Sen. McCarthy Won't Give Probe Full Files

Talks Are Set On Courthouse Parking Plans

A committee of city and county representatives has been appointed to attempt to work out a plan for widening Tnird, Scurryand Fourth Streets adjacent to the courthouse square.

County Judge R. H. Weaver this morning named Commissioner Pete Thomas to represent the county in the talks. Mayor G. W. Dabney appointed City Commissioner Curtis Driver to represent the city.

Plans for widening the streets to permit head-in parking around the square had bogged down on the questioning of financing the project. The city commission last week set a $5,000 limit on what the city could spend for wider paving.

It was estimated the cost of the project would run to more than $12,000. County officials had said they would pay only for excavation and new curbing.

No time was set for the meeting of Thomas and Driver. Weaver said they might get together this afternoon.

Preliminary plans had called for widening Third, Fourth and Scurry by more than 20 feet. This would permit head-in parking completely around the block.

Lambert Landscape Company, which is preparing plans for beautification of the square with the understanding that streets would be widened, Judge Weaver said that Lamber's plans will be changed to provide for beautification of the square on its present scale if an agreement can't be reached concerning the street widening.

French Speed Up Defense Of Delta

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French speeded defense plans in the Choben Valley today as speculation spread that four Vietminh divisions knifing toward the Red River delta from Dien Bien Phu planned to hit that sector first.

For the past week the French have been mopping up shadow patrols infiltrating into the area 40 miles southwest of Hanoi. Some French sources estimated the enemy's main striking force could reach the valley on the Black River in about four weeks.

French Army sources in Saigon said a fifth rebel division which took part in the Dien Bien Phu capture —the 351st Artillery— already has reached its base 45 miles northwest of Hanoi.

The other four divisions—304, 312, 308 and 316—are moving along a mountain route which the French are bombing daily with American-supplied B26s, Bearcats and Corsair fighter planes.

The French continued other mop-up operations inside the delta. Yesterday, they reported 52 Vietminh killed and 16 captured in scattered action.

Midway Bond Vote Returns Canvassed

GOES BEFORE HOUSE

Passage Thought Certainty For Social Security Changes

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) —Legislation to add an estimated 10 million persons to the social security rolls and to boost benefits and taxes comes before the House today for debate and almost certain passage.

Drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee and embodying in large part recommendations by President Eisenhower, it was docketed under "take it or leave it" procedure. It cannot be amended on the floor.

The legislation has little if any opposition. The Senate has not acted.

Besides extending social security coverage to large new groups, the legislation would provide for increased benefit payments, larger annual contributions by employers and employes, and a more liberal income test for people already receiving payments under the 17½-year-old program.

A major provision would boost from $3,600 to $4,200 the maximum annual wage on which both benefits and taxes are based. At the present rate of 2 per cent — for both workers and employers—this means an additional payment of $12 annually into the social security fund by each covered worker making $4,200 or more and by his employer.

The new benefit structure would boost monthly payments now being made to an estimated six million persons by a minimum of $5. The new monthly minimum would rise from $25 to $30.

Maximum monthly benefits for a retired worker would be hiked from $85 to $98.50.

Those increases, affecting persons already receiving benefits, would become operative two months after the bill becomes law.

Most of the other changes would become effective next Jan. 1.

For covered workers not yet retired, the maximum monthly benefit would go up to $108.50. It now is $85. The top for a retired worker and his wife, if she is over 65, would jump from $127.50 to $162.75. The maximum payable to any one family would be raised from the present $168.75 monthly to $200.

Persons already retired but having small earnings from part-time work would get a break. Existing law cuts them off from benefits for any month in which they earn more than $75 in covered employment. The proposed new law would let them earn at least $1,000 a year from covered or uncovered employment. Above that, they would lose one month's benefits for each month in which they earned more than $80.

As under present law, retired persons who are 75 years old or older are not affected. They may draw benefits regardless of how much they earn.

Large new groups made eligible for social security coverage for the first time include farm owners and workers, many state and municipal employes, professional workers and clergymen.

Additions include:

Some 3,600,000 farm owners or operators and an additional 1,300,000 farm workers earning $200 or more annually from the same employer.

About 350,000 professional employes such as dentists, lawyers, architects and engineers. (Medical doctors are excluded.)

Some 3½ million state and municipal employes, exclusive of police and firemen, provided two-thirds in any system want in.

About 200,000 ministers and members of religious orders not now eligible.

Domestic workers earning at least $50 in a calendar quarter regardless of how few days the employe works. Present law covers domestic workers who make at least $20 from the same employer during a calendar quarter and work at least 24 days.

New tax increases — beyond those provided for existing law — would go into effect in 1970 and 1975. The contribution rates for employers and employes would rise to 3½ per cent of earnings in 1970 and to 4 per cent in 1975, with corresponding rates of 5¼ and 6 per cent for the self-employed. Present law calls for employer-employe payments of 3¼ per cent from 1970 and thereafter and a 4 per cent for self-employed, starting in 1970.

The bill proposes no additional payment rates by employers and employes, except those already provided for, up to 1970. These rates are 2 per cent until 1960; 2½ per cent from 1960 to 1965; and 3 per cent from 1965 to 1970.

U.N. Council To Hear Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations announced today the Security Council will meet at 10:30 a.m. (EDT) Thursday to take up Thailand's appeal to send U.N. observers to check on the war crisis in Southeast Asia.

The meeting was arranged after consultations between Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate who is president of the Security Council for June, and other delegates on the 11-nation council.

It was requested Saturday by Thanat Khoman, Thai delegate to the U.N. who said large-scale fighting has taken place in the immediate vicinity of Thailand and his government feels there is a possibility of an invasion by foreign troops. Some of the fighting in Indochina has been near the border of Thailand.

Khoman has said he hopes the council will agree to send a group of representatives from five countries to Thailand for a survey. He also wants this group to go into Indochina and then make recommendations to the Security Council for action. His proposal has the support of the United States.

Demagogues Draw Fire Of Eisenhower In Talk

By WATSON SIMS

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower last night deplored division within America on how to fight communism. He called for "more knowledge and intellect and less prejudice and passion."

A "crusade of truth" is needed both at home and abroad, he told a dinner highlighting the 200th anniversary of the founding of Columbia University.

"Through knowledge and understanding," he said, "we will drive from the temple of freedom all who seek to establish over us thought control—whether they be agents of a foreign state or demagogues thirsty for personal power and public notice."

The President mentioned no names in denouncing "would-be censors and regulators" and those who "divert our attention from the main battle" in opposing communism—an over-all goal on which he said Americans are united above all others.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked whether the President had referred in the speech to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), with whom the administration has differed sharply in recent weeks.

"I am not going to try to interpret the President's remarks," Hagerty answered.

McCarthy could not be reached for comment.

The speech was a major statement of the President's views on how communism should be combatted. His voice grew thick with emotion when he referred to "demagogues" and "division." Those parts of his speech were thunderously applauded by his listeners.

The nationally televised speech was heard by some 1,800 alumni, faculty members and friends of Columbia University who jammed the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and another 400 who overflowed into an adjoining dining room. A score of college presidents were in the audience.

It was a homecoming of sorts for Eisenhower, who was Columbia's president from 1948 until shortly before his inauguration last year. Applause interrupted the 30-minute speech 21 times.

After stating that America is completely united in opposing communism, the President added:

"Yet, my friends, and I say this sadly, is there any other subject that seems, at this moment, to be the cause of so much division among us?"

In addition to criticizing those who cause "division," the President attacked "doubters" who "begin to fear other people's ideas" and "begin to talk about censoring the sources and the communication of ideas."

"The honest men and women among these would-be censors and regulators may merely forget that the price of their success would be the destruction of that way of life they want to preserve," he said.

"But the dishonest and the disloyal among them know exactly what they are attempting to do—perverting and undermining a free society while falsely swearing allegiance to it."

He cautioned against allowing "ourselves to be persuaded that every individual—or party—that takes issue with our convictions is necessarily wicked or treasonous."

When that happens, he said, "then indeed we are approaching the end of freedom's road."

He also warned against confusing "honest dissent with disloyal subversion," noting that "we are descended in blood and spirit from revolutionaries and rebels—men and women who dared to dissent from accepted doctrine."

Turning to global matters, the President said America is committed to two far-reaching policies:

"First and foremost, we are dedicated to the building of a cooperative peace, based upon truth, justice and fairness.

"Second: to pursue this effectively, we seek the strengthening of America—and her friends—in love of liberty, in knowledge and comprehension, in a dependable prosperity widely shared, and in a military posture adequate for security."

In such policies, he said, "there is no iota of aggression, no intent to exploit others or deny them their rightful place and space in the world."

He said his administration knows that "every negotiation with the Communists would be fraught with traps and pitfalls." But he said, "Positive, determined day-to-day toil would pay real dividends among free nations."

Holiday Death Toll Goes Over The 500 Mark

By The Associated Press

Violent deaths over the three-day Memorial Day holiday period soared to a new record today.

At least 523 persons died in traffic accidents, drownings, and miscellaneous mishaps. This broke the previous record of 510 for a three-day Memorial Day holiday in 1952.

The traffic toll was at least 355, or 15 above the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 340 and near the record 363 in 1952. An additional 92 lost their lives in drownings, and 76 in miscellaneous accidents.

The violent death total compared with 385 in the two-day holiday last year and the record Memorial Day total of 571 in a four-day period in 1950.

An Associated Press survey of violent deaths was taken from 6 p.m. May 14 to midnight May 17, the same time span as the Memorial Day holiday, and showed a total of 243 traffic deaths, 50 drownings and 66 miscellaneous deaths for a total of 359.

City Has Quiet Holiday Period

Big Spring this weekend chalked up one of the quietest Memorial Day celebrations on record, and peace officers here said the holiday period was apparently free of violence.

Traffic accidents were at a minimum, with only seven minor collisions being tabulated during the long weekend. There were no crime reports in the city, and hospital attendants said there were no emergencies.

Most congested area over the weekend was the City Park, police reported. A number of cars were being operated in the municipal recreation area, and a "record breaking" crowd took advantage of the recently opened swimming pool.

Highway patrolmen said there was more traffic on Highway 80 Monday than they have ever seen before. Quite a few cars were using the Snyder Highway, too, as area residents traveled to and from Lake J. B. Thomas.

City court Tuesday morning was unusually brief, with only five people appearing before the judge on charges of drunkenness. Several other people were tried Monday on minor charges also. The police docket showed only a few arrests.

Paid admission at the city park swimming pool on Memorial Day totaled 766, and Manager Junior Maxwell believes this is an all-time record.

Duval Parties In New Battle

SAN DIEGO, Tex. (AP)—The two political parties in Duval County —the pro-George Parrs and the anti-George Parrs—squared off in the courthouse again today.

Acting for the Old Party, aligned with Parr, M. J. Raymond of Laredo filed a motion to prevent empaneling a new grand jury.

It was filed in district court here and was similar to one filed in federal court in Houston yesterday.

It charged discrimination against members or adherents of the Old Party and in favor of members of the Freedom Party, which was organized with the express purpose of breaking Parr's political power.

State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd was in San Diego in the courtroom when Raymond filed the motion.

Shepperd said he understood also that a motion had been filed to disqualify acting District Judge A. S. Broadfoot, who dismissed the previous grand jury.

Judge Broadfoot presided today. He called the list of 16 men summoned for the new grand jury, and 15 men answered. The 16th was out of the county.

After Raymond filed the motion to prevent empaneling of the new jury, Judge Broadfoot recessed court until 1 p.m. "so that the lawyers can get together on the law in this matter."

Shepperd called the motion "another desperate attempt to delay and confuse and to keep a fair and impartial jury from being empaneled....It is just another attempt to preserve their bucket of whitewash."

Raymond's motion claimed that the jury commission chosen last Feb. 25 by the then district judge, C. Woodrow Laughlin, was the rightful one. Laughlin was ousted by order of the state Supreme Court and Broadfoot appointed.

The motion charged "a preconceived plan and scheme was devised and entered into between the state attorney general, his assistant and the present district judge" to discharge the old jury commission.

In Houston yesterday, Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly permitted the members of the old party to file a petition seeking a court hearing on the dispute but refused to order a delay in empaneling the new Duval County grand jury.

Members of a Duval County grand jury which Broadfoot discharged March 31 asked Kennerly yesterday to delay empaneling of a new jury until the dispute could be heard in federal court.

After permitting the 16 plaintiffs to file their petition, Judge Kennerly gave both sides until June 12 to file briefs on the question of jurisdiction.

Defendants named in the petition are the 16 grand jury veniremen

Sen. Duff Scores McCarthy Appeal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Duff (R-Pa) says Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has issued "an invitation to anarchy" in calling for federal employes to provide him with information about alleged subversion in the government.

And Duff said he would "unqualifiedly" vote to censure the Wisconsin senator, because he thinks the senator has challenged the integrity of the Senate itself.

Appearing on a television interview, Duff said the current hearings involving the disputes between McCarthy and the Army have changed into a contest between McCarthy and the President.

He said now is the time for the Senate to "step into the picture by passing rules and examining cases where legislative committees have got out of hand."

Wants Names Of Informants Deleted First

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy refused to turn over to the McCarthy-Army hearings committee today the complete files on which Pvt. G. David Schine had worked. He said he would not because they contain the names of confidential informants.

Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for the McCarthy Investigating subcommittee, had delivered the files a few moments earlier in a big cardboard box to special hearings counsel Ray H. Jenkins.

