PEACE CORPS IN TANGANYIKA

Bwana Better Ban The Bongo

NEW YORK (AP)—If you want to throw a pome party, bwana, don't bring your bongo drum. Pome is a local beverage of Tanganyika, Africa, made of banana and millet seed. Bwana is a common African form of address. Contrary to popular opinion, it does not mean "lord and master" but is closer in meaning to "buddy." The natives of Tanganyika do not know how to play bongo drums. These are among the peripheral facts that will be discussed tonight on "The Peace Corps in Tanganyika," a special color program on the NBC-TV network. More basic and pertinent facts to be brought out on the program are what the peace corps is all about, why people join it and what they go through for the cause of peace and world understanding. The filmed program is in the form of a progress report. It shows the corpsmen's specialized training at El Paso and Llano, Tex., and the physical conditioning program near Arevalo, Puerto Rico, which preceded the final preparations at a camp at Tengeru, Tanganyika, at the foot of Mount Kilimanjaro. The program follows geologist

Matthew Wright of Kane, Pa., civil engineer George Johnson of Titusville, Pa., and surveyors Dennis Galvin of Boston and Thomas Katus of Rapid City, S.D., through the final phase of their training in the African bush. It examines the part they will play in the development of Tanganyika, a United Nations trust territory in British East Africa which gained independence Dec. 9. Among the other volunteers who appear in the filmed report are Leonard Bloom of New York City and Alexander Quattlebaum Jr. of Florence, S.C. Texan William Meyer is the corps director. NBC News' Ray Scherer serves as on-the-spot reporter. In all, the program follows a group of more than 30 young Corpsmen — some of whom left high-paying jobs to join the Corps — as they through their training and final preparations. These include the study of Swahili and orientation to the culture, climate and geography of Tanganyika. The government of Tanganyika requested Peace Corpsmen with the particular skills represented in this group of volunteers. Although a fertile land, the country has a subsistence economy because it lacks roads to get its agricultural products to market. The Peace Corps surveyors will make surveys for such feeder roads, the engineers will build roads and bridges and the geologists will gather data for topographical maps in hopes of finding valuable minerals. On the show, the Rev. William Sloan, Yale University chaplain who set up the Puerto Rican training camp, expresses the belief that "the human quality is going to be the most important, transcending even the technical abilities of its members. The importance of this relationship between volunteers and natives is shown in scenes of activity in Tanganyika. A native handshake is demonstrated. A Roman Catholic mass attended by both natives and volunteers is shown. And there is a party at an after-school social club at which Peace Corpsmen and Africans join in music, bongo drumming and pome. The bongo drum? Surveyor John McPherson of Portland, Ore., showed the African natives how to play it.

Hopes Are High For JFK Action In Congo Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes ran high in Washington today for a peaceful solution of the Congo dispute.

The hopes depended on acceptance by Katanga President Moise Tshombe of an offer which the White House press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said President Kennedy's letter may be made public today. U.S. authorities regarded as a potential major breakthrough in the Congo muddle a cable which Tshombe sent Kennedy Thursday. Informants said Tshombe indicated a willingness to negotiate with Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula and—as reported by the Brussels radio—asked Kennedy to "appoint a worthy negotiator and stop immediately this useless bloodshed."

AIDE NAMED
Kennedy personally moved into the ensuing diplomatic maneuvering. While Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, cleared moves with acting U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant in New York, Kennedy notified Adoula and named the U.S. Ambassador to the Congo, Edmund Gullion, as his personal representative in the Congo situation. Kennedy's proposal to Tshombe was said to be sufficiently precise about getting negotiations with Adoula under way so that Tshombe could not pull out of the negotiations while taking advantage of a U.N. cease-fire. U.S. sources figured Adoula would be agreeable to meeting Tshombe if Tshombe accepts. These sources said a cease-fire by the U.N. troops in Katanga would be virtually automatic once Tshombe went into negotiations with Adoula. They said the U.N. military position is now relatively secure and negotiations by Congo leaders on forming a Congo-wide government had been a primary U.N. objective.

State Retains 9-Day Pattern For January

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Railroad Commission today retained a 9-day oil allowable for January. The commission order set the total allowable for January at 2,654,898 barrels a day, unchanged from December.

Half of the present major crude purchasers at the monthly oil production hearing asked the commission to retain the nine-day pattern. Three purchasers asked that it be raised to a 10-day scale, and three more requested eight days. Included in the purchasers asking that the pattern be hiked was Humble Oil Co., the largest purchaser of Texas crude. Humble said on a 10-day pattern it would continue to purchase the 30,000 barrels daily it has been buying for several months. In December, Humble bought 48,500 barrels daily in excess of its usual 30,000. The company indicated it probably would continue to buy the 48,500 additional barrels daily in January. Atlantic Refining Co. which made a pre-meeting nomination for nine days revised its request to 10 days. The company said it would be about 11,000 barrels a day short on a nine day pattern. Atlantic now is buying 25,000 barrels a day and would have to increase these purchases by 17,000 barrels on a nine-day pattern in January. John Crutchfield, representing Corpus Christi area independent producers, asked the commission for a nine-day pattern. The nominations were: Eight days, Indiana 225,000 barrels daily, Cities Service 83,100, Phillips 119,857; nine days, Shell 172,000, Gulf 220,100, Sinclair 120,700, Mobil 232,200, Standard 36,300, 434.85, Sun Oil 114,751, and Atlantic Refining 90,635.

Named
T. Lamar Caudle of Wadesboro, N.C., one-time Department of Justice official who served a prison term in a tax evasion case, was named as one of the promoters of a film charged with violation of the New York State securities law. The promoters of a movie about the life of St. Patrick have been directed to appear in Supreme Court with their books and records.

Trip To Dramatize Progress Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and his wife took off today on the first leg of a flying weekend visit to Venezuela and Colombia to point up U.S. pledges of aid for Latin-American development. As they boarded their plane, the President and First Lady were smiling and apparently unconcerned about protest demonstrations in Venezuela — some of them violent — against their visit.

The presidential jet lifted at 12:14 p.m. (EST) from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., bound for San Juan, Puerto Rico, and an overnight stop.

Subpoenas Out For Bankers In Escheat Issue

AUSTIN (AP) — Subpoenas were issued today to presidents of 27 national banks ordering them to appear before a House investigating committee at 9 a.m. Dec. 21.

Rep. Franklin Spears said that this was a final attempt to secure the cooperation of the banks in the study of how dormant accounts of unknown depositors are being handled. Presidents subpoenaed include those of First Security National and American National, Beaumont; Merchants National, Port Arthur; First National, Conroe; First Hutchings-Sealy National, Comdory National and U.S. National, Galveston; First National and Cleburne National, Cleburne; First National and Citizens National, Waco; First National, Temple; American National and First National, Amarillo; First National and Lubbock National, Lubbock; and Citizens National and First National, Abilene.

STATION SEIZED
Gun-waving leftists seized a radio transmitter Thursday near Caracas and broadcast attacks against Kennedy. Echoing the cries of Communist Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba, they declared Kennedy was plotting another Cuban invasion with Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt. Earlier, 50 persons were arrested on charges of painting "Kennedy No" on walls in Caracas. Riot police had to break up demonstrations last week, and stones were tossed at a group of U.S. senators visiting Caracas. The White House has taken scant public notice of the Communist-inspired protests. Pierre Salinger, press secretary, said in advance of the President's take-off that absolutely no thought had been given to canceling the trip. He said the Caracas demonstrations had caused no uneasiness at the White House.

COVERED ROUTE
U.S. authorities have covered the route the Kennedys will follow throughout the weekend. Venezuelan officials have reinforced the Caracas military garrison and promised to summon additional troops if deemed necessary to guarantee the Kennedys' safety. The lack of apparent concern over a repetition of the violence that greeted the Nixon stems from greater confidence in the Betancourt government and the fact that the 1958 disorders have served as a lesson in preparing for the Kennedy visit.

Impeachment Demands Flayed
HOUSTON (AP) — Vice President Lyndon Johnson said today it is wrong to demand that all judges who render unpopular verdicts be impeached. "This train of thought merely paves the way for the Communist dictatorship we seek to avoid," Johnson said. Johnson said the world today is divided between a society of decency and a society of coercion. "We are committed to the society of decency," he said. "This means we hold as our basic premise all men stand equal before the law—regardless of our feelings or our personal prejudices."

Work On Wording Of NATO Report

Others Aid Cheer Fund
Big gifts, smaller gifts—they all come into the Cheer Fund and all are warmly welcomed, because they mean that city firemen, Salvation Armyfolk and other welfare workers can be assured that no needy youngster in Big Spring will be overlooked at Christmas. The Cheer Fund is used by firemen to purchase toy parts and to provide fruits for the children in destitute homes. If there's a reserve, it's always available to buy food and medicine in cases of extreme emergency. If you want to help, please send your gift promptly. Distribution will be made in less than a week. Make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND and send to The Herald. Thanks to these good helpers:

Eichmann Sentenced To Hang For Murder Of 6 Million Jews

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann, Nazi Germany's expediter of Jews to the gas chambers, was sentenced today to hang in Israel for "a crime of unparalleled enormity."

Moshe Landau, president of the special three-man Israeli court which tried and convicted the former Gestapo colonel, intoned: "This court sentences Adolf Eichmann to death for crimes against the Jewish people, crimes against humanity and war crimes."

Eichmann, now 55 and balding, stood stiffly erect for 15 minutes while the tribunal first gave its reasons and then condemned him to the gallows. Six hundred persons packing the courtroom were deathly silent throughout the brief session, then filed out with hardly a sound.

BLOCK OF ICE
Still the "block of ice" Jewish survivors of the Nazi pogrom called him, Eichmann never even quivered visibly. He quieted the facial nervous twitch evident during the trial, and his hands hung loose and unclenched by his side. Eichmann, who had scornfully refused to plead for mercy before the sentence was pronounced, was told he has 10 days to file notice of appeal with the court and an additional five days to draft his reasons.

Taxes Boosted
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Income tax boosts up to 30 per cent are reported under study as a result of a record budget, totalling nearly one billion dollars, sent Congress by the government Thursday.

Don't Be A 52-Timer
A 52-timer is a Herald reader who has trouble every week digging up change to pay his newsboy. On the other hand, a ONE-TIMER is a Herald reader who sends in his check to have the paper delivered to his door for all of 1962, and never worries about it again. Thing about it, he not only is happier about saving time and making his newsboy happier, he saves real money — more than 10 per cent, in fact. The ONE-TIMER has to send in his check this month, though. It comes to $18.45 (newsboy's share included), plus a sales tax of 37¢ to help take care of the state. That's a total of $18.82.

to Israeli President Izhak Ben-Zvi for clemency. FIRST TRIAL
Eichmann is the first Nazi to be tried in this state which holds itself as the protector of all Jews in the world. Israeli legal authorities say he may be the last one brought to judgment here. They reason the case has served to chronicle what happened to the Jews during Hitler's Third Reich, how the plot to exterminate the race came into being, and how 6 million Jews died. Judge Landau who presided over the three-man tribunal that tried Eichmann, again denounced him in his statement of sentence and termed his crimes "of unparalleled enormity."

