GOP DISTRICT MEETING TRANSFERRED TO CORPUS CHRISTI

Bill R. Deaver, Aransas County Republican Chairman announced today that the 14th Congressional District caucus and rally originally planned to be held in Rockport is now tentatively to be held in Corpus Christi Aug. 16, 1964. The change in sites was necessitated by lack of facilities in Rockport to accommodate the anticipated number of representatives from the 19 counties comprising the 14th district.

Original plans were to hold a buffet lunch, social hour and introduce various Republican candidates. These were to include George Bush, U. S. Senatorial candidate; Jack Crichton, Texas gubernatorial candidate; Bill Patton, Congressional candidate from the 14th district; Bill Hayes, candidate for U. S. Congressman-at-large, and Roy Hinton, candidate for Aransas County sheriff.

When final arrangements are completed, announcement of time and place will be made, Mr. Deaver said.

New Librarian Approved By Library Board

At the regular meeting of the Board of Aransas County Public Library, employment of Mrs. Clara Brymer as librarian, to replace Mrs. Val Jean Eaton on Aug. 16, was approved. Mrs. Eaton resigned some time ago, effective Aug. 15.

In other business, Board members and auxiliary members approved two book lists, one for adults, the other for juveniles, the books to be purchased when and if funds became available.

Mrs. S. F. Jackson informed Board members that they were invited by the Taft Library to be present at the autograph party to be held for Dr. Ray Stephens, whose book, the Taft Ranch, has recently been published by the University of Texas Press.

The book deals with the early history of this entire area, and one of the Fulton descendants, Mrs. Gladys Gibson, was present at the meeting as a member of the Library Board.

Another descendant of the pioneer cattlemen who formed the original company is Mrs. M. W. Cochran of Rockport, while still others are descendants of the Mathis family and have recently completed extensive work on the old Mathis home next to the post office, which they occupy as a summer residence.

Members of the Board were informed that the July circulation of 2404 books was an all-time high for the library, the highest previous figure being the 2,000-circulated in July 1963.

Government Bond Sales Lag Here

Sales of government savings bonds in Aransas County are lagging over those of past years. Fred Bracht, local chairman, reports that only $3,664 were sold in June, bringing the cumulative total for the first six months of the year to only $23,409, or 39 per cent of the year's quota of $60,000.

Normally, Bracht said, the quota for the county has been met or exceeded in the first six months of the year.

Elsewhere in the other nine counties that join Aransas in making up District 7, the percentage of sales is about on a par with this county.

Library Circulation Continues to Climb

According to Librarian Val Jean Eaton, circulation at the Aransas County Public Library continues to zoom, with 2404 volumes checked out during July.

Mrs. Eaton says that 366 of these were adult fiction; 213 were adult non-fiction; 1639 were juvenile fiction; 186 were juvenile non-fiction.

During the month, the librarian said, there were 193 books added to the shelves, practically all of them through donations.

All sorts of books are still needed, Mrs. Eaton said, from paper backs to technical volumes, and these must be acquired either by gift or from money donated to the library, she said.

SOCIAL SECURITY REPRESENTATIVE TO VISIT ROCKPORT

Commissioners Approve Subdivisions

At their regular meeting, the Commissioners Court transacted routine business.

A plat of Oak Terrace, being a 145.16-acre subdivision of a portion of what was formerly known as the W. L. Pridgen tract, west of Bellevue Addition, was approved.

A plat of lots, 46 through 107, Copano Cove Subdivision No. 10 and one of Neptune Harbor Subdivision in Lamar were also approved.

Mrs. Kay Bergel, president of Rockport Steel Form Mfg. Co., was granted permission to construct an additional concrete apron across the county right-of-way on Chaparral St., in front of lot 8, block 33, Fulton Townsite.

Commissioner W. B. Allen moved that lateral road money, in the amount of $6,592.77, representing the county's share of surplus funds for this purpose, be requested from the state. This money goes to the county road and bridge fund to be used for building lateral roads.

Commissioners then set the date of the public hearing on the 1965 county budget for August 31, at 9:30 a.m.

There being no other business, the court then adjourned.