The hearings committee had asked for documentary evidence of work performed by Schine for the subcommittee while on special passes from Army training.

McCarthy spoke up to say he could not permit the hearings committee to take custody of the files since they contain the names of informants.

McCarthy insisted that he—not Cohn—had custody of the papers. McCarthy is chairman of the regular investigating subcommittee and Cohn is his chief counsel.

McCarthy said he would be glad to give the hearings subcommittee the requested papers, but only after he had time to go through them and make sure the names of confidential informants had been deleted.

Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said the McCarthy subcommittee had the long Memorial Day weekend to get the papers ready and he would be "very disappointed" if they could not be made available today.

Cohn said he, like McCarthy, regarded the names of confidential informants as a "sacred trust" and was willing to turn the papers over to the hearings subcommittee only on the understanding that these sources would be protected.

Earlier Cohn denied he ever threatened to "wreck the Army" and bring about the dismissal of Secretary of Army Stevens if Schine was sent overseas.

"Ridiculous and untrue," Cohn said of this earlier testimony by Army Counselor John G. Adams.

Cohn, 27-year-old chief counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee, denied too that he ever asked that Schine be assigned to the New York area—disputing testimony of both Adams and Stevens.

In the course of a hammering cross - examination from special counsel Ray H. Jenkins, Cohn disclosed he had referred the name of Schine's regimental commander at Ft. Dix to the McCarthy staff for investigation.

He swore this action as to Lt. Col. Earl L. Ringler was not related, however, to any concern over Schine's treatment at Dix.

He said he took the action because he had been told Ringler was not in sympathy with the McCarthy subcommittee's work and had referred to it as "a witch hunt" and a "red herring."

Cohn's order for a check on Ringler was brought out during questioning of the McCarthy aide about an assertion from an Army witness that Cohn once said Ringler and Capt. Joseph Miller had been uncooperative where Schine was concerned and that he (Cohn) would not forget their names.

That testimony came from Lt. John Bruce Blount who said Cohn made the statement in objecting

Road Bonds Due For Signature

The $325,000 in Howard County road bonds will arrive in Big Spring Wednesday for the signature of County Judge R. H. Weaver, James Kerley, Abilene, representing the First Southwest Company, informed the judge this morning that the bonds have been approved by the attorney general and are ready for signature. The bonds were voted April 24 for financing right-of-way acquisition and relocation of buildings along Highway 80 from Big Spring to the Mitchell County line.

The roadway is being widened the Interstate freeway.

Citywide Recreation Program Is Launched

Gymnasium activities for girls launched the second annual citywide recreational program here Tuesday, and preparations were made to start the program at junior high Wednesday.

Meanwhile, B. B. Lees, director of the summer program, issued an urgent appeal for parents to sign their children for the annual summer swimming program. It is due to start next Tuesday, but in order to schedule classes and instructors, Lees needs to know what the demand will be.

Harold Rosson has been engaged to supervise the playground program at junior high, said Lees. He will open the program at 8:30 a.m. and run it until noon. Afternoon sessions will be from 1:30 to 5:30.

Rosson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rosson, 108 Lincoln, is a senior at Baylor University and will take his degree there in November. He earned three letters in baseball and basketball at Big Spring High School and won two letters in each sport at Howard County Junior College. At Baylor he was active in intramural sports, playing with Larry Isbell, Mickey Sullivan, L. G. Dupree and others.

The program at Junior High is for all young boys, said Lees. There will be outdoor sports such as softball, etc., plus gymnasium activities and other games during periods of peak heat.

At the gymnasium, girls are in charge of Floyce Brown, who has returned to join the summer staff for the second consecutive year. She has a wide variety of activities at the YMCA gym, ranging from tumbling to volleyball, tennis and fencing.

John B. Hardy, who did an outstanding job at the West Side Park last year, will be in charge there again this summer. This playground program will start officially on Monday morning and is open to all youngsters in the western portion of the city.

So far, no supervisor has been secured for the North Side program, said Lees. Last year one of the most active portions of the summer program was at Kate Morrison and Lakeview, but this year efforts to enlist a qualified supervisor have snagged until now.

JOHN M. BATES

John M. Bates Services Set For Thursday

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at Nalley Chapel for John Matthew Bates, 85, who died of heart attack Monday morning.

During his 56 years of residence in Big Spring and Howard County, Mr. Bates had seen the country change from ranch empires to farming and Big Spring change from a village to a small city.

He had played a part in that development, too, as public official, road supervisor, businessman. Soft-spoken, an inveterate pipe-smoker, solid and friendly, Mr. Bates was a prototype of the early settlers who built the country.

Born Jan. 14, 1869 at Whiterock near Waco, he came to Howard County on April 7, 1898. For two years he operated a small grocery and later a cafe. Mr. Bates served as county road supervisor, and from 1902-1910 was county tax assessor. He travelled about the county horseback, being obliged to stay at ranch headquarters for days sometimes until someone in authority showed up to sign the rendition. His work took him into Dawson County, which for part of his term, was not organized.

Mr. Bates engaged in various activities; was substitute carrier on the Gail route for 18 years; managed the L. F. Keisling Gin in Big Spring for eight years before ill health caused his retirement.

He had membership in the I. O. O. F. (Mullin Lodge No. 372) and in the Woodmen of the World for more than 50 years. Since coming here had had his membership in the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Bates did many little things which, within themselves may have seemed unimportant, yet which were a measure of him. For instance, it was he who planted the first tree on the courthouse lawn not long after he came here.

Services will be in charge of Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisted by the Rev. Maple Avery, minister of the East Fourth Baptist Church. Odd Fellows will conduct graveside rites as Mr. Bates is laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. Cemetery beside the grave of his wife who passed away nearly a quarter of a century ago.

Surviving him are five daughters: Miss Mary Bates, Big Spring, Mrs. Irene Winn, Santa Rita, N. M., Mrs. Ida Evans, San Bernardino, Calif., Mrs. Beatrice Mittel, Big Spring, Mrs. Pearl Hogue, Memphis (Texas); two sons, Alvin Bates and Clayton Bates, Big Spring; one sister, Mrs. Amanda Boone, San Saba; and one brother, Joe M. Bates, Artesia, N. M. He also leaves 11 grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. D. C. Maupin, Big Spring.

Eisenhower Asks Extra Funds For Military Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today asked Congress for an extra defense appropriation of $1,100,000,000 for military construction.

The only indication of just where the money would be spent came in the White House announcement that $503,000 of the total would be used for Army construction of a communications system in Alaska.

Murray Snyder, assistant presidential press secretary, said the over-all amount includes the expense of constructing sites for Nike guided missiles, and for troop housing.

Legislation to authorize the military construction work and family housing projects now is pending in Congress. The President's request today was for Congress to provide the money, once the projects are authorized. It would be used in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

C. T. Johnson Due In Big Spring Today

C. T. Johnson, candidate for the office of lieutenant governor, was to arrive in Big Spring at 2 p.m. today on a campaign swing through West Texas.

He appeared in San Angelo this morning and was to be in Midland later this afternoon and in Odessa this evening. Johnson opposes Ben Ramsey who is asking re-election.

Lieut. Gov. Ben Ramsey announced in Austin that State Senator Crawford Martin of Hillsboro would be his campaign manager for re-election.

Ramsey said Monday he would open state headquarters at Austin's Driskill Hotel, probably next week. Martin was in North Carolina attending the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

Rook Is Released On Bond Of $2,500

Joe H. Rook, Corpus Christi man charged here with breaking and entering with intent to commit an assault on his wife, Tommye Ruth Rook, was released from the county jail Monday on $2,500 bail.

Rook was charged last week after allegedly forcing his way into the home of his father-in-law with a pistol. Mrs. Rook testified in an examining trial Friday that she was forced to accompany her husband away from the house. He was arrested in Reagan County.

Rook is a former policeman of Corpus Christi and is a candidate for the office of justice of the peace in that city, Mrs. Rook said.

who were to appear before Broadfoot today. All have been identified with the Freedom Party, organized to oppose Parr.

The petition specifically asks an order that would prevent Broadfoot from selecting the jury from among the 16 Freedom Party members. It also asks that Broadfoot be ordered to "desist and refrain from failing" to pick the 12 jurors from among the 16 defendants or Old Party (Parr) members.

The petition was presented by Gerald Weatherly, Rio Grande City attorney. Other attorneys signing the document were M. J. Raymond and V. C. Woods, Laredo, and Luther E. Jones Jr., Corpus Christi.

Weatherly, in a letter to Kennerly, presented a synopsis of the legal theory behind the case.

Unless a restraining order is granted, Weatherly said, Broadfoot "will continue to intentionally and purposefully and arbitrarily and unlawfully discriminate against plaintiffs and all Old Party adherents and in favor of defendants and all Freedom Party adherents, in regards to their rights to act as grand jurors."

Such action, the letter said, denies the Old Party members the equal protection of the laws, a right secured by the 14th Amendment to the Constitution.

"This kind of discrimination is in violation of the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment," the letter said.

Broadfoot discharged the old grand jury two days after he was appointed acting judge of the 79th District Court by the chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court. The appointment followed the Supreme Court's removal of Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin from the office.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd left Austin for San Diego today to appear before the new grand jury.

Before leaving, Shepperd issued a statement saying a lawsuit filed in federal court in Houston yesterday was "a desperate attempt by the Parr forces to save their bucket of whitewash."

Shepperd said the federal court suit to delay empanelling of the new grand jury was "a desperate and unheard of legal maneuver."

"To accuse a grand jury of 'representing the Freedom Party' in seeking its dismissal by a federal court is foolish," said the attorney general. "The question is whether or not the new jury will act properly and impartially in performing its duties.

"Since we feel that the new jury does represent law and order in Duval County for the first time in several decades, I have volunteered all of our evidence and all of the facilities of my office for its use in its investigation."

AF Pilot Instructor Makes Emergency Landing At Webb

An Air Force pilot instructor stationed in New Mexico was last night forced to make an emergency landing at Webb Air Force Base in an F-86E Sabre Jet.

He is 1st Lt. Oscar T. Brooks Jr., who was making a routine flight from Shreveport to Nellis Air Force Base at Las Vegas, where he is stationed. Air Force officials said he landed without damage to his aircraft.

Lt. Brooks was flying at 40,000 feet when the aircraft fuel mechanism went out of commission, and he was forced to shut off his engine and glide. He made a dead stick landing on the Webb runway.

Records show that Lt. Brooks received his pilot training at Webb in 1952 and later served in Korea.

Mrs. Moffett Hurt In Fall At HCJC

Mrs. Iva Moffett, 1511 11th Place, suffered fractures of both bones in her left arm Sunday evening in a fall at Howard County Junior College.

The Leon Moffett Chapter of the Order of DeMolays was named in honor of her husband, the late Leon Moffett, in ceremonies earlier this year.

Mrs. Moffett was taken to Medical Arts Hospital and her condition was reported satisfactory this morning.

Big Spring Building Permits Hit Year's Low During May

Construction in Big Spring hit a low for the year during May. Building Inspector F. W. Bettle said that permits totaling only $30,010 were filed with the city.

Total for the year is now $1,074,265, he said. There have been 296 building permits filed during the five-month period.

May was even lower than January, when the total was $72,365. Top month for the year was February, when building permits for $393,880 worth of construction were filed. March's total was $206,055, and in April it was $351,955.

Bettle said that most of the May permits were taken out for remodeling work. Only a few new structures were included, he pointed out.

Most Student Transfers Made

The bulk of pupils who plan to attend school outside their home districts next year apparently have filled out transfer applications, Mrs. Helen Acuff of the county superintendent's staff reported today.

This is the last day transfers may be made. Pupils who aren't officially transferred probably will be required to pay tuition if they enroll in a school in the district other than the one in which they reside.

There was no tabulation on the number of transfers this morning, but Mrs. Acuff said she believed all but 10 or 12 transfers were completed.

Roy Grandstaff Rites Set Today

Funeral was to be conducted at the Eberley-River Chapel with Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor, officiating. Burial was to be in the Trinity Memorial Park. American Legion services were to be conducted at the graveside and pallbearers were to come from ranks of the Legion.

Mr. Grandstaff was operator of the Skyline Supper Club and had been a restauranteur in Big Spring for about 20 years. He suffered a brain hemorrhage last Thursday while en route to join his wife who was beside the bed of her fatally stricken father.

HEARING

to a Sunday kitchen police assignment for Schine.

A little later Jenkins recalled testimony from Adams as to Cohn's reaction when informed Schine might be sent overseas.

Adams said Cohn threatened to wreck the Army and declared Stevens would be "through as secretary of the Army."

"I'm sure I did not make that statement," Cohn testified under oath, as had Adams.

Both statements attributed to him, Cohn said, are "ridiculous and untrue."

Cohn said that some of the documents in his cardboard box contain the names of informants.

Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said that the names will have to be screened out before the documents can go into the record.

Mundt said the subcommittee itself will decide what documents shall be put into the record.

Jenkins recalled to Cohn that Adams had testified that from Nov. 18 to Dec. 8 Cohn repeatedly exerted pressure to get Schine, who had been drafted Nov. 3 assigned to the New York area.

Jenkins wanted to know if Adams' testimony about the Nov. 18-Dec. 8 period was "true or false."

Cohn declined to use either word, but he said Adams was "quite mistaken."