Delivering the sentence in Hebrew while Eichmann listened through earphones to a translation in his native German, Judge Landau declared: "For the due punishment of the accused and to deter others in the future, the maximum penalty laid down by the law has to be imposed in this case. THE BIGGER CRIME
"The aim of the crimes against the Jewish people of which the accused has been convicted was to blot out an entire people from the face of the earth. Such total crimes are of an even graver nature than the sum total of the

Cuban Denies Uprising Reports
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Cuban Ambassador Jose Antonio Portuondo denied Thursday there had been large scale uprisings in Cuba the past few days, as Cuban exiles here reported. He said in event of uprisings and an invasion, those captured would be shot on the spot. "There would be prisoners in the next invasion," he told newsmen. "Each army will carry its own military court to judge the invader on the field of battle."

AUSTIN (AP) — State Auditor C. H. Cyness has recommended that the six widows of Confederate veterans now in a state home be moved to a nursing home at state expense.

7 Rescued
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Seven persons who had clung through the night to a flying boat, tossed by choppy seas, were rescued today by the tug Maggie after a quick run out of Nassau.

DALLAS (AP) — An all-male jury resumed deliberation today in the $507,113 anti-trust trial involving the North Texas Producers Association.

criminal acts against individuals." But Landau continued that the court must also take into account the injury to individuals. Servatius had argued that Eichmann was a victim of an evil system and contended "The acts of which he is accused are crimes of a government, not of an individual. The accused could not have done anything. He could not stop this machine, the apparatus."

Even had they found that, said the court, "We would have said that one who had participated in crimes of such dimensions for years on end has to undergo the greatest punishment known to the law, and no order given to him could be a ground even for mitigating his punishment."

Mexican Barred From Cuban Aid
MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies Thursday turned down a request by a Mexican group for government permission to join a group planning to invade Cuba. Alfonso Arau said he asked the chamber's permission because otherwise he would lose his Mexican citizenship by fighting for a foreign power. Arau said he wanted to join a group called the Militiamen of Cuba.

Davis Is Found Guilty
A 118th District Court Jury, after 15 hours deliberation, found Lewis Davis, 50, former Oklahoma coal miner, guilty of murder with malice. The jury reported Thursday afternoon. The jury assessed his punishment at 25 years in the state penitentiary. The jury, composed of 10 men and two women, ruled that Davis was guilty of the murder of Roy V. Brown, 51, itinerant house painter. Brown died of massive brain injuries as climax to a fight in a hobo jungle between himself and Davis. The fight was on Oct. 23. The jury began deliberating the case at 11 p.m. Wednesday. It worked away until around 2 a.m. Thursday and resumed deliberations again Thursday forenoon. Nothing was heard from the jurors until 2 p.m. when they marched into the court room and Reuben Hill, foreman, handed Judge Ralph Caton its verdict. The jurors were Hill, foreman; Mrs. Billie Ray Phillips, R. G. Weaver, Carolyn Tollett, Oscar

No Truce Is Seen At U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Diplomats at the U.N. expressed belief today that no cease-fire is likely soon between the United Nations and secessionist Katanga despite the intervention by President Kennedy. They predicted Kennedy would back up Acting Secretary-General U. Thant's determination to continue the U.N. military action in Katanga until Tshombe showed a readiness to negotiate in good faith for a unified Congo. The White House was scheduled to release today Kennedy's reply to a plea from Tshombe to intervene to end the fighting. Tshombe said he was ready to negotiate with Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central Congo government and asked Kennedy to name a negotiator. It was understood the President had suggested a precise course for Tshombe to follow to get negotiations under way, to make sure that secession-minded Katanga would not be able to reverse his course should an agreement to talk bring a cease-fire.

DA Indicted On Morals Charge
BEAUMONT (AP)—A Jefferson County grand jury indicted acting Dist. Atty. W. G. Walley Jr. on a morals charge Thursday. He promptly denied the accusation. The indictment naming Walley and another indictment against a witness in a ouster proceedings against suspended Dist. Atty. Ramie Griffin were returned by grand jurors in the district court of Judge Owen Lord. Walley is accused in the indictment of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl 10 to 17 years old early in 1960. In denying the charge against him, Walley called attention to a libel suit he filed earlier this week. It names 11 of the 12 members of the panel which indicted him and charges them with making a false accusation against Walley.

Kennedy Arrives Saturday For A Look At Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Kennedy arrives Saturday in this nervous capital of shining skyscrapers, superhighways and super-slums to talk about an ambitious Alliance for Progress.

Venezuela's moderate coalition government, under President Romulo Betancourt, is a prime target for abuse and political attack from the combined forces of Castroism and communism. It is struggling with the vestiges of a recklessly wasteful military dictatorship whose spendthrift leader, Marcos Perez Jimenez, was toppled three years ago. It is trying to fight problems of disease, starvation, poverty and ignorance. It is beset by economic depression and a budget chronically out of balance. It is plagued by complicated and often violent politics.

President Kennedy apparently wants to see what his $20 billion Alliance for Progress program can do for a nation whose government is a bulwark against the determined attack from the extreme left.

Only a month ago, Betancourt's government broke diplomatic relations with Fidel Castro's Cuban regime. President Betancourt, the butt of violent Castro-Communist propaganda, accused the Cubans of the "most ignoble and insulting language" against Venezuela and of actions—such as interference in Venezuela's domestic affairs—which passed "all limits of tolerance in international relations."

"Despite attacks, Betancourt has kept his office 34 months. That is a record for any elected president in Venezuela.

The president has rightist enemies who hanker for the old days of the wasteful, get-rich-quick dictatorship, but their attempts at military coups have failed for lack of support in high places. They have been relatively quiet in recent weeks.

"There is steady, persistent harassment from the left. It comes from the Communists, and the Movement of the Revolutionary Left, which is a Marxist, pro-Castro offshoot of Betancourt's own Democratic Action party.

The left gets support from those who see vast disparity between rich and poor, who believe that the Yankees take the nation's wealth out of the country, who are told that Venezuela's vast oil wealth has been plundered by the "North American imperialists."

Venezuela is the second largest oil-producing nation in the world and the largest exporter of petroleum.

Much of its economic trouble can be blamed upon the excesses of the Perez Jimenez dictatorship which left a legacy of economic collapse.

The dictatorship spawned a wasteful, highly impractical boom in construction of enormous buildings. When the dictatorship fell, the boom was punctured.

Now economists profess to see indications of recovery. Bank loans are up. More money is in circulation than this time a year ago.

Venezuela expects to get $10 million from the Agency for International Development, an Alliance for Progress agency, to help finance a land reform program. It has asked the Inter-American Development Bank for $32 million and the development loan fund for $10 million to finance low-cost housing projects. It has asked the World Bank for $40 million for road building.

Coming Clean May Not Save One

WASHINGTON (AP)—Delinquent taxpayers who voluntarily come clean won't necessarily escape prosecution, Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin has announced.

But, he said, the Internal Revenue Service will carefully consider all the facts before deciding whether to recommend prosecution. And he indicated that those who voluntarily disclose violations will be in better shape than those who try to cover them up.

Caplin urged all delinquent taxpayers to settle up before the service's new automatic data processing system catches up with them.

Caplin's statement was prompted by reports that delinquent taxpayers who voluntarily report the fact will escape any prosecution.

Holiday Cantata Slated Sunday

WESTBROOK (SC)—The choir of the First Baptist Church will present its second Christmas Cantata Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the church. The Rev. Kenneth Andrews will direct the program and Mrs. Charles Ranne will accompany.

Rev. Andrews invited all interlopers to attend the cantata and explained it would last about one hour.

In other events, he said a church social is planned Wednesday, after a short devotional. The evening service Dec. 24 will be dismissed.

"MY CHURCH"

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher, Church of Christ, 2806 West Highway 80, P.O. Box 1283.

Continuing to quote and review the letter of protest: "In a recent advertisement you stated that your church was neither Catholic nor Protestant. I can agree with you, for the word 'Protestant' is usually applied to those churches associated with the Reformation, and the 'Church of Christ' did not come into being until nearly 400 years after the beginning of the Reformation."

I did not say, "my church." I have no church. I said, "There is a church to which all the saved are added by the Lord (Acts 2:47). It is neither Catholic nor Protestant. It is older than both. It is the

Russ Fisher Fleet Halts Radar Tests

BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)—The appearance of a vast Soviet fishing fleet off the New England Coast has disrupted vital testing of experimental radar equipment for the nation's air defense.

An Air Force official, who asked that his name be withheld, said Thursday that "many tests of experimental equipment have been shut down because of the Russian fleet."

Some 100 Soviet trawlers and several mother ships as large as freighters have been seen off the coast or months. Some have been observed within 20 miles of Cape Cod. Others were near enough to be visible from Nantucket Island, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The pioneer system for radar defense is the SAGE complex developed by Lincoln Laboratory of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Both sides in the cold war use devices known as ferrets in planes and ground installations to detect radar emissions and thereby discover the source, wave length and other features of the opposing radar system.

Air Force scientists have no doubt the Soviet fishing fleet is well equipped with such devices.

The final link in a series of 21 SAGE direction centers is scheduled to open today in Sioux City, Iowa.

The SAGE center at Lincoln Laboratory, the first one built, is exclusively for experimentation. The SAGE defense center for New England is at Newburgh, N.Y.

Capt. R. J. Wubker Named Senior Pilot

Capt. Robert J. Wubker, 3560th Pilot Training Group, was awarded the aeronautical rating of senior pilot on Dec. 4. He is a member of the Group Standardization Board.

A 1954 graduate of Aviation Cadet training, Capt. Wubker now has 2,500 hours' flying time. He served in Korea, 1951-52; and in Germany, 1955-56. He lives at 1700 Virginia, with his wife, Helga, and their children, Guy, 5 and Kimbre, 4.

Stiff Fight Awaits Daniel Escheat Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—A stiff fight awaits Gov. Price Daniel's escheat bill in the special legislative session, but it has a fighting chance, a sampling of lawmakers' opinions indicates.

Most legislators polled added that they think the governor should think twice before opening up the session to anything besides escheat. Daniel says he plans to include loan shark and farm-market road upkeep in the session.

Members of the House—which has tended this year to be more cooperative with Daniel with the Senate—seemed to believe more than senators that Daniel will succeed in getting the escheat bill passed.

Daniel, after years of trying, managed during the first called session last July to get an abandoned property reporting bill passed, but banks were left out. This time the governor wants them put in.

In commenting about an escheat bill's possibilities of passage, Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi, summed up the outlook by giving the legislation a "fighting chance only."

"This legislation has been considered before during the regular session and failed to pass and I doubt that it can be passed in a 30-day special session unless substantial agreement can be reached in advance," Sen. Robert Baker of Houston said.

Rep. John Allen of Longview said he thinks an escheat bill will be passed, "with some amendments."

Several indicated the Senate may be a burying ground for escheat legislation.

"I believe some form of reporting bill will pass the House. I am more dubious with regard to the Senate," said Rep. Reed Quilliam of Lubbock. "I predict it will die in the Senate," said Houston Rep. Charles Whitfield.

Most lawmakers asserted that broadening the call to include other issues would definitely affect the chances of passing a law making banks report abandoned property.

"It would kill it," Dallas Sen. George Parkhouse said. Several legislators said, however, an expanded call would give the governor and his legislative supporters trading material for escheat bill votes.

