Delegation Leaves For WTCC Parley

Proration And Production To Be Discussed

Merrymaking and Business Feature Convention At Lubbock

Big Spring's delegation to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Lubbock, left at 6:30 o'clock this morning, thirty strong. Joseph Edwards, president of the local commercial organization, headed the Big Spring delegation.

Among those who left this morning were Wendell Bedichek, G. E. Cotton, G. A. Woodward, Carl Blomshield, Calvin Boykin, H. W. Morris, Ted Leonard, Miss Virginia Edwards and Miss Martha Edwards.

Most of the delegation will return tonight.

Redistricting Bill Favored

LUBBOCK, May 15. (UP)—Merrymaking and business intermingled here in today's sessions of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention.

Group conferences were scheduled for today, including an oil and gas conference with East Texas oil production and proration difficulties looming as the bone of contention.

A resolution was adopted urging the legislature to pass the redistricting bill giving West Texas better congressional representation.

America Faces "Dole" System Speaker Warns

ST. LOUIS, May 15. (UP)—America faces the Dole system unless the federal government, between now and next winter, starts work on a large scale. Dean Wallace E. Donham of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration predicted before the associated Harvard clubs here today.

He and Prof. Frank H. Taussig, economist and former member of the tariff commission scrutinized the business depression in addresses before the annual convention while United States Senator Robert J. Buckley, democrat, Ohio, pleaded for a revival of party responsibility by a means of better government, and urged individual state control of prohibition.

"Capitalism is on trial and on the issue of this trial may depend the whole future of western civilization," Dean Donham said. "The justification of capitalism is efficiency. Our present situation both here and in all the great industrial nations of the world is a major breakdown of capitalism."

Leadership in business and government "which thinks in terms of broad social problems instead of in terms of particular companies" is needed if capitalism is to solve the present depression, according to Donham.

Although he considered a business pickup certain this summer, the business school dean believed there would not be a substantial reduction in unemployment before next winter.

Trial Date For Liquor Case Is Tentatively Set

HOUSTON, May 15. (UP)—The liquor conspiracy trial of former Sheriff H. Wyatt Collins of Fort Bend county and 42 co-defendants including several deputies of the former sheriff, has been set tentatively in federal court here for June 22.

Judge Randolph Bryant of the eastern district of Texas probably will preside, since Judge T. M. Kennerly of Houston is scheduled to be holding court in Galveston at that time.

The sheriff and the others were indicted after a spectacular raid on Frog Flats and Mud Alley in Richmond by 36 federal agents Jan. 18, 1930, between 300 and 400 persons were arrested.

Sheriff Collins was tried on the first of three indictments against him, but acquitted.

NEW STATE FOREST
NAUGATUCK, Conn. (INS)—High Rock, one of the last unspoiled wilderness tracts in the heart of Connecticut, has been given to the state for forest purposes by the Whittemore family, local capitalists. High Rock once was the New Haven railroad's chief inland excursion point in Connecticut.

PLAN ROUND TRIP OCEAN FLIGHT

Donald B. MacMillan (left), veteran Arctic explorer, will attempt to fly back and forth between Boston and London this summer. A swift monoplane will be used for the flight and will be piloted by Charles F. Rocheville (right) of Los Angeles. Their route shown in map is across Labrador, Greenland, Iceland and the Faroe Islands.

Slugging, Robbery Cleared By Confessions Made by Convicts Now in the State Penitentiary

Sheriff Jess Slaughter and his deputies have written "finis" to two crimes committed here, one in 1930, the other in 1929.

Confessions have been received from two men, now inmates of the Texas penitentiary.

Stone Vetoes Reduction Of Acreage Plan

Solution Found In Efforts of Individuals, Chairman Declares

WASHINGTON, May 15. (UP)—A suggestion that the wheat surplus be controlled by a plan involving a nation wide acreage reduction agreement was vetoed here today by Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm Board in a letter to state senator F. J. Wilner of Rosalia, Washington.

Stone said the solution and higher prices lay in individual effort toward smaller crops.

He held impractical other measures which are contingent upon participation under contract of seventy-five percent of the growers.

Texans Require But Little For Ordinary Picnic

BRADY, Texas, May 15. (UP)—Here is what it is expected to take to feed a twelve thousand people at a first-class Texas barbecue.

Quick Dyer, veteran West Texas chuck wagon chef who will be in charge of feeding the multitude at Brady's July Jubilee barbecue on July 3, has handed the July Jubilee Committee the following regulations:

10,000 pounds of meat, 3,000 loaves of bread, 200 pounds of sugar, 150 gallons of pickles, 20 gallons of vinegar, 500 pounds of onions, 100 pounds of butter, 30 pounds of lard, 10 pounds of black pepper, 5 pounds of red pepper, 2 gallons of Worcestershire sauce, 1 gallon of tabasco sauce, and 250 pounds of salt.

"I could add some garlic to these ingredients," the 300-pound chef suggested, "but the committee decided to leave that spice out of the menu."

Tribute Paid To Dr. Brooks

WACO, May 15. (UP)—All Texas today paid last homage to Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, Baylor University president, whose funeral services were set for 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from Waco Hall. He dedicated the university building this month.

Legislature Works To Avoid Extra Session

Hundreds of Measures Still Await Final Disposition

AUSTIN, May 15. (UP)—Spurred on by Governor Sterling, who declared they should stay on another week in order to clear up important business matters, the legislature took steps to clear the decks for action on a portion of the hundreds of bills still pending on the calendar.

Placed Under Call
After passing several local and non-contested general bills without a record because of absence of a quorum, the house placed itself under call so action could be taken on pending legislation.

The motion to order the call was made by Representative DeWolfe of Goldthwaite, and sergeants at arms were ordered to round up all absent members in the city.

The house expressed serious concern over the state of its calendar and members indicated they would call for strict enforcement of the rule limiting the length of speeches to ten minutes with a five-minute extension by unanimous consent.

The calendar showed approximately 75 senate bills awaiting action on final passage and between 200 and 400 house bills.

Many Bills To Die
That much legislation would die on the calendar was freely predicted.

The house refused to set the judicial redistricting bill, recommended by Governor Sterling, for special order Monday. It was believed likely judicial redistricting became a dead issue with the refusal to set the special order.

Sterling said he believed the legislature should stay in session another week after May 22 if it was unable to act finally on some of the important bills.

The governor mentioned appropriations, congressional redistricting and oil conservation as some of the bills which should be passed and expressed doubt final action could be obtained on all these by the scheduled adjournment a week from tomorrow.

The Howley oil conservation bill was introduced only last week and the house committee did not act on it until last night. The report was favorable.

"Unless the legislature passes these bills before it goes home, a special session may be necessary," Governor Sterling said.

Several senators had started a move to postpone the adjournment late another week.

Howley Bill
The Howley bill would leave administration of conservation in the hands of the railroad commission, prohibit production beyond reasonable market demand and speed up injunction suits brought to restrain railroad proration orders.

Cone Johnson of Tyler protested against Texas barring the local supply in order to take care of foreign importation.

Senate Quickens Amendment Work

AUSTIN, May 15. (UP)—The Texas senate has quickened consideration of proposed constitutional amendments.

Senate records show the membership as favoring submission of eight of its 30 proposed constitutional amendments to the people. Another, by Senator Purl of Dallas, proposing abolition of the fee system as a means of compensating county office holders, was passed but tabled upon request of its author in order that a corrective amendment might be added. No other proposed passage of the resolution to truck and bus drivers.

AIRPORT OFFICIALS HAVE LITTLE LOVE FOR HUNGRY COON THAT ATE THE ZOO

The American Airways' zoo has been shut down for repairs. Inmates have vanished. A good, or fairly good, cage with two compartments can be obtained for little or no cash. The zoo isn't a zoo any longer. According to Marshall McGee, traffic department, a coon was responsible for it all.

The zoo, at the height of its existence, consisted of a fox, two o'possums, the coon.

The coon, probably not liking his fellow zoo mates any too well, ate the o'possums, although there were sparrows, good sparrows too, handy.

Probably because his taste did not include fox meat, he satisfied himself with running the fox out of the cage. The fox, having seen two o'possums go to their fate, didn't waste much time gnawing his way to freedom, and away from danger.

That left the coon.

American Airways' officials, having branded the animal as a symbol of destruction, and not liking him much anyway, opened the door and sped the coon on his way with a few shots from an airgun. Thus did the coon follow the fox, or maybe he didn't.

A monkey-face owl was given the cage to hark himself in. Of the original zoo, only the owl remained, and an owl, officials of the airport say, isn't very interesting to look at in the day time.

However, it would have made no difference.

The owl died.

GIRL RE-ENACTS POLICE SLAYING

In the same lonely Long Island lane where Francis "Two Gun" Crowley admits he shot to death a patrolman who interrupted their love tryst, his sweetheart and companion on the fatal ride, Helen Walsh, 15, re-enacted the slaying. She is shown (right) with a police matron at the scene of the killing.

Government Dredge Sinks After Being Struck by Outbound Ship

GALVESTON, May 15. (UP)—The steamer Liberator, outbound from Texas City, rammed and sank the government dredge Miller, in the Texas City channel today.

John Tibb, cook of the dredge, was missing and believed drowned. The steamer stood by for several hours.

The extent of the damage to the steamer was not determined.

Inroads Being Made On Stock Of Crude Oil

TULSA, May 15. (UP)—The oil industry, seeking to lift itself from the bog of depression, was given statistical solace today by a report indicating inroads were being made on petroleum stocks.

Figures compiled by Clarel B. Mapes, technologist for the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, showed stocks of all petroleum in the United States totaled 656,237,000 barrels at the end of the first quarter of the year, a decrease for the three-month period of 9,833,000 barrels, or a daily average decrease of 109,256 barrels.

The liquidation of this inventory, Mapes said, "reflects the efficiency of corrective measures brought about within the industry during the past three years, and, if carried on to a logical end, promises much better conditions in the future."

Stocks Increase
His report shows an increase in stocks of refined oils and natural gasoline, due presumably to anticipation of the approaching high consumption season, and a decrease in the stocks of other refined oils.

The increase in stocks of motor fuel and natural gasoline was 7,790,000 barrels for the quarter and the decrease in supplies of other refined oils was 4,036,000 barrels, making a net total addition to refined oil stocks of 3,754,000 barrels, or a daily average increase of 41,711 barrels.

The report shows stocks of crude oil were drawn upon at the rate of 150,967 barrels daily, or a total of 13,587,000 barrels for the three months. The reduction was greatest in the territory east of California. The daily average withdrawal east of California was 115,423 barrels, or a reduction of 2.84 per cent, while in the Pacific coast state, the daily average withdrawal was 35,544 barrels, or 2.24 per cent.

"Without a doubt," Mapes said in commenting on statistics, "the general policy of making withdrawals from crude storage is not only fully warranted but in most cases is quite necessary."

Continue Julian Bankrupt Hearing

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 15. (UP)—The district court hearing to determine whether C. C. Julian, sole trustee of the C. C. Julian Oil & Royalties company, had any property, was continued until May 20 this afternoon.

Continuance was granted by Judge Robert Burns, acting as special referee in the case, because H. D. Ropp, bookkeeper for the Black Warrior oil company, a Julian subsidiary, refused to testify without the Julian company's books.

Bullets Strike Over Phone Following Call

Proprietors Had Refused To Yield To Price Raise Demand

DALLAS, May 15. (UP)—Racketeers' bullets riddled the fronts of two shops here today.

Both shops had refused to raise prices. Operators asserted they had been threatened repeatedly by anonymous sources.

R. O. Walton, proprietor of one of the places, said his telephone started ringing but he did not answer it, fearing a plot, as he has recently been the target when his shop was attacked.

Soon after the phone started ringing, bullets spattered through the windows, striking immediately above the telephone.

Catholics To Protest Riot

Indications Made That Reparation To Be Sought

VATICAN CITY, May 15. (UP)—Federico Tedeschini, papal nuncio at Madrid, it was announced here today, has been instructed to file formal protest with the Spanish Republican government, in which will be made strong representations regarding the burning of Spanish churches and convents, and lack of protection for them this week.

It was said that the church assumed that in view of the great property damage the church suffered, reparation would be asked.

Reports from Madrid at noon said Tedeschini had conferred with President Zamora privately. Nothing of the interview was made public.

Meantime, Spain's republican government was attempting to determine the truth of persistent rumors that organized communist influence was behind the depredations.

Big Lake Leases Get Approval Of Body

AUSTIN, May 15. (UP)—The legislative committee investigating alleged irregularities in land affairs of the University of Texas filed its report with the legislature late today in which it recommended that no action be taken to cancel oil leases in the Big Lake field or disturb the judgment by which the university received $1,000,000 and a one-eighth interest in the net profits of the Reagan county purchasing company.

The committee started its investigation more than a year ago.

The report recommended the state join suit with the producing companies against the Oil Transporting company to obtain an adjustment of the price paid for the oil.

