Second City Mail Carrier To Be Added

Another full-time city mail carrier will be added to the Post Office staff at an early date, R. F. Curry, postmaster, announced this week.

He said the carrier will be added as soon as a man can be found for the job, which should be between October 1 and 10. Gorman Owens is the present carrier.

The large number of patrons receiving home delivery has made this step necessary, Mr. Curry explained. The number is considerably more than had been anticipated, and Wellington is the only town with free delivery in this area that has found it necessary to have two carriers within so short a time after delivery started.

The new carrier will probably take care of parcel post delivery and deliver first class mail in the west part of town, Mr. Curry said.

"That will speed up delivery considerably, and many patrons will receive their mail earlier in the day. Until the second carrier is added and becomes familiar with his work, it is impossible to set a time schedule for delivery," the postmaster explained.

The present route, measured by streets, is 11 miles long, and by the time a carrier criss-crosses streets and walks up to doors to make his deliveries, it is estimated he will walk 22 miles — more than one carrier can do in one day, Mr. Curry added.

Leader Department Store Announces Remodeling Plans

Plans for remodeling the interior of The Leader Department Store have been announced by Mack Saied and his son, Mack Saied Jr., in connection with the 25th anniversary of the store, being observed this week.

The original plans called for remodeling to be completed by the time of the anniversary celebration, but strikes in the east held up the manufacturing of fixtures the store had on order, and made it impossible to carry out these plans.

"We will remodel later, but at present, we feel that this work will probably come at the end of the fall merchandising season," Mack Saied Jr. said.

"We are eager to complete this remodeling, however, for it will give our customers one of the most modern stores in this part of the state in which to shop," he continued.

Christian Church Plans For Fall Outlined

By REV. JACK GARRETT
The First Christian Church launched its Fall Program on September 20 with a day of work on the buildings and grounds. A large number of members met at the church at 1 o'clock and by quitting time much was accomplished. All present enjoyed the fellowship and the sense of accomplishment gained from the work together. By the time the "pot-luck" supper was served, the looks and the condition of the houses and the grounds were greatly improved. Prizes were awarded the most industrious and the laziest workers of the day (all in fun, of course). A supper was served.

The second phase of the Fall Program begins on October 1. This phase is a program known as the Church School Enlargement Program. Rev. Marvin Layman of the First Christian Church of Lamesa will be the guest leader conducting the program. The church during this time will get a thorough look at itself, the strengths and weaknesses in its group life and in its corporate life. On the basis of the findings of this "self-study" the guest leader will assist in planning and launching a program of improvement and enlargement. The long-range purpose of the Church School Enlargement Program is to improve progressively the educational program of the church and to throw each group of the church into constant evangelistic action. This program will last through Wednesday evening, October 8.

EX-ROCKETS, NOW BUFFALOES

This picture is truly confusing because you see six when there are really eight. It's not your eyes doing the deceiving, rather likely it is two Wellington football players who arrived at West Texas State one day too late to get their pictures taken with the rest of the ex-Skyrockets currently under the coaching of Frank Kimbrough. Included among the Wellington crew now in the Maroon and White are six freshmen, one sophomore and one senior—or, if you wish it by positions; one quarterback, one halfback, one fullback; two ends; two tackles and a guard. The lower classmen majority is right in line with Kimbrough's young squad where 41 of the 54 candidates are

Officers Busy During Week End

After an exceptionally quiet month city and county officials were kept busy with law-violators during the past week-end, Deputy Sheriff Bob Barnett reported.

Some fifteen arrests were made and more than $400.00 collected in fines. Charges filed included theft, liquor transportation, drunkenness, gambling, carrying a pistol and disturbance, the deputy said.

The increase of transient cotton pickers to this territory is believed to be one of the major causes of the increase of crime, officials believe.

higher scoring Rockets of Wellington, coached by Maxey McKnight and Donald Briggs.

Until last week the Rangers were the top scoring outfit in Class AA football in the Panhandle, but the Skyrockets took over the top place by defeating Mangum 65 to 13, while Perryton eked out a 14 to 7 win over Canadian. Until a week ago, Perryton had scored over 50 points in every game played this season.

This game should be one of the most exciting of the year for Wellington fans. Last year Wellington won the game by a large margin, but this time it is expected to be a much closer contest. Perryton has nearly all the boys from last year's team, and they have the advantage of added weight and experience.

As usual, the Skyrockets go in to this game decided underdogs as far as weights are concerned. Perryton will field a starting line weighing better than 180 pounds end to end, while Wellington averages about 160. The backfields are about the same. Perryton weighs 166 pounds in its backfield, while the Rockets average 155 pounds. But the Wellington team makes up for this weight loss by courage and determination.

The Rangers have played two Conference B teams and A Conference Canadian.

"Perryton is strictly a ground-gaining team and doesn't pass very often. They do have one of the best punters in the state. He kicked against the wind for 60 yards. They employ the "T" and "Split T" formations," said B team coach and scout for Wellington, Clifford Niles.

Monday only three-fourths of the Wellington Skyrockets reported for workout. Sore knees, colds, aches and other ails hampered workouts.

Hard work can be expected from here on out during the practice sessions on Powell Field, for Wellington has a rough schedule from now until the end of the season.

The starting line-up for the Perryton Rangers is expected to be:

Ends: Lovett (174 pounds) and Haar (190).

Tackles: Cooper (195) and J. Witt (185).

Guards: R. Witt (185) and Carter (175).

Center: Parker (165).
Backfield: Devers (140), Drake (155), Cummings (195), and Osborne (165).

Game time is 8:00 p.m.

C. W. Roberts Injured Sept. 24

C. W. Roberts, beloved county pioneer, was painfully injured when he slipped and fell while working at the site of a new rent house he is having built near his home on Belton Street.

The accident occurred Wednesday, September 24, the day before his 91st birthday. Mr. Roberts received an injured left arm and left ankle as well as other bruises.

He is resting at his home, although he is still confined to his bed. He is able, however, to see and visit with his friends, Mrs. Roberts said.

At the time of the accident, Mr. Roberts was pulling nails from a plank with a crow-bar. He is not certain whether the nail came out of the plank suddenly, or whether the bar slipped, but the jolt caused him to lose his balance, he stepped backward onto a small block of wood which turned, throwing him completely off balance, and causing him to fall.

No party had been set for his 91st birthday, but his children gathered at his home as they had planned.

Mr. Roberts came here in 1888, and is one of the few remaining men who settled in Collingsworth before the organization of the county.

Concert Association Drive Planned October 6 to 11

On Monday night, September 29th, the officers and board of directors of the Wellington Mutual Concert Association met to discuss the organization of this year's membership campaign and plans for the kick-off dinner. Dr. Charles B. Jones, president of the association, introduced Mr. Ray Wilson, representative of the Pryor-Menz Concert Service, Council Bluffs, Iowa, who outlined campaign procedures and stressed the importance of united team work in building a stronger association for Wellington this year.

Over 100 volunteer workers, team captains and division chairmen will be invited to attend the kick-off dinner at the community building, served by the Business and Professional Women's Club, Monday October 6th, at 7:30 p.m., which will launch the Wellington Concert Association's annual drive for members. The membership drive will last from October 6th to October 11th, Saturday noon.

At least three concerts by nationally established New York artists will be presented, more if the budget permits.

