DYNAMITE EXPLOSION FATAL TO THREE TEXANS

Frightened Public Dumps Stocks On Market To Further Reduce Share Values

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

The trouble about this talking business is that a talker always talks too much. This Talker finds this morning that he talked too much yesterday morning, or, at least, that he talked too loosely.

In his remarks about the action of the Democratic county committee in rejecting the application of candidates for the executive committee to have their names placed on the ballot he had intended to disclaim expressly that he spoke as a judge or lawyer or one with any authority whatever and that he was only giving as the reason of the committee for rejection of the candidates that they had failed to state they were Democrats. But he appears to have stated as a fact that Mr. Ogle and 45 others failed to comply with the election laws.

Now if there is a thing Talker knows less about than almost anything else it is the Terrell election law and he wouldn't know whether Mr. Ogle's faction had complied with the law if he knew exactly what they had done, which he doesn't.

Mr. Ogle calls Talker's attention to Article 3113 of the revised statutes of Texas and also to a form of application said to be approved by the attorney general for candidates for county office which he says were followed in filing the application which the county committee rejected. Mr. Ogle and his friends may be entirely right in the matter or they may be wrong. This talker doesn't undertake to say.

He would make a guess, however, that Democrats will wake up to find that the "anti Tammany" "anti Smith," "Hoovercrat," or whatever they want to be called, group has filed applications for the county committee in many counties and that they will likely win control of the party machinery in the primaries in July. Talker thinks he sees some of the marks of a concerted effort in that direction.

Mr. Ogle says in his statement printed in yesterday's Record News that there were no better Democrats in Wichita county than those whose application was rejected by the committee. And his further endorsement says that they represent largely "those who are most active in church work in the community and those who lead clean lives and who are not desirous of getting into politics, except in order to save Democracy from lowering itself."

If there are those who would question the Democracy of the rejected applicants surely there is nobody who would question the purity of their lives or their activity in church work.

Whether the Ogle candidates followed the law or didn't, or whether the committee went outside the statutes or observed the plain letter of the law this Talker, speaking for himself as an unterrified Democrat maintains that it is regrettable the names of these candidates did not get on the ballot. He can do this and still ascribe to the committee honest and patriotic motives.

The statement of G. A. Remington, manager of the irrigation district, in The Times giving the levels of the Lake Kemp and Diversion lake dams and spillways and water gauges ought to be reassuring to anybody who has feared the dams were about to break. The floods have raised the levels of these lakes comparatively little. Two or three floods of the size of the recent one would still leave plenty of space to be filled in both dams.

Lake Wichita is more easily filled but its wide spillway will pretty certainly prevent the water level rising much above that it reached last Sunday. But the overflow does add to the seriousness of the flood problem on Holliday creek and is a strong argument in favor of the cleaning and the straightening of the channel of that stream.

Mrs. J. O. Bentley has been chosen executive secretary of the community chest succeeding Miss Myrle Neeley who has resigned to take a position at Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Bentley is a business woman of considerable experience, and as the duties of the office, during the next few months at least will be mostly in the nature of business detail Mrs. Bentley should be able to carry on the work satisfactorily.

Miss Neely is a trained and experienced welfare executive. She has handled a difficult job here in a most satisfactory manner and leaves it so organized that an executive of less experience can carry on the work. The best wishes of the board and of many friends will go with her to her new field of work.

James Young Urges Voters to Use 'Sense'

PITTSBURG, Texas, June 18. (UP)—Addressing an audience here Wednesday, Jim Young, of Kaufman, Democratic candidate for nomination for governor, urged voters to center their attention on a nonfactional candidate in the first primary to insure that the entries in the run-off would be representatives of good government. He named Earle Mayfield, Thomas Love, Jim Ferguson and Barry Miller as "factionalists" candidates who should be defeated for the governorship.

Big Bankers Reported as Changing in Attitude Toward Market

By JULIUS G. BERENS

NEW YORK, June 18. (US)—A frightened public, unnerved by the rapidly declining prices of stocks, continued to liquidate today in ever-increasing volume, and as they sold a higher-grade type of investor bought.

But the weight continued on the offering side of quotations dipped to the lowest levels since last November, when the very bottom of the panic was reached. Under the pressure of 6,425,600 shares thrown on the market, the largest daily volume in many weeks, prices of leading industrial stocks broke an average almost of 10 points. Public Utility shares 3.60 points, and Railroads 2.36. The Utilities and Railroad shares have been in 1930 low territory for days.

Brokers Swamped

The public selling mood prevailed throughout the day and swamped brokerage houses and the ticker, which lost steadily and finally ran 75 minutes behind the market. Selling again came from all over the country. Wire houses, with coast-to-coast clientele, reported selling orders eight times the number of buying orders.

While the public liquidation was at its height, large-scale covering was indulged in by many leading bears, who had been pounding at prices for many weeks in the hope of inducing the very liquidation by the public which has been taking place especially this week. It is understood that at least two of the most aggressive raiders of the market, men who are reputed to have cleaned millions of dollars profit on the short side, have virtually covered their short commitments and are planning a European vacation.

Poor Trade News

After an initial wave of selling which carried over from the late weakness on Tuesday, the market enjoyed a period of firmness, but not until practically all leading

When A Plate Of Bacon And Eggs Sold For $4,000

Photos by the Miller Studio of Graham

The Record News presents above pictures of the highest priced plate of bacon and eggs ever served in Texas, and some of the Graham folks who consumed the $8,000 breakfast in the Young county capital Wednesday morning. The funds from the breakfast went to pay off the indebtedness of Graham's beautiful auditorium. In the group at the left, from left to right, are the trustees of the auditorium: Graham Stewart, John Gallaher, Sam Bates, and A. A. Morrison, all prominent citizens of the town. In the center is shown the breakfast table arranged on the stage of the auditorium, with arrow pointing to M. K. Graham. The inset shows the plate of bacon and eggs served Mr. Graham at a price of $4,000. At the extreme right are Mr. and Mrs. Graham standing in the door of the auditorium.

$8,000 Bacon and Egg Breakfast at Graham Clears Auditorium of Debt

M. K. Graham Pays $4,000 for Savory, but Orthodox, Dish of 'Hen Fruit' and Cured Pork

By MARJORIE MATHIS
The Record News Staff

GRAHAM, Texas, June 18.—Bacon and eggs came high in Graham Wednesday morning.

M. K. Graham, Young county capitalist and philanthropist, paid $4,000 for his breakfast and 40 of his townspeople joined him at $100 a plate.

The $8,000 breakfast was served on the stage of the new Graham Memorial auditorium and the money paid the last of the debt against the building.

Mr. Graham, son of the founder of the city and the leader in all civic enterprises, matched the $4,000 paid by the 40 other guests with a $4,000 individual check.

Already he had met half the cost of the $100,000 structure, having paid dollar for dollar for the contribution of the combined citizenry of Graham.

Just Eggs

They styled it the "golden egg" breakfast, but they were just plain, garden variety of hen eggs, extra fresh and poached on toast, which adorned the $4,000 plate.

Not visibly different in fact, from the 35 cents a dozen species except for the small consideration of $3,999.65 in cost.

Gilded eggs lay beside the $4,000 and the $100 plates as souvenirs, but the hungry van centered their attention upon the expensive nourishment upon plates themselves. The high priced breakfast consisted of orange juice, bacon, eggs, toast, and coffee.

It was provided and served by the Driver hotel cafe as its share in the public contribution.

The funds raised will completely free the handsome new structure of all indebtedness.

Donor Reticent

Graham P. Stewart, of the board of trustees, acted as toastmaster. The guests clamored for a few words from the chief donor, but the reticent and smiling philanthropist limited his remarks to thanks to the trustees and the assertion that he was glad the builders went over the financial limit to afford the "pleasant little surprise."

S. R. Crawford, who presented the city with the memorial plate in the auditorium foyer which bears the names of Graham's war heroes was among the speakers.

The invocation was offered by Rev. J. Irwin Montgomery. Mayor A. B. Eddleman expressed for the city his appreciation of the work of the committee and support of the townspeople. Telegrams brought words of appreciation to Mr.

POLICE - GANG ALLIANCE AIRED

Slain Reporter's Name Is Linked With Gunman

CHICAGO, June 18. (US)—An investigation of the asserted alliance of high officials in the police department with the most notorious of Chicago's gangsters was voted unanimously today by city council.

It is this alliance, Alderman Arthur R. Albert charged, which has made the police department completely impotent and has permitted the gangsters to perpetrate one murder after another with impunity in a majority of cases without anyone even being charged with the crimes.

At the same time Mayor William Hale Thompson announced that he had no intention at present of appointing anyone to succeed William F. Russell, who resigned last Monday as police commissioner, following the Alfred Lingle murder.

Wichita Mercury Climbs to 98

Wichita Falls' mercury started its summer climb Wednesday when the weather bureau of the Texas Electric Service company reported a maximum temperature of 98 degrees for the day. At 5 o'clock the mercury held at 97, while the lowest reading for the 24-hour period ending at 5 o'clock was 69. Following the heavy rains of last weekend, the day was doubly uncomfortable because of the humid atmosphere.

Texas Druggists Asked To Pay Bandit Reward

HOUSTON, June 18. (UP)—A motion to pay $2,000 reward for dead drug store bandits was presented to the Texas Pharmaceutical association, in annual convention here, today and was referred to a committee for action.

A. N. Sealy, of Ranger, chairman of the resolutions committee, said tonight that the resolution would not be approved at this time due to lack of an organization to carry out its terms.

The resolution, presented by Secretary Walter Adams, of Forney, also provided for a reward of $200 for capture and conviction of five bandits. Harry Hein, of San Antonio, association president, favored the motion.

SENATE WOULD ALTER TARIFF

New Law May Be Given Immediate Test

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—As the customs service grappled with initial problems under the new tariff act, the senate today adopted without debate or a record vote the Borah resolution to provide an immediate test of the new flexible provisions.

The resolution directs the tariff commission to investigate and report to the senate at the earliest possible date the differences in cost of production here and abroad of shoes, furniture, bells, wire fencing, wire netting, cement, hoes, shovels, spades, scoops, forks, rakes, scythes, sickles, grass hooks, corn knives and drainage tools.

"If the flexible provision is going to do the wonderful things they say it will, lets get it to working," said Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, author of the resolution. He voted against the tariff bill.

While most of the articles named for the inquiry were farm implements Senator Borah said he was particularly anxious to determine whether the six cents a hundred pounds levy on cement, on the free list prior to today was founded on the exact difference in production costs. In a recent speech in the senate he estimated the farmers would have to pay an annual additional cost of $16,000,000 for their cement under the six cent rate.

Bells, wire fencing and wire netting were added to the inquiry list in an amendment by Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut.

While the senate was disposing of the Idahoan's proposal, the house

Ferguson Claims 300,000 Votes For 'Ma' in Rally at Jacksboro

North Texans Hear Platform of Woman Candidate Laid Down by Her Husband

(By Staff Correspondent)

JACKSBORO, Texas, June 18.—Describing the Moody administration in Texas as a "public pity," James E. Ferguson told 1,000 persons gathered at the courthouse square here tonight that his wife, Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, would get 300,000 votes out of the 800,000 cast in the primary.

Mr. Ferguson arrived here today and was met by a reception committee headed by John W. Campbell, Jacksboro oil man. Other members of the committee were J. J. Campbell and Henry Hensley.

Typical Rally

The stage was set and listeners began arriving early in the evening, anticipating a typical Ferguson rally. Dan R. Sewell, lumber and stock man here, introduced Mr. Ferguson to the crowd while John Campbell presided at the rally. Delegations were present from Burkburnett, Decatur, Newcastle, Bowie, Graham, Bryson, Perrin and other cities in the county.

The former governor not only predicted that Mrs. Ferguson would take 300,000 votes in the primary, but said she would show the other candidates that "they are just the unlucky 13." In the last election, he said, Mrs. Ferguson drew 185,000 votes and since then "the Moody administration has become a public pity." In the coming election "the people of Texas will be expected to rectify the injustice they did her in the last election," he said.

Pension Favored

Emphasis was strongly placed on her favoring an old age pension for Texas citizens, to begin at the age of 60 and increase with old age. This, Ferguson said, should be done "not as a matter of charity but as a matter of right."

"Mrs. Ferguson also thinks," he said, "that all candidates for public office in Texas should be required to take oath that they have not taken a drink of illegal liquor within six months before they take office and do not expect to take a

MURDER TRIAL GETS STARTED

State Opens Testimony in Goodspeed Case

Special to The Record News

HENRIETTA, Texas, June 18.—The state unleashed its attack Wednesday on Carl Goodspeed in district court here in his second trial on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of A. R. Gooch, Nocona city marshal, last year. The jury was completed about 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning after the special venire of 175 men had been exhausted and questioning of 30 talesmen begun. Testimony began about 11 a. m.

At the adjournment of court Wednesday afternoon the state had introduced only a part of its list of witnesses and attorneys for the prosecution announced they would continue Thursday. Judge Vincent Stine said he had sworn in about 75 witnesses for both sides and some were yet to be brought into the case. The trial, he said, will likely require the remainder of the week.

The first witness was William Kaiser, Nocona carpenter, who had constructed a miniature replica of the Goodspeed home in Nocona, where the fatal shooting took place. The diminutive plot was introduced and explained by Kaiser. It was there that Gooch went in search for liquor the day he was shot.

Other witnesses Wednesday included Dr. S. T. Humphreys of No-

TWO GIRLS MANGLED

Texas Company Employes Set Off Explosive in Farmer's Field

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 18. (AP)—Three members of a single family were blown to bits by a dynamite explosion near here today, when they walked into a blast set off by employes of the Texas company.

The dead.

Claudia Cadenski, 21.

Ruby Cadenski, 18.

Jack Cadenski, 12.

Jim Cadenski, Walker county tenant farmer, was leading his children across one of their fields, 14 miles of here, on the way to their home for lunch when the charge went off. He escaped unhurt, but his clothes were torn from his body. He was shocked and bruised and in a hospital tonight.

Only parts of the bodies of the girls had been recovered.

Though unaware of the impending danger, Cadenski passed over the spot, but the children were caught in the center of the blast.

Justice of the peace R. J. Camp, County Attorney R. T. Burns and Sheriff N. L. Speer tonight were conducting an investigation into the explosion. An inquest will be held Thursday.

From his hospital bed Cadenski charged that no warning of the impending blast had been given. Officials of the oil company maintained that the customary warning flags had been set up about the area. The spot where the tragedy occurred is on the property of Simon Burnett, where the Cadenski family had been raising cotton and other crops. Blasting had been in progress on the land for more than a week.

TWO TOTS DROWN IN SHIP CHANNEL

GALVESTON, Texas, June 18. (AP)—Two children, Walter Robie Jr., 6, and his 4-year-old sister, Irene Robie, were drowned five miles east of here today near the bank of the ship channel in about 12 feet of water. The children's parents live in Galveston.

The tragedy occurred when the two children wading in the shallow waters near shore, suddenly stepped off into the 10-foot channel which recently had been dredged as a yacht harbor. Their mother, who was fishing near by summoned aid and the bodies were recovered by life guards from the city.

Guards labored unsuccessfully over the bodies for over an hour. The scene of the drowning was a remote spot at the extreme eastern tip of the island.

THREE DROWN IN MISSISSIPPI

MEADVILLE, Miss., June 18. (AP)—Three persons were drowned 10 miles north of here today while bathing.

They were: Mrs. Charles Lee, 21; Naomi Touchstone, 18; Grady Touchstone, 10.

Reports of the accident which occurred shortly after 1 o'clock near Ediceton, 10 miles northeast of Meadville said Mrs. Lee, unable to swim, stepped into water over her head and that Naomi, in an attempt to rescue her sister, was forced to call for help.

The mother and another sister on the bank of the small creek were helpless, and young Grady plunged in and almost succeeded in bringing Naomi to the bank when Mrs. Lee grasped the hand of the younger girl and pulled all three under to their deaths.

Thousands of Men Seeking Work In Harvest to Meet Disappointment

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 18. (UP)—Thousands coming to southwestern states expecting to find work in the wheat harvest will be disappointed and unemployment is becoming a serious problem in the grain belt of one southwestern state, reports received here indicated.

W. A. (Pat) Murphy, Oklahoma state labor commissioner, estimated between 4,000 and 5,0000 idle men are loafing in that state's grain belt. The number represents transient laborers who apparently forgot the modern combine and thought Oklahoma wheat farmers still needed the thousand of harvest hands necesary a few years ago.

About 50 per cent of the Oklahoma laborers who can be classed as harvest hands are without work, Murphy said.

The combine is taking the place of two to four men and is estimated to harvest from 30 acres to 60

Morrow's Spectacular Victory In Primary Surprises His Own Friends

NEWARK, N. J., June 18. (UP)—Victor by a margin of unexpected immensity in his first campaign to achieve public office, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow has been chosen the Republican nominee for United States senator from New Jersey.

