Alliance Maps Visitation And Census Plans

A hospital visitation program was inaugurated this week by the Olton Ministerial Alliance.

Rev. Russell McAnally, president, states that a member of the Alliance will visit every patient in Olton hospitals five days a week, "not as a Methodist or Baptist, but as a patient."

He says that this is an effort of the part of the ministers to cooperate with the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture in working for a better Olton and to give better service.

Each minister has been assigned as follows: Monday, Rev. McAnally; Tuesday, Rev. Jerry Anderson; Wednesday, Rev. John Lewis; Thursday, Rev. Glen Godsey; Friday, Rev. Winfred Ritter.

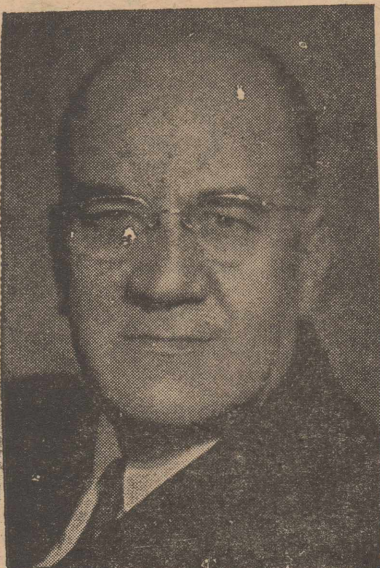

Another project being pushed by the MA is a community religious survey, which will be taken next Sunday afternoon. All churches cooperating in this effort will meet at the First Baptist Church Friday night at 7:30 for assignments and plans.

Judging Teams To Compete At Spur Saturday

Instructor J. C. Lane will take two judging teams to Spur Saturday.

One is the FFA soil judging team made up of Mack McGill, Elmer Houston and Jerry Moore. The other is the livestock judging team composed of John Adams, Ronnie Dennis, Lennon Young and Houston Hamby.

Eddie Hurt, southside Royal Ambassador leader, will speak at 7:50. Mr. Hurt is a former coach of Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Okla. The song service will be directed by Joe C. "Jake" Arthur of First Baptist Church, Littlefield.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p. m.

Hart School Supt. John LeMay has issued a request concerning the school census. He states:

"We would like to request any one living in the Hart school district, who has not filled out a school census form for this year, to please contact the school and do so as soon as possible. We are especially anxious that citizens with first-graders complete the census."

ATTENDS MEETING

Rev. Glen Godsey attended a Pastor's Institute of Mexican People in Plainview this week, and also the Pastors-Layman's conference at Wayland College.

VISITORS FROM THE FOURTH ESTATE

AS ONE REPORTER to another—Earl Golz, left, of the Regional Staff of the Amarillo Daily News, shakes hands with Bill Turner, editor of the Lamb County Leader and County-Wide News, as they met at Olton's Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet here last Thursday night. Standing next to Golz is his wife, Barbara, who works on the women's staff of the Amarillo papers. Mrs. Ross Middleton, center, and Ross Middleton, right, publishers of the Earth News, were also guests at the dinner.

225 CCA Banquet Go-ers Are Well Entertained And Inspired

"If I were an Olton citizen and had a business here, I'd go up and down these streets and say: 'Let's excel in something—let's major in one thing in this town.'"

So spoke Dr. J. Chess Lovern, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock to some 225 persons attending the first annual Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet here last Thursday evening in the school lunchroom.

"Everybody needs a specialty," the minister went on, "Every community should have a hobby, something to capture the imagination of its citizens. It may be United Nations-conscious; it may major in parks or recreational facilities; it may specialize in good schools."

He admonished his audience to find out what the community wants through a method of seminars, questionnaires and public forums. He maintained "every person under the American way has one vote. Let nobody consider he has two votes; therein lies the cancer of the American society."

"Most of the time," Dr. Lovern pointed out, "when a community falls into the hands of a little group, it is theirs by default. They didn't steal the power."

He emphasized the importance of the voter, the person who pays his poll tax. He advised mothers and fathers not to be reluctant to give leadership over to their sons; not to worship the past.

"This is the vibrant frontier of America, this country out here," he declared, "We don't know yet what we possess out here. But we do know what our chief asset is: not land or buildings; but our children. And this world is just as new to your sons as it was to you. Turn over the undreamed possibilities to fresh hands."

School Supt. Noel Johnson was master of ceremonies for the evening. Entertainment was provided by Bill Brown of Lubbock, who captured the attention of the audience for more than half an hour with magic.