ROTARIANS HEAR TALK ON DETERMINATION

Rotarians heard Ben B. Smith of Houston, discuss "Determination" at their regular luncheon.

Smith said the true American is as eager to preserve the public interest as he is to secure his private gain. The strong will to determine a good course of action in our lives, coupled with a vivid imagination and a strong sense of direction is the key to real happiness.

Our faith in the God of our country remains unchanged, he stated, as we consider the America of our posterity and the America of our forefathers. One should never deprecate one's self, or lose faith in the wisdom of all Americans.

Visitors were Dave Tandy, of Fort Worth; Tom D. Moore, C. D. Barre, Rockport; Dr. J. W. Crutcher, Mineral Wells; H. E. Menger, San Antonio; S. E. Kelly, Bay City.

R. D. Hatch, Aransas Pass; Emmett Duenkel and F. Ward Steinbach, Corpus Christi; J. C. Weaver, Sinton; and Duncan McLeod, Albuquerque, N.M.

ROCKPORT MERCHANTS BLAST PORTLAND CARDS

The Rockport Merchants baseball team unleashed a 16 hit attack Sunday at Merchant Field, and beat the Portland Cardinals 13-3.

John Chupe was the winning pitcher, bringing the team record for the year to nine wins and five lost.

Manuel Flores, Johnny Garcia, and John Chupe were leading hitters, getting three hits a piece.

This Sunday the Merchants will play the Sinton Tigers here at Merchant Field at 3:30 p.m.

Bobby Edwards, who played center field, and made some very good plays, will be starting pitcher.

Fulton Interested In Water System

An overwhelming majority of Fulton residents have indicated their interest in the water distribution system now being tentatively planned by the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, but many more are yet to be heard from.

Cards mailed last Saturday with a questionnaire read: "I (would/would not) be interested in becoming a customer of the District's proposed water system to serve the Fulton area," and nearly a hundred have already been returned. Out of these, only five indicated they had no interest in such a system.

Conservation and Reclamation District Secretary Jack Baughman said that the questionnaires were mailed to determine how many people in that area might be counted as potential customers in case it was possible to install such a system.

"Unfortunately," Baughman said, "when the first bill was introduced, calling for establishment of the district the power to sell tax supported bonds was deleted through the political finagling of some selfish citizens of the county, and we are faced with the need for water and no way to finance the necessary pipe lines."

"It will be necessary to ask for a change in the enabling act at the next legislature, this survey will be a part of the evidence that will be presented in asking for taxing power. It is absolutely impossible to construct the needed facilities from the proceeds of revenue bonds. The District's financial advisors have told us this many times."

The District secretary urged everyone that received one of the questionnaires to be sure and return the card.

"There is no obligation attached," he said. "This is merely a means of accumulating the necessary data that we need for legislative hearings, and the more cards that are returned, the better our engineers and financial advisors will be able to make the final report on which so much depends."

In addition to the data developed by the questionnaire, Baughman said, the district's engineers are accumulating necessary findings on cost and feasibility of such a system.

LOCAL AUTHOR SIGNS CONTRACTS

Winifred Evans Lowther of Rockport has made a grand entrance into the literary world with her announcement of the signing of two contracts with The Naylor Company of San Antonio; one for the publication of a collection of poems entitled "Winds and Tides," and the second for the publication of her book, "The Sea Was His Mistress."

A "young at heart" senior citizen, Mrs. Lowther holds a life membership in the Book-lovers' Club of Alice, Texas and her own words, "is an avid reader with diversified interests." She enjoys creative writing, crossword puzzles and bridge, and has always been fascinated by anything pertaining to the sea.

Mrs. Lowther has three children.

CLIFF MAUS TEAM TO PLAY HERE

The Cliff Maus Little League All Stars from Corpus Christi will journey to Rockport Friday night for a minor league game, beginning at 6:00, and a little league game following at 8:00 p.m.

Aransas County will take a Little League All Star team to Corpus Christi Saturday afternoon for a return engagement beginning on the Cliff Maus field at the old Airport site at around 4 to 5 p.m. as the field is not lighted.

Aransas County has exchanged games with this league in past years and is well out in the lead in game performance.

This year the local team is exceptionally strong and is expected to continue to show up well in inter-city competition.