The 27-year-old McCarthy subcommittee counsel said Schine's status was discussed only "infrequently" during that period. Cohn said Adams at that time never indicated he felt he was being abused about Schine.

And, Cohn said, from his memory of his conversations with Adams, "no reasonable person" would say Adams had been abused.

Jenkins pressed for a "yes or no" answer as to whether Cohn wanted Schine assigned to the New York area after Schine completed his eight weeks basic training at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Cohn first said that couldn't be answered yes or no, but later came out with a "no, sir." He added that the subcommittee wanted Schine available for some important subcommittee work, when that would not interfere with Schine's training, and it was up to the Army to decide what arrangement could be worked out.

Cohn also denied a charge by Adams that the McCarthy subcommittee shifted its hearings from New York to Washington on Dec. 8-9 because a newspaper strike in New York City would prevent the subcommittee from getting publicity.

Cohn testified he had no recollection of ever saying Secretary Stevens had "double crossed" Sen. McCarthy by saying at a news conference Nov. 13 that he knew of no current espionage at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

Cohn said McCarthy objected to statements by Stevens that:

1. There was no espionage at Ft. Monmouth.

2. None of the suspensions at Monmouth involved theft or removal of documents.

Cohn also testified he had no recollection of telling Adams Dec. 8 or 9 that Stevens had again double crossed him by cancelling week day passes for Schine.

Cohn was under instructions to be prepared, on his return to the witness chair today, to give the investigating senators copies of documents and reports on which he said Schine worked while on pass from Ft. Dix.

Before the hearing opened, Cohn told reporters he was ready to produce a "great bulk" of such papers. papers.

Curtis Latimer, who farms the Joe Earnest place three miles east of Colorado City is mighty well pleased with 40 acres of Abruzzi Rye he planted last October.

The rye was seeded on the October rains and didn't then get more than one inch of moisture until the April 11 showers.

On January 1 he turned 17 head of grown cattle and 11 calves on this rye and they grazed it until April 25, with the supplemental feed bill running less than $20. At this point the cattle were culled and two cows and four calves were sold for $650. The balance of the cattle were then put on a native grass pasture with cattle that had been on the native grass all winter.

Latimer says that today even a green hand can go into that pasture and pick out the cattle that were grazed on the Abruzzi Rye as compared with those that wintered on the grass. "The cattle off the rye are just in better shape and show more finish," comments Latimer.

This rye hasn't been grazed since April 25, and since then has made such a splendid recovery that Latimer believes he will be able to harvest from eight to 10 bushels of seed to the acre. He then plans to mulch the rye stubble into the surface for soil improvement.

Incidentally, he says this 40 acre area is a sandy loam soil that blows when left unprotected. This year the rye tied it down during the critical blow period, at the same time furnishing the grazing as described.

This fall Latimer plans to put another area into Abruzzi Rye for grazing next winter.

W. A. Taylor, who farms five miles northeast of Loraine, is chairman of the Board of Supervisors of the Mitchell Soil Conservation District, and he is a conservationist who practices what he preaches.

He recently planted 12 acres of cropland to Blue Panic Grass, both to improve the soil and for grazing. He used his regular tractor planter after stopping all the leaks in the boxes, planting in 38-inch rows, and covering about an inch and a half. He planted at the rate of two and one-half pounds to the acre.

Taylor has a five-acre patch of Blue Panic which was established in the spring of 1952. This grass came out early this spring and he has already grazed it off once with 25 head of cattle. These 25 head of cattle were on this five acres of grass for about 10 days before any rain came. When rains wer received the cattle were pulled off and the grass is back up to a height of between two and three feet, and the cattle have been turned back in for the second grazing period. This five acres of Blue Panic is on a shallow clay loam soil that has never been considered too productive.

Chairman Taylor is now planting 15 acres of Guar in 38-inch rows. He will use this as a summer legume in rotation as a soil-improving crop. Last year he planted eight acres of Guar after the first of August, on small grain land which had been grazed all spring and early summer, and at a time when the available moisture was very low. He says he is satisfied that this Guar helped the land some, even though he planted it too late and under very unfavorable conditions.

This year Taylor plans a large Sudan and feed planting to replenish his feed reserves and to rest his pastures. He plans on getting back into the livestock business just as fast as he is able to provide plenty of feed.

W. S. Goodlett of Big Spring, SCS area conservationist, says that over this area generally there is plenty of moisture to produce good cover crops to protect the soil from blowing next winter and spring.

"If we have bad blowing in this area next season," he comments, "it will be our fault, because there is certainly enough water in the ground to justify the widespread planting of cover crops."

Supervisors of Soil Conservation Districts in West Texas representing 15 or 16 counties, met at Brownfield one night recently, and as one of them explained: "We weren't bothered with anybody from any government agency at all."

These supervisors, wholly on their own, prepared a resolution they will present at an Amarillo meeting on June 16. This resolution asks that outright grants, gifts and gratuities from the government be brought to an immediate end, and that all financial assistance to farmers and ranchers in the future be put on a long-term loan basis and for long-range conservation practices only.

This means they don't want conservation practices changed from year to year, but set up so the farmer or rancher can plan his overall conservation program years ahead — and they say they don't want to be "given" any more payments, but that they will accept long-term loans with the definite understanding that these are to be repaid.

The Amarillo meeting, which is also without the sponsorship of any government agency, has been called by the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts. It will be held in the Crystal Ballroom of the Herring Hotel at 9 a.m., and it is open to the public.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has been invited to have representatives there, to meet with the SCD supervisors from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and Kansas.

J. O. Gilliam, Brownfield banker and member of the Texas House of Representatives, was one of the main speakers at the Brownfield meeting.

The Brownfield resolution also asks that land not suitable for cultivation be returned to grass.

Eight Die In Plane Crash

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A Minnesota National Guard plane, bucking low visibility in a heavy fog, plummeted into a gravel pit near the Duluth Airport last night, carrying eight troopers to their deaths and injuring six others, four critically.

"We heard the roar of the plane's engines so close and loud we thought it was coming down our chimney," said Mrs. Russell Westberg, who lives about a city block away.

"Then there were a couple of terrible crashes and everything was quiet."

Lt. Col. Ralph M. Jerome, commander of the 179th Fighter-Intercepter Squadron, said the ship was returning from a practice flight to Indianapolis, where the 14 aboard had seen the annual Memorial Day speedway race.

Jerome said bodies of five men were taken from the scattered wreckage and that three more had died en route or shortly after reaching hospitals. All but one of the victims was attached to the squadron and lived in this area.

Batchelor Signs Anti-Red Papers To Get Back Pay

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—One of the U. S. soldiers who first refused repatriation while a prisoner of the Communists in Korea has signed a non-Communist affidavit.

Cpl. Claude Batchelor, 22, of Kermit, Tex., signed the affidavit yesterday at Fort Sam Houston's post prison. It clears the way for him to collect about $4,000 in back pay.

Batchelor's civilian counsel, Joel Westbrook, said part of the money would be used in the corporal's defense. The rest, the lawyer said, will be used to bring Kyoto, Batchelor's Japanese wife, to this country from Tokyo, where she is living with her family.

Batchelor is imprisoned while the Army investigates the possibility of court-martialing him on charges of collaborating with the enemy while a prisoner of war.

The hacienda of Cortes, conqueror of Mexico, still stands and has been turned into a tourist hotel.

Mexico Celebrates 'Navy Day' With Fishboat Captures

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico's Navy Day celebration had a new angle today with gunboats capturing two United States shrimp boats Monday under newspaper pressure.

One boat, the "Dr. Walling" of Punta Gorda, Fla., was captured off Veracruz and taken into that port. The other was the "Richards" of St. Petersburg, Fla., captured in the Gulf of Campeche and taken into Campeche Port.

Both craft were accused of fishing in Mexican waters. And both were captured on the evening of Navy Day, the anniversary of the 1917 decree that all sailors on Mexican ships must be Mexican nationals.

Newspapers for the past 10 days have been demanding that the navy do something about the U.S. fishing boats off the Mexican coast. No captures have been reported at Tampico, although that port was included in the complaints about illegal fishing.

These were the first captures since February when four boats were taken and fined $1,720 each.

Air Guard-Reserve Program Announced

Graduates of college AFROTC units who do not qualify for flying training cap now become officers in the United States Air National Guard and serve on active duty with the Air Force, it has been announced.

These graduates will be used in such fields as supply, maintenance, administration, finance and operations.

The joint plan of the National Guard and the Air Force was worked out when it was realized that the huge number of AFROTC college graduates would far exceed the reduced requirements of the Air Force.

Now all graduates who qualify for flying training will receive Air Force commissions, and those who do not qualify may receive Air National Guard commissions. Officers in the Air National Guard must serve three years in the Air Force and three years in the guard unit after discharge from active duty.

Underweight Problem Solved

Lovely Anita Louise, popular picture, television and radio star, tells Lydia Lane how she licked her underweight problem.

Anita Louise Suggests Way To Gain Weight

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD—When Anita Louise married, she decided to devote herself to a career of matrimony. But since the introduction of TV she has been lured to play the leading lady in a score of dramas.

Because Anita began working in pictures as a child and later dressed to look older, her fans are surprised to find her still looking so young and attractive.

Lunching with Anita at Romanoff's recently she told me that she enjoyed being able to work without interfering with the children and her husband, Buddy Adler, producer of "From Here to Eternity."

For lunch Anita ordered cold roast beef, raw vegetable salad and strawberries with cream. With this she drank a glass of whole milk.

"Do you still have trouble gaining weight?" I asked.

"Yes, despite my big appetite," she answered. I try to maintain a 102 weight and never allow myself to go below 98. All my life I've had to struggle to keep from being too thin.

"The thing with me," Anita continued, "is that I don't like fattening foods. I have no desire ever to eat anything fried, fancy or rich. I love green vegetables, lots of meat and fruit. This is healthy food and I always feel well and have lots of energy. But I don't look well when I am below a hundred.

"I have tried stuffing myself with rich foods which don't agree with me. But now at last I've discovered a way of putting on weight that is healthy and quick.

It's taking brewers yeast tablets," Anita announced. "This is the richest natural source of vitamin B. By using brewers yeast each day I can gain five pounds in one month. It's not unpleasant to take and it's healthy, easy to use and inexpensive.

Donnie Chapman Takes Patsy Hale As Bride

KNOTT — In a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church Saturday evening, Patsy Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hale of Big Spring, became the bride of Donnie Chapman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hale, with the Rev. Elbert Galloway, pastor of the church, officiating.

The church was decorated with white gladioli and palm leaves. Ann Spalding accompanied Carol Robinson as she sang "Oh, Promise Me" and "Always." She also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white linen suit with pink and white accessories and carried a white Bible topped with pink carnations and satin ribbon. For something old, she carried a handkerchief. Her wedding suit was new, and she had borrowed some pearls. In her shoe was a new penny and she wore a blue garter.

Patsy Gay, who was the bridesmaid, wore an orchid dress with a white carnation corsage. Doyle Conway was best man.

After a wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., the couple will be at home in Knott, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming. The bride was graduated from Big Spring High School with the class of 1954, and Mr. Chapman attended school at Knott.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Watson of Baytown, Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Hale and son, Mr. and Mrs. Crockett Hale and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Sanderson, all of Big Spring.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hale chose a dress of blue with a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Chapman, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black dress with white carnation corsage.

Club Women In Denver Ready For Problems

DENVER (AP)— The confused international situation . . . segregation in the South . . . integration of foreign-born populations in the big cities . . .

Those are problems on the minds of women leaders meeting in Denver for the 63rd annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The 3,000 delgates here represent some 11 million members in the United States and 24 foreign countries. Sessions begin today.

Some of the leaders said in interviews they expect to come up with answers to those problems.

On the international scene, Mrs. Zaio Woodford Schroeder of Grosse Point, Mich., sees women "adding a sense of balance in solving those problems."

"They won't straighten out the international situation any more than men," Mrs. Schroeder emphasizes. "But women are biologically pacifists and they can contribute important influences on the world problems."

Mrs. Schroeder, chairman of the federation's Department on International Affairs, said, "Women are numerically in the majority and are becoming very eager to assume leadership."

"Southerners will meet the problem in their own way," said Mrs. Chester E. Martin of Atlanta, Ga. "Time will take care of the problem," she added in reference to the Supreme Court's ruling outlawing segregation.

"We must bring leaders of the foreign-born populations into the federation," Mrs. Harold Milligan of New York City said. She declared big cities have been dodging the problem too long.

THIS IS GOOD EATING

MOCHA ALMOND COOKIES

Ingredients: 1 cup sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons cocoa, ½ cup unblanched almonds, 5 tablespoons shortening, 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs separated, ¼ cup strong coffee, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and cocoa. Put almonds through food chopper using medium knife. Cream shortening and ¾ cup of the sugar. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in remaining 6 tablespoons sugar. Without washing beater, beat yolks until thick and lemon color. Stir yolks, almonds, coffee and vanilla into creamed mixture; stir in flour mixture. Fold in egg whites, blending only enough to give mottled appearance. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheet, about 3 inches apart. Bake in moderate (350F) oven until lightly browned around edges—about 15 minutes. Remove with wide spatula and cool on rack. If cookies get too crisp to remove, put back in oven for a few seconds to soften. Makes 4 dozen medium-sized cookies.