Highlight of his performance was the participation of Bill Kelley, Frank Struve and Gerald Bizzell in a stunt, climaxed by Brown's restoration of Bizzell's tie which he had cut to pieces before the eyes of the audience.

Don Williams, CCA president, introduced officers and directors of the new organization, including Joe Wood, new full-time manager, and his wife. He also recognized out-of-town guests.

Present from Littlefield were Jack Lacy, CC manager; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Saunders, General Telephone Company; Bill Turner, County-Wide News; and Charles Jones, county clerk. From Muleshoe were Sinn Simmons, CC manager and Jesse Osborn, state representative.

Amarilloans attending were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Golz, Amarillo Daily News, and Charles Butler. Plainview was represented by Clay Henry, CC president, and Jess West, civic leader. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Middleton, publishers of the Earth News, were also guests. The meal, prepared by Mrs. Ray Slatten and lunchroom workers, was served by seventh-grade boys. Basil Sherman gave the invocation. Bob Duncan was chairman of the banquet committee.

Gipson Returns From Hospital

Glen Gipson, who recently underwent major surgery in Baylor Hospital, Dallas, returned home Saturday and his condition is satisfactory.

He is wearing a back brace and neighbors say he is up and about.

Trial of Tommy Moore has been set for February 24 in the District Court of Judge E. A. Bills, according to Curtis R. Wilkinson, county attorney.

Moore is charged in the August 4 slaying of his wife, Sophia. Mrs. Moore was shot to death as she stood in the yard talking to her 17-year-old son, Doyle, according to officers who investigated the case at the time.

Wilkinson said a special venire of 100 men and women will be summoned for possible jury duty in the case. He said approximately 25 Olton people have been summoned as witnesses.

Leading in the prosecution will be District Attorney Bill Sheehan of Friona.

Friday Was Record Tax Day for City

More than 300 poll taxes were sold at City Hall this year. Deadline for poll tax payment was January 31.

"They were lined up out in the street waiting to pay poll tax Friday," declared Bernice Smith, city secretary. The city also collected some $3,000 in taxes the same day.

Methodists Slate Two AM Services

Beginning Sunday, February 9, Rev. Russell McAnally will conduct two worship services each Sunday morning in the Methodist church.

Early morning worship will be held at 9:00 a. m. Sunday School will be from 10:00 to 11:00, and the second worship service will convene at 11:00 a. m.

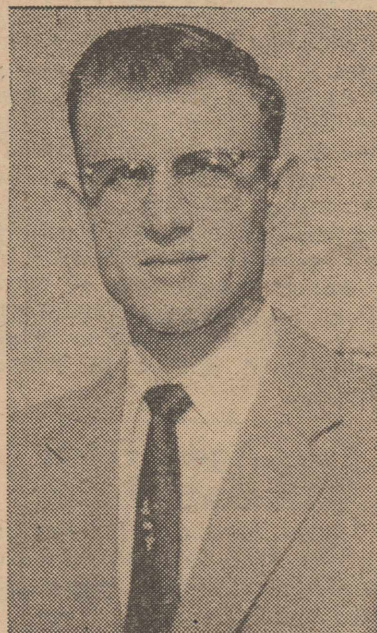

Rev. McAnally states, "This was carried on in the spring last year and proved popular. Conditions are so crowded now that this move has become necessary again."

He adds that the opening date for the new church building will be May 1. The first unit of the educational building is almost finished except for the brick work. This will begin within the next two or three weeks. The spire has been placed on the church and the roofing is now in process.

TEN NEW MEMBERS SIGN UP; TOTAL MEMBERSHIP NOW 111

Olton's Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture was off to a fine start this week under the management of Joe Wood, who assumed his duties as Chamber manager last Saturday.

Already the Chamber has two big projects in the mill. One is the promotion of vegetable production in this area.

JOE WOOD

The other is the widening of Highway 70.

George Elle, assistant dean of agriculture at Texas Tech, will speak to the membership on vegetable production Friday night of this week. His talk will be at the High School Study Hall at eight o'clock.

He will hold a preliminary meeting with several farmers at 6:30 o'clock the same evening at Ideal Cafe. Mr. Elle qualifies as a vegetable expert.

Some vegetable contractors will meet with the Chamber February 18 to discuss vegetable production here.

In the meantime, progress has been reported on the move for widening of Highway 70. Ralph Glover is chairman of the highway development committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

It remains for the city commission to pass a resolution opening the way for widening of the highway east and west through Olton.

"It's out of our hands now," Mr. Wood declared.