"Since the consideration of controversial legislation is brought about through compromise, it is my opinion that in order to pass it other legislation will definitely affect it," Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock said.

Angelo Y Delegates Have Good Briefing On Lobbies

AUSTIN (AP)—Young San Angelo delegates to the Texas Youth and Government meeting here are one up on fellow delegates. They've had a good advance briefing on lobbies.

The meeting, also known as the 15th annual Hi-Y Legislature, is aimed at teaching the youths how senators and representatives work, how bills are introduced and the functions of committees.

The recent San Angelo briefing session was patterned after cocktail parties given by lobbyists in Austin for legislators.

Attending were the young simulated legislators and about 75 adults representing politicians, businessmen and even a few registered lobbyists, all ready with the glad hand, the soft talk and the hard sell.

Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo, originator of the idea, told those present that "lobbies are considered the third house of the Texas Legislature. He said:

"They play an important role in our state government—and contrary to some opinions, the lobbyists don't have horns. They are usually representatives of business, agriculture, the oil industry, cities, or anyone who may be affected by legislation which is being considered by the legislature."

He added that "most lobbyists are just ordinary citizens who are interested in their towns, their businesses and their families."

The lobbyists at the meeting sought to sell the youths on legislation requiring a 14-day slowdown period between the issuance of a marriage license and the wedding, integration of all Texas schools, free driver education and other issues, simulated or real.

Lobbyists on hand included at least three of the real thing. Mark Cooper of San Angelo is a registered lobbyist for the General Telephone Co. of the Southwest, Bill Sayles for West Texas Utilities Co. and Norman Stuckey for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. There were no actual cocktails. Soft drinks were provided.

Pup Awaits Someone

SALMON, Idaho (AP)—About a month ago, a little black dog—owners and ancestry unknown—took up residence on a mid-street traffic island in the center of town.

He has spent most of his waking hours and all of his sleeping hours on that small, unsheltered island. Temperatures as low as 14 below zero haven't made him move.

Employees of a nearby grocery take him food. He retreats when they approach but always returns for the food.

He never barks at passing automobiles. Once in a while he looks up expectantly, as though hoping for loved ones to pick him up.

If the loved ones should return before Christmas, they'll find him under a lighted Christmas tree which has been erected on the island—sleeping by night, just watching by day.

Shivers Eases Up On Kennedy

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Former Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said Thursday that President Kennedy "is doing better than I thought he would."

Shivers, a Democrat, also said in an interview that the President "should tell the people not what the crisis is but what he's going to do about it." He added that he would like to see Kennedy take "an even stronger hand in foreign affairs."

Shivers opposed Kennedy in the 1960 presidential election. Now an oil company executive, he was Texas governor in 1949-57.

Addressing the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, Shivers said the President deserves bipartisan support in time of crisis but is not above criticism.

The former governor quoted Kennedy as saying at Los Angeles that the real danger to the United States comes from without, not within.

"If the President meant to say that," Shivers said, "it shows that he, too, needs some education on the 'dangers within.'"

Russia got atomic secrets by stealing American plans, he said, and the order to stop Gen. Douglas MacArthur's troops at the Yalu River during the Korean War came from within this country.

"The Cuban fiasco was home-grown," Shivers said. "So was the one in Laos. And so is the one that seems to be developing over South Viet Nam."

Hearing Slated On Beer Shipment Rates To Impact

AUSTIN (AP)—A hearing to fix rates for truck shipments of beer from El Paso to the newly incorporated town of Impact in Taylor County is scheduled Jan. 10.

Impact is next door to legally dry Abilene and has been a center of controversy and legal tests since its plans for incorporation were disclosed.

A rate of 34 cents per 100 pounds of beer on shipments of 42,000 pounds or less will be sought for the shipments. The proposed rates are comparable to those presently charged for beer shipments to San Angelo.

"We are informed that under a local option election at Impact, beer can be sold and a basis of rates is needed," the commission notice of the hearing said.

Validity of an election incorporating Impact as a separate community from Abilene, dry since 1902, is being tested in court. In another election Sept. 11 Impact voters approved off-premises consumption of liquor. On-premises consumption of beer was approved Oct. 2.

Six Airmen Get Cash Awards

Cash awards went to six Webb AFB airmen this week for their management-improvement ideas.

S. Sgt. Roy E. Drinnen, of the Organizational Maintenance Branch, received $25 for devising a new method of testing cable for overheating.

Airman I. C. Richard Hornych was paid $25 for his modification of oxygen carts, prolonging the life of the equipment.

T. Sgt. Charles D. Hoover, of the Periodic Section, collected $15 for suggesting a way to eliminate damage to elevator assembly on the T-33 aircraft.

A $5 award went to T. Sgt. Robert J. Bryson, of Ground Support. Bryson developed a hose bracket which keeps dirt out of hydraulic test stands.

Sharing $20 were S. Sgt. Buddy Rene and Airman I.C. William Assip of the Engineers—who jointly designed inexpensive, night signs for Webb village quarters.

Coin Club Elects New Officer Slate

The Big Spring Coin Club met Thursday night at the Elks Hall to elect new officers for the coming year.

Elected were Edward Valenti, Abilene, president; William Kenney, Big Spring, vice president; Mrs. R. L. Nall, Big Spring, secretary, and Mrs. M. L. Kirby, Big Spring, treasurer.

A coin auction was conducted by Valenti and Martin Arnold. Another auction was set for Jan. 10, 1962 in Andrews. Prices of coins were reported steady as a 1914-D Lincoln penny went for $21 and a roll of 1955-S pennies went for $13.

Sixty-five collectors present from the area gave outgoing president Dale Smith a two and one-half dollar Indian gold piece. Cities represented were Abilene, Sweetwater, Colorado City, Sand Springs, Midland, Odessa, Monahan, Odessa and Big Spring.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 11, 1962 at the Elks Hall.

DEAR ABBY
The Family Comes First

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years my husband, our children and I have gone to his parents for Christmas dinner. He comes from a large clanish family, and all his sisters and brothers and their children attend this dinner. The whole gang totals 44, so you can picture the commotion. This year I want to have my own Christmas dinner with just my husband, our three children and myself. When I suggested it, my husband blew his top. He said his parents were getting on in years, and after they are gone we can have our own Christmas dinner, but while they are living we should go to their home. Abby, I do not care to wait until his parents die to enjoy a quiet Christmas dinner at home. What is your suggestion?

HATES MOB SCENES
DEAR HATES: Button your lip, put cotton in your ears and get if you years for a quiet Christmas dinner at home, make your own on Christmas Eve.

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and need your help desperately. I like this one boy very much but I don't think he likes me. I call him up, write to him and have all my friends ask him what he thinks of me but it isn't doing much good. I am fairly cute. Could you please give me some advice on how to get this certain boy without being a pest? Thanks loads. LOSING OUT

DEAR LOSING: No wonder you are "losing out." No boy wants to be stalked like an animal. Leave him completely alone. And in the future, if you want a boy to become interested in you, let HIM do the chasing.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 14-year-old son, who still wets the bed. I have talked to him, but it does no good. I have taken him to our family doctor, and he says there is nothing wrong with the boy. I've threatened to use diapers, and in a couple of days I just might. Do you think that would stop him? But even if it doesn't, would it be a good way to keep the bed in good condition?

FRANTIC
DEAR FRANTIC: No 14-year-old boy wets the bed because he "wants to." It is unpleasant for you, but it's far more unpleasant for the boy. When the doctor said "there is nothing wrong with him," he meant "physically." Bed wetting is frequently an emotional problem. Don't shame, scold or lecture your son. Wash the sheet, say nothing, and eventually your problem will disappear.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. M. K.: You are mistaken. The only all white dress at the wedding should be the bride's. It's HER day. Wear something else.

Everybody's got a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Big Spring Herald.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

A Devotional for Today

God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son. (John 3:16.)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee especially for the gift of Thy Son Jesus Christ sent to save and help all mankind. Help us to show our gratitude by endeavoring to make other people glad and happy through our gifts and the spirit we show in our giving. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Wellsprings Of Our Liberty

One hundred and seventy years ago today the first 10 amendments to the Constitution of the United States became effective. The Constitution had established the general mechanics of government, and within six months of its ratification, the amendments which we know as the Bill of Rights were proposed. They were, two years later, adopted, and thus the fundamental rights of the people were spelled out. They have been tested, tried and sometimes assailed, even in the name of freedom, but they have remained intact. So long as they do, we may well retain our uniqueness as a people invested with liberty and dignity.

Here are those amendments:
I. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; of abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

II. A well regulated Militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

III. No Soldier shall, in time of peace be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

IV. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the person or things to be seized.

V. No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

VI. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining Witnesses in his favor, and to have the Assistance of Counsel for his defense.

VII. In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

VIII. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted.

IX. The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

X. The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

Marquis Childs Little Finland's Big Problems

HELSINGFORS, Finland—In this prosperous era Finland's years of war, reparations and then inflation seem almost forgotten. The boom has such momentum that labor and especially skilled labor is on the short side.

Yet the Communist party has one-fourth of the seats in Parliament, which is the largest bloc of any of the parties. President Urho Kekkonen says there is little chance that this will be changed in the Parliamentary elections in February, which follow the Presidential election that comes next month.

THE REASONS why this should be so are complex. They go back to the fierce civil war of 1918 and the savage repression of the White armies in Northern Finland. In the north where many of the Communist votes come from, the land is poor and the farmers have not shared in the boom. They vote against the prosperous cities where their fate seems to be determined.

Add to this a system of proportional representation that rewards the discipline of the Communists in getting out every single vote in marked contrast with the Socialists, the Agrarians and the Conservatives. While the Communists have a fourth of the 200 seats they got only 23 per cent of the vote in 1958.

WHAT MAKES this the more surprising is the strong gravitational pull that the West exerts on Finland despite the fixed and often ominous gaze of the Soviet Union just across the border. One explanation for the latest demand on Finland is this pull of the West, with 80 per cent of Finnish trade with the West and only 20 per cent with the Soviet Union and other Communist-bloc countries.

THE COHESIVE force of the European Common Market, and the promise it holds out of creating a powerful new entity knit together not only economically but politically, may explain much more than the Soviet rumble in the north of Europe. It could be the principal reason for the whole effort to make sure that an atmosphere of crisis is sustained. If the pull toward unity and the creation of a power bloc at least equal to that of the United States and the U.S.S.R. can be interrupted, then the risks inherent in a continuing crisis may be justified.

The Soviet concern is also related to the very real possibility that Germany will dominate this new focus of power. This is obviously what the Germans intend.

KEKKONEN SAYS that in his talk with Premier Khrushchev in Siberia last month

4-A Big Spring, Tex., Friday, Dec. 15, 1961

the question of the European community and Finland's relation to it was never raised. That relationship is highly problematical and it can be resolved only after the status of Britain and the neutrals has been worked out. If tariffs on paper and wood pulp, Finland's principal products in world trade, are reduced by Common Market action and the Finnish producers are not kept out of their established sales outlets, then the community would prove of great benefit to this small country.

BUT THE relationship with Germany remains an unresolved bout in Finland's position, wedged in between the two power blocs. When Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev came here on a state visit last September he stressed the importance of Finland signing the separate peace treaty with East Germany that Khrushchev intends to conclude. The growing fear is that it will be impossible to resist the demand of Moscow when the time comes to sign on the dotted line.