This year, each person buying a membership will have the opportunity of indicating on a special ballot the artists he would most enjoy. These votes will be counted and are to assist the board of directors in their selection of next season's entertainment. The "talent ballot", listing 12 outstanding attractions, includes: Lilian Kallir, brilliant young Austrian-American pianist, whom members will remember from the '61 series winner of the 1949 American Artists Award, who has been acclaimed from coast to coast as one of America's finest pianists; Cornelia Stabler, famous and unique one-woman theatre program — a great actress of rare power and vastly entertaining skill; Edith Allaire, outstanding singer of American folk songs and ballads who accompanies herself on Vermont harp-guitar, and many others.

Admission to concerts is by membership card only, and single event tickets will not be available. Memberships are $5 for adults, $3 for students, and a special family membership, regardless of the number in the family, for $12.

Division chairmen for the membership drive are: Mrs. Jack Kopp, Mrs. E. K. Jones, Dr. Darlene Hunter, Mrs. Deskins Wells, Miss Rita Duncan and Mr. Jack Davis, each of whom will have five team captains; they in turn will each have five volunteer workers. Everyone selling memberships is asked to come into M. C. A. Headquarters, Friday, October 3rd, from 9 a.m. to pick up his prospect cards.

Campaign headquarters will again be in the Chamber of Commerce, Court House, 2nd floor. Those interested in further information are invited to call Mr. Ray Wilson, in charge of the Wellington campaign, at campaign headquarters, phone 141-M.

The campaign officially opens Monday, October 6th, and will close promptly at noon, the following Saturday, Oct. 11. After the close of the drive no more memberships will be available and the committee will meet to select talent for the series, on the basis of money on hand resulting from the pool of membership dues.

The officers of the Wellington Mutual Concert Association are: Dr. Charles B. Jones, president, Miss Bonnie Willis, vice-president, Jack Kopp, secretary-treasurer and Miss Virginia Robey, publicity chairman.

The board of directors include: L. B. Bratton, Dr. and Mrs. E. K. Jones, Mrs. C. B. Anderson, Mrs. Jack Kopp, Dr. Darlene Hunter, Mrs. A. L. Elliott, Miss Rita Duncan, Mack Saied, Jr., Mrs. Nita Brantley, Mrs. Deskins Wells, Mr. Jack Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ansel McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Cochran and Dr. D. V. Watkins.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunter, met him in San Francisco. Mauldin is the son of Mrs. Mary Mauldin.

Merger of Pullman and Jay's Drive-In Announced

Announcement has been made of the consolidation of The Pullman Cafe and Jay's Drive-In, and the future policies of the business were outlined this week by the owners. Leonard Hoyt, Floyd Hood and Morris Hoyt, Mr. Hood formerly owned and operated the Pullman while the Hoyt brothers operated Jay's. The new business will be operated as Jay's Drive-In.

Effective October 1, the Pullman is being closed and all equipment will be moved to Jay's. A new dining room is being built on to the latter building, and the exterior of the entire building will be remodeled. A white stucco finish with green trim will be applied.

When the work is completed, the cafe will have two private dining rooms, one small and the other large, and the owners said they will cater to parties of all sizes, both private dinners and those of organizations and clubs. Altogether, there will be a seating capacity of 122.

Mr. Hood and Leonard Hoyt are former partners in the cafe business, both at Groom and here.

"We believe that we can give the public better service, and we know that we will be able to serve larger groups than either cafe alone could in the past.

"We extend a cordial invitation to the old customers of both businesses to come down. We'll be happy to have you and we believe you will like our new management," the owners said.

The personnel of drive-in includes in addition to Mr. Hood and the Hoyt brothers, John McGill, cook, and Laura Beth Duke, Bertha Mae Duke, Mrs. J. D. Aaron, Gladys Downs, Beth McGill, Mrs. Raymond Horton, Mrs. Mae Tucker, Mrs. Beatrice West and Mrs. Morris Hoyt.

Further plans concerning the business will be announced within a few weeks.

They Scored From the Beginning

Rockets Amass Run-Away Score 65-13 Over Tigers

By JAMES GLASSCOCK

In the Liberty Bowl at Mangum Friday night, September 26, some 1,500 spectators watched the Wellington Skyrockets trounce the Mangum Tigers 65 to 13. Wellington achieved this victory by both offensive and defensive maneuvers.

Wellington scored when the opportunity presented itself. Mangum had trouble holding the ball. Fumbles on the part of Mangum helped the Rocket cause greatly, too.

The score does not give a true picture of the ball game. Both clubs were evenly watched as far as weight was concerned. But Wellington had a decided edge in experience. The Mangum starting right half had never played a game of football until this year. If the Tigers had had as much experience as the Rockets who opposed them, this could have been a good, close ball game.

The Rocket backfield had more speed and maneuverability. Slowness and uncertainty seemed to mark the Oklahoma team.

The score makes it look like the backfield's ball game, but the Wellington line played an important part in this game. When Lonnie Wood (22) or Camal Dakil (39) who alternated at quarterback position, started to pass, a solid wall of protection was furnished, or when the ball was carried downfield, good blocking came right where it was needed. To pick the outstanding linemen is like going down the roster of the Briggs-coached line: Johnson (35), Starkey (38), Baird (25), Orr (42), Hood (31), Handley (41), Bawcom (27), Leggett (24), Judd (26), Lacy (36), J. Drummond (34), Jones (43), Kiesling (32), Brown (23), Eads (33) and Couch (37).

These boys turned the key to success time and again by beautiful blocking and recovering Mangum fumbles.

The Rocket victory is not to play down the Mangum boys. They did fine as far as they could, and in two more years they will be in a position to deal the opposition plenty of trouble.

Wellington made three touchdowns in the first quarter, four in the second, one in the third and two in the last.

Just thirty seconds of the game were gone when a fumbled pitching the score 52 to 13. Wellington, not content, scored again with five minutes left to play as a Dakil to Leggett pass covered about 15 yards and Leggett literally outran the opposition. Starkey failed to convert.

Again Wellington seized the opportunity to score with three minutes left. Clyde Ingram went around end for 19 yards and a touchdown. Starkey's conversion was good and the game ended 65 to 13.

Statistics:
Wellington: First Downs, 6; Penalties, 5 for 66 yards; fumbles, 1; Yards Rushing, 361; Yards lost, 15; passes, 4, 2 for touchdowns; Passes intercepted, 1; Punts, 1 for 35 yards.
Mangum: First Downs, 6; Penalties, 6 for 25 yards; Fumbles, 8; Yards Rushing, 92; Yards Lost, 27; Passes, 9 complete; Passes intercepted, 1; Punts, 2 for 15 yds.

Clyde Ingram didn't let more than five seconds of the quarter pass before he scored on a counter play to the left side for 46 yards and a touchdown. Starkey converted and the score stood 25-0.

About four minutes later, Quarterback Woods, on a keeper play scored on a run up midfield 55 yards. Starkey's conversion was good, putting the score up to 32-0.

After the kickoff, Mangum had to punt and the ball was kicked out of bounds on the Rocket 30. A Dakil to Leggett pass was good for 12 yards and Leggett ran the remaining 58 yards for a touchdown. Starkey's attempted conversion was wide and the score stood 38-0.

Again after the kick-off Mangum had to punt. Charlie Johnson crashed and blocked the kick and Jimmy Leggett ran under the ball, caught it and ran 30 yards to the double stripes. Starkey's kick was good and the Rockets led 45 to 0 at the half.

