Depression To Be Battled By Extensive War

American Legion Prepares For "War On Depression", While President Hoover Organizes Hoarding Group

Zero Hour Is Set

Henry Stevens States Legion Will Put 1,000,000 Men To Work In Month; Orders Are Given To "Troops"

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Swiftly developing campaign plans for a far-flung and simultaneous war upon hoarding and unemployment were mapped today at the White House.

With an eye to the convening early tomorrow of his White House anti-hoarding conference, President Hoover announced he had called Col. Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, to head a national organization to free $1,300,000,000, hidden dollars.

Plan Is Outlined

Shortly before he spoke, Henry L. Stevens, commander of the American Legion, outlined in the executive mansion details for an intensified "war on depression."

The American Legion and its affiliated organization Stevens asserted, will put 1,000,000 men to work in a month. Zero hour for the drive, he added, is set for 8 a. m., February 15.

The chief executive said it was possible headquarters for Colonel Knox's national organization to return hidden money to commercial channels might be established in Chicago. The publisher, a former general manager of Hearst newspapers, and a former chairman of the Republican state committee of Michigan, is expected at the White House shortly to discuss plans for his campaign.

Get War Orders

Today Henry Stevens outlined to the president the Legion program.

More than 10,000 Legion posts have received "war orders," he said, to work toward twin objectives. During nearly three months of pre-

Japanese Reinforcements May Send Chinese Army Against Defenses Of International Settlement

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Fears that the international settlement at Shanghai would be gravely endangered if the Japanese and Chinese forces met in a final desperate battle were expressed in military circles here today.

Observers predicted Japanese army reinforcements bound for Shanghai would be landed in the vicinity of the Woosung forts and would march overland to attack the right flank of Chinese.

Cut off from support and reinforcements, the Chinese would be in a desperate situation, with their backs against the international settlement, these commentators said.

If they were hard pressed their only escape, it was pointed out, would be through the international settlement, where they would find themselves faced by the defense forces of the powers. The whole aim of Anglo-American diplomacy is to get the Japanese not to force the Chinese into this desperate position, it was understood.

Henderson Farmer Is Given 23 Years By Corsicana Jury

CORSICANA, Feb. 5. (AP)—Charlie Douglas, Henderson county farmer, was convicted today on a charge of murder for the shooting of his sister-in-law, Miss Texana Hall, and was sentenced to 23-years imprisonment.

Another slaying charge, filed in connection with the shooting of his son-in-law, Davis January, at the same time Miss Hall was slain, remains against Douglas.

Fate Of 28 Missing Men In Doubt; Ships Founder

Cold Waters Of Atlantic Supposedly Hold Victims; Tug And Schooner Go To Bottom

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The cold waters along the Atlantic seaboard tonight held 28 missing men supposedly thrown to watery graves by a ship collision and a terrific gale that caused a tug and a schooner to sink.

Twenty-one of the missing were members of the crew of the schooner Eleanor Nickerson, which went down after a collision with the steamer Jean Jadot 350 miles east of Halifax.

The other seven were aboard the tug Lonnie B. Shaw when it was seen to sink stern first off McCrea shoal, at the entrance to the Delaware breakwater, when high seas swamped her last night.

Three coast guard destroyers, the Cunningham, Cassin and Hunt, were reported at Boston to have left for the position of the Nickerson tragedy, while from Cape May, N. J., the coast guard dispatched seaplanes to search for possible survivors of the tug.

Details of neither accident were available to the coast guard to which the reports were made. The Jean Jadot reported by radio to the Lloyd Royal Belgian line here merely that six members of the Eleanor Nickerson were rescued and it made a futile search for the other 21 members of the crew.

The owner of the Nickerson, Arthur L. Parker of the firm of Arnold & Windsor of Boston,

Mellon Gives Destinies Of Post To Mills

Rules Are Waived In Senate As Former Secretary Gets Huge Vote Of Confirmation; Hoover Has Praise

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—Andrew W. Mellon tonight gave over the destinies of the treasury he has directed for almost 11 years to accept, formally his senate-approved commission as ambassador to Great Britain.

In the chamber where his name and policies have been the center of many vigorous and vitriolic debate, rules were waived to speed through the ambassadorial nomination as a final courtesy to the 76-year-old public servant.

Mills' Name Up

A few minutes later President Hoover transmitted for confirmation the name of Mellon's successor, Ogden L. Mills of New York.

Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), one of the most bitter foes of the former secretary of the treasury announced briefly and in mild voice that he was voting against confirmation. Then the senate approved him as ambassador to the court of St. James with a chorus of "ayes."

Speaking at his regular press conference, President Hoover said he was "gratified" to hear of the senate's action.

Is Real Tribute

"This is a real tribute to Mr. Mellon," he said.

Mr. Hoover was felt some haste was needed because Mills is a member of the reconstruction finance corporation. It was desired that his successor as undersecretary, who is to be Arthur Ballantine, of New York, be installed quickly to make him available as a member of the corporation. While turning over his office to Mills immediately, Mr. Mellon does not intend to proceed to London for several weeks. He is going south first to rest.

Attorney General Of Texas Upheld

AUSTIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—An order obtained by Attorney General James V. Allred directing R. C. Holmes of New York, president, and other officers of the Texas company to appear here and testify in the state's trust ouster suit against oil corporations was sustained by Judge J. D. Moore of the Travis county district court today.

Judge Moore suggested, however, that the attorney general apply for appointment of a commissioner to hear the testimony. He said he deemed it "unwise and inexpedient" for the court to undertake to have the testimony adduced before it, on account of the pressure of other business.

The court held that under the statute the attorney general was within his rights in applying for the order directing attendance of witnesses here, or at any other place at any time designated by him.

Causes For Fatal Dive Of British Sub Thought Found

PORTLAND, Eng., Feb. 5. (AP)—Almost at the same hour the navy was holding impressive services over the channel grave of the submarine M-2, today, divers 100 feet below the surface found the submersible's outer seaplane hangar door and upper conning tower hatch open.

While the discovery did not completely clear up the mystery of the M-2's fatal plunge with the loss of 61 lives on January 26, naval experts believed it might throw a strong light on causes of the disaster.

State Law On Motor Trucks Held Invalid

Three Judge Federal Court At Dallas Permanently Enjoins State Officers From Making Highway Arrests

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 5.—A three-judge federal court today held the state law regulating motor trucks unconstitutional as it affects interstate carriers except in certain police matters.

The state was permanently enjoined from requiring interstate carriers to obtain permits to operate as contract carriers and from enforcing rate provisions of the law against them.

The state's right to police power in matters pertaining to public safety was upheld.

Had Been Arrested

The ruling was made in the suit filed by H. B. Sage and others operating motor truck freight lines from other states into Texas. Sage had been arrested for failure to have a railroad commission permit. He was convicted on this count last November by Justice of the Peace E. John Baldwin.

The injunction does not affect in any way the state's control over motor trucks operating exclusively within the state's boundaries.

Roosevelt Favors Repeal Of National Prohibition

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 5. —(AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, tonight dissipated speculation regarding his prohibition views by referring to a letter he sent to United States Senator Robert F. Wagner, a letter declaring for repeal of the federal law and return of state control of liquor.

His reference was prompted by a statement of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, who said Mr. Roosevelt shortly would announce himself for a national referendum on the prohibition question. The Boston Mayor is a champion of the move to nominate the New York governor.

Week's Debate On Relief Bill Concluded By Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP) — The senate today concluded a week's debate on the $375,000,000 La Follette-Costigan unemployment relief bill with the outcome as much in doubt as when the discussion began.

Republican leaders were confident of enough votes to defeat the direct relief bill, to which President Hoover is opposed, as well as the Democratic substitute calling for twice as much money to be divided between loans to states and road construction.

Speedy Trial Is Expected For Negro Slayer Of Woman

DALLAS, Feb. 5.(AP)—Authorities moved tonight to give the giant negro who killed Mrs. W. S. Gray near Garland and seriously wounded her husband a speedy trial.

While Jack White, alias Rockwall Slim, waxed talkative in the county jail, District Attorney William McCraw said the grand jury would consider the case tomorrow and the case might go to trial next Thursday.

GENEVA, Feb. 5. — The French government today stole a march on the world disarmament conference and proposed arming the League of Nations.

Crashing into a routine plenary meeting, Andre Tardieu, head of the French delegation, laid before the conference a far-reaching scheme to create an international police force and provide the first contingent of punitive troops to aid any state which became the victim of aggression.

PLAN DENOUNCED

WASHINGTON, Feb., 5. (AP)—The proposal of France at the Geneva arms conference for an international police force was denounced tonight by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee as an attempt to fasten "the straight jacket" upon Europe.

Anticipated Debate

Thus the French anticipated next week's debate when successively the British, French, American, Russian, Japanese and Italian delegations were to make known their concrete proposals.

M. Tardieu further proposed to internationalize civil aviation, limit to the League of Nations the right to dispose of heavy bombing planes of wide action, and to place at the league's disposal batteries of long-range artillery vessels carrying guns of more than eight-inch calibre or 10,000 tons.

Aircraft Limited

Besides these proposals, the

Relief Plans Are To Get Attention

AMARILLO, Feb. 5. (AP)—Plans for this territory's participation in the $50,000,000 fund created by congress for the benefit of farmers will be discussed here next Wednesday.

Mayor Ernest O. Thompson today appointed a committee of six to conduct the meeting, which was called in the interest of farmers in the Panhandle and parts of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas. They were Dr. R. P. Parcells, Earl Fuqua, John E. Hill, P. C. Bennett, Wilbur C. Wawk, and O. V. Vernon.

Efforts will be made to learn the number of farmers who will seek aid, the amount they will need, and the action necessary to get prompt benefits.

Suspect Held In Jail For Theft Of Auto In Lamesa

LAMESA, Feb. 5. (Special) —A suspect is being held in the Dawson county jail in connection with the theft of Sheriff Gus White's automobile recently. The case will be investigated by the grand jury.

Sheriff White recovered his automobile in Plainview Thursday and arrested the man, who told the officer he was driving the automobile to McAllester, Okla. The machine was stolen from near a local garage.

Figures In Society Murder Trial

The death penalty is being asked for Edward Allen scion of an aristocratic Philadelphia family, at his trial for the murder of Francis Donaldson, young clubman, assertedly to avenge the honor of his beautiful sister, Rose Allen, society girl. The slaying at first estranged Rose and young Allen and their father, Horace Allen, who was a witness to the shooting. Stewart Nase, new district attorney of Montgomery county, is prosecuting the case.

Hearing In Bombing Case In Panhandle Gets Continuance

PANHANDLE, Feb. 5. —(AP)—Preliminary hearing was continued until Monday morning after four witnesses testified here in the case of M. E. "Mart" Martinson, Skellytown barber, charged with arson in connection with the bombing of a utility company plant at Skellytown January 24.

Two witnesses said they saw a man lurking about the Panhandle Power and Light company's plant and watched from a short distance while the man struck a match to a fuse.

Tammany's Grand Old Man Dies Half Way Through 103rd Year Of Activity

JOHN R. VOORHIS

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. Tammany's grand old man, John R. Voorhis, died today more than half way through his 103rd year.

Although he prided himself on his remarkable physique, recurring periods of illness forced him to end his 58 years in public office last fall and retire to his little red brick home on Greenwich street.

A friend called at his home Monday night and found him in the hall with his hat and coat on. Voorhis said he was going to a Tammany meeting, where his tall frail figure had been almost a landmark for a half century. Considerable persuasion and argument about the inclement weather finally induced him to remain at home. A few hours later, he was stricken with a heart attack from which he died.

Artillery And Machine Guns Go Into Action Along 16-Mile Front; Terror Of War Provides Shanghai Excitement For Important Holiday; Air Raids Become More Frequent

(By The Associated Press)

UNITED STATES regular infantrymen—1,168 strong—were landed in Shanghai today for the first time in American history to protect the international settlement while the Chapei-Woosung battle still raged.

They marched to quarters in the settlement under the booming of Chinese artillery and the rattle of Japanese machine guns.

Japanese authorities denied reports 3,000 Japanese soldiers and 800 bluejackets had been landed at Woosung, occupying the Chinese forts there. They said Chinese troops still held the forts, but the Japanese again would try to bomb and shell them out.

A Japanese airplane, forced down by engine trouble, not by Chinese bullets, the Japanese said, had been picked up in the lower Yangtze river by a British ship. The plane's occupants were uninjured.

