-year-old, then $100,000 wasn't too much to hope for in three months' campaigning. But nothing is as uncertain as a horse race, and Adonis was exceedingly unpredictable.

Some horses love to win; fight every step of the way to win, outclass or not. Adonis liked to run, but there seemed no impulse in him to answer a challenger's threat. He'd had some thrilling wins, and some humiliating defeats as a two-year-old. He was impervious to the lash; deaf to any pleadings of his rider. Johnny could only hope that the winter's rest had changed his temperament.

He wrote a letter to Carol before leaving. He tried to express some part of the revolution she had caused in his plans for the future. And he told her that if everything went as he hoped, they would be married this summer.

Nystrom rode up to Atwater Fields with him in the convertible, and Rusty Sloan followed in the pick-up. The rest of the crew went by train, with the horses.

It was a well-managed track.

and the purses generally high. Expenses would come out of the cheaper races, the claimers. On the big ones, they'd have to shoot for the purse and whatever they could pick up at the mutual window.

This last, Nystrom would have no part of. It was his boast that he'd never bet on a horse race, his claim that he never would.

The entire string got a workout the next morning. Even in the elm-shaded stable area, the air was hot and lifeless. It didn't seem to bother Bella, or the two-year-old Challenger, but Adonis balked, dogging his morning workout, feeding half-heartedly.

Rusty said, "There was a time when you could deal with a colt like this. But the S.P.C.A. would be on your neck in a minute if you tried it now."

Nystrom's voice was reminiscent. "You can discipline kids the old-fashioned way, but not a horse."

"Isn't there some other way besides beating?" Johnny asked. "Maybe we could try a little psychology."

When the trainer had left them, Rusty said, "You find another boy yet, Mr. Hamilton?" Johnny shook his head, scrutinizing Rusty. He was a thin, bony, with a freckled, serious face and a mop of auburn hair. He was, Johnny knew, a potentially great rider. He had the hands, the poise, the courage.

Johnny grinned. "I'll probably have to string along with you, Rusty. Think you can handle them all?" "I can try. If you can't get another boy, I'll have to." Rusty looked down at his big hands, his freckled face screwed up in thought. "Mr. Hamilton, if I'd help, I'd work for less. We could keep it to ourselves."

Johnny ruffed the youngster's hair. "You let me do the worrying around here."

Behind Feud Of Republicans Lies Danger Of GOP Defeat

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Republicans are building up an intra-party feud and fury which won't reach a peak till next week. After that it remains to be seen whether the party is too badly split to win the election, no matter who heads the ticket.

At this time Senator Taft's forces are in almost complete control of the GOP convention machinery, meaning the Republican National Committee, which for two days has been hearing disputes involving 85 delegate seats claimed by rival Taft and Eisenhower factions.

With one exception, the committee has voted overwhelmingly in favor of seating the pro-Taft delegates. Before the week's end it will have finished its job and may have decided to seat all the other pro-Taft delegates in dispute.

That won't be the last word. The Eisenhower people can still appeal to the convention's Credentials Committee to overturn the work of the national committee. Failing there, they can appeal to the whole convention.

The convention faces the question of the voting rights of the disputed delegations where other disputed delegations are concerned. For example: The delegates from Florida and Georgia are in dispute. Can the disputed Florida delegation of pro-Taftites vote on the floor for the seating of the disputed pro-Taft delegation from Georgia?

The final outcome in Chicago, and its effect on the Republican party, is of such serious concern to 23 Republican governors who have been meeting in Houston, Texas, that they sent a telegram to the convention officials and all the candidates.

They said the good name of the party can only be upheld if "no contested delegation is permitted to vote on the question of seating any contested delegation." Governors favorable to both Taft and Eisenhower signed it.

The Republicans, who have been trying to capitalize on charges of corruption in the Truman administration, weeks ago began making the charge against themselves, particularly in Texas, where the Eisenhower followers and the general himself accused the Taftites of "stealing" delegates.

This word has been kept alive and was used again by Eisenhower's campaign manager, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, after the national committee in Chicago voted to seat a bloc of Taft delegates from Georgia. Lodge promptly was accused of "rendering a great disservice to the Republican party" by Taft's Southern campaign manager, Rep. Carroll Reece of Tennessee.

Feeling between the Taft and Eisenhower factions already is so intense that Republicans in general face this question: Now, no matter which man gets the nomination, will the loser and his supporters work for the winner's election in November? Unless they can work together, the party will go into the elections under what may be an insurmountable handicap.

The Democrats, of course, may but wide open before then, too, but that's to be seen.

Luminous Signals From Teeth Speed Battle On Decay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Government scientists are causing teeth to flash signal lights in a new attack on the riddle of dental decay.

Reporting this Thursday, researchers of the National Bureau of Standards gave this outline: It has long been known that human teeth can be made to fluoresce—that is, give off visible light—when exposed to ultraviolet light which is itself invisible.

It has also been known that substances which have the property of fluorescence give off light "flashes" of varying intensities—according to the composition of the particular substance illuminated.

Taking advantage of these facts—and their work—the NBS men say they have obtained details of tooth structure not apparent under other methods of study. And they say the information is expected to be of value in explaining the mechanism of tooth decay.

They take a very thin sample of enamel—the glossy outer structure of a tooth—or a thin sample of dentin—the inner tissue of a tooth—and expose it to ultraviolet light.

The fluorescent light emitted is "captured" on sensitive photographic film.

PRESIDIO—(AP)—One man was killed and two injured when a car overturned on Highway 67 north of here Wednesday night.

Dead was Harold G. Rawlings, 21, Allen Owens, 28, and Douglas Fagler, 26, are hospitalized in Marfa.

