Raiders Take Heavy Smash At Halmahera

(By The Associated Press)

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, Southwest Pacific, Sunday, Aug. 13 — Forty-one Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged in another vicious American attack on Halmahera island, southern guardian of the Philippines, headquarters announced today.

This fourth large-scale attack on the important island resulted in the heaviest aircraft bag yet at Halmahera, brought under comprehensive attack in late July.

Night patrols bombed the waterfront at Davao on Mindanao island, in the Philippines, during the night of August 10-11. The first raids on the Philippines since April, 1942, were made in three successive night attacks on Davao airdromes, ending two days earlier.

Four Freighters Sunk

During the raid on Halmahera and attacks on Vogelkop peninsula, Dutch New Guinea, Friday, four 1,000-ton freighters were sunk, a 3,000-ton freighter severely damaged and coastal shipping was hit.

A week's bombing has cost the Japanese ten freighters sunk and 11 freighters and 11 coastal vessels damaged. A total of 20 ships have been sunk thus far in August.

Liberators smashed the important Galela airdrome Thursday, destroying or damaging at least 31 parked planes.

Mitchell mediums the next day sank 10 seaplanes at their moorings in Wasile Bay, at the northern part of Halmahera. The Mitchells also sank a 1,000-ton freighter, seriously damaged the heavier freighter-transport and five coastal vessels and 28 barges.

Munitions Dump Wrecked

Night patrols bombed the Miti airdrome and blew up a nearby ammunition dump.

In what the communique called "final mopping up operations" in the Aitape area of British New Guinea, an additional 1,057 Japanese killed were reported. Nipponese dead now total 8,064 since the trapped 18th Imperial Army attempted to break Allied encirclement July 12.

Romania Forms Peace Regime

ISTANBUL, Aug. 11. (Delayed) (AP)—Romanian political leaders under peasant party chief Juliu Manui have formed a provisional peace government, according to information obtained today from a source in close contact with Bucharest.

The peace movement was declared solidifying with the full knowledge of Premier Marshal Ion Antonescu, who was represented as powerless to interfere. The British radio broadcast last night an unconfirmed Bern report that Antonescu had resigned.

The political chieftains, meeting regularly in Bucharest, are in contact with former Romanian ministers to Moscow and Berlin who are slated for posts in the surrender government, said this source, who cannot be identified by name. Four parties were reported represented.

Trying To Reach Plan

The party leaders are "trying to arrive now at a form of succession to the present government," the cource said. His information was that Antonescu would be asked to step down into the position of Army chief of staff.

The aim of the party leaders was said to be a program acceptance to all major parties in Romania for an armistice and peace with Russia, Britain and the United States. This has been virtually accomplished, it was asserted.

The peace group, according to this report, is ready to sacrifice Bessarabia to the Russians in return for peace.

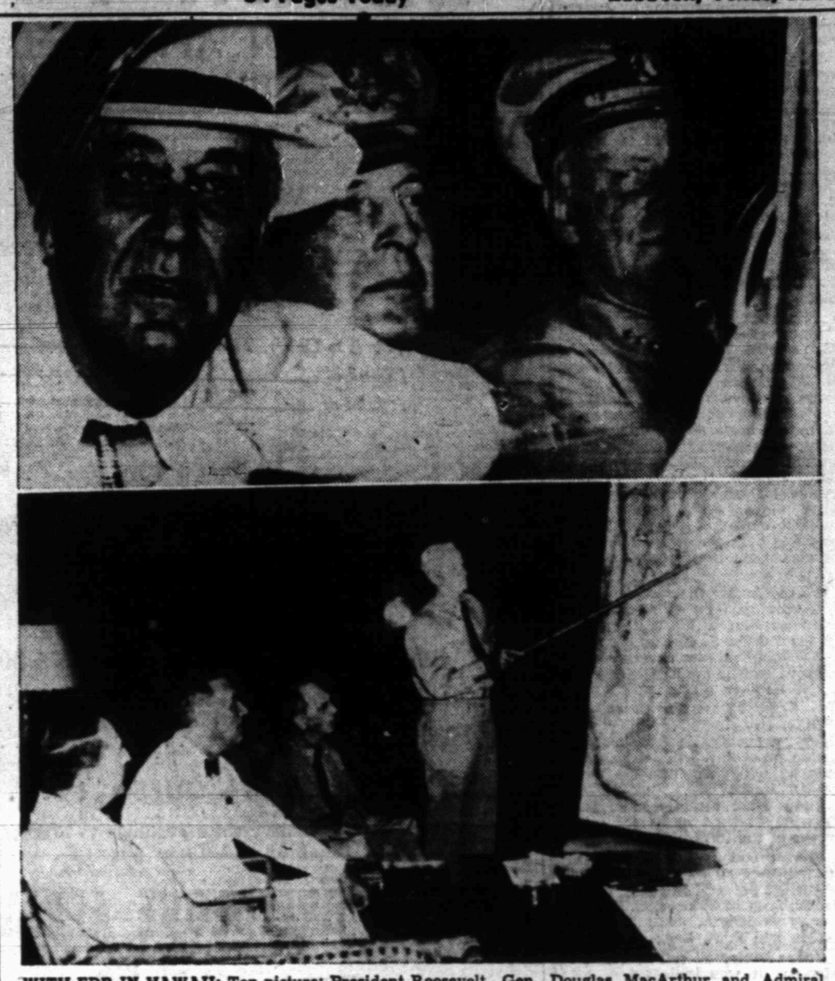

This cource declared also that the Germans are definitely withdrawing their air forces from the Bucharest and Polesti areas, and have moved four divisions to the Warsaw front from Iasi.

New High Oil Demands Met

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP) — Texas will continue to throw her oil resources into the effort to win the war, even at some sacrifice of efficient production, Chairman Beauford Jester of the railroad commission said today in response to a plea for a new high in petroleum output.

"We are in war. Texas oil has gone to war. Texas oil will help to win the war, even if this means some slight sacrifice in efficient production," Jester said in comment on the request of the Petroleum Administration for War for daily production of 2,303,000 barrels of all petroleum liquids."

2,168,000 Of Crude

This included 2,163,000 barrels daily of crude oil. The demand for 484,000 barrels daily of sour crude from West Texas remains unchanged, with all the 64,000 barrel increase sought in the sweet crude classification.

This increase will not be taken from the East Texas field. Jester noted that he was pleased that the PAW had acceded to the commission's suggestion that it not "indicate the fields that should produce the requested amount of oil from Texas in September."

"Had the certification for September followed the wording of last month's and requested this 64,000 barrels of sweet crude increase 'tributary to the big inch pipeline at Longview' we would have had to ignore this suggestion or request," Jester's statement continued.

No More For East Texas

He said that the 35,000 barrel increase for August was absorbed by the East Texas field, indicating that it could absorb no more but would have to continue the present rate of production. His statement went on:

"Anticipating that September would see an all-time high request for Texas sweet crude to meet the increased tempo for the

ARRIVE IN ITALY

FDR Reports On Trip In Pacific

By HOWARD FLIEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

BREMERTON, Wash., Aug. 12. President Roosevelt came home from a 15-day inspection of the Pacific war zone tonight to declare the United Nations must prepare permanent defenses against any future aggressions by the Japanese.

"The word and the honor of Japan cannot be trusted," he declared.

The President came into dock at this huge Navy yard about 4 p. m. (Pacific war time), ending a war tour that began when he left the Marine base at San Diego, Calif. on July 21—a day after his fourth-term nomination by the Democrats.

During his absence he visited Pearl Harbor, where he conferred with the war chiefs of the Pacific, and inspected military bases in the Aleutians.

Played Hookey Once

He brought a laugh when he said he played hookey near Juneau, Alaska, long enough to sneak in three hours of fishing. The result: one halibut and one flounder.

Permanent Pacific defenses must be obtained, Mr. Roosevelt said, to protect this hemisphere from Alaska to Chile. It is important, he added, that we have permanent bases nearer to Japan.

"We have no desire to ask for any possessions of the United Nations," he said, "but the United Nations who are working so well with us in the winning of the war will, I am confident, be glad to join with us in protection against aggression and in machinery to prevent aggression.

"With them and with their help, I am sure that we can agree completely so that Central and South America will be as safe against attack from the South Pacific as North America is going to be from the North Pacific itself."

Long Jap Distrust

As for Japan, the president said: "It is an unfortunate fact that years of proof must pass before we can trust Japan and before we can classify Japan as a member of the society of nations which seek permanent peace and whose word we can take."

The president said that during his absence—he left Washington July, 13—he kept in close touch

Stricken Art Center Given Up By Nazis

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Aug. 12.—The Germans have pulled out of Florence, releasing Italy's most beautiful city from a vise in which it had been clutched for a week as contending armies stood on opposite banks of the Arno river, which runs through it.

A German withdrawal made under cover of darkness permitted officers of the Allied Military government to enter the main part of the city north of the Arno today to assist the stricken population. There were no official reports that the Eighth Army had yet crossed the stream.

Some Machinegun Fire

In the modern suburbs on the eastern extremity of the city, where wide streets separate apartment houses, there was machine-gun fire from German parachute troops stationed on roofs.

Neither Army shelled Florence, and only its rail yards and installations in the immediate vicinity were bombed.

First reports from officers crossing the Arno indicated the situation of the population was even worse than had been believed.

Food, water and medical supplies were short, and the entire male population—except for Fascist combatants—had been confined to their homes by the Germans.

Treasures Largely Intact

While it was too early to fully assess Florence's priceless art treasures and monuments, they apparently were virtually intact except for the bridges across the Arno. There was known to have been some looting.

Action along the Arno west of Florence, where the Eighth Army is bringing up its forces to attempt a crossing, was confined largely to patrols.

On the Adriatic front, the Germans have withdrawn across the Cesano river from Monte Porzio to the coast, a distance of more than seven miles, and the Poles threw a bridgehead across the stream two miles from the sea.

A German prisoner, reporting on the tenacious fighting in Italy, said officers were advising the troops they must fight to the death against the Eighth Army Indian forces because the Indians kill all prisoners.

Rain closed down on the Fifth Army sector at the opposite end of the front, and there was only patrol action and scattered artillery and small arms fire.

Bomb Loads On Axis Up Sharply

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—United States Army bombers will need more than 700,00 tons of high explosives during the rest of this year, beside the 472,054 tons dropped on German and Japanese targets since last January 1.

Announcing this today, the War department said the Army Air forces dropped twice as many bombs during the first half of this year as in the entire period from Dec. 7, 1941, day of the Japanese Pearl Harbor attack, to December 31, 1943. From the time this country entered the war until last July 1, the high explosive bomb tonnage totaled 677,012.

In the European theater alone, there was a 500-per cent increase in the bomb tonnage between January and June this year, a total of 405,212 tons going down on continental targets in that time. Explaining the drastic upward revision in bomb requirements during the last few months, Brig. Gen. R. C. Coupland, air ordnance officer, said:

"We have met less fighter opposition than we originally expected, and our attacks on the German aircraft industry have been highly successful. Our losses have been lighter, and, owing to improved sighting devices, we have been able to bomb successfully under a wider range of weather conditions and hence have been able to go on more missions."

In the Pacific, he added, a "unique situation" developed with the rapid advances and resulting acquisition of additional air bases. This meant that more high explosive bombs were required in that theater.

County's 1944 Crop Income: $13,500,000

Five Basic Yields Will Be Slightly Under '43 Mark

By WALTER SWITZER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

INCOME of Lubbock county farmers from five basic money crops will probably be less this year than last, according to averages of conservative estimates obtained from various authoritative sources.

It is estimated that the income from the five crops—cotton, grain sorghums, potatoes, sudan grass and wheat—will be slightly more than $13,500,000 as compared with more than $15,000,000 in 1943. Figures were not available on last year's income to farmers in the county on sudan grass, but the four other crops grossed approximately $14,966,000.

The estimated $13,617,300 income from these five crops in 1944 would mean an average of $5,257.64 to each of the 2,590 farms in the county, or an average return of $31.52 from each of the 432,000 acres planted.

The cotton picture in the county does not look so promising as it did two weeks ago when it was estimated the yield would exceed 100,000 bales. Observers point out that in some sections of the county the leaves of the plants are beginning to wilt and blooms are being thrown off, due to extreme heat since July 27.

Most estimates place the 1944 yield at slightly less than that of

Cornered Nazis Turn Viciously In France

Reds Pour Through Break Near Prussia

By TOM YARBROUGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sunday, Aug. 12—Gen. G. F. Zakharov's Second White Russian Army yesterday smashed six miles through strong German fortifications northeast of Warsaw, and reached the Biebrza river marshes, last big obstacle separating the Russians from the famous first World war battleground of the Masurian lakes inside German East Prussia.

In the north, three other powerful Soviet Armies tightened their trap on possibly 300,000 German troops pinned against the Baltic Sea, and one of these Red armies suddenly lashed out westward toward Liepaja, west Latvian port, and toward Memel, German seaport at the northern tip of German East Prussia.

610 Towns Captured

A Moscow communique announced the capture of 610 towns and villages, more than half of them by the adjoining armies of General Zakharov and Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's First White Russian troops.

The latter Army was within four miles of the Warsaw-Bialystok railway on a broad front between the besieged Polish capital and beyond the Bug river as the Russians wheeled toward East Prussia.

Zakharov's troops captured Klewyanka, only 18 miles from the East Prussian border. Other troops fighting along the Augustow canal farther north are within 11 miles of the frontier.

West of Bialystok other units under Zakharov rolled to within 20 miles east of Lomza.

Another Area Menaced

Rokossovsky's troops, spread out over a broad front between the Bug river and Warsaw, also were threatening to collapse the last big German defenses before the southern border of East Prussia. Dabrowica, 16 miles northeast of Warsaw, and less than four miles from the Warsaw-Bialystok railway, fell to the Soviet forces in this big wheeling movement.

Berlin broadcasts said the German situation west of the Vistula river, 100 miles south of Warsaw where the Russians have established a great bridgehead pointed toward German Silesia 75 miles beyond, "still was grave." Moscow's bulletin did not mention any gains in that vital sector but said Soviet troops successfully repulsed German counterattacks by large infantry and tank forces.

Furious Nazi Resistance

The Germans, threatened with a splitting of their front between Warsaw and Krakow in southern Poland, were putting up a furious fight on the sun-baked plains, realizing that a Soviet breakthrough here would find the Russians soon spilling into Germany itself. The intensity of the fighting on all fronts was indicated by Moscow's announcement that 71 German tanks had been wrecked during Friday.

In southern Estonia, Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic Army rolled on westward beyond Petseri, important rail junction which fell under the impact of his resumed offensive Friday. His troops curving around Lake Pskov took Muluzva in a three-mile advance along the lake, and the units striking due westward captured Tabina, 11 miles beyond Peiserl and only 105 miles from the Gulf of Riga.

Gen. Andrei Ygremenko's Second Baltic Army, sweeping toward the Gulf of Riga from the southeast, captured more than 50 places, including Gaudzese, only 50 miles from Riga, Latvian capital.

Destruction Of Paris By Nazis Is Feared

LONDON, Aug. 12. (AP) — Fear that the Germans will attempt to destroy Paris before retreating, in retaliation for the bombing of Berlin, was expressed today by a French official.

He also disclosed that Gen. Charles de Gaulle's French Committee of National Liberation will delay establishing an administration in France until it can "go back home" to the capital. The original plan was to set up shop in the first big city liberated. He said the speed of the Allied advance and a belief that Paris might be freed within a few weeks caused the change.

This official observed gloomily that the Germans would be determined to extract all possible vengeance "because they would not be likely to leave intact the capital of a country they consider conquered while their own Berlin is in ruins."

JAPAN ALERTS FACTORIES

Major Action In South Indicated

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Aug. 12. — Allied air might was thrown against the southern approaches to Hitler's crumbling European fortress today for the second time within 24 hours, with 750 heavy bombers scouring German military defenses along the southern coast of France.

There was a feeling among the public that momentous developments in the Mediterranean were impending as high American military figures arrived to join Prime Minister Churchill, who already is in Rome. The arrival of Churchill alone was interpreted by Popolo, organ of the Christian Democrat party, as a sign of the importance of the Italian theater of war "may assume in the near future."

Patterson And Somervell

It was announced that Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, and Lt. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commander of U. S. Army Service forces, had arrived to inspect military installations in the Mediterranean theater.

Allied concentration on such enemy coastal targets as pill boxes, radio stations and gun emplacements along the French coast and the Italian Riviera coincided with a plastering of the southern French transportation nerve center of Toulouse by U. S. bombers shuttling from Russian bases via Italy on the way home to Britain.

Yesterday's big attack along the coast by tactical units struck a section of France whose communications with the Rhone valley already were badly damaged by repeated air raids.

Southern France Lashed

For the first time, medium Mitchel and Marauder bombers, Thunderbolts and RAF Spitfires blazed away over a long stretch of southern France and for 40 miles of the neighboring Italian Riviera, singling out targets of German defenses.

The American Fortresses, homebound from Italian bases after shuttling from Britain to Russia, struck an air field five miles southwest of Toulouse, London advices said.

Today's raid by heavy bombers also spread out to coastal defenses of northwest Italy.

Mystery Shrouds Mighty Lunges By Allied Columns

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sunday, Aug. 13. — The Allies, with official mystery cloaking the American swing around the left flank of the half-encircled German Seventh Army in northwestern France, pounded forward slowly at five points in the bulge between Mortain and Saen yesterday and American armor pushed toward southern France well below the Loire to the potentous accompaniment of bomb bursts on the Mediterranean coast.

