Juvenile Booze Habit In Wichita Hit By Probers

Grand Jury Says Youngster Dancers Should Be Better Chaperoned

SALES ARE EASY

Evidence Submitted of Free Liquor Traffic In Residential Districts

Deploring the illegal sale of liquor to minors in the city and asserting that testimony of witnesses called before it showed that intoxicants were freely imbibed at public dances here, the grand jury of the 30th district court in a final report to Judge H. R. Wilson, Thursday afternoon recommended greater care and diligence be shown by parents of children and peace officers of the community in regard to the liquor situation.

The report, submitted a few minutes before 4 o'clock, said in part: "From witnesses appearing before this body it is conclusively shown that intoxicating liquors have been freely offered for sale to young boys in the residential districts of the city and in the vicinity of some of the schools, as well as in the flats.

"From testimony submitted to this body it has been ascertained that there has been drinking at public dances, which calls for great care on the part of parents, and the suggestion is made that these dances be chaperoned by parents; and we fully recommend that city and county officers make regular inspections of the above mentioned dances and use greater diligence in the enforcement of the liquor laws."

In addition to the liquor question the grand jury touched quarterly reports of the county officers, which the law requires to be submitted to the county commissioners court. It also recommended Sheriff Fred K. Smith for the excellent manner in which the county jail was being maintained.

Only one more bill of indictment was returned by the grand jury yesterday. Twenty-six in all were reported.

WHAT GRAND JURY SAYS CONCERNING JUVENILE DRINKING

To the Honorable H. R. Wilson, Judge of the 30th Judicial District:

We, the grand jury, empanelled for this term of your honorable court, beg leave to make the final following report: We have been in session for four days and have found and returned 26 true bills of indictment, all of which are for felonies. We have examined 91 witnesses.

On Officers' Reports

Cautioned such county officers as are effected by article 3890-92-93-95 3900-01-02 civil statutes, 1920, relative to requirement of the quarterly report to be filed with the commissioners' court. Cautioned officers relative to the fee bill and to operate their own precinct unless called on or requested by other officers.

Sale of Liquor

We have gone into the matter of illegal sale of liquor thoroughly, with the special effort to prevent sales to minors. We would like to call attention of subsequent grand juries, city and county officers and the public generally to the procuring of liquor by boys and girls in this county. From witnesses appearing before this body it is conclusively shown that intoxicating liquors have been freely offered for sale to young boys in the residential district of this city and in the vicinity of some of the schools, as well as in the flats.

Drinking at Dances

From testimony submitted to this body it has been ascertained that there has been drinking at public dances, which calls for great care on the part of parents; and the suggestion is made that these dances be chaperoned by parents, and we fully recommend that city and county officers make regular inspections of the above mentioned dances and use greater diligence in the enforcement of liquor laws.

County Jail Ok'd

We have inspected the county jail and find that it is well kept, sanitary, and proper attention given to the housing of the inmates. We particularly commend the sheriff for the condition of the jail during this period of construction. We desire to express our thanks of the district attorney and his assistant and to the county attorney and his assistant for assisting this grand jury to complete its work without delay. Finally, we desire your honor to know that we thoroughly appreciate the courtesy which has been shown us all through this sitting, and for the counsel your honor has given us from time to time. Respectfully submitted, April 9, 1925.

Signed:

Community Builder A "Building Number"

The April number of the Community Builder, published by the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce is off the press. The issue is named the "building number" and is one of the best ever issued. Through the magazine appears illustrations of some of the beautiful homes of Wichita Falls and Iowa Park, also illustrations of local industrial concerns.

On the inside of the first cover page is given figures of bank clearings, postal receipts, building permits, public utility growth, school enrollment and oil production. Bank clearings for the first quarter of 1925 as compared to 1924 show an increase from $30,215,059.36 to $41,392,180.36; postal receipts from $32,158.13 to $64,943.75; building permits from $375,134 to $1,501,510; public utilities from 10 to 20 per cent; school enrollment a heavy increase and oil production from 74,285 to 93,680 barrels. M'CLURE AND HODGINS WILL BE RETAINED

New Commissioner Makes No Change in City Offcials

M'CLURE OLD HEAD

No Changes Are Announced By Any of New City Commissioners

George Hodgins as chief of police and J. L. McClure as chief of the fire department will retain their posts under Frank Queisser, newly elected police and fire commissioner.

This announcement was made Thursday by Queisser as confirmation of prevailing reports that little change would be made in the executive personnel of the public safety departments of the city. The new commissioner declared he believed Chief Hodgins and Chief McClure were well qualified to conduct the affairs of their respective bureaus and that the records they had made in the past were ample justification of their reappointment.

18 Years in Service.

The naming of Chief McClure to continue as fire department head comes as no surprise. The veteran "Pa," who is rounding out more than 18 years continuous service for Wichita Falls, has seen administration after administration come and go, and never yet has his position been in jeopardy. He started with the fire department when it was a volunteer affair, has worked up with it through the horse and wagon era and has now developed it to its present state of efficiency with thoroughly modern and up-to-date equipment.

Chief Hodgins is the first police chief to hold his post for an incoming administration since the present city charter making the chief's office an appointive one went into effect in the spring of 1920. Prior to that the chief of police was an elective official.

A Capable Official.

Mr. Hodgins was named by Commissioner J. T. Young when the latter was elected police commissioner in April, 1923. He has served capably and efficiently since that time and has reappointment, Queisser believes, will meet the general approval of the city.

So far as is known, no other changes in the administrative departments of the city are contemplated. W. E. McBroom will remain as city clerk, a position he has held for four years, and probably all officials in the park, health and sanitary departments will also hold their places.

Q. A. & P. Plan A Plains Railroad Also

QUANAH, April 9.—That the Q. A. & P. railroad either forsees developments on the part of others or is laying plans itself that will result in enabling that road to be the first to build to the plains was intimated here by Sam Lazarus, president of the road. Mr. Lazarus said he felt sure the Q. A. & P. would build to the plains as quickly as any of them, and probably a little sooner than any.

The Q. A. & P. president was here in his private car from St. Louis, and had just returned from an inspection of the road. He left this morning for St. Louis over the Frisco. He admitted that a "proposition had been made the Burlington system, but said as far as he knew they would not purchase his road. He stated that he knew nothing of the rumor of an agreement between the Q. A. & P. and the Denver whereby both might give Quanah connection with Plainview and Lubbock.

COOL WEATHER THURSDAY

Overcast Sky Offsets Effects of Hot Sun During Afternoon.

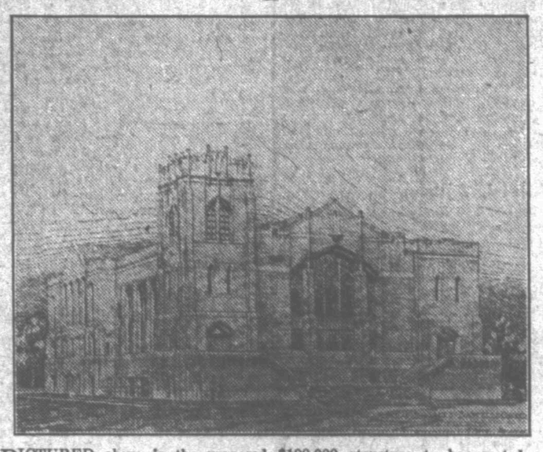

A brilliant day that gave way to a partly overcast sky late in the afternoon gave Wichita Falls cool, inviting weather yesterday. A brisk breeze prevailed most of the time and the sun warmed things sufficiently to preclude the possibility of excessive chill.

Hints of a storm were seen in the cloud banks that rolled in early in the evening, but at a late hour, these had not developed.

If plans now in view are carried out, the drive will be pushed to completion and the building made ready for use before the cold weather sets in again. The new building will be one of the most attractive and completely equipped of any church edifice in Wichita Falls, according to Mr. Pate and those who are interested in its development.

SMACKOVER WELL MAKES 25,000 BBLS.

Deep Sand There Gets Largest Arkansas Producer

Editor's Note: The deep sand area at Smackover produces a heavy black oil whose value is based on fuel oil values rather than gasoline content. The big completions at Smackover therefore, stand little chance of tipping the Mid-Continent's market for its high grade crude, as might happen were the oil lighter and of better grade.

SHREVEPORT, La., April 9.—The biggest well ever completed in Smackover since the V-K-F No. 1, Richardson in 20-15-15 blew in with 300 barrels July 28, 1922 and opened the field in either the original or the new deep sand was completed today by the Imperial Oil and Gas company, No. 2, Murphy making 20,000 to 25,000 barrels from 10 feet of sand total depth 2,448 feet. Location is in the northeast corner of the deep sand area in section 9-16-15.

Those conversant to judge a well's performance reported that the well is flowing solid through three 6-inch flow lines and that production will gauge closer to 25,000 barrels than to 20,000.

A quarter of a mile east Gulf Refining company has brought in a 10,000 barrels well, No. 2, T. C. Murphy at 2,383 feet, and in section 4-16-15 Amerada Petroleum company has completed a 15,000 barrels producer at 2,393 feet, approximately a mile northwest of the Imperial well.

The banquet will come as an aftermath of the city election, but is in no sense to be a partisan affair. Its purpose is to call together all phases of the citizenship of Wichita Falls with the combined purpose of jollification over past achievements of this city and a study of contemplated projects and visioning of the city's future.

PURDY'S STORY OF KILLING IS DISAPPOINTING

Slayer of Hutchison Takes The Stand in His Own Behalf

NO CLIMAX AS YET

Defendant Fails to Reach Detailed Story of Tulsa Killing

TULSA, Okla., April 9.—Charles E. Purdy, alleged to have shot and killed E. S. Hutchison, January 13, last, after Purdy had charged the wealthy lumberman with breaking up his home took the witness stand today in his own behalf.

Adjournment of court postponed the expected climax in the defendant's narrative.

Purdy's testimony was disappointing to those who expected him to make sensational statements today. His story was that told by witness who had testified before him.

Describes Early Life.

The witness began by describing his early life in Billings, Mont., the town he was born in, of moving to Oklahoma when a young man. Shortly before the war, he moved to Tulsa and enlisted in the service at the beginning of the war. While serving in the army he spent weeks in a hospital as a result of infected appendix, he testified.

When he returned to Tulsa he met Miss Helen Paul, who at the time, was working for Hutchison, and they were married. Two children were born later, financial difficulties overtook the family. Mrs. Purdy then went back to work for Hutchison.

In November, 1924, Purdy testified he learned his wife had become more to Hutchison than an employee. Soon after this discovery, Mrs. Purdy told him she did not love him, the witness related. He said he suggested she take a vacation and a few days later Purdy drove her to Oklahoma City. Mrs. Purdy told him, he said, that he was not to visit her in Oklahoma City without first calling her.

Came to Oklahoma City.

A few days later, Purdy said, he learned Hutchison was in Oklahoma City and his wife was not at the home of a friend as she had told him. He immediately went to Oklahoma City, he said, and with the aid of detectives found his wife and Hutchison and in a raid which followed, Hutchison and Mrs. Purdy were arrested.

To avoid publicity and to bring punishment on Hutchison he agreed to a money settlement and Hutchison assured him he would leave his family alone the witness related.

When his wife and baby failed to return home, he started a search for them, the witness continued. Hutchison's attorney refused to give him information about them. Purdy's attorney told him the oldest child, Bobby Gene, was in danger of being kidnaped.

Shortly after Christmas, Purdy stated, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lester came to him and told him he was being followed night and day by detectives hired by Hutchison and that Hutchison had been carrying two guns and had said that "if Purdy ever crosses my path I'll kill him."

Kidnap Plan Told.

"She told me there was a plan to kidnap Bobby Gene and that Hutchison. Mrs. Purdy and the two children were to fly to Canada in an airplane," Purdy testified.

At this point court adjourned.

Attorneys for both the prosecution and the defense said they believe the case will go to the jury on Saturday.

Washington Tailor Dismayed at Indifference Of Cal to Style

MADE-IN-U. S. A.

President's Old Hat Rejuvenated for Sunday at Cost Of $2.50

WASHINGTON, April 9.—President Coolidge's economic program was extended today to local federal agencies throughout the country.

The executive's advisers in Washington in addition to their efforts to cut the cost of operating the various branches of the government here, have had their attention directed to the feasibility of abolishing some and consolidating of about 40 independent commissions having more or less expensive payrolls.

WASHINGTON, April 9. — A Washington tailor has learned that Calvin Coolidge means what he says when he talks personal and official economy.

The president has just ordered his Easter suit. It will be made by the same man who made his clothes during his vice-presidency. The price will be the same. The material will be domestic weave. The color will not vary much.

The tailor, who has been patronized by Mr. Coolidge for about four years, thought this year that any man, president or what, whose salary had grown from $12,000 to $75,000 would indulge the luxury of some of those imported fabrics the clothing salesman are so glib about this spring.

"No, I want something made in the United States," the president announced laconically, and the distressed tailor had to be content with an order for "another of those $65 suits."

Hat Rejuvenated for $2.50.

This is the story current in the capital. It is embellished with statements to the effect that the president has had his hat cleaned and reblocked and adorned with a new ribbon, a total investment of $2.50 for "something just like new."

It is said, also, that Mr. Coolidge has half-soles put on his shoes, which are custom made. He is "not hard on the uppers," it is said, and it is not consistent with the president's notions of thrift to discard a pair of shoes simply because the heels may be run down a little.

It has been Mrs. Coolidge's habit for many years to consult her husband about her hats and other apparel. The president ever has had an appreciative eye for a well-dressed woman. In the days before she entered the White House, Mrs. Coolidge enjoyed bargain-hunting, and even after she became the "First Lady" astonished the salespeople in an F street shop by walking

Loeb-Leopold Meet And Talk For First Time

CHICAGO, April 9. — Richard (Dickie) Loeb and Nathan (Babe) Leopold, millionaires' sons, who, a year ago, were planning the world's perfect crime—the slaying of young Robert Franks after they kidnaped him for ransom—today met and conversed for the first time since they entered Joliet penitentiary seven months ago to serve life sentences.

They were united by the Feast of the Passover and with 56 other Jewish prisoners, were released for the day from prison restraint.

The two youths were rather unnerved by the meeting, according to guards who observed them.

"Hello, Babe," said Loeb, always the leader, and "hello, Dick," responded Leopold. Then they stood for a time without speaking while other prisoners of their faith looked on curiously, and finally repaired to a corner, where they talked in low tones for some time.

FORT WORTH, April 9.—Drilling deeper and coring all while in Woodbine formations and netted nothing more than a slight oil showing in one well in tests attempting to open up another Balconnes fault zone field in Henderson and Kaufman counties, east central Texas late Thursday.

Penn Gets Show At 3,170.

Penn-Humphreys - Boyd -Windsor-Texas Pacific, Murphy No. 1, Gardner survey, western Henderson, was coring frequently, last core reported having been taken at 3,194 feet. Nothing was showing in the dry sand, and cores at 3,184 and 3,172 feet netted same result. However, a core higher up revealed cuttings, with a good oil saturation which yielded a showing on the slush pit. This was passed up.

Cranfill, Murchison-Fain and Midland No. 1, Springer, Gardner survey, was drilling ahead in sandy shale and what appeared to be a lime shell on the slush pit, total depth of about 3,170 feet. No information is being given out at the well, however.

Kaufman Test Down 3,071.

Northward five miles in Kaufman county, Murchison-Fain and Marland Duff No. 1, Ybarbo survey, was 3,071 feet and drilling in shale.