Currently relations with the two Germans are resolved by a neat compromise. Finland sends both to Bonn and East Berlin a consul general who heads a trade mission that is short of actual diplomatic recognition. Finland's trade with West Germany is sizable while with East Germany it is insignificant.

SIGNING THE treaty and recognizing East Germany would create great difficulties diplomatically and it might jeopardize Finland's exports of pulp and paper products to West Germany. Those exports have already been reduced under cartel agreements with the other Scandinavian countries because American sales of wood products in the world market has depressed prices. Finland's share of the cut is 400,000 tons a year and this coincides with the beginning of a slight downturn in the boom.

Thus another element of uncertainty is added to a situation that permits of little self-deception when, as the Finns know very well, another and harsher Soviet move can come tomorrow. It could come with the decision of Denmark to go ahead with the Danish-German command covering NATO's northern flank, although that is not considered likely.

THE SENSE of aloneness—which began with the winter war when Finland's neighbors, including Sweden, with the closest ties out of the past failed to come to her defense when Stalin launched his massive attack—has been accentuated. On Kekkonen's 60th birthday last year Khrushchev suddenly announced that he was coming over to Helsingfors to help him celebrate. In a speech at the birthday dinner Kekkonen said he believed that if all the rest of Europe were to go Communist his own country still would not. Those were brave words spoken in the Finnish tradition. But at this season, with all the lights and the evergreens in place, no one can help but be aware of how narrow and how fragile is the line between independence and humiliation.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's goodwill trip to Colombia and Venezuela is a journey to lands hard for Americans to imagine.

Venezuela has had about two honest elections in its history and more than 20 constitutions. For the rest of the time this country

Neighboring Colombia, with about 14 million people, has had more than 20 constitutions, more than 20 civil wars. The dictatorships were relatively few but some were beasts. For Colombia,

Hal Boyle The Sweetest Moment

NEW YORK (AP)—Sometime years from now, my daughter will ask me around Christmas what I appreciate most.

If I am honest, I am sure I will have to tell her that the sweetest second of my existence was the one after I was sure that a man didn't shoot me through the head.

At the close of the second World War, another correspondent and I were poised at Pilsen, Czechoslovakia. It was about 55 miles from Prague, and the Czechs sent men through the lines pleading for the Americans to come and free their capital.

This could not be done. A political line had been drawn. I asked the commander of our area whether we correspondents might move. He implied he had more important concerns at the moment, and shrugged us free to seek our own dismay.

The Germans had, we hoped, been given an order not to fire toward the West that day.

Cy Peterman of the Philadelphia Inquirer and I took a jeep and drove through 55 miles of fully armed Germans retreating to the West to reach Prague.

It was the very end of the war and the area was in turmoil. The citizens of Prague greeted us as if we were the vanguard of the American army sent to free them, as their emissaries had asked. We were not. We were only two U.S. correspondents in a jeep.

Shortly after Cy and I entered Prague, a Russian motorcycle came in from the West. Then, Russian after Russian came in and the individuals became a series of waves.

Peterman speaks broken German and spoke it. I am afraid that I looked like a German ser-gant in search of command. The brave Czech people knew we were Americans, but the incoming Russians didn't.

Twice the Russians started to shoot us. The Czechs intervened. I figured we might run out of local help and said, "Cy, I think we'd better get out of here—our Allies don't seem to know us too well."

He agreed and we left—with the help of the exhilarated Czech patriots.

We caught up with the retreating fully armed German SS columns and drove through and past them back to the area of Pilsen again.

As we neared Pilsen the patrols of the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division were disarming the arriving Germans. They pointed at the roadside ditch, and the Nazis threw down their arms.

Cy wanted a souvenir and slipped our jeep as a German truck loaded with Nazi troops paused at a throwaway point. We got down into the ditch to pick up some souvenir guns.

I looked up and there was a German with a pistol pointed at the middle of my forehead. I thought, "Well, this is just my luck. After all these years, at the last moment I have to meet a surrendering German who has enough sense of humor to pull a little trigger."

There was only one thing to do. I gestured imperatively at the ditch.

He hesitated and then his gun tumbled down into the ditch. I reached down and seized it, and got out of there.

But after all these years I am grateful at Christmas—and other times—to that unknown German soldier who could have pulled that trigger, considered it—and didn't.

To Your Good Health It's Easy To Cut Down On Smoking

"Dear Dr. Molner: My husband and I were considerably overweight for 10 years, but after trying your reducing method he has lost 25 pounds while I have lost 22. We lost it sensibly, about a pound a week, and we look and feel better than we have in years."

"Now I have a VERY serious problem. After 48 years of not smoking I have acquired the habit. I'm not a social smoker but a compulsive one, two or three packs a day. I'm determined to quit. If you will write a column about smoking, I will paste it on my vanity mirror."

"Talking with friends doesn't help. The non-smokers say it's just a matter of NOT smoking, while the smokers put up all kinds of arguments against quitting. One said, 'I'll bet you $50 you'll regain that 22 pounds in three months if you quit smoking.' That frightened me. It is true that I can sit quietly smoking a cigarette, and watch others gobble all kinds of rich desserts, and my appetite isn't so consuming if I smoke before a meal. I'm of a nervous temperament. Have I a Chinaman's chance to quit smoking without getting fat?—Mrs. H. B. G."

A pox on the character who said you'd regain the 22 pounds if you gave up the coffin nails, as we used to call 'em. That was a mean thing to say—and to get even you ought to take the bet and make him (or her) pay the $50. Go on! Do it!

I'll concede that it's faintly true that not smoking and gaining weight sometimes go together—but not always. The connection is indirect only. People, especially high-strung ones, "just have to be doing something" all the time, whether it's eating, smoking, knitting, whittling, crocheting or working crossword puzzles. It's not uncommon for a person to substitute one habit for another. I guess you've done it!

Smoking before meals dulls the taste very slightly and thus helps one not to eat as much. But it's a minor factor.

Of course your two or three packs a day is excessive. I'd suggest that you limit the time of day in which you smoke. Say you decide you won't smoke until you have one cigarette before lunch; then one at mid-afternoon, one before dinner, one after dinner. This plan allows some "slipping" in your good resolve while still allowing you to get through the day, on say, no more than 10 cigarettes, or better, eight, or six.

I know that smoking is a rough habit. But I am quite strongly convinced that it can be quite easily cut down if you decide not to smoke before a certain hour of the day, the later the better. And I'm thoroughly convinced, from a great deal of observation, that smoking need NOT be related, to any serious degree, with gaining or losing weight. I just hope you'll win that $50.

P. S.: When you get down to half a dozen cigarettes a day, it's then not so hard to quit entirely. Although I know many number of people who have quit, cold turkey, and made it stick!

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes muscular dystrophy or cerebral palsy?—Mr. B. G."

We wish we could find out. We do not yet know.

NOTE TO H. M.: No, chocolate doesn't "thicken the blood."

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of handling.

Around The Rim The Yule-Tide Is High And Risin'

The Yule tide is five feet high and risin'. Like, so:

A young fellow gets a card every Christmas from a girl he used to go with, but who moved away. Never any return address, and each year a different postmark. He's awaiting the day, breathlessly, when he can return the favor. Has a whole passel of specially chosen cards collected through the years.

AN OLDER FELLA has a mother in one town, a daughter in another, and can't make up his mind which to go see. The mother lives alone, but he sees her often; the daughter has her family, but he hasn't seen her in more than a year—and all he has for Christmas besides his two front teeth is a 2½-day holiday.

PERSONAL-WISE, we've heard from some old friends in Pecos. Jack and Betty Ware; used to be pastor and choir director, respectively, at St. Paul Presbyterian, now same at Pecos. They combined their usual artfully-chosen card with a printed though personal message (they've got that many friends, man). Jack says he still gets a kick out of seeing his parishioners serving at Communion in cowboy boots.

ALREADY, THE RADIOS and jukes are blaring out with the Christmas spirit—and most of the priceless treasures we hear are in the same vein as the immortal "I Saw Mommy Kissing Sandy Claus." So, who needs "Silent Night" in this modern world—unless it's rocked and rolled, of course. I can hardly wait for the talented artist who rendered "Mona Lisa" to try his chords at "Adeste Fideles." Like man, it should be a blast.

IT'S ODD ONE never hears Stan Freberg's "Green Christmas" anymore. This master satirist portrayed the commercialized Christmas with such telling effect that it raised quite a stir—particularly among those who make money out of what once was a sacred holiday. Rumors had it that the suddenly-vanished recording was forced off the air by angry advertisers.

I'd like to hear it again, please. And you know where to tell the money-changers to go—they're going there anyway.

CARTOON IN a leading men's magazine shows, at left and right, two gaudily-lit suburban houses sporting Santas and dwarfs and all the other non-religious garb, complete even to huge neon signs spelling out "Merry Xmas." Inside each house, through the picture windows, one sees crowds involved in alcoholic brawls. (Sometimes known as Christmas parties.) The house in the center has a solitary wreath hanging on the front door, and through this picture window one sees a happy family gathered around the tree.

Two neighbors have taken themselves outside to glare sullenly at the non-conforming family, and the gag line has one asking the other: "What are they, anti-religious or something?" —BOB SMITH

Inez Robb So Rodeos Are Pro-Communist?

It seems doubtful that many Americans realize the sneaky extent of the Communist conspiracy. Even the revelation by added members of the D.A.R. that the sale of Christmas cards by the United Nations Children's Fund is a Communist conspiracy to shoot Santa Claus is not the ultimate infamy.

IT HAS TAKEN a letter from a woman in San Antonio, Tex., to lay bare the dastardly fact that rodeos, as familiar to the American scene as baseball, are a Communist-inspired gambit to drive India and other parts of Asia and Africa into the arms of the U.S.S.R.

"The Kremlin's plan is plain and bold," writes my San Antonio correspondent. "Cattle are sacred, even worshipped, in India and in other parts of Asia as well as in large parts of Africa. In some African countries cattle are so sacred that it takes many heads of them to buy a wife. An African may beat his wife, but he would never dream of taking a stick to one of his cows."

"SO THE BOOMING American interest in rodeos and bullfights leaves us wide open to anti-democratic and pro-Communist propaganda in all the parts of the world where people worship cattle or hold them sacred. No wonder we are losing favor with the African-Asian bloc in the United Nations."

"Nothing will turn this bloc against us more quickly and finally than pictures of bull-doing, bull-dogging and calf-roping. Such pictures, cleverly used by the Russians, will prove to Africans and Asians that we are a barbarous people, not fit for friendly allies."

THEN, IN a stirring finale, Mme. San Antonio asks, "Are we going to permit Khrushchev to outwit us by our continuation of these heartless exhibitions, as he has outwitted us at every other point? Will it be too late when we finally wake up? Or will be have enough foresight in this nation to outlaw rodeos and keep our people from sneaking over to Mexico to watch bullfights?"

Well, I can only say that I haven't

David Lawrence Court Further Confuses The Issue

WASHINGTON — It has been repeatedly stated by some eminent jurists that the Supreme Court of the United States decides not "the law of the land" but "the law of the case" — and the Court's latest decision in the matter of "sit-ins" demonstrates in Louisiana realistically confirms the distinction.

