FEATURED BREEDS AT 1964 STATE FAIR

Purebred Jersey dairy and Brahman beef cattle from the nation's premier herds will star in two featured shows at the Pan-American Livestock Exposition in Dallas Oct. 10 through 18.

The Pan-American is the official livestock show of the State Fair of Texas. The State Fair's 1964 overall dates are Oct. 10 through 25.

The National Brahman Show will attract more than 300 entries by the foremost Brahman breeders in the United States. Shaping up as the largest exhibit of purebred Brahman the world has ever seen, the National Brahman Show will offer $8,000 in cash premiums, plus a score of valuable trophies. Judging is scheduled for 9 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 15, in the Livestock Pavilion.

A National Brahman Sale with consignments from leading breeders in Florida, Louisiana and Texas will follow at 3 p.m. on the same day.

Breeder-exhibitors are expected to enter more than 200 head in the State and Open Jersey Show, for which judging is scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Monday, Oct. 12, in the Livestock Pavilion. Premiums for the Jerseys total $5,000. Ray W. Wilson, Pan-American manager, has announced.

What's your G. L. fashion rating?

If you wear socks that match your personality or your date status, and clean canvas sneakers, your G. L. (ground level) fashion rating is tops! If you don't qualify, here are a few tricks to put you back in step.

First step — pull up your socks. Second step — add your own special flair.

If you are the campus leader type, and you go for sharp, tailored clothes, wear your socks pulled straight up. To keep them high and handsome the latest trick is to spray white cotton socks with Faultless Spray-On starch while still damp. When socks are dry, pull them on, and use another whiff of Spray-On to keep them high and handsome.

For the style-setters on campus, the "twist" is the latest. Pull socks straight up, then twist them around the leg so that the ribbing has a spiral effect. A puff of Spray-On holds them in place.

To proclaim your date-status, embroider the initials of your steady about an inch from the top of the sock cuff. Use color-fast yarn or thread, of course. To proclaim a sudden break up (or just give him a hard time), fold over a one-inch cuff and you're single again.

Now for those clean sneakers. Soap and water gets them clean; Spray-On Starch keeps them clean. Just spray, clean, dry sneakers with starch. After each wearing, brush off the starch (the dirt comes with it) and re-spray. Simple, but it works!

One more fashion cue on sneakers — white is basic and great with everything. But try pastel and bright colors that match your sweaters. It's very coordinated.

For more style pointers, send for a free Fashion Tips booklet. Write to Faultless Starch Company, Dept. Teens Talk, 437 Merchandise Mart, Chicago 54, Illinois.

The Casualty Count by Jerry Marcus

More than 3,500,000 persons were killed or injured in highway accidents in 1963.

BUBBLES without BOTTLES

You don't need an opener, and there's no danger of broken glass. And won't mother be surprised when she sees just how simple to open these pop top cans are. They are a lot easier to store away than bottles, too.

REFRIGERATED EGGS

An egg is a high quality protein food. During summer months use eggs in a variety of way to speed up meal preparation. Remember, the flavor and food value of white and brown eggs are the same. Now that warm weather is here, be especially careful about refrigeration. Buy eggs stored in a refrigerated case and transfer them as quickly as possible to your refrigerator. The grade shown on the carton indicates the quality.

Traffic lights usually are set to the speed limit.

Importers of Farm Products

Japan is one of the world's largest importers of farm products and approximately 30 per cent of her imports are supplies by U. S. farmers with payment in dollars. Indications are that Japan will increase food and fiber imports in the years ahead.

Texas Lamb Crop Down

The 1964 Texas lamb crop totals 2,673,000 head, down 7 per cent from 1963. For the nation, the lamb crop is down 6 per cent from 1963. It is estimated the state's total wool production will be down by 10 per cent to 42,652,000 pounds (grease basis.)

Producing for 31 People

Latest figures show the average American family now producing enough food, fiber and other products for 31 people, with five times as much as in 1820, he was producing enough for only four.

BROILERS TO BE

News From The County Agent

A revision of U. S. quality standards for beef has been proposed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in line with recent recommendations of the National Advisory Committee on cattle and several state and national cattlemen's organizations.

De-emphasis of maturity as a grading factor in young beef
is the major proposed change, says B. T. Haws, county agent.
This revision would result in some reduction of marbling requirements for prime, choice, good and standard grades and would reduce the number of maturity classifications in these grades from three to two, Haws points out. It would also eliminate the two marbling degrees in excess of that now classified as "abundant" in determining quality grade.