One German salient six mile wide and four miles deep was rubbed out by coordinated British-Canadian drives below Caen.

Nazis Turn Viciously

The Germans, reversing their previous withdrawal tactics, hurled all available reinforcements into the Normandy bulge which American, British and Canadian troops were battering from the three sides.

The vast regions of France below the broad Loire river already had been penetrated by American ground forces which stabbed more than 10 miles southward after liberating Nantes.

But lack of news concerning that front and on activity beyond Le Mans on the Paris road — a place which the Americans had passed four days previously—reached the proportions of a complete blackout. Dispatches from the front were heavily censored, and at the late night headquarters press conference there was no word of developments.

Germans Befuddled

The speed, extent and objectives of the American drives so befuddled the Germans that the Allies rigidly continued the four-day clamp-down on word of progress, announcing, "the situation must remain obscure purely for security reasons."

It asked public patience "because on secrecy depends the success of the Allied plan and the lives of American, British, Canadian and other Allied soldiers."

On the remainder of the active front, the British driving four miles east of Thury-Harcourt, reached Fresney-Le-Vieupx and linked up with Canadians who pushed down from Bretteville-Sur-Laize. This gave the British control of the Caen-Thury highway.

The Canadians took the road junction town of Barbery and advanced a mile and a half southward to Bois Halbout.

These drives eliminated the

The dead were Joe Rider, 47, superintendent of the Wabash Valley Co., a farm-coperative gasoline storage plant, William Scott and Logan Tharp, workmen of Kingston mines, near Peoria, Ill., and the following members of Rider's family:

Another of Rider's children was playing on a levee surrounding the storage tank but escaped injury. His wife and another daughter were visiting in St. Louis.

Rider said shortly before he died that he was on top of the tank repairing a leak and the other two workmen were inside a fence surrounding the tank when he saw a ball of fire leap from his nearby home to the tank.

"Everything was enveloped in flames in a matter of seconds," he said.

Ominous Developments For Axis At Home And Front Mark Week

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Ominous developments for Germany and Japan alike marked the mid-August week-end not only on the battle fronts in Europe and across the Pacific, but deep behind the fighting lines where bitter medicine in ever-increasing doses is being Russian and Allied - brewed for the foe.

SIMPSON

The day when Germany and Japan alike will be stripped of their territorial loot, and will be besieged within their lairs is no longer distant.

Ballooning attacks

That was sufficiently clear on the war maps as they stood this week-end. It showed up in the still ballooning Allied drive in France that has doubled, redoubled and redoubled again the pressure on Germany from the west.

It was to be read into Allied reports from Italy that told of the Germans withdrawing all their forces from Florence.

There were hints of impending French-Allied action along the south coast of France to worry the harassed Nazi foe. There were growing intimations, too, that Allied power might be preparing to capitalize on Turkey's break with Germany, to strike into the Balkan peninsula.

Commanders Move Up

Both high Allied commanders in Europe have shifted their headquarters to the continent. General Eisenhower has left Britain to set up his supreme command post in France. General Wilson has closed out in Algiers and moved to Italy.

Against the background of this ever-darkening war picture for her Nazi accomplice in Europe, Japan must read the portents of the Pacific war council at Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt - attended and just disclosed. It verified the Churchill announcement thatt he war against Japan no longer need wait upon the war against Germany for the men and materiel to drive it at full speed to a victorious conclusion.

Speed Of Fighter Keeps Sudan Flier From Being POW

ABOARD CARRIER FLAGSHIP, Central Pacific (Delayed)—(U.P.)—If Lt. (jg) Ellis Boyles of Sudan, Tex., hadn't been going so fast over Saipan that the hatch of his fighter plane jammed, he might have had the unfortunate experience of becoming a prisoner of the Japs while they still held that base.

"We dropped bombs on Ushi point airfield," Boyles related, "then went back on a strafing run. On the way down, I picked up a heavy AA slug and started burning. The fire and smoke in the cockpit made me panicky. I tried to bail out directlty over the field, but due to the excessive speed of the plane the hatch jammed.

"I finally slowed down and got the hatch open. I was all set to jump but the intensity of the fire and smoke decreased as soon as air poured into the cockpit. I decided to stay with the plane. The fire finally went out and I managed to get away from the island. I spotted a destroyer some distance from Saipan and landed beside her. They picked me up within a few minutes."

Boyles, 22, has been on more than 15 combat missions in the Pacific and recently was awarded the air medal. He attended Texas Tech before entering the Navy.

Largest early immigration to this country was the Irish, who were driven from their homes by potato crop failures.

Parents Of Sgt. Walter R. Anderson Wonder If He Had Double Meaning In His Request

ANDERSON

Parents of Sgt. Walter R. (Dub) Anderson, 24, a prisoner of the Japanese, wondered if there were hidden meaning in a card they received this week from their son.

"Send soap, candy, pictures and vitamins A, B, C and D," the card, addressed to Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Anderson of 1418 Avenue D, asked.

"Would he by any chance be asking that the ABCD powers—American, British, Chinese and Dutch—hurry it up a bit?" they asked reporters. "He goes on immediately after the reference to say: 'Hope to see you soon.'"

Third Card Received

The card, the third his parents have received since the son was captured when the "Lost Battalion" was overrun by the Japs in Java, said Sgt. Anderson was "well and working every day," that he had "never heard from home," and that everyone "please write."

The communication was mailed from Fukuoka, Japan. The soldier's wife lives in Wichita Falls. He has four sisters and four brothers, all living here except for a sister in North Carolina.

New Trial Sought For Jap-American Sisters

DENVER, Aug. 12. (U.P.) — The defense attorney for three American born Japanese sisters convicted by a federal court jury of conspiracy to commit treason in connection with the escape of two German prisoners of war from a Colorado interment camp prepared today to seek a new trial.

Kenneth Robinson, court-appointed attorney for the women, announced his decision after a jury found them guilty yesterday.

Robinson said he probably would file the motion for a new trial within a few days. He added that he will base his plea on the theory that if the women are innocent of treason, then they also are innocent on the charge of conspiracy to commit treason.

The sisters were tried on the two counts, treason and conspiracy to commit treason. The jury returned a guilty verdict on the conspiracy charge only.

Death Of Witt Is Ruled Suicide

RALLS, Aug. 12. (Special) — Justice of Peace J. C. Byerley today returned a formal verdict of "self-destruction" in the case of Gilbert Fredrick Witt, 39, a teacher whose body was found on the Post road near Ralls Wednesday afternoon.

One shot from a .22 caliber rifle had been fired into his throat, and the bullet had ranged into the head.

Mexican Released

Byerley said that after the verdict, Sheriff Roy E. Hillin of Crosbyton had released from custody Santos Serrano, 23, of Sinton, who was hitchhiking a ride with Witt and witnessed the suicide. The Mexican had been held as a witness, after his arrest 10 miles from the suicide scene. Officials had said after his "straighforward story" there was slight likelihood of any charges against him.

Byerley announced that Witt's body, accompanied by Mrs. Mary L. Witt, the widow, was en route to Rippon, Wis., for last services and burial. Will Marr, former Ralls mayor, was named temporary administrator of Witt's community estate, to facilitate giving of financial aid to the fundless widow until the courts can name a permanent administrator, else name her administratrix.

Was Hunting Position

Mrs. Witt informed officials Witt had taught school two years at Mission and had been employed in a similar capacity by a South Dakota Indian reservation. He was searching for a school-teaching position when he left her recently, she said, but "for several months had displayed disturbing peculiarities."

He had five children, three of them born cripples, by a first marriage, none by the present Mrs. Witt, she said.

District Court To Open Monday

August term of 72nd district court, to be terminated after six months, will be convened at 10 o'clock Monday morning by Judge Dan Blair, to whom a grand jury panel will report.

Two murder charges will be investigated by the grand jury, panel for which is: Henry Mahoney of Shallowater; R. B. Speer and W. R. Tanner, both of or near Idalou; G. H. Campbell of Wolfforth; Grover C. Gillett of Lubbock route 2; E. J. Parsons, Charles R. Bacon, Bryan R. Shaw, C. H. Hamilton and N. S. Walton, all of Lubbock; M. T. Darden of near Lorenzo; Joe Walker, Judge C. Smith, sr., L. A. Harral, all of Slaton, and J. A. Russell and V. E. Railsback, both of near Slaton.

Lubbock Farmer Accused

One accuses John Carpenter, 43, Lubbock farmer, of the death of Hubert Green, 42, of Portales, N. M. Green died Aug. 4 in a hospital here, a day after gunshots broke out at 1510 Avenue B, near a horse and mule auction barn. Witnesses said the two men quarreled the late morning of Aug. 3, near the scene of the eventual shooting; that they met after lunch, shook hands, then without much conversation began scuffling over the weapon alleged to have been carried by Carpenter.

No motive for the shooting ever was developed by witnesses who were questioned by District Attorney Burton S. Burks.

The other murder charge names a negro who is accused of having killed another black.

Several Desertion Cases

Otherwise, the grand jury will have "probably a light investigation docket, sprinkled noticeably by wife and child desertion cases," Burks said.

Judge Blair recently supervised drawing of petit juries for eight weeks of the term.

The grand jury panel was named June 30 by commissioners Vernice Ford of Lubbock; W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, G. L. Farrar of Wolfforth, John Toler of Idalou and E. R. Legg of Slaton.

Judge Blair will call all dockets Monday, it was indicated.

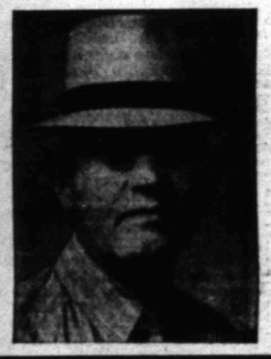

Next term of 99th district court, over which Judge J. E. Vickers presides, will be Sept. 4. He will have no grand jury.

Gain In Cotton Prices, Strength In Hog Feature Farmers' Markets

DALLAS, Aug. 12. (U.P.)—(WFA)—Markets for southwestern farm products were featured during the past week by advancing cotton quotations and strength in hogs, while most other commodities were weak to lower, according to the War Food administration.

Cotton moved steadily upward as details of this year's loan program were announced. Crop conditions generally continued favorable, although some shedding has been reported in Texas and Oklahoma. The first bale of the season was ginned in North Texas.

Wheat prices continued to decline, but losses were smaller in the Southwest than at markets farther north. Movement is still limited by transportation and storage difficulties. Sorghums held steady throughout the week with only small amounts marketed so far. Hay prices also were steady. Harvesting and dehydration of alfalfa made good progress over most of the region. Prairie hay producing sections reported satisfactory progress too.

Cattle Marketing Increases

Marketings of cattle and calves continued to increase, and total receipts went well above those of the comparable week last year. As a result, prices moved into lower brackets, with most markets reporting the sharpest break of the season on grass cattle. Very few high grade grain fed offerings were available, and only moderate numbers of steers of any sort. Arrivals at the principal southwestern terminals included a large proportion of cows and calves and some stockers and feeders.

Receipts of hogs continued to decrease, and prices held fully steady, with additional small gains on grades and weights that were not already at the ceiling.

Sheep, Lambs Turn Down

Sheep and lambs turned downward in spite of sellers' efforts to hold values up. Wool met a slow demand, both in Texas and in Boston. Original-bag, average staple, fine Texas wool, shrinking 65 percent, brought 30 1-4 cents, and short fine wool, with 74 per cent shrinkage, was quoted at 29.64 cents.

Fruits and vegetables continued to move in moderate volume from most southwestern states. Prices generally were unchanged to slightly lower. Shipments from the northern half of the belt are increasing, especially from Colorado. Oklahoma took the lead in watermelon shipments. Arkansas continued to ship peaches, but in smaller volume than during the previous week.

Produce Unchanged

No material change occurred in butterfat or poultry markets. Eggs were very unsettled, partly as a result of uncertainty about the support program, and partly because the volume of low grade offerings exceeds the demand. Top grades continued to bring steady to firm prices, but other kinds were weak.

New Mexico continued to ship cantaloups in moderate volume during the past week, ranking next to Texas in rail movement from the southwestern states, according to the War Food administration. Vegetables moving in carlot quantities included onions, carrots, and potatoes.

At midweek, New Mexican cantaloups, delivered in Denver, were bringing $4.50 to $4.75 for jumbo crates. This price was a little higher than Denver quotations on canteloups from California. Fifty pound sacks of crystal white wax onions from New Mexico brought $2.90 in Oklahoma City and $2.50 to $2.85 in Fort Worth for medium sizes. Fort Worth quoted $3.10 for three-inch and larger sizes.

$60,000,000

on Harbor Tugs and Equipment

BUY WAR BONDS

EARLY in the war there developed a tremendous need for tugs and power units to help speed delivery of supplies and equipment to millions of our fighting officers and men throughout the world.

In cooperation with the Army and Navy, our Chrysler Division, which had been building marine engines for many years, developed a marine tractor and a harbor tug (called the "Sea Mule"). We built them quickly and in large quantities, both of which were very important to the armed forces—and at a saving of $60,000,000 to American Taxpayers as compared to the cost of alternate equipment.

County Rural Schools Preparing For Openings; Teachers Needed

With the opening of Lubbock rural and independent schools only a few weeks off, and one school to begin Monday, some rural faculties are still incomplete, Roy Boyd, county superintendent, said Saturday.

New Deal school will open Monday, A. L. Faubian, superintendent, has announced.

Lubbock and Slaton schools open Sept. 4, as will Shallowater and Posey; Estacado, Aug. 21; Roosevelt Aug. 24; Idalou, Aug. 28; Frenship, probably Aug. 28 and Cooper, Sept. 6.

Roosevelt, Shallowater and New Deal need high school principals who will serve as coaches, Boyd said. The Idaluo faculty lacks a grammar school principal and two grade teachers; Posey wants an intermediate teacher; Roosevelt, two grade teachers; New Deal, one grade teacher, and Cooper, high school English teacher.

Teachers Hard To Find

Frenship and Estacado faculties are complete.

Boyd said the rural schools were finding it difficult to secure teachers because of the low salary schedule. The average rural teacher, excluding principals and superintendents, get only about $75 a month after all deductions.

Some of the teachers have supplemented their salaries by driving school buses which pays $40 a month more. There is a need for bus drivers in almost all of the schools.

Efforts have been made the last year to get the state legislature to raise the salaries of state aid schools. The State Teachers' association met in June and worked out a salary schedule which will be presented to the next legislature. Delegates from five counties appeared this month before a legislative sub-committee in the interest of higher pay.

"Most of our teachers have resigned to accept higher salaries in other schools. Only a small per cent have gone into other professions," the county superintendent said.

He said it was especially difficult to get coaches, agriculture, mathematics, natural science and commercial teachers. As an inducement to teachers, a share-a-ride plan was worked out last year in which teachers lived in Lubbock and commuted to their schools each day.

Some Primary Flying Schools To Continue

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP) — Civilian-operated Army primary flying schools at Uvalde and Brady, Texas, and Chickasha and El Reno, Okla., will continue to operate, the War department said today, despite a general curtailment of the Army's air training program.

It was disclosed yesterday that schools at Corsicana, Bonham, Coleman and Ballinger, Texas, will be closed Sept. 11.

The War department said it has no announcement to make in regard to a report that only 15 primary schools will continue in operation in the United States.

Ready-Rolls Gone, Smokers Turning To Roll-Your-Own

Many smokers of "ready-roll" cigarets in Lubbock were observed Saturday purchasing sacks of "roll-your-own tobacco," due to the almost complete absence of cigarets at cigar counters.

A telephone survey, made Saturday among drug and grocery stores of the city, revealed that there were practically no cigarets in town.

Most store operators agreed that they were only getting about 50 per cent of the amount they were receiving about a year ago, and that indications are that no relief in the situation is in sight.

Some were inclined to believe that smokers are going from store to store purchasing one or two packages and are hoarding them. Most establishments, it was learned, are allowing only one package to the customer.

Refinery Explosions Start Brush Fire

NEWHALL, Calif., Aug. 12. (AP) —A series of explosions at the Newhall Refining Co. near here early today ignited two tanks containing 2,500,000 gallons of crude oil, starting a brush fire that forced the evacuation of more than 20 families in the vicinity.

Two employes, William Breckenridge, 29, and James Taylor, 31, both of San Fernando, were burned about the face and body. They were taken to the Newhall hospital where Breckenridge's condition was reported serious.

Pierre Daries, a division chief of the county forestry department, said flames shot 2,000 feet high after the explosions. He said the brush fire was beaten back after it reached within 100 feet of several large oil tanks a quarter of a mile from the blaze. More than 60 firemen fought the conflagration.

Capt. Ronald A. Hewitt of the California highway patrol said the fire probably was started by ignition of fumes from a broken naphtha line. He said the fumes may have been ignited by a bunsen burner in a nearby laboratory.

Pension Checks For August Are Mailed

AUSTIN, Aug. 12 (AP) — The department of public welfare has mailed old age assistance checks for August to 171,991 persons at a cost of $3,718,369.26. Average payment was $21.62 as compared with $21.35 for the previous month.

Aid to dependent children was paid to 10,647 families representing 23,216 children in an average payment of $20.95 and a total cost of $223,022.00. This was a drop of five cents in average payment from the previous month.

Resourceful Doctor Devises Effective Test For Islanders

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—A resourceful American medical mission, just returned from the Pribilof Islands, checked to see if their prospective child patients' feet were dirty enough before risking tonsil operations.

If the young islanders' feet were satisfactorily soiled with volcanic ash from a nearby hill, Dr. William A. Morgan, Washington ear-nose-throat specialist, operated. The empirical rule worked. In 104 cases, there were no complications outside of occasional bleeding.

