STANDARD OIL WOMAN'S WORK

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER GIVES HIS WIFE CREDIT FOR ALL SUCCESS ATTAINED.

EARLY DAYS WERE TRYING

When There Wasn't Much Business and Future Was Full of Doubt
She Kept Books.

Cleveland, O., July 17.—Was it a woman who amassed all the millions of the Standard Oil trust? John D. Rockefeller says it was.

To his wife, the richest man in the world attributes his fortune. From the early days when the business had its beginning, Mrs. Rockefeller has known the details of every transaction of the trust.

She kept the books when the receipts were not large enough to warrant an office force; she audited every business move her husband made, and then later planned to widen the scope of the business. When her services as bookkeeper were no longer required she became confidential adviser.

"Had it not been for her business sagacity and her clear insight into affairs," Mr. Rockefeller said, "I would be a poor man today. Many times her advice has been counter to my ideas, but her judgment has invariably proved the better."

It is proposed to organize a company for the manufacture of bonnets, aprons and other inexpensive articles, providing a factory that will employ quite a number of people.

Details of the proposition are not known at this time, but will be made public at the meeting tomorrow morning when the directors will take the matter under consideration.

London, July 16.—Articles have been signed for a fight in London before Sept. 30 between Jack Johnson and Bombardier Wells for the championship of the world and $40,000. Most Englishmen consider that Wells will have small chance against the heavyweight champion.

Hoke Smith, Newly Elected U. S. Senator From Georgia

Hoke Smith has reconsidered his determination not to go to Washington if elected Senator. His reason for this announcement was that he was only a few days ago sworn in for his second term as Governor. He has a "reform" program that he wishes to put through the legislature and accordingly intends to stay Governor until he has fulfilled his pledges to the voters.

Several meetings have already been held at which the preliminary work of the organization was gone over and the meeting today will perfect the plans outlined for putting the club on a substantial basis, such as will result in great good to the movement for better highways in this county.

NEW JERSEY CITIES TO VOTE ON COMMISSION FORM.

By Associated Press. Jersey City, N. J., July 17.—New Jersey City, Passaic and Jersey City will hold special elections tomorrow to decide whether they wish to adopt the commission form of government. Political observers declare Jersey City will vote against it and that Passaic will be close.

IN REAL DANGER FROM THE CHOLERA

SIX DEATHS ALREADY REPORTED AT DETENTION STATION IN NEW YORK.

FIFTEEN OTHER CASES

Dr. Doty Regards Situation as Serious and One Requiring Prompt and Energetic Action.

By Associated Press. New York, July 17.—The fight to bar cholera from entrance here continued today with the federal experts helping the local health department. Six deaths are already reported at the Swinburn island detention station and fifteen cases are now confined there indicating that the city is in real danger.

In a statement issued last night in reply to an interview attributed by a morning newspaper to Judge Bulger, Dr. Doty reviews the situation and points to the element of danger. The statements attributed to Judge Bulger, Dr. Doty says are so calculated to alarm the public in the very midst of a threatened invasion of cholera that I feel justified in making a reply.

Dr. Doty first considers the following question asked by Judge Bulger in the interview: "What can Dr. Doty, health officer of the port, mean when he allows five men who have been in daily contact with persons suffering from Asiatic cholera to come to this city in the same clothes they wore when among the cholera victims and touch elbow with everybody they meet?"

Dr. Doty's statement says on this point: "The facts are these: The five men referred to were called as witnesses by the people in charge of the investigation and were permitted by me to be absent from duty at Hoffman island for this purpose. Cholera is not transmitted by clothing or by the air, but by actual contact through the mouth with discharges from the intestinal tract of the cholera victim. There is, therefore, no danger what."

A SMALL TWISTER AT DUNDEE TODAY

BUILDINGS UNROOFED AND OTHER DAMAGE REPORTED THERE
THIS AFTERNOON.

THE RAINFALL WAS HEAVY

Holiday Creek Reported Flowing and Level of Lake May Rise As a Result.

Dundee, Texas, July 17.—A near cyclone swept this place at two o'clock this afternoon as the forerunner of the heaviest rain in nineteen months.