Navigation Board Hears Report on Work

At the regular meeting of the Aransas County Navigation Board Wednesday night, Phil Pacheco, resident engineer for Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam, reported that the Goldston contract for work at Fulton has been completed; that the second phase of construction on Little Bay was 92 per cent complete, and that the contractor on this work was a month ahead of schedule.

The Little Bay contract, held by Laguna Construction Co., should be finished by the last of this month, Pacheco said, if nothing goes wrong, and slope protection at Cove Harbor is almost complete.

In other business, the commissioners discussed the possible lighting of the channel into Little Bay, voted to remove the old pier at Fulton, now that the new swimming pier is complete, and to repair the railroad crossing on the road leading into Cove Harbor.

They also approved installation of a mooring pile by Travis Bailey, as storm protection for his boats.

Highways 35 and Loop 81 In Aransas Pass To Be Widened

The Texas Highway Commission today approved a proposal to widen sections of State Highway 35 and Loop 81 within the city limits of Aransas Pass in Aransas and San Patricio Counties.

The projects involve a half-mile stretch of S.H. 35 from Loop 81 to Commercial Street and a half-mile section of Loop 81 from S.H. 35 to Commercial Street.

Action by the Commission was taken subject to acceptance by the City of Aransas Pass of customary maintenance and construction responsibilities required of local governments by the Texas Highway Department.

Membership Drive Is Launched By Country Club

A two-months membership drive is being launched today by the Live Oak Country Club, according to Virgil Doggett, publicity chairman.

Doggett made the announcement early today following a meeting last night of the directors of the country club.

He said area residents may join the club as associate members. A limit of 50 members will be accepted from now until Oct. 5.

Associate membership fee, Doggett said, is $60, plus a $10 entertainment assessment. Monthly dues are $12.

Doggett said that prospective members are invited to inspect the club's golf course which is in top condition because of the new watering system, which went into operation last April.

The directors also voted to accept Port Aransas associate members on a permanent basis.

METHODIST MEN HEAR DR. PATILLO

The regular monthly breakfast meeting of the Methodist Men's Club was held Monday morning in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. Dr. G. M. Patillo presented remarks on medicine from the time of Babylon to the present. He also discussed the future of the medical profession and present legislation in congress affecting medicine.

The club voted to purchase a record player for the Church School as its project for this month. The September meeting was changed to the second Monday of the month because of Labor Day.

The Club's president is Joe Randow.

Jack Sanders has been undergoing inner ear surgery in Houston.

C of C Directors Hold Regular Meeting Tuesday

Membership Chairman Willis N. Meigs reported to directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night that three new members had been secured during the month. These were Security, Inc., a real estate firm; Weather Sentry, a factory branch manufacturing and distributing air conditioners from 1 to 100 tons, as well as other heating and air conditioning equipment; and the Basin Drive Inn.

In other business directors heard Mrs. Nancy Murphy, who operates a "Welcome to Our Town" service in Corpus Christi and Portland, as she outlined her plan for welcoming new comers to the community. After some discussion, the directors voted to sanction her plan, making it clear, however, that this was not a Chamber of Commerce project, but merely one to which approval was given.

Acquisition of additional land by the Federal government for Aransas Wildlife Refuge was discussed, and directors approved the stand taken on the matter by County Judge John D. Wendell when he protested such acquisition without reparation.

It was the consensus of those present that removal of such a large portion of the county's taxable property from the rolls would work a hardship on the county and school district, and that Federal payments should be made to the county and school district in direct annual recompense for such loss.

One new director, Daugherty H. Roberts, was introduced. Roberts was appointed to the Board recently to fill out the unexpired term of O. S. Brumley, who resigned to return to San Antonio.

The people that began registration of first graders last spring should complete the above requirements so that pupils may be assigned rooms before Sept. 1.

Third Art School Session To Start

The third summer session of the Rockport School of Fine Arts will start Aug. 10, according to Director Simon G. Michael.

This session will be devoted to landscape, free composition and marine painting, Michael said, with subjects such as sand dunes, shrimp boats and all the varied life of the Texas coast.

Session will last until Aug. 21, inclusive, Michael said.