FOR NOBODY who reads the decision can be certain what the Court's opinion means with respect to other "sit-in" demonstrations. The Court was "unanimous" only in reversing the convictions of the 16 alleged offenders in this particular case. There are countless more cases arising out of "sit-ins" on the way up to the tribunal.

Chief Justice Warren this week delivered the opinion of himself and five justices, while Justices Douglas, Frankfurter and Harlan, although concurring in the result, did so for reasons almost diametrically opposite from the others. Many questions were left undecided by all the opinions.

BUT EVERYTHING the justices say is important and could have a bearing on the decision of future cases. Thus, Justice Douglas declares that it is a violation of the Constitution to serve Negroes or whites separately in a restaurant of any kind or to keep them out of a retail store by any process of discrimination, and that the federal government can step in and have such acts declared unconstitutional. He implies that even a private club could be prosecuted or at least would forfeit its "license" or "permit" if it has one from a city. Presumably it could be compelled to admit members it didn't want on color grounds or lose its tax-exemption privilege.

The most confusing of the four opinions delivered, however, is that of the majority as announced by the Chief Justice. The claim is made that what the "sit-in" demonstrators did was not a breach of the peace in a legal sense under Louisiana law. Justice Warren says:

"THE MANAGER at Kress' store, who was also seated at the lunch counter, told the waitress to advise the students that they could be served at the counter had an easy moment since I received this letter from San Antonio. It doesn't surprise me, really, that Khrushchev has taken to the bull ring. He's been throwing the chief occupant for years. Still, it never occurred to me before that he was using bullfights as a propaganda medium.

PERSONALLY, I can't stand bullfights, even should Hemingway turn out to be the greatest writer who ever lived. They make me sick, and I shall fight to my last typewriter to keep them from ever being introduced or legalized in the U.S.A.

But I had never dreamed before I received the letter from San Antonio that Americans who sneak over the Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California borders to see a Sunday bullfight in Mexico are subversives. It just goes to show how innocent one can be in the Soviet deviltry.

As for rodeos, obviously they must go. NO MATTER how deeply rooted the rodeo is in American folk history, it must be abolished root and branch if it gives offense to sacred cows anywhere. Even though the semi-annual cattle roundups, out of which the rodeo grew, were a part of Western and frontier life before anyone in this hemisphere had ever heard of Karl Marx, the rodeo is doomed if it gives aid and comfort to the Communist cause.

ADHERENTS OF the radical right have been writing me that millions of Americans are Communists and don't know or realize it. This has been a rare puzzle to me until the communication arrived from San Antonio. Now I realize that these unwitting American Communists are undoubtedly the nation's millions of rodeo fans. As a nation, it is our duty to help these addicts kick the habit and saddle up in the ways of righteousness. (Copyright, 1961, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

across the aisle, which she did. The petitioners (defendants) made no response and remained quietly in their seats. After the manager had finished his lunch, he telephoned the police and told them that "some Negroes" were sitting at the counter reserved for whites. The police arrived at the store and ordered the students to leave. The arresting officer testified that the petitioners did and said nothing except that one of them stated that she would like a glass of iced tea, but that he believed they were disturbing the peace by sitting there. When none of the petitioners showed signs of leaving their seats, they were placed under arrest and taken to the police station."

THE SUPREME COURT majority opinion holds that the question before the court was not whether the owner of a private establishment has the right to serve only those whom he chooses. Instead, the Court says that the Louisiana statute — under which the 16 were convicted — defines "disturbing the peace" as "engaging in a fistful encounter," or using insulting language, or appearing in an intoxicated condition, or holding an unlawful assembly, or commission of any other act "in such a manner as to unreasonably disturb or alarm the public."

It was this last point which is discussed at length, and the Louisiana law is quoted as requiring that the accused shall have conducted himself in a manner that would "foreseeably disturb or alarm the public."

JUSTICE DOUGLAS wouldn't reverse the convictions on that ground but solely because he feels that restaurants operating under municipal licenses are public places "affected with a public interest" and hence are subject to the same ban against racial discrimination as any "public facility." He writes: "One can close the doors of his home to anyone he desires. But one who operates an enterprise under a license from the government enjoys a privilege that derives from the people." ### Christmas Tree Safety

This Christmas tree features stability plus safety, using a sand-filled galvanized laundry tub as a security measure. The tree, mounted in a conventional stand, is placed in the tub and sand poured to fill the tub. Lights and ornaments are placed and water over the sand keeps the tree fresh and fire-resistant. It is practically impossible to tip the tree, having the sand-filled tub as the base.

P-TA Hears Pupils On Program

Thursday night in the Airport School auditorium, a meeting of Parent-Teachers Association was held. Mrs. Ernest C. Miller gave a devotion on "P-TA Objects," and followed this with the P-TA Prayer.

Guest speaker, the Rev. Roy E. Honea of Grace Baptist Church, spoke on "Effective Learning for Moral and Spiritual Values."

Reports on the state convention, held in Houston, were given by Mrs. Alvin Huskey and Mrs. Miller, who afterward presented a skit on "Caleb Plows New Ground." The pageant, "Treasures of Tojane," was summarized by Mrs. Huskey.

Children of the first grade were presented in a Christmas program by their teachers, Mrs. Grace Hubbard, Mrs. Jeta Plant and Mrs. Inez Vaughan and Mrs. Kathleen Green.

Door prize was won by W. G. Hagen, with room count going to Mrs. Hubbard's first grade.

Refreshments were served to 150 parents with Mrs. Ray Lund, hospitality chairman, in charge.

Buffet Supper In Pickle Home Is SS Class Party

Members of the Friendship Class of the First Baptist Church were entertained Thursday night with a buffet supper in the home of Mrs. Joe Pickle, with Mrs. Leonard Coker as cohostess.

Tables were laid in green and turquoise cloths and were centered with arrangements of sprayed cedar, bright Christmas balls and candles.

The buffet table was in pink with an arrangement of pink lustrous balls with a matching centerpiece.

Mrs. Charles Sweeney, teacher, worded the invocation, and Christmas poems were read by Mrs. J. C. Pickle as the devotional thoughts.

A musical white elephant gift exchange was joined in by the 14 attending.

Jr. Forum Views Film

Junior Woman's Forum members, meeting in the home of Mrs. J. R. Redden, Thursday afternoon, viewed a film on "The World of Islam," in the continuation of their study of the world's great religions.

Mrs. Robert McDonald showed the film during the meeting, for which Mrs. Verlon Reid was cohostess.

Mrs. Charles Wash discussed "Mecca and Jerusalem" and Mrs. Joe Wright Jr. spoke on the topic, "Shiites and Missions."

Twelve attended the session and granted a leave of absence to Mrs. Ed Corson; of the hospitality committee reminded members of the dinner slated for this evening in the Rock Room, Arnold's Cafeteria, at 7 o'clock. Husbands will be guests.

The group voted to donate five dollars to the Cheer Fund, and Mrs. Emmett McKenzie revealed final plans for the entertainment of state hospital patients during the party set for Dec. 22. Music will be presented by the children's choir of First Methodist Church; the forum will serve as hostesses on Ward 4.

Jan. 11 is the date for the next meeting, which will take place at the YMCA.

Carols Sung For College Heights School Program

A program of music, in addition to the regular business session, was featured for the Thursday afternoon meeting of College Heights Parent-Teachers Association held at Goliad School.

Introduced by Mrs. Royce Griffith, the Rev. M. B. Smith, pastor of the College Heights Baptist Church, gave the devotion.

Mrs. Douglas Wiehe presented 105 sixth grade students in a program of Christmas carols. The students comprised the rooms of Lula Bell Daniels, Lillian Jordan and Mrs. J. W. Engstrom. Soloists were John Patton and Jones, the narrator.

Mrs. R. E. Ray, president, called on W. C. Blankenship, school principal, to report for the project committee. He announced that the P-TA project, laying sidewalks for the school, had been accepted and expressed his own appreciation.

Mrs. Ray reported on the State P-TA convention which she attended in Houston after which Lillian Jordan's room won the count.

Refreshments were served to 110 persons.

TSFSA Meets For Program

Members of the Big Spring Chapter of Texas School Food Service Association met Thursday at the Senior High School cafeteria. Twenty members and Mrs. John Annen, cafeteria director, were present.

A program of Christmas music was presented by Mrs. R. E. Mitchell, soloist, and Mrs. Royce Womack, at the piano, both of Wesley Methodist Church. The Christmas Story from the Book of Luke was given by Mrs. James Porter, Senior High School cafeteria director.

Closing the program, Mrs. J. D. Knouse of Marcy School, led the group in prayer. The hostess group then directed games for entertainment, with Mrs. Gracie Lee of Marcy and Mrs. Klackham, receiving the game prizes.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Porter. A report on the Christmas bazaar was given, and a plan for having a Christmas party presented by Mrs. Roger Miller of Goliad. With Mrs. Miller in charge, the party is slated for Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at Goliad School.

The school cafeteria was decorated with the Christmas theme, using a miniature Christmas tree on the dining table.

The next meeting will be Jan. 11, at Goliad School.

Players Tie For Places In Bridge

Tied for first and second places in the duplicate bridge games at the Officers' Club Thursday evening were Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Mrs. Riley Foster with Mrs. Adolph Swartz and Mrs. Obie Bristow, north-south.

Third place went to Grover Cunningham Jr. and Ed Hartstein; fourth to Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Anne Hardy.

Mrs. George McGann and Mrs. D. W. Wall were first in east-west play; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Weaver, second; Mrs. Bill Emerson and Mrs. R. E. Dobbin, third; Mrs. J. H. Holloway and Mrs. Joe Herbert, fourth.

'Time' Topic Opens Boydstun P-TA Program

Mrs. A. C. Kioven used the subject "Time—And the Use of It" for the devotion, which opened the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Boydstun Parent-Teachers Association, held at the school.

Mrs. Dwight McCann, president, announced that the school banners have been received and may be purchased from her or from Mrs. Bill Coleman.

Mrs. O. R. Gilliam announced the sale of $354.65 worth of Savings Stamps for the month of November. Mrs. W. C. Blankenship's fourth grade room received first place honor award, and Mrs. Floyd Hull's third grade, second.

Room count was won by Mrs. Blankenship's room.

Speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. J. W. Dickens who spoke on "Christmas Spirit." Following the talk, refreshments were served to 55 persons.

Herald Group Is Given Yule Party

Women employees of The Herald gathered in the apartment of Mrs. E. W. Duzler, Park Hill Terrace, Wednesday evening for a holiday party.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a polished table decorated with a footed bowl of cutglass crystal which held an arrangement of spruce, poinsettias and red tapers. Napkins followed the same decorative motif.

A Christmas tree enhanced a corner of the living room where guests were entertained informally, and candles in holiday fashion, brightened the area.

Mrs. Sellers Is Installing Officer

Mrs. Alice Sellers, president of the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, was in Snyder Thursday evening to serve as installing officer for the Scurry County Charter Chapter.

The session, a dinner and Christmas party, was held at the Woman's Club. Carol singing and an exchange of gifts furnished the entertainment.

Accompanying Mrs. Sellers were Mrs. A. C. Moore and Eunice Hickson.