Guns Are In Action

Artillery and machine guns went into action on a 16-mile front from Shanghai to Woosung this morning as the Chinese prepared for the first time to contest Japanese supremacy in the air.

Today is new years day in China—the most important holiday in the Chinese calendar. Ordinarily the people celebrate it by popping fire crackers in the streets. This year field pieces and machine guns provided the racket.

Japanese airmen bombed a troop train full of Chinese reinforcements in the Chapei area, scoring a direct hit on one car and causing numerous deaths.

Air Raids Expected

Chinese airplanes flew over the lines for the first time yesterday, in preparation, it was reported, for bombing and air fighting today.

Intense fighting was going on in the Hongkew section of the Shanghai international settlement where the Japanese said 1,000 Chinese snipers had established themselves. Japanese estimated the snipers had cost them 350 during the last few days and that an equal number of the sharpshooters had been killed.

Military observers in Shanghai looked for a last desperate effort by the Chinese to drive out the Japanese blue jackets before army reinforcements arrived from Japan.

Censorship Ordered

In Tokyo the cabinet succeeded in weathering serious differences which had threatened to scrap plans for dispatching army units to Shanghai and to cause the downfall of th government.

Censorship was clamped down on news of troop movements in Japan so the Chinese might not be provided with information that would enable them to launch a mass attack on the bluejackets before the army reached the battle field.

Tokyo indicated further negotiations over a settlement of the Shanghai conflict rested with the United States and the other great powers whose proposals the Japanese recently rejected in part.

Fears Are Expressed

In Washington it was expected new proposals for peace would be framed and forwarded to Tokyo within a few days. Secretary of State Stimson communicated with London and other interested capitals in his efforts to bring about immediate peace and to protect the Shanghai international settlement.

In London fears were expressed by military observers that Japanese reinforcements would be landed at the Woosung forts and that they would attack the Chinese right flank in Chapei, precipitating a rout into the international settlement.

After occupying Harbin, Manchuria, the Japanese sent air bombers to harass the fleeing army of General Ting Chao, who was headed for the southeast.

American Doughboys Sing "Parley Vous"

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6. (Saturday)—Men of the American 31st infantry, 1,168 of them, came into Shanghai today to strains of martial music from a Filipino band, led by picturesque Indian sikhs on white horses and Shanghai motorcycle police.

Brought here from Manila as a result of hostilities between China and Japan endangering Shanghai, the soldiers marched from the transport Chaumont, on which they came, to barracks within the heart of the international settlement.

Thousands Watch

A long column of troops swung from the waterfront where the transport was tied up on its arrival yesterday and along the bund into the famous Nanking road. Although it was early in the morning, thousands watched America's regular soldiers, who were seen here for the first time.

The men were in high spirits. The Filipino band stirred them and the onlookers alike to enthusiasm when it crashed into the song "Parley Vous." The soldiers burst into song with a roar as they passed through Shanghai's famous thoroughfare, which in recent years has seen many foreign military parades, growing out of the city's precarious times.

Raring To Go

Under command of Colonel L. D. Gaser and 68 officers, everything seemed fine as the troops swung along in the snappy morning air.

"We are not cold, but raring to go," they said, although they just had come from the balmy breezes of the Philippines into a cold climate.

The soldiers wore winter field uniforms, having donned them two days out of Manila.

Traffic Halts

Traffic stopped as the men stepped along and the onlookers, principally Chinese, cheered, lifting their voices higher when the stars and stripes passed under a guard of color bearers.

Scores of camera men followed the marching soldiers, recording their historic appearance here in film and sound.

Tomorrow and American newcomers are scheduled to take up positions along the settlement defense lines, shoulder to shoulder with United States marines who already are holding a long sector. British

The Woman's Angle

* * *

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

AFTER having almost a week of good reading, the follower of this column has the regular conductor back today, the influenza having been defeated again. Hope you enjoyed the vacation. Actually, it was almost worth the absence to get to read Bob McCall's Angles. However, the influenza was a poor excuse for getting him in charge. It isn't to be recommended for diversion.

* * *

As a matter of fact, all the woman's page customers have been getting a vacation during the week. Miss Turner, the assistant, curled up after one day of handling things alone and isn't out of bed yet. The substitute society editors were Misses Wayne Atcheson and Sallye Bean, editorial assistant and day proof reader down here, who proved how much they know about getting out society pages. They were getting so good, we decided the flu would have to be forgotten. This high-powered job looked as though it might be in jeopardy.

* * *

IT'S MYTHICAL

MR. McCALL confides that the hardest thing about writing The Woman's Angle was in trying to discover the woman's angle. We could have told him it is a sort of mythical thing, after all. Men and women aren't so different except as individuals. It is hard to find the "feminine" viewpoint on anything, although we must admit that there are certain traditional angles to be taken into consideration on some subjects. Too many women think independently these days for the thing to have a great deal of meaning.

* * *

Back in the days when men were allowed to attend school and women received training in household arts and sewing fine seams from their mothers, the viewpoints probably were entirely different. Today's men and women are schooled in the same classes, however, and their thoughts and reactions are more nearly the same.

The usual thing came up this week. Someone was wanting to know why I work at all. "Why not just stay at home?" a caller wanted to know.

* * *

It was hard to explain to her because she had never done anything else. But just staying at home has no appeal to me. Piecing quilts and planning another meal is all right but, since there is no necessity for me to be doing these things, they appear absolutely useless—a waste of time. Frankly, I would go crazy sitting around at home having nothing particular to do. That's what comes of letting women out in the business world. All these fireside industries lost their appeal.

* * *

THIS influenza seems to be growing in popularity. It should be almost as good as an operation for conversational purposes. We suppose the club that barred any other members who have had operations will take in a few who have influenza to add spirit to the conversation.

* * *

MIGHT SET A STYLE

THE First Lady of the Land received her guests in a cotton frock modeled after the fashions of the seventies the other evening. Mrs. Hoover's gown was of white dimity, printed with a blue figure, copied from a dress her mother had worn. The quaint costume had a fitted bodice, with a V-cut neck, flowing skirt with ruffles and black velvet scollops, we are told. Mrs. Hoover wore this dress in the next-to-the last reception of the official White House season.

* * *

If this were a land where the First Lady set fashions, we should soon all be wearing dimity frocks for our receptions. We could do a lot worse, too, than choose such gowns. In a land where cotton consumption is a large problem, people have been slow to adopt cotton for wearing apparel. Silks have had too much appeal for us. However, summer is coming again, and we should plan to incorporate more cotton into our wardrobes.

* * *

Our dresses need not be of the styles of the Seventies in order to be made of cotton. Some Swanky models have been designed of cotton fabrics.

Enlistment Urged By Local Legion

Voluntary enlistment of all unemployed men of military ages and classifications in the army, navy, marine corps and air service has been advocated in a resolution adopted by the Allen Brothers post of the American Legion here.

The legionnaires condemned proposed drastic cuts in appropriations which would mean an amendment to the National Defense act. The former service men, while not taking a stand for or against proposed appropriations for relief of unemployed, declared that no definite plan for its expenditure had been made.

As a plan for use of this money the legion proposed: Voluntary enlistment of unemployed men, the intensive military training of these volunteers for American defense, and the immediate enlistment or employment of necessary labor to build permanent cantonments which could be converted into government controlled hospitals for the poor and indigent.

Agriculture Commissioner Will Not Attend Gathering

J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture at Austin, will not be able to attend the annual farm and home conference here Saturday and Friday, as he has to go to Washington for a conference on the federal rehabilitation program, R. V. Miller, secretary of the state plant and seed board, has advised the local committee.

In his place W. A. Canon, chief of the division of marketing, will speak. Mr. Canon is a brother of Dr. R. T. Canon and also of Mrs. W. L. Stangel, of Lubbock.

Governor Sterling named Mr. McDonald as one of the four men from Texas to work out plans for the Texas program of the rehabilitation program under the $2,000,000,000 appropriation recently made by congress. He is to go to Washington to meet with the committee in charge, Mr. Miller said.

Humble Leases Land In Garza Area; Test Will Be Started

Leasing of approximately 22,000 acres in Garza county near Justiceburg, has been completed by the Humble Oil company according to word received here.

Later in the spring it is planned to start a test on the lease. No date for the beginning of this contemplated drilling activity is known.

There is one test now being drilled on the townsite of Justiceburg. Five wells near the town are producing in small quantities daily.

Andrew Mellon designed the all-aluminum auto now in use.

Over and over and over again
. . . an endless thankless task

The housewife faces dishes three times a day—twenty-one times a week—ninety times a month—one thousand times a year—on and on and on—

It is an eternal task. You can't quit, but you can make it more pleasant.

Try White King Granulated Soap—it produces a richer, quicker suds with luke-warm water than most soaps do in boiling water—

It contains no tallow base—most soaps do. Tallow requires hot water to melt it—tallow itself adds to the difficulty of getting things clean—

It contains no silicate of soda to weight it and to make it harder to get things clean—

It is not fluffed or flaked to bulk it up big and make it slower in dissolving—

It is made of pure, sweet, clean vegetable and nut oils—the kind you eat—

White King Granulated goes farther than any other soap—regardless of brand, price, weight or type.

It is all soap—contains no useless water.

It rinses out easily and completely—

Dishes wipe more easily and shine more brightly—

Clothes require absolutely no rubbing—no boiling—no bleach or bluing—

Try it today and get more cleanliness at its best and easiest.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: THE SLAVERY OF SIN (Temperance Lesson)

Scripture Lesson: John 8-31-36

International Sunday school lesson for Feb. 7.

31. Jesus therefore said to those Jews that had believed him, If ye abide in my word, then are ye truly my disciples;

32. And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

33. They answered unto him, We are Abraham's seed, and have never yet been in bondage to any man: how sayest thou, Ye shall be made free?

34. Jesus answered them, Verily, verily, I say unto you, Every one that committeth sin is the bondservant of sin.

35. And the bondservant abideth not in the house for ever; the son abideth forever.

36 If, therefore, the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed.

Golden Text: Every one that committeth sin is the bondservant of sin.—John 8:3.

Time: The feast of tabernacles, October 11-18, A. D., 29, the third year of Christ's public ministry.

Place: Jerusalem.

Introduction

This lesson, consisting of only six verses, is one of the shortest ever given us by the Lesson Committee, and yet it is one of the richest. After Christ's discourse on the Bread of Life, which we studied last week, occurred a number of important events in our Lord's life which John omitted because they were narrated by Matthew, Mark and Luke. These were the journey toward Sidon with the healing of the daughter of the Syrophonnician woman, the feeding of the four thousand, the giving of sight to the blind man at Bethsaida, Peter's confession of faith, the transfiguration, the healing of the demoniac boy, and several discourses. Now we find Jesus at the feast of tabernacles in Jerusalem, where he delivered several glorious discourses, which John has recorded. One of these, on the Water of Life, is in chapter 7, which we are omitting. Chapter 8, from which our six verses are taken, discusses the great topics of Christian truth, light and liberty.

Lesson Connection

Six months have passed since the events of our last lesson. Then Jesus was in Galilee; now he is in Jerusalem at the Feast of Tabernacles. In those six months the hostility of the Jews greatly increased following the crisis at Capernaum just after the feeding of the five thousand, when many of his disciples turned away from him. This lesson is taken from that marvelous address spoken to the Jews at the Feast of Tabernacles, which begins with "I am the light of the world," John 8:12-47, and in which he claims to be the eternal Son of God.

"The Bonservant Of Sin," v. 34

"Every one that committeth sin is the bondservant of sin." He who unwittingly grasps the handles of an electrifying machine soon writhes in pain and shrieks for deliverance. Why does he not let go the torturing thing? He cannot; he is at the mercy of the operator, and is the butt of the crowd. It is thus with multitudes who have committed sin; they are its slaves; they are astonished at themselves, ashamed of themselves, filled with grief and remorse, yet utterly unable to break the infernal spell. There is often more hope for the poor wretch agonizing in the tenacles of the devil-fish than there is for some of these victims of vice."—Rev. William L. Watkinson, D. D., L. L. D.