In the third quarter, with nine minutes gone, Doug Duncan went over center for 38 yards and a touchdown. Starkey's kick was good, running the score up to 52-0.

The opening of the fourth quarter saw the Tigers score after a 60 yard drive which took 10 plays. D. Jackson's conversion was no good, and the score was 52 to 6.

The Mangum team was now maneuvering behind good blocking, and the other touchdown came on a pass interference ruling against Wellington, which brought the ball to the 10 yard line. Lucas went over middle for the score and Jackson's conversion was good, up-

Scott.

Miss Tawana Scott Weds Bobby McCutchen Friday

In an early autumn ceremony, Miss Tawana Scott became the bride of Bobby McCutchen in the First Baptist Church Friday, September 19, with the Rev. Chester O'Brien officiating for the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ocie Scott and Mrs. C. P. McCutchen.

White satin ribbon extended from the two seven branch candelabra to the containers of greenery which decorated the front of the church and greenery with white satin bows decorated the ends of the pews.

Mrs. Truman Estes, organist, played "At Dawning," "Indian Love Call," "Through the Years," and "Always" preceding the ceremony and Miss Tanya Smith, accompanied by Mrs. Estes, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." Mrs. Estes also played the processional and recessional and the traditional bridal march.

Miss Nelda Nipper, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress was of yellow net over vel-low satin styled with a satin bodice and a net scalloped yoke. The yoke was set off with a satin peter pan collar and a row of tiny satin buttons were featured in the front. The skirt was of yellow net over satin with a three tiered, gathered skirt. Her picture frame hat was yellow net over satin. She wore matching yellow shoes. Her bouquet was made up of coral gladiolus.

Misses Vada Cook and Rugene Black were the bridesmaids. Their dresses were made identical to that of the maid of honor with Miss Cook wearing blue net over satin and Miss Black wearing pink net over satin. They wore small hats which matched their dress and wore matching shoes. Yellow gladiolus made up their bouquets.

Tiny buttons extended down the front to a point below the waist. The skirt was softly gathered around the waist and flared into a circle which dipped to a train in the back. Her fingertip veil was of silk illusion with matching lace and was gently gathered on to a satin half hat which had lilies of the valley on each side. She carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed, and blue. Her bouquet was centered with white carnations and surrounded by pink carnations and florist ribbon, which fell gently from it.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Garden flowers decorated the rooms.

The table was covered with a white cutwork linen cloth and centered with an archway of white florist foam entwined with green fern and wine roses around the base. A small gold wedding bell hung from the center of the archway and above it was imprinted "Tawana and Bobby" in gold letters. A white three tiered wedding cake trimmed in pink and topped with a miniature bride and groom decorated one end of the table, while the punch set decorated the other end. Pink napkins with "Tawana and Bobby" imprinted in silver were also used.

Mrs. George McGill registered the guests in the bride's book. The punch was served by Mrs. John Rainey, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Floyd Nipper, also an aunt of the bride, served the cake.

RETURN TO SANITY

In the last 50 years the United States government has absorbed considerable Socialism. One of the first big socialistic steps in modern times was the enactment of the graduated income tax in 1917. The graduated income tax was conceived by Karl Marx and other Socialist leaders and for 100 years has been one of the keystones of Socialism. It forms the basis of the doctrine that is the central core of Russian Communism today—"From each according to his ability, to each according to his need."

Having the graduate income tax doesn't mean we have a Socialist government today. It simply means we have absorbed within our Republican form of capitalism one of the key devices of Socialism. The really strong movement began during the depression in 1930. The Socialists had made a noisy bid for attention in the previous severe depression and panic of 1893 which occurred in the middle of President Grover Cleveland's administration. But in 1893 they were laughed at. By 1930 they had converted followers among the high and mighty of our nation.

An Influential Advocate

Some of the influential people who advocated further socialism or additional socialistic measures were not Socialist Party members. One of these was H. Stephen Raushenbush. In the late 1920's and early 1930's he was an advocate of socialistic measures and a powerful opponent of basic principles in our American way of life. Mr. Raushenbush was one of the leading speakers and writers to advocate the Fabian plan of socialism—bit by bit, or what he called "encroaching control."

His ideas and writing talents were so important to the Socialist movement in those days they were published and widely circulated in the Socialist press. Here are some excerpts of Mr. Raushenbush's writings, taken from 1927 issues of the then Socialist magazine, the NEW LEADER. "Between cataclysmic Socialism and encroaching control the latter will be the only one acceptable to this nation for a long while. While the longtime aim is the abolition of the profit system for private use, our present strategy should be to make and take every opportunity to prove that there is something better than the profit system."

Step-By-Step Socializing

"Once an industry is declared affected with the public interest," Raushenbush said in the NEW LEADER, "it is reasonable to have the books opened, then to go on with the clamping down on excess profits, stock dividends, inflated mergers, and to have a positive hand in stabilization of employment, uniform

METHODIST HOME SINGERS

The story of the Methodist Home at Waco actually told by the children themselves will go on the air again Sunday, September 21, at 8:15 a. m. over fourteen radio stations. The Home is dramatizing activities from the lives of its more than four hundred children again this fall on Sunday morning because of an enthusiastic response from radio listeners all over the Southwest last fall. Some of them wrote that they had contributed to its support many years without having been able to visit its campus, and that the radio programs gave them a vivid picture of its life. Students and ex-students have done most of the script-writing, and are acting out the incidents. Music by the Home choir will be a feature of the fifteen-minute broadcasts which are entitled, "These Are Your Children."

working conditions, minimum wage, supervision of all mergers, establishment of the principle of recapturing excess earnings to go into a retirement fund through which the state can finally but not the industry on an annuity plan." (Emphasis mine.)

In a flannelboard presentation distributed by the Harding College National Education Program these and other of Raushenbush's writings were cited as examples of the forces at work in our nation seeking to take us into full socialism through an insidious bit-by-bit route. Several months ago Mr. Raushenbush wrote me protesting that he has had a change of heart and mind, and that he no longer subscribes to the socialistic theories he expounded in his earlier days. He was asked for proof of public repudiation of his former writings.

THE SOUND VIEW

It gives me pleasure to report that Mr. Raushenbush has given me the following statement: I have not for a long time held or forwarded the views expressed in articles in the NEW LEADER in 1927. I believe that the free competitive enterprise system has been a great force for raising living standards and improving human welfare in the United States. I do not think that a Socialistic system could have produced the wealth and progress which the United States has achieved under its present economic

Preserved Foods Help Stretch Family Dollars

COLLEGE STATION — Two hundred seven thousand, five hundred fifty eight families were assisted in 1951 with food preservation problems, according to the annual report of the foods and nutrition specialists, Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This was the result of training and assistance given county home demonstration agents and local leaders.

In all, 2,431,937 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats were canned and 24,423,409 pounds of food were frozen in accordance with practices recommended by the specialists. There were 331,440 quarts of food made into pickles and relishes.

The work in food preservation was always accompanied with plans for storage, food budgets, meal preparation and service. The report states that the preserved products were stored in 5,406 ventilated vantries, 32,680 home freezers and 36,470 frozen lockers; that 55,786 families followed the Texas Food Standard in planning meals and improving diets and 129,351 families were assisted with food preparation and improved table service.