Mr. Glover said all but a few property owners along the highway have been contacted and enthusiasm is high for the improvement project.

Mr. Wood reports that 10 new memberships have been obtained since last Saturday. This brings the total membership to 111. Estimated revenue for a 12-month period now stands at $7,422. Goal for annual revenue for the Chamber is $8,400.

Bobby Fisher, who is directing the comedy to be presented by the P-TA February 28, says rehearsals are going strong now and the play is shaping up.

Tickets are to go on sale soon.

Miller, a sophomore at Wayland, is a graduate of Olton High School. He is studying to be an educational director in church work.

Sandie And Charlotte Wells Take Great Pride In Devotion Of Their Cocker-Spaniel, Honey

BY KORKYE MARTIN

There's a counter-spy in Olton named Honey. She's a Cocker-Spaniel who belongs to Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Wells, Charlotte and Sandie. She operates between the Wells home and that of Mrs. Wells' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adams.

Here's her MO (method of operation): When the Wells family gets ready to leave for an overnight trip, Honey gets ready, too. But she isn't allowed to go with the family. So just as soon as they are gone, she strikes out for the Adams house, eight or nine blocks across town. Mrs. Adams says: "I always know when Patsy (Mrs. Wells) has gone on a trip, because Honey tells me. Then I only have to find out where." The cocker-spaniel is devoted to the Wells family, and they to her. But when they temporarily forsake her, she seeks her "foster" home.

Even the Adams' cat, Stinker, doesn't discourage Honey from visiting. In fact, Honey indulges Stinker and plays with her like no self-respecting dog really should. Oh, when Stinker first intruded on Honey's monopoly for the two families' affection, the dog was jealous and resentful.

However, the United Front won out, and when Stinker was getting the worst end of a bout with another dog one day, Honey came to her rescue, and they've been bosom buddies ever since. Mrs. Wells says Honey thrives on love, as most cocker-spaniels do. And she loves to romp with nine-year-old Charlotte and six-year-old Sandie.

Her favorite trick is retrieving a small red ball when the girls throw it for her.

"Cept the only thing," Charlotte explains, "we can't get it out of her mouth after she gets it for us."

Honey used to play with a teddy bear, but when she nipped off its nose one day, that was the end of that friendship.

Honey is the color of her name.

She is a roly-polly animal, about four years old. The Wells' received her from an aunt and uncle in Slaton when she was two months old. She was already named. Her mother's name was also Honey.

She has glistening wavy hair, but takes little pride in it for a female. For she despises baths. Sandie says she sleeps in the bathroom by the heater, "under the lavatory on daddy's old shirt."

Charlotte adds, "But we have a hard time getting her in there because she thinks she's going to get a bath."

One of Honey's idiosyncrasies is eating popcorn. In fact, she eats almost anything, Mrs. Wells says. She won't beg for food, but she will jump up for it when it's held before her.

"When the girls were smaller," Mrs. Wells chuckles, "Honey had a habit of waiting in their room each morning till they woke up. She wouldn't bother them until they began to rouse, but then, she'd jump up in bed and get between them under the covers. She wouldn't get on the side or end, just between. And she'd lie there as long as they did."

Loving pets comes naturally with Mrs. Wells. When she was a girl, she recalls always having a "string of cats around." But later on she became allergic to cats, and had to stop bringing them home.

Honey is the only pet the Wells girls have had; however, as far as they're concerned, one Honey-comb is enough!

MUSTANG TALE

BY GAYLE McANALLY

Whee! Did you all know that more dating was done during TWIRP week than had been done before the TWIRP week? (At least, that is the way it looks to me, and probably will look to you, after you see the names of people who were together this week.)

Several girls gave Bud Henderson a surprise going-away party at Lenora Wood's house Thursday night. The entire crowd

(some 49) gave Bud a coat. OHS will surely miss Bud who has moved back to Paducah.

Couples together on Thursday night were Jean Williams, Arno Hall; Gayle Machen, Darryl Dennis; Koenia Schenck, Freddie Gordon; Sue Witten, Harlan Carson; Lana Hair, Kenneth Prestridge; Butch Hulsey, Lois McAttee; Judith Chester, Elza Miller; Winfred Hair, Rhonda Robertson; Ronnie Fancher, Marilyn Young; Judy Moore and Kent Wozenchaft.

Lana Hair and Kenneth Prestridge are apparently going to make a couple. They were together Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights during TWIRP week, and Sunday afternoon. Then, they showed up at the ball game Tuesday night.

