Fun Breakfast will launch United Way campaign here

It's Fun Breakfast time and the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce wants to invite everyone to join them as they kick off the fall season with a very exciting time.

All chamber members, guests and new residents are invited to attend this very special breakfast as the United Way of Deaf Smith County joins as sponsor for this month's breakfast.

An exciting and fun-filled morning is being planned.

New chamber members will be in attendance and some of Hereford's new residents will be introduced, according to co-chairmen Charlie Bell and John Stagner.

There will also be announcement of local activities, games and plenty of special prizes to be given away, along with the presentation of a special industrial salute award and the coveted honorary Bull Chip Award.

This year's United Way will take on some new twists as we kick off the campaign at the chamber's Fun Breakfast.

Chamber event
Thursday will feature prizes,
games, 'slave
auction,' for local residents

This will be a fast-paced event with the addition of two big events -- the "slave" auction of some local dignitaries at the breakfast will provide local people the chance to "buy" an extra hand to do some personal chores. You'll certainly want to be on hand to find out who is worth the most.

The second big event will be the start of the 50-plus-mile walk of United Way Campaign Chairman Wes Klett.

At the conclusion of the breakfast, Wes will tour all agencies involved in the United Way by walking the entire distance.

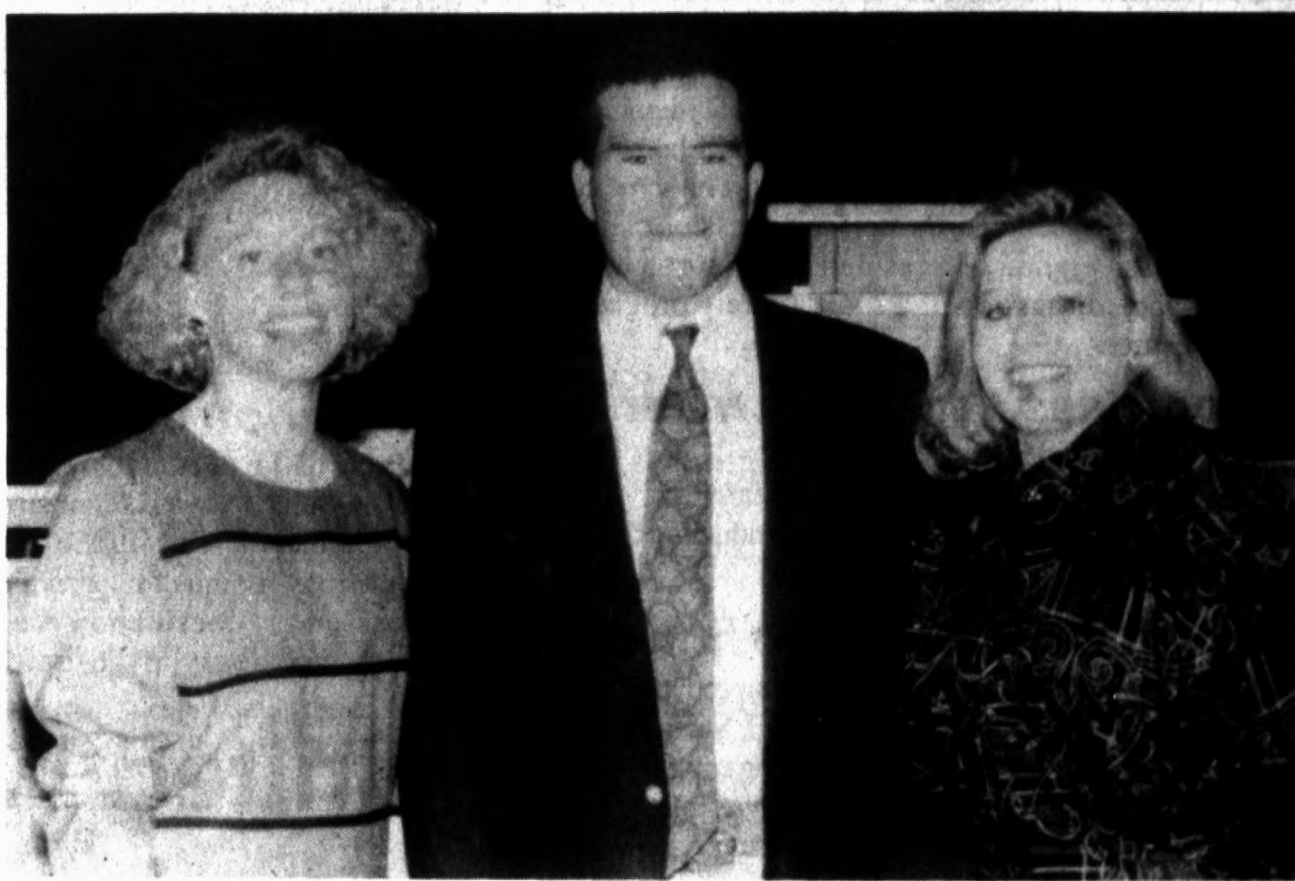

The goal is to have local firms or individuals to pledge for each mile he walks. Southwestern Bell Telephone has pledged $1,100 to the United Way for this endeavor.

In addition, anyone wishing to join in the walk may do so.

If you would like to make a pledge or join in the walk, please call the United Way at 364-5220.

Fun Breakfast sponsor United Way invites everyone to join in for the fall kick-off that offers everyone in attendance a chance to just sit back, relax and enjoy the fun and games.

Reservations are a must, so plan to attend and call the Chamber by 5 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 15, at 364-3333, to make a reservation.

Gold Star 4-H award winners

Karon Harder, left, and Kinann Campbell are pictured with Jay Johnson, assistant county agent, after being named Gold Star award winners at the annual 4-H Achievement Banquet Friday night at the Bull Barn. The Gold Star award is given for "the culmination of a career's work" in 4-H and is the highest honor given a county member. Harder is a junior at Hereford High School, and Campbell is a senior.

Welfare recipients on rise in county, across nation

The number of households receiving cash public assistance or welfare in Deaf Smith County has increased by 53.6 percent -- from 399 to 613 -- in the last decade, according to information released by the U.S. Census Bureau.

The jump in welfare was only slightly ahead of the national increase of 47.3 percent, however, as the number of American households on welfare rose to 6.9 million -- up from 4.7 million in 1980.

Public assistance or welfare totals in the report refers specifically to cash income provided under either a general welfare program or the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC).

It should be noted that these figures do not include various other non-cash programs such as food stamps, rent subsidies, or Medicaid. Almost all households that are eligible for cash public assistance are eligible for these and other programs.

According to the same report, a total of 2,005 persons in Deaf Smith County received public assistance in 1990. This would indicate that about 10 percent of all residents received some kind of cash welfare. This compares to 21.6 million, or 8.7 percent of the nation's population.

Cash public assistance benefits in Deaf Smith County increased from an annual average of $2,125 in 1979 to $2,643 by 1989. This represents an increase of 24.4 percent.

Nationally, the annual household average of cash welfare benefits had increased by a much larger margin -- 53.9 percent. The average benefits rose from $2,650 in 1979 to $4,078 in 1989.

However, the report points out that inflation also had an impact on these increases. After adjusting for inflation, the real value of welfare payments declined by 25.7 percent in the county, and by 8.1 percent nationally.

According to Census Bureau figures, 637 or 31.8 percent of all persons receiving cash public assistance in Deaf Smith County were less than 15 years of age; 284 or 14.2 percent were aged 65 years or more, and 1,084 or 54.1 percent were from 15 to 34 years of age. The national proportions were about the same.

The non-cash welfare assistance is probably somewhat higher in Deaf Smith County than the national averages. The county has a greater percentage of households with annual incomes under $15,000 than the national figures. And, the county has less households in the top bracket of annual incomes.

In Deaf Smith County, 38.8 percent of all households have incomes below $15,000, as compared to the national average of 23.4 percent.

Both in the county and nationally, about 50 percent of all households fall in the $15,000 to $49,999 bracket. Only 9.9 percent earn $50,000 or more in the county, while the national average is 26.5 percent.

Mideast peace process gaining more momentum

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Mideast peace process is gaining momentum with Israel and Jordan near agreement on an "agenda for peace" and the PLO pushing to bring Yasser Arafat to a White House signing ceremony.

"It is more than just a possibility," a senior U.S. official said Saturday of Arafat's being on hand for the signing of an Israeli-PLO accord establishing Palestinian self-rule in Gaza and Jericho.

He said President Clinton's position that it is up to the Palestine Liberation Organization to choose its delegation "is operative." Earlier, White House Press Secretary Dee Dee Myers said Clinton had made no attempt to contact the PLO chairman.

On another front, U.S. officials said Israel and Jordan were in virtual agreement on an agenda that could serve as a framework for a peace treaty.

The officials said if a few remaining details were cleared up the agreement would be announced Tuesday at the State Department.

Trial set here for mother charged in murder of child

A trial date, Nov. 30, has been set in 222nd District Court for Tanya Thaxton Reid, accused of murder and injury to a child in connection with the death of her daughter in 1984.

A pre-trial hearing will be held on Nov. 15, also in 222nd District Court, to allow attorneys to present motions related to the case.

Roland Saul, criminal district attorney, announced the trial date Friday. The case will be heard during a special sitting of the court.

A two-count indictment was returned against the defendant last March alleging she caused the death of eight-month-old Morgan Reid, who reportedly stopped breathing on Feb. 7, 1984, and died the next day.

Reid has been imprisoned in Iowa on a 1989 conviction for endangering a child, her son, Robert Reid, three-years-old at the time. She was tried before a judge in Iowa and was given a 10-year sentence.

Witnesses in that trial claimed both the daughter and son suffered seizures and stopped breathing when with their mother.

An expert witness in Iowa testified that Reid suffered from a disorder, Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy, in which a person induces or fabricates illness in children for psychological gratification.

When an investigation began in Iowa, the son was removed from the home and reportedly suffered no further problems.

Reid was brought to Hereford in mid-August to stand trial. She must complete the Iowa sentence after trial here. If convicted in Hereford, the sentence would not begin until she serves out the Iowa sentence.

From horse, buggy era to space age

Hereford man, 95, looks back at changes made during his life span

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

For a man whose life began during the presidency of William McKinley, Sam Sides is quite remarkable -- he stands arrow straight, walks easily with or without a cane, keeps up with favorite ball teams and laughs in a way that makes others want to laugh with him.

Sides is moving steadily toward his 95th birthday but his demeanor gives the impression that he's several years younger.

Born on Sept. 26, 1898, at Springtown in Parker County, the young Sides moved with his family to Young County in 1906 and a year later to Burkburnett in Wichita County.

He married Janie Palm on Dec. 21, 1926, and the young couple moved to Parmer County where he farmed until retiring and moving to Hereford in 1955.

Sides calls the last 100 years "the most exciting in history. There's never been anything like it."

Like others who have gone from the horse and buggy era to the space age, Sides is amazed at the accomplishments during his lifetime.

"The trip to the moon and invention of television are the most important, I think," said the retired farmer. Television especially is important to him now since he is somewhat limited in other activities.

"I watch lots of sports," he said and keeps up with his teams. The performance of the Dallas Cowboys, a favorite, last Monday night didn't thrill him very much.

"I was disappointed. They didn't look like a Super Bowl team," he said.

Until the last few years, Sides attended sporting events, especially enjoying the Hereford Whiteface football team. His interest in sports, now, is limited to television viewing.

"I used to go to all the games," he said, "but, when I got to be 90, I had to curtail my activities."

One of those activities that he gave up was driving his own car.

Sides admitted to some difficulty in disposing of his own wheels. His daughter, Virginia Lindsey of San Antonio, "had something to do with it," he said, asking him if he thought the time had come to stop driving.

Sides was never involved in a serious accident although he had experience with "fender-benders" during his driving days, he said.

After he left farming, he took up fishing and spent many miles on the road, pulling a boat, to good fishing holes. But, nowadays he puts out a line only while visiting family in the Victoria area.

"My grandson called me the other day and asked me to go fishing with him and his boys in Montana but I told him I couldn't go," he said. "That's too far from home for me."

About three times a year, Sides boards an airplane for a trip to San Antonio to visit his daughter. His family also includes three grandsons, three great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Several family members live in the San Antonio and Houston areas.

He said his daughter has asked him several times to move to San Antonio but he steadfastly declines the invitation.

"I don't like San Antonio... it's too big, and I'm a country boy," he laughed. "I like the wide open spaces, the high country, the wind and the cool."

Sides and his wife were married 66 years before her death in 1988. He's lived at King's Manor the last few years.

His daughter and the family are planning a special celebration on Sept. 19, marking his birthday. Friends are encouraged to call, beginning at 3 p.m., to join in the observance.

Although he was a member of First Baptist Church for many years, Sides said he attends services regularly now at King's Manor where Lanny Wheeler is chaplain.

"He's a good speaker. I really like him," he said.

Sides enjoys a game of dominos, or 42. But he passes many enjoyable hours in front of the television set.

"It's wonderful... you can go from one thing to another just by touching the button on the remote control," he said.

Since his birth during the McKinley Administration, 17 other men have taken the oath as President; two World Wars were fought but didn't succeed in "ending all wars" as hoped; men have huddled into space and come back to earth, and the miracle of television brings latest news and sports into the living room instantaneously.

Sides views these accomplishments with some amazement.

"But the biggest surprise of all is I never expected to live to be 95 years old," he laughed.

95 years young

Sam Sides of Hereford, who is nearing his 95th birthday, believes he has lived during the "most exciting time in history."

Local Roundup

Public hearing set

The Hereford Independent School District will hold a public hearing on its proposed 1993-94 fiscal year tax rate at 4 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 15. The hearing will be held in the HISD board room, 136 Avenue F. The board has scheduled a subsequent meeting for noon Sept. 21 to officially adopt the rate. The district has proposed a tax rate of $1.239 per $100 valuation, which is the same as the combined rates assessed last year by the district and the County Education District.

Bids to be opened at meeting

Bids requested for purchase of fuel, a vehicle for the sheriff's department and county health insurance will be opened during the Monday meeting of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court, beginning at 9 a.m. Proposals for a county financial audit also will be received and a public hearing will be held at 10 a.m. on traffic signs the county proposes to erect on some county roads. Other items on the agenda include discussion of medical insurance, consideration of a resolution support a new city swimming pool, discussion of a county safety program and a learning center.

Junior Class parents to meet

Parents of Hereford High School juniors will meet Tuesday, Sept. 14, at 6:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss plans for conducting the annual junior class supper.

Immunization schedule noted

The Texas Department of Health has announced its September immunization clinic schedule for Hereford. Vaccines against polio, diphtheria, lockjaw (tetanus), whooping cough (pertussis), measles, rubella, mumps and HIB (hemophilus influenzae type B) will be offered. The usual charge for these services has been suspended until further notice. Regular clinics will be held from 7 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Thursdays. Regular clinics will be held Sept. 16, 23 and 30. The clinics are held in the Health Department offices, 205 W. Fourth St., Suite B.

