Golden Rule Goes Back To School

Gold is the rule for school belles this fall, as the gold rush takes to the campus.

Gold jewelry, real or costume, the season's big news in high fashion circles, finds a natural affinity for school and college clothes, reports the Fashion Coordination Institute. Bold gold link chains in necklaces and bracelets team up with the new bulky sweaters for the biggest accessory news in and out of the Ivy League.

Gold pendant necklaces are new and right with either sweaters or shirts, and there are new versions of the classic gold pins—monogrammed discs or circles—beloved by all smart scholars. Enamelled gold heraldic shield pins are popular accents for the classic button-down shirts, worn centered just below the open collar.

Girls are wearing tie pins this fall, in strictly feminine versions. These are big, bold and worn on a solid-color four-in-hand tie, which is worn in turn with a plain Oxford shirt and leather-belted skirt.

The golden handcuffs share popularity honors with the scarab bracelet this fall. It's a plain gold wrist band engraved with name or initials-wide and flat, sometimes fastened with a jingle-bell clasp. In the same spirit are plain, wide gold rings, worn on the pinky finger. Both handcuffs and rings are favorite gifts when boy meets girl.

Gold bangle bracelets, worn in clusters of eight or a dozen, are joined this season by finger bangles in all colors, worn three at a time.

The Democratic Women's Organization sponsored the rally, attended by an estimated 400 persons.

John Connally, nominee for governor, said he was a "member of the building team, not the wrecking crew," and appealed for harmony.

Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, candidate for attorney general, also appealed for unity within the party.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—President Kennedy enjoyed the Labor Day weekend during which he had a family reunion and got in some sailing and swimming at Newport and at Hyannis Port, Mass. He returned to Washington today.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced Monday night the President expects to pass up a vacation this fall, because Congress still is in session and the 1962 election campaign is getting into full swing.

Salinger said the President will take off a few long weekends, one of which may stretch from Friday, Sept. 14, through the following Tuesday.

That Tuesday is primary day in Massachusetts. The President's younger brother, Edward M. Kennedy, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat. The President will make a side trip to Boston to vote.

QBC Meets Here Tonight

Snyder's Quarterback Club will hold its regular weekly session this evening at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria, with the primary attraction being the showing of a Texas Tech grid film from last season.

Club president Jack Hoffman has also stressed the fact that the arrival at "Pigskin Preview," in which all local football players are recognized, is set for this Thursday evening in Tiger Stadium. He urges all boys planning to take part in the preview to attend workouts and be issued uniforms for the yearly "dress review."

Meanwhile, plans for the Snyder-Midland High practice scrimmage have been finalized. That scrimmage will unfold here on the Tiger Stadium turf this Saturday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Horace Bestick's Snyder charges completed their two-day workout routine the past week, and observed a partial Labor Day holiday yesterday with only one evening session. It was held under the lights at Tiger Stadium. With the beginning of school today, the routine will settle down into standard one-a-day workouts.

Blancos Cops Tourney

MONROE, La. (AP)— Homero Blancos, the national collegiate champ from Houston, won the Cotton States Amateur Invitation Golf Tournament Monday with a 276.

He took the lead at the end of the second round and coasted home with a 68 and 72 for a five-stroke victory over teammate Fred Marti.

Roy Nash of Monroe carded a 263 for third. Burt Burdick and Pat O'Brien, both of Baton Rouge, and Roy Pace of Longview, Tex., tied for fourth with 285s.

Conference Teams Drill Intensively

By The Associated Press
Seven Southwest Conference schools resumed intensive football practice Monday while the coaches and squad members of the eighth—Southern Methodist University—attended the funeral service for their No. 1 center, Mike Kelsey.

Kelsey, a 20-year-old junior, died of what doctors said was an apparent heat stroke during a workout Saturday as conference schools began fall training. Doctors said death resulted from brain damage after his temperature soared to 110 degrees.

