3 INCHES INSIDE CITY

Record Breaking Rains Continue in City, County

Record-breaking rains continue to fall in Mitchell County with most areas reporting between 3 and 5 inches of rain Friday and Saturday.

Colorado City Lake has risen exactly 1 foot since June 18 and is expected to rise even more as water keeps pouring into the reservoir. It is now at the 2065.75 level — 4 1/4 feet from full.

Champion Creek Lake was up almost 4 inches at 8 a. m. Saturday morning and Morgan Creek was expected to rise a couple of feet before the day ended.

Area rainfall for the year reached a modern record.

Lakes are rising to the full mark and grain and pasture-land in the area continue to improve with the rains.

However, the problems of insects and worms are expected to increase with the moisture and cotton growth has slowed up considerably from the normal crop condition.

Farmers who only a couple of months ago were wishing for rain are now wanting the torrential downpours to cease for the time being at least.

Rain in the area began about 6 p. m. Friday afternoon and fell almost continually through the night and up until about 11 p. m. Saturday. Most communities reported that the rain fell slowly and left the ground thoroughly soaked.

Rainfall in Colorado City totaled 3.01 inches which fell in a steady downpour with a cease of never more than a few minutes until it finally slackened at about 10:45 Saturday morning.

Clouds in the area promised more moisture and rain was expected to keep falling through Saturday and most of today (Sunday).

Most rainfall the county received was reported in Lorraine with a whopping amount of 5 inches at noon Saturday.

K. L. Taylor of First State Bank in Lorraine said the rain fell fairly slow at times but at intervals would get gradually heavier. Not very much See RAIN, pg. 5

F. L. Connell Of Midland Buried Here

Frederic Landon Connell, 59, of Midland was buried in Colorado City Cemetery at 4 p. m. Saturday.

Funeral services for Connell were conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church in Stanton.

Connell, a Midland hotel clerk, died at 8 a. m. Thursday in a Midland hospital after he was found beaten and unconscious in the hotel lobby.

He was a native of Clarksville and had moved to Midland in 1949.

Survivors include 2 sons, Billy Don Connell of Arlington and Fredrick Connell of Kingsville; 3 sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Payne of Stanton, Mrs. Evelyn Evans of Modesto, Calif., and Mrs. Nannie Ruth Taylor of Monterey, Calif.; a brother, E. M. Connell of Ennis; and 1 grandchild.

Communism Film Set Here Thursday

"Communism on the Map," a color film strip complete with sound, will be shown here Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. in Civic House.

The film traces the origin, history, ideals, aims and advances of the Communist movement. It is being presented in the public interest by a group of local citizens.

Lewis Williams and H. I. Berman are chairmen of the project. The film strip is being made available by the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization in Abilene.

The public is invited to the free showing.

Court Says Split Vote Is 'Over Emphasized'

By RICK TAYLOR
Record News Editor

"Each Commissioner voted his own conviction."

That's the statement of Mitchell County's 4 commissioners and County Judge Elmer Martin concerning the controversy — with possible political complications — arising from the Court's split vote last week adjusting its road and bridge funds.

The split vote came when Moody Richardson, Precinct 4, Lorraine, and W. N. (George) Bacon, Precinct 2, Westbrook, joined together to support readjustment of the funds.

Opposing the move were Jesse C. (Jake) Northcutt, Precinct 3, Spade, and W. M. Vest, Precinct 1, Colorado City. The tie in the voting was broken when Martin who presides over the Court and votes only in cases of ties, voted in favor of the readjustment.

All were quick to state that they felt the split vote had been over emphasized.

"We have had divided opinions and split votes before," stated one of the Commissioners. Martin agreed that it was not the first time he had been forced to cast a vote to end a tie on an issue.

All were also quick to deny that the partial unit system being conducted by Vest and Northcutt in their respective precincts had anything to do with the split.

Bacon summed it up with these words: "I have nothing against the unit system and certainly nothing against these 2 boys (Vest and Northcutt). I just felt it was more just and a more equal division of funds to adopt the new allocation of funds."

"This needed doing for the past 20 years," Bacon stated in almost the same words as did Richardson. Martin also agreed that he had felt it was needed since he had been in office.