ALL STAR TEAMS ARE VICTORIOUS

Aransas County baseball teams journeyed to Bloomington last Friday where the Little League All Stars and the Minor League All Stars both won victories.

Bloomington All Stars came to Rockport Saturday night and Aransas County again won decisive victories in both games.

City Council Minutes Hold Ancient Mystery

Old minutes of the city council pose a minor mystery that at this late date—three quarters of a century after the events took place—there appears little chance of solving. But on August 8, 1888, when John A. Clarke was mayor and G. E. Waterwall was secretary of Rockport, the following entry appears:

"On motion it was decided to appoint a committee to wait on the friends of the bodies buried on lot 4. The above was requested by several citizens of Rockport: to have said bodies removed. P. P. Court and John Kleaser were appointed as a committee."

Appended to the motion was a copy of the petition addressed to the mayor and aldermen of the City of Rockport. It said:

"We, the undersigned citizens of Rockport, would respectfully ask that honorable body to take steps to have the bodies on Lot 4, Block 26, taken up and reburied in the city cemetery for the following causes:

"1st, that the graves are on private property, and cannot be controlled (sic) by the city nor friends of the dead; "2nd, because we believe the dead buried there is detrimental to the prosperity of the city."

3rd, because the city owns a burying ground and has it under fence and can control the same."

Waterwall noted underneath this that "twenty citizens signed the foregoing." Subsequently, the minutes say nothing more about the matter, and it is entirely possible that the four graves were never moved. Apparently no one knows.

The mayor of that date was the grandfather of Miss Katie Lee Clarke, retired school teacher of Rockport; John Kleaser was the father of the present John Kleaser and Miss Veronica Kleaser, who still live here. Maybe some of them hold the key to the problem.

Who were the four buried on Lot 4, Block 26? Were they early and reputable citizens of the City of Rockport? Or were they nameless men who fell in some forgotten brawl a long time ago?

Water Board Hears Report From Engineer

Aransas County moved one step nearer to a permanent water supply this week, as Homer C. Innis, Corpus Christi consulting engineer reported to the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation Board members concerning the survey now underway to determine feasibility and costs.

Innis, vice president of the engineering firm of Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam, and head of their Corpus Christi office, was accompanied by the firm's water expert, Constance Marks, of the Houston office who has been conducting the survey.

"We have completed the field investigations of permanent and seasonal populations," Innis said, "and from this have estimated the present and future water requirements of the county. We have also determined capacities and costs for several alternate projects."

"With the help of our studies to date, together with discussions with members of this Board and your financial advisors, we have reached four basic decisions in which you have concurred. They are:

1. To gain local acceptance, the plan finally adopted must provide a supply of surface water at the earliest possible date.

2. The only source which holds promise of an adequate surface water supply for the immediate future, without costing too much in the first place, is the San Patricio Municipal Water District (which has indicated its willingness to sell water to Aransas County.)

3. The most urgent and immediate need for water appears to be in Fulton and its environs.

4. The only feasible means of supplying Fulton and the surrounding area is to include a distribution system as part of the physical project."

Innis then displayed a map on which such a distribution system was tentatively outlined, showing the main line following the Highway 35 right-of-way with feeder lines extending from this toward the bayshore.

Cards inquiring from Fulton residents whether they would be interested in such a water supply were mailed last week, Board Secretary Jack Baughman said, and out of those already returned, only two people had indicated that they had no interest in the matter. All the others received so far had indicated that the senders had given the matter much consideration.

Innis said three principal tasks now remained to be accomplished before the survey could be completed. One of these is completion of the Fulton questionnaire and evaluation of the results as soon as the cards are returned.

Second, it will be necessary to negotiate with San Patricio Municipal Water District for purchase of the necessary water, and to determine the attitude of the City of Corpus Christi toward the plan, both from an immediate and from a long-range standpoint.

Third, it will be needful to determine the capacity, scope, and cost of the project. Cost estimates must be including capital and annual costs, and an estimate must be made of the probable retail costs of water to the users.

Innis urged that every effort be made to obtain as many of the cards accompanying the letters recently sent Fulton residents as was possible. Only by a good return, he said, would it be possible to evaluate the number of connections, and the amount of water that would be needed.