Galveston Will Celebrate Road

GALVESTON, Texas, May 15. (UP)—In celebration of the scheduled opening June 1 of the Rock Island-Burlington line into Galveston, a dinner will be given officers of the railroad by the chamber of commerce here May 21.

The line will connect Galveston with Fort Worth and Dallas via Houston, will give the Rock Island and Burlington a tidewater port, and is expected to be a help in the wheat movement.

Rock Island executives invited to the dinner include President J. E. Gorman, Frederick E. Williamson, president and chairman of the executive committee of the Burlington, is one of the officials of his line expected to attend.

POPE SPEAKS OVER RADIO

VATICAN CITY, May 15. (UP)—Pope Pius Eleventh, making his second world wide radio broadcast, spoke today on labor, capital rights and duties, and blessed them.

Robert C. Pyeatt, manager of Handy-Andy Grocery, was the principal speaker today at the regular luncheon of the Lions club held at the Settles Hotel.

A tap dance was given by Miss Weathers.

SPOTS FIRE FAR AWAY

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS)—Though western Connecticut seems thickly populated, the fact remains that a forest fire was watching from a tower on Johnsbury Mountain in Burlington, recently spotted a fire in the town of Warren, more than forty miles to the southwest and off the first information to officials there. The tower on Johnsbury Mountain rises fifty feet from an elevation of 1,155 feet.

Sweetheart of Carl Kidnaper Blamed by Ringleaders After Capture for Solution of Crime

CORPUSCANA, TEXAS, May 13. (UP)—A girl, the sweetheart of Charlie Hassell, one of the four men held on charges of kidnapping, figured prominently in the solution of the five-months old abduction of Robert Carl. Officers here revealed today.

Jimmie Nash, 32, and Currie Caldwell, 26, have admitted being the "master minds" of the $15,000 kidnapping plot, officers said.

From his cell in the county jail, Jimmie Nash, allegedly a member of the kidnapping ring of five, declared the plot was not a part of a criminal career but an easy money stunt which would harm no one.

"We figured old man Carl would be too scared to say anything about it to the officers and we knew he'd never miss the $15,000, as much money as he's got. And so we just planned it all out," he said.

Both ringleaders declared they believed the plot became known to police through Hassell's girl, who "didn't know how to keep her mouth shut."

Jimmie Nash, and his younger brother, B., are nephews of County Judge Clay Nash. Currie Caldwell is the son of J. W. Caldwell, Athens cotton buyer, and Mrs. J. B. Blandling of San Antonio.

Doyle, it was reported, was taken into the gang's plane when he happened Jimmie to know what was worrying him.

The widowed mother of the Nash boys lives on a farm near Wortham.

where the two brothers are determined to go and stay when they "get out of this."

Arrest of the four led to the reunion of Caldwell and his former wife, who met outside their son's cell this morning, united by a common grief.

The Nash brothers declared they never intended to harm their victim, Robert, son of Isaac N. Carl, wealthy Corsicana banker. "We put a sort of threat in the note to scare them," they admitted.

The two reported that all the money from the Carl kidnapping has now been flung to the four winds of riotous living—liquor, women, railroad tickets and good hotel accommodations.

TO COUNT BISON FROM AIR
CALGARY, Alta., May 13. (INN)—Airplanes are to be used this summer in making a census of buffalo in the Wood Buffalo Park of Northern Alberta. Flyers of the Royal Canadian Air Force, operating out of Fitzgerald, Alta., are to make the census. The census is expected to show a large increase in the Dominion's buffalo population.

15,000 NEW TREES

DISAGREED WITH JURY
BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (INN)—When a jury under his charge returned an award of $4,000 to the plaintiff in an automobile accident case Judge Ellis asked the plaintiff to remit $1,000 of the amount.

Failure to do so, he said, would result in his setting aside the jury verdict. He thought $1,500 would have been a sufficient award, he said, and he was sure $3,000 was wholly sufficient.

NEW BUICK EIGHTS

... an Owner Service Policy making generous provision for owner satisfaction

Only a Buick
Dealer can give Buick Service

The faith of men and women in the Buick car becomes even more deeply rooted when they realize how generously Buick provides for owner satisfaction.

When you buy a new Buick Eight, your dealer hands you a written Owner Service Policy. It specifies such advantages as free replacement of parts, with no charge for labor, under the terms of a very liberal warranty—and free inspection and adjustment after 500 miles and after 1500 miles.

You may change your residence, or tour anywhere in the U. S. or Canada, and still share these benefits through the nearest Buick dealer.

This policy is not only your guarantee of satisfaction, but also an assurance of Buick's basic excellence. The new Buick Eight is, in fact, so sound and good that it wins more than 90 out of every 100 sales of the 14 eights in its price class.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing motor car values.

June Addams, World Citizen

JANE ADDAMS, founder of Hull House at Chicago, was recently awarded the M. Carey Thompson prize to an American woman in recognition of eminent achievement at Bryn Mawr College. Tributes from President Hoover and Ramsay MacDonald expressed the great affection and respect that name of this woman commands, but the comment of John Dewey was most fitting of all when he described her as a "citizen of the world community."

It has been the life work of Jane Addams to lift social service into its true category as a profession.
The ideal of charity, as she saw it,
was not the old picture of Lady Bountiful, graciously dispensing groceries, with a slightly patronizing air, but a carefully planned program to restore the self-respect of the person who happened to be in a position where he needed help.

Social service workers today are highly trained in psychology, in economics and in a particular branch where they may best serve. Graduate courses are offered in universities, and the absorbing tasks of supervising playgrounds for children of the slums districts, conducting free clinics, or employment bureaux, helping to orient the immigrant from Ellis Island, are done by those who understand, as well as enjoy, their business. This new trend of intelligent cooperation and helpfulness is patterned largely after the excellent example of Hull House.

Those who believe that "woman's place is in the home" can only commend Jane Addams. She does not deny it. But she has made the whole of down-and-out humanity a part of that home. Not a feminist in the true sense of the word, perhaps,
Jane Addams has tended her mas-ternatural instinct, which all women are supposed to possess, to the world at large. Her life is a paradox of modern and old-fashioned ideals, combined in a fascinating career.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

A Great Art Gift

Boston Globe.
A NOTHER great art collection is passing from private control into the keeping of trustees for the public. The paintings and other artistic treasures of the late Colonel Friedman of New York have been offered by will to the Metropolitan Museum. Mr. Robert W. DeForest, president of the museum, describes the collection as very important and valued by few if any private collections. It contains many early French and Flemish paintings, besides examples of the Dutch and Italian schools. A generation ago scarcely a single example of a French or a Flemish primitive could be found in America, but the zeal with which this collection has been gathered gives it a position beyond anything that can be found elsewhere in the world, except in the Louvre or in the museums of Brussels and Antwerp.

A condition of the will makes it necessary for the collection to be shown permanently as a unit, and it is possible that the trustees may not see their way clear to promising this. They have been known to say off from such a stipulation, as when they refused the collection of the late Senator William A. Clark.
However, the location of the collection now offered is not of primary importance. The pictures brought together by Senator Clark found their way to the Cincinatti Gallery in Washington. There will be a place for the Friedman collection where it may be seen.

People of wealth and taste are interested for years in accumulating beautiful things. But, when the collector dies, usually the only disposition to make of it is to turn it over to the rest of us.

HOW'S your HEALTH?

Edited by Dr. L. G. Goldstein Academy of Medicine

RAW FOODS
Can a man live on raw food?
Yes, but why should he? There are few advantages and many disadvantages to a diet made up entirely of raw foods.

Perhaps the most important disadvantage in that with a diet of raw food, digestion becomes the main job of existence, after the manner of the cow.

A series of interesting experiments have been performed and reported by Drs. Loewy and Behrens, on the metabolism of seven patients accustomed to a diet of fresh raw leaf and root vegetables, fruits, nuts, uncooked cereals, oil and honey.

To begin with, it was found that though the patients were allowed free choice and all they wanted, the amount of food consumed represented an average daily intake of but 1500 calories. This makes but a very meager diet, too low for the average person.

Then 160, much of the food substances eaten was not absorbed but passed out of the body in the fecal waste, so that in the end the daily absorbed energy equivalent was a little less than 1000 calories.

The proteins in these diets were too low in quantity to allow for adequate growth and the replacement of worn-out tissues. The investigators pointed out that such a diet and such inadequate rations were a distinct menace to health and to life.

Other studies made on animals compared the nutritive values of raw and cooked foods and their relating effects upon growth and reproduction.

These studies demonstrated that the eating of cooked food had a better effect on the experimental animals. Most of the foods, particularly meats, were more easily digested and more readily assimilated when cooked.

The conclusions confirm the prevalent conviction that a mixed diet of cooked foods with raw fruits and vegetables provides adequate nutrition and safeguards growth and health.

Mad Pursuit

BY JESSIE DOUGLAS FOX

SYNOPSIS: Although pretty Nora Lake loves her artist father, improvident Julian Lake, who is distracted at their countless questions of new scenes. "Oh, Julian, let's go home!" she exclaims when he tells her that they are going to the Tyrol, leaving behind the Italian villa Mrs. Nevers has lent them, rent-free. Protesting when he tells her to borrow money for household expenses from the painter, Nicholas Thayer, their guest, Nora is further dismayed at her father's sly hint that she marry Thayer. Oddly, as she recalls five years before she had met Jonathan Thayer, a youth of 20, who had strongly impressed her, but Nicholas Thayer she dislikes from the first. When she goes to serve the breakfast, he tells her rather harshly that he is leaving.

Chapter 2
CHILDREN NORA
NORA did not answer him at once, though speculating why this strange man had decided to leave. The Villa Roma with its pleasant old rooms was not comfortable enough, then, for him.
"I thought I could work here," Nicholas continued, "but it's no good. I'll have to get out of Florence. Soon I'll be sunning myself and talking about the great things
I shall do some day."

She read contempt for her father in the words. She knew too well his laziness, but his very weakness enlisted her sympathy.
"Are you going to the Tyrol?"
she asked, the thought darting through her mind that this might account for her father's sudden change of plan.

"I'm going home," he said.
On the changed, strange still, but the gray eyes she had thought cold and merciless the saw now were suffering.

"I want to go home," Nora said.
She sat down on a high-backed chair as though at any moment she might spring up and dart off.

"Why don't you?"
Julian asked, yet on without someone to look out for him.
His lips twisted in an amused smile as though the idea of her looking out for her father was as absurd as it was pathetic.

"You've been lucky," Nicholas said with asperity, "most people would give their boots to travel about as you have done. For three years, isn't it?"
"I've traveled ever since I was born. But you can't live on scenery forever," Nora ended simply.
"Look here, you can get what you want by wanting it enough."
"Have you got what you want?"
"God no!"
His violence startled her. He stood, legs apart, looking at her with inimical, drawn brows.
"Neither have I," she said.
He was disarmed for the first time. His face was quite different when he smiled; there was a kind of play in it that changed it magically.

began to sting her cheeks.
"It is a habit the young seem to have. And by this time—he must be."

Her finger tips were icy. She had to force the words out.
"Have you seen him lately?"
"I haven't seen him lately," he said without interest.

She could not say another word.
He walked away from her, she was tantalized almost beyond her power of endurance, but she waited.

"Well," he said, smiling down at her, "say good-by to your father for me. I don't like to say good-by."
She did not want him to go, but she was not experienced enough to know how to make him stay. She was a little angry too, that she had told him about herself, and that he pitied her. And she was dying of curiosity to know more about Jon.

She stood up and went over to her blind that she had tried to open that morning and wrenched at it with fury. Thayer came over to her and leaning out thrust his flat at
it. With a loud creaking it swung down. But Nora saw when he had brought back his hand he had a long ugly gash below the thumb.

"You've cut yourself badly!"
You'd better run water on it at once. I'll get a disinfectant in the medicine chest upstairs."

She rushed upstairs to rummage through the medicine chest with its half-filled bottles with their Italian labels.

There was no disinfectant. When she went back he had wrapped his hand in his handkerchief.
"Have you run cold water over it?"

changes from one place to another that the peace of that English parsonage haunted her. A strange child, he mused. Whatever would become of her, tied to that futile make-shift of a father? For that Julian Lake's pretension to be a painter was dust flung in the eyes.

Nicholas Thayer now knew. The pictures he had displayed with such pride last night had been abominable. He was a shiftless idler and he would undoubtedly marry this child of his to some other vagrant like himself. Her instinct was right, he concluded; she should go home.

What future could there be for her in Europe, where she had no background, no money, nothing but a kind of very charm for her whole fortune?

Nora said suddenly, "I met someone once named Thayer."
"There are several of the name,"
he said dryly.

"His name was Jonathan. He was tall and very fair."
"I had a brother once," he said, studying her curiously. "In London about five years ago."
"He isn't dead?" she breathed.