Dr. Morgan had observed that the children's favorite recreation was to run to the top of the 500-foot hill and slide down on the seats of their britches. He concluded that anybody whose heart could stand such exercise could weather the removal of tonsils. The foot inspection became standard procedure.

Lumber Bans Must Be Enforced, Judge Says

SHERMAN, Aug. 12. (AP)—Federal Judge Randolph Bryant asserted in court today that the War Production board's restriction on civilian uses of lumber "must be enforced."

"This court will use its full powers to see that this vital war material is not used for mercenary or minor purposes to the injury or defeat of the war effort," said Judge Bryant.

"Lumber is highly essential to the war effort at this time and the WPB order will be enforced to the limit by this court."

The judge had just heard a nolo contendere plea and assessed a fine of $1,500 in the case of the Sam R. Hill Lumber company of Tyler on nine counts charging sales in violation of a WPB order which had limited labor and materials costs to $200.

"I happen to know that the defendant is a good man and the violation complained of was probably committed without intention of violation of the war board's orders," said the judge.

'Ghost Voice' Heckles Berlin Newscaster

LONDON, Aug. 12 —A "ghost heckler" broke in during pauses in the Berlin overseas radio newscast today shouting comments on Allied advances.

At the first pause the voice came in with, "The Russians are advancing. The Americans are advancing. The British are advancing."

When the station announcer said a Russian unit was surrounded, the heckler interrupted: "It's not true. That's a lie."

At the conclusion the announcer said, "I hope you had good reception."

The voice countered with "Unite against Hitler."

University Plan Arouses Texans

AUSTIN, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—President Homer P. Rainey of the University of Texas said tonight that "flood" of letters, telegrams, telephone calls, newspaper clippings and other communications had been received as a result of his recently announced program for an expanded university, including removal of the medical branch from Galveston.

Dr. Rainey said the only section to meet criticism was that on removal of the medical branch. Even that, he said, had brought expressions of approval from everywhere in the state but Galveston and Houston.

People Are Interested

As a result of the responses he has received to the medical program section, Dr. Rainey said he had reached these several conclusions:

"I am confident that the people of Texas are interested in their medical program.

"As a result of that interest, they have discovered that the present program is not adequate.

"They want a first-class medical program, and are willing to support such a program.

"I am confident that if the people of Texas have the opportunity to express themselves, the outcome will be favorable to the proposal."

Chairman John H. Bickett of the board of regents said recently that Dr. Rainey's recommendations were among many suggestions before the regents and that no action might be expected before thorough study.

More WACs Added To Recruiting Staff

In conjunction with the Army's all-out effort to recruit every eligible woman for service in the Women's Army Corps several new Wacs have arrived to take their places on the staff of the local WAC recruiting office.

In charge of the station is Lt. Julia A. Antonelli, who formerly was connected with the AAF recruiting team from Austin. Assisting her will be Pvt. Lorraine Adams, formerly of South Plains Army Air field, Pvt. Mildred Burdette from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., Cpl. Roberta Waite, formerly of the West Texas recruiting and induction station here, and Sgt. Helen R. Cunnison, who has been stationed here for the past few months.

Complete canvassing of every city in the Lubbock district will begin immediately according to a statement by Lt. Antonelli.

The district recruiting office is located on the second floor of the post office building here.

Hot And Dry Weather Damages Range Feeds

AUSTIN, Aug. 12 (AP) — Range feeds declined in condition more sharply than usual in July because of hot, dry weather, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today. There was also a developing shortage of stock water.

Condition of cattle, however, was 83 per cent of normal on Aug. 1, one point below the 20-year average, and two points below the July 1 report.

Conditions of Texas sheep was 81 per cent, four points below the 20-year average. Unusually rapid decline was noted during July because of the adverse weather.

War Materials Inquiry Slated

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP)—Declaring that military men have shown "unjustified" opposition to use of surplus materials for civilian production Chairman Mead (D-NY) announced today a Senate war investigating committee inquiry to determine whether a scarcity of war materials exists.

In a statement addressed to the Senate, he agreed with the view expressed Monday by Former Chairman Truman (D-Mo), that resumption of production of vital civilian articles had been disappointing because of the development of new war needs "and because of the vehement objections of the military."

Mead said the inquiry would be started at a closed session next Wednesday when Chairman Donald M. Nelson and Major General Lucius D. Clay, director of materiel of the War Production board, will be questioned about suppression of a statistical supply summary in a monthly report to war agencies. Its suppression led its authors, Victor L. Bassie and Irving Kaplan, to offer their resignations.

Army officials were said to feel that the report was subject to misinterpretation and might give an impression that the supply picture is more favorable than it actually is.

Mead said the nation does lack sufficient heavy artillery, heavy trucks and bombs and other important types of materiel, and needs from 50,000 to 200,000 workers "very badly" to produce them, but added that this is a small part of the nation's work force.

Changes In Pension Law Are Favored

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (U.P.)—A legislative committee to meet in Dallas Sept. 11 to draft proposed changes in old age pension law will get the endorsement of state pensions head Johnny Winters, who today said reported changes are desirable.

Particularly, Winters endorsed the proposal for regulation of homes that are offering to care for aged people, for a fixed definition of "need" in making up old age budgets and for an appeal outside the public welfare department from its decisions.

"Conditions in homes now offering care for the aged are in need of improvement and legislation on this subject can be most helpful," Winters said. "No previous legislature has defined need in terms of fixed cash allowances and we would much prefer to have this matter determined by the legislature. Likewise provision for a separate appeal board is welcomed by the department as it would constitute an impartial and judicial audit of our actions. Even though the appeal board within the department proceeds on judicial principles, it will be sounder practice for this function to be vested in an independent board."

Winters said that the bills must give consideration to the requirements of the federal social security act if federal matching funds are to be retained.

Other targets included radio stations, oil storages which were left blazing and two vessels which were set afire in the Lepsoy area.

The Gallup Poll

Rocky Mountain States Are Standing 5-To-3 For FDR

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 12 — In the eight states of the Rocky Mountain region, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is leading today in three, while Franklin D. Roosevelt is ahead in the other five.

The states where Mr. Dewey leads at present are Colorado, Idaho, and Wyoming. In Mr. Roosevelt's column are Montana, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and New Mexico. In the presidental election four years ago the President carried all the Mountain states but one, Colorado.

GALLUP

The political situation in those states today, as revealed in opinion samplings by the Institute, is shown below. The figures are based on civilian votes only, not including the soldier vote. The poll question was: "If the presidential election were being held today, how would you vote—for Dewey, or for Roosevelt?"

COLORADO
Dewey	55%
Roosevelt	45
IDAHO
Dewey	53%
Roosevelt	47
WYOMING
Dewey	55%
Roosevelt	45
MONTANA
Dewey	43%
Roosevelt	57
ARIZONA
Dewey	42%
Roosevelt	58
UTAH
Dewey	43%
Roosevelt	57
NEVADA
Dewey	44%
Roosevelt	56
NEW MEXICO
Dewey	44%
Roosevelt	56

All of the eight states show a trend away from Roosevelt as compared to 1940. The largest defection is found in Wyoming and Idaho. The Roosevelt percentage today is eight points lower in Wyoming and in Idaho than it was in the 1940 election.

* * *

THE smallest shift away from the President has taken place in New Mexico, where he has lost only one per cent, and in Montana, where the drop is only two per cent. In the other states of the region—Arizona, Colorado, Utah, and Nevada—the President has lost from four to six percentage points since 1940.

The entire cost of today's survey, and of all other polls conducted by the Institute, is underwritten by a group of approximately 130 daily newspapers. Some of these papers support the Democratic party on their editorial pages, others support the Republican party, and others are independent politically. All of the hundreds of thousands of ballots in the Institute's polls since the organization's start in 1935 have been turned over to Princeton university, where they are available for th inspction of leadrs of all political parties and qualified students of public opinion.

32 States Reported

During the past six weeks the Institute has reported the popularity of Mr. Dewey and Mr. Roosevelt in 32 states, having a total of 364 electoral votes. Reports on the remaining 16 states, with 167 electoral votes, will be made in the coming weeks.

The line-up of the states reported to date follows:

Escaped Prisoners In Reich Turn Guerrillas

MADRID, Aug. 12. (A.P.) — Escaped prisoners of war and foreign laborers have begun guerrilla warfare inside Germany, the German press revealed today in a dispatch from Nazi Correspondent Werner Gilles who wrote from "in the mountains of southern Germany."

The correspondent said "terrorists and guerrillas" were waging a war of destruction on Germans in the mountain regions, wiping out entire families, burning homes, and stealing food and arms.

He described an expedition against the guerrillas which led far above snowline, and said heavily-armed German police finally isolated one group of escaped Russian prisoners and foreign laborers who fought to the last.

"It was astonishing that they were able to withstand the intense cold in their thin clothes for hours and days," the correspondent wrote.

Adolf Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, reported guerrillas killed four Germans in one village, and commented:

"Even in the smallest village everything must be prepared for defense against air raids, marauding foreign workers and armed prisoners of war who have escaped."

FREIGHTER SINKS

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 12. (A.P.) — The 3,000-ton Norwegian freighter Erling Lindoe, carying iron to Germany, struck a mine and sank off the Swedish coast last night. Twenty seamen were lost, five saved.

WORKERS LAID OFF

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12. (A.P.)—Higgins Industries, Inc., announced that approximately 600 of the 6,300 workers at the firm's aircraft plant here were "laid off" today at noon. The announcement said that some of the number, mostly white collar and clerical workers, would be employed by Higgins Plastics Corp., in building airborne lifeboats.

The new Malagash salt field discovered in Nova Scotia is expected to end Canadian importation of salt from the Mediterranean and Caribbean areas.

Year Is One Of "Hot And Cold Running Baseball," With Streaks Continuing

By GLEN PERKINS
United Press Staff Wirter

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—The 1944 major league season may go down in the books as the year of "hot and cold running baseball."

Winning and losing streaks have been the order from the very first week. War-time personnel is regarded as a major factor for the manner in which clubs suddenly strike it hot and begin winning games in bunches. Then, just as suddenly, the rookies and upgraded minor league players get jittery over the pace and cool off.

The streakiest club has been the Chicago Cubs, now in a losing slump that has reached five straight, whereas last week they were riding an 11-game winning skein, longest compiled by any team this year. They dropped 13 in a row early in the season but that series of losses was topped later by the Brooklyn Dodgers who were defeated 15 straight times on their last western trip.

The two longest current streaks remained intact until yesterday with the St. Louis Browns defeating the Yankees at New York 3 to 0 for their 10th straight. The defeat dropped the Yankees into fourth place. Denny Galehouse, who got a late start because he worked in an Ohio war plant through the early part of the season, turned in his best game to date, a six-hitter, and gave definite indications he will be a strong factor in the Browns' World Series plans. Only one Yankee got to second base and he showed excellent control, issuing no walks.

The Detroit Tigers edged in to third place by winning their eighth straight, defeating the Senators at Washington 11 to 4. Paul (Dizzy) Trout won his 18th game Friday to keep pace with his mound-mate Hal Newshouser, who gained his 18th victory the previous day.

The Red Sox stayed six and a half games behind the Browns, losing 7 to 9 to the White Sox at Boston. It was their 3rd loss in 16 starts against Chicago this season.

The White Sox engineered a triple play in the fourth Thursday when third baseman Ralph Hodgins stabbed a liner with the bases filled, stepped on the bag and threw to first base.

Cleveland lost to the A's at Philadelphia 3 to 6 yesterday.

Mort Cooper of the Cardinals won his sixth shutout Friday and his 15th victory, beating the Philadelphia Phillies at St. Louis 2 to 0, to increase the team's league lead 18 1-2 games, a half game more than their 1943 pennant margin.

The Boston Braves got good pitching from Charley Barrett at Cincinatti to defeat the Reds 2-to-0 Friday for their fourth straight victory, before losing 12-6 the following day.

Brooklyn, which failed to win a game on its last western tour, took its third at Chicago, edging the Cubs 7 to 6 in the 10th.

New York Giants pitching was at fault in the Pirates' 12-to-8 decision at Pittsburgh. The Pirates made 13 hits off four Giant pitchers.

Record Entry Field To Compete In TASA

HOUSTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — By the time the entry deadline is reached at 6 p. m. Monday, officials of the Houston Junior Chamber of Commerce believe a record field will be registered for the Txas Amateur Softball Association Men's Championship tournament next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Tournament officials counted noses after another big flood of entries today and found they had 23 teams signed up, including 14 military clubs and nine civilian outfits.

Latest entries are Fort Worth Globe Aircraft corporation, Big Spring Army Air Field officers, composed of 15 lieutenants and Camp Swift 124th Ordnance company.

The winner will compete in the Southwest Regional A. S. A. tournament, first round of the World's Championships.

APPLEKNOCKER WINS

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Appleknocker, owned by Coward and Dupuy, won the $17,850 Dick Welles Handicap at Washington Park today with Sirde second and Harriet Sue third. Pensive, Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner, was fourth, beaten for the sixth consecutive time since winning the Preakness.

Appleknocker ran the mile in 1:36 and returned $9.00, $3.80 and $3.00.

Germain Beats Otto In WWAG

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Playing each shot with grim determination, Dorothy Germain defeated Phyllis Otto 5 and 4 today to retain her crown as Women's Western Amateur champion—an achievement unduplicated in the last 12 years.

The Philadelphia star thus became the seventh player in the tournament's 44-year history to capture the crown twice in succession and the first to do so since Mrs. Opal S. Hill impressed the sports world with her sweep in 1931 and 1932.

Miss Germain, 20-year-old Beaver college junior, was only three over par for the long Onwentsia course for the 32 holes required to win, while her Omaha, Neb., opponent, trying desperately to regain her putting confidence, was 10 over.

Hard Luck Blamed For Washington Senators' Long Losing Streak

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — This is probably the only town around the major league circuit where a ball club can put in an utterly dismal showing for weeks on end without the fans trying to get the manager fired.

Just a couple of months back, the Washingotn Senators were rated a right fair ball club.

Today the Senators are comfortably entrenched in eighth (last) place in the American league. They've lost 21 of their last 24 starts, 18 of the reversals coming on a recent road trip through the west. They're 19 1-2 games behind the pace-setting St. Louis Browns and two and a half back of Philadelphia, an almost unanimous pre-season choice for the cellar berth.

And yet nobody around Washington blames Ossie Bluege, the mild-mannered manager who maneuvered the club to a second place finish a year ago. They just charge it off to hard luck, lack of material and spotty performances all around.

"It's still a good ball club, but we've had everything bad happen to us almost from the day the season started," Bluege lamtented.

A casual study of the box scores bears him out. When the Senators have good pitching, the hitters have been breaking their backs popping out to the infield. If the hitters connect, the hurlers look like third-rate semi-pro rookies.

Flying Footballers Map Heavy Schedule

Randolph Field Ramblers May Upset Cotton Bowl

By HAROLD RATLIFF
Associated Press Sportswriter

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 12.— The Randolph Field Ramblers have mapped out a big league football schedule and have the big league material to carry it out—possibly without a loss. In fact, the Ramblers may embarrass the Cotton Bowl.

On the Randolph card are Rice, Texas and Southern Methodist of the Southwest Conference. Critics have already picked Rice and Texas to battle it out for the conference title and automatic invitation to the Cotton Bowl.

Now, if Randolph Field already has a decision over the team that is to be host in the bowl game at Dallas and Randolph is again invited to play there what kind of drawing card will that be? Also, if Randolph goes to some other bowl, leaving a beaten champion to play some other team in the Dallas classic, it will wipe away a lot of glamour and interest.

Texas Last Year

The Ramblers outplayed Texas in a 7-7 tie in the Cotton Bowl last Jan. 1. The same squad, with one exception, still is at Randolph Field. Glenn Dobbs, the All-America who paced Randolph to a great season, has departed.

But the Ramblers have picked up some mighty fine boys. Jack Russell, who made the All-America Service Team at end last year; Bill Dudley, All-America, who became the top ground-gainer of the National Professional Football League; Don Looney, one of the pro league's greatest wingmen; Tom Robertson, center of the Brooklyn professional club, and Pete Layden, great fullback at Texas in 1941, are among the new men.

BILL DUDLEY

Pro Ace At Randolph

Then, Big John Kimbrough, All-America while at Texas A. and M., is on orders to come to Randolph Field.

The schedule lists eight games, opening Sept. 23 with Abilene Army Air Field at San Antonio.

Junior Baseball Offers Big Week

Both the American and the National Junior Baseball league are set for crucial battles this week as the teams thunder down the home stretch of the second half. The National league went further behind schedule last week as another game of both leagues was postponed from rain. The National has not yet recuperated from the gap left in its roster of completed games when the American Legion nine made the trip to Austin.

One Remains Unbeaten

Only one of the league leaders now boasts an undefeated second half record. The Deanmen, former proud possessors of an unmarred slate, suffered the loss of skipper Phill Ragland, and bowed to Sears 7-5 Wednesday night. They came out victorious, however, the night before with a 7-4 victory over Purina Mills. They still remain at the top of the National list, though, trying for a second half win to go with the first half one.

The Hemphill-Wells Cats regained part of the limelight with two victories last week. They opened up Monday night with a smashing win over Sears, 10-2, and followed up Thursday night to win over Purina Mills, 3-2.