Coach Darrell Royal divided time between the Texas practice field and a hospital where sophomore guard Reggie Grob lay critically ill from a heat stroke similar to that suffered by Kelsey.

"Kidney complications have arisen and his case is much more critical," Royal said Monday night.

Doctors have been worried about the kidney malfunction that resulted from the heat stroke suffered Saturday. An artificial kidney has been used in treatment of Grob.

Royal put his Longhorns through a hard workout Monday but he called rest periods every 30 minutes to give each player eight ounces of water and a salt tablet.

Besides Grob, two other players were stricken less seriously Saturday. Royal said he believed they weren't getting enough salt.

Coach Hank Foldberg gave 14 of his Texas A&M squadmen new assignments as he unveiled a new defensive and offensive system.

Nine of the moves involved line positions, five the backfield.

The Aggies went through a lengthy pass offensive drill in the morning and devoted part of the afternoon to group contact work.

The offense ran circles around the defense as Coach Abe Martin turned his Texas Christian Horned Frogs loose for their first scrimmage. Quarterbacks Sonny Gibbs, Gray Mills and John Hulise demonstrated bulls-eye passing and halfback Jerry Jack Terrell and fullback Tommy Cretcher did some flashy running.

Coach John Bridges expressed satisfaction after putting the Baylor Bears through an intensive workout on defense. Kicking also was stressed. Bridges cited the punting of Ed James Ingram and Lawrence Elkins and the placekicking of end Carl Choate and fullback Tom Davis.

For the Texas Tech Red Raiders, two swimming pool dips were added to daily workouts. Coach J. T. King decided it would improve their performance on the gridiron. He watched the Raiders' initial full speed contact drill and called the showing "ragged."

"Even for a first session of contact, it looked bad," King said.

The Rice University Owls lost end Vic Anderson, a 175-pound sophomore from Waco, who said he was quitting football to devote full time to his studies. The remaining 71 players posed for visiting photographers as Rice held its annual press day, then staged a short but brisk workout.

Rain disrupted morning practice for the Arkansas Razorbacks but Coach Frank Broyles managed to put the squad through a full two-hour afternoon drill. Broyles said he was pleased there have been no injuries so far this fall and that injuries suffered last year by ends Tim Lanston and Brover Evans and guard Tommy Houser had healed completely.

All local and area men are invited to attend and join the Quarterback Club, which serves to boost Snyder athletics in numerous ways. A week from tonight, the Club will play host to a "family night," when Tiger gridders, along with their mothers and fathers, will be guests of the organization. The 1962 Texas-Mississippi Cotton Bowl film is to be released off at that time.

The Tigers are to touch off their 1962 season September 14 when they entertain the Andrews Mustangs at Tiger Stadium.

Reed Makes Third Round

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Happy-go-lucky Whitney Reed, the country's No. 1 tennis player, made an alarming discovery when he received his top ranking—you're not supposed to lose to anybody.

"And that," said Reed today, "put the pressure on me. You know, you get along the circuit and there are some guys you are expected to beat and others who are expected to beat you. But when you're No. 1, you'd better not get beaten by anyone."

Reed, who just turned 30, has had a horrible year—so bad that he wasn't even considered much less selected, for the Davis Cup team that lost to Mexico in the American zone finals last month.

He wasn't even seeded in the national championships. But he already has reached the third round along with all the favorites except fifth-seeded Fred Stolle of Australia, who dropped a 6-1, 6-6, 11-9 decision to Gordon Forbes of South Africa. Reed whipped Cliff Buchholz of St. Louis Monday, 6-3, 6-0, 7-5.

Now he runs into a toughie, Rafael Osuna, Mexican Davis Cupper, and No. 4 seed, who ousted Sweden's Ulf-Schmidt, 6-10, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Rod Laver, No. 1 and Roy Emerson, No. 2, the Australian Davis Cup twins, each had an easy assignment. Laver took care of Eduardo Zuleta of Ecuador, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1, and Emerson eliminated young Arthur Ashe Jr., of Richmond, Va., 6-2, 6-3, 6-0.

