National Cotton Week May 15-23

Rural people of Texas will be among the most enthusiastic to celebrate National Cotton Week, May 15-23, because they know the importance of cotton in the economic life of their state and nation, says Mildren Horton, vice director of the A. and M. College Extension Service and a member of the Texas National Cotton Week Committee.

Through the state's 217 county home demonstration and assistant agents, Texas farm families are being urged to emphasize "conservation" of cotton during the observance.

Care of clothing and household cottons is in line with the Victory Demonstrator's war-time pledge which thousands of farm families are making with the Extension Service, Miss Horton says. One part of the pledge is to "take good care of everything I use—food, clothes, furnishings, equipment," etc.

Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, extension clothing specialist, points out that

Classified Ad Finds Lost Property

W. P. Davis ran a small ad in the Lost Column of the Courier Classified Section on April 23, saying that he had lost a grain scoop.

On the next Tuesday the scoop was returned to him by County Commissioner J. E. Debnam who had found it and gained knowledge of its owner when he read the Classifieds in the Courier.

Thus by spending only a few cents, Mr. Davis regained some lost property that would have cost him several dollars to replace.

The lesson to be learned in this little story is that a small sum spent for a Courier Classified will gets results that sometimes makes the original cost of the ad seem trivial. Try the Courier Classifieds, and although we don't guarantee the results every time, we do say that it will be one of the wisest investments you ever made.

Accurate Social Security Names, Numbers Urged

As the time for filing another quarterly social security tax return approaches, Elliott W. Adams, manager of the Big Spring, Texas, Social Board office, reminds employers to make certain they report each employee's name and social security account number correctly. In this way, he said they will save the time and expense of later having to check back on their pay-roll records to correct any errors.

Mr. Adams stated that practically all employers have now learned the importance of correctly reporting their employee's account numbers and names as well as their wages. He added, however, that occasionally an employee's account number will be missing from an employer's report, or the number will be slightly incorrect, or the employee's name will be spelled wrong. "In these cases," he said, "we must ask the employer to check back on his records and supply the correct information. Sometimes the employer has failed to get the correct name or account number from the employee and must take time to check with him. That means a waste of time and consequently is expensive for the employer."

Mr. Adams pointed out that the law makes the employer responsible for maintaining a record of the employee's name, account number, and wages and for reporting them

Singing For The Home Folks Is Fun

By RAY PEACOCK
Wide World Features Writer

NEW YORK — They say that when a movie star makes a personal appearance at a night club, he or she is slipping. But how would you like to slip at $1500 a week?

That's what Carol Bruce hauled down during a month's engagement at the Copacabana. And outside of being a very nice round number, it meant a great deal to the singer who skyrocketed to the movies via the musical comedy, "Louisiana Purchase."

To Carol, a slender brownette with gray-blue eyes, it was "local girl makes good" with reverse English. She hails from Brooklyn, where she once modeled clothes at $20 a week. And unlike the girls who come to New York to whittle out careers, Carol had to leave New York—not once, but twice—to get into big money.

Four years ago she left to sing with Lloyd Huntley's band at Montreal. That led to a succession of band assignments, night clubs, and small parts in two short-lived Broadway musicals. When "Louisiana Purchase" opened two years ago, Carol was an instant success, but her pay was still a modest $150 a week.

So she left town once more—this time going to Hollywood for featured roles in "This Woman Is Mine" and "Keep 'Em Flying." That put her in the big money, and makes it obvious (if the $1,500 a week doesn't speak for itself) why she would relish a New York appearance at ten times the money she formerly commanded.

But the Copacabana got its money's worth, for Carol sheathed in a white crepe floor length gown, and singing in her torchy contralto, never lacked for encores. Most effective was an arrangement from "Porgy and Boss." But most fun was "Embraceable You."

"I played Cupid one night," Carol explains. "A boy came over after the show and said that he had been begging his girl to marry him and that she always had said no. But while I was singing the song he asked her again. And she said 'yes.' Wasn't that nice?"