The Optimist, with a one-game lead in the American league, remained unbeaten through the past week's schedule. The Rotary attracted attention once more with two smashing victories. Riding high in second place as the finish line draws nearer, featured a win over the ABC's, who were set to throw a monkey wrench into the Rotary future, 3-2 in the eighth inning. Again on Thursday night, young Jack Alderson hurled himself to glory with the first no-hit no-run contest of the American league, defeating the Junior Chamber of Commerce Cubs 19-0 at Tech field. An Optimist loss during this coming week would cause a tie with the Rotary, still hot with four wins from five starts of the second half.

Feature of the week was the Jaycee Cub's triumph over the Lions club nine, 6-4. It was the first victory of the season for the Jaycees, other than a forfeit taken previously.

Frankie Zak, Hater Of Baseball, Now "Cinderella Man"

By JIMMY JORDAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 8. (AP) — Three years ago that dynamic, effervescent little baseball personality, Frankie Zak, never had seen a major league game, didn't care for the sport and was "bumming" around the country with two pals in an old jalopy.

Today he's playing regular shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates. He was on the all-star game roster last month and he's been saddled with a "Cinderella man" title.

"Major league baseball? I never dreamed of it, never saw it until I accidentally got into organized ball one day when I needed some dough and had a chance to play one game," the little Buccaneer speed merchant said today. "That was in 1941. Now look. I'm with the Pirates! Whew!"

Zak, who bubbles enthusiasm from his five foot, ten inch frame, explained how his career came about.

"I was with two friends and we left for the south with $10 each and an old jalopy. We got to Tarboro, N. C., and I remember I had a friend there who played with Tarboro in the Coastal Plain league. I went out to watch him play.

"The next day, just as we were ready to pull out of town, he came up and told me their shortstop had quit and I was going to play that night. I'd played a little amateur sandlot ball, but didn't care much about the game. But the manager, Poke Whalen, said he'd pay me for it—and I needed the money. So I played.

"I hit one for three and didn't make any errors. He signed me to a contract after the game, and I stayed. And here I am. Whew!"

The 21-year-old Pssiac, N. J., lad went to Hornell, N. Y., Pony League club in 1942 and to Toronto, a Pirate holding, last year.

McSpaden, Nelson Favorites In PGA

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 12 (AP) Top Flight professional golfers polished up their games today for the $20,000 National P.G.A. championship, which opens here Monday, and from the class of the field the 1944 holding of this exclusive event promised to produce as keen a title chase as in the years preceding the war.

Sprinkled among the eighty-odd entries, registered from practically every section of the country, were such links notables as the "big four" of this year, Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., Sammy Byrd, Redfor, Mich., and Craig Wood, Mamaroneck, N. Y. They are the leading bond winners of 1944, in the order named.

Practice Rounds over the Manito course developed less sub-par golf than expected, with the exception of sparkling efforts by George Schneiter, slender Salt Lake City entry, who posted successive scores of 69 and 68. Par for the heavily wooded layout is 36-36—72.

The big job facing the bulk of the entries was to eliminate the "big fur" and the incentive naturally was greater because the National P.G.A. title is the goal of every member pro.

Snead Now In Many

Interest in the links game was in a war-caused slump in 1942, the last time the P.G.A. tourney was held. Sam Snead, now a Navy seaman second class, won the '42 title at Denver, Colo., but will be unable to defend because he is confined to the Navy hospital at Long Beach, Calif.

Although no P.G.A. championship was held last year, there has been a tremendous upsurge in golf interest throughout the nation during the past 12 months.

Outstanding Competition

With the National Open and the Amateur blacked out since Pearl Harbor. The recent renaissance of golf attains a climax in the P.G.A. extravaganza, being held in the Pacific Northwest for the first time. Despite past publicity received by the open and the amateur classics, the P.G.A. tilt has been America's outstanding golf competition—from the standpoint of performance—since its inception in 1916, when Jim Barnes beat out Jock Hutchinson at Siwanoy, N. Y.

Nelson, the 1940 winner at Hershey, Pa., and McSpaden, runner-up to Denny Shute in 1937 at Pittsburgh, are favored for the scramble over Spokane's Manito Club course because of their showings this year. Nelson won the San Francisco, New York Red Cross, and Knoxville tourneys. McSpaden won the Chicago Victory open, and tourneys at Los Angeles, Phoenix and Gulfport. Also they teamed to win the Minneapolis invitational four-ball event.

Byrd, Wood Co-Favorites

However, the overnight odds at Spokane show that Byrd and Wood are almost as highly regarded as the co-favorites. Sammy and Craig share the 1-4 quotation. Byrd, winner of P.G.A.-sponsored tourneys this year at New Orleans and Philadelphia, showed that he was in excellent form by capturing the Michigan Open Sunday at Pontiac, Mich. Meanwhile, Wood, the duration National Open champ, won a P.G.A.-sponsored event at Durham, N. C., and has shown excellent form in most of his other tourneys.

Greens Very Fast

After testing out the Manito course, the "big four"—Nelson, McSpaden, Byrd and Wood—agreed that accurate putting, rather than driving, will determine the Spokane victor. They found the greens very fast. Nelson and McSpaden, in practice rounds yesterday, got par 72's.

Other notables in the tourney include Jimmy Hines, Tony Penna, Ed Dudley, Olin Dutra (1932 champ), Lighthorse Harry Cooper, Willie Groggin, Bud Lewis of Philadelphia and Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind.

Among the latest arrivals were Willie Goggin, New York City; W. A. Stackhouse, Seguin, Texas, and Harry Nettlebladt, Avon, Conn.

Pairings last night gave the honor of starting qualifying play Monday morning at 10 to Charles Miller of Macon, Ga., and Raymond Gafford of Fort Worth. The big names in golfing are scattered throughout the field.

Hogan May Play

In addition to 84 already registered, any of the 410 P.G.A. members now in the armed services will be added to the entry list if they arrive in Spokane by Monday morning, according to a wire from Fred Corcoran, P.G.A. tournament manager. Lt. Ben Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex., may be a late entry.

Spokane's "Athletic Round Table," which has sponsored many previous important events, is doing a grand job with the P.G.A. tourney, which it has underwritten for $30,000. It hopes to get another $30,000 from the proceeds for athletic equipment for wounded war veterans.

Segura, Talbert In Tennis Finals

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 12. (AP)—Top-seeded Francisco Segura of Ecuador swept through the semi-final round of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis championships at Westchester Country club today to gain a finals berth with Bill Talbert of Indianapolis.

Segura's luckless foe was red haired Jack McManis, of New York, who went down before the South American's two-handed drives, 6-1, 6-3, 6-0. Talbert and Segura will battle for the title tomorrow.

In the women's singles, the final round was assured of being an All-California affair, when National champion Pauline Betz of Los Angeles and No. 2 ranking Louise Brough of Beverly Hills disposed of their semi-final opponents, Mary Arnold of Los Angeles and Doris Hart of Miami.

The summaries included:

Men Doubles.

Semi-final round—Nick Buzolich, Los Angeles, Calif., and Charles W. Oliver, Perth Amboy, N. J., defeated Alan S. Watson, Short Hills, N. J., and Ed Ray, Sinton, Texas, 6-2, 2-6, 0-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Blackland Eagles To Have Grid Workout

WACO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Blackland Army Air field put out its first call for football players today and scheduled its first practice for Monday.

Lt. Edward C. Wilds, physical training officer at the AAF Training command installation, said "we are not expecting or planning a team on the caliber of the Blackland squad of last year." Wilds will coach the 1944 version of the BAAF Eagles.

Last year's Eagles, who featured former All-American end (Sgt.) Jack Russell of Maylor, ended up in a tie with Lubbock Army Air Field for second place in the Texas Service league which sent its champion, Randolph Field, into the Cotton Bowl on Thansgiving Day against Texas.

Commenting on the 1944 grid plans which have just been approved by Lieutenant Colonel Fred B. Bounds, commanding officer of Blackland AAF, Lt. Wilds pointed out that the Eagles' home games will be played on the BAAF gridiron on Saturday afternoons during the fall.

Lt. Wilds stated that BAAF is contacting army air fields at Bryan, Fort Worth, Childress, San Marcos, Greenville, Austin and Dallas in addition to North and South Camp Hood at Temple for possible dates and return engagements on their schedules. If a full calendar featuring service opponents cannot be arranged, Wilds intends to contact war plants in the vicinity to fill open dates.

Although only about 13 members of the 1943 Eagles are on the field now, there are around 135 men who have played either high school of college football stationed at the advanced twin-engine training school at present.

Arkansas Razorbacks Prospects Look Good

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Aug. 12 (AP)—Those 1944 University of Arkansas Razorbacks, who look on paper like just about the hottest edition turned out of these Ozark hills in several seasons, will have no trouble living up to the advance billing of their new coach, Silent Glen Rose.

To newsmen and alumni inquiring about this fall's football prospects, Rose has a ready answer: "Come out and watch them practice and draw your own conclusions."

So far there has been no regular practice but when it does get under way Aug. 21 there will be ten lettermen and three squadmen, all 4-Fs, and some crack young high school stars.

Austin Buddies Lose To Little Rock, 7-8

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 12 (AP) — Pitcher Bill Marsh singled with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to give Little Rock an 8-to-7 win over the Austin Buddies in the semi-finals of the American Legion Regional Baseball tournament here today. One man was out at the time.

The Arkansans were trailing 6-7 at the start of the final frame and tied the score on base hits by Jansen and Smith and an error by Third Baseman Chandler of Austin.

The Arkansas champs trailed 4-5 going into the seventh and got a runahead on Jansen's double and successive singles by Oberle, Coleman and Smith.

Austin came back in the eighth to take the lead again with a walk, single and double producing 2 runs.

Warren Collins and Charlie Gorin held Little Rock hitless for five innings, but gave up 2 runs on walks and errors, Bailey, Daugherty pitched the last three innings and was the losing pitcher.

Marsh relieved Udo Jansen, Little Rock's starting pitcher and gave up six hits and struck out six.

Musial, Walker Race For Crown

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (U.P.)—The torrid batting race between Outfielders Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals and Fred (Dixie) Walker of the Brooklyn Dodgers continued to feature major league play this week with Musial retaining a scant lead of two percentage points, official figures released today revealed.

Musial, winner of the major league batting crown last season with a mark of .357, slipped three points during the week to .358 while Walker closed the gap between them by adding two points to his average for .356. Bobby Doerr, the Boston Red Sox' second baseman, maintained his American league leading batting mark during the week to post a .331 average for the second straight week.

The National League Champion Cardinals, whose team members hold most of the individual top marks in the majors this season, boasted the two leading pitchers in Rookie Righthander Ted Wilks, who has won 10 and lost one for a .909 percentage, and Lefthander Harry Brecheen with a record of 10 and two for .833. Cecil (Tex) Hughson, who pitched his last game for the duration for the Red Sox Wednesday, leaves the American league as its leading hurler with 18 wins against five losses for a percentage of .783.

Team leaders remained unchanged with the Cardinals, the power of the majors, dominating the field at bat and on the field. The Red Birds had a team hitting mark of .274 and were fielding at a .983 clip. In the junior circuit the Red Sox led at bat with .268 while the Cleveland Indians bested them by a point on the field with an average of .974.

Yanks Not To Be Sold Until End Of Season

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—Ed Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, said today the club "has not been sold and will not be sold until after the season closes—if then."

"So far, we have not received an authentic bid from anybody."

South Plains Oil Development Activities . . .

Lubbock County Holds Oil Spotlight With One New Test Staked 9 Miles North Of City; Leasing Active

LUBBOCK county is being given close attention by many oil development concerns. Evidence of that is provided by the unofficial reports that Stanolind Oil and Gas company has about completed a leasing play along the north side of the county, in which mineral rights on over 20,000 acres have been acquired.

In addition, Phillips Petroleum company, Atlantic Refining company, and a number of independent operators have been buying leases in the county, rather heavily in recent weeks, records in the county clerks office reveal.

Leasing Is Checkerboarded

Further interest was centered on the county during the last week, when one of the two new wildcat tests Seaboard Oil company of Deleware is to drill immediately, on the South Plains, was staked in north-central Lubbock county. The other Seaboard prospector is to be in west Dawson county.

None of the recent leasing in Lubbock county has been on the exclusive block program. All of the extensive Stanolind buying, as well as of most of the other operators, has been on a checkerboarded plan.

Practically all of the leases are being taken on ten-year commercial forms. Bonuses range from $1 per acre, for the bulk of the buys, to as much as $3.50 per acre, for scattered tracks. Rentals are at the rate of fifty cents per year per acre.

Other Projects Likely

All of that interest in the possibilities of future oil in Lubbock county indicates that other exploratory projects will likely be drilled in the next year or so.

Seaboard No. 1 Lula Mae Cravens, will be 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 16, block D, L&SV survey, about nine miles due north of Lubbock, in north-central Lubbock county.

This test is scheduled to drill to at least 5,500 feet, with rotary, starting during August. Several other operating and development companies have acquired protect in the area adjacent to the wildcat.

Dawson Test Located

Seaboard No. 1 Frank M. Weaver, nine miles west of Lamesa, in west-central Dawson county, will be located 660 feet from the north and 4,894 feet from the west lines of league 2, Taylor County School Land survey. It is also contracted to 5,500 feet, and digging will get underway in August.

In the southwest quarter of Borden county, The Texas company has started moving in a rotary to drill No. 1 W. D. Johnson, to 7,500 feet.

Location of this prospector is 660 feet from the north and west lines of section 41, block 32, TP survey, T-4-N. It is on a block of about 10,000 acres which was assembled over a year ago by Globe Oil & Refining company.

Slaughter Limits Undefined

That concern has farmed out some of the acreage in the block to Texaco, for the drilling of the well. The 7,500-foot objective is calculated to take the test through the entire Permian section.

Indication of the expectations held in many quarters in the oil industry, that the producing limits of the Slaughter field, in Hockley-Cochran-Terry counties, have not yet been defined, is the action of San Andres Production company, Dallas, in filing applications with the Railroad Commission of Texas for the drilling of eleven tests in an unproven area of east-central Cochran county.

Plan Eleven New Projects

According to the applications, San Andres plans to drill the eleven new projects during the next six months. All of them are on the R. A. Battenfield land in labors 3 and 10, league 61, Midland survey.

Each of the explorations will drill to the Slaughter pay zone, which is due between 4,900-5,00 feet. The Battenfield lease is one mile south of the San Andres No. 1 Clouser, in labor 18, league 62, Midland survey, which discovered production of over 100 barrels daily, in a pay at 4,852-75 feet, several weeks ago, five miles north of the nearest proven acreage in the main Slaughter field.

It is about one and one-half miles due west of the E. Constantin and associates No. 1 Moore, which found commercial oil several months about two and one half miles north of the Slaughter.

Stanolind No. 1-B Tom Cobb, labor 15, league 718, State Capital lands, and an east stepout from the discovery well of the Yellowhouse pool, in east Hockley county, where the production is from the San Andres—Slaughter—pay zone, had reached 4,621 feet, in a pay section topped at 4,618 feet, and was waiting for a cable tool unit, to use to drill ahead, and test the section which is expected to pay off. This project has 6-5/8-inch casing cemented at 4,566 feet.

Skelly Oil company No. 1 Hodges, five miles west of Plains, in west-central Yoakum county, and six miles northwest of the closest production in the Wasson field, has drilled under 4,260 feet, and was going ahead in lime. No top has been reported on the formation. This test is contracted to 7,800 feet, to explore through the Permian section.

Progress In Other Tests

The Texas company No. 1 Tunnell, section 451, block 1, EL survey, southeast Lynn county wildcat, had reached 5,337 feet, and was going ahead in lime.

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1-A Bartley, section 1372, block 1, EL survey, in east-central Lynn, had progressed below 4,159 feet, and was making hole in lime.

Thomas W. Doswell No. 1 Cantrill, section 22, block 32, EL survey, northwest Borden county exploration, had made hole past 4,690 feet, in hard lime, and was continuing.

Stanolind No. 1 Locke, section 96, block M, EL survey, prospector in west-central Dawson county, had made hole below 4,574 feet in lime.

Swabs Sulphur Water

Stanolind No. 1 Riley, section 79, block H, D&W survey, six miles west of the Cedar Lake pool, in northeast Gaines, swabbed only sulphur water, from the section at 5,220-76 feet—a new zone drilled last week, and has plugged back to about 5,190 feet.

The operator plans to shoot the section above that level, with nitro to see if oil production, which so far, on tests, has been merely a rainbow, can be stimulated.

Whitaker Oil company No. 1 Scanlon, section 115, block M, EL survey, in extreme northeast Gaines, and four miles north of the Cedar Lake pool, is drilling out the cement plug on the 5½-inch casing which had been cemented at 4,950 feet, over the bottom of 5,003 feet.

May Be Drilled Deeper

The uncased section will be tested, for shows of oil indicated in cores from about 4,984 feet, to the bottom, and if they fail to develop production, the cable tool rig now on the test will be used to drill it deeper.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Sparks, section 3, block A-13, psl survey, in southwest Gaines county, had reached 8,009 feet, in the lower Parmian dolomite, and was drilling ahead.

This test is being drilled "tight," as are all Shell wildcats. However, reports in reliable, but unofficial quarters indicate that several drillstems tests have been taken recently on the exploration, and so far, none of them have shown enough petroleum to cause any excitement.

Gaines Tests Drilling

Humble No. 1 Doss, section 9, block A-24, psl survey, in south-central Gaines, had made hole under 7,456 feet, in lime.

Texaco No. 1 Brown, league 311, Gaines county school land survey, in southeast Gaines, has finished up a fishing job, and is making hole past 5,035 feet, in lime.

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Jones, slated to dig to at least 7,600 feet, in the area west of the Wasson field, in northwest Gaines, had penetrated past 5,722 feet, and was going ahead in lime.