Southwest of these three tests, in Navarro county, Simms Smith No. 1, Autry survey, midway between the Richland and Powell fields, and two and one-half miles from outer bounds of either was 2,882 feet and drilling in shale and lime shell, it being announced that the well went out of the chalk at 2,545 feet after having topped the hard chalk at 2,182 feet.

In Bazette, Gulf Production company and Kirby No. 1, Green, Simmonton survey, drilling in chalk at 2,150 feet.

Wortham Declining.

Wortham is declining speedily but normally. Thursday it did 58,596 barrels from 301 wells and Wednesday's output was 61,000 from same number.

Western Butler Gets New Tests

WICHITA, Kan., April 9. — The western tier of townships in Butler county are to receive two new tests that will make more interesting the adjacent area. Ralston & Matthews announce a test on the Rutschman land, in the southwest corner of the northeast of 33-23-3e, in the center of a 1,000 acre block. It is two and one-half miles southwest of a drilling well by Phillips Petroleum company on the Paulson land. Hapenny and others have staked a location on the Chain land, in the northwest corner of the northeast of the northwest of 19-25-3e.

Thomas-Smith, Parmenter

Thomas and Smith have finished up their No. 1, Parmenter, west half of section 6, H&TCRRCO survey, block 3, total depth of 1,806 feet in a sandy lime. A dry sand was encountered at about 1,748 feet, which was not worth setting casing to test, however. The well is just two miles due west of the new Waite Phillips Tad Wilson well, and considerable interest was manifested for some time in its outcome.

Alford et al, Anderson

Alford et al intend going back at once and finish up their No. 1, Anderson in lot 38, block 4, Clark and Plumb sub-division, due east of Archer City and southeast of the old Ladd and Hannon test in block 90. The well has been shut down since last summer at a total depth of 918 feet three feet in some sort of a sand. It is understood that casing will be set to test this sand and contract finished.

New Mexico Reports

Snowden and McSweeney whose southwestern headquarters are in Fort Worth, are spudding two tests to the 2,000-foot sand in Artesia, Eddy county, New Mexico. No. 1, McNutt, NW corner of section 33-18-28 a south offset to the Mitchell and Walker No. 1, is spudding in on a 280 acre tract. No. 1, Martin-Yates in the SW corner of section 21-18-28 is located on a 160-acre tract and spudding.

Parrish, Archer.

The Atlantic has made location for No. 7-A, Parrish, 300 feet north of the No. 6, which looks like a 150 barrel well or better from the 1,500-foot sand. The rig is moving on.

Magnolia, Waggoner

The Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1, More-Waggoner, in the northwest corner of the south half of the southeast quarter of section 59, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, Wilbarger county, was drilling yesterday below a last reported depth of 1,285 feet.

Maer-Staniforth, Waggoner

Maer and Staniforth have spudded and are drilling several hundred feet down in their No. 1, Waggoner, northeast quarter of the GC&SFRRCO survey, John and Jeff Waggoner lands section 1, south of Fowlkes Station, Wichita county. The well spudded Sunday.

Burns-Maxson, Parrish

Burns and Maxson were drilling yesterday at below 1,600 feet in their No. 1, Parrish, in the southeast corner of the west half of the southwest forty of the southwest quarter of section 26, H&TCRRCO survey, abstract 1197, after drilling sixteen feet of dry sand showing very little oil topped at 1,597 feet, and failing to make a well when casing was set to test.

Wells, Waggoner

Wells et al have about 66 feet of casings to drill out in their No. 1, Waggoner, in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 21, block 14, H&TCRRCO survey, bottom of the hole given as 1,066 feet, eastern Wilbarger county.

McLester, Waggoner

McLester et al are rigging up with cable tools for their No. 1, Waggoner, section 20, H&TCRRCO survey, block 14, eastern Wilbarger county.

Consolidated Leases

Section 2, Block 4.

Consolidated Oil company is drilling at about 800 feet in its No. 3, Waggoner, section 2, block 4, southeast Wilbarger county, located approximately in the northeast corner of the south half of the northwest quarter of the section.

Section 7, Block 4.

Consolidated's No. 4, Waggoner, in the northwest corner of the south half of the northeast corner of the section is drilling at 550 feet.

H&GNRRCO Survey.

Consolidated's Waggoner test in the center north and south of the east line of the west forty of the east 120 acres of the H&GNRRCO survey, abstract 907, is starting up again after being shut down at 1842 feet.

Murchison-Fain, Waggoner

Murchison and Fain were setting pipe yesterday at a depth of 1,856 feet in their No. 1, Waggoner, southwest corner of the southeast 40 acres of the southeast quarter of section 32, block 4, H&TCRRCO survey, a mile and one-half southeast of the Noble well, eastern Wilbarger county. The test had cored three feet of sand, at 1,856-59 feet, showing some oil and was regarded as having a fair chance to make a producer.

White Bros., Kunkel

White Brothers No. 1, Kunkel, Thomas McCoy survey, located 150 feet north of the No. 1, which is in the southwest corner of their 54 acres was swabbing yesterday at a rate of 400 barrels a day from sand at 1,135-58 feet, giving the lease its eighth producing well. The new well, surrounded as it was by a number of large wells which have been in for some time, and located as it was just 150 feet from two other wells, is something of a surprise, a much smaller producer being expected.

Root, McCrary

Root et al were drilling yesterday below a last reported depth of 1,434 feet in their No. 1, McCrary, north of the Levy group, southwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 52, block 14, H&TCRRCO survey, eastern Wilbarger county.

Standard Won Texas Senate Fight, But Did Anti-Trust Law Lose?

Lawyers Declare Hogg-Culberson Laws Nulified

New Statute Empowers Foreign Corporation to Vote Stock

BY HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff

AUSTIN, April 9.—James Stephen Hogg was first elected governor of Texas in 1890. He was the author of many of the constructive laws which bear his name. He was for the regulation of trusts by the state and in 1889 while attorney general of Texas, an anti trust statute was enacted by the legislature.

Charles A. Culberson became the successor of James Stephen Hogg in 1895, and the Twenty-fourth legislature placed teeth in the anti trust law that had been enacted two years earlier.

It will be recalled that the thirty-ninth legislature enacted a free pass bill for the benefit of lawmakers and that governor Ferguson vetoed the same, in the name of the great commoner who had served the people of Texas for eight years in the long ago.

The Culberson Laws

Charles A. Culberson was placed in a grave under the sky of Texas a few days ago. He had served the people 32 years. Just before his death came the Thirty-ninth legislature passed and sent to the governor a bill which permits foreign corporations to vote stock owned in Texas corporations and on April 7th governor Ferguson signed the bill, the most pernicious and farreaching in its ramification that has been enacted in recent years.

They say that it practically nullifies the anti-trust laws given to the people by Hogg and Culberson for the protection of the people in the long ago. This legislation is the outgrowth of the decission of the Supreme Court of Texas. It appears that the Standard Oil company had become the owner of a majority stock interest in the Humble Oil company, a Texas charter concern.

It was asserted that the Standard would violate the anti-trust laws of Texas if it voted its stock and directed the activities of the Humble Oil company. In a test case, the state lost, the supreme court holding that the Standard Oil company had not and would not violate the anti-trust laws by exercising its prerogative as the majority holder of the stock of the Texas corporation.

Standar Not Satisfied

This decision failed to satisfy the Standard Oil company and a bill was introduced early in the session to empower a foreign corporation to vote stock owned in a Texas corporation. An aggressive minority fought the measure. Its sponsor was Representative Norman G. Kittrel of Harris county, the home of the Humble corporation. Its backers were the agents and attorneys of the Humble Oil company and the majority of the stock of the Humble Oil company is owned by the Standard Oil company.

It was a long drawn out fight in the house, although the bill had easy sledding in the senate. Now eminent lawyers say that the Hogg-Culberson anti-trust laws of 1889 and 1925 have been nullified, and that in a very few years foreign corporations will not only own a majority of the stock of Texas corporations, but will absolutely dominate them.

It is only fair to say that the lawmakers who backed the Kittrell measure declared that the hour had arrived to throw aside the barriers and permit money to flow into Texas from all other states as well as outside nations.

Definition of Trust

Long ago a trust was defined as an organization formed mainly for the purpose of regulating the supply and price of articles; that it was charged against trust that they were dangerous to the best interest of the American people; that there were two great evils arising from all truts; that they made and held high prices; that they combined many small companies into one large company, thus reducing force and throwing men out of employment.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt once said, "there are good and bad trusts. We should encourage the good trusts and smash the bad ones." This may have been the directing motive of the lawmakers who have made it possible by statute for foreign corporations to control, by majority stock purchase, Texas' charter corporations.

It will be impossible for the state, it is said, to prosecute successfully, foreign corporations for violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws. Likewise it will be impossible for the state to prosecute successfully Texas' charter corporations which are owned by foreign corporations through majority purchase.

Hogg is dead but his anti pass law survived the assaults of its enemies; Culberson is dead but will his anti-trust laws survive the legislation of 1925. Time will tell the story.

99 New Wells Started Last Week, Oklahoma

Last Garber Deep Sand Well Guage Shows 2,690 Barrels

TULSA, Okla., April 9.—The 100 mark was almost attained in new operations for Oklahoma the first week of April, so a summary of the oil fields of the state indicate. Exactly 99 first reports were made in 12 counties.

Seminole led with 21, Osage with 20, Okmulgee with 14, Creek and Carter each with 9, Stephens with 8, Hughes with 7, Tulsa with 5, Garfield with 4, Grady 3, Pawnee 2.

The coming week is expected to see Garfield forge ahead, on account of the discovery of a deeper sand in the Garber field by the Sinclair Oil and Gas company.

Garber Field.

Sinclair Oil and Gas company No. 25, Belveal, in the northeast corner of 24-22-4w, Garfield county, which uncovered a new deep pay formation at 4,377 feet, is now 17 feet in the new sand, and the 24 hour gauge for Thursday morning was 2,690 barrels.

As the well was deepened Sunday, Monday and Tuesday it was agitated somewhat, but the owners have decided to let it alone for several days to see how it holds up. This will determine what the future operating policy will be.

WICHITA FALLS IS GREAT

Because: The city centers a district whose cotton production in 1924 was 700,000 bales.

SOMEWHAT MIXED AS TO FIGURES.

Writing on the subject of wages, Secretary of Labor Davis gets rather badly mixed in his reasoning from statistics, although his general proposition is sound. He seeks to establish the principle that a raise in wages should go hand-in-hand with an increase of production, so that the workers may share proportionately in the profits of industry. Whether one is disposed to accept the secretary's principle or not, it cannot be questioned that the principle is operative. There seems to be no room for argument about the self-evident fact that wages in this country have risen with the expansion of production. But Secretary Davis insists upon an argument, taking a highly controversial tone in presenting his figures.

"Do you realize," he asks in his article in the New York Times, "that in the field of manufacturing alone we produce more than $60,000,000,000 worth of manufactured goods per year? In 1923 the value of manufactured products was precisely $60,481,-135,000, which represents an increase of 38 1-2 per cent over the production of 1921. While the money value shows some falling off as against 1919, yet in actual quantities produced there was an increase of 19 per cent in 1923 over the quantities produced in 1919. The number of persons engaged in manufacturing in 1923 was 10,176,750, and of these 8,763,233 were actual wage-earners, an increase in wage-earners of more than 26.2 per cent over 1921. The wage payments in 1923 were $10,985,895,000, an increase of 34 per cent over 1921."

To an unprejudiced person, these figures must indicate that our workers are doing quite well. Measured in value, production increased 38 1-2 per cent, and wages 34 per cent. Production's margin of two and a half per cent appears no greater than it needs to maintain its expansion. But Secretary Davis is not pleased with this showing. He feels that something is wrong with it. The workers, in his opinion, are not getting justice. But they must get justice. So the secretary introduces a novel method of calculation. He argues as follows:

"Now the manufacturing establishment, of course, takes in raw material and further fabricates, changes or develops this raw material into finished output. Much of that raw material is, in fact, the finished product of our manufacturing establishments, so that perhaps the best measure of what our manufacturing industries are really doing is the value added by manufacture; in other words, the difference between raw material as it goes into a given factory and the value of the finished product as it emerges from that factory. Applying this test we find that the value created over and above raw material cost in the manufacturing plants of the United States in 1923 was $25,853,151,000, an increase of 41 per cent as compared with 1921; whereas the number of wage workers increased but 26.2 per cent and the amount of wages paid increased 34 per cent."

Obviously, Secretary Davis' enthusiasm for original research has led him too far. He takes no account of fluctuating raw material prices, which would explain the difference between the increase in value added by manufacture, estimated at 41 per cent, and the increase in value of finished products, estimated at 38 1-2 per cent. Nor is this his only inconsistency. After implying, in the language quoted above, that the value added to goods by manufacture should determine wage advances, he criticises textile manufacturers for wanting to reduce wages in order to balance increased raw material costs, which, of course, cut down the value added by manufacture.

THE UNIVERSAL MIND.

Without hurry, without rest, the human spirit goes forth from the beginning to embody every faculty, every thought, every emotion which belongs to it, in appropriate events.

But always the thought is prior to the fact; all the facts of history pre-exist in the mind as laws.

Each law in turn is made by circumstances predominant, and the limits of nature give power to but one at a time.

A man is the whole encyclopedia of facts.

The creation of a thousand forests is in one acorn, and Egypt, Greece, Rome, Gaul, Britain, America, lie folded already in the first man.

Epoch after epoch, camp, kingdom, empire, republic, democracy are merely the application of his manifold spirit to the world.

Emerson, preaching the doctrine contained in the paragraphs above, observed that if the whole of history is in one man, it is all to be explained from individual experience. There is a relation between the hours of our life and the centuries of time.

"As the air I breathe is drawn from the great repositories of nature, as the light on my book is yielded by a star a hundred million miles distant, as the poise of my body depends on the equilibrium of centrifugal and centripetal forces, so the hours should be instructed by the ages and the ages explained by the hours.

"Of the universal mind each individual man is one more incarnation. All its properties exist in him. Each step in his private experience flashes a light on what great bodies of men have done, and the crises of his life refer to national crises.

"Every revolution was first thought in one man's mind, and when the same thought occurs to another man, it is the key to that era.

"Every reform was once a private opinion, and when it shall be a private opinion again it will solve the problem of the age.

"The fact narrated must correspond to something in me to be credible or intelligible. We, as we read, must become Greeks, Romans, Turks, priest and king, martyr and executioner; must fasten these images to some reality in our secret experience, or we shall see nothing, learn nothing, keep nothing."

When you read history, then, read history actively and not passively; esteem your own life the text, and the book the commentary.

EASTER.

The general idea which underlies Easter is the idea expressed by Longfellow, that we can all rise by stepping upon our dead selves to higher things.

The most wonderful thing in this world is not death, but the rising from the dead. Spring is a continual miracle and symbolizes for us that success which can mount up from failure.

There are many failures amongst us; in fact, more failures than successes. Thousands of people who read this are failures. That is what makes them interested in it.

Most of us are heirs to failure. What little success we have had has been wrung from failure.

Failure properly conceived is but the manure of success. With it grows success. It befell us in order that we might succeed.

As winter contains the seeds of the future summer wrapped away in its bosom, so our failures contain within themselves the seeds of greater success.

Those who are blind or crippled or otherwise unfortunate have realized this. They have demonstrated that there is no failure except in the human spirit. As long as we have courage left and a gun to be fired we should not speak of giving up.

