

County Collects $181,253 Tax and Car Tag Money

Taxes totaling $131,862.26 have been collected off the 1949 tax roll, and $49,391.35 in car tag money has been paid since February 1, 1950, County tax assessor and collector Hubert Mauldin said Monday.

The tax money includes all taxes collected since October, 1949, and includes the fees and discounts for early payment, he explained.

Of the total, $73,168.83 has been turned over for county purposes and $42,926.38 has been sent to the State as its part or the taxes collected.

Of the amount retained by the county 2 per cent will go to the jury fund; 30 per cent to the road and bridge fund; 44 per cent to the general fund; 8 per cent to the court house and jail fund; 11 per cent to the road bond and 11 per cent to the court house bonds.

The car tag money of $49,391.35 is all retained for road improvement, and represents 2,319 car licenses issued for 1950; and 244 commercial truck licenses; 600 farm truck licenses; 25 tractor truck licenses; 10 motorcycle license; 154 trailers; five house trailers; and 25 dealers tags.

Mr. Mauldin explained that the county retains all car tag money up to $50,000, and all over that is split half and half with the state.

He expects the $50,000 mark to be passed within the next two or three weeks.

The county has collected approximately $2,000 more in car tag money than at this time a year ago, he said, and at the present rate, around $6,000 more, including both the county and state's parts, may be expected during 1950.

Highway Group to Appear Thursday Before Commission

Representatives of the Chamber of Commerce of the city and county left Wednesday, April 26, for Austin, to appear before the State Highway Commission asking an appropriation for the resurfacing of the business loop of Highway 83.

Heading the delegation is Jack Gibson, chairman of the highway committee of the Chamber of Commerce. Others making the trip are Mayor Ernest Lewis, Dr. C. B. Jones, County Judge R. L. Templeton, City Manager Bura Handley, City Alderman Cecil Leggett, and J. B. Stevenson.

The group will appear before the commission at 11:00 a.m. Thursday.

They are asking for a 48-foot road to be constructed at a cost of $46,000.

It was pointed out that a recommendation that the loop be resurfaced was made by the district highway engineer's office about two years ago, but this was not followed up by local action, and no appropriation was ever made by the Highway Commission.

Dukes Open Home Schedule With Memphis at Airpark Sunday

The Dukes of Wellington will open their home schedule Sunday, April 30, against the Memphis Owls, at Marian Airpark Field. The game has been called for 2:30 p.m.

The Dukes are feeling a little better after their 14-0 win over Paducah at Paducah Tuesday night, but they are still smarting from the 10-1 defeat administered by Hobart Sunday.

Memphis has on the whole a weaker team than last year, Lowell Wells, Duke secretary, said this week. They have a number of new players who to date haven't showed up very well, and their position is regarded in the league as weaker than it was last season.

Virgil Francis of Vinson is back with the Dukes, and played second base in the Hobart game. His return gives the Dukes considerable strength in that quarter, and is giving Manager Bus Dorman some-

THESE HELD THE PROJECT SHOW SPOTLIGHT

Here is the grand champion of the county's Youth Project Show, Walloper, held by his owner, Georgia Nell Galyean, and her vocational agriculture instructor, Bennett Goodloe. Walloper, who was not sold in the auction that followed, also placed first in the dry lot fed baby beef, heavy division. Miss Galyean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Galyean, is the first girl to ever exhibit in the livestock division of the show, and one of two girls in the state studying vocational agriculture.

Wheat Prospects Point to Yield Considerably Below Average

Collingsworth County's wheat prospects now look toward a considerably less than average crop, in spite of the recent moisture, County Agent J. W. Thomas reported after inspecting the wheat-growing sections of the county during the week end.

On the whole, wheat north of Salt Fork is considerably better than that in the south half of the county, due to approximately two and a half inches of rain that section received in February.

Some of the wheat will come up to the 10 or 12 bushel average yield, but there is a larger portion that will not, at present prospects, Mr. Thomas said. Some of the grain which now looks good when driving by it, shows on close inspection to have been damaged to the extent that the yield will be poor.

There was little greenbug damage to Collingsworth wheat, Mr. Thomas said. It was almost altogether dry weather damage.

Alfalfa on the whole is good, and since the lady bugs hatched out two weeks ago, they have almost altogether destroyed the greenbugs, Mr. Thomas said. "I have never seen such a hatch

Quail Future Farmers Honor Fathers Thursday

Quail Future Farmers will honor their fathers with the traditional Father-Son Banquet Thursday night, April 27, at the Quail school.

Another tradition of the banquet will be observed. The boys have grown the chickens they are going to serve fried, as one of their vocational agriculture projects.

Plans for the banquet are nearing completion, and a program of entertainment is being worked out. Approximately 120 fathers, sons, and other invited guests will attend.

Greenbelt Electric To Hold Annual Meeting Friday

The 11th annual meeting of the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., will be held Friday, April 28, in the community building at 2:00 p.m., Orval Couch, superintendent, has announced.

Between 500 and 600 members are expected, coming from the seven counties that are served wholly or in part by Greenbelt.

Election of the board of seven directors will highlight the business session. Officers and directors during the year that is just closing have been Alex Coleman, Dozier, president; J. F. Kromer, Vinson, vice-president; and R. J. Holland, Dodson, secretary-treasurer. These and A. P. Bumpers of Shamrock, Forrest E. Sawyer and A. J. Garland of Clarendon, and Frank Bagwell of Claude make up the board.

Entertainment will include a motion picture of the uses of electricity on the farm, and the awarding of a number of prizes, Mr. Couch said.

The Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative is operating 1,740 miles of lines with approximately 2,800 members.

Alfalfa Seed Growers Name Savage Pres.

The Wellington Certified Alfalfa Seed Growers Association met in the district court room at 8:00 p.m. Monday night, April 24, to re-organize for the current year. Curtis Savage was elected president for the ensuing year following John D. Glenn, who has served the past year. J. T. Slay was re-elected secretary for another year.

Speakers were A. W. Winston of Vernon, Mr. Gates of the Texas State Seed Board, and J. W. Thomas, county agent.

Mr. Thomas talked on marketing seed and brought points on new and improved varieties of seed.

Mr. Winston brought some thoughts on marketing of seed, as to problems they have in their area compared to Oklahoma area adjacent to theirs.

Mr. Gates gave an interesting and instructive talk on seed certification of alfalfa and also on grain sorghum seed.

Each speaker stressed the point of producing highest type, pure, clean seed from clean fields in order to be recognized as an area of certified seed that will be in demand.

The big grasshopper hatch is due at any time now, and farmers are urged to keep close check on hopper breeding grounds, and when a large hatch appears, spray them before they scatter or get on the wing, County Agent J. W. Thomas warned this week.

He warned, too, that the federal government is not furnishing grasshopper poison this year, and it will be up to farmers to find their own.