The other revision, he said,
is that all carcasses must be ribbed to be graded; that is,
the hindquarter and forequarter must be separated between the 12th and 13th rib so the ribeye is visible to the grader.
Although beef palatability tends to increase with age, increased marbling tends to enhance palatability. Thus, grade standards require increasing amounts of marbling to compensate for increasing maturity.

Recent research has indicated that additional marbling required to offset increased maturity in cattle under 30 months of age has been over-emphasized, the county agent says. The new proposal would reduce by one degree the marbling required in choice grade beef carcasses
from animals 28 to 30 months old.

The USDA states the revision will simplify application of grading standards and grading of only ribbed carcasses would make the nationwide grading service more accurate and uniform.

Early soil test sampling is encouraged to avoid the fall
rush that crowds the state's soil test laboratories.

Now is the time to have your soil tested in preparation for fall planting, advises County Agent B. T. Haws.

Winter legumes, established legume pastures and small grain are among the crops that will need fertilization this fall. With an increasing number of acres
being seeded to winter legumes, soil samples should be taken since fertility of these crops vary.

Carryover of cotton on August 1 was the highest since the all-time record was set in 1956. It increased during the 1963-64 crop year despite larger disappearance than year earlier due to the large 1963 crop. Favorable growing conditions and record-high yields contributed to the largest crops in a decade.

It's The Law In Texas

FALSE CREDIT

It's easy to buy things on time if your credit is good. But some people try to make their credit look good when it isn't.
This can lead to the crime of "theft by false pretenses."

In a recent case Sam Sudd wanted a new car just like his neighbor's.

At the Super Car Agency
Sam could buy his new car
for $300 down and 36 monthly payments.

The agency asked Sam to sign a credit report. Sam reported that he made $650 a month,
had a $65 cal allowance a month and his wife worked for $400 a month.

Sam drove off with the new car. But when he fell down on his payments, the agency repossessed the car and found that Sam never did have the income he claimed. Truth was Sam was making only $500.00
when he worked, and he had taken a leave of absence and had never gone back to his job.
His wife had not worked for years.

The agency complained to the district attorney, charging Sam
with theft by false pretenses.

Sam was guilty as charged.
Though no one can be put in prison for debt, he can go to prison for fraud, if, when he "bought" the goods, he never meant to pay at all, any time.
But it is no crime if he just happened to be broke but made no false claims.

Using another's credit card without his permission is also a crime, just at it is to use one's own credit extensively, knowing full well that he cannot or will not make payment.
Again, this is theft by false pretenses.

An Added Touch of Beauty

Robert Louis Stevenson said:

"The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should all be
as happy as kings."

God's world is filled with loveliness, but we need to add our own touch of beauty, so that we might be builders of a better world with Him. Each of us was given talents which would enable us to contribute to the world and mankind something great and lasting and beneficial. May each of us use these talents to the Glory of God. Add a touch of beauty to your life this week by attending church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

THE LATE, LATE SHOW

Even in August seeds still can be planted for late, late crops like radishes and lettuce which come up quickly and are usable within a few weeks from sowing. Try them and see.

Although it's August there are many vegetables that can be planted in the south and two that still can be sown in the north for late, late crops. These are, of course, the quick-growing, quick-producing lettuces and radishes.

Any kind of leaf lettuce and either red or white radishes will furnish food for the table during September if seeds are planted now. Just use a space in the garden where earlier crops stood and which now is vacant because you ate what you grew there.

It is important that you prepare the soil for growing these late crops in the same way you readied it last spring for early crops. Turn it over, rake it fine, and add fertilizer before planting. For that added last spring has doubtless been used by the vegetables already harvested.

Should the weather be dry, use the time-tested method of sprinkling water in the bottom of the drill before you sow the seeds. Then use a board or plank to cover this moistened row for a few days after planting, to help the soil retain moisture. The seeds will be up in short order.

As experienced gardeners know, radishes and lettuce are two of the easiest crops to grow. Keep the rows weeded and water if necessary. Before you know it you'll be eating these crisp vegetables.