The specialists state that anyone may contact the local county home demonstration agent for specific information on food preservation methods. The bulletins B-194, Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables and B-175, Frozen Foods, are free for the asking. Surplus foods preserved now, the specialists say, will stretch the food budget dollars this coming winter.

the nation. It would be a good thing if they all could read this repudiation of Socialism by a man who had great influence on the growth of the movement. And it is important, too, for all citizens to restudy the things he advocated as steps toward full Socialism. We've taken too many of these steps. We mustn't walk further down this road to ruin.

Christian Standards Can Mean Peace

Standards, when used in the discussion of Christianity, can refer to either one of a pair of very vital things. One is the standard of conduct laid down by Christian Principles. This is best revealed in the "Golden Rule."

Other standards used are banners and signs designating the church itself and its principles. During the crusades when many European Christians fought and died in the Holy Land, these standards were often the inspiration for many heroic deeds.

They are also mentioned in the line from a famous hymn: "Raise high the royal standard, it must not suffer loss."

Jesus put much stress on the other standard, pointing out a rule of conduct when he urged us to: "Be perfect, even as your Father in heaven is perfect."

But true standards of conduct are not applicable to people alone. They extend to the nation, even to the whole world. How different history might have been if these principles of human conduct had been applied in every case where avarice and greed ruled instead.

The standards of Christian conduct could well serve as the foundation of a new and better world. Nor are these standards different than those stressed by the other great religions of the world. Basic concepts of goodness and justice are the same everywhere and each religion has its variation of the golden rule.

Truly, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," is the best way to insure international harmony and peace. We should put this standard into action today.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Aboard the USS F. D. Roosevelt

One of my bunkmates on this trip is Major Andrew Geer, USM. He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and played half-back on the same team with Bronko Nagurski — the team that in three years was defeated once by Notre Dame, and tied once and which was one of the better records of teams playing Notre Dame while Knute Rockne was still alive. He is a veteran of World War II and took part in the invasions of Saipan, Guam and Iwo Jima. He is a free lance writer and has had stories published in Colliers, Red Book, Cosmopolitan and right at this minute is sitting across the room from me writing on an article for the Saturday Evening Post. In November Harper Bros. will publish a new book of him — "The New Breed" — a book about the Marines in the Korean war.

The other evening he talked to our group about the war in Korea. He started it off by explaining the growth of Communism in China since 1927. There are 24 men who are the absolute rulers in China today and the most powerful of these are Mao Tse Tung, Chu Teh, Chu En Lai, Lia Piau and Kao Kung. The first four of these were students in Whampoa Military Academy. While there they came under the influence of Chu En Lia who indoctrinated them with a belief in Communism. Later they studied in the foremost military schools of France and Germany and Moscow. It was these and about 20 other young military students of Whampoa who formed the first hard corps of military trained Communists and this way back in 1927.

In 1927 they broke with General Chiang Kai Chek and organized a revolutionary army out of the troops under their command and by conspiring others. They were defeated by the Nationalists and then began what is known as the "long march" to the north. They could not go north at first; so they started south, then turned west and finally turned north through the mountains. They lived off of the land as they went leaving devastated villages and starving people behind for they took the livestock and grain as they went. There were 90,000 of them at the start of the long march, but only 20,000 were alive when they reached Manchuria 3 years and 6,000 miles later. Those who were too weak to continue were either shot or left behind to die. In Manchuria they were given a haven by Kao Kung, a war lord in league with the Russians.

Major Geer said that he was giving us this outline of the careers of the men who rule China today because there are still some in the United States who believe that we can buy these men who are ruling China today. We can't do it. They are all nearly the same age, blood brothers so to speak, and they have been fighting together since 1927. They and the men under them are seasoned professional soldiers and they have an elaborate program for training the young men of that vast population, insuring a trained army of monstrous size. We have lost China and we will never get her back. We can keep Indo-China and India on our side and these are our main hopes in the East.

In the fall of 1950 when it became evident that the North Ko-

HUDSON WASP BEARS PROUD NAME OF NAVY'S FAMED AIRCRAFT CARRIER

The aircraft carrier Wasp, eighth fighting ship in U. S. Navy history to carry the name, looms as a fitting background for its land-going namesake, the Hudson Wasp, introduced this year as a new addition to Hudson's line of cars. Capt. Burnham C. McCaffree, the carrier's commanding officer, inspects the sleek lines of the Hudson Wasp in "Hollywood" styling. A lower-priced running mate of the Hudson Hornet, the Wasp has established itself as one of the most popular models in the Hudson line.

reans were going to be cut to pieces, the Third Chinese Army was in South Central China. They were ordered north. They did not have suitable uniforms for the bitter cold of North Korea; so they sent cotton and cloth on ahead. Whole villages were set to work sewing winter uniforms for the troops who were advancing on foot. And on October 14 of 1950 this seasoned army of tough soldiers were ordered to cross the Yalu. The events that followed up to the Armistice talks and even the present are familiar to most newspaper readers.

But Major Geer had a most interesting account to give of the methods used by the Chinese to indoctrinate U. S. troops who were captured and held in prison camps. This was learned from Marines who escaped. No force and no torture was used by the Communists. The prisoners were fed exactly the same fare as the Chinese, mainly rice; but this is not enough for an American boy and some of them nearly starved. Every day, 10 hours a day, they were in school. They were given lectures on the evils of capitalism, the war mongers of the west and the benefits of Communism and the peaceful intentions of the Communists and other crock of that sort. They were told that if they learned their lessons well that they would be released and sent back to indoctrinate other American troops; for the Chinese said that they were having too hard a time in getting any of the U. S. Marines to surrender.

Upon the advice of their commanding officer, the Marines studied, wrote them and after five and a half months of this type of schooling a few were selected for release. They set out under guard for the American lines and were about half way there when the Chinese decided to turn back and take them back to prison. This return trip was interrupted by a strafing of the highway by low flying Navy planes from a carrier. The Chinese fled north and the Americans escaped to the south to eventually rejoin their own forces.

Major Geer also told of some of the methods used by these military rulers of China to enforce their absolute rule among their own people. The business men and the land owners know better than not to co-operate with them for if they don't it means their property will be confiscated and their families shot and this is sometimes done anyway if it seems best to the Communists. The race track at Shanghai is no longer used for races; but as a place in which to shoot objects as an object lesson to the rest of the people who come to see the spectacle. Scarcely a week goes by that dissenting Chinese are not taken to the tracks and shot down and Major Geer says that this is a matter of proven record.

He sees no hope of real aid from Chiang Kai Chek's small forces on Formosa. There was a time when we could have kept China on our side at little cost; but that time has past and we will never regain her.

We eat at the table of Commander Turner Caldwell, executive officer of the ship — at least four of us do. I sit between Commander R. L. Christy, head of the Medical Department and Commander W. T. Sawyer, head of the engineering department. All are young men and all have notable records in the last war.

Commander Caldwell was in the Pacific theatre and is also the man who flew the first Navy plane faster than the speed of sound. Commander Christy, or Dr. Christy, was aboard the old Wasp when she sank. The Navy is his career. Commander Sawyer is a graduate of Annapolis. After that he studied in other universities and then went to the University of Zurich in Switzerland, where he studied for three years. He has a Ph.D. as well as his various engineering degrees. He has invited me to ask one other editor to come down to his quarter's tomorrow evening and spend it in conversation. That is one of the reasons I am going to cut my regular writing short. There is too much to see and too much to digest to try to write about much of it now. This is a pretty big show.