The county probably will not have as heavy an infestation this year as last, Mr. Thomas believes, but nevertheless the hoppers should be killed while young.

W. J. Spicer of the grasshopper control service, Bureau of Entomology, Waco, was in the county several weeks ago and checked a number of areas, and reported that the infestation will be spotted.

It will probably be heaviest around Dodson and Swearingen, he said.

Weather will have a great deal to do with the infestation, Mr. Thomas said. The hatch should occur about two to three weeks after continuous weather sets in, and if a cool, moist period follows this, a fungus attacks the hoppers and tends to kill many.

A big hatch has already been reported around the Norwood area.

Control tests were conducted during 1948 and 1949 to evaluate several organic insecticides applied as dusts and sprays for hopper control. The dusts were applied in the early morning when the air was calm. The spray emulsions, made by diluting oil miscible concentrates, were applied later in the day with a compressed air sprayer equipped with a valve to regulate the pressure at 40 pounds.

The treatments were made early in the season when the hoppers were small, less than one-fourth grown, Mr. Thomas said.

He added that toxaphene or chlordane applied as a spray emulsion will give good control of young grasshoppers. Either of these materials applied at a pound and a quarter per acre as a spray emulsion, should control young hoppers, but heavier applications are necessary for controlling the hoppers after they get larger. This low dosage may be applied to pastures without causing injury to livestock but should not be used in pastures that are being grazed by dairy cattle. To protect crops from migrating adult hoppers, from 2 to 3 pounds per acre of either material must be used.

Results of field tests made in 1949, the entomologists say, show that toxaphene and chlordane were more effective when applied as spray emulsions than when applied as dusts.

Soil Conservation Districts--Grassroots Democracy

When the wind got high this spring, it wasn't all the farms that sent their good topsoil blowing across the country. Those that had proper care and conservation didn't. While the amount the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District saved farmers this year along in dollars and cents cannot be measured, there is another aspect of the conservation districts that is worth noting.

Walter Buckner of The San Marcos Record has put it aptly:

Soil Conservation Districts are democracy at the grass roots. That is why so many Texans are becoming more and more interested in them.

In these days of increasing governmental regulations, it is important for everyone—farmers, ranchers, and business men—to understand what districts are, who runs them, and what they do. It is easy to confuse them with one of the other agencies of the Department of Agriculture.

Under Texas law, Soil Conservation Districts were organized by vote of the local landowning farmers and ranchers. They are run by their supervisors, who must be local, resident landowning farmers and ranchers elected to office by their neighbors. With no powers of taxation nor eminent domain, the supervisors' responsibility is to coordinate all efforts, public and private, to the soil conservation task. This coordinated effort is first developed on a district-wide basis by the local people themselves.

In every one of Texas' now 156 districts, covering nearly 90 per cent of the state, there are programs and plans of work, developed and written by the home folks. They serve as a guide to each District's operation.

With its program and plan of work as a basis for action, the district's board of supervisors is ready to go to work. As a rule, all State and Federal agricultural agencies pledge their cooperation to the supervisors. The Extension Service and the Department of Vocational Agriculture have a big educational job. PMA payments help landowners pay part of the costs of soil conservation. The technicians of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, cooperating with the supervisors, make detailed farm and ranch conservation plans with the local operators on farms and ranches as directed by the district supervisors.

These farm and ranch conservation plans are the key to what many call the New Agriculture. They are developed with the owner to suit his operating needs as well as those of the land. When all the planning is over, the results are put on paper, with a map and all details are then agreed to by the owner and the board of supervisors.

Operating in accordance with these plans, farmers and ranchers are discovering that it pays to treat the land according to its needs and use it according to its capabilities. Production per acre rises and unit production costs are lower. Owners find, too, that crops are higher in quality.

These are things that consumers in general and all business men can understand.

Soil Conservation District Week—May 15 to 21—will give all Texans an opportunity to learn about this program of grass roots democracy that is going on in their midst.

No Minced Words

Two years have passed since the explosion disaster at Texas City that cost 500 lives and millions in property damage. Texas City buried its dead, Monsanto and others whose personnel and property were involved did what they could in sympathy and humanity for the survivors, went on from there to achievement. But the lingering question over the tragedy in every human mind in Texas City has been "Why?"

Thursday Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly answered that question in a decision that is a terrible indictment of callous federal incompetence. Nothing can be added to the words in which he expressed his finding. There they stand in stark accounting for Texas City:

"This record discloses blunders, mistakes and acts of negligence both of omission and commission on the part of (the government), its agents, servants and employees. . . . The record discloses such disregard of lack of care for the safety of the public and of persons manufacturing, handling and transporting the fertilizer as to shock one."

Administratively there is today a great deal that shocks in the operation of our huge, unwieldy government. Less and less apparently do we find the responsible proving willing to echo once more: "We planned it that way."

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek must be worried about something judging by the impossibility of his letter this week.

Dear editor:

Every once in a while I read about some convict who has been turned loose after completing a 20-year sentence by servin say five years and two days for good behavior, and then bein picked up again a month later for a brand new crime and tried and given a couple of more sentences to run concurrently. That is, as I understand it, say he gets 15 years for holdin up a bank and 10 more for shootin the president in the leg for bein slow about openin the door as he left, the judge tells him the sentences are to run concurrently, which means he can serve both of em at the same time.

Now while I ain't never been able to figure out how a man can serve two sentences at the same time with a straight face, believe I could handle 15 or 20 that way as easy as one, the practice of doin it seems to be a common occurrence, with a good many judges dignifiedly insuin them kinds of terms, and I been thinkin.

The criminals and the lawyers may have something, and I been wonderin why we can't adopt something like that for the use of us lawabidin citizens. In a democracy, what's good enough for a convict ought to be good enough for everybody else.

What I would like to see is a system of payin your debts concurrently.

Say I'm a little behind at the grocery store, the meat market, the drug store, the lumberyard, the bank, and a few other places I can't think of right now. Why can't some Washington expert invent a method whereby I could pay off them debts concurrently? Just pay your money into a pool and everytime you pay a dollar to the lumberyard, the meat market has to credit you with a dollar too. By gettin a whole slew of Washington experts after this problem, there ain't no reason why they couldn't figure out a way to pay any number of debts, not just two, at the same time with the same money.

Personally, I believe there would be a lot more debts paid under this system, and if it would work in private business it ought to work on the national debt too and we could even rope in the European nations on it also and the whole world would get out of debt fifteen or twenty times faster than it ever will.

Why there ain't no limit to the amount of good feelin would be created if folks could pay all their taxes only every ten or fifteen years concurrently.