Viewed in this light sickness is more of an opportunity than it is a disaster.

Someone has said that an optimist is one who sees opportunity in every disaster and a pessimist is one who sees disaster in every opportunity.

A young actress named Betty Benfield came to New York seeking a job, but she never learned how to lose. She attempted to take her own life after she had been walking the streets for two years. She had mistaken temporary for permanent failure. One ought to have resources enough so that if he fails in one direction he can succeed in another.

Easter means that eternal hope that springs from the human breast. It means that no matter how bloody our head may be and how often we may be knocked down, we are still undaunted and unafraid.

In the history of most successful men, if it were truthfully told, there are many failures. Mr. J. P. Morgan when he died left a number of worthless stocks in which he had invested. At one time or another we all make mistakes. The question is, what are we to do with them? Are we to allow them to become incubi upon the spirit, or are we to learn from them those lessons which guide us into future success?

No man should give up. The realization of his dreams lies just around the corner. It is only those who go on who eventually succeed.

The essential characteristic of the human being is that he always finds opportunity in defeat. Or he may find it if he has the proper spirit.

The most remarkable thing about the past is not its crumbling monuments of stone, for these decay in time. The most remarkable thing is the continuation of life.

The works of man disappear, but man himself continually reappears.

Life seems to hang upon an uncertain thread, but it is firmer and more secure than anything that it accomplishes.

COOLIDGE AND BORAH

Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho is the fly in the Coolidge ointment. Senator Borah is a regular republican. He is the chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations. He finds himself unable to support the world court proposal. This is dear to the heart of the president and a clash is seen.

Senator Borah is for the recognition of Russia, President Coolidge is opposed to the recognition of Russia. President Coolidge favors the return of German property taken over by the government during the World War. Senator Borah is opposed to its return.

Senator Borah is said to be the ablest of American senators. There should be an interesting session of congress next winter in the conflict that is certain to come between the administration and certain independent republicans who hold seats in the American senate.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Spring Fever.

Inasmuch as for thousands of years the inhabitants of most sections of the world have sowed their crops in the spring, it is but natural that within us the season stirs the instinct to be up and doing.

In all temperate climates, the people waken with the grass and the trees, they feel within them a desire to get something accomplished that is backed with the energy to accomplish it.

It is not because she knows that spring is house cleaning time that the housewife is impelled to get to work with broom and dust pan, to have the rugs hung out on the line, and to apply soap and water to every portion of her dwelling.

That is a task she can no more help performing, if she has been brought up in the old-fashioned way, than the robin can help hunting for mud and twigs with which to build her nest.

Hundreds of suburban residents busy themselves with their gardens as soon as the frost is out of the ground, because something drives them out doors, and drives them to work when they get there.

That is the real spring fever.

The energy that was stored up through the winter is loosed in vegetable and animal life alike.

Even the old feel the stir in their blood, and no longer do the tasks that once appalled them seem hopeless.

For all this there is possibly a chemical cause.

The warmth makes life outdoors possible, the air that one breathes outdoors fills the blood with new forces, and the human creature finds himself suddenly eager to be doing something.

And in that soft air of spring may reside some element of which we know nothing, some electrical or chemical substances that sets the whole system in action.

What this is we do not know.

But we do know that spring is a time when there is abundance of will to plan great plans, and plenty of strength in store at least to begin them.

A man who looks at the future despairingly in spring is lost to all hope.

To make this spring fever last the whole year through is a difficult matter, and perhaps, it is not necessary.

But if we make enough plans when the eagerness to plan is on us we shall give ourselves enough work to do through the summer and autumn and winter to keep us busy, and that is the important thing.

If we harness these great conceptions of our own possibilities which come to us as we see the bursting blossoms and the thrusting leaves, we shall at least provide them with some object for steady industry for the remainder of the year.

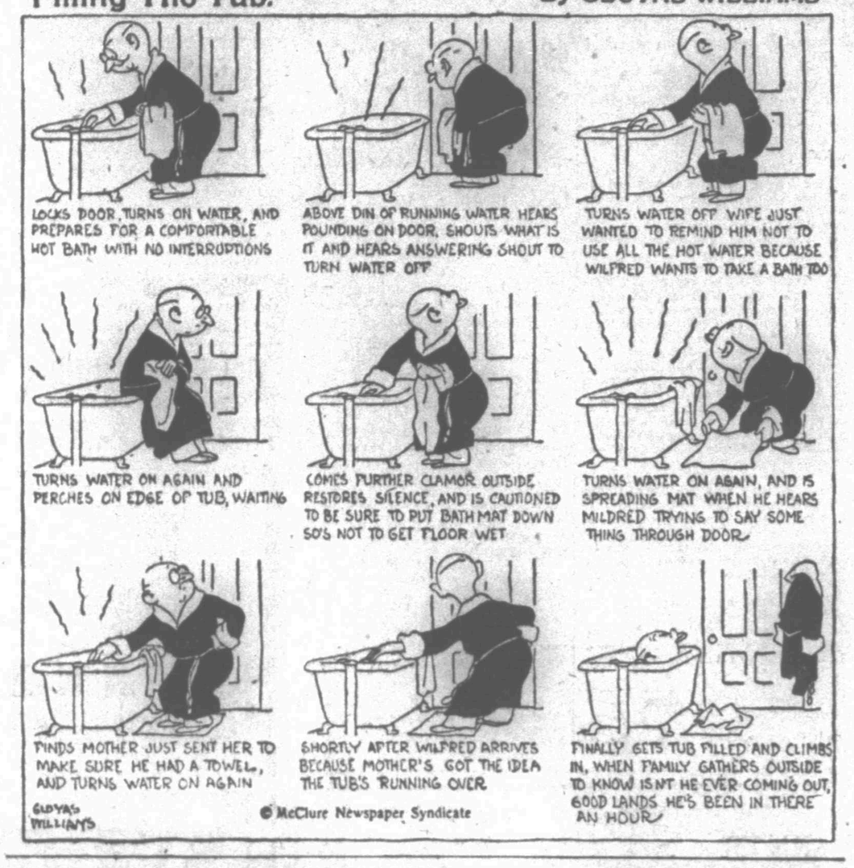

The best spring medicine we can take is fresh air and sunlight. If they will not set us going at top speed, nothing will.

And even if we slow down later on, we shall at least have had a running start, and that is always a help in getting over hurdles.

Irrigation

THE CANVASS DAM

Field laterals are generally built so that the water when flowing is below the outlet openings along the lower bank. To cause the water to flow out into the rows it is necessary to check it so it will back up and rise to a higher level.

On account of the fact that field laterals may be plowed up at the end of the season they are often left without any checks or gates and some other means must be employed to raise the water level.

One of the handiest devices for this purpose is the canvas dam. It is simple, portable, inexpensive and effective. It can be used to good advantage even by the amateur in irrigation.

A piece of canvas four or six feet square or even larger, according to the size of the lateral is used. One edge of the canvas is turned back and stitched so as to form a hem big enough to admit a piece of 2x4 or a short length of gas pipe. This stick or pipe forms the cross piece.

The dam is used by laying the cross piece from bank to bank across the canal. The canvas is spread on the bottom and up the sides in the direction from which the flow will come. A few shovel fulls of dirt is placed on it along the sides. If the bottom is muddy it is a good idea to tramp the canvas into the mud on the bottom.

It is sometimes a little difficult to place a dam in a flowing stream, but by using two of them and placing one in position before the water is admitted they can be alternated and one dam always placed in the dry shed of the other.

They are easy to remove. Simply lift one side of the cross piece until the water starts flowing around the edge and continue pulling slowly. The flow of the stream will do the rest.

The canvas dam is a very useful device for the irrigation farmer especially on new land.

HOW IT STARTED

"HONEST GRAFT"

A white lie is a lie told as a means to a good end; but what is "honest graft?" Faced with this common expression, most of us would say that there can be no distinction—that graft is graft, and, of course, always dishonest. You may remark that it would take one with an ax to grind, one with the object of justifying graft on his own part, to draw the subtile line of demarcation between graft and "honest graft." And it is just in this way that the expression had its origin.

The phrase was invented by the late George W. Plunkitt, a New York politician, who was known for years as a typical product of the Tammany ward organization. It was in 1908, in replying to an attack on Tammany as the home of graft that he said:

"Everybody is talkin' these days about Tammany men growin' rich on graft, but nobody thinks of drawin' the distinction between honest graft and dishonest graft. There's all the difference in the world between the two.

"There's an honest graft, and I'm an example of how it works. I might sum up the whole thing by sayin': 'I seen my opportunities and took 'em'."

He explained that what he meant was mainly the purchase of land, supplies and materials in advance of public improvements which he learned about, and later reselling to the city or other purchasers at a great profit.

At the time the expression "honest graft" received wide publicity throughout the country, particularly because New York City politics were then notorious for graft and corruption, and surviving, the phrase is frequently used in common speech today.

POEMS THAT LIVE

WE HAVE BEEN FRIENDS TOGETHER.

We have been friends together
In sunshine and in shade,
Since first beneath the chestnut tree
In infancy we played.
But coldness dwells within thy heart,
A cloud is on thy brow;
We have been friends together,
Shall a light word part us now?

We have been gay together;
We have laughed at little jests;
For the fount of hope was gushing
Warm ad joyous at our breasts.
But laughter now hath fled thy lip,
And sullen glooms thy brow;
We have been gay together,
Shall a light word part us now?

We have been sad together;
We have wept with bitter tears
O'er the grass grown grave where slumbered
The hopes of early years.
The voices which were silent then
Would bid thee clear thy brow;
We have been sad together,
Shall a light word part us now?

What Today Means To You

ARIES.

Today, according to the planetary aspects, looms up adversely, but conditions soon improve, and in the afternoon the signs are quite favorable, reverting to a negative state in the evening. Little or nothing of much importance should be essayed during the early hours, but thereafter, and until sundown, energetic efforts along constructive lines will bring the desired results, especially in fields of endeavor that are related to business. In the evening simple recreation or quiet reading will provide the best antidote to any harmful influences, and prevent a period of introspection or gloomy reflection—to which there will be a marked tendency.

The infant that makes its first appearance today will be lusty and healthy, and will cause no worry or anxiety on the ground of illness. It may not be able to pride itself on any physical prowess, but it will grow up to be wiry and possess endurance. It will have many winning ways, and by its cheerfulness and disregard of trouble will often let in rays of sunshine where, otherwise, only gloom and despair would prevail. It will not be very ambitious, but will at all times be a plodder. Anything it learns or does will be learned or done thoroughly, and not with that air of superficiality which is so often mistaken for brilliancy. It will be both loyal and sincere, and its affections will be permanent and not transitory.

You, if today is the anniversary of your birth, are strongwilled and determined, and whenever opposition to you or your plans looms up, are able to crush and destroy it by the strength of your character. Your convictions are very compelling, and you never hesitate to voice them, if the occasion to do so should arise. You do not seek a fight, but once one is thrust upon you the issue is never evaded, and "side stepping" is an art that is unknown to you.

Your standards are very high, but in spite of this, the "holier-than-thou" attitude is at no time assumed by you, and you are reasonably tolerant of people's foibles and weaknesses.

You love deeply, and the vehemence and strength of your love begets an equal return. In your home life, you are not alone yourself, but bring enjoyment and happiness to those who comprise your family circle.

More Truth Than Poetry

THIS CANNOT BE TRUE!

Ah! Well may the editors view with alarm
The worrisome trend of events,
And the folk of the mart and the mill and the farm
Grow troubled and haggard and tense!
Ah! Well may political leaders despair,
As they read with profound agitation,
The news in the papers which bids them beware
Of the forthcoming state of the nation.
For the headlines this morning, in black letters say:
EIGHT CONGRESSMEN STATE
THEY'LL REFUSE RAISE IN PAY!

For years all our statesmen, from rostrum and stage,
A piteous outcry have made,
Contending no servant should work for the wage
That the great of the nation were paid.
Devotion to duty compelled them to rattle
The nation's unbreakable fetters,
As they went to their labor like dumb driven cattle,
And died, broken spirited debtors,
And as, on their eloquent gestures we gazed,
We sobbed: "The poor fellows, they ought to get raised!"

And now, since they've got what they think they are worth,
Come eight of their number to say
That a congressman's job is a pretty good berth,
And won't take any raise in their pay.
When people in politics thusly behave,
Look out for the old constitution!
Look out for the people, for what's going to save
The nation from swift dissolution?
We have fallen on awful and ominous days,
When statesmen refuse to accept any raise!

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

IT'S ALL RIGHT TO SHOUT YOUR LOVE, WHISPER IT, TELEPHONE IT, BUT DON'T PUT IT DOWN IN BLACK AND WHITE

A young girl wants me to tell her how to write a love letter.

Not on your life, sweet child. I would as soon give you a reliable recipe for concocting home brew with a forty-power white mule kick to it as I would a formula for writing love letters. One wouldn't be a whit more dangerous and demoralizing to you than the other.

The only rule for writing love letters that I can give to any girl who is chewing up her penholder while she tries to think of how to put her surging emotions on paper and wonders if there are two "f's" or one in "affection" is DON'T DO IT. Whisper your love. Shout it aloud. Telephone it. But never, never, NEVER write it. Don't put it down in black and white.

If the urge to write is too strong for you, then let me implore you to seal your burning, sizzling billet story up in a good stout envelope and park it in the ice box until the next day. Then read it over, and you will mail it in the fire or the wastebasket. You will never send it, and you will feel like going down on your knees and thanking God that you were saved one more time from making a fool of yourself.

It is silly enough and indiscreet enough for a girl to write sloppy love letters to the man to whom she is betrothed and whom she expects to marry. For it is the part of wisdom to keep a man guessing instead of having it go on record that you are ever and unalterably his, and that you pine away in his absence and would surely commit suicide if anything untoward happened to him or he should cease to love his own itty darling Tootsy Wootsy.

Unfortunately, however, girls do not confine their love missive to their betrothed. They put the climax on their folly by sending these incriminating documents, wherein they recall sentimental episodes, and exhaust the whole vocabulary of endearments, and swear their leathless devotion to men who are comparative strangers, men who have never asked them to marry them and whom they wouldn't marry on a bet.

These girls fail to realise how serious, how sinister the written word can become. A girl may tell a boy she loves him and that she will break her heart if he goes away, and both he and she know it's just part of the "kidding" of an idle flirtation. She may even kiss a youth innocently enough, but when she writes him that she is dying of love for him and that she is hungry for his kisses it becomes another thing and the gossips roll it under their tongues.

Many a girl has been sneered at and pitied for having given her love in vain, or having been jilted; many a girl's character has been torn into tatters by the scandalmongers; just because of a silly letter she wrote some man with whom she was corresponding. She put in all of the highfalutin nonsense about love and dying and kisses just because she thought it soounded like "Three Weeks" on a movie scenario, and because it gave the letter pep, and she never dreamed how it would look to a cynical and censorious world.

For these are the kinds of letters that father buys back when they happen to be written to a handsome and fascinating stranger with no principles and an itching palm. And they cost papa a pretty penny and the girl the scare of her life, for well she knows she would never be able to hold up her head again among her friends if these hectic letters, not one word of which did she really mean, were made public to be laughed at and ridiculed by decent people, and to be made the most and the worst of by the evil-minded.

Of course, girls justify their idocy in writing love letters by trying to delude themselves into believing that the men regard their letters as sacred and tie them up with blue ribbons and wear them next their hearts. Fudge! Every girl with brothers knows better.