Note: Almonds may be put through a nut grater if desired. Serve with the following:

Chilled Tomato Soup
Hamburgers in Toasted Buns
Pickle Relish
Salad Bowl
Mocha Almond Cookies
Beverage

Now Is Time To Destroy Bagworms

COLLEGE STATION — A cone-shaped bag hanging from your plants is the cue to destroy the bagworm—now before they ruin your plants.

Bagworms are usually found on arborvitae and cedar-like plants, but some species munch on althea, elms, roses, and oaks.

At this time, a spray or dusting will kill the bagworms. Later when they are grown, the pests must be removed by hand and burned.

Two sprayings of 10 per cent chlordane, applied a week apart, will kill the bagworms, says Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Another effective killer is a spray of 3 tablespoons of lead arsenate to one gallon of water. Toxaphene may also be applied as a spray.

Dustings of 10 per cent chlordane or 10 per cent toxaphene are good.

Mr. Compton, Miss Tidwell Installed

"Stairway to the Stars" was the theme used for the joint installation of officers in the DeMolay and Rainbow groups, when Pat Tidwell was installed as worthy advisor and Benny Compton took office as master councellor.

From a stairway, ribbons of blue, white, gold and silver radiated, and following drills by both groups, Colleen Vaughn sang from this stairway, Joyce Howard sang "Patricia" after red roses had been presented to Pat Tidwell from Benny Compton.

Ann White, grand representative from Oregon to Texas, was presented. After a Flower Talk by Merlin Peterson, bouquets of red roses were given to Mrs. John Dibrell, Mrs. Leon Moffett, Mrs. Roy Tidwell and Mrs. Escol Compton.

Installing officers were Mary Ella Bigony, Joyce Anderson, Alice Ann Martin, Pat Dillon and Tommie Jo Williamson for the Rainbow Girls. For the DeMolays the officers were Jim Farmer, Bill Dillon, David Dibrell, David Ewing and Richard Engle. Benediction was said by Lyle Price. Following the ceremony, a formal dance was held.

Freeze Sandwiches

If your wrap your sandwiches separately and put them in the freezer, they will still be good to eat a week or two later. Avoid raw vegetables which lose their crispness, whites of hard-cooked eggs, fruit jellies and salad dressings. Once frozen sandwiches are thawed, use them promptly because they spoil rapidly in temperatures above 45 degrees.

Cutting Synthetics

Use sharp tools to cut synthetic fibers, handle the fabrics carefully reinforce edges with stitching or tape. For good pressing results, use low to moderate iron temperatures. Pressing should be done on the wrong side, with the fabric protected by a moist, commercially treated press cloth.

He'll Walk Alone

OMAHA, Neb. — Leave your child alone and he'll walk soon enough, advises the president of the National Assn. of Chiropodists. Dr. Stewart E. Reed warns parents to avoid placing a child in a playpen before he can walk. Instead, leave the child in the center of the floor. When the youngster is ready, he'll stand up by himself.

He also lettered in track and football and was a member of the "C" Club. His major was secondary education with a minor in physical education. He will go in the service for two years.

Dairy Products On Top Of June List

COLLEGE STATION — Milk and other dairy products rate top billing on June's plentiful foods list.

Supplies of tomatoes, onions, potatoes, cantaloupes and raisins are expected to be heavy enough to take spots on the list, reports John J. Slaughter of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Such popular main-dish foods as eggs, broilers, fryers and beef continue plentiful. Vegetable fats and oils complete the list for June, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Hungary's 'New Look' Provides Easier Life Only On Red Terms

Editor's Note — Richard O'Regan, chief of the AP bureau in Vienna, covered a conference of the Communist-lead World Peace Council in Budapest last June. Now he has made another visit behind the Iron Curtain to Hungary's capital and found some major changes resulting from communism's "new look." Highlights of his findings are rounded up in the following dispatch.

By RICHARD O'REGAN

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP)—It is rumored in Budapest that Hungary's Red rulers are planning to take up golf—hitherto regarded by communism as a decadent capitalistic sport.

The rumor may be untrue, but it illustrates one thing:

The "new look" in communism is bringing considerable benefits to the working class. But it is bringing far more to communism's upper and middle classes, the group which has benefited all along. This segment of Red society is demanding still more privileges—and it is getting them.

Hungary was the first Iron Curtain country to announce the "new look", a modification of the Communist drive for ever higher industrial and farm production to permit an increase in the output of consumer goods and restore some niceties of life.

The Red bosses seem content with the progress. They have announced it will continue.

But Hungary is still shipping huge quantities of her production to Russia and other Soviet nations. Thus her living standards, although higher than a year ago, remain lower than before World War II and lower than those of West Europe.

You can buy champagne glasses here today. On fashionable Vaci Utca, there's fishing equipment for the Communist man of leisure. All over Budapest there are night clubs and restaurants run by the state. But the prices are out of this world for the average well-paid whitecollar worker.

Patrons are the Communist doctors, engineers, architects, artists, writers, musicians, high party members and government chiefs who have all the big money in Hungary. Many are young.

If you have money, you can now build your own house. A state enterprise will do it for you.

Or you can buy a second-hand automobile. Not a good one, because they are reserved for the select few at the top.

Several members of Hungary's soccer team, for instance, are now car and house owners. So are half the members of the opera.

These men draw salaries of anywhere from 4,000 to 20,000 forints a month ($363 to $1,800 at the legal rate).

Former arch-reactionaries are among the new upper classes. One is Jozsef Vargha, now a Budapest University professor and prize-winning oil expert. He was formerly minister of industry under the regime of pro-Hitler Adm. Nicholas Horthy.

Women of the Communist upper class benefit too. The party says—to those who can pay the price—it is now permitted to be pretty, to wear lipstick, to don high heels, to wear a girdle.

Most Budapest women remain drably dressed and untidy. But I counted a dozen well groomed.

A dress in Budapest's high-fashion store may cost 900 forints, a month's pay to the best of secretaries. Even at the Nagyaruhaz department store, a rayonlike summer frock bears a pricetag of 350 forints. And a bottle of eau de cologne costs 45 forints, or about 10 hours work.

A man's raincoat or a half decent suit costs three weeks pay.

The tab for a meal for two at a good restaurant runs to 50 or 60 forints, considerably more than an average day's pay.

There is more to eat on the market than a year ago. The Red regime is even importing beef from France and lard from the United States (by the way of The Netherlands). But bread remains the staple of the average family because of the high cost of other foods.

Working it out on paper, Western diplomats say Hungarian living standards have gone up 15 to 20 per cent. But they are still years away from rivaling those of West Europe.

In Budapest, every other movie today is from the West, though no Hollywood products are shown. The imports are British, French, Italian, Mexican. Tickets are sold out weeks in advance.

Western music is played everywhere, and here there is no bar on America. "Moulin Rouge" and "Oh, My Papa" are the new hits. George Gershwin and Jerome Kern are steady favorites.

People have more time for home, children and amusement. The old sweat-shop practice of "voluntary over-time" — without pay — is almost a thing of the past.

Newspapers are more readable. Crime news is reported again. There is more Western news — without political comment.

There is no more worshiping of Stalin, or of Matyas Rakosi, Hungary's bald Communist boss. There are fewer Red flags, and fewer secret police, spies and informers.

For the moment, all this has strengthened the Red regime. What Western diplomats hope is that, having loosened the screws, communism will have to let go even more. This ultimately may turn to the West's advantage, instead of Russia's.

But Hungarians, for all the improvements, have not regained much of the gaiety they lost when communism took over here. They still appear strained, nervous and frustrated.

"They have become more tolerant of the regime," said a British diplomat, "but they would be more happy if they could get rid of it. They don't oppose it as much as a year ago, but 90 per cent of them are still against it."

States Righters Plan To Organize Their Movement

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Leander Perez, district attorney of Plaquemines and St. Bernard parishes (counties), said today he will attempt to reorganize and revitalize the States Rights movement.

Perez was national director of the movement which ran an unsuccessful candidate for president six years ago and took the traditional party symbol away from the Democratic candidate in Louisiana.

He said leaders in other Southern states are being consulted about the possibilities of a "party convention" in Jackson, Miss., "which claims to be the birthplace of the States' Rights movement."

The Louisiana legislature adjourns July 10. Perez indicated the reorganization move would be made as soon as possible thereafter.

The move claims supporters in Alabama, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Texas, Arkansas, North Carolina and Tennessee.

Perez said several western states have shown an interest.

"This time," he announced, "We'll make a concentrated drive for individual memberships. We've got to get to the grass roots level."

He said two recent decisions of the Supreme Court on tidelands and segregation prompted plans to revive the movement.

Cotton Congress Meeting Planned

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—The 15th annual American Cotton Congress will open here June 3 and continue through June 5 with business and agricultural leaders from the 18 cotton-producing states in attendance.

Burris C. Jackson, Hillsboro, Tex., chairman of Texas' Statewide Cotton Committee, will deliver the keynote address to open the congress. His subject, "Cotton's Current Problems," will be the general theme of the congress.

Tornadoes Sock Kansas, Missouri

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Several tornadoes skipped through eastern Kansas and western Missouri yesterday, causing heavy farm damage in a few areas but no personal injuries.

One twister cut a 20-mile swath, leveling scores of farm buildings from Sark, Kan. to Fort Scott, Kan.

Hundreds of trees, utility poles, television aerials and chimneys were toppled in Fort Scott.

Saturday night tornadoes killed four children and injured a score of other persons in a 30-mile strip of farm country near Norfolk, Neb.

Five Men Sentenced For Contract Fraud

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Five men who pleaded guilty to irregularities in Fort Sam Houston painting contracts have been assessed prison terms ranging from 18 months to four years.

Federal Dist. Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. put the stiffest penalty on Ralph W. Hall, 33, former chief of the contract inspection service at the Army installation. He was charged with having accepted a bribe to overlook painting deficiencies and was assessed two-and three-year sentences to run consecutively, a total of five years in prison.

Texan Among Hurt At Carrier Service

ABOARD THE CARRIER BENNINGTON, QUONSET POINT, R.I. (AP)—A Texan was among nine burned and injured brought aboard the Bennington yesterday for memorial services for 100 shipmates killed in last week's explosion.

He was Airman Jack Douglas of Gainesville.

The nine burned and injured were brought to the Bennington from the Newport Naval Hospital.

CHICAGO (AP)— Michael Mulvihill, 5, an off-duty policeman, got sore when a gunman took his false teeth during a saloon robbery last week. He chased the robber into an alley and shot him in the knee.

Police identified the holdup man as Norman Soper, 41. Mulvihill recovered his choppers.

"Can you imagine that guy taking somebody's teeth?" he said.

Uncommon Dog

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—There's no doubt about it, Rivets is a dog that is above the common cast. He gets treated like a customer at the Union Trust Co.

Rivets, a spaniel, has his own bank account, which now totals $130. He pays nothing in, but draws enough each week to keep him in dog biscuits.

The deposits come from a bottled soda pop machine at the Rochester Gas & Electric Corp. Profits from the machine are deposited to Rivet's account. Employes set up the system in gratitude for Rivets work as a watch dog.

Monkey Lockpicker

BOSTON (AP)—A female monkey at Franklin Park Zoo picked the lock of an adjoining cage and released two male monkeys yesterday.

The monkeys bounded through a crowd of about 100 fleeing persons, bit John Bosco, 6, and threatened several others.

The birdhouse section was emptied of all onlookers before caretakers could round up the pair of males 20 minutes after their escape.

Young Bosco was treated at a hospital and released.

After You're Gone

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arnold White, one of five children lost within a hectic 90-minute period in Druid Hill Park yesterday, told a police matron his mother once had five children but only had four now.

"Why?" the matron asked.

"Because I'm gone," the 5-year-old said.

Day Solves Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Memorial Day solved a protocol problem for the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel yesterday.

In residence there were President Eisenhower, here to deliver a speech; Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia; Prime Minister Adnan Menderes of Turkey; Maj. Gen. Fermin Gutierrez de Sota, Spanish deputy chief of state; and Rear Adm. Anibal O. Olivieri, Argentina's secretary of the Navy.

The hotel usually honors a guest of such rank by flying their nation's flags. But this time there weren't enough flagpoles.

After a look at the calendar, the hotel's general manager, Harold K. Hastings, declared the United States flag should fly alone.

On Memorial Day, he said, "you fly but one flag."

Continental Dixie Bus Drivers Begin Their Strike Today

DALLAS (AP)—Bus drivers for the Continental Dixie Lines, a division of Continental Trailways, were on strike today after a midnight walkout.

The strike by Local No. 988 of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen which represents nearly all of the 165 drivers in the division, came after several days of negotiations, Charles Luna, brotherhood deputy president, said.

He added the strike is the first in the local's history.

The union said the final company offer made yesterday was not acceptable.

T. S. Reece, Continental Dixie's vice president and general manager, said the offer turned down by the union would have provided "a substantial increase in wages and benefits over the former contract."

Company officials said about eight Dallas-to-Shreveport runs and four Dallas-to-Texarkana runs would be affected. In all, they said, about 80 schedules including East Texas and Northeast Texas commuter schedules would be hit.

No violence and no picketing had been reported today.

About 15 million people in the United States have some degree of hearing impairment according to estimates of the American Hearing Aid Association.

A Bible Thought For Today—

Series Of Vigorous Steps Needed To Combat Red Menace In Asia

One trouble with the democracies is that they sometimes move with leaden feet when a fast pace is necessary to block or counter a Communist move. Since the dictatorships are run by a mere handful of men who hold power by virtue of the police state this places the free world under a serious handicap in time and technique.