If you think this system has any merit, let's try it out. I would like to pay my subscription to the Leader and the Amarillo News, Life, Time, and two or three others, all concurrently. Please see that they all get here next week.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

THE WELFARE STATE GULLS

On a craggy island in Penobscot Bay off the coast of Maine, there once lived a thriving colony of sea gulls. They were of the full-throated Herring gull and Laughing gull families and whenever the whole colony rejoiced over an unusually good catch of fish or insects their screaming cacophony could be heard almost to inland Augusta. They were powerful flyers and intelligent, industrious fishers. There wasn't a scrawny, hungry gull in the multitude.

Their flights to sea as they went searching for schools of fish were beautiful to behold. Their sleek silver-gray backs and the smooth snow-white belly feathers glistened in the bright sunlight reflected off the ocean's surface. And upon returning to Penobscot with fish in beak, their proud wheelings and turnings and glides were masterpieces of aerodynamic art. It was a great day indeed for any baby sea gull lucky enough to be hatched in the Penobscot colony. No prouder, happier family of gulls graced the Atlantic coast.

FISHING CANE NATURAL

The young hatched out a grayish-brown, able to walk and with the instinct for flying and fishing strong within them. For a few weeks parents fed their down-covered babies. But very soon the fledglings were encouraged to hop off rocks and test their gliding equipment. Flying then came quickly. The biggest thrill for the young gulls was the first carefully chaperoned trip to sea for fishing.

There the instinct took over.

The young gulls were natural fishers. And they early developed a sturdy self-reliance. If the fish weren't running, young and old flew far inland to search out and feed upon hordes of insects such as grasshoppers or even worms. The greatest event of a young adult Penobscot gull's life, however, was the rugged migratory flight to Florida which the colony conducted each fall.

THE "FREE" LUNCH

One raw November as the Penobscoters were heading for the extreme southern Florida Keys a squall set them down on Conch Island, a stone's throw off the water front at St. Augustine. They were properly welcomed by masses of Southern gulls. The next morning the Penobscoters waited anxiously for their Southern hosts to guide them toward the fishing grounds. But the fat, Conch Island gulls just sat around as dawn brightened with the rising sun.

Promptly at 9:15 a. m., the Conch Islanders, somewhat slow and lazy in flight, led the way. But not to the fishing grounds. They flew 100 yards across the water-front to the shrimp wharf. There, lined up busily cleaning yesterday's catch, were nearly one hundred shrimp fishing vessels. And in the early morning sunlight the water already had begun to be flecked with tiny dead fish and shrimp scraps. For the Penobscoters this was almost too good to be true. But it was a reality — food without effort!

GULLS WITHOUT GULL INSTINCTS

Thousands of Penobscoters did not fly back North the following April as was the custom. They were too fat and too satisfied with life on Conch Island. They hadn't had to bother with fishing or hunting a single day. Always the shrimp fleet was at the wharf, or would be there shortly, with its free, anytime-a-day lunch. The fleet and the gulls stayed on. The gulls got fatter and lazier. But one day last March they flew over for breakfast and found no ships. They flew back to Conch Island and sat waiting, eyes toward the sea. They sat waiting all day, necks pulled in, one foot retracted. They got awfully hungry.

Five days and nights passed and they began screaming. The fleet hadn't returned. They were starving. They sat at the water's edge in long rows, helpless, bewildered, staring out to sea, screaming their hungry pangs. St. Augustine people heard them and investigated. They found the shrimp fleet had gone forever. They found the gulls dying because their ability to fish and hunt was extinct. Ornithologists were astonished. The free shrimp lunches, provided month after month, had destroyed the gulls' natural ability to find food for survival. They were not sea gulls now; they were mere creatures.

The moral: A Welfare State, for gull or man, always first destroys the priceless attribute of self-reliance.

"Boy, this is wonderful—secluded, running water and close to transportation."

The Dodson High School held their annual all day picnic Monday April 3, at the Baptist Encampment grounds north of Wellington.

When the dinner bell rang the group gathered around to enjoy the large supply of hot dogs and all the luxuries of an outside dinner.

The group returned at four o'clock with blistered noses and sore muscles shouting that they had a wonderful time.

Junior High Art Exhibit Here Through Next Week

An art exhibit is scheduled for Wellington Junior High School from May 1 through 5, Lee Plante, principal, announced this week. This is similar to the Art Exhibit held in the elementary school last year, which attracted wide attention.

One of the high points of this year's exhibit will be the Junior High open house Thursday afternoon and evening, Mr. Plante said. On that day, pictures will be on display from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. and from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m.

"We invite parents of all junior high students to come and see the improvements the students have made in the building, and also to talk with the teachers concerning their children's work," Mr. Plante said.

Students will act as hosts during the evening.

On other days, the pictures will be on display from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The reproductions are of the finest type produced, showing the original color as well as the brush strokes of the original canvases. The collection consists of 150 masterpieces representing the Italian, French, Flemish, English, Dutch, Spanish, German and American Schools of Art.

Most of these are the masterpieces studied by the schools. Famous portraits, landscapes, marines, and pastoral scenes in the colors of the original canvases will be included.

Among the famous artists represented are Gainsborough, Titian, Da Vinci, Terborch, Murillo, Van Dyke, Raphael and many others of the old masters, while among them more modern are representative subjects from the brush of Ben Foster, George DeForest, Bruce George Innes, Ernest Albert, Frank Duveneck, Gardner Symons, Bruce Crain, William Wyant, Harry Vincent, Robert Wesley Amick and Gustave Weigand.

Dress Rehearsal for Colored Folks Thursday

LION MINSTRELS STRUT AND SING FRIDAY NIGHT, APRIL 28

Plans are complete for the two performances of the first Lions Club Negro Minstrel, W. L. Scott, who wrote the script and is directing it, has announced.

First of the performances will be Thursday night, April 27, for the colored people of Wellington. The second will be Friday night, April 28, at the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

"We Kin Too," is the minstrel's name, but advance information indicates that these Wellington business men "kin do anything," Scott believes.

Newcomers to the cast this week include Dr. E. W. Jones, who as a colored parson delivers an inspiring message at the end of the first act that turns into a riot.

Tom Bryant has come into the cast as Hambone, one of the end-men. The ther is T-bone, enacted by Sunday Bill Smith. The Inter-lecteur and his assistant are the Rev. Archie Gray and Raymond Horton, who come on the stage as aged but active. Sgt. Lavell McKinney takes the part of Bonehead, who proves himself smart.

Throughout the last act, Claude

Vance, as Hamfat "I is de human dy-y-y-namo," tries to elude the attentions of Liza Jane, Zora Dell Austin.

There will be the traditional quartets and solos.

Others taking part in the Minstrel will be T. D. Nored, Earl Tollett, Clinton Davis, Lloyd Emrick, and John King.

