GREATEST YEAR RECORDED IN SCHOOLS HISTORY SEEN ON EVE OF OPENING TERM

Transfers From Rural Areas To Augment Enrollment, Watson's Forecast

The Colorado schools Monday morning are to enter upon the greatest year in history of the system, according to prediction that Thursday was being advanced by John E. Watson, superintendent.

Enrollment in high school, that during mornings of this week has been under way, Thursday noon had reached 267, C. A. Wilkins, principal, reported. Friday all transfers and new students were to report for registration, along with several others who during first of the week had been detained at home due to rain and other causes. Enrollment will continue through Saturday morning.

"Enrollment in high school at end of the first week a year ago totaled 280 and I am confident that number will be exceeded by an appreciable number," Wilkins said. "It is apparent that Colorado high will enter the new year with the greatest aggregation of students in history."

Along with a higher enrollment, the schools will start the year with another favorable aspect, according to Watson, who pointed out that qualifications of the entire teaching staff was higher than ever before.

Doors at all of the schools are to swing open for advent of students at the same time. There are to be no formal opening exercises at either high or junior high school auditoriums. Students will be expected to report direct to their home rooms, there to receive book assignments and such information as may be required.

In referring to opening of another school year the superintendent joined with J. W. Watson, president of the school board, in appeal that patronage of the system continue as during other years, to extend every cooperation with the faculty and student body. Such teamwork will assure an outstanding school year from the start, they stated.

LATE FEED, GRASS ARE BENEFITTED BY RAINS FALLING DURING WEEK

Rains that averaged from one and one-half to three inches have blanketed the Colorado territory during the past week, giving further assurance that late feed crops and range grass are to produce abundantly. Little damage to roads, fields and other properties has been reported.

As farmers and their neighbors on the ranch take note of the benefits received, as just recounted, the former are charging off their ledger accounts, to some degree, at least, to balance probable additional damage to cotton by leaf worms. The damp weather assists propagation of the pests, along with affording a handicap to farmers in poisoning them.

LATERAL ROADS, STREETS AND AUDITORIUM SOUGHT BY COUNTY, CITY GROUPS

Combined Improvement To Cost $285,000, Engineers Have Estimated

Application for a total of five projects at an estimated expenditure of $285,000 are specified in applications filed Wednesday and Thursday of this week with the PWA office in Fort Worth and WPA divisional branch in Abilene.

Mitchell county, Colorado, Loraine, and Westbrook, as political subdivisions of the State, are listed as sponsors of the improvements sought. That the applications would be received with favor was suggested by speaker attending a mass meeting at the chamber of commerce Thursday morning.

Largest of the projects sought under governmental grant is proposed municipal water supply through construction of a lake on Champion Creek below Seven Wells. Application requesting a loan and grant of $185,100 to finance construction of the property was filed with the Fort Worth offices of PWA.

Blueprints and engineering estimates on the project were compiled by Roy D. Buchanan. He was assisted in drafting formal application by J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce secretary. Greene personally filed the application in Fort Worth.

Plans for pushing drive to build the lake, connecting pipe line into the city and other contingencies were mapped at conference of city officials and a citizens committee convened Wednesday morning at the city hall by Mayor J. A. Sadler. The committee is composed of R. D. Bridgford, W. W. Whipkey, Greene, Buchanan and Thos. R. Smith.

Belief that the government would authorize the loan and grant was expressed after reports on a recent conference with Julian Montgomery, manager of the Public Works Administration, had been given by Greene, Smith and Buchanan, who recently returned to Colorado from Ft. Worth.

Need for an adequate soft water supply for Colorado has been felt through a number of years, chamber of commerce and city officials state. Buchanan estimates that the proposed water supply on Champion Creek would supply demands of a community of 15,000 population.

Due to fact much of the lake property will be located on lands own-

Mitchell County Will Harvest Quota Of 25,000 Bales, Cotton Planters Estimate

Mitchell county will harvest the governmental quota of approximately 25,000 bales from the present cotton crop, according to estimate given The Record Saturday by representative planters. Worms have damaged the crop considerably and in some communities the hot, dry weather of the recent past exacted toll from the potential yield but the crop is represented as being in fair condition.

Picking will be the general order of business in all parts of the county within the next few days. The crop is opening now on highland farms and everywhere there is to be found a good quota of mature bolls.

Local merchants have ample stocks of sacks, scales and other equipment to be required in moving the crop. Gin plants here and at other community centers of the county have been placed in good condition for the season's run.

Loads of new fall things have arrived and are arriving. . . . Folks [illegible] about unpacking them and [illegible] them to the "building music" [illegible] hammers and saws. . . .

For the carpenters and the electricians are still busy there, putting the finishing touches on Max's new mezzanine floor which will be an improvement to delight any shopper's heart. . . . The floor itself is already built and the ladies' ready-to-wear department has moved up there, leaving the entire rear of the downstairs store to the shoe department. . .

Fittings can now be accomplished "with the greatest of ease." . . . Large fitting and alteration rooms are to be [illegible] in the newly built department. . . . Numerous full-length mirrors, brilliant lights, and spaciousness are to add their convenience and charm. . . .

A hasty henning around in the coat department revealed this—fur collars are definitely "in" again. . . . They were never really out, of course, but the severely tailored vogue was outstanding for a time. . . . Max is showing Rothmoor coats and suits this season, you know—and Rothmoor coats don't need elaboration. . . . Swagger suits are to be as good, if not better than, ever before. . . .

For the fur-minded, there's a whole rack of new fur coats, mostly kidskins, Lapins, Coney, and so forth. . . . If owning a fur coat has been one of your ambitions this might be just the year to get it off your mind. . . .

"The silks," one woman was heard to say about the new dresses, "look like wools and the wools look like silks." . . . Which rather puts the matter of new fall dresses in a nutshell. . . . They're nearly all dull finished, in warm browns and greens and wines and the ever-popular black. . . .

One glance at the new hats and you'll probably say to yourself, "Just like last year's." . . . But your're fooled. . . . There's a twist or a tilt or a something to them this year they've never had before. . . . You'll have to try one to get what I mean. . . . They're mostly felt—and mostly off-the-face. . . .

PIONEER SCHOOL TEACHER PASSES HERE TUESDAY IN DEATH OF GEO. W. HOOKS

Aged Citizen Had Lived In County 44 Years; Rites Held Wednesday

George W. Hooks, 88, pioneer Mitchell county school teacher, died at the family residence in East Colorado Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock following a lingering illness. Mr. Hooks had been in failing health since September 7, last year, when he suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Deceased was born in Ashville, North Carolina, January 28, 1847, and came to Fayetteville, Arkansas, when a youth of 18 years of age. There he was married to Miss Maggeret Billingsley on October 10, 1873. Mrs. Hooks died a short time later, leaving an infant daughter.