Price Ceilings Explained To South Plains Merchants At Lubbock Friday Night

Over 600 merchants representing all counties of the South Plains area Friday night attended a school of instruction in Senior High school auditorium in Lubbock on price ceilings and retail delivery regulations conducted by Emmette S. Redford and J. D. Daly, attorneys, of the Office of Price administration headquarters in Dallas.

"In many ways the general price regulation is the most stupendous and far-reaching single regulation ever issued by our government," Redford declared. "With a limited number of exceptions, it covers the prices of all commodities and services sold by producer, manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer. By the dates upon which the various parts of the regulation become effective, these groups must be prepared to adapt their prices to the ceilings established. Those dates are close: for commodities sold by retailers it is May 18; for services, the date is July 1."

Learned Lesson In Twenties

Redford said that farmers and merchants learned the "inevitable hangover" that inflation brings in the early twenties.

"Price spiralling faces this country if immediate and drastic steps are not taken," he asserted.

The general price regulation has the effect of giving every producer, manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer a participation in the war effort, said Redford. "It's one and only purpose is the stabilization of prices. It does not seek to disturb existing distribution channels, or help or hinder one type of business as against another. Its purpose is this and this only: to insure that the cost of living shall not rise above the level of March 1942."

Farm Prices Covered

Many farm prices are covered by the order, said Redford, but pointed out it was necessary to exempt many others such as eggs, poultry, butter, dried beans, mutton and lamb, because the prices of these commodities are now lower than the levels set by Congress in the Price Control Act.

He stated further: "The regulation sets one standard for all sellers, whether manufacturers, producer, wholesaler, or retailer—all are held to March prices. It sets only maximum prices, all persons being allowed to charge less than their highest March prices. Thus the order allows some competitive forces to operate below the upper limits. It allows you to use your highest March price. This is fair because it does not hold you to sale or leader price which you were charging during part of the month. The regulation allows you to use your own March prices and requires you to retain your own customary discounts for cash and other purposes. It does not require an independent grocer to sell at chain store prices, a small merchant to sell at department store mark-ups. The regulation sought in this way to retain normal and customary practices in purpose; it seeks to maintain the purpose; it seeks to maintain the March cost of living with the least possible disturbance to established methods of doing business."

Two Relief Instances

In cases where real hardship is caused, OPA is prepared to give relief in two cases, he said. These are, he pointed out, in instances where a retailer's prices are abnormally low in relation to the prices charged by other retailers; and in prices where the retailer's prices are abnormally low in relation to the prices he pays.

Daly called attention to the fact that the regulation requires that the seller preserve his existing records relating to his March 1942 prices and that these requirements went into effect when the regulation was issued, April 28.

"The ceiling prices apply to sales of goods by manufacturers, producers and wholesalers, and services rendered to an industrial or commercial consumer, from May 11, 1942, onward," said Daly. "Sales of goods by retailers are subject to the ceiling prices beginning May 18. For services sold at retail, that is, rendered to an ultimate consumer, other than an industrial or commercial user, the ceiling applies on July 1, 1942."

Contracts Affected

The order provides that on and after it becomes effective, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver any commodity and no person shall sell or supply any service, at prices higher than the regulation, Daly explained.

"This is a most important point to remember," continued Daly, "that it not only prevents the making of future contracts at prices higher than the maximum prices which it establishes, but, more than that, it expressly prohibits anyone from delivering goods or supplying services, regardless of any prior contract or other obligation, at prices in excess of the ceiling prices. Thus, although the contract may have been entered into long before the effective date of the regulation, nevertheless, the regulation prohibits anyone from delivering the goods or supplying the services called for by the contract, as the case may be, at prices in excess of the maximum it establishes."

Following is a list of commodities designated by Price Administrator Henderson at cost-of-living commodities, with asterisks (*) identifying those on which ceiling prices may be posted by price-line:

DENTON, May 9—A military service rendered Texas State College for Women by Camp Wolters men was revealed last Saturday, May 2, when the four college beauties, chosen several months ago by men at the camp, were presented at the annual senior formal prom.