Lots of college kids have been home lately. Good to see them. Wednesday night daters included Sharron Dennis, Jerry Fancher; Doris Cruce, Jerry Moore; Janet Oak, James Ray Hyatt; Pat LaFrance, Jerry Meyer; Gayle Machen and Doug Smith.

Charla Granbery and Houston Hamby were together Monday night of this week.

Have been told that the March of Dimes party sponsored by the Student Council and the Girl Scouts was a success. Seems they sold all of their food. Hurray for all those who went and helped!

Here and there Friday night were Gayle Machen, Doug Smith; Judy Ogletree, Don Lawson; Pat LaFrance, Elmer Houston; Charla Granbery, Houston Hamby; Doniece Silcott, Sherrill Alexander; Prissy Bostick, Charlie Giles; Gayle McAnally and Ronnie Dennis.

Quite a few people were in town Sunday afternoon. The ones who didn't make it to Olton were in Plainview. Just a few of those in Plainview were Sue Witten, Harlan Carson; Jean Williams, Marion Green; Kay Gregory, Lewis Earl Calame, John Paul Jones, Darryl and Ronnie Dennis; Doni Silcott, Gayle Machen, Charla Granbery and Judy Ogletree.

TWIRPING (well, anyway, they were together, no matter what the method) Saturday night were Gayle Machen, Doug Smith; Sue Witten, Harlan Carson; Pat LaFrance, Dewey Hukill; Prissy Bostick, Ronnie Dennis; Jean Williams, Marion Green; Deeda Kemp, Lennon Young; Janet Oak, James Ray Hyatt; Maenette Dennis, Elmer Houston;

Sharron Dennis, Houston Hamby; Doris Cruce, Jerry Moore; Peggy Oursbourn, Freddie Davidson; Joyce Curtis, Harvey Garrison; Judy Ogletree, Don Lawson; Doniece Silcott, Sherrill Alexander; Jackie Pinson, Mary Scribner; Becky Hall, Wendell Scribner; Johnny Crawford, Bill Boverie; Walter Coventry, Marlene Powell; Lenora Woods and James Sheppard.

"Stags" Saturday night were Joyce Gray, Judy Laceywell and Janice Campbell; Carl Nafzger, Lonnie Thomas and Joe Miller (Why didn't those trios get together?); John Paul Jones, Darryl Dennis; Hayden Hankins, I. A. Webb; Jack LaFrance, Wayne

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Griswold, Ia.
Jan. 27, 1958

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Have been wanting to write to you for some time now, to tell you how much we enjoy your paper. It was first sent to us as a birthday gift from Mr. and Mrs. Paul McFadden of Olton, and it didn't take very many issues till we began to recognize names from down there, and now you all seem like old friends.

We would like to compliment you on the pictures you now have in the paper. It really adds to our enjoyment to be able to see who we are reading about. We certainly enjoy your special features now on folks and their pets. Our family numbers one daughter, Mary Ruth, 14, and one Cocker Spaniel, Taffy, so you see we read pretty thoroughly about Dr. Ben and his dog, Honey. You could very well have been describing our Taffy except for color.

My husband has been enjoying the Spanish column. By brushing up on his high school Spanish, he furnishes me with all the extra news that otherwise I was unable to decipher. And would you believe it, I am beginning to recognize some of the words myself.

I will have to tease you a little bit, though. We always get a chuckle out of the fact that our paper comes to Griswold, Iowa! Up north here, we pronounce it with a short "a" on the end, and down south, a southern accent brings out the last syllable and you say "Ioway." But please don't change it, or you will spoil all our fun, because every Monday we look to see if it is still there, and we think we can just hear you saying it that way.

One more thing and I must close. You really do have good delivery service on your papers. One Monday, not too long ago, our paper came in our box—minus the wrapper, and label and address, but somewhere along the line somebody knew Allen, Don Hardy and Jerry Fancher.

Does anybody happen to know what "pulling a blake" is? I'll let you know next week as it is rather funny. (Something different, anyway.)

David Cole went with Myrna Sue Bingham of Kress Saturday night.

Home with Doug Smith this past week-end was Don Lawson of Lockett. He went with Judy Ogletree two or three times during his stay.

Nelda Green and Elton O'Neal were together Sunday afternoon.

Nancy Brown had a slumber party Friday night. "Slumbering(?)" were Lana Hair, Judith Chester, Rhonda Robertson, Koenia Schenck, and Nancy.

EXPLAINING a physics problem to his physics class is just one of the things that Mr. Harry Ford does daily.