"I believe he's still alive," he said indifferently.
"He must be married by this time," she tried to say with a casual indifference.

But to her confusion the blood
began to sting her cheeks.

It was smiling cynically.
"I came through the war unscathed, a pin prick's not going to do me to now," he said.

"Will you tell your father for me that I won't see him again?"
He turned abruptly and ran upstairs. She said listening to the sounds of his packing, for the first time a crazy restlessness besieged her own spirit. She wanted to run upstairs and tumble things into her own bags and be off.

"I hope I never see him again!"
Nora thought.

BOXING LEGAL
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., May 14.
(UP)—A bill which will allow 15-round boxing matches to a decision in Missouri was signed today by Gov. Henry S. Caulfield.

The bill provides that a referee and two judges, appointed by the state boxing commission, may render decisions in all bouts. Heretofore 10-round matches have been legal, but no official decision has been permitted.

Proponents of the bill, which passed both houses of the legislature without serious opposition, argued that important championship matches were being kept out of the state by the old law. Support for the bill came mostly from the large cities.

CLUBSSenior Class Play Tonight
And Baccalaureate Sermon
Scheduled Sunday Evening

Commencement Exercises Begin in Earnest With Annual Play at High School Auditorium and Sunday's Religious Services

With the Senior class play tonight, the senior commencement activities will commence. The next event of importance will be the baccalaureate sermon which will be preached Sunday evening, at the First Baptist church by the Rev. D. R. Lindley, pastor of the local Christian church.

The sermon topic will pertain to the commencement theme, which is "Worthwhile Use of Leisure Time." The music will be furnished by a composite choir of all the churches of the city, which will dismiss for the occasion. Mrs. Bruce Frazier will be choir director and some splendid choral singing has been promised.

The Senior class of the Big Spring High School will put on its annual class play tonight at the school auditorium. "Foul Play" will be the title and the plot is concerned with a college on the eve of a very important football game.

The sponsors of the play are Miss Verda Ruth Graham and Frank Boyle. Mrs. Lee Weather is directing the play and she says that the students have rehearsed their parts well and the play promises to be one of the very best ever put on by a senior class, as well as a very entertaining selection of play material.

Robert Kidwell, Brownie Henshaw and Louella Bishop will have leading roles. The cast is a large one, supplemented by numbers of girls and boys who will appear in the college glee club and in the boys and girls pep squads.

Pauline Melton will be the college musician and the yell leaders for the big football game are Polly Webb and Mary Gene Dugger.

The following cast of characters comprises the personnel of the play: Chuck, fraternity president, Robert Kidwell; Harris, star football player, Brownie Henshaw; Blakely, Harris' friend, Tommy Hutto; Burroughs, frat member, Beverly Rockhold; two freshmen boys, Jack, Charles Peck; Ted, Forrest Underwood; Mary, sorority president, and Harris' girl friend, Lucile Bishop; two freshman girls and would-be defectives, Alice Gene Hamdley, Jane Louise Hayes, Miss Martin, a wealthy old maid, Iris Rawlings; Lisa, a negro cook, Jennie Dorine Rogers; Dr. Armstrong, president of the college, Elmer Par-due; Lawyer Shubert, a little Jew lawyer, Nathan Orr; Murphy, a policeman; Don Yarbrough; radio announcer, Robert Kidwell.

The Wise Hostess Serves
But One Course at Parties

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON

WHEN we entertain, deciding upon the menu for the party supper is an important problem—and often a puzzling one. Suppers planned for late in the evening should be composed of interesting and unusual food; yet for the sake of the hostess, they should be easy to serve and require very little last minute preparation. Your guests, too, would prefer that you serve something light and simple, for most people realize that it is not wise to eat an elaborate meal too near bed time.

The wise hostess solves this problem by limiting her refreshments to one course. This may be a salad, a rabbit, waffles, or a dessert and coffee, and yet two or three. This is the best way to avoid having a meal that is entirely too hearty to be eaten so late.

The following single-course party suppers are easy to prepare and serve, and are of a type that your guests will enjoy:

Mixed Fruit Salad with Cream Cheese and Currant Jelly Dressing
Crisp Crackers Drop Cookies
Coffee

Pineapple or Peach Upside-Down Cake with Whipped Cream
Salad Nuts
Coffee

Deviled Rabbit on Buttered Toast
Cubes
Hot Buttered Rolls
Sliced Deli Pickles
Coffee Mints

Prize Salad With Cream Cheese and Currant Jelly Dressing
9 sliced tomatoes; 1 cup sliced pineapple;

Formation Of
Contract Bridge
Club Planned

Mrs. L. C. Knight entertained two tables of contract bridge players Thursday afternoon at her home at 408 Dallas Street for the purpose of discussing the organization of a bridge club.

The selection of a plan will be decided by the members at the next meeting. Mrs. Bohannon made high score for the afternoon. Lovely refreshments were served to the following who were enrolled as members of the club: Mmes. J. A. Lane, Cecil Floyd, V. R. Burton, Raymond Winn, A. L. Woods, D. C. Hamilton, Robert E. Lee, Dallas Whaley, H. L. Bohannon.

The next meeting will be on June 9 with Mrs. Bohannon.

Federal Fines
In April High

WASHINGTON, May 15 (UP)—Fines in federal dry law cases in April throughout the country totaled $382,484, according to prohibition director Woodcock's monthly summary. Total for the ten months of the fiscal year is well past four million dollars.

Jail sentences during the month totaled 2,949, for an aggregate of 1,712 years.

Maine, it appeared from the summary, is the place most to be feared by prohibition law violators if money is an object. The average fine in that state during April was $700, as against a national average of $146 for the past ten months.

If loss of liberty be considered, West Virginia is the bootlegger's bane, since the average sentence there was 569 days, as compared with the national average of 221 days.

New York led in arrests, but shared with Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware the distinction of being the most lenient on those convicted.

The New York state's arrests totaled 1,427, and the fines there averaged $57.91. Vermont had only five arrests, Delaware four, South Dakota four, and North Dakota three. Rhode Island with no state enforcement law, had five. Maryland, in the same plight reported 118.

Beer was seized in the largest quantities in New York City, New Jersey and St. Louis districts, with a total of about 74,000 gallons, or the equivalent of nearly 600,000 pint bottles. Some districts reported no beer seizures at all, but there was none so arid as to find no illegal spirits. The largest haul of spirits was 64,332 gallons in New York City, and the smallest slightly over five gallons in Nevada.

WINNERS OF
"CONTEST" TO GET AWARDS

Ben Cole, superintendent of sales for the Southern Ice & Utilities Co., announced Friday morning that the Big Spring prize in the Black Beauty Contest sponsored the last fifteen days by his company had been won by Mrs. R. A. Griffith, 1010 N. 10th. Other Big Spring winners of $5 and $3 cash prizes were C. O. Walkup, P. O. Box 1454, and Henry R. Hayden, 200 Gregg, respectively.

The contest was for the best estimate of the selling price of a new black refrigerator which the company is introducing. Each estimate was accompanied by a letter giving reasons for the estimate. Mr. Cole stated that entries in the contest from Big Spring ranked high in number with those submitted from other cities in which his company operates ice plants in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

CLUB POSTPONED

The Thursday Luncheon Club did not meet yesterday. Mrs. G. R. Porter next hostess has not returned from Florida where she and Mr. Porter have been attending the Kipravis convention. Until she returns the club will probably not meet.

Junior Hyperion Members
Entertain Senior Club
With Lovely Seated Tea

Home of Mrs. T. S. Currie Thrown Open to Young Hostesses for the Afternoon: Interesting Readings and Musical Numbers

The crowning event of the club social affairs of the season was the lovely seated tea given Thursday afternoon by the members of the Junior Hyperion club, honoring the Senior Hyperions at the home of Mrs. T. S. Currie.

Spring flowers in varying shades were the effective decorative note of the tea, accented by the girls in their lovely evening frocks. At the door Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Parks, president of the Junior Hyperions and members of the younger club greeted their guests.

The Junior Hyperions devoted the earlier part of the tea to a program. Mrs. Harry Hurt gave a lovely piano solo; Mrs. Tracy T. Smith and Miss Dorothy Jordan gave interpretive readings. Three guest artists were on the program, Mrs. Barney Whisenant, of San Antonio, who gave several vocal numbers, Miss Ione Drake who played two violin solos, accompanied by Nancy Davies and Nancy herself who played several selections, one of her own compositions, "The Dance of the Goblins," which was given a name during the recent club convention by a visiting poet, Mrs. McMahon.

At the close of the program the guests were ushered into the dining room and served tea. Mrs. Currie and Mrs. Harry Hurt poured. The Junior Hyperions assisted with the serving.

Delicate spring colors of pink and green were the color notes of the dining table and were carried out in the centerpiece of sweet peas reflected in a mirror in which the bowl stood, in the flower-shaped mints and the open-face sandwiches.

Miss Verbena Barnes, who in the absence of Mrs. Wm. F. Cushing, was the presiding officer of the senior club and the members of the committee who assisted in the formation of the Junior Hyperion club had been sent cognates of sweet peas for the occasion. The committee members were Mrs. Steve Ford, Mrs. B. Reagan, Mrs. J. D. Biles and Mrs. Shine Phillips.

All the members of the Junior Hyperion Club were present with the exception of Mrs. J. A. Coffey. These were Mmes. Robert Parks, Hubert Stipp, Tracy T. Smith, Frances Glenn, Harry Hurt, H. A. Stegner and Misses Jens and Dorothy Jordan, Agnes Currie, Jeannette Pickle, and Clara Pool.

Tea was served to the following Hyperion members and guests: Mmes. J. D. Biles, James T. Brooks, H. S. Faw, Albert Fisher, V. H. Flewellen, Steve Ford, Bruce Frazier, Homer McNew, W. H. Martin, Shine Phillips, B. Reagan, V. Van Gieson, Geo. Wilke, Seth Parsons, O. L. Thomas, D. Phillips, of Dallas, Barney Whisenant of San Antonio and Misses Verbena Barnes, Nancy Davies and Ione Drake.

West Ward
P.T.A. Gives
Last Program

The West Ward P.T.A. met Thursday afternoon at the school with 50 members present for the last meeting of this school year.

Mrs. Robert Parks' pupils put on the interesting and well-rendered program. They sang several songs, "Texas, My Texas," "Smile," "Sweet and Low," and the West Ward song.

Miss Verbena Barnes told the story of the Star Spangled Banner. Mrs. N. M. Miener sang "Wonderful Mother of Mine" and Mrs. V. H. Flewellen, "Thanks For a Garden." Mrs. R. L. Owen was the accompanist and rendered a piano solo, called "Serenade."

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. McDonald's rooms had the most mothers present.

Mrs. C. C. Carter, chairman of the finance committee, announced that by selling vanilla during the summer months the association could clear almost twenty dollars and asked the members to buy their vanilla from her.

Spring Garden Effect Theme
Of Attractive Luncheon
Given at Settles Hotel

Mrs. Vivian Nichols Entertains Five Tables of Contract Players at Unusually Lovely and Colorful Bridge Party

One of the loveliest bridge parties of the closing spring season was the bridge luncheon given on the mezzanine floor of the Settles Hotel Thursday by Mrs. Vivian Nichols.

Instead of using the banquet room, the guests were seated for luncheon and play on the mezzanine floor proper in a section which was blocked off by ferns and large potted plants forming a little garden scene. Japanese lanterns added to the spring garden effects. Green and crystal were the colors employed on five tables, whose decorations were flowering plants.

A delicious four-course luncheon was served to the guests, after which they played contract bridge. The score pads, table numbers and talies were old-fashioned girls in garden frocks and flower-twined trillies conveying the garden motif.

Six lovely prizes were given. Mrs. Clare made high score and received a hand-embroidered luncheon cloth with corner pocket holding the four napskins. Mrs. Coffee received consolation prize, which was a clothes brush in a hand-painted wall plaque. The potted flowers in the tables were by Mrs. Albert Fisher, Mrs. Fahrnkamp, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Schlichter.

The guests who attended this delightful party were Mmes. Albert Fisher, N. W. McCleskey, R. C. Strain, Abe Gardner, E. E. Fahrnkamp, H. G. Keaton, C. C. Carter, Joyce Fisher, Julius Eckhaus, J. R. Young, V. Van Gieson, C. E. Shive, W. H. Clare, George Wilke, W. T. Strange, W. D. McDonald, Liburn Coffee, Steve Ford and A. Schlichter.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Mrs. E. T. Stem was appointed secretary pro tem. Mrs. Emma Davis led the devotionals.

Mrs. C. S. Holmes gave an interesting report of the address, "Laws and Outlaws" by Dr. J. W. Hunt of McMurry College, delivered during the recent convention of the sixteenth district.

A round table of discussion was conducted on the address of the state president, Mrs. Claude de Van Watts and that of the president of the Local Temperance Union, Mrs. J. W. Adams.