Gov. Ann launches reelection campaign

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards' re-election campaign is off and running.

Proof of that came Friday night when the Democrat was entertained to the tune of $2 million during a fund-raising birthday bash that featured Texas' top musicians.

Willie Nelson started the event singing "Waltz Across Texas," and Richards ended it with a 20-minute speech in which she touted her record, hoped for a second term, and promised to fight for it.

"We did it before. We can do it again," she told the crowd at the city coliseum.

More than 2,700 people paid tickets ranging from $25 to $10,000 for the fund-raiser, which was billed as the "Ann at Sixty Birthday Celebration."

Richards described being governor of Texas as "the best job in the world. And with you're help - and the consent of the voters of Texas - I intend to keep it."

She added, "If it is necessary to go to fist city, we're ready for the fight."

Richards, a Democrat, was elected in 1990. She bid to be the first Texas governor to win re-election since Democrat Dolph Briscoe did so in 1974.

Fourteen months before the November 1994 election, the race is being run in earnest.

"This is the beginning of the fund-raising campaign," said Richards' spokesman Chuck McDonald. "We will probably end the year with $5 million."

Meanwhile, George W. Bush, managing partner of the Texas Rangers baseball team and son of the former president, is expected to seek the Republican nomination to challenge her.

"He's wealthy. He's got connections to national money, and he's got his father's name," said McDonald.

McDonald said Richards will raise as much as Bush, unlike the last campaign when her opponent Clayton Williams outspent her by about $8 million.

During a rehearsal for the birthday bash, Richards said, "I don't like to raise money and spend it just for the sport of it. I will raise what I think is necessary for the campaign, and then if I see that I'm getting behind in terms of being able to buy time or to do what is necessary for the campaign, well then I'll raise some more."

State Rep. Robert Earley, D-Portland, a 10-year lawmaker, attended the event and said Richards was well-positioned for a race. "I've served under three governors, and I've heard less negative comments about her than the other two."

Richards told the crowd that during her tenure the state's economy has grown, and that she has fulfilled her promise to produce a "New Texas" by opening up government to the people.

But she promised, "If you think the first three years were something, you just hold onto your hat my friend because God-willing you ain't seen nothing yet."

Five CNN workers killed in Somalia war

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) - In some of the worst clan fighting in months, five Somalis working for Cable News Network were killed and four wounded in a three-hour battle that ended with gunfire from a U.S. Blackhawk helicopter.

The fighting came amid worsening violence in Mogadishu.

Earlier Friday, U.N. officials said 27 mortar shells or rocket-propelled grenades were fired at U.N. positions and that Pakistani troops were fired on again while clearing roadblocks. There were no U.N. casualties.

The day before, U.S. helicopter gunships blazed away with machine guns and rockets at Somalis who ambushed Pakistani troops and American engineers clearing a road. Supporters of a fugitive warlord claimed at least 125 men, women and children were killed.

U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali expressed regret Friday over the high death toll but said U.N. efforts to disarm Somalis would continue.

Ahmad Fawzi, a spokesman for the U.N. chief, said U.N. peacekeepers would investigate the ambush and the Americans' counterstrike. An American commander said Friday the heavy assault was necessary to save the U.N. force.

The CNN workers were shot in what apparently began as an attempt to hijack a vehicle rented by the network. The CNN workers belonged to a subclan of the Haway clan and the carjackers were from another subclan.

Militiamen from each subclan rushed in and began firing at each other with mortars, rocket-propelled grenades and automatic weapons for three hours. The battle swirled around a hotel housing foreign journalists.

The United Nations, which usually does not interfere in clan conflicts, sent Bangladeshi troops to monitor the battle.

Attention called to special week

Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand signs a proclamation calling for observance of Sept. 17-23 as Constitution Week. Chairman of Constitution Week for Los Ciboleros chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Nell Norvell, left, and the chapter regent, Kathryn Ruga, watch as the mayor signs the proclamation. A federal law guarantees a similar proclamation to be issued for Constitution Week by the President of the United States. Sept. 17 marks the 206th anniversary of the drafting of the Constitution.

'United We Stand' chapter to be formed here Tuesday

An open meeting has been scheduled here Tuesday for the purpose of forming a local chapter of United We Stand America, it was announced this week by Charlie Ward, county coordinator for UWSA.

The Tuesday meeting will be held at Hereford Community Center, beginning at 7 p.m. Local leadership will be elected at the initial meeting and opinions and ideas from all members will determine goals and directions for the chapter.

USWA is an educational, non-partisan, non-profit organization committed to involving citizens in their government, explained Ward. "Without Ross Perot, the organization would not exist, but it's in no way a 'Perot for President' campaign," said Ward.

Ward said there are many registered UWSA members in Deaf Smith County, and many more supporters who have not joined the grassroots movement to work together for reforms in government. He added that the chapter doesn't want to neglect local and state government.

Ward was appointed as county coordinator by Bill Walker, UWSA-Texas state director. The mission statement of UWSA is as follows:

Following are excerpts from the Hereford Police Department activity report Saturday morning:

--A 17-year-old man was arrested on a county warrant for criminal mischief; a 26-year-old man was arrested for public intoxication, and a 34-year-old man was arrested for driving with a suspended license.

--Officers issued eight traffic citations, investigated two traffic accidents, and dispatched the fire department on one call.

--Criminal trespass complaints were checked in the 700 block of Ave. F and the 400 block of Ave. I.

--An aggravated assault case was reported in the 500 block of Ave. G, and another assault reported in the 400 block of E. 3rd St.

--A stereo was stolen from a vehicle in the 500 block of Johnson Street, and a bicycle was reported stolen in the 300 block of Ave. B.

--A juvenile was ticketed for speeding and driving without a license on E. Park Avenue.

--Criminal mischief was reported in the 400 block of Ave. I, where a window was broken out of a home.

--Disorderly conduct was reported in the 500 block of N. 25 Mile Avenue, and also in the 200 block of Ave. F.

--A domestic disturbance was reported in the 400 block of Ave. I, and harassment by phone was reported in the 500 block of Ave. J.

--A runaway was reported in the 600 block of Stanton.

News briefs

WAXAHACHIE - The four huge machines boring the 54-mile tunnel designed to house the world's premier physics experiment have ground to a halt. Some 300 temporary workers have been released. Some of the 2,000 permanent staffers are looking for new jobs. Subcontractors are on hold. And scientific teams across the country are in limbo.

DALLAS - Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen has told Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents that he supports a proposal to move the agency from the Treasury Department and merge it with the FBI, according to a published report.

"We the people of the United We Stand America, recognizing that our republic was founded as a government of the people and for the people, united to restore the integrity of our economic and political systems. We commit ourselves to organize, to educate, to participate in the political process, and to hold our public servants accountable. We shall rebuild our country, renew its economic, moral and social strength, and return the sovereignty of America to the people."

Ward stressed that UWSA is a non-partisan organization and that "anyone who cares about their government or their children's future government is invited to join."

For more information about the meeting or the organization, call Ward at 364-1152 or Linda McGonagill at 364-4413.

Focus on Your City

By BOB JOSSERAND
Mayor of Hereford

In this issue of "Focus on Your City," let's talk a little bit about water, the lifeblood of the High Plains, both in the City and in the agricultural community.

Your City Commission has started a very ambitious plan to improve our water situation.

Our short-term goals are for three years, and then we're looking longer-term to the year 2000.

I know this hasn't bothered anybody in the City of Hereford yet to think about water, but unless we take some immediate action, it's going to bother all of us.

I'm sure many of you have family or friends living in communities where they have water rationing or other controls on the use of water, and your City Commission definitely does not want to be put in the position of limiting the water that you use each day in your homes; thus the short-term and long-term look at water.

If we were to have an industry come to Hereford today that needed, say, 2 million gallons of water per day, we could not furnish that amount of water under our existing water development unless we shorted someone already here or rationed the water to your home.

We, therefore, want to provide the water so that we can accommodate new industry coming to town.

Let me tell you a little bit about our short-term goals: WE have put into place a plan which calls for the drilling of three deep wells into what is known as the "Santa Rosa Formation." The water coming out of the Santa Rosa will be higher in salts than water coming from the Ogallala Formation, but blended with the Ogallala, it will be acceptable to you.

I say this based upon the fact that we presently have wells pumping out of the Santa Rosa into our water supply and I don't think most of us have noticed much difference.

In addition to the deep wells, we intend to drill nine wells into the Ogallala Formation, or three shallow wells for each deep well.

We feel that this mix will keep our water quality acceptable.

Also, we will be redoing some of our existing wells where they are rather old and have seriously deteriorated.

Just to give you an idea: our oldest well was drilled in 1940 and we have a sizeable number of wells still in operation which were drilled in the 1950s and early 1960s.

We think it makes sense to offset and re-drill where deterioration has occurred yet there is still water.

In addition to the wells, it is our intent to increase our storage capacity by at least a million gallons, which will also help during the times when we are using the maximum amount of water and the wells cannot keep up.

So, the storage fills up at night and at times when the demand is not so great.

The cost of this project over a three-year period is estimated to be roughly $3 million dollars, for which we will sell bonds; and it is hoped and expected that there will be no increased cost as far as your water bill goes.

You might be interested to have some comparison of our water costs with some of our surrounding communities: It is estimated that, year-round, the average three-person household here in Hereford uses approximately 10,000 to 11,000 gallons of water per month.

Hereford's charge for water on the 10,000 gallon scale is $13.40. Compare to Dumas at $15.15; to Canyon at $21.40; to Pampa at $21.88; to Amarillo at $15.27; and to Borger at $25.40. As you can see, we still get a real bargain on our water in Hereford.

Not that it will mean a great deal to most of us, but let me explain a little further what has happened to our city water.

As a mentioned earlier, our first well that is presently in use was drilled in 1940 and our last well, which was a Santa Rosa, or deep, well was drilled in 1990.

Record corn crop projected

By JEAN PAGEL

Associated Press Writer
LAZBUDDIE, Texas (AP) - Waxy white kernels emerge when Jerry Don Glover brushes away the shucks and wispy silks from an ear of corn.

Glover, a seasoned Parmer County farmer dwarfed by his giant stalks, mostly likes what he sees.

Lack of June rain stunted some of the ears; other didn't fill out completely with kernels. But Glover's corn, about 700 acres planted 70 miles southwest of Amarillo, is well on track toward its destiny as tortilla chips.

One question nags Glover and other Texas corn farmers: When will the Midwest see its first freeze?

If that first freeze in America's Corn Belt comes early - or even when normally expected - crops delayed by flooding would suffer another blow. Then, market prices could go up.

"You always hate for someone to lose so someone can win," the 50-year-old Glover said. "We were sort of wondering why we couldn't have gotten any of the rain the Mississippi was wasting."

As the Midwest flooded and the South withered under drought this summer, Texas farmers were planting 2.1 million acres in corn, up from 1.75 million acres in 1992.

Estimates Thursday from the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service projected the state's corn crop will hit a record high 218.5 million bushels.

Based on conditions Sept. 1, statewide yield is expected to average 115 bushels per acre. Harvested acreage is expected to increase 17 percent to 1.9 million acres.

Corn harvest in the Panhandle gets under way in late September.

"From the Canadian River north, the corn in the Dalhart-Dumas area will really ring a bell," predicted Carl King, executive director of the Texas Corn Growers Association in Dimmitt.

Texas, which usually produces about 4 percent of the nation's corn, could produce as much as 9 percent this year, King said.

Prices have hovered around $2.30 for a bushel, or 60 pounds, of corn. Agriculture officials have said they don't expect the Midwest crop damage to drive up food prices much, because ample surplus remains from last year's harvest.

"Everybody's coming in here asking why the market's not going up and I say, 'You gotta remember, you had a heck of a carryover,'" King said.

Rain showers in the past few weeks won't make much difference now to Parmer County corn, said Glover, who suspects his yields might be down 10 percent. Glover and his neighbors in Texas' leading corn county have had to irrigate all summer.

"You've still got to have a little help from above," he said.

Endowed scholarship set up at Canyon university

AMARILLO -- Atmos Energy Corp. of Dallas has established the sixth President's Honor Scholarship at West Texas A&M University, according to an announcement by the school.

The $25,000 endowment was accepted by trustees by Charles Vaughan, chairman and chief executive officer of Atmos, who is a university alumnus.

Atmos Energy Corp. began as Energas Co., a natural gas distribution company based in Amarillo. Originally a part of the Pioneer Corporation, Energas became independent in October 1983. Atmos now services customers in Texas, Louisiana and Kentucky, including Hereford.

Vaughan began working for Pioneer Natural Gas Co. in 1957, when he was attending West Texas State University, where he graduated with a degree in business administration.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

Did you hear the HHS band play their rendition of "Tennessee Waltz"? That should put everyone "In The Mood" for some more good music.

Junior high students soon learned "There'll Be Some Changes Made" as they entered the world of junior high. "As Time Goes By" most can say "I'm Beginning To See The Light" and are striving to stay "On The Sunny Side of The Street". Can noon detention cause one to say "I'm A Believer" in classroom expectations?

Sherry Walker's art classes are studying how "to see" the basic shapes within an automobile. "I Can't Begin To Tell You" how enthused her students became as they, first, made a realistic drawing of the front view of an automobile-a symmetrical design, (with a few asymmetrical details); second, breaking the "whole" down into its basic shapes using construction paper, and then, third, organization by deletion (abstraction).

Many of these types of junior high experiences will someday be "Unforgettable" even though that doesn't seem possible to the students now.

Interested students will be putting their "Imagination" to work on posters for Geography Awareness Week. The topic is "Water Matters: Everywhere, Every Way, Every Day." (No, that's not a sing!).

"We've Only Just Begun" with contests and competitions. There will be numerous contests in various areas which we hope will involve many students in both grades. A bulletin board in the hallway is being prepared where these opportunities will be listed.

Progress reports did go out last week and some students had to face the reality that school isn't "Only Make-Believe." Others were shocked to receive progress reports when they had 80-100 averages. Every student deserves to receive a progress report sometimes--some had just never received one! We tried to tell them junior high is different.

The search is on for a cheerleader sponsor. With teaming, many teachers are not free to sponsor groups. Perhaps we could have a parent or some parents who would volunteer for that sponsorship. "I Wonder, I Wonder, I Wonder" who will apply?! But seriously, that would be an excellent chance for parental involvement. So, "Hoop Dee Doo", why can't it be YOU!?!?!?

Jan Walser, choir director, has 49 students in her class. "Nevertheless," she's just keepin' 'em singing until "There'll Be Some Changes Made" and she can at least have enough music. This keeps the copier busy! She can handle it, though!