The blow which lasted about fifteen minutes brought a dust storm that darkened the skies and turned the day almost into night.

The wind came from the southwest and at this point formed into a twister, causing considerable damage.

Alex Allbright's general merchandise store was unroofed as was a store house owned by Mr. Allbright.

The Dundee pharmacy was so badly shaken that half the vials and jars tumbled from their shelves and were broken upon the floor.

The Dundee gin was unroofed, the smoke stack blown down and the water reservoir demolished.

The fence and sheds were blown over at W. M. Harvey's wagon yard and much other damage was done over town.

Telephone wires into the surrounding district are down and it is impossible to learn how much damage has been done, but so far as has been learned no one was injured.

A heavy rain is also reported at Mankins.

Holiday creek is flowing for the first time in many months and it is believed enough rain has fallen to cause a slight rise in the level of Lake Wichita.

Young New York Woman Miraculously Escapes Death in Tenement Fire.

By Associated Press. New York, July 17.—Driven to the window ledge of her West Side tenement house home by fire last night, Mary Murphy, 21 years old, hung suspended over the street for a minute in view of several hundred persons and then dropped. While some in the crowd turned away expecting to hear the young woman's body hit the pavement, those who watched were amazed to see her bounce to a ledge on the floor below, then to a similar ledge on the ground floor and finally through a window into a room on that floor. She was taken out stunned but not seriously hurt.

Chicago, Ill., July 17.—After kissing 286 babies ranging in age from 6 months to 4 years, and consecrating them to the "cause of Zion" Overseer Wilbur Glen Voliva, successor to John Alexander Dowle, stood by a barrel in Shiloh Tabernacle yesterday and watched his disciples toss $75,200 into it as a "sacrifice offering."

Voliva kissed all of the infants and consecrated them in exactly forty-eight minutes.

Yesterday was the annual consecration Sunday at Zion City and in the line of men and women that contributed to the "sacrifice fund" there were 3,319 parents.

R. H. Joyce left this afternoon for his ranch in Hall county.

ABOUT $100,000 JACKPOT

Wich Knew It Existed, He Said, Because He Contributed $10,000
For It.

By Associated Press. Washington, D. C., July 17.—The hundred thousand dollar jackpot about which the Lorimer charges revolve, was under fire at today's session of the Lorimer investigation. William Burgess of Duluth was the first witness. He claimed he heard C. F. Wiche, a millionaire lumberman, say he personally contributed ten thousand dollars towards the Lorimer election.

Burgess said he had never met Wiche until he began a conversation with the latter in a smoking car of which time the latter remarked that Burgess "did not know very damn much about it," meaning Lorimer's election. "There was a jack pot for Lorimer's election. I know what I am talking about because I subscribed ten thousand dollars to it myself," Burgess testified was Wiche's remark to him.

ACTIVITY IN CLOSING WEEK OF CAMPAIGN

Nearly One Thousand Speeches Announced from Harris County Alone.

By Associated Press. Houston, July 17.—The fact that about one thousand speeches are to be made on the prohibition issue this week in this county alone is an index of the activity of the final week of the campaign all over the state. The headquarters of both sides here were busy announcing their speaking this week at nearly every polling box in the entire state, at least once and at some twice, daily.

"DOUBLE" AND "O" WILL BE ELIMINATED

New Rule in Telephone Calls Now in Effect in Chicago.

By Associated Press. Chicago, Ill., July 17.—The words "double" and "O" have been stricken from the vocabulary of the Chicago Telephone operator. Last week subscribers calling the city hall, for instance, heard the operator repeat "Main double four seven." Now all this is changed. "Main four seven," asked in question form is the response of the girl. Likewise the official repeated "Franklin seven double O" has now become "Franklin seven hundred."

The double system in vogue in Chicago for several years is said to be a relic of the past, and according to telephone officials, the cause of many mistaken numbers.

WOULD DATE ALL EGGS.

Henry Huff Has Plan to Make Beloit, Wis., Center of Egg Industry of That Section.