Even so, he said, results of the questionnaire may not fully indicate these things, and further work may be required.

The cost of the water, he said, would depend on the outcome of negotiations with the San Patricio Municipal

Hissong Goes Elephant Hunting

Joe Hissong has returned from his latest elephant hunt in the Nueces River bottoms lugging a portion of a tusk from one of the mightiest animals that Texas has ever known—the gigantic mammoth that inhabited the state about the end of the last Ice Age.

The part of the tusk Joe has measured 24 inches long and 24 inches around, but he says
"I could have cried when I saw what had happened. The dragline operator that uncovered it in a gravel pit thought it was part of a tree and dropped his bucket on it to loosen it. He broke it all to pieces and that tusk as nearly as we can tell, was 12 feet long!"

Joe goes elephant hunting practically every Sunday, and judging by some of the trophies he brings back, there was a time when these pound-erous pachyderms were almost as plentiful in Texas as Brahmans are today.

His hunting grounds are the stream beds and gravel pits of South Texas and it's a rare weekend that he doesn't lug home a bunch of mammoth and mastodon teeth.

"They're easy to tell apart," Joe says. "The mammoth teeth have parallel rows of enamel plates jutting forth from a mass of softer, more lime-like material, and they're big enough to fill both hands."

Mastodon teeth, Joe says, while they're just as large,
look like a bunch of enameled cones tied together with the within 90 days after date of its issuance it shall be returned unserved.

Mike Rouquette returned

These old stream beds have since become our commercial sand and gravel pits," Hissong said, "and practically every day traces of prehistoric animals are uncovered and destroyed. You can find fragments of them around the sand and gravel separators, but a better way is to spot the specimens and remove them before the dragline operator drops his bucket on them. A lot of times they are broken when the bucket hits them.

"Teeth, particularly the enamel, will stand a good deal of rough handling, but tusks generally start to disinter-grate as soon as the air hits
them."

To preserve tusks, Joe saturates them with a 1-to-10
solution of shellac in alcohol, and after this has been soaked up, applies a heavier coat.
Sometimes he wraps the tusk in burlap bagging or excelsior soaked in plaster of paris to keep it from breaking up of its own weight.

Mrs. R. L. Gum was high score winner and Mrs. A. L. Bachman second.

Members attending were Mrs. A. L. Bachman, Mrs. Winona McFall, Mrs. A. G. Collin, Mrs. C. O. Luty, Mrs. M. D. Oliver and Mrs. R. F. McKnight.

Mrs. R. L. Gum was a special guest.

The Presbyterian Kindergarten will open Tuesday morning, Sept. 1. For information call Mrs. Hugh Morrison, church secretary at SO-4-6251 or Mrs. Somer Smith, teacher at SO 4-6025.

Dr. Antha Hamilton, of Vevey, Ind., arrived last Thursday for a week's visit with her sister, Miss Lorna Hamilton, of Modern Abstract Co.

COURT-HUFFMEYER VOWS SAID

Miss Kay Huffmeyer and Milton Lee Court, Jr., were married in an afternoon ceremony Friday in St. Peter's Episcopal Church here. Mr. Harry Carter and Rev. James P. Giddings of Church of Our Savior, Aransas Pass, officiated.

Gladioli, chrysanthemums, carnations and stock decorated the altar.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Huffmeyer are parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Court.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon over taffeta with a rounded neckline. Her crown of seed pearls and sequins caught a veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Mary Lou Johnson was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss D'Ann Huffmeyer, sister of the bride.

They wore dresses of pale peach peau taffeta trimmed with self bows. Their headpieces were flat bows of matching taffeta. They carried colonial bouquets of white carnations.

Charles Atchley was best man. Groomsman was William Johnson III.

Andrew Huffmeyer, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Bride's table was covered with skirted pale peach taffeta

TOO MUCH SUN CAN BE HARMFUL

Austin.—Without the sun we all would die. But use of sun, like anything, can be carried to extremes.

The sun is necessary for growth processes of all—man, animal and vegetable. Sunshine is a source of vitamin D, as most people know. But what apparently is misunderstood is that ordinarily healthy people can get all the D vitamin they need through routine activities such as hanging out the family wash, mowing the lawn or walking to the store.