Should frost threaten, cut coat hangers and form them into U's. Stick the ends into the soil like croquet wickets, spacing the U's 18" apart. Use discarded plastic bags from dry-cleaned garments to stretch over these U-frames and presto, you'll have a miniature greenhouse to protect those late crops until you eat them.

For safety, install and buckle your seat belt each time you use your automobile, says county agent B. T. Haws.

Research has shown that a buckled seat belt means one is 35 to 60 percent safer than someone without a seat belt. Findings at Cornell University's Automotive Crash Injury Research Center indicate that if everyone had seat belts—and used them—at least 5000 lives could be saved each year, and serious injuries reduced by one third.

Chances of survival are much higher if one is held inside the car by the seat belt rather than being thrown out.

Even though traffic isn't especially heavy on many rural roads, accident rates are high. There's a wide range of road types, vehicles and speeds which combine to result in many accidents. Three of every four traffic fatalities and many of the injuries occur on rural highways.

If rats and mice are a nuisance on your farm and are robbing you of those precious dollars that you have invested in grain and other stored materials, then these pests should be controlled as soon as possible.

Anticoagulants have proved quite effective as a method of control, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

Anticoagulants prevent blood from clotting and cause death from internal hemorrhages. Rats and mice must eat some of the bait every day for five or six days or every other day for 10 days or more before the hemorrhages are fatal.

Apparently no pain or warning of danger is connected with this action, and the pests will return again and again to feed if the bait is attractive.

Anticoagulants are available in concentrate or ready to use form. The concentrate is usually blended with a dry cereal bait, a common formula being one part concentrate to 19 parts bait. Cornmeal or rolled oats serve well as bait but are often not well accepted by the rodents.

To make the formula more attractive, use a cup of salad oil and a cup of sugar along with eight cups of rolled oats and 12 cups of yellow cornmeal. These ingredients should be well mixed along with one cup of anticoagulant, making about six pounds of bait.

Steril screwworm fly release again rose above the 100 million mark during the week ending July 25th, with 117,273,800 sterile flies being released, the greatest number for any one week since the week ending January 4th.

No law says the President and Vice President must come from different states. It is only a custom.

All About Dogs

Care For Your New Dog

Getting a puppy? Always bring your new pup home in the morning. He will have time to become familiar with his new friends and home before facing a lonesome night.

Use "paper training" only on toy breed puppies — which will seldom, if ever, be taken out of doors. Paper will spoil others and you will have trouble teaching them to go outside later.

When you've decided to get that puppy, there are many tips to help you in his selection and care. You can get these in a free 16 page booklet, "Care for your new dog." Just write to Purina Pet Care Division, Checkerboard Square, St. Louis 2, Mo.

The booklet reveals that there is nothing wrong in taking a puppy out in winter rain or snow. A blanket of fat under the skin keeps him warm... and close fitting hair insulates him from cold. But always thoroughly dry him when returning to the house.

If the pup leaves his dish with food still in it or stops to gaze into space — you are feeding him too much. Remove the plate after thirty minutes and feed less the next day.

Here's a tip to keep your dog out of waste baskets, garbage pails, and off chairs: set unbaited mousetraps in those locations. The snapping won't hurt puppies over Chihuahua size, but it will scare them.

When ever Ez feels neglected he remembers Whistler's father.

CROWING OVER CROWS

Calling crows if they spot you, you're sunk. Placing an owl decoy away from you helps. (Crows watch it, not you.) Fool 'em some more by attaching a call to a rubber hose 40 or 50 feet long. Put call out among crow decoys and let the crows try to find it.

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Institute of Life Insurance 488 Madison Ave., N. Y. 22, N. Y.

Q. At what age is it most advantageous to buy an annuity?
A. The purchase of an annuity at any age should only be considered in relation to a person's family responsibilities, as well as his financial resources, needs and objectives. A young man should not buy an annuity until he has enough life insurance to protect his family. His life insurance can also build up retirement benefits for him.

A deferred annuity is a good investment for a young person who is well insured. The younger he is when he buys it, the greater will be his eventual return from it—because he will have a longer period in which to build up benefits through his yearly contributions and the compound interest on his investment.

But it is advantageous to wait as long as possible before buying an immediate annuity. The older a person is when he starts to collect income on any annuity, the greater will be his income. For example, a $10,000 investment in an immediate straight life annuity would guarantee a lifetime income of about $50 or $55 a month beginning at age 55; or around $60 a month beginning at age 60; or close to $70 a month at age 65; or over $80 at age 70.