All four girls, whose identity was kept secret until the dance Saturday night, will receive full-page pictures in the Daedalian yearbook. They are Dorothy Middleton, Orange, senior; Betty Buchanan, junior from Grapevine; Lena Marie Adams, Bryan sophomore; and Jo Meree Ridgway of San Antonio, freshman.

Camp Wolters soldiers picked the TSCW beauties several months ago when the college put on a stage show in the service club for men at the camp.

Senior Class To Sponsor "MacBeth"

A colorful, hard-hitting production of Shakespeare's "MacBeth" by Baylor Theater Touring Company comes to Lamesa, Wednesday, May 13, according to an announcement yesterday by Senior Class, who are sponsoring the play here.

The touring version of the same play which attracted audiences to Waco from all over the Southwest will be presented in the High School auditorium at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased from salesmen who will be around.

The Bard of Avon's classic tragedy has been interpreted in a modern vein, giving free rein to its driving power and modern significance. The story of MacBeth parallels the rise of many modern dictators who have killed to gain their power and have been forced to kill to maintain it.

The witches and their weird flowing dances open the play, and from this mysterious opening, the play never slackens its pace. MacBeth's rise to power as he is engulfed in the consequences of his deed is climaxed in a hard-fought battle scene involving actual combat with swords, daggers, spears, and staffs.

Baylor University's touring company is the first collegiate group of its kind in the Southwest. Sponsored in part by Rockefeller foundation the group of fourteen are producing "Macbeth" and two religious dramas in thirty-five cities in Texas in addition to productions of "Born in Texas" in six army camps over the state.

Virginia Lindsey, a Lamesa girl, is in the cast.

County Superintendent J. H. Norris Rotary Speaker

County School Superintendent J. H. Norris was the speaker at the regular Friday noon meeting of the Lamesa Rotary Club, at the Plaza Hotel.

Mr. Norris used as his subject, "The Schools Of Dawson County" and gave some very interesting and educational figures concerning these institutions.

"There are 18 schools in Dawson County, outside Lamesa," Mr. Norris stated, "with fifteen of them operating their own schools and the other three contracting their schools to others. Sunset and Bartlett come to Lamesa, while Munger goes to Union."

Rural schools of the county (outside Lamesa), have a total investment in buildings and other properties of approximately $500,000, of which amount they still owe around $225,000. Six of these rural schools are free of bonded indebtedness, leaving 12 who owe the $225,000.

Local maintenance for these rural schools of the county, is approximately $151,000 per year according to figures of last year. Local taxpayers pay $57,792 of that bill.

The schools received $4,908 in tuition aid during the past year, which was paid to Lamesa School District, on 109 white transfers and 14 colored students, all transferred to Lamesa.

Transportation aid last year totaled $22,864. This comes from the state equalization fund at the rate of $2.00 per child on all children living more than 2½ miles from school, except in districts of less than 100 square miles in area, where they only draw $1.50 per child on elementary children.

The operating cost for each school bus operated by the schools is between $1,000 and $1,200 per year. Mr. Norris then said that the only way a school bus can possibly pay its own way is to carry from 50 to 60 students each day, which is practically impossible. "There never has been one to pay its way in this county," Mr. Norris continued. There are 32 buses operating in the county, and every child in every district, except two, are transported.

Last year the schools received $26,890 in salary aid, the third largest amount received by any county in the state. However, this is not such an honor as it might seem, Norris claims, as it sometimes retards progress in education rather than advancing it.

The remainder of the operating expenses, goes to the bonded indebtedness.

"One of the principal problems of the rural schools, has been the change in scholastics," Supt. Norris said. "Ten years ago the scholastic census of Dawson County was 3940 students. Three years ago a high of 4240 was reached. During the past year, the total was 3984 students. Thus it would seem that the census was fairly steady. But this has not been the case, for Lamesa enumerated only about 1000 scholastics ten years ago, and last year they had approximately 1,700, so you can see that the rural schools have lost in proportion."