The Slave Of Strong Drink

"Take the slave of strong drink. Does he now take any pleasure in his sin? He did once, but does he still? It has ceased even to promise him pleasure. He knows, even while he lifts the cup to his lips, that it will clothe him with rags, that it has ruined his name and fame, clouded his intellect, given him the bleared eye and the shaking hand, with the promise of an early grave, or if not that, of a forlorn old age, and the loss of his everlasting soul; and yet he cannot put that fatal cup from him. Once ye was a freeman, but now he is a slave, the slave of his sin, bound with chains which he is altogether impotent to break." — Archbishop R. C. French.

Christian Freedom, v. 39

"If therefore the Son shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." The slave of sin thinks that he is free because he is at liberty to follow his base impulses and gratify his bestial desires; but by every such act he rivets the more unbreakably the chains that bind his soul. There is no freedom in the service of self, but only in Christlike service of others. "Dearly did Christ purchase with his own bondage the liberty which He so freely gives."—C. H. Spurgeon.

Paul regarded a Christian as a new man, freshly created in the image of his Redeemer. "So vividly and strongly did this conception of Paul's take hold of Martin Luther that he used to say, 'When any one comes and knocks at the door of my heart and asks, "Who lives here?" I reply, "Martin Luther used to, but he has moved out, and Jesus Christ now lives here." ' May there be many that shall thus go free!"—Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D. Christ gave himself for our ransom, that he might redeem us from the power and penalty of our transgressions. And now he gives to us his wisdom, his spirit, and his grace that we may know the freedom which comes from glad obedience, the liberty which for man is found only in cheerful service to him who made him.

The Eighteenth Amendment

In the light of Christ's teachings the cause of civil liberty as well as personal liberty is seen to be enormously advanced by our national laws forbidding the manufacture and sale of intoxicants. The "wets" charge that these laws are an infraction of "personal liberty," and ring the changes on those words ad nauseam. They have no conception of true freedom, which consists in pure and strong lives devoted to the service of God and man. Nothing that has come about in the world's history has contributed more gloriously to that freedom than the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell says: "The reasons why I have no use for alcoholic beverages on sea or on shore are so numerous that it would be impossible to detail them all. My standpoint is simply that liquor is unnecessary and bad. It is a help only to thieves and robbers. I have seen men robbed in many ways, but they have been able by the help of God to wipe out any lasting results of such transient losses. But the robberies of alcohol are irremediable."

"Total abstainers are the true apostles and advocates of 'personal liberty,' in its highest and noblest form: friends of the only freedom that is genuine and important. Total abstinence, from intoxicating and injurious liquors is the only true realization and complete consummation of human freedom. Indulgence in what is harmful to one's self and others is an abridgement of liberty. Those who seek to redeem the race from the curse of drink are the greatest emancipators of mankind."—Joseph Henry Crooker.

"Alcohol is always included among the 'poisons,' and it is invariably placed side by side with chloroform and ether and described as a narcotic poison. When taken as a daily drink, alcohol causes sensations and effects which are soon imagined to be a necessary part of life. The stomach becomes dependent on the daily dose and disinclined to work without it. It is, indeed, not a matter of mere personal impert but a national concern that we should reckon with this factor of habit before encouraging ourselves or others to do or take what may prove to be injurious both to the individual and to the future generations of our race. The user of alcohol is a slave to a habit-forming narcotic drug.

"Drink prohibition is a very real step towards freedom because it sets free human personality — personality previously degraded by drink, personality that never had opportunity to know itself. The millions of children, doomed to drinking homes from birth, never were able to realize themselves; too often they give up manhood dwarfed in mind, lacking opportunity and health; they were kept from school to earn support for the family or themselves." The better home, the larger available supply of money, the necessities met, the comforts and recreations acquired, are very real liberating forces to the man who has given up his dependence on alcohol.

"The question before the country today is whether or not a free people can pass laws and enforce them; whether the will of the majority in law or the will of minorities in rebellion is to prevail."—Earl L. Douglas).

Matadors Rally Late To Sweep Aggies Series, 37-28

Plainview Trounces Lubbock, 39-23; Canyon Eagles Here Tonight, 7:30

Score Tied As Battle Wanes; Tech Comes Up

Final Spurt By Crews, Hodges And Fisher Net Victory In Last Game With Cameron On Matador Court

BY BOB McCALL

When Alvin Crews, Texas Tech forward, sank a short shot to break a 28-28 deadlock in the Matador-Cameron Aggie basketball scramble last night at the Tech gymnasium, two and a half minutes of play remained. Four field goals and a charity throw dropped through the hoop for Del Morgan's proteges before the gun sounded. The final score, 37 to 28, gave the Matadors a sweep of a two-game series with the Lawton, Okla., aggregation.

Soon after Crews permanently severed the tie, Leon Fisher Tech center, went down to take a pretty pass and hooked in a field goal with only a pursuing Aggie guard near. Clarence Hodges, Matador guard added two points from scrimmage. Several Aggie performers who had been replaced were turned back into the fray.

The ball was played with abandon from one end of the court to the other, the Aggies were unable to hit the iron effectively, and Crews soon added a point from the free-throw line. A crip-shot by Crews, who tumbled or was jostled over a low bannister, ended the scoring.

Six sinkers from scrimmage and a free throw, a total of 13 points, enabled Crews to lead the scoring. Two Aggies, Eskew and Mutziger, forwards, made three field shots. Eskew led his orange-and-black-clad club with seven points, having a free throw.

Before the match was two minutes old, Eskew sank a field goal from inside the free-throw line. Aud Darr, Matador forward, retaliated with a setup shot. Gilmore, Cameron's starting center, tossed in a free one.

Sherrill, Aggie guard, suffered a broken tooth in a fall but remained on the court.

The first half ended 17-14 for Cameron. It was a colorless period and the Aggies never relinquished a slim lead. Both clubs performed with convenient laxity. Morgan's clan bombarded the backboard intermittently and usually without effect. Crews, Dunn, Fisher, Tadlock, Hodges, and Hale were inserted in the Tech lineup late in the period.

Two Cameron substutions were made as the second half opened. The Matadors reverted to an undefiled man-to-man defense. Hodges' arch from the side brought the score to 22-23. Crews' aim was reliable and the Matadors led for the first time. The contest became faster. The score was tied, 24-24; Hodges utilized a charity chance; Howell, Cameron captain, rang the iron for two; Counts, Aggie guard, went out on four personal fouls; Crews executed a difficult one-hand hook-shot; J. C. Thomas, Tech guard, made a free throw, and Eskew dropped in a crip for a 28-28 tie.

Arguments Looked For In U. S. L. T. A. Convention Today

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5. (AP)—An expected storm in the annual convention of the United States Lawn Tennis association here tomorrow appeared to be slowing down to a mere breeze tonight as the moguls caucused on differences and predicted "just another meeting."

Expressed dissatisfaction with some of the 1931 rankings which must be voted on tomorrow, at least one major contest in the election of national officers and a set of proposed amendments to the U. S. L. T. A Constitution promised enough wind for a blow, but Louis J. Carruthers, New York, association president, and member of the "old guard" that wields the east's powerful tennis authority, predicted an harmonious session.

No one seemed quite clear on what would be done about the matter of Bruce Barnes, University of Texas star, who was left off the national ranking list because he joined Bill Tilden's professional tour, but who was placed at number two to Keith Gledhill of Stanford by the intercollegiate committee.

The nominating committee has put up all present U. S. L. T. A. officers for reelection. However other nominations from the floor are expected.

Hunk To Be Here For School

Notre Dame Coach Will Instruct Tech School

Hartley "Hunk" Anderson head football coach of Notre Dame, will be one of the instructors in the annual summer coaching school held at Texas Technological college July 18-29, Pete Cawthon, director of Tech athletics, announced last night. Anderson notified Cawthon of his acceptance yesterday.

The Notre Dame mentor, following in the footsteps of Knute Rockne, was acclaimed by fans and grid authorities as one of the nation's leading coaches after the past season's playing. He will teach the Notre Dame system in the classes here.

Another coach, one using the wing-back or Warner system, will be secured as a second instructor, Cawthon announced, as will several All-America football players of the past season who will aid in the classes.

One of the middle west's leading basketball coaches will instruct in the court game.

Clyde Littlefield, head coach at the University of Texas, has already been announced as track instructor.

Cage Teams In Second Rounds

Boys Team From Wolfforth, New Hope And Hardy Take Early Wins; Three Girls Teams Are Advanced

SLATON, Feb. 5. (Special)—Two teams of boys and three teams of girls, by their overwhelming victories, declared themselves bent on capturing the county basketball championship for rural schools here today in the opening rounds of the annual county tournament.

Late entry of the Hurlwood teams increased the number of entrants from 21 to 23 teams, but two games were won by forfeiture when the girls teams from Grovesville and Estacado failed to report for scheduled games.

Wolfforth, who had drawn a bye in the first round, was paired with Hurlwood and won, 43 to 6, eliminating the late entry in the first game. By their decisive victory the Wolfforth team became a strong favorite in the field.

New Hope defeated Posey, 19 to 5 and Hardy downed Union, 59 to 11 in the only other first round games today. Wolfforth meets Carlisle Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. New Hope is slated to meet Center at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and Hardy will meet McClung at 3 o'clock.

In the girls division, Posey defeated Hurlwood, 35 to 13, Carlisle downed Center, 22 to 7, Union nudged out Foster, 26 to 18 and Wolfforth and McClung won by forfeiture over Estacado and Grovesville respectively.

Teams which drew byes yesterday, with the exception of the girls club from McClung and Grovesville, will play their first games today, which will be charted as second round contests.

In the girls division, Hardy and New Hope will meet for their first game this morning at 10 o'clock. Both clubs are in the same bracket and both drew byes for first round games.

Carlisle drew a bye in the boys division and will meet Wofforth this morning at 11 o'clock. Estacado and Grovesville, in the same category, will play at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The other quarter-final games will be played between noon and 4 o'clock this afternoon, at which time the semi-final contests will begin.

The final girls game is scheduled for 8 o'clock this evening, with the championship of the boys division at stake in a game starting at 9 o'clock tonight.

The winners in the final games tonight will meet the winners of the "Class A" tournament, which is to be held next weekend.

Sports World Mourns Death Of Dreyfuss

Another Of Baseball's Old Guard Follows Nine Other Nationally Known Figures Of Major Pastime

BY FOSTER HAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. —Another of baseball's old guard, Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates, father of the World Series, passed on today. He was the tenth nationally known figure in the game to die within 15 months and the second within two weeks. He would have been 67 years old on February 23.

He died in Mt. Sinai hospital, of pneumonia, which followed upon an operation for prostatitis Jan 6. The body was taken to Pittsburgh tonight. The funeral probably will take place Sunday or Monday at his home there. Burial will be beside his son, Sam, who died last February 22.

It was only two weeks ago that William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, died at Phoenix, Arizona. Within the preceding 15 months such well known figures as Ernest Barnard, Ban Johnson, Charles Comiskey, James McAleer, Charles Webb Murphy, William Baker and Gary Herrmann, answered the umpire's last call.

Dreyfuss had been actively connected with baseball since 1884. He obtained an interest at that time in a semi-professional team at Paducah, Ky., where he had gone as an immigrant German boy three years before.

He removed to Louisville in 1888 and one year later bought an interest in the Louisville Nationa, which he merged with the Pittsburgh team in 1900 when the older baseball circuit was reduced from 12 to 8 teams.

In 1903 he promoted the first inter-league series between his own champion Pittsburgh team of the National League and the Boston Red Sox of the American. In 1905 the series was officially established under the brush rules and quickly gained popularity.

He was a shrewd trader and had a good eye for a baseball player, building up championship teams on less outlay of money than probably any other club owner.

Ralls Cage Tourney Off To Good Start; Finals Today

RALLS, Feb. 5. (Special) — The third annual girls invitation basketball tournament got away to a good start here this morning despite the fact several teams were unable to appear due to sickness in schools.

Slaton won over Petersburg easily in the first game, 64-25, after first game schedule was changed slightly on accounf of five teams being unable to appear. Crosbyton beat Lakeview (Floyd county) 18-16 in a fast game; Croton lost to Anton, 32-27; Southland beat Forrest (N. Mex.) 30-18; Brownfield beat Lakeview (Hale county) 44-18; Ralls beat Lorenzo 26-11; Fairview lost to Hale Center 43-13; Slaton won over Crosbyton 54-12 in last game of first round.

Petersburg beat Lakeview (Floyd county) 77-15, Gregory of Petersburg making 58 points in the one game. Croton won over Lakeview (Hale county), 54-20.