Lucy Lovington is helping with our dozen or so non-English speaking students until a full-time aid can be found to work in this capacity. Lucy works as substitute in all areas, so she is handling this situation well.

If you want to get primed for varsity sports, come out and see our athletes perform in volleyball and football. This is an entirely new experience for most of them and they can use your support.

We feel sure that someday most, if not all, of our students will appreciate their education, both academically and in the extra-curricular area and proclaim "You Can't Take That Away From Me."

Together We Can Build A Better HEREFORD

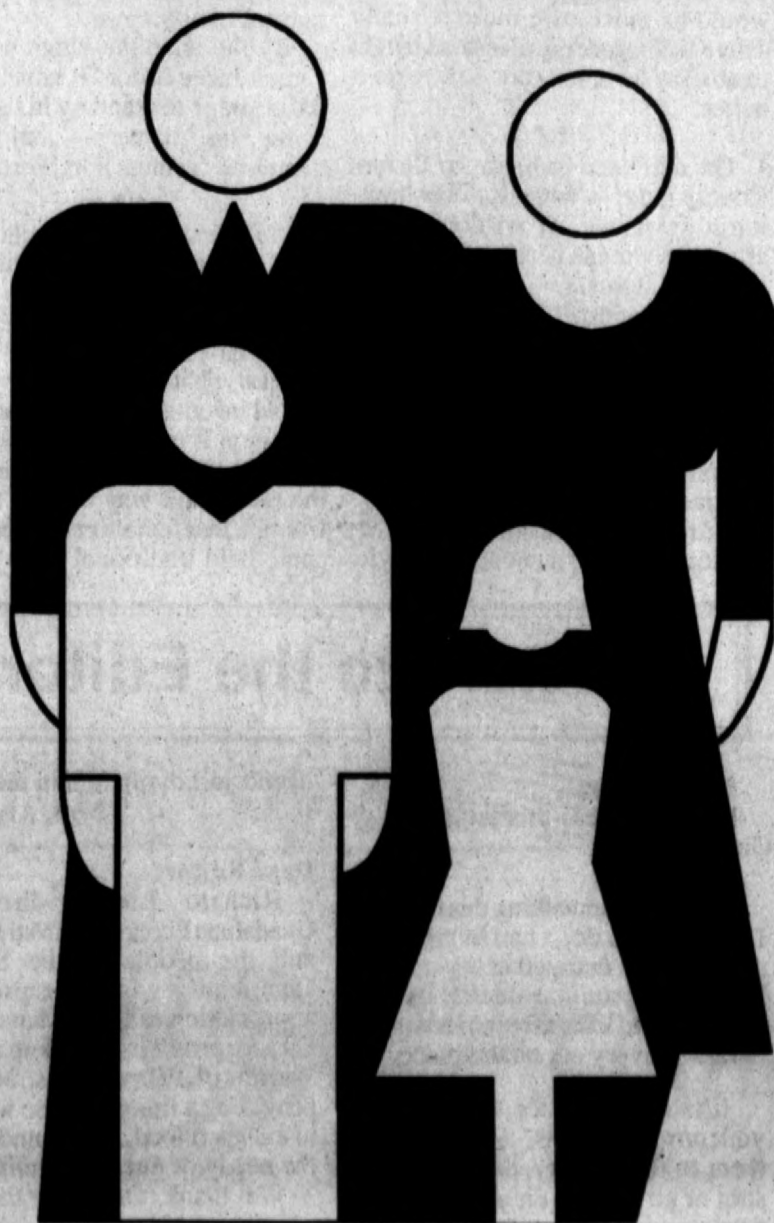

Disaster, family crisis, domestic violence, youth programs, needs here, needs there.

These aren't just front page news stories. They are issues that affect the day-to-day quality of life for ourselves, our children and our neighbors. And trying to solve all the many needs facing our nation today is not an easy task.

That's why there is United Way of Deaf Smith County. It's more than 12 agencies helping over 10,000 local people, it's neighbors helping neighbors helping neighbors, families caring for families and friends helping friends.

It's also a way for you to put your money where your heart is. We hope you'll consider making an investment in your community once more as the 1993 United Way Campaign officially begins Thursday, September 16th at the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Fun Break-fast.

Together we can meet our community's needs.

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says it's what the guests say as they pull out of the driveway that really counts.

If you think that time heals everything, try sitting in a doctor's office.

"Were you a good little boy at kindergarten today?" a doting mother asked her offspring.

"Yes," he replied. "You can't get into very much trouble standing in the corner of the room all day."

That kind of logic may be like that which causes frustration on the part of classroom teachers. It must have been a Friday when a teacher announced in the lounge: "If there's anything to reincarnation, I know what I'd like to come back as."

Her colleagues wanted to know more. "I'd like to return as a childhood disease!"

The next Chamber Fun Breakfast is scheduled Thursday morning, and the morning menu will include the traditional fun, games, prizes and community announcements, as well as the kickoff of the United Way campaign and a "slave" auction. There will also be a special "Industry Salute" award and the presentation of the Bull Chip award.

Even if you don't usually attend early-morning meetings, we think the Fun Breakfast is worth the effort. The chamber-sponsored event is open to all interested citizens, and it's a great way for new residents to get involved.

An AP news analysis

New third party?

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - Joel Rogers has gotten in line - a long, honorable, frustrated line that runs through much of American history. He stands with the Bull Moosers, Free Soilers, Know Nothings, Greenbackers, Prohibitionists, Socialists, Dixiecrats, Right to Lifers, Libertarians.

He stands with the Eugene V. Debses, Eugene McCarthy's, William Z. Fosters, Benjamin Spocks, John Andersons, Barry Commoners, Henry Wallaces and George Wallaces of American politics.

He's formed a third party.

But this one is different. It intends to enter politics from the bottom up - electing school board and zoning commission members, then state legislators and members of Congress before it shoots for big things like the presidency.

Most third parties aimed high. And most existed for principle or protest. Winning didn't much matter.

Rogers is a professor of law, political science and sociology at the University of Wisconsin. As a teen-ager, he passed out campaign fliers for Robert F. Kennedy.

His party is the New Party. It claims 3,000 members - "not a bunch of professors, but mostly poor and working-class people, about 30 percent black, half women, a lot of union people." He guesses most voted for Bill Clinton or Ross Perot.

The New Party, he said, already has run 28 candidates for local office in Montana, New York, New Jersey, Michigan, and elected 20. "We will never waste your vote or act as spoilers," Rogers pledges. His party runs where it can be competitive, or not at all.

Even if the party doesn't earn even the footnote in history that has awaited most third parties, he offers a view of contemporary politics that's worth a hearing.

"It's possible the American dream will be restored and people will be well off, but the indications are that won't happen," he said in an interview. "We've had 10 years of effective economic decline for 80 percent of the population. I don't see economic competition (from abroad) getting easier or our ability as a country to respond to it getting better."

"You could imagine a situation in which, for the first time in a long time, you had the white working class see that it had interests with African Americans. When you talk to white workers now, you don't hear them say, the way they used to, that black people are poor because they're lazy. The reason is that they themselves are getting smushed."

Rogers thinks the time is right because people are making demands on government that Democrats and Republicans seem incapable of fulfilling.

Rogers said the people have three overarching goals. They want radical campaign reform and to clean up government. They want nationalistic trade policies and government intervention in business decisions to promote growth. And they want government accountability - referendums, recalls, initiatives, elimination of political action committees, lowered barriers for outsiders to seek office, term limitations - in other words, more democracy.

Conventional politics won't achieve those ends, he says. He says campaign reforms Congress is considering are timid and that President Clinton can't enact even modest economic stimulation. When people speak of Washington what they say is, "They just don't get it."

But what about Perot? He got 19 percent of the vote in his first run for office. He's got millions of dollars.

Rogers says Perot could form a party, but seems more interested in being a one-man band. "What he's doing is building United We Stand. It's a civic association, a lobbying group. It doesn't run people for office."

So what about Joel Rogers' idea?

"He's got one thing going for him and one going against him," says retired Dartmouth professor Frank Smallwood, an expert on third party movements. "As far as I can ascertain, there is a lot of dissatisfaction, unease, concern, skepticism - almost cynicism - about the present political setup. A lot of people are scared. He's right about that."

But Smallwood cites the usual obstacles to third parties - the difficulty of getting on the ballots, the need but the cost of getting on television.

Put him down as doubtful. Meantime, check your ballot - the bottom of your ballot - to see how Rogers' idea is doing.

Out of the Blue

By Garry Wesner

OK, folks, this is just getting a little bit more than ridiculous.

The Associated Press reported last week that the New Haven, Conn., school board has approved a plan to distribute condoms in the schools.

While this is not that unusual, they have decided in their infinite wisdom to give condoms to children in the fifth and sixth grades!

Seems the Yale University Child Study Center did a survey last year that found that more than 25 percent of sixth-graders in New Haven reported having sex.

So, rather than check the validity of the study and teach middle school students that they don't have any business running around (sleeping around?) having sex, the school board decided to give them condoms.

I mean, really. How many fifth-graders do you know who know how to tie their shoelaces, much less put a condom on correctly?

Giving condoms out to children that young is not teaching them responsibility or how to have safe sex -- it's teaching them that they can run out and have sex whenever they want, with whomever they want.

It also teaches them that just because they wear a condom means they will never get AIDS.

That, of course, is hogwash (or, for those of you who are sophisticated, swine shine).

Studies of condoms have shown that they have a failure rate of 19 percent, meaning one condom in every five will allow secretion of fluids between the parties involved.

That means New Haven can look forward to an increase in the number of fifth-grade fathers and in the number of fifth-graders contracting AIDS.

Seems to me like the thing to do would be make sure those sexually active fifth-graders are instead taught to abstain from sex, not how to do it better.

On a related subject, a Tarrant County judge -- who also is exhibiting a great deal of wisdom -- has allowed a woman to adopt her live-in lover's daughter.

As if that isn't bad enough, the live-in lover is another woman.

That means this 2-year-old child will grow up in a home with two mothers, thinking it's normal for Mommy and Mommy to live together as a married couple.

While I believe personally that homosexuality is a deviant lifestyle,

I also believe an adult ought to be allowed for him or herself to choose a lifestyle, as long as that person is willing to accept the consequences for those actions.

However, what right does that judge have to sentence a 2-year-old girl to a lifetime of lesbianism?

What are the chances of that little girl growing up to be a normal heterosexual adult female? Or, conversely, what do you think the chances are that those two mothers will teach their daughter the benefits of a loving heterosexual relationship and encourage her to marry the right man and have children?

I don't care who you sleep with, but that judge (who, by the way, made sure his, her or its name was sealed along with the records of the case) had no right to inflict that lifestyle on a 2-year-old child.

On the same subject, a judge in Richmond, Va., has ruled that a lesbian woman could not have custody of her son because she was involved in an "immoral" relationship.

In this case, it seems that the 2-year-old boy's grandmother argued that his living with his mother and her live-in lesbian lover was causing the boy confusion over the differences between men and women.

The child, she said, already called his mother's lover "Da-Da," proof that he didn't know what this person was.

The mother rationalized raising the boy by saying the two women hugged and kissed in front of him, but never had sex in his presence.

At least there's one judge in this country who's not afraid to call homosexuality immoral and let a child grow up in at least a somewhat normal family.

By the way, the judge here was Circuit Judge Buford Parsons. He had the courage to stand by his decision using his name -- unlike our nameless, faceless Fort Worth judge.

Well, first condoms at school, then homosexuals adopting children -- what's next?

How about a feminist version of a popular card game?

That's right, two women have redone the old favorite "Old Maid" card game, changing it into "Old Bachelor."

These Chicago women claimed that the Old Maid was always an ugly woman, that female characters in the game held traditional roles such as librarian, school teacher or secretary, and that the Old Maid was a cruel caricature.

On the other hand, they piously contend, Old Bachelor is none of these things.

There are such characters as Josephine Judge, Consuelo Cardiologist, Primrose Plumber, Stella Stage Manager and Ann Archaeologist.

Boy, I'm sure glad this is not sexist any more.

But wait!

The Old Bachelor is no longer an ugly woman -- the women said they made him a "preening type" in a tweed suit, bow tie and pocket handkerchief, who keeps a picture of his mother on his dresser and combs over his bald spot.

Says one of the women, Jane

Johnston, "He's basically a nice guy, but something's lacking. He doesn't have an interesting job like the other characters, and he's more interested in himself than what's going on in the world."

Sounds to me like our sanctimonious creators have simply redirected their attack, changing it from something they perceive as being negative to women as something that is positive to women, but which degrades the only male in the game.

I don't see any improvement.

Well, that's all for this week.

Have a good week and remember, a 10-pound child in a 30-mile-per-hour crash has an effective weight of 300 pounds. No amount of love can hold that.

Use your safety belts.

Editorials from around the state

By The Associated Press

Here is a sampling of editorial opinion from Texas newspapers:

Sept. 2

Amarillo Daily News on cable reform:

Remember the hullabaloo over cable rates? Remember how Congress was going to solve all the viewers' problems by re-regulating the evil cable industry? Well, leave it up to Congress to make a bad situation worse. During the 1980s, when cable companies were largely deregulated, rate increases far outpaced inflation. The outcry was loud, and members of Congress, dogged by incessant scandals and institutional failure, thought they had an issue they could not lose on. They were wrong.

Cable companies are beginning to implement the new regulations, and instead of seeing rates drop, many consumers nationwide are seeing rates rise. ...

It would be easy to paint cable companies as the bad guys in this situation. That would be unfair. Cable companies are just trying to maintain profits. It was Congress that threw the system out of whack.

Many in Congress seem to think they can regulate business and individual behavior merely by passing a law. These type of legislators refuse to acknowledge the law of unintentional consequences. More often than not, government regulation seems to backfire, creating unnecessary paperwork and costly procedures to little avail.

Midland Reporter-Telegram on seat belts:

OK, we confess that the seat belt law is an irritating infringement on our indomitable West Texas independence. To put it plainly, we'd rather eat cold, unsweetened oatmeal than to have government tell us that when we climb into the pickup to go feed the cows - or even go visit the neighbors - we've got to "buckle up." ...

On pondering the matter, however, we realized that the people in West Texas normally can accept almost anything that makes sense, just as surely as they will never accept anything that doesn't.

And statistics year after year have shown that people who wear seat belts stand a much greater chance of surviving a car crash than do those not wearing seat belts. Seat belts really work, and that fact is backed up with cold, hard statistics.

Over time, even the most independent-minded of us can come to accept something like the seat belt law, which grates on our nerves in the beginning. As we hear about friends and relatives who are alive today because they were wearing their seat belts when involved in an automobile accident, the truth becomes simply too hard to avoid.