Even the most wildly optimistic partisans of the diplomat and former Morgan partner were surprised at the decisiveness of his triumph in yesterday's primary election. His managers had been content to predict a maximum plurality of 150,000.

But on the basis of virtually complete returns today, it appeared Morrow's plurality over his nearest rival would be around 300,000. He polled almost two and a half votes to every one given his opponents.

Returns, with only 37 districts missing out of a statewide total of 3,328, gave Morrow 414,279 votes. This figure compared with 115,497 for Representative Franklin W. Fort, dry and friend of President the first of which in some quarters is regarded as having significance in the Lingle murder, were these:

1.—Linking of the name of the murdered Lingle with that of Anthony "Red" Kissane, a reported "Bugs" Moran gangster, who declared when he was arrested for carrying a gun thatt he was "working for 'Jake' Lingle."

2.—Preparations by Alcock for what is expected to be the biggest police department shake-up the city has known for years.

3.—A suggestion to Ambassador Charles G. Dawes on his arrival here that it may be necessary to draft him to head the no-quarter campaign against gangsters which is demanded by an aroused and indignant citizenry.

4.—The probability that Capt. Michael Hughes, former police commissioner, will be reinstated in the department and made chief of detectives to succeed John P. Stege.

5.—A broadside by Acting Commissioner Alcock against "golf-playing captains and beer-drinking policemen" as he drastically tightened discipline in the department.

The mention of Lingle's name in connection with that of Kissane, the gunman, came today when Kissane was brought into court to answer to a gun-toting charge. Assistant State's Attorney Harold Keele recounted the circumstances of Kissane's arrest in the downtown district last November by Detective William Drury who immediately searched him. Keele continued:

"After Drury discovered a .38 revolver, loaded with six high-power bullets, the state will show that Drury asked Kissane: 'What are you doing?' and Kissane replied: 'Working.' At this Drury asked: 'For whom?' and Kissane answered: 'I am working for Jake Lingle.'"

The statement was taken to mean, if substantiated, that Kissane acted as bodyguard for the slain Chicago Tribune reporter. He was found guilty of carrying concealed weapons.

Jobs in Harvest Fields Scarce

acres a day, depending upon weather conditions, crop conditions, size of the machine and the ground over which it is operated.

Oklahoma officials and other state and federal labor commissioners have attempted to curb the flow of laborers into the wheat growing areas.

"The public is not conscious of the serious nature of the situation," Murphy said.

Murphy has divided the 1930 harvest hands in four classes: (1). The "Moochers," or men who arrive two weeks before harvest time without funds and who have to be fed. A few weeks before work begins they disappear to go to another field to repeat the same performance. (2). The real workers who follow the harvest as it advances northward. (3). The "transient" who arrives for harvest and then stays in the community presenting a labor problem during dull periods of the year, and (4). the local laborers who annually seek employment in harvest fields.

Present conditions are that Oklahoma will probably have the best corn crop in the history of the state, President Harry B. Cordell of the state agricultural board, announced at Oklahoma City today. Some of the laborers will be employed in corn fields and relieve the unemployment.

In Kansas the harvest is beginning and later Nebraska wheat fields will be harvested. Both use combines and will need fewer men this year.

The Trans-Siberian railway is carrying a weekly average of 300 passengers each way, an unusually large number.

32,000 WHEAT CARS ON HAND

Central Shipping Board Hears Report

SALINA, Kan., June 18. (INS)—There are now 32,642 empty box cars stationed at various points ready to move the Kansas wheat crop, Ben H. Johnson, state grain inspector, reported to the trans-Missouri-Kansas shipping board, holding its semi-annual meeting here.

Although there are only 500 members of the shippers board registered almost twice that number are in attendance.

The department, Johnson said, is ready to receive as many cars as the roads can ship into Kansas City and other terminal points and will be able to release double the number of cars daily that they have in any previous week. Kansas, he said, is ready to move the wheat crop.

The shipping board expressed satisfaction with Johnson's report and also that made by railroads to the effect they will be ready at a minute's notice to pull any number of box cars into the state as rapidly as the shippers demand them. They will be prepared when the wheat movement starts, they said.

Meanwhile the thousand shippers and grain dealers were speculating on the contents of an address to be delivered by Alexander Legge, head of the federal farm board. The program was delayed all along the line and the time of Legge's speech could not be determined.

SELLING SINKS STOCKS AGAIN

Frightened Public Dumps Falling Shares

stocks had broken through their former lows. Trade news continued unfavorable. Copper prices being reduced to 11½ cents from 12 cents a pound, and Steel trade reviews reporting prospective further curtailment of operations. Some cheer was obtained from the statement by President Green, of the American Federation of Labor, that improvement was noticeable in employment conditions. But the market mainly was reflecting the state of mind of the public.

It was evident, however, that increasing buying had appeared for the account of discriminating investors who found the highest type stocks declining once again to attractive levels. They discovered that fields were once more sufficient to cover not only the cost of borrowing money but likewise to yield a profit in addition.

Banks Take Action

Banking interest in the market also increased as prices of their favored issues declined to new lows. It was reported that several of the largest downtown institutions have materially altered their previously unfriendly attitude toward the market, which was very evident in the lack of aggressive support up to the present.

Various powerful investors, of tremendous means, have also begun to accumulate stocks. This writer knows of several 10,000-share buying orders placed today in issues which have been rapidly approaching that November, 1930, low prices. Such buying is purely for investment and the buyers are not seeking to achieve the absolute low. Some foreign demand has again appeared for American stocks.

Tariff Occupies Senators Again

ways and means committee obtained asurances from Postmaster General Brown that if no minimum limit were placed on the importation of Cuban cigars the United States could negotiate a parcel post convention with Cuba guaranteeing collection of full duties on all shipments.

Under the old law cigar imports were limited to 3,000 or more per package. The new tariff act eliminates this restriction.

The senate today concurred in a house resolution to provide printing 5,000 copies of the new tariff bill, after Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, inquired "what use" was to be made of them. Senator Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, suggested "the minority members might send them out as a horrible example."

Convicted Banker Given 90-Day Absence Leave

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 18. (UP)—Charles Martin, former Woodward banker, was granted an additional 90-day leave of absence today from the state penitentiary by Gov. W. J. Holloway.

He is serving a two-year term for accepting deposits in a defunct bank.

Martin previously had been granted two leaves, the second of which expires Saturday. Governor Holloway said he acted upon reccommendations of Woodward county officials so that Martin could handle business affairs of his brother-in-law, who died recently.

Gray McNeer, convicted in Oklahoma county for robbery and sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary, was given a 90-day leave by the governor who said the leave was granted because he was convinced the state pardon and parole board would consider clemency for McNeer at the next meeting.

Morrow Turns To Demo Foes

Hoover, and 47,609 for Joseph S. Frelinghauysen, wet, former senator. John Kelly, a fourth entrant, received only a smattering of votes.

Wet leaders were particularly cheered by the unpredicted landslide, one which gave Morrow victory in all of the 21 counties in this farming and industrial state. In his opening address of the campaign Morrow came out for repeal of the 18th amendment and the substitution of a system of state's rights in regard to liquor control.

The issue of prohibition was sharply outlined subsequently when Fort announced his candidacy on a dry platform. Fort was accorded the backing of the Anti-Saloon league and his cause was espoused in many pulpits throughout the state.

Dry law discussion is now expected to drop out of the political picture in New Jersey for the November election. Morrow will be opposed by wets in the Democratic party. His oppenent for the short term, left vacant by the appointment of Senator Walter E. Edge as ambassador to France is Miss Thelma Parkinson, the only woman ever nominated for the senate by a major party in this state. In the race for the six-year term Morrow is opposed by State Senator Alexander Simpson, who won national attention by his prosecution of the accused in the Hall-Mills case.

'Pete' McKenzie Loses Criminal Appeals Case

AUSTIN, June 18. (AP)—John A. (Pete) McKenzie, convicted slayer of Chief of Detectives Sam Street of San Antonio, was denied a writ of coram nobis today by the court of criminal appeals. The writ was denied on the grounds the court did not have jurisdiction.

In dismissing McKenzie's application for the writ, the court added further to the legal entanglements that have involved the slayer since he was convicted of the slaying of Street September 10, 1927, and sentenced to die in the electric chair at Huntsville.

APPEALS SENTENCE

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 18. (UP)—Raymond Eskey filed an appeal today in the criminal court of appeals from the three-year reformatory sentence he received in Love county when he was convicted of a statutory offense.

No motorist need face such dangers. General Dual-Balloons remove every tire hazard from modern motoring—Blow-Out Proof—their unmatched safety proved in the most spectacular tests ever witnessed by safety experts. Summer's Coolest Color Adds Beauty To Party

The depth of forest glades, always cool in their beautiful greens, furnished the inspiration for one of the prettiest of the round of June parties when Misses Wenzella Witherspoon and Adonelle Massie entertained Wednesday honoring Miss Claire Hayner of Tulsa, Okla., who is a house guest in the Massie home.

The two hostesses and the honoree were lovely in their frocks of fluffy green and the home, beautiful with a luxuriance of pastel shaded flowers, emphasized the green tones in every manner possible. Card table covers were of dainty green organdy; tallies and score cards were cool shades of green and after the distribution of the exquisite prizes, a delicious refreshment course was served in green. While it may have been sweltering outside, the ingenious hostesses made the interior of the home delightful.

In the games, Miss Helen Grisham won high score and the fluffy green wrappings removed, disclosed a handsome bottle of imported perfume; the honoree was presented with a duplicate gift and Mrs. Ewing Watkins, who received consolation, found a smaller bottle of the same exquisite odor. Cut prizes at each of the 11 tables were dainty French vanity cases in the same cool green that set the color motif.

Guests at the beautiful summer party included Miss Hayner, the honoree, Misses Jane Moore, Ruth Moore, Emily Mitcham, Camille Avis, Retta Barnard, Laura Lee Hampshire, Elizabeth Langford, Martha Ellen Hines, Alva Ruth Walker, Marjorie Bright, Mary Tancred, Mildred Miller, Mildred Sherrod, Joline Wood, Mary Delaney, Catherine Weeks, Dell Hatchitt, Catherine Weldon, Elizabeth Weldon, Jeanette Moore, Mary Ferguson, Rose Marion Art, Mary Agnes Riley, Margaret Hines, Corinne Tucker, Helen Grisham, Margaret Smith, Willette Jarrell, Adelle Jarrell, Ina Merle Robinson, Flora Bruce Greenwood; Mesdames Pierce Langford, P. K. Smith, George Collom, Louis Hodges, Frank Woods and Ewing Watkins; Misses Martha Long, Margaret Boger and Cornelia Johnson of Vernon and the attractive hostesses, Misses Witherspoon and Massie.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

He was the most beautiful boy in the world, everyone said; (of course mothers of boys had tongues in their cheeks), but at that he was one of the most precious of babies who came into our office Tuesday celebrating his third monthly birthday with his first trip out into a world peopled by many different sorts of individuals.

The thing that made every female (we do not like the word either) on the place desert her work was the lure of his eyes. They had a constant twinkle at the joke of the world.

And it looked as if they particularly twinkled at women folk. One pretty girl who was greeted with broad grins, remarked, "Well I know I'm not as funny as that."

At any rate, when Mr. and Mrs. John Gould's son reaches maturity, they're going to have to watch the girls. If ever a lad had the "come hither" in his eyes, that laddie had. It makes one want to get hold of him for a hug, just to think of the twinkle of his eye. He was our guest.

But all this happened after we had been reading the last Ladies Home Journal and learning how a big hearted priest of the 15th century had worked indefatigably until he had the poor fatherless babes of his country cared for by the state. Love was the motive of his work.

Soon after that time in England, the public began to watch the safety of the waifs there; but it was not love of babies—it was that they might have human provender to run the machinery just beginning to be used.

The May Ladies Home Journal told the story of barbarity in Rome. Babies were in the way and were thrown to the dogs.

News items in daily papers of a recent date told of the Chinese women who brought their babies to the missionaries and sold them to good women for almost nothing—for nothing rather than drown them as they must do or let them starve.

In our country, we can imagine the atrocities of barbarian customs in Rome. We can conceive, with a shudder the terrors of a French land where a child born out of wedlock was deemed a child of the devil. And in straightlaced England, fancy could picture worse things.

But it is almost beyond belief that children are murdered in the world now rather than become an extra mouth to feed, an extra care for which one must provide.

Ever hostages to fortune—yes. But, though we insist that birthpangs do not make every woman a mother—the feeling of motherhood is the most glorious that woman can achieve. There is no success on earth to equal it.

Miss Barcus Honoree At Pretty Party

Miss Mae Bartlett was hostess Tuesday evening with members of the Cecil Porter league to Miss Ann Stratton Barcus of Jacksonville, Texas, who has been a popular guest in the city for the past week.

Games were played during the evening and at the close of the social session, delightful refreshments were served to Misses Merle Trigg, Babe Wright, Louise Robertson, Emma Lee Nelson, Mary Elizabeth Simpson, Lou Spragins, Lou Parrew, Elizabeth Wright, Marie Beaty, Virginia Allen, Inez Ewing, Martha Johnson, Mary Lou Johnson, Ada Hall, Marjorie Jones, Helen Van de Venter, Mae Bartlett and the honoree, Miss Barcus; Messrs. Powder Won't Hide Disgusting Pores

Now don't worry over large pores, unsightly blackheads, wrinkles and perspiration that makes the skin shiny and oily. Out in Hollywood they have the recipe for an amazing lotion that quickly corrects these flaws and makes the skin beautiful. It succeeds even when the finest special soaps and creams have failed.

The very minute you pat it on the face and neck it gets down deep into the skin and cleans out the dirt that solidifies in the pores and causes blackheads. Gently it tightens up the skin, erases wrinkles and closes the pores.

Soon, very soon, this lotion makes the skin smooth, good-looking and thereafter keeps it youthfully fresh. You'll notice, too, that biliness has disappeared and perspiration doesn't bother you any more.

Get 3 ounces of Orchard White from any druggist, mix it with the juice of 2 lemons. This gives you a full quarter-pint of the finest preparation you have ever used. Try it.

Note: In the summer this lotion keeps the skin soft, free from freckles and guards against that slathery look caused by wind and sun.—Adv.

Miss Dix Lists Things Wrong in Modern Homes

A correspondent asks me: "What's the matter with the modern home?" Well, to begin with, too often it lacks permanency. It is on wheels, literally and figuratively. Children are born in hospitals. They are reared on the street. They spend their lives moving from flat to flat. They entertain their friends in hotels and restaurants. They are buried from undertaking establishments and the only permanent residence they ever have is thir graves.

Now, nobody can have any sentimental feelings toward the baby ward in a hospital. Nobody can have any deep and abiding love for a place that he didn't live in long enough to even learn its address. Nobody nowadays sings "There is no place like home," because most of us have lived in 47 different homes that were as alike as peas in a pod, or bungalows in a new subdivision. Home influence has become negligible because it is a plant of slow growth and not a Jack's beanstalk that springs up in a single night. And we don't even give it a chance to take root before we pull it up and transplant it somewhere else.

To get the real home feeling you must own your own home and help build it until its very soil and every nail in it has become a part of you. You must have lived in the same house until every room is a record of birth and death, of feasting and merrymaking, of tears and sorrow. You must have lived in it until you have only to shut your eyes to see wedding processions and funerals going down the stairs. You must have lived in it until you have only to listen to hear the patter of little feet across the floor and the dragging steps of age.

You must have lived in it until every stick of furniture is a memory, in order to make it a home that will always be to you the holiest spot on earth and that will drag you back to it across half the world.

Another thing that is the matter with modern homes is that they are too little. Too cramped. There isn't enough elbow room in them to keep a family from digging each other in the short ribs of their individual idiosyncrasies and thereby starting fights. Architecture has more to do with morality than we think, and if I were starting out to reform the world I would begin by smashing all of the little two-by-four kitchenet abominations in which human beings are banded together and I would give every man, woman and child an individual room with honest-to-God furniture in it that was what it purported to be and not a bed that was masquerading as a flower stand or a console stand that unfolded into a chair.

Why, most of the present-day evils are the direct result of little, cramped-up homes. Why are there more old maids than there used to be? Why are there so many girls sitting out in parked automobiles of nights? Simply because in the modern home there is no place where young people can do their courting. Mother and father and little brother and sister and grandma and Uncle James and Aunt Sally are all camped in the living room, and if Gladys Maud's date has anything to say to her of a private nature they have to leave home to say it.

It cramps any young chap's style to try to make love with the whole family listening in, and none but a hero would attempt it. That is why there are fewer marriages than there were in the days when every girl had a parlor with a good sound-proof door that she could shut and behind which Adolphus Gustavus could pop the question. And it is why mothers lie awake at night wondering why their daughters don't come home.