Northcutt opposed the reallocation of funds, he stated at the time of the vote because of the partial unit system whereby he and Vest could eliminate old equipment and cost of maintenance by a consolidation of expenses to do more work for the taxpayers for each dollar spent.

Vest stated he felt that the "man who pays the most in taxes should get the most return" and that he felt his precinct, 1, which included Colorado City, had the most people, the most evaluation and paid the largest share of the taxes. Therefore, he opposed the change.

But Vest didn't fare too badly in the readjustment of funds. He, Richardson and Bacon each picked up a 2 per cent increase in funds while Northcutt took a hefty 6 per cent cut.

The funds were reallocated thus: Precinct 1 — up to 32 per cent, an increase of 2 per cent from 30 per cent.

Precinct 2 — up to 27 per cent, an increase of 2 per cent from 25 per cent.

Precinct 3 — down to 14 per cent, a 6 per cent decrease from 20 per cent.

Precinct 4 — up to 27 per cent, an increase of 2 per cent from 25 per cent.

Expensive Watches Undisturbed

A thief or thieves shattered a front display window of the Sam L. Majors Jewelry store Friday night and escaped with an undetermined number of wedding bands.

The theft was first discovered by an unidentified passerby just after 6 a. m. Saturday morning. The man then walked next door to the Best Yet Cafe and reported to owner Moody Dickerson what he had seen.

Dickerson called Sam L. (Buzz) Majors and the police department at about 6:25 a. m.

The sign (east) display window of the shop located at 160 E. 2nd St. was shattered in the lower right corner. The window contained a number of wedding bands, both men's and women's, bracelets, bracelet charms, See THIEF, pg. 3

AFTER MANY ENTRIES

Rhyme Prize to Mrs. J. D. Gibson

There has been another first-time winner in the Record's Ad-Rime Contest this week. Mrs. J. D. Gibson, after numerous entries, has walked away with first-place honors this week. Mrs. Gibson is a housewife of Rt. 3.

Close behind was Mrs. Dewitt Myers, a housewife of 1336 Cypress St. Winning third place honors was Mrs. J. A. Brown, a housewife and cafe manager who lives at 645 Cypress St.

Mrs. Gibson's winning rhyme which netted her the $10 first prize money is: "Home trade pays in many ways."

"Shopping locally doesn't cost—it pays."

With her top entry, Mrs. Gibson automatically becomes a contestant for the $50 Ad-Rime championship prize which will be awarded at the close of the 26-week series.

Mrs. Myers placed second in this week's contest with this jingle: "Home trade pays in many ways."

"With local patronage — progress stays."

A consistent entrant, Mrs. J. A. Brown, won third-place honors with her rhyme this week. Mrs. Brown's jingle was: "Boost your town — trading locally always pays."

Listed for honorable mention in this week's contest were rhymes written by Mrs. C. S. Martin, a housewife of 717 Cedar St., Joe Earnest, the attorney of 504 E. 3rd St.; Mrs. T. P. Barry, realtor, 144 E. 8th St.; Mrs. Annie Moore, housewife of 325 Elm St.; Maggie Hamrick, housewife and farmer of Rt. 2, Lorraine; and Mrs. J. M. Watson, housewife, 1612 Dallas St.

All winning entries were required to have the hidden slogan—"Home trade boosts everyone living here"—written on the entry.

There is another new contest in this edition of the Record on page 6. The guideline is "Buy — Or just investigate." Your rhyming jingle must match with this.

You are allowed to enter as many rhymes as you want, any week of the series, no matter whether you win or not.

Remember that each entry must be on a separate sheet of paper or card showing the hidden slogan that is printed in the Ad-Rime advertisements on page 4, your Ad-Rime jingle line rhyming with the Ad-Rime guideline, your name, address and occupation.

Decision of the judges is based upon the home town shopping message and cleverness of rhyming.

There is still time for YOU to be the winner in an Ad-Rime contest. So get your entries into our office by Wednesday afternoon at 5:00 p. m., and your entry may be winner of the weekly $10 prize and become eligible for entry in the final contest—with $50 grand prize.