Sept. 2

Victoria Advocate on Kennedy conspiracy theorists:

No sooner had the government released additional records on the assassination of President John Kennedy than conspiracy theorists began crying cover-up. ...

For security reasons, the CIA is withholding 10,000 pages of paper records related to the assassination, along with another 150,000 records on microfilm. These documents also should be made public as soon as security considerations allow. But, with the most recent release of information, the government has made available to the public a huge cache of materials.

Even if the government released every last document or shred of data pertaining to the assassination, conspiracy buffs would not be satisfied.

For 30 years the proponents of these overheated theories have been unable to offer real evidence to support their claims. But that hasn't prevented them from challenging the Warren Commission's conclusion that (Lee Harvey) Oswald acted alone. They will continue to do so, even though the latest release of documents apparently provides no facts to support their fantasies.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Please address this letter to: A Good Citizen:

I had to do something this morning I don't like to do. I had to take your dog that you dumped at my country home to the animal shelter. At last count, he had killed five chickens and harassed every cat on the place.

It is not my place to dispose of your unwanted dogs. When you take them to the country, they are either shot or go back to the pound if they don't starve to death first.

Please, if you don't want your pet anymore, take him to the humane society or find a good home for him.

Don't just dump him in the country.

State purchases new reading systems

Officials hope book investment pays off

By PEGGY FIKAC

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - State officials hope a big new investment in teaching schoolchildren how to read will pay big dividends.

But some teachers are concerned because the added expense means delaying purchase of up-to-date books in other subjects.

And the skyrocketing cost of the textbooks and learning systems, which encompass a new approach to reading, have spurred a new look at the way textbooks are bought.

Texas, the nation's second leading purchaser of textbooks, is paying $133 million for the new reading books and learning systems - more than three times the $43 million the last time readers for grades 1-8 were purchased six years ago.

But the state asked for so much more this time that the books can't be compared, said lawyer Joe Bill Watkins, who represents the Association of American Publishers. "It might as well be comparing physics and reading."

The dozens of pages of requirements stressed the need to integrate reading with listening, speaking and writing.

The books include stories by award-winning authors and show a variety of ethnic groups. And first-grade learning systems offer an especially large number and variety of books.

For example, first-graders may get a dozen small, one-story texts, in addition to four larger books containing numerous stories and poems. First-grade teachers get big books to hold up and read while the youngsters follow along.

Publishers also had to meet detailed specifications for teacher materials, including assessment aids.

"We believe it will pay off in large dividends for the children of Texas," said State Board of Education member Will Davis of Austin. "I think more kids will learn to read, and read better."

But others aren't so sure. "I think the jury is out on how much this may improve reading and whether or not the cost is worth it," said Paul Lindsey, associate Texas education commissioner for school support.

"If our (students') reading scores go up significantly in next two or three years, I'm going to be the first to tell you it is the greatest investment we've ever made," he said. "If they

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Wendy's founder Dave Thomas said he might have been twice as successful had he graduated high school.

"The biggest mistake I made in my life is when I dropped out of high school," he told 2,500 high school seniors at a rally Thursday.

"We have 4,000 restaurants today, but if I had gotten my high school diploma, we might have 8,000."

Thomas, 61, earned a high school equivalency certificate this year.

The restaurant chain founder appears in Wendy's television commercials.

don't, I may tell you that our money might have been better spent for something else."

Evelyn Powers, a 21-year veteran first-grade teacher in Austin, is excited about the books. She cited good interaction when she reads to the class from her big books, and the attractiveness of the textbooks' design.

"They just look very appealing - a book that children would want to pick up and read ... I think that is really good," she said. More reading skills exercises might be useful for inexperienced teachers, Ms. Powers added, but she will teach those herself.

The new requirements were the major reason for the big cost of the readers, say Texas officials and publishers, who also cite some effect from inflation and increased enrollment.

This school year's new textbook cost is about $182 million, including the readers and several other subjects due for updating. The 1987 textbook purchase totaled close to $102 million, including the $43 million for readers, according to Texas Education Agency figures.

In addition, officials plan on spending nearly $80 million in 1993-95 for braille and large-type books; additional copies of books currently in use; and freight, according to staff.

The expenses eat up most of the $272 million that lawmakers set aside for this two-year budget period, leaving insufficient funds for an estimated $103 million worth of new textbooks in other subjects that had been scheduled to go into classrooms next school year.

That means many books will have to wait a year, officials say. The board is scheduled to decide which ones in November, but people already are afraid their subjects may be put off - such as high school health textbooks that have stirred controversy over sex education.

"That's exactly what we're afraid of," said Ann Heidel, a middle school health and physical education teacher in Houston's Spring Branch school district.

Ms. Heidel, who was on the committee that recommended which new health textbooks the Education Board should adopt, said it's important that they be current.

Older books aren't likely to include information about acquired immune deficiency syndrome, she said. "We are talking about a life-threatening disease that takes just one bad decision and it's fatal."

The state requires educators to teach students about sexually transmitted diseases even if they aren't in the book, said Texas Education Agency spokesman Joey Lozano.

Most of the $103 million worth of books that had been scheduled to go into classrooms in the 1994-95 year is for supplemental reading systems, which Education Board Chairwoman Carolyn Crawford said won't be purchased. She said she's received letters in support of buying science and health books.

State education officials, who have told lawmakers they'll hold to an annual textbook budget of about $140 million, also have put off a major bid request for social studies textbooks.

Meanwhile, Texas Education Agency staff, publishers and lawmakers are reviewing the system.

"It's my feeling that there's got to be a better way to do it," said House Public Education Committee Chairwoman Libby Lineberger, D-Manchaca.

HOP ON BOARD THE WAGON

The spirit of giving has passed over this community many times before. Whenever there has been a need, there has also always been a neighbor ready to help.

Twelve different agencies, that serve more than 10,000 residents of this community, are in need this year, and through a contribution to United Way you can help meet those local needs.

Let's all hop on the wagon and contribute toward this effort. Together, we can continue the spirit of giving, which has made Hereford a place where "We still take care of our own."

AN OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

The job promotion you have been looking for has finally arrived, unfortunately it is in another state. Moving the family away from friends and familiar places is very difficult. And selling your present home, preserving the equity, and finding a new home as comfortable as the one you have now, is very uncertain. The secret is finding a progressive real estate agent who has a proven sales record, and can get you in touch with one of the same in your new area! This agent will prepare an effective listing to outline all the special features and terms to make your home unique. In soft or pressing times you may want to offer a special bonus if your home sells within 45 days. Another good incentive is to pay part of the closing costs. This will attract first time buyers who are short on cash for the down payment. When you need creative real estate professionals, you can count on the experience at...

Northwest honors alumni

Students at Northwest Elementary School on Friday recognized 14 former students who are now members of the Hereford High School football team at a pep rally assembly. At right, senior Russ Watts accepts a handmade banner from representatives of Mrs. Lake's and Mrs. Coplen's classes. Classes "adopted" the players, presenting them with banners, flags, hand-painted T-shirts, handmade dolls and other gifts. Other ex-Northwesterners honored were: Marquise Brown, Elias Reyna, Brandon Gearn, Hondo Nava, Shawn Malone, Eric Ross, Joe De La Cruz, Aaron Stevens, Brandon Holcombe, Josh Tice, Mark Kuper, Hayden Andrews and Scott Parker.

Permian handles Temple

By JAIME ARON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) - Mo-Jo magic is alive and well. Just ask the Temple Wildcats.

The fourth-ranked Wildcats tried entering Odessa Permian's domain Friday night but were turned away 35-7 by the No. 5 Panthers, who merely added to their mystique of being one of the state's most-feared teams.

A&M Consolidated, No. 1 in Class 4A, and Class 2A's top-ranked Goldthwaite both played teams in higher classes and each suffered losses that may unseat them in Monday's poll. Consolidated was stopped 16-0 by crosstown rival Bryan, which stuffed Tigers quarterback Jeff Watson. He was held to 34 yards passing, and the A&M offense gained only 91 yards and six first downs.

Playing at Class 3A's No. 6 Marble Falls, Goldthwaite allowed three second quarter touchdowns during a 25-11 loss.

But two constants remained intact: Class 3A's top-ranked Southlake Carroll won and the nation's biggest loser Houston Davis came up short again.

Fourth-ranked Gainesville was poised to end Carroll's state-record regular season winning streak, but the Dragons never gave up and roared back from a slow start to dump the No. 4 Leopards 44-13.

Carroll's 63rd straight victory was keyed by three first-half turnovers by Gainesville that allowed the Dragons to turn a 7-0 deficit into a 30-7 lead by halftime.

Davis, meanwhile, lost its national-record 75th straight game and showed no signs of the streak coming to an end. It was Houston Jones' turn to win this week, and they did so 26-13.

Braves catch San Francisco

By The Associated Press
With three weeks to go, the question now seems to be how many games the Atlanta Braves will win the NL West by.

While the Braves rarely lose a game anymore, the San Francisco Giants are falling apart. The Giants, who have lost 10 of 16 games, led by 10 on July 22.

The Giants' lead is down to just two percentage points over Atlanta after losing 6-2 Friday night to St. Louis at Candlestick Park. The Braves, meanwhile, edged San Diego 3-2 at Jack Murphy Stadium behind Greg Maddux (18-9).

"It is a good feeling to be even with them," Braves third baseman Terry Pendleton said. "I think the best part is that we've come back, and a lot of people were counting us out in July." The loss extended the Giants' losing streak to three games as San Francisco dropped to 89-51. Atlanta improved to 90-52 to pull even in the games-behind column.

"It almost feels like a big nightmare," Barry Bonds said. "Everybody's out there with the same enthusiasm. Everybody's out there pumping each other up. It just seems like a nightmare right now."

Rangers move to 3 1/2 out

By The Associated Press
Suddenly, the East isn't the only race to watch in the American League.

The surging Texas Rangers, making their move in the West, have climbed within 3 1/2 games of the Chicago White Sox - a team they trailed by seven on Sunday night.

"They know we're here," Texas first baseman Rafael Palmeiro said after the Rangers completed a 4-3, 3-2 doubleheader sweep of Minnesota on Friday night.

The Rangers won their fifth straight to make up 3 1/2 games in five days in their pursuit of the White Sox, who have dropped three of four.

Meanwhile, Toronto beat California 10-4 to break a tie for first in the East with the New York Yankees, 6-5 losers to Kansas City.

Baltimore lost to Oakland 12-9 to drop 1 1/2 games behind the Blue Jays.

At Texas, Tom Henke saved both games, reaching a career-high 36. Juan Gonzalez tied his own team record with his 43rd homer in the nightcap.

Minnesota's Dave Winfield went 0-for-4 in the first game, leaving him four hits shy of 3,000. He did not play in the second game.

Gary Redus singled home the go-ahead run in the seventh inning of the second game.

Cris Carpenter (2-1) pitched 2 1/3 innings for the victory. Larry Casian (5-2) was the loser.

Kenny Rogers (15-8) won the opener, giving up six hits in 6 2/3 innings. Willie Banks (9-10) was the loser.

Phillies 6, Astros 2
Curt Schilling (13-6) scattered nine hits in 8 1-3 innings for Philadelphia before leaving after he was hit in the leg by a line drive as the Phillies snapped Houston's four-game winning streak.

Greg Swindell (10-12) pitched six innings, allowing nine hits and four runs.

Harvesters shock Sandies, 27-20

Pampa pulled a big upset Friday night downing the Class 5A Amarillo High Sandies 27-20 on a big night for District 1-4A teams.

Harvester fullback Matt Garvin ran for touchdowns of 40 and 47 yards to spark the upset in Pampa. It was the second time in three years for Pampa to beat the Sandies, but also the second time in 16 meetings.

Borger almost duplicated Pampa's feat but came up short against Tascosa, losing 28-21 in Amarillo.

Dumas and Randall did win Friday, with Randall whipping

Levelland 22-6 and Dumas routing Lamar, Colo., 41-6.

Caprock won its game on Thursday, beating Dimmitt 14-6. Hereford was to play Palo Duro Saturday afternoon in Amarillo.

Chavez, Whitaker fight to draw

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Julio Cesar Chavez began talking about a rematch as soon as the decision was announced.

Pernell Whitaker preferred to dwell on the fight just ended.

"Let's forget about a second fight," he said. "Let's talk about the first fight. I won tonight."

The decision Friday night at the Alamodome, however, was a draw, which means Whitaker is still the WBC welterweight champion and that Chavez is still unbeaten, but no longer unblemished at 87-0-1.

New and old Arlington Stadiums

The future home of the Texas Rangers (top) takes a break from construction on Labor Day (Monday). The new stadium, which appears close to completion, will be the home of the Metroplex' Major League Baseball club beginning in 1994. It's being built on a lot adjacent to the old Arlington Stadium (bottom), which has been the home of the Rangers since they moved from Washington, D.C., in 1972. It appears the new stadium will live up to the designers' aim to make it an attraction on its own, like some of baseball's other new parks: the new Comiskey Park in Chicago; Skydome in Toronto; and Oriole Park at Camden Yarks in Baltimore. The design, which has been called "Texas Romanesque," includes and entrance guarded by two towers at each of the four corners. The northwest corner is in the foreground; the southwest corner is at right. The western facade (right) has not been painted yet.

Oddsmakers pick 'Pokes over Bills

By DAVE GOLDBERG
AP Football Writer
 Who's worth more, Emmitt Smith or Jim Kelly?
 The oddsmakers apparently think it's Smith - or at least believe that Frank Reich is a better backup for Kelly than Derrick Lassic is for Smith.
 So Buffalo, which lost by 35 to Dallas for the NFL title at the Rose Bowl last January, goes into Texas Stadium on Sunday as 4 1/2-point underdogs, presumably on the assumption Smith is not showing up for the second straight week. Neither

Bills' coach chafes at Johnson's words

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
 IRVING, Texas (AP) - Marv Levy hasn't read Jimmy Johnson's book but there's a chapter in it that nettles him.
 It's the one about the Dallas Cowboys 52-17 Super Bowl victory over his Buffalo Bills.
 In the book, "Turning the Thing Around," Johnson said of the NFL championship against the Bills: "I was 100 percent sure we were going to win that game. It was just a matter of how much. I had as much confidence in winning that game as any game that I have coached. We held a royal flush. It was just a matter of dropping the cards."
 Such is the backdrop for Sunday's sold-out regular season rematch at Texas Stadium with the Bills seeking some redemption for the embarrassing loss, their third consecutive in professional football's ultimate game.
 Levy knows about Johnson's statement.
 "After something is over it's easy to say how you saw it ahead of time," said Levy, who mentioned that an assistant on his staff had alluded to it.
 "I guess that would be good bulletin board material but you don't win games on the bulletin board," he said.
 Indeed, the Cowboys discovered at the Rose Bowl a team wins Super Bowls with turnovers. The Bills lost the ball nine times and Dallas turned the mistakes into 35 points in what Levy said "was a terrible job of protecting the football. The turnover rate is the most important statistic in football."
 The Cowboys got a dose of it Monday night when they presented Washington with four turnovers, gifts the Redskins cashed into a 35-16 victory.
 The Bills drilled New England 38-14 to get off to a good start in search of an unprecedented fourth may Kelly, whose suspect right knee might need surgery.