Farm Pond And No Mosquitoes A Possibility

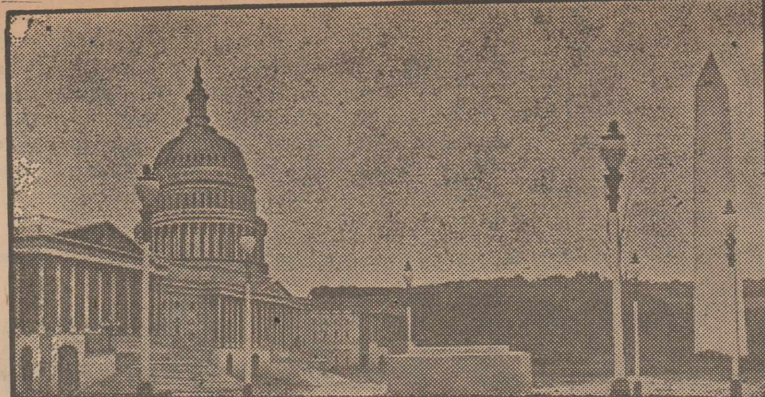

COLLEGE STATION — The Wildlife Management Department at Texas A. and M. College is conducting research designed to make it possible to have farm ponds without mosquitoes.

According to Frank T. Knapp, head of the fisheries section of the Wildlife Management Department, farm ponds have received most of the blame for mosquito infestations and in many instances, for outbreak of malaria.

Many ponds in East Texas have been drained as a measure against mosquitoes and malaria, Knapp pointed out. Although malaria was reduced by the drainage, it was done so at the expense of the ponds, which have a great recreational value, he said.

"By proper construction of the pond and correct fish stocking," Knapp added, "it theoretically is possible to have ponds without mosquitoes. The purpose of our project is to find out how this can best be done."

The project was initiated at a fish pond near Easterwood Airport at the college last September. Knapp and his assistants have investigated the life histories of the mosquitoes in and near the pond to learn their habits and how they may be eliminated.

WASHINGTON IN JAPAN

Familiar landmarks of the Capitol building and Washington Monument are strangely out of place in this setting—Osaka, Japan. The miniature models are part of a display of noted American scenes at a Japanese fair. Also included were models of the New York and Chicago skyline, the Golden Gate Bridge and the Empire State Building.

Using a dipping net and a pan to take samples of water, he found no larvae or other traces of mosquitoes in the pond proper. However, insects were collected from a drainage ditch and depressions, some of them less than six inches from the pond, containing no fish.

Further investigation, by use of a cage trap floating in the pond, revealed that adult mosquitoes were present in the pond where there was vegetation to protect them from the fish.

On the basis of findings to date, Knapp believes that mosquitoes virtually may be eliminated from ponds by proper stocking of top minnows and mosquito fish, by constructing ponds so that no vegetation will grow in the water's edge and by smoothing the bottoms of drainage ditches to avoid puddles.

Knapp hopes that by proving mosquitoes can be easily and effectively controlled, the way will be cleared for constructing ponds for the college to be used for further research in fisheries biology and for recreation.

"Boy, am I hungry"

Every evening thousands of boys and girls stampede Gulf South homes after a day of school and hard play. Waiting for them is a good meal and a hot bath—two familiar institutions of American family life made easier and more convenient by natural gas service.

Gulf South residents prefer natural gas over any other fuel, because it's clean, gives instant heat and does all the big jobs in the home for only a few cents a day.

Your Gas Dollar Goes Farther

Your gas bill is one of the smallest items in the family budget. One reason this is so is because the gas companies which produce, process and deliver your gas are engaged in continuous exploration and research to give you the finest possible service at the lowest possible cost.

Hatch Looks Good For Raider Team

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech football fans have about decided next fall may not be so bad after all.

Coach Dell Morgan will be forced to depend heavily on sophomores and there has been major doubt as to successes. But in the annual Red Raider Roundup, terminating spring training, considerable power appeared, both offensively and defensively.

Fullback J. W. Thompson, Odessa, averaged 10.3 yards per carry; Fullback Earl Jackson, Phillips, 9.5 yards; and Fullback Bill O'Grady, Fort Worth freshman, an even 9. Halfback Gene Doss, Fort Worth freshman, averaged 7.6 yards; Halfback Tim Hatch, Wellington 6; and Fullback Sandy Welton, Fairmont, W. Va., freshman, just short of 6.

There was good quarterbacking from Junior Arterburn, Ranger; Don Seale, Idalou freshman; and John Moughon, Weatherford. Arterburn picked off a kickoff and ran it back 75 yards for a touchdown, with good blocking.

Defensively the backfield contributed effective work, led by Halfback Jim Turner, Olney freshman; Denton Lambert, Lubbock freshman, Doss, Arterburn and Seale.

Coaches were highly pleased with line work, especially tackling by several men and blocking in spots, although indication was given that much blocking drill is ahead for candidates.

Military Police Corps cadets from the University of Texas Army Reserve Officers Training Corps will leave by air early Friday to visit the Military Police School at Camp Gordon, near Augusta, Ga.

The group, under direction of Major William E. Watts, assistant professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University, will return to Austin by air late Sunday. In the group is Cadet Captain John T. Alexander of Wellington.

While at the MP school, the only one of its kind in the United States, the Texas ROTC cadets will make an observation tour which will include the Military Police Board (where tests are made for new MP equipment, procedure, etc.), criminal investigation laboratory, judo demonstration course, fingerprinting laboratory, training aid center and photography laboratory.

This is the first such out-of-state trip for members of the Corps of Military Police at the University. Major R. A. Eicher, senior instructor in the MP branch of the Army ROTC at the school, has said that it is hoped similar trips may be made annually in the future.

Air transportation for the visit to Camp Gordon was arranged through the Provost Marshal, Fourth Army.

(New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD front-end, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

YOU know many things about the man behind the wheel when this bold front comes winging your way.

He knows style—he is traveling behind the boldest and freshest forecast of things to come that is on the roads today.

He's a practical person—likes the idea of plenty of protection out front without spending money on such extra items as bumper guards.

He likes convenience—the easier parking made possible through the precious inches of over-all length saved by this design—not to mention freedom from "locking horns" with the car ahead.

And he's foresighted—knows that accidents do happen sometimes—and he goes for the idea of a front-end design that can be repaired by replacing single bars instead of a whole grille work.

You could add that he likes power—for behind this smart forefront there's a big bonnetful of Fireball horsepower.

He likes comfort—since every car bearing this grille rides on soft coil springs all around.

Most of all, he has an eye for a buy. For this bold new design means Buick—and in every series, SPECIAL, SUPER and ROADMASTER, Buick means a better all-round buy.

For proof of that—go look, try and compare. You'll find that, dollar for dollar, your Buick dealer has the top values—and that goes for cars bracketing every price range above the very lowest.

Girls are entering from Wellington, Quail, Dodson and Samnorwood. Aprons, skirts, blouses and dresses will be modeled in the revue.

Fishing License Now Required

Got your rod and reel? Or even a pole and line? And your eye on a spot where they're biting good?