The three were enroute from Grandfalls, their hometown to Ojinaga, Mexico, when Owens, the driver, hit a left shoulder of the road and lost control.

Daddy Ringtail

Daddy Ringtail And It Might Rain

From one way down the Elephant Path came the City Slicker. He was wearing a raincoat-slicker with stripes upon it. It was the kind of raincoat-slicker that folks in the city often wear when the rain is raining down. Right now the sun was bright and hot, but City Slicker kept his eyes turned up to the sky to look for rainclouds.

From one way down the Elephant Path came the City Slicker, as I have said. From the other way up the Elephant Path came the man with the striped umbrella. The man with the striped umbrella held the umbrella over his head. The man kept peeping out and up at the sky to look for rainclouds.

Walking along, walking along, looking up at the sky, came the man with the striped umbrella. Walking along, walking along from the other way, looking up at the sky, came the man with the striped slicker. He was the City Slicker-man, you know.

Bump! There they had bumped together.

By WESLEY DAVIS

"Why don't you look where you are going?" asked the City Slicker-man. "And why don't you look where you are going yourself?" asked the man with the striped umbrella. They were about to have cross words, but now they each took a good look at the other. Each one pointed at the other one, too. They both began to laugh.

Said the City Slicker-man in his striped slicker: "Why, Mr. Man-beneath-your-striped umbrella, you are the funniest fellow in the world. Imagine! The sun is bright in the sky, but you carry your umbrella over your head as though the rain might soon rain down."

But the man with the striped umbrella answered: "Oh no! I am not the funniest fellow in all the world, because you are. Imagine! The sun is indeed bright in the sky, but now you wear your striped slicker as though the rain might soon rain down."

We were having a discussion at the store last night about some of the problems facing delegates in the national convention in July. With television cameras going all the time, some delegates won't dare go to sleep during the long-winded nominating and seconding speeches for fear of getting a telegram from home telling them to wake up.

"Crash! Boom!" came the lightning in the sky of a sudden. Then the rain came pouring down upon the City Slicker-man and upon the man with the striped umbrella. They smiled to see the rain, and they were both very sure indeed that they were smart with all their rain things with them. Happy day! (Copyright 1952, General Features Corp.)

TWO MINDS WITH BUT A SINGLE THOUGHT...

Meet Jeff and Kim! (Jeff's the one with the curly ears!) They're inseparable pals. They both go around on all fours, and they're generally interested in the same things.

For instance, right now they're both wondering just what Daddy and Mama are talking about.

They seem to be discussing something called "religious education." It is carried on weekly by all the churches. It is the bulwark of America's moral strength and her religious faith.

Daddy is saying that he wants Kim to have the priceless advantage of religious training in Sunday School. And Mother is saying that she has been thinking the same thing.

That's the way it ought to be in every home! Two minds with but a single thought... wise parents planning together the moral and spiritual development of their child.

Wag your tail, Jeff! Things look mighty bright for your pal Kim!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Most striking characteristics of the 48-ton monster are its low silhouette and new design, featuring elliptical-shaped hull and turret.

Auto Production Slumps As Steel Famine Increases

DETROIT—(AP)—Motor vehicle production slumped sharply this week under the growing impact of the steel tie-up and the industry-wide July 4 holiday. Ward's automotive reports said that next week is expected to find upwards of 70 per cent of the industry's car and truck output completely halted, "with General Motors, Chrysler and Packard fading out." The trade paper Automotive News predicted a "three or four-week famine in vehicle shipments to dealers." It will take at least that long the paper said, to get supply lines filled up again after a settlement of the steel strike. Ward's estimated this week's output in the United States at 64,400 cars and 16,150 trucks against 92,379 cars and 23,889 trucks last week.

Ohioan In Shorts Deplores Attire Of 'Infernal Women'

CHESAPEAKE, OHIO — (AP)—Norman Parker figures he has as much right to show his legs as women have. So he's been wearing shorts—day in and day out—since 1935. The shorts are a protest, says the 45-year-old Parker, against "those darn infernal women who show their legs." The tall, raw-boned non-conformist lives in the hills back of this Ohio River village with his 78-year-old mother in a weather-beaten frame house. People in the hill country around Lawrence County have long been accustomed to Parker—and the shorts. A cold "spell" finds him donning an overcoat, gloves and a hat. But underneath it all, just the shorts. Parker, who says he hasn't done a lick of work since he started wearing shorts, tells of the time the town marshal hauled him off to jail. "I was cooped up for 108 hours," he recalls. "They had two doctors peckin' on my knees and openin' my eyelids to see if I was nuts." They were the time he went to an open-air church meeting. "Three deacons told me to get off the church property, for it belonged to them, not to God. So I had to quit going to church and I

High Ranking East German Policeman Escapes To West

BERLIN—(AP)—A senior staff officer of the East German Communist People's police and nine other Red policemen deserted to the West within the last 24 hours, West Berlin officials announced Thursday. The officer, Inspector Ernst Bollow—the rank is equivalent to major—was in charge of the department concerned with Soviet sector borders in Berlin. Bellow, the biggest fish yet to wiggle out of the Russian net in East Germany, told Western police he was convinced the East German Volkspolizei (People's police) force was being turned into an instrument of civil war.