By GORDON LEWIS
S. Milwaukee, Wis.
(For Deck Wells)

(Note: Deck has burned his left hand on a package of gopher matches and I am writing this for him. He is helping some but not very much. — G. L.)

ABOARD THE U.S.S. F. D. ROOSEVELT — The newspapermen traveling on this aircraft carrier has been initiated into the fine art of concocting and disseminating scuttlebutt. In fact, for civilians, we have perhaps set a world's record both for speed of dissemination and breadth of scope of the scuttlebutt concocted.

For the uninitiated, scuttlebutt amounts to RUMOR, just plain rumor. Having been in the army, we were well acquainted with rumors. They arise out of nowhere and disappear just as mysteriously.

It all started several days ago when we were still hoping against hope to get some mail off this ship to let folks at home know what was happening to us. We had believed there would be some sort of mail service from ship to shore. Guess we figured it would be by carrier pigeon.

Then a sailor who works on radio station WFDR on the ship came into the "ready" room where we assemble thrice daily and announced that if we wanted to get our mail off, we'd better hurry, that we'd pass a "mail buoy" soon — from which a Navy PBV plane would pick it up about 8 p.m.

The writer didn't happen to hear the conversation, or we probably would have fallen for the "line" too. At any rate three or four of the editors rushed off to quarters to dash off that letter to the little woman back home in Tennessee or Texas or Kentucky or Colorado. They tore down the ladders — as fast as any can "tear" on a ship with bulkheads to hurdle every 15 or 20 feet — to the mail box.

It wasn't until two days later that they learned the bitter truth — the "mail buoy" and the PBV were strictly a figment of the imagination of the sailor who told them the story. There just "ain't no such thing."

"I went snipe hunting in college, but I never thought I'd be taken in again," moaned Dick Lytle, publisher from Meeker, Colo.

That was only the beginning of scuttlebutt. Ever since the accident which disabled the port catapult and made it necessary for us to head to some port FAST for repairs, the scuttlebutt has been flying thick and fast. First we were going to turn about and head for the Brooklyn Navy yard. Then it was to be Plymouth, England.

Next story was that the 37-foot draft of our ship is too great to get into the Plymouth (England) dock and that we'd have to go to Greenock, which is the port for Glasgow, where we were scheduled to go in the first place. Then it was rumored we were to go to Portsmouth, England, British Navy base.

During the "scuttlebutting," of course, high-priority wires were shutting back and forth between high command levels of the Navy in Norfolk and perhaps Washington and of the British Admiralty. Meanwhile we steamed north by northeast at 23 to 25 knots, a whale of a speed for the floating airport. (It is Glasgow, definitely, — D. W.).

The old adage, "It's an ill wind which blows nobody good" — or words to that effect — certainly applies here. The damage, which will cost Uncle Sam a pretty penny and has hampered aircraft takeoff and landing operations in preparation for the NATO operation Main Brace, will mean that the editors among us scheduled to transfer to the Wasp, a slightly smaller aircraft carrier, will get an extra four days ashore, in which to see part of Europe. We'll try to take advantage of the extra shore leave — just like the old salts.

En route on this carrier cruise, we have tried to be as nosy as possible, so that we'd be able to report as much as we could on this fantastic operation.

We've spent a good deal of time talking with enlisted men, as well as officers, so we'd get an unbiased picture of what goes on. On our personal agenda have been trips to the various operating departments of the ship, to every nook and cranny that has captured our fancy. We probably wouldn't get to them all if we were aboard for six months.

Special and summary court martial sessions have been observed, as well as the captain's mast — well known in the Navy as the place where the ship's captain deals out stern justice. We'd hate to be in the boots of the sailors who have stayed away over their leave and who have been absent without leave. We've seen kids, only 18, stand shivering and worrying before the captain, as they awaited his decision.

There seem to be dozens of whistles, bells and bugle calls on shipboard which no one apparently knows or cares much about. One junior officer, as well as sailors, told us when we asked about them.

"I don't bother much about 'em. If you know pay call, mail call and liberty call, that's all you have to know. Oh, yeah, it's a good idea to know reveille, too. But if something pertains to you, you'll d— soon know about it!"

And that's just about our attitude toward them, too.

Men Needed in Navy Air Program

Men between 18 and 27 who have completed at least two years college are needed immediately to apply for the Navy's Flight Training Program, it was learned today from representatives of the Dallas Naval Air Station.

According to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Office, Amarillo, Texas, and members of the Dallas Procurement team, the Naval Aviation Cadet Program is again "wide open" after having been closed for more than a year.

The NavCad Procurement men said that a continuing need exists to interest college students, particularly graduating seniors, in Naval Aviation. For those who expect to have Selective Service obligations to fulfill shortly, Flight Training offers an alternative to ordinary enlisted service, with immediate active duty available.

Pre-flight, basic and advanced training is conducted at Pensacola, Florida, and Corpus Christi, Texas. Those who successfully complete the 18-month period of training are commissioned as Ensigns, U. S. Naval Reserve, or 2nd Lieutenants, U. S. Marine Corps Reserve. Pay and allowances upon commissioning amounts to $385 per month without dependents, or $470 with dependents.

Men desiring further information on the program may write to the Recruiting Officer, U. S. Naval Air Station, Dallas, Texas, or call or visit the U. S. Navy Recruiting Office located in the Post Office, Amarillo, Texas. The Navy will pay transportation costs to Dallas for applicants who wish to take the qualifying physical and mental examinations.

Competition

The demand for oil increases every year.

Americans need more oil for more automobiles, for more airplanes, more ships, more high speed locomotives and more of many things besides.

And just as one merchant competes with another for your business, oil companies compete for it, too—for the gallons of gasoline and quarts of motor oil you buy; to supply the ships, the locomotives, the industries, the airplanes.

The competition is intense, and it spreads throughout the industry. Oil companies compete with each other to find and produce more oil. Pipe line companies vie with each other to de- velop low cost transportation. Refin- eries compete to supply more and better oil products. Salesmen compete on the basis of quality products and the serv- ice rendered.

It's a good thing, this competition, a healthy thing. It is the life of the oil business; it keeps the industry vigor- ous, progressive, enterprising.

But its chief benefit is to you and other Americans. Competition within the oil industry discovers and develops a natural resource necessary not only to modern living but to national defense. It supplies you and the country with continuously improved petroleum prod- ucts; today, two gallons of gasoline do work that required three in 1925, but the gasoline costs no more than it did then.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

This Thing Called Freedom Of Press

Just what is this thing called 'freedom of the press'?

It is the reporter jotting down facts. It is the correspondent, gathering news of the small community. It is the editor, sifting wheat from the chaff. It is the writer, expressing himself clearly. It is the skilled artisans of the mechanical department, helping to 'get the paper out.' It is the free American men and women devoted to the task of keeping America free by keeping America informed.

Next week, October 1-7, has been designated as National Newspaper Week in the United States and every newspaper published in this country will observe this special occasion in one manner or another.

It is a time when we all should stop and take stock and see just how we are blessed with being able to enjoy, along with our many other freedoms and privileges, this 'freedom of the press.' And that is just what it is . . . a free press . . . one that is not scared to death if its government or any of its gestapo-like forces closing its doors and prosecuting its owners or those connected with it . . . and in most cases for no apparent reason at all.

The papers of the nations of the world that enjoy this wonderful 'freedom of the press' could probably be counted on the fingers of one hand. Suppressing of the press is that bad. Let's thank God that it hasn't happened to us.