Being in World Spotlight Nothing New to Germans, Says Visitor

By PAULINE CORNUTT
Record Staff Writer

"Up until the time we left people had not really been concerned — it's a thing that they have learned to live with down through the years," Jerome Buskemper, former coach at Colorado High School, now teaching in Germany, said of the Berlin situation Friday afternoon.

Buskemper, of Bus, as he is called by his friends, and Mrs. Buskemper are here for a day's visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hauke and acquaintances to make while coaching track and football in Colorado City High school here from 1955-56.

The Buskemper have been in the United States for about a month and have been visiting relatives at Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Buskemper talked freely of his conception of the German and American people and how he thought their relations would be affected by problems arising over the Berlin crisis.

"Probably, since we left the country, the feeling is stronger on the subject because things are just now beginning to reach a crisis — Berlin is just something the Germans have learned to accept," Buskemper related.

"But they definitely do not want the Americans to leave the country," Mrs. Buskemper, who also teaches school there, interrupted him to say.

When asked if the German people thought that the Americans would hold their ground with Russia or Britain with out a fight he replied, "Yes, the Germans were depending on us because they know that this time we can hardly afford to back away without keeping our word — they have no one else they can go to for help or support — they have to depend on us."

A vivid picture unfolded as the coach continued his tale about the almost unbelievable difference in East and West Berlin life.

"The buildings in West Berlin are some of the most beautiful in the country — when you cross over into the East you see absolutely nothing of beauty except maybe a few Russian government buildings. They have never even bothered to replace those sections of dilapidated buildings."

He related the tale of how a family in East Berlin had been planning for a great number of years of escaping into the free world but had to wait for the right opportunity to arise.

In the meantime, their 13-year-old daughter was growing up without even so much as knowing what they were contemplating for fear she would accidentally give their secret away to the wrong person.

When they finally did get to West Berlin, the girl had to learn everything about Western ideas and customs which she did not even know existed.

Those who escape from East Berlin must come out by plane, by rail, because this could never make a success of escape any other way.

The fair-haired coach chuckled as he recalled the "key money" that tenants in Germany are sometimes forced to pay before they can rent a house or apartment in the over-crowded cities.

He seriously remarked that the money was more or less a bribe as the person who owns the establishment tells the person seeking a house that other than the rent he will pay so much money just for the opportunity for finding a place to live.

This is money the tenant will never see again and will serve as nothing other than getting him a place to live.

For this reason, Mrs. Buskemper said, it is not surprising that the Germans are so anxious to get out of the country.

KID STUFF... OR ROUGH STUFF?

Don't worry about these boys

A little roughhousing is good for them. They're growing up.

Pushing. Shoving. Relaxing in that strange, exhausting way boys relax. Pile-On. King-of-the-Mountain. Crack-the-Whip.

But half a block away may be a sullen little street-corner group where this kind of clowning is scorned as "kid stuff." Crack-the-whip through these guys and switch blades flash... razor-sharp belt buckles swing in a mutilating arc. Then the street is empty except for a crumpled form on the sidewalk.

What makes the difference between these two groups? A friendly cop can. A family can. A little Faith can. Faith can begin when a family plays together, works together, worships together.

COLORADO CITY RECORD INVITED INTO THREE FOURTHS OF
MITCHELL COUNTY HOMES

AT LONE WOLF CO-OP BUILDING

Visiting Agent from Lubbock Speaks to County H.D. Council

Mrs. Aubrey Russell, visiting district agent from Lubbock, spoke to the county home demonstration council which met Thursday afternoon at the Lone Wolf Electric Co-operative building.

Mrs. Russell related to council members reasons why home demonstration work was important — to develop leadership, social activities, subject matter and gives women the chance to develop their own abilities for leadership.

She said that home demonstration clubs and extension services were adding new directions and that H. D. clubs were sponsoring demonstrations for special interest groups.

Following her talk, members had a round-table discussion on how to improve H.D. work.

Meeting was called to order by the council president, Mrs. C. S. Stubblefield. Prayer was spoken by Mrs. Tom Jackson, president of Carr Club.

Recreation was led by Looney Club.

Six club presidents gave reports. They were from Looney, Spade, Carr, North Lorraine, Fairview and Buford clubs.

Minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Don Blassingame, treasurer's report was read by Mrs. John Womack.

Points about the state meeting in San Angelo Aug. 9 and 10 were presented for discussion by Mrs. Parker Jarman, T. H. D. A. chairman. Three delegates, Mrs. Jarman of the Looney Club; Mrs. Francis Winn of Spade Club; and Mrs. Raymond Wheeler of North Lorraine Club will represent this county.

Guests to the state convention will register at the Cactus Hotel in San Angelo. Programs will be presented in the municipal auditorium there.

New business discussed included the encampment clubs are going to sponsor at the Lone Wolf Electric Co-operative Aug. 24. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p. m. and each club president will be responsible for hosting the affair. Every club will present a skit for recreation and husbands will be guests.

Annual county book review and tea will be in August and the date will be announced later.

T.H.D.A. chairman reported that $28.75 had been donated for the All-Faith Chapel fund for state institutions.

It was decided that there would be no council meeting in August.

New Styles on Parade

Women above almost stole the show at Civic House last Friday night at the annual 4-H and home demonstration style show. They created and modeled their own styles, much to the amusement of the audience. Participating in the mock affair were Mrs. Nolan Fencher, "buttons and bows"; Mrs. A. M. Beights, "tea gown"; Mrs. T. L. Holman, "evening gown"; Mrs. Ed Strain, "candy-stripe dress"; Mrs. Jasper Doyle, "dinner gown"; and Mrs. Don Ritchey, "print dress."

Bridal Shower Compliments Miss Farrar

A pre-nuptial shower complimented Miss Linda Farrar, bride-elect of Jerry Uitz, Thursday night in the home of Mrs. W. S. Rhode.

Hostesses were Misses Susan Rhode, Mary Alice Bryant and Betty Lloyd.

Another member of the houseparty was Miss Anne Rhode.

The come-and-go fete was from 7 to 9 p. m.

Miss Bryant showed gifts which were displayed in the bedroom and Miss Merritt served punch. Miss Sue Blackard presided at the registration table.

Color scheme was carried out in blue and white. Table was centered with blue carnations and white stock. Appointments were in crystal and silver. Table, on which blue napkins were placed, was covered with a white grass linen tablecloth over blue. Registration table was decorated with summer flowers. Approximately 40 guests attended.

GERMANY—

the process will start all over again, and the subject of the "key money" will arise once more.

Land and houses are outrageously priced there. Bux- kemper said of German real estate. "Why, an ordinary 2-bedroom house in America would sell for $25 or $30,000.

In answer to a question asking if the Germans were still as intent on improving economical and financial conditions and building back their country as they once were,
Buxkemper replied:

"They are not content just to build back what once was — they want a bigger and better Germany. They are looking to the future and not the past."

Mrs. Buxkemper told how she had a friend in East Germany who rarely had the opportunity of any luxuries from the outside world. She asked her friend if there was any special thing she would like to have.

To this she replied, "coffee"
(a pound costs the equivalent of 10 American dollars.) However, it was decided for Mrs.
Buxkemper not to try to mail
the coffee to the woman because of the risk involved in her receiving a package with an American postmark on it.

Many times when something such as coffee, flour or sugar is mailed to people in East Berlin from the outside, Mrs.
Buxkemper said, the officials mix everything together and let it go through to the expectant family, who find nothing but a worthless combination.

West Germany is about the size of Texas and has approximately 43,000,000 people.
The last time Buxkemper was here and in the U. S. will include a covered dish in July 1958. I think he supper, a program and the noticed immediately was the election.

His wife, who hails from the state of Pennsylvania, said that 1 big difference she noted in German and American people was that Americans were not happy unless they were in the presence of blaring music or something loud sounding while Germans were at a much slower pace and enjoyed a quieter life.

They noted that food here was much higher priced than in Germany but clothing was cheaper.

Buxkemper graduated from Ballinger High School and attended the University of Texas. Since he taught school here, he has taught in Yokahama, Japan in 1955-56, and has been stationed in Frankfort, Germany, since 1958 as

RAIN—

harm was done to the crops
but insect damage was expected to mount.