Quarter final games will start at 9 a. m. Saturday.

Speed Skaters Of North America Win Second Triumph Over Foreign Aces In Winter Olympics; Jack Shea Is Star

Shea Adds 1,500 Metres Title To Crown

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Headed by brilliant Jack Shea, first representative of the United States ever to win two championships in the Winter Olympics, the speed skaters of North America swept over the aces of Norway, Sweden, and Denmark today.

Shea added the 1,500 metres title to the 500 meters crown he won yesterday with a typical burst of speed that carried him to the tape five yards in front of a six-man final field, made up entirely of Canadians and teammates.

Three candidates, Alex Hurd, Bill Logan, and Frank Stack, finished in that order behind him, with Ray Murray, New York, fifth. Herb Taylor, New York, picked himself up after falling on the last curve while in second place straggled in last. Shea's time was slow, 2 minutes 57 5-10 seconds.

Tonight the score stood 43 points for the Olypmic hosts, 25 for Canada, and 8 for Norway. No other nations have scored in three finals.

The hockey prospects of the nation improved considerably today as the combination of former college and club stars making up the United States entry walloped Poland 4 to 1. The defeat was the secon dfor Poland in two games.

Germany, first conqueror of Poland, and Canada, victor over the United States in the opening contest are the two undefeated teams.

Campus Grid Teams Clash

Liberal Arts And Engineers Teams Meet In Championship Game At 3:45; Aggies Play Army For Third Place

Intramural Team Standing

Team	Tied	Won	Lost	Pct.
Liberal Arts	0	2	0	1.000
Engineers	2	0	0	.500
Army	1	0	1	.250
Aggies	1	0	1	.250

The Texas Tech intramural football season will come to a close today with the final two games scheduled as a double header on the practice field just north of the gymnasium.

The championship will be at stake when the Engineers and Liberal Arts team meet in the second game. The Aggies and Army will clash at 2 o'clock to battle it out for the cellar position and the Artists and Engineers will begin at 3:45, according to announcement from the athletic department office yesterday.

The Liberal Artists, coached by Jack Durham, for two years captain, center and guard on Matador teams, stand at the top of the column with two victories and no defeats. They have defeated the Army and the Aggies.

The intramural grid season, started three weeks ago, has occupied the spare time of more than 100 athletes and physical education students since Coach Pete Cawthon issued equipment, some of it new and purchased for the purpose, enough to outfit four big squads. Variety athletes have coached the teams and each team has used a different system.

Entering the intramural in defense of their campus title won last year by the same manner the Liberal Arts gridders, stronger than ever by the enrollment of members of the bi-district championship Lubbock High school team, have waded through tovictories which will give them the title for the second straight year if they so much as gain a tie with the Engineers today. A loss would result in a deadlock for first place.

Last Saturday afternoon Coach Durham, who is assisted by Harold Crites and Bill Teal, saw his Artists come from behind a touchdown lead to overpower the Aggie and win, 13 to 7. The Army and Engineers fought to a 7-all tie last Saturday, it being the second tie for the Engineers.

Tied for third place in the standings the Cadets and Farmers will battle it out for the cellar berth with the odds fairly even. Coached by Shorty France, Yancy Price and Elva Baker, the Aggies, who are coached by George Langford, Speedy Moffett and Matt Hitchcock.

Officials for the Aggie-Army game today will be Mule Davis, referee; Burl Huffman, head linesman, Swede McMurry, umpire and H. C. "Gray Eagle" Pender, field judge. Weldon Chapman will referee the championship game with Bill McMillan serving as head linesman, J. H. Goodman as umpire and Pender as field judge.

Gar Wood Races Miss America To New Water Mark

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Gar Wood coaxed an average speed of 111.712 statute miles an hour out of his Miss America IX on a two-way run over the Indian Creek course here today and claimed a new world's speedboat record for America.

He exceeded by 1.489 miles the record of 110.223 miles an hour established last July 9 at Lake Garda, Italy, by the Englishman, Kaye Don, with Miss England II.

Rules of the International Yachtsman,s association and the Yachtsmen's Association of America required that Wood exceed the previous record by half a mile an hour in order to claim a new mark.

Professional Golfers Will Enter Houston Open Joust

HOUSTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Professional golfers recently engaged in the Texas Open at San Antonio gathered here today to compete in the $2,000 54 hole open tomorrow and Sunday at the Colonial Country club.

An informal best-ball event of 18 holes was arranged for this afternoon.

Clarence Clark, winner of the Texas open; Abe Espinosa, Joe Kirkwood, Wiffy Cox, Harry Cooper, Ray Mangrum, Paul Runyan, Dave Hackney, Tony Manero, Dudley Bell, Jack Burke, Bill Lundberg, Ted Longworth, Morgan Baker, Carl Baker and Tomekichi Miyamoto, Japanese star, were among the players expected to participate here.

Matty Bell Confers With Iowa University Regarding Coaching Hawkeye Athletes

IOWA CITY, Ia., Feb. 5.—(AP) —Madison Bell, the third football coaching prospect to visit the University of Iowa in the last three days, was here today to confer with Hawkeye athletic officials.

Bell, head coach at Texas A. & M. said in an interview that he was attracted by the prospect of getting into the Western Conference field of competition and that he wished to go into the matter thoroughly.

He said salary was not the only object and that he would not necessarily seek more financial return by changing schools.

His contract at the Texas school is of an informal nature, Bell sa'd and he expects no difficulty in obtaining his release should he desire.

Lovvorn's Bulldogs Off With Big Lead And Westerners Not Able To Overcome With Rally

West Texas' Cage Candidates For State Title Show Form To Smack Over Locals Last Night; District Favorites

Coach Froggie Lovvorn introduced his Plainview High school Bulldogs to Lubbock last night, that is he introduced the 1932 edition of Bulldog, and after the game was over he complained that his Bulldogs were off form. They were in good enough condition at that, however, to smash the Lubbock High Westerners, 39 to 23, in a game that would have been listless and uninteresting had it not been for the rapid fire goaling of the Wester Brothers, Ray and Houston, and that Williams boy, Olin.

The Westerners might have been beaten worse than that. At one time there were 22 points separating the scores of the competing teams. Then Gene Brown and Gene Barnett began to locate the basket and narrowed the margin considerably.

The Westerners hold the basketball spotlight alone in Lubbock tonight when they meet the strong Canyon Eagles in a one-night stand. The game is slated for 7:30 o'clock at the high school gymnasium. A nominal admission charge will be made at the door.

About one hundred and fifty of the faithful, including a loud little pep squad, witnessed the slaughter and urged their Westerners on, but the Bulldogs, who came here touted as potential state champions and sure things for the District 2 championship, sailed on to a peaceful victory.

There was plenty of action and plenty of shots. The score should have been about even, say around 50 to 50, at the half, for each side was in position time and again to sink crip shots. But the actual count at the half was 22 to 7, featuring the Bulldogs from Hale county.

Brown, who has been lagging and loafing in previous games, displayed a bit of the style and form of which he is capable as the game neared its end and found the basket for four field goals to lead his side. Barnett sank three and Robert Stone found the hold twice. Wayne Wilkins was brilliant on Lubbock's defense, if anything could be brilliant about the Westerners. He took nearly everything from his own backboard but there was Charles Mabry, the giant, 15-year old sophomore center, to snatch them from his goal.

Williams poured the ball through the loop eight times last night for 13 points. Ray Wester found the goal from scrimmage four times and Brother Houston did likewise but added a pair of charity goals.

The box score:

Fort Worth Cats Announce Lower Prices For Baseball

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5. (AP)—A 25 per cent reduction in the price of season box and reserve seat prices was announced by the Fort Worth Baseball club today through Business Manager Roy Meehan.

It was the second slash in prices in less than a year. General admission prices for women were cut in half last season.

Season reserved seats this year will cost $15. They were $20 boxes, with six seats, have been cut from $135 to $100.

Bears Hold Lead With 34-28 Win

WACO, Feb. 5. (AP)—Baylor retained its cage leadership of the Southwest Conference and dropped Arkansas from second place by beating the Razorbacks tonight 34 to 28. The Bears made good on 18 of 21 free shots and it was this amazing accuracy which enabled them to win.

The game was a nerve-tingling spectacle throughout. The Bruins' adeptness at charity shots enabled them to keep abreast of the Porkers. The result was in doubt until late in the contest when a pair of star Razorbacks went out on personal fouls.

The invaders led in field goals, making ten to eight for Baylor. Two free shots by "Uncle Abe" Barnett put the game on ice as the contest waned. This same money guard did likewise in the tilt with the Aggies Monday night.

Primo Carnera Wins Over Teuton As Latter Retires

BERLIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, tonight defeated Ernest Guehring, German heavyweight, in a scheduled 10-round bout when the German was forced to retire in the fifth round because of an injured foot. Guehring had held his giant adversary even up to the time he was incapacitated. Former Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm was among the crowd which saw the bout.

Milk Supplies Show Increase

Upward Turn Is Noted In Agricultural Conditions; Farmer Able To Supply Lamesa Plant With Products

LAMESA, Feb. 5.—With an upward turn in agricultural conditions apparent in Dawson county, farmers are now supplying the local milk plant, operated and owned by the West Texas Milk Products company, with more raw milk per day than they have for months.

Day by day the number of farmers who are sending their milk to the plant, is growing. The daily receipts have passed the 14,000 pound mark and, according to C. M. Anderson, manager, the 18,000 mark will be exceeded in a short time.

Eight Routes

"We have eight routes that supply the plant with milk from this territory," the manager explained. "We are near the 15,000 pound per day mark and I see no reason why we should not be getting 18,000 or 20,000 pounds shortly.

"There are about 215 farmers now regularly supplying milk. Our market is increasing for powdered milk as well as butter. However, the firms that used to buy a carload of powdered milk several years ago, are buying in 10,000 pound lots. That has been our largest order in recent months. But that is better than no sale at all."

Makes Three Types

The local plant is making three types of powdered milk: cream powdered, skim powder and buttermilk powder.

Besides these, butter, buttermilk, cottage cheese and bottle milk are handled. The bottled milk is sold locally and the other products are handled over a wide territory by delivery trucks over regular routes.

"We have three delivery routes, north, south and west," Mr. Anderson said. "Regular deliveries are made of butter and other products Demand for these is increasing a little, indicating improved conditions.

"Besides these, we ship butter to a dealer in El Paso who is building up a nice business."

Mr. Anderson states that he is much encouraged over the increased demand for powdered milk. The local plant last summer was not showing as much business as it had previously been, due to a demoralized market for its products. In addition to powdered milk, the plant began manufacturing butter and increased its production and sale of this to meet and offset the lessened demand for powdered milk.

Since the fall there has been a steady increase in milk receipts. The plant is paying on a basis of 22 cents a pound butterfat, in place of 11 cents a pound paid for sour cream by other buyers.

The steady growth of business the past 60 days has been heartening to President O. B. Norman and other officers, as well as to friends of the plant. The plant is being operated at a profit and has not been in the "red" for some months.

School Superintendent Dies, Funeral Is Held On Thursday

On Proposed Auto Taxes

DIFFERING entirely—and we think logically—with the Treasury department's plan to plaster three new tax schedules upon the automotive industry, The El Paso Times delivers a sweeping indictment of the proposal.

Because the comment is well written, to the point and expresses our own views in their entirety, we are pleased to reproduce it from the columns of The Times, where it recently appeared under the heading "Crippling Industry And Public." We quote:

"United States treasury department, in its search for sources of revenue to tap, has hit upon the motoring public. A tax of 5 per cent on car sales, 3 per cent on trucks and 2 1-2 per cent on parts and accessories is being urged.

"The proposal is uneconomic and unfair. It should be defeated. It is uneconomic because it is a direct assessment on the depleted incomes of the people.

"Every year the motorist pays in taxes 18 per cent of the average value of his car. This certainly ought to be enough.

"The owners of the nation's 26,000,000 motor vehicles will resent intensely any further taxation. They already are the victims of heavy special taxation. In 1931 they paid $1,022,000,000 in gasoline taxes, license fees, personal property taxes and other state and municipal levies. This is 10 per cent of all taxes of all kinds collected in the United States by all governmental divisions.

"The new taxes proposed will be levied directly against car buyers and those who have to have their present cars repaired. They will not be absorbed by the manufacturers or dealers because they cannot be.