And why are there so many hoodlum boys and girls? Because there wasn't room enough for them in the home to play games and to make things and to have their little individual collection of junk. There was no place where they could go off by themselves and make all the noise they wanted to. They were perpetually under foot and troublesome and annoying and so they were pushed out on the street to play and to acquire the knowledge of the streets and the manners and morals and ideals of the street.

And why are there so many more divorces than there used to be? Largely because the average young married couple go to live in an apartment or bungalow so little that they have only enough room in it to change their minds about wanting to be married to each other. If you would put a female saint and a he-angel into a couple of tiny rooms where they bump against each other every time they move and where there is no privacy and no space to put their individual belongings, they would fight like a cat and a dog within three months. Even the best beloved get on our nerves if we are brought in too close contact with them.

Another thing that is the matter with the modern home is that there is not enough home cooking in it. You can't build a real home on a foundation of paper bags and tin cans. Nobody can picture a happy family gathering around an evening meal that has come from the delicatessen store. Mighty little love survives dyspepsia. The homes that husbands and children like to come back to are those presided over by a woman who spends more time in the kitchen than she does at a bridge table or a matinee and whose family always see her as a divinity of the pots and pans surrounded by the savory incense of good cooking.

Finally, what's the matter with the modern home is that men and women don't put thier hearts and their backs into it. They don't realise that making a home is the biggest and most important job that two people ever tackle and that it takes patience, it takes intelligence, it takes grit, it takes salesmanship to get away with it.

They think that business is more important. That society and clubs are more important. That you go away from home to find happiness instead of making it at your own fireside. They think that home is a place where you can wear your sloppy clothes and drop your good manners and be as disagreeable as you please, and so they make their homes a place of turmoil instead of a place of peace and rest.

These are some of the things that are the matter with the modern home. There are others that we will discuss on Wednesday.

Optimists Hear Talk By Rev. S. F. Martin

Being sympathetic, cheerful, and spiritually-minded is the practical definition of optimism, Rev. S. F. Martin of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church told members of the Optimist club Wednesday noon.

The speaker vigorously discounted complaints of those who picture the world as going rapidly to the devil, and recommended that such pessimists consult a doctor.

Entertainment for the weekly meeting of Optimists was provided by Mrs. Maurice J. Adams, her daughter, Miss Maurine Adams, and Scott Griffiths. Miss Adams and Mr. Griffiths presented a Spanish dance, and a group of piano numbers was given by Mrs. Adams and her daughter.

Jess McLarry arranged the program.

Railroad Merger Bill Returns to Committee

WASHINGTON, June 18. (INS)—A modified Couzens resolution halting railroad mergers pending adoption of a permanent consolidation policy by congress will be reported back to the interstate commerce committee by a sub-committee tomorrow.

The sub-committee, which is headed by Rep. Parker, Republican of New York, chairman of the full committee, has virtually agreed to strip the Couzens bill of most of its provisions except to prevent mergers within the next year.

Wichita Girls And Counselors Leave for Camp

Two happy sub-debs of Wichita Falls left Wednesday westward bound for a summer holiday and with them, on the special car were girls from Denver, Houston, Galveston, Fort Worth, with others to join them at Amarillo. Misses Gladys Stevenson and Margaret Louise Boller, with Misses Davida Olinger and Elna Stovall, who accompany the group as counselors, wil lremain through the heated period on the "Land o' Peak's Ranch," which lies in the shadow of the Continental divide, 70 miles from Denver, five miles from Estes park and at an altitude of 8,000 feet.

There are said to be $100,000 worth of permanent buildings constructed there, all of stone and log, and Frank Cheley, who is author of half a dozen books on camp management, is the director.

Elbert Hubbard's son, Ralph Hubbard, lectures in the camp each year on Indian folklore. Girls may major in horseback riding, while mountain stream fishing is a pleasure de luxe. Beautiful lakes, high and lower peaks and little rivers abound within the camp limits. There are 20 peaks accessible for the mountain climber's club.

Parties from half a dozen states will be there this summer though the girls are limited to 58 with a sponsor for each group of four girls.

Each Sunday, awards are given for the work of the week and each Sunday, non-sectarian services are held in a beautiful spot in the woods. The "Pack-Rat," the weekly paper, is mailed to each girl's home once a week with a report of the girls' activities.

NORRIS SCORES POWER 'KING'

Nebraska Senator Assails Opposition to Speech

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Senator Norris attacked Samuel Insull in the senate today after reading newspaper reports that the Illinois public utilities magnate had sought to have Ambassador Sackett withdraw his speech prepared for delivery at the world conference on power in Berlin.

Sackett, formerly senator from Kentucky, went on record against excessive charges by the power industry as compared with production costs.

Author of the senate resolution for government operation of Muscle Shoals, Norris is an avowed foe of power interests. He recounted the visit of Insull to Sackett and said.

"Thus we learn that Samuel Insull, the great public utility magnate who at one time thought he had bought a seat in the United States senate, the same Insull who bought up all the papers in Maine to control the elections there, the same Insull is now in Berlin approaching the American ambassador and telling him what he can not say.

"Are we willing now with the Muscle Shoals problem before us, a question on which $400,000 in propaganda has been spent in the city of Washington alone, to be held up and that great project be kept so that the power trust can grab it? Are we going to submit?

"This is the same outfit which has been creeping and crawling stealthily and silently into every avenue of American life to levy tribute. It is the same outfit which has gone into back doors of the schools, the lodges, the women's clubs and even into the farm organizations."

War Veterans Pay Last Tributes To Dr. Powers in Impressive Rites

Playground Band Plays "Last Call" as Cortege Moves to Church; Rifle Squad Fires Salute at Grave

Last rites for Dr. J. W. Powers held from the Sacred Heart church Wednesday morning were marked by impressive military services conducted by members of the Pat Carrigan American Legion post, of which Dr. Powers had been a member for several years.

Following brief services conducted at the family residence, 1004 Harrison street, by Chaplain S. J. Schwab and Post-Commander C. C. Kirby, the cortege moved to the Sacred Heart church to the subdued strains of "Last Call," a funeral march, played by the Wichita Falls Playground band under the direction of Paul Seeds.

In advance of the band, and heading the military escort, were the national colors borne by uniformed color-bearers and flanked by a color guard also in service uniforms. Pallbearers wearing American Legion caps marched in military formation on either side of the hearse bearing the flag-draped casket, and were followed by uniformed firing squad of eight men in command of Capt. Carl R. Coles.

An assembly of persons of all faiths which more than filled the nave and aisles of the Sacred Heart church rose silently as the body of Dr. Powers was moved to the altar, where it was met by the colors and uniformed units, entering from either end of the transept. With Father Patrick J. O'Beirne officiating, requiem high mass was said.

By request of Mrs. Powers, widow of the deceased, three musical numbers were added to mass for the services. As the funeral party entered the church, Mendelssohn's "Consolation" was played by Miss Eerie Ward, organist. At the conclusion of the mass, Willard L. Underwood sang the complete text of Schubert's "Ave Maria," and just preceding the recessional, Jules Constantin sang Herbert Johnson's "Face to Face."

As the cortege moved from the church to Sacred Heart cemetery, it was led as far as Brook avenue by the Playground band. Following interment, a salute of three volleys was fired over the grave by the firing squad, and taps was sounded by Bugler Leonard K. Hotham. The flag which draped the casket was presented by the American Legion to Mrs. Powers.

Active pallbearers were George L. Kelly, C. H. Gannon, John J. Laughlin, E. S. Cooke, Frank Brainerd and J. H. Sullivan. Members of the Wichita County Medical society, of which Dr. Powers served as president in 1929, were honorary pallbearers.

American Legion members assisting in the military services accorded Dr. Powers were Chaplain S. J. Schwab, Post-Commander C. C. Kirby, and Capt. Carl R. Coles; color bearers, Paul Backus and N. Manoushagian; color guard, Arthur O. Johnson and R. C. Man; bugler, Leonard K. Hotham; firing squad, Jesse T. Ryle, Roy J. Daniel, Ellis McCain, R. W. Thompson, V. V. Music, Henry W. Davis, J. R. Julison and J. F. Friberg; files closer, N. Martz.

Dr. Powers died early Monday morning following an extended illness. Besides his widow, he is survived by a son, Jack, 8; his mother, Mrs. Mary Powers of Grand Rapids, Mich., and a brother, Eddie Powers of Detroit, Mich.

NEW ORLEANS, June 18. (AP)—Thomas J. Freeman, general counsel for the Texas and Pacific railroad, announced today that an appeal would be taken to the United States supreme court from the federal decision at Galveston yesterday in the port rate parity case.

Three federal judges held that the Interstate Commerce commission had justly prescribed lower rates on grain and other commodities from points in Texas and Oklahoma to Texas ports than to New Orleans.

WAGNER BILL GETS APPROVAL

Hoover Hears Reports of Less Unemployment

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—While President Hoover was receiving an encouraging version of the unemployment situation, the house judiciary committee today approved an amended Wagner bill for advanced planning of public works to combat unemployment.

William A. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, carried word to the White House of evidence "that we are reaching a point of improvement." He expects the census to show conditions are not as bad as pictured in some quarters.

The house committee referred to a subcommittee the Wagner bill to establish a national system of employment bureaus sponsored by Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York. Both measures have been passed by the senate.

The New Yorker's third measure approved by the senate, providing for collection of unemployment statistics, has been sanctioned by the house labor committee. An attempt is to be made to obtain house action on the three companion bills.

Leaving the White House, Green recalled his testimony before a house committee that placed the unemployed at 3,600,000. This included however, he said, those who were sick and out of work, those laid off through seasonal shut downs and other causes, while the census bureau is interested primarily in counting those who are out of work and seeking jobs.

The labor department urged to the president that the census bureau's report be speeded up and made public as soon as possible, to enable the undertaking of remedial steps.

State Presents Rebuttal Witnesses in Death Case

ORANGE, Texas, June 18. (AP)—The state this afternoon put rebuttal witnesses on the stand in an effort to tear down the defense contention that Will C. White, Orange policeman, shot to death at the home of N. C. Perkins, now being tried on a charge of murder, was intoxicated on the night of the slaying, March 26.

George L. Gibson, Orange county deputy sheriff, took the stand and declared that White had not been drinking when he talked to him at 10:15 o'clock on the night of the shooting.

Elzena Cooper, negress, was the first rebuttal witness put on by the state.

$5,000 Compensation for Mrs. Wirkkula Urged

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Recommending the payment of $5,000 to the widow of Henry Wirkkula, who was shot and killed by a customs patrol inspector in Minnesota, the house claims committee today reported to the house that the man lost his life "through the negligence of a government agent."

Wirkkula was shot by Emmet J. White, who said he thought Wirkkula was a bootlegger. White was tried in a federal court at Duluth and acquitted on a charge of manslaughter.

Veterans Relief Bill Laid Aside in Senate

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—After a round of discussion, the veterans relief measure was laid aside in the senate today with prospects for final vote tomorrow.

Several proposals to fix a definite hour for the roll call were rejected, however.

Farm Board Dairy Head to Plainview

Special to The Record News

PLAINVIEW, Texas, June 18.—William F. Schilling of Minneapolis, member of the federal farm board, representing dairy and poultry industries, will be in Plainview, July 25 and 26, for the purpose of conferring with officials and members of the Hale County Dairy association's cooperative creamery with reference to affiliating the institution with the farm board in marketing its products.

Interest in Schilling's visit to Plainview and the South Plains is heightened because of renewed activity on the part of dairy and poultry men throughout this area toward cooperative marketing organizations. The Hale County Cooperative creamery is the outstanding co-op of Texas and the Southwest, and officials of the institution anticipate the conference with Schilling to result in their alignment with the Land o' Lakes Creameries, Inc., of Minneapolis.

The Land o' Lakes association includes more than 500 cooperatives, including dairy and poultry co-ops. These are scattered throughout the United States.

Sherman Grand Jury Resumes Riot Probe

SHERMAN, Texas, June 18. (AP)—The grand jury of the 15th district court reconvened today for further investigation of charges against persons said to have been involved in the mob violence of May 9, when the Grayson county courthouse was burned in an effort to deal summarily with a negro attacker.

The jury was charged by Judge R. M. Carter and William A. Wade and G. W. Derby, representing the attorney general of Texas, arrived to assist in the investigation.

YOUNG URGES BANK CHANGES

Chain System Needed to Meet Conditions

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18. (INS)—America's banking system must be revamped to meet changing economic conditions and "the logic of events forces us to conclude that branch banking within limited areas is a reasonable concession," Gov. Roy A. Young, of the federal reserve board, declared today before the Minnesota Bankers association.

Although declaring that the unit bank, which has been the basis of the American Banking system for many years always will have an important place in the financial structure Young asserted he personally concurred in the general recommendations of Comptroller of the Currency J. W. Pole that national banks be permitted to extend branches throughout trade areas surrounding them.

"Had we been willing before the war to have countenanced branch banking in a limited trade area, I believe many of the unfortunate failures of the last decade might have been avoided," Young declared.

The reserve board head said that two causes stand out as the most important factors in the necessity for revamping the banking structure. He mentioned the large volume of bank failures, especially among small banks, and changes in economic and social conditions "which have made a readjustment of banking organization and practice inevitable."

LAND BANK SYSTEM LAUDED AT DENVER

DENVER, Colo., June 18. (AP)—The federal land bank system was described to the American Institute of Banking today as "the greatest cooperative first farm mortgage institution in the world" by Wood Netherland, president of the Federal Land bank of St. Louis.

Mr. Netherland said the federal land banks launched out on an uncharted course and before they had an opportunity to accumulate reserves in any volume, farmers were plunged into the most depressing era agriculture has experienced in a half century.

"The system has weathered trials that have tested its strength during a most crucial period," said Mr. Netherland. "It's achievements and services have demonstrated its fundamental soundness and usefulness. Taking all these factors into consideration it would seem that faith in our nation, in the fundamental soundness of our farm loan system, and faith in the farmers who constitute the bulwark of our national strength would fully justify confidence in the future growth and progress of the system."

SCHOOL'S OUT

Six Chinese Come to America to Learn 'Art' of Crime

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Six Chinese, bursting with ambition and thirsting for education in the art of murder, sat disconsolately today in cells on Ellis island, with their dream shattered of matriculating in what they believed to be the Finishing School of Crime, Chicago.

The six Chinese told Customs Inspector McAlarney who captured them aboard the the Panama mail liner Columbia, that they had come all the way from China to get experience in Chicago gang warfare so they could go back and try their knowledge on the home folks.

'DRY' PROPOSES REPEAL OF LAW

Michaelson Presents Plan to Congress

WASHINGTON, June 18. (UP)—Representative M. A. Michaelson, Republican of Illinois, who has supported dry law enforcement, today introduced a resolution in the house for repeal of the 18th amendment and giving complete control over the liquor traffic to congress.

Explaining his stand, Michaelson declared that he is neither a wet nor dry, but that he is convinced that the 18th amendment has failed to accomplish its purpose.

Michaelson sprang into the public eye when he was charged with smuggling liquor into Florida from Cuba, but was acquitted.

Michaelson has generally been classed as a dry and is said to have been acceptable to the anti-Saloon league. He was not in congress when the Volstead act was passed, but voted for the Campbell amendment preventing the sale of beer as a medicine and for the Jones "five and ten law."

the ballots taken by the Literary Digest, have convinced me that the people of this country are losing faith in the efficacy of both the 18th amendment and legislation passed in pursuance of it," said Michaelson.

"I have come to the conclusion that the people of my district and generally throughout the country, hold this amendment and these laws to be responsible for much of the graft, corruption and crime which has become general throughout the country.

Witnesses Identify Pair As Officer's Slayers

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 18. (UP)—Two witnesses identified H. D. Bradbury and Charles Points today as the two men who fatally shot Patrolman J. D. Gates as he guarded a grocery store.

The two men are on trial on murder charges in connection with the patrolman's death. Two girls, Irene Casey, 17, and Dorothy Ward, 16, drug store employes made the identification.

Nearly a year was required by the Rev. Arthur L. Kitching, bishop of the Upper Nile, in his last tour of his diocese, which covers 264,000 square miles in Egypt, and has a population of 4,500,000.

"MAN MUST KILL THE FLY OR THE FLY WILL KILL MAN"

Says The Indiana State Board of Health

WHY? Isn't the common house fly harmless? Just about as harmless as a loaded revolver. "Flies carry typhoid fever, consumption, diarrheal diseases, diphtheria, and scarlet fever" this health board says. When someone comes down sick in your home, the cause may be the fly you saw last week buzzing in your kitchen, or crawling on your dining room table. What can you do about it?