Harry Ford Begins Second Decade In Teaching Career

BY GAYLE McANALLY—Enterprise Staff Writer

A teaching career which has lasted some 21 years all started with a lot of bull.

Harry Ford's father gave him a bull to sell so that he could start his college career. Harry sold the bull and then enrolled at Camaron Agriculture College in Lawton, Okla.

Mr. Ford says that the bull started him to school after he had been unable to go for two or three years, and then he married a wife to see him the rest of the way through. (Mrs. Ford had already received her degree and had started teaching.)

He graduated from Hext Consolidated School near Erick, Okla. While in high school he was a member of the basketball and baseball teams four years. He was captain of the basketball team two years and his ambition was to play college basketball, but this just didn't work out for the lanky man from Oklahoma.

Since graduating from Southwestern Institute of Technology in Weatherford, Okla. with his BS in science, math, history and social science, he has taught at Iowa, Coyote and Spring Creek. All of these were rural Oklahoma schools. He was principal at the first two schools and superintendent at the third school.

While at Iowa, he started the first basketball team which had ever been organized at the school. The team advanced to the finals in the county tournament in its first year of existence.

After leaving Spring Creek, Mr. Ford went to Greenville, NM, where he was high school principal, math teacher and coach. Finishing this assignment, he transferred back to Oklahoma, teaching in Dill City.

In 1944 he left Dill City and went to Crawford, Colo. to be the math teacher, coach and superintendent there. In 1948 he and his family moved to Canyon, Tex., where he operated a filling station. While there, he took a correspondence course in electronics, from Louisville, Ky. To graduate, he spent a month in Louisville in the laboratories of the school, United Electronics School.

After three years in Canyon, the Fords moved to Olton. Mr. Ford is now teaching both Algebra I and II in the Olton High School system. He also teaches physics, but says he definitely won't make a rocket.

His hobby is electronics and he has built a television set which is now in use in the Ford home northeast of Olton.

Along with his wife, Mr. Ford is sponsor of the sophomore class. He is also co-sponsor of the newly organized Science Club and the Student Council.

Mr. Ford had two brothers and three sisters. His brother, Leroy, is a teacher at Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth. He will obtain his doctor's degree in religious education this summer. Sister Etta taught for about 15 years but is now a housewife in Sayre, Okla.

Lucille was a nurse for a few years but is now a doctor's secretary, and Rosa is a housewife in Austin, Colo. Harry's brother, Marion, is now living on the family home place near Erick, Okla.

Harry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ford are living in Erick, Okla. Mr. (W. C.) Ford makes violins and puts chairs in bottles. Harry is the possessor of a violin which his father made from a school desk. He proudly will tell you that he wouldn't take $1,000 or more for it. Although Harry doesn't play this instrument, he keeps it in easy reach and can easily be persuaded to show it.

When asked if his father had ever taught school Harry said, "No, but he has taught me lots of things!"

Mr. Ford's wife is also a teacher in OHS and they have two daughters, Ann and Janice, who are both students in Howard Payne College, Brownwood.

W. B. Hucks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Loftis left Sunday morning for El Paso to visit her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chamberlain and to attend the fat stock show.

There were 162 present for Sunday School and 91 present for Training Union at the Baptist church Sunday. Baptismal services were held Sunday night for LaCretia Washington, Danny Byers and W. O. Watson. Tom Parish of Wayland College had led the church in a week-end revival.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

J. A. Hudgens underwent surgery at a Milford, Kan. hospital January 27. Mrs. Hudgens and Mrs. Homer Curry accompanied him to Milford, and his condition was satisfactory at last report. Mrs. Curry returned to Olton Wednesday.

... About our trip to the Texas Press Association convention in Austin—

The Governor's Mansion is just perfect.

For the ARCHIVES. Impressive, it is. But liveable, it is not.

Of course, you've seen pictures of it. It is an imposing colonial building, surrounded by lovely landscaping enclosed in a high steel fence, which does not obstruct the view. Just what you'd expect a governor's mansion to look like from the outside.

And inside, too, I suppose. We were ushered in the back way because, as Governor Price Daniel, explained to us earlier in the day, remodeling was underway and passage through the front was impossible. However, the back door wasn't an ordinary back door. It could have done very well as the front anyhow.

The house is a two-story affair. Downstairs, there are three rooms on either side, divided by the wide hallway. On one side were two dining rooms and a sitting room. These were furnished in heavy, mahogany period furniture.