The free nations must carry their people along with them. The executive power is subject to parliamentary review and veto.

Only when the threat of aggression becomes intolerable do the free nations get a move on. Such a situation is that in Indochina, whose fall to communism would start a chain reaction of revolt that might eventually engulf all Southeast Asia, Indonesia and India.

The West was showing signs of reacting vigorously to this threat at week's end. The military chiefs of the U. S., Britain, France, Australia and New Zealand will meet in Washington on Thursday to chart possible joint action to block the Communist drive for Southeast Asia. Where the diplomats failed to work out a modus operandi, the military will now take over. The results may be more promising than effective.

In France the cabinet agreed to call up an extra 80,000 draftees to free regular troops for service in Indochina. Draftees cannot be sent abroad under the present French law, but they can take the places of volunteers who, Paris reports, can be on the way to Indochina pronto. Meantime, new American fighting planes and additional French troops were pouring into that area.

A third significant development was the West's rejection of the Communist plan for peace in Korea. One by one, item after item, the Korean allies voted down the Red proposals, which as usual were weighted one hundred per cent on the Communist side.

These various moves can mean much or little. If pressed with vigor, the military build-up in Indochina can stop the Communist cold for the time being. Of even more importance in the long-run, a solid front presented to Moscow and Peping could save Southeast Asia, or at least postpone its collapse. But no halfway, half-hearted measures can do it.

Inflation, Not Deflation, Still Can Be The Year's Major Problem

Many months ago this newspaper squared off and allowed as how the big problem of 1954 might turn out to be not deflation, but inflation. To arrive at this conclusion—and some of our readers must have thought we'd blown what was left of our top—we put together certain obvious factors and came up with the notion that inflation was a distinct possibility in '54.

Chiefly our theory was based on a combination of tax-cutting and budget-whacking, plus a big backlog of latent buying power. Also in the back of our mind was the Federal Reserve Board's reversal of its tight-money policy, which had started an incipient deflation. If too-tight money can touch off a deflation—which it did until reversed — too — loose money could have an opposite effect.

Now the magazine Business Week, which had been among the first to urge the FRB to ease up on money lest deflation get out of hand, sounds the editorial tocsin against the threat of inflation posed by pressure upon the Federal Reserve to juggle reserve requirements. It warns that cutting reserve requirements across the board might touch off a new wave of inflation. So a blanket reduction in reserve requirements sounds like carrying things to excess.

Occasion for this alarm is pictured by Business Week as follows: "Just as the business decline shows definite signs of leveling off, the financial press, and banking circles, have been abuzz with rumors that the Federal Reserve System will order an across-the-board cut in the reserve requirements of member banks. Such a cut, it is argued, would be in line with the policy of 'active ease' in the money market that the Federal Reserve has been pursuing over the last twelve months."

Gist of the magazine's argument: Further steps in that direction are unnecessary now that we have achieved a degree of stability—and besides the FRB has other less drastic means, including open market operations, to meet the requirements of the economy and the Treasury's financing problems.

This much is sure: If as the world situation seems to foreshadow, it becomes necessary to up the defense budget $3-$5 billions and re-start our military build-up, the threat of inflation will become very real indeed.

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

McCarthy-Army Preoccupation Obscures East-West Realities

WASHINGTON — To one who has been absent from the country for some months, concerned day after day with the ominous drift of world events, America presents at this moment a strange spectacle. The television screens, the newspapers, the radio reflect an intense —one might almost say a willful — preoccupation with the Stevens-McCarthy drama.

If this controversy had been deliberately devised as a piece of escapism to distract the national attention from the perilous turn world events have taken, the net effect of distraction and diversion would hardly have been greater. One suspects that this national farce, with its tragic overtones, has completely obscured the harsh realities of the new phase of the struggle between East and West, between the Communist and the non-Communist halves of the divided world, in which we now find ourselves.

The conspicuous fact of this new phase is a drift toward war, with the controls over policy largely taken out of American hands. What happens in the immediate future is likely to determine how rapid that drift is or, more unlikely, whether it can be checked.

There can apparently be no accommodation between Communist China and the United States. It is the immovable object and the irresistible force. How an explosion can be avoided, in view of the mounting score of hostility and resentment, no one looking objectively at the facts can say.

That explosion may not come over Indochina. The French seem to be ready, with British backing, to settle for almost any kind of an armistice. But when another domino goes over, or seems about to go over, the tensions will be renewed and, with the potentials of violence lying all about, it will be impossible to prevent the fatal outburst.

Certain comfortable assumptions have long been taken for granted. One was that the Soviet Union did not want war and that therefore no matter what happened we should not have a war. It may still be true that Moscow wishes to avoid another World War. But even if this is true, there is reason to believe that Moscow's Chinese partner feels differently about the risks of war. All the signs out of Peking are of a fierce, implacable hatred toward the West and in particular toward America. In that hatred is an irrationality that goes far beyond the calculated risks of statecraft.

Some disturbing parallels out of the recent past are bound to occur. In the drift of the 'thirties leading up to the outbreak of World War II the same persistent, almost irrational refusal to face up to the facts of life was in evidence again and again. When one looks back at that time, the blindness of the principal actors has a perverse, after-me-the-deluge quality.

The responsibility for world leadership lay almost entirely on Britain. And the culminating folly of the Conservative government in power in England — and it is here that the parallel is most deadly—was in scaling down the British military establishment for reasons of economy and a balanced budget at the very time that far-reaching promises and pledges abroad were being made. While Munich meant the surrender of Czechoslovakia, Britain at the same time pledged the defense of Poland which had a weak, unstable government and an old-fashioned romantic army. The commitments were extended as the means for living up to them were constantly contracted and only a few lonely voices, such as that of Winston Churchill, were heard in protest.

This is precisely what the Eisenhower Administration is doing. The Defense Establishment is being scaled back as the promises are extended to the farthest periphery. The words grow louder and angrier as the stick grows smaller, thereby flying in the face of Theodore Roosevelt's sage advice.

All this is perfectly evident to the Communist world. They see that when the chips are down, the threatening words mean very little. So the next time they step farther over the line, and the danger of the ultimate showdown comes nearer.

The first necessity, if the drift toward war is to be checked, is to recognize the realities of the present situation. Such recognition must inevitably bring the realization that American armed strength. It is only from a position of strength that America can bargain for peace and strength alone may prevent Communism from making those aggressive moves which will eventually force this country to fight for survival. The flight into fantasy, the long preoccupation with the clowning tragedy of McCarthy, Cohn and Schine can bring only disaster.

McCarthy Openly Defies Eisenhower In His Request For Secret Information

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who's in charge around here?

Sen. McCarthy didn't ask the question. But he raised it by challenging President Eisenhower's authority to run the executive branch of the government as he thinks best.

McCarthy urged all federal employes—in spite of any Eisenhower order not to give out classified information—to turn over to him any information they might have on graft, corruption, communism or treason.

This didn't just happen suddenly. McCarthy has been leading up to this, although there's no sign he planned it step by step.

Last Sept. 9 he showed newsmen 70 pages of a 75-page "restricted" Army intelligence pamphlet on Siberia. He described it as "clear-cut, all-out Communist propaganda."

This was a case of McCarthy deciding he knew better than the Army what should be kept secret and what revealed. There are laws against revealing secret information. The Army said he had violated them. Nothing happened.

During the Senate hearings on his fight with Army officials he produced a document on spying in the Army. It was a condensed version of a much longer one which FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover had sent to the Army, marked "confidential." Some unknown person had copied parts of the original and given them to McCarthy.

McCarthy proposed to make it public. Again, McCarthy was deciding what should be released to the public.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said it should not be released because national security was involved. McCarthy said: "No human . . . or any other directive which is designed not . . . for the security of this nation but to prevent embarrassment for those responsible for covering up Communists . . . will keep me from making . . . public (this) type of information."

He said an Army officer had given him the document, but refused to reveal the man's name, although it would appear the man had violated the law by giving McCarthy the document. McCarthy assured all federal employes he'd keep their names in confidence if they gave him secrets.

When Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) last week referred to this document, suggesting that McCarthy himself might be guilty of a crime in receiving it, McCarthy was nettled. He said:

"So far as I am concerned, I would like to notify those two million federal employes that I feel it is their duty to give us any information which they have about graft, corruption, communism, and that there is no loyalty to a superior officer which can tower above and beyond their loyalty to their country."

Since McCarthy excluded no one, it can be assumed he was telling the FBI agents to let him know as much as they told Hoover about the most secret investigations.

His sweeping statement can be interpreted as meaning McCarthy trusts no one in the government to protect the nation except, in the end, himself, and that the only way the country can be sure the government is being run right is if McCarthy has all the most secret information about it.

He did more than that. He was urging every government employe to decide for himself, in disobeying presidential secrecy orders, what was good for the country and to tell McCarthy. The senator said he was authorized to receive such information as chairman of a Senate committee which checks on government spending.

The White House promptly said McCarthy was trying to "usurp" thing is certain: if federal employes carried out McCarthy's request in all cases, the President would have lost control. No official could trust any employe.

Government employes qualified to handle classified information are supposed to have been cleared as loyal by an FBI investigation. If McCarthy has been given an FBI check, it is not publicly known.

But McCarthy is asking for secret information. Yet he would be the first to complain if a government employe, even though he publicly proclaimed himself anti-Communist, was allowed to handle classified material without an FBI check.

Office Girls Discuss How To Handle Wayward Boss

NEW YORK (AP)—What can the poor working girl do to protect herself against "the overfriendly boss?"

I thought this problem went out about the time "Bessie, the Sewing Machine Girl" was a big hit. But Congress may have to consider it in revising the Taft-Hartley Act.

An office worker, writing to Patricia Porter of the Boston Traveler, recently raised the question of "how to discourage the office boss from conveniently placing his hands on a girl's shoulders, arms or back while discussing business matters."

At a drugstore counter where a number of girls from several offices crunch down their malted milk lunches, I made an informal poll on what they thought about this problem of "the overfriendly boss."

"My boss does pinch me every once in a while," said a plump young file clerk, blushing. "But he doesn't mean anything by it. He's the fatherly type. He says he just wants to be sure that I'm not getting undernourished."

"When my boss puts his arm on my shoulder, it's anything but love," remarked a stenographer. "He only does it after one of those four-martini, three-hour business luncheons, and he just wants something to lean on until he can reach his swivel chair. What the guy really needs some days, though, is artificial respiration."

The girls went into a huddle when I asked them what was the best way to curb an employer who really did insist on getting overfriendly on company time.

"Every time he reached for you," suggested one, "just ask him for a raise. Boy, his arm will flop down as if you'd hit it with a crowbar."

Injured GI Rescued From Mt. McKinley

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A Brooklyn soldier injured May 16 in a fall on towering Mt. McKinley was evacuated by Air Force helicopter early today and flown here for hospitalization.

Doctors said the soldier, Pfc. George Argus, whose hip was broken in a 1,000-foot fall that killed a companion, was alive but unconscious when lifted from the mountain by a helicopter pilot who "squeezed every inch out of the altimeter" to reach him on the ice of Muldrow Glacier.

Decision On Swiss Watches An Issue In Whole Tariff Question

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

As this is being written Swiss watchmakers are gravely concerned that the United States may not keep an agreement made concerning the tarrifs on imports of Swiss watches.

American manufacturers such as Elgin, Hamilton and Waltham are putting the pressure on Washington.

The Swiss take some consolation in the fact that President Eisenhower is well familiar with the post-war European economy and that maybe he will be sufficiently sympathetic to give them aid.

The Swiss fear that the higher price which will be brought about by higher import duties will further cut the sale of their watches in this country. In the first quarter of 1953 these sales amounted to $19 million while for the first quarter of 1954 these sales dropped to $2.6 million.

The situation is also giving other European businesses the jitters. They feel that if the tariff goes up on Swiss watches it will also go up on other things imported from across the Atlantic, such as British woolens, French perfume and Belgian lace.

The Tariff Commission is likely, say observers, to give in to the demands of the American manufacturers, but the President has the power to veto their action. European manufacturers, therefore, look hopefully to the President and not to the Tariff Commission.

Within the next two months, if not before this is printed, the President must make his decision.

The American watchmakers, on the other hand, claim that their sales have sagged, in favor of the Swiss product, since the agreement with Switzerland was made in 1936. Then the American manufacturers were supplying 50 per cent of the watches sold in the United States. Now they are only supplying 18 per cent of the watches for these sales. They also point out that the Waltham, Elgin and Hamilton plants are essential to national defense because only skilled watchmakers have proved capable of building many precision instruments needed in war time. This last argument is ridiculed by many persons, however, who insist that other American enterprises are equally capable of turning out these precision defense mechanisms, because they did it during World War II and the Korean War.

Watchmaking is Switzerland's principal industry and the United States is the main market for this industry. The Swiss started making watches several generations back because there was little else for them to do with their time. Under snowdrifts for half the year and without enough soil to permit the development of an agricultural economy, they turned to precision watchmaking to earn a living.

In 1936 the Swiss spent about $1 million for imports from the United States. They gradually increased this until last year they spent about $200 million.

In addition, they say, they have spent at least $500 million more for such things as Carolina tobacco, Michigan automobiles and the South's cotton, than Americans have spent for Swiss watches in that same period.

In all there are more than 500 independent recognized watchmakers in Switzerland, ranging from the big Longines-Wittnauer plant down to the many little one-man home industries who sell through a guild. These days the smallest are the ones being hardest hit, since in America, because of advertising, there is a demand for the "big name" items.