Curry Biscuits

Fashion Show Given For ESA Members

A one-woman fashion show was presented for members of the Alpha Chi Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Thursday evening in the home of Bo Bowen. Mrs. Earl Eberole was cohostess.

"Clothes and Me" was the basis of the program, presented by the hostess and Mrs. Robert Hamilton. Mrs. Bowen showed a formal, a suit and a slacks and blouse outfit which she had made for Mrs. Hamilton, who served as model. Each member revealed her fa-

Head, host and hostess. Honor guests were Col. and Mrs. Wilson Banks.

The occasion was the group's Christmas party, as well as a farewell gesture honoring Maj. M. A. Cappello, Capt. and Mrs. Greg Smith and Capt. and Mrs. Roger Anderson, who are to leave in January.

Greenery formed a tremendous swag which was used with white poinsettia over the fireplace. Also above the mantel was "Merry Christmas" lettering.

Garlands of metallic swirls, silvered and glittered, were used overhead and secured at the room corners with large silver bells. Santas and snow were noted through the many windows of the pavilion, and over the entrance hoops were looped to form a kissing ring for mistletoe. Mistletoe was also used with evergreen within the large red Christmas bells, centering the ceiling decoration.

Red candles with a silver tree and red ornaments on a snow base was an arrangement for the refreshment table where supper was served.

Those in charge of decorations were Mrs. Roy Butz, Mrs. John Nichols and Mrs. Richard Wright.

Husbands Guests At Dinner For Past Noble Grands

Husbands of members in the Past Noble Grand Club, Big Spring Rebekah Lodge, were guests for a Christmas dinner and party given Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wilson.

Cobhostesses were Mrs. Eugene Thomas, Mrs. Gene Crenshaw, Mrs. Tom McAdams, Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson and Mrs. J. F. Gilliland.

A silver theme was used for the decorations and appointments in the serving table.

Members held a gift exchange and presented their husbands with toys which were collected afterward to be presented to needy children.

Mrs. Leon Cain read "A Christmas Prayer," and games of 42 and canasta were played by the 22 members and 18 guests. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Woodson of Colorado City were special guests.

Officers will be elected at the meeting in January, it was announced.

Sew, Chatter Members Are Entertained

Meeting Wednesday evening, members of the Sew and Chatter Club met at the home of Mrs. C. L. Rowe and from there went to the Wagon Wheel for dinner. Following dinner, all returned to the Rowe residence for an exchange of gifts.

Mrs. Herbert Johnson was elected as the club's new president, and those serving with her for the ensuing term are Mrs. M. A. Cook, treasurer; Mrs. Lawrence Robinson, reporter, and Mrs. C. M. Weaver, flower and card chairman.

Members, numbering 18, drew names for secret pals and voted to give $5 to the Cheer Fund. Mrs. Doc McQuain was a guest.

Men Spectators Pleased With Norell's Fashions

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Norman Norell, king of the American couturiers, has rewarded the long-suffering male with the best leg show since Minsky's.

Sooty-eyed girls winked and twirled. Yards of skirt fabric whirled and flapped high against slim hips. Garters and long gams flashed into sight. The women gasped in surprise and the men beamed with delight.

Weary of the sober, staid, accepted look of suits and dresses worn for many seasons, the style pace setter flaunted a new silhouette Tuesday night. Without petticoats, his models wore a succession of trim little suits and dresses which were narrow at the top, even flat-chested, and long-sleeved. But the skirts, hemmed at knee length were the wide-gored or bouncy, gathered kind that flower in the wind like a baton twirler's skirt, and exposed pretty stems from the tops of their nylons to the toes.

Belts nipped in the midriff. His flirty, flaring skirts were topped by cracking short jackets, or capelets. Reds and blues, always a part of Norell's patriotic fashion fervor, were predominant colors in his spring show.

Bright spring prints showed up as classic shirt-waisted dresses which Norell also provided with skirts gored and flared enough to stop traffic.

As always, Norell's garments seemed extremely simple—the kind you think you can whip up yourself, only you can't. They were well bred, understated and as expensive looking as their price tags.

Norell can't stand to see women teetering on spindly heels. His models wore inch-high pumps, even with evening wear. Norell also thinks women should never be constricted by under garments. Thus his costumes were designed of opaque fabrics to allow her the utmost freedom.

Six Webb Sergeants Get Tech Sergeant Promotions

Six Webb AFB staffers were promoted to Technical Sergeant in the December promotion cycle, including Randal E. Nichols, Civil Engineer; Joseph F. Martino, Air Base Group; Dale L. Parsons, Engineer Group; Leroy N. Minor, Air Base Group; Robert C. Mitchell, 3560th M and S Group, and James L. Maness, M. and S. Group.

Sgt. Nichols joined the Air Corps in 1943, and served in Italy, Alaska, and Korean theatres. He came to Webb in August and is qualified as a welder.

Sgt. Martino is a veteran of WWII, and had a five-year break in his service before re-enlisting in the Air Force in 1951. He is in charge of the base meat cutting plant.

Sgt. Parsons has been in the Air Force since 1951. He is an ex-Navy man, and had 33 months on board the battleship Missouri. He has had two overseas tours with the Air Force—one in Korea, and another in Taiwan.

Sgt. Miner has been in the Air Force for 19 years, and came to Webb in April as supervisor of Dining Hall "A". He served in Guam with the 20th Air Force in 1945. He participated in the Berlin Airlift, and served in England, and Germany before coming to Webb.

Doubts Cast On Callup Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric said "I may have been wrong" in believing the United States could successfully mobilize and demobilize reservists to meet cold war crises.

Gilpatric said this at a news conference in which he disclosed that the Pentagon is reshaping its thinking on the role of reserves and guardsmen in future crises.

It implied the reserves and guard may not be counted on for quick buildups of the sort put into effect last summer and fall when 156,000 men were called up.

"I myself was under the belief earlier that we could successfully mobilize and demobilize reservists to meet crises in this cold war period," Gilpatric said.

"I may have been wrong in that. It may be that we might have to have more regular forces to deal with that type of recurrent crisis and use the reserves for larger-scale crises.

"There has been no decision to hold reservists beyond the one-year statutory requirement. The whole matter is a matter of timing for a later decision."

Gilpatric said the decision on when to start releasing guardsmen and reservists from active duty "will be made by the President in the light of the international situation next spring."

He said planning in the past has been built around the idea of a slow mobilization.

"I just don't think our reservists have oriented themselves to the idea" that they may be called up to prevent a war as well as to fight a war, Gilpatric said.

Enrollment Slides Again

Enrollment in Big Spring Public Schools was down for the third consecutive report period, reflecting a drop of 11 pupils during the week ending Friday, according to Sam M. Anderson, superintendent.

The figure dropped to 7,137 students from 7,148. The two previous weeks had shown losses of 21 and 27 pupils. Secondary schools lost eight of the 11 pupils.

Peak enrollment was registered Nov. 17 when 7,198 pupils were on the rolls.

Individual school figures, with the previous week's figures in parentheses, are as follows:

Airport 519 (513), Bauer 484 (488), Boydston 473 (476), Cedar Crest 306 (307), College Heights 556 (557), Kate Morrison 290 (289), Lakeview 213 (215), Marcy 447 (448), Park Hill 196 (197), Washington 900 (797);

Goliad Junior High 876 (876), Lakeview Junior High 65 (65), Runnels Junior High 776 (785), Senior High School 996 (995), and Special Education 140 (140).

Legion Christmas Party Set Sunday

The annual American Legion Christmas party will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Legion Home on the San Angelo Highway, according to J. G. Littlejohn, commander of Howard County Post 355.

Parents are urged to bring labeled gifts for their children and adults are asked to bring gifts valued at $1. Men should buy presents for women. Santa Claus will distribute the presents for children.

All Legion members are invited to bring their children. The Legion will furnish bags of candy.

Denies Report

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel has denied a report that he may have been offered a federal appointment as inducement to stay out of next year's gubernatorial race.

Van Fleet Says Morale Is High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet has reported to President Kennedy that contrary to some published accounts the morale of National Guardsmen and Reservists called to duty is extremely high.

Van Fleet told reporters, after conferring with Kennedy for 45 minutes at the White House, that "some rabble-rouser" had magnified complaints of a small group of service men.

Van Fleet also chided Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, R-Wis., who visited Ft. Lewis, Wash., to check on the spirit of men in Wisconsin's 32nd Division. O'Konski had said the Guardsmen lacked equipment and were not given enough to do.

Van Fleet said men of the 32nd Division "rather resented some of the comments made by one of their congressmen." He said the remarks damaged morale and "were not representative" of the actual situation.

Servicemen traditionally have gripes, he said, about—for instance—tight shoes, or burned potatoes.

"If there is not some beefing," he said, "it is not a good unit."

Van Fleet described "these little things in the press" as insignificant, and said any justified protests have been taken care of.

Rep. O'Konski told The Associated Press by telephone from his office at Mercer, Wis., that Van Fleet was "indulging purely in name calling and I don't think it's worthy of a reply."

Choir Pleases Lions' Club

The high school choir, singing a round of seasonal compositions, drew a big hand from the Downtown Lions Club at its Wednesday meeting in the Settles.

Under the direction of Ellsworth Winden, the 55-voice unit acquitted itself very well on several English and French carols, then capped it off with a delightful melodic Robert Shaw arrangement of the cradle song, "Away in a Manger."

The choir, which sang a capella in its club appearance, is to be presented in Christmas concert at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 21 at the high school auditorium, said Winden.

F. D. Williams, Albert Smith Jr., Roy Hughes and James M. Hatler were inducted as new

Health, Welfare Panel Is Named

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel announced six appointments to an advisory committee on a study of state health and welfare service to be conducted by the Texas Legislative Council.

Named were Dr. W. C. Smith, Carthage; Dr. C. M. Phillips, Levelland; Eldred Thomas, Dallas; Mrs. Louise Evans Bruce, Amarillo; Roderic Bell, Dallas; H. Hackney, Marshall.

Three senators and three state representatives also will serve on the committee.

School Bus Smashed By Train

These are the shattered remains of a school bus that carried 20 children to death in a collision with a train seven miles southeast of Greeley, Colo. The overturned rear of the bus was the largest section intact. Eighteen were hospitalized.

Officials Seek Cause Of School Bus Disaster

GREELEY, Colo. (AP) — Colorado officials searched today for the cause of the school bus-train collision that killed 20 children Thursday.

The Colorado Highway Safety Council was investigating the possibility that overloading and poor visibility may have contributed to the accident. The council's executive secretary, Merf Evans, said in a report to Atty. Gen. Duke Dunbar that "ninety per cent of all school buses in Colorado are overloaded."

Thirteen children are in a hospital. Four others among the 37 children aboard were treated and released. The driver, Duane Harms, 23, suffered minor injuries and shock.

They were in a late model, 60-passenger bus sliced apart at 8:05 a.m. by the Union Pacific's 16-car passenger train, City of Denver, at a rural crossing near here. The streamliner, 90 minutes late because of Christmas baggage delays en route from Chicago to Denver, was traveling 79 miles an hour. Railroad officials said that was normal speed.

DID HE STOP?
Herbert F. Sommers, 64, a Union Pacific engineer for 22 years, said the bus did not stop at the crossing, marked by wooden crossarms and a road sign.

"He stepped on the gas and drove right in front of the train," Sommers said.