The newspaper is a strong factor in any country . . . especially in this country where it is free of government control. It is the voice of the people, their voice in expressing their likes and dislikes. Without this 'free press' we would be speechless. It is than easy to see why countries like Russia have strict control of all publications within its boundaries. With this control, the news or better still in this particular case, all the propaganda, can be printed just as the government agent wishes its subjects to hear or read it. No wonder these people aren't able, even if they so desired, to voice their opinions in their daily lives . . . The suppression of the press isn't a new thing in the countries either . . . It has been going on for a long time. It is probably the best reason you can find for what little success these strong arm government can give for their being able to stay in control of the people.

We mustn't let this happen to us . . . and we won't if we can just remember what practically every newspaper believes . . . that 'FREEDOM GOES WHERE THE NEWSPAPER GOES.'

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek is up to his usual standards of being mixed up, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I read the other day where some government official was worried about the inroads of television.

Accordin to him, more and more cities are gettin television stations and as a result more and more people are gettin television sets, to where it won't be long until nearly everybody has a set or has a neighbor who has one, which is the same thing only cheaper.

Now the reason he was worried was that he was afraid with all this television available people are not goin to want to work as much. Just want to sit at home and look.

Personally, I do not agree with him. I wasn't workin much before television was invented and will not let the thing influence me one way or the other. You take a man who has to wait to get a television set to stop workin, he ain't got much initiative about loafin in the first place. A man who ain't already figured out a reason for loafin, he won't find much in television to help him toward that goal. Politicians may have lots to worry about, but worryin about television causin me to loaf more ain't one of em.

Speakin of politics, I been followin the Presidential race pretty close lately and it seems to me the trouble about runnin on a platform of bein against corruption is that there ain't any parties equipped to do it with 100 per cent success. Somebody is always turnin up something on both sides that doesn't have the right odor. Understand, I'm in favor of gettin rid of corruption, but with parties as big as they are, it's expectin a whole lot of human nature to count on all the scoundrels bein on one side. Maybe what the country really needs is somebody who is outspoken against all kinds of corruption, don't make any difference which side it turns up on. Guided missiles seem to be the comin thing in warfare, but they can't hold a candle to the damage that can be done by a guided politician.

Personally, I think we got a couple of pretty good main candidates, but laws ain't passed at the White House, they're passed in Congress. Of course, I think we got a pretty good Congress too, probably as good as we deserve. And there ain't much I can say against the electorate, without steppin on my own toes. In fact, there ain't much wrong with this country that couldn't be cured by a good rain, lower taxes, more honesty, and 100 years of peace. Anybody who can deliver on this is welcome to the Presidency.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

What the FORD NAME means to those who feed America!

MODEL "T" FORD

LABORATORY RESEARCH

1917 FORDSON TRACTOR

TODAY'S FORD TRACTOR

From the beginning, the name "Ford" has identified a company that understands the needs and wants of farmers. To millions of farmers, the Ford name recalls the cars and trucks that could always "get through"—and Ford-built tractors that took away much of the drudgery of farming.

Just ahead of the "Model T's" radiator cap were new and better farm markets—a practical way to carry farm youth to a better education—new vistas and opportunities for the entire farm family.

The Ford name means the millions of dollars that went into research for crops convertible into industrial products and for ways of converting them. The Ford Motor Company's soybean oil extractor, that opened a huge market for this great cash crop, is a notable example of the results of such research.

Such were some of the major Ford contributions to the betterment of agriculture and the entire nation. But many farmers regard the tractor, prime source of farm power, as a still larger Ford service to agriculture.

For the Fordson Tractor that came on the market in 1917 was the world's first mass-produced, really low-priced tractor. Fordsons went to the farms one-half million strong, powerful proof that they met basic needs.

Today's Ford Tractor

The name "Ford" on a tractor today means engineering experience, manufacturing skill, and volume production resources that few machines in any field command. These factors provide the Ford Tractor's high quality, low price.

Outstanding performance is another reason for Ford Tractor popularity. That helps assure its high resale value, as does the certainty that parts can always be had.

To the nation's farmers, getting ready for more efficient and abundant production, Ford Farming means better work, more production!

Firecrackers Win Over Paducah in Opening Game

The Wellington Firecrackers, junior high football team, defeated the little Dragons of Paducah 13 to 0 on Dragon field Thursday night, September 25.

The Crackers started the game off with a touchdown, without losing the ball from the kickoff, but the scoring play by Mitsy Gibson was called back because the backfield was in motion on the play, and within a few minutes the Rockets lost the ball on down.

A short time later the Crackers took possession of the ball in mid-field, took it back down field toward the little Dragons' goal, then Maxey Tarver went through for five yards and the touchdown. Warren ran the extra point.

Wellington punted, but held the little Dragons to limited yardage. The Paducah boys threatened only once, and this came in the second quarter when they covered a fumble on about the Wellington 15 yard line.

In the early part of the third quarter, R. W. Warren, Cracker quarterback, faked a handoff to the line, then ran around right end 50 yards to the touchdown. The attempted conversion failed.

After this point, Coach Les Wheeler, who was playing the boys in their first game of the season, ran in an entirely new team, and kept changing boys until a majority had an opportunity to play.

Texas Leads in Number of Youths To Get FFA Degree

AUSTIN — The American Farmer Degree, the highest given by Future Farmers of America, will be awarded to 35 Texas FFA boys at the national convention of the organization Oct. 14 in Kansas City, Mo.

A greater number of boys from Texas was chosen for this honor than from any other state. Illinois is second with 17, and North Carolina and Tennessee each have 16 boys who will win the degree, the attainment of which is based on the Future Farmer's record in farming, leadership and scholarship.

The degree is limited to FFA members who have been out of high school at least one year and who are showing evidence of becoming successfully established in farming. A total of 316 candidates were accepted for the degree this year, the largest number ever to be recommended in the 24-year history of the organization.

Each degree winner will receive a certificate, a gold key and a $50 check from the Future Farmers of America Foundation.

The Texans who will be awarded the degree are as follows: Thomas (Jack) Aaron, Quail; Cecil W. Bradshaw and Jimmy Sandlin of Cooper school in Lubbock county; Raymond Kamp, Sudan; Richard Atterbury and Keith Vandiver, Lamesa; Eddie Bingham, Meadow; G. W. SCOTT FARMALL TRACTORS INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS TRUCK & TRACTOR CO.
Wellington, Texas

ONE new International truck—with 2-ton engine in 1½ ton chassis. Here's a buy with power to spare.

ONE new International pickup truck. Long wheelbase. Cheapest service you can buy in pickup trucks.

HEAVY ALUMINUM foil just received. For frozen food wrapping, and many other uses. Remember this is HEAVY foil; very different from the kind generally found on the market. Also have plenty of plastic bags of all sizes, as well as flat and round frozen food containers.

MR. AND MRS. AUSTIN WILLIAMS have a new International Harvester freezer. Delivered a few days ago. One of the best ways there is to keep the grocery bills down.

FORESIGHTED farmers will have most of their major tractor overhaul jobs done this fall, while they can remember better just what needs to be done, and while shops have plenty of time to do a better job. Short crop years generally mean fewer new tractors will be sold, more old ones will be overhauled. That means shops will be more crowded than usual, and the man who gets his work done EARLY benefits more than ever from his foresightedness.