Since President Eisenhower has been in office he has refused tariff increases on briar pipes and scissors and shears, as recommended by the Tariff Commission. The same commission also recommended, to him, tariff increases on hand-made blown glassware and screen-printed silk scarves. The President returned both these recommendations to the commission "for more information."

Last year approximately 10.6 million jeweled Swiss watches and movements were sold in the United States.

That's enough watches to measure a whole lot of time, but the Swiss watchmakers say their time is running short if the President allows the tariff increase.

FRANKLIN REYNOLDS

These Days—George Sokolsky

Britain Waking Up To Soviet Aim Of Creating Split Among Allies

The British are beginning to learn that the sole purpose of the Geneva Conference, from the Soviet standpoint, has been to create a climate favorable for splitting Great Britain from the United States.

While Geneva goes on meeting and speaking, the conquest of Indochina continues and a well-timed diversion is established in Guatemala. The Soviet timetable of world disorder and world conquest moves apace, but should the British stand firmly with the United States on the organization of a Pacific NATO, the whole atmosphere could change.

The Asiatics have come so to believe in the inevitability of Russian successes that they assumed that the split between the United States and Great Britain was inevitable. Every defection, every misunderstanding, every speech on the subject in the British Parliament has been played up as indicative of the trend. The Asiatics also assumed that public opinion in the United States would not tolerate the United States going alone in Indochina or anywhere else in Asia.

The test of American strength would be whether the countries in Asia with which we have security treaties would stand by us or by Great Britain should a split come. John Foster Dulles himself described the importance of this group of nations:

"My recollection of this effort goes back to 1951, when I negotiated treaties with The Philippines and Australia and New Zealand. These treaties recognize that that area is one of vital importance to the United States. And these treaties also recognize, and were cited, that they were only a beginning—only initial steps, toward the development of a more comprehensive system of security in the Pacific area."

To accommodate British opinion, Formosa has been excluded from this group. Pakistan has a separate arrangement with the United States. Japan and the Republic of Korea must be included. But the heart of the problem was and is, what would Great Britain do? And the formal position of Great Britain has been that Geneva must be completed before the British would do anything further about the Pacific.

It would seem that Molotov and Chou En-lai overplayed their hand. Geneva could go on forever, a Panmunjom style endless talk, while the Soviet Universal State conquered Indochina and moved on to Thailand. This obviously is as intolerable a situation for the British as it is for the United States. How long can Anthony Eden listen to the nerve-wracking, insulting speeches delivered at Geneva by Molotov, Chou and the other Soviet representatives?

It is in this atmosphere that the British are having another look at Geneva. They have not experienced a Chinese truce conference such as we experienced at Panmunjom. In his book, "From the Danube to the Yalu," General Mark Clark describes what such a conference can become:

"The Communists did not want to give up the propaganda platform at Panmunjom unless they had to. There were too many things they could say and do there to help their cause everywhere.

"Vituperative lies and distortions flowed in great abundance from the nimble tongue of Nam Il who had the ability to voice the most blatant falsehoods while keeping a straight face. Among the propaganda charges he hurled across the conference table were the flat declarations that America had 'press ganged' Great Britain, France and other nations into fighting against Communism in Korea, and that the United States wanted all Korea as a colony from which to invade China and start World War III. The mere fact that America, Britain and France sent troops thousands of miles to fight in Korea, he said, proved that America and the United Nations were the aggressor."

It is even so at Geneva, but in the Swiss city the goal is not only to find time and to make propaganda but to split an alliance. The error may have been Guatemala. For in the Caribbean, Great Britains' possessions are important and they are in peril. One is reminded of the Canning-Rush correspondence which preceded the declaration of the Monroe Doctrine in the formulation of which Great Britain played so significant a role.

At any rate, it would now appear that the alliance is not to collapse. A British decision on policy would have to be considered by Canada as well as Australia and New Zealand and could affect the Indian countries of the Commonwealth. A change of direction by Britain could be momentous.

Broncs Are Shaded In Marathon, 19-16

Pitching weaknesses of the Big Spring Broncs came into sharp focus Monday night at Steer Park as Roswell scrambled the provincials, 19-16, in the longest, wackiest and—in some ways—the most exciting baseball contest seen here in many, many moons.

The marathon went 3 hours and 26 minutes and might have continued until well past midnight had not the batters run out of gas.

Roswell scored seven runs before Big Spring could warm to the task, then had to come from six runs back to win the contest.

Big Spring sent ten men across the plate in a big sixth inning that defies description. In that round, the locals sent 15 men to bat.

Catcher Weldon Day was charged with five passed balls in the one round. Relief Hurler Joe Gallardo committed a wild pitch and his mates were guilty of committing three bobbles.

Bertie Baez started on the mound for Big Spring and bravely stuck it out until the seventh inning, despite the fact that he was tagged for 19 hits. Tommy McKenna came on just in time to get saddled with the loss.

He was knocked side-saddle in the eighth, after which Frank Maren appeared and somehow pluck it out.

Lefty Tom Sawyer started on the mound for Roswell. He was spelled by Gallardo and he, in turn, by Tommy Brookshier, who received credit for the win, although the Broncs hit him as if they owned him.

Julio Delatorre proved a one-man wave of destruction for Big Spring. He clubbed a home run and three singles and drove in seven runs.

Duane White, Frank Salfran and Day each had four hits for the winners.

RAMBLINGS—Brookshier's won-lost record is now 6-1...Delatorre's home run, which occurred in the third inning, earned him $15... Many in the crowd of 616 paid stayed until the bitter end, although the last out was not made until 11:41 p.m....Ossie Alvarez, Roswell shortstop claimed he was struck by a pitched ball in the sixth but Umpire Bob Cook's decision to the contrary set off a rhubarb.. First Sacker Joe Bauman of Roswell and Cook had words in the sixth when cook ruled John O'Neil ball hit to left was fair...Dee Wilson dropped it right along the line...The only regular who failed to hit safely during the game was Big Spring's Dick Bravo...Pepper Martin, the Big Spring manager, missed a double play ball in the third that would have gotten Baez out of trouble...The loss was Big Spring's eighth experienced on their home field this year, compared to 12 wins.

AL McCARTY, manager of the Sweetwater Spudders:

"Roswell will be cut down to size. Artesia is the club we all have to worry about."

WYATT POSEY, Texas Tech assistant coach:

"I think we've got the most promising bunch of (football) boys coming to Texas Tech this fall we've ever had. at least, they're the best since I've been there."

SAMMY SNEAD, when asked his choice to win the National Open:

"I ain't pickin' me."

AL VINCENT, the baseball mastermind:

"A pitcher who doesn't have control will always stay in the minors."

* * * *

CLYDE NICHOLS, the local pastor:

"There's nothing upsets a team like having a touchdown scored against it in the opening kickoff or, in baseball, say six runs in the opening inning. A team must recover mentally, after that, and it's always hard to do."

* * * *

CHUCK DRESSEN, the former Brooklyn manager, commenting on the case of the Phillies' Granville Hamner and the ill-starred detective:

"I don't need one. I can tell by looking at a player's eyes what he's been doing the night before."

TOMMY LOUGHRAN, the former fighter, after refereeing the recent bout in which ancient Joe Baksi took his lumps:

"It is pitiful to watch a man old beyond his years in the ring."

THE PUBLIC ADDRESS ANNOUNCER at that track meet in England, after Roger Bannister had broken the world record in the mile run:

"Result of event No. 9, First, No. 41, R. G. Bannister, AAA and formerly of Exeter and Merton colleges, with time which sets a new meet and track record, subject to ratification. It will be the new English native, British nation, British all-comers, European, British empire and world record. The time was 3 minutes, 59.4 seconds."

AL ATON, general manager of the Sweetwater baseball club:

"Our home attendance has been fair. As for our drive to sell season tickets, it didn't do so good. I guess we started too late."

FLOYD MARTIN, outfielder-infielder of the Big Spring Broncs:

"I may charge that mound next. You know, I pitched a couple of games in the old Gulf Coast League."

LEFTY O'DOUL, recalling how John McGraw used a midnight check on his New York Giants:

"Lots of nights, I was tired and wanted to go to sleep at 8 or 9 o'clock. But what was the use of going to bed then. The trainer would come around, knock on your door and make you open up to see if you were doing any entertaining."

RUDY BRINER, manager of the Midland Indians, to his hurler, Len Pillar, after watching Jim Tugerson, then of Artesia, warm up:

"All you have to do is pitch a shutout and we'll have a tie."

PEPPER MARTIN, manager of the Big Spring Broncs:

"Several years ago, when I was training for the Golden Gloves, I got in the ring with Roy Stice. He hit me with a left h. t. The next thing I remember, I was home, eating supper."

FORT WORTH (AP)—Byron Nelson said last night that because of business reasons he would not compete in the National Open tournament this year.

The Roanoke, Tex., rancher—formerly the nation's top pro money winner—finished in a tie Sunday for third place in the Colonial National Invitational Tournament at Fort Worth.

Nelson has been in semi-retirement from golf several years and plays only in a few tournaments per year.

Boston Red Sox Look To Better Days In Loop

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The next 30 days should decide the fate of Boston in the 1954 American League race. Will the Red Sox bloom in June or are they doomed to second division?

After a horrible spring of injuries and bad weather forced Lou Boudreau to go with a make-do lineup that didn't, the new month finds the Red Sox settling in for an 18-game home stand in friendly Fenway Park.

They own a three-game winning streak for the first time this season. They've gotten route-going performances from their pitchers in two of their last three contests. And Ted Williams is due to start bustin' out all over after being back in action for two weeks.

If the Red Sox can't move now there isn't much hope they will after the midway point since the first division teams already have a good jump. Boston is 11½ games out of first place.

Boston was the only club in either league to sweep a Memorial Day double-header yesterday. They buried Philadelphia, 20-10, in the highest scoring display of the league season, then mopped up, 9-0, in the nightcap.

The Cleveland Indians stayed a game ahead of the Chicago White Sox in first place by whipping the White Sox, 6-3, on Jim Hegan's eighth-inning home run after losing, 6-4, as Bob Keegan posted his seventh victory in eight decisions.

Washington's Senators, who cause the New York Yankees more trouble than an investigating committee, beat the world champions, 1-0, on Johnny Schmitz' three-hitter. Then they pushed the second game into extra innings before bowing, 7-6, in 10. Spec Shea forced home the winning run with a bases-loaded walk.

Detroit rallied in the ninth for a 7-5 victory at Baltimore, then lost, 4-2, to the Orioles.

In the National League, rain washed out Cincinnati's doubleheader with the first-place Milwaukee Braves and cut the Chicago-St. Louis twin bill to a single seven inning contest won by the Cubs, 14-4, on six home runs, two by Hank Sauer.

Brooklyn beat Philadelphia, 5-4, on Gil Hodges' 12th-inning home run in a single game. Pittsburgh split with the New York Giants, winning, 4-3, after losing on three hits to Ruben Gomez, 4-0.

The only significant shift in the standings came in the American League. Boston moved from seventh to sixth and Baltimore from eighth to seventh as Philadelphia dropped to last.

The Red Sox' big day included 27 hits, five of them home runs. Milt Bolling hit two. Williams, Jim Piersall and Harry Agganis got one each.

Bill Henry scattered seven hits in the second-game shutout, his third complete game of the year.

A bunt, an error, an infield out and Mickey Vernon's single produced the one run Washington needed to beat New York in the opener. Casey Stengel argued the bunt hit batter Eddie Yost's cap and got tossed out of the game for his vigorous protests.

MIKE RAINEY DUE TO HURL

Mike Rainey will probably take the mound for Big Spring tonight, when the Broncs take the field here against the Carlsbad Potashers in the first of a two-game series. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

Rainey has won seven games and is off to his most successful season in history.

The Broncs need wins in both games of the series to gain on Carlsbad in the battle for fourth place in Longhorn League standings.

After Wednesday night's game, the Steeds leave on a four-game road trip, moving first to Odessa and then to San Angelo.

Decision Withheld On Hogan's Health

FORT WORTH (AP)—It was still uncertain today whether Ben Hogan, ill since Friday, will be able to fulfill his National Golf Day date at Baltusrol, Springfield, N. J., Saturday, June 5.

The defending National Open champion was still confined to his bed this morning, but said he is feeling much better and plans to get back on his feet during the day. If he is able he will go through with plans to fly from Fort Worth tomorrow to New York, and then go to Summitt, N.J., for rest until Thursday. He feels he must get in at least a day or two of practice before trying to play.

No announcement has been made about what will be done if he is unable to play Saturday the round which will be matched against the handicap scores of players across the nation.

Pit Crew Helps Vukovich Win '500' Second Time

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Without taking any credit from a great driver in Bill Vukovich's second straight 500-mile auto race victory yesterday, the cold statistics show that his pit crew deserves a big chunk of cash when the purse is distributed tonight.

Jack McGrath, who holds the Indianapolis Motor Speedway qualifying record, set out to run off from the field like Vukovich did last year. He was screaming around the track at an almost impossible 140 miles an hour early in the contest.

Speedsters Motorcade

Sweeping into the first curve of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway are these thirty-three racers running for the big money in the 39th 500 mile race in Indianapolis, Ind. Jack McGrath, right, driving a Hinkle Special, is leading. (AP Wirephoto).

Vukovich won and McGrath finished in third place behind hard-driving Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix.