"The $121,000,000 which the treasury department expects to collect in 1933 on passenger cars, trucks, repair parts, accessories and tires is more than the profit made by all automobile manufacturers in the United States in 1931. Necessarily, then, the taxes must come from the public.

"This being true, the 5 per cent on cars will have to be added to the price of the cars. This will slow down car sales. It will retard the automobile industry as a whole. That industry is just getting on its feet and making heroic efforts to help the country back to prosperity by offering the finest cars in motor history at lowest prices. This is a fact which everyone who has looked at the new lines of cars will admit.

"How important it is that the automobile industry be not blocked by taxation in its forwrad movement is indicated by these facts:

"One-tenth of those employed in gainful occupations in the United States or 4,022,000 workers, get their livelihood directly or indirectly from the automobile business.

"It is not concentrated in Michigan and Ohio. In 41 states there are automotive plants.

* * *

"Every state in the United States, without a single exception, is a producer of materials used in the manufacture of automobiles.

"Besides having 72,000 persons employed in the automobile business, Texas supplies these materials to the manufacture or operation of cars: Hides, petroleum, gasoline, cotton, wool, mercury, parts, accessories and equipment.

"New Mexico contributes hides, copper, lead, cotton, wool, mica and molybdenum.

"From Arizona the industry takes these materials; Copper, lead, nickel, cotton, wool and asbestos.

"A blow to the industry, then, is a blow to each state. It will hit not only car buyers and buyers of parts, etc., but it will strike those who produce the materials above mentioned.

* * *

"The motor industry has been encouraged by the public's response to the new cars. The automobile shows held so far have been productive of car orders beyond all expectations. This was the hoped-for reaction to highly improved new products at less money. But if those federal taxes are added to cars, parts and accessories, all the good effect of this will be lost. Sales will slow down. The industry will be stopped in its tracks, its purpose frustrated.

"The 2 1-2 per cent tax on repair parts is vicious. It is a tax on the misfortune of the car or truck owner who has had a break-down, a tire blowout, or something of that kind.

"The treasury department desires to raise money, to be sure. But the $121,000,000 would better be saved by cutting out waste and extravagance at Washington, or collected from our European debtors, than taken from American motorists—at the same time crippling a great industry."

COMMENDABLE ACTION

Official announcement that the railroad workers, through the representatives of their 20 organizations, have agreed to the acceptance of the 10 per cent wage cut for one year is markedly to the credit of the employes. Their action is prudent. The wage cut is a necessity for railroad operation. There has been a decrease in the cost of living which makes acceptance in a reduction of wages easier.

The Morning Avalanche feels that the union leaders have acted wisely and in their own interests, as well as in that of general welfare. But they are none the less deserving of commendation for their action and for their attitude and for the restraint which they have exercised on discontent which undoubtedly had its representation in, or just behind their councils.

Acceptance of the temporary wage cut is of material consequence to railroad enterprise and eases its problem of recovery, which has much to do with the general revival of business, in numerous ways. Moreover, it is a marker of peaceful adjustment in the industrial world, which will be of wide-spread effect.

Practical Health Problems

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, And of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

INVESTIGATIONS concerning vitamin A indicate that it bears some part in the development of resistance to infection. When animals are completely deprived of vitamin A, their mucous membranes in the respiratory track break down and afford easy access to infective germs. Hence it would seem to be desirable to add a sufficient amount of vitamin A to diets which are deficient in this principle.

On the other hand, recent experiments carried out over periods of several months have amounts of vitamin A did not prevent colds among groups of children who were compared with others not receiving excess amounts of vitamin A.

Certainly there is reason to believe that feeding of sufficient amounts of vitamin A is beneficial to health and that its long continued use may aid in building resistance to colds or other infections of the respiratory tract.

* * *

THE injection of vaccines for the prevention of colds is a debatable subject. The use of these vaccines, or as they are commonly called "shots," sometimes aids in building resistance because the vaccine may be given over a long period of time, whereas the cold is usually brief. The purpose of vaccines is to build resistance to a specific disease in exactly the same way that an infectious disease builds resistance. Thus people who have had measles or scarlet fever are not likely to develop these diseases again. In some instances people who suffer frequently with colds seem to have developed resistance by the use of vaccines, but the method must still be considered experimental.

* * *

THE common cold tends to be a self-limited disease. The average human being gets well in a week almost regardless of what he may do. The physician called to treat a cold arranges for the enforcement of several procedures which are bound to be beneficial. He is likely to demand first of all that the patient stay in bed. Certainly when there is fever the patient should stay in bed. He may be given drinks of hot lemonade and of orange juice, not only for the alkalinization value but also for the vitamin content and in order to make him take fluids in abundance. Sweating under heavy blankets or perhaps induced by similar measures is sometimes helpful.

The physician has a large variety of remedies which do much to make the patient comfortable. It is important to warn against too violent blowing of the nose. This is likely to force infectious material into the ears and into the eustachian tubes which pass from the back of the nose to the ear. Infection of the ear is a dangerous complication. There are many preparations which may be used in the nose to bring about comfort and the lessening of secretion and relieving the sense of stuffiness.

Determination Misjudged

State, War and Navy Building

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. — Assuming the ultimate completion—since accomplished—of Japan's conquest of Manchuria, diplomatic specialists on Oriental affairs were predicting weeks ago that the next step of the islanders would be toward seizure of one Chinese port after another from the coastal end of the Great Wall southward to some point about opposite Formosa.

This forecast was based on the theory that Tokio's policy contemplated acquisition or control over China proper as well as domination of the more loosely attached northern provinces.

Observers Misjudged

Students of the situation gave it as their opinion, however, that the strategists of Nippon would deem the actual occupation and policing of so large and populous a country as interior China too cumbersome a task to be undertaken. Nor did they believe that the Japanese would consider it necessary.

The establishment of a Japanese created government in Manchuria was anticipated.

As for the remainder of China, it was pointed out that possession of the ports would give the island folk complete control over the import and export trade of the hinterland. It was surmised that the Japanese would regard this as sufficient.

But prognosticators concerned in the judgment that Shanghai would not be included—anyway, not in the near future—among the ports likely to be seized.

It is, to be sure, China's most important commercial city.

A Comparison

If the Mississippi valley were practically without railroads to divert much of its trade in lateral directions and thus had to clear all its imports and exports through New Orleans, the Crescent City's position would be comparable to China's huge metropolis near the mouth of the Yangtse.

That the Mikado must covet so valuable a gateway was perfectly recognized.

Nevertheless, Occidental observers of the development of the Japanese program expressed confidence that Tokio's statesmanship would desire much longer preparation before risking such a giant stride toward fulfillment of its apparent ambition.

Danger Apparent

With the interests of so many countries entrenched at the mouth of the Yangtse, it was the view of observers that even self-seeking Nippon would sense the danger of moving precipitately.

True, the opposition cannot now be equal to what Japan would have encountered before the World war. Germany has been eliminated as a factor. Russia is less powerful than formerly. As to France—it is suspected that Japan has some bargain to refrain from interference with Gallic plans in the Southern Chinese area.

Still, the United States, Great Britain, Italy and—for whatever they may be worth—such smaller countries as Holland, Belgium and the Scandinavian kingdoms remain to be reckoned with.

Determination Underestimated

Those who looked for the very worst consequently discarded the idea that the western nations would be imperilled at any immediate date in Shanghai by a Japanese invasion.

Today it is conceded that Japan's determination and daring were underestimated.

The landing of the Mikado's marines seems to be only the beginning of trouble.

While the landing force confines itself to the native city, its presence may be justified on the ground of danger to Japanese citizens. That is in fact, the excuse for it.

But that first step does not meet the commercial difficulty.

Up-Country Domination

What the Japanese clearly are resolved upon is domination of up-country trade and suppression of the boycott against them.

Holding native Shanghai does not help them much.

The international foreign city technically is the soil of American, British and other nationalities by treaty with the Chinese. Business between the interior and the outside world can be continued indefinitely through the extraterrialized port independently of Japanese wishes.

In short, the foreign city is the crux of the problem.

Seizing native Shanghai is an issue between Japan nad China except as it may involve League of Nations' commitments.

Seizes to Obtain Objective

Seizing foreign Shanghai would be like seizing part of San Francisco, London, Amsterdam and Naples. Nevertheless, Japan has got to seize it or she obviously cannot attain its object.

A few days ago the foreign offices in Washington and the interested European capitals would have said it was ridiculous to consider such a contingency. With the Japanese naval concentration in the Whangpoo river and Japanese forces ashore adjoining the international settlement they are not so certain.

THE MEANING OF "CECILIA":

The name of Caecilia (as Cecilia is spelled in Latin), meaning a "blind serpent," is to this day applied to a genus of snake-like Batrachians, having no eyes.

THE ARMLESS JOCKEY:

About forty years ago, when Colby Turner was nine years old, he fell in front of a hay mowing machine which caused the loss of both arms. Despite this handicap Turner learned to drive race horses. He is a star trainer and driver for a string of thoroughbreds owned by Mr. Lew Wallace, of Wilmington, Ohio. He wraps the reins around his arms when driving. Turner also drives his own automobile, writes, feeds and dresses himself, and admits he has no difficulty handling money.

MAD MARRIAGE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY McBRIDE, 19-year-old typist in a New York office, marries JIM WALLACE the day after she meets him at the home of her wealthy cousin, ANNE TROWBRIDGE. Gypsy has been jilted by ALAN CROSBY, back from a year and a half in Paris, and Wallace's fiancee has just broken their engagement. There is no romance in the union. Wallace is a young lawyer. They go to his home in Forest City where his relatives snub Gypsy.

Jim undertakes the defense of NINA ROBERTS, accused of murdering her employer, DR. FOWLER. The case is sensational with circumstantial evidence strongly against the girl and Gypsy becomes deeply interested. On impulse she goes to see MRS. FOWLER, widow of the victim, and finds her hysterical over her adopted son's illness. The woman admits she shot her husband to save the child's life. Gypsy persuades her to go to Jim and confess. Later at home she waits restlessly for a telephone message from Jim.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXX

"YES, Jim, what is it?" Gypsy asked impatiently. She held the telephone receiver tightly against her ear but the voice across the wire was jumbled and indistinct. "What is it? I can't hear you!"

There was a pause.

"Hear me better now?" Jim asked.

"Yes."

"Mrs. Fowler's confessed."

"What?"

"I said Mrs. Fowler's confessed she killed her husband. Came down here this morning and told me the whole story. She says she did it to save the boy's life. The woman's a complete wreck."

"But what about Nina?"

"She's acquitted. That's what I called you about. Would it be all right to send her out to the house? I don't want the reporters to get another chance at her and if she goes to that place where she roomed that's what will happen."

"Why, of course. Where is she now?"

"Here in my office. If you think it's all right I'll bring her out."

"Bring her," Gypsy said. "Lunch will be ready when you get here."

She left the telephone for a hasty consultation with the cook. Gypsy was upstairs putting out fresh linen in the guest room when she heard the front door open. She hurried down.

Nina Roberts was sitting in the big chair in the living room. Jim turned as Gypsy entered. "Well," he said, grinning, "we won!"

"Oh, I'm so glad! I was so worried uptil you telephoned. Nina—isn't it wonderful?"

The girl had been crying. She touched her handkerchief to her eyes. "It's fine of you to let me come here, Mrs. Wallace," she said.

"Why, We're glad to have you. Of course! Would you like to go upstairs now or shall we have lunch first?"

"I—I think I'd like to go upstairs."

Gypsy led the way. The guest room was not large but it had abundant sunshine. The walls were green and cream colored and the taffeta drapes were apricot.

"The bath is through here," Gypsy said, opening the door. "I hope you'll find everything to make you comfortable. There's powder here and cold cream if you want it. I'll leave you now if you don't mind. I'm dying to have Jim tell me everything that happened."

Nina stood in the middle of the room, looking about. She seemed bewildered.

At the door Gypsy hesitated. "Luncheon will be ready whenever you come down," she said. Then she went out and hurried down the stairs.

* * *

Jim was not in the living room. She glanced into the library and saw him standing with his back toward her.

"Oh, Jim," the girl began as she went toward him. "Tell me what happened. It must have been terribly exciting! I want to know all about it!"

Jim swung around. "Exciting!" he exclaimed. "It was the most incredible thing I ever saw in my life! Bennet was just about to begin summing up the case. I didn't want to leave the courtroom. The message they handed me said a woman was waiting and that she had something important to tell me. I thought it was a mistake and then—well, it was the merest luck in the world that I went to see her. When I saw her face of course I knew who it was. Lord—what a morning!"