Dawson county has six accredited 4-year high schools, 7 accredited elementary schools, and four unaccredited elementary schools. All but 183 children of the county attend either an accredited high or elementary school, and these are prevented from doing so either by the fact that their school is so heavily bonded that they do not have the money to spend on acc-to conserve rubber used as glass jar closures.

No Tin For These

Canners figure that animal food, macaroni, spaghetti, whole apricots, whole carrots and whole pears are excluded from the use of glass unless research enables such foods to be packed without use of a rubber closure.

Canned vegetable stocks have been shrinking so rapidly agricultural authorities are urging the adoption of some form of restricted distribution, short of card rationing.

creditation, or because they are so geographically located that they do not have an accredited high school to which they may go.

"People are always asking me about which is the best school in the county," Mr. Norris concluded. "In my opinion, a pretty good way to judge the value of a school is to investigate the number of children who are inspired and trained in such a way that they are willing to graduate from high school and continue with their education. Some rural schools have from 3 to 5 times as many students as others who go on to finish high school, and then go on to college. This is the only true valuation of a school's worth."

JUDGE FAILS TO SEE THE FUNNY SIDE

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP) — From now on the Rev. Dan Carey may expand his newspaper reading to sections other than the funny page.

Arrested on a charge of driving without a proper operator's license, he told Judge Oppie Hedrick he didn't know the license he had was outdated.

"Ignorance of the law is no excuse," asserted the judge. "Don't you read the newspapers?"

"I mostly read the funnies," "Well try reading the front page now and then — $10 and costs."

MARBLES SCARCE, SO PLAY FOR KEEPS

WINNIPEG (AP) — War has finally hit the school yards and back lots. Winnipeg importers of agates and glass allies, which come from Germany and Japan, have not brought in stocks for more than a year and with the stocks exhausted Junior will have to get along on last year's winnings. Theoretically, dealers, said, the number of marbles in circulation should remain more or less consistent — merely changing hands like racetrack money.

One 10-year-old marble shark admitted having about 500. This, he claimed, was not hoarding, just a case of good marksmanship last year.

Miss Trinka Norman of Tech, Lubbock, spent the week end here visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Norman.

Specialist Urges People To Grow Own Herb Garden

A home herb garden is a pleasant hobby in ordinary times but before the war is over one may become a wise and thrifty investment.

Pioneers grew their own seasonings, and modern homemakers can do it too, if necessary, says Jennie Camp, Extension Service specialist in home production planning. This nation's pepper has been coming from Java, cinnamon from Ceylon, cloves from East Africa and Madagascar, and ginger from China or Jamaica or West Africa. Some of these sources are in enemy hands. And in war-time ships have more important cargoes than spices and herbs.

Seasoning is especially important in making low-cost dishes appetizing, and, while it has little food value, it helps give food "Vitamin Z"—the psychological vitamin of human satisfaction, Miss Camp says.

Plant scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture say a space 10 by 12 feet—or at most 10 by 20 feet—will supply all the seasonings for an average size family. Their advice is to lay out the herb garden so the annuals are on one side and the perennials are on the other. Then the second year when the garden is spaded for planting annuals, the perennials will be undisturbed.

Among the annuals are parsley, summer savory, and basil, which has a clove-like flavor. Perennials include sage, mint, thyme, chives, and tarragon. "With just a few plants you will have a wide variety of seasonings for adding zest to everything from soup to dessert and from sandwiches to fruit beverages," the specialist says.

Information on growing herbs for the kitchen garden can be obtained from the Extension Service, A. and M. College, College Station, Texas, or from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

HAVE TO STAY DITCHED

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — State highway patrol cars no longer carry tow chains. The reason: the highway patrol no longer can afford to tear up its cars pulling people out of ditches.

U. S. Navy cruisers can travel 15,000 miles or more without touching land.

Age Limit Raised For Enlistment In Marine Corp

Men, you're getting younger instead of older.

Yes, sir. Yesterday you might have been too old to join the fightingest of Uncle Sam's forces—the United States Marines. Today, if you are thirty-three years of age or under, you can be a Marine.