Vukovich was 1:00.59 ahead of Ryan and 1:57 ahead of McGrath.

Vukovich had made two pit stops for fuel and tires and his crew got him back on the track with a total loss of 1:2. Bryan had to make three stops and lost 2:04. McGrath stopped three times and lost 3:39, including once when his engine stalled.

Fresno friends of the short, dark and untalkative Vukovich probably will contend, with considerable reason, that if Vukovich hadn't held a full lap lead over Bryan late in the race, he would have been pushing his fuel injector special even faster than his new record of 130.840 m.p.h. He certainly wasn't loafing after starting in 19th place.

McGrath, from South Pasadena Calif., had a phenomenal average speed of 139.860 for the first 50 miles and Bryan was hardly a car length behind him at that point.

McGrath reported later he was forced to abandon the torrid pace said he was faced with the choice of spending time in the pit while the part was changed or giving up the all-out speed.

Vukovich got ahead of Bryan during one of the latter's pit stops and stayed in front till the end.

Jimmy Daywalt, later involved in a spectacular accident, led 8 laps; McGrath, 53; Bryan, 5; Sam Hanks, Burbank, Calif., 1; and Art Cross, La Porte, Ind., runner-up to Vukovich last year, 1.

Daywalt hit the northwest wall, 11 laps past the midway point of the race, and bounced off into Jim Rathmann's car, in which Pat Flaherty of Glendale, Calif., was driving relief. Neither driver was hurt but the yellow "slow down" light was on 12 minutes.

Other accidents slowed the race a total of 21 minutes and 9 seconds, but still failed to prevent the first three finishers from breaking Troy Ruttman's 1952 record speed of 128.922 m.p.h. No one was hurt.

Reporters Outlast Rails, 13-12, In Pony League

The Reporters outlasted the Rails, 13-12, in a Pony League game played here Monday evening.

Chubby Moser went all the way on the mound for the Herald team, giving up nine hits, including a fourth inning, bases-empty home run to George Peacock.

The Rails chased five runs across the plate in the last inning but could not get the tying run aboard as Moser leveled to strike out the final man to face him.

Lloyd Harrison got the Newsies off to a good start with a bases-loaded home run in the first inning. The winners scored seven runs in that inning.

Harrison collected three of the Herald's nine hits.

Benny McCrary and Travis Anderson divided time on the hill for the losers.

Johnny Kilbane Says Perez 'Good But Is Easy To Hit'

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Kilbane featherweight champ from 1912 to 1923, rates Lulu Perez, current contender, "a very good boy who still has a lot to learn."

Grey-haired Johnny, now 65, watched the flashy Brooklyn kid easily whip Cleveland's Mickey Mars last night on a unanimous decision after 10 fast rounds at St. Nicholas Arena.

"Both Lulu and Mars had better learn how to move," said Kilbane. "They're both too easy to hit. The only way to beat Perez is by leading."

Perez goes to training camp Friday to get ready for his 12-round elimination bout with Percy Bassett June 25 at Madison Square Garden. The winner has been promised a title shot at champion Sandy Saddler in the fall.

As Perez had been out of action for three months, due to a glandular condition, since he stopped ex-champ Willie Pep in two rounds, Feb 26, his handlers were more than satisfied.

Lulu breezed home as a 3-1 favorite should, 10-0 on the card of referee Barney Felix, 9-1 from Judge Americo Schiavone and 8-2 from Judge Harold Barnes.

He floored Mars with a solid right in the first, third, eighth and tenth.

National Little Leaguers Open Campaign Tonight

The National Little League teams begin play this evening, with the Yankees booked to meet the Flicks in the 6:30 opener and the VFW squaring off with the Gold Sox in the afterpiece.

In American Little League action, witnessed by a record turnout of fans, the Oilers — defending champions in the circuit—were upset by the Gold Sox, 4-1; after the Legion had battered the Engineers, 17-10.

League President Poncho Nall said he and the leagues were indebted to the city for helping get the park ready for play. Two city commissioners, Tunney Goodson and Roy Bruce, filled in as umpires.

Al Stevenson has donated labor and some materials for the park's new electric scoreboard, which Nall described as one of the best of its kind anywhere.

Mothers of players had the concessions booth open on schedule. The booth is now equipped with a snow-cone machine, which it did not have last year.

Cats Near Top Spot In Texas League Race

By The Associated Press

Fort Worth's hot rookie, Karl Spooner, pitched the Cats to within three percentage points of the Texas League lead Monday night but had to have Cal Felix' two-run single to get him over the hump.

The Panther victory scores all came in the eighth inning. After Felix' game-tying single, Dick Bokelman—Tulsa reliefer—errored to let in the winning tallies to make the final score, 4-2.

Spooner grabbed his eighth victory of the year and pushed his strike out total to 103 in 94 innings. He fanned seven Oilers Monday night.

In other league contests, Oklahoma City swept a doubleheader from Dallas' willy-nilly Eagles, 8-7 and 3-2. Last-place Houston slapped first-place San Antonio, 9-5. And Beaumont and Shreveport split a double feature at Beaumont. The shippers won the nightcap, 11-10, after the Sports took teh opener, 4-1.

The highlight at San Antonio was a three-run homer by Houston's Vince Moreci who had gone hitless in nine trips to the plate until he released all his strength on one home-run ball. Tony Stathos racked up his second straight win over the Missions.

Oklahoma City, a half game behind Fort Worth Tuesday morning, captured its opener with Dallas with Frank Murray's double scoring Jim Neufeldt after two were out in the eighth. Al Olsen pitched hitless ball for three innings in relief to gain the nod over Dallas' Jim Tugerson.

Solo homers by Earl York and Howie Boles featured the Indians' second game victory. Vincente Amor, the Indians' Cuban pitcher, held the Eagles to five hits in outdueling three Dallas moundsmen.

Beaumont's Exporters scored two runs in the final stanza of a wild nine-inning nightcap for its 11-10 triumph. The tallies came on Jim Fanning's blooper single over short. Shipper Skipper Les Fleming slid in home with the final score. In the opener which the Sports won, Pitcher John Andre went the route and slugged a two-run homer for Shreveport.

Ed Yost's String Nears 700 Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Yost, Washington's "Iron Pony," will play in his 700th consecutive game tomorrow night in Detroit.

Not since Lou Gehrig, baseball's "Iron Horse," ended his incredible streak of 2,130 games in 1939 has any major league player been able to roll up as many as 700 games in a row.

Silva Fans 19 As Tigers Win

Gil Silva, former Big Spring Bronc outfielder, shut out the Big Spring Hawks in his mound debut for the Big Spring Tigers here Monday afternoon, as Ynes Yanes's team won a 9-0 decision.

Silva yielded only three hits and fanned 19 batters. Two of the three hits he surrendered were by T. Guzman, Hawk hurler.

Silva also collected three hits in as many official trips himself.

Two games were scheduled but the second was called off by agreement.

Court Dismisses Fluoridation Suit

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Louisiana Supreme Court dismissed a suit in which Shreveport residents sought to keep the city from fluoridating its water supply.

The court said in its ruling yesterday there was no merit in the plaintiffs' arguments that if the city had the right to introduce fluoride into the water it was in violation of the 14th Amendment of the Constitution.

The ruling said the amendment did not deprive a city of the right to protect the health of its people.

Southern Presbyterian Assembly At Montreat Votes For Merger

By GLEN McCULLOUGH

MONTREAT, N.C. (AP)—The 94th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern) yesterday voted to join with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church.

Assemblies of the two Northern branches had voted for union last week.

The move for union of 3½ million Presbyterians was started by the Southern Presbyterians and represented 16 years of planning. Plan after plan had been submitted and rejected.

This General Assembly might well become the most outstanding in Presbyterian history. Only last Saturday it landed a blow at Jim Crowism and asked its churches to let down racial bars.

It thus became the first major denomination to endorse with action the recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court on segregation. Before either action becomes effective, it must have approval at the presbytery level.

The desegregation matter is left up to individual churches and the union plan needs the approval of three-fourths of the 84 presbyteries in the 16-state section. In the other two branches it requires two-thirds approval.

Commissioners favoring union gave much credit to Dr. James A. Jones, pastor of Charlotte's Myers Park Church, for a favorable vote on the minority report from the Committee on Interchurch Relations.

The committee had split 16-22 on its recommendation.

Dr. Jones told the assembly that "if Jesus Christ meant business when he taught his disciples to recite 'Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven,' be sure of our decision today."

Later, on a proposal for a secret ballot, Dr. Jones said, "There is no secret ballot from God . . . It now is the time to stand up and be counted."

Dr. John R. Richardson, pastor of Atlanta's Westminster Church, headed forces against unification. He said such a step would cause the individual churches to "lose their present reality."

Berle's Mother Dies At 77 Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Sandra Berle, who guided the early career of her son, television comedian Milton Berle, and backed up his jokes with enthusiastic laughter, died last night. She was 77.

Berle often quipped that "Mom" was his best fan and he would call her from the audience to take bows with him.

In theaters across the country her high-pitched laugh cued crowds in response to his gags and stories.

A friend of the family reported Berle was in California when he received word of her death and would fly to New York today.

The family spokesman said Mrs. Berle, who had been ill for several days, died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

She is survived by three other sons, Phil of Los Angeles and Jack and Frank of New York, also surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Rosalind Wigderson, of Miami, Fla.

Man Collects On Policy On Own Life

SPRING HOUSE, Pa. (AP)—Fritz J. Hartman, who still lists his name as "Junior," became eligible today to collect $1,189 as the beneficiary of his own life insurance policy.

He bought the policy in 1901 and stopped paying premiums in 1921. Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York announced it had offered Hartman the privilege of cashing in the policy on the anniversary date nearest his 96th birthday anniversary, which will be next Oct. 13.

The company said only three persons out of every thousand can hope to reach 96.

First Cotton Bale Accepted For Prize

HARLINGEN (AP)—A bale of cotton rushed here Sunday in a Cadillac convertible is the nation's first for 1954.

The Harlingen Chamber of Commerce accepted the bale last night after a government cotton grader classed the bale as low middling of 1 1-16 staple.

Ray Barnick, who also produced the first bales in 1952 and 1953, brought the cotton in. He collected a total of $4,345 for last year's first bale. His 1954 bale will be auctioned June 9. The chamber of commerce has announced it would pay the grower at least $1,500 for the cotton plus a $1,000 bonus.

Postal Meet Set At Abilene In '55

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—The National League of Distict Postmasters, Texas branch, will meet here next year. The group's executive committee, choosing the site yesterday, said the date probably would be April 24-27.

Three NMMI Cadets Drown

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP)—Death last night of three cadets cast thick gloom over the graduation ceremonies today of New Mexico Military Institute.

The three cadets drowned when they dived into the college swimming pool last night to start a pump which was to create bubble effects as part of the school's annual graduation ball.

When they rose to the surface, fumes from dry ice used in the stunt overcame them. A fourth cadet was rescued and may recover.

Col. Charles F. Ward, superintendent of the college, identified the victims as P. G. Vlohoupoules, Houston, Tex.; D. W. Vertrees, Roswell, N. M.; and Woody Moore, Ruidoso, N. M.

Col. Ward immediately called off the final ball. He said today's graduation ceremonies, however, would continue as planned.

The superintendent said the boys were in their swimming trunks in the pool, which was intricately decorated and had a bridge constructed across it.

"They were just finishing arrangements to make a mist over the whole scene," Ward said. "They wanted to make the place look misty.

"You can say that carbon dioxide probably overcame them as they completed the arrangements. They definitely drowned."

Jap Climbers Fail In Himalaya Attempt

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—A Japanese attempt to scale 24,299-foot Mt. Ganesh Himal in the Himalayas has failed, reports reaching here said today.

The 15-man team was reported on its way back to this capital city.

The reports said the Japanese had been forced to withdraw from their third camp and were unable to climb further. An attempt to find another route up the mountain failed.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

An Indian woman of British Columbia making a cradle rock by moving a cord which is fastened to one of her toes.

Explorers and pioneers in North America learned that most Indians were in the New Stone Age. A few tribes had copper tools and ornaments, but the majority used stone tools and weapons.

Among the other facts discovered were some which had to do with care of the young. Indian mothers—like mothers all over the globe—tried to take good care of their babies.

A papoose is an Indian baby. The name seems to have been written down first by men in New England, including Roger Williams. Williams and others heard Narragansett Indians use a name for "baby" which sounded like "papoose."

It was common for Indian mothers to tie a baby to a papoose board, or to place it in a case. Then the mother would carry the infant around, usually with the board, or to place it in a case.

Often (but not always) a circle of hide or other material was placed around the mother's head to help support the weight of the papoose on her back. This strip, or band, passed across her forehead.

Bark was employed to make papoose cases in some areas, including parts of Alaska and the valley of the Mackenzie River in Canada. In the plains area, some tribes used cases made of buffalo skin. Women in other tribes of the plains wrapped their little ones in fur, and placed them in cases with a framework of sticks.

Some of the papoose cases used in British Columbia were of the basketwork type. One kind of swinging cradle in the province was moved by a cord which was fastened to a big toe of the mother.

In California and Oregon, Indian mothers often placed their babies in baskets which served the purpose of chairs. While seated in such a basket, the little one was free to move his legs.

Albuquerque Girl Plans To Build Own Space Ship

By JULIUS GOLDEN

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—If the Martians won't come to the 9-year-old Linda Sue Russell, she's going to build a space ship and go to them.