Beloit, Wis., July 16.—Beloit as the center of the egg-shipping industry in this section is seen in the plan which Henry Huff of Morgan farm is outlining. Mr. Huff proposes to make contracts with all the farmers herabouts to buy all the eggs their hens lay and ship them to wholesale houses. By the method under consideration the exact age of every egg will be shown, for the eggs will be stamped when gathered. In case a wholesaler received some eggs which are "ripe" he can send them back to the shipper, who, by means of the stamp, will be able to tell who is responsible.

THE HOMELIKE CHURCH WAS SERMON THEME

Church a Big Family—God is Father, Christ Elder Brother—We the Sons and Daughters. Says Pastor.

Yesterday was a high day at the First M. E. Church, South. All of the services were largely attended. The services continued just sixty minutes at both morning and evening hours. At 11 a. m. Rev. O. T. Cooper, the pastor, preached on "The Homelike Church." He said in substance, using for a text, "And to the church which meets in thy house." Philimon 1:2. "We have no decisive evidence that there were separate church buildings in the early New Testament times. Perhaps not until the third century did the special buildings used for churches come in vogue. They worshipped in houses, in the homes of the members. We read in the Acts, of the house of Mary, the mother of John, where the congregation was wont to assemble and pray. Paul sent greetings to the 'Church which met in the house of Aquila and Priscilla.' In his letter to the Romans. To the Corinthians he wrote 'the Church in the house of Aquila and Priscilla send their greetings and love.' Other instances occur. The text is an example—the Church which meets in the house of Philimon."

"The ideal is beautiful. There are brought together two sacred institutions—the home and the church. The church after all is a big family. God is the Father, Christ, the elder brother, we, the sons and daughters in the home church. It is appropriate that we think a while on The Homelike Church. I want to give you a secret of the happy life in just such a church. "In the first place The Homelike Church is a working church. Domestic infelicity frequently results from ease taking. The father is busy elsewhere than in the duties of the home. The mother oftentimes is engaged elsewhere. Children are idle. Attractions are sought in other places. Estrangement between members of family occurs. How different in the well ordered home. Each member has his task and performs it gladly. Home ties are made stronger. The problem of the unemployed is as serious in the church as in the industrial world. Labor alone can cement hearts together. Oh, for a wholehearted, soul saving service loving membership!"

"Secondly, the homelike church is an affectionate church. Affection is the tender tie which binds together the family unit. Let this chord be snapped and the happy family is no more. It is love deeply imbedded which holds together the family. A love that knows no sacrifice. Love in the heart forgets fatigue and sacrifice. Likewise in the church where genuine affection holds sway. Sometimes it takes sorrow to bring out the tender and affectionate nature. Then hardness yields to tenderness. Coolness emerges into soul glow and warmth. After all, the needs of church and home are identical. That need is Jesus Christ. How barren the Christless home. What profit is there in the work of the church, when there is no Christ spirit?"

"Thirdly, the homelike church is a recruiting church. The baby in the home does not always remain a baby. The day comes when the son goes to battle for himself. The daughter goes from the home nest to make happy a new home. The home sends out its representatives to perpetuate the blessings of this sacred foundation of society. How like the home church. Children are taught at her altars. They learn to love God and His church. Duty calls. They leave to preach the word to live the life, to implant the truth. Thus, the blessings which they received in the home church becomes the possession of the world."

"Lastly, the homelike church is a forerunner of the church triumphant. Home is a word eternal. It tells of a dear place here. It points to an immortal estate yonder. Its existence in time is but an earnest of its purity in glory. It is the church in the home here. It is the eternal Zion home yonder. One day the militant homelike church is going to give way. Then the church of the first-born, without spot or wrinkle, the glorious church triumphant will be given as our everlasting habitation."

Last night Rev. Cooper preached on "The Cold Water Man." A large crowd heard the sermon. The next Sunday meeting theme is "The Candle Stick Man." The general title of these discourses is "Gospel Characters." These Sunday evening sermons are arousing deep interest.

Meeting of Fire Insurance Agents. Buffalo, N. Y., July 17.—The National Association of Fire Insurance Agents began its annual convention in Buffalo today with an attendance of several hundred prominent insurance men from all parts of the United States. The sessions will last until Thursday. Today's program included the address of President A. W. Neale of Cleveland and the reports of the various standing committees.