 But Thurman Thomas, whose $13 million contract is one reason Smith is out, will be there. So will Andre Reed, Cornelius Bennett and the rest of the cast, including Reich, who was at the controls when the Bills staged that comeback from a 35-3 deficit in the playoffs against Houston.
 Here is the key to Jimmy Johnson's act: when he gets beaten badly, as he did Monday night, he stays calm, doesn't rant and rave publicly, and gets down to business. Business will be gotten down to Sunday. With or without Emmitt. And with or without Kelly.

COWBOYS, 27-20
Philadelphia (plus 4) at Green Bay
 Reggie's up there in the north, attending to his mission in Green Bay's inner city, and Philadelphia mourns. So this game is the Eagles' way of getting revenge for Reggie's departure.
 The problem is that most Eagles fans want revenge not on Reggie, but on Norman Braman for letting him walk. They also might want revenge on Bryce Paup, who hit Randall Cunningham in the knee two years ago, but that's another story.
 Reggie and Bryce prevail, with a lot of help from Brett Favre and Sterling Sharpe.
PACKERS, 20-13
Kansas City (no line on Thursday) at Houston
 This game went off the board when Joe Montana was declared 50-50 with his sore wrist after the Oilers opened as a three-point favorite. Houston's Warren Moon is banged up, too, but expected to play.
 Does Joe really want to meet a defense coached by Buddy Ryan? As Marty Schottenheimer said when he lifted Montana after three quarters in Tampa: "That's what we have Dave Krieg for."
 The last time Montana faced Ryan, he was sacked nine times, then got up and threw four touchdown passes in the final period.
 If Montana plays, it's CHIEFS, 28-24; if it's Krieg, it'll be OILERS 28-24.
San Diego (plus 3) at Denver
 The Chargers have lost six straight to John Elway at Mile High Stadium. And that was pre-Glyn Milburn. John Carney kicks four more, but it's not enough.
BRONCOS, 17-12

San Francisco (plus 7) at Cleveland (Monday night)
 Add Tom Rathman and Kevin Fagan to the 49ers' injury list.
 Add, as usual, another "W" in the standings.
49ERS, 24-14
New Orleans (minus 3) at Atlanta
 Jerry Glanville revs it up at home, where the Falcons always play the Saints tough. Wade Wilson returns to trouble.
FALCONS, 17-14
Chicago (plus 8) at Minnesota
 Another old friend against his old team - Jim McMahon and the Bears. The problem is how long McMahon will stay standing.
VIKINGS, 17-14
Detroit (minus 7) at New England
 Bill Parcells keeps insisting he'll settle for nothing less than victories. He's still waiting.
LIONS, 27-17
Phoenix (plus 10) at Washington
 Their early schedule is making the Cardinals sweat ... and hastening Joe Bugel out the door.
REDSKINS, 31-13
Tampa Bay (plus 9 1/2) at Giants
 The early schedule is NO sweat for Dan Reeves.
GIANTS, 31-13
Jets (plus 9) at Miami
 Bruce Coslet's early schedule is the Elway-Marino parlay.
DOLPHINS, 31-13
Indianapolis (minus 2) at Cincinnati
 Only two points?
COLTS, 31-13
Pittsburgh (minus 3) at Rams
 The Rams ARE that bad.
STEELERS, 21-14

American Pipeline Company and its affiliated companies, Westar Transmission, American Gathering, L.P., American Gas Storage, L.P., American Processing, L.P., Caprock Pipeline, Red River Pipeline and Picor Pipeline, operate natural gas pipelines in West Texas and the Texas Panhandle. Signs similar to the ones pictured above are placed in areas where our natural gas pipelines are located.

Our pipelines are safe and we keep them that way by designing, installing and operating our pipelines to exacting standards.

If natural gas pipelines are damaged, people may be injured, property destroyed or energy supplies lost. Therefore, American Pipeline and its affiliated companies conduct an ongoing surveillance program to detect factors which might threaten safe pipeline operations. We also conduct a damage prevention program to inform the public of the importance of using safety measures when digging or excavating near natural gas pipelines.

If you are planning to dig or excavate in an area, remember to look for warning signs indicating natural gas pipelines. If you see an American Pipeline marker, call us at our toll free number, 1-800-562-5879, before you begin working. We will send a company representative to mark the location of the pipeline.

Natural gas cannot be seen and normally cannot be smelled, but gas leaks may still be detected. Any one of the following is among the common indications of a gas leak:

- Dust blowing from a hole in the ground
- Continuous bubbling in one spot in wet or flooded areas
- A gaseous or hydrocarbon odor

If you suspect a natural gas leak in an area where American Pipeline markers are located, immediately leave the area and call us at our toll free number:

Ag school honor goes to graduate of TAMU

An Amarillo man, Charles E. Ball, is one of the first four persons to receive the Distinguished Alumni Award from the Texas A&M College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

During the fall faculty meeting of the COALS, Ball, Dr. O.D. Butler Jr., of College Station and Dr. John E. Hutchison of Bryan were honored.

The fourth recipient, Congressman Joe Skeen of New Mexico, will be honored in a separate ceremony. He also will be recognized by the College Engineering with a distinguished alumnus award.

Charles Ball was cited for his effectiveness in communicating about and increasing support for the cattle industry. He was an award-winner as editor of the Farm Journal in the 1950s and 1960s and later became executive vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association. He spearheaded the national checkoff program for beef promotion and research.

He earned a bachelor's degree in agricultural engineering at TAMU in 1945 and a master's from Iowa State University. He is the author of two books.

Butler, head of the animal science department at TAME for 22 years, was cited for his half-century of service to the animal agriculture industry.

Hutchison was recognized for his leadership in the Texas Agricultural Extension Service from 1957 to 1976. The Republican Congressman from New Mexico, Skeen was honored for his service and devotion to the agricultural engineering profession. He is the ranking Republican on the House agriculture appropriations subcommittee.

Great men are they who see that spiritual is stronger than material force, that thoughts rule the world.—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Risk management will be focus of special workshop

HALFWAY -- Risk management will be the focus of a special Crop Strategies Workshop to be held Sept. 16-17, at the Texas A&M Computer Training and Education Center at Halfway.

The workshop will emphasize the use of various risk management computer decision-aids and will be taught by instructors from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Tarleton State University and Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Topic for the first day will be price risk management which will be taught by Carl Anderson and Jackie Smith of TAES.

The second day's program will focus on production risk management tools, including crop insurance. Instructors will be Dottie Sampley, FCIC district manager; Ashley Lovell, agricultural economics department head at Tarleton, and Stan Bevers, extension economist from Vernon.

Specific topics will include market, price, production and financial risk management, introduction to the futures market and options, options decisions, market situation and outlook for crops, estimating costs of production, developing a marketing plan and other risk management strategies.

Emphasis on the second day will be on the new Group Risk Plan that is being pilot-tested for wheat in selected counties this year. The GRP is being developed as an alternative to the current crop insurance offered through the FCIC.

Hours for the workshop will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. A registration fee of $50 includes lunch and course materials. Registration is limited to 30 persons. Prior computer experience would be beneficial, but is not required.

The training center is located at the TAES facility, 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. 70. More information may be obtained by calling Jackie Smith at the Lubbock Research and Extension Center, 806-746-6101.

Variable interest rate drops on FLBA loans

AUSTIN -- Federal Land Bank Associations in Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas announced recently their sixth interest rate reduction on variable rate loans in 18 months, this one bringing the rate to 7.5 percent.

Since February 1992, variable rates charged by FLBAs has fallen nearly 1.5 percent and stands at the lowest in nearly 15 years, said Arnold R. Henson, chief executive officer of the Farm Credit Bank of Texas.

Swine testing may be reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new Agriculture Department proposal reduces the amount of testing and other work farmers must do to have swine declared free of a bacterial disease that prevents interstate transport of the animals.

The USDA is trying to eradicate brucellosis from all domestic swine by 1996.

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease that causes abortions, infertility and lameness in swine. Humans who catch it exhibit recurrent, flu-like symptoms over weeks or years.

The USDA has declared 41 states as "brucellosis free."

The proposal extends to 24 months the qualification period in which a state must test its breeding swine and reduces the amount of testing required.

The proposal also changes interstate requirements that limit contact between wild and domestic swine, reducing the potential for transmission of brucellosis.

Philippine ag leaders entertained by Perry

AUSTIN -- Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry met recently in Austin with Roberto S. Sebastian, secretary of agriculture for the Republic of the Philippines, to discuss agricultural trade between Texas and the Philippines.

"The Philippine Islands are an important agricultural export market for Texas farmers and ranchers," said Perry. "This meeting allowed us to explore enhancing our trade opportunities while giving officials of the Philippines a chance to sample some of our state's great agricultural bounty."

Perry and Sebastian were joined at a "Totally Texas Menu" luncheon by Anne Anderson, executive director of the Texas Beef Industry Council;

Brian Kitchen, executive director of the American Simmental/Simbrah Association, and Tom Risinger of the Texas Simmental/Simbrah Association.

Accompanying Sebastian were his special assistant, Lupino Lazaro; Georgino Mirasol, an agricultural analyst, and Victor Leviste, an agricultural attaché at the Philippines Embassy in Washington, D.C.

Agricultural trade opportunities were discussed during the luncheon which featured more than a dozen Texas agricultural commodities.

The menu included Texas-raised beef crusted with pecans, a spinach and mustard greens salad, Texas-shaped sweet potato souffles and blue berry cobbler with Blue Bell vanilla ice cream.

FIRST IN INNOVATION

No one in the industry today has more years of electric center pivot experience than Reinke Manufacturing Company. And no one has pioneered more engineering "firsts" in the development of the center pivot. Many of the Reinke innovations have been incorporated as "standard items" by other leading irrigation manufacturers, including V-Jack supports, rubber tires and worm gear drive.

Patented Reinke innovations include the unique Energy Saver Packages* option which makes the Reinke Swing Arm Corner System the only practical corner system. It allows water and chemicals to be applied evenly, circle times to be reduced by one-third and eliminates pumping peaks regardless of the Swing Arm's position.

Reinke even offers optional solid state controls for "state-of-the-art" alignment control. To find out why Reinke technology and reliability should be your first choice for irrigation, give us a call today.

Auditions set this afternoon

Auditions for places in the Hereford Chamber Singers will begin at 2 p.m. today in the First United Methodist Church.

Persons interested in singing with the community group are encouraged to attend the audition session. Several members of the Chamber Singers function as an audition committee.

All voice ranges will be heard during the afternoon.

Rehearsals of the Chamber Singers will begin at 8 p.m. today in the Hereford High School choir room.

Lodge plans memorial service

A memorial service was planned when members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met Tuesday evening with 11 members present.

The service will be held for Maude Risinger, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of New Mexico. It is scheduled at 7 p.m. Sept. 28 at the lodge. All friends are invited to attend.

Noble Grand Leona Sowell presided over the business meeting as reports were made; 23 visits to the sick; 24 cheer cards; eight dishes of food; and four flowers.

Faye Brownlow served as hostess to Sowell, Rosalie Northcutt, Irene Merritt, Sadie Shaw, Tony Irlbeck, Marie Harris, Verna Sowell, Lydia Hopson, Ben Conklin and Susie Cutsinger.

Get most out of leather garments

Leather is one of this fall's hottest looks, but you don't have to break the bank to look stylish.

Here are some tips about how to get the most from your leather dollars:

-Look at the leather itself. Leather is a natural product, so part of its characteristic is that no two pieces are identical in look, color or feel. However, color matching should be consistent; any scratches or marks should be on the lower panels and less visible parts of the garment.

-Check the hardware. You want one that zips smoothly, without snagging. Brass zippers are generally better than steel, as they won't rust. Snaps and buttons should be examined for ease of use and how securely they are attached to the garment.

-Pay attention to construction. Stitching should be straight and even. Both sides of collars and bottoms should lay even. Seams should lay flat and not buckle.

-If buying a jacket or coat, consider one with a zip-out lining. The cost of a jacket with a removable liner may be more than a regular jacket, but it will extend the wearability of your garment.

-Fit—in sportswear, such as leather pants and skirts, the fit should be slightly snug, as the leather will "give" and form to the body, such like a pair of jeans.

Annual benefit gala scheduled

The Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Cancer Society is hosting its fifth annual Taste of the Southwest benefit planned for 7 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 18, in the banquet room of the Hereford Community Center. The evening's festivities will include a variety of food from local restaurants, live entertainment, a style show and a silent auction. Several door prizes will be awarded and a raffle will be held for a bronze sculpture, "Love's Full Measure," created by Andy Wilks. For those who would like to be included on the invitation list, call Amy Gililland at 364-3717 or Carolyn Baxter at 364-4546. Planning the event are ACS board members: Nicky Walker, DSC unit president; Richard Ottesen, silent auction chairman; and Adam Treff, who will serve as co-emcee along with Joe Weaver.

BY BEVERLY HARDER

Eating right may give you just the winning edge you've been seeking. But like athletic training, you've got to do it every day, not just the day of the competition.

On the day of an athletic contest, you should eat at least five hours before participation, especially if it's a large meal. However, a meal high in carbohydrates can be digested quickly, so it can be eaten up to three hours before game time.

Dehydration can be a problem during athletic events that also can be helped by a good pre-game meal. A few glasses of liquid at this time may prevent the loss of stamina and strength due to dehydration. During the contest, special types of drinks aren't needed. Their sugar content might even add to your dehydration. All you need are a few drinks of water to keep you going.

Smart athletes understand the importance of beginning their good training habits early, and sticking with them to get the best results. Eating right for competition is part of their training and contributes to their winning edge. It could help you be a winner too.

THE WEIGHT LOSS DIARY

"Dear Diary, if I tell you: my eating goals, how I spent my day, what exercise I got, exactly what I ate, where and why, will you help me lose weight."

Chances are, it will. A food diary can help you understand why you eat what you eat, especially when it isn't done for nutritional value. By recording your feelings when you eat for the sake of eating, you can get to the real reasons behind using food to fulfill your emotional needs.

Tips on avoiding stings

Stinging insects are most aggressive in the late summer and early fall when nests are crowded and food supplies are dwindling. Here are some sensible tips on how to avoid being stung.

-Don't drink out of open soda cans, which may harbor stinging insects that sting the throat - perhaps repeatedly - if they are swallowed.

-Avoid picnic areas.

-Keep clear of garbage cans. That's where yellow jackets and hornets tend to congregate.