Chuck McKinley, of St. Ann, Mo., No. 3 and America's top hope for the title, whipped past Andrej Licis of Poland, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Reed said at least part of his problem was that he was over-tensioned after doing nothing but playing in tournaments for two years.

"I guess," he sighed, "it's about time I got a job. I've had a couple of offers and may go into the brokerage business. Then I'd have to cut down. I intended to taper off a little this year, but then when they gave me the No. 1 ranking, I tried to live up to it and played all over."

"What a record I made. I think I've played in about 24 tournaments since the first of the year. I won one, got to two other finals and one semifinal. The rest of the time I was lucky to get to the third round."

Doctors have been worried about the kidney malfunction that resulted from the heat stroke suffered Saturday. An artificial kidney has been used in treatment of Grob.

Royal put his Longhorns through a hard workout Monday but he called rest periods every 30 minutes to give each player eight ounces of water and a salt tablet.

Besides Grob, two other players were stricken less seriously Saturday. Royal said he believed they weren't getting enough salt.

Coach Hank Foldberg gave 14 of his Texas A&M squadmen new assignments as he unveiled a new defensive and offensive system.

Nine of the moves involved line positions, five the backfield.

The Aggies went through a lengthy pass offensive drill in the morning and devoted part of the afternoon to group contact work.

The offense ran circles around the defense as Coach Abe Martin turned his Texas Christian Horned Frogs loose for their first scrimmage. Quarterbacks Sonny Gibbs, Gray Mills and John Hulise demonstrated bulls-eye passing and halfback Jerry Jack Terrell and fullback Tommy Cretcher did some flashy running.

Coach John Bridges expressed satisfaction after putting the Baylor Bears through an intensive workout on defense. Kicking also was stressed. Bridges cited the punting of Ed James Ingram and Lawrence Elkins and the placekicking of end Carl Choate and fullback Tom Davis.

For the Texas Tech Red Raiders, two swimming pool dips were added to daily workouts. Coach J. T. King decided it would improve their performance on the gridiron. He watched the Raiders' initial full speed contact drill and called the showing "ragged."

"Even for a first session of contact, it looked bad," King said.

The Rice University Owls lost end Vic Anderson, a 175-pound sophomore from Waco, who said he was quitting football to devote full time to his studies. The remaining 71 players posed for visiting photographers as Rice held its annual press day, then staged a short but brisk workout.

Rain disrupted morning practice for the Arkansas Razorbacks but Coach Frank Broyles managed to put the squad through a full two-hour afternoon drill. Broyles said he was pleased there have been no injuries so far this fall and that injuries suffered last year by ends Tim Lanston and Brover Evans and guard Tommy Houser had healed completely.

Hustling Man Corners Rich Ruidoso Purse

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (AP)—It took four years and a lot of patience but J. B. Ferguson finally came up with a winner of the All-American Quarter Horse Futurity.

Ferguson's Hustling Man, 2-year-old son of former 350 and 400-yard world record holder Go Man Go, charged down the 400 yards in 20.3 seconds Monday at Ruidoso Downs and won the third richest horse racing purse in the United States.

Hustling Man's slice of the $22,850 purse was $8,425 and boosted his earnings to $101,071. The value of the race is exceeded only by two races for 2-year-old thoroughbreds—the Washington-Arlington Futurity which will be run Saturday at Arlington Park and the Garden State Stakes.

The colt was the fourth entry for Ferguson, an oil and cattle man from Wharton, Tex., since the event was inaugurated four years ago.

Tiny Charger, second by three-quarters of a length, picked up $42,427 and third place Bar Depth earned $34,713. All seven of the other starters figured in the purse down to $2,000 for 10th.

Pott got $5,400 for second place. Charlie Sifford, the only Negro on the tour, and Juan Rodriguez, the tiny Puerto Rican, tied for third at 282 and each got $2,059.