The members present were Mmes. J. M. Manuel, J. M. Choate, J. B. King, W. H. Settles, Frank Lester, George W. Davis, E. T. Stem, Emma Davis and C. S. Holmes.

Grand Jury Probe Of Blast Resumed

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 15 (UP)—An investigation of the blast which damaged the National Cleaners & Dyers plant here Tuesday night will be resumed by the grand jury next week.

M. E. Roberts, owner of twelve plants, and three other witnesses appeared before the grand jury Wednesday. Names of the other witnesses were not divulged.

Roberts declared a hloodid had thrown a stick of dynamite into his plant.

Fort Worth Murder Is Thought Solved

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 14 (UP)—Police Saturday believed the killers of U. E. Horton, filling station operator, were in the hands of Waco officers.

Two of the three youths arrested there Saturday night while attempting to enter a store were viewed Thursday morning by Mrs. Horton, widow of Horton, and Franklin Stockton, an eye-witness to the killing, which occurred Friday night.

Both said they were "almost positive" the two were the men, county detective Frank Pulliam said over long-distance telephone.

County Warrant Test Case Set

AUSTIN, May 15 (UP)—A case to test the validity of county warrants issued without popular vote was argued today in the state supreme court. The test was brought in the form of a mandamus application to force the attorney general to approve such warrants for Henderson county. An opinion of the U. S. circuit court at New Orleans recently held such warrants invalid, but it was believed this decision was because a state court had not ruled upon them. The federal court decision now has been withdrawn and the case will be reconsidered.

Grand Jury Probe Of Blast Resumed

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 15 (UP)—An investigation of the blast which damaged the National Cleaners & Dyers plant here Tuesday night will be resumed by the grand jury next week.

M. E. Roberts, owner of twelve plants, and three other witnesses appeared before the grand jury Wednesday. Names of the other witnesses were not divulged.

Roberts declared a hloodid had thrown a stick of dynamite into his plant.

Fort Worth Murder Is Thought Solved

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 14 (UP)—Police Saturday believed the killers of U. E. Horton, filling station operator, were in the hands of Waco officers.

Two of the three youths arrested there Saturday night while attempting to enter a store were viewed Thursday morning by Mrs. Horton, widow of Horton, and Franklin Stockton, an eye-witness to the killing, which occurred Friday night.

Both said they were "almost positive" the two were the men, county detective Frank Pulliam said over long-distance telephone.

County Warrant Test Case Set

AUSTIN, May 15 (UP)—A case to test the validity of county warrants issued without popular vote was argued today in the state supreme court. The test was brought in the form of a mandamus application to force the attorney general to approve such warrants for Henderson county. An opinion of the U. S. circuit court at New Orleans recently held such warrants invalid, but it was believed this decision was because a state court had not ruled upon them. The federal court decision now has been withdrawn and the case will be reconsidered.

Dallas Twirler Would Warn Young Players To Seek Other Roads For Arriving At The Doorstep Of Fame

DALLAS, May 15 (UP)—Young college and amateur baseball players who are nursing ideas they would like to compete in professional baseball will do well to steer clear of George Murray, ace right hander on the Dallas pitching staff. George, if they seek his opinion, will tell them to forget it and seek another road to fame.

In a fanning bee recently, Murray said: "Never will I encourage a young man to rely on baseball for a living. If he is good, he will make the grade for a couple of years, and then all these rookie rules will get him and he will go when he has really learned how to play."

Murray explained that all minor league clubs must carry from five to nine rookies, and with much baseball law, the veteran, even though he is the better player, goes to the dugout and pointed to Michael Bennett, Dallas outfielder, and said: "There's Bennett for an example. He is a fine ball player, will be for several years yet, but if you want to know the truth, Bennett made him a free agent because of the Southern League rookie rule. I can name you plenty other veterans who are far from through, but who are free agents in danger of losing their jobs because each club must be within the rookie rule. That's why I say I can't go business for a youngster after two years. If he plays any at all, he will be a veteran and then it will not matter how good he is, but whether his club is within the rookie rule or not."

Providing one regains his health and the other continues to improve her game, the 1933 Texas Women's Golf Association state tournament will have two redoubtable contenders in Mrs. M. M. Van Wormer, Beaumont, and Miss Anna Bligh Thompson, Fort Worth. The last two years, these two have qualified in the championship flight and suffered elimination in 1932 at Texasmas, Mrs. Van Wormer entered the tournament and qualified although she was still weak from a recent operation. At San Antonio this year, she again entered and qualified against her doctor's orders.

She won her first match and went 20 holes before bowing out in her second match. She said she was returning to Beaumont to store her golf clubs away for six months. By that time she hopes to have regained her complete health, and if she does, Beaumont will have a fine shot maker competing for the championship next year in Fort Worth.

Miss Thompson is a school girl of 17 years. She has some fast playing much too fast. In her qualifying round at San Antonio, she went out in 58, but coming home, she slowed down at the suggestion of Mrs. Ruth Hunter who was qualifying with her, and scored a 45. Miss Thompson owns a splendid tee shot, and her iron game is sound when she doesn't rush her shots. She is still a bit erratic on the greens, but is sure to polish up this part of her game.

Mrs. Van Wormer and Miss Thompson, both young and with the necessary golf shots, look like two of the best bets in the association for next year's championship grind.

Dick McCabe, one of the best pitchers in the Texas league, is getting his share of extra inning games. On May 7, McCabe pitched and won his third extra inning game, defeating Galveston 4 to 2 in 14 innings. McCabe holds a ten inning victory over Dallas and a twelve inning win over Beaumont.

Regarded as one of the Fort Worth staff, when McCabe goes to the mound he usually draws as an opponent, the best pitcher on the opposite club, thus the extra inning games.

FREE CAUSED LARYNGITIS
HAVERHILL, Mass. (INS).—A tree in front of her home was named by Miss Lillian M. Clark for the loss of her voice and she appeared before the municipal council asking that the tree be removed. Miss Clark told the council that she has been suffering from laryngitis for two years caused by the tree which dampens her house and prevents sunlight from entering the windows.

Alford Samuel J. Lewis opposed destruction of the tree, because it added to the beauty to the thoroughfare. Decision was reserved.

This Game of GOLF

By O. B. Keeler

So far as I am aware, this small phenomenon is a new discovery. I never had heard it suggested before, even as a theory. Also, it is (so far as I can judge) perfectly valuable in the study and practice of golfing methods. So it won't do any harm if it isn't correct, and it won't wreck any revolution with accepted ideas, if it is.

Driving out to the Flintridge country club the other morning with Bobby Jones. I asked him if he had ever tested the time a golf ball would stay in the air, from a full shot.

I was thinking about the Gay Nineties, when the Messers Talt, Father and son, conducted experiments in ballistics; shooting golf balls into large revolving disks covered with clay; and finally explaining why markings on the cover of a golf ball were necessary to enable the spin, with which any properly struck ball is charged, to take hold of the air and thus control the flight in a trajectory which only the golf ball can follow.

TIMING BOBBY'S DRIVES

Mr. Jones replied that he had had some drives timed, and that the ball, from a full stroke with the big wood club, remained in the air just six seconds.

It was interesting, because the old gutta-percha ball, from the full stroke with the driver 20 years ago, also remained in the air just six seconds, though it traveled only about 70 or 75 per cent as far as the ball as the more resilient modern rubber-core.

Considering this coincidence, I asked Bobby if he ever had timed the flight of the ball from other clubs, on a full shot. He said no. And I suggested that the ball might remain in the air as long as from other clubs as from the driver, while not going so far.

Mr. Jones fancied there might be something in this, and after reaching the course we tried it. I had a stop-watch.

CLOCKLIKE GOLF

Bobby already knew what the driver would do. So he tried his No. 1 or "big spoon."

The ball remained in the air just six seconds, shot after shot, with the normal trajectory. He tried a towering shot, one that was too high—a freak shot. The flight lasted 8.25 seconds. Normal spoon shots all seemed to be exactly six seconds.

Bobby tried a big iron. Six seconds. He tried a masher—nickel hitting the ball hard, so that it carried 140 to 150 yards; rather more than he expects of this implement. Six seconds in the air.

We did not try the intermediate irons of the niblick, but it seems perfectly reasonable to assume that all the clubs, properly swung for a full shot, will support the ball in flight the same period of time.

The niblick might fly about half as far as the driving shot; but the ball would fly higher and move more slowly, and be more emphatically supported by backspin.

San Antonio Skipper Uses Fists And Feet After Hillin Pitches Pair of Baseballs to the Body

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, May 14.—The Wichita Falls Spudders defeated the San Antonio Indians, 6-3, here today. Ash Hillin had pitched a three-hit game for the Spudders until the ninth when he weakened and hit Edwards to load the sacks, and followed by hitting Flankamp, forcing in a run.

Uncle Robby Robertson, after Hillin had hit Flankamp, rushed from the dugout and attacked Hillin. The latter did not fight back, but held Robertson, a small man, at arm's length, and the San Antonio skipper presented the ludicrous sight of wildly waving his arms about trying to punch Hillin on the nose.

Uses Feet, Too
Finally he resorted to kicking tactics before members of both teams separated them.

Under the new league ruling promulgated by Alvin Gardner the players were allowed to fight it out without fear of being bounced from the park. Prommet finished the inning for the Spudders.

SHIPPER'S STEERS

DALLAS, May 14.—After pitching five innings of hitless baseball here today, Oscar Fisher, Dallas southpaw, went to pieces and the Beaumont Exporters won their third consecutive game from the local 6-5. Dallas continued to play erratic baseball. After making five errors in yesterday's game, they committed four miscues in today's contest. The Steers fell one run short of deadlocking the score with a three run rally in the ninth.

PANTHERS 7, PIRATES 2

FORT WORTH, May 14.—Larry O'ne's home run in the fifth inning with the bases loaded gave the Fort Worth Panthers a 7-2 victory over Galveston in the third and deciding game of the series here today. The score was tied at 2 all, when the circuit smash came.

Galveston 011 000 000-2

HELEN VERSUS SUZANNE?

What she might do by playing professionally is another matter, even if she were interested. The talk of her doing so and playing Suzanne Langlen seems mere chatter. Miss Langlen not only is long past her best tennis-playing days, but likely can't recall the financial disappointment accompanying her venture as a pro with the Pyle troupe several years ago.

Mrs. Moody has won the championships of America, Great Britain and France with such ridiculous ease in the past few years that the incentive must be considerably lessened, although there is still her art to take her abroad. Moreover there are no serious threats to her supremacy in eight this year.

DERBY MUD

It wouldn't seem the same old Derby if the Kentucky classic were not run in the rain. Consequently for the sake of president and the more practical reason that the country is feeling the effects of dry spells, they may even welcome the showers at Churchill Downs.

Rough Count, Clyde Van Dusen and Gallant Fox have galloped through mud to win the last three Derbies. The last two carried Eastern colors, and another rainy day would heighten the chances of so good a mud horse as Equinox, the Whitney colt, making it three in a row for the East for the first time since pre-war days.

No reduction of college naval armaments is in sight. Scarlett college, Ohio, has been rowing in section for a few years but makes its debut in Eastern competition against the junior varieties of Harvard, Navy and Pennsylvania on the Schuylkill River, May 18.

The development of 150-pound or "lightweight" crews has extended to Cornell, enjoying rowing prosperity for the first time in many moons. Pennsylvania has boasted more crews than ever this spring.

California and Washington again will compete at Poughkeepsie. The Golden Bears have decided to enter the "jays" as well as varsity crew and will leave June 1 for the East.

MILTON'S BLINDNESS
Tommy Milton—reveals the big revealers, Steve Hannagan, in the Cosmopolitan magazine—became one of the greatest racing drivers in America despite being blind in one eye and with only two-thirds vision in the other.

Milton was ten years old before he realized he had no vision in his right eye. He kept it a secret during the years he set a world's mile record at Daytona Beach, twice won the 500-mile Indianapolis and led a charmed racing life. His closest call was in 1920 at Cotati, Calif., when a stone broke his goggles and drove glass into his good eye while he was speeding at 125 miles per hour. He steered his car to safety.

The Water Bucket

BY BOBBY CAMPBELL

Kyle Field, that historic battleground of the Texas Aggies, will see with activity Saturday. Uncle William Douch packs his Texas Longhorns in his stable and moves in on the Aggies' diamond, in an effort to add another Southwest Conference baseball title to his already overladen mast. And the Aggies are looming up in front of Uncle Willie's spectacles. Roswell Higginbotham has carried the Texas Aggies to the point where the title hinges on the Saturday contest. It is the grand finale for both teams. The winner will depart after the fifth frame. There is no doubt about the Longhorns being seriously threatened. But there is a doubt everywhere that the Aggies can meet the crafty Uncle Will on even terms and get away with it.