Be comfortable and safe. Keep your home insect-free. Spray Flit, which is guaranteed (or money back) to be quick-death to flies, mosquitoes, moths, roaches, bedbugs and other household insects. Yet its clean-smelling vapor is harmless to humans.

Flit kills quicker if you use the special inexpensive Flit Sprayer. Insist on Flit and don't accept a substitute. Get yours this very day.

Two Idiotic Captains
A Laboratory Death
No Philosophy in It
Divorce Not an Evil

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Two boats collide in a fog off the Massachusetts coast. One of them, a tanker, bursts into flame and sinks while igniting the other. Forty-six persons perish in a blazing sea. In the face of this disaster the captain of the liner which rams the tanker sees no need for coast guard help. In the meantime the captain of the other boat does not respond to a wireless offer of help because it is not properly signed. Some will wonder how the loss of lives was limited to 46 with such captains in charge.

All the elements of romance—royalty, youth, love, wealth, and an impossible dream—figure in the life of Donald S. Andrews, chemical engineer, found dead in his sumptuous laboratory on the banks of the Shrewsbury river, with his unachieved synthetic precious gems beside him. He was only 36. When he was 21 this same young man, while still at Yale, eloped with an Austrian princess, who divorced him and committed suicide at the Paris Victory ball. One thing is missing—a balanced philosophy of life. Lack of it ruined Mr. Andrews, as it is ruining thousands of brilliant young men all over the world.

Three faiths—Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian—after unanimously affirming marriage as the lifelong union of a man and a woman, denounce divorce as an evil. Divorce has its evils, no doubt. But divorce itself is far from being evil. On the contrary, mankind has been delivered, through it, from one of its most insufferable superstitions. To err is human, to forgive divine. Divorce is one way of forgiving two persons who have erred. No forgiveness could be more divine.

Commencement addresses avail themselves of the questionable privilege of berating the times. Jazz, materialism, clothes, morality, all come in for good whacking. At Fordham university Cardinal Hayes tells the world it is too mechanical and over-scientific. Dr. Taaffe condemns the age as "characterized by a spiritual darkness unique in the history of Christendom."

The reference Dr. Taaffe cites in support of his contention and as foreshadowing our present decadence (Dante's allegory of the companions of Ulysses changed into swine), should have shown the good professor his error. It was exactly in an era adjudged the most perditious and corrupt, the dark ages, that two spiritual stars of the first magnitude, Dante and Erasmus, shone most brilliantly.

The citizens of New York pay approximately $1,000,000 to see Mr. Sharkey and Mr. Schmeling contend for the heavyweight championship. It is a successful fight in a good cause—the New York milk fund of which Mrs. William Randolph Hearst is chairman. The audience comprises people in all walks of life. The majority, from the highest to the lowest, attend to satisfy the old instinct for combat and their old thirst for blood letting.

Lucky at love, unlucky at cards, is an old saying. But Jenny Dolly, American dancer, is lucky at both. She wins $80,000 at baccarat in Le Touquet Casino, France, and will probably proceed to spend it in the fastest way possible. There is another saying which goes: A fool and his money are soon parted. That's truer than the first saying.

Mr. Lemmie Peters, whose graduation essay, "We've Left the Bay an' the Ocean Lies Before Us," electrified our citizens some thirteen years ago, is bein' favorably mentioned fer the honor o' makin' the principal address at the openin' o' the new sody fountain at the Elite druggery an' barbecue. "I've long been reconsiled, an' I won't mind it a bit if I'm called without havin' seen Rudy Vallee," says Gran-maw Hadley, ninety-nine.

Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, movie stars, married recently, should get along nicely unless, of course, Daniels decides to rearrange things in the Lyon's den.

"Space," says Einstein, "is eating up matter." Looking for parking space does have that effect on gray matter.

Getting Too Old—at 30

THE WISE VIRGIN will fill her lamp with oil and be ready when the bridegroom cometh, exactly as her great, great, very great grandmother was almost 2,000 years ago. The chances are that a husband will last considerably longer than a job, according to statistics gathered in a recent survey of employment agencies and industries which employ women.

An increasingly large number of employers are refusing to accept a girl who has reached the age of 30. Twenty-nine stands as a ripe old age, the last year in which it is possible for a maiden to attempt economic independence.

The survey further reveals that those who have already obtained places in the business world may find themselves classified in the ranks of the feeeble upon reaching their 34th birthdays. A woman's usefulness is on the wane, so far as industry is concerned, at that stage.

That women themselves are aware of this is witnessed in the attempt to maintain perpetual youth. Instead of being one's age as gracefully and graciously as possible, women, the last few years, have tried to achieve a perennial 16.

Economic independence for women will suffer a setback if the recent survey is true. They will not be able to count the blessings, one by one, of those who ride shoulder to shoulder with men in the pursuit of life, happiness and a career.

It is a generally accepted fact that a woman's chances of marriage are on the decrease after 25. If her business opportunities are to be placed on a sliding scale, it is quite probable that she will brush up on her biscuits and jams instead of on her typing. It would seem that it is wiser for a maiden to prepare a batch of apple sauce and leave the bacon for Adam to bring home.

Thirty-five is generally accepted by critics as the age at which a woman is supposed to be in the prime of her charm. This may be true, but according to industry she is an old lady. Fortunately, a woman is still efficient as a wife and mother after 29. And maybe she will function more completely in this dual role if the chain of ages is firmly implanted, for married women, who are attempting to increase the family bank account, may find themselves on the retired list.

But those women who secured their jobs under the old regime, forgetting that it would have to give way to the new some day, will have to brush up on their efficiency. Thirty-four is old—too old.

Pledges Are Due

LIKE the first century apostle Paul, practically all of us like to boast that "we are citizens of no mean city." The individual citizen not only rejoices in recognition gained by his home town, but unconsciously lifts his chest a little higher, squares his shoulders a bit more, to name himself as its representative.

Universal interests, wide viewpoints and constant outreaching for new knowledge are elements in the cosmopolitanism to which every city aspires. The fact that provincialism is broken down by inclusion of many elements in a city's population is one of the potent attractions of urban life.

Wichita Falls is facing today one of the best opportunities offered in its history for the enrichment of its collective intelligence and erudition. Well laid plans have been adopted by the Junior chamber of commerce and a diligent committee, for inaugurating the Open Forum in September. The announced list of speakers reveals the standard of informative discourses which will be provided for the public in this community. Solid support for the forum will constitute one of the most constructive pieces of civic work that can be accomplished.

The Junior chamber of commerce offices hold $1,200 worth of pledges, or thereabouts, accepted during the spring as tokens of serious intention to establish the Open Forum here. They are now ready for the money. Work has begun. Most of the pledges are small, but their early payment is highly important to the success of the movement. Those who have worked persistently for several months to make the forum possible are justified now in asking that the pledges be paid at the earliest possible date.

Defending Mexico's Good Name

IT IS not hard to understand why the republic of Mexico is preparing to censor all imported American films and books to see to it that nothing "degrading to Mexico" is allowed to pass.

National pride has come to life strongly below the Rio Grande during the last few years. The government is trying to foster it; and however little you may like the idea of censorship, you must admit that this supervision of American books and movies is not without reason.

The Mexican almost invariably plays the role of villain in an American story or film. Indeed, whenever a Mexican character comes on the scene the seasoned reader, or playgoer, knows at once that he is up to no good; and if a group of Mexicans comes on one can be prepared for skullduggery on a large scale.

Mexico's censorship, accordingly, isn't hard to understand.

American Musicians Are Moist

AND now the 35th annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians, in session in the city of Boston, by an overwhelming majority adopted a resolution favoring the repeal of the Volstead act. For some years the organization has had a standing resolution favoring the modification of the act, but the modification was changed to repeal this year. Canned music has been placed on the black list by the federation and, as this is election year, the musicians are expected to vote as they talk, play and drink. It is a grand old world for a looker-on in the tree tops.

"SHEILA"

Love and Mystery
Humor and Tragedy

A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sheila Wilber, daughter of William Oliver Wilber, manufacturer and inventor gives a dinner party at her home for Samuel Enderby and James Westervelt, electrical experts, who are negotiating for the purchase of Wilber's invention, a new type of electric light. Enderby is accompanied by his 8-year old son, Dick. Other guests include Joseph Hedley, assistant district prosecutor, Sheila's fiance; Frank Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer, whose hobby is solving crime mysteries, and Andy Masters, Sheila's wayward cousin. A few days before the dinner party a safe in Wilber's experimental home laboratory was burglarized and a diary of Wilber's wife, now dead, stolen. The diary holds a secret of Sheila's birth and Sheridan, in the role of amateur detective, is on the burglar's trail. Following the dinner Wilber demonstrates his invention for the visiting experts. The invention consists of a small metal cylinder through which electric currents of varying intensity were passed by throwing a series of knife switches. After all the dinner guests have departed except Sheridan and Hedley, Lena Swartz, a maid, is found dead on the laboratory floor by Clara, the Wilber cook. The coroner finds death due to accidental electrocution. Sheridan, discovering one of the switches mysteriously closed, is not satisfied with the accident theory, and it is agreed he shall conduct an investigation without the help of the police. He scents a connection between the safe robbery and Lena's death.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XX

"What a devilish chain of trivialities!" Wilber exclaimed. "Each of no importance in itself and yet when combined they lead to tragedy. A splash of glue, a piece of waste insulation, the innocent action of Enderby in placing the cylinder in that exact spot on the bench instead of handing it back to me, my failure to notice the insulation adhering to the cylinder before I replaced it in the jig! Even the overturning of a can of water by Dicky Enderby—the water on the floor, formed a perfect ground for the current through poor Lena's body. The omission of any one of these links, except possibly the last, would have broken the deadly chain." He shrugged his shoulders in a gesture of helplessness and despair.

"I am not so sure all the links in the chain were fortuitous," said Sheridan. "It was too perfect and I'm suspicious of casual perfection."

"Not fortuitous, not accidental! I don't follow you."

"In my reconstruction of what may have happened in this room I was only building on one theory," Sheridan replied. "It could have happened that way, but other explanations are possible. Keep in mind that another person, so far unknown to us, was in the room in the interval between our departure and Lena's entry. That is the only way to explain the closed switch. What was he doing here and why did he throw the switch? Isn't it possible that before he turned on the current he may have intentionally inserted the insulation between the clip and cylinder in such a manner that it would drop at a touch?"

"But why? What would be the motive?" Hedley asked.

"To kill somebody!" Sheridan asserted. His two auditors looked at him with startled eyes.

"Wait a minute!" he interrupted their incredulous exclamations. "If this theory is the correct one, I am sure the plotter's plans went awry. Lena could not have been the intended victim, unless—" he paused in thought, "unless—yes, that is possible—unless he sent her in to her death."

"Oh, no!" Wilber dissented. "Lena was an inoffensive, good-natured, rather stupid girl. No one could have any reason for harming her."

"That seems very true," Sheridan agreed, "but I am canvassing all of the possibilities. If we eliminate Lena for the time from our calculations, and consider her only as an accidental victim of a carefully prepared murder plot, we must try to find the real intended victim. The circumstances point logically to only one person."

"Who?" Wilber asked.

"Yourself," Sheridan replied very calmly.

"My God, man, that is absurd! Why should anyone want to kill me?"

"I don't know, yet," Sheridan replied, "but look at it in the light of reason. If Lena had not intruded here, who naturally would have been the first person to return to this room? Last night, just before Clara screamed, you remembered you had left the door unlocked. If nothing had happened, you would have gone immediately to the laboratory and you would have taken the cylinder from the clips to lock it in its accustomed place in the safe. You, in that case, would have been the one to die. The person who set the death trap, if a trap were set, knew your habit of keeping the laboratory locked and seized the opportunity when he found it open. He may have been waiting and watching for such an opportunity."

"Oh, impossible!" Wilber protested, "that would mean some member of my own household or guests."

"Not necessarily. It was a warm summer night and most of the doors and windows were open. An intruder could have gained entrance to the house easily, but your household and guests must come under friendly suspicion, at least if we are to consider every possibility. In the test of this theory, every person here last night must be considered a potential murderer, even myself and Joe, until he is eliminated, either by full proof of his innocence or the discovery of the guilty person."

"We must trace so far as we can the movements of everyone who was here," he went on. "We can safely narrow down the inquiry at first to those who were familiar with the house who knew about your invention and experiments and how this room was guarded."

"That's just why I say your sinister suspicions are far-fetched," Wilber interjected. "They are so few who come in that category and it is preposterous to to suspect any of them—myself, Sheila, Mr. Hedley, Andy, Clara, yourself, that's all. I think that line of inquiry may be dropped at once as leading nowhere. I also think it eliminates the whole theory of attempted murder."

"Possibly," Sheridan agreed, "but you forget that someone threw that switch. He is the 'X' in this problem which cannot be solved until he is identified."

"Oh, be reasonable Frank," Hedley broke in, "surely you don't suspect Mr. Wilber of trying to kill himself; you didn't do it yourself; you're not ass enough to think I did it; Clara's whole behavior shows clearly she had nothing to do with it; it is ridiculous even to think of Sheila in such a connection and as for Andy, he makes a poor picture of the cold-blooded, calculating villain you have drawn in the soaring flight of your imagination. I agree with Mr. Wilber; you're on the wrong track; come down to earth. You'll have to look much farther afield for your mysterious Mr. X."

"Now, don't get excited," Sheridan replied, placatingly. "No accusations are being made. This is only conjectural, a process of running down every possible trail. I want to be open-minded to every possibility, that is all. Let's pass that phase and consider the others who were here last night. Mrs. Rogers and her daughter, and Sheila's other friends, the Misses Whipple, Anderson and Sheldon may safely be checked off. The caterer's men are unknown quantity; I must look them up carefully. That leaves only Enderby and Westervelt."

"And Dicky," Hedley added sarcastically. "There's your deep-eyed villain!"

"And Dicky," Sheridan repeated without a smile. "I won't forget him. "What do you know about Enderby and Westervelt?" he asked, turning to Wilber. "Are you sure they were bona fide representatives of the Demorel company?"

Wilber laughed. "I never saw either of them until they arrived at my office yesterday. But they presented a letter of introduction from an official of the Demorel company, with whom I had been in correspondence. It referred to matters which I had discussed with no one other than the Demorel company official. I think that establishes their identity and standing very well. But even were they impostors, what would they have to gain by my death? This inquisition is leading nowhere," he concluded impatiently.

"The motive, the motive! That's the stumbling block," said Sheridan. "The whole theory of attempted murder is untenable until we find some reason for it. If it were not for the thrown switch I would abandon it entirely; but until that is explained I won't be satisfied. Is it possible that Lena could have turned on the current herself? Is it likely that some unknown person could have done it accidentally, or unknowingly, or without sinister intention?" He shrugged his shoulders.

"That can wait a while, though," he continued, "now, back to Lena. By the way, her acquaintance with Westervelt may have some significance. I would like to be present when he learns of her death and the circumstances surrounding it. There's another line of investigation to be followed up. Pass it now. Why did Lena go into the laboratory? Why did she lay hands upon the cylinder? That curiosity bunkum I gave the corner and the reporter was all rot, of course."

He looked inquiringly at Wilber who shook his head without response.

"Well, here's another story; its the one that first came into my mind, but it does not explain the mystery of the closed switch: Lena came in here to steal the cylinder."

"What?" Wilbur exclaimed. "Oh, I can't agree with you. She knew nothing of its value; she never showed the slightest interest in any of my work here. She was ignorant, as stolid as an ox."

"Granted," Sheridan replied. "Just the type who would be an easy tool in the hands of a more intelligent, designing person. Here is a bit of information that may point the way: Lena was entertaining a caller on the kitchen porch last night, so Sheila tells me. He was known to her as 'Mr. Riley.'"

"Great Scott!" Hedley exclaimed. "I see what you are driving at! Riley—Riley Morgan, of course. The burglar!"

"You've guessed it." Sheridan replied with a smile, "Riley Morgan, the man who, I am convinced, robbed the safe of Mrs. Wilber's diary, back again for other and more valuable loot."

Q.—Where are the Casa Grande islands?—J. S. W.

A.—Casa Grande is a ruined structure of prehistoric origin in the valley of the Gila river, near Florence, Ariz. It may have been seen by white men connected with the Coronado expedition, 1540; it was certainly discovered by Padre Kino in 1694, and was re-visited by him in 1697. In 1889, congress provided for the protection of the ruin as a monument of antiquity, and in 1892 the structure and the adjacent grounds were set apart as a public reservation in care of a custodian. It is of cajon or pise construction, i. e., adobe or mud, molded in place, in walls three to five feet thick at the ground, thinning upward. The surfaces were plastered with a slip of adobe clay. There are five rooms in the ground plan; portions of three stories remain, and there may have been a fourth in part of the structure. Recent exploration under Dr. Fewkes has shown that the main structure described above is only a small part of the ruin. The buildings are assembled in great walled rectangles called compounds, of which four exist at this ruin. The Casa Grande ruin is almost in a class by itself, but in pottery, etc., it shows very strong affiliations with the Pueblo ruins, of which it may perhaps be considered a frontier example. It may have been built by the ancestors of the modern Pima who inhabit the country today, but it seems more likely that its builders were other people of a more distinct Pueblo type.