Still Pumping To Test

Honolulu Oil corporation and Devonian Oil company No. 1 Payton, section 1421, TT survey, in northwest Garza from a lime section at 3,545 feet to 3,564 feet, is still pumping to test. Last 24-hour recovery was 110 barrels of oil and 44 barrels of sulphur water.

The operators are due to take an official potential test, and put the discovery on production in a few days.

A. G. Hill No. 1 Sherrell, southwest Cochran county possible pool opener, in section 10, block W, psl survey, is still shutdown to repair a major rig breakdown. This exploration has found interesting shows of porosity, with oil and gas signs, in coring from 4,953 feet to the present total depth at 4,981 feet, in the San Andres lime.

To Continue Coring

As soon as the rig is repaired the operator will continue coring, at least for a short distance, and then likely will run a drillstem test to determine the value of the shows.

Humble No. 1 Jackson, section 119, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, southeast Lamb county, possible pool opener, was bottomed at 6,850 feet, in dolomite, and had run a re-cement job on the hole—likely near the bottom, to close off a possible porous section which had been causing the loss of drilling mud.

This exploration reported varying quantities of oil shows between about 5,300 feet and 6,400 feet, in streaks in the dolomite.

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Hertel, section 264, block D, John H. Gibson survey, in the northeast quarter of Yoakum county, was making hole in anhydrite, below 3,738 feet. Top of the anhydrite, which was called at 2,388 feet, came in about 100 feet high to the same point in a dry wildcat the same operator drilled sometime ago, one and one-half miles southeast of the current exploration.

George Dupree To Be Special Prosecutor In Thomas Trial

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 12, (special)—District Attorney Harold M. LaFont announced this afternoon that George W. Dupree of Lubbock would be a special prosecutor when the trial of Jim Thomas, charged with murder Oct. 26, of Dr. Roy E. Hunt of Littlefield, is called Aug. 28 in the 64th courtroom of Hale county.

The district attorney also disclosed the state had subpoenaed 22 witnesses for the trial, the defense six.

It had been announced Aug. 7, when Thomas was arranged in Lamb county, that the convict, held in Lubbock county jail since almost immediately after Dr. Hunt was shot and Mrs. Hunt bludgeoned to death in their Littlefield bedroom, had employed as his counsel George McCarthy of Amarillo and Curtis Douglas of Pampa.

Packed Courtroom Expected

The state did not indict Thomas in connection with Mr.. Hunt's death, but can investigate that homicide at any time.

Indications are mounting that the Hale county courtroom will be taxed to accommodate court officials, jurors, witnesses and the public.

The Hunt double-slaying has been described as probably the most brutal in the history of modern crime in West Texas.

Eight months after safety consultants were called to one plant, its accident frequency rate dropped from 93 to 3.1.

Aid For Underground In Poland Is Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Declaring the Polish underground army faces the possibility of "extermination," the executive board of the Polish-American congress appealed to the United States government today to grant full lend-lease assistance to General Bor, commander of Polish forces in Warsaw.

The board, completing a two-day session, declared Bor had made "frantic but unavailing appeals for necessary equipment," The Polish-American body said "it is difficult for us to understand why, at a moment which can readily mean the turning point of the war . . . the Polish underground . . . should find itself disowned and exposed to the possibility of complete extermination."

The services of the National Committee for Conservation of Manpower in War Industries is available to any plant interested in industrial safety programs.

Martial Law Clamped On Slovakia As Rebellions, Sabotage Mount

By JOHN A. PARRIS
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Aug. 12. — Martial law was proclaimed throughout Slovakia today and underground reports said sabotage and rebellion, fanned by the swift advance of the Red Army into the neighboring Carpathian passes, were sweeping the Nazi puppet state.

With Russian armored columns pounding through the mountain passes 17 miles or less from the Slovak frontier, panic appeared to have gripped the puppet government in Bratislava and the German Transocean news agency said the death penalty had been invoked for "revolutionaries," saboteurs and looters.

Mutiny Breaks Out

Authoritative Czechoslovak spokesmen said mutiny already had broken out among German troops billeted in Slovakia and among units of the puppet Slovak army who refused to be sent to Italy and Romania to bolster the sagging Nazi forces there.

At the same time, fierce guerrilla fighting was reported in progress in the Carpathian passes along the Polish-Slovak border, where Polish patriot forces clashed with German troops retreating before the Red Army columns driving down from the Przemysl and Stry sectors.

Transocean was silent on developments inside the puppet state, but admitted that the martial law proclamation had been decided upon after an emergency meeting of the Slovak cabinet this morning.

Underground spokesmen in London, however, said violent clashes between the pro-Nazi authorities and Slovak patriots had been in progress for the past three weeks, after German troops were rushed in to take over the entire frontier area between Poland and Slovakia.

Roving bands of guerrillas were reported attacking German garrisons throughout the border area, and the underground spokesmen said thousands of other armed patriots were awaiting the signal for a general uprising timed with the first appearance of Russian troops inside their frontiers.

There was no immediate indication whether German troops were enforcing the martial law edict, but London sources said that Slovak War Minister Ferdinand Catlos had been giving sweeping powers to call upon Nazi and Slovak troops to quell any armed uprising.

Slaton Funeral

Gaines county.

Honorary pallbearers will be J. O. Jones, Durwood H. Bradley, W. G. McMillan, K. N. Clapp, James L. Quicksall, Garland Newsom, J. A. Fortenberry, J. D. Hassell, jr., George W. Dupree, A. C. Jackson, George Benson, Chas. Whitacre, Hubert L. Allen, H. I. Keifer and C. A. Bestwick, all of Lubbock, J. F. Lilly of Fort Worth, and R. L. Holbert of Waco.

Suffering from a serious heart ailment of which he had become aware recently, Mr. Slaton became ill Friday afternoon at the offices and warehouse he occupied as area distributor for Sinclair Refining company. At his request, an employe was driving him home when the fatal attack occurred while a stop was being made at the postoffice to mail letters.

Mr. Slaton was born near Chico in Wise county, Dec. 27, 1889, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Slaton. The family moved to Gaines county in 1906. As a boy and young man, he worked on ranches. On June 15, 1911, he and Miss Cora Lee Hicks, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Hicks of Waco, were married in Midland. They made their home in Seagraves and Seminole, where Mr. Slaton was connected in official capacities with banks, until they moved to Lubbock in 1928. Mr. Slaton was engaged in various business enterprises until his connection with Sinclair several years ago.

Held Mayoralty Longest

Mr. Slaton had the distinction of being one of three men to be elected to three terms as mayor of Lubbock. His six years of service in that office were longer than that of anyone who ever occupied it.

Survivors are Mrs. Slaton; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Leasure, wife of Petty Officer 2/c Roy Leasure, now stationed in Maine; a neice, Miss Georgia Anna Slaton, who has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Slaton at their 2224 Twenty-seventh street home; his mother, Mrs. W. R. Slaton of Seminole; two sisters, Mrs. Harry N. Stone of Seminole and Mrs. Elizabeth Payne of Seattle, Wash.; three brothers, Wilbur of Las Vegas, N. M.; Walter of Tahoka, and Pat of Vallejo, Calif.; and two uncles, O. L. Slaton, chairman of the board of First National bank, and John Slaton of Hereford.

Nearly all of these and numerous other more distant relatives and friends of the family from out-of-town are expected here for the services.

News Briefs

Students of the New Deal rural high school will register and receive books Monday afternoon, said Supt. A. L. Faubion, who said school buses would leave the school at noon to collect students of the district. Opening exercises of the new term will commence at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. "We need a social science teacher and a girls' coach," the superintendent said.

Donahue of the officer procurement division, Headquarters Eight Service command, who will be in the local recruiting office, room 203 of the postoffice building on the two days to interview women to fill these important jobs. More than 1200 women are eligible for enlistment in the WAC in this area and Capt. Donahue's visit will enable those who visit her to enlist here in Lubbock and be qualified according to their individual classification without the usual delay caused by specialist enlistment processes. A special film on the actual work being done by WACs in the war effort, plus actual battle scenes heretofore not shown will be shown all women visiting Capt. Donahue Monday adn Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cellum of Fifteenth street received a card Friday from their son, Cpl. Jack T. Cellum, a member of the 131st Field Artillery, Lost Batallion, who is a Jap prisoner in Camp No. 3 at Nike, Thailand. Mr. and Mrs. Cellum have another son in the service, Cpl. Louis B. Cellum, who is stationed in New Guinea.

Mrs. Myrtle Hubbard of 1009 Fifteenth street has returned home after attending funeral services of her brother, R. A. Jordan, who died suddenly from a heart attack July 31 at his home in Beaumont. Mrs. Hubbard also visited friends in Dallas, Fort Worth and Hillsboro.

Lt. William B. Allensworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allensworth of 1906 Sixteenth street, left Saturday evening for Hendricks field, Sebring, Fla., after visiting here five days. Lt. Allensworth, a former Tech student, received his wings and commission Aug. 4 at Columbus, Miss., and was assigned to advanced training for the B-17.

C. R. Barber, 42, was charged with liquor law violation Saturday, the sheriff's department announced. Barber posted $1,000 bail. Officers said they discovered part of a quart bottle of whisky in Barber's car.

Resignation of Charley Yates as city marshal at Slaton was reported here Saturday night. Yates, who had held the post approximately a year and a half, was an unsuccessful candidate for sheriff in the recent primary election. His successor has not yet been chosen, the report said.

The man apparently was a little behind on his sleeping, police learned. A place in 1200-block Main street telephoned police that a man was "down" there. "I found a man asleep," a patrolman said in a written report. "Brought him to station where he was put in courtroom to rest until time for his bus to Brownfield to leave."

Fire losses in the city of Lubbock during the first six months of this year amounted to $22,000, as compared with $44,000 for the same period in 1943, it was reported Saturday by Fire Marshal Guy Casey. "Fires so far this year have been in the low-damage bracket," said Fire Chief W. E. Twitty, rapping on wood.

Announcement was made here Saturday of the birth of a 6-pound son, John Edward, to Mr. and Mrs. C. Jack Scoggins of Long Beach, Calif., at 7 a. m. Friday.

The West Texas Baker Reunion association will hold its annual family reunion next Sunday at Mackenzie park, it was announced Saturday by R. E. Gunn, president. Henry Baker, of Lovington, N. M., vice president of the association, will preside. Mrs. A. E. Jones of Lubbock is secretary.

Other speakers, Tech professors, will be Miss Nina Lamb, associate professor of foods and nutrition; Miss Mable Deane Erwin, head professor of clothing and textile; Mrs. Lila Allred Kinchen, instructor in clothing and textiles; and Dean Weeks.

Meetings will be held in the Home Economics and the Agriculture building.

Crop Income

1943, which was 84,602 bales. One crop authority predicted this year's crop would not produce more than 64,000 bales, or about three-eighths bale per acre. Average estimate, however, was 78,000 bales.

Farmers should receive an average of about 17½ cents a pound for their cotton this year, cotton men say, giving them a total of approximately $6,825,000. The income last year in the county from the 84,602 bales was about $7,402,675, based on an average price of 17½ cents a pound.

Cotton acreage this year is slightly less than in 1943. Approximately 165,000 acres was planted this year as compared with 175,139 in 1943.

However, those interviewed pointed out that August is a "bad month in which to estimate a cotton yield" since, they agreed, "August can either make or break a cotton crop."

Early Frost Feared

Too, other elements must be taken into consideration, they said. If there is an unusually early killing frost, the crop might easily drop to about 60,000 bales—on the other hand, if frost were unusually late the yield might top 100,000 bales.

In other words, they stated, "you just can't tell at this stage what the crop will finally be."

Production of grain sorghums likewise probably will be less than last year, observers agree. Acreage is higher this year, but the yield per acre is expected to be lower.

On 243,000 acres in 1943, Lubbock county farmers produced about 8,748,000 bushels of grain sorghums, an average of about 36 bushels per acre, which brought approximately $7,207,100. This year's grain sorghum acreage, about 250,000 acres, will yield about 7,500,000 bushels, or about 30 bushels per acre, according to estimates. This yield should bring farmers an estimated $6,187,500.

Potato Yield Is Up

This year's potato crop topped that of last year, growers pointed out. Approximately 100,000 sacks of No. 1 Irish potatoes were harvested from the 1944 crop on 1,000 acres, bringing the growers of the county about $290,000. Potato growers produced about 75,000 sacks of "spuds" in 1943 on 600 acres, receiving approximately $210,000 for their efforts.

Production of wheat in the county dropped considerably this year when only about 48,000 bushels was harvested on 6,000 acres, as compared with a yield of 110,000 bushels from 11,000 acres in 1943. Estimated income from 1944 wheat was $64,800, compared with about $148,500 in 1943.

Since no figures could be obtained for last year's yield of sudan grass, no comparison could be reached. Much of this crop was raised in the county last year, but most of it was fed to livestock on the farms where it was grown.

Ten thousand acres in sudan grass should bring a yield of 2,500 tons this year, estimates said. Farmers should receive about $250,000 from the crop, based on the price of five cents a pound.

President Speaks

with developments in the capital and on all war fronts. But he didn't offer a guess on the war's end.

No word of politics entered his speech, delivered from the base on a gun mount of the destroyer which brought him into the heart of this bustling Navy yard. His visible audience, consisted of sailors, Navy officers and workers who lined the dockside to hear the chief executive's first speech since he accepted the Democratic renomination on July 20.

Censorship Marvel

The chief executive interrupted his prepared text to comment on what he termed "a modern marvel"—the fact that newspapers did not break security to discuss his trip although they were in on the secret from the time he left Washington.

The President said the Hawaiian islands have been converted from a mere outpost to a major base for frontline operations in the Pacific. He brought a cheer from his audience when he declared "the islands will make possible future operations in China—make possible the recapture and independence of the Philippines, and make possible the carrying of war into the home islands of Japan itself, and its capital city of Tokyo."

Mr. Roosevelt said upon his return to Washington he intends to set up a study of Alaska and the Aleutian islands as "'a place to which many veterans of this war, especially those who do not have strong roots in their own homes, can go to become pioneers."

Adventists Close Conference Here

Over 500 people, most of them members of the Seventh-Day Adventist church, attended the closing day's services of the church's Texico conference here Saturday, the Adventists' High Sabbath.

In the final address of the conference, at St. John's Methodist church, J. W. Turner, president of the Southwestern Union conference, Saturday night exhorted his listeners to continued faithfulness "unto the soon coming of Jesus."

After the Sabbath school yesterday morning, H. T. Elliott, of Washington, D. C., general secretary of Seventh-Day Adventists, reported that the church is operating in over 400 countries, in 840 languages. "The sacrificial giving of the people who believe this message makes such program possible," the speaker said.

$1,200 For Missions

The congregation at the service contributed more than $1,200 for missions.

After recounting the successful activities of the church in the Texico conference, R. R. Bietz, of Clovis, president, in an afternoon talk, appealed for a greater evangelistic program for the coming year. To help finance this program the congregation contributed $1,000.

"This spirit accounts for the high per capita giving by Seventh-Day Adventists which last year was $77 a member," Mr. Bietz said.

German salient between the Laize and Orne river. Whether any sizable German forces were trapped in the area was not disclosed.

East of Brettesville, across the Caen-Falaise road, the Canadians advanced a little over a half-mile in the St. Sylvain area against fierce opposition.

West of Conde, the British were were battling crack German troops in the town of Chenedolle six miles east of Vire. The heavy fighting here as well as that southeast of St. Sylvain involved both German SS troops and paratroops, and the Allies found thickly mined each bit of territory they were able to gain.

Mortain Captured

South of Vire the Americans recaptured Mortain, thus adding to the pressure on the German's Vire salient, but progress beyond that bitterly contested point was slowed by stubborn resistance.

Coming up from the south, 33 miles below the British positions, the Americans were meeting stiffer resistance, east of Mortain and Sourdeval, field dispatches said.

Only the supreme command and the participants knew whether the American drive was aimed primarily for Paris or to close the trap on the German Seventh Army, estimated at about 100,000 men. Exact whereabouts of the Americans, who four days ago swept past Le Mans, 110 miles from Paris, remained undisclosed.

One unconfirmed radio report said the Americans were in the outskirts of Paris, but there was no supporting evidence, and headquarters declined to give a hint.

Strange Nazi Move

Field dispatches from the British front called the German reinforcement below Caen one of the strangest moves of the war and quoted British staff officers as being frankly puzzled at Field Marshal Gen. Guenther von Kluge's gamble in throwing the bulk of the German armed forces in northwest Europe into such a threatening corridor.

and the main Nipponese islands by heavy American bombers based in southeast Asia, the newly captured Marianas and the New Guinea area.

While Japan was bowing out of India at the end of British bayonets, American air thrusts also had the enemy worried to the point of reinforcing Formosa, the Philippines and the coast of China against possible invasion, a Chinese Army spokesman reported.

British troops pushing the Japanese out of northeast India captured the last large village on the Tiddim road only a few miles from the Burma border, leaving Japanese dead by the hundreds.

The British captured the north Burma rail town of Taungni, 17 miles south of the former Japanese base of Mogaung, in a one-week drive in bad weather.

Japanese industry made arrangements for emergency shifts in tool factories. The announced reason: "To cope with the enemy air raids."

Tokyo newspapers were reported warning the people that Superfortress raids on Japan so far "are but attempts on the part of the enemy to gather experience for future raids on a major scale."

U. S. bombers reached into the Volcano islands, 750 miles southeast of Tokyo, Wednesday with their full-scale bombing by planes, probably based on Saipan, new advanced base for the 7th AAF. Forty-seven tons of bombs were dropped.