You'll need something more this year—a fishing license, County Clerk J. M. Moore said.

Under a new state regulation, a fishing license costing $1.65 is required of any person going outside his home county to fish with live bait, or if he fishes anywhere with artificial bait.

Artificial bait is considered any manufactured bait or imitation of live bait.

Persons under 17 years of age do not have to buy a license to fish.

So far, 69 fishing licenses have been sold by Mr. Moore's office.

5-County Singers Come Here Sun.

Several hundred singers from this and surrounding counties will be present, Mrs. Warren said. There will be a number of visiting quartets and other special numbers among the visitors, and this event will probably be the highlight of the year from the standpoint of singing conventions, officers declared.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

A settlement has been reached in the suit styled K. T. Martin-Floyd West & Co. of Dallas, General Agent for Mercury Insurance Co. of St. Paul, Minn., vs. R. A. Norton of Quail, Judge R. L. Templeton, attorney for the defendant, said Monday.

This suit grew out of a hail insurance policy which Mr. Norton took last year on his cotton crop, and following an opinion of the State Insurance Commission, Austin, the company dropped its suit and awarded Mr. Norton $500, Judge Templeton said.

Outlining the case briefly, Judge Templeton said that Mr. Norton, who farms northwest of Marilla, suffered a hail loss in September, 1949, and was paid $180 by the company on the loss. He received another hail loss on October 9 and filed a claim, which the company refused to pay. They then filed a suit against the county man for $523 cost of investigating the hail loss, the attorney said.

Judge Templeton then took the case before the State Insurance Commission.

Put New Life Into Your Farmall

• More pep and more power is yours when everything is just right on your FARMALL tractor. Best way to be sure that all parts and adjustments are just right is to have your work done by EXPERIENCED FARMALL MECHANICS. We've got them, enough of them to assure you a fast job—overhaul or tune-up, or anything in between.

• When your FARMALL comes out of this shop, you KNOW that only the BEST parts have gone into, and you KNOW that this whole organization is behind every job. You will GET everything you pay for.

• R. T. Jameson took out our Farmall C demonstrator with two 14-inch moldboard bottoms, plowed up some three-year-old alfalfa ground with it. And proved to some more people that the Farmall C is a full-sized 2-row tractor. We're ready to show it, any time. Come in and let us demonstrate it on YOUR farm, with plow, lister, cultivator or straight draw-bar work.

• Prices for many things (at least the price you can get them for) is probably lower than they will be again soon. Average of prices paid for goods we buy are 61 per cent above 1939; Federal taxes are 639 per cent above 1939. Therefore government is costing ten times as much more as other things we buy. Price of government is part of everything else; the 639 per cent increase in taxes is a big part of the 61 per cent increase in prices of things we eat, wear, use and ride in. So most prices can't be lowered until we can arrange to get along with a less expensive government.

• Have information for J. A. Bragdon if he will come in. Forget his address.

• Thanks to all the folks who came to our Frozen Food Demonstrations recently. Had a good attendance at all three places—Loco, Wellington and Samnorwood. American people are always interested in a way to raise their standard of living without raising the cost of it. The International Harvester home freezer will do that. I can prove it.

• Trying to talk Dudley Phipps into buying a home freezer the other day when Winfield White came along. Mr. and Mrs. White have a freezer in their home, and so he took over the sales talk. Did a lot better job than I could. If you have made up your mind you're not going to buy a freezer, don't let anybody who's got one start talking to you.

• Sold some more peg harrow sections this week. Still got plenty. Some of this deep-broken ground is going to need leveling up with a good harrow.

• I am going to sell big sweeps this year—from 12-inch up to 40-inch—at prices you haven't seen since 1936. One special BIG lot of BIG sweeps at about half what they should sell for now. Better look into this before you buy any sweeps of any kind.

Virginia Cain and Sammy Tabor were chosen the high school favorites of the Dodson High School, on a popularity basis, in the recent elections by the student body.

Miss Cain and David Fillpot were then selected all-around boy and girl by the faculty members of the school. The selection was based on scholarship, citizenship, and participation.

It was also announced by Supt. T. E. Lennon that Miss Cain is valedictorian of this year's graduating class and Elva Bogle is salutatorian.

Mrs. Otto Buerger returned Saturday from Dallas where she visited in the home of her sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Christoph, and with Mr. and Mrs. William McNeese. Where Can You Get Another Life or Another Body?

He says, "You cannot buy another life, another body, heart, eye, stomach, leg or other organ. Don't gamble with those you have. Protect them while you can. And do it Nature's Way. The graveyards are filled with people who had their autos repaired, but neglected their bodies."

"Disease originates within the body. It is usually caused by a pinch on nerves where they leave the spine. Nerve impingement results from falls, sprains, heavy lifting or other accidents often too slight to notice. The simplest and most permanent way to get rid of disease is to remove the cause. One of the quickest and safest ways to do this is to have the spine straightened by competent chiropractic adjustments. Doctoring the effect and neglecting the cause often increases and perpetuates misery."

NEURITIS

CASE NO. 1216: A lady of 39 years complained of irregular periods, right side pains, bad cramps for two days a month, severe headaches before and after dizzy spells, low back pains, bladder pain, neuritis in shoulders, and sinus inflammation. She came to the Chiropractic clinic for her headaches because a patient had recommended it for that complaint. Spinal analysis and X-rays indicated defective energization of the pelvic area and subluxated (misaligned) vertebra in the neck causing spinal cord interference. After a few months she was amazed to discover her female trouble and other complaints had vanished with the headaches. An operation had been recommended. It is not necessary now for she feels perfect in all respects.

FEMALE TROUBLE

CASE NO. 1216: A lady, 39, complained of irregular periods, right side pains, bad cramps for several days each month, severe headaches before and after periods, dizzy spells, low back pains, bladder pains, neuritis in shoulders and sinus inflammation. She went to a Chiropractor for headaches because a friend had recommended Chiropractic for that condition. Spinal analysis and X-rays indicated defective energization of the Pelvic area and a subluxated (misaligned) vertebra in the neck, causing spinal cord interference. After a few months she was amazed to discover her female trouble and other symptoms had vanished with her headaches. An operation had been recommended. It is not necessary now for she feels fine, thanks to Chiropractic.

CONVULSIONS

CASE NO. 356: A young woman had been having as many as ten to fifteen convulsions daily. Treated for epilepsy without avail. Under special treatment for seven years without benefit. All hope for recovery had gone, when a friend advised Chiropractic. A spinal X-ray revealed a marked disarrangement of the neck, the result of a fall suffered when a child. Adjustments were commenced and after only a few months she was 95 per cent better.

SORE THROAT

CASE NO. 1349: A girl, age 9 suffering for past year from fever, aching legs, sore throat, frequent colds, earache, constipation, and delicate health generally, was brought to the Chiropractic Clinic for spinal analysis and X-ray examination although family friends laughed at the idea. Rough play had caused a spinal injury which had been overlooked. Corrective adjustments brought rapid return to vigorous health which caused her entire family to become patients also. She remained well by visiting the clinic after any hard falls.