The Bankers and their fees, the Tigers will clash at Dundy Diamond this afternoon if the boys get out to the field. The Tigers, it might be said, are in a hilarious mood. They have a good baseball club and no group knows it better than the Tigers. The Bankers are now in a dangerous straits. They use the trite jargon, are seeking the old pellet with quite a sock. Their early season reluctance at slashing the apple has vanished like the gate receipts. In fact they are on a hitting spree, with no hangover threatened. If the Tigers, who do some rather fancy hitting, can stem this tide they may knock the league leaders over again this afternoon. We say again, because they did that very little hitting the last time they encountered each other.

Sunday afternoon the Henninger-Potter-Rode combination, manufacturers distributors and consumers of Couden gasoline, will take Flew's baseball club through the turnstiles to meet the Tigers. Flew's aggregation is due for a tough game. Not that they haven't had them already. Tough games have been slapping Flew's contingent in the face from all angles. But the Tigers, at the present, have a better, much better, team than Flew has. It, too, should prove rather an interesting contest. At least twenty-five cents worth of interest.

Smoky Brothers, San Angelo's contribution to the game of trotting the half mile, seeks other laurels. After dashing around Austin to set a new Intercollegiate League mark of 1:09.3, Brothers will enter the Southern A.A.U. event, to be held at Dallas, May 20. Brothers, it is declared, set the new state record with one of his ankles smothered beneath a heavy wrapping of tape. There is no telling what will happen at Dallas, with his ankle in perfect condition, and the tape being used around bicycle tires or something. Perhaps, if Brothers should desire to lower the A.A.U. mark in the half mile, he should sprain his other ankle. It would not be so surprising, however, if the athlete of Tom Green county, did that very thing. Set a new record, we mean; not sprain a ligament, or a couple of ligaments as the case may be.

Authorizing the University of Texas board of regents to invest the university permanent fund in certain bonds.

Allowing officers and enlisted men of the army, navy, and national guards to hold office and vote in Texas.

Among the proposed constitutional amendments still pending: Constitutional convention in Austin in 1932.

Increasing the salary of the attorney general, the comptroller and the treasurer.

Supreme court of nine members. Abolition of the office of county treasurer.

Authorizing establishment of rural electric light, power and gas distribution districts.

Authorizing state to establish and maintain electric light, power and natural gas distribution systems.

Proposing an occupation tax on gasoline to be used for construction of highways and retiring bonded indebtedness of counties.

A proposed constitutional amendment which would allow cities and counties to combine their governments under a home rule plan was waived, and the Beck Home Rule resolution from the house was engrossed. Senator Wood of Houston, author of the senate home rule plan, allowed his proposition to remain untouched, and devoted his time to guiding the Beck plan.

tion, and it is expected to pass, unopposed, when it comes up again for passage.

Several proposed constitutional amendments, and some of them are favored by the senators, have not been taken up for consideration, although they received favorable reports from senate committees.

Bills Passed
The proposed constitutional amendments passed by the senate were:

The $212,000,000 highway bond resolution.

Abolition of the state ad valorem levy.

Exemption of homesteads up to $5,000 from state ad valorem tax levies.

Increase of the governor's salary, from $4,000 to $12,000.

Combining office of county tax assessor and collector.

Authorizing a Texas Centennial in 1936.

Authorizing the University of Texas board of regents to invest the university permanent fund in certain bonds.

Allowing officers and enlisted men of the army, navy, and national guards to hold office and vote in Texas.

Among the proposed constitutional amendments still pending: Constitutional convention in Austin in 1932.

Increasing the salary of the attorney general, the comptroller and the treasurer.

MINERAL WELLS MAYOR FACING ARRANGEMENT

ROBY, TEXAS, May 15 (UP)—Chariton Brown, mayor of Mineral Wells, faces arraignment on a liquor transportation charge here Monday as the result of an auto accident while Brown and T. L. Hemphill, were enroute to Lubbock for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Neither man was hurt in the wreck when the car in which they were riding plunged into a ditch after failing to make a turn in the highway.

Charges were preferred by R. L. Wilkerson, Fisher county deputy who appeared soon after the accident and said he found three and a half pints in the damaged machine.

Mayor Brown offered to take full responsibility and bond was fixed at $500. Brown is due to answer the charges Monday. Before Brown left here for Lubbock he said "Mineral Wells sent me to get the 1932 convention and I am not going to let this little embarrassment stop me."

Organ Pumpers Start Campaign

NEW YORK, May 15 (UP)—The ancient guild of pipe organ pumpers which each year discovers some worthy cause that everyone else had overlooked, opened a stirring campaign today to "conserve the fast disappearing cast iron animals of America."

Impressive plans for the conservation drive were drawn up at the guild's annual dinner—a personality serio-comic affair which is the only meeting on its calendar. This year's crusade was decided upon when Samuel Taylor Moore, known as Vox Humana of the New York Loft reported on the steady decline of various cast-iron species, especially the front-lawn deer.

The guild announced it would open its drive when 10,000 former pumpers march to the Empire State building and form into a human flag, while Vox Humana Moore, also acting tremolo of the conservation crusade, climbs to the mooring mast and releases 50 cast iron pig-eons.

Although the fauna will boast a total weight of 400 pounds, acting

LABOR LEADER URGES POLICY OF HIGH WAGE

WASHINGTON, May 15 (UP)—A demand for "drastic consideration and drastic action" to halt the wage-cutting policy urged by certain banking interests and certain employers, was made today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, with the intimation that unless such action is taken labor will not feel bound to use its influence further against strikes.

This appeal, with pointed advice to workers to "resist to the fullest extent any and all attempts to reduce wages and lower American living standards," was inspired by reported announcement of "substantial reductions in wages" by the Goodyear and Goodrich automobile tire companies.

Such reductions, the council charged, are in direct violation of the "explicit pledge made following the market crash by industrialists to President Hoover. At that time, representatives of the employer class promised not to cut wages during the depression. Since then there have been numerous reductions, particularly in recent months.

Commenting specifically on the reported Goodyear and Goodrich cuts, the council said: "The sinister fact related to this proposed reduction in wages is that automobile and automobile tire manufacturing industries must depend upon a high purchasing power on the part of the masses of the people. If a market is to be found for their products, how can these industries find a market for their products if the buying power of the people is still further lowered by such reductions?"

PASS SUSPENDED SENTENCE BILL

AUSTIN, May 15 (UP)—Voting 17 to 9 the senate late yesterday passed the Weiner liquor law violators' suspended sentence bill.

The bill would allow courts to grant suspended sentences to liquor law violators above the age of 25. The bill was passed by the house. It was the object of a scathing attack in the house and was characterized as "a disgraceful act."

HAVE YOU THIS IN YOUR HOME?

Black-Draught "Just Splendid," Says Texas Mother—Gives It To Her Children.

"I have found Black-Draught to be just splendid for my children when they have colds or biliousness," writes Mrs. W. A. Butcher, of 825 East Eleventh Street, Dallas, Texas.

"When they are fretful and feeling bad, I give them a few small doses of Black-Draught, and soon they are out, playing and feeling fine."

"I remember that my father gave me Black-Draught when I was a child, and it helped me so much when I had a headache or a bad taste in the mouth."

Mrs. Thomas Peden, R.F.D. 2, Pulaski, Tenn., agrees with the Texas lady quoted above. "When I get bilious," writes Mrs. Peden, "I frequently have dull, sick headaches. Nothing helps me like Black-Draught. I find that if I take it at night, the next day I am all right again."

"My husband thinks Black-Draught is a fine medicine and he takes it. I can recommend it to mothers. In the home, for I have found it of great benefit to mine." Sold in 25-cent packages. 22-101

EXTRAVAGANCE

FASHIONS and PASSIONS

a Drama of Extravagant Wives, Husbands Who Can't Buy—and Lovers Who Can.

June Collier • Lloyd Hughes, Owen Moore
Directed by Phil Rosen

Daughter of Lloyd George Sets Own Parliament Styles

LONDON (UP)—Megan Lloyd George, like her distinguished father, is an individualist.

Most of the women members of parliament have adopted a sort of formal uniform which they wear on the floor—but not Megan. She dresses to please herself and is full of surprises.

Lady Astor, the first woman member of parliament, started the uniform idea and for several years has worn dresses of dark black or black with white collar and cuffs, and a close-fitting black toque, serviceable, but yet chic.

The Countess of Iveligh, Lady Noel-Bloxton and Mary A. Hamilton have followed her example.

But Miss Lloyd George, charmingly petite and youthful, appears sometimes in gooseberry green, cerise and maroon.

LOCKNEY GIRL STRUCK BY AUTO AND KILLED

LOCKNEY, May 15.—Ruby Still, 17, a Lockney high school student, was instantly killed at 4 o'clock this afternoon while on her way home from school. Reports are that Miss Still rode home with an acquaintance and stepped from the car to the highway where she was struck by an approaching automobile. The accident was said to be unavoidable.

SON OF TEXAS MAN HANGS SELF IN JAIL

BURLINGTON, Iowa, May 15 (UP)—Glenn Scott, 30, who was serving a 30-day sentence in the county jail on a bad check charge, today hanged himself with his belt.

Scott left a note asking that authorities notify his widow in Minneapolis, and his father, Thomas Scott, at Victoria, Texas.

THREE CITIES IN TERMINAL

AUSTIN, May 15 (UP)—In an order issued today the Texas state railroad commission puts Houston, Galveston and Texas City in one cotton terminal district or port with the same transportation rate. The interstate commerce commission had already grouped them for shipments of over 200 miles.

Twelve points of origin groups are arranged beginning at a distance of 101 miles from Houston and extending to a distance of 900 miles from Houston and the rates for them fixed. These range from 13 cents on compressed cotton for the nearest group to 97 cents per hundred pounds for the farthest group. Proportionately higher rates are fixed for each group on uncompressed cotton and compressed cotton in transit.

The request of Beaumont to be placed in the same grouping was not granted. Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange are in better condition not so grouped, the commission found. A 30 page order carries the detailed rates and regulations.

HIS CAST AN ALBUM

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP)—Although Robert Fritch, 12, was faced with the sad prospect of several weeks' stay in a hospital here with a broken leg encased in a plaster cast, the plucky lad made light of his misfortune by converting the cast into an autograph album. The white plaster formed an excellent background for the signatures of hundreds of the boy's chums.

22 NAMES FOR ONE MAN

EL CENTRO, Calif., May 15 (UP)—A total of 22 names all for one man, have been listed by S. P. Williams, public administrator of Imperial county, as appearing in various transactions made by Nick Antamanik. Antamanik died at the county hospital, leaving an estate of approximately $3,000. According to Williams all the names are variations of Nick Antamanik.

SURGERY FOR CANCER

LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 15 (UP)—Treatment of cancer in its early stages by use of surgery is the most practical method today in combating the dread disease, according to Dr. C. B. Dickson, prominent physician, who has returned from a visit to the Johns Hopkins cancer clinic at Baltimore. Dr. Dickson declared that many of the most noted medical authorities in the United States hold that surgery applied is the most effective method of treatment now known.

Consumption Of Cotton On Upward Trend

April figures released by Census Bureau show increase

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—The census bureau here today announced cotton consumed in April totaled 526,744 bales of lint and 63,807 of linters compared with 531,911 bales of lint and 67,464 of linters in April of last year.

HOME TOWN TALK

By BEDDY

LET us urge business men and farmers of this city and county to send to Governor Sterling expressions of their sentiment with reference to his approval of the $1,000,000 bollworm and tick repayment bill passed finally yesterday.

The governor has declared publicly and privately that he believed farmers of this area should be repaid for pink bollworm quarantine losses. The house cut the appropriation for that purpose from $500,000 to $300,000. The senate added $200,000 for northern Texas bollworm remuneration and $500,000 for tick eradication repayment bringing the total called for in this special appropriation bill to one million dollars. The house concurred in the amendment.

The fact that state finances are in a tight place is well known. We therefore, fear as do some of the leading members of the legislature that the governor may decide such a large drain on the treasury cannot be cared for at this time even though he does believe strongly in justice of the claims.

We ought to have this money. Perhaps it appears selfish to seek it in the face of possible overloading of the state's expense but, after all, if you don't look out for yourself, you'll go uncared for.

ANOTHER legislative matter should be given some attention by Howard county people. It is the conference committee's compromise congressional redistricting bill.

Our present congressman is an El Paso man and a good one. However, we do not like the idea of being continued in the very eastern end of a congressional district in which El Paso also is included.

San Angelo, in Tom Green county, has been taken out of the present district under terms of the proposed law. Angelo, Big Spring and El Paso are all in the same district now.

The new bill would frame the sixteenth district out of the following counties: El Paso, Hudspeth, Culberson, Reeves, Jeff Davis, Crockett, Reagan, Glasscock, Howard, Midland, Elberton, Crane, Ector, Ward, Winkler, Loving.

Total population of this district on 1930 figures would be 214,000. Population of El Paso county alone is 131,567, leaving 82,433 scattered over the other nineteen counties.