The Chinese announced the recapture of Pingsiang, 100 miles northeast of Hengyang, important Hunan province rail center which fell to the Japanese four days ago. Heavy fighting still was reported in progress around Hengyang.

American planes bombed eastern Changsha Friday in the second large assault since that Hunan province capital was taken by the Japanese last June. Other U. S. planes wiped out or damaged 50 Japanese planes, mostly on the ground, in a raid on Taiyuan, in Shansi province.

Texas Oil Output

war and the on-rush of our country and our allies in France and on the corridor of Italy and in the Pacific, on Aug. 1 the commission sent letters to all sweet crude field operators inquiring how much their wells in these fields might increase. The commission plans to get this increase from the wells in fields that can increase their production.

This matter will be gone into at the statewide proration hearing next Thursday.

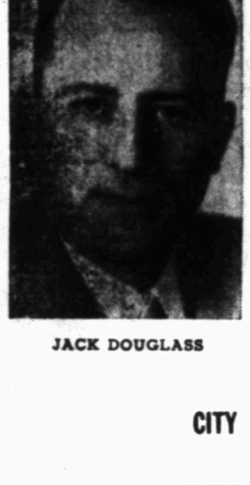

"It is our information that this is perhaps the high-water mark of oil production that Texas will be called upon to deliver for the war effort. The producers, pipeline operators, refiners and railroad commission will endeavor to meet this imperative war request for Texas oil as our armed forces are closing in upon the Nazis and Japan," Jester said.

"It is reasonable for the railroad commission to anticipate that in the succeeding months there will be a need for more West Texas crude transported and delivered to the Pacific coast as the attacks against the Japanese in the Pacific strengthens. Our West Texas fields have the oil for this purpose. I concur with Commissioner Olin Culberson that a pipeline from West Texas to the coast would be a potent factor in getting oil to the Pacific theater of battle."

FIRE SWEEPS BLOCK

ISN'T IT A SHAME!

JACK DOUGLASS

That a man has to establish his nationality and religious status to be a candidate for public office, when that man, born in America of Christian parents, having chosen Lubbock as his home fifteen years ago, marrying a West Texas girl in the First Christian Church, and being a member of the same church, having two daughters born in Lubbock County both students in Lubbock schools, when our boys on the fighting front are in combat to uphold democratic principles?

Yet, through a whispering campaign, Jack Douglas has been unjustly discussed regarding his nationality and religion.

Botanical Garden Planned At Tech

Work will begin this fall on an experimental botanical garden for Texas Technological college, located on a 10-acre plot of ground northwest of the power plant, said Dean R. C. Goodwin, director of scientific research.

Experiments will be conducted on native plants to learn the medicinal and industrial values, and on vegetation not native to this region to determine conditions necessary to its growth.

The project is supervised by the reasearch committee which is composed of Dr. H. L. Kent, Dr. William C. Holden and Dean Goodwin.

"BLUE CHIPS" STAGE COMEBACK

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Selected stocks continue to edge forward in today's brief market after a week devoted to general recovery.

The come-back of the "blue chips" was credited partly to a change-of-heart regarding reconversion in industry should the European war end suddenly. Talk was heard of corporations being better prepared for transition than most expected.

Sugar came to the fore today in reflection of the belief that next week's Cuban conferences might mean a higher price for the 1945 crop.

Peaks for the year or longer were touched by Guantanamo Sugar and Braniff Airways after a steady opening. In front by fractions at the close were Cuban-American Sugar, South Porto Rico Sugar, American Hide & Leather, U. S. Steel, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward, Westinghouse and Pullman.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .1 of a point at 54.9 and on the week showed an advance of .7 net. Dealings were relatively quiet throughout, transfers of 374,470 shares being one of the smallest of the past two months. They compared with 463,130 last Saturday.

In the curb Eversharp added 1 3/8 points to its jump of Friday. Plus marks were attached to Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Electric Bond & Share and Raytheon. The aggregate here was 104,860 shares versus 86,845 in the preceding short stretch.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP) — Earlier gains of 50 cents a bale were pared in the cotton market today as the rapid rise in prices yesterday and in earlier trading attracted increasing profit taking.

There was also some selling on the disappointing July cotton consumption estimate by the New York cotton exchange service.

Futures closed unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (AP) — Selling of rye futures forced that market down as much as a cent in late dealings today and the liquidation spread to other pits, turning earlier gains into slight losses.

Commission house selling of rye was influenced partly by a fall in the cotton market, which had opened strong. Favorable war news discouraged longs in the wheat market. Oats were weakened by reports from the East that Canadian oats were taking the market away from the Midwest.

Wheat closed ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher than the previous finish, September $1.53¼-⅜, oats were ⅛ off to ¼ up, September 68⅝, rye was ⅜ to 1 cent lower, September $1.02⅝-⅞, and barley was ¼ to ⅞ off, September $1.10⅝.

December and May rye reached new seasonal lows at one time at $1.02⅝ and $1.04⅝ respectively.

Increase In Some 'B' Gas Rations Planned

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—The Office of Price administration is considering a plan calling for a substantial increase in the gasoline rations of a relatively few "B" book motorists in highly essential work, and providing at the same time a ceiling on the rations of some less essential "C" drivers.

While no decision has been reached as to whether the plan will be put into effect, it was learned today that it involves granting gasoline for a maximum of 825 miles of driving a month to "B" motorists anywhere in the country whose in-course-of-work driving is considered highly important to the war effort.

At present the "B" ceiling is 325 miles monthly on the East coast, 400 miles on the West coast and 475 miles in the rest of the country.

The increase, it was understood, would be given only so-called hardship cases.

TO EXPAND AIR SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Pan American World airways announced today it planned to expand its Alaska facilities to include direct service to Anchorage from the United States after the war.

The company said the plan would bring Anchorage to within ten hours by air from Seattle on the direct clipper route to Fairbanks.

Army's Political Bans Protested

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP) — A complaint that the Army followed an "irregular course" in banning the showing of the movie "Wilson" to overseas troops was raised today in the midst of efforts to modify anti-political propaganda restrictions of the soldier voting law.

Senator Chandler (D-NY) said he had asked War Secretary Stimson to investigate reports that members of an Army review board turned thumbs down on the picture before it was submitted to them by Twentieth Century-Fox.

"I understand some of the members saw the picture at the Roxy theater in New York and then went out and told the newspapers it could not be shown to the troops," Chandler told reporters.

Amendments Worked Out

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who worked out with Senator Green (D-RI) amendments to permit freer circulation of news, pictures and speeches among the troops, told a reporter he did not know what procedure the Army had employed but asserted "the film evidently is strong pro-Roosevelt propaganda."

The picture deals with the life of the first World War president and his fight for the League of Nations.

The Green-Taft amendments are designed to give Army and Navy authorities wider discretion in the selection of material for the troops. Taft said they would permit showing of the Wilson film.

In one of the latest applications of the law several hundred thousand copies of "the official guide to the Army Air force" were prohibited from sale at post exchanges because they contain a pen portrait of President Roosevelt captioned "commander in chief of the Army and Navy."

Legion Favors Early Military Training

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 12 (AP)—National Commander Warren H. Atherton said today in a statement that the American Legion intended to seek adoption by Congress and the American people of universal military training before the end of World War II.

The bill to be presented to Congress may advocate compulsory military training for all males between the ages of 18 and 23 years, with subsequent transfer to the reserve, and it would call for the plan to become operative with the expiration of the selective service act.

AMERICANS SEE POPE

Whooping Midwest Soldiers Who Shot From Hip Captured Le Mans

BY HENRY T. GORRELL
United Press War Writer

LE MANS, France, Aug. 11 (Delayed) — Le Mans was captured by a regiment of Midwest doughboys who made a thrilling 34 mile dash east through Mayenne whooping like rodeo hands and shooting from the hip.

The story opened east of St. Hailire de Harcouet where the boys, after weeks of seeing their comrades killed or wounded in weary hedge to hedge fighting, were given their big chance to deal with the enemy in the way they wanted to deal with him.

Organized into several flying columns of infantry and armor, the regiment was assigned the assault and capture of Le Mans.

Stormed Through Mayenne

They stormed through Mayenne, crossed streams in skiffs with fence posts as oars, charged head-on into German tanks and fought it out in the streets of Le Mans to win their objective.

They left behind hundreds of Germans who were rounded up by combat teams supported by tank destroyers and mobile artillery.

I saw many of the prisoners as they were being driven to prison camps. They looked more like cattle than the cream of Hitler's fighting men.

Mayenne was the first objective. One section of the regiment attacked straight down the highway. Another swung south to cross the Selune river into the town. Engineers had not arrived with rubber boats. But the boys spotted two skiffs and tore down fence posts for oars to move enough strength across to make it safe for the others to cross.

Prevented Demolitions

The regiment roared down the main street of Mayenne, whooping wildly, dismounted and then, shooting from the hip, kept the Germans from setting off demolitions which would have blown up a bridge and delayed the advance.

The regiment "simply flew to and beyond Motsurs," its colonel said.

"Except that there had been a prior order to send back trucks after the capture of Mayenne, we could have taken Le Mans that same night," he added. "We had to wait nearly 12 hours for their return."

The next battle occurred near St. Suzanne when the colonel, setting the pace with only one platoon of infantry in jeeps and trucks, found himself surrounded by Germans who attacked with grenades.

"I radioed back for tanks to come to my assistance," he said. "Meanwhile my boys were shooting as fast as they could reload. It looked hopeless until I spotted a French farmhouse and decided to use it for a fortress.

"The French occupants bowed politely and then hustled off to muster assistance of neighbors who shot their way through a cordon of Germans and for several hours fought shoulder to shoulder with us until our tanks arrived and dispersed the Germans."

Ran Gauntlet Of Tanks

From there to Le Mans, the regiment ran a gauntlet of tanks lurking in roadside woods and past houses where holed up Germans would let the infantry columns pass and then fire on the supply trucks.

At one point 500 Germans attempted to form a blockade. The regiment simply detoured and left them holding the bag.

The regiment entered Le Mans while Germans were still there. At one hotel some doughboys moved in not knowing several German paratroop officers were there. The Germans kept coming and going while the doughboys enjoyed their first good meal in days. Neither knew the others were there.

The Germans finally were driven from the town by the arrival of tanks after some lively street fighting.

"I'm just now beginning to get scared," the colonel told me after it was over.

Greetings People:

The Decorators Studio has some silver chests if you desire one. They are painted and hand-decorated in a variety of colors — brown, black, white, pink, green and turquoise—with designs to fit any type furnishings. They are lined with the magical new felt that keeps silver bright and shining and they have felted slots, loops and grooves that holds each piece of silver firmly in place.

The grill that arrived the past week is larger than the one I told you about previously. It is equipped with the skewer over the burner and a small table top on the side which makes it handy for plates or seasonings for that steak. Fredda wrote that she had found a source for upholstered pieces of furniture. They have hair, springs and down and you can select your own coverings and have them put on at the factory. Besides this piece of good luck she bought carpeting in Apple Green and Light Rose that will be delivered in ten to sixty days. If you are interested in these colors, you can place your orders now. These are twist weave. New colors in cotton rugs are Lipstick Red, Fushcia, Pale Green, Rose, Powder Blue, Grey, and White. Orders on these can be delivered in approximately ten days. Fredda hadn't returned when I was in Friday but she is a little home-sick and she will be coming home as soon as possible.

The work room will open this week and everyone will be back on the job at the Studio so you can have those slip-covers or draperies made now.

Good-bye,

Grandpa Nosey

Behling-Wagner Vows Are Read

ALBANY, Aug. 9 (Special) — Betty Jane Wagner, daughter of Webster W. Wagner of Mount Carroll, Ill., and Mrs. Frank Brooks of Camp Atterbury, Ind., became the bride of Lt. August Behling, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Behling of Albany, in a double ring service read by Rev. Richard C. Wedel, pastor of the First Methodist church at Lanark, Ill., Saturday morning, August 5.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Lee Ervin, the bride wore a tailored two piece suit of white gabardine, white off face hat with shoulder length veil, white accessories and corsage of red rosebuds. For something old she carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her mother.

Is Attendant

Janet Ervin of Savanna, cousin of the bride and her maid of honor, wore a street length frock of light blue gabardine with white accessories and corsage of red rosebuds.

Lt. Jack Behling of Camp Atterbury, Ind., was his brother's best man.

Traditional wedding music from both Mendelssohn and Wagner was played by Mrs. Phillips of Savanna, who also gave the accompaniment for Mrs. Florence Douglas to sing "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Summer flowers in mixed colors decorated the reception rooms. The arched doorway where the couple stood was flanked with bouquets of roses, gladioli and lilies and silver candelabra holding white wedding tapers. The kneeling cushion of pale blue satin was outlined with red roses.

Following the ceremony the bride's mother was hostess for a wedding dinner in the dining room of the Methodist church.

Leave For Trip

After the dinner the couple left by train for a short visit in Illinois before coming to Albany to visit his parents.

The bride is a graduate of Mount Carroll High school where she was an honor student and won the scholarship to Frances Shimer college at Mount Carroll, which she attended. She has been employed with the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C. and Newark, N. J.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Albany High school and attended John Tarleton college at Stephenville and Texas Technological college at Lubbock where he was a senior civil engineer major. He was a member of Los Camarados fraternity at Tech, of which he was at one time vice-president and treasurer. He was a member of the Matador band, the American Society of Civil Engineers and the ROTC.

During college years at Tech he was employed as a member of Jack York's orchestra and business manager of Billy Byrom's Dance orchestra.

He volunteered for the Army in June, 1943, and graduated from the Engineer Officer Candidate school at Fort Belvoir, Va. receiving his commission as second lieutenant June 14, 1944.

Lt. and Mrs. Behling left Albany for Paris Saturday where Lt. Behling will be stationed at Camp Maxey.

Allies Seeking To Smash Nazi 7th Army, Outflank Channel Forces

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Whatever may be the Allies' intentions towards Paris, it seems clear from the fresh crisis in the battle of France that their major objectives of the moment are (1) to destroy the German 7th army on the Normandy front, and then (2) to outflank the strong enemy forces along the English channel to the north.

When the French capital falls it certainly will represent a great victory, both moral and military. But it's importance is outranked by the other operations.

Nazis Cling To Coast

As this column pointed out several days ago, the Hitlerites are clinging to the channel coast tenaciously for two reasons: First their withdrawal would permit the Allies to pour into France from England over the narrowest part of the channel, and second, the vital launching grounds of their robot bombs are in this area and it's only from here they can reach London.

Naturally the primary interest of General Eisenhower's forces is to annihilate the enemy. That comes before the mere capture of territory or cities. However, the Allies have a special interest in clearing out those robot-bomb nests because, while these inventions of the devil can't win the war, they're subjecting the British people to a cruel burden they shouldn't have to bear.

Speed is imperative, not only to trap the enemy while he's in trouble, but to spare England the plague of that flying death.

Yesterday the Allied effort to envelope the 7th army took a dramatic turn. Canadian, British and Polish troops intensified their attack on the German right wing anchor in the Caen zone. Simultaneously an armored American force, which had been speeding towards Paris, turned suddenly northwards and swung an arc about the German left wing that had been torn from its anchor at Avranches and had been flying wild while the Nazis tried to swing it back north towards the Seine river where they hoped to re-establish their front.

The result of this daring Allied operation has been to jeopardize a great force of Nazis south of the Seine, but it's too soon to assay the results. The position is best described in the pungent language of General Montgomery, commander of the Allied ground forces in France: "The great bulk of the German forces in northwest Europe are in a bad way."

The Hitlerites make no bones of the seriousness of their predicament.

Allied resources will continue to pour into France. The Germans expect an invasion of the Rhone valley from the Mediterranean by French troops. Well, that could happen.

Huge Mass Held For Victims At Lublin

MOSCOW, Aug. 12 (AP) — The wailing of 25,000 mourners swelled over Lublin as the Polish committee of national liberation carried out a huge mass for the victims who died in the Nazi extermination camp there, Soviet dispatches from that city said today.

Assembled in the great square before the Lublin castle, the mourners, led by Father Krusinski, sang the traditional "Saint Vigin" song of the Poles, these reports said, adding:

Polish troops stood with uncovered heads. Women and girls, overcome with emotion, flung themselves on the ground. Prayers for the dead continued for hours in the hot sun.

German captives dug up many bodies of the victims as hostile Poles watched.

There were screams of "murderers!" and "degenerates*" from the crowd as prisoners lifted the corpse of a child from an opened ditch.

Mechanic Fails To Jump, Dies In Crash

MARCH FIELD, Calif., Aug. 12 (AP)—Robert C. Oelschlaeger, 38, a civilian aircraft mechanic of Fort Wayne, Ind., rode a plummeting P-38 fighter plane to the ground from an altitude of 5,000 feet and was killed yesterday although he had been ordered to bail out by the pilot who parachuted safely, Army officials announced.

Oelschlaeger was riding piggyback on a check flight with the pilot, Lt. Thomas Taylor, 22, of Waco, Tex., when one engine burst into flame and the plane crashed four miles north of Riverside. Army authorities said that for some unknown reason the mechanic, who was equipped with a parachute, failed to jump.

MINISTER SWORN IN

MADRID, Aug. 12.—Jose Felix Lequerica, a diplomat who acted as intermediary between the Germans and French in arranging the 1940 armistice, was sworn in Friday as Spain's foreign minister. He succeeds Gen. Francisco Gomez Gordana Y Sousa, who died Aug. 30.

The diplomat has been Francisco Franco's minister to Vichy.