Maxwell Holds On; Wins Dallas Open

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Billy Maxwell's straight shooting golf brought him first money in the $35,000 Dallas Open Monday and settled his sights on a jackpot in the week—the $20,000 bonus tournaments at Denver, Seattle, Portland, Las Vegas and Bakersfield.

Quiet heartening was the re-haired Texan's first tournament victory in a year. He had been one of the most consistent money winners, finishing in the cash 22 times in 27 tournaments. But that first place eluded him until he started his down-the-middle, sharp driving, excellent putting over the 6,858-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Maxwell was leading by four strokes opening the final round. He jumped out to a 1-under-par 32 on the front nine to beat off all challengers, then came in with conservative, methodical play to post a 1-over-par 71 that gave him 277 for 72 holes. He still held the four-stroke lead at the finish, with Johnny Pott, 1960 Dallas Open champion, winding up second with 281. Pott also had a closing 70.

Maxwell said he was pretty shaky at the start although he never gave that appearance.

"I was leading the Miami Beach Open in 1956 by five strokes and blew it," Maxwell said. "I kept thinking about that. That's the reason I wouldn't come to the press room after finishing the third round here. I was afraid of a jinx if I talked about it with the press." He got himself in bad with television, radio and the press for refusing to be interviewed after the third round.

Maxwell heads the tour to Denver this week where the first of five tournaments carrying the big bonus will be played. These tournaments, under the Western States Golf Association, are offering $20,000 for the 10 leaders in the week—the $20,000 bonus tournaments at Denver, Seattle, Portland, Las Vegas and Bakersfield.

Phillies Disregard Voodoo; Take Two

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Black cats, hex specialists, witch doctors, horseshoes, four-leaf clovers—they were all the same to the Philadelphia Phillies.

They just ignored all the bad luck symbols and good luck charms that the followers of the Houston Colts could muster Monday night to move within one game of a major league record.

The Colts arranged a quadruple hex or whammy in hopes of breaking a Philadelphia jinx over the National League newcomers but the Phillies responded by taking both ends of a doubleheader, 3-2 and 5-3.

Philadelphia now owns 17 victories over Houston with no defeats. Another victory tonight in the final game of the season between the two clubs would make the Phillies the first major league team to sweep a full season schedule from another club.

While bad luck symbols meant nothing to the Phillies, good luck symbols were of little help to the Colts. About 300 of 17,300 fans saw the doubleheader at half price by bringing horseshoes. Another 250 brought four-leaf clovers.

But Ari Mahaffey and Jack Hamilton took command and each won a fifth victory from the Colts. The quadruple whammy included:

1. Kid Dugan, a transcontinental hex specialist from Hot Springs, Ark.

2. Dr. Mesabubu, a fictitious chief witch doctor from the Wauwatuu tribe, dressed in hoodoo robes—with drums.

3. Kitrick, a pretty female black cat, symbol of Houston's channel 13 television station.

4. A man playing the role of Little Joe Bfistak, the jinx specialist of Al Capp's cartoon strip. Dugan arrived a bit late because, he said, he went into a trance after scattering hex powder over the Philadelphia club house and dugout at midnight Sunday.

He took a box seat and gazed at the Phillies—concentrating on Gene Mauch, the manager, and Don Demeter, the center fielder who had hit 24 home runs.

Mauch coached at third base the first four innings but gave way to Peanuts Lowrey in the fifth.

Demeter had only an infield single in the second game of seven appearances at the plate.

Kitrick, Little Joe and Dr. Mesabubu checked Mahaffey's pregame warmup carefully. Mahaffey seemed to enjoy the fun but took the opener with a four hitter.

The Phillies jumped on Hal Woodeshick for four runs in the nightcap and the explosion was sufficient for Hamilton's victory even though he had to have relief in the sixth after cutting loose with the wild pitches.

Mariner 2 Problem For Scientists

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Harred scientists, temporarily stymied in plans to point Venus space craft Mariner 2 nearer its destination, tried today to determine whether its antenna is aimed at the earth or moon.