Pastor Begins His Seventh Year Here

REV. W. H. HALL

The pastor of the Assembly of God church in beginning his seventh year with the congregation here. At conclusion of the sixth year of his pastorate here R. T. Smith, secretary of the church declared that "he has served this church as pastor six years and his efforts and labors have proven a wonderful success and of benefit to many people of this locality. The church is encouraged as he starts his seventh year with it."

Jury Is Given Assault Case; Others Heard

Negro Charged In Cutting Scrape Following Dice Game

A jury that heard the case of Y. B. Green, negro, charged with assault with intent to murder, was still out this afternoon, two hours after retiring.

It is alleged that Green shot Lathel Gorden, negro, following a dice game the night of March 1. The bullet penetrated Gorden's body near the heart. The trial started Wednesday afternoon. Arguments were heard in district court this morning.

Mack Williams, negro, went to trial this afternoon on a charge of burglary. He pleaded guilty to robbing the home of J. C. Hinds. He waived the right of trial by jury, and Judge Fritz R. Smith was hearing the case.

Williams was arrested at Sweetwater. Officers declare he is already under a five year suspended sentence in this county for burglary of a grocery store.

Five criminal cases were disposed of Wednesday.

Lathel Reddell pleaded guilty to a grand jury indictment charging driving an automobile while intoxicated, and was assessed a $25 fine, excluding costs, by Judge Smith.

Harold Henderson, 18 year old youth, pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary, and was assessed a two-year penitentiary term. It is alleged that Henderson burglarized the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. McCleskey, San Antonio street.

Henderson was recently convicted of car theft at Sterling City. He had been convicted twice before in Howard county, at one of the trials getting a four year suspended sentence.

It is alleged he was recently convicted in Oklahoma and sentenced to serve two years in the Oklahoma penitentiary.

Frank Shelton, with whom Henderson escaped from the Howard county jail, was given a two year term in the penitentiary for burglary of the Collins Bros. Scurry street drug store. He pleaded guilty. The term brought the total of years he must serve for West Texas burglaries to seventeen.

Jess McElroy received a sentence of fifteen days in the county jail on a charge of theft of chickens. L. L. McElroy, nephew of the man, also pleaded guilty to the indictment and was sentenced to three days in jail by Judge Smith.

A fine of $50 was assessed against Leo B. Horton, Breckenridge, witness in the case of P. H. Rhodes, alias Edwin Pratt, charged with forgery. Horton failed to answer a subpoena to be present for Rhodes' trial.

Hoover Policy On Law Observance OKed by Baptists

Liquor Burglary of Legation Brings Out Query From Stimson

WASHINGTON, May 14 (AP)—Secretary Stimson today instructed the Latin American division of the state department to ascertain what steps local police were taking to protect foreign legations here. His action followed a burglary raid on the liquor supply of the Salvador legation.

Delegation To W.T.C.C. Will Leave Friday

More Big Spring People Signify Intention Of Attending

A Big Spring delegation, gaily bedecked in appropriate caps and banners, will leave at 8:30 a. m. Friday for Lubbock to attend the second day of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

C. T. Watson, manager of the local chamber, left this morning for the convention. He will join the Big Spring delegation at Lubbock Friday. Joseph M. Edwards, president of the commercial organization, will head the local delegation. Between 20 and 25 are expected to attend. The party will return Friday night.

Although at noon today only a few had informed chamber officials they would attend, the bulk of the delegation is expected to register either late today or before departure Friday morning.

Among those who have signified they will attend are Mrs. J. M. Davis, Edith Blitt, Mrs. Fox Stripling, Robert Stripling, W. G. Nabors, Mike Williamson, G. W. Strange, Jr., Miss Virginia Edwards, Dr. J. R. Barcus, Calvin Boykin, Carl Blomsheld, Ray Wilcox, Tom Ashby, and others.

A number of local business men are making preparations to attend the annual session of the West Texas body.

Miss Martha Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Edwards, will represent Big Spring. She will participate in the "Pageant of Progress," one of the outstanding functions of the convention. The pageant will be held Friday at the Texas Technological College athletic field.

Registration fee has been reduced this year. It entitles the holder to admittance to all social and business sessions of the convention.

Coombes Speaks At Regional Convention

LUBBOCK, May 14 (AP)—Charles E. Coombes, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, in an address before the annual convention here today recommended continuation of the Chambers' expansion program.

He also urged continued support of cooperative marketing but said he believed the farm board should devote more time toward providing new outlets for farm products rather than asking for acreage reduction.

"It appears to me" said Coombes "that if the Federal Farm Board would spend more of its time, thought and money in making larger, more effective and more attractive to the producers of agricultural commodities the cooperative marketing organizations provided by the Agricultural Marketing Act, that more beneficial service would be rendered to the farmers and to the Nation than has been or will be obtained through speculative projects," Coombes said.

"It further occurs to me that it would be wise for the Federal Farm Board to give serious consideration and positive action, if at all possible, to the farm products for products out of the farm branches of the United States railroads in putting in so much time calling for acreage reduction."

Coombes listed as a "most outstanding piece of work" the correction of "unfair, misleading and inaccurate statements contained in the geography text books used in the public schools in Texas and in a number of other states, concerning Texas and particularly West Texas."

"It was found that both geographies used in the public schools of this state not only made unfair statements about our various features, but that both of them failed to give us anything like as fair treatment as was accorded to other sections," he said.

He pointed out that publishers of the geographies had accepted a suggestion submitted for corrections in reprint editions. Texas will receive 33 additional mentions in elementary geography and 18 additional mentions in advanced geography, he said. In the advanced book maps and charts which he said were "especially unfair to West Texas" had been changed, and more nearly show the true state and condition of things in this section.

Commenting on drought relief loans in West Texas Coombes said "conservative estimates of the benefits West Texas will receive from that undertaking calculated that $400,000 in wealth will be created in West Texas this year on account of the federal relief."

He said figures from the United States Department of Agriculture revealed 13,900 individual West Texas farmers received loans from the Federal appropriation. He said government records showed that these loans aggregated $2,000,000 and that 3,000,000 acres of crop lands had been planted and will be cultivated which would not have been tilled had it not been for this money having been made available.

E. D. Keaton, local manager West Texas Tractor and Machinery Co., Plainview, has moved with his family from Midland to Big Spring. Mr. Keaton will be located here permanently.

Baylor U. President Dies

Local Ex-Students of Baylor Mourn Loss Of 'Prexy'

More than 25 men and women of Big Spring are former students of Baylor university, a number of them having been graduated from that institution which is the oldest in the state, having been established while Texas was a republic.

One Big Spring man, H. Reagan, president of the West Texas National bank, is a former schoolmate of the deceased president. They attended Baylor university together.

Mr. Reagan had been associated with Dr. Brooks at various times since their school days.

Another of their former college mates, former governor Pat M. Neff, was Samuel Palmer Brooks' room mate for four years. Throughout the day Wednesday he sat beside his boyhood friend, adding his hand through the final hours of a life devoted to the young men and women of the country and spent in such manner that death was faced with unusual courage.

Enrolled In Baylor
A young woman and two young men whose homes are in or near Big Spring now are enrolled in Baylor. Nell Brown, recently chosen as the best all-around girl in the university, is secretary to the dean of women and was graduated (this session). Joe Pickley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pickle, and Ransom Gilman, whose home is near the city, also are in Baylor.

Steve D. Ford, another of the ex-Baylor students living here, was assistant secretary to Dr. Brooks in 1907-08-09. Informed of death of Dr. Brooks he declared "he was a Baylor student. He was a great man."

Here In December
Dr. Brooks visited Big Spring last December 17, with Dr. George W. Truett, in a campaign to raise funds to pay the last of Baylor's indebtedness. He had arisen from his sick bed to make a strenuous tour over the state. It was declared local acquaintances, of great comfort to him in his last days of life that he had been able to obtain funds to pay off the debt.

Among other former Baylor students residing here are Frank Boyle, Mrs. H. A. Rogers, Miss Clara Pool, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. George Gentry, Mrs. B. Reagan, James T. Brooks, S. H. Morrison, Mrs. Seth Parsons, Mrs. Tracy T. Smith, Mrs. K. E. Gentry, Mrs. Clara Secret, A. L. Wasson, Wilburn Barcus, and others.

Expressions of regret came from several local people identified with Baylor in various relationships.

Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church, in the opinion of Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university, Texas loses one of her best citizens. Dr. Brooks was a man who thought before he acted and when he settled a question in his mind as a rule it was settled for good.

He was one of the most faithful of the teaching profession. The Baptist denomination loses a layman and educator whose place will be hard to fill.

George Gentry, principal of Big Spring high school; Dr. S. P. Brooks was the outstanding figure of higher education in Texas. His life was one of struggle and glorious achievement. He has stamped his personality on the lives of thousands of Texas men and women. I thank God that I was privileged to know him and love him.

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of Big Spring schools: It is with deep regret that we learn of the death of Dr. S. P. Brooks. His going is a great loss to the leadership of education in this state. He was in the mind of many leading educators, the dean of college presidents of Texas. He has wrought well in the centuries in higher education. Dr. Brooks was a man of deepest conviction; a man with courage to back his convictions. No greater president ever graced any university in this state.

S. B. Hughes, pastor of the Fourth Street Baptist church: I have learned with sadness of the death of Dr. S. P. Brooks. He was one of the world's greatest school men, known everywhere as an educator. Thousands are sympathetic with the bereaved family and I number myself among them.

Lynn P. Talley To Speak In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, May 14 (AP)—Lynn Talley, governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank, will be one of the speakers at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce production loan conference to be held here Friday afternoon in connection with the annual convention of the regional bankers.

R. A. Fuqua, Amarillo banker, Texas representative on the production loan group conference will be to stimulate the repayment by West Texas farmers of the money borrowed from the federal government under the production loan arrangement. It is highly important, O. P. Thrane, Snyder, chairman of the conference committee, says that all that money be promptly repaid, so that West Texas can show to the world that it is self-supporting, in spite of the occasional misfortunes that it, along with all other regions, is subject to.

Court Affirms 99-Year Term Given Martin

Forsan Teamster Convicted In Shooting Of Youth

DR. S. P. BROOKS

The Court of Criminal Appeals announced Wednesday that the 99-year sentence of Jim Martin, 22, for the shooting of a youth, was affirmed. Martin had been in the county jail since the slaying. There were no eye witnesses to the slaying. The two men near a pump house on the lease after which Gipson fell mortally wounded. Gipson, an employee of the American-Mexican Oil Co., left a young widow and a daughter.

He has stamped his personality on the lives of thousands of Texas men and women. I thank God that I was privileged to know him and love him.

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of Big Spring schools: It is with deep regret that we learn of the death of Dr. S. P. Brooks. His going is a great loss to the leadership of education in this state. He was in the mind of many leading educators, the dean of college presidents of Texas. He has wrought well in the centuries in higher education. Dr. Brooks was a man of deepest conviction; a man with courage to back his convictions. No greater president ever graced any university in this state.

S. B. Hughes, pastor of the Fourth Street Baptist church: I have learned with sadness of the death of Dr. S. P. Brooks. He was one of the world's greatest school men, known everywhere as an educator. Thousands are sympathetic with the bereaved family and I number myself among them.

George Gentry, principal of Big Spring high school; Dr. S. P. Brooks was the outstanding figure of higher education in Texas. His life was one of struggle and glorious achievement. He has stamped his personality on the lives of thousands of Texas men and women. I thank God that I was privileged to know him and love him.

Rural Schools To Hold Rally In City Friday

More Than 1,000 Expected To Attend Graduation Exercises

Between 1,000 and 1,500 rural school pupils and their parents are expected here Friday for the first annual Rural School Rally Day, to be held at the city park.

Mrs. Pauline Cantrell Brigham, county superintendent, and Mrs. M. R. Showalter, county health nurse, are sponsoring the county-wide affair.

The program will open at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning, and will be climaxed by a parade, in which all rural school children will participate, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Seventh-grade graduates will lead the parade.

At 11 o'clock in the morning the graduation address will be given by the Rev. R. E. Day. After this service diplomas will be presented to more than 100 graduates by Mrs. Brigham.

A picnic lunch will be served at noon. Baskets will be brought by the parents of the pupils. In addition, local firms have contributed other food for the affair.

Among the firms aiding in entertaining the visiting pupils and their families are Snowwhite Creamery, Dr. Pepper Bottling Works, J. M. Radford Wholesale Grocery, Wooten Wholesale Grocery, Handy Andy, White House Grocery, Hedy-Bell, M. System Grocery, Bugs Bros. Grocery, Piggy-Wiggy, Tim's Grocery and Market, Albert M. Fisher department store, Joe Ann Green, Big Spring Hardware, Collins Bros. drug stores, and the chamber of commerce.