SLEEP "LITTLE KNOWN"

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12. (AP)—After 2,500 years of research on sleep, a naval medical student told the history of medicine society of Tulane university "little is known about it—for sure—except that everybody does it, most of us want more of it and many of us hate to give it up after we get it."

Planes May Drop New Type Rescue Boat

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12 (AP)—A new type rescue boat, sturdy enough to be dropped from a plane by parachute from high altitudes, has been developed by Higgins Industries, Inc., of New Orleans, and officials said "several hundred are being rushed to completion."

They say the boats can be dropped fully equipped to ship or plane survivors or castaways. The boats carry clothing, blankets, medical supplies, blood plasma, smoke signals and rockets to discharge buoy lines.

Nazi, U. S. MPs Find Their Difficulties About Same

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS In France, July 31 (Delayed)—Two military police talked over police problems today—and found them pretty much the same in any army.

One was a tall, blond lieutenant in a blue uniform who stood behind barbed wire.

The other guarded him — Pvt. Carl Willmy, who used to teach music and physical education at the Patchogue, N. Y., High school.

Willmy, who speaks German fluently, struck up a conversation with the lieutenant, leader of six German MPs who had surrendered after the traffic over which they had no control—American tank columns—surrounded them. The lieutenant was lonely and anxious to talk.

Troubled With Speeders

"We have much trouble with speeders in our army," said the lieutenant. "They all think they're driving Messerschmitts instead of volkswagons."

"It's the truth," replied Willmy. "I know just what you mean. What do you do with them?"

"You mean the first time we catch them?"

"Yes."

"Bawl the devil out of them. What do you do?"

"We do, too. But I don't say it does much good. What do you do if they violate the speed limit again?"

Put In Solitary

"Each time is different. If we catch them the second time going faster than 60 kilometers (37½ miles) an hour, we put the driver in solitary confinement for three days and he gets only one hot meal during that time."

"What if that doesn't work and you catch him burning up the highway again and again?"

"If he does it several times he is no longer a driver. He's an infantryman, straightway," said the German, shrugging, "and he gets put into the front lines. What do you do?"

"Put Him On His Feet"

"We do that too," said Willmy, grinning. "We put him on his feet again and give him something to carry. What is your other biggest problem?"

"Making drivers keep proper intervals in the convoys. We don't let them pass on the roads, but it is difficult to make them stay the proper distance apart. But recently we've had much movement and they jam traffic. That is bad."

"I see what you mean," said Willmy, looking at an American fighter plane sweeping across the sky. The German said nothing.

Drinks Scarce For Nazis

"Have you much trouble with the soldiers taking a drop too much now and then," asked Willmy.

"No. Considering the amount of cider and wine there is about we have little trouble from drinking. And you?"

"H'mmmm," said Willmy, changing to another subject. "Do you have many A. W. O. L.'s?"

"Not many. I know of only one case."

"How do you punish A. W. O. L.'s?"

"It depends on the individual case and the man's record," said the lieutenant. "But if we are retreating and the soldier is given orders to hold the line at any cost and later shows up and tries rejoining the unit, he is taken aside immediately and shot—he is shot real hard."

Pier On Hudson River Burns

HOBOKEN, N. J., Aug. 12. (AP)—A 1,100-foot pier in the Hudson river was almost completely destroyed by fire which raged about four hours before being brought under control early today.

Acting Fire Chief Andrew H. Keller said the fire was of undetermined origin and began on a barge which was transferring its cargo to a ship moored at pier No. 4. Keller said there was no indication of sabotage. He said there was no immediate estimate of the loss, but it was unofficially reported at $4,000,000.

Fourteen persons were taken to St. Mary's hospital for treatment of burns and smoke poisoning, while more than 50 others, including firemen, were given first aid treatment at the scene.

Three Barges Burned

Three barges and a derrick moored at the pier were burned, one of the barges sinking. A liberty ship and a foreign cargo vessel were towed to satisfy in the river from the pier before flames reached them.

The fire began at 8 o'clock last night and was brought under control at 12:30 a.m., today. In addition to Hoboken fire apparatus, equipment was brought from New York City, Union City and Jersey City, N. J. Four New York City fire boats and a tender, as well as coast guard craft, battled the blaze from the river. Firemen were reinforced by 900 coast guardsmen from Staten island, Ellis island, Jersey City and New York City.

Fire Seen In Manhattan

Hundreds of regular and auxiliary police were called to control thousands of spectators attracted to the scene. At its height the fire was visible in Manhattan and clouds of smoke drifted widely over the city.

Police quoted Rocco Albro, stevedore on the pier, as saying the fire occurred when drums of oil or nitro-cellulose exploded, igniting both the pier and the barges. McFeeley said a series of explosions also occurred. They were heard in New York and nearby communities. Other blasts occurred later.

Describing it as one of the worst waterfront fires in recent years, Keller said that the interior of the pier and its contents were destroyed. Sections of the roof sagged and portions of the pier collapsed, firemen said.

The pier, under control of the Maritime commission, berthed many large trans-Atlantic liners before the war, and the area was the major port of embarkation for troops during the first World War.

Mexico To Release Water For Valley

SAN BENITO, Aug. 12. (U.P.)—Relief was in sight today for one of the most serious water shortages in the history of the Rio Grande section of Texas.

J. L. Lytel, district engineer of the international boundary commission, was notified last night that water will be released to the drouth-ridden valley from El Azucar reservoir on Mexico's San Juan river.

Adolfo Oriva Alba, commissioner of irrigation for Mexico, ordered David Herrera Jorda, reservoir engineer, to release water sufficient to relieve the current shortage, Lytel said.

The order arrived while stringent water conservation measures were in force throughout the valley.

Details had been worked out between U. S. Commissioner L. M. Lawson and Mexican Commissioner Rafael Fernandez McGregor.

Luling Man Gets Highest Award

ROME, Aug. 12 (AP)—The award of the Congressional Medal of Honor to Tech Sgt. James M. Logan of Luling, Texas, was not made because he was the first to land on the beaches at Salerno but was in recognition of his heroic one-man fight against the Germans when they attempted to hurl the American 36th division back into the sea some hours after it landed.

He distinguished himself again in the battle of Rome, but that was after he had been hospitalized for six months with a broken arm suffered at Salerno. He was wounded again as the division made its breakthrough at Velletri.

(Announcement of the nation's highest award to the Luling Sergeant was made from Washington several weeks ago.)

The only son of Mrs. Maggie M. Logan of Luling, the fighting sergeant was mobilized with the famous Texas division in 1940.

Killed Three Machinegunners

After the landing at Salerno his company advanced 800 yards inland. Shortly before dawn the Germans attacked with tanks and infantry. As the enemy moved on the company's position, Logan scrambled up a canal in full view of the Nazis and took three carefully aimed shots, killed three German machinegunners.

He advanced under fire across the open terrain to a wall and crouched behind it. He picked off two more Germans gunners, hurdled the wall, seized a machinegun and turned it on the other fleeing members of its crew.

Captured Two Nazis

Then he hurled the weapon against the wall, smashing it, and a moment later captured two more Germans who were trying to sneak away.

Logan then advanced on a house containing a sniper, shot the lock away, kicked open the door and killed the sniper.

He rejoined his battalion at Anzio after release from the hospital in May and at Velletri stood up against a German counter-attack with an automatic rifle, emptying five magazines. The weapon jammed as two Germans came within 20 yards of him. He hurled grenades which felled both.

Production From New Combined Zone Is Found In Andrews

Prolific oil production from a new zone at 8,460-8,600 feet, in the Siluro-Devonian formation, is assured from Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation No. 1-7, Universrity of Texas, a wildcat discovery in northwest Andrews county, two miles southwest of the Fullerton field.

This is a major development for West Texas, as it is the first production so far found in the Siluro-Devonian horizon, and likely will lead to considerable exploration to find more of the same pay.

During two hours, after being turned into tanks, each Friday morning, the well put 285 barrels of 40 gravity oil into storage tanks. This was after the well crew had pulled the swab five times, and it had kicked off and flowed into the pit for one hour. In the last hour of testing, flow was 150 barrels of crude. It is now shut in to build storage.

Before running swab, the operator washed pay section with 1,000 gallons of acid, through 395 perforations in 7-inch casing. The two-inch tubing was run to the bottom of the perforated zone at 8,600 feet, and it was perforated only three feet—from 8,597 feet to 8,600 feet. A ¾ inch choke was used on tubing for flowing test.

This well, located in section 20, block 13, University survey, missed production in the regular Fullerton pay, which is productive two miles northeast, and was drilled ahead to test for the Ellemburger, around 10,500 feet.

The zone which is now producing was encountered unexpected. It was first called Wolf camp, Lower Permian, but the operator has now designated it Siluro-Devonian, and that makes this well the first producer in West Texas from the combined section.

There are a few wells in the area producing from the Devonian, and at least one from the Silurian, but all of them are at least 75 miles from the Mid-Continent producer.

Amen is an ancient Hebrew word meaning true or faithful.

The Senate Wakes Up!; Hitler Is Believed Planning Post-War Sub-Rosa Plot

Probe Of Oil Pact Opened

Attempted "By-Pass" Blocked

THE promptness with which members of the Senate Foreign Relations committee decided to investigate the British-American oil agreement announced through the American State department a few days ago should be heartening to those who believe that constitutional procedure should be followed in all United States' dealings with other governments.

State department spokesmen, in announcing the agreement, expressed uncertainty as to whether it would be referred to the Senate. These spokesmen hinted that attempt might be made to enforce it through an "executive order" of the type which has become a favored tool of the present administration in by-passing Congress.

This intent was indicated in the face of the unquestioned fact that the Constitution especially provides that all "treaties" are subject to the advice and the consent of the Senate. The attempt to by-pass the Senate in this instance, it was indicated, would be through the device of calling the agreement by some name other than "treaty," even though it proposes to regulate every phase of petroleum production, processing and distribution throughout the world for all time to come.

It is possible, of course, that purposes of such agreements are meritorious. It could be that this particular agreement is sound and to the best interests of the nations concerned and the entire world. Certainly no one can quarrel with the purported effort through such agreements to keep oil—and all other essential materials — out of the hands of rapacious nations which would try to use them to enslave mankind.

But people of this nation either should change their Constitution, or they should demand that constitutional procedure be followed in the making of such agreements. Certainly they should not permit any individual or any department of government to abrogate to itself the treaty-making power through the sham of attempting to call a treaty by some other name.

Fortunately, the Senate is on its guard against such things, as the Foreign Relations committee proved so promptly. Members of the committee demonstrated that, regardless of whether the State department or anyone else likes it, constitutional government still has its alert and stalwart champions in the United States.

The Philippines Come Next?

PARTICULARLY intriguing was the report the other day that new President Osmena and the government of the Commonwealth of the Philippines will move from Washington soon to establish themselves in some location closer to Manila. The new location might be any of numerous places.

Obviously, the publicity given to the announcement had its purposes. The implications are clear either that something is about to happen affecting the Philippines, or the Allied strategists are attempting to aggravate further the severe case of jitters from which Tokyo's warlords are suffering.

The best guess at the moment would seem to be that, if the Philippines are not intended to be the next stop of the Tokyo-bound Allies, then the islands certainly are not far down the line on the liberation schedule.

But, no matter when the American and Allied strategists may expect to attack, the move affecting President Osmena almost certainly will impress Tokyo with the feeling of urgency in rushing all available strength to the defense of the Philippines. This would mean that Japanese defenses elsewhere would have to be weakened — and it is well within the range of possibility that those "defenses elsewhere," rather the islands, are next on the American schedule of attack. If the announcement of the impending change of residence was intended as nothing more than a blow in the war of nerves, it holds the promise of proving quite a blow.

If early attacks upon the island are contemplated, the desirability of the nearby presence of President Osmena and his government is too obvious for comment. The Filipinos naturally aren't going to rally around anyone like they will around leaders of their own race.

It is possible, of course, that the opportunity to rally around their President won't be given the islanders for some time to come. But the contemplated move of Mr. Osmena assuredly supports the suspicion, anent the Philippines, that anything might happen, and probably will, before too long.

The Sixty-Four Dollar Question

American Ground Troops Lose Bitterness Over Air Corps' Error

U. S. Bombing Of Enemy Lines Starkly Dramatic

By ERNIE PYLE
Special Correspondent

IN NORMANDY (By Wireless)—With our own personal danger past, our historic air bombardment of the German lines holding us in the Normandy beachhead again became a captivating spectacle to watch.

By now it was definite that the great waves of four-motored planes were dropping their deadly loads exactly in the right place.

ERNIE PYLE

And by now two Mustang fighters, flying like a pair of doves, patrolled back and forth, back and forth, just in front of each on-coming wave of bombers, as if to shout to them by their mere presence that here was not the place to drop—wait a few seconds, wait a few more seconds.

And then we could see a flare come out of the belly of one plane in each flight, just after they had passed over our heads.

The flare shot forward, leaving smoke behind it in a vivid line, and then began a graceful, downward curve that was one of the most beautiful things I've ever seen.

• • •

Bombs Guide Other Bombs

It was like an invisible crayon drawing a rapid line across the canvas of the sky, saying in a gesture for all to see: "Here! Here is where to drop. Follow me."

And each succeeding flight of oncoming bombers obeyed, and in turn dropped its own hurtling marker across the illimitable heaven to guide those behind.

• • •

LONG before now the German ack-ack guns had gone out of existence. We had counted three of our big planes down in spectacular flames, and I believe that was all. The German ack-ack gunners either took to their holes or were annihilated.

How many waves of heavy bombers we put over I have no idea. I had counted well beyond 400 planes when my personal distraction obliterated any capacity or desire to count.

I only know that 400 was just the beginning. There were supposed to be 1800 planes that day, and I believe it was announced later that there were more than 3,000.

It seemed incredible to me that any German could come out of that bombardment with his sanity. When it was over even I was grateful in a chastened way I had never experienced before, for just being alive.

• • •

Colonel Is Upset

I thought an attack by our troops was impossible now, for it is an unnerving thing to be bombed by your own planes.

During the bad part a colonel I had known a long time was walking up and down behind the farmhouse, snapping his fingers and saying over and over to himself, "dammit, dammit!"

As he passed me once he stopped and stared and said, "dammit!"

And I said, "There can't be any attack now, can there?" and he said "no," and began walking again, snapping his fingers and tossing his arms as thought he was throwing rocks at the ground.

• • •

THE leading company of our battalion was to spearhead the attack 40 minutes after our heavy bombing ceased. The company had been hit directly by our bombs. Their casualties, including casualties in shock, were heavy. Men went to pieces and had to be sent back. The company was shattered and shaken.

And yet Company B attacked—and on time, to the minute! They attacked, and within an hour they sent word back that they had advanced 800 yards through German territory and were still going. Around our farmyard men with stars on their shoulders almost wept when the word came over the portable radio. The American soldier can be majestic when he needs to be.

• • •

Bitterness All Gone

There is one more thing I want to say before we follow the group troops on deeper into France in the great push you've been reading about now for days.

I'm sure that back in England that night other men—bomber crews—almost wept, and maybe they did really, in the awful knowledge that they had killed our own American troops. But I want to say this to them. The chaos and the bitterness there in the orchards and between the hedgerows that afternoon have passed. After the bitterness came the sober remembrance that the Air Corps is the strong right arm in front of us. Not only at the beginning, but ceaselessly and everlastingly, every moment of the faintest daylight, the Air Corps is up there banging away ahead of us.

• • •

ANYBODY makes mistakes. The enemy makes them just the same as we do. The smoke and confusion of battle bewilder us all on the ground as well as in the air. And in this case the percentage of error was really very small compared with the colossal storm of bombs that fell upon the enemy.

The Air Corps has been wonderful throughout this invasion, and the men on the ground appreciate it.

Side Glances --- By Galbraith

MRS. KATE WERGIN and Mrs. Lucille Froehling of Chicago had been sentenced to 25-years in prison for having harbored Herbert Haupt, who was executed as a German saboteur after having sneaked into this country by submarine.

The two women appealed, and the court held that there had been serious errors in the trial and discharged them. Their husbands, however, were sent to prison for five years each.

A miserable mess and yet the picture of the two women that appeared in my paper with the story showed them smiling happily, such as you would smile if a bit of rare good fortune had just befallen you.

Such is human nature.

• • •

I have seen murderers who had been condemned to death shout with joy because their sentences had been commuted to life imprisonment.

I have seen people who were given but three months to live because of some mortal sickness, happy as children when they heard that they had another year of grace.

Can you condemn anyone for that? Life is sweet apparently in any form. As long as there is life there is hope. A trite saying but certainly true.

Twenty years ago my mother-in-law told me that she would never want to live if she got so old that she could not take care of herself any longer. She would do this or that rather than suffer.

Today she is an old, old lady, in constant pain, with every day a bonus. She is bedridden and will never be able to be up again.

Yet, out of her window she can see the top of a tree, and in that tree a robin laid her eggs and hatched two fledglings.

• • •

WHENEVER we visit her she tells us all about the doings of the robin family. And now that the youngsters have flown away she worries about them and wonders whether they will get along all right.

Thus, worrying about the birds, she forgets her own troubles and already hopes that next year the mother robin will come back and hatch again.

No wonder those two women were smiling in the picture. Life is sweet. One day their husbands will come out of prison and start all over again.

As long as you have hope you need not despair. Instead of looking in, look out. You may see only a robin's nest. But even in that nest there is all the wonder of life a wonder that no human being can understand.

Gestapo Makes Preparations

(Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Diplomatic observers in London and Washington think they know why Hitler is fighting on, despite the fact that his armies are licked on every front.