October 21, 1880, he was married to Miss Margaret Smith, daughter of Rev. A. J. Smith. She died in Mitchell county in 1909, leaving her husband and six children, four sons and two daughters. He was married to Mrs. Zinda Snowden of near Colorado February 2, 1932, who survives him.

Coming to Mitchell county forty-four years ago from West, Mr. Hooks engaged in his profession as a school teacher. In those days when rural schools were few and far between he assembled classes at Cuthbert, Dorn and other community centers. He taught school for thirty-three years of his life.

Mr. Hooks had been a member of the Southern Methodist church for over seventy years, having united with the church at the age of 15. He was a Mason and Odd Fellow.

Surviving children include Mrs. E. V. Bell of Westbrook; Mrs. Roy Nunnally of Tucson, Arizona; Key Hooks of McAllen; A. J. and G. G. Hooks of Colorado, and W. C. Hooks of Dunn.

Funeral services were conducted from the family residence Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with Rev. Grady Anderson of Dunn officiating. Burial was in the Colorado cemetery, with Jones, Russell Company in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were M. C. Holt, L. E. Russell, Burt Smith, B. B. Johnson, J. F. Bodine and Bill Dorn. Flower bearers were Mrs. O. L. Simpson, Mrs. R. L. Blackard, Mrs. L. A. Scott, and Mrs. O. F. Hammonds.

Years make you gray, worries make you old.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Church School at 9:45.

Worship and Sermon at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by the pastor.

Young People at 6:45.

Our vacation for both people and pastor is over. We begin our work for the fall and winter. Hope to see everyone at the services Sunday.

WM. ELLIOTT Pastor,

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

We are happy to be back on our regular schedule of services at the First Baptist church. Assembly programs for the Sunday school will begin promptly at 9:45, and the morning preaching service at 11:00. The evening services during the month of September will begin at 7:15 for the Training Service and evening evangelistic service at 8:15.

A special enlistment program sponsored by young people and for young people will be held during the Training Service hour. Brief messages by the pastor on the problems of young people and how to solve them, will be given in connection with special vocal and instrumental musical numbers. All are welcome at these services but young people of the community are especially urged to be there.

Our letter to the association shows that we have had a net gain in membership of 64 and that nearly $8,000 has been raised and expended by the church this year. We are grateful for this report but hope and expect to make it better next year. We have 118 tithers in the membership and expect to make it 200 before October.

The pastor will preach at both hours next Sunday, Providence permitting. Strangers and visitors always welcome.

DICK O'BRIEN, Pastor.

LATERAL ROADS

ABILENE.—While it is expected that the building of lateral roads will provide a major portion of the work necessary to the employment of the 6,000 or more employables in the counties comprising District No. 13 of the Works Progress Administration, it is by no means the only method through which towns, counties and school districts may receive lasting benefits, according to WPA Director, W. S. James, of the Abilene office.

As an example, Mr. James calls attention to the fact that all school grounds, both rural and urban, are afforded an opportunity to beautify their grounds by the building of retaining walls, sodding, laying out gravel walks, drives and play grounds and planting shrubbery. School houses, out-buildings and garages may be repainted, repaired or built, provided the sponsors or patrons will supply a portion of the needed materials. The abundant supply of native building stone and road material throughout the district makes possible the employment of a great number of unskilled laborers in quarrying, loading and handling of such material for these projects. This section has never, and will probably never have another such opportunity to bring rural school and school grounds up to the standard of the older States, says Mr. James.

School boards, trustees, civic organizations and women's clubs are urged to make surveys of their needs and co-operate with sponsoring bodies in filing their projects as quickly as possible on this type of work.

TRI-STATE FAIR TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 14

AMAILLO.—When the Tri-State Fair opens here, Saturday, Sept. 14, it will be as complete as on the closing day, Saturday, Sept. 21.

"Everything, with the possible exception of a few livestock herds, will be in place and ready when the 1935 exposition, the largest this year in the State of Texas, opens," declared Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the fair association, which now is in its thirteenth consecutive year.

Commercial displays are being arranged this week in the Merchants Building, which has been open day and night since Monday.

O. L. "Ted" Taylor, secretary-manager, is urging all exhibitors to have their displays in place early.

Many exhibitors from distant states this year are being attracted to the Tri-State Fair. This is especially true of livestock exhibitors. Noted herds of the foremost breeders in America will be on exhibit.

Approximately $20,000 in cash premiums and prizes, including money awards for the largest visiting delegations, is guaranteed for full payment.

While the fair does not open until Saturday, Sept. 14, the Tri-State Fair's race meet, in which entries from the major circuits will be seen, begins Friday, September 13. There will be seven or more races daily throughout the exposition.

Besides the races there will be a three-ring circus, featuring Jack Hoxie, movie star, in daily appearances, Beckmann and Gerety, the largest midway attaction in the United States, and other amusements.

First of the scores of bands expected at the exposition will arrive Monday, September 16. Shamrock will head this vanguard.

Two special days already have been designated. Monday will be Shamrock Day and Press Day. Wednesday will be dedicated to the Old-Timers and other visitors.

REGISTRATION TO BEGIN

STEPHENVILLE. — Registration at John Tarleton College will be Monday and Tuesday, September 16 and 17, according to information from J. Thomas Davis, Dean. Classes will start Wednesday, and on Saturday, September 21, a formal opening program will be given in the College Auditorium at 9 o'clock.

Receptions for all Tarleton students will be given by college officials and by various Stephenville churches shortly after school opens.

"RELIEF BUSINESS" DAYS ARE NUMBERED

AUSTIN. — Sounding another reminder that the days of "relief business" in Texas are numbered, the Texas Relief Commission has informed district administration offices that the school lunch program which last year aided in providing luncnes for 51,000 children weekly, will not be resumed tis year.

Following up repeated suggestions that citizens look to their own resources, officials have urged that Parent-Teacher Associations, men's and women's service clubs, church societies, and other organizations continue the school lunch program in communities where it is still needed.

"With our funds definitely limited, we would not be justified in making plans for a year's program for needy school children when we probably could not carry it out," Mrs. Val M. Keating, Director of Social Service, said in recommending that private, local organizations continue the lunch program.

Last year the Relief Commission sponsored projects in 94 schools, furnishing daily lunches for 9350 children a week, and jointly sponsored projects with local organizations in 721 other schools.