Not every man is a blackmailer. Not a great many men are cads enough to show their love letters to prove what devils of fellows they are among the girls, but practically all men are careless. Men don't wear their love letters next to their hearts, but in old coat pockets and in the top drawer of their chiffoniers, and in the huddle of papers on their desks, and the only reason their female relatives and their friends and chambermaids and the janitor don't read them is because they don't want to.

Hence every girl who writes to a man does well to consider how the sentiments she expresses will appear to the cold and unsympathetic eyes of outsiders. That thought alone should bring the temperature of many a feverish epistle down to subnormal.

Why have girls this fatal mania for writing love letters? There are several explanations to be offered. One is that every woman is a sentimentalist, and when she starts to write a love letter she just can't help slopping over and so she says things she neither means nor feels just because they sound so grand and poetic. Another reason is that every woman yearns to dramatise herself, to be the heroine of a love idyl, and the love letter offers her the center of the stage, with the spot light on her for the time being at least, so she goes toit.

The third reason is that ink affects women like champagne. They get maudlin drunk on it, and so whenever they put pen to paper they go on a debauch in which they are not responsible for what they do or say.

The moral of all of which is: be circumspect in what you write to boys, girls. So shall you save yourself trouble and humiliation. Say what you please, but don't put it on paper.

Mrs. E. F. Riley Makes A Plea For Babies In The Kiwanis Nursery Drive

IN sympathy with the Kiwanis club drive for funds with which to erect a completely equipped building for the Day Nursery sponsored by the Federated Missionary societies of Wichita Falls, local clubwomen are offering articles for publication.

Below appears the plea of Mrs. E. F. Riley for the Day Nursery campaign, which opens Monday, April 14:

A few days ago I had occasion to visit the Day Nursery with several ladies for the purpose of seeing how this great organization was getting along with their present needs, etc. The incidents during our short visit were strikingly sad and depressing. A wee babe, or angel, I might say, was happily cooing and laughing on a snow white crib, that the good ladies of this institution had so untiringly prepared for it. Little did this precious child realize that the only dependents it could lean upon for food and shelter during the day were the splendid people of Wichita Falls. Our visit was interrupted by a very sad-faced young mother, poorly clad, leading by the hand a little girl of two or three tender years, begging to have this little tot cared for during the day while she worked for existence. It then became the sad and solemn duty of our beloved matron of the Day Nursery to inform the mother of the oldest child that another home must be provided for her owing to the fact that she was nearing the age limit and that the Day Nursery was already housing as many children as it could possibly care for, and that preference would have to be shown for the smaller and more helpless little ones. Oh! the sadness of it all, and why? For the pressing and immediate need of a larger and more modern Day Nursery and playground.

I could go on and write much more but I feel sure this will bring most of our good and thoughtful citizens to the realization that immediate seps must be taken to finance our new Day Nursery which we contemplate building as soon as sufficient funds can be raised.

The Kiwanis club has started a big drive for this noble cause. Let's all do our bit at this holy season of Easter and build God's little ones a nice big nursery, for remember—

"And whomsoever shall give to drink to one of these little ones, a cup of cold water only in the name of a disciple, amen I say to you, he shall not lose his reward."

Rain Is Welcome Sight To North Texas Farmers

Loss From Storm Offset By Good Done To Crops

DALLAS, April 9.—(AP)—Heavy rains, accompanied by minature twisters, terrific winds and hail, swept several north Texas sections late Wednesday night, breaking a long drouth, killing two persons, injuring several, and damaging many buildings. Along with the loss, the breaking of the drouth was of intestimable value to farms. The range of the precipitation was as far west as Wichita Falls, to the east Texas line and from Red river to sections in central Texas.

While various towns reported damages to residences, business buildings and schools the storm apparently centered over Denison, Texas, in the afternoon. There D. . Bell, 50, farm labor union organizer, was electrocuted when he stepped on an electric wire, while fighting a fire set by lightning.

At Brookston, Texas, a negro was killed by flying timbers. Heavy rain was reported at Brookston, Paris and Bonham, while Greenville was assured of a water supply when the Sabine river rose four feet. Mount Vernon, Texas, reported a twister damaged 13 houses. Crops and houses near Winfield, were damaged.

Sherman, a few miles south of Denison, received less than a half of an inch of rain, with the downpour at the gate city was more than three inches within a half hour.

Corsicana, south of Dallas, received one and one-half inches of rain, breaking several months of drouth.

Mount Pleasant, Texas, in the northeast section, reported the most severe hail storm in years.

Gainesville, Texas, reported high winds and five inches of rainfall in Love county, Oklahoma, with damage to crops and farm houses.

A small twister struck the hill tops in Liberty Heights, a few miles south of Dallas, about 8 o'clock last night, wrecking several homes. No one was injured. The thunder shower in Dallas registered only .19 of an inch.

Rains Visit North And Central Texas

DALLAS, April 9. — Rains last night were reported in thirteen places in cotton raising sections of Texas in the daily cotton bulletin issued by the United States weather bureau. The amount in inches and hundredths follows: Dallas .18; Greenville .75; Mount Pleasant 2.20; Paris 1.00; Sherman .46; Llano .48; Corsicana 1.44; Lampasas .42; Taylor .01; Huntsville .01; Longview .92; Nacogdoches .60; Palestine .26.

GREENVILLE GETS GOOD RAIN

GREENVILLE, Texas, April 9.—A drouth of nearly five months was broken by a rainfall of one inch here last night. The Sabine river rose to the four foot stage, assuming relief from the city's water shortage. Towns within a radius of sixty miles reported heavy rain, proving of inestimable value to crops.

CORSICANA DROUTH ENDS

CORSICANA, Texas, April 9. — Several months drouth in Navarro county ended late last night when an inch and a half of rain fell. Farmers said the moisture was worth large sums to them. An electrical disturbance accompanied the rain but did no damage so far as reports early today said.

RAIN FOLLOWS PRAYERS

AUSTIN, April 9.—Rainfall of .14 inch came for Austin early Thursday morning, only a few hours after prayers for rain had been offered in Austin churches. Light showers were reported at Georgetown, San Marcos and Lockhart. Several ministers were preparing to offer thanks services for Wednesday night's rain, they said.

COOLIDGE

n and buying a couple of dresses at he marked-down prices.

Even now, when fashionable milners and dressmakers bring their wares to the White House, the final decision on a hat or gown is said to lie with the president. Mrs. Coolidge likes bright colors, while the president's tastes, so far as his own wearing apparel is concerned, run to somber hues. He is partial to grays and blues.

Sets Example for America.

Those stories are related here to show just how close the president is to the average American, how he has not permitted the glamor of the White House to lead him into unaccustomed expenditures and how he sets an example for the sort of personal economy he wishes could be practiced by that great army of Americans "keeping up with the Joneses."

They are set down here as a preface to the statement that those important influences which have had their way in the national capital for many years are "panning" the president's economy program. A grumble is growing into something like a growl.

The relation of the federal treasury to commercial Washington is so direct, the road of the government clerk's pay-check so easy and direct to the capital's shops, that something not far removed from an active propaganda against the president has been put under way. The objective would appear to be congress, through an agitation to nullify the Coolidge budget reforms and grant larger appropriations.

One auto dealer had seven cancellations the day after the president made a speech saying that the number of government employes should be cut down. Real estate dealers also are squealing.

Part of Country Wide Movement

But these are not isolated cases. There are hundreds of organized movements, here and throughout the land, to take money away from Uncle Sam. Powerful farm organizations want huge subsidies. Social service groups want to organize great bureaus to control education, hygiene and babies. There are ships to be run at a loss and huge projects like Muscle Shoals to be unloaded, if some persons had their way.

All of these things Mr. Coolidge is trying to counter and prevent.

Donahey Fined

HAL DONAHEY

Son of Governor A. V. Donahey, Ohio

Young Donahey on Thursday was fined $100 for "contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile" in connection with his relations with Lillian Vogel, 15, of Zanesville. The judge in imposing sentence declared he was convinced young Donahey had in no way harmed the girl but that he had fined the lad for lying to him.

BURGLARS TRUST INVIOLATE

One Thief Deducted From His Income Tax Returns the Cost of Tools Lost.

CHICAGO, April 9. — Burglars, bootleggers and other criminals may file income tax schedules disclosing their occupation with assurance that the government will treat these disclosures as strictly confidential, Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, United States collector of internal revenue announced today. Even if amount are made public publication of schedules is a penitentiary offense said Mrs. Reinecke, adding "a burglar, in filing his return, claimed a deduction 'for small tools lost while on the job'."

Runaway Son Of Governor Draws A Fine

He is Also Placed Under Eye of Juvenile Court

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, April 9. — TH laDonahey, 19-year-old son of Governor Viv Donahey, today was fined $100 and costs by Probate Judge Clarence Graham on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of Miss Lillian Vogel, 15-year-old Zanesville girl, whom he took to Columbus last Sunday night.

He was remanded to custody of Sheriff O. E. Bradford of Muskingum county until the fine was paid. He also was placed under the control of the Muskingum county juvenile court until he reaches 21 years of age.

Girl Under Probation.

Miss Vogel was placed under strict probation of the court for the next 12 months.

Soon after sentence had been pronounced Mrs. Donahey, who was in court with her son and the girl whom he had brought to Columbus, paid the fine and costs.

Judge Graham said he was convinced that there had been no improper conduct between the governor's son and Miss Vogel and that the only reason he fined Hal was because he had lied to him last Tuesday afternoon when the judge questioned him about the disappearance of Miss Vogel.

"I would like to be lenient with you. I would like to let you go free, but in view of the stories you told me Tuesday afternoon I am obliged to fine you and put you under the control of the court," Judge Graham said.

"It is too bad that your father bought you the fine roadster," Judge Graham continued. "I hope that you will sell it to pay this fine. It is like you told me yesterday—you have too much sporting blood in your veins to own an automobile."

Judge Graham told Miss Vogel that she must not appear at public dances and that she would be watched continuously by court authorities for the next year.

Tells of Auto Ride.

Both young Donahey and Miss Vogel declared to the court the circumstances in connection with their automobile ride Sunday night which wound up with him bringing her to Columbus because she was afraid to return to the home of her aunt with whom she was staying. Reaching Columbus between 2 and 3 o'clock Monday morning they said they drove about until 7 o'clock when they had breakfast and he took Miss Vogel to the home of her friend, Miss Margaret Luther, where she spent Monday and Monday night. Tuesday she entered the rooming house where she was located yesterday by Mrs. Donahey and taken to the executive mansion. Several other witnesses corroborated stories which the two had previously told about their meeting in Zanesville and their activities there before Hal and Miss Vogel started for Columbus.

Mrs. Donahey and Hal returned to Columbus as soon as the trial was over and the fine paid.

Police Seek Woman Who Left Her Home

A day of searching for Mrs. Winnie Stanley, who left her home two miles east of town at 3 o'clock Thursday morning after leaving a note saying "good bye," failed yesterday to bring any trace of her. Sheriff Smith and his deputies put in hours on the hunt but early last night said they had found nothing to indicate her whereabouts.

The note, left on the dining room table of her home, stated that her Bible was "to be placed in the grave with her."

She is described as being about 5 feet 7 inches in height, weighs approximately 200 pounds, and when last seen was wearing a blue apron.

Student Is Attacked After Car Collision

Charges of aggravated assault may be filed some time today as a result of the attack staged Thursday afternoon by an unknown assailant on Fred Owens, a high school student residing at 2130 Avenue F. Owens and his attorney appeared at the county attorney's office late yesterday afternoon and the boy told his story.

He said that the automobile he was driving collided with another machine at the corner of Polk and Avenue F, and that as he stepped down to investigate the damage, the driver of the other machine struck him on the head with a revolver. He exhibited a deep gash in the forehead which, he said, was made by the weapon.

Officers have taken a man in custody in connection with the case but no complaint has been made against him.

Dry Goods Co. Adds 2 Floors To Big Store

Miller-Ferguson Announces Expansion to Entire Building

A permanent home for the Miller-Ferguson Dry Goods company, prominent mercantile firm of the city, has been acquired by the concern through the purchase of the American hotel building at Tenth and Indiana. Announcement of the deal was made Thursday by Claude Miller, general manager of the store.

The property heretofore has been owned by Mrs. Drusie, who has sold it for a consideration reported to be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The dry goods company now uses the basement, first floor and balcony of the building, while the two upper floors are devoted to the hotel use. The improvement program contemplated involves construction of three stories, the present height of the structure, clear back to the alley between Indiana and Scott. This will give enlarged quarters for the hotel and will also result in a decided expansion of space for the store itself.

Additional space for display of goods, as well as larger quarters for stock will be provided.

The Tenth and Indiana corner is one of the most valuable business sites in the city at present.

Bets Taxicabs Against Cafe He Can Marry

METUCHEN, N. J, April 9.—Patrick Kreps, owner of a taxicab business which he wagered yesterday against the restaurant business owned by William A. Eichbaum in a bet that he could get married in 36 hours although he had no feminine friends, left here today for Elkton, Md., accompanied by his prospective bride, Miss Agatha Esther Hollis.

Kreps said that he expected to be married about 1 p. m. in Elkton and told Eichbaum that when he returned he would take over the latter's restaurant. Both men signed an agreement to their wager before a notary. It was the result of Eichman's joking Kreps about his unmarried state.

Miss Hollis is employed in the office of a New Brunswick hosiery shop. She is 40 years old, the same age as Kreps.

TIMELY VIEWS-WORLD TOPICS

"Present Conditions in Central Europe Untenable," Says Ex-Chancellor of Austria.

DR. R. SIEGHART

THE belief that the state of affairs in Central Europe is untenable even in allied countries, according to Dr. Rudolf Sieghart, former chancellor of the exchequer of Austria, who arrived in the U. S. recently. The former cancellor is here to study business conditions and to see if business is to be done by the United States with Austria and to confer with American representatives of his bank, including J. P. Morgan & Co.

He said that Austria had suffered much from political upheavals, but that the situation was not as bad as pictured generally to the newspapers. Of conditions in Austria Dr. Sieghart, who is chairman of the Boden Creditanstalt, said:

"Austria isn't so bad. She is convalescent. She wants two things—encouragement and food.

"All our skill and advantages cannot be utilized to the full so long as customs barriers impede the transport of the products of our energy," said the former chancellor.

Hopes for Internal Tolerance

"We are perfectly sure and hope that all this is only a passing phenomenon, for, even in the victorious countries the opinion is daily gaining strength that the state of affairs in Central is untenable; and thus it is that gives us hope that the great powers will yet be able to bring about within the confines of the old dual monarchy a situation of mutual tolerance in economic and trading facilities without in any way infringing the soverign rights of any of the nations concerned.

"When such a situation has been established then we need have no fear of Austria. It is perfectly true that during the long years of the war and of the period of smoldering war that succeeded it, our industrial plants could not always be kept at the highest pitch of technical development; it is also true that through dearth of capital we cannot carry out all the necessary renovations and improovements unaided. But there is not a shadow of doubt that whoever comes to our aid is making a good investment and is sure to be amply rewarded. I say this with a clear conscience, knowing as I do the great resposibilities of our country.

"One must not be led astray by one-sided descriptions. No wise Austrian will try to deny that the awful political catastrophe which befell our country has had unpleasant effects on our public and private life. But these effects have been greatly exaggerated and distorted. But when the sun begins to shine on us again, and when our people can look to the future with hope and confidence, then will all their fine qualities make themselves felt as of yore.