"But what did she tell you?"

"Well, for a while it didn't sound believable, but it must be true. The woman was in torment. At first she was so incoherent I couldn't make heads or tails of what she said. Kept begging me to help her and said she did it for Bobby's sake. Then she grew a little quiter and I got the story. Mrs. Fowler says she came to her husband's office shortly before six o'clock. She had

School Boy Would Avoid War To Avoid New History Book

Dear Editor: I have been reading your paper a good deal lately and have been very much afraid that the good old U. S. would plunge herself into war with Japan.

Now, Mr. Editor, if the United States were to go into war with Japan or any other country, just think of all the extra history our descendants would have to learn. If you have any pity in your heart, then use your influence to keep us out of war.

Thanking you in advance, I remain,

A Soph of Spade High school.

(Dear Soph: Your reason for wanting to avoid war is practicable, if not paramount. I shall cable Mr. Mussolini at once—not that he has anything to do with the matter, but because he mixes into a lot of things in which he has no business. Yours truly, The Editor.)

Woman's Murder Case Gets Transfer; Set In Del Rio

SANDERSON, Feb. 5. —(AP)—The murder case of Mrs. Bessie Sharp, accused of poisoning her husband, Telefus Sharp, has been transferred to Val Verde county on a change of venue and will be tried at Del Rio. The defendant was transferred to the Val Verde county jail today.

Defense counsel withdrew a motion for a sanity hearing.

Change of venue on the main issue was granted on motion of the court after defense attorneys had asked for the transfer on the claim that the 21-year-old defendant would be unable to obtain a fair trial at Sanderson.

the boy with her. She opened the door and went in. There was no one there except Fowler. It seems they'd been quarreling for weeks about the child. When Fowler saw the boy he was angry. He'd told her that morning she had to send Bobby away. The child wasn't adopted. They took him nearly a year ago from a home but adoption papers weren't signed. Mrs. Fowler said she came to the office to tell her husband that if Bobby went she was going too.

"I guess the whole thing happened quickly. She says she told Fowler what she was going to do. Bobby was standing beside her. Suddenly the child ran toward the window. Fowler grabbed him. Mrs. Fowler says he had threatened several times to kill the boy. She thought he meant to do it then. She knew there was a revolver in the top drawer of her husband's desk and she reached for it. The woman swears she didn't intend to shoot. She saw her husband fall and dropped the gun. Then she picked up Bobby and ran for the stairway. She must have gone down one side at the same time Brophy, the policeman, ran up the other. How she got out of the building without being seen I don't know, but she walked to where her car was parked and drove home. She says she'd just got in the house when they telephoned from the hospital. Well—that's the story. While she was telling it she mumbled a lot about Bobby being sick and going to die. The kid is sick, all right. It seems she got the idea his illness is a sort of punishment to her for letting someone else pay the penalty of her crime. The woman was half-hysterical. Kept asking if I thought I could save her and begging me to help for Bobby's sake. Certainly is crazy about that kid all right!"

"The poor woman!" Gypsy exclaimed. "Where is she?"

"She's at home. Held up long enough to make a statement before the judge and then collapsed. Doctor and nurse went with her. Of course after that the acquittal was just a matter of form."

"What do you think will happen to Mrs. Fowler?"

"Oh, you can't tell. Trial may be put off a good while. There seems to be a big public reaction in her favor. I should think she'd get a light sentence."

Gypsy sat silent. It had been the most exciting morning of her life. To find the barrier between life and death so fragile, to face such tragedy left her exhausted. She gazed at Jim with new respect.

They heard Nina's footsteps on the stairs and Gypsy went to meet her.

"Luncheon's ready," she said. "Shall we go in?"

* * *

FOR two days Nina Roberts was a guest in the Wallace home. Gypsy saw to it that she had plenty to keep her occupied. Reporters were constantly telephoning but aside from the typed statement Jim gave out at his office Nina was not quoted in the newspapers.

There were household tasks which the girls shared together. Nina romped with Pat. Over the telephone Gypsy made arrangements with the woman who operated Nina's boarding house to have the girl's clothing packed and sent out. She gave the girl plenty of wholesome food, urged her to rest.

Nina had announced that she wished to leave Forest City.

"Where do you want to go?" Gypsy asked.

"My sister's in Chicago," Nina said. "She's married. If I could get to Chicago I could stay with her until I get a job."

So it was agreed that Nina should go to Chicago. She had a pitifully small amount of money, through Jim's charge for his legal service was the merest fraction of the usual fee. The morning of the day on which Nina was to depart Gypsy knocked at the door of the guest room.

"May I come in?" she asked when Nina appeared.

"Of course."

Nina wore the rose negligee Gypsy had loaned her. She had been making the bed.

"I've something for you," Gypsy said, smiling. "Two things." She took the other girl's hand and placed it in a small folded object.

Now you mustn't say you can't accept it. It's something I want to do."

The folded object was a $20 bill.

"I can't take it," Nina protested, shaking her head. "It wouldn't be right after you've done so much for me." She started to hand the bill back but Gypsy refused it.

"Listen, Nina," she said, "it's my own money—money I earned before I was married. I'd rather do this with it than anything in the world! I want you to have it. Please keep it to remember me!"

* * *

"I WON'T ever forget you, Mrs. Wallace. I don't need anything to remember you by."

"But I do want you to have it. Then there's something else." From the pocket of her house dress Gypsy drew forth a soiled white envelope. There was nothing written on the envelope but Nina Roberts recognized it instantly.

"It hasn't been opened," Gypsy said softly.

The other girl's eyes met hers. It was one of those moments when Nina Roberts' face was unfathomable.

"If you'll hurry and dress now," Gypsy continued cheerfully, "we'll go out and see what we can find in the garden to brighten the living room table. There are plenty of iris and I think you might find enough of the white lilacs left."

"You've been so good to me," Nina said impulsively. "Oh, you'll never know what these days have meant to me!"

"Then I'm glad. It's little enough after what you've had to face. Well—shall we go cut the flowers?"

The garden, bathed in warm sunlight and the fragrance of lilacs, bore promise of what summer was to bring. Dew sparkled on the fresh grass. The iris bore their gold and purple heads proudly. A few straggling tulips—remnants of Pat's mischief—added a splash of scarlet. Above, against a turquoise sky, the clouds drifted lazily. It was a perfect May morning—a day when nature seemed to outdo herself proclaiming the joyousness of living.

They cut flowers to fill a pottery bowl for the table in the living room and a smaller vase for the dining room. Gypsy left Nina to arrange the bouquets while she telephoned the grocer. At one o'clock they had their luncheon and an hour later Jim arrived with the car to take Nina to the train. All three of them piled into the single seat. Nina's battered suitcase was stowed away in the rear.

They reached the station just five minutes before train time. No attention was paid to the girl in the gray suit and black hat who boarded the westbound train. Gypsy waved when she saw Nina through the car window and the other girl returned the signal. A brakeman shouted "All aboard!" Then the locomotive snorted and the train pulled from view.

Jim turned toward Gypsy. "You were good to that kid!" he said. There was gratitude in his voice and in the way that he looked at her.

The girl smiled, "I wanted to do all I could. There wasn't much."

She felt happier at that moment than she had ever been since her marriage. It was well to make the most of it, for the emotion was short-lived.

Notice To Owners Of Trees

The U. S. Mail carriers, who make free delivery service in the City of Lubbock, complain that the City is not keeping sidewalks and routes unobstructed from limbs of trees hanging low, and in order for the City of Lubbock to retain this free service it is necessary that all owners of trees immediately prune their trees so that the mail carriers will not be required to stoop in passing up and down their routes. If the owners fail or refuse to prune their trees accordingly, then notice is hereby given by the City that it will do so by virtue of the jurisdiction it has over the streets and alleys.

This notice, with request, is made for the purpose of inviting and securing co-operation of all concerned.

This February 5, 1932.

Condemned Slayer Goes Back To Pen

HOUSTON, Feb. 5 (AP).—Sheriff J. O. Lowrey of Fulton county (Atlanta), Ga., was reported en route to Houston today for Sam P. Aiken, who escaped the Georgia jail 18 months ago, just 12 days before the date of his electrocution.

Aiken, condemned to death for the murder of his wife and Boyce Hunter, would not talk to newspapermen but conversed freely with officers.

He said he slew his wife and Hunter because he found them together in a compromising situation. He also told how he and Fred Fair, also under sentence of death, had escaped by sawing the cell bars, how he had fled over the country, finally settling in Houston and marrying. He said he had been working here as a house painter and had operated a small restaurant.

Aiken was arrested yesterday after W. B. McClain, 33, house-to-house salesman, pointed out his residence to detectives.

When arrested, Aiken readily admitted his identity and agreed to waive extradition.

Cleburne Man Dies After Shooting; Wife Now Held

CLEBURNE, Feb. 5. —(AP)— Hugh "Jake" Sanders, 35, died early today of bullet wounds suffered last night in a shooting affray at his home.

His wife, Mrs. Lillian Sanders was charged with murder. Her examining trial was set for today.

Roy Anderson, assistant county attorney, quoted Mrs. Sanders as saying she shot in self defense. Four bullets struck Sanders.

Mrs. Sanders surrendered a pistol to Sheriff Joe Crawford after the shooting. The officer said he also found an open pocket knife under a bed.

Cattle Is Being Shipped To Markets In California

Five or six cars of cattle were recently shipped out of Lubbock to Los Angeles, Calif., a new market for livestock from this section of the country. Heretofore only hogs have moved in any quantity to California.

Shipment was made by McClelland and Ellwood.

Numerous other livestock shippers are reported making inquiries of railroads about rates to the Pacific coast.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 5. (AP)—The cotton market was rather quiet today and prices fluctuated narrowly but were fairly steady despite early weakness in stocks. While the market lacked buying support it was kept steady by bullish weekly statistics and heavy exports for the day and week. After opening 3-3 points up prices eased off 4-6 points owing to a decline in stocks, but rallied during the afternoon practically recovering the earlier loss and closed very steady at net gains for the day of 1-2 points.

March closed at 6.90 up 1 point net for the day, May at 6.77 also up 1 point net and July at 6.93 up 1 point net.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—There was only a moderate business in cotton today and with orders quiet evenly divided prices fluctuated with a range of 3-4 points.

The comparatively light offerings were taken by further trade buying and covering with the market showing a fairly steady undertone. May contracts sold off from 6.78 to 6.74 and closed at 6.77 with the general market closing steady net unchanged to 1 point higher.

March contracts closed at 6.86 while October closed at 7.15.

French Plan

French plan envisaged the prohibition of bombardments from aircraft or by artillery at more than (x) kilometers from the front line in land warfare, and the prohibition of the use by aircraft or artillery of projectiles containing poison gases, bacteria or materials which are specifically incendiary.

Explaining his motives for introducing the French proposal when he did, M. Tardieu told the correspondents:

"We are a people of good faith and wished to prove it today by an act. We refuse to be deterred by those who counseled that it was not wise to go too quickly. The aim of what we have done today is to facilitate the work of the disarmament conference and we sincerely hope our efforts will be crowned with success."

Most Damaging Weapon

Turning to aviation, Mr. Tardieu said:

"Our plan suggests measures to be applied to aviation, the newest arm of war and the most damaging to civil populations. It begins with internationalization of civil aviation. Subjects of signatory states will only be allowed to construct and use freely machines of non-military value and of tonnage below a figure to be fixed by the convention.

"The construction and use of machines above this figure will be confined to continental, inter-continental and inter-colonial organizations, and placed under the auspices of the League of Nations which will have a permanent right of requisition over them."

Speaking to 200 newspapermen in one of Geneva's principal hotels, the French minister said:

"This international police force will be at the disposal of the league, which will organize its command and will be created by contributions from each signatory."

Gus Copulos Defeats Otto Reiselt In Billiard Joust

CHICAGO, Feb. (AP)—As his parting gesture in the regular schedule of the world three cushion billiards championship tournament, Gus Copulos, Eugene, Ore., trounced Otto Reiselt, Philadelphia, the leader, 50 to 29, today.

Copulos victory, which required 42 innings, was the biggest upset of the tournament, and left the Philadelphia veteran with seven victories and two defeats, and margin of only a half-game over Augie Kleckhefer, Chicago, and a full game over Arthur Thurnblad, the defending champion, who also is a Chicagoan.