Harms, a school bus driver since last September, said "I think I did (stop). Well, I'm quite sure, because I usually do."

Fireman Melvin C. Swanson, 48, said "I thought he (Harms) was going to stop—he acted like he was going to stop. Then he drove right in front of the train."

Jerry Hembry, 16, a bus passenger, said, "The bus stopped and then started up again."

Colorado law requires a school bus driver to stop within 50 feet, but not less than 10 feet, from the nearest rail, and to look and listen for trains.

State patrolmen said the diesel locomotive struck the rear of the bus near the dual wheels. Those wheels and four rear seats were dragged 455 feet down the railroad. The main section of the bus was hurled 192 feet.

Sommers said he applied the emergency brakes about 50 to 75 feet before the impact. The train traveled about a mile beyond the crossing.

APPLIED BRAKES

Sommers said he began sounding the locomotive horn about 500 to 600 feet before the crossing.

"You could look down in the bus and could see the windows were slightly frosted," Sommers said. The crash occurred in 10-degree weather. The gravel road was clear of a recent three-inch snow.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Karl Ahlborn said Harms' statement said the bus windows were slightly frosted or steamed but the windshield defroster was operating.

The bus had picked up about two-thirds of its normal load before the crash. The pupils attend the Delta Elementary, Meeker Junior High and Greeley high schools.

"There was just a great big boom," said Cheryl Brown, 13, hospitalized with a broken back. "When I woke up I was in the middle of the road and people were lying all over and the bus was on its side. Oh! There was lots of screaming and everything. I thought I was dreaming. My back hurt and I couldn't move."

DRIVER BLAMED

Susanna Morton, the grandmother of two victims, said "We asked ourselves 'Why did the Lord allow it to happen,' but we'll never know."

Her husband interjected, "The Lord didn't allow it to happen. He didn't want it to happen at all. Those children were in the driver's hands. He was responsible for them."

They are grandparents of Kathy Brantner, 10, and her brother, Mark, 6, killed in the crash. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brantner, among the first at the accident, found the bodies of their children. They have six other children.

The crash was Colorado's worst highway accident. In 1957, 13 migratory workers were killed in a truck-train collision near Rocky Ford.

Texas Weather Outlook Bleak

By The Associated Press

Bleak and mostly damp weather kept Texas in its grip Friday. Light rain or drizzle was general over East and Central Texas, and there were widespread areas of fog. Thick clouds overhung every section of the state.

Temperatures before dawn varied from a nippy 23 degrees at Amarillo to 50 at Brownsville. Sub-freezing marks at other points included Dalhart 25, Wink 27 and Lubbock and Childress 28. Reading elsewhere were mostly in the upper 30s and 40s.

Rain pattered down in early morning at Austin, Galveston, San Antonio and Texarkana. It was showery around Houston and Tyler and misty in a number of areas from West Central to East Texas.

Forecasts called for occasional rain or drizzle to spread throughout the state by Saturday but dropped an earlier prediction for snow, sleet or freezing drizzle in the Panhandle-Plains sector. Most areas were expected to warm a bit by Saturday.

Shoppers' Dollars Falling Like Snow

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Shoppers' dollars are falling like snowflakes into cash registers as the Christmas buying season swirls toward what may be an all-time record.

Merchants across the country generally report that crowds had started jamming the stores on the day after Thanksgiving Day and have kept coming.

A trend toward buying fallout shelter equipment as household gifts was noted by some merchants.

"It's wonderful!" chortled Joe Falk, owner of a big Kansas City toy store. "People are looser with their money than last year. They are buying the good stuff and don't care what they have to spend."

ON PAR

In some areas, however, buying was about on a par with last year or a little lower. Apprehension over the international situation and anxiety over further call-up of reserves made some people cautious about heavy buying.

The United States Chamber of Commerce predicted Americans would spend $23 billion this Christmas, up 4 per cent from record 1960. The National Retail Merchants Association forecast a 2 per cent gain.

An Associated Press survey of merchants in major cities indicated that in most areas people are buying more and better merchandise, have lost much of the caution that marked their shopping last year and are splurging somewhat on luxuries.

Merchants feel that general business improvement is reflected in the attitude of their customers.

Prices are generally holding close to last year with increased competition from discount houses being a factor.

BIGGEST DAY

"Saturday, Dec. 9 was the biggest day we've ever had," said Cyril Magnin, president of Joseph Magnin Co. with stores in San Francisco and Reno and Las Vegas, Nev. "Christmas shopping started out slow but it sure picked up and I think we'll roll along for a top year now."

"Germans are spending with enthusiasm," said Harold Brockey, president of Rich's department store in Atlanta.

Wallace Dreyfoos, president of another Atlanta department store, Davison-Paxon Co., added: "The buyers don't seem to have the price consciousness that you expect from cautious shoppers. If they want something, they go ahead and buy it."

In New York City, department stores reported crowds arrived earlier and are spending more money than last year.

Arthur L. Manchec, president of Macy's, biggest store of all, predicted its sales would be 5 to 6 per cent ahead of last year.

LOTS BETTER

"December is exceeding all of our expectations," said Melvin E. Dawley, president of New York City's Lord Taylor.

In Los Angeles, Maggie Paxton, sales manager for the May Co. department stores, commented: "We're ahead in transactions but behind in dollars. We're selling more toys but there's less profit margin. It takes 15 per cent more business to get the same dollar profit."

The buying season started out strong in Dallas and some major store owners said they expect total sales to be substantially over a year ago.

Miami, Fla., department store managers predicted a record buying season. "The public is in a mood to buy," said Murray Turetsky, general manager of Jackson's-Byrns Department Store.

Washington, D.C., department stores expect a modest 2 to 3 per cent increase over last year and are wondering why it isn't better.

ONE ANSWER

One merchant has his own answer: Worry over the international situation.

"I feel that people are holding back on big installment purchases — younger people especially," he said. "I believe there is much apprehension over the possibility that more reserves, and possibly the National Guard might be called up."

A merchant in Denver noticed that parents seem to be buying fewer toys in favor of making purchases that can be associated with the nuclear bomb and fallout shelter scare. He said people are buying such items as transistor radios, flashlights and batteries, condensed foods and surplus water storage tanks.

Toys are way out this year. They are bigger and more intricate and in some cases "more costly than ever."

"Everything and anything that has to do with the whole space age bit is going over," reported Deborah Traux of the Broadway Department Stores in Los Angeles. "Anything that is like a robot is the big deal. If it looks like a monster or shoots missiles out of its head, that's what the children want. The toys are very warlike."

TOY PRICE WAR

A toy price war has broken out in New York and some other cities, including Dallas. In some New York stores, clerks have taken toys out of customers' hands to change the prices.

Fads don't seem to be very strong this season but stores are going all out to accommodate people who have lots of money and are looking for gifts for other people who "have everything."

U. S. Releases Mystery Boat

GALVESTON (AP) — Federal authorities have released a motor boat belonging to John Stevens, one of two men picked up in the Gulf of Mexico by the Coast Guard.

Capt. L. G. Haveerland, Coast Guard commander at Galveston, said Stevens owned the 18-foot outboard craft, whose hull and twin 100-horsepower motors were painted black.

Stevens and a Cuban national, Reynaldo Silva, were picked up Wednesday night by the motor vessel Cottonwood Creek between Cuba and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula.

The Coast Guard and the Immigration Service have refused to discuss the case, beyond identifying the man. They said Stevens was a U. S. citizen and Silva left for the Miami area after being given political asylum in this country.

Arms Stolen

LILLE, France (AP) — Two carloads of armed civilians Thursday held soldier sentinels at bay and ran away with the 20 stacked rifles of an infantry detachment that had just come off guard duty, an army communique reported.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation 179. At all drug counters.

Several Churches Schedule Christmas Music Programs

Musical programs, including several cantatas, are on tap in the city Sunday, as most churches turn their attention to the Christmas season with music.

At Airport Baptist, the choir will sing "The Gift Supreme" and a music program is scheduled at the Baptist Temple.

"Night of Miracles" is a cantata to be given at the East Fourth Baptist Church and St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Christmas programs are planned at the Phillips Memorial Baptist and Salem Baptist churches.

"Home for Christmas" is the holiday title at the First Church of God, to be sung by the youngsters. A Christmas oratorio is set at the First Methodist and "To Us a Child Is Born" will be given by the choir at Wesley Methodist Church.

The choirs will give a program at the First Presbyterian Church and a gift program is slated at the Coahoma Presbyterian. Children will give a pageant at the Webb AFB chapel and the Howard County Junior College Choir will sing Sunday afternoon.

The YMCA is producing its annual Christmas Pageant next week on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, with live animals, special set construction, and colorful costumes.

Cantata For Sunday Eve

The adult choir of the St. Paul Presbyterian Church will present the Christmas cantata, "Night of Miracles" Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock in the sanctuary of the church.

"Night of Miracles," a contemporary work, with a new and different theme, was written by John W. Peterson, Montrose, Pa., in 1958.

Peterson said, "What could I use to portray this event, an original way? Soon the thread of an idea started to weave itself into the story of an unforgettable night... a night when shepherds were awe-stricken by a gloriously brilliant heavenly host that told of the birth of the Prince of Peace; a night when God sent His Son to earth. It is limitless and absolute, and it was first manifested on that night so long ago... A Night of Miracles."

Mrs. Linwood Johnson, Jerry Jenkins, Mrs. Dick Hoover, and Charles Snyder will be soloists. Francis Flint is the narrator for the scriptural passages throughout the cantata. The choir is directed by Louis Loveless, Coahoma, with Miss Lynn Wood as organist.

Members of the choir are soprano: Mrs. Thomas Lane, Mrs. Jim Layman, Mrs. Dick Hoover, Mrs. Ken Perry, Mrs. Bill Edwards, Mrs. Francis Flint, Mrs. Al Seddon and Mrs. Charles Snyder; altos: Mrs. Gene Peters, Mrs. Stu Howter, Mrs. Linwood Johnson, Mrs. Jerry Jenkins and Mrs. Kathryn Seddon; tenors: Jerry Jenkins, Louis Loveless, Tommy Lane and Johnny Lawson; basses: Bob Heine, Francis Flint, Bill Hayward and Charles Snyder.

The public is invited to attend this service.

EDUCATION

Lutherans Plan New Concept

NEW YORK (AP)—A new concept in religious education, designed to make Christian learning a continuing process from the cradle to the grave, soon will emerge as a hallmark of Lutheran parish life.

The program, already five years in the making, is expected to serve as a common source of strength after next year's merger of four Lutheran bodies into the 2.2-million-member Lutheran Church in America.

Its director is The Rev. Dr. W. Kent Gilbert III, a member of the United Lutheran Church in America's board of parish education. Admittedly, said Dr. Gilbert, the new program "may look to some like a pet project dreamed up by starry-eyed educational theorists."

"Actually, it is very much down to earth and the result of some sobering necessities."

More than 200 educators, from university presidents to Sunday School teachers, have contributed to the curriculum which will go to each of the 6,000 parishes in the merged congregation.

The program involves systematic education by trained instructors (including parents) beginning with pre-school children and including every phase of parish education—Sunday School, released-time day school classes, vacation school, summer camp, adult classes—without any of what Dr. Gilbert calls "interest-killing overlapping."