All Euripe Suffering

"The whole of Europe is suffering today from irritableness and depression; for the sins of Europe have all too cruelly wounded the spirit of mutual interdependence. Here in this land of solidarity, or equal rights of citizenship and of lofty ideals, every European must feel the hope awake within him that also the old continent will erect a new structure on the lasting foundations of peace and happiness. This, I say, is the great impression every European gets in this wonderful country. We have only to look at this land of the glorious present to get hope and inspiration for our own future."

Louisiana Quits Sixty-Four Old Light Oil Wells

Decline in Light Oil Output Credited to Old Holes Pumping Out

BY D. H. BANCROFT

SHREVEPORT, La., April 9.—Three days make a big difference in production figures and in the case of the north Louisiana-South Arkansas fields they turned declines in daily average runs for most of the 11 producing districts into a gain in total production. Output for the entire Shreveport district in February was 4,324,124 barrels and in March it was 5,032,664 barrels. On the basis of 28 days, as in February however, March production was only 4,545,632 barrels. The increase for the district is attributable almost entirely to deep sand drilling in Smackover, and occasional spurts during the month by various individual pools. As a whole, however, the light oil districts have steadily declined during the month, and their small gains in March, even with the three-day advantage, shows that the heavy oil pools outside of Smackover also declined or barely held their own.

64 OLD WELLS IN LOUISIANA ABANDONED

Increased prices for light crudes have not helped the situation in north Louisiana any for it is shown that during the month 64 wells in producing districts were abandoned, played out. They were divided: Caddo 8, Bossier 6, Clairbone (Homer and Haynesville) 20, DeSoto 5, Red River 20 (Bull Bayou, Lenzburg-Crichton, Gusher Bend) and Webster (Cotton Valley) 5.

Chapman Refuses to Tell His True Name

NEW YORK, April 9.—The mystery of Gerald Chapman is a thing of the past. The stick-up man extraordinary, who is waiting in a Connecticut jail to be hanged June 25 and who has persistently refused to make known his identity, has been declared by Connecticut authorities to be George Chartres, a son of Irish parents who came to this country many years ago and a brother of a former New York City employe, who now holds a responsible educational position here.

Since Chartres, alias Chapman, was found guilty of the murder of Policeman Skelly of New Britain, Conn., officials of that state have been investigating his past life. The convicted man himself put them on the trail. On April 13, 1907, when he was convicted of grand larceny in New York he gave his right name. He was sentenced then to serve 10 years in prison, but was paroled June, 1908. On his release he gave the name of his nearest relative as "Mrs. Catherine Conners, No. 271 Tenth street, New York, top floor." Mrs. Conners, it was said, is an aunt. She is still alive, but no longer resides at this address.

Chartres also has a sister, it was said, whose whereabouts, however, are not known. The brother, who is married and has three children, and who is a regular church-goer, was interviewed last night by reporters who did not make public his name.

"That man is dead," he said slowly. "I tell you I have no brother. He is dead. I want to live my own life."

CO-ED ATTACKS SMOKE BAN

Senior at Northwestern Says That It Is Not Right to Let Boys Off.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Northwestern university's ban on co-eds smoking was attacked in a statement by Miss Ellen Cole Fetter, a senior, published yesterday in the student daily.

The women would not object if the men also were barred from smoking," she said. "There is no reason for a double standard of morals so far as smoking is concerned," she averred. "If smoking is moral for men, it is moral for women. The women students do not want to smoke so much as they want to be placed on the same level as the men. The faculty should get rid of the idea that smoking is the first step in the downfall of women."

Chains And Roses Bring "Babe" Back

FORT WORTH, April 9.—Chains and roses. Both accompanied A. B. (Babe) Lawrence to Fort Worth Wednesday afternoon. The chains were placed on him by officers who carried records that stated "Babe" was one of the hardest criminals of the southwest—a killer and a robber.

The roses—symbol of a mother's love—were given him by a woman who saw her shackled son depart from Arizona.

Lawrence, in custody of Deputy Sheriff Tom Snow and County Detective Harry Hamilton arrived from Phoenix, Ariz. He is to face charges here of robbery with fire arms. The robbery occured at the same time that Deputy Sheriff Joe Morgan of Muskogee, Okla., was shot and killed fifteen miles southwest of Fort Worth.

"Babe" left behind an older brother, William Lawrence, who already is under death sentence for killing Policeman Haze Burch near Muskogee. The brothers were together at the time of both killings and were fugitives from Tarrant county, when Burch was slain.

ADOPT STANDARD WEIGHTS

Texas Ginners' Association Decide On 21 Pounds for Cotton Wrappings.

DALLAS, April 9. — (AP) — A standard weight of 21 pounds for cotton bale wrappings, including bagging and ties, was adopted here today by the Texas Cotton Ginners' association at their annual convention.

The question of wrapping weights has been a serious problem for ginners because those using the lighter weights were able to charge less for ginning. The cotton producer makes up the weight difference in cotton when the wrappings are under 21 pounds.

To Erect Monument To La Grange Girl

LA GRANGE, Texas, April 9.—An organization is being formed here to erect a monument to Miss Valeria Zapalac, high school girl who was killed here February 14, in an effort to save her younger sister, Minnie, who was alleged to have been assaulted and left for dead, by W. H. Langhorn, Jr., son of a wealthy Washington county rancher. Contributions are being made freely and B. F. Harigel, editor of the LaGrange Journal, is sponsoring the movement.

Langhorn was recently condemned to death for the murder of Valeria. Motion for a new trial is before the grand jury.

Arsonist Freed; Burned Dead Man To Escape Debts

Wife Collects Insurance And Remarries When He Elopes

GREEN BAY, Wis., April 9.—Edward J. Sailstad of Eau Claire, who with Dorothy Anderson was convicted on a charge of arson December 29, 1923, and sentenced to four years at the Green Bay reformatory, was granted a parole by the state board of control, it was announced here today by Earl H. Ecklund, superintendent of the institution.

Favorable action was taken on the second application for parole after 15 months had been served.

Sailstad and Miss Anderson vanished from Eau Claire August 27, 1920, and shortly thereafter the bones of a human were found in the ashes of his cottage at Lake Nebagamon. Identification of a ring, keys and teeth seemed for a time to establish definitely that Sailstad had burned to death. The complete disappearance of Miss Anderson, his stenographer, puzzled authorities and life insurance companies which held policies drawn in favor of his wife declared the evidence was not sufficient to warrant paying the policy.

During the ensuing period of search action was brought against the companies in which he had been insured. On September 29, 1922, Sailstad's wife was awarded a court decision against the New York Life Insurance company entitling her to collect $10,-000 insurance.

Meanwhile his wife married Ross T. Richardson of Eau Claire at Christmas time in 1922.

When Sailstad was arrested at Napa, Calif., December 23, 1923, he made a clean breast of the affair. He said he was badly in debt and to save what he could of the wreck he decided to vanish. With Miss Anderson he visited a grave yard where a man answering his description as to height and weight recently had been buried. The grave was robbed and the body taken to the lake cottage which was set on fire and the pair began their travels through the south and west.

After Sailstad was sentenced his wife was granted a divorce. Miss Anderson has not been paroled.

BIG SHAM BATTLE PLANNED

SAN ANTONIO, April 9.—A sham battle between national guard troops will be one of the features of the San Jacinto day celebration at LaGrange, according to Captain Paul W. Taylor, fifty-sixth cavalry brigade.

After the Breakfast Dishes

I AM just an average American housekeeper. My husband is employed at a fairly good salary and we manage to get along in comfort, but the emphasis is on the word "manage." That is my job. I am the home and family manager. It is strictly up to me to see that the children are properly fed and clothed, that the furnace runs on a full ration, that the appearance of the house is maintained inside and out, that the laundry is sent out and returned intact---in short, that the home keeps going on an even keel and inside of the budget.

It is work that justly deserves a place among the sciences---the science of home economics.

After the breakfast dishes my business day begins as the family purchasing agent. I have more time during daylight hours to study advertisements and plan my shopping. Therefore, my buying information comes chiefly from the morning newspaper. A careful study of merchandise offerings in my morning newspaper is just as essential to me, I am sure, as market reports and general information must be to the large business man.

Mabel Ford To Dance In Lead Roll At Wichita

Famous Dancer Proves A Success in Big Time Vaudeville

Mabel Ford provides a splendid headline act at the Wichita theatre today and Saturday. She is generally conceded to be "America's Favorite Dancing Star." Mabel Ford is to the dancing world what Henry Ford is to the automobile world. Never has there been a more popular dancing team than the four Fords who build up Ford fame in the dancing world tripping the light fantastic together. She has a company including good dancers and a jazz orchestra, and they present songs and dances and music.

Four Camerons.

"Like father, like son," is conceived and presented by the four Camerons. This is a most entertaining act, due to the fact that it has many thrilling situations which must be seen to be appreciated. The chatter is filled with humerous lines which will keep the audience pleasantly smiling. Embracing beauty and youth it is pleasing to the eye and dame fashion has smiled on the feminine members of the quartet, for the costuming is gorgeous. Jack Baxley, one of America's foremost vaudeville writers is author of the skit.

Does music have color? After hearing Dixie Hamilton sing her melodies, you will know. For she sings the blues, those comedy songs of dirge-like nature, which are now so popular on the vaudeville stage. She is a real singer of songs with a wailing refrain.

Charles Sargent and Burt Lewis are well known vaudeville artists and they present a pleasing program of music and comedy. These artists will be remembered as makers of Okeh records. Their act is an intermingling of popular songs and comedy that will entertain and amuse.

Hotel Scene Popular.

"You pick 'em up," a clever little skit bringing a new line of chatter and a flirtation from a somewhat different angle is presented by Ray W. Snow and Narine. The scene is laid on the mezzanine floor of a modern hotel. Songs are used and some beautiful wardrobe is displayed by Miss Narine. Mr. Snow is quite well known as the creator of "The Man About Town." He is an able writer of vaudeville skits, and his present act is well up to his previous high standard.

Bee Jung, an aerialist known as "The Flying Venus of the Air," performs as cleverly as any gymnast and she looks like an artist's model, delicate and generally attractive—a winsome miss with a pleasing personality.

Pardon Wrong Man, So He Gives Self Up

HOUSTON, April 9.—Short lived freedom came to Clifford Franks, inmate of the Harlem State farm, Tuesday, when he received a "pardon," a ticket a new suit of clothes and the "good speed" of the prison farm manager.

And Ernest Franks, a fellow prisoner, has gained real freedom at the expense of Clifford, who surrendered Thursday to Captain R. E. McAdams, the farm manager, in Houston.

The fact that the two men have the same name was responsible for the trick of fate.

Clifford Franks was presented with a pardon and liberated Tuesday when he was singled out by mistake as Ernest Franks, the man for whom the pardon was intended. Clifford came to Houston, where he has relatives, and enjoyed a visit with them. Thursday he learned that officers were seeking him, and he gave himself up.

Clifford Franks was convicted of burglary in Galveston, and Ernest Franks, whose pardon went astray, is getting another chance "outside."

Sweetwater Woman Says "Sneezing Party" Will Rid Court House of Mites

AUSTIN, April 9.—Employes at the Travis county court house will be invited to join a "sneezing party" given by County Judge George Matthews if the judge carries out the suggestion ofa Sweetwater, Texas, woman to rid the court house of mites which several days swarmed its upper floors in such great numbers as to cause the 53rd district court to seek safety in another court room.

The letter told Judge Matthews to spray the walls and furniture with snuff and stir it with a broom until it fogs like dust. This is to be followed in a few hours with a general cleaning and th emite troubles are over, she explained.

"I feel it my duty," she stated, "to tell you this simple, inexpensive way of exterminating them. It will cost a few dollars where a new court house will cost thousands."

Spreading banana stalks is another remedy suggested in a letter from Mount Calm, Texas.

White Bounces One Over Fence With Two On Cushions

By BLONDY CROSS

Michael Kelly squeezed through an afternoon without coming to blows with anybody; his Millers continued to falter before a Texas league attack; and the Spudders grabbed their ninth straight exhibition contest, 9 to 7, (high lights in the Wichita Falls sports domain Thursday.)

Jakie Atz's Fort Worth feline family clawed and slapped the Minneapolis athletes groggy in a pair of private affairs Tuesday and Wednesday down at the Cowtown orchard. Bud's Spudders came near to putting over the sleep producer yesterday, and apparently was on the verge of doing so, when suddenly the American association club perked up in the ninth round and staged a slugging comeback that almost upset our noble Tanner athletes.

The old ball game had rocked along in the customary manner with the home guard scoring in clusters and their opponents menacing most of the way, but failing to come through, until at the start of the final chukker the Tanner cast was out front with the heftier end of a 9 to 3 tabulation pocketed in their jeans. Black aviated to Bodie in left, and then Kelly's underlinings erupted with sudden and surprising gusto. Jordan and Smith bingled off wee Jackie Reid. Duncan took first via the four-balls route. Then Fisher combed a two-bagger to right center, sending a pair across the platter. Wirts (same bird Buddy had a fight with here last year during the heat of the Texas loop scramble) slipped a single past second, sending over two more.

Golvin Squelches 'Em

Outlook for that ninth Spudder victory took on a drab appearance. The supposedly unsurmountable Spud lead was melting away speedily, but Walt Golvin, king of Texas league first sackers, came to the rescue with a sweet piece of fielding and chunking to start and finish a gleaming double play. Wirts had taken a good lead off first when Hurt, another former Texas leaguer, crashed a hair-raising bounder down into the territory of the initial station master. Wily Walt slid over, clutched the cantering agate with one hand, pivoted, and launched a perfect throw to second, cutting Wirts away. Gorgeous George Distel took the catch at the keystone and all in one motion whipped the spheroid back with bullet-like effect to waiting Walt on the starting cushion a full step ahead of the galloping Hurt. The rally had subsided quicker than it had started.

The Millers walloped the cantaloupe to all sectors, amassing a total of 15 safe clouts but with exception of the final round couldn't bunch blows enough to do any appreciable damage.

Vic Pigg performed on the slab for a quartet of stanzas and gave up eight safeties. The Kels couldn't harm him in two rounds, but paired singles with a stolen base in another to tabulate once, and enaveled two markers on the score board in still another couplet by whamming a trio of singles and a triple.

A brace of jungle heaves in the second, two coupons to first and singles off the delivery of Dumont, right hander who startired for the Millers, gave the Spuds a cluster of three. Golvin and Roche produced the punch. There were two away when Distel doubled to right center, sending Roche to third, but the blow meant no morer than the fattening of the gorgeous one's spring batting average.

White Accounts For Three

The home talent broke into the checking room during the third for three more scoring nuggets. Bodie walked. Dorman was given first base possession by mandate of Umpire Kane. Catcher Wirts was charged with interfering with the batter. He entered a lusty plea of not guilty. Looked like a row was started when several of the Kels ganged around the platter and yapped voleferously at Harry, but the seemingly impending storm blew away, and little Freddy perched safely on the sack. Golvin laid one down, advancing the runners. That made one out, Bodie on third, Dorman at the Keystone, and White at bat. We said they punched the register for three, didn't we? Well, guess what White did.

Rizhto! Being a right handed batter the home run naturally traveled to left, but it had to clear the fence on the hop. Al, instead of hitting one over, did it the harder way. He bounced it across. It was a sweet drive to port that seemed destined to go as a two-cushioner, but the pellet hit the turf just a few feet the civilized side of the wall, and then for all the world like an agitated tennis ball hopped on across into the desert regions beyond.