She also seeks the power through the courts of controlling her husband's finances. Mrs. Wallace declares that extravagance and "the constant use of intoxicating liquors" on the part of Mr. Wallace is the cause of the present state of affairs.

SNEAK THIEF ROBS BASEBALL PLAYERS

Club House Entered While Game Was In Progress and $28.35 Stolen.

During the baseball game Sunday at Lake Wichita some person or persons entered the club house and robbed some of the boys of their money, securing $28.35, of which $28 belonged to Brown, the center fielder for the Wichita team. Fifteen cents was secured in another pocket, while a third one of the boys was robbed of twenty cents, the amount of small change carried in the pocket at the time. Several of the boys overlooked or the intruder was frightened away before he completed the job, as there were a number of purses in the building that had not been touched. Clark, the short stop was fortunate in not losing $64 that he had left in the building, while some of the boys with less amounts escaped. Jones started to the game without his purse and luckily returned to the club house for it, while Hiett and some of the other members of the team left their money at the hotel or carried it to the grounds. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the robbery, but it is supposed

This Bank and Your Business

There are many banks in the country larger than The Wichita State Bank. They may have more capital and perhaps do a greater volume of business. But for the smaller business man, farmer or manufacturer, had it occurred to you that the small bank is the best place for the beginner to go?

The big bank is often cold-blooded and independent. Your business in the big bank is but an incidental detail, and your interests are scarcely noticed.

The small bank, however, can give your business more time and attention, for it is interested in your success.

This bank while small in comparison to some of the large banks, has ample means and facilities to properly care for your business. Its officers have time to consider your interest and welfare. Your business will be welcome and will receive their best attention.

to Men He Robbed.
Mont Croley, a negro, convicted of burglary in April, 1909, and sentenced to six years, was paroled to the firm of T. G. Frye & Sons, Oregon, Mo. Croley's sponsors were the men whose store he robbed.

Attempt to Keep Two Wives

in One Home Falls.
Peter M. Sharp of Pittsburg, Kan., became separated from his first wife in the great Chicago fire forty years ago. Eight years ago he married again, thinking his first wife dead. Recently he discovered that she was alive and offered her a home with wife No. 2. Peace reigned one week. Then wife No. 1 decided that it was time to leave. She is now living with a son in New Orleans. Sharp is wondering which is his real wife.

Girl Ends Long Sleep

Ready to Keep Fourth.
Awaking from a long sleep which began July 3, Mollie Bartlett of Elkin, Ill., remarked to her mother whose vigil at her bedside had been almost unrelenting:
"Telephone. Mabel that I'll catch the 10 o'clock car."
The young woman fell into her long sleep when she was overcome by heat at her home. When she regained consciousness she could not be convinced for some time yesterday was not the Fourth of July.

Greedy Menial Steals

Food From Squirrels.
The squirrels that make their home in the capitol grounds at Washington have not been getting their full rations lately. This was because a greedy human being was stealing part of their food.

The government furnishes daily seven pounds of almonds and peanuts for the bushy-tailed public pets. Early each morning an employee distributes the food at various points in the grounds. A negro employed as a menial about the capitol was discovered with his pockets bulging with nuts taken from the receptacles in which they had been placed for the squirrels. For weeks he had been robbing them. He was promptly discharged.

Shoots His Wife Because

He Finds Supper Cold.
Francisco Pompaelli, 33 years old has been arrested in New York, charged with shooting his wife twice, once in the left hip and once in the arm.

The woman said her husband came home late, and because she didn't set up to keep his supper ready pulled a revolver and shot her.

MACCABEES MEET AT CLEVELAND, OHIO

Thousands of Members Gathered for Quadrennial Meeting of the Supreme Tent.

Cleveland, O., July 17.—"Maccabee week," or the quadrennial meeting of the supreme tent of the Knights of Maccabees of the World began today with an attendance of thousands of members of the order from many parts of the United States and Canada. It is the first time in the history of the order that its supreme law-making has met outside of Michigan, the executive offices of the organization being situated in Detroit, and it has been planned to make it the greatest gathering ever held by the order. A class of 2,500 members will be initiated, and 25,000 Maccabees will participate in the parade.