-Don't wear bright colors or clothes with floral patterns.

-Remember that perfume, hairspray, cologne and scented deodorants attract stinging insects.

-Don't go barefoot.

If you suspect you have had an allergic reaction to an insect sting, consult an allergist for an evaluation.

MRS. JIM NED SWINK
...nee Alison LeAnn Lookingbill

Lookingbill, Swink wedding vows recently exchanged

Alison LeAnn Lookingbill and Jim Ned Swink, both of Dimmitt, exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon, Aug. 14, in the Riviera Wedding Chapel in Las Vegas Nev.

The bride is the daughter of Fred and Sandy Lookingbill of Summerfield and the bridegroom is the son of Linda Swink of Stanton and Ivy and Kay Swink of Aspermont.

Presented in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a traditional ivory satin wedding gown. It was fashioned with an off-the-shoulder neckline, French puffed sleeves and a fitted bodice completely encrusted with beads. The lower back of the gown was accented by a large designer bow, and beads also trimmed the front and back of the skirt.

A bridal illusion veil of tulle and net formed a pouf at the crown of a hat covered with satin and embellished with miniature pearls and beadwork. She also wore diamond earrings belonging to her mother and a diamond ring belonging to her great-grandmother.

The bride carried an arrangement of ivory roses adorned with trailing greenery and emerald green ribbon.

Wedding guests were served barbecue and cake at the reception and dance held Aug. 28 at the V.F.W. in Dimmitt.

The couple resides in Dimmitt. The bride graduated in 1989 from Hereford High School and is a nursing student at Amarillo College. She is a May 1994 candidate for graduation.

The groom graduated from Aspermont High School and is employed by Rafter 3 Feedyard.

Bereavement support group being formed

A bereavement and support group will be offered in Hereford beginning at 6 p.m. Monday in the Blue Room of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

The three-session seminar, also offered Sept. 20 and Sept. 27 at the Senior Citizens Center, is sponsored by the Texas Hospice. It is designed to help persons who have experienced the death of a loved one in the last two years.

The purpose of the seminar is to provide help for persons to work through their grief at the loss of a loved one.

There is no charge for the seminar.

September displayer

Lane Ortiz, 17, was chosen as one of the September displayers at Deaf Smith County Library. He is exhibiting his collection of antique books.

Tickets available for musical

"Kismet", an Arabian Nights fantasy musical, is the season opener for Amarillo Opera at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 17-18 at the Amarillo College Concert Hall Theater. It will also be staged at 2:30 p.m. Sept. 19.

Popular actor-singer Gene Murray (Uncle Henry in "TEXAS" for 27 years) fills the principal roll of Hajj, the beggar/poet. Artistic Director Mila Gibson has also cast Brenda Lintner as the Hajj's daughter Marsinah, Jerry Perales as the Caliph, Pamela Trash Horne as the sexy Lalume and Kelly Teal as the wicked Wazir.

Nancy and Bob Josseland, Amarillo Opera/Bravo! coordinators for Hereford, say that all seats for the popular show are priced at $7.50 and that they will take orders for them effective immediately.

Tickets may also be purchased at the Amarillo College Box Office, AC Fine Arts Commons Lobby, according to Box Office Manager Carolyn Blackburn. They may be obtained from 1-5 p.m. and one hour before the performances.

Lee Kendle is music director/conductor. Dancers of the Lone Star Ballet, under the direction of Neil Hess, are guest artists for the production. A 40-member chorus directed by Joan Weber and an orchestra made up of Amarillo Symphony members provide the musical setting for "Kismet." William A. Moore, "TEXAS" founding director, serves as dialogue coach.

Make family life more fun

When it comes to family reunions, fun can be relative. In fact, many say, the more relatives the more fun.

Here are helpful tips on the best ways to get everyone together so they can relax, have fun, catch up on old friendships and create new ones:

Selecting the best date and location is often the hardest part...especially if your relatives live all over the country. Start planning early—consult each family group, check vacation plans and work schedules...form a consensus on the timing and location. Keep travel needs in mind...and pick a central location that's convenient for everyone.

Entertaining the whole family can, but doesn't have to be, expensive. Keep it affordable by letting everyone bring or prepare their favorite dishes...chicken, hot dogs and hamburgers are tasty and convenient, and great for the kids. Also, have plenty of thirst-quenching beverages for after sports and games, especially iced tea.

For activities, find out what people like to do, and encourage different sports and games. The important thing: get everyone involved. Try a talent show. It can be very funny...and don't forget to bring your camera.

To sum up: Plan early, make a list of family members, send postcards with location and date...and have a fallback in case it rains. Get other relatives involved in the planning. And, cut costs by preparing and serving economical and healthier foods and beverages that everyone will enjoy.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

OWED TO THE FARMER

The following letter was allegedly sent to the Secretary of Agriculture by a would-be farmer from Arkansas a few weeks ago.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

My neighbor told me he had just received a $5,000 check from the government for not milking cows this year. I would like to get into the milking cows business also. Could you please answer some questions for me about the not milking cows program?

First, I'd like to know what kind of cows are the best kind not to milk? I would prefer not to milk Holsteins, but if they are not the best breed not to milk, I'll gladly not milk Jerseys or Guernseys.

My neighbor said his $5,000 was for not milking 20 cows. If I don't milk 40 head will I get $10,000? I would be willing to start by not milking 10 head. The $2,500, along with my Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) money, will let me make my farm payment this year.

Speaking of CRP, another neighbor said he was going to get an extra check for not cutting this CRP hay this year. If I don't cut my CRP hay and if I don't feed it to the cow's I'm not milking, can I get an extra check too?

I look forward to your prompt reply. This looks like a good year to get started not milking cows.

Yours Respectfully,
(Name Withheld)

Almost true

There is another story going around that a Federal prosecutor is bringing child abuse charges against an Illinois farm couple. They apparently willed the family farm to their children.

In Missouri last month, I heard a tale about a farmer who went to the hardware store every day and bought a dozen hammers. The store owner could not contain his curiosity and asked the farmer what he was doing with all of those hammers. The farmer who appeared embarrassed, admitted that he was selling them door-to-door to earn extra money. The store owner, who hated to miss any profit, asked how much the farmer was charging for the hammers. "Eight dollars each," the farmer replied. "You pay me $10 for the hammers," the store owner exclaimed. "Man, you're losing $2 on every hammer you sell!" "I know," admitted the farmer, "but it sure beats farming."

A serious salute

Now before any of you who don't know me very well jump to false conclusions, I am not making fun of farmers. I grew up on a dairy farm and spent my first 21 years ankle-deep in used alfalfa. My best friends, and many of the business men and women I respect the most are farmers.

I admire them because they maintain their optimism and sense of humor despite all that happens to them. In the past 20 years our farmers have faced record droughts and floods, vigorous global competition, wildly fluctuating government programs and interest rates, increased environmental pressures and low commodity prices. Notwithstanding all of that, our farmers are still feeding the world.

The average U.S. farmer feeds 94 people in the U.S., plus another 34 people overseas. Our agricultural work force represents just three tenths of one percent of the world's agricultural work force. However, by being productive, our farmers create nearly 13 percent of the world's agricultural commodities by value.

To all of you who feed the rest of us, I say thank you. I salute you who bring us the wonderful food products that enhance our health and quality of life. May God grant you a planter's spring, a grower's summer a harvester's fall and a stockman's winter. If I ever gripe about government farm programs, I'll try not to complain with my mouth full.

You may write to Don Taylor in care of "Minding Your Own Business," Box 67, Amarillo, Texas 79105.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is in response to the letter from "Bellevue, Wash.," whose 73-year-old grandfather is taking a number of medications and seeing several doctors. "Bellevue" was concerned about Grandpa's use of multiple medications for his heart condition as well as his severe depression and periods of disorientation.

This is a very serious problem that needs more attention. Thirty-six million Americans 60 years of age and older are taking one or more prescription medicines. More than half are not taking their prescription medicines correctly. Different dosage schedules can be confusing, easy to forget and inconvenient. Moreover, combining several medications increases the potential for adverse drug reactions.

The National Council on Patient Information and Education (NCPPIE) believes that better communication is the key to solving this problem. Please tell your readers to ask the following questions and get the answers about their prescription medications:

1. What is the name of the medicine, and what is it suppose to do?
2. How and when do I take it--and for how long?
3. What foods, drinks, other medicines or activities should I avoid while taking this medicine?
4. Are there any side effects, and what do I do if they occur?
5. Will this new medicine work safely with the other medicines I am taking?
6. Is there any written information available about the medicine I'm taking?
6. Is there any written information available about the medicine I'm taking?

Physicians, pharmacists and nurses will be happy to counsel patients about their medications if they ask. Please, Ann, let them know.--Paul G. Rogers, chairman, NCPPIE

DEAR PAUL: You've let them know, and I thank you. Your letter could make a great deal of difference to millions of senior citizens. I appreciate your taking the time to write.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 60 and single, and I have been a schoolteacher for 35 years. I've been dating a 65-year-old widower since last September. He wants to marry me but has already made it clear that:

He will leave me 10 percent of his assets while his three daughters will receive 30 percent each. He expects me to fund my own checking account.

We've looked at some condos, and he expects me to put up one-half the downpayments.

I must pay my own income tax. I must pay for my own medical insurance.

He's a nice man, but I always dreamed of a marriage in which I would be taken care of completely. What do you think about this?--"Ms. Chips" in Miami

DEAR MS. Chips: If you've been teaching for 35 years, you should have some savings and retirement money. If you care about this man, you should not balk at the idea of sharing part of the financial load.

It would be a shame to pass up an opportunity to have a nice, compatible companion in the evening of your life. I urge you to rethink this situation.

Gem of the Day: Experience is what you get when you don't get what you want.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A man who runs a full-service gas station in the most affluent section of our town is a self-proclaimed Lothario. He is good-looking and has a very smooth manner.

A married friend of mine became involved with "Lothario" and went to a counselor to deal with this guilt-producing affair. She discovered, to her amazement, that several other women were seeing the same counselor about the same man.

Apparently, the guy was making mid-afternoon "service calls" to several lonely housewives and had proposed marriage to at least three of them. One woman was almost ready to leave her husband for this lying snake, but thank goodness she went for counseling and learned about the others.

Maybe if you print this, some of the women who are being taken in will recognize this Manipulative Mississippi Mechanic.--Five Alarm Warning

DEAR WARNING: Men like "Lothario" are operating not only in the South, but also in the North, East and West. Sooner or later, one of the women learns about the others, and the party's over. Your letter could open a lot of eyes out there. Thanks for writing.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Annual festival scheduled

FOOD LOVERS DIET

To introduce a new approach to dieting, free samples were given to 50 people. With The Omicron Diet, one man lost 14 pounds in 5 days and one woman lost 18 pounds in 10 days. The average weight loss was over a pound a day for women and over 2 pounds a day for men. The Omicron Diet is a revolutionary new concept for unbelievably fast weight loss developed and clinically proven by National Dietary Research of Washington, D.C. This significant breakthrough in metabolic weight control was made possible by the utilization of biological information over-looked by other diet programs. With a formulation of natural enzymes along with real food, you shed unwanted pounds extremely rapidly and safely. Now available:

Between The Covers

By REBECCA WALLS

Football, America's favorite sport, has begun its TV domination for another season. For football fans everywhere, Turning the Thing Around: Pulling America's team out of the Dumps and Myself out of the Doghouse by Jimmy Johnson, is the book for you. "Turning the Thing Around" is the story of Jimmy Johnson's life in football; the play-by-play, behind the scenes story of the turnaround of the Cowboys; and a frank look at the players and coaches Johnson has worked with over the years.

Shannon Keffe knew her father lived at Ardnarnam, the once grand ancestral estate located in the green hills of Connemara, Ireland. Ardnarnam no longer held the annual hunts and lavish balls but it was still full of life. Shannon was living in New York when she receives the disturbing news of her father's apparent suicide. Shannon hopes by returning to Ardnarnam she will discover the truth surrounding her father's death. Upon her arrival Shannon is greeted by Maudie, the eighty year old mistress of the Big House. Determined to help the young girl, Maudie begins to tell the family history as she knew it. As the history unfolds Shannon learns many family secrets such as the impetuous Lily Molyneux who had been banished from Ardnarnam after a rape resulting in her pregnancy. Lily had traveled to America and found a palace for herself among Boston's society. Shannon begins to wonder if her father's death was the result of suicide, or could it have been murder? To find out you will have to read Legacy of Secrets by Elizabeth Adler.

My Thomas: A Novel of Martha Jefferson's Life by Roberta Grimes recreates Martha Jefferson's journal to reveal our third President through the eyes of the woman who loved him. The careful research reveals a man of contradiction that wrote all men are equal and have a right to liberty, when he owned numerous slaves. An aristocrat, Thomas came to champion the cause of the common man. He was a man that didn't care much for public service, but gave it more than half of his life. When Martha Wayles Skelton met Thomas Jefferson he was a rising lawyer and legislator, she was a 22 year old widow who had vowed never to marry again. The beautiful, educated and playful Martha was able to match Thomas in mind and spirit and became his greatest love. When they married in 1772 the rebellion was raging and the Jeffersons began their 10 year struggle to build Monticello. In 1781 Jefferson resigns from politics but returns a year later following Martha's death. Robert Grimes has "painted a wonderfully realistic portrait of colonial America" revealing the relationships between the races and sexes.

Attack of the Seawolf by Michael Dimercurio is set in the not to distant future, the underground Chinese democratic movement has become strong enough to militarily challenge the established government. As the Civil War begins all foreign journalists are expelled, and because the satellite intelligence is inconclusive a covert monitor is sent to the Gulf of V. The U.S.S. "Tampa" is captured by hard-line-Chinese forces and the new state of the art submarine U.S.S. Seawolf sets to recover the Tampa. Captain Michael "Patch" Pacino must use all of his ingenuity, equipment and experience to avoid detection and recapture the Tampa to rescue its commander, his Annapolis roommate.

Red Cross Update

BY BETTY HENSON

The board of directors will meet at noon Thursday at the Red Cross office to discuss the rechartering process.

Special thanks to Benny Womble who is repairing bikes for the Christmas Toys Program. Extra special thanks to Lloyd Webster for providing carpet for flood victims.

The United Way kick-off for the fund raising campaign will be conducted at the Fun Breakfast Thursday. All volunteers are invited to attend. Cost of the breakfast is $5

Humorous speech winner

Members of the Hereford Toastmasters Club met recently for their Humorous Speech Contest. Ed Gilbert won first place for his speech titled "Toastmasters Through New Members' Eyes." He is being congratulated by member, Margaret Del Toro.

Fall gardens topic of program

Phyllis Brown presented a program on fall garden and yard maintenance and how to treat diseased foliage when members of the Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Thursday at the Hereford Garden Center for their first meeting of the new club year.