WELL-DRESSED FOR WAR

In keeping with spring's emphasis on clothing styles, two members of the armed forces model what the well-dressed airman or sailor will wear to an invasion. Stepping out of low-pressure chamber, left, an Air Force private wears a casual ensemble consisting of three jackets and two pairs of pants (all worn at the same time), with a snappy oxygen mask setting off the high-altitude outfit. The fashion-conscious swimmer, right, shows off a svelte, set green, one-piece rubber suit representing the style trend for the Navy's underwater demolition teams. Black rubber fins and gloves constitute the accessories, with a transparent face mask adding the final touch.

O'Neil Definite As '51 Tech Cager

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech basketball fans really mean it when they say: "Next season will be better."

Coach Polk Robison has started a spirited spring training period and expects to have a much improved aggregation for the Red Raiders next season.

Robison lost only two men, Gene Gibson, All-Border conference center, and Jiggs Jackson, second team all-circuit guard. And up from the freshman team are many fine candidates. Robison says only one man is sure of a starting berth, and he refuses to say who that might be.

Back from last season are lettermen: Jack Alderson, sensational Lubbock sophomore; Charles Pinnell, Andrews; Verdell Turner, Lubbock; Jim Eddins, Sudan; Irl Brown, Katonah, N. Y.; and Ted O'Neil, Wellington. Also still competing are Doral Sandlin, Lubbock; Glen Lucas, Whiteface; Jim McAuley, Andrews; and Weldon McClure, Claude.

Expected to make the traveling squad and become starters, possibly, are Freshmen Lewis Martin, Dimmitt; Paul Nolen, Alvarado; Virgil Johnson, Lubbock; and Don Seale, Idalou. Also in good position to play considerably are Freshmen Jack Little, Amarillo; Sandy Welton, Fairmont, W. Va.; and Dale Knight, Stratford.

Robison, with stronger personnel, expects to rely heavily on a set game, but will vary play. Right now he has every man battling for starting places. Keenest battle is between Brown, 6 foot, 7 inch All-Stater from New York, and Nolen, 6 foot, 9 inch freshman. Both are improving steadily in the post-man battle.

Elect a Man Who Knows Farm Problems

Ronald Davis is a young man, born in Texas in 1911, 39 years old, raised on a farm in the 18th Congressional District of Texas. He worked his way through school at Childress, Texas; worked his way through West Texas State College in Canyon, Texas; received his degree in Agriculture and was president of the Senior class in 1936. He worked on his Master's Degree from Texas Tech and Colorado A & M. Holds the Smith-Hughes Certificate in Agriculture from both Texas Tech and Colorado A & M.

YOU CAN DEPEND ON DAVIS

For 12 years Ronald Davis has been a farmer and has taught Agriculture in the principal farming areas of the 18th Congressional District. He is schooled in the problems of this district. He is an active church and civic worker. Has served as Sunday School teacher and superintendent and as school board member. Married a West Texas girl, has two sons, Lindley Ronall 14 and Cagle Dean 9. Both sons are Boy Scouts and Mrs. Davis is a Cub Scout Den Mother and active church worker.

DAVIS IS EXPERIENCED

*IN FARMING

Since agriculture has been acclaimed the basic industry of the 18th congressional district, Ronald Davis is the best qualified man to represent the people in agriculture as your representative in Congress. This fact is based on five years college training, in agriculture, being raised on a farm and having spent the past 10 years as an active farmer.

Ronald Davis believes in Soil Conservation of a Permanent Type. He favors the Canadian River Dam and will do everything in his power to help complete it. He believes in a continuation of farm price support and at the same time taking steps to put agriculture on a firm and profitable self-supporting basis.

*IN EDUCATION

Ronald Davis believes in a fair and equal investment in education for all the youth of the 18th Congressional District compared with that of any and all other regions of the United States. He firmly believes that education should be controlled on a local and state basis.

*IN LABOR

Ronald Davis believes in less curtailment of the right of labor to have their share of the income and freedom of the nation, and in more control of labor when and if they take undue advantage of more than their share of the income and freedom of the nation.

*IN VETERANS AFFAIRS

Ronald Davis believes in keeping faith with the Veterans as prescribed by our state and national legislation, keeping their educational program in compliance with the principles of sound education. He is opposed to the red tape that causes many veterans undue hardship, and he believes in the rights of veterans bill with less favoritism shown in administering the law.

*IN BUSINESS

Ronald Davis is a business man. He has been actively engaged in farming for 10 years. He has bought and sold on the markets. He knows the problems of the smaller businessman and believes there should be less bureaucratic and socialistic encroachment from government and more encouragement of self initiative—which has been the builder of this great nation.

LaMaster Covers Panhandle in Congress Race

PERRYTON — LeRoy "Pete" LaMaster has visited every one of the 22 counties in the 18th Congressional District, many of them several times, following his belief that the voters of this district want to see for themselves what kind of a candidate is running for this important post.

Since his announcement in February, LaMaster has put thousands of miles on his automobile, traveling to all parts of the district on a one-man campaign tour. Support is strong in the North Plains area for the young farmer-stockman and hundreds of friends have joined in the campaign by mail and by personal contact.

He has no big financial backing, but does have plenty of friends who are supporting his campaign in every way that they can.

Highlights of his "common sense" platform are economy in government, a sound farm program, fair labor laws both to labor and management, a stern foreign policy striving for peace, but constantly ready to defend America's freedom if peace arrangements fail, and ability to make honest decisions regardless of pressure applied from the supposed big boys of politics.

Pete was born, reared, educated, and makes his living in the Panhandle. He has lived in the Panhandle for 31 years, except while in the Navy during World War II. Pete is familiar with Panhandle problems.

While he is a farmer, and knows farm problems and the need for a sound farm program, Pete is also familiar with the problems of the business man.

He plans to keep on the road until the day of the special election May 6, meeting voters and letting them know just how he stands on the many issues that confront a Congressman.

Mrs. George Clark is in Long Beach, Calif., visiting in the home of her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huffman and children.

Miss Ernestine Neal of Chickasha, Oklahoma, was a guest last week of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Doneghy.

Feather-bedding scheme of Firemen's Union to put an additional fireman on diesel locomotives has been CONSIDERED TWICE!

Fact Finding Boards appointed by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman have said these demands were "devoid of merit" and they were REJECTED TWICE!

Now the Firemen's leaders seek to paralyze railroad transportation to compel the railroads to employ a wholly unnecessary additional fireman to ride on diesel locomotives. This scheme is plain

FEATHER-BEDDING!

LEADERS of the Firemen's union have called a nationwide strike starting with four great railroads on April 26. These railroads are the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, and Southern.