Q.—Please tell something of Richard Crookes' history as a singer.—P. S.

A.—Richard Crookes is a native of New Jersey. He began singing as a boy soprano in a church choir and kept this position from the time he was 9 years old until he was 14. His choir master, Sidney Boune, urged him to go into music as a profession and was at great pains to lay for him the necessary foundation and study. He went to New York City and continued to sing in church choirs, later going into the larger field of concert work. Not many years ago, he made his first appearance on the concert stage abroad and is considered there as well as here one of the finest American-born tenors.

Q.—What is a phylactery?—W. B. H.

A.—Figuratively speaking, it is a reminder. It is, in reality, a small leathern box, containing slips of parchment on which are written Scriptural passages. Two such boxes are worn by Jews, one on the head and one on the left arm during the time of prayer on all mornings except those of Sabbaths and holy days. The passages are Exodus XIII, 1-10 and 11-16, and Deuteronomy VI, 4-9 and XI, 13-22, and are reminders of obligation to keep the law.

Q.—What is a tracer bullet?—C. E. M.

A.—The tracer bullet consists of a steel jacket with a core of smoke-producing material. When fired the core burns and the bullet in flight can be traced by the stream of smoke. The material of which the core is constructed loses practically no weight in burning so that the tracer bullet takes the same path as the regular bullet.

Q.—Where was the first Protestant church built in America?—R. V. D.

A.—It was the brick church built at Jamestown, Va., by the earliest English colonists, who landed in 1607. The church was dedicated in 1617 and was built of brick bought from England. It was destroyed by fire and rebuilt and was afterward destroyed. At the present time only a part of the original tower remains. The Island of Jamestown is preserved for the benefit of the entire American people.

Q.—What is the pulp production in Canada and the United States?—E. W. D.

A.—The forest service says that the total pulp production in Canada has risen from 1,716,000 tons in 1919 to 3,608,000 tons in 1928. In the United States the production in 1919 was 3,517,000 tons and this production has risen steadily up to 1928 when it amounted to 4,510,000 tons.

Q.—What states have laws against hitch-hiking?—G. A.

A.—At last report, hitch-hiking was unlawful in Wisconsin, Minnesota, New Jersey and Maine.

Q.—What city has the largest Chinatown?—S. C.

A.—San Francisco has the largest Chinatown outside of China.

Q.—How many Confederate soldiers are still living?—E. L. K.

A.—There are about 19,000.

Special to The Record News

DALHART, Texas, June 18.—Tourist traffic through Dalhart has been on the increase recently and the summer travel to Colorado has had much to do with the increase. FIRE MARSHAL LISTS HAZARDS

State Institutions Named in Report

AUSTIN, June 18. (UP)—State Fire Marshall Deweese today said the Wichita Falls State hospital for the insane, the State Orphans Home at Corsicana, the Boys and Girls Training School at Gainesville, the the Home for Neglected Children at Waco and the Abilene Hospital for Epileptics all contained fire hazards.

Conditions in the main are not so bad as once reported, Deweese said. Dangerous handling of trash and leaving gasoline and oil in open containers was criticized at some of the institutions. Lack of sufficient chemical extinguishers and fire hose was noted at others.

More chemical extinguishers for Wichita Falls, more hose and nozzles for Gainesville and more chemical extinguishers for the Waco home were recommended.

CROWDED CONDITIONS HERE TO BLAME FOR HAZARDS

Fire hazards which exist at the Wichita Falls State hospital are due almost entirely to the crowded condition of the buildings and to the genesal lack of room, Dr. C. W. Castner, superintendent of the hospital, told The Record News Wednesday night. Fire Marshall Deweese declared on a recent visit here that the local authorities had taken every precaution possible under existing conditions, Dr. Castner said. Remedy for the condition must come through legislative appropriation.

The state officials recommendation for more fire extinguishers here arose through a difference of opinion as to the size of the apparatus. Dr. Castner pointed out that selection of the equipment is made by the state board of control, and has suggested to Mr. Deweese that he confer with members of the board.

Elaborate Plans For 'Juneteenth' Celebration Today

Several thousand negroes of Wichita Falls Thursday will observe "Juneteenth," celebrated as emancipation day by the colored race throughout the nation.

Church picnics, a dance at Lake Wichita and various other activities have been planned for the day. An all-day picnic free to all negroes is being sponsored by the A. M. E. church, with Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., Mrs. W. W. Sudik and other representatives of the city's white population as speakers. Barbecue will be the principal dish. The picnic grounds will be at the foot of Brick street.

Dr. H. D. Pethford's orchestra from Milwaukee will furnish music for a matinee dance at the Lakeside park pavilion beginning at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon and another dance beginning at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. "Little Lonzo on the banjo" and Willie Jefferson of Oklahoma City, "the dancing wizard," will be features at the dance.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 18. (UP)—Oklahomans were urged today by State Health Commissioner Clyde W. Beson to use great care in the selection of proper food during the hot summer months.

Fourteen scarlet fever cases were isolated compared with 18 the previous week.

Typhoid fever cases totalled nine, an increase of six over the previous week. Diphtheria, however, registered a decrease with only five cases this week compared with 13 the previous week.

Court Decides Leases Valid

1929 Law Too Late to Void Bids Already Asked

AUSTIN, June 18. (AP)—Holding that the statute passed by the legislature in 1929 withdrawing lands of the University of Texas from the market did not affect the sale of leases on lands that already had been placed in demand and advertised, the supreme court today held that bids submitted on certain tracts in Andrews and Ward counties were valid and were binding on the state.

The ruling was made by the supreme court in answer to certified questions by the commission of appeals. The suit was inaugurated after J. T. Robinson, former commissioner of the general land office, had advertised certain tracts of university land for sale and then withdrew the land on advice of the attorney general.

The supreme court held the withdrawal act unconstitutional as it pertained to land on which a demand had been made and on which bids had been submitted. It ruled that Robinson had no power to withdraw lands from the market that had been termed class B and had no right to postpone opening of the bids and awarding of the contracts. Class B land had been designated as land on which a specific demand had been made that it be placed on the market.

BIG CADILLAC WINS FAVOR

16 - Cylinder Car Meets Heavy Demand

The Cadillac Motor Car company reports shipments from the factory for May of 2,219 units. Considering somewhat lessened buying which has prevailed throughout the spring months, this is a satisfactory showing, according to the company president, Lawrence P. Fisher.

"Of the total shipments," continues Mr. Fisher, "445 were V-16's, the new 16-cylinder Cadillac launched at the beginning of the year. This figure corresponds with a volume of 576 for last month, and, bearing in mind that the 16-cylinder Cadillacs are all exclusive custom jobs selling in a much higher price range than that in which either Cadillac or La Salle V-eights ever sold, the figure is one of unusual significance.

"We have been unable to catch up with demand on the 16 and have an accumulation of orders which we are greatly in arrears on delivery.

"While the acceptance of the V-16 has been remarkable and sales have exceeded our most optimistic hopes, we look upon this car in a rather different light than either the Cadillac V-8 or the La Salle V-8.

"The V-16 is a custom creation of extreme performance possibilities highly personalized in detail and finish and built for a rather limited clientele.

"As was announced at the time of its introduction, the V-16 will not replace either Cadillac-8 or La Salle-8, neither will Cadillac or La Salle become 16-cylinder cars. The Cadillac and the La Salle will continue to be powered with the Cadillac V-type and eight-cylinder engine and will remain our principal business so far as volume is concerned.

"Despite below normal conditions the Cadillac Motor Car company and its dealer organization has enjoyed a satisfactory business so far this year. New car sales have not been so numerous to be sure, but motoring equipment in the hands of owners is being used to the same extent as always and though replacements may be deferred they cannot be indefinitely postponed.

"During the past several years the Cadillac Motor Car company has pursued an aggressive merchandising policy in connection with used cars.

"Our distributors and dealers have come to look upon this branch of their business as of equal importance with new cars and the public, sensing this attitude, has evidenced its confidence and appreciation.

"Used car turn-over in relation to stocks in the field is greater than ever and total used car stock at this time is $1,065,000 less than at the same time last year.

"In this respect Cadillac and La Salle distributors and dealers find themselves in especially good condition.

"We look forward to a good summer and a greatly improved fall business."

drink while in office. This is not limited to prohibition enforcement departments but to every officer in every office of the precincts, counties and state."

Prison Proposal

Pointing out that Mrs. Ferguson believed she could make the prisons pay by inducing the prisoners to work through use of the pardoning power to give them hope, the former governor said his wife would "pardon 2,000 prisoners as soon as she got into office and could determine whether 2,000 were deserving of pardons." He said she did not favor moving the prisons but would favor a reorganization of the present system and a clearing up of the existing congestion.

Mr. Ferguson also concentrated on the question of roads in his address. Mrs. Ferguson, he said, is opposed to a state bond issue for roads but would favor an elective highway commission. The state bond issue would "bankrupt the state and make slaves of us all," he stated. He reverted to the old controversy which arose during the Ferguson administration and denied the charges that he and his wife were stealing money from "the black-top roads."

Opposes Big Vehicles

"Mrs. Ferguson would favor taking the big truck and buses off the roads," he said. "The roads are for Sally and the baby and we should let them have what is theirs."

In stressing Mrs. Ferguson's stand for more economy in the administration of the government, he said his wife favored the elimination of duplication in offices. He cited as an instance of this stand the combination of the county tax assessor and collector in one office and the election of only one man to fill the places of both.

"She favors keeping Texas money in Texas," he said. "She would favor a law prohibiting any bank from being a state, county or city depository if that bank loaned money out of the state."

He also laid emphasis on Mrs. Ferguson's stand in favor of a law allowing debtors two years to redeem property by paying interest after foreclosure.

"While I myself am against prohibition," he said, "Mrs. Ferguson is in favor of it and both of us believe in enforcement of the law regardless of our personal opinions."

Before the rally Mr. Ferguson said he expected to visit Wichita Falls in the interests of the campaign sometime before the run-off but probably would not be able to go there before the primary.

New York Police Search City for Murder Maniac

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Police Commissioner Mulrooney today marshalled his forces to set a trap for a homicidal maniac who threatened to commit his third murder tonight in the Borough of Queens. Hundreds of police, many called in from vacations, guarded the borough, especially the isolated sections, to capture the slayer, who has shot two men in cold blood as they sat in automobiles with young women companions.

The police had a good description of the slayer who was believed to be a maniac with a craze for cheap melodrama. The description was given by the two girls who saw their companions slain.

Inflammation of the Mucous Membranes

The mucous membranes throughout the body show much the same symptoms when inflamed. They are readily irritated and for this reason there are very few people who do not suffer from an inflammation of some of the mucous membranes some of the time.

When you have a cold, the mucous membranes in your nose and throat are inflamed; when you have bronchitis, the mucous membranes of your bronchial tubes are inflamed; when you have gastritis, the mucous membranes in your stomach are inflamed; when you have enteritis, the mucous membranes in your intestines are inflamed; when you have sinus infections, the mucous membrane of the bladder is inflamed.

Any of the mucous membranes may become inflamed as a result of local irritation, or by inflammation spreading from an adjacent region, but usually they become inflamed because the secretions passing through them are toxic and irritating and allow the development of bacteria. The greatest majority of cases are of this type. The real cause of this condition lies in a polluted blood stream, for the secretions of the mucous membranes must come from the blood, and lymph, and when these are too toxic, an elimination of some of the poisons takes place through the mucous membranes and it is the principal cause of their becoming inflamed.

Since there is a similar case for all of these troubles, whether the inflammation is in the nose, throat, bronchial tubes or colon, it is not surprising that the same type of dieting regime proves helpful in all of these cases. Of course, if some local irritation is producing the inflammation, it may require local treatment, but the dietetic regime will prove effective in an amazing proportion of mucous membrane inflammations.

The first thing to do is to cleanse the blood stream by using an eliminative fast for several days. Large quantities of water should be used, but no food except orange or grapefruit juice. Enemas should be taken twice daily, and the skin should be given a shower bath followed by a brisk rub. All of these treatments are for the purpose of stimulating elimination.

The second thing to do is to remove any local cause of the irritation if there is any. That is, if there is a growth or polypus in, say, the nose, the growth should be removed surgically or treted with electricity. If adhesions or kinks are causing the irritation in the intestines, they should be treated with the right kind of manipulation. If there is no local cause of irritation these treatments are not necessary, and any treatments given should be for the purpose of general elimination and vitality building.

The third thing to do after the eliminative fast and the treatment is to build up the blood alkalinity by diet. The patient should be taught to eat large quantities of the alkaline-forming foods, such as spinach, celery, figs, carrots, etc. He should also be taught to avoid wrong food combinations which tend to increase acidity. This diet applies in any inflammation of the mucous membrane except in some cases where there is a severe inflammation of the intestinal tract in which the roughage of the fruits and vegetables might produce additional irritation. In a few of these cases a milk diet is indicated. However, following the milk diet, the patient should use the above alkaline-increasing diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: J. A. S. writes—"I notice when I go to bed, if I lie on either side for an hour or so my hip bone aches, but as soon as I turn on my back this passes off. What would cause my sides to bother me this way? They seem all right during the daytime."

Answer—The position you lie in no doubt causes the sacroiliac bones of the pelvis to get slightly out of position. You could correct such trouble by taking a course of systematic calisthenic exercises for developing the muscles of your lower back so that these bones will be held in normal position even under a strain. An osteopath or chiropractor could tell you by an examination if the sacroiliac slip is the cause of your trouble.

Diabetes

Question: W. W. asks—"What foods cause diabetes?"

Answer—There is no particular food which causes diabetes, but one with this disease already developed should entirely eliminate the use of all starches and sugars. Diabetes is a disease due to faulty functioning of the pancreas which supplies the fluid used by the body in digesting carbohydrates; but when one has diabetes it does not necessarily mean that he has used more starches and sugars than others who do not develop this disease. I am convinced that the excessive use of carbohydrates is an important factor in the cause of almost every disease including diabetes.

ALTUS COURT DOCKET FILLED

Jackson County Summer Term Crowded

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., June 18.—The summer term of district court for Jackson county opened this week with one of the most crowded dockets in its history, with Judge R. Long of Pauls Valley, officiating. Judge Long is here in the absence of Judge Frank Mathews, who is conducting a term of district court this week in Frederick.

The first case on the docket, that of the state against L. H. Dinsmore, was postponed until later in the week, because of physical inability of the defendant to appear. The charge was that of larceny of chickens.

The case of J. O. Wright, charged with a second offense against the liquor laws, was continued for the term of court.

George Myers, charged with driving a car while intoxicated, was declared not guilty by a jury.

A number of cases scheduled for this term of court were dismissed by order of the court.

H. K. McGinty, charged with embezzlement of funds, was dismissed on the motion of the complaining witness.

The case of Mrs. Margaret Mize against Albert J. Miller was dismissed without prejudice on the motion of the plaintiff; the case of E. M. Curry against G. W. Chambers was settled and dismissed, and the charge of E. E. Rogers against W. H. Massey scheduled for hearing Thursday, was stricken from the docket because judgment had been obtained at a previous hearing.

Bankruptcy on the part of the plaintiff resulted in the dismissal of the case of O. V. Ray against Charlie Clonts.

Several other cases were continued. Among these was that of Richard-Conover Hardware company against V. P. Williams et al., which was continued by agreement as was the case of the Emerson-Brantingham company against L. E. Valker.

Brides, bridegrooms and bridesmaids who are to take part in fashionable weddings may now attend "training schools" where every detail is taught, from handling the bride's train to which of the bridegroom's arms she takes after the ceremony.

Dawes Arrives in Home City of Chicago With Pipe and Words Aglow

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Gen. Charles G. Dawes, American ambassador to Great Britain, came home today and with Hell's Marie waves of his upside down pipe, commented tersely on various subjects.

About Chicago: "Chicago doesn't need any defense. What the hell is the difference what peop') say about it! Chicago will go right on being a great city for centuries."

About Chicago crime and his taking the job of cleaning it up:

"Talk, talk, talk. When Chicago moves there won't be much talking about it. Certainly I won't contribute any talk to a situation which demands and will get action."

About the 1933 century of progress exposition, about which he returned from London: "Just watch it grow!"

About the naval treaty: "The naval pact will be ratified without a shadow of a doubt and it should be. The delegates at the conference were agreed on everything.