Underground reports are that Hitler is now laying plans through the Gestapo and the Schutzstaffel for a German movement to continue opposing the Allies sub-rosa after any armistice; also to provide the groundwork for the rebirth of a "greater Germany" after the war.

Another thing to remember is that Germany now has more than a quarter of a million hunted men inside its borders—men who the Allies know are responsible for incredible atrocities, men who are on the Allies' death list for punishment.

PEARSON

Throughout the war, the Russians, British, and all the Allied governments-in-exile have been compiling careful lists of Germans guilty of atrocities. These lists have been compiled from testimony of escaped refugees and of victims in reoccupied territory.

As a result, these quarter million Germans know they must fight or die. So the Gestapo is busy planting caches of light arms, sub-machine guns, pistols and ammunition all over Germany, buried underground where they will be available for the hunted Nazi criminals.

Diplomatic reports also are that Himmler is developing mountain hide-outs in several parts of Europe where key Nazis can live quietly until the Allied cry for vengeance lets up.

All these preparations take time, and until they are completed, Hitler will keep on fighting.

NOTE — It is also reported inside the diplomatic corps that the Nazis have prepared printing presses in these hide-outs to forge credentials and documents so that escaped Nazis can take new names to avoid capture.

KNUDSEN'S NEW JOB

"BIG BEAR" Bill Knudsen, former production wizard for General Motors, has not been too happy since he quit his job in the former Office of Production Management for three stars of a lieutenant general. He has inspected airfields, looked over airplane factories, been general trouble shooter for the Air Corps. But he has considered his job largely routine, never felt fully occupied.

The other day, Army officials appointed General Knudsen to a new job at Wright Field in charge of airplane production. Friends expected the "Big Bear" to be happy. Not all of them realized that, although General Somervell was howling about slackening production, actually the Army is almost glutted with planes.

To close friends, as he was about to leave for Dayton, General Knudsen grunted:

"We've got airplanes in hangars. We've got airplanes on fields. We've got airplanes running out our ears. What we need is some one to slow up airplane production. Good Lord, when the Army once gets started, it's hard to stop."

ADOLF AND BENITO

UNCENSORED dispatches received here by diplomatic pouch reveal that the last Hitler-Mussolini meeting was called under highly significant circumstances at Il Duce's own request.

The once proud ruler of Italy wanted a pledge from Hitler that the Nazis would make a major effort to defend the Gothic Line in northern Italy. Hitler is reported to have pointed out, in reply, that he was terribly short of tactical reserves and could do little. However, Mussolini is reported to have convinced the Fuehrer to use the German-trained Italian Fascist divisions recruited by Mussolini after the fall of Naples.

These Black Shirts are equipped with German uniforms and weapons, were picked for their loyalty to Fascism. Presumably, they will now defend the Gothic Line side by side with Nazi troops.

NOTE—Italian troops still loyal to Mussolini are called neo-Fascists.

HOLLWOOD IN FOR TROUBLE

IT ISN'T being advertised yet, but Hollywood movie moguls are in for some more rough sledding at the hands of the Justice department. The old anti-trust suit against them is going to be dusted off soon and prosecuted anew—this time with more vigor.

Four years ago, hard-hitting Thurman Arnold, then in charge of the Justice department's trust-busting division, filed suit against the big Hollywood companies for conspiracy to hog the movie market. He contended that the Kleig-light boys were not only producing pictures but monopolizing the channels of distribution and, by owning their own theaters, making it tough for independents to operate.

After Arnold brought suit, however, Jimmy Roosevelt, then a Hollywood producer himself, intervened, largely through his friend Harry Hopkins, then Secretary of Commerce. Hopkins managed to cool off the Justice department, and the suit was compromised through a consent decree.

Recently, however, the movie moguls have refused to go along on a new decree giving independent theater owners a better break.

So Aftorney General Biddle will crack down again. This time he is in dead earnest and will attempt to force a complete divorce between theaters, film distribution and film production. This would mean that the big companies, such as Paramount, RKO, Warner Brothers, Twentieth-Century Fox and MGM, would have to choose between making movies, distributing them, or operating their own huge theater chains.

NOTE—Movie moguls are banking on the hope that there will be a new administration next year and that Dewey's attorney general won't be so keen on anti-trust suits.

AXIS INSIDE

EUROPE'S underground is boiling. For the first time its members are all linked up together. The Maquis of France, the Partisans of northern Italy, and Marshal Tito's Patriot forces in Yugoslavia have now established contact, are working as a unified force, causing Himmler many sleepless nights . . . The United States has made it clear to Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania that it is not interested in talking about peace with these satellite governments unless they send emissaries prepared to sign peace agreements on the spot. In other words, the United States will not listen to any peace feelers from Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary through neutral or other sources . . . Any Bulgarian or Romanian officials who want to make peace with the United States will have to prove that they are the real McCoy and actually authorized to sign an agreement for their governments before American representatives will sit down to talk terms. . . . The diplomatic corps takes with a large grain of salt the sudden resignation of German Ambassador to the Vatican Baron von Weizsaecker . . . This is the same von Weizsaecker who in 1938 acted as Hitler's principal negotiator and table-banger in the Nazi plot to annex Czechoslovakia and ultimately Poland. Diplomats who know him say some Nazis can be reformed, but not von Weizsaecker . . . They believe he is merely a front man for the German General staff and its plan for a new war by a greater Germany 30 years hence.

"In the presidential campaign, the Republican Party should advocate sound money, thrift and hard work," says Senator Taft. If it does, it won't even carry Vermont.

If you have trouble remembering names and faces and feel that you must do something about it, become a politician.

Our Curious World---By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Yes. But the gloves of all other players carry restrictions.

Welles' Book Is August Book-Of-The-Month

"Time For Decision" Gives Diplomatic Picture Of The War

A WARNING that unless immediate action is taken to establish an international organization which guarantees full representation for all the United Nations we will face another armed truce such as confronted the world in 1919, is voiced by former Under-Secretary of State Sumner Welles in his new book, "The Time for Decision," published by Harpers. Welles' book, which is rated in official Washington and London as the most important publication to date on the diplomatic picture of the war, will be distributed as the August selection of the Book-of-the-Month club.

SUMNER WELLES

Calling the failure to create a world agency now a "fatal error," Welles, says, "It is absolutely essential (if we are to avoid the debacle of the League of Nations) that the international organization have the time to shake down into a working body before being confronted with the violent stresses of the period following the conclusion of the war. That was one of the major reasons for the failure of the old League. It did not grow gradually as a result of actual experience, but came suddenly nto beng as a completed and detailed charter. This time we must have a world alliance that is a carry-over from the war."

Proposes World Organization

Pointing out that the lack of full representation for smaller countries and the failure to give full military scope to the major powers were the two great problems which helped defeat the League of Nations, Welles proposes a world organization based on a plan of regional representation. This "Provisional United Nations Executive Council" will be composed of eleven members, including one chosen by each of the four major powers (United States, Great Britain, Russia and China), two by the European group of states, two by the American group, one by the Far Eastern group, one each by the Near and Middle East, Africa and the British Dominions.

The council is to have four major duties: "the pacific settlement of all disputes threatening peace;" if that fails, "the reference of these disputes to the police agencies functioning under its authority;" the "determination of the form of government of Axis territories after the military occupation is ended," and "the formulation of a completed plan for a permanent international organization."

Must Be Ratified

In order to come into being, the council must be ratified by at least twenty members of the United Nations. And it cannot act except by a two-thirds vote of its voting members, including the four major powers.

Stating that the dangers Wilson envisaged when he warned about "organized rivalries" within the League of Nations cannot be ignored, Welles says, "The surest way to prevent this is to make the Provisional Council capable of exercising a continuing control so that it can check instantly any development of the regional system which might smack of political or economic 'spheres of influence.' By giving each region full representation and by guaranteeing the Council supreme authority, any trend in that direction can be thwarted."

Reports On Interviews

"No international organization can conceivably survive unless it is supported by free men and women throughout the world. That support will not be forthcoming unless the world organization assures them all of national independence and liberty — not overlordship. The smaller members of the United Nations are not fighting a war to replace the Axis tyranny with a new form of world dictatorship by the four major powers. We must realize this, because the determination of some of the people of Asia, the Near East and of Africa to secure their freedom cannot longer be thwarted."

In his book Welles also gives, for the first time, a full report on his interviews with the heads of Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany in 1940, during the "phony war," when he visited these countries as special representative of President Roosevelt. He had made this trip in order to sound out the possibilities for a "lasting peace."

THANKS FOR THE LIFT, AMERICA!

All Over the World, Our Fighting Men Salute the Home-Front for "Backing the Attack" in the 5th War Loan Drive. The 5th War Loan Has Gone Over the Top!

You've attained every one of the 5th War Loan objectives—and then some! The overall goal, corporate and individual, was $16 billion; $20,639,000,000 was realized. The individual goal was $6 billion; $6,330,000,000 (preliminary) was realized. The "E" or "People's" Bond goal—the most important element in the individual quota, and the hardest one to make—was $3 billion; $3,036,000,000 was realized.

The American public has scored not only a resounding Victory on the home-front, but the greatest one to date!

For this inspiring demonstration of "Democracy-in-Action," our fighting men on all the far-flung battlefronts of the world give thanks for the lift. The spirit you have shown gives reassurance of support to those on the long and bloody road to Berlin . . . and Tokyo.

Every man, woman and child in America may well thrill with pride at the success of this unprecedented drive—the greatest war-financing operation the world has ever known. This includes the millions who "dug deep" to buy extra Bonds and the untiring volunteers who helped sell them—the whole cavalcade of America galvanized into action on a spontaneous voluntary basis.

But just as the battle continues with ever mounting fury, so we on the home-front must continue to "back the attack." As General Eisenhower has said:

"Satisfactory as is the progress of this battle to date, in magnitude it is but a mere beginning to the tremendous struggles that must follow before final victory is achieved.

"To this end we need every man, every weapon, and all the courage and fortitude of our respective peoples. The Allied soldier will do his duty."

Yes—and we on the home-front will do our duty, also. Let no man think that in such heart-stirring times as these, when our boys are facing their most crucial weeks and months ahead, that the part we play in buying Bonds is trivial compared to their earth-shaking deeds and heroic challenging of death.

Far from trivial, our home-front tasks are today more important than ever.

Encouraged by the example of what a united people can do when the cause is just, let us continue to "back the attack—buy more than before" until the day of final victory. And let us resolve not only to buy bonds to the fullest extent of our powers, but to hold them until maturity—for a better, a safer, happier world for all.

Policy On Radio After War Urged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—The U. S. State department, foreseeing a tremendous "new era" for radio, called on industrial experts today for help in shaping American policy on the renovation of "horse and buggy" regulations governing international telecommunications.

Francis Colt DeWolf, chief of the department's telecommunications division, told more than 200 representatives of the radio and telecommunications industries that this country's views on the postwar organization of world communications must be defined speedily. World regulations must "be brought up to date after the war," he said.

Conference Is Scheduled

The first major communications conference, an inter-American parley, may be held next spring at Rio De Janeiro, DeWolf revealed.

The State department submitted for discussion a tentative draft of proposed revisions in the Madrid international telecommunications convention, a 1932 treaty governing world communications.

Emphasizing that the views of industry were vital in shaping the final recommendations to be submitted by this country to future postwar conferences, officials outlined a proposal for streamlining the Madrid treaty, and its subsequent telecommunications union which could be incorporated into any future world political organization.

Frenquencies Knottiest Problem

One proposal called for a central frequency regulation board empowered to allocate radio frequencies to nations, limit interference and prevent overlapping of radio communications.

The all-day session spotlighted what promised to be the knottiest radio problem after the war—the task of dividing the limited number of radio frequencies so as to accommodate multitudes of growing servicees, ranging from international and national to police and amateur broadcasting.

Opposition Outspoken

Outspoken opposition from some quarters greeted a report of the government's interdepartmental radio advisory committee recommending the abolition of the present international shortwave broadcasting system to make way for greatly expanded television, frequency modulation, aviation, navigational and other radio services.

Terming international broadcasting essential to postwar cooperation among nations, E. K. Cohan, of the Worldwide Broadcasting foundation, proposed that present frequencies allocated to German, Japanese and Italian shortwave stations be appropriated for use by the United Nations after the war.

Former Texas Cotton Man Dies In London

GALVESTON, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—Ralph P. Ziegler, who helped develop the cotton export business of Galveston, died recently in a London hospital, his acquaintances here reported today.

A native of England, Ziegler came to the United States in 1912 and was associated for several years with various export firms here. He had retired from business and returned to England several years ago. His last visit to Galveston was in 1938.

Houston Man Asks $5,000 From Union

HOUSTON, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—W. Barenek, of Jefferson county, filed suit in district court today against the AFL international association of heat and frost insulators and asbestos workers, local 22, for $5,000 in damages on an allegation he had paid initiation fees eight times in five years and still was not a member of the union.

Each time he applied for union membership, Barenek alleged, he was charged $10 initiation fee for work permits and cards issued by the local. With these, he said, he was able to earn about $5,000 yearly. His suit set out, however, that he war tired of recurring payments of initiation fees that didn't get him iniated.

The average father in the United States is 44 years old.

War Workers' Parade Said Like '49 Rush

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12 (AP)—The rush of war workers to the West was compared with the gold rush of 1849 by Gov. Earl Warren of California in opening the western mining conference, which entered its second day today.

Other speakers called for a world-wide monetary standard of gold and silver, opposed the program adopted at the Bretton Woods conference, emphasized difficulties 'cause by the labor shortage, and called for the creation of an industrial West.

Lt. Foster Anxious For More Duty---Just So It's Flying

You gather from hearing him say his piece in a minimum of words that First Lt. C. M. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Foster of 2220 Tenth street, has rather enjoyed his "routine part in the war" and that he'd like to go back —"if it meant flying some more."

Seventy-one combat missions in a temperamental B-26 Marauder bomber, over France, Belgium and Holland, invariably in fields of flak that blossom at the Marauder's favorite bombing-run altitudes, might be considered "enough," at least for quite a spell — but Lt. Foster would like more.

LT. FOSTER

He had thought he'd like a tour of duty with the fighters, but isn't quite certain what his chances would be. Naturally, the B-29 schools are enticing. And ferry piloting—"you get to fly all sorts of ships that way" — would be grand."

In other words, just so there's an airplane mixed with his reassignment. . . .

Joined Air Corps In 1942

Lt. Foster joined the Air corps in January of 1942, after having attended Texas Technological college a year and a half as a liberal arts student. He trained in PT-19s at Sikeston, Mo., BT-13s at Enid, Oklahoma., AT-10s at Ellington field, where he was commissioned, then went to Barksdale field for transition training on B-26s. He joined a B-26 group at MacDill field, Tampa, Fla., and flew to England, where his group was made a part of the 9th Air force.

The Distinguished Flying Cross and one cluster, the Air Medal and 11 clusters, and the fact he and flying the second plane he'd dubbed "Murder, Incorporated," string together to refute the prosaic account he gives of his own contribution to blowing both ends off Germans and their equipment around gun emplacements, staging areas and in supply columns. The first "Murder, Incorporated" shipped such a hail of lead and steel it was retired from immediate service.

Nazis Scared Off

A non-leakable umbrella of Spitfires, Lightnings or Mustangs kept the German fighters so far from the Marauders that, except for an occasional exception, Lt. Foster saw litle of them. An occasional night mission had its "educational moments, with flak framing the planes in fire and noise."

England to him is "one constantly surprising land of believe-it-or-not eye-openers," with beauty in the traditional plantings, quaintness in the old walls and winding streets, manifest engineering feats accomplished in earlier centuries in construction of churches and other great edifices. It is a land of airports so crowded that they "almost overlap" and of a dogged population that moves "in single purpose through death and destruction, convinced there can be but one conclusion — downfall of Britain's enemies."

Lt. Foster will report Aug. 31 to the redistribution center at Santa Monica, Calif. After the war? "I expect to keep flying, if there are enough flying jobs to pass around."

Office Building To Replace Mansion

NEW YORK, Aug. 12 (AP)—The 54-room stone Vanderbilt mansion, last of seven homes the family once maintained on Fifth avenue, will be replaced by an office building.

Plans were filed by the William Waldorf Astor estate yesterday to erect a 13-story ofice building at the cost of $1,062,000 on the site at 51st street and Fifth avenue opposite St. Patrick's cathedral. The house was built in 1891.

Trouble Comes In Regular Bunches For Sailor's Wife

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—Trouble follows trouble in the life of Mrs. Patricia Doyle of Honolulu.

She was notified in May that her husband, machinist's mate George Doyle, had been killed on submarine duty.

Four weeks later, her house was robbed of the money she had been saving for the birth of her child.

The next day, her two-year-old daughter was drowned.

Friends pooled $1,000 which she used to come to the mainland to give birth to her second child next month.

Soon after she arrived a burglar took $900 from her room in San Gabriel.

Arriving in Los Angeles with $60, she met a girl who offered to share a room.

Mrs. Doyle told police today the girl had stolen her clothing and the $60.

Man Couldn't Stop Running Backwards Held For Examination

SEATTLE, Aug. 12 (U.P.)—Psychiatrists today examined John Bollinger, 40, who was held by authorities after three unsuccessful attempts at suicide because he "couldn't stop running backwards."

Bollinger told police he tried suicide because frequently he found himself running backward, away from places he wanted to go.

He said the first time this happened was four years ago when he tried to enter a restaurant where he was employed.

"I walked up to the window and the next thing I knew I was back at the curb," he said. "I tried again and this time I found myself running backwards around the block. Finally somebody stopped me and took me to a hospital."