U. S. Publishers Don't Want It

Eva Peron's Book Becomes Argentine Campaign Weapon

BUENOS AIRES —(AP)—Eva Peron's book "Razon de Mi Vida" is becoming the focal point of a new Argentine campaign against the United States. The essence of the campaign is that publication of the book was banned in the United States, and that, therefore, there is no real liberty of expression in "Yankee-land." It's explained in the controlled government press, which got the campaign rolling in June, what happened was this: After it became known Senora Peron was going to publish a book called "The Reason for My Life," various U. S. publishers, possibly under the impression it would be an autobiography, expressed an interest in acquiring the North American rights. Negotiations Decline. But after the book made its appearance in Argentina—and the publishers found that it was a highly personalized statement of belief in Peronist policies—the negotiations went into a decline. On being questioned about their intentions, the Argentine papers said, the publishers their flames have never been specified replied that they were sorry. "Commercial reasons," they were quoted as saying, made it impossible for them to publish an English version of "Razon de Mi Vida" at this time. They may have felt it wouldn't sell. But in Argentina, where the highly eulogistic tome became required party reading, the sale went into the hundreds of thousands. Arrangements were made to bring out editions in other languages, including Arabic.

So, in view of this local success, the pro-government press agreed, there must have been a "ban" from somewhere to have prevented publication in the United States. With-out exception, the papers said that the "ban" came at the orders of the White House and the State Department. Knowledge Denied. The government of the United States, they said, did not want its workers to know the "truth" about the new Argentina. Spokesmen for the White House and the State Department denied knowledge of any ban. The denials were ignored by the Argentine press. It immediately began carrying indignant statements from various groups denouncing the "ban," distributed by the government sub-secretary of information. It immediately was suggested that North American books and magazines be banned in return. Nothing came of this, however, because the importation of such reading material already had been reduced to a mere trickle due to refusal of the Argentine Central Bank to grant import licenses.

The Pontiff expressed thanks and sent the pair to the Rome Zoo.

New Jet's Speed Burns Off Paint On First Flight

PALMDALE, CALIF. —(AP)—The first United States combat plane with all-rocket armament has just zoomed through a special test flight at a speed so fast that the slipstream burned the paint off her nose. The new jet, a thin-wing, two-place aircraft developed by Lockheed from its F80 Shooting Star, is called the Starfire. She's an all-weather interceptor designed to shoot down invading bombers. Tony Levier, chief engineering test pilot for Lockheed, put her through her paces at the Palmdale Airport. Her takeoff and climb demonstrated her ability to streak upward to 45,000 feet and above, with a warmup of less than 30 seconds. Her speed is secret. Said Levier, after the test: "She's designed to climb exceptionally fast for interception. When she has a distant bomber on her radar scope, the pilot locks her to the target and 1,200 pounds of electronic gear does the rest—taking her in on automatic attack, fires a present number of rockets at the right instant, and turns her away quickly." She is known as the F94c to her designers. The ship is now going into full production.

Big Spring Decisions Midland, 5 To 2

Tribe Moves Into San Angelo For July 4 Twin Bill

The Midland Indians took off for San Angelo and a July 4 doubleheader after dropping the final contest of a two-game set with the Big Spring Broncos, 5-2, here Thursday night.

Manager Zeke Bonura has elected Israel Ten and Herb Dwire to serve on the mound for the Tribe against the Colts.

In dropping the error-filled contest Thursday night, the Tribe fell victim to the right-arm slants of Oscar Reguera, who flew in from Havana, Cuba, Thursday to join the Big Spring club and stop the Tribe on a five-hitter.

The Indians got to the tall Cuban for two runs on four hits in the first three innings but after that, the Steed hurler let them know he didn't make the long trip here for nothing as he set them down on a lone single for the remainder of the route.

A total of eleven miscues were committed by both sides, six by Midland and five by the visitors. And, as if that were not enough to tarnish the game, a power failure in the sixth inning plunged the field into total darkness, delaying the game approximately 20 minutes.

Lefty Pat Waters, who has been nursing a sore arm since early in the season when he hurled for a Park, Ill. team, started his first game for the Tribe and was shelved from the mound in the second by a four-hit attack.

Ed Santa Believes With one away, reliever Ed Santa came on to quell the Steed uprising by striking out the first two batters to face him.

And Santa held the Bronco to only three hits the rest of the way but the visitors managed to score solo runs in the seventh and ninth innings.

Midland took a 1-0 lead in the first frame on Galien Dinkel's fielder's choice, a Bronco error and Julio de la Torre's single.

But the Steeds roamed into the lead in the top of the second on a cluster of four hits, two walks and one Midland error for all the margin Reguera needed.

In the seventh, Big Spring scored when Gonzales walked on four straight pitches, advanced to second on an infield out, to third on a fielder's choice and scored on Humberto Baez's fly to center.

The final Bronco marker came in the ninth on Reguera's single, a pair of Midland errors and Willy Quintana's single. Quintana was a thorn in the side of the Midland hurlers all night as he collected better than half of his team's hits in scoring a perfect five for five at the plate.

Julio de la Torre was injured in the second frame when Quintana's grounder took a bad hop, striking him just under the right eye. The blow completely closed De la Torre's eye, necessitating three stitches. He is expected to be out of action several days.

Vernon Ends Loss Streak

VERNON —(P)— Behind the five-hit pitching of Lefty Wallis here Thursday night, the Vernon Dusters broke a 13-game losing streak by downing the Sweetwater Braves, 5-4.

Wallis fanned 13 would-be Braves hitters in going the distance in a well-pitched battle with Manager Alex Carrasquel for the losers.

John Reimold charged home with the winning run for the Vernontes when Braves Shortstop Ernie Cortes dropped a high pop fly off the bat of George Hayes in the seventh inning. Cortes crossed out into short left field, turned his ankle when he caught the ball, then dropped it. The out would have been the third of the inning and Reimold was around third headed for home before the ball popped from Cortes' glove.

The Braves scored two unearned runs in the first inning off Wallis on a double by Emil Carlini and a long fly ball by Luis Suarez.

In the third, Warren Sitter and Carlini scored when Suarez got a triple to right center. From this point on Wallis shut the door—hard.

The portlander walked six batters while his opposition pitcher gave up two gratis passes—both intentionally to Niedson.