Mighty lucky, but Earl Smith robbed the Spuds of a well deserved score in the fourth. Distel and Fitz were on base with one out. The youthful Mr. Bodie poled one on a line into the starboard section of center field that should have produced at least two sacks in any man's league. But Ping was balked by superb fielding. Earl tore over, dived, made a shoe-string stab, turned a half flip, rolled over, and came up clutching the apple safely. George and Fitz nearly broke their necks getting back to their bases. The next batter grounded out. It was a dirty trick, that Smith play for the Spuds were due a run there.

Other Three In Sixth

Wichita Falls counted its other three tallies in the sixth off Pete Edmondson, husky right hander and the same Pete who used to scintillate not so long ago in Texas collegiate athletic circles with Trinity university down at Waxahachie. Distel and Fritzgerald busted a pair of flittering one-basers. Then Bodie knocked 'em in with probably the longest single ever hit. The ball rode high and far to right center, making acquaintance with the mid garden boards. Fitz scampered all the way around from first. Bodie went to second on the throw in. Then Dorman sent Ping to the platter by cracking the right center fence with a screaming double. That completed the scoring with exception of the Miller outburst in the ninth.

Smith and Fisher took kindly to the offerings of Pigg and Jackie Reid. Reid worked the last five innings. Earl walloped a quintet of singles out of the same number of ventures to the pan. Fisher busted two doubles, a single, and a triple.

Distel did most of the clouting for the Budmen. He pecked off a pair of two-baggers and a single. Fitz poked a couple of bingles. The rest of the crew with exception of the pitchers and Callaghan each bopped one safety. Cal had a tough day of it. Up five times and got on once, and that was a base on balls. That cuts his batting average down to something like .780 for the spring play.

Tanner probably will draw from Williams, Morgan, and Bell for the pitching assignment this afternoon against the Kels.

Why Shouldn't Senators Repeat?

Brown Rates Tigers Second, Macks Third, Yanks Fourth In American League Race

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Here is the way the American league teams should be at the finish and their positions last year:

Due to	Finished
Finish	Last Year
Washington	Washington
Detroit	New York
Philadelphia	Detroit
New York	St. Louis
Chicago	Philadelphia
Cleveland	Cleveland
St. Louis	Boston
Boston	Chicago

Senators to Repeat.

Every fan you meet will tell you that Washington was "lucky" in winning the American league pennant last season. Very well. They met the class of the National league with the well known result. Was the outcome of the world's series all luck?

Washington had the pitchers last season. Today they have four lefthanders, Zachary, Mogridge, Reuther and Gregg. They have four righthanders, Johnson, Marberry, Zahniser and Cowleskie. Supposing two of these southpaws deliver and two righthanders come through—just fifty per cent of their staff. They will then have one of the best hurling crews in the big show.

Cowleskie will win more games for Washington this year than he did for Cleveland last year. Built on that. Reuther is no in and outer. Was an outer last year?

Seven clubs may be out to oust the Washington club but I believe that six of these clubs will play just as hard to keep the Yankees from return to power as they will to keep the Senators from repeating. I sitting with the champs.

The Tigers Second.

The Tigers' batting strength is at par for the Tigers. Cobb has built up a reserve infield that will safeguard him against breakdowns such as the infield suffered last years. Butch Leonard, a great lefthander when right, showed last season that he has the stuff. He is fit for a full campaign. He gives Cobb three great southpaws. Smithhill and Wells, two young ones, are the others. Cobb has five other pitchers from which to complete a staff. He is ready to go. The Tigers will come out the Yankee—and incidentally take the majority of games they play with Washington team.

Athletics Third.

Much depends on Lefty Grove. This man, if he proves a winner with Connie, will not only help carry that team high in the race with his hurling, but will give it the spark which has been lacking in the team of youngsters yearly. I figure Grove will deliver. Mack's infield is as well organized now at last.

New York Fourth.

Consider Babe Ruth still the mighty mauler. That does not give New York a pennant. It didn't last season. Huggins' team is off in parts. Everett Scott cannot last a full campaign at a pennant gait. The pitching staff, a wobbly one last season will be better, perhaps, if Shocker obtained from St. Louis, delivers. I don't expect Shocker to be a big winner. He will be guided unwisely by fellow players.

White Sox Fifth.

The ball club of 1925, unified and turned into a fighting aggregation by the most popular man on the club, Eddie Collins, will get some place this season. It may prove the dark horse of the race. Collins can finish fifth. And watch this team step into first division should one of the four leaders suffer a sudden collapse.

Cleveland Sixth.

An infield problem that lingers and a pitching staff that still puzzles must be ironed out before the terrific slugging power of the Indians can hold them high in the race. The year will see Speaker's decline as a player.

Browns Seventh.

Spring holdouts got the team away to a late start. The outfield trio which has slugged the team into the fight every year, is slipping in strength. Dixie Davis and Van Gilder must come through, along with Wingard and the newcomers, Joe Bush and Gaston, to give the Browns a look in. Sisler is in better shape himself but never will be the Sisler of old. An odd situation. A ball club of manly fellows, a prince of a manager, a popular idol to aid him in Jimmy Austin, but no apparent success coming out of his as far as getting a ball club organized is concerned.

Red Sox Eighth.

Lee Fohl has spent the winter and spring substituting youth for age on his club. He is going to spend the summer organizing that youth into a good ball club He has no designs on the pennant. His year will be 1926.

Hull And Trammel Fight Referee's Draw Verdict In Ten Rounds But Former Possibly Deserves Shade

St. Paul Hasher Too Fast and Elusive for Duke, But Cowtowner Indicates He's Better Man

By BLONDY CROSS
Sports Editor, The Record News

Clyde Hull, welterweight knuckle pitcher who developed surprising ring agility and grace while slinging lamb-in a St. Paul bonnety, possibly deserved a shade in a 10-round canter with Duke Trammel, Fort Worth lad of the potent punch, Thursday eve, the American Legion feature bout.

Referee Foghorn Clancy rendered a draw verdict. A number of the rasslery boys objected in shrill tones, but the line of demarcation between a Hull victory and an even Stephen decision was so slim that it was not worth the lung power expended in registering the kick.

When no material damage is dished by either fighter it is a difficult proposition to pick the winner with assurance that fandom will approve the selection. Under the circumstances, Foghorn's decision was the best that could be asked for.

Up until the final round the fight was just about as even on a point basis as an unbiased judge could call it. Hull had the better of the tenth couplet. That on the surface would give him the bout. The St. Paul dancer, for he was a real terpsichorean artist, out-stepped Trammel in the final four sessions. Trammel had the better of three rounds, and possibly a fourth. Three were as even as Lake Kemp in a dead calm, test a sqile.

Started Easy.

Not so much as a tap was landed in the opening frame. They sparred gently. The second was just as fruitless with exception that Trammel hooked a glancing blow to the head basket, and Hull retaliated with a pair of polite southpaw powder-puff taps to the proboscis. Dukum entered the affray with one optic on the klink, casualty realized two days ago during a workout. The crimson trickled slightly under that peeper during the round.

Dukum had the better of several exchanges in the third. Hull was an adept at doing the reverse waltz step. The middle western retreated the greater part of the round, but was as clever and elusive that Trammel, lunging and swinging wildly, could not seek him solidly. Duke took an edge in the fourth, and indicated that if he could only corner the elusive one long enough to pour in a bit of high temperature leather, would put him to sleep. No harm was registered by either in the fifth. Trammel possibly deserved a shade. He was going for the body mostly, but couldn't catch his opponent who always hit then backtracked.

The sturdy Fort Worth mug measur bured in during the sixth and clearly earned the round. He pursued Hull all over the square, trying to tag him, swinging often, missing many, but scoring with several, all of which was more than his antagonist accomplished.

Hull Rest of Way.

Hull rallied in the seventh and led the going the rest of the route. Pliable as India rubber in the waist, dodging and squirming, he made a hard target to locate, and scored plentifully with a sort of cross fire right and left attack. He shook Trammel several times, but failed to damage him a fifth as much as a number of agitated ringsiders seemed to imagine.

The bout was a two-minute round affair. We believe that given the regulation three-minute thriller Trammel will stop the Minnesotan. It's mostly a matter of time with the slow moving Fort Worth lad. Hull he connected soundly once last night, something he didn't do. The ringsiders (many of whom didn't agree with what we're about to say) no doubt would have found a far different yarn how to peruse this morning and possibly gripe about.

Mose Carpenter, Wichita Falls light heavy, defeated Sailor Connor of Fort Worth in a six-round semi-windup.

Eddie Snelson, Fort Worth junior lightweight, after beating Burleson Peoples of Wichita Falls all the way, ran into one in the fourth, took it on the chin and dropped. Snelson was out cold completely. He took several counts on his hands and knees, and attempted to come up at the call of nine but didn't make it soon enough. There was a negro hustle royal.

Stringer Meets Davis In Segall Tourney Final

Mrs. McCrory Wins Medal Round in One Less Than Par

Mrs. Davis will play Mrs. Stringer in the finals of the Gene Segall trophy golf tournament underway at the Country club. Mrs. Davis defeated Mrs. Witcher, 3 and 2, in semi-final play Thursday, and Mrs. Stringer beat Mrs. McCrory. The title match probably will be played next Thursday morning.

Mrs. Riehl defeated Mrs. Kingery to win the second flight finals of the tourney while Mrs. Fletcher defeated Mrs. Witney, 2 and 1, in the consolation finals of he first flight.

The feature of the week was enacted during the morning when Mrs. McCrory captured the weekly medal score tourney by shooting a 49 which minus her six handicap makes a 43 score. Fifty is woman's par for the nine holes. Mrs. Fletcher shot a 50 which minus her handicap of six gave her a 44 score.

Mrs. Whitney won class B medal play with a 57.

Pack Trains For District Tourney

Coyote trackmen are fast whipping into shape for the district meet at Iowa Park April 25. Coach McCallum is expecting his men to make a strong bid for the district title.

The relay team is developing into one that should deal much trouble to its opponents. William Miller, Herndon, and Martin will be the first three, with Ross, Moore and Claude Miller to choose the fourth man from.

Walter Pinney and Dempsey Moore are looking good on the high hurdles. Bob West, Pinney and Moore stack up nicely in the low hurdles.

Ralph Woodson and Park Ray are both showing up well with the pole vaulting. Coyal Francis, a new man on the squad, seems the best prospect in the high jumping.

EXPORTERS GET TWO FROM PHILADELPHIA NATIONAL LEAGUE

BEAUMONT, April 9.—Manager Dutch Brenon of the Exporters today announced the purchase of Infielder Carlton Lord and Pitcher Fay Lewis, both from Philadelphia of the National league. The two players were sent here under option this season and today became permanent property on part payment for Bill Huber, sold for cash and players last fall. The two additions today make a total of four players received in the deal with Andy Woehrs and Lerton Pinto having been assigned here last year. There was also a cash consideration in the trade.

With the purchase of the two players today, the Exporters now own the entire team with two exceptions. Harry Schwab, first baseman is here on a year option from Wichita Falls and Fred Leach, outfielder, is still the property of the Phillies.

The Exporters have rounded into condition and not a physical handicap is noted on the team. All of the pitchers are ready to go the full route.

Junior College Downs Coyote Pups, 7 To 3

Tribe Pushes Over Four Runs in Final To Win Out

The Junior college Indians got it back on the Coyote Pups yesterday for that defeat handed them by Coach Montgomery's crew a couple of weeks back. The Mosley outfit drubbed the Pups, 7 to 3, in a five-inning practice affair held on the college diamond.

The fielding of both clubs was off and errors were committed in almost every inning. Junior high counted six and the Indians four.

The Redskins opened the first with a rush. Three hits and a sacrifice put over a counter. The Pups came back in their half and hammered out a pair of markers on a walk, two hits, and three errors.

The Tribe registered two in the second frame. Harris opened up with a single to left. Hergei fanned. Crites lashed out a long triple to left that scored Harris. Thurman brought in the second with a single to left.

A deluge of hits, stolen bases, errors and walks added four to the Tribes' tallies in the fifth. Kizziar flied out to center. Rawls was safe on an error, and finding the infield asleep took third without stopping. Clary, Caskey, Harris, and Hershi followed through with singles that meant four runs.

The Pups came back in their half and chalked up another. Tank Horton tripled to left, and scored on Parker's sacrifice fly to Rawls.

BABE RESTS WELL AFTER DAY RUMORS

His Skull is Not Fractured And He Isn't Dead, In Spite of Reports

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 9.—Smitten with flu, Ty Cobb, famed skipper of the Detroit Tigers, is confined to his room in a Nashville hotel.

His attending physician advised the diamond star to remain in bed until Monday. The Tigers, who concluded a series with the local club this afternoon will depart tonight without their manager if Ty Cobb heeds the advice of his doctor.

On his arrival here yesterday morning from Knoxville, Cobb complained of being so ill, that a physician was called.

NEW YORK, April 9.—(AP)—George Herman Ruth — baseball's mighty Babe—was resting comfortably in St. Vincent's hospital tonight suffering from influenza, acute indigestion and minor injuries suffered when he fainted and fell to the floor in the wash room of his private car just as the train was entering Pennsylvania station shortly after one o'clock this afternoon.

Early reports from attending physicians said that Ruth had a slight concussion of the brain and a possible fracture of the skull, but these were later denied at the hospital by Dr. Edward King, the New York American League doctor who gave the home run slugger a thorough examination upon his arrival.

"Ruth is resting comfortably as could be expected, and is in no danger," said Dr. King, immediately after the examination. "He has a fever and a temperature of 101."

Was Leaving Train.

The accident, which rendered Ruth unconscious for a period of nearly two hours, occurred just as Ruth was preparing to depart from the train. In company with Paul Kritchell, the New York American League scout and a party of newspaper men, Ruth was returning from Asheville, N. C., where Tuesday he had suffered a slight attack of acute indigestion with a touch of influenza.

Just as the train was entering the Pennsylvania tube between Manhattan transfer, New Jersey, and the Pennsylvania station, Ruth entered the wash room. He asked Kritchell to get him a comb and prepared to wash his hands and face. While Kritchell was gone Ruth fainted and fell to the floor, striking his head against the wash basin, rendering him unconscious. He was picked up by Kritchell and newspaper men aboard the train and carried to his compartment.

Ruth's illness coupled with the unverified report of his death, which gained widespread publicity, before it was officially denied, shrouded New York fandom in gloom and the Pennsylvania station was crowded with anxious baseball fans when the train arrived at the terminal.

Death Unclaimed.

The collapse of the might slugger was the culmination of a hectic morning for the fans. The report of his death circulated late last night had not been entirely cleared up until nearly noon. Newspapers were swamped with inquiries and everywhere in baseball circles was an unsettled feeling.

In the station waiting room, Ruth was placed on a hospital stretcher, still unconscious from his fall and lifted out the window of his car to a stretcher bearer and transported to the ground floor in a freight elevator. The St. Vincent hospital ambulance waiting at the baggage entrance of the station was disabled in attempting to back into position and an emergency call was sent to the New York general hospital for another ambulance.

Meanwhile Ruth became slightly delerious, and when Dr. Murphy administered aromatic spirits of ammonia to bring him out of the stupor he attempted to rise from his stretcher. It took the combined efforts of the six men to place him back on the stretcher.