"Naval experts of Japan, Great Britain and America say 'our navy is ruined.' There is the best evidence possible it is a perfect treaty."

Grasshoppers Become Numerous in Tillman

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., June 18.—An unusual number of grasshoppers for this season of the year is reported in certain sections of the county, especially around Manitou and along Deep Red. Most of them are of the variety common around pastures nearly every season and which do little damage. A few of the yellow kind have also been reported. Little damage has been done by grasshoppers in this county since 1925.

Louis H. Beaty, county agent, urges that those bothered with these pests poison them by using the following formula: Bran, 100 pounds; white arsenic, five pounds; oranges, lemons or onions, 12; molasses or syrup, two gallons. Mix arsenic and bran together dry; mix molasses, fruit and necessary water together and then mix this with bran and arsenic. Add water until the mixture is wet through.

Salvation Army Drive At Altus Postponed

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., June 18.—An emergency drive for the Salvation Army in Altus has been postponed until Tuesday, June 24, following the decision of the advisory board of this organization which met at the chamber of commerce headquarters today.

A serious lack of funds resulting from heavy calls upon the charitable organizations' treasury during the severe weather of last January, and failure to pay pledges resulting from the srecent bank insolvency, has caused the deficit in the budget, officials of the army said.

An actual record of over 80 families, with an average of six persons in each family, were aided or supported by the local body during the severe weather of January and February. Unemployment and general depressed conditions have made an unusual number of calls for the organization this summer.

FEDERAL TAX CUT UNCERTAIN

Government's Needs Not Yet Determined

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Although the government will complete the 1930 fiscal year on June 30 with a surplus, the treasury will refrain from any decision at that time whether the one per cent reduction in income taxes granted this year on 1929 incomes can be continued for 1930 incomes.

Estimates were made of a $122,000,000 surplus at the end of the 1931 fiscal year. Since then, however, estimates of farm board expenditures next year have reached $150,000,000 and the new soldiers' pensions bill adds another $75,000,000 to federal expenses.

If continued, the tax reduction would reduce govenment revenues by $160,000,000.

Such a reduction would be spread over two years, half in each, but half of the present reduction must come out of the tax on 1930 incomes so that if continued as much more would be taken from the total of the tax for that year.

The increase in expenditures has made it appear to the treasury that it might be necessary to go back to the income tax rates in the 1928 revenue bill, one per cent higher than paid on the 1929 incomes. Officials have declined to predict whether the tax reduction could be continued, however. It was made at the recommendation of Secretary Mellon by congressional resolution and decreased the tax on all normal and corporation incomes by one per cent. At that time officials expressed the hope that the reduction could be continued.

Three Members of Cunningham Gang Offer to Plead Guilty in Slaying

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., June 18.—Three members of the Cunningham brothers' bank bandit gang, facing trial here for the murder of Sheriff W. A. Williams, are willing to plead guilty if promised life sentences but County Attorney S. H. Singleton is undecided whether to accept the proposal, he said today.

If Singleton accepts the plea of guilty, two of the brothers—John, 25, and Jess, 19—may appear before Judge M. W. Pugh for sentence Monday. The third, Manuel, 23, shot through the spine in the battle in which Sheriff Williams was killed, is still receiving treatment at a local hospital.

Manuel is paralyzed and probably will never walk again.

The three brothers admit bank robberies at Hastings, Manitou and Mooker, Okla., and at Kiowa, Kan., but blame their elder brother, Forest, 27, killed in the gun battle, as the gang leader.

If Singleton decides to force the brothers to trial, their case will not be heard before October. Stephens county court funds are low and no term of district court can be held until after the new fiscal year.

Strange Aircraft Tried Out By Builders

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., June 18. (AP)—A helicopter plane on which $250,000 has been spent and which took four years to build was given its first public showing at Curtiss field today. Because of an oil leak no flight was attempted.

The plane is radical in design, even for a helicopter. It has no standard wing but four revolving wings, in each of which a four-bladed propeller is mounted on the leading edge.

The four propellers are run by the one engine, a 425-horsepower air cooled Radial, which is mounted on its back just below the four wings. Underneath is slung a two-seated car, similar to the gondolas on blimps.

The principle of the plane is that it can rise vertically and descend in the same way, thus requiring little more than the space it occupies for a landing field.

After the ascent the slant of the wings is changed and the plane can move in any direction.

The ship is the brain child of altland Bleecker and is known as the Curtiss Bleecker helicopter.

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Unfinished Symphony

My coat sleeve at elbow is out
My pantaloons are relics,
Because instead of chasing coin
I'd much rather write lyrics.

My shirts are frayed at collar's edge
My socks do need a darner,
Because instead of hoarding gold
I write the Rambler's corner.

Alas, to some it seems this life
Is strange and blunt and hard.
We therefore recommend that they
Set out to be a bard.

For such a life the singer lives
That he for nothing yearns.
He sits and writes of silly things
Like Levey to Storti to Burns.

Or if a gal doth hang about
And strew his heart with rue.
He can some quaint old sonnet shout
And say, to aitch with you

And when approached by creditors,
He hums an humble ditty;
And the creditor, red-faced with shame
Tears up the bill in pity.

And so it is we sing, tra-la . . . . .

The Interruption Rude

Editor's note: The above pome was found unfinished on the sports department desk. The author thereof was dragged into court for failure to pay his laundry bill.

Anyone casually dropping in down at Athletic park Tuesday afternoon, and taking one sweeping glance at the odd attire of a group of plump and sweating men would have gone off bewildered and wondering just what actually was happening on the Spudder lot. One glance, indeed, was not enough to support the claim that anything was going on but a track meet, the entrants in which had forgotten to dress properly. Four or five studied glances were enough to persuade oneself that, indeed, a baseball game was in progress.

It was the Lions-Optimists duel to the death. But there was Milt Gaines in golf togs, and A. D. Lightsey in his working clothes, and Solon Featherston also attired for the links . . . . and others dressed in what have you. Some actually tried to dress like ball players, and you should have seen 'em. I. M. Campbell, who in addition to playing third base for the Optimists, also perfomed in left field and on the pitcher's mound, wore perhaps the most striking ensemble. He had on a regulation ball player's road uniform, but with flaming red socks and a red cap. Others looked just as odd. K. C. Spell, whose initials always remind us of a tough restaurant steak—was perhaps the only man down there who really looked like a Lou Gehrig, or some other real ball player. His uniform matched up, and Barber Spell even walks like a ball player when he's thus outfitted. But he had his Sunday shoes on!

And boy, that was some game! Here are some of the sidelights, which we did not have room to print in Wednesday morning's issue: Milt Gaines making a terrific slide into third base when the ball had not yet been recovered by the centerfielder. . . . Barber Spell stealing second and then, the inning closed, rushing over to the scorer to see if he had received credit for that steal. . . . Yes sir, Spider Levey hisself couldn't have done any better. K. C. . . . L. O. Shudde batting out of order without anybody raising sand, and there were four umpires on the diamond, one behind the pitcher and one at each base. . . . A runner whose name we didn't get who reached second, but when the man at bat lifted to center, the centerfielder recovered and ran all the way to second base and tagged the guy thereon out, because he was not alert. . . . Leo Underwood, who runs with dignity, and so slow it's a wonder he ever gets anywhere. . . . Ira Brown, the catcher, who had so many passed balls to his credit the scorer couldn't even begin to count 'em. . . . And in fact, everybody on both teams . . . they made so many errors the scorer needed an adding machine. It was a day's job to count the runs, much less the errors.

Indians Make Errors Count to Beat Sports

SAN ANTONIO, June 18. (AP)—Three errors featured the second game of the Shreveport series today, which San Antonio won, 9 to 7. Baker's wild throw in the first inning gave the Indians a two-run lead. LEADERS DROP TILT, 11 TO 8

Four Pitchers Routed in Sensational Rally

Special to The Record News

WACO, Texas, June 18.—It was the Cubs who came from behind today to win, and from none other than the league leading Wichita Falls Spudders. Scoring 10 runs in a sensational rally in the seventh inning, the Cubs overcame an 8 to 1 lead to defeat their distinguished guests, 11 to 8.

The riot in the seventh was at the expense of four Wichita Falls pitchers, Lester White, who started, was routed and gave place to Hillin, who in turn gave way to Vincent, who in turn was replaced by Florrid. Wachtel started for Waco but was replaced in the eighth by Thurman, who stopped the Spudders without letting a man get to first base the remainder of the game.

Spudders Score First

The Spudders took an early lead by scoring two in the first while the Cubs were shut out. Levey opened it by grounding out, third to first. Storti and Fitzgerald walked. Kloza was called out on strikes. Burns walked to load the paths. Bettencourt singled through the box, scoring Storti and Fitzgerald and sending Burns to second. Crouch flied out to center to end it.

Waco scored their first run in the second. Speer flied out to left. Robin singled to right and Stuvengen walked. Molesworth singled to left, filling the bases. Piet singled off White's glove, scoring Robin and loading the bases again. Wachtel hit into a double play, Levey to Crouch to Burns.

The Spudders scored again in the third when Crouch singled to center to drive in Fitzgerald, who had walked. The fourth and fifth went scoreless for both sides, but the Spudders tallied again in the sixth when Levey hit a home run over the left field wall.

And in the first half of the seventh, the Spudders made four. Fitzgerald walked to open it. Kloza bunted to Wachtel, who threw wild to first, Kloza taking second and Fitzgerald third on the error. Burns walked to pack the paths. Bettencourt forced Fitzgerald at the plate, short to catcher. Crouch doubled to center, scoring Kloza, Burns and Bettencourt. Euller singled off the third baseman's glove. White forced Euller at second, short to second, and Crouch went to third. Levey singled to left, scoring Crouch and advanced White to second. Storti forced Levey at second, short unassisted.

Field of Carnage

And then came the momentous last half of the seventh. Witry, batting for Wachtel, singled to right. Tate walked and so did Bischoff, filling the bases. Munson hit a home run over the right field wall, scoring Witry, Tate and Bischoff ahead of himself. White was jerked and Hillin replaced him on the mound to be greeted by Speer's single down the third base line. Robin singled to center, sending Speer to third. Stuvengen singled to left, scoring Speer and sending Robin to second. Hillin at this juncture was relieved by Vincent, who was greeted by Molesworth's bunt down the third base line which filled the bases. Piet fanned. Witry hit a hot grounder to Levey who was unable to handle it, Robin scoring and the bases again being loaded. Rye batted for Tate and popped out to Storti. Bischoff doubled to left, scoring Stuvengen and Molesworth, and advancing Witry to third. Munson walked and so did Speer, forcing Witry to score. Robin also strolled, forcing in Bischoff. Florrid then relieved Vincent and Stuvengen grounded out, Euller to Burns, to end the carnage.

Thurman held the Spudders powerless in the last two innings.

STORM ENDS ROYAL RACE

Book-Maker Killed as King And Queen See Event

ASCOT, Eng., June 18. (AP)—The Royal Ascot race meeting was washed out this afternoon by one of the worst storms to visit England in the last few years, a storm with tragic results in the death of a book-maker.

Twenty-two horses ran for the royal Hunt cup, with the McNab coming in first, Lord Glanely's Grand Idol second and Sir H. Cunliffe Owen's Lion Hearted third, but the glamor of the meet, which was attended by the king and queen was destroyed by the elements.

Walter Holbein, widely known as a north of England book-maker, was killed by lightning, but there were no other casualties except for beautiful dresses and slippers which were plastered with mud.

The storm, which turned paddocks and enclosures into miniature lakes, lasted nearly a hour. It broke just as the royal hunt cup was being run and extraordinary scenes were witnessed as it came down in fury.

When the rain had ceased conditions were nearly as bad. Men and women high in English society waded ankle deep in the mud of the parking places, joining in a scrimmage to extricate their cars from the thousand others trying to get away at the same time.

DEADLINE ON BALLOT NEARS

Gardner Expected Here This Afternoon

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Official announcement of the splitting of the Texas league season beginning with games of June 25 may be expected with certainty today.

The announcement, eagerly awaited by baselaldom more as a confirmation of what it knows will happen than anything else, may be expected either in the form of votes wired in to the Texas league offices by club owners, or by an announcement from League President J. Alvin Gardner.

With the Spudders in command of an eight-game lead, and in position to win the first half championship by winning only one game, or by Houston losing one, before June 24, there remains little doubt but what owners of the eight clubs in the league have already decided on the course they will favor.

There seems little doubt, for instance, that William E. Huff, president of the Spudders, favors the onward march of the season. A reverse attitude seems likely to be held by the remaining club owners.

All of which is, officially, nothing but mere conjecture. But that's what appears almost certain to happen.

President Gardner Wednesday was said to be en route from Chicago, and his secretary, Milton Price, announced the league president was expected to arrive here probably Thursday afternoon. The league ruling provides the vote must be taken five days before the prospective division of the season, making it compulsory that the wishes of the club president be made known before midnight tonight.

PUBLIC ANXIOUSLY AWAITS DECISION

DALLAS, June 18. (AP)—A silence, deep and restful, hung over eight Texas league business offices today as the hour approached for a vote on the split season. While the general assumption was that the magnates would get busy before tomorrow night, the deadline, and knock the Wichita Falls Spudders loose from their strong lead, there was nothing today to indicate their intention.

Although the league voted at its last meeting to decide on the split five days before the halfway point in the schedule was reached, nothing was said about notifying the public. That left the intriguing possibility that the owners already had made their decision but intended to keep it secret until next Wednesday, the day the second half would begin.

The consensus was that the owners would vote seven-to-one for a new deal, with President William Huff of the Spudders the lone dissenter.

Double Steal Enables Steers to Whip Shippers

BEAUMONT, June 18. (AP)—A double steal that worked when Catcher Wise dropped the ball after having Michaels out at the plate permitted Dallas to defeat Beaumont, 7 to 6, today. Of Beaumont's eight hits two were doubles, one was a triple and two were homers. Score:

PILOT RESIGNS

Des Moines Skipper to Go Back on Mound

DES MOINES, Iowa, June 18. (AP)—Claude Davenport, veteran right-handed pitcher, today resigned as manager of the Des Moines baseball club of the Western league.

John (Shano) Collins, who piloted the Demons to the league championship in 1926 and to third place in 1927, will succeed Davenport beginning with Friday's night's contest with St. Joseph.

"I believe I can be of more service to the team as a pitcher than as a manager," Davenport said in handing his resignation to President E. L. Keyser. "With the worry of running the club off my mind I am sure I can be a winning pitcher."

Collins, besides managing the team, will assist Keyser in the executive work.

F. H. Dilbert of Tulsa, Okla., lost a golf match recently, four and three, despite the fact that he made a hole-in-one.

In the 1921 world series, Walter C. Pipp, New York Yankee first baseman, made 94 putouts.

HOUSTON, June 18. (AP)—Jo and Ed Brown starred here today as Houston shut out Fort Worth, 8 to 0. Stribling Works Hard as Battle With Von Porat at Chicago Nears

CHICAGO, June 18. (UP)—W. L. Young Stribling, Georgia's hope for the heavyweight title, went through a hard workout today in preparation for his 20-round fight with Otto Von Porat, the Norwegian, here Friday night.

The bout was postponed from tonight until Friday when Stribling bruised his hand in training. The hand appeared in good shape today and the Georgian does not expect it to handicap him Friday night.

Von Porat meanwhile has been working out just enough to stay at top form.

The advance ticket sale has reached more than $60,000 and the Chicago stadium expects to draw more than 22,000 persons.

West Texans Lead River Crest Meet

FORT WORTH, June 18. (AP)—Two youths, finalists in the 1929 tournament here, set the pace for early qualifiers in the medal test of the 12th annual River Crest invitation golf championship here today. The pair, Dennis Lavender of San Angelo and Abilene, and Gus Moreland of Dallas, turned in 73's.

The even par score sent the pair into a one-stroke lead over Joe Ballard Jr., of River Crest. Lavender, Moreland and Ballard qualified together. Ballard was deprived of the honor of tying Lavender and Moreland when his final putt hit the back of the cup and bounced out. Chilton Jennings of River Crest, came in with a 76 along with R. J. Brydon of Dallas. Jennings need a nine on the 14th hole.

Moreland took a six on the 16th hole. After going out in 36, Moreland came in with a 37 for his 73. Lavender posted a 37-38.

BY MACK TURNER

The Texas Electric Service company baseball team got away to a flying start Wednesday afternoon on Harrison field in the crucial game of the Merchants league and smothered the P. B. M. club under an avalanche of base hits by the score of 14 to 4 and took over full possession of the first rung of the ladder. Big Everett Blue was on the mound for the Kilowatts and hurled good ball all the way.

Every man in the Electric company lineup scored at least one run and they scored in every inning of the game. Keith weathered the storm all the way but he was hit hard and often. On the other hand, the Clothiers could find Blue for any show of luck in only one inning. They bunched three hits in the fourth to score their four runs, but Blue came back stronger than before in the next inning and put a stop to the rally by striking out Sanderford, Bernard and McGregor in succession. Blue had a grand total of eight strikouts during the game.