They had hoped it had a lock on the earth.

The delicate mid-course correction of the 447-pound craft's route can still be made, the scientists said, but will take a while longer.

Project officials were just about to fire a small rocket motor on the flying space laboratory pointing it nearer its destination Monday when the question popped up.

They postponed the critical radio message to Mariner 2 ordering the adjustment for at least 24 hours.

Before that, the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here—designer of the craft and its caretaker during flight—had announced the year-wide antenna was properly aimed at earth.

Data radioed back from the craft as it plunged away from earth at more than 6,000 miles per hour indicated the antenna had swung out as ordered to its planned position Sunday.

The directional change of Mariner 2 is designed to bring it within 10,000 miles of the mystery planet next December. Without the maneuver, it will miss by more than 200,000 miles.

The special antenna, with a range of 64 million miles, is needed to pick up the direction-changing signal from earth.

The scientists say they can either try to point it again at earth or leave it possibly locked on the moon.

"However, in order to execute the mid-course maneuver with greater assurance of success," a statement from the propulsion lab said, "it is necessary to know whether it is the moon or earth the sensor is looking at."

The course change may be attempted any time within the next few days, the lab added.

 Sir Winston Churchill, who will be 88 in November, is not on the list of members of Parliament intending to retire at the next election, the British Conservative party's central office said.

Churchill's private secretary, Anthony Montague-Browne, said: "I can say absolutely nothing."

There have been rumors that Sir Winston, who has just recovered from a long illness after breaking a leg, would not run for office again.

William C. Doherty, retiring after 20 years as president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, received the Post Office Department's Distinguished Service Award from Postmaster General J. Edward Day in a presentation ceremony at the association's convention at Denver. Doherty is technically on leave from his job as a letter carrier in Cincinnati.

Princess Eva Esfandiary, mother of ex-Queen Soraya of Iran, confirmed an announcement in Munich by German millionaire-playboy Gunter Sachs, 29, that Soraya, 30, has accepted his marriage proposal. No date has been set.

Look Before You Leap

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP)—Dick Nicholson, 17, who was pulled out of the Niagara River just 300 feet above the Horseshoe Falls, says you shouldn't leap a fence until you know what's on the other side.

Dick, on a picnic Sunday with his family, vaulted a stone fence in a field and found himself tumbling down a 20-foot embankment. The Tonawanda, N.Y., boy landed in the raging Niagara River. "I thought I was going over the falls for sure. But then my head hit something solid, and I grabbed it. It turned out to be a log I had seen earlier, wedged against some rocks. The boy clung to the log until his brother-in-law made a rope harness and waded out to rescue him.

Ex-Slave Observes His 114th Birthday

CHATHAM, N.Y. (AP)—Henry Herndon, celebrating what he said was his 114th birthday Monday, received a birthday cake and a handshake from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at the Columbia County fair.

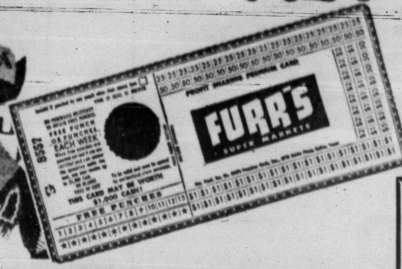

Rockefeller told Herndon, "This is one of the finest moments of my life."

Herndon, who was born a slave in Virginia, is believed to be the oldest resident of the state.

Despite the attentions, Herndon said he would not vote for Rockefeller in the November governor election.

"I'm too old to vote," he said.

Spenders Pep Up U. S. Retailers

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Thanks to the millions of Americans who go on spending and spending, some of the more cheerful news on Wall Street these days is being made by retailers and by many of the producers of consumer goods.

Retail stores and chains are reporting almost unanimously that the three months ending July 31 show profits increased over a year ago and over the first months of the year.

Soft goods sales have held up well most of the year. In July, sales of many big ticket items and other durables snapped back after a dip in June. The better pace apparently held through August.