Stocks Become Impatient At Absence Of Favorable News; Declines Shown

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Stocks became manifestly important today at the absence of news which it could call favorable and prices inclined quietly throughout the session, closing two points lower on the average.

Rails, for no readily apparent reason, were particularly despondent; their heaviness, however, seemed to be interpreted as an argument in favor of lower quotations elsewhere, with the result that utilities and industrials slid off easily. Volume, reaching 1,081,640 shares, represented a considerable expansion from yesterday but was too moderate to cause much comment.

Delaware and Hudson had the large loss in the rail group, down 5 3-4 net. Atlantic coast line was close behind it, and there were 3-4 point sags in Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Norfolk and Western, Union Pacific and Louisville and Nashville.

paration, he added, the Legion has worked in conjunction with the American Federation of Labor and the National Association of Advertisers. He announced the drive will follow these lines:

Every manufacturer and industrialist will be asked to put one or more men back to work.

For each such pledge will be given a star, similar to those displayed by the families of enlisted men in war time.

Other legionnaires will conduct a "man a block campaign." Householders will be asked to supply one or more hours of work a week, with a total of 48 hours work a week sought on each city block.

Obtain Pledges

"We have obtained pledges from 600 newspapers," Stevens said, "to print a front page box telling the number of men put back to work in their city each day, and a similar figure for the nation.

"We are not asking for the publication of propaganda but only facts designed to decrease hoarding and stimulate confidence. Enough advertisers employing radio as a medium have pledged us a half minute of their time to allow us to make 601 announcements a week."

Shreveport Sports May Go Into Hands Of Three Buyers

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 5. (AP)—Absence from the city of one of the prospective buyers caused postponement of a meeting to discuss the sale of the Shreveport baseball club. Frankie Whited, jr., John Willis and Ward Delaney had planned to confer with Owner Ollie Biedenharn today relative to taking an option on the sports. Whites and Willies' absene necessitated postponement.

For five straight years Denison university students at Granville, Ohio, have elected non-athletes as presidents of the men's student government groups.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5. (AP) —Cash grain demand, fair.

Quotably ranged as follows, basis carloads, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or group three points:

Wheat, No. 1 ordinary hard milling 87 1-2-88 1-2; No. 1 hard 13 per cent protein 88 1-2, 89 1-2; 14 per cent 89 1-2, 91 1-2; 15 per cent 62 1-2, 65 1-2; 16 per cent 64 1-2, 69 1-2. Sorghums, No. 2 milo or kaffir per 100 lbs 70-71.

Delivered group one points: Corn, No. 2 mixed 39-40; No. 2 white 40 1-2, 41 1-2; No. 2 yellow 40 1-2, 41 1-2.

Delivered group three points: Oats, No. 2 red 22-23.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (AP)—Almost heedless of stirring war developments in Manchuria and China, grain markets took fresh down swings today.

Weakness of Wall street securities, falling wheat quotations at Liverpool and dearth of export demand for North American wheat were largely responsible. An additional bearish factor was notice that Great Britain's omission of import duties on wheat had been counter balanced by plans under which imports of wheat would be governed by a quota system.

Wheat closed unsettled, 3-4-1 below yesterday's finish, corn 1-4, 1-2 down, oats 1-4, 3-8 off and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

MIDDLEWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 5—(AP)—Limited supplies of cattle were moved readily and steady to strong prices prevailed, trade at most points largely on a cleanup basis. Chicago and St. Joseph reported best steers up to 7.50. Receipts of cattle this week at eleven markets were 9,000 short of last week.

Moderate activity developed on hogs at strong to 15 higher prices. Chicago, however, after a 10 higher trade closed slow with the advance lost on weight averages 220 lbs and up. The day's extreme top of 4.35 was paid at St. Louis. Total offerings of around 50,00 were short of a week ago.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5 (AP)—Hogs — 1,000; fall hogs mostly 10 higher; truck hogs steady; fall top 4.35 paid for 3 loads medium and heavy weight butchers; truck top 4.25; better grades 180-250 lb truck hogs 4.20-4.25; feeder pigs 25 lower, mostly 3.00; packing sows 3.25-3.50 or strong.

Cattle—800, including 300 calves; hardly enough cattle or calves to test values, trade quotable steady; few loads good fed steers 4.85; other plain grades 2.25-3.75; few slaughter yearlings 4.40; no good yearlings on sale; cows very scarce.

Some heavy slaughter calves 4.00-4.50; cull sorts 2.00-2.50.

Here Is Answer To The Question

(By The Associated Press)

The Greeks, who had a word for almost everything, may take the credit or the blame for that interesting combination "Sino-Japanese" which has appeared in print so often during the past few months.

In the old Greek, Sinai meant Chinese. In the new English the old word has been lifted and, changed somewhat in form, hitched to another for the sake of convenience. You can still call it Chinese-Japanese if you want to.

Weather Aids In Checking Influenza At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Feb. 5. —(AP)—Clear, cold weather of the last two days appears to have aided materially in checking the influenza epidemic here and school and health authorities reported today that many persons were returning to school or work.

Fewer new cases are being reported and by Monday it is expected that school enrollments will again be near normal.

killing, amid intense silence of the court room.

There were murmurings and sudden outbursts among the crowd when District Attorney Stewart Nase tried to break down the defendant's story.

"Why didn't I shoot at his legs? Why, Mr. Nase, I didn't intend to shoot him at all" brought such an outburst of approval from the crowd that Judge Harold G. Knight threatened to clear the court room.

Sister Sits Calmly

Throughout her brother's testimony and while the crowd was handclapping him and hissing the prosecutor, the young defendant's sister, Rose, sat at the side of the room, tight-lipped and unmoved, surrounded by strangers.

The defendant in telling of the alleged relations of Donaldson with Rose, apparently tried to say as little as was necessary about the betrayal.

"I loved my sister and still do," said the tall, thin witness.

Wealthy Oil Leases Are Won By Government From Doheny

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (AP) — More than $12,000,000 worth of oil leases in the Elk Hills reserve of California were won back by the federal government today by a court decision that again placed the band of fraud on naval oil leasing transactions between Albert B. Fall and E. L. Doheny.

The court held illegal the award of the leases to the Doheny concern by Fall, former secretary of the interior, who now is serving a prison term on conviction of accepting a bribe from the oil magnate. A decision of United States District Judge Frank H. Corcross on Nov. 19, 1930, in favor of the company was reversed.

Nine Jurors Are Selected As Beck Trial Is Started

WACO, Feb. 5. (AP)—A special venire of 86 men was exhausted today in the selection of nine jurors for the trial of William C. Beck, Beck, 19-year old Wills Point youth, was charged with murder of O. L. Jones after Jones had given him an automobile ride.

Seventy-five more men were called to appear tomorrow. Attorneys expected to pick the other three jurors from this group.

Texas Girl Takes Cue From 'Queen'; Contract Hers On Trip To Hollywood

BY HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — Little girls who dream of getting in the movies fix their salaries fabulously high.

But the truth is—and Florine McKinney's contract proves it—potential stars begin with insignificant wages, compared to the accepted motion picture standard.

The contract of this 18-year-old Texas girl who came to movieland and then went back home, only to return again when a casting director reconsidered, states that she will receive $50 weekly for the first (and most difficult) six months.

Pay May Rise Later

Thereafter, provided she is considered a successful investment, her pay increases from $50 to $200 a week every six months, and at the end of four and a half years she will start getting $750 a week.

The youthful Fort Worth girl is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. McKinney, 2629 20th street, Lubbock.

Most first contracts give beginners $75 a week and many pay $100 and more. Miss McKinney's probably is based on the 1931 salary-cutting schedule.

"It's aces with me," drawls Florine. "If I don't make good during the first six or 12 months, I'm out nothing but my time.

"Years and years ago I saw Betty Blythe as the queen of Sheba and made up my mind I wanted to be in the movies."

Showed Talent Early

In and around Fort Worth, where she lived most of her life, Florine gave concerts, singing in French, German, Italian and Spanish. At seven she started piano lessons, at 12 she began dancing and a year or so later took up the violin.

Friends acquainted with a Hollywood casting director suggested she try the movies. Gayly, happily, Florine came to Hollywood. She heard only the answer so familiar in Hollywood:

"Sorry, nothing today."

She was home only a few months when a director phoned her to come back right away. The contract followed.

Musical Revival Her Chance

Miss McKinney is the newest addition to a major studio's stock company, in anticipation of the return of musical pictures, or at least of pictures with some music in them.

"And here I am," she says, "already playing a part and I've only been here five weeks. The role I have isn't very big, but anyway I'm getting experience." The film is "The Miracle Man."

Florine's mother and teacher are with her to help guide her new career.

Why The Studio Changed Its Mind

Hollywood directors at first did not share the enthusiasm of 18-year-old Florine McKinney's friends in predicting a career in the movies. But she had not been back home in Fort Worth long before the prospect of a revival of musical pictures caused a studio to send for her. Now she has a contract and her first film role.

Three Four-H Clubs Now In Operation; More Are Planned

MULESHOE, Feb. 5.—Three 4-H clubs are now in operation in Bailey county and several more are expected to be formed within the next 60 days.

Clubs now functioning are in the Y-L, Progress and West Camp communities. They have been started within the past 60 days by R. F. McFatridge county agent, who began his work here November 1.

"I have not been able to get the club work for the year started as soon as I had expected, because so many of the schools did not begin their work after cotton picking, until the holidays," Mr. McFatridge said. "We will probably have three or four more clubs started before spring."

Wilbur Favors Oil Tariff But Proposes Conservation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—The long-awaited attitude of Secretary Wilbur on an oil tariff was expressed by himself today as favorable, but his approval was conditional upon a number of parallel steps to bring order in the disturbed industry.

In a letter to the senate commerce committee, the secretary of the interior said he favored a pending bill by Senator Shortridge, (R., Cal.) which would place a duty of $1 a barrel on imported crude oil, but Wilbur emphasized he believed the tariff would help only if conservation measures in this country were taken and other safeguards surrounded the levy.

Three Airmen Are Located In Sahara; Were Attempting A Flight From France To Madagascar By Air

ALGIERS, Algeria, Feb. 5. (AP) — Three French fliers, missing four days in the Sahara desert trying to establish a flight record from France to Madagascar, were located today 219 miles south of In Salah in the Saraha desert.

Searching planes probably will bring them out of the desert soon. In Salah is more than 1,000 miles due south of the Mediterranean coast in the heart of the desert.

The airmen, in their plane St. Didier, reported by radio Monday that they had been forced down by fuel and water shortage but rescue planes searched for them for three days in vain.

Their wireless failed them Wednesday, their last message sending love to their families and thanks for radio communications but adding "we had rather have a barrel of beer."

Teakettles Blow Off Much Steam

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 5 (AP)—Old mother nature's teakettles in Alaska are blowing off steam again.

Activity of the Aleutian volcanoes, seldom entirely quiescent, is so common natives pay little attention except when the display becomes spectacular.

This year it is Shishaldin, a peak on Unimak island, one of the largest of the Aleutian chain, that is furnishing the fireworks.

Reports from Squaw Harbor, 150 miles east of Unimak island, indicate this year's volcanic activity may be more interesting than usual.

Shishaldin is reported in the most violent and spectacular eruption in many years, with huge quantities of lava pouring down its uninhabited slopes and smoke and ash scattered over Bering sea by a strong wind.

Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

It is so unnecessary for you, lady, to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B.C." a pleasant acting remedy, will bring soothing relief in three minutes.

"B.C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time.

"B.C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B.C." wherever drugs are sold, in 10c and 25c packages. (Adv.)

Twelve Or Fifteen Bales Are Destroyed In Fire Friday At Farmers Gin; Warehouse Also Damaged

Twelve or fifteen bales of seed cotton Friday afternoon were destroyed by fire at the Farmers Independent Cooperative gin, 404 Avenue H, and the warehouse was damaged considerably. Entire loss was protected by insurance, William Lowrimore, manager, said.

Dense smoke billowed from the storehouse, on the east side of the gin, before the fire department equipment arrived. The fire is believed by Lowrimore to have started as a bale of cotton was being moved by suction into storage. The cotton being stored was owned by Ed Van Meter, who lives west of Lubbock. H. B. Lowrimore, a gin employe, was directing the suction and discovered the smoke.