During the day programs will be presented by the twenty-two schools of the county. Children schools have been invited to attend the rally day.

Youngster Soldier In Union Army Now 80

EL PASO, Texas, May 14 (AP)—Mervil S. Dutton, who enlisted as a Union soldier when he was 10 years old to become the youngest member in the army, celebrated his 80th birthday here today.

"I can away from home five times and enlisted," Dutton reminisced today. "And each time I got sent back home to my mother."

"Finally our family doctor helped me put cotton batting in my shoes so I would look taller. I was pretty husky and I got by."

Being a natural drummer, Dutton soon was drum major of his corps.

"I never felt badly when told to beat a retreat like the drummer boys in the story books are supposed to feel. I usually wanted to beat a retreat long before I got the order, and I was darned glad to execute that order when I got it."

Dutton voted for Lincoln when he was 14 years old, and it was a legal vote for Lincoln had issued a proclamation allowing all army men to vote.

"I don't drink, smoke, swear," Dutton said, "and that is the reason I'm so healthy right now."

Girls Spend More In College Than Boys

FORT WORTH, May 14 (AP)—It's the woman who pays! Girls spend more money than boys at Texas Christian University, according to a survey of student expenditures made by The Skiff, student newspaper.

The average for the girls, inclusive of tuition, is placed at $301.57 for the year, while the average for the boys, also excluding tuition, is $404.34.

Total expenditures of the student body total $619,500. The girls account for $347,000 of this and the boys for the remaining $272,500.

Clothing gets more money than any other one item from both boys and girls. Wigs, hats, beauty parlors rank next as a major expenditure, with toilet articles a close second. Cleaning and pressing runs second to clothing in the boys' expenditures, with picture shows next.

The boys spend $7.50 a year with the barber, but the girls leave $16,000 a year with the beauty parlors. Soft drinks account for $18,000, an average of five cents a day for each student.

And reducing jokes to the contrary notwithstanding, the girls spend twice as much on candy as the boys, the survey shows.

SPEARMAN PAVES
SPEARMAN, May 14 (AP)—Spearman's $20,000 paving program got under way this week. Two-thirds of the paving to be done now will be of brick, and the remainder will be crushed stone with an asphalt toping.

GIRL RUNAWAY CAUGHT
LOS ANGELES, Calif., May 14 (AP)—Marie Miller, 17, of Gainesville, Texas, was picked up by police early today as she sat on a curb dressed in boy's clothing.

WACO, May 14 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks, 67, president of Baylor university, died of cancer here today.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon from Waco Hall, Baylor's main auditorium.

Dr. J. M. Dawson, pastor of the First Baptist church, Waco, with Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, will officiate.

Classes at Baylor were suspended until Monday.

It was apparent here that no haste was being made to fill the presidency. Ultimate selection of former Governor Pat M. Neff, for years chairman of the Baylor board of trustees and close personal friend of Dr. Brooks, was regarded here as a strong probability.

The legislature at Austin adopted a resolution expressing regret at Dr. Brooks' death.

Dr. Samuel Parker Brooks, who for more than a quarter of a century served as the president of Baylor university, did not have the opportunity of even a common school education until he was 22 years old. His fight upward among students to a place of prominence among the nation's educators came after he had supported his invalid father for several years by working as a farm laborer and as a section hand on the Santa Fe line in Johnson county, Texas.

Dr. Brooks was born in Millerville, Georgia, December 4, 1863. His father, Rev. S. E. Brooks, a Baptist minister, moved to Texas when the son was five years old and located in Johnson county at Joshua.

Having had a consuming desire for an education since childhood however, the young man was not discouraged by the late start in schooling. At the age of 23 he taught a small rural school in Johnson county from the proceeds of which work he was able to enter the high school department of Baylor at Waco at the age of 24, and continued his work in the institution until he was graduated with the A. B. degree in 1893 at the age of 30. Following his graduation at Baylor he entered Yale University from which he received another degree in 1894. He then returned to Texas where he taught for a while as principal of the public school at McKinney before being called to be chair of history and economics at Baylor University.

Master's Degree
After several years on the Baylor faculty, Dr. Brooks returned to Yale University to take his master's degree, and it was while pursuing his work there that he was elected president of Baylor and returned to his alma mater as chief executive in the summer of 1900.

Under his leadership Baylor University more than trebled its resources and quadrupled its student body, greatly enlarged its curriculum, and increased its scholastic standing among the higher institutions of this country. It was under Dr. Brooks' administration that the schools of education, law, and business, and many other departments were established. All the medical units at Dallas and the Baylor hospital also came into being under his leadership.

Although his chief interests were devoted to Baylor University, Dr. Brooks was active in promoting the cause of education in a general way and it was upon his call that the Texas Association of Colleges was organized on the Baylor campus in 1918. He was likewise vitally interested in public school and higher education in the state institutions and spoke extensively in behalf of general and Christian education in every section of the state.

Sociology
In his early career as a member of the Baylor faculty, he taught the first course in sociology ever given in this state, and in 1915 he was elected president of the Southern Sociological Congress.

Indicating the civic interests of Dr. Brooks, he was vice-president of the American Peace Society, spoke extensively in various parts of America in behalf of international peace and in 1907 organized the Texas Peace Society, the first state peace body ever formed in this country.

He was interested also in the matter of good roads and spoke over Texas in the interest of pending bond issues that made the present good road system of the state possible. At the time of his death he was a member of the Brazos Valley Improvement Association which had for its object the reclamation of overflow lands in the Brazos valley.

For Wilson
While Dr. Brooks joined many other Texans in voting for Herbert Hoover in 1928, he considered himself a Democrat and was widely used in various parts of the country as a speaker in behalf of the Democratic ticket in 1912 when Woodrow Wilson was elected president the first time.

Dr. Brooks was active in religious circles. From 1914 to 1917 he was president of the Baptist general convention of Texas, and in 1910 and again in 1917 he was elected vice-president of the Southern Baptist convention. In 1921 and 1923 he was president of the Southern Baptist Education Association and at the time of his death was vice-president of the board of trustees of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Kentucky. In January of 1931, he was invited by the Baptist Bible Institute to deliver

Efforts of George Nyle Frye, 27, employee of the Schermhorn Oil Co., Forest, to save the life of Sam Davidson, tank builder, who was overcome by gas in an oil tank on the Kloth lease Friday morning, cost him his own life Tuesday night.

The youth died at 10 o'clock at the Big Spring Hospital without regaining consciousness.

Prye, while with a group of workmen on the lease, heard the cries of W. A. Davidson, brother of the injured man, for help. He rushed to the tank and entered it without any mask.

He reached the bottom of the structure and was preparing to strike Davidson's body off when he was overcome by the gas. Both of the bodies were later removed after ops had been lowered into the tank and placed around the men.

Davidson remained in a critical condition today. He had not regained consciousness. Little hope was held for his recovery.

Although Davidson remained in the tank for more than forty-five

A surprise farewell shower and a get-together party was given Mrs. A. L. Cone Tuesday evening in the apartments of Mrs. J. C. Douglass in the Douglass Hotel, by the members and friends of the Bykota Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church, of which she has been the teacher.

The occasion was also the last social meeting at which several of members, who are school teachers only about twenty-five minutes, was the first to succumb to the tumor.

Blood transfusion was given by hospital officials in an effort to save his life.

Davidson, an employee of the Mack, Sivalis and Bryson tank company, and his brother, had been rebuilding the tank. No oil had been run into the structure since the work was completed. He had returned to the interior of the tank to get tools when he was overcome.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., May 31.—James Thomas Sharkey, 42, a milkman in Boston, was awarded the $25,000 first prize in the $50,000 national-wide contest for the best letter setting forth the advantages to smokers of the new moisture-proof cellophane wrapper on Camel cigarette packages, officials of R. J.

The trial was held Tuesday afternoon, with the verdict being brought in late Tuesday.

Myrinda Tobacco Company and the contest judges announced today. Sharkey lives at 101 Train Street, Dorchester, Mass., a suburb of Boston.

Mrs. Walter Sweet, mother of three children and wife of a Marine Corps captain now stationed at the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Navy Yard, won the second prize of $10,000.

Third prize of $5,000 went to Julius M. Nolte, real estate dealer of

In all thirty-eight prizes awarded of which five were for $1,000 each, five were for $500 each, and twenty were for $100 each. Judge of the contest were Roy Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard league of newspapers; Charles Dana Gibson, famous artist and publisher of Life magazine; and Ray Long, president of the International magazine company and editor of Cosmopolitan.

A total of 352,228 answers were received in the contest, which was announced in an eight-day newspaper advertising campaign in which 7113 dailies, 2120 weeklies and 460 college and financial newspapers

The convention decided that unless contractors rescind their decision, union members will refuse used. The other announcement of the contest was on the Camel Pleasure Hour broadcasting network and consisted of a long list of names, the majority of which had to read, "The winner of the contest is _____." Finally, the winner of the first prize of $25,000, is married, and is a milk route foreman at the South Boston Plant of H. P. Hood & Sons, Inc., milk distributors, and lives at 101 Train Street, Dorchester, Mass. He wears overalls at his work, and is slender, of medium height, and has deep-set blue eyes.

Born in County Tipperary, Ireland, he came to the United States alone at the age of sixteen, landing at Ellis Island in New York, he went at once to Boston, where he did odd jobs. Eight ago he got job with the food Company delivering milk. He rose to the rank of foreman and now has several milk routes under his supervision.

Sharkey believes he is best fitted for a salesman. It was his flair for selling, plus his own experience in getting his cigarettes wet while delivering milk that caused him to enter the Camel contest. He was quick to note the advantages of the new cigarette packages, and his entry was based on personal experiences in testing the wrapper plus as to protection of the fresh bacon flavor, and to the ability of the new package to exclude rain, moisture and germs.

He also has a job with the sweet smokes for service men in distant lands.

The third prize-winner, Mr. Nolte, who will receive $5,000, is a real estate dealer, and instructor in the English extension division of the University of Minnesota.

HOW'S your HEALTH

By Dr. J. J. Goldstein

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION

A little more than 250 years ago, Robert Hooke, an Englishman of phenomenal keenness, showed that by briskly blowing a bellows over the open chest of a dog, the animal could be kept alive when neither its chest nor lungs were in motion.

This was the first experimental demonstration of the value of artificial respiration, which since the days of Robert Hooke, has become a regular part of first aid treatment.

The earliest methods developed were manual in type. They were administered by hand, pressure either being applied to the chest of the unconscious individual or his arms moved to secure chest action resembling breathing. Later, machines were developed for administering artificial respiration.

The manual method of artificial respiration, such as example, as the prone-pressure method is of value in acute emergencies and when the need for artificial respiration does not extend beyond an hour or two.

When applied for more than an hour or two and particularly when the patient is conscious, the manual method of artificial respiration becomes extremely painful.

In recent years, a number of machines have been developed for the administration of artificial respiration.

Most of these, however, require the placing of a mask over the face of the patient, and this, particularly in instances where the patient is conscious, is a distinct disadvantage.

Nevertheless, medical science continues to take widely and freely from all other sciences anything that may prove of use in fighting disease or in saving human life.

A recent illustration of this is the use of a machine, invented by an engineer for sustaining respiration in cases where there is a failure of the human breathing apparatus.

This machine is known as the Drinker Respiator, being named after its inventor, Philip Drinker, assistant professor of industrial hygiene at the Harvard School of Public Health.

Hollywood Sights
By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—On day last night a movie troupe went on location to make a startling version of "The Storm."

A few days later, a star, suddenly returned to Hollywood, and she was the only one who had been in the cast.

The studio diplomatically announced that Miss LaPlante was ill.

LAURA LA PLANTE was ill, it was simply that, after a day or two with the part assigned her, she had made a decision, and quiet retirement ensued.

"I know," she says now, "that if I played that part it would mean the end of me on the screen. I couldn't do it. I came home."

SQUARE PEG
That decision marked the end of her eight years' affiliation with Universal. She had 12 weeks more to serve under the current option, but she sacrificed the salary due, something near $40,000, and announced she would free lance.

The studio was regretful, so was Laura, but it was the only way out she could see.

Behind it all lay two years during which suitable vehicles for the comedienne's talents—as a comedienne—were lacking. In consequence, because a star on salary must be kept busy, she had been put into pictures as a romantic heroine, roles in which she believed and critics agreed she was miscast. When "The Storm" called for her to portray a French-Canadian girl she walked out.

As it happened, there was a poor time to start a free-lancing career. The business was depressed and jobs were scarce.

FINDS SQUARE HOLE
Financially, it didn't matter, because she is independent and her husband, William Selter, is a leading director. But Laura wanted to work.

There were discouraging periods when she wondered. Perhaps she had been fortunate to be under contract at one studio eight years. Maybe no one else wanted her.

Offers came, of course, but she was determined to accept none except those which would afford her the opportunity she wanted.