The Hard Hitters

Shepherd and McPhail were the big guns in the batting attack for the day with Jim Cissell and Paul Whatley pressing them close for the honors. Shepherd poled out two singles and a double in four times up while McPhail hit a triple and two singles in three times up. Both Cissell and Whatley collected two hits. Big Everett Blue, the league leading hitter, ran his string of consecutive games to get one or more hits to thirteen.

Jack Thurman stood alone in the offense for the Clothiers getting an even half of their four base hits in three times at the bat. Thurman also scored one of their runs.

The Clothiers were crippled in the first of the third inning when a foul tip caught Catcher Speedy Vincent on the kneecap and put him out of the game. Preston Beck was called in from short to finish the game behind the bat and came through with a nice game.

Stolen bases on both sides were common and played a great part in the scoring of the unusual amount of tallies. Skipper Paul Whatley of the Kilowatts, led the day in this department with four pilifers to his credit. Shepherd was next with three. Kellogg led the day for the Clothiers in this department with two. An even 20 stolen bases were registered by the two teams.

The Electrics went into the battle with the determination to win the game in the first inning and found Keith comparatively easy. Shepherd led off with a scorching single to left field, and stole second. Shepherd advanced to third when Whatley beat out a slow roller past third, then Whatley stole second. Glenn Coolidge then came through with his only hit, but it was the money hit, a screaming triple to right. Shepherd and Whatley romped home. Blue struck out. Hovis walked and stole second. Cissell dribbled a slow hit past short, scoring Coolidge and Hovis. Mathews hit to Clark who fumbled the ball, and then threw high and wide to first base, Cissell scoring and Mathews taking second. Reisen then popped to Beck and Mathews was doubled off second.

McPhail Triples

McPhail opened the second inning with a long triple to left field. Shepherd followed with a long double to the same pasture and McPhail registered in. Whatley went out swinging and Coolidge rolled out to the infield. Shepherd then scored on a wild pitch. Blue reached second base on an error but Hovis went out to the infield.

Three more were chased in in the third inning. Cissell hit to short who threw wild to first and Cissell went to second. Mathews singled past first sending Cissell to third. Mathews stole second. Reisen hit to second and the throw to the plate for Cissell was late. McPhail beat out a slow roller to the infield and Mathews scored. McPhail stole second. Shepherd rolled out to the box with no advance.

Whatley singled to left scoring Reisen and taking second when Bashara threw McPhail out at the plate. Whatley stole third but Coolidge lined out to Bashara.

The third inning was the P. B. M. inning Bernard beat out an infield hit to short, stole second and went to third on a passed ball. McGregor grounded out with no advance. Bashara hit to the infield and the throw to the plate was too late to get Bernard who scored. Bashara stole second and scored when Thurman singled to right and Thurman went on to third when the ball got away from Cissell. Kellogg walked and stole second. Beck came through with a drive to right for a single scoring Bashara and Kellogg. But here Blue put on the brakes and let Keith and Clark down.

Blue Makes Tally

The Kilowatts could only score one run in the fourth frame. Blue started it off with an infield hit to deep short, stole second and scored on Cissell's single to left.

Three more in the fifth were scored when McPhail singled, Shepherd singled, and an error, a sacrifice fly and four stolen bases divided between Whatley and Shepherd were bunched.

The Kilowatts will go against the Furniture Dealers this afternoon in the next to the last game of the first half.

Jones Tied With Smith and Cotton In British Open Championship Test

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 18. (UP)—Bobby Jones is away to a flying start in his quest of the British open golf title, with a score of 70 for the first round of the 72-hole championship test.

Tied with the Atlantan at the end of the first day's play were MacDonald Smith and Henry Cotton, 23-year-old British professional.

Never before in the history of the famous championship have three contenders scored this low in a single round. Par for the Royal Liverpool course is 72, but it was bettered today by the above trio, and by Jim Barnes and Red Robson, who scored 71.

A torrential rainstorm swept over the crowded fairways in midafternoon and took its toll among the cards of the late starters. Jim Barnes was caught by the full fury of the downpour, as was Archie Compston, the tall British pro who won the qualifying round. Compston finished with a 74.

Escaping the storm, Jones had nothing to trouble him except the failure of his long putts to find the bottom of the cup. As it was, he bagged five birdies on his round to equal the course record.

Six Americans finished among the first 15, Horton Smith shooting a par 72 and Don Moe, the Portland youngster and Leo Diegel, professional golfers' association champion, carding 74s.

Foremost among the British contenders in addition to Cotton and Robson were Norman Sutton, 72; Tom Green, 73; A. A. Whitcombe, 74; Bert Hodson, 74; P. H. Rodgers, 74, and Compston.

Auguste Boyer of France, completed the list of those within striking distance of the leaders, carding a 73.

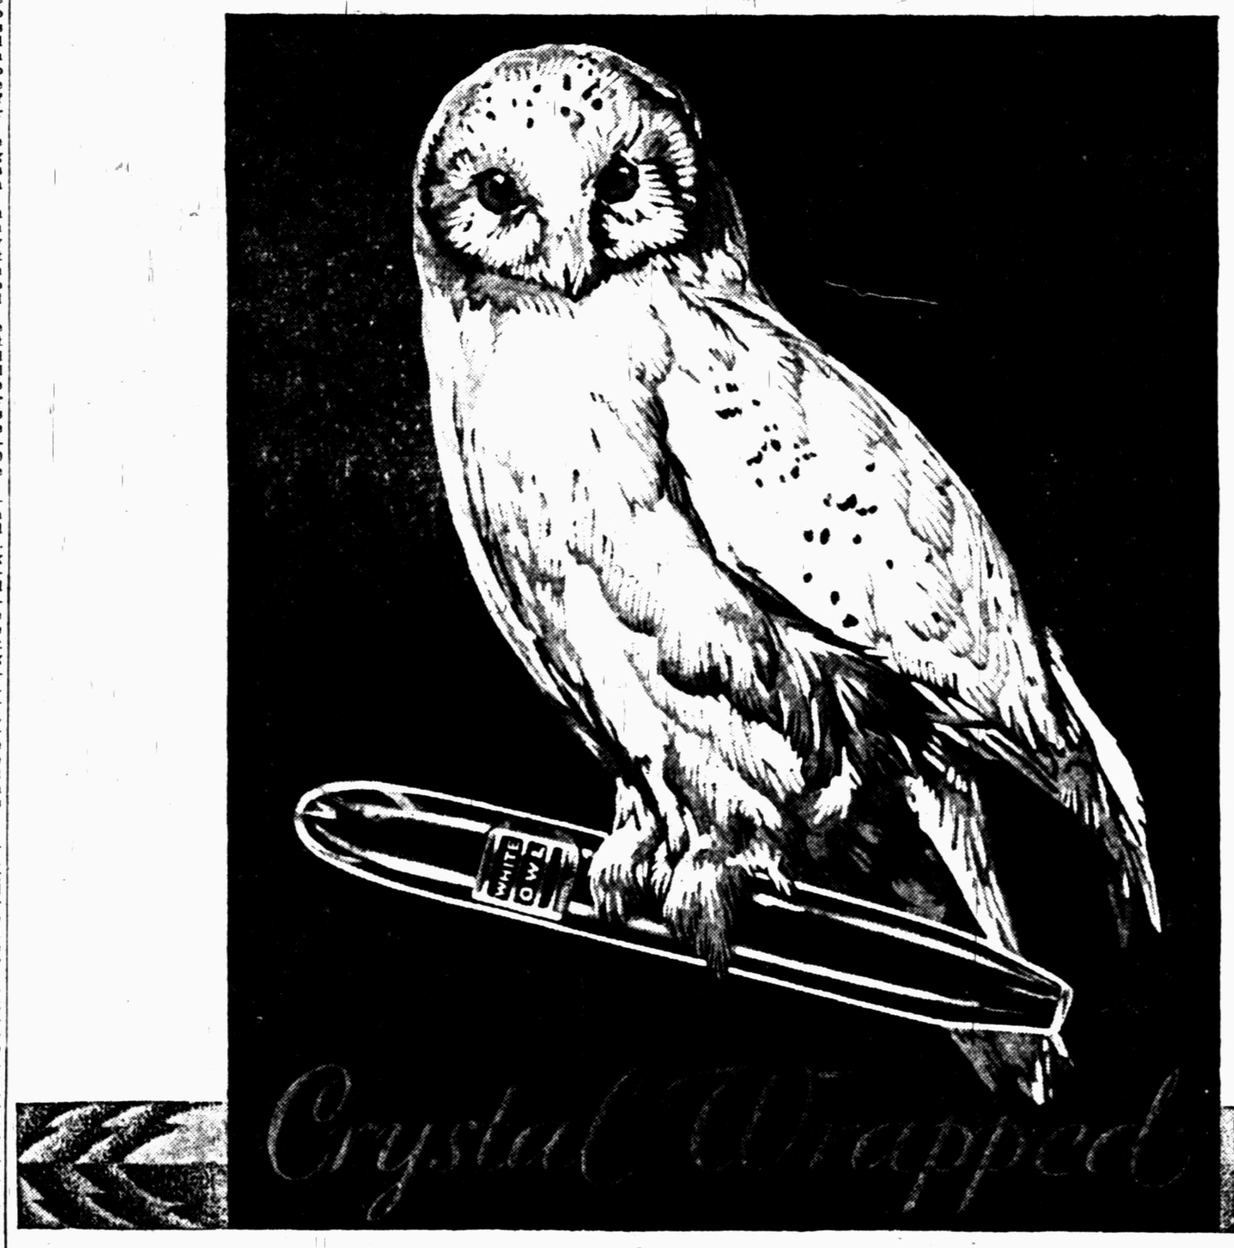

The one real disappointment among the Americans was George Von Elm, who all but put himself out of the running by taking 81. Tomorrow the first 60 in the field will qualify for the final 36-hole test on Friday and the blond Californian will be among the missing unless he improves considerably on his second round.

The leaders represent quite a new alignment in a British open golf championship. Last year at Sandwich, only Diegel, Barnes and MacDonald Smith of the above were in the first 15 at the end of the opening day's play. The British players are all new hopes, save for Archie Compston, who is counted upon to improve his position.

Bobby Jones appeared rather more nervous than usual during his round. He fussed about his stance on the tee and over several long putts which failed to drop, yet he bagged five birdies and his golf was on a par with anything he ever has shown in England except for his 68 at St. Andrews in 1927.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, June 18.—The Stringtown "Red Devils" baseball team added another victory to its list when Ed Stephenson held the hard hitting Tucker Oil company to four hits and one run Tuesday afternoon on Newtown lot. The game appeared evenly matched until Pitcher Connally was forced from the mound with a sore arm. Barker, who relieved Connally gave up 8 hits and 5 tallies.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—Reactions from an opening advance in the cotton market carried all the active months into new low ground for the season today and was attributed to further liquidation and scattered selling promoted by the early declines in grain and stocks.

The decline to 13.20 for July and 12.59 for October seemed to bring increased trade buying, however, and there were quick rallies in the late trading with July selling up to 13.61 and the new October to 12.94. Closing prices were within a few points of the best and the final tone was steady at net advances of 9 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 12 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. There appeared to be considerable July for sale. The break extended to 12.85 for the old October and 12.70 for the new December contracts during the afternoon, but trade buying was more active at these figures and the market showed increasing activity and strength in the late trading. Old October closed at 13.14 and the new December closed at 13.02.

There were rumors during the afternoon that some inquiries were being received here from Europe asking for quotations on cotton for forward shipments and according to local brokers, there were also indications of some increase in commission house interest, although buying was said to be restricted by the favorable average of crop advices, continued poor reports from the goods trade and the unsettled dulling of other markets. The late rally in cotton was probably helped by the rallies in grain and reports of a better tone in the afternoon stock market.

Liverpool cables said liquidation had been absorbed by Bombay buying and covering and reported an improved inquiry for cotton cloths. Exports today were 3,367 bales making 6,575,491 so far this season. Port receipts 6,212. U. S. port stocks 1,110,671.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 18. (AP)—The cotton market sought lower levels in today's trading mainly owing to further liquidation of the July interest and to weakness in the stock market. While the weekly weather and crop summary was construed as bullish it had little effect on the market. Prices advanced 9 to 11 points in the early trading on good cables but weakened on a New York failure and although there were occasional rallies on covering the market worked steadily downward owing to the weakness in stocks declining 30 to 34 points from the highs.

The market rallied sharply in the late trading owing to a good improvement in the stock market and recovered practically all the earlier losses and closed near the early highs at net gains for the day of 2 to 9 points.

Liverpool came in 5 to 6 points better than due and first trades here showed gains of 6 to 11 points. The market tapered off on the New York failure July traded at 13.19 and October at 12.84 down 6 to 11 points.

The market later weakened sharply with stocks and on renewed July liquidation that month dropping to 12.90, October to 12.65 and December to 12.76 or 30 to 35 points below the highs. Prices rallied sharply in the late trading in sympathy with a rally in New York stocks recovering all the earlier losses and almost reaching the highs. July closed at 13.16, October at 12.91, December at 13.03 and March at 13.35 or 2 to 9 points net higher for the day.

Port receipts 6,212; for week 25,295; for season 8,543,951; last season 9,410,628. Exports 3,350; for week 10,272; for season 6,405,374; last season 7,594,591. Light Buying of High-Grade Issues Only Beam of Light in Stock Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 18. (US)—The stock market today witnessed continuation, even acceleration, of public liquidation which forced prices to new lows for 1930, through the Dec. 20 "resistance" level, and the general average to the lowest quotations since the absolute bottom of the panic was reached on Nov. 13, 1929. Today's session was similar in many respects to the markets of the past week or more, with the important exception that again, as on Tuesday, high-grade buying was noticeable in many issues although not yet of sufficient volume to offset the selling wave. The sharp setback suffered late on Tuesday influenced the early trading today and considerable overnight liquidation was apparent in heavy offerings which brought about new lows throughout the list. The fact that some of the very highest grade stocks, notably Union Carbide and American Can, suffered among the most severe losses greatly undermined public sentiment. The afternoon, however, developed greater resistance to pressure and a fair-sized rally ensued which closed the general list up from the lowest levels.

That the public has been the largest seller the last few days was evident. One leading wire house with affiliations from coast to coast had eight selling orders to one buying order. The public has many millions of shares of stock, as proven by the enormous lists of stockholders of leading corporations, and their selling can dominate the market almost indefinitely, just as their buying last year maintained the upward trend for many months. However, there is evident a great buying demand for the account of powerful interests. These people never attempt to guess the bottom, but buy whenever they regard prices as attractive. In various stocks today substantial blocks were taken on the setback. Even in the lowly Coppers, generally ignored by the speculative community such buying was evident, particularly in American Smelting and Anaconda. Public Service of New Jersey and Worthington Pump were also taken on a scale downward. The general attitude of the strictly Wall street professional element is to watch the market itself for signs of a turn. But heavy covering of stocks continued for the account of leading bears.

Volume increased to the largest daily total in many weeks, 6,425,000 shares, almost a million and a half more than on Tuesday. The day's quota of news continued unfavorable, a further cut in Copper prices evidencing the dullness which has set in demand after the initial spurt when the price was reduced to 14 cents. The weekly Iron age review of the Steel industry was decidedly discouraging, reporting further contraction in demand, particularly from the Automobile industry. This statement, however, appearing at noon, had only temporary bearish influence on prices. Wheat and other grains suffered renewed weakness and dropped to new lows. Again the street was hoping that the oft-repeated statement from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon would appear, but the market closed without any such help. The net result for the day was a further drop in the average of leading stocks of 9.73 in industrials of 2.36 in railroads and of 3.60 in utilities. The utilities continued under special pressure, the speculaitve forces arguing that their ratios continue far out of line with the remainder of the list. Money dropped to 2½ per cent and foreign exchange rates closed irregular.

Wall street, which is but representative of the entire nation, eagerly awaits new leadership. The market, reflecting the state of mind of the country, is just drifting. It lacks that leadership which is most essential in times such as present. It requires no statesmanship, no display of courage, to proclaim faith when prospects are brightest. Now when the country is displaying signs of a complete surrender to pessimism constructive leadership is lacking in the financial world at least so far as the public can judge. That the nation will emerge from its present depression is as certain as its emergence from market panics and business depressions of the past. But the right kind of leadership will hasten this recovery. There are a number of individuals sufficiently influential and capable to assume this leadership. A proclamation of faith from such men will do much to dispel the deep depression which has spread over business.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, June 18. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Trade in fed steers and yearlings continued extremely dull and most classes were reduced 25c with many sales 50c or more lower. Strictly choice grades were very scarce with the best at Chicago selling at $12.75 and weighing 1,213 pounds. Mixed yearlings and she stock also met a slow trade at weak to mostly 25c lower levels. The supply of hogs at the 11 markets totaled 87,900. Increased supplies at most points influenced a weaker trend in the early market and opening sales were weak to mostly 10c lower. Choice light hogs scored $10.00 for the day's top at Chicago.