The score: Sweetwater 202 000 000-4 5 2; Vernon 000 112 10x-5 11 1.

SPORTS NOTES from the BENCH JOCKEY

By BOB ADAMS

The Shell Oil Company softball teams of Midland and Hobbs, N. M., will stage a benefit game at 7:30 p.m. July 12 for a "game sport" who is down on his luck.

The benefit affair will be held for Don Harrison, a former catcher for the Midland team. No admission will be charged but a hat will be passed and all proceeds will go to Harrison.

An employee of Shell, Harrison was catching for the team as late as two weeks ago.

Then a double cluster of trouble struck the personable player a big blow. First he sprained an ankle while playing ball and had to be sidelined. Sometime later he suffered a sharp pain in his chest and went to his doctor who discovered that he had acute tuberculosis in both lungs.

Off he went to the Big Spring Veterans' Hospital. Then just last Wednesday came another severe blow. He woke one morning with one of his legs paralyzed.

From some unknown cause, the leg had begun to swell and turn blue. Doctors had to amputate the leg in order to save his life. The medical staff three things might have resulted in the misfortune: An old injury acting up, a blood clot, or complications from tuberculosis.

Despite all this, Harrison remains cheerful and happy as anyone could be under the circumstances.

He will be taken to Kerrville in three weeks for treatment of his tubercular condition. Harrison is married but has no children.

Meanwhile former teammates and players here will stage the double-header in his behalf. After the two shell teams play the opening game, Continental and Humble, two of the regular teams in the league, will play a make-up game in the nightcap.

Stan Coker, an all-district and all-state tackle last year on the Midland Bulldog football team, will play on the North squad at the 20th Annual Texas Coaching School All-Star game August 7 in Fort Worth.

The 230-pound tackle already has started workouts in preparation for the tilt. He takes several laps a day after work and does a few exercises.

Stan has passed up an athletic scholarship at the Naval Academy in Annapolis to enroll at Baylor University this fall. Navy Coach Bob Bryant had corresponded with Coker over a span of two years in an effort to get him to play for Navy Blue.

"But it's a long way from Texas to Maryland and I intend to live in Texas the rest of my life," says Stan.

Actually, the hefty redhead had an opportunity to get an athletic scholarship at every Southwest Conference school except Texas and Arkansas.

Why did he happen to choose Baylor? "No particular reason," says Stan. "But I know several players there and I just wanted to play somewhere in the Southwest Conference."

Big Joe Bauman slugged a three-run homer, his twenty-ninth of the year, in the third inning for Artesia. The Drillers added another this frame as they scored their runs.

After Bauman had hit his homer off Pitcher Poncho Perez, the big slugger had to face a left-hander when he came to bat. The next three times Bauman advanced to the plate. First Baseman Van Rupp pitched to him then retreated to his first base post.

The score: Artesia 004 000 000-4 7 1; Roswell 010 800 00x-9 13 1. Fernandez, Mills and Briner; Perez, Weaver and Crawford.

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—The lone run given up by the A's brilliant Bobby Shantz Wednesday night, a homer by Washington's Jackie Jensen, gave the diminutive left-hander an impressive 1.55 earned run average.

Bobby is right behind the leader Alie Reynolds of the Yankees, who has a 1.51 ERA.

Glasses Win Dallas Skeet Shoot Events

DALLAS —(P)— George Glass, Jr., Midland, Thursday won the 410-gauge event of the Pan-American Open skeet shoot.

The former junior ace from West Texas broke 97x100 targets to beat the veteran Dallas marksman, Herman Ehler, by two birds for the title in the opening round of the four-day shoot.

Glass, who teamed with his father to win the two-gun championship with 97-92-150, posted 24-24-25-24-27.

The skeet brothers of Jacksonville, Frank and Paul Dublin, were runners-up in the two-man team with 185. Frank Dublin was the Class AA champion with 94-100 and Paul Dublin the Class A titlist, 81x100, after besting David White, Tulsa, in a shoot-off with 24x25.

By The Associated Press Hal Erickson of Dallas and Joe Landrum of Fort Worth agree that "O" stands for Oklahomaans in the Texas League.

Both Tulsa and Oklahoma City, for their invasion of the Texas neighbor cities Thursday night are wearing blanketed expressions, since Erickson put down Oklahoma City 1-0 on three hits and Melton shut out Tulsa, 3-0.

Melton's was his sixth whitewashing this season.

Erickson's triumph was his fourth shutout and fourteenth victory of the season, the loop's high mark.

Shreveport vacated the cellar for the first time in 18 days by whipping San Antonio, 4-2. In the other game Beaumont stayed within three-and-a-half games of first-place Dallas, stopping Houston, 6-5.

Three Favorites Go Ahead At Abilene; Stovall Eliminated

ABILENE—(P)—Dick Stovall, one of three medalists, became the first big casualty Thursday in the Abilene Country Club Invitation Golf Tournament, which numbered a record-setting 320 entries.

Stovall, who tied with Lee Pinkston, Abilene, and Joe Conrad, Denton, Wednesday with 66 for the lowest qualifying score, bowed, 2 and 1, to A. G. Barnard, Jr., Odessa.

That was the only first-round mishap among the four favorites.

Defending Tiltist Billy Maxwell, North Texas State ace and National Amateur champion, gained an easy, 8 and 7, triumph over Steve Coker, Abilene.

Conrad, North Texas collegian, took the measure of Charles Brownfield, Stamford, 3 and 1, while Pinkston, University of Texas golfer, eliminated Joe Ed Black, Abilene, 5 and 4.

WT-NM Clubs Do Battle For Second Spot In Standings

By The Associated Press Anything resembling a "race" in the West Texas-New Mexico League this season is purely fiction and unintentional and strictly for second place.