The union claims that a second fireman is needed on grounds of safety is sheer hypocrisy. Safety has been dragged into this dispute only in an unsuccessful effort to give a cloak of respectability to vicious feather-bedding demands.

After a careful study of the first demands of this union, a Presidential Fact Finding Board on May 21, 1943, reported to President Roosevelt that there was no need for an extra fireman on diesel locomotives.

Again, on September 19, 1949, after a second hearing on the union leaders' demands, a second Board reported to President Truman that: "there presently exists no need for an additional fireman... upon either the ground of safety or that of efficiency and economy of operation."

Safety Record of Diesels is Outstandingly Good

Although the railroads accepted the Board findings, the union leaders have brazenly rejected them. They represent that an extra fireman is needed for "safety" reasons. Here's what the Board had to say on that point:

"The safety and on-time performance of diesel electric locomotives operated under current rules have been notably good..."

"Upon careful analysis of the data submitted on safety, we have concluded that no valid reasons have been shown as a support for the Brotherhood proposal under which a fireman would be required to be at all times continuously in the cab of road diesels. The proposal must be rejected."

The real reason behind these demands is that the union leaders are trying to make jobs where there is no work. In other words, a plain case of "feather-bedding."

The railroads have no intention of yielding to these wasteful make-work demands.

"The Safety Record of Diesels is Outstandingly Good..."

PRESIDENTIAL FACT FINDING BOARD REPORT
Read these excerpts from official reports of Presidential Fact Finding Boards:

"The safety record of Diesels is outstandingly good, and it follows that the safety rules now applicable have produced good results."

"The safety and on-time performance of Diesel-electric locomotives operated under current rules indicate that Diesel-electric operation has been safer than steam locomotive operation..."

Remember! These are not statements of the railroads. They are just a few of the many similar conclusions reached by President Truman's Fact Finding Board which spent months investigating the claims of the union leaders.

Where Are We Headed?

Some people are bewildered about where we are headed. Some people quote the frightening pronouncements of trouble-makers. Some people point to sensational reports and opinions. Some people are alarmed by scare words.

... Is it any wonder that some people good people ... are bewildered?

Most of us believe that this is the fairest country in the world today ... a country where good citizens give their courage and talents to helping others ... to working to build a better community ... a better America ... a better world.

Most of us believe that ours is a nation of families ... where every family deserves the right to dream of and work for a home—and, if need be, to defend that home against political abuses.

Most of us believe this is a land where folks have an inherent right to prosper by their skill, their toil, their management.

Most of us believe this is a country of men and women who are capable of standing on their own good judgment in selecting those to represent them in Washington ... selecting Representatives who will place right above personal pride ... duty before pleasure ... the good of the majority ahead of special interests ... service against empty political promises.

Most of us believe this is a country where faith will not be denied ... where people can continue to depend upon Divine guidance and help!

Ball, Holden Co-Star in Love Battle of Year

Columbia's "Miss Grant Takes Richmond," co-starring Lucille Ball and William Holden, will be at the Ritz Theatre for the Prevue Saturday night, Sunday and Monday. Supporting the stars are featured players Janis Carter, James Gleason, Gloria Grier and Frank McHugh.

Since S. Sylvan Simon, who directed and produced Red Skelton's convulsively funny comedy, "The Fuller Brush Man," authored by Frank Tashlin and Devery Freeman, collaborates again with these writers in "Miss Grant Takes Richmond," comedy fans are expecting another big harvest of laughs from the new Columbia comedy. And from advance reports, they aren't going to be disappointed, as lovely Miss Ball and Holden, a brace of brilliant comedians, are said to carry out the promise of a script that crackles with laughter and romance.

The merriment in "Miss Grant Takes Richmond" stems from the humorous complications that result when Miss Ball, a secretary whose lovely exterior belies her ineptness at office work, is hired by Holden. Holden, it seems, operates a flourishing book-making establishment behind the staid facade of a real estate office. Luscious Miss Ball, however, is conscientious, if nothing else, and she sets to work to see that her friends acquire housing!

Before the bewildered Holden realizes it he is knee-deep in sponsoring a housing project. Shrewdly figuring that the project will fall flat on its face if Miss Ball masterminds it, Holden has her placed in charge, resulting in what is said to be one of the most hilarious construction jobs in the country. But he doesn't count on falling in love with her. How he gets out from under in the housing project and from exposure of his bookie activities is sure to make for a mirth-quaking climax.

Assisting the stars are Miss Carter, cast as the attractive head of a gambling syndicate with a yen for Holden; Gleason, as the harried assistant to Holden; McHugh, as a human adding machine, and Miss Henry, as one of Miss Ball's house-hungry friends.

GUILL SAYS DEMOCRATIC PARTY ONE OF SOCIALISTS AND BOSSES

In a radio speech this week Ben Guill lashed out at what he called an unholy alliance between corrupt city bosses and Communists and Socialists.

In part he said:

Now all my life I have been an independent Democrat, or a states right Democrat as most of my friends like to say, but during the past few years I have watched with growing fear the seizure of the old-time, Jeffersonian Democratic Party by a new hybrid breed of politicians which have sprung from a merger of the hoodlums of Kansas City, and the gangsters of Chicago, with the Communists and Socialists of New York and Jersey City.

If you are a nominal Democrat and have paid any attention to the strange goings-on in Washington, I feel that you too have been alarmed. The Democratic Party has been taken away from the people, and has been turned over to a small group of sinister, plotting men who are either in it for personal gain or to promote some scheme for changing our form of government.

One of these schemes is to build an all-powerful government in Washington, to gradually relieve the states of their constitutional rights and to center in the hands of a few bureaus in Washington the entire control of a nation. They say that the only efficient government is a strong centralized government with all the power concentrated in a chosen few.

Ben Guill can't go along with this idea. He cannot accept this un-American conception of an all-powerful central government. He believes that the states have certain rights which must be protected at all costs, and he has decided to run as a Republican because he feels that it would be rank hypocrisy to run as a candidate of the Democratic Party, which has set itself up as the Big Government Party.

This problem of states rights is serious. It involves our political freedom, our personal liberties, the bread we eat, the house we live in, the home we hope to build, the car we hope to buy. The doctrine of States Rights is a sacred doctrine and a way of life. It represents the cornerstone on which we have built our great republic. It is the keystone of the arch of good government.

The men who wrote our constitution were well aware of the dangers of a strongly centralized federal government. They were careful to include in the priceless document they wrote, certain rights which were carefully reserved for the individual states of the union. Those rights were granted, in the wisdom of the founding fathers for a definite purpose — to prevent a greedy and power-hungry central

Some 50 cars of a Vernon motor caravan advertising the Santa Rosa Rodeo to be held in Vernon May 1-6 visited Wellington Saturday. The Santa Rosa boosters an-government from setting up a dictatorship in this free land.