So said Commander Jerome Braun, U. S. Naval officer now in charge of the Marine Corps recruiting office at Dallas. "We need all the young men we can get today," said Commander Braun. "There is no waiting. If a young man wants to do his part for his country, if he is between the ages of seventeen and thirty-three and in average good health, he can join the Marines now."

This was real news to the recruiters on duty in the Marine offices at Dallas, Fort Worth, Abilene, Waco, Denison, and Longview, for they have been besieged of late with healthy, stalwart youth whom they have had to turn down because they were over the Marine standard of thirty years.

Allrec ruiters etalciftaoshm eth All recruiters turned to with a vengeance Monday, when word was received from Division headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., to enlist all men possible; and each vowed that the Dallas district would again lead all districts in the Southern Recruiting Division, as it has for the last three years.

Chief reason for the zeal exhibited by the Dallas recruiters was the fact that their former commanding officer, Lt. Col. John O'Leary, is now in charge of the entire Southern Division and all were determined to show him that they are behind him for all they are worth. (Editor's note: if you know the Marines, is plenty!)

TIN IN THEM THAE HILLS

LOVELOCK, Nev. (AP) — Small nuggets of tin discovered in placer gold mining operations have set prospectors off to hunt for the veins where the precious war metal may be found "in place." Reports of tin deposits have been current in Nevada for years, but no discoveries warranting commercial mining have been made.

Canned Food Problem Not As Bad As It Seems

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Wide World Features Writer

WASHINGTON — Lovers of tidbits in tins have been taking it on the chin, but the canned food situation isn't all on the dismal side.

When Uncle Sam added canned pork and beans (along with beer, coffee, and corned beef hash in tin containers) to the consumer goods casualty list, it was bad news indeed to many a devotee of packaged edibles.

However, canned food prospects in general are not half so gloomy as the rush to stock up on favorite items may lead you to believe. If hoarders don't run amuck and if crop weather is normal, next winter's supply of several of the most popular canned fruits and vegetables should be fairly close to normal.

Except for dried beans, sweet potatoes, apple butter and whole apricots, the use of tin cans has not been prohibited for any important vegetables or fruits.

Where They Save

The bulk of tin savings under present regulation will come from the elimination of small-sized cans, from the ban on tin containers for beer, dog food, dry beans, baking powder, cereals, coffee and spices, tobacco and petroleum products and from using thinner tin plate on all cans.

Such old standbys as canned green peas, tomatoes, sweet corn, peaches and pears are classed as primary products. For these, tin container restrictions apply only to the size of the cans. In this primary class also are salmon and sardines, tomato juice, catsup and chili sauce, honey, concentrates of orange, lemon lime and grapefruit and baby formulas.

More Peas, Tomatoes

Green peas for canning acreage indicate a pack 26 per cent larger than in 1941. A 27 per cent increase in canned tomatoes is the production goal set by the Department of Agriculture. While the Army will take a sizeable percentage, satisfactory supplies of these two popular foods are in prospect.

Some foods, ordinarily canned, can be packed in glass containers. However, certain foods will be affected by restrictions designed

About forty guests called during the evening.

MRS. A. H. SMITH HOSTESS TO CLUB THURSDAY

Mrs. A. H. Smith entertained for members and guests of the Thursday 42 Club at her home Thursday afternoon.

most cotton materials give long life. During National Cotton Week she will emphasize materials which require little pressing or ironing such as woven "crinkled" materials and woven seersucker materials which are sanforized shrunk, and will not shrink out of shape with laundering.

Cotton work clothing which is safe, comfortable, and attractive is being recommended to women and girls who are taking the place of men and boys on the farm or in war industries. Some of the crease-resistant fabrics excellent for work clothes are light-weight denims, seersucker, and gaberdine.

With paper and linen scarce, Mrs. Bernice Claytor, specialist in home improvement, says cotton are being used more widely in the home. She urges homemakers to use unbleached muslin for household purposes, since this will save bleaching and dyes.