Fat lamb prices met considerable opposition and values were lowered mostly 25c with spots as much as 50c under yesterday's levels. Choice Idaho lambs brought $12.60 at Chicago, while similar kinds went from $11.85 down at the river markets. Sheep held about steady with fat ewes selling largely from $3.00@3.50. Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 18. (AP)—Good demand, both domestic and export was reported for wheat on the Fort Worth cash grain market despite heavy receipts of 45 cars—most of them new crop. Exporters were bidding 98@98½c basis ordinary No. 1 export wheat, delivered gulf ports; while mills were bidding $1.00@1.01 for old wheat and 91½@99c for the new crop, both basis No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points.

Corn was dull and demand for barley limited. New crop oats for immediate delivery were wanted. Sorghums were in fair demand.

Estimated receipts—Wheat, 45 cars; corn, 6, and sorghums, 12.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows: Basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid.

Corn—No. 2 mixed 91½@92½c; No. 2 white 97½@98½c; No. 2 yellow 95½@96½c.

Oats—No. 2 red, 48@49c.

Barley—No. 2, 63@64c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally $1.98@2.00; No. 2 kaffir $1.76@1.78.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one: No. 2 mixed corn 90@91c; No. 2 white 96@97c; No. 2 yellow 94@95c; No. 3 white oats 48½@49c; to which add 1 cent for delivery Texas group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—Record low prices for grain went hand in hand today with fresh severe flattening out of stock market values. Much notice by wheat traders also was taken of statements ascribed to Chairman Alexander Legge, of the federal farm board, that no government sponsored purchasing of surplus domestic wheat would be done until an emergency be declared.

Evidence of sharp curtailment of foreign buying of United States wheat had a further bearish influence, and so too did measures taken abroad, apparently as a counterbalance against effects of the new tariff enacted at Washington.

Following a maximum downward smash of 4⅛c a bushel, however, wheat partly recovered, owing more or less to reports that the Canadian crop outlook is still dubious. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 1⅜@2⅛c lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝@1¼c down, oats ½@⅞c off, and provisions showing 10@25c drop.

The descent of wheat values in Chicago today was preceded by an unexpected sudden reversal of the course of wheat prices at Liverpool. Instead of proving responsive to yesterday's advance in quotations here, the Liverpool market took a decided downward swing. Then came disclosure that yesterday's immense export business in North American wheat had consisted nearly altogether of wheat grown in Canada, that no bread wheat whatever had been purchased from the United States, and that the only European buying of wheat raised in this country was a little wheat of the Durum variety useful to manufacture macaroni.

The day's lows on wheat were reached after circulation of reports of an address made by Chairman Legge, of the farm board, at a gathering of bankers in Kansas City. He was reported as saying in answer to a question as how far lower wheat would have to go before an emergency was declared: "How low does wheat have to go before the farmers realize that it is unproductive to plant such large acreages."

Corn, oats and rye fluctuated with wheat, and were governed by the course of that cereal. Corn and rye as well as wheat outdid the season's low price record, but oats refrained.

Provisions weakened with grain and with hog values as well.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 18. (US)—The late rally in wheat prices was taken as an indication that the decline in values has reached the point where the market may display more resistance, owing to oversold conditions developing. However, there were few who saw much chance of sustained advances, barring crop damage, and locals and commission houses were generally recommending a trading attitude.

Strength in the cash situation is gaining more prominence as a supporting factor in corn futures. Liquidation and selling today was interpreted as mainly a reflection of the decline in wheat values.

While no figures were received from seaboard, it was thought highly probable that the break in wheat futures resulted in some further sales for export, declining prices undoubtedly catching resting orders placed under the market.

Daniel F. Rice and company say: "It would not be surprising to see some further short covering in the wheat market tomorrow, but we will doubt that permanence of bulges until such time as the foreign demand for our wheat improves or crop news becomes alarming."

The government of Sweden rejected the proposal to increase import duties on wheat, but agreed to compel millers to include a percentage of native wheat and rye in all grindings, cables said today.

'Lamp' Says Runs Must Be Curbed

NEW YORK, June 18. (AP)—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey, in its publication, The Lamp, says that refiners will have to reduce their crude oil runs if further additions of gasoline to storage this year are to be prevented.

The report of the committee on petroleum economics, made to the federal oil conservation board and issued in April, is commended in the publicatioin. The report set a daily average run of 2,624,000 barrels of crude oil by refineries over the entire year as sufficient to meet the demand for finished products, taking into consideration the advisability of making a draft of 5,000,000 barrels upon gasoline in storage.

"For the first five months," the publication says, "refineries averaged 1,635,000 barrels a day. It follows that the refiner will have to restrict his runs to 2,617,000 barrels daily for the last seven months of the year or again pay the penalty of a further addition to his already straining storage tanks."

Signal Hill Gas Ratio Refused

LONG BEACH, Calif., June 18. (UP)—The state conservation commission today was denied an injunction to enforce a gas ratio for oil production in the Signal Hill field.

The ruling was made by Superior Judge Hugh Crawford in an eight-page opinion to the effect that an arbitrary injunction in such a case would virtually be confiscation of property without due process of law.

The decision of far reaching importance to the oil industry, was considered contrary to the action of Superior Judge William Hazlett a few months ago in granting an injunction against Santa Fe Springs producers. Both actions had been brought under the legislature act designed to fix a ratio of gas wastage per barrel of crude oil.

The decision was hailed by oil men who already have entered into an agreement to limit production for the benefit of the industry.

The Bartlesville sand was topped at 2940 feet and the first showing of oil was at 2964 feet.

Hoover Accused Of Blocking Power Bill

WASHINGTON, June 18. (INS)—President Hoover was blamed and criticized today by Democrats for failure of congress to enact legislation disposing of the government's giant Muscle Shoals power and nitrate plant in Alabama.

Led by Senators Black of Alabama and McKellar of Tennessee, the Democrats declared the senate had passed a Muscle Shoals bill "directly in line with President Hoover's announced desires during the campaign" and that now administration leaders were blocking action "because they didn't want President Hoover to have to either sign or veto a Muscle Shoals bill just prior to the congressional campaigns."

Cattle Drive Made To Escape Tariff

NOGALES, Ariz., June 18. (UP)—Although he probably didn't suspect it, President Hoover started a cattle drive when he signed the tariff bill.

Sonora, Mexico, cattlemen had awaited the president's pen flourish as a signal and last night they brought their herds across the border.

The drive began to escape the higher importation duties imposed by it.

MISSING MAN FOUND SLAIN

Body Left Upright in Shallow Water

CAMERON, Okla., June 18. (AP)—Missing since early Monday, Dan Gothard, Fort Smith, Ark., insurance man, was found dead yesterday in Jim Fork creek near here—standing upright.

Gothard's head was 18 inches under water. His arms were in a position which led officers to believe he had fought with some one. His neck was broken and his head bruised.

No motive for slaying Gothard could be established by LeFlore county officers. Apparently he had not been robbed. Only clues were footprints leading from the creek bank.

MILFORD RADIO PLEA OPPOSED

Commission Counsel Cites Brinkley's Address

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—Counsel for the federal radio commission today petitioned the court of appeals of the District of Columbia to deny the application of station KFKB, Milford, Kan., for permission to continue broadcasting pending determination of its appeal from the order taking the station off the air.

The petition quotes Dr. John R. Brinkley of Milford as saying in a radio speech last Sunday that President Hoover had influenced three commissioners to vote against renewing the station's license in order to pay a political debt to a newspaper which was fighting Brinkley.

The commission contends if the station is permitted to continue operating, matter of a similar objectionable character will be broadcast. The petition also alleges that the broadcasting of prescriptions to individuals by Brinkley is a menace to public health.

Secret Documents May Be Published

WASHINGTON, June 18. (INS)—The public may read some of the secret papers and correspondence of the state department which was exchanged with foreign governments in laying the groundwork for the London naval treaty, it was learned today.

Part of the data was submitted to the senate foreign relations committee considering the treaty, and Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, committee chairman, indicated he would confer with Secretary Stimson and later probably make some of the matter public.

Refusal of the department to submit additional similar data, even to the committee, resulted in a definite breach between some committee members and the administration but efforts to block committee action on the treaty until and unless the data was turned over to it by Stimson were unsuccessful. The committee voted down a move by treaty opponents for this course of action, 13 to 4, today.

Kiowa County Ships First Car of Wheat

HOBART, Okla., June 18. (UP)—Kiowa county's first load of 1930 wheat was marketed here today.

The wheat was of inferior quality because of excessive moisture, and elevator operators urged farmers to let the crop dry out in the field.

The wheat marketed today tested 52 pounds to the bushel.

'MA' FERGUSON LEADS BALLOT

Places Drawn for Wichita County Ticket

Voters in Wichita county are sure to see the name of "Ma" Ferguson when they mark the ballot in the July 26 primary, because the name of Miriam A. Ferguson will head the list of 13 candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, according to the results of the drawing for places held at a meeting of the county executive committee Wednesday afternoon.

Bolters Disregarded

Earle B. Mayfield drew place No. 2 on the list while the "unlucky" No. 13, the last name on the ballot, fell to Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock county.

The business of the meeting was confined to drawing for places on the ballot for candidates for U. S. senate and state offices. It was voted to hold a second primary. About 10 members of the committee, with Judge Edgar Scurry, county chairman, attended the meeting. The session was called for the express purpose of determining the order of names on the ballot, the certified list of state candidates not having arrived in time for the meeting last Monday, Judge Scurry said. No mention was made of the controversy raised by the group of bolters whos names as candidates for county chairman and precinct chairmen were excluded from the ballot at last Monday's committee meeting.

The complete list of senatorial and state candidates in the order selected to go on the ballot, with the county of residence given by the candidate, follows:

STATE: Ken Maynard in "Parade of the West." Short subjects and sound news.

STRAND: "Journey's End," with Colin Clive, Paramount novelty, "Dresden Dolls," and sound news.

MAJESTIC: Marie Dressler and Polly Moran in "Caught Short!" Talking comedy, "The Duke of Dublin," with Charlie Murray. Screen novelty, "The Galloping Gaucho," and sound news.

GEM: Clara Bow and Charles "Buddy" Rogers in "Wings." Comedy.

"Sunny Side Up" proved that theater critics and box office returns do not always agree, playing to capacity houses for a week's run here not along ago while "Disraeli," one of the best talking dramas of the year, was closed early on account of sparse crowds.

And as usual, the big box office success has been followed by another of the same type—just as "Broadway Melody" was followed by "Broadway Babies" and "In Old Arizona" by "The Arizona Kid." If the chocolate pudding is all eaten up, serve it for dessert every day.

"High Society Blues," coming to the Strand Friday, differs from the usual carbon copy, however, in that the theme is at least different from that of "Sunny Side Up." The Farrell-Gaynor team has proved so popular that their movie magnates have lost no time in presenting them again.

It is strange that Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor had to desert the character roles they did so well in "Seventh Heaven" and "Angela Mia" and take up musical comedy before they started making the tall electric lights so often.

"Journey's End" continues to be one of the rare type of pictures which is a success dramatically and financially as well. The few who "wound rather not see any more war pictures"—and they can hardly be blamed—are soon convinced of the vast difference in this psychological treatment of the effect of war on men and the usual gory, muddy physical aspect that is offered in a war picture.

Colin Clive should rank with George Arliss, Ruth Chatterton and Greta Garbo in his ability to become a real person through his acting. His audiences as do theirs, feel the same emotions he does. Another actor might do Captain Stanhope technically perfect and there could be no flaw to pick—yet the captain would not be the living, breathing person that he is in Colin Clive. If he was "borrowed" for Journey's End, it is to be hoped that he will remain in America long enough for at least one more picture.

For audacity of plot, romance, adventure and whatnot, moving picture producers should look to Roumania and take hope. A fictitious story could fall far short of Prince Carol's career and still be too much for the incredulous public to swallow, but they may be able to believe anything now.

LIONS PLAN COUNTY PICNIC

Installation of Officers Set Tuesday

Members of the Lions club devoted their weekly meeting Wednesday noon to completion of plans for officers' installation and ladies' night at the Episcopal parish house next Tuesday evening, and for the Wichita county Lions picnic to be held at Iowa Park Friday afternoon of this week at 4 o'clock.

Tuesday night's festivities will be centered around a banquet to be given by the "Greeks" division of the club to the "Turks" as a result of the latters' victory in a recent attendance contest.

Baseball, races, horshce pitching, etc., will be included in the outdoor program for Friday's picnic. A match game of baseball will pit the Wichita Falls Lions against the Iowa Park club. Each member of the Burkburnett, Electra, Iowa Park and Wichita Falls clubs attending the picnic is being asked to bring a well-filled basket for his family's contribution to the dinner.

Readings by Shirley Jenkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jenkins, and the presentation of his winning essay, "My Home Town," by Joe Witherspoon Jr., comprised entertainment for the hour.

C.-C. DIRECTORS STUDY COLLEGE

Committee Named to Plan Program Here

Deliberation on the problem of providing means for the continuance of the Wichita Falls Junior college after the year of 1930-31, and the appointment of a special committee for that purpose, featured a three-hour session of the directors of the chamber of commerce Wednesday morning.

Climaxing a long discussion of the situation, J. S. Bridwell, president, was authorized to appoint a committee of nine persons of this city who will obtain the designation of representatives from other communities in Wichita county to form a "county council." According to purposes expressed in Wednesday's meeting, this council will make a thorough study of the matter and endeavor to outline procedure by which a new Junior college building and permanent maintenance fund may be obtained. J. T. Harrell, Judge P. A. Martin, Judge A. H. Britain, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, Mrs. W. N. Maer, W. M. McGregor, Ben D. Donnell, J. B. Marlow and J. A. Staley were named by Mr. Bridwell as the local committee.

Meeting Soon

This group will be called together within the next few days, it was said, for the purpose of acquainting its members with all phases of the Junior college problem. After that meeting representatives of other communities in the county will be asked to join the Wichita Falls group in working out further plans.

All classes will be continued without curtailment at the Junior college during the ensuing scholastic year, it was stated Wednesday, but will require a considerable increase in tuition. The exact amount of increase has not yet been determined, according to information given at offices of the school board Wednesday afternoon. With present equipment and income, however, it was said that work of the Junior college could not be continued beyond next May.

Denver Given Aid

Approval of the report of the traffic committee, supporting the Fort Worth and Denver railway's application for permission to build a railroad from Childress to Pampa, was voted unanimously by the directors. This case was reopened by the Interstate Commerce commission recently after the Denver's application first had been denied. The hearing will be held at Washington within the near future, it was said. J. H. Aydelot, general manager of the F. W. & D. C. and the Wichita Valley railways; L. M. Hogsett, general freight agent; and O. M. Smith, general agent here, attended the directors' meeting Wednesday during consideration of their action.

Paul G. Putty, chairman of the business council, appeared before the directors to outline the reorganization of the council which has been effected. He made a plea that they make a special effort to attend meetings of the council, and stated that at the next meeting, on June 27, proposed changes in the membership plan, a community trust fund, and the Junior college situation will be up for discussion.

RAILWAY SUED FOR $30,000

Section Worker Asks Damages for Injuries

Damages amounting to $30,000 are asked in a suit filed Wednesday in the 89th district court here against the Wichita Valley Railway company in behalf of E. L. Terry, who is alleged to have sustained permanent and total injuries in an accident during April, 1929, when he was an employe of the railway on a section gang.

Terry claims he was helping to unload ties and that his foreman, urging him to hurry the work, pushed a tie they were carrying in such a manner that Terry was knocked down and the tie dropped on his leg, breaking it in two places. The ties, according to the petition, were from seven to 10 feet long and weighed about 200 pounds. The local law firm of Mathis & Caldwell is representing Terry.

Crowded Program for Vaudeville Bill Tonight

An unusual program of readings, musical numbers and stunts will be presented on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, city park director.

The first number on the program will be musical numbers by the Wichita Witches' orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. L. H. McKinney. Misses Herra Hill and Beatrice Fleming will be presented in a piano duet after which Mrs. J. H. Fine will give several negro dialect songs and readings. A reading by Miss Naomi Huffman will precede a group of old fashioned songs by Bob Covington. Following a piano solo by Miss Zadie Fish, Fritz McDonald and Tom McCarty will present a comedy in the form of songs and a black face dialog. The final number will be a dance by Miss Faith Galmiche of the Knickerbocker school of dancing.