The spending money has come from increased personal income totals this year and from a revival of installment buying after some earlier hesitation. Also to be tapped as consumers decide is a record volume of savings in various forms. Stock market breaks in May and June dampened sales of some luxury items and may have caused the June dip in total retail sales.

In recent days the following retailers have announced profit gains over the May-June-July period of 1961: May Department Stores, Marshall Field, Reliable stores, Bullock's, Slix, Baer & Fuller, King's Department Stores. Showing increased earnings for the first six months of their fiscal year, but dips in the latest quarter, are: Associated Dry Goods and Federated Department Stores. Also well ahead is Sears Roebuck.

Earlier earnings tabulations had shown retail and wholesale trade as a whole running 3 per cent ahead of the 1961 second quarter, and 11 per cent better than the first three months of this year.

The high rate of retail sales has boosted sales of a number of industries producing consumer goods. Many have translated this into higher profits.

Earnings after taxes in the textile and apparel industries averaged 60 per cent above the first half of 1961, although most of the gain came in this year's first quarter.

Suppliers of food products showed a gain of 17 per cent as a group for the first half of the year, with the second quarter 12 per cent better than the like period of 1961. Beverages posted modest gains, up 1 per cent in the second quarter and 3 per cent for the first six months.

Drugs, soaps and cosmetics topped first half of 1961 profits by 11 per cent, although this year the second quarter earnings slipped well below the first quarter figures. Tobacco companies trailed last year by 1 per cent for the half and 4 per cent for the second quarter.

Dallas Man Is Charged

DENTON (AP)—Sheriff Wylie Barnes said a statement signed by a woman hitchhiker was the basis for a complaint charging Vall Ray Bankston, Dallas radio man, with rape Monday.

"Your Highness, sir," they said, "we have been sending bootloads of gold and silver back to the fatherland for some time and now we come to seek a royal boon."

"No tax cuts," replied the King sternly, for the cost of living was on the rise.

"No sire, what we need is a first rate school," said the committee. "Education is a bit slow and our children are becoming somewhat ignorant. Also, many of the natives do not even speak our Christian language."

"Same situation as Peru," observed the King. "I just got through stamping my royal stamp on a document calling for the University of San Marcos in Lima. And I reckon we can do the same for Mexico."

The King ordered the University of San Marcos on May 12, 1531, and the papers for the Royal and Pontifical University of Mexico got his John Henry on September 21 of the same year.

A number of historians therefore claim the Peruvian school is the oldest in the hemisphere. However, Mr. Luis Farias, director general of information of Mexico's Interior Ministry, did considerable research on the matter and wrote a book about it, "I am pilfering my data from Mr. Farias' book. But you have to make a living some way."

Anyhow, Luis got hold of some documents which indicate that the mail was not traveling by air in those days. The orders did not reach Peru until May of 1533, which was several months after Mexico's university was operating.

Thus the claim that Mexico's school is the oldest in the New World.

This Royal and Pontifical University was an outgrowth of several very ancient institutions of learning in Europe. The King's Men picked up the best ideas in the education industry there and them to work over here.

Many Changes Listed In History Of Court

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It wasn't always this simple, or quiet.

There's hardly a ripple when President Kennedy appoints Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg to succeed retiring Justice Felix Frankfurter on the Supreme Court. But then he was only filling a vacancy.

The storms have come over changing the size of the court, and attempts. The court has been packed and repacked. Its size has been changed seven times.

It's almost incredible how shrewdly historians have been about pulling together in one book or paper the number of changes in the size and the reasons, which have been almost always political.

These were the changes: in 1801—from six justices to five; 1802—five to six; 1807—six to seven; 1837—seven to nine; 1863—nine to ten; 1866—ten to seven; 1920—back up to nine. There has been no change since.

The Constitution did not fix the number of justices. That was left to Congress. The very first Congress, by the Judiciary Act of Sept. 24, 1789, set the number of justices at six: a chief justice and five associates.