In addition, homemakers will soon be asked to limit their bedding supply to four sheets and four pillow cases per bed, so it is important that their bed linens be given the best of care. One sheet contains enough material to make four pairs of shorts for a man in the army.

DELPHIAN CLUB SPONSOR MOTHER AND DAUGHTER TEA

The Delphian Club closed their year with the annual Mother-Daughter Tea on Friday afternoon at the Lamesa Country Club. It was by far the most outstanding meeting of the club year.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. M. C. Lindsey, the retiring president, Mrs. Guy Orr and Mrs. Roy Smith. Presiding at the guest book was Mrs. Mildred Barron.

The club house was most attractively decorated with bowls of red roses. On the mantel was a large bowl of red roses and a large bowl of white roses and on either side were tall red tapers in v-shaped holders.

The following program was given during the afternoon: Mrs. M. C. Lindsey gave the welcome address, which was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Frances Jean Pittman. Mrs. L. M. Pratt gave the prologue of "Windswept," by Mary Ellen Chase. The author writes of her New England Country and it is a book of prose, but read with a lilt and beauty of poetry. "Windswept" was the home of the writer and was on the eastern coast of Maine. Reviewing the book were the following girls: Marjorie Green, Ann Crawley, Lynette Carroll, Betty Pace, Margaret Ashley, Martha Alice Rape, Patsey Jo Rountree, Earlene Davis, Geneva Earnest, Maxine Peterson, Billie Grace Webb, Billie Sue White and Katie Lee Randle.

After the book review a girls chorus, composed of Betty Pace, Margaret Ashley, Patsey Jo Rountree, Katherine Nelson, June Winner, Marilyn Frazier and Johnnie Muri Smith, directed by Mrs. Carl Rountree sang, "We'll Never Let Our Flag Fall" and "Neapolitan Nights."

After the program punch was served from a lace covered table, centered with an arrangement of pink roses with pink and green tapers in crystal holders on either side. Presiding at the table was Mrs. Carl Rountree, assisted by Mrs. Dahnke and Mrs. Smith.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Guy Orr, Mrs. J. Fred Dahnke, Mrs. Mildred Barron, Mrs. Carl Rountree and Mrs. Roy Smith.

PRIMARY OFFICERS AND TEACHERS HONORS MOTHERS OF DEPT.

The Primary Department teachers and officers of the First Baptist Church entertained the Primary mothers Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the church.

The auditorium was beautifully decorated with fresh cut flowers. A color scheme of red, white and blue carried out the patriotic color scheme in all decorations and refreshments.

The program was rendered by the primary children with each child taking a part. The bible story "Elisha Helps a Mother" was given by Rev. E. F. Cole. The benediction was given by the General Sunday School superintendent Chas. Hatchett.

Ushers for the evening were Gary Mitchell, Millard McDonnell Jr. and James Ray Taylor.

Refreshments were served to the 124 guests with each child serving its own mother.

NO SHORTAGE OF CHITAM BARK

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Hush your wailing, child; chittam barks at 15 cents a pound now and the 1942 crop soon will be pouring to market.

There's never really been a shortage, of course, but peelers go to work in earnest when the price is right, and this year's is an all-time high.

and as time was short, the County and City Commissioners were ordered to get proceedings under way at once. These two bodies then met together to decide upon the division of cost, and then asked their attorneys to draw up the condemnation papers. It is understood that this was done Friday evening.

The land being sought as the site of the school is known as the Judge Wright property, about six miles northeast of Lamesa. This land has already been approved by Wilson as the location, and it was thought that as soon as the condemnation proceedings were filed, a contract would be signed between Wilson and the County and City, calling for the construction of the school.

The proposed school would train about 125 student glider pilots at a time, with approximately another hundred to be in the ground crews and to serve as instructors. The cost of the school is estimated to be about $200,000, with many thinking that it would probably be doubled in size within a short time.