ONLY ONE McCormick Cotton Stripper left. This is all we will get this year, and dealers on the Plains are yelling for it. If you aim to buy a stripper this year, look this one over before you buy. Plenty of features about it that are ahead of any other stripper on the market.

M. C. PIGG had us to overhaul his tractor last week. DAN HENARD brought his jeep in for a complete overhaul. ROBERT KARNES had us do some work on his Farmall M. Most of you know about the careful conscientious job you get when Doc Barjenbruch and Leland Bonneau work on your tractors or trucks. Doc is keeping me broke trying to pay bills with the low labor charges he makes; but since that's the way it is, you might as well take advantage of it. Bring your tractor, truck or car to our shop if you want first class work at shade-tree prices.

GOT A COUPLE of these International Harvester 16-foot home freezers I will sell to match any competition. International already has more than half of all the freezer business. We got it on quality and service. Aim to keep it on price. These list at $519.95. Will sell for $395. Compare weight, finish, insulation, operating cost, and SERVICE.

Sam Holcomb in NATO Maneuvers

Samuel W. Holcomb, electronics technician second class, UNS, son of Mrs. Jennie Williams of Eighth and Childress street, Wellington, is serving aboard the destroyer tender USS Tidewater in the North Atlantic with the U. S. Naval forces taking part in NATO Exercise MAIN BRACE.

Warships, carrier and shore based aircraft, amphibious troops and land forces from Canada, France, Denmark, The Netherlands, United Kingdom, Belgium and the United States will exercise in the defense of Europe's northern flank in night and day maneuvers.

Command of the exercise is divided between Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, USN, Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic Fleet and Supreme Allied Commander, Atlantic, and General Matthew B. Ridgway, USA, Supreme Allied Commander, Europe.

In the early phase of MAIN BRACE, combined Fleet forces commanded by Vice Admiral Felix B. Stump, USN U. S. SECOND Fleet Commander are launching air strikes against a portion of northern Norway, presumed to be occupied by the "enemy".

Later, unopposed amphibious landing, designed to assist the Danes in the defense of their country, will be made by U. S. Marines on Jutland, Denmark.

In daily maneuvers, the NATO naval forces are conducting air and surface operations, practicing fueling at sea and training in communications, designed to bridge language barriers and the differing techniques among the international forces.

O. K. Clark of Amarillo was a business visitor here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Lewis are spending a few days in Dallas.

MRS. J. T. BALDWIN

Wide experience in all types of dry goods selling is the background of Mrs. J. T. Baldwin, shown here working in the piece goods department. She had had many years experience in the work before joining The Leader Store staff.

MR. AND MRS. MACK SAIED

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Saied, above, established The Leader Store in Wellington 25 years ago, October 1. Prior to that they had been in the dry goods business 11 years in Oklahoma. Since coming here, they have been active in the civic as well as the business life of Wellington.

Grass Fire Near Campbell Ranch

By MRS. GEORGE ADKINS
Saturday evening on Highway 83 near the Frank Campbell ranch, a fire was started by someone tossing out a cigarette. The wind was real high and the fire gained headway. A number of cars stopped and the occupants helped fight the fire, then the fire department was called out from Childress.

Several travelers from other states stopped and one man from Colorado said it was a heavy fire not to help fight a prairie fire. There was no damage done to the grassland on either side of the road, George Adkins said.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ratzlow, Janice and Linda of Phillips spent the week end with Mrs. Pink Sullivan and James.

MR. AND MRS. MACK SAIED

State Fair of Texas Opens October 4

The State Fair of Texas, America's greatest and grandest fair, will open its glorified 1952 exposition Saturday, October 4, newest in the glittering parade of spectacles.

Opening day festivities will include the world's biggest picnic, steak sandwiches for an expected 100,000 farm and ranch kids on hand for Rural Youth Day; and a preview of the fair by some 2,000 newspaper, radio and television representatives.

One of the big surprises of the fair for many visitors probably will be "Tex," towering 50-foot cowboy figure, who'll stand near the Hall of State wearing the biggest pair of blue jeans ever sewed, a checkered shirt of comparable size, a 75-gallon hat and a four-foot-wide smile. In addition, the fair grounds has been dolled up to such an extent that the 187-acre, $35,000,000 park looks like a new place.

An important intercollegiate football game in the Cotton Bowl at 8 p.m. Saturday night will hit the rambunctious Southern Methodist University Mustangs against the powerful Ramblin' Wrecks from Georgia Tech.

Sunday at 2:30 p.m. professional football makes its debut at the fair with the new Dallas Texans playing the San Francisco 49ers and Monday at 8 p.m. Austin College will play the National University of Mexico.

Daily attractions for the fair include the Martin & Lewis Auditorium Revue, nightly with matinee Saturdays, Sundays and Thursdays; Ice Cycles of 1953, nightly with matinee Saturdays, Sundays and Oct. 8; the Aut Swenson Thrillride, 24 performances; "Show Boat" three to five performances daily on the Midway; the Variety Club three-ring circus, matinee and night performances daily; and, of course, the million-dollar Midway with its dozens of rides and shows, including the "Sky Wheels" and the sensational new "ROTOR".

There are more than 4,000 head of beef and dairy cattle, horses, sheep, swine and goats, 27 breeds in all, entered in the livestock exposition.

About 3,500 entries have been received for the Women's Show, which also will feature numerous contests and free shows by the Burns' Performing Birds.

Other features of the fair include the new Electric Show, Science-Engineering Show, Automobile Show, General Exhibits Bldg., Natural Gas Bldg., Museum of Fine Arts, Museum of Natural History, Aquarium, Hall of State, Cotton Bowl football on eight days, farm implements, numerous free shows and hundreds of special days and events.

Leader Department Store to Observe 25th Anniversary Here

Twenty-five years ago, on October 1, 1927, Mack Saied opened the Leader Department Store in Wellington.

This week, as head of one of the largest and best stocked department stores in any town of the Lower Panhandle region, Mr. Saied has announced that his store is observing its silver anniversary for the coming nine days.

The store now occupies a building twice as large as the original location, and the stock is four or five times as big as the merchandise with which he opened the business in Wellington.

Mr. Saied's story of a remarkable merchandising career could have happened nowhere but in America, he will tell you proudly.

Mack Saied was born May 28, 1888, at Marjoun, Lebanon, about 50 miles from Beirut. His family had lived there for many generations, and his father was a business man in the town.

The Elder Mr. Saied died when he was about 45 years of age, however, when Mack Saied was 6. The latter came to the United States when he was 13 years old, to make his home with an older brother, Oscar Saied at Pawnee, Okla.

"I came because I wanted to go to school more than anything else in the world," Mr. Saied says quietly. He did go to school — for two weeks. And by that time he could see that his brother could not continue to keep him in school and care for his own family, too. Mack Saied quit school and took his first job in the United States, working in a cafe. A little later he went to work in a store in Guthrie, for $50 a month.

"But I had to pay only $3.50 for room and board each week," he recalls.

Then he went out on the road selling Oriental merchandise.

"It was new to this country then and the stores did not handle it," he explained. He remained in this work about 14 years.

Mr. Saied was married to Miss Freeda Ayoub in 1911. They were born in the same town, but they did not meet until a few months before their marriage, when he was visiting a brother near Henryetta, Oklahoma. Her family had come to Streator, Illinois, where part of the family still reside.