MIDLAND FAIR

Towns in Texas and the Southwest have been invited to select sponsors to take part in the cowgirls contest at Midland October 19-23, sponsored by the Midland Fair Inc.

Each girl is required to furnish her mount and equipment but the Midland association will care for the mounts while here.

The contestants will be judged 25 per cent on personal appearance of cowgirl in costume; 25 per cent on appearance of horse and saddle; 25 per cent on ability of girl to ride and handle; 25 per cent on horses ability to handle.

The cowgirls will not be expected to perform any daring feat.

The prizes are 1st—$100.00 hand made saddle; 2nd—$100.00 complete riding habit; 3rd—fitted hand bag; 4th—pair of hand made boots.

Rooms will be available at the Hotel Scharbauer for the cowgirls at a rate of $2.00 for single room or $3.00 for double room.

AMARILLO ACCIDENT IS FATAL TO G. W. WADDELL, LEADER AMONG PIONEERS

Resident Of County Since 1878 To Be Buried Here Friday

A man whose name stands out is pioneering history of this county, a man who came here before there was a Mitchell county or a Colorado, died Wednesday in Amarillo when George W. Waddell, 88, succumbed to injuries received in an accident while attending the forty-fifth reunion of the United Confederate Veterans.

Mr. Waddell, whose home was in Fort Worth and who was commander of the Robert E. Lee Camp, U. C. V., there, was fatally injured when he fell from an elevator which lurched when his Boy Scout escort accidentally moved the control lever. The accident happened Tuesday afternoon. Death occurred Wednesday morning.

The body is arriving in Colorado tonight (Thursday) by train. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Jones Russell Chapel. Burial will be in the city cemetery beside his wife, who died years ago. The Rev. Cal C. Wright, assisted by some pastor yet to be named, will officiate. Mr. Waddell was a member of the Christian church. The Masonic lodge will have charge of graveside services.

With his brother, the late Will Waddell, and his sister, Mrs. Mary Mullin, Mr. Waddell came to this country in 1878 and engaged in the stock-raising business. The group lived for years on a ranch known as the L. A. pens, located on Champion creek between Seven Wells and Pecan grove.

Later the families moved to town. Mr. G. W. Waddell and his family lived for years in a house in South Colorado near the Moeser place, and still later in a house east of the Dick Fearson place. Both houses have since been destroyed by fire.

Mr. Waddell and his family moved from here to Fort Worth in 1909. They have since made their home there, with the exception of a short residence in Mineral Wells.

Death of Mr. Waddell reduces to two the surviving charter members of the Colorado Masonic lodge. The two survivors are Judge R. H. Looney and John L. Doss.

His two sons, Frank and Martin Waddell, both of Odessa, had already arrived in Colorado Thursday morning. A daughter, Miss Kate Waddell of Fort Worth, and Earl Vaughan, former Coloradoan who rooms in the Waddell home in Ft. Worth, went to Mr. Waddell's bedside in Amarillo soon after the accident.

Besides Miss Kate Waddell, Mr. Waddell is survived by three other daughters, Miss Mollie Waddell of Fort Worth, Mrs. Bert Thanish of Crane, and Mrs. Nettie Closner of Edinberg, Texas.

COLORADO MEN RETURN FROM SECTIONAL FARM CREDIT SHORT COURSE

The second sectional short course of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, held at Texas Christian University, Ft. Worth, August 26 and 27, was a great success, according to C. C. Thompson, secretary-treasurer of the Colorado association, who, with P. K. Mackey, director of the association, returned last week from the meeting.

All who attended had an opportunity to learn more of the operations of the various units of this large financing system for agriculture that has, through its operations, helped thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers to carry on through the period of emergency.

Among the principal speakers at the meeting were A. C. Williams, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston and General Agent of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston, who spoke on the work of the Federal Land bank in making loans on its own behalf and as Agent for the Land Bank Commissioner. Mr. Williams also told of recent Legislation which permits Land Bank Commissioner loans to be made to worthy tenant farmers to enable them to purchase farms of their own. The objective of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston in coordinating National Farm Loan Associations and Production Credit Associations was discussed by Mr. Williams. Of this he said:

"Our ultimate goal is to have credit centers accessibly located where farmers and stockmen can secure both long and short term credit service according to their needs. In these local credit centers the National Farm Loan Associations and Production Credit Associations should be linked together as closely as administratively feasible in order to render the maximum service at the minimum cost. Problems related to credits, collections, management, territory and improved services to borrowers will be worked out on a basis of mutual advantage to both systems."

C. M. Welch, vice president and secretary of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston outlined the functions of the Intermediate Credit Bank, which discounts the notes of farmers and stockmen on loans made by various eligible lending agencies. Virgil P. Lee, vice president of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston, told how production credit loans are made at a low rate interest through Production Credit Associations to aid farmers and stockmen in production of crops and livestock. Sterling C. Evans, president of the Houston Bank for Cooperatives, spoke on the various types of loans made to farmers cooperative associations in Texas.

ed by U. D. Wulfjen and he has extended every cooperation in tentative plans for the improbement, the lake if realized, will be dedicated "Lake Wulfjen," according to statement from the chamber of commerce.

Second application filed by Colorado was placed with the Abilene district WPA office Thursday, requesting cooperation of the government in building drainage project in Northeast Colorado. The project, affecting 34 city blocks, would cost $11,500.

Projects sought by the county were defined to lateral road construction with each of the four county commissioners including proposed new construction and improvement of present roads in the joint application.

County Judge B. L. Templeton filed the project application with Abilene offices of WPA Wednesday afternoon. He stated that estimate costs had been placed at $82,000.

"After due consideration members of the commissioners court arrived at the conclusion that Mitchell county, as a political unit, could not sponsor a more worthwhile project than the one calling for construction of an improved system of lateral public roads," the county judge stated. "In event our project application is given approval every community in the county will be in direct line for the benefits to be realized."

Westbrook filed application at Abilene requesting WPA grant to finance construction of a municipal auditorium to cost $8,000. Loraine filed application seeking to receive favorable consideration on plea that street improvement there, costing $4,000, be authorized.

PWA RECEIVES APPLICATION FOR COKE COUNTY LAKE

SIX MILLIONS REQUESTED FOR CONSTRUCTION UPPER COLORADO AUTHORITY DAM

Huge Project South Of Here Would Irrigate Lands In Three Counties

Officials of the Upper Colorado Authority Tuesday filed application with State PWA headquarters in Ft. Worth for a loan and grant of $6,000,000 for construction of a dam on the Colorado river northwest of Robert Lee.