As some of our senior citizens will tell you, the skin hue of choice 50 years or so ago was a fragile, pale white. One elderly Texas resident tells how she never went to the barn or field without protection of a sunbonnet. And she tells of spending hours trying to bleach her skin with lemon juice and buttermilk.

Today, the skin hue of choice by many is a golden brown. And many a person sweats out a frequent sun bath to attain a coat of bronze.

Overdoing a good thing—trying to acquire a suntan in a day's time—is where the problem begins.

The sun, as a heat source, can give the body first, second and even third degree burns. The medical term for sunburn is "erythema solaris." It's the ultraviolet light in sun rays which does the damage. Since clouds don't remove all ultraviolet rays, it is possible to get burned even on overcast days in mid-summer.

There are other dangers, with lace tablecloth—bride's cake and punch were served. Groom's table held the silver coffee service and chocolate cake.

Both are graduates of Aransas County High School and will attend Del Mar College in the fall.

After a wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Portland.

too. Ultraviolet is associated in many minds with cancer. The rays stimulate cells to divide, and sometimes the cells 'forget' to stop, thus becoming cancerous. It's likely, they say, that this could happen from any ultraviolet source—either the sun or sun lamps. Of course, only a person subjected constantly to large amounts of ultraviolet is in danger. For example, farmers who work under sunlight are frequent victims of skin cancer.

Ultraviolet may also harm the eyes—even when they are closed. The skin of the eyelids is the thinnest on the whole body, and the light can go right through causing sunburn of the eyes. Ordinary, sunglasses offer some protection, but a thicker material—like cotton—offers more protection.

Bask in the sun, if you like, but do it with discretion.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Jones, Oscar Lee, Mrs. Charlotte Wilkinson and Mrs. Elbert Mundine were in Ft. Worth and Dallas over the weekend. They visited Six Flags Over Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Burnett and son, of Midland, and Mrs. Birdie Cole of Fulton, visited Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cole and children in Pharr last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Domasch and children took her grandmother, Mrs. Otto Hobbs to her home in Austin and spent the weekend there.

Spillways Closed On Wesley Seale Dam

Closure of 27 mammoth gates on Wesley Seale Dam during the first ten days of July will eventually raise the level of Lake Corpus Christi from its present 88 feet to 94 feet, and increase its capacity by 60 per cent—from 186,000 to 303,000 acre feet, or from 61 billion to 98 billion gallons of water.

Of this 165,000 acre feet or 54 billion gallons will be available for use.

At its new potential level, the lake will be approximately triple the size of the first lake at the site, impounded by Lovenskiold Dam, built in the 1920's.

The two spillways of the present dam, completed in 1958, were built with concrete to the 88-foot level, and the 33 steel gates on the north spillway were closed at the time of construction, making that portion of the dam 94 feet from the start. The 27 gates on the south spillway were allowed to remain open until oil production is in the reservoir area was depleted.

These gates are 38 feet long, 16 feet wide, and each one weighs six tons each. Slightly curved, the convex side is towards the lake when they are raised; set between buttresses along the spillway, the ends, when closed, fit tightly against rubber seals.

Several feet above the gates are giant pulleys, one at each end of each gate, over which cables attached to the gate run to counterbalances of concrete beams. These counterbalances, one at each gate, weigh 46,000 pounds each and top of each are 20 concrete blocks weighing 145 pounds each. These are used to adjust the weight of the counterbalances so that in time of flood the amount of water going over the spillway can be regulated. Reducing the weight of the counterbalances allows water pressure to force the gates open; the lighter the counterbalance, the wider the water can force the gates. With these gates automatically controlling the overflow on the spillway, the main body of the lake will raise only six to eight inches above normal in the big floods that occur only once in every ten years or so.

In contrast, in 1942 the old lake rose five feet and another five feet of water was discharged over the dam. During an average flood the old lake rose around two feet, but the same volume of water will produce only about three or four inches to go over the spillway in the present lake.

One advantage of such close control is that homes and recreational facilities can be built much closer to the edge of the lake without being flooded than they can on other reservoirs with a wide range of fluctuations.

Some primitive tribes of Malaya still dwell in tree houses.