Last week little Linda Sue, a pert, impressionable youngster, wrote a letter to the Martians telling them to come to her house Sunday night.

"What business I am writing about is to stop the earth people from fighting," Linda Sue wrote. "all they have is war, war, war and I'm getting tired of it, so be here."

Linda Sue even enclosed a hand-drawn map telling the Martians to land their space ship at a nearby playground. She said she would leave her window open and promised "I will never tell anybody about you."

But the Martians didn't show.

"I felt sort of mad because they didn't come," Linda Sue said. "When I grow up and become a scientist, I'm going to build a spaceship and go and see them.

"As soon as I'm 12 I can start studying for it."

What Linda Sue wanted to tell the Martians was to "scare the people on earth."

"That's what I want them to do," she said, "because there's too much war. If the people on earth are scared by maybe the Martians making the ground shake, they'll stop fighting because maybe then the Martians will break up the earth and we'll have to talk peace with the Martians."

Mrs. Arthur Russell, Linda Sue's mother, says her daughter is quite serious in her plans to see the Martians.

"She was so displeased when they didn't come," Mrs. Russell said, "that she decided what she had to do was to go and see them. She's sure she can build a space ship after she's a scientist."

Speedy Thinking Halts Suicide Try

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Quick thinking and a dash of elementary psychology by a Scranton police officer was instrumental in averting what might have been a leap from a mid-city rooftop yesterday.

While a hastily summoned squad of police raced to the fourth floor roof of the Prezioso Building, Mrs. Mayme Orr, 50, climbed the parapet and stood poised atop the cornice.

Down in the street, Sgt. Earl Kugler, who knew the woman, sensed the situation and called out in a gruff voice

"Get back there, Mayme, or I'll call the wagon"

Startled, the woman retreated from the ledge and into the waiting arms of several police officers. Police said the woman gave no explanation for the action.

Man, 59, Plans Trans-U.S. Walk

DES MOINES (AP)—John F. Frey, toughened by hikes in his mountainous native Switzerland, likes to walk.

He likes it so well he is walking "every inch of the way" from New York to San Francisco, roughly 3,030 highway miles.

"This is something I've wanted to do for years," said the 59-year-old professional lecturer. "When I was a little boy I always read about the United States and marveled at the size of the country. The idea came to me that I'd like to walk across it."

He took to the open road April 1 and had completed 1,258 miles of the journey when he stopped here last night. He averages 21 miles a day. By mid-November, he hopes to reach San Francisco.

Vietminh To Have Air Force Shortly

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A Chinese Nationalist news agency said today Communist Vietminh forces in Indochina will have a Russian-equipped air force by the end of this year.

The Interior Ministry's Ta Tao agency said 1,200 Vietminh cadets have completed two years of training at a Chinese air force academy near Nanning and Russia has promised to provide planes late this year.

Three thousand additional cadets have started training at Nanning, Ta Tao said.

He described his visit to the United States as a vacation.

Molotov Back In Geneva After Consultation Trip To Moscow

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov returned to the Far Eastern conference today after a sudden, two-day trip back to Moscow for consultations.

Western observers assumed he had gone back to report to Soviet Premier Georgi M. Malenkov and his associates on the talks thus far, and to discuss the strategy the Soviets will pursue in the future negotiations on Indochina.

These sources believe the Communists now are debating whether to try to prolong the negotiations for an Indochina armistice in order to produce a replica of the two-year-long Korean military talks at Panmunjom, or whether to seek a halt as soon as possible to the fighting.

Aside from Molotov's return, the chief event anticipated at the conference today was a meeting of French and Vietminh representatives called to arrange for the opening of military discussions on armistice terms later this week.

The nine-party conference on Indochina was in recess for a day after getting snarled yesterday over Communists proposals for a "neutral" commission to police any truce that may be achieved. The conference debate was scheduled to resume tomorrow at another secret session.

The delegates used the recess today for private conference with their allies.

The French-Vietminh meeting today was called to work out preliminary details of negotiations It expected to begin Thursday — on the question of zones in which the rival forces would assemble if and when a cease-fire is effected.

In the subsequent talks Col. Jules Fleurant is to represent France and Ta Uang Buu, Vietminh vice minister of defense, will attend for the Reds.

New difficulties over the cease-fire question arose yesterday when the full Indochina conference came to grips for the first time with the problem of policing an armistice.

The Communists proposed establishment of a Korea-type police body—part Communist, the rest non-Red — for Indochina. The Soviet Union nominated Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia, along with India and Pakistan. The West quickly objected, charging that the Korean Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission had failed to work because of vetoes by its Communist members.

The proposal for a four-nation supervisory commission was advanced yesterday by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Objecting to the Red proposal, U.S. Under Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith cited repeated deadlocks on the Korean supervisory commission.

Western delegates got the impression from the debate that the Reds would not accept any control agency unless it included Communist members with a veto. Smith for his part gave every indication that the United States would accept no such arrangement.

South Dakota To Vote Today

PIERRE, S.D. (AP)—The nation watched the South Dakota primary election today for possible clues as to how the farm belt feels about flexible price supports, as advocated by the Republican administration.

Both Democratic candidates for nomination for governor, have injected national issues into their campaigns by accusing the GOP of backing "unsatisfactory farm legislation."

Democratic leaders, laying stress on the rigid 90 per cent parity payments now being made as opposed to the flexible program, also have been striving for a larger than usual vote as a "signal of protests" to Washington.

Party chieftains expected a turnout of some 35,000 Democrats for the primary, about 15,000 more than two years ago, as a result of this drive.

E. F. McKellips, Alcester banker, was favored for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination over Ed C. Martin of Chamberlain, a rancher. By agreement, the two made no personal campaign attacks on each other and bought no radio time for their speeches.

The Republicans, with a three-way contest for the governorship nomination, looked for a vote of from 100,000 to 110,000, or about 15,000 fewer than were attracted in the fierce 1950 primary fight between Dwight D. Eisenhower and the late Sen. Robert Taft for the state's presidential nod. Eisenhower forces won that hard-fought battle.

Regarded as the strongest of the GOP entries is Joe Foss, Sioux Falls car dealer and Medal of Honor winner for having shot down 26 enemy planes in World War II. Foss lost out by a narrow margin to Sigurd Anderson, the present governor, in the primary two years ago.

Baptist Pastors Study Sin Level

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Rev. Grady C. Cothen, Oklahoma City minister, says morality has fallen to a frightening level "because nothing seems wrong any more."

He told a pastor's conference of the Southern Baptist convention yesterday that "we live in atmosphere that condones sin of all descriptions and actually seems to approve wrong if committed by persons of high estate."

About 25,000 persons are expected here for the Southern Baptist convention which opens tomorrow and continues through Saturday.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, in another speech at the pastor's conference, said:

"At no time has it been more difficult to grasp the message of Christianity and apply it to our daily lives. The first—and greatest—opportunity for us all today is to develop and practice, in our daily lives, a religion man can live by in the 20th century."

Guatemala Eyes Embassies For Likely Refugees

By JACK RUTLEDGE

GUATEMALA (AP) —Guatemala's leftist government kept a close watch on Latin-American embassies today for fugitives from a roundup of underground opposition leaders.

Local newspapers said widespread police searches so far had uncovered nothing to support the government's charges Sunday that plans were under way for an uprising and arms had been assembled secretly.

One diplomatic source viewed this as evidence that anti-government forces had "well-organized intelligence" forces, enabling them to learn "an hour or two before the raids that they are coming so they can escape or seek refuge."

Five leading opponents of President Jacob Arbenz's regime already have found asylum in the embassies of El Salvador and Ecuador in accordance with the Latin-American political tradition that sanctuary must be given to political fugitives.

Reliable reports said the government was maintaining a guard on these and other embassies to prevent other fugitives escaping to them.

Guatemalans have been jittery since the United States began blasting their government for receiving a large shipment of arms from Communist Poland two weeks ago.

The newspaper El Espectador said "recruiters" for Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, a leading opponent of Arbenz now living in neighboring Honduras, had been discovered near the Honduran border. Without giving any source for its report, the paper said the government had found evidence of a "vast conspiracy" to build up a rebel army.

In Tegucigalpa, capital of neighboring Honduras, a 45-year-old man identifying himself as a Guatemalan named Rafael Mendez Rodriquez summoned correspondents to a news conference yesterday and said Guatemala's present secret police chief had sent him to kill Col. Castillo.

Mendez said he told Castillo of the plot the day after he arrived in El Salvador, in March.

Among U. S. presidents, Theodore Roosevelt brought the most pets to the White House including ponies, cats, lizards, guinea pigs, kangaroos and a number of dogs.

ATTITUDE SHIFT

British Mistrust American Policies

(Editor's Note — Don Whitehead, twice a Pulitzer prizewinner, is in England for the first time in 10 years. This veteran war correspondent, a ready listener to the voice of the people, finds himself shocked at the average Briton's change in attitude toward America. Here is a graphic man-in-the-street picture of our No. 1 ally).

By DON WHITEHEAD

LONDON, June 1 (AP) — The friendship of America and Britain —the great Western Allies of World War II—has reached an alarmingly low ebb today.

All the official assurances of amity and singleness of purpose from Washington and London cannot gloss over these facts:

1. The British people generally don't have confidence in America's leadership.

2. The British fear that America — not Russia — will push them into another war.

3. There is anti-American feeling in England.

4. Britons are in no mood to follow the United States in a "get tough" policy toward communism that might mean a shooting war.

The state of Anglo-American friendship 10 years after the unity achieved for the invasion of France is a shock to me on my first trip back since war days.

Time and time again the same story is heard from the man on the street. It's so persistent it assumes almost an undercurrent of antagonism toward the United States.

The story comes from taxi drivers, barbers, shop keepers, waiters, newsmen, RAF fliers, British housewives, pub keepers, and American military men.

This attitude — at times almost hostile — has infected the British viewpoint to a degree that makes it appear America has a long pull ahead to win the Englishman's firm support in foreign affairs. Apparently it is the basic reason Britain pulled away from the American lead in Indochina.

The officially announced aims of Britain and America are the same: to halt the spread of communism and to build up strength in the free world.

Then why does the Englishman feel as he does about America?

Here's what some of them have to say:

A shopkeeper: "The quarrelling is between you and Russia. All you want with us is to make England the jumping off place for an atomic attack."

A chauffeur and ex-merchant mariner: "We think you may be pushing Russia into a corner — you won't even trade with her. You can't live with half the world not trading with the other half. We don't think Russia will start a war—she never has won a war on her own. I say if the Russians and Chinese want communism, it's their business."

Ex-RAF flier: "We're afraid you chaps are going to get fed up with the Communists and say 'All right, let's have it out.' And then it starts all over again—and we can't stand another war. I wasted five years of my life in the last war and I want no more of it."

Restaurant manager: "I must say there is a feeling against America. We don't quite trust what you're doing and the way your Congress acts."

A barber: "We are a bit afraid of what you are going to do. We think there should be a way to find a settlement with the Russians without war."

A British newsman: "Geography makes a big difference in politics and the way people feel. Our people say: 'It's easy for the Americans to say let's have it out and send troops to Indochina. But they haven't had their homes bombed as we have. We're tired of fighting and arguing and all we want is to live at peace again."

British housewife: "It isn't that we are anti-American. We're afraid you will do something to start another war. And another war would finish us."

There are contributing factors in this feeling such as the persistent attacks on America by the left-wing Socialists led by Aneurin Bevan. There is a matter of hurt pride, too, since the British have slipped from their position of world leadership—with a reluctance to give up those reins of leadership. And the British appreciation for American aid in the lean years still is tinged with resentment that they had to be in that embarrassing position.

But the British feeling seems to spring basically from a deep revulsion against anything that will lead to another war.

It isn't difficult to understand. Britain took an awful beating from Nazi bombers in World War II. The physical and spiritual endurance of the people was strained almost to the breaking point.

Then came victory in Europe. But what was victory to the British? It was dark days of rationing, self-denial and more and more sacrifices for survival while America soared to new heights of prosperity. And in their hearts was a bitterness that it should be so.

"It made you ask yourself 'Who won the war?'" one Britisher said. "Certainly we didn't. We could go to Germany long after the war and see the Germans — the defeated — living better than we lived."

The Britons agree generally that the turn in their fortunes came two years ago. And now they have achieved a well-being and peace of mind—along with a sounder economy — which they want to enjoy.

Paul R. Braniff, Air Pioneer, Dies

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Paul R. Braniff, 56, an aviation pioneer and founder of Oklahoma's first commercial airline, died in a hospital early today.

Braniff, who had been ill for some time, returned from World War I air corps service in France to organize Paul R. Braniff Inc., which operated schedules from Oklahoma City to Tulsa.

He later sold the line to Air National, and with his brother Tom, who was killed in a Louisiana plane crash a few months ago, founded Braniff Airways.

The fledgling line, which had flights to Dallas and Kansas City, grew into an international operation with extensive service to South America and over the United States.

No Opposition Due On Farm Funds Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders called up for debate today, with no organized opposition in sight, a bill carrying $1,046,000,000 in cash and lending authority to run the Agriculture Department in the coming year.

The measure would provide about 72 million dollars more than President Eisenhower requested for the fiscal year starting July 1, and nearly 6 million more than was voted by the House on April 15.

Republican leader Knowland of California said he hoped to get the bill through the Senate in one day and Sen. Young (R-ND), floor manager for the measure, said in advance of debate that he knew of no serious opposition.