Representatives of the Authority control board stated the project would provide irrigation facilities for 50,000 acres of land in Coke, Tom Green and Runnells counties. Engineers working on the huge project have found that backwater would extend to within a short distance of Colorado.

Purposes of the dam, as outlined in petition for the loan and grant, included flood control, creation of a reservoir of water, possible future electric power development and provision for a much needed pleasure ground.

The Upper Colorado Authority was created by an act of the 44th legislature.

Importance attached to the project has been stressed by civic leaders here since its inception. Development of the projected irrigation area would bring within a few miles of Colorado one of West Texas' most promising farm and livestock sections, it has been suggested.

Appreciating potential possibilities to follow development of such a huge project the chamber of commerce in cooperation with county and city officials several months ago gave every cooperation to plans for building a paved highway connecting Colorado and Robert Lee. And in this the latter community was just as interested as were citizens here.

Engineers have been at work on the proposed lake site for several weeks. Should the application be granted steps looking to actual construction of the dam would be the next step to be taken. Developments will be watched with much interest here.

HISTORIC ACCOUNTS OF EARLY 'COLORADO CITY' HOLDING INTEREST HERE

Interesting reminiscenses of "Colorado City" of the early eighties have been reflected in news articles published during the past few weeks in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The articles were written by D. C. Earnest of Edinberg and A. J. Payne of Slaton, both of whom were citizens here in those days.

The most recent of these series appeared in edition of the paper for Tuesday morning and was written by Payne, who recalled that he arrived in Colorado City November 20, 1881, with his parents. The elder Payne accepted position with A. W. Dunn and Mrs. Payne conducted a boarding house in two large tents in north part of town.

Old Newspaper Pictures 'Train-Time' At Depot And Balloon Ascensions At Circus

"Train time" at the T. & P. depot here twenty-five years ago and the balloon ascension that had been a feature of this county's July the Fourth celebration were pictured in photographs printed in the Colorado Record for September 9, 1910.

In the train picture the east-bound passenger is shown at a stand-still—with a considerable crowd gathered south of the depot to meet it. North of the depot are two or three horse-and-buggy rigs.

Nothing about the balloon picture, which shows the giant black bag ready to go up, is outstanding except perhaps the women's big hats. . . .

The local notes that week showed that:

Charles Reems Earnest, who was employed by a mining company at Alba, had been home for a visit. . . . Miss Jeannette Roe had gone to teach school in Richmond, Texas. . . . Ed Dupree had been in Fort Worth to dispose of some mules. . . .

Miss Nellie Stowers was to return and reopen her art class. . . . Miss Claudia Rogers had gone to Coahoma to teach music. . . . Elsie Bertner of Little Rock, Ark., was visiting friends here. . . . Miss Mary Risinger of Sweetwater had been visiting Miss Lela Whipkey. . . .

J. T. Ledbetter had disposed of his telephone exchange at Loraine. . . . Jessie Bullock and family had been to Sweetwater. . . . Miss Vera Kellis of Sterling City, daughter of the "only genuine inimitable" W. F. Kellis of the Sterling City News-Record, had been here with Miss Jessie Holder visiting the family of L. C. Dupree. . . .

Harry Landers' sister, Mrs. Wm. Bemien of Northampton, Mass., and her husband were here visiting. . . . A. J. Payne had gone east to buy new dry goods. . . . J. L. Bowen had accepted a traveling position with the Abilene broom factory. . . . Bessie McMurry had been visiting friends in Dallas. . . .

A telegram from Sandborn, Indiana, had announced the death of James Smith, father of Mrs. A. L. Whipkey. . . . R. H. Waldo and daughter, Annie B., had been here for a visit while enroute to Fort Worth, where Annie was to enroll in Our Lady of Victory academy. . . .

Ben Van Tuyl had sold a car of mules to J. W. Smith, who planned to take them to Tennessee and sell them. . . . The W. T. G. had met with Miss Claudia Smith and was to meet the next time with Winnie Crockett.

Buford Methodists Hope To Start New Church Bldg. Soon

Members of the Buford Methodist church hope to start construction work on their projected new building within thirty days the building committee stated Saturday. The building is to be of brick veneer with a seating capacity of near 300.

Site for the new church was bought several weeks ago and a part of the finances pledged have been collected. The building is to be of brick veneer with auditorium and two connecting Sunday school rooms. The latter will open into the auditorium by folding doors.

BIG SPRING RODEO HELD UP DUE TO HEAVY RAINS

Postponement of the Big Spring rodeo until Thursday, Friday and Saturday was announced Tuesday morning by the American Legion committee in charge of the affair. Heavy rains were assigned as cause for setting the dates ahead from Monday until the latter opening date.

BIDS WILL BE RECEIVED FOR SEEDING P. O. LAWN

The government is advertising for bids on planting the postoffice grounds to grass, Postmaster Joe Y. Fraser announced Tuesday morning. Bids on the project are to be received up to September 16 by the postmaster. Specifications may be obtained upon application to Fraser.

CONVENTION OF 4-COUNTY SONG ASS'N TO CONVENE AT SNYDER ON SATURDAY

Two-Day Gathering Will Be Attended By Thousands, President States

Semi-annual convention of the Four-County Singing association, embracing Mitchell, Scurry, Nolan and Fisher counties, is to be opened at the tabernacle in Snyder Saturday afternoon at 2:30 for two days.

J. Lawrence Deaver of Snyder, president of the association, stated while in Colorado Tuesday that several thousand visitors were expected to be in attendance, with Colorado and other points in Mitchell county supplying representative quotas. C. O. McCreight of Colorado is vice president of the organization.

With opening of the convention Saturday afternoon a continuous program will be carried through until the closing number Sunday afternoon, Deaver said. Citizens of Snyder will offer ever cooperation in making delegates enjoy the convention, he concluded.

'RATHER BATTLE WORMS THAN DROUTH,' MAYOR'S VERSION OF CONDITIONS

"We had much rather fight the leaf worm than a drouth and I have never known the time when we received too much rain in Mitchell county," was comment of Mayor J. C. Hall of Loraine, who Tuesday was a business visitor in Colorado. Crop outlook in the Loraine section is excellent, Judge Hall said.

The Loraine mayor, who is also president of the luncheon club there, active first vice president of the First State bank, is now directing his attention to certain WPA projects that he believes his community should have.

LANDON DORN MOVED TO WTCGA POST IN LUBBOCK

Landon Dorn, former Coloradoan who has been associated with the West Texas Cotton Growers association in its Abilene offices for some time, has been transferred to Lubbock, where he will be classer supervisor for the company in the Lubbock district.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorn made the move from Abilene to Lubbock early this week. Mrs. Dorn is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Durham, in San Angelo before going on to her new home.