The next day saw the beginning of the struggle that was to follow between the wits of man and beast. To Baree the encroachment of Bush McTaggart's trap-line was not war; it was existence. It was to furnish him food, as Pierrot's line had furnished him food for many weeks. But he sensed the fact that in this instance he was law-breaker and had an enemy to outwit. Had it been good hunting weather he might have gone on, for the unseen hand that was guiding his wanderings was drawing him slowly but surely back to the old beaver-pond and the Gray Loon. As it was, with the snow deep and soft under him—so deep that in places he plunged into it over his ears—McTaggart's trap-line was like a trail of manna made for his special use. He followed in the Factor's snowshoe tracks, and in the third trap killed a rabbit. When he had finished with it nothing but the hair and crimson patches of blood lay upon the snow. Starved for many days, he was filled with a wolfish hunger, and before the day was over he robbed the bait from a full dozen of McTaggart's traps. Three times he struck poison-baits—venison or caribou fat in the heart of which was a dose of strychnine, and each time his keen nostrils detected the danger. Pierrot had more than once noted the amazing fact that Baree could sense the presence of poison even when it was most skillfully injected into the frozen carcass of a deer. Foxes and wolves ate of flesh from which his supersensitive power of detecting the presence of deadly danger turned him away. So he passed Bush McTaggart's poisoned tid-bits, sniffing them on the way, and leaving the story of his suspicion in the manner of his footprints in the snow. Where McTaggart had halted at midday to cook his dinner Baree made these same cautious circles with his feet.

The second day, being less hungry and more keenly alive to the hated smell of his enemy, Baree ate less but was more destructive. McTaggart was not as skillful as Pierre Eustach in keeping the scent of his hands from the traps and "houses," and every now and then the smell of him was strong in Baree's nose. This wrought in Baree a swift and definite antagonism, a steadily increasing hatred where a few days before hatred was almost forgotten. There is, perhaps, in the animal mind a process of simple computation which does not quite achieve the distinction of reason, and which is not altogether instinct, but which produces results that might be ascribed to either. Baree did not add two and two together to make four; he did not go back step by step to prove to himself that the man to whom this trap-line belonged was the cause of all his griefs and troubles—but he did find himself possessed of a deep and yearning hatred. McTaggart was the one creature except the wolves that he had ever hated: it was McTaggart who had hurt him. McTaggart who had hurt Pierrot. McTaggart who had made him lose his beloved Nepeese—and McTaggart was here on this trap-line! If he had been wandering before, without object or destiny, he was given a mission now. It was to keep to the traps. To feed himself. And to vent his hatred and his vengeance as he lived.

The second day, in the centre of a lake, he came upon the body of a wolf that had died of one of the poison-baits. For a half-hour he mauled the dead beast until its skin was torn into ribbons. He did not taste the flesh. It was repugnant to him. It was his vengeance on the wolf breed. He stopped when he was half a dozen miles from Lac Bain, and turned back. At this particular point the line crossed a frozen stream beyond which was open plain, and over that plain came—when the wind was right—the smoke and smell of the Post. The second night Baree lay with a full stomach in a thicket of banksian pine; the third day he was travelling westward over the trap-line again.

Early on this morning Bush McTaggart started out to gather his catch, and where he crossed the stream six miles from Lac Bain he first saw Baree's tracks. He stopped to examine them with sudden and unusual interest, falling at last on his knees, whipping off the glove from his right hand, and picking up a single hair.

"The black wolf!"

He uttered the words in an odd, hard voice, and involuntarily his eyes turned straight in the direction of the Gray Loon. After that, even more carefully than before, he examined one of the clearly impressed tracks in the snow. When he rose to his feet there was in his face the look of one who had made an unpleasant discovery.

"A black wolf!" he repeated, and shrugged his shoulders. "Bah! Lerue is a fool. It is a dog." And then, after a moment, he muttered in a voice scarcely louder than a whisper, "her dog."

He went on travelling in the trail of the dog. A new excitement possessed him that was more thrilling than the excitement of the hunt. Being human, it was his privilege to add two and two together, and out of two and two he made—Baree. There was little doubt in his mind. The thought had flashed on him first when Lerue had mentioned the black wolf. He was convinced after his examination of the tracks. They were the tracks of a dog, and the dog was black. Then he came to the first trap that had been robbed of its bait.

Under his breath he cursed. The bait was gone, and the trap was unsprung. The sharpened stick that had transfixed the bait was pulled out clean.

All that day Bush McTaggart followed a trail where Baree had left traces of his presence. Trap after trap he found robbed. On the lake he came upon the mangled wolf. From the first disturbing excitement of his discovery of Baree's presence his humor changed slowly to one of rage, and his rage increased as the day dragged out. He was not unacquainted with four-footed robbers of the trap-line, but usually a wolf or a fox or a dog who had grown adept in thievery troubled only a few traps. But in this case Baree was travelling straight from trap to trap, and his footprints in the snow showed that he stopped at each.

At dusk he reached the shack Pierre Eustach had built midway of his line, and took inventory of his fur. It was not more than a third of a catch; the lynx was half ruined, a mink was torn completely in two. The second day he found still greater ruin, still more barren traps. He was like a madman. When he arrived at the second cabin, late in the afternoon, Baree's tracks were not an hour old in the snow. Three times during the night he heard the dog howling.

The third day McTaggart did not return to Lac Bain, but began a cautious hunt for Baree. An inch or two of fresh snow had fallen, and as if to take even greater measure of vengeance from his man-enemy Baree had left footprints freely within a radius of a hundred yards of the cabin. It was half an hour before McTaggart could pick out the straight trail, and he followed this for two hours into a thick banksian swamp. Baree kept with the wind. Now and then he caught the scent of his pursuer; a dozen times he waited until the other was so close he could hear the snap of brush, or the metallic click of twigs against his rifle barrel. And then, with a sudden inspiration that brought the curses afresh to McTaggart's lips, he swung in a wide circle and cut straight back for the trap-line. When the Factor reached the line, along toward noon, Baree had already begun his work. He had killed and eaten a rabbit; he had robbed three traps in the distance of a mile, and he was headed again straight over the trap-line for Post Lac Bain.

DEAD GIRL CHANGED MIND

She Decided Not to Marry Manila Officer After He Agreed to Resign.

MANILA, April 9.—Friends of Miss Audrey Burleigh, former Memphis, Tenn., girl, who was shot to death Sunday by Lieutenant J. S. Thompson, a young army officer, in an automobile near Manila, said today that Miss Burleigh had promised to marry the lieutenant if he would resign from the army. Thompson wrote out his resignation. Then, according to friends, Miss Burleigh had a change of heart and changed her mind.

Just before the shooting Miss Burleigh participated in a theatrical, sponsored by the army and navy club. Thompson objected to her participation in the performance, but she disregarded his protest. When Miss Burleigh made known her intention not to marry Lieutenant Thompson has not been revealed.

Governor Promised A Candy Sepulchre

SAN ANTONIO, April 9.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson is to receive an unique Easter present. George Sene, Austrian candy maker has moulded from candy, which he himself made, a large Easter egg, larger than the ordinary football. The egg has a door at one end and is made to represent the sepulchre in which the body of Christ was placed following his crucifixion.

Through this door, the crucified Christ can be seen lying on rocks in the cave and standing around Him can be seen Mary, the mother of Christ, and others who were present when the body was buried.

The "egg" is mounted on a candy pedestal which in turn is placed on a platform of candy.

Grain Estimate Tumbles After Winter Damage

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Winter dealt a severe blow to the wheat crop sown last fall. As a result production indications are smaller than in any year since 1917, and about 116,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop, the department of agriculture announced today. A forecast of 474,255,000 bushels of winted wheat was issued, based on the condition of the crop April 1, and upon the assumption of average abandonment of acreage and average influences on the crop until harvest time.

The condition of the crop April 1 was 68.7 per cent of normal, the lowest in more than a quarter of a century with the exception of 1917 when it was 63.4. There was a decline of 12.3 points in the condition from December 1 to April 1 compared with an average decline of 4.4 points in the last ten years.

The low condition as the result of a variety of conditions throughout the country, th edeparment said. The crop suffered very severely from winter killing from central Ohio to central Indiana in Montana in the main wheat areas of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and the Pacific northwest. The freeze in eastern Washington and oregon caused heavy losses, the condition in Washington April 1, being only 28 per cent of normal. Drought aggrevated the demand in the plain's region from Nebraska to Texas, and high winds added to the damage. In Kentucky and Tennessee the crop, at the winter's close, was in poor condition due to freezing and drought. In the Atlantic seaboard state and from Minnesota to Arkansas, the condition of the crop was about average and in Illinois was above average.

Abandonment of acreage has been and will continue to be heav in sections where the crop suffered severely the department announced the areas already abandoned are being re-seeded to other crops. The area planted last fall was about 42,317,000 acres, or about 2,500,000 more than the previous year. In 1917, when the crop suffered similar severe damage, 38,359,000 acres were planted, of which more than 11,000,000 were abandoned. The abandonments that year was heaviest on record amounting to 28.9 per cent.

Dots Puzzle

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 9. — Pre-holiday dullness characterized todays stock market, which drifted irregularly lower on a resumption of scattered selling by bear traders. Total sales, which barely exceeded 800,000 shares, were the smallest of a full session since election day, owing to the absence of many traders over the holiday. Chief speculative interest centered in the public offering of 850,000 shares of Dodge Brothers, Inc., preference stock, which was heavily over-subscribed. The stock was admitted to trading opening at 103, or $3 a share above the subscription price, riding to 103½ and then slipping back to 100⅝, closing slightly above the bottom figure.

Trading in the Maxwell Motor issues provided about one-seventh of the day's entire business. The A stock otuched a new high record at 99¼ and then slipped back to 98⅛, up 1¼ on the day. The B stock closed ⅝ lower at 62½ after selling as high as 63⅛. Speculative activity in these issues was based on expectations of favorable developments at the meeting of the board of directors held after the close of the market.

The so-called pivotal industrials ruled within narrow and irregular limits. United States Steel common closed 1⅛ lower at 114½ in anticipation of a relatively poor tonnage report tomorrow. American Can and Studebaker also showed slight recessions. Baldwin moved up ½ to 112⅝.

A bear raid on Savage Arms forced that stock down more than 3 points to 62¼ a new low record for the year, but it rallied later to 63⅛. Hudson and Manhattan fell back 1⅛ to 28⅝ on the traditional "selling on the good news" following the declaration of the initial semi-annual dividend of 1¼ points.

Heaviness also was shown by Mack Truck, United States Realty and Willys-Overland preferred, Bush Terminal, Electric Storage Battery, International Paper, Jordan Motors, Pullman, Remington Typewriter and Tidewater, all off a point or more.

Weakness of Pennsylvania which dropped to a new low-record for the year at 42½ and then rallied to 43¾, off ⅝ on the day was in reflection of the relatively poor 1924 report which showed earnings of $3.82 on the common as against earlier estimates of over $4.

Chicago and Northwestern preferred dropped 2 points to a new low at 105 on a few sales. Most of the other active rails yielded fractionally.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates turned reactionary in quiet trading. Demand sterling eased fractionally below $4.78 and French francs recorded about 4 points lower around 5.12 cents. Other changes were largely nominal.

AUSTIN, April 9.—There was a tendency toward lower price levels in the onion trade today, with the increasing of movement past the hundred mark and the brishk St. Louis clearance. The cash buyers at Laredo paid mostly $1.40 to $1.50 for carlots of yellow Bermudas at the track and $2.00 to $2.10 for crystal whites.

AUSTIN, April 9.—Egg receipts, New York, 50,670; Chicago, 23,318; Boston, 7,342, and Philadelphia, 12,197 cases. The storage movement, a net inbound movement of 115,146 cases. This made stocks on hand this morning, 287,165 cases, New York; 243,566, Chicago; 67,828, Boston, and 56,123 Philadelphia.

Dressed poultry receipts were 469,165 pounds New York, 105,369 pounds Chicago, 73,599 Philadelphia, and 52,530 pounds Boston. The storage movement was a net withdrawal of 510,398 pounds, which left stocks on hand this morning, 8,830,088 pounds Boston; 3,915,851 Philadelphia; 31,626,646 pounds Chicago, and 24,765,234 pounds New York.

Opening: January, 23.73 bid: May, 23.95; July, 24.25; October, 23.65; December, 23.68.

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—The cotton market was mainly a pre-holiday affair today with trading limited and following an opening decline of 9 to 13 points mainly due to poor cables the market was on the upgrade nearly all day owing to shorts covering in advance of the triple holiday. July opened at 24.25 and October at 23.65 and this proved to be the day's lows. Prices gradually recovered the early loss and established moderate net gains until July trading reached 24.49 and October 23.85 or 20 to 24 points above the lows. The close was within a few points of the day's best showing net gained for the general list of 5 to 12 points. The Liverpool decline was attributed to evening up in advance of the Easter holidays there which last until Tuesday morning. At the start also the weather map showed rains at several points in Texas and a little later it was shown that 22 Texas stations out of 58 reporting, showed rain. After the first wave of selling, however, buying by shorts desirous of covering in advance of the holidays kept prices on the upgrade practically all day. The recovery from the early dip was helped by a private estimate of 607,000 bales of lint cotton consumed during March by domestic mills against 550,132 bales in February and 485,840 in March of last year. The forecast for clearing weather in the west and reports that the greater part of Texas still were dry helped the advance.

Exports today totaled 13,583 bales.

The New Orleans and New York cotton exchanges will be closed both tomorrow and Saturday for the Easter holidays.

"Jazz Baby" Is Declared To Be Insane

Jury Finds Matricide Not In Right Mind After Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9. — Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old slayer of her mother, was found insane by a jury in superior court here today.

The verdict means that the girl will be committed to an asylum. The murder case, for which another jury had been impaneled and in readiness pending determination of the girl's sanity, now will be held in abeyance indefinitely. Should she ever be released from the asylum the murder charge may be tried.

She shot her mother January 13 after the mother had objected to jazz parties and a life of indolence. The girl was bitterly opposed to the efforts of her attorneys to have her adjudged insane and had sided with the prosecution in its opposition to the move.

The vote of the jury was 11 to 1 for insanity.

The jury retired at 10:25 a. m. and reported shortly after 11 o'clock that it had reached the verdict.

As the verdict was read the girl fainted. She was unconscious when the jury was polled and after the court room was cleared. She made no outcry. Her head fell back and she rested in the arms of a matron.

The girl remained in court for 25 minutes. When she regained consciousness she wept convulsively in the arms of the matron. She was able to walk to the jail, but held her handkerchief to her face and her shoulders shook with sobs.

The court indicated that the girl would be committed to some state institution of her own selection.

Assistant District Attorney Harmon D. Skillin, who represented the people in the trial, placed the murder case on the reserve calendar. It will never be pressed unless the girl is later declared sane.

The verdict closes for the present at least, one of the most unusual cases in the annals of American jurisprudence.

CONTINUE CHEMIST HEARING.

Attorneys Are Still Battling for Bond Through Supreme Court.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Arraignment of William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of William N. McClintock, was continued today for one week while the accused's lawyers continue their battle for bail before the Illinois supreme court.

Governor Promised A Candy Sepulchre

SAN ANTONIO, April 9.—Governor Miriam A. Ferguson is to receive an unique Easter present. George Sene, Austrian candy maker has moulded from candy, which he himself made, a large Easter egg, larger than the ordinary football. The egg has a door at one end and is made to represent the sepulchre in which the body of Christ was placed following his crucifixion.