As for first place, it's all Clovis. Thursday night, the Pioneers added a half-game to their margin, making it 10 1/2 to the good, by beating Lubbock, 9-4.

The loop's real battle is over the runner-up spot, with Albuquerque currently the up team. Albuquerque outslugged Lamesa, 14-11, to replace the Lobos and Lubbock in second place.

Amarillo cushioned its cellar seat with a 6-4 decision over Abilene and Pampa edged Borger, 4-3, in the other games.

Ruttman Favored In 200-Mile Race

RALEIGH, N. C.—(P)—Troy Ruttman, winner of the 800-mile Memorial Day classic at Indianapolis, was tagged the man to beat in Friday's 200-mile national championship race at the Southern Speedway.

The drivers—eight were among the first 10 finishers at Indianapolis—gave the nod to Ruttman, who turned in a qualifying time of 101.10 minutes an hour on the new track.

Twenty-four of racing's top drivers were ready to go after the guaranteed purse of $15,000 when the starters flag dropped at 1:00 p.m.

McKenzie was to leave Friday to join the Louisiana club.

White Sox, Giants Trim Down Margin Of Yanks, Brooks

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer You've heard of the tradition, of course... that the Fourth of July leaders are supposed to win the major league pennants.

That has been true more than 50 per cent of the time. But it didn't happen last year. On that celebrated day in 1951, the leaders were Brooklyn in the National League and the Chicago White Sox in the American.

What baseball follower doesn't know that the New York Giants and Yankees clashed in the World Series last October? And where were they on July 4? In second place.

This should be a comforting thought to the Giants and White Sox this year for both were in the runner-up spots as the Fourth of July fireworks began with double-headers in eight major league parks.

The Sox, two and one-half games behind the pace-setting Yankees in the American can't possibly take over the top spot by the Fourth even if they should win two from the St. Louis Browns while the Yankees drop two in Washington. The best the Giants could do is tie the Dodgers for first.

The Giants moved to within two games of their interloper rival Thursday, taking their sixth straight from Brooklyn, four in Ebbets' Field, with a 4-3 triumph. Don Mueller starred for the Giants both at bat and in the field. Jim Hearn turned in his ninth triumph for the Giants. The loss went to Billy Loos.

The White Sox thrashed the Browns twice, 6-3 and 12-3, to move Boston and Cleveland to within striking distance of the Yankees. They picked up a full game on the defending champions, who were held to a split by Washington.

Philadelphia's Athletics dropped the Boston Red Sox into fifth place with a 4-3 triumph over Lou Bourque's youngsters. Cleveland, rained out of its scheduled game in Detroit, fell from second to third.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Phillies continued their torrid pace in the National. The Cards, behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Preako, defeated the Chicago

National League will be shown to all Little League ball players at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Midland Youth Center.

One of the pictures is the 1950 World Series between the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Phillies. The other one features batting stars of the major leagues.

While the films are shown primarily for Little League youngsters interested in seeing them is invited to do so, according to John Redfern, commissioner of Midland Junior Baseball.

Redfern said a film would be shown at the Youth Center each Saturday during the next two weeks.

PIED TYPER—Members of the West Berlin Printer's Guild revive a centuries-old custom of dunking a printer's apprentice who has just been accepted into the Guild. This young woman, first to have the "honor" of receiving the "baptism," didn't mind a bit—it was a hot night in Berlin.

Midlander Injured When Cars Collide

Ray R. Moore, 110 West Main street, employed by Halliburton Supply Company, suffered contusions and lacerations of his left hand Thursday night. Attaches at Midland Memorial Hospital said Moore was sitting in a parked car on Southwest Front Street, and another car backed out of a driveway, turning over Moore's car in the collision.

Porcelain Sculptor Shows Art Objects

VISALIA, CALIF.—(AP)—Experts told Mrs. Hester Sibley it was impossible to hand-sculpture porcelain figures, but they were a little late with their advice—she had already made a hobby of it.

Porcelain is a little harder to work with than ceramic clay, said Mrs. Sibley, because it dries out faster and requires a higher temperature for baking. But she found nothing impossible about hand-sculpturing her beautiful figurines. Her pieces of porcelain retain sharper detail than ceramics and also have a pleasing translucent appearance.

Kaderli Improved

Condition of Milton Kaderli, 2610 West Storey Street, was reported improved Friday by attendants at Midland Memorial Hospital. He was admitted Sunday and has undergone surgery.

CARDS WIN 6 TO 5
Bobby Fisher pitched the Cards to a 6-5 victory over the Lions Thursday before a sandstorm halted the South Little League game in the fifth inning. Larry Parks was the losing pitcher. Monday afternoon the Yanks play the Eagles.

BOY HURTS FOOT

Gary Lee Johnson, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Johnson, 1206 South Dallas Street, suffered an injured right foot Thursday when he dropped a washing machine motor. He was treated at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Pinay Wins French Hearts In Leading His Government

PARIS—(NEA)—There are several miracles on record in the history of France, and it may well be that posterity some day will record the one achieved by an ordinary, unassuming Frenchman who restored confidence in his compatriots' hearts when their spirits were at their lowest ebb.

ANTOINE PINAY: "His charm is real, not superficial."

General Assembly voted 61-year-old Antoine Pinay into office as Prime Minister, he can lay claim to having beaten all records in his country's political history.

opened to be nobody else around at the time.

For the "little people," he is the man who almost overnight stopped the ever-ascending cost of living. No 1 nightmare of the "middle class."

Soon food and department stores were advertising price cuts "for the Defense of the Franc." These cuts were not spectacular, but the psychological effect was tremendous. The public now feels reassured that so long as Pinay is in office the tendency is down instead of up.