CONDITIONS BETTER IN TEXAS, BANK INDICATES

Better conditions in the agricultural and livestock industries and an increased demand for merchandise in both wholesale and retail channels lent notes of optimism to the monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas Saturday.

During the past month favorable weather was beneficial to growing crops throughout the 11th reserve district and the present outlook is unusually bright, the report said. With exception of wheat, the indicated production of all crops is much larger than last year.

TRAGEDY STALKS IN PATH OF NEWLY WEDS TO TAKE LIFE MRS. R. W. HUNTER

Bride Is Accidentally Killed In Arizona; Former Ollie Manly Of Loraine

The tragic death of Mrs. R. W. Hunter, Abilene bride who was accidentally shot while hunting in Arizona Monday on her wedding trip, affected a number of Mitchell county homes. Her only sister, Mrs. Marian Callan, lives here. Two cousins, Jeff Curry and Mrs. Roy Morris, are also Colorado residents.

Mrs. Hunter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Manly, lived in Loraine and operated the Manly tourist camp until about four years ago. Her cousin, Melvin Calhoun, is in charge of the camp now. Her aunt, Mrs. Jeff Davis, lives north of Loraine.

Mrs. Callan had left here to begin her teaching duties in Iraan when she received news of the tragedy. Wednesday she was resting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Hester in Loraine. Mr. Callan, who is connected with an oil company here was with her. The Callans have been living in one of the Tom Hughes apartments here.

Mrs. Hunter, who was Miss Ollie Jewel Manly before her marriage in Abilene Wednesday evening of last week, had been living in Abilene for two years. She worked in the office of the Dixie Life Insurance company. Mr. Hunter was employed at the Hilton hotel as day clerk.

On their honeymoon trip to the coast Mr. and Mrs. Hunter had stopped over the week-end at Crown King, Arizona, where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Manly, have lived since moving from Loraine. The four had gone on a hunting trip.

As they prepared to enter a park Mr. Manly told his son-in-law he had better unload a gun he had with him to meet requirements on entering the park. Mr. Hunter stepped on the car running board to get the gun and as he raised the hammer to turn the cylinder it discharged, the bullet passing through Mrs. Hunter's wrist and into her abdomen. She died in a Flagstaff hospital early Tuesday morning.

The body arrived in Abilene Wednesday afternoon and funeral services are to be some time Friday. Mrs. Benton Templeton and a number of other Mitchell countians plan to attend the rites.

Mrs. Hunter's grandfather, Mr. Winstead, died in Loraine about two months ago.

U. S. Ownership Of Cotton Feared By Texas Solon

WASHINGTON—Fear that continuation of a 12c cotton loan policy would mean ultimate Government ownership of more than 25,000,000 bales of surplus cotton, resulting in drastic weakening of the Federal credit system, was voiced in the closing days of Congress by Representative James P. Buchanan of the Austin (Texas) district and chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. Buchanan opposed the 12c loan but defended the 10c loan with a subsidy of 2c additional.

Views expressed by Buchanan had support of the administration which sought to appease indignant Southern Senators who charged that the administration had broken faith with the South when the President sanctioned a 9c loan.

Buchanan pointed out that as result of the Government's former 12c policy it owns and controls more than 5,000,000 bales, which is being held off the market, but if released, he said, the price of cotton would be driven below the cost of production.

A 12c loan this year, Buchanan said, would have placed the Government in complete control of 15,000,000 bales and that continuation of the policy for the year following almost would double the unsalable surplus.

"A wayfaring man," said Buchanan, "though he be a fool, can plainly see this policy would destroy future cotton production throughout the South. I have been unable to find a single member of Congress who indorses this course as a permanent policy."

Declaring that the 12c loan policy had induced foreign countries to increase their acreage to the extent of 14,750,000 bales, Buchanan said it is wrong and suicidal for the United States to adopt a policy that ultimately will destroy cotton production in the South in an effort to raise the world price for the benefit of foreign countries.

Horns And Curio Collection Now At Howard-Payne

BROWNWOOD. — The Boenicke collection of horns and other curios—one of the largest in Texas—has been presented to Howard Payne College by its collector, A. Boenicke of the Salt Branch community in Brown County, and will be housed on the campus in a special building to be known as the "Boenicke Memorial Building."

Mr. Boenicke, who is 80 years old, has been adding pieces to the collection for the last half-century, devoting practically all of his time to it for twenty years. Refusing offers from numerous colleges and universities, Mr. Boenicke wants to keep the collection here for the enjoyment of his children and friends.

Curios have been accumulated from Canada, the United States, and several countries in Europe. In the collection are included the horns of deer, elk, moose, Rocky Mountain sheep and goats, antelope, fawn and one pair of deer horns locked together in a last death struggle. Life-sized deer, old and young, one large elk and one full grown moose are mounted and displayed. In addition there are several mounted heads of elk, reindeer, moose, and Rocky Mountain goats and sheep. Rugs with mounted heads of bear, leopard, coyote, mountain lion and deer are also prized pieces.

Mr. Boenicke's collection of 1,100 arrowheads is thought to be one of the most complete in the world. They are mounted in attractive board designs. One of the most unusual pieces in the collection is a large turtle shell once used as a baby cradle. Another is a leather powder bag taken from an Indian in the late 80's. The horns of the last buffalo killed in Brown County were given to the collection by the late "Uncle Billy" Brown who shot the animal.

Dean O. E. Winebrenner and Dr. M. E. Davis of Howard Payne are working with the donor on plans for the museum.

"ONE MORE SPRING"
Palace—September 8-9

Janet Gaynor and Warner Barter reunited in the vivid picturization of Robert Nathan's novel of today.

Rating highly as entertainment, this is a human interest comedy drama. Laughs and tears are intermingled in this whimsical story of three young victims of hard times—a jobless actress, a bankrupt antique dealer and an out-of-work concert violinist. These down-and-outs survive the winter by living in an abandoned stable in the public park, aided now and then by the park attendant and his kindly wife. With the coming of spring, the outlook brightens and happiness, as well as a job, is just around the corner for each of them. Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter are excellent as two of the comrades whose friendship ripens into love. Walter King makes an individual hit as the now pathetic—now comic violinist.

Thursday—September 12

Hilarious comedy, packed with laughs that should send the patrons home thoroughly entertained. Ida Lupino, whose father commits suicide because of financial troubles, is in love with Kent Taylor, who loves her sister, Gail Patrick, whom he marries. Ida gets a job with a ladies hat manufacturer whose son is Pinky Tomlin, dumbbell salesman. Sidney Blackmer, an oil promoter, gives Kent a job to be near Gail, on whom he has a crush, and when the government is about to investigate him he skips with Gail, leaving Pinky and his boss, Joseph Cawthrone, holding the bag. Oil comes in and all ends well and Ida and Kent are married.