Roll call was answered with "what I did to improve my yard and alley this summer."

New yearbooks were reviewed and plans were made for the zone meeting to be held Nov. 3 at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

The conservation series, given by Brown, concerned how to make a compost pile. She also told of the benefits a gardener gets from recycling leaves, clippings, etc.

Get-well wishes were written and mailed to Ursalee Jacobsen.

Members present were Pauline Mandina, Wilma Bryan, Brown, Naomi Hare and Patricia Robinson.

Members of the Bippus Extension Homemakers Club recently toured the Coral Reef and then enjoyed a salad luncheon in the home of Zoddie Betts.

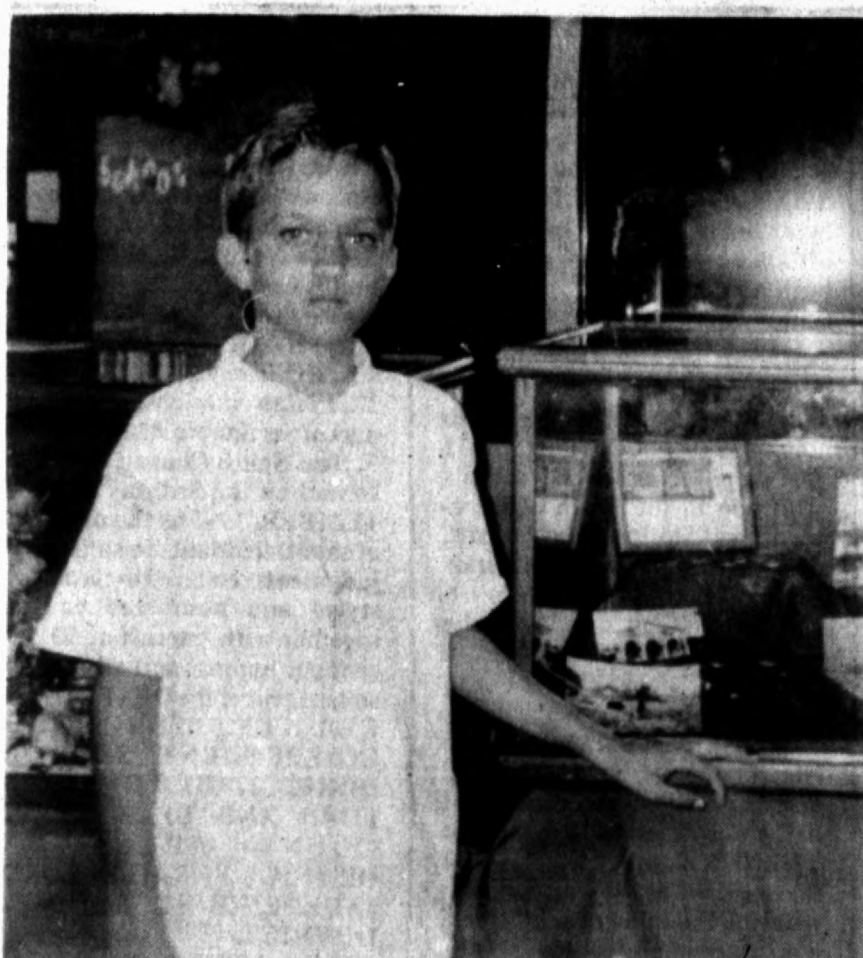

During the business meeting, members discussed a farewell reception to honor Corda Glover and a luncheon Sept. 25 to hear state delegates' reports.

Following the meeting, members toured the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum.

The next club meeting will be held at Christine Larsen's home.

Attending were the hostess, and members: Kate Fortenberry, Alta Mae Higgins, Juanita Koetting, Marielen Homfeld, Sue Thweatt and Lou Hall. Visitors were Donna Smith and Haegen Lewis.

Displayer of the month

The staff at Deaf Smith County Library has selected 13-year-old Michael Hall as one of the September displayers of the month. He is exhibiting items from the Holy Land.

— YOUR EYES —

BABY LEARNS TO SEE

Babies can see almost at birth, but it takes a while for them to learn how to do it right. At first, a baby may use one eye at a time — or both, each looking at a different object. It may be a month before the infant is able to direct both eyes at the same object.

At first they focus on objects that are close, actually moving the head to follow movement. Eventually, the child learns to move the eyes as a team instead of moving the head. By a year, binocular vision should be pretty well established; neither eye should be wandering in, out, up or down by itself.

To "exercise" those new eye muscles, many parents provide a mobile above a crib, or soft toys that baby can reach for. Every time you bring the baby to another room, or outdoors, you provide it with more to look at.

If either eye seems to wander after a year, see your eye professional promptly. Early treatment is most effective.

Spielberg to Superman, fall fare brings adventure

Dean Cain ("Beverly Hills, 90210") plays the Man of Steel and Teri Hatcher co-stars as Lois Lane in ABC's "Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman." Premiering Sunday, "Lois & Clark" is one of 34 new series offerings for network viewers this fall.

BY SCOTT WHITE

With offerings including Westerns, comedy, romance and undersea adventure, the fall 1993 season is sure to have something for everyone.

SUNDAY

Fox counts a pair of roommate sitcoms among its Sunday offerings: "Living Single," about a quartet of young women headed by rapper Queen Latifah; and "Daddy Dearest," starring Don Rickles and Richard Lewis as father-and-son housemates.

A trio of new shows bows Sunday, Sept. 12, beginning with Robert Townsend's variety show "Townsend Television" on Fox. NBC offers the underwater adventure "seaQuest DSV," with Roy Scheider. ABC mixes adventure with romance in "Lois & Clark: The New Adventures of Superman," starring Dean Cain and Teri Hatcher.

MONDAY

The only new show to grace a Monday lineup is CBS' "Dave's World," beginning Sept. 20, in which "Night Court" favorite Harry Anderson plays popular humorist Dave Barry.

TUESDAY

NBC's favorite Saturday morning kids go prime-time in "Saved By The Bell: The College Years." Also new to NBC is "The John Larroquette Show," starring the "Night Court" actor as a recovering alcoholic.

On Sept. 14, "Phenom" premieres on ABC, starring William Devane as coach of a tennis prodigy (Angela Goethals). Also, the police comedy-drama "Bakersfield P.D.," starring Giancarlo Esposito and Ron Eldard, debuts on NBC. Finally, ABC's controversial "NYPD Blue" hits the streets Tuesday, Sept. 21.

WEDNESDAY

Bronson Pinchot stars in CBS' "The Trouble With Larry" as a jungle explorer returning to society. CBS' "The Nanny," debuting Oct. 27, features Fran Drescher as a Manhattan, N.Y., kid wrangler. Also on CBS, Glenn Frey stars in the detective drama "South of Sunset" (debut date TBA).

ABC's "Thea" stars Thea Vidale as a struggling single mother. Two more ABC family comedies, "Joe's Life," starring Peter Onorati as a blue-collar father, and "Grace Under Fire," featuring Brett Butler as a down-to-earth mother, begin later in the season.

THURSDAY

On ABC, Daniel J. Travanti stars in the police drama "Missing Persons." On CBS, James Brolin and Kim Cattrall head the serial drama "Angel Falls." Sept. 16 brings Fox's "The Sinbad Show" and NBC's "Cheers" spin-off, "Frasier," with Kelsey Grammer.

FRIDAY

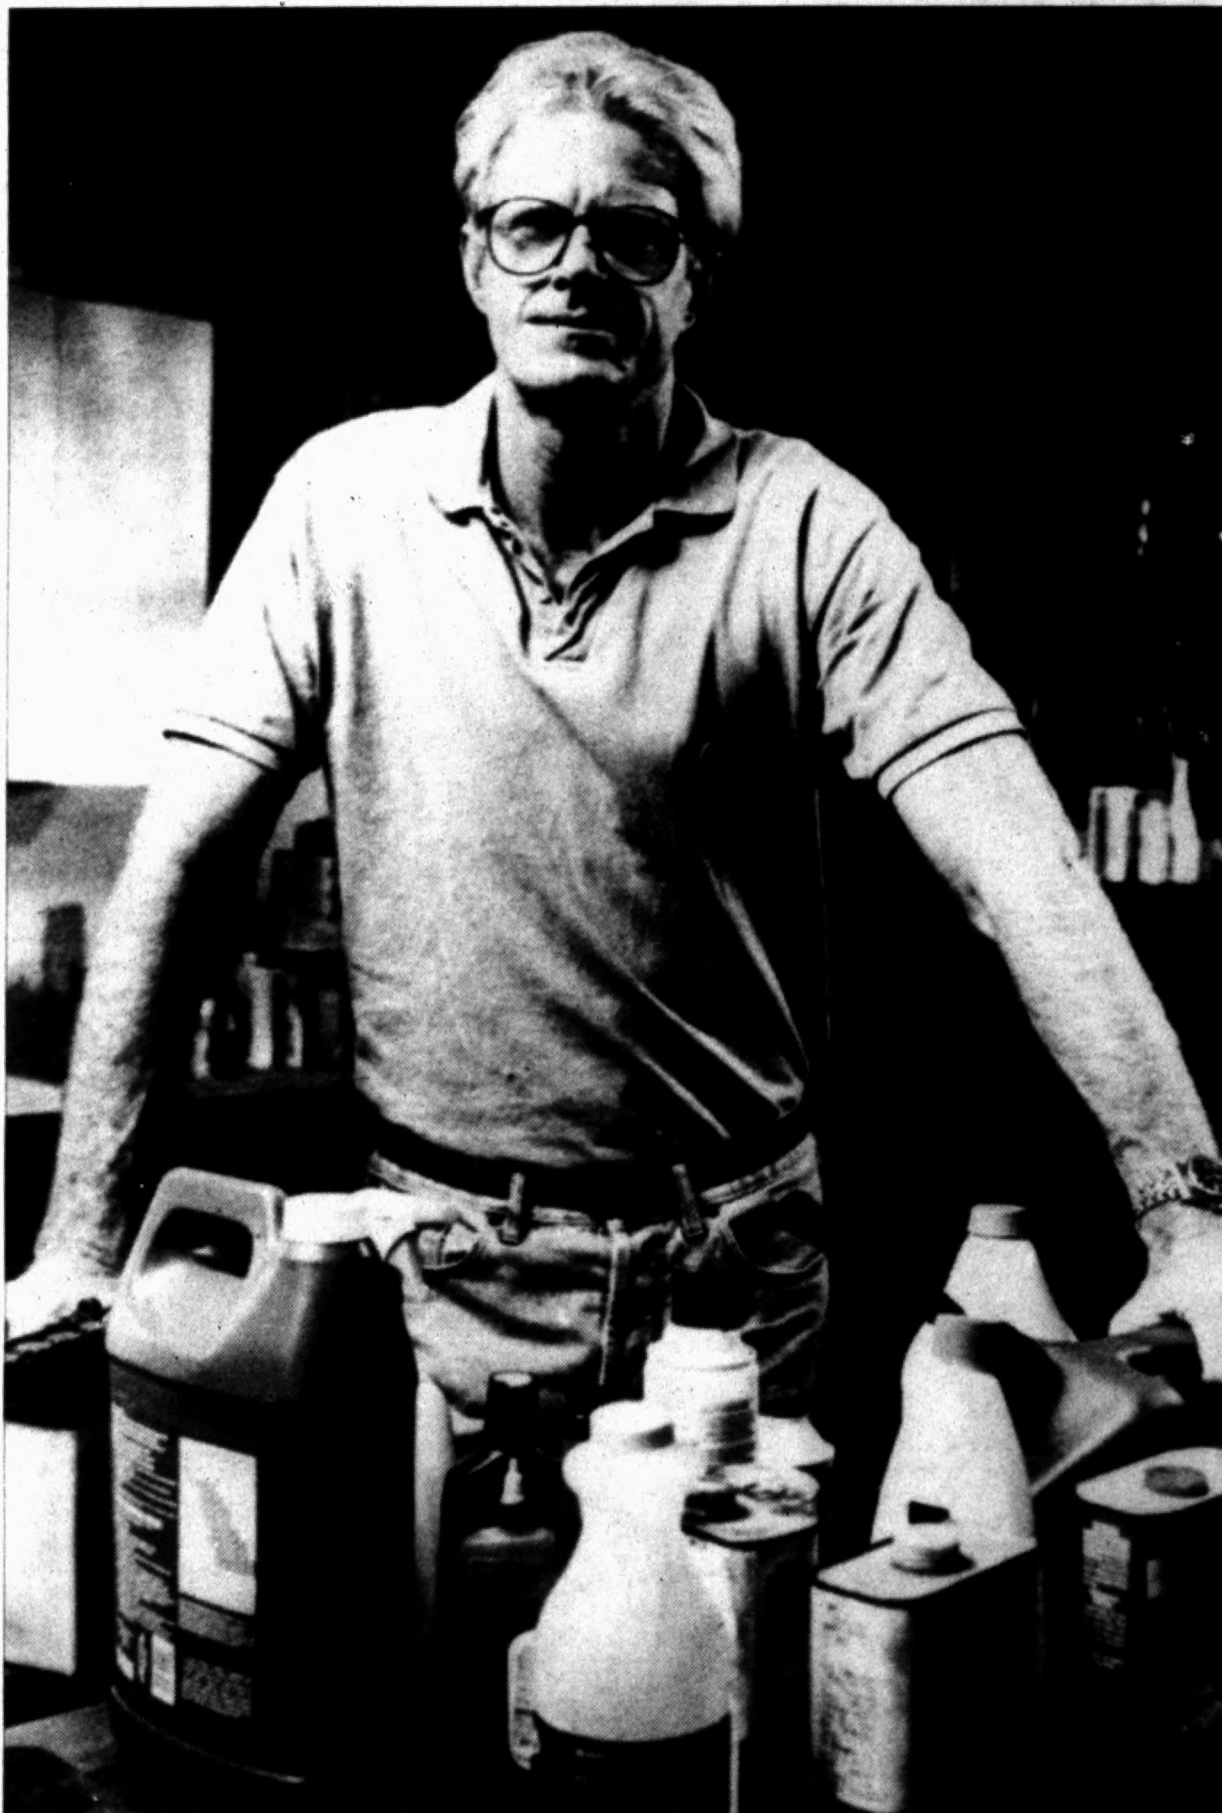

"The Adventures of Brisco County, Jr." and "The X-Files" have already joined the Fox lineup. Beginning Sept. 19, Faye Dunaway and Robert Urich star in the romantic comedy "It Had to Be You" on CBS.

PBS special takes a hard look at household trash

Ed Begley Jr. serves as the host for 'Your Toxic Trash,' an entertaining and enlightening new PBS special on the growing problem of household hazardous waste. The half-hour quiz program airs Wednesday, Sept. 15, and gives viewers answers on the proper disposal of their toxic garbage.