A crew of engineers and surveyors have been in Lamesa for several days, and if the contracts are signed, it is thought that work on the school will get underway within the next ten days. Temporary structures will be used, it was explained, until the permanent buildings can be erected. Contract would call for the completion of all construction work within 60 working days. It has been reported.

On his discharge from the institution the War Ration Book shall be returned to him.

C. If a consumer is inducted into the armed services of the United States for a period of more than thirty days, he shall surrender his War Ration Book to the Board.

HOME CANNING

A. Each consumer holding a War Ration Book shall be entitled to additional amounts of sugar not to exceed 5 pounds per annum for use in connection with the canning or preserving of fresh fruits or vegetables for consumption in his own home; provided, however, that the maximum quantity of sugar which may be obtained for home canning during the period of May and June 1942 by a consumer registered with a Board located in the District of Columbia or in Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, or Maine, shall be one pound. The application therefore shall be made to the Board upon OPA Form No. R-315 by the consumer personally or by an adult member of his family unit or by an authorized agent. Upon application, the Board shall issue to the consumer a Certificate for the amount of sugar authorized by this section.

CONSUMER BORN AFTER REGISTRATION

A consumer born after the period provided for consumer registration may be registered by his parent or other person having custody of him, with the Board with which such parent or other person is registered. The Board shall issue a War Ration Book to such consumer after first removing therefrom the Stamp applicable to all expired ration periods.

CONSUMER EATING REGULARLY AT SAME ESTABLISHMENT

A consumer who arranges to eat 12 or more meals per week in an establishment registered as an institutional user must surrender his War Ration Book to the owner or manager of the establishment. The War Ration Book shall be returned to the consumer when he ceases to eat 12 or more meals per week at the establishment. At the time of the return, Stamps for the ration periods that expired while such arrangement existed shall be detached by the owner or manager and surrendered for cancellation to the Board having jurisdiction over the establishment. Notwithstanding the provisions of this section the War Ration Book shall be surrendered to the consumer for temporary use for the purpose of purchasing any product other than a food product for which a War Ration Stamp may have been designated by the Office of Price Administration. Establishments referred to in this section include, but are not limited to, boarding houses and college dormitories.

EXCESS INVENTORY

The amount by which the present inventory exceeds the allowable inventory shall be known as the "excess inventory." The registration of a registering unit which has an excess inventory shall be completed, but such registering unit shall not be entitled to any Certificates at the time of registration. Before it may accept any deliveries of sugar such registering unit must surrender to the Board for cancellation Stamps or Certificates in weights value equal to the amount of the excess inventory.

SUGAR PURCHASE CERTIFICATES, WAR RATION BOOKS, AND WAR RATION STAMPS

Nature and Validity of Certificates and Stamps:

a. A Certificate or Stamp may be transferred only for the purpose of authorizing the consumer or registering unit to whom the Certificate or Stamp was issued to take delivery of the amount of sugar specified on the Certificate, or assigned to the Stamp in Schedule C of Rationing Order No. 3, or to permit the registering unit to which the Certificate or Stamp has been surrendered to take delivery of sugar in order to replenish its sugar inventory. Stamps in the hands of a consumer are valid only if attached to a War Ration Book.

b. Each Stamp authorized delivery of sugar to a consumer only during the ration period assigned to the Stamp in Schedule C. The Stamp permits a registering unit to which it has been surrendered by a consumer in accordance with Rationing Order No. 3, to receive the amount of sugar assigned to the Stamp in Schedule C with in ten (10) days of the close of the ration period during which the Stamp was valid. A Certificate authorized the person to whom it was issued to take delivery within sixty (60) days from the valid date of the Certificate, of the amount of sugar specified thereon. A Certificate authorizes a primary distributor or a registering unit to which it has been duly surrendered in accordance with Rationing Order No. 3, to make a delivery of sugar within a period of thirty (30) days from the date set forth in the last endorsement on the reverse of the Certificate.