There are a number of things about Pinay which appeal to the man in the street. The prototype of the French bourgeois or "middle class," he embodies all the staunch traditions and principles this class stands for. He is unassuming but alert, looks 10 years younger than his age, and has inherited the business acumen of his father with the peasant qualities of his mother.

He looks and acts like millions of his countrymen. Pinay is a family man and not a social figure. He does not ride, fence, play golf or tennis, and hates to get into "white tie and tails." His idea of a good time is a dinner with friends either in his small Empire-furnished apartment in the Passy district or in a restaurant reputed for its "cuisine" rather than the "decor."

It is only recently that the public has learned he has two daughters and a son, all married, and eight grandchildren. Since he was catapulted into the premiership he has tried not to let his public life encroach on his privacy, but he is finding it more and more difficult.

Politically, too, there are many points in his favor in the eyes of the average Frenchman. Pinay is an independent, does not have to take orders from any party. He is not a genius nor a brilliant orator. He has no friends for whom he must find soft jobs.

He learned history on the Somme in World War I when he was badly wounded and awarded the highest military decoration, the Medaille Militaire. He learned to balance his budget in the small tanning factory he has run since he married the owner's daughter more than 30 years ago. (His wife has been an invalid for the last 15 years.)

His intimates insist that if he were overthrown tomorrow he would be only too happy to go back to his old bailiwick, the small industrial town of St. Chamond (pop. 23,000) where he has been mayor since 1929.

He is proud that his Department pays the lowest taxes of all the 87 in France. The answer to that is that Pinay administered it in the realistic way he did his own business.

A hard worker, Pinay is at his desk at 8 a.m. and works until 9 p.m. and later. When he does not have to attend official lunches, he eats at the Presidency with one of his daughters or one of his "brain trust."

His collaborators are all young men under 40. Said one of them recently: "His charm is real, not superficial. I have seen Communist workers' representatives positively melt under his manner and handshake."

Pinay has earned the reputation at the Assembly of a somewhat fiery temper and great stubbornness. He hates contradiction, especially on points where he knows he is right. So far he has refused to play the political game and even refuses to lobby for votes.

Endowed with a phenomenal memory, he never takes notes. He remembers everything from telephone numbers to arguments which happened years back with figures to prove his point.

The success of his "gold guaranteed" loan is somewhat disconcerting to his political opponents. He has been able to reach down into the wool sock for the gold "loans" which was the only sure saving in the eyes of the French peasant and the others.

Whether Pinay will achieve his goal, which is to cover France's deficit amounting to something like 650 milliard francs (1 milliard equals about $2,850,000), remains to be seen. But he may still get the 250-300 milliard francs fresh capital which he needs to start putting the country's finances on a sound basis.

LINE TROUBLES DARKEN AREA

An area in the western section of the city, including the Midland Indian baseball park, was left without power for a short time Thursday night when a primary line burned out.

A spokesman for the Texas Electric Service Company said service was restored in about 40 minutes. Cause of the burned-out line was not determined.

Tot Left In Tub Drowns As Mother Fetches Clothing

LUBBOCK—(AP)—A 10-month-old girl drowned Thursday while being bathed in the family bathtub. Circumstances of the death were similar to the drowning of a nine-month-old boy in Houston Wednesday.

Mrs. Charles Jones of Route 3, Lubbock, was bathing Theresa Kay 10 months, and Rita Louett, 21 months. She stepped outside the bathroom for a clean diaper. When she returned Theresa Kay was unconscious in the tub. Efforts to revive the infant failed.

In Houston Wednesday a 14-year-old girl was bathing her two nephews, Dennis Brown, nine months, and Dwight Brown, 3, when the telephone rang. When the girl returned after answering the phone she found Dennis had drowned in four inches of water.

Increase Delayed On Telegram Rates

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A 9.5 per cent increase in Western Union telegraph charges, scheduled for next Sunday, will not be made effective until August 1.

The Federal Communications Commission said Friday the company itself had postponed the proposed effective date after giving notice of the increase 30 days ago in the wake of a wage settlement which ended a prolonged strike of employees.

Ceylon War Debt Settled For $695

SINGAPORE—(AP)—The Singapore government has agreed to square a long standing account with Ceylon started when the Ceylon government rendered cash assistance to Malaysians who were evacuated there during the Japanese attack on Malaya.

Total Ceylon government assistance to Singapore citizens amounted to $695. Over the past two years, the colony had tried to recover the debts from the individuals concerned, but was able to collect only $51. The colony Legislative Council has therefore agreed to provide the funds to pay off the debt.

Officers To Study Death, Disease Due To Antibiotics

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Blood disorders and several deaths traced to use of the antibiotic drug known as chloromycetin have touched off a government investigation into "possible hazards" of its use by humans. The drug—its scientific name is chloramphenicol—is used for treatment of typhoid fever, rocky mountain fever, typhus, whooping cough, botis and other infections. The Food and Drug Administration said Friday it had asked the National Research Council to help it evaluate results of a nation-wide survey which turned up 200 cases of blood disorders and "a number of deaths" among patients who had been treated with the drug.

FDA made it clear that beneficial effects of the antibiotic have been proven and that its use would not be ended when it said: "Doubtless thousands of lives have been saved through its use in serious diseases . . . several million people throughout the world have been treated with chloramphenicol apparently without adverse effects. . . ."

"Many of the most valuable drugs in use today have side-effects which the physician guards against, and their use always involves a calculated risk."

Regarding its survey, FDA would not say how many deaths had been uncovered, but said they were in addition to those reported Thursday in the Journal of American Medical Association.

When the investigation results are all in, and full appraisal has been made by medical experts, including blood specialists, it will then be possible to determine the proper course of action, the agency said.