BY CANDACE HAVENS

In the next year, Americans will drain enough used motor oil from cars, boats and lawn mowers to equal the volume spilled in the infamous Exxon Valdez disaster nine times over. In addition, federal law allows homeowners to throw away the same chemicals that factories must send to special hazardous waste facilities. Beneath homeowners' sinks and in their garages products are stored side by side that could erupt in flames if mixed.

Hazardous household items are the focus of an eye-opening PBS special, "Your Toxic Trash," airing Wednesday, Sept. 15. Host Ed Begley Jr. guides viewers through an eight-question quiz about items they use in their homes every day.

Because it is too difficult for the government to enforce hazardous waste laws against consumers, dangerous situations for the environment, garbage collectors and homeowners themselves are commonplace.

"We live in an age of chemical convenience," says Begley, illustrating his point with labor-saving compounds ranging from pesticides and cleaning products to antifreeze, paint and swirling pool chlorine. "The problem is that people throw away unused portions of household chemicals rather than taking them to the proper place for disposal."

Begley is an environmental purist who drives an electric car, relies on solar power at his California home and sits on the boards of nearly a dozen environmental groups.

The half-hour show offers viewers environmentally sound tips for the purchase, use and disposal of hazardous household products and gives alternatives to these products.

In suburban Seattle "Your Toxic Trash" visits America's first mobile household hazardous waste collection center. The Wastemobile, a specially constructed trailer, moves to a new site every two weeks, allowing homeowners to dispose of their toxic trash safely and learn how to use non-toxic household products.

At the University of Arizona at Tucson, anthropologist/archaeologist William Rathje has presided over the Garbage Project for 20 years. With the help of his students, Rathje has sifted through more than 250,000 pounds of household trash. His work provides a new perspective on the dangerous products homeowners throw out each day. Batteries, cleaning fluids, paints and pesticides are among the hazardous items Rathje sees daily in city landfills. "Every home is virtually a small Times Beach or Love Canal," Rathje says.

A small amount of chlorine mixed with brake fluid can result in a fiery explosion, yet most consumers are unaware of their deadly potential. "It is important for consumers to understand that just because it says 'non-toxic' doesn't mean it really is," says Begley. "Non-toxic means it is not harmful to the consumer if used properly, but it could still contain toxic materials." Nail polish, flea powder and even some prescription medicines contain toxic materials and can be dangerous when placed with other trash.

"The best advice seems to be to buy non-hazardous products when you can; buy only what you need to do the job; read the labels; and if you must throw out something toxic, do so in a responsible way," says Begley. "It seems as though this is an overwhelming problem, but it is one we can solve if everyone does their part."

STAR NOTES

Higgins brings Holmes into 20th century

BY MICHAEL SCOGIN

Englishman Anthony Higgins takes unbridled pleasure in tackling the role of Sherlock Holmes, Arthur Conan Doyle's master sleuth, in CBS' "Sherlock Holmes Returns," airing Sunday, Sept. 12.

"It's an absolute gift of a part," says Higgins. "He's arguably one of the most famous characters in the whole of literature. Basically it's a feast for an actor, a banquet. He's a showoff, he's a magician, he fixes things."

"Sherlock Holmes Returns" finds the detective bored with the 19th century after the capture of his nemesis, Moriarty. A meeting with H.G. Wells introduces Holmes to cryogenics, and after 95 years he wakes to find himself in modern-day San Francisco, hot on the trail of a descendent of Moriarty with the help of Watson—a female California doctor (Debrah Farentino).

The TV movie takes advantage of Holmes' unlikely predicament to add humor and romance to the more traditional elements of the Doyle detective yarn.

Playing Holmes was a change of pace for Higgins, who starred as Moriarty in the 1985 feature film "Young Sherlock Holmes."

"Strangely enough, they're very similar characters," says Higgins. "They are aspects of the same kind of a soul, except one is the dark side, and the other is on the side of the angels."

U.S. Open wraps up Sunday on CBS

BY MICHAEL SCOGIN

After three weeks of intense battle on the hard, sometimes noisy courts of the National Tennis Center in Flushing Meadows, N.Y., only two players remain as CBS presents the men's final of the 25th anniversary year of the U.S. Open on Sunday, Sept. 12.

The two men who face off for the championship are the ones who have been at the top of their game and have adjusted best to the hard surface and airplane noise associated with Flushing Meadows. The conditions are an extreme contrast to Wimbledon's grass and the clay courts of the French Open.

"Most of the players like the court because it has a true bounce and good footing and it's not so fast that you can't defend," says Tony Trabert, CBS' tennis analyst for the past 23 years, himself a U.S. Open winner in 1953 and 1955. "Overall, it's a pretty fair situation. If you're attacking and hit a good shot, there's a reward, yet the surface isn't so fast that you can't stay on the baseline and defend."

Besides the court surface, players at the Open have to deal with the often distracting noise generated from airplanes taking off and landing at nearby LaGuardia Airport.

"You have to cope," says Trabert. "You have to make up your mind to be tough and block all that out. It's the same on both sides of the net."

Pink Panther ends silence

BY SCOTT WHITE

The old Southern adage, "If it ain't broke, don't fix it," comes to mind when viewing the disappointing new "Pink Panther" syndicated series, airing daily starting Monday, Sept. 13. (Check local listings.)

For the first time in the panther's 30-year history, he has a recurring voice. He spoke once in a theatrical short, but muteness has been his trademark throughout the beloved animated series.

Now he speaks. A lot. He grunts. He groans. He even thinks aloud. Viewers may feel they are being told each story twice, by both action and reaction.

Matt Frewer, best known for his role as Max Headroom, puts the words in the panther's mouth. When Frewer reads the lines, one almost expects to hear electronic stuttering between the character's phrases.

"(The producers) realized," says Frewer, "that it would open up a lot more possibilities if he was able to react vocally to things."

That may be so, but fans also must endure a substantial loss of the subtlety of gesture and implication that made the "Pink Panther" cartoons so highly regarded in the first place.

Publicity for the show claims "the Pink Panther, of course, maintains his suave, debonair Cary Grant persona."

It's doubtful, however, that one of Grant's first words as an actor was a "Wayne's World"-ish "Cool!"

MOVIES ON TV

CBS movie carries warning; Haim becomes 'One of the Girls'

BY BRETT ALAN BOBO

The first network movie to receive a viewer-discretion warning due to its violent content, "Distant Cousins," airs Tuesday, Sept. 14, on CBS. Mel Harris and David Keith star in the mystery about a family menaced by a cousin and his girlfriend, who've escaped from a mental institution.

In "Sherlock Holmes Returns," the supersleuth awakens after nearly a century of hibernation to investigate a series of brutal murders in 20th-century San Francisco. The made-for-TV movie, airing Sunday, Sept. 12, on CBS, stars Anthony Higgins ("Raiders of the Lost Ark") and Debrah Farentino ("The Garry Shandling Show").

Monday, Sept. 13, "Just One of the Girls," airing on Fox, features Corey Haim dressed as a schoolgirl to avoid a bully. Nicole Eggert co-stars. For the second week in a row, NBC offers a movie based on a book by Danielle Steel. Titled "Secrets," the drama focuses on the cast and producer of a TV series and stars Christopher Plummer and Stephanie Beacham.

Cable TV has several noteworthy films. Tuesday, TNT offers back-to-back Henry Fonda movies: "The Best Man" and "The Wrong Man." Wednesday, Sept. 15, Jack Coleman ("Dynasty") plays a masseur accused of murder in the premiere of the USA Network movie "Rubdown." Michelle Phillips and William Devane co-star. The 1968 comedy/murder drama "No Way to Treat a Lady," starring Rod Steiger and Lee Remick, airs on American Movie Classics.

On Friday, Sept. 17, "The Awakening Land" concludes on NBC. Two Woody Allen/Diane Keaton comedies -- "Sleeper" and "Manhattan" -- air consecutively on TNT.

A&E presents the fact-based drama "The Sugarland Express," Saturday, Sept. 18. The 1974 film marks Steven Spielberg's debut as a director and stars Goldie Hawn and Ben Johnson in the story of a fugitive couple fighting for their child. The 1940 version of "The Thief of Bagdad" airs on AMC.

'Bad Movies' makes return to TNT

BY JOHN CROOK

Stephen Rebello and Ed Margulies of Movieline magazine return as hosts of the second edition of "Bad Movies We Love," Saturday, Sept. 18, on TNT. This month's selection of wonderfully awful flicks includes "Parish," and "Rome Adventure" starring Troy Donahue, and "Claudelle Inglish" with Diane McBain.

Jack Coleman is reunited with his "Dynasty" sibling Catherine Oxenberg in "Rubdown," a made-for-USA murder mystery debuting Wednesday, Sept. 15. Michelle Phillips, William Devane and Alan Thicke co-star.

Fred Travalena is the host of "Baby Races," a new participation series debuting Sunday, Sept. 12, on The Family Channel. Monday, Sept. 13, brings another exquisitely animated Beatrix Potter story, "The Tale of Tom Kitten and Jemima Puddle-Duck."

A pair of animated series, "SWAT Kats: The Radical Squadron" and "2 Stupid Dogs," debut Sunday on TBS. Later that same day, Robert Duvall sweeps through the streets of Buenos Aires in search of great dancing in an episode of "National Geographic Explorer" entitled "Tango."

Nick at Nite features a week-long marathon of "The Bob Newhart Show," starting Monday. For those who can't keep their Newhart series straight, this is the vintage series co-starring Suzanne Pleshette.

Intruder in the Dust * (1950) Claude Jarman Jr., David Brian. A Mississippi attorney rounds up some people with a social conscience to deliver an innocent black man from the hands of an angry lynch mob. 1:55. September 15 1:50am.

SOAP WORLD

Changes at 'Days' may spell doom

BY CANDACE HAVENS

There has been a great deal of speculation about the firing of Michael Sabatino (Lawrence) and Matthew Ashford (Jack) from "Days of Our Lives" and the reason why Crystal Chappell (Carly) was leaving.

Chappell acknowledged that she had wanted to leave the show for some time and was happy to go. But Sabatino and Ashford have gone on record saying they did not want to leave. Sabatino had a year left on his contract and wanted to fulfill it. Ashford was ready to renegotiate another contract, but executives of "Days" decided to take the show in a different direction.

Viewers who have watched soaps for a while know what that means -- a major story overhaul. Can "Days" really stand more changes? Has the show's top brass made a decision that will surely mean its downfall? Only time will tell, but things are not looking good.

"Days" had been foundering in the ratings for some time. It looked as though things were picking up last spring, and then this happened. In an interview a few months ago, Jim Reilly (head writer, "Days") said, "I didn't want to come in and make major changes on the show. Fans don't like to see their favorite characters disappear." It makes one wonder what happened to make Reilly change his mind.

"Days" fans are extremely loyal, but they are angry about the latest changes. It would behoove the show's executives to stand up and take notice. Deidre Hall (Marlena) and Drake Hogestyn (John Black) are some of the most popular actors in daytime, but surely they cannot carry the soap opera alone. Chappell, Sabatino and Ashford brought a great deal to "Days," and they will be missed.

Remember "Santa Barbara" and "Generations," two NBC soaps that went through much the same thing "Days" is experiencing? Those shows are gone now. Can another talk show be far behind?

Why would a show that is obviously in so much trouble get rid of three of its favorite stars? It's suicide; viewers can place bets on that one.

NBC's 'Frasier' another round of 'Cheers' fun

BY JOHN CROOK

Dr. Frasier Crane may be going sleepless in Seattle, but Kelsey Grammer couldn't be happier that his TV character has found life after "Cheers." "I've reflected on that... and it's really cool," Grammer says. His new show, "Frasier," premieres Thursday, Sept. 16, on NBC.

"Cheers" fans will recall that Frasier's marriage to the formidable Dr. Lilith Sternin-Crane (Bebe Neuwirth) disintegrated during that series' last season. As the new series opens, Frasier has relocated to his hometown of Seattle and taken a job as a radio therapist. His brother, Niles (David Hyde Pierce of "The Powers That Be"), guilt-trips Frasier into opening his home to their crusty father, Martin (John Mahoney), an ex-cop wounded in the line of duty.

To help tend to Martin, Frasier hires a loopy Brit named Daphne Moon (Jane Leeves of "Murphy Brown"), who claims to be "a bit psychic." And then there's Eddie, Martin's eccentric little terrier, who can spend hours doing nothing but staring balefully at Frasier.

The pilot episode, directed by "Cheers" veteran James Burrows, bodes well for the new series: Dialogue is bright and snappy, and all four of the principal characters are sharply etched and vividly portrayed. In addition to bearing a startling physical resemblance to Grammer, Pierce has no peer when it comes to delivering throwaway lines. Leeves, who played Miles Silverberg's fiancée, Audrey, last season on "Murphy" (the character has been written out of that show, she says), makes a charming and daffy Daphne, and Mahoney is likable but cranky—Carla Tortelli with a cane and a Y chromosome.

"Frasier," however, will stand or fall by its title character, and Grammer remains the show's prize asset. Despite his highly publicized personal problems of late, he knows how to use his aristocratic voice and bearing to maximum comic effect. No one can invest an arched eyebrow with more disdain. Just ask Eddie.

Miss America pageant gets a brand new look

BY CANDACE HAVENS

After 75 years, Leonard Horn believes Miss America needs a new face -- the pageant, that is. How does one change the look of a show that has remained virtually the same for so long?

As executive producer of the "Miss America 1993 Pageant" airing Saturday, Sept. 18, on NBC, Horn began addressing the challenge by bringing in Jeff Margolis, whose directorial credits include the Academy Awards and American Music Awards shows, to produce the pageant.

"The show is going to have a totally new look," says Margolis. "We have trashed the old sets and brought in Ray Klausen, who has a list of credits a mile long, to do new ones. We have brought in a new musical director, and we are working closely with Tommy Tune on the choreography."

Viewers will see a difference in the look of the contestants, as well. "The contestants will be doing their own hair and makeup," says Margolis. "There will be consultants on hand to help, but the women will be responsible for themselves."

Margolis said he wanted a more natural look for the women. "In the past, the contestants would show up at rehearsal in ponytails, sweat suits and no makeup, and they looked like 22- to 24-year-old women," says the producer. "Then the night of the pageant they show up looking like the Stepford wives, with their hair done and wearing evening gowns that made them look like they were 40 years old."

"This year we want the women to look like who they really are," continues Margolis. "We want the contestants to wear what they would to an evening function (even pantsuits). We are trying to create a warmth to the show and give it some heart and a much freer spirit."

Regis Philbin and Kathie Lee Gifford return as hosts for the event. "There will be changes in the way they approach the show and their relationship with Leanza (Cornett, the reigning Miss America)," says the director. "They will be taking a look back over the past year with Leanza and the many things she has done."