"FIGHTING SHADOWS"
Ritz—September 6-7

Standard made-to-order action drama starring Tim McCoy who appears to excellent advantage as a Royal Mountie a welcome variation from the usual type of Western hero. The story contains a few new twists, but the interest is maintained throughout, the climax is thrilling and dramatic and, for seasoning a colorful comedy character played by Si Jenks, has been added. The heroine part is played by pretty Geneva Mitchell and Ward Bond makes an excellent villian.

"STRANDED"
Ritz—September 8-9

A made-to-order starring vehicle for the beautiful and accomplished Kay Francis which gives her a sympathetic role and also permits her to wear beautiful gowns. George Brent whose role is almost as important as the star's, gives a forceful, authoritative performance and Frank Borzage's direction neatly intersperses comedy with the dramatic sequences. Miss Francis plays a Traveler's Aid official who aids a bridge engineer to locate his head steel worker. Their interest in each other ripens into love, but they disagree when Brent insists that his future wife give up her job of helping others. Action picks up at the finish as a labor agitator incites the steel workers to the point of striking. Brent and Francis are reunited at the mass meeting at which the men are persuaded to return.

"HOOSIER SCHOOLMASTER"
Ritz—September 10-11

Another favorite American classic has been brought to the screen and Director Lewis D. Collins has captured the spirit of this wholesome and moving comedy-drama in superb fashion. Against a rural Indiana background in the days immediately following the Civil War, the story follows the career of a young veteran, who takes the position of a schoolmaster in a hostile community. Ruling in a class composed of overgrown bullies and flirtatious girls, the young man uncovers a plot to rob the soldiers of their promised government lands, but is almost lynched for his pains. In a thrilling climax the soldier band rescues him for a happy ending with a pretty bond servant.

HEREDITY AND ENVIRONMENT

A constant reader of this column has asked us to write on Heredity and Environment.

Will first give a Webster definition of the two words.

It is agreed by all professional genealogists that in every family tree of considerable height there are one or two branches of bad wood. And when a family tree is rooted in as many as seven generations there is almost sure to be a rotten spot, often with a distinctive jail odor.

A good name helps one to get a good start. "Pa and Ma" should contribute their part in helping the children to get a good start, both by heredity and environment. All children are entitled to be well born, then after being born they are entitled to a chance to make good. A good name is their birthright and parents have no right to rob them of this priceless heritage. An authority stated that 65 per cent of the babies born die under one year of age and the 35 per cent that live are underprivileged. Another medical authority said, "A mother can do more for her child by wise and poper care in the nine months before it is born than all educators, moral and religious teachers can do in the rest of its life. All this is Hereditary.

I shall now explain to some extent Environment.

This writer recently visited a night club and taxi dance hall in Dallas where all kinds of drinking and slang was used. I was shocked watching the new abominations of today, glancing reprovingly at the antics of the newer and more picturesque gyrations, called Taxi dancing. Watching this new generation gyrate in the motions and emotions of what is mistakenly pleased to call dancing.

All this is environment.

Fashion decrees that the platinum blonde must go. Gentlemen don't prefer blondes any more but brunettes. This is environment.

Recently a lady broadcasting said, Brunettes should use one kind of perfume and blondes another kind. When this Columnist was a young man over in the piney woods in East Texas we only had one kind of perfume and that was Hoyt's German Cologne at 10c bottle and save my life I couldn't tell a brunette from a blonde in the dark.

This is more environment.

An argument between two Irishmen, one said, "Pat, I am glad all men don't look at women alike for all of them would have wanted my wife." Pat replied, "I am also glad, Mike, for if all had looked at her like I do nobody would have had her."

More environment.

HEREDITARY

There are two great evils under the sun, men selling their good name for riches, and men hoarding riches to destroy the good names of their children.

Marcus Aurelius said:

I think the Gods fog a good home, good parents, good brothers and sisters, good neighbors and good teachers.

William James, the psychologist said:

Every great man in history can be accounted for from one or the other five sources: Birth, Community, Nation, Education, Times or the Age. We must agree that all these are very important.

Scientific investigation shows that for the best one should begin four hundred years before birth. If you want to live a long time, select parents who have a long life span. The Bible bears out this thought, saying, "The sins of the fathers are visited upon the children to the third and fourth generations." It is certainly true that blood stream counts.

Take the Richard Edwards and Max Juke families.

Edwards—famous—record for two hundred years. From this family came more than fourteen hundred persons of great social worth and without a single blot on the family history. We have such names as Winston Churchill, General U. S. Grant, Grover Cleveland, Dr. George E. Vincent, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Timothy Edwards, one of the founders of Yale University; Jonathan Edwards, who married Sarah Pierpont, from which union sprang twelve college presidents, 265 college graduates, 65 professors, 60 physicians, 100 lawyers 30 judges, 80 public officials, 3 congressmen, 2 United States senators and 1 Vice President. So the family history moves on.

Juke—infamous—himself a lazy vagabond in New England. The original record of 1,220 descendants follows: 300 died in infancy, 310 professional paupers, 440 wrecked by disease, 50 prostitutes, 60 thieves, 7 murderers, 53 common criminals. Not one college graduate among them.

Great lives often spring from a great community atmosphere. In such an atmosphere young and growing life inherits large and worthy ideals, lofty aspirations and profound convictions.

A youth cannot correct the conduct of his ancestors but he can improve his inheritance by wholesome environments. There is a saying: "He is a fool who does not consider both heredity and environments. The famous Edwards family were creators of environment and then creatures of the environment they helped to create. The same is true of the infamous Juke family. Tennison said: "I am a part of all I have met." Walt Whitman said: "I am the acme of the past, the epitome of things to be." Parents are sinful and foolish who are careless and indifferent to unwholesome home and community environment.

Great nations produce great men, who in turn keep the nation great. Rome the greatest nation of all history, produced great men and she herself was the product of great men. Someone has said that "Every great institution or enterprise is the lengthened shadow of some great man."

Our country was founded by great men, and she in turn produced great men. This is true of Texas, loved by us all. One generation should build for the next. The son should be stronger than his father. This is the only way to grow giants, and the world needs giants today, giants in mind, heart and soul.

The world moves in cycles, up and down, back and forth. There are ages or periods of action and reaction, activity and inactivity, high ideals and low ideals, times of race and national achievement, and periods of race and national decline. History is the record of such times or ages.