TEXAS SCHOOLS MAY LOSE $1,013,163 IN FREE LUNCH SUPPLIES

AUSTIN—(AP)—Government surplus foods—dried milk, honey, hams and bacon—valued at $1,013,163 may be denied Texas schools next school year.

Contracts between the U. S. Department of Agriculture and 17 county and independent school boards which distributed the commodities have been terminated. State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said he was notified the contracts were terminated after the Department of Agriculture decided the school districts had no authority to make agreements under which they distributed the surplus food to other counties.

The 17 distributing counties had been handling the job because the Legislature refused to set up a central state agency in 1949.

Lubbock County School Supt. Roy Boyd, chairman of the 17 distributing agencies, and other officials will meet with Edgar Wednesday to determine what can be done.

Posse Hunts Girl, Convict Fugitive

DILLON, MONT.—(AP)—A heavily-armed posse moved in at daybreak on a sprawling group of ranch buildings 26 miles south of here where a young escaped convict and a teenage girl friend were believed trapped.

Thomas Lee Alley, 22, escaped from the dairy farm of the Montana State Prison at Deer Lodge Wednesday. M. J. Ramsey, deputy sheriff, said Alley apparently was driven away by the girl in her father's car. The car was found abandoned near the ranch.

A .22 rifle was in the auto, according to the girl's father. Dillon police, sheriff's officers and state patrolmen kept a tight ring around the ranch during the night and were ready to shoot it out Friday if Alley resisted.

Adoption Racket Mastermind Found Guilty By Jurors

NEW YORK—(AP)—Brooklyn Attorney Marcus Siegel, accused mastermind of a black market baby adoption ring, Thursday night was found guilty of inducing others to commit perjury and illegally placing a child for adoption.

Siegel had been charged with running a baby ring, taking babies from unwed mothers and selling the infants for fees up to $4,500. The operation allegedly extended throughout the East and as far south as Florida.

DON'TS THAT DO SAVE LIVES—Last year 8100 persons lost their lives by failing to observe simple safety "don'ts," according to Red Cross water safety experts. Pictured above are five of the most commonly flouted safety rules. At upper left: oarsmen should make sure his hands are free before entering boat, should step in center of boat (not on seat), and should have one passenger seated in bow of boat; at center: pair risk cracked skulls with horseplay at concrete pool's edge; at lower left, cars are adrift, everyone is moving at once and standing too high and no one is holding on to boat's sides; and at lower right: a swimmer, who did not wait for two hours after eating before entering water, risks severe cramps.

The race will last five days and no night flying is allowed. Stops along the way will be made at Phoenix, Tucson, Columbus, El Paso, Abilene, Springfield, St. Louis and Harrisburg, a course of 2,700 miles.

First five place winners will share a $1,750 purse. The race is sponsored by the Ninety-Nines, women fliers' organization and the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

The Ninety-Nines was founded by the late Amelia Earhart. The women pilots usually fly in pairs but this year several solo pilots are entered.

Planes must be stock models of 300 h. p. or less. The race is handicapped on the basis of manufacturers' advertised cruising speeds.

Soviet Spies Intensify Prowl For Secrets

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

An international game of "I spy" is being played around the world today, with life and death as the stakes.

It is difficult to say who is winning. On the surface, the weight of numbers appears to be on the side of world communism.

Perhaps the West makes up in quality what it lacks in quantity.

The atom bomb provided the challenge which built the vastest, and possibly the most successful, network of spies that the world has ever known. It is operated from Moscow.

Short on technological know-how, but long on intrigue, the Russians began building a quarter century ago a spy organization which has to reach into all advanced countries and snatch life-and-death secrets that blocked the Soviet path to world domination.

Spy revelations in Canada, in England, in Sweden and in the United States, all linked together in a single pattern which is still developing, are part of a story which had its beginnings somewhere around the year 1924, about five years after the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia.

Dreams And Schemes

Lenin, founder of the Russian Revolution, was dead. A new dictator, Josef Djugashvili, called Stalin, dominated the Kremlin. Outwardly he spoke of building "socialism in one country." He purged those who spoke of the permanent world revolution, while he dreamed and schemed world domination.

The organization was built carefully. Promising young Communists from abroad were brought to Moscow for special training in a school of the NKVD, the secret police.

Where the new Soviet Union was recognized and had embassies, specially trained staffs were sent in to work quite apart from that performed by the ambassadors. In each embassy the NKVD had its representative. There were representatives of the military, the Foreign Trade Commissariat, the political section, all reporting directly to the Moscow headquarters concerned. There was also the Comintern, with headquarters in Moscow, directing the activities of Communist parties throughout the world. Wherever possible there was a trade mission with diplomatic status, making spy operations easy. Dupes Are Persuaded

The Communist party was the recruiting agent for the network which was to pour secret information into the Kremlin. Party members and "sympathizers," a special category embracing those who might aspire to party membership, were the principal operatives. Beyond them were the dupes, persuaded they were working for the good of mankind.

The classic pattern was laid bare in Canada when Igor Gouzenko, a code clerk and NKVD school graduate working in Moscow's embassy at Ottawa, revealed to Canadian authorities the existence of a widespread conspiracy to funnel secret and vital information to Moscow.

Gouzenko's defection disclosed that "the neighbors," Russian code name for the secret police, began organizing spy operations in the '20's with native or naturalized Canadians especially trained in Moscow for the task.

With World War II rushing to its climax, this network closely linked with similar organizations in the United States, England and elsewhere, was put to its greatest test.

The Atomic Spies

The operations resulted in such celebrated cases as those of Dr. Klaus Fuchs and Dr. Alan Nunn May. The British atom scientists turned traitor; Harry Gold and Julius and Ethel Rosenberg and their spy activity in the United States; Ernst Hilding Anderson, Johan Fritiof Enbom and the spy network in Sweden; Communist leaders Fred Rose and Sam Carr and the others in the Canadian spy ring.