Several hundred people watched as firemen played seven streams of water on the sheet-iron structure. The traffic was directed by state motorcycle police. Three hose trucks, one chemical wagon and one ladder truck answered the call.

Chief W. E. Twitty said origin of the blaze had not been determined. Lowrimore said possibly matches in the cotton had started it. The manager estimated value of the warehouse at about $4,500, and said he believed the damage would approximate 25 per cent.

The fire department yesterday also answered an alarm at 1613 Avenue K, where a henhouse was on fire.

Agent Reports Feeding On Ranch; Ration Is Described

By Staff Correspondent

MULESHOE, Feb. 5—Twelve hundred head of lambs, 212 calves and 100 hogs are being fed out by Tom Kent, on the Paul brothers ranch in the Circleback community in eastern part of the county, R. F. McFatridge, county agent, reports.

Ground bundles, ground milo heads and cottonseed meal is the ration for the lambs.

The calves receive hegari bundles, ground milo or hegari and cottonseed meal. Corn, milo and tankage is the ration for the hogs.

"I raised all of the sheep, cattle and hogs that I am feeding" Mr. Kent said. "I believe I will get faster and more economical gains by adding cottonseed meal to the home grown grain rations I am feeding the sheep and calves and by adding tankage to the hog rations. All of my feed I have grown myself, on this ranch."

Mr. Kent is an experienced feeder and has been in the business there for a number of years.

About 55 per cent of the money found in "dead" letters in 1931 was restored to the rightful owners.

PINCH of BLACK-DRAUGHT after meals

"I had three spells of indigestion, one after another," writes Mr. John M. Creps, 902 Charles Ave., N. Charlotte, N. C. "I suffered a lot of pain. My back ached and I had pains in my stomach frequently. It felt like my breath was cut off in my chest. I was bothered this way for about a year. A friend asked me to try Black-Draught. I began by taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal and found that I soon got relief. We keep Black-Draught all the time."

Directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development Friday named S. C. Arnett, president of the Citizens National bank, president of the organizations for 1932.

Vice presidents named were Dr. I. E. Barr, veterinarian and stockman, and Homer D. Grant, vice president of the Panhandle Construction company. C. E. Maedgen, president of the Lubbock National bank, is the new treasurer.

New Directors Attend

Directorial terms of Arnett, Barr, and Maedgen expire Jan. 1, 1934 and Grant's term as a director ends January 1, 1936. Five new directors, appointed January 28 by City commission, attended their first C. of C.—B. C. D. session. Their terms expire January 1, 1936, and they are: R. F. Hinchey, George A. Simmons, George W. Pickle, Durwood H. Bradley, and J. O. Jones.

Outgoing directors are: J. B. Maxey, B. Sherrod, S. A. Wells, Roscoe Wilson, and R. J. Murray.

Some of the reports presented pertained to the federal building under construction here, highway development, community meetings supervised by home demonstration and farm agents, conventions invited here, establishment here of a seed laboratory, Lubbock memberships in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, semi-annual West Texas Market week plans, abandonment of Hereford sales at a semi-annual Fat Calf and Pig show here, a hog feeding demonstration at the experiment sub-station here, the Lubbock Loyalty council, and an annual South Plains Farm and Home conference here.

The new president was authorized to appoint committees.

Local possibilities of a proposed federal cotton experiment station were touched on.

"Mere Stroke Of A Pen" Could Save Thousands For Lubbock Citizens In Taxes, Local Attorney States Here

"A mere stroke of a pen" could save citizens of Lubbock county $100,000 in tax monies annually, L. A. Howard, local attorney, told members of the American Business club at Hotel Hilton Friday. T. C. Meinecke was program chairman.

"I'm not making a political speech and I don't want this talk considered as such for I am not and never will be a candidate for a public office again," the former county attorney said in opening his talk, "but I would like to give you a few facts on high interest rates, taxes and rents being charged in the city of Lubbock today. To me, Lubbock is the greatest town in Texas and Lubbock county has outstripped any on the Plains.

Pay $200,000 To State

"We pay $200,000 in taxes to the state of Texas ever year," Mr. Howard pointed out. "All in the world you have to do to cut $100,000 off of that sum is to lower your valuations and raise your county rate. Say you have a lot worth $1,000, at the present rate, $7.20 of your taxes go to the state and the county gets $7.20. You lower the valuation of that lot to $500 and only $3.60 will go to the state, in the meantime you can raise the county rate to take care of the money needed to run the county affairs."

"Now there's a campaign on everywhere to lower taxes, right here in the city of Lubbock we have a fifty-cent rate. The little fellow pays more direct taxes through his water rate than the big property holder. When the city can put a gallon of water to a utility consuming thousands of gallons at 10 cents when the little fellow with the home, lawn and garden is charged fifty cents, there's where the trouble is."

Home Owners Pay More

"We'll take for example, the building in which I office, the Myrick building owned by the First National bank of Dallas. It has a taxable valuation of $125,000 and couldn't be bought today for $350,000. The original loan on it was $200,000. It's valued at about 25 per cent for tax purposes while the little home owner in the city paid a tax on a valuation of approximately 125 per cent set by the equalization boards of both the city and school district last year."

Mr. Howard cited further instances of what he said were unjust tax valuations.

"We all want Lubbock to be a beautiful city, I know that and I also know that we have an ugly town," he continued. "There aren't thirty decent lawns in the city and why? Because the homeowners can't afford to pay the water bills to keep up their lawns. They cite and I want it known here that I'm not dictating my criticism at officials but at conditions, that Abilene, Dallas and other places have higher tax rates but you go and look at their water rates, Abilene charged a flat rate of a dollar. If you own a minimum of 50 feet of property, I'd like to see you get out of paying any less than $8 a month here in the watering season and keep your yard looking like anything at all.

Three Reasons Advanced

"Now there are three reasons why these conditions aren't changed and they have been advanced for a number of years, another argument of mine that I'm not criticizing present officials," Mr. Howard declared. "The commissioners' court of the county sets the valuations of county taxes and their salary is made up in accordance to the valuations. If they reduce the valuations to where they should be, they'd cut off approximately $600 from the salaries of each commissioner. Another reason advanced is that if the valuations were lowered there wouldn't be enough money in the general funds and too much in the jury fund and that the law says you cannot change it from one fund to another but just the same they do it and have been doing it for many years. And the third reason why the valuations are not lowered is because the Lubbock Board of City Development, and they're all right in their manner of thinking, is anxious to see Lubbock and Lubbock county continue with a healthy growth and to do that the tax valuations must show an increase each year.

"But let me ask you, do you think it's worth $100,000 a year?

"I think it's time the tax burden was equalized and the revenue-bearing property of the city begin paying more than 25 per cent of its valuation for taxation. There isn't a home in town that would sell for the valuation placed on it by the city and school board of equalization. If you want a beautiful city, if you want beautiful lawns, yards and gardens, a thing every civic club and property owner in the city could and should do is to work for a settlement of these conditions and make it profitable for the clubs, the city and property owners and everybody in a like manner."

Mrs. Jerome Merrill and Miss Louise Garrison favored the club with accordian duet selections during the program.

Tucson Banker Given Release

Detectives Find Man In Well Near City; Release Effected After Gun Battle Staged With Kidnapers

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 5. (AP)—Gordon H. Sawyer, Tucson banker kidnaped last night, was found at the bottom of a 75-foot well four miles from Tucson today. He was weak but physicians said he would recover.

Sawyer was found by Dallas Fard, Tucson detective, and Earl Rogers after a fight between officers and three men and a woman who had beracided themselves in an abandoned house near the well. The four, after exchanging shots with the officers, fled from the house in an automobile, heading toward Casa Grande.

Ford and Rogers said when they finally located Sawyer in the well he was so frightened he did not want to be brought to the surface for fear he would be shot. The well was dry and the bank official had been wrapped in blankets.

At the Southern Arizona Trust and Savings bank, of which Sawyer was vice president, it was announced $60,000 had been demanded for the release of the man.

Officers were put on all highways to watch for the kidnappers.

Lubbock Man Is Fined $100 On Plea Of Carrying Pistol

Judge E. L. Pitts Friday fined W. D. Bostick, alias W. T. Rogers, of Lubbock, $100 and costs after Bostick pleaded guilty of carrying a pistol. The guilty plea was made after selection of a jury to hear the case was begun in county court.

Arrested here in late December after a chase in which a policeman fired several shots, Bostick was charged in justice court with possession of liquor, and in county court with carrying a gun. The possession case will be presented to a grand jury Monday.

Gruver Hardware Store And Bank Are Looted Thursday

GRUVER, Feb. 5. (AP)—Yeggs last night wrecked a safe in the Gruver Hardware company's store and broke into the vault of the First State bank, escaping with approximately $600.

Between $300 and $400 in silver was taken from the bank vault and $200 in money was taken from the hardware store.

A charge of explosives shattered the store's safe.

Entrance to the bank was made through a door connecting with the hardware store. The door of the bank vault was torn away, but the safe was not opened.

Dynamite Threat Received By Power Company At Borger

BORGER, Feb. 5. (AP)—C. R. Stahl manager of the Panhandle Power and Light company, today was puzzling over a note received in yesterday's mail, which read:

"Look out. We still have some dynamite left. The next time it will not be at Skellytown."

A dynamite blast placed against the wall of the company's office as Skellytown January 25 wrecked one corner of the frame building and damaged office fixtures.

AGGIES ELECT OFFICERS

James Dominy, senior student from Paducah, became president of the Aggie club at the semi-annual election held Thursday evening. He succeeds Paul Hardy, Bonham, who has held the office since September.

Other officers are B. E. Snyder, Moran, vice-president; Jason Gordon, Albany, secretary; Mark Pederson, Clifton, treasurer; and Walter M. Pendleton, Stratford, marshal. Elizabeth Montfort of Lubbock was chosen reporter for the club.

The new officers were installed after their elections and will serve the remainder of the year.

PLAN BAND CONCERT

Matador band members are working on numbers which they will present soon in a winter term concert, Harry LeMaire, director, announces. The program will be given the last part of this month in Lubbock high school auditorium. Rehearsal is held each morning from 7 to 7:45 o'clock.

RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL

Edward Grizzell, sophomore engineering student from Colorado, has been released from West Texas hospital where he has been a patient for three weeks following an operation. He has not decided whether he will reenter school this term.

TO MAIL REPORTS

Mid-term reports on all students will go out from the registrar's office February 17 to students and their parents. Grades are due from instructors Saturday, February 13, and will show whether or not students are doing satisfactory, unsatisfactory, or failing work.

GETS PROMOTION

Margie Collier, who withdrew from school this term to teach in the Mexican school in her home, Stanton, has recently been promoted to teach English in Stanton grammar school. Miss Collier was a junior liberal arts student.

IS ILL

Maurine Davenport of Eastland is confined to her room in Lovell Hall as the result of a minor operation for a foot infection.

VISITS COLLEGE

Miss Virginia McLean, educational director for the First Presbyterian church, is spending Tuesday and Friday mornings in the ad building at the college, meeting students between classes.

ANNOUNCE OVER RADIO

How it feels to stand before a mike is being experienced this week by members of classes in speech 131. Groups of students are allowed to make short announcements over a special radio broadcasting station which the speech department maintains in the administration building.

ARCHITECTS HEAR FOWLER

Elements of good design was the theme of a 45 minute talk by W. M. Fowler before the Architects' society Thursday night. Mr. Fowler is chief designer for the firm of Peters, Strange and Bradshaw, Lubbock architects, and he gave concrete examples to illustrate his points.

Thirty members of the club were present and a picture of the group was made for La Ventana.

TO SPEAK TODAY

Dean Margaret W. Weeks of the home economics school is to be one of the speakers at a tea given this afternoon for the local chapter of American University Women. The affair will be given at the Hilton hotel for all college women. Miss Weeks' subject will be "The Progressive Nursery School."

PATIENTS RECOVERING

Mild cases of flu which have confined students to their homes this week are reported better in the two girls' dormitories, College Inn and Lovell Hall. Elizabeth Dryden, Mary Dean Lofland, Dorothy Vandagriff, Dorothy Dobbins, Lucille Baker, Helen Grace Grover and LaVoyce Dyson at College Inn are expected to be able to return to classes soon.

At Lovell Hall Ora May Haynie, Lois McAnally, and Ima Jewell Love are ill, but are reported improving.