Through this door, the crucified Christ can be seen lying on rocks in the cave and standing around Him can be seen Mary, the mother of Christ, and others who were present when the body was buried.

The "egg" is mounted on a candy pedestal which in turn is placed on a platform of candy.

Grain Estimate Tumbles After Winter Damage

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Winter dealt a severe blow to the wheat crop sown last fall. As a result production indications are smaller than in any year since 1917, and about 116,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop, the department of agriculture announced today. A forecast of 474,255,000 bushels of winted wheat was issued, based on the condition of the crop April 1, and upon the assumption of average abandonment of acreage and average influences on the crop until harvest time.

The condition of the crop April 1 was 68.7 per cent of normal, the lowest in more than a quarter of a century with the exception of 1917 when it was 63.4. There was a decline of 12.3 points in the condition from December 1 to April 1 compared with an average decline of 4.4 points in the last ten years.

The low condition as the result of a variety of conditions throughout the country, th edeparment said. The crop suffered very severely from winter killing from central Ohio to central Indiana in Montana, in the main wheat areas of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and the Pacific northwest. The freeze in eastern Washington and oregon caused heavy losses, the condition in Washington April 1, being only 28 per cent of normal. Drought aggrevated the demand in the plains region from Nebraska to Texas, and high winds added to the damage. In Kentucky and Tennessee the crop, at the winter's close, was in poor condition due to freezing and drought. In the Atlantic seaboard state and from Minnesota to Arkansas, the condition of the crop was about average and in Illinois was above average.

Abandonment of acreage has been and will continue to be heav in sections where the crop suffered severely the department announced the areas already abandoned are being re-seeded to other crops. The area planted last fall was about 42,317,000 acres, or about 2,500,000 more than the previous year. In 1917, when the crop suffered similar severe damage, 38,359,000 acres were planted, of which more than 11,000,000 were abandoned. The abandonments that year was heaviest on record amounting to 28.9 per cent.

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, April 9. — Pre-holiday dullness characterized todays stock market, which drifted irregularly lower on a resumption of scattered selling by bear traders. Total sales, which barely exceeded 800,000 shares, were the smallest of a full session since election day, owing to the absence of many traders over the holiday. Chief speculative interest centered in the public offering of 850,000 shares of Dodge Brothers, Inc., preference stock, which was heavily over-subscribed. The stock was admitted to trading opening at 103, or $3 a share above the subscription price, riding to 103½ and then slipping back to 100⅝, closing slightly above the bottom figure.

Trading in the Maxwell Motor issues provided about one-seventh of the day's entire business. The A stock otuched a new high record at 99¼ and then slipped back to 98⅛, up 1⅛ on the day. The B stock closed ⅝ lower at 62½ after selling as high as 63⅛. Speculative activity in these issues was based on expectations of favorable developments at the meeting of the board of directors held after the close of the market.

The so-called pivotal industrials ruled within narrow and irregular limits. United States Steel common closed 1⅛ lower at 114½ in anticipation of a relatively poor tonnage report tomorrow. American Can and Studebaker also showed slight recessions. Baldwin moved up ½ to 112⅝.

A bear raid on Savage Arms forced that stock down more than 3 points to 62½ a new low record for the year, but it rallied later to 63¼. Hudson and Manhattan fell back 1⅛ to 28⅝ on the traditional "selling on the good news" following the declaration of the initial semi-annual dividend of 1¼ points.

Heaviness also was shown by Mack Truck, United States Realty and Willys-Overland preferred, Bush Terminal, Electric Storage Battery, International Paper, Jordan Motors, Pullman, Remington Typewriter and Tidewater, all off a point or more.

Weakness of Pennsylvania which dropped to a new low record for the year at 42½ and then rallied to 43⅝, off ⅜ on the day was in reflection of the relatively poor 1924 report which showed earnings of $3.82 on the common as against earlier estimates of over $4.

Chicago and Northwestern preferred dropped 2 points to a new low at 105 on a few sales. Most of the other active rails yielded fractionally.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates turned reactionary in quiet trading. Demand sterling eased fractionally below $4.78 and French francs recorded about 4 points lower around 5.12 cents. Other changes were largely nominal.

Produce

AUSTIN, April 9.—There was a tendency toward lower price levels in the onion trade today, with the increasing of movement past the hundred mark and the brishk St. Louis clearance. NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—The cotton market was mainly a pre-holiday affair today with trading limited and following an opening decline of 9 to 13 points mainly due to poor cables the market was on the upgrade nearly all day owing to shorts covering in advance of the triple holiday. July opened at 24.25 and October at 23.65 and this proved to be the day's lows. Prices gradually recovered the early loss and established moderate net gains until July trading reached 24.49 and October 23.85 or 20 to 24 points above the lows. The close was within a few points of the day's best showing net gained for the general list of 5 to 12 points. The Liverpool decline was attributed to evening up in advance of the Easter holidays there which last until Tuesday morning. At the start also the weather map showed rains at several points in Texas and a little later it was shown that 22 Texas stations out of 58 reporting, showed rain. After the first wave of selling, however, buying by shorts desirous of covering in advance of the holidays kept prices on the upgrade practically all day. The recovery from the early dip was helped by a private estimate of 607,000 bales of lint cotton consumed during March by domestic mills against 550,132 bales in February and 485,840 in March of last year. The forecast for clearing weather in the west and reports that the greater part of Texas still were dry helped the advance.

Exports today totaled 15,583 bales.

The New Orleans and New York cotton exchanges will be closed both tomorrow and Saturday for the Easter holidays.

"Jazz Baby" Is Declared To Be Insane

Jury Finds Matricide Not In Right Mind After Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old slayer of her mother, was found insane by a jury in superior court here today.

The verdict means that the girl will be committed to an asylum. The murder case, for which another jury had been impaneled and in readiness pending determination of the girl's sanity, now will be held in abeyance indefinitely. Should she ever be released from the asylum the murder charge may be tried.

She shot her mother January 13 after the mother had objected to jazz parties and a life of indolence. The girl was bitterly opposed to the effor's of her attorneys to have her adjudged insane and had sided with the prosecution in its opposition to the move.

The vote of the jury was 11 to 1 for insanity.

The jury retired at 10:25 a. m. and reported shortly after 11 o'clock that it had reached the verdict.

As the verdict was read the girl fainted. She was unconscious when the jury was polled and after the court room was cleared. She made no outcry. Her head fell back and she rested in the arms of a matron.

The girl remained in court for 25 minutes. When she regained consciousness she wept convulsively in the arms of the matron. She was able to walk to the jail, but held her handkerchief to her face and her shoulders shook with sobs.

The court indicated that the girl would be committed to some state institution of her own selection.

Assistant District Attorney Harmon D. Skillin, who represented the people in the trial, placed the murder case on the reserve calendar. It will never be pressed unless the girl is later declared sane.

The verdict closes for the present at least, one of the most unusual cases in the annals of American jurisprudence.

CONTINUE CHEMIST HEARING.

Attorneys Are Still Battling for Bond Through Supreme Court.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Arraignment of William D. Shepherd, charged with the murder of William N. McClintock, was continued today for one week while the accused's lawyers continue their battle for bail before the Illinois supreme court.

City Officials Will Assume New Jobs On Monday

Retiring Commissioners Will Probably Sit With Them

Mayor R. E. Shepherd and the three aldermen successful in the city election of last Tuesday will assume their duties when the city council convenes Monday night for its regular weekly session. The city charter provides that newly elected officials shall take office on the first regular meeting night after the election.

The present council, composed of Mayor Shepherd and Commissioners Howard, Clifford, Patton, Curd and Young will meet as usual, approve the minutes of the last meeting and then canvass the returns of various election judges. Their findings will show R. E. Shepherd elected mayor, Oral Jones finance commissioner, J. H. Patton park and health commissioner and Frank Queisser police and fire commissioner.

Oaths of office will be administered to the new officials by City Clerk W. E. McBroom and they will take their seats at the council table. Mr. Jones will supplant Rhea Howard as finance commissioner and Mr. Queisser will take the place of Mr. Young as police and fire commissioner. Mr. Shepherd and Mr. Patton, of course, merely succeed themselves.

If past custom is followed, the retiring members of the council will be asked to sit jointly with the new commissioners in the first meeting.

Claim Texas Co. Is Polluting Stream

Alleged pollution of the waters of Beaver creek, in north Wichita county, from leases of the Texas company is made the basis of a damage suit started Thursday before a jury and Judge Guy Rogers in the 78th district court. William Guthrie, a farmer, is plaintiff.

Less than half of the evidence was introduced yesterday. The petition recites that salt water and waste oil from the company leases have polluted the creek waters as to kill fish, destroy the water's value for stock purposes and create a general nuisance.

Permanent damages in the sum of $25,720 are alleged, while exemplary damages for $5,000 are also sought.

New Gas Ordinance Appears Probable

With the passage of the new ordinance looming as a probability next Monday night strict enforcement of the regulations on gasoline storage in Wichita Falls will be insisted on, city officials declare. Blanks for permits have been completed by the printer and will be available for use as soon as the ordinance becomes effective.

Drastic revisions in the method of handling gasoline are provided in the rules, made necessary through the recent tragic accident in which one city fireman was killed and several others injured in an explosion at a local tailoring shop fire. The amount of gasoline to be stored will be limited and the places in which it can be kept will be specified.

Filling stations and tailor shops are included in the list of institutions that must stand inspections and secure permits for the handling of volatile and inflammable liquids.

Red River Hearings Are Brought To End

The Wichita Falls hearings on the Red river boundary dispute, held here the past three days by A. K. Kidder of Washington and A. A. Stiles of Austin, special commission named to take evidence, were closed here yesterday and the commissioner will open hearings at once in Vernon. From there they will go to Quanah, and after that will meet in some other point along the disputed area of the river, which extends from Quanah to Texarkana.

Witnesses who, by long residence here, have been acquainted with the vagaries of Red river, have appeared before the commission to tell of their experiences. Claims as to the river's course, and on land along its banks, have also been presented in detail.

Mrs. John S. Riggs Painfully Burned

Mrs. John S. Riggs was painfully if not seriously burned following the explosion of a can of gasoline which she was using to clean her cook stove Thursday. Her burns were confined for the most part to her right hand, arm and her feet; especially the right foot, her right hand was badly burned.

Mrs. Riggs was cleaning house preparatory to removal to her new home when the accident occurred. The colored maid was ironing and had a fire lighted under a dish pan of water. Mrs. Riggs, not knowing the fire was lighted, was cleaning the stove with gasoline which ignited, causing the explosion.

The skirt of her dress caught. She had her head tied up with a towel which protected her hair and face from the flames. The curtains of the kitchen caught fire and were entirely burned. Had it not been for the quick work of the maid in turning water both on the room and Mrs. Riggs, a more serious accident would have occurred.

Clark-Greever Jury Is Unable To Agree

After being out since 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the jury in the 89th district court, which heard evidence in the case of C. H. Clark vs. B. B. Greever, informed Judge P. A. Martin at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon it was still unable to arrive at a verdict. Three of a number special issues submitted have been agreed on, the jurors said, while several have not been given consideration yet.

The case is one in which Clark seeks to collect approximately $27,000 from Greever, alleging that the latter obtained this much in excess of his authorized allowances when he was formerly in the employ of Clark.

Judge Martin instructed the jury to return at 9 o'clock Friday morning and resume deliberating.

Collier Witness Under Bond On Perjury Charge

Mrs. W. F. Mullins Released On $2,000 Bond On Thursday

An indictment charging perjury, returned Wednesday afternoon by the grand jury of the 30th district court, led to the making Thursday by Mrs. W. F. Mullins, a defense witness in the case of the state vs. Frank Collier, of a bond of $2,000.

Mrs. Mullins, who was summoned by the defense to testify as to her knowledge of alleged conditions in the home of Mrs. Hattie Robertson, whose 19-year-old son, Elzie, was shot and killed by the former mayor, February 14, testified at the habeas corpus hearing by which Mr. Collier gained freedom on bond. She later testified at his trial when he was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Statements she made led to her arrest the day before the trial started and when the case was laid before the grand jury by District Attorney James V. Allred the perjury indictment was returned.

May Decide Today Mrs. Collier's Trial

A decision may be reached today as to the location of the trial of Mrs. Frank Collier, under indictment for murder in connection with the death of Elzie Robertson, her 19-year-old son-in-law who was shot by Mr. Collier on the night of February 14, last. The case will not be tried in Wichita county, Judge H. R. Wilson of the 30th district court has ruled, and thus far, attorneys on both sides have not agreed on a point.

Judge Wilson has stated that in event this agreement is not reached before the end of the week, he will send it to some other community of his own choosing.

Decorators Co. Chooses Beautiful Painting For New House

"SQUATTERS HOME"

New Picture Will be Placed Over The Fireplace

"The fireplace is the altar for sacrifice—for worship—for refuge—for Love. Make therefore this altar the most beautiful place in your home."

Echoing this stirring mit of sentiment, The Decorators company, have chosen the most beautiful painting in their collection, and the most costly, to hang over the mantel of the fireplace in The Record Neaws Home Beautiful.

"Squatter's Home"

"The Squatter's Home," a realistic glimpse into the hill country of New Hampshire, has been done in oils by Ralph Blakelock, celebrated American painter. The tiny shanty "squats" on the rocky New England slope with a glorious background of huge trees backed further by a golden sky. One lone trees, greener than the rest, stands in the foreground and forms a pleasant note of bright color against the duller tones of the painting.

Blakelock is celebrated for the originality of his technic, and is much sought after by collectors and connoisseurs, according to W. P. Killingsworth, manager of the Decorators company, who selected the art works for the Home Beautiful.

"Art in the home reveals your personality," Mr. Killingsworth declares. "Let it be your ideal in color, form and sound. Pictures are the windows by which you may look into the past, the present and the future."

Paintings in Home

And embodying these ideals, the Home Beautiful has been fitted with appropriate paintings and bits of art work—livable things, that instead of jarring against the atmosphere of the room, harmonize and fit in, furthering the air of happiness, content and rest that makes for a successfully decorated home.

Van Vreeland's "The Holland Flower Market," a gay Dutch street scene colorful with spring flowers, in the original oil by the greatest of the Dutch painters, hangs over the buffet in the dining room of the Home Beautiful.

Other paintings in the two rooms include a French hand colored etching, a lovely scene with trees hanging over moonlit water.

Original water colors by George Howell Gay and G. H. Fiavelle will hang in the bedrooms as will Van Dyke's "Baby Stuart," Chamber's "Light of the World," Jessie Wilcox Smith's "Madonna" in a round frame, and two Glucklick pictures, "Spring Song" and "Shepherd's Song."

An attractive vase of summer flowers will hang in an octagonal frame in the breakfast room, lending a cheery color note.

Choice pieces of Rookwood pottery and several handsome mirrors will complete the decorations for the Home Beautiful.

Damage Suit Results In Refinery Death

The July 27, 1924 explosion and fire at the American Refining plant at Burkburnett which resulted in the death of one man and injury to several others, is made the basis of a damage suit now on trial before Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court. The suit is styled Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Young vs. the American Refining company.

On Sunday morning, July 27, 1924, a tank at the refinery blew up and set fire to the residence of the Young's adjoining the refinery grounds. Mrs. Young's aged father was burned to death and suit was subsequently filed. Actual damages $3,000 and exemplary damages of $2,500 are sought.

The hearing yesterday was conducted in the county court at law, both district court rooms being occupied by other tribunals.