On the other side were two more parlors, or sitting rooms, or receiving rooms, and the kitchen. These rooms are almost square in shape, and maybe even cubicle, for the ceilings MUST be 18 or 20 feet high.

The woodwork and door facings are ornately carved. There was a gold room, a scarlet room, a green room, a white one, and so on. Draperies are YEARS old. I'm sure, and very elaborate and magnificent. The carpeting seemed very old, but still very thick.

The kitchen is not at all a family kitchen. Rather it looks like the culinary headquarters for a restaurant. Which is just about what it has to be, I'm sure, for all the official entertaining demanded of the governor and wife. It is however, the only part of the house I saw which looked adaptable to living in the atomic age.

In the hallway is the inevitable circular staircase. It was undergoing remodeling, too. The little privacy the First Family has was protected from our scrutiny upstairs by louvered doors and paneling across the hallway.

However, we were admitted to one room on second floor. It was much larger than any downstairs, and was evidently the governor's study. To call it a den would be facetious. It was done in scarlet. There were a desk and a few other "workaday" apertures, numerous couches and chairs, all dominated by the huge George Washington bed, with thick posters and scarlet brocade canopy.

There was a small dressing table in a little side room, adjoining a cold, out-dated bathroom.

I saw no closets in any room. I perceived no provisions for heating or cooling the house.

I couldn't imagine finding comfort in ANY of the provincial chairs or couches, many as there were.

I found no television set or radio.

There were pictures about of various past governors and other state officials.

In short, the governor's mansion is a spectacle breathing history and tradition of the Lone Star State. Its value is inestimable. It is as colorful inside as the rainbow.

But as for me and my family, give us our small, low-ceilinged, modestly-furnished frame house; where we can turn on the heat in winter, or flip on the cooler in the summer; where we can find snacks in the refrigerator within a few feet of the TV at any hour; and where we can pull the curtains and lock the doors to bask in the warmth and privacy of our own family.

We'll take the simple life!

Actually, it was, of course, a thrilling experience to be guests of Governor and Mrs. Daniel. We felt a bit ghoulish imposing on them at the particular time, for the governor was burning with 102 and 3/5 temperature from the flu. But he was very cordial, and Mrs. Daniel, quite delicately beautiful and VERY young-looking, is a model First Lady.

And as far as we know, we didn't pull any boo-boos. If we did, then so did everyone else there, because we were all gawking and gaping alike.

But then, I believe that's what we were supposed to do.

SPEAKER

DR. J. CHESS LOVERN, pastor of Lubbock First Methodist Church, was principal speaker at the Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture Banquet held Thursday night of last week. At Dr. Lovern's right is Noel Johnson, Olton school superintendent, who introduced the speaker. At the speaker's left is Joe Wood, manager of the Chamber.

Bushland, Tex., Man Reports—

"I Cut 2,190 Tons of Ensilage From 104 Acres of Maize"

Leo Bezner, Bushland, Tex., says: "I put down 80 pounds of Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia pre-plant on 104 acres of irrigated maize land. I cut 2,190 tons of ensilage, or slightly more than 21 tons per acre. I use Phillips 66 Ammonia to help increase yields on all my cash crops."

Other Southwestern farmers have discovered that the 82% nitrogen in top quality Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia helps them to get more profit per acre, through higher yields and lower production costs.

They have found that, by using Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia, they get more cotton that grades out higher at the gin; yields of sorghum grain and ensilage are increased; more marketable vegetables are harvested, and profits on wheat are increased through better forage, and higher yields of grain.

heard her reply, "I'm Mrs. Will Wilson. Sit down and talk to me."

I hadn't expected that. Just thought she was another "newspaper people." So I gulped, took a deep breath, and did. And felt real good about it after all.

She and her husband, incidentally, conveyed best wishes to Andy Stroebel and his new son. Andy was a student of Mr. Wilson's at Baylor.

Other greetings were sent to the G. M. Comstocks from some folks they had worked with at Levelland, the Don Bryants.

And Sen. Andy Rogers sent his best wishes to the whole lot of us up here.

I was greatly consoled by one unusual observation throughout the convention. It was that a good many of the other women there had big feet. I believe it must be characteristic of many newspaper women. And I'm so glad. Because misery loves company, you know.

Finally, Troy and I both were impressed with the difference in thinking of east Texans and west Texans. There, where they are geographically close to the Capital and state activities, folks center their lives around politics.

Out here, we are so far away that it's almost as if we are without a capital of our own. National politics are almost as close to us as state politics.

It was quite illuminating and stimulating.