It relies on exhaustive research into what type and degree of Christian doctrine a person is capable of absorbing at every age level.

The way things stand now, said Dr. Gilbert, "many congregations end their educational program with confirmation age while at the same time expecting mature adult leadership from people who have never been equipped with more than a 13-year-old's understanding of Christianity."

"We spend much of our time in church schools trying to teach children things they are incapable of learning," he said, "while wasting the time of teen-agers and adults with childish simple things they should have mastered years earlier."

Dr. Gilbert believes the new program will correct this. He said the Sunday School will continue as the nucleus of the program, but several traditional patterns will be changed.

For example, the current system in which lessons are bunched in 13-week batches will be discarded. Instead, a whole year's material will be treated as a unit.

PRAYER POWER

She Carries Heavy Load

By HELEN REAGAN SMITH
Mrs. Mary Ladd, a slight woman, nurse of Dr. John L. Hill, who is now confined to his bed with arteriosclerosis, carries a long, heavy day in her nursing duties. Dr. Hill is a heavy six-footer, and it takes much strength to manage him. She carries it with a gay smile and lightness that one would never know to look at her. She, herself, spent six years in a hospital with a bad back.

Much of the time her back was in a plaster cast. Lack of funds kept her where conditions were crowded. Her daughter was unable to see about her, or do anything for her. Her husband had little concern for her. He was an alcoholic, indifferent to her plight.

"It was not easy to lie there," she said in telling about it, "until I began spending my time in prayer. But prayer helped. I learned to be thankful for the slightest favor no matter how small. I learned that God's revelations are opened to us as we obey Him in the little things that we can do."

"I found that when I obeyed, even to be grateful for just a smile, and could lie there thanking and praising Him, slowly healing began pouring through my body. Since then, I have often thought of the verse: "If the righteous scarcely be saved, where shall the sinner or ungodly appear?" 1 Pet. 4:18.

Growth Through Adoration

THE SPIRIT OF WORSHIP AND ADORATION THAT BURST FORTH AT CHRIST'S ADVENT

Scripture—Luke 1:26-30.

By N. SPEER JONES

THIS WEEK'S lesson comprises the first part of the nativity story, to be concluded in next week's.

As with most great events, the relating of which has taken place time and time again, different versions of the story have come into being. For example, according to the version Matthew heard and recorded, the first announcement of Christ's advent was an angel's announcement to Joseph, several months after Christ's conception.

In the version of Luke, which we study today, the first word of this glorious event was the angel's announcement to Mary herself, immediately before the miraculous conception.

Notice the crescendo of importance of this announcement. First Mary is told that she will within themselves God's kingdom here on earth.

To return to our narrative, Mary immediately went to visit her kinswoman Elizabeth, who lived some four or five days' journey to the south of Jerusalem, in a village in the hills.

It was very natural for her to want to share her sacred excitement and reaffirm to herself the fact that she had not dreamed the angel's visit. She knew that if anyone could give her this reassurance and close sharing, it was someone who was supposed to have been similarly blessed in a miraculous way.

We now come to that marvelous series of songs of praise and joy, recorded only by Luke, the artistic and learned Greek, which so typify the spirit of the whole New Testament to follow. Mary's magnification of the bear a son—a relatively normal bit of information. Then she is told that His name shall be Jesus, signifying the highest blessing; then, that He will be great.

Only then is Mary told that He will be divine—"Son of the Most High." Nor is this all; the great climax of the angel's announcement is the word that this Son of Mary's will reign over God's people on earth forever.

Many feel that this last part of the angel's prophecy has not yet been accomplished. Certainly Christ was rejected by the majority of the Israelites, those God had called His chosen ones; certainly He did not rule in the way we are accustomed to thinking of the term.

On the other hand, it may be argued that He did establish His kingdom forever, in that those who find Him and acknowledge His kingship find peace.

Based on copyrighted outline produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Lord and Zechariah's benediction have been the basis of much of the most glorious music by our great composers.

The former is one of the most pertinent parts of the text in regard to the title of this week's study. Mary, through her own humility, arrives at a new kind of stature; as her soul "magnifies the Lord," she becomes a reflection of all His greatness. She has grown to a greatness which is not egotistically her own, but the Christian epitome of maturity, a reflection of God Himself.

In another sense, Elizabeth grows through adoration. Without Christian maturity, she might well have been jealous to discover another woman more favored than herself. She is so filled with joy and adoration, however, that there is no possibility of such a petty emotion. She feels herself doubly blessed, instead.

Elbert R. Garretson, Evangelist
"BEYOND BOUNDS"

It is a shocking truth that everything is not "Allright" just because it is religious. In the realm of religion something can be dangerous as well as safe; it can be false as well as true. Religion as outlined in the Bible, and particularly the New Testament, since we now live in the age of the New Covenant, is perfect! This is true because of the fact that it is divine rather than human. It is a blessing rather than a curse. It is through Christ that men may possess all spiritual blessings (Eph. 1:3). And by New Testament truth look for that blessed hope (Titus 2:13). And by Christlike living leave behind the memory of the just which is "Blessed," (Prov. 10:7). However, in the realm of religion some have become fanatics, some have fought wars; some have killed their fellowman; some have become indolent slothful and lazy. This is because their religion is both untrue and unfit. Likewise people are often out of bounds in bowing before images and worshipping idols; some err in hypocrisy by professing to believe the Bible and yet scoffing and deriding that portion of God's plan of salvation which they do not prefer they make an oddity of their professed faith!

Even sincere people are often beyond bounds because some do not know what the bounds are. The only authority there is in the religious realm is in the Written Word, the Bible. I make this statement because it is true. I make this statement knowing full well the odium and the ignominy with which many people, many of whom call themselves "Christian," oppose the authority of the New Testament. I know also the substitutes for the Bible men shamelessly and brazenly offer; I know the Creeds; the dreams, the feelings, the Catechisms, the pageantry, the pomp and the pride; yet the simple fact is, that "Faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the Word of God" (Romans 10:17); and "These things are written that you might believe" (John 20:30-31); and "If any man speak let him speak as the oracles of God" (1 Peter 4:11). The divine unction (anointing) brought out in 1 John 2:20-21 is nothing short of the written word. "Sanctify they through the truth, thy word is truth" (John 17:17). Truth DOES NOT CHANGE! He who serves God knows and follows the written word. Hear our broadcast daily, 1100 on your dial, 12:15 each week day.

What's it all about?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Monday	Deuteronomy	6	16-25

Saturday	Isaiah	9	1-7

This little dog is confused. Many of us are in the same dilemma. What is Christmas, anyway? What does it mean? Do the tinsel and decorations obscure the true meaning?

Christmas decorations, Christmas trees, Christmas gifts have their part in this greatest day of all the year, but back of them is the manger and the Christ Child, God's gift to mankind.

In the Church you will find the true spirit of Christmas in all its joy, beauty and sacredness. The Wise Men will become so real you will follow the star with them. With the shepherds on the Judean hillside you will hear the song of angels. You will go to Bethlehem where you will kneel before the King. Kneeling, you will find the true meaning of Christmas.

Will you come?

Kennedy Tour May Be Test For Alliance For Progress

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
An AP News Analyst

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Kennedy's weekend visit to Venezuela and Colombia may turn out to be a significant test for his Alliance for Progress. If the trip is a notable success, prospects for the alliance will seem brighter. The prospects evidently need brightening. Outside the United States the alliance often is regarded, even by its friends, as a far from hopeful attempt to wipe out Latin America's past through voluntary reforms—overnight.

The Kennedy trip is limited to the two South American nations whose governments are among the best friends of the United States. He is to confer with perhaps the most courageous of all the democratic leaders in Latin America: Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela and Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia.

Both men are butts of violent Communist-Castroist attack. Both have broken diplomatic relations with Havana. Both are betting they can hold off an explosion on the left. Each is staking his future on the hope that the Alliance for Progress will become a positive reality.

These are men Fidel Castro repeatedly taunts with names like miserably traitor, imperialist lackey, and far worse. It seems safe to say that in all Latin America, Castro hates no men more.

In Colombia, the President will attend a ceremony inaugurating a program to be carried out with significant U.S. financial participation: The construction of 13,000 houses in Bogota for the labor and middle classes and the construction of 22,000 classrooms.

These are the sort of projects Latin Americans understand and welcome. Such programs can have a heavy impact among the young Latin Americans, the students and intellectuals who cause much of the ferment and who are captivated by the idea of rapid change toward national self-respect.

Of all problems in Latin America, illiteracy and miserable housing probably are the most nagging and the most dangerous in terms of breeding resentment and violence.

Lleras has told his countrymen the U.S. President is not journeying to South America to "make political and economic demands like those which chained Cuba to the Soviet orbit in exchange for arms."

There is risk involved in the Kennedy trip. It would be strange if the Communists and Castroists did not try to do something.

Mary Jane Engstrom Is A Member Of NTSU Concert Band

DENTON — Mary Jane Engstrom, Big Spring, is a member of the 100-piece North Texas State University Concert Band, which will present its first concert of the season tonight. Under the direction of Maurice McAdow, the band will play a novel number, original band compositions and marches.

Lawrence Wiehe, trombone soloist with the U. S. Navy Band, will appear as the guest artist. The concert band is re-organized from the NTSU Marching Band each year and has appeared in 12 states besides Texas while on its annual spring tour. The 15th annual tour will begin March 25th this season.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Engstrom, Big Spring, Miss Engstrom is a sophomore mathematics major. She is a member of Junior Mary Arden, literary and social organization, and Alpha Lambda, Delta, national honor society for women. Wiehe is a brother of Douglas Wiehe, director of the Big Spring High School Band, and has appeared in Big Spring in concert.

JFK Orders Viet Nam Aid Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today ordered increased assistance for the defenses of South Viet Nam in its desperate efforts to repel Communist aggression from the North.

Government officials said this will not mean sending any American combat troops to Viet Nam. Kennedy acted in response to an appeal from President Ngo Dinh Diem of the Vietnamese Republic.

Diem said his country "now faces what is perhaps the gravest crisis in its long history" and "We must have further assistance from the United States if we are to win the war now being waged against us."

Diem said the forces of international communism which are arrayed against his country are "more than we can meet with the resources at hand."

Kennedy reacted with word that: "We shall promptly increase our assistance to your defense effort as well as help relieve the destruction of the floods which you describe. I have already given the orders to get these programs under way."

The exchange of messages between the two presidents was made public simultaneously here and in Saigon.

Kennedy didn't spell out what he meant by increased assistance to the Vietnamese defense effort. Other administration sources said that this must not be taken to mean that U.S. fighting men will be dispatched to the area. There has been frequent speculation on this possibility in the past.

Rather, government sources said there will be across-the-board assistance of the kind the United States has been giving Viet Nam, plus improved technical advice to enable the Vietnamese to make better use of equipment to be placed at their disposal.

West Orders No More Beefs

FORT WORTH (AP)—Soldiers of the 49th Armored Division at Ft. Polk, La., have been ordered not to complain to news media again about conditions at the post, the Star-Telegram reports.

Maj. Gen. Harley West, commander, in an order issued Dec. 5, referred to the letter of complaint circulated last month, and said:

"Any further efforts of this nature will be considered to assume the proportions of notoriety and may tend to bring discredit to this command and the armed forces of the United States."