This act also created 13 District Courts and three Circuit Courts. The number of the Supreme Court justices had to find time to travel to the circuits where two of them, with a district judge, made up a Circuit Court. The justices had to ride circuit for years.

Presidents Washington and Adams, being Federalists, naturally enough filled the early court with Federalists. This irked Thomas Jefferson and his Republicans. In the elections of 1800 the Federalists lost the presidency and control of Congress to the Jeffersonians.

At that time a new president could not take office until March 4, following the elections. Just before Jefferson entered the White House in 1801 the Federalists-run Congress reduced the number of justices from six to five. The Jeffersonians promptly hit back.

In 1802 they boosted the number of justices back to six. In

Meany Forecasts Winter Recession

By The Associated Press
AFL-CIO President George Meany threw a note of warning into the nation's celebration of Labor Day, predicting a recession this winter.

"I hope to heavens I am wrong," added Meany.

But the labor leader, in Seattle, Wash., for a speech at the World Fair, told reporters, "We are not growing fast enough economically to keep pace with our growing population, and sooner or later we will be in serious trouble."

Retiring Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who Friday was appointed to the Supreme Court, called labor-management relations more important than ever "in this period of stress and strain for America."

Goldberg attended the annual Labor Day Mass at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart in Washington. Afterward he spoke at a wreath-laying ceremony at the statue of James Cardinal Gibbons, a champion of labor.

"All of us must serve our country, and serve the national welfare and common defense to the best of our abilities," said Goldberg.

More than 1,000 government officials, labor and management executives and others at the Mass heard the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, Roman Catholic archbishop of Washington, urge organized labor to "lean over backwards to cooperate with management in every reasonable effort to stabilize costs."

President Kennedy hailed the end-of-summer holiday with a statement that about 70 million Americans are now employed, more than ever before.

The worker in the United States, he said, enjoys "economic and social protections and rights undreamed of in earlier times and flatly denied in contemporary Communist societies."

"We are a blessed land," the President said.

A rallying cry was sounded by James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers.

Speaking in Pennsauken, N.J., at the grave of Peter J. McGuire—the founder of Labor Day—Carey urged organized labor to battle for a 35-hour week and called for a guaranteed annual wage.

Meany sounded the same cry in Seattle, saying, "We are going to fight for the 35-hour week, not because American workers are lazy but because it would create 3 million more jobs."

He declared the weapon most feared by Communists is "America's industrial might." But he said the weapon is being weakened by recurring recessions and persistent unemployment.

In Detroit, George Romney showed up as an invited guest at a Michigan AFL-CIO celebration and drew a sharp rebuke from a union spokesman.

Romney, Republican candidate for governor of Michigan, had failed to obtain an invitation to appear on the speaker's platform with his November opponent, Gov. John B. Swainson, Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., and Detroit's Democratic Mayor Jerome Cavanagh. Also on the stand was United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther.

Automaker Romney, however, showed up and marched along the parade route ahead of the Democratic leaders and union officials.

Without mentioning Romney by name, Wayne County AFL-CIO President Al Harbour told the crowd, "Labor Day is a day when we invite our friends to share in the glory and celebration. And we have certain yardsticks by which we determine who our friends are."

"We know the working people of this state will give their answer at the Nov. 6 election to those who intrude themselves on our affairs and our programs," Romney later told newsmen. "I understood it was a public rally and that all the citizens were invited. I was well treated."

6 Children Die In Fire

By The Associated Press
DETROIT (AP)—Six children died today in a fire that swept a flat in an East Side apartment building. Three others, members of the same family, were hospitalized with burns.

The fire broke out about 4 a.m. at the rear of the apartment. Firemen said the flames shot so high in the air they were visible for a mile.

The apartment house is occupied by Negro families.

Twenty-three children of three other families in the four-family building escaped, firemen said.

Heat and flames prevented firemen from getting into rear rooms of the flat where the six children died.