c. If there is surrendered to a wholesaler or primary distributor Certificates or Stamps having a weight value equivalent to a quantity of sugar which cannot be delivered in standard shipping packages, or standard shipping units, as the case may be, the wholesaler or primary distributor may deliver either the exact quantity of sugar called for by the Certificates and Stamps or, at his option, the quantity contained in standard shipping packages, or standard shipping units most closely approximating the amount called for by such Certificates and Stamps. If the amount delivered is less than the weight value of the Certificates and Stamps, the wholesaler or primary distributor shall credit the person to whom he delivered the sugar with the excess of the Certificates and Stamps. The excess shall be added to the amount of sugar which may thereafter be delivered to such person. If the amount of sugar delivered is greater than the amount of the Certificates and Stamps, the wholesaler or primary distributor shall charge such person with the excess and also charge the excess against the next Certificates and Stamps surrendered to him by such person.

SURRENDERED OF CERTIFICATES AND STAMPS

a. Certificates or Stamps must be surrendered by the consumer or registering unit receiving the sugar to the primary distributor or registering unit delivering the sugar at or before the time of delivery. A Stamp must be detached by the consumer or the person acting on his behalf from the War Ration Book of the consumer only in the presence of the person making delivery of the sugar. Before a Certificate is surrendered the proper endorsement on the reverse side shall be completed by the holder of the Certificate.

b. A registering unit to which stamps are surrendered by a consumer must paste the Stamps on OPA Form R304 (War Stamp Card), or upon a similar card; only Stamps bearing the same number may be affixed to the Card. When a registering unit surrenders a Card for the purpose of authorizing a delivery of sugar to it, the name and address of the registering unit surrendering the Card and the name and address of the registering unit to whom the Card is being surrendered shall be written across the face of the card by the former. Wheat Loan Program Is Announced Basic loan rate for this year's wheat crop in Texas is $1.34 per bushel but individual prices will vary according to locations.

The loan program, with rates based upon returns equivalent to 85 per cent of parity, became effective when wheat farmers approved marketing quotas in national referendum May 2. Unofficial vote indicates Texas wheat farmers approved quotas by approximately 89 per cent while national approval is expected to average about 82 per cent.

General provisions of the loan programs are similar to those of the 1941 program, according to P. C. Colgin, state AAA commodity loan specialist.

THREE LOAN PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED

Texas grain sorghum, rye, and barley growers will have a loan program again this year.

Loan rate for farm-stored rye grading No. 2 or better will be 60 cents per bushel at all locations. Barley loan rates, on farm-storage basis, will be 55 cents per bushel for No. 1, 54 cents for No. 2, 52 cents for No. 3, 49 cents for No. 4 and 45 cents for No. 5. Rates on grain sorghum, on same type storage, will be 55, 53, 50 and 45 cents per bushel respectively. Mixed barley and grain sorghum rates will be 2 cents per bushel less.

If grain is stored in warehouses, storage charges must be paid in advance, otherwise a deduction of 7 cents per bushel must be made from the loan rate, P. C. Colgin, state AA commodity loan specialist announced.

PALM TREES NEED A SHAVE

LOS ANGELES (AP) - With talk of incendiary bombs going around, this city has a problem in its numerous palms trees. The lower fronds, or branches, dry out annually and in the course of years an accumulation of inflammable material surrounds the trunk.

With the cost of trimming a high palm set at $8 to $12, the city council is studying how the dead "whiskers" can be removed without undue hardship to owners.

GOOD PORK CHOPS, INFERIOR BRISTLES

CLEVELAND (AP) - American hogs produce better pork chops than bristles-and so you'd better take good care of that paint brush!

Says a brush manufacturer: "only China grows the long, lean type of hog that produces good bristles. In China he is scantily fed, which causes him to grow a heavy coating of such bristles for protection. In this country we raise hogs mainly for eating. The bristles are of inferior quality."

METAL FOR MUNITIONS

LONDON (AP) - Gages and railings collected by the Works Ministry from 69 boroughs in the London civil defense region can now be said to be "in action," having produced 30,000 tons of metal for munitions.

Twelve per cent of the enlisted men in the U. S. Navy display the machinist mate's propeller.