Quoting Dr. Talmage: "I stood in the house of a Long Island village not long ago and saw a beautiful tree. That is a fine tree, I said to the owner, but what a curious crook in it.

"Yes, said he, I planted that tree. When it was a year old I went to New York and worked as a mechanic a year or two and when I came back I found that they had allowed something to stand against the tree, and so it has always had that crook in it."

A like story we can find in many adults today who received wrong impressions when children. The crooked adult is such because there was allowed a crook in his early training, some wrong impressions gotten in the training and examples of parents and seniors in the home.

There are three great institutions set in the world to help us get and maintain a good start—the home, the state (represented through our schools), and the church. These all have divine sanction. Jesus attended a wedding in Galilee and sanctified it—giving it his blessing. He said, "The powers that be are ordained of God." He set up his church while on earth and is its Head today and forever.

These institutions should be the best of friends. They should work together in perfect harmony and understanding. They are to take our boys and girls and make men and women out of them. They are in the man and woman-making business. The more efficient they are, the better chance our boys and girls have to get and maintain a good start. Every home should be godly, our schools should be taught by godly teachers and our churches should be made up of godly men and women.

How to lose your good start. I desire to explode three sinful and dangerous fallacies. They are full of dynamite and will blow you up, destroying your good start. I have heard of them until I am sick and tired. I do wish we could blow them up and put them out of business.

The first fallacy is, "Everybody does it." The first thing I want to say about this is, it is not so. Everybody is not doing it. The next thing I want to say about this is, granting it is so, does not make it right. The truth about it is, if it is so, it is sure to be dead wrong. The third thing I want to say about this is, if you are going with the majority, you are on the wrong road. The minority is more apt to be right than the majority. If you want to stay with the crowd you will have to make up your mind to travel the wrong road. The crowd is going in the wrong direction. "Enter ye not in the straight gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat; because straight is the gate and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life and few there be that find it."

A grand old New Englander, I think was Jonathan Edwards, made the following resolution to govern his life: "Resolved, first, that everybody ought to do right. Resolved, second, whether or not anybody else does right, I will."

Men and women, boys and girls, are taking great chances today. We are in a time when people want a thrill. Many are taking dangerous ventures. There are a lot of things you can try once and one time is too much. There is one step you can take—just once—your character is gone. "A bird with a broken pinion will never soar so high again."

Boys taking their first venture with the bottle have no thought of landing in the gutter. "Look thou not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth its color in the cup, when it moveth itself aright at the last it bieth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." Raymond Hamilton began his career by petty thievery. He had no thought of being strapped in the electric chair.

David said, I can get by with it, and committed a great sin. The prophet came, saying, "Thou are the man." Saul said, I can hide some of these cattle and get by with it. The prophet asked: "What meaneth this lowing of the cattle!" Judas said, I can take this silver and get by with it. He came later only to cast it aside and go out and hang himself. "Be sure your sins will find you out." There is an old saying: "You are what you are in the dark." There is another: "The test of a man is his conduct away from home."

Demosthenes, the great Athenian orator was a dreadful stammerer. He spoke with pebbles in his mouth and overcame his impediment. He tried and tried, again and again—and won.

The world has no place for the quitter. There is no time to take out. My brother went down in the financial panic some years ago. I wired him: "Joe, no man is broke until his determination breaks." My slogan is "If you hold on long enough, you will finally get there." This is true in every realm. It is true for earth as well as heaven. It is particularly true in religion. A man's faith must have in it the element of perseverance.

Do not live solely in the past. Use the mistakes and blunders of the past as stepping stones to better things today. No use to go about telling what you have done—do something now. No use to grieve over spilled milk—only be careful and do not spill any more. It is better to err in action than not to act at all. The worst mistake is to do nothing.

"Start where you stand and never mind the past.
The past won't help you in beginning new
If you have left it all behind at last
Why, that's enough, you're done with, you're through;
This is another chapter in the book,
This is another race that you have planned,
Don't give the vanished days a backward look,
Start where you stand.

Do not leave God out of your life. You have no right to live in God's world and leave God out. If you have a good start He will help you maintain it. If you got a bad start, He will help you turn defeat into victory. If you need a new start He will give it to you. God gives many a man a new start. He gave Abraham a new start when he sinned in Egypt. He gave Moses a new start when he had fled from Egypt and had spent forty years in the wilderness. He gave David a new start after a tragic and grievous sin. He gave Jonah another opportunity to preach to Ninevah. John Mark had a second start after leaving Paul on his first missionary journey. After Simon Peter had denied his Lord and had cursed, Jesus Christ sent Simon word to meet him in Galilee and Simon Peter got a new start. I do not hold out a second chance after death. No, No. "As the tree falleth, so must it lie." But I do hold out another chance and a new start for all men and women who need it now. Jesus will give it to you.

Dove Hunting Laws Still Source For Confusion In Area

The following editorial comment of laws affecting dove hunting in Texas, reprinted from San Angelo Evening Standard is indicatiye of sentiment among sportsmen at Colorado.

Regardless of the fact that J. N. (Ding) Darling, ex-cartoonist chief of the Bureau of Biological Survey, made a terrible mistake when he decided the federal government should step in and regulate the dove hunting season as it does the duck season, West Texans would do well to consider the reasons for his action.

West Texas, appeased somewhat now by Darling's modification of his rules to start the season Sept. 21 instead of Oct. 1 as originally scheduled and by dropping the 4 o'clock shooting restriction and allowing firing up until sunset, should not take their remaining ire out on doves instead of Ding Darling.

It is true that West Texas has the best dove crop in years. It is true that the state law, passed before the federal regulations were pronounced, begins Sept. 1. But is also true that right now there are still some dove eggs lying unhatched in the nests. In a few days all the young doves will be out and about.

It is true that the state game wardens haven't been given instructions to attempt to enforce the federal regulations. But it would be better for all sporsmen if hunting were deferred "as late in September as you can hold out." If most of the hunters started bombarding the doves on Sunday morning, the law observers who hold off until Sept. 21 will find the doves diminished in number and wilder in nature.

The sad thing about the whole business is that the state and federal governments alike pass to many laws regulating the taking of game and fish. There is too much confusion about what is right here and what is right there.

Every true sportsman will be happy when the conservation agencies launch a genuine program of propagation and protection of wild life and aquatic life which will feature improvement of the native habitats of the game birds, beasts and fish and the eradication of their natural enemies. Man's ingenuity can do more in that field than it is doing. But the just and sensible regulations that can be voted controlling the game hogs should be enforced. Faulty though they may be now, they should be observed until corrections can be made.