Mr. and Mrs. Saied have six children, Blanche, now Mrs. George Farris; Gladys, now Mrs. Floyd Taylor of Quanah; Jennie, now Mrs. Frank Massad of Colorado City; Mack Saied Jr.; who is associated with his father in The Leader Department Store; V. C. Saied, a student in the University of Texas Medical School, Galveston; and Fred Saied, a student in the University of Texas, Austin. Their oldest son, Victor, died a few years after the family moved to Wellington. All their other children are graduates of Wellington high school.

There are five grandchildren.

Mr. Saied opened his first store at Haldton, Oklahoma, in 1916. "It was a little store — and I mean a very little store," Mr. Saied declares. He remained there until 1927, when the family moved to Wellington.

The first location of The Leader store here is now part of the Pink Sullivan Hardware and Furniture, that portion next door to the First National Bank. After five years, the store was moved to the west side of the square, in the building now occupied by the Fair Store, and seven years later, Mr. Saied moved to his present 50 foot-front location on the north side of the square.

Mr. Saied is a 32nd Degree Mason and a Shriner. He was a member of the Kiwanis Club for approximately 15 years and is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

He is a member of the Greek Orthodox Church, and the other members of his family are members of the Methodist Church here.

"During the years I have been in business, it has been my policy to carry nationally advertised merchandise and stand behind it," Mr. Saied said this week. "It has been my policy, too, to deal fairly with everyone who comes in The Leader Department Store. We are — and I speak for everyone in my family — indeed grateful to the people of the Wellington trade area. It is you who have made the store what it is, and who have given us the measure of success we have attained."

There have been many changes in the department store business since he entered the field, Mr. Saied recalls.

"When I entered the business, you didn't have to worry about style as you do now," he said. "You could buy a supply of merchandise and it could be safely carried over. Now if many types of merchandise are carried over, it is out of style next season. Then many stores had to hold big sales to raise money. Now they hold big sales to close out unseasonable merchandise."

"Stores don't do as much credit business now as formerly, although when I started, I was in a little oil town where credit business was for never more than 30 days," he added.

Mr. Saied points proudly to one department of his store. "We have one of the biggest stocks of women's shoes in this section of the country — I would say between Amarillo and Wichita Falls," he explained.

During most of the time they have been in business, Mrs. Saied has been actively associated with her husband in the store. In addition she carried on the duties of her home, and was active in Parent-Teacher Associations, the Band Mothers Club, and other groups related to the activities of a growing family.

All of the children have grown up in the Leader Department Store and all have worked as clerks in it. The oldest son, Mack Saied Jr., is now associated with his father in the business, and a son-in-law, George Farris, is with the store.

None of Mr. Saied's brothers or sisters remain in Lebanon. Oscar Saied, the brother with whom he came to make his home in the United States, is a retired business man in Oklahoma City. The others are Sam Saied of Clarendon, Ben Saied of Childress, Mrs. S. Nasan who lives in Brazil; Mrs. A. M. Samara of Oklahoma City; and Mrs. M. Shaheen of Tampico, Ill.

MRS. JOHN FORBIS

CHIMP GETS HIS ANNUAL CHECKUP

Checkups for Chimps are important too, according to Mickey, St. Paul, Minn., zoo-socialite. Mickey hied himself to the family Doc, made sure all was in good order by getting the medico's O. K. At left, Mickey waits while the Doc listens in on his heart. No thumps, jumps, yowls or murmurs there. Middle panel shows Mickey mystified by the flickering contraption Doc uses to peer inside his eyes. "How's it look, Doc?" he asks. Apparently all is O. K. because at right Doc goes on to check teeth, throat, and tonsils. Mickey gurgles "Ah-h-h-h," revealing everything, even the ice cream he had for dessert. And so, stamped "O. K." for another year, the healthy Chimp rests easy. He wants to pass the word along advising others to have an annual checkup "just to be sure."

WHO'S KIDDING WHOM
Don't make the mistake I did! While browsing through some old newspaper files I came upon a grocery store advertisement in a 12-year-old newspaper. This is what was advertised: No. 2 can of tomatoes — 5 cents. Head of lettuce — 7 1/2 cents. Round steak — 25 cents per pound. ($1.25 per pound today)! All the other groceries were priced unbelievably low. This ad would shock anyone. Its significance was bolstered by an article in the September issue of the American Legion Magazine entitled "Why You Have Trouble Making Ends Meet."

The article was written by Donald R. Wilson, national Legion commander. The sub-headline explained its contents: "What you should know about our phony prosperity, and the danger it presents to every one of us and to the nation as well." Commander Wilson takes up the case of a typical G. I. couple, Jane and Joe Thompson. The successes, the setbacks, the hopes and the disappointments of this couple strikingly show what a "prosperity" based on war spending and government borrowing really means in terms of the family budget.

"STAGE MONEY"
Before the war Joe made $25 a week and he thought it fair pay for a youngster. In 1946, just out of the Army, he got $55 a week. The cost of living was 40 per cent higher, and Joe married Jane. Joe got raises periodically, but the rise in prices ate them up. The first Thompson child was born in 1948. Expenses mounted. A second baby came in 1950. Joe now was making $75 a week, but he was now paying $326 income taxes annually in spite of exemptions for the children. In January 1951, the Thompsons figured that, financially speaking, they were about where they were in 1946.

Joe got a $5 raise in January 1952 — $260 a year increase. And the central purpose of this American Legion article is to show "how much of that $260 is their to keep, and how much is just 'stage money'." The answer, says the American Legion, will apply to a lot of other people too. "For Joe, with his $75 a week," the article says, "isn't far from being the average U. S. wage earner. And Jane, with two children to bring up, is about the typical U. S.

TAXES BITE HARD

The first big bite into the $260 raise is taken by federal taxes. Partly because of the raise, and partly because of a tax rate hike, Joe's income tax jumped from $326 to $405 in 1952, an increase of $80. That left $180 to the good. But the rising cost of living began to whittle away. The Thompson family of four required about one-third of Joe's earnings for food, and between January 1952 and July 1952 food prices rose, and they continued to rise after July.

About 13 per cent of the Thompsons' money went for clothing. Apparel dropped slightly the first six months, but then began to rise early in the fall. Approximately 20 per cent of Joe's income was earmarked for rent, fuel and house furnishings. Their coal bill went up, and furniture and appliances did too, the Legion article says. The remaining 30 per cent of Joe's income was earmarked for "miscellaneous" — doctor bills, gas for the automobile, cigarettes, utilities, family spending money; and it simply doesn't go as far as it did in 1951.

MAKE-BELIEVE GAME

Legion Commander Wilson says most economists expect the cost of living to go up something like 5 per cent in a 12-months period. The rise doesn't come in a straight line. Prices may hang steady, or drop a bit, along with the rises. But from January to January the result will be an increase of about 5 per cent.

So there goes about $175 for the Thompsons (5 per cent of income, after taxes). The Thompsons, then, have only $5 left out of the $260 raise! "What has happened," observes Commander Wilson, "is that Joe and all the rest of us have been playing an elaborate game of make-believe — and playing it on ourselves. We have been blowing our incomes up — and blowing prices up right along with them. And we have been kidding ourselves that somehow we were getting ahead in the process." But when we strike a balance, we see that most of us aren't getting ahead. High taxes and other government policies which feed inflation and make the future stability of the dollar shaky are actually holding back progress — and if permitted to continue long enough they will kill this nation's capacity for progress. We must quit kidding ourselves and work toward a sane stable economy.