China Grove community,
where farmers have been badly hit by previous rains added another rain mark to its water-logged fields with a total of almost 4 inches at noon Saturday.

Rain started about 5 Friday afternoon here and it was still raining Saturday noon.
Some of the earlier rains had already broken terraces which had to have extensive repairs before the farmer could prepare to re-plant. Cotton crops in China Grove in most places have been re-planted 2 or 3 times this year.

Some young cotton in Buford community was under water from the latest rainfall
but most was large enough to withstand much damage.
A total of 4 1/2 inches fell in that area.

Rain was reported to be ruining some of the cotton on the sandy soil south of the city in the Seven Wells community. Three and 1/2 inches of slow rain fell there but rain stopped before Saturday noon.

Several miles south of Loraine in the Silver area 3.8 inches fell between 7 Friday evening and 11 Saturday morning. However, almost all of the rain fell Saturday morning.

Bruce Byrne Ranch in Laders community received 4 inches which fell during Friday night and continued up until noon Saturday. Byrne reported that the rains had been excellent for his feed and pastureland, which is thriving from more moisture than it has had in quite a number of years.

Cotton in the Landers community was not damaged.
Heavy rains from 6 p. m.
Friday to 11 Saturday morning netted 4 1/2 inches in the Looney Community. Residents in that area said that cotton had not been damaged but had not needed the rain. Cotton there is still young and the growth had been delayed more and more from lack of dry weather and sunshine.

Latest Conservation Project

Curtis Latimer, left, agent for the V. R. Trulock estate, is shown here inspecting the new water storage facilities being constructed as part of the estate's planned program under the Great Plains Conservation Program. This concrete storage tank is being constructed on land just northeast of Colorado City. Shown discussing the tank with Latimer is the Sqn Angelo building contractor in charge of construction.

ON TRULOCK ESTATE

Conservation Program Raises Value of Land

The old adage, "Plan your work, then work your plan," has proved highly successful on the V. R. Trulock Estate land here in Mitchell County. Just ask Curtis Latimer, agent of the estate. He'll tell you what the Great Plains Conservation District office, has done for the estate's land located in the Longfellow, China Grove and Iatan Communities.

Planning for the program for the 3517 total acres of the estate began in 1960. The plan was developed and designed to retain productivity and fertility of the land for permanent production.

And that's just what it has done, states Latimer.

The agent for the estate is very high in his praise of the program. Of it he says:

"It is a workable plan designed for our land individually. It has been worked out step-by-step under terms of the program that leave no room for guesswork.

"We have the best possible program of experience and research behind the plan to assure top results," he continues.

"But at the same time, we are responsible. The suggestions for the program are made for us by the district office here and we carry out the program ourselves — we are not forced to take part in any practice.

"I feel it is one of the best conservation programs in history and we can already see the successful results of it," Latimer concluded.

Under the program, the estate and the government share in the cost of the conservation practices carried out. Depending upon the practices, the estate is repaid from 50 to 80 per cent of the cost by the government. Each individual practice has its separate rate of payment.

But the payment comes after the practice has been completed and okayed by the Soil Conservation's district office here. (The Trulock estate will receive approximately $12,000 under the program which will not be completed until 1964.)

Immediately after the plan was completed, the application of the conservation practices began. The first practices started on the estate's land included crop rotation, contour farming, growing cover crops, management of crop stubble and range management.

After Jan. 1, other practices were put into effect — including terrace construction, diversion construction, barbed wire fence building, ranch pond construction, a water well completion, installation of a water storage facility and seeding of 130 acres of range land. The most recent practice started was the control of mesquite with kerosene by hand application.

"Every practice recommended has fit into our plans," states Latimer. "We feel sure that each practice is increasing the value of our land and will continue to do so in the future."

Work done on the estate's land includes conservation cropping system on 1415 acres; rotation of hay and pasture on 286 acres; crop residue on 445 acres; contour farming on 1415 acres; cover on 400 acres; range seeding on 130 acres; deferred grazing on 1924 acres; proper range use on 2089 acres; 1 irrigation system on 15 to 20 acres; construction of 16.4 miles of terraces; another 20 miles of old terraces.