Firemen identified the dead as Marvin, 10, Raymond, 7, and Anthony, 4, children of Harriet Ray, and three of Mrs. Ray's grandchildren, Derrick, 3, Arnell, 4 months, and Cynthia, 11 months.

Derrick and Arnell were children of Fay Ray, 23, daughter of Harriet Ray. The daughter lives at another address. Cynthia was the child of Wrenelle Ray, 17, another daughter of Harriet Ray. Wrenelle Ray lives in Cleveland, Ohio.

Couple 12, 16 Are Parents

MANSFIELD, Tex. (AP)—Ricardo Salazar, 16, was picking cotton Monday when his wife Anita, 12, came to stop him.

"I think it is time," she said. "Please watch my cotton sack."

Ricardo asked a co-worker, "I must take my wife to the hospital."

Half an hour later they became parents of a 5-pound 6-ounce daughter.

Proudly the young father told a reporter he and his wife, scarcely five feet tall, met while working in a harvest field near Houston. They married last November while picking cotton near Floydada.

Assured that mother and baby were fine, Ricardo gravely told hospital attendants: "I have another month to feed."

Outside there was a loud and boyish whoop as he jumped from the hospital steps and ran to his truck. Then, all dignity, he went to reclaim his cotton sack.

School-Sharing Program To Get Test Run This Month

By ART BUTLER
PITTSBURGH (AP)—What may be the first wholesale sharing of tax-supported schools by public and parochial school systems will get a test run this month.

Pupils from a Roman-Catholic high school will attend classes part-time at the new Forbes Trail area technical school in suburban Monroeville, about 10 miles east of Pittsburgh.

Some Protestant and Roman Catholic authorities see the "shared time" plan as a possible eventual solution to the conflict over using government funds to aid parochial schools.

Under the plan, parochial pupils split their school day, taking certain classes not connected with religion in public schools. This would relieve parochial schools of some costs, often involving expensive laboratory equipment.

In a major trial run here, about 35 boys and girls who are 11th graders at St. Thomas School in North Braddock Borough, will spend half of each school day in advanced science classes at the technical school.

They will study with some 300 other advanced students from area public schools, learning the fundamentals of engineering, electronics, computer programming and maintenance.

The rest of the day they will take courses at St. Thomas School, studying religion, social science, English and related subjects.

Fourteen school districts in eastern Allegheny County support Forbes Trail. For the past two years, a select group of above-average public school students have been shuttling back and forth between technical classes there and their home high schools.

This fall the technical school is moving into a new building, and the county department of schools has invited the Catholic diocese of Pittsburgh to enter a group of students on the "shared time" plan.

Dr. Alfred Beattie, county superintendent of schools, said the program will work "under the same law" by which school districts give courses in home economics and industrial arts to some parochial pupils. This may be only a class or two a week.

"This has been going on in Pennsylvania for 30 years," he said. However, the Forbes Trail experiment involves a much greater amount of shared time, half of the school day.

Does it point a way out of the church-state controversy?

Various church leaders think it might. A spokesman for a leading Protestant group in the area said the plan has caused little opposition or controversy.

Shared-time school is based on the principle that all of a school district's residents supports its schools, so all of their children should get to use them—if they wish.

The children will not ride state school buses to and from St. Thomas. The nearest public school, North Braddock High School, is only a few blocks away. They can be picked up there for the eight-mile ride to Forbes Trail.

Planes To Drop Food

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Two U.S. Air Force C130 transports have arrived in Jakarta to drop 300 tons of food, tents and medical supplies to Indonesian guerrillas in West New Guinea.

The U.S. Information Service said the Air Force's Pacific Command furnished the planes at the request of Acting Secretary-General U. Thant of the United Nations.

Three more C130s are to be placed at the disposal of the U.N. administration which takes over temporary control of West New Guinea Oct. 1.

About 2,000 Indonesian parachute guerrillas are scattered in the jungle territory. They were dropped into New Guinea before the Dutch and Indonesians agreed on transfer of the territory to Indonesia.