At last she found it in the farce called "Lonely Wives," and that one role turned the trick. Since then she has played leading roles in "God's Gift to Women," "Frank Fay," and in another farce, "Meet the Wife."

She has given up stardom and a contract—but she has got what she wanted.

MYSTERIOUS WAVE

SYNOPSIS: Retribution has written an evil end to the careers of Dr. Charters, his son, Mr. James, "Spider" Schiltz and Chink Dorson, companions in the kidnapping of John Wayne's daughter, Rosemary, Dorson, who murders Schiltz in a quarrel over the loot, is hanged. James is killed trying to poison Rosemary. Lauderdale, a patient, and Charters flee with Dr. Macadoo and other crooks of the nursing home. Thus Wayne is avenged for the death of his daughter from her abductors. Ill treatment. Secretly—and hopelessly—loving Rosemary, Wayne aided by Sister Weldon contrives her escape from the home after James' death. Before leaving her fingers to accomplish what he calls an act of justice.

Perhaps suffering does—as poets and moralists have sung and said—act upon the human mind as does the furnace fire upon the earthly ore.

Perhaps pain and sorrow and suffering are good, and it is true that we emerge from them, if emerge we do, stronger and braver and better. I don't know.

But I do know that I was able to meet this fresh blow as a man should, and to stand up to it, and while standing up to it, conceal its terrible effects.

Or, again, of course, it may be that I had received so shattering a blow when Rosemary met her dreadful fate, that my mind and soul had lost some of their capacity for suffering.

Anyhow—Rosemary was engaged to be married—a fact the possibility of which had positively never entered my mind.

I had had so much else of which to think that I had almost visualized her as having no outside relationships save with her weak, worthless uncle and his infamous wife.

Marjorie was engaged to be married. Her fiancé was in India. She would shortly be of age, and she wished to go out to him.

So be it. I would take her and see her safe into his care.

For three weeks I should be continually in her company. In that time I would find out something about her lover, and, at the end of it I would meet him and sum him up.

If Marjorie loved him, doubtless he was worthy.

But did she love him—or was it a boy and girl affair? Well, I should have that three weeks. Three weeks of Paradise ineffable, and, if it must be, "Paradise snow."

How shall I tell of that voyage? I cannot if I should. Like Keats, I have been in Heaven, but I am no Dante to tell of it.

It lasted for a moment. It lasted for years—21 wonderful days, each of which was a year—each filled with wonderful and innumerable happenings of indescribable and unimaginable loveliness, joy and glory: a smile upon Marjorie's lovely lips; a happy laugh; the sweetest music in this world; a pressure of loving hands upon my arm as we walked the moon-lit deck.

For they were loving hands. Marjorie loved me. I'm sure, and but for her cousin, might have fallen in love with him, I verily believe.

But who was I, gray, grim and battered—although scarce 40 years of age—a hunted "emmet" with a price upon his head? Who was I that I should make love to Marjorie Lauderdale?

One of the few things to which, in reviewing my life, I can look back with satisfaction, is the fact that loving, worshipping, adoring her as I did, I was able to refrain from making love to her. But I love to know that Marjorie loved me, and I love to think that, in happier circumstances, she might perchance have fallen in love with me, and loved me indeed as I loved her.

There is much of love in this last sentence. Well, it is better than hate, and so, thanking Marjorie and God, let me and upon that note.

Entertain For Husbands At Rogers' Home

Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Rogers Give Birthday Party Together

Mrs. J. C. Rogers and Mrs. E. L. Crawford were joint hostesses at a party Thursday evening at Mrs. Rogers' home at 1809 Lancaster Street, honoring their husbands whose birthdays occur this time of the year.

The house was attractively decorated with bouquets of snapdragons, verbena, California poppies and calluland.

The guests played many interesting games with a traffic cone on duty, writing each law-breaker a ticket, the fine being a stunt to be performed before the other guests. At the conclusion of the games the lights were put out and the hostesses presented to the two honor guests birthday cakes lighted with candles forming the initials of the honorees. The candles were blown out with the customary good wishes.

The lights were then turned on and fruit punch and angel food served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eiter, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Acuff, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winn and Mrs. L. I. Miltstead.

Pythian Sisters Conclude Drive For Members

By ONA REAGAN PARSONS "MURDER AT BRIDGE" By Anne Austin (The Macmillan Co.) Here's our old friend, Anne, back with us.

Contrary to all expectations, she did not get her inspiration from Kansas City for the book; where she got it, all I don't know; someone who keeps up with ALL the bridge murders will have to enlighten us.

At any rate, it's not so bad... she has succeeded in concealing the murderer until the very last. She not only gives you no clue, but she makes you know you have none; you can't even pretend to have a satisfactory clue.

At the very start the person who was the dummy was killed; the thing happened twice in the plot. It might make some people a little dubious about playing bridge; but hardly Big Spring people; nothing could make them dubious about bridge—now if it were some other game...

Another safe reason for reading the book and not worrying about its results on your nerves is the clever device of the murder; he could kill without being on the scene. That, as we all know, is not the way of many murderers; most of them have to be at least in their victims' immediate neighborhood.

The book has some points, too, on contract bridge. There is a good argument over the play in the Redwood circuit of ten theatres in Northern California, from George M. Mann, their former owner.

The theatres involved in this acquisition are the Rialto, Liberty and State in Eureka, State in Fortuna, State and Hart in Ferndale, State in Fort Bragg, Williams in Orinda, Minor in Arcata and State in Ukiah. This involves a total of fifteen thousand seats and represents the strongest theatre circuit in the territory.

The acquisition further strengthens Hughes Franklin's position as the fifth largest circuit in America.

Harold R. Franklin, president of Hughes Franklin announces that a divisional office in charge of the Redwood circuit will be established in San Francisco in the Warfield Theatre Building, with Charles Koerner, formerly associated with Mr. Mann, as division manager.

Mr. Franklin further announces that the acquisition of George M. Mann's theatres is but one of many contemplated steps to extend Hughes Franklin's activities in the state of California. These theatres have been for years considered best in their communities and known throughout the motion picture trade for their up-to-date management. The policies and management that have built this circuit will continue.

"Doc" Pickett, with the Texas Electric Power department of Fort Worth, is in town on business.

Mrs. John Notestine and Mrs. Smith are spending a few days in El Paso.

Rufus Elliott is spending his vacation in Ft. Worth and Sherman, Texas.

Hughes-Franklin Buys Circuit Of California Shows

Hughes Franklin Theatres of Hollywood announces yesterday the latest acquisition in the "continuation" of its policy toward the elimination of a national circuit. Negotiations have just been completed for the purchase of the Redwood theatre circuit of ten theatres in Northern California, from George M. Mann, their former owner.

The theatres involved in this acquisition are the Rialto, Liberty and State in Eureka, State in Fortuna, State and Hart in Ferndale, State in Fort Bragg, Williams in Orinda, Minor in Arcata and State in Ukiah. Brown Community

May 14—A large crowd heard Rev. Hull preach Sunday afternoon. He will again conduct services here Saturday evening at 9:30 o'clock and at 11 a. m. Sunday.

The Sunday school at Brown is growing, judging from last Sunday's attendance, every seat having been occupied while several did not come into the building. Next Sunday more seats will be available and everyone is urged to attend.

Mr. Hill and members of his Sunday school class came here Sunday from Big Spring to help in conducting the Sunday school.

With a good season in the ground farmers in this community are "pouring it on," judging from the number of planters in operation.

It is hoped that a B.Y.P.U. unit will be organized here soon.

Oscar Blagrove, who is under treatment at Fort Worth for an infected hand, is reported improving.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wells and son, Gilbert, visited Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Davis Sunday afternoon.

Yed Goolshy has been quite sick the past week suffering from mumps.

Lloyd Shortes, who has been ill, was able to be up and around Sunday.

The girls' singing class had a good crowd in attendance Sunday evening.

There is some discussion here of petition to create an independent school district with enlargement and improvement of present buildings. The Brown school district is in sound financial condition and many, including this writer, feel formation of an independent district would be a good step forward for the school children.

A large crowd attended a party at Mr. Hagans' Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Forester had the following guests for dinner Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Thistone, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Webb and son Gilbert of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Buster Edwards of Trent.

Mrs. E. H. Forester accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Buster Edwards to Trent and Abilene for a visit with relatives.

Arthur Blagrove declared that spring is going to have to hurry it gets here before summer.

five years. He is now also secretary of the Dal Paso Caving Highway association and secretary of District 8 of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Minnesota hunters bagged 3,362, 639 ducks during the fall, 1930, open season. This was about 900, 000 more than in 1929.

Buy At Home Proponent Is Club Speaker

1930 Republican Nominee
For Governor at Lions
Luncheon

Col. W. E. (Bill) Talbot, republican candidate for governor last summer, agency manager of the Southland Life Insurance Company, and apostle for purchase by Texans of Texas manufactured products, was the principal speaker Friday at the regular luncheon of the Lions Club, held at the Sattles hotel.

Dallas F. Whaley, district agent of the Southland company; E. W. Kinney, district manager of P. M. Bratten Company, Fort Worth, Frigidair distributors; Dr. James R. Barcus, and J. C. Hinds, superintendent of the Great West Refining Co., were guests of the club in addition to Col. Talbot.

When Col. Talbot was conducting his three weeks' campaign as the Republican nominee for governor he stressed the idea of "Texans for Texas." In his speeches he stressed the importance of Texans patronizing Texas manufacturers and producers. Since that time he has carried his campaign for the promotion of Texas industrial circles to every city in Texas. His talk today was along that line.

Thirty-Seventh
"It is deplorable," he declared, "that Texas ranks thirty-ninth in per capita wealth, although this state takes the lead in production of thirty-one commodities."

"It is the case of Texas feeding the cow and the other fellow milking her."

He discussed the condition of the cotton market, declaring that Russia did not purchase a bale from the United States last year, and that previously war-torn European countries had rehabilitated to such an extent that American markets had been injured.

He stressed the statement that "we can't do anything unless the people want it."

"The help for Texas industries must come from Texas. Texans must ask for Texas products in every instance if the lasting prosperity in industrial and agricultural circles is to be widespread."

Discussing the decrease in population of smaller towns, Col. Talbot cited two reasons why residents had drifted to larger cities. One of them was that the citizens had quit patronizing home merchants. The other was that the town had failed to bring in new industries, "smokestacks and payrolls."

Col. Talbot's plan is to "buy locally, then Texas, then the Southwest, and then the United States."

When Texas consumes Texas products to such an extent that enlargement of industries must follow, then the manufacturer will be able to advertise nationally. Texas made goods, Col. Talbot said.

Texas Shows
He told of buying the first pair of Texas-made dress shoes despite the fact Texas is the leading hosiery producing state. He told of using cotton suits made from Texas cotton.

He stressed the fact that although Texas produces the bulk of the wool, the market is set at Boston, and that "for every $1 we get for the product we must pay $2 back for the finished product."

A new dollar in circulation in a community can be multiplied by eight, he pointed out.

In discussing the condition of the Texas farmer he declared, "we tell the farmer to diversify. We do not create a market for his products or take care of his surplus."

Discussing the number of agricultural products raised in Texas, Col. Talbot pointed out there are only 22 canning factories in Texas employing only 220 persons.

"Every form of foodstuffs is shipped into Texas. Although our coast line is long, seven per cent of seafood consumed in Texas is shipped in," he declared.

Col. Talbot has a complete list of every product manufactured in Texas and the names of the manufacturers. He cited examples after where he had been able to "buy Texas buyer and a Texas time comes," he said.

and the things that are made and manufactured shall see the time when these conditions in this state I reach the peak."

At the conclusion of Col. Talbot's talk, a short business session was held.

On the suggestion of Marcus J. Williamson, field executive for the Buffalo Trails Area, Boy Scouts of America, the Lions Club will challenge the Kiwanis Club and the Rotary Club to a baseball game. The proceeds from the game will be used for a fund to enable several Boy Scouts to attend the annual summer encampment.

Mr. Bryan was formerly in charge of operations at the Great West refinery here, controlled by the same interests.

Wouldn't Be Any Radio Without Peanut Vender Song, Says Will; Reports On Publishers' Session

By WILL ROGERS

Well, all I know is just what I read in the Papers, or what I see as I prowled hither and thither. Was in Washington about ten days ago, and saw quite a few of the Boys that was still staying there that was out for re-election this year. You can tell the ones that are going to run. They have to rough home and start fixing things up. But the ones that are set for a year or so more they can kinder lay around and sort of relax with the lobbyists, and have a good time without getting blamed for it.

Was up to New York and spoke for the Newspaper Publishers Association, that a Gang that gathers in from all over the Country once a year, and belong to an Association to help better each others conditions, then get home and write Editorials against Uncle Sam. Not all of em, but some do. But we did have a fine dinner.

You know even the food at Dinners are getting better. They don't cook the Chicken at these banquets in the afternoon like they used to. We had tender Squab,