American calculations are that the activities of these persons advanced the Soviet Union's atomic weapons program by at least 18 months, possibly by much more, and placed in Soviet hands both exact calculations and educated guesses on the subject of atomic weapons progress here.

Investigations in Canada and elsewhere indicate Moscow, over the past 25 years, has built up a fantastic file system which contains information on every card-carrying Communist in the United States, Britain and several other Western countries.

This file was built up through the efforts of the Comintern—the Communist International, which was abolished in name by Stalin in 1943—and probably is kept up to date through the efforts today of the Cominform and other liaisons between Western Communist parties and Moscow. The information is used by Moscow as a check on any persons who might be employed as agents for spying or other special activities. No person in any of these countries can do Soviet spy work without being cleared by Moscow itself.

Today in the United States, the Communist party actually is underground. Each of the 40,000-odd card-carrying members is a potential spy or saboteur, dedicated to revolt, prepared to resort to violence if necessary, and regarded by federal authorities as a far greater menace than the Nazi subversion which preceded World War II. Half Million In U. S.

In addition, the FBI says there are about half a million persons in the United States whom the Communists consider trustworthy enough to be classed as "sympathizers," all potentially useful. That means an average of one to every 300 persons in the U. S. The "Sympathizer," a classification not lightly bestowed, is a person who might one day be inducted into party membership.

Sometimes a sympathizer finds himself hopelessly entangled "in the net" of Soviet espionage. Sometimes such a person will try to wriggle out of the net. But the disillusioned do not always get away.

The Canadian investigation uncovered one message from "the director" in Moscow to his embassy operatives in Canada, referring to an agent who had become unreliable. It read:

"I think it is better to get rid of him, or turn him over to the neighbors."

Soviet Secret Police Chief Lavrenty Beria and his "neighbors" lose a lot of spies to discovery and disillusionment. But they have plenty of material from which to choose new hands.

One of the errand boys in the United States was Harry Gold, born Goldolnitsky of Russian parentage. He was a chemical researcher from Philadelphia and had been in the courier service of the Communists since 1933. Gold was assigned his task by an agent from the Canadian ring, who kept him "in the net"—the Russian expression for the spy service—by repeated threats to expose him. One day in 1944, Gold was called in by a Soviet agent and told he had a big job to do. He was to deliver the atom secrets obtained in the U. S. by Fuchs. Gold delivered six packages, meeting Fuchs at various rendezvous.

After the arrest of Fuchs—now serving 14 years in Britain—Gold was seized in Philadelphia. He confessed and got 30 years.

The trail led to David Greenglass, U. S. Army sergeant stationed at Los Alamos and rated among the top secret Soviet agents in the U. S. He turned state's evidence to avoid the death penalty and helped expose it on his own sister, Ethel Rosenberg, and her husband Julius, now in Sing Sing death house. Greenglass got off with 15 years.

Also caught up in the dragnet was Morton Sobell, radar expert, who helped the Rosenbergs recruit atom spies. Turned over by Mexican authorities after he tried to flee the country, Sobell like Gold, drew a 30 year sentence. Many smaller fry also were caught.

Scene Is Shifted

Now the scene shifts to Sweden. There, one night, "Shady Fish" got drunk. That one too many caused Johan Fritiof Enbom, 33, to become a bit loose-tongued, arousing the suspicions of a young Swedish student, who went to the authorities.

What the police found shocked Sweden.

Enbom, known underground as Fala Finken or Shady Fish, made his headquarters at Boden, Northern Sweden, not far from an underground fortress the neutral Swedes built against the possibility of Soviet aggression from the direction of Finland. Enbom's ring reported regularly to the Soviet mission in Stockholm, using correspondents of the Soviet news agency Tase as contact men. He headed a group whose tasks included a relay for dispatches sent from London by way of Narvik, Norway. Fuchs' information was channeled by this route. At the same time Enbom, the rest of his group and his girl friend, Lilian Ceder, sold the Russians much information about Sweden's defenses and plans to meet the possibility of a war emergency.

This disclosure a month ago was the second big spy shock for Sweden in a short time. Last Autumn, Ernst Hilding Anderson, an engineer in the Swedish Army now serving life imprisonment as a spy, confessed to selling secrets of Sweden's armaments and defenses. That information was turned over to N. P. Orlov, an embassy attaché, who subsequently had to leave the country, Anderson, who described himself as a Communist believing in Moscow above all else, had direct contacts with Victor Anisimov, a Tass correspondent who turned out to be a member of Lavrenty Beria's secret police.

The Swedish operation illustrated the meshed gears of the world Soviet spy organization. Sweden's was no isolated case. It was directly connected with the activities of Soviet Embassy sections in London, in Canada and probably also in the United States. It was a relay point on the transmission belt from West to East, carrying life and death information to the Kremlin.

HIGH-DIVING PRIEST—Rev. Robert Simon, the high-diving vicar of Saone, France, has set a new record in his annual diving exhibition which brings him funds for rehabilitation of his church. Father Simon journeyed from Saone, on the Swiss border, to make his latest, and highest, "financial" plunge. He jumped from a 128-foot tower into waters of the Marne River, at Nogent-sur-Marne, near Paris. The French priest has held a fund-raising water carnival annually since 1947.

Hundreds of spectators, in boats and along the banks of the Marne River, pause breathlessly as Father Simon, circle, literally dives into his fund-raising campaign from 128-foot tower.

Clad in his frock, and wearing glasses, Father Simon bears his share of responsibility for generous contributions.

Father Simon, just after his spectacular dive, thanks spectators for generous contributions.