Q. Will a family plan policy cover as many as four people?

A. A typical family policy covers the parents and all their children who are under 18 years old at the time the policy is issued. Children born after the policy is issued are usually covered automatically when they become two weeks old. There is no limitation to the number of children who can be covered. The husband's insurance is usually permanent. The wife's and children's is usually term insurance. Each child's coverage expires when he or she reaches a certain age (usually 21 or 25). The wife is usually covered until the husband reaches age 65.

Cotton Outlook Improves

The competitive price position of American upland cotton in the domestic market has been improved by the April passed legislation which cut net cost of raw cotton to users. The rate of cotton consumption for the May-July quarters — last of the current season — is expected to increase and raise the total for the full season to 8.6 million bales. Thus carry-over should be down slightly from earlier estimates, to 12.4 million bales.

SPRING SONG

Snowdrops, one of the earliest of the bulbs that bloom in spring, should be planted in early autumn; set 2 inches deep.

Large-flowered crocuses bloom with or after snowdrops, come in bright yellow, lavender, purple, white or striped.

The earlier a bulb blooms in spring, the earlier it should be planted in fall. This means it's time now to order snowdrop and crocus bulbs to plant next month. For they are the first of the bulbs that will make your garden sing "Spring is here."

There are now giant-size snowdrops available that will look like a white veil in your garden if planted in quantity. These bulbs are so inexpensive that you can afford to plant dozens of them. Crocuses, too, are cheap enough so anyone can buy a hundred bulbs without straining the budget.

Neither of these are bulbs to plant in rows, like prim hyacinths; they're bulbs that soon will form colonies, so they should be set where they can spread. Place them under trees or in odd corners of your yard, anywhere that they can remain undisturbed for years.

Of course you want them to look natural and the way to do this is to first roughly outline the area in which you are going to plant with a line on the ground, made by finger or trowel. Within that area, toss a handful of either bulb into the air and plant the bulbs where they fall.

Neither kind needs to be planted deeply. If you are setting them in a lawn area, realizing that you then cannot mow the grass until their leaves have browned, just tip back sod with a narrow trowel, insert a bulb into the hole, and replace the sod. In a cleared area, set crocuses only an inch deep, snowdrops two inches.

While snowdrops have only one flower color—white, with more or less green on the tips of the petals, crocuses come in several colors: white, bright yellow, lavender, purple and striped (purple and white). You can mix colors or use separate hues to create color schemes, just as it suits your taste.

But one thing is certain—you won't have the blooms in your garden next spring unless you plant the bulbs this fall.

MELON HARVEST

It's easy to tell from the expressions on the faces of the youngsters, that these cantaloupes are really ripe. Do you know how to tell when yours are ready to harvest?

Those cantaloupes taste just as good as they look! They're ripe to the state of perfection as you can tell by the expressions of the youngsters eating them. How about your cantaloupes? Do you know how to tell when they're ripe?

Some people are experts at doing this. You can be an expert, too. All it takes is first an eye for color, and second a light hand. When cantaloupes reach the stage of ripeness, their skins change color. In some varieties this change is ever so slight, while in others it is a definite, easily seen change. Depending on the variety you're growing, keep watch until you see the phenomenon occur.

Within a few days of this color change the stem which holds the melon to the vine will start to loosen its hold. When you can lift the melon, and take it from the vine without pulling on the stem or twisting it in order to remove the melon, you'll know it's ripe.

Sometimes, while waiting for this stage to be reached, melons are injured by soil insects or soiled by contact with the dirt. A piece of scrap lumber, large enough so a single melon can rest on it, slid underneath each melon, will help prevent these troubles.

START A COMPOST PILE NOW

What are you doing with the inedible parts of the vegetables you and your family eat every day in the week? Or the dead flowers you take from vases in the house for discard? These odds and ends of plants might well be used to start a compost pile to furnish your garden with organic matter or you with the foundation of potting soil guaranteed to grow super plants.

While in the large garden such refuse may be piled on top of the ground in any out-of-the-way place, it is better in a small garden to dig a pit into which to throw these plant remains. A cupful of any complete fertilizer sprinkled over a bed of plant waste, six inches of plant remains covered with 1" of soil, and occasional soaking of the pile with the hose, and by next spring you'll have an inch of fine compost at the bottom of the bed.