FFA STUDENT MAKES GOOD WITH PULLETS

"I have received some valuable experience while producing 230 White Leghorn pullets as a major project in second year agriculture that I intend to use after I finish high school," said R. C. Snively, local future farmer, as he prepared to sow wheat in his chicken yard last week for early Fall grazing.

R. C. purchased 525 baby chicks last April and has raised 230 pullets that will begin production during September. The eggs will be sold on the local market until the hatching starts after which R. C. plans to sell hatching eggs to the local hatcheries.

A summary of the project shows a total expense of $159.49 including $67.50 initial cost of baby chicks, $85.44 for feed to date and the remainder for fuel, etc. The record of the receipts, some of which are estimated, shows $44.45 from sale of broilers; $36.00 estimated value of 36 young cockerels; and $230.00 estimated value of the 230 four months old pullets.

Taking the total expenses from the total receipts R. C. has realized a profit of $153.96; the flock will require several dollars worth of feed before any other income can be expected other than the increase in value of the flock.

Snively has vaccinated his entire flock against fowl pox.

It is out of sincere hearts that we publicly express our appreciation to all who were so kind to us during the death of our beloved husband and father. That the blessings of God may ever attend every one of you is our prayer.

MISS GUNTER GIVES FALL GARDEN FACTS

Facts about fall gardening, as sent to her by the extension service of Hexas A. & M. college, were given this week by Miss Emma Gunter, county home demonstration agent, as follows:

"All weeds and vegetation must be removed before planting or the soil will dry out quickly and possibly carry diseases. A heavy application of summer manure should be given before plowing is started. Summer manure, which has no acids or burning ingredients, is used to increase the water holding capacity and to prevent the soil from becoming hard and crusted following the fall rains.

"As soon as the soil is plowed it should be pulverized. Select vegetables that are resistant to heat to plant in the fall garden from the last of August to the first half of September such as onion sets, Swiss chard, tender green, Irish potatoes, carrots, beets and collards. Later, plant such vegetables as lettuce, radishes, mustard, spinach, and cabbage which will withstand cold weather. Bush beans will grow unless the weather turns too cold."

MRS. J. D. M'CRELESS IS GIVEN RITES AT STANTON M. E. CHURCH ON TUESDAY

Several Citizens Of Mitchell County Attend Services For Native Dorn Community

Funeral rites for Mrs. J. D. McCreless were held Tuesday afternoon from the Stanton Methodist church with three ministers officiating. Mrs. McCreless died Monday morning at 11 o'clock on the operating table in a Big Spring hospital where she had been taken a few days before.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Boswell, pioneer citizens of Dorn community, deceased was a native of this county. She grew to womanhood here and was married to Mr. McCreless at Colorado in 1918. During the past several years the family had made their home on a farm in the Courtney community, northwest of Stanton.

In addition to her husband Mrs. McCreless is survived by two children, Katherine, 13, and Arnold, 10, and a number of other relatives in Mitchell and other West Texas counties.

Among relatives and close personal friends attending the services from Mitchell county were Mrs. Jim White, Misses Pauline and Cleo Pritchett, and R. D. Hart and family, of Colorado; Bedford Reese and family. Mrs. R. L. Blackard and son and M. E. McGuire of Buford; Mr. and Mrs. John Costin of Westbrook, and Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Bynum of Plainview.

BEDROOM STORAGE SPACE IMPORTANT

Arrangement of stored articles was found to be an important item in bedrooms having no clothes closet when the improved bedroom of Mrs. Otto Schuster, demonstrator for the Hyman Home Demonstration club, was checked last week by Miss Emma Gunter, county home demonstration agent, in preparation for Achievement Day on September 27.

Mrs. Schuster's room has a wardrobe and a dresser, both with drawer space for clothing and linens, and a connecting bathroom with storage space for more linens. Mrs. Schuster is one of about 75 rural clubwomen having a bathroom.

In improving her bedroom she has papered it, painted the floor, made two crocheted rugs, reworked her wardrobe, put up new curtains, bought new bedspreads, and made covers for her springs and mattresses.

KEEP SALES RECORDS

With announcement of the 10c loan and the 12c guarantee plan of the AAA every farmer living on a contracted farm should keep an exact record of the sale of every bale of cotton. Since the guaranteed payment will be based on middling 7/8 cotton—with the grade having to be low middling or better to be eligible for the loan or guarantee, and will also be based on the average price of middling 7/8 cotton on the ten designated markets each day for determining balance due the producer, it is necessary for the producer to keep the sales slip received from the purchaser.

Detailed information other than this is lacking at this time, but farmers meetings will be called to explain all details as soon as such information is in the hands of the county committee and the county agent.

BILLION DOLLAR CROP

The first billion dollar cotton crop since 1929 should result from the President's action in approving the new Cotton Loan Plan of the AAA through its loan and payment. The plan not only promises the best income to be enjoyed by the farmers in years, but it also means enlarged outlets for cotton exports, which are of immense importance to the cotton industry. This forecast is based on the probable production of 11,788,000 bales cotton, the loan and guarantee plan and the added rental and parity payments for 1935 plus the added value of the seed.

U.S.D.A. figures show that crop values have been as follows: 1929—$1,445,317,000.00; 1930—$794,794,000.00; 1931—$556,068,000.00; 1932—$483,887,000.00; 1933—$891,808,000.00; and 1934—$883,596,000.00.

SILVER NEWS

By Hester Finley

Silver had a party Friday night. The Silver young people, the fathers and mothers and the babies were all present. Young people from Colorado, Payne, Lowe, Barnett, Landers and Looney were here to help us have a good time. The fathers played dominos, the mothers exchanged news and watched the young folks play. We intend to repeat the party often.

The Silver Singing class met Sunday night and enjoyed an hour of splendid music. There were excellent singers from Roscoe, Snyder, Barnett, Colorado, Champion, Mesquite and visitors from Bauman. Mr. Finley was elected president of the class for another year. The class meets at Silver the first and third Sunday nights. Miss Yoakum from Barnett and Mrs. Emmett Butts from Snyder accompanied the singers on the piano.

Just here Mrs. Robinson rushed in and exclaimed, "Mrs. Clements, my room is on fire." Quick action on the part of everyone soon located and extinguished the fire. It caught around the flue and soon would have been in flames that we might not have been able to control.

The visitors this week were Mr. Brooks, Mr. Fee from Colorado, Mrs. Burdette of Landers and Mrs. Mary Smith Yarbrough.

A crowd of young people went hay riding doyn to Silver bridge Sunday afternoon. In the crowd were Silver musicians who furnished some good music.