I believe in states rights, and if you send me to Congress, you have my promise that I will fight the radical leaders of the Democratic Party and of any other party in their efforts to cram down the throats of the American people such unconditional monstrosities as the F. E. P. C., the Federal poll tax legislation, and the seizure of our tidelands.

Communists and fellow travelers who take their orders from Moscow, are fighting to destroy the doctrine of states rights. The power-maddened labor bosses of the gangster-ridden cities of the East have joined them in trying to throw the States Rights doctrine out the window.

Ben Guill believes that certain rights should continue to be reserved for the States. He is absolutely opposed to the F. E. P. C. and other measures cooked up to chop away at the constitutional structure of our government.

If you will vote to send Ben Guill to Congress in the special election on May 6, you will have in Washington a man representing you who will fight with every ounce of his ability to support the doctrine of states rights. This is Ben Guill, candidate for Congress, saying goodbye, and thank you for listening.

Favors less paternalism, not more, He wants fewer bureaucrats in Washington and fewer snoopers here in the Panhandle.

He wants more emphasis placed on conservation of soil and water, and he wants it to be planned by people who know and love the land, not by Washington welfare workers.

He wants a sensible and practical crop insurance program. He favors giving farmers and ranchers the same protection in international markets as is now given to manufacturers.

He wants more emphasis put on marketing and distribution, more study of outlets for our products.

He rejects in its entirety the theory of "something for nothing," and believes that the people of the Panhandle do, too.

He is opposed to increased taxes and higher government expenditures because they increase the cost of living to people of the Panhandle.

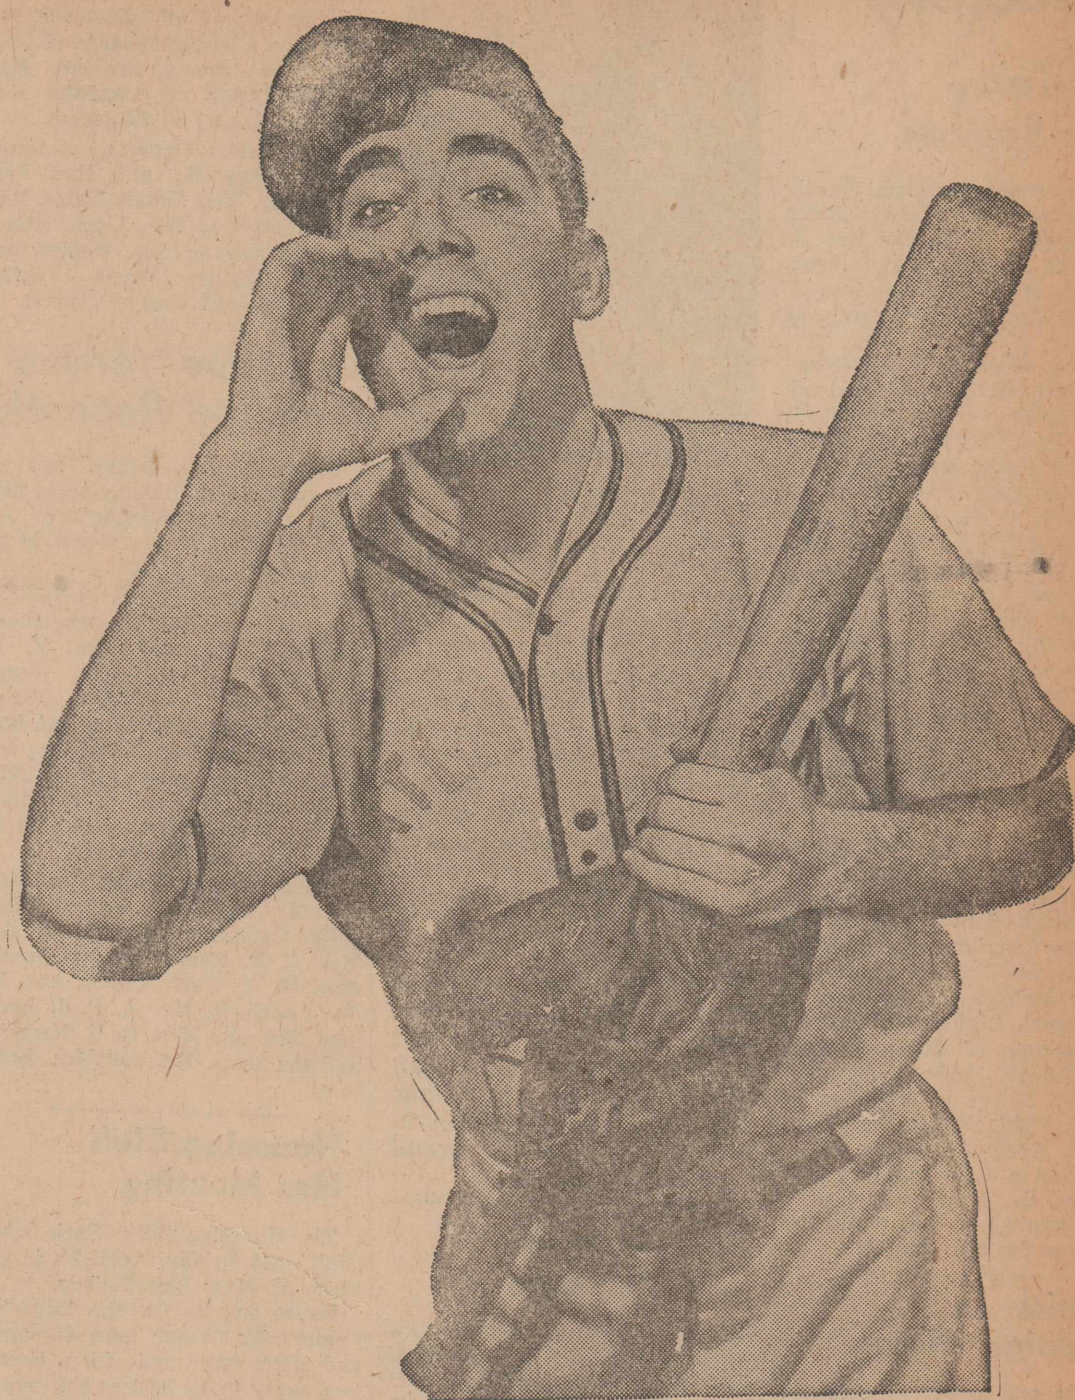

He is opposed to the Brannan Plan, and to the leftwing elements which have proposed it, because he feels that it is a deliberate attempt to fool both the farmer and consumer.

If you send Bill Guill to Congress you will have a Representative who says what he thinks and will do what he says.

All the birds in the competition were dressed in fashion made of cotton feed bags. Winning designer is Mrs. Micheline Riffle, Shenandoah, Iowa, a French war bride who has been in this country four years.