The reports to be presented to the convention by the supreme officers show the order to be in a highly flourishing condition, both numerically and financially. Organizations now exist in sixty States, Territories and Provinces, the total membership approximating 300,000, with over 5,000 subordinate tents. Since its organization the order has paid out $38,000,000 in benefits, and has over $10,000,000 in surplus benefit funds.

BULL WILL CASE NEAR AN END

Final Hearing on Contest of the Will of Mrs. Ole Bull Will Be Heard Tomorrow.

Biddeford, Me., July 17.—The final hearing on the contest of the will of Mrs. Ole Bull, widow of the famous violinist, will be held here tomorrow, when the three wills, made by Mrs. Bull, will be disposed of by an agreement between counsel of both sides and ratified by the court. This will bring to an end a contest which has lasted two months and which has attracted wide attention. Mrs. Bull's legal residence was in this county, although she lived for a great part of her life in Cambridge, Mass. The will hearing brought out tales of strange practices of Raja Yona, a Hindu philosophy, whose devotees believed themselves to be elevated to the plane of gods. The exact terms of the agreement have not been made public, but it is known that Mrs. Ole Bull Vaughan, Mrs. Bull's daughter and the contestant of the will, is left as the sole legatee, and as administrator and trustee of her mother's estate.

Scotland Welcomes the King.
Edinburgh, July 17.—Without a discordant note was the enthusiastic welcome extended to the King and Queen upon their arrival here today for a four days' visit in Scotland. Though the hour of arrival this morning was rather early, a vast crowd assembled about the Caledonian railroad station and cheer after cheer went up as their Majesties, who were accompanied by the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, were formally received by the Duke of Connaught and escorted to the carriages in which they were driven to Holyrood Palace, where they are to reside during their stay in Edinburgh.

GOLDEN POTLATCH CARNIVAL AT SEATTLE

Pacific Coast Port Celebrates Anniversary of Arrival of Gold Ship From Klondyke.

Seattle, Wash., July 17.—Fourteen years ago today the steamer Portland arrived in this port from Alaska, bringing a ton of virgin gold from the rich new fields of the Klondyke, and starting the great gold rush which gave a wonderful impetus to Seattle's growth and prosperity.

In celebration of the anniversary the "Golden Potlatch" carnival was ushered in today with the firing of sunrise salutes, aeroplane flights, water fets, and sports, with vessels of the United States Navy participating, daily historical and artistic pageants, parades of all nations, a Japanese feast of lanterns, a Chinese dragon parade, Indian dances and ceremonies, floral fetes, masquerades, and the coronation of the King and Queen of the Potlatch will fill out the week.

Preparations for the big events have been going on for months. An elaborate system of street lighting has been installed, a great court of honor erected and practically the entire city has been decorated with flags and bunting.

THE ELKS CUT OUT INITIATION STUNTS

Joiners No Longer Need Fear the Greased Pig or Time-Honored Goat.

No more will the intending Elk be compelled to ride the goat, climb a greased pole or do other "stunts" in connection with his initiation. The last important action of the grand lodge of Elks was to abolish absolutely all horse play and hazing in the initiatory rites of the order.

This ends a fight that has been waged for a decade by a constantly growing element in the organization which contended that the horse play deterred many from presenting themselves as members who would be towers of strength to the order.

FREDERICK HORSES GO TO CHILDRESS

Thirteen sleek race horses, who have been doing preliminary work at the Frederick fair grounds, and most of which are Frederick horses were shipped Saturday morning to Childress, Texas, to begin the season's races. The horses included those of J. M. Carr, Bell & Crawford and Mr. Bush, being the choicest and swiftest animals from the stables of these well known horsemen.

A special parlor car was provided for the comfort of these blooded horses, and they will go to Childress in the best style possible, prepared to uphold the reputation of Frederick as the home of the race-track winners.

From Childress, the string of racers will be taken to Watonga and thence to other points in Oklahoma and Kansas. They will return to Frederick for the Tulsa county fair, Sept. 8 to 14.

MISS K. LESSER AND ONE OF HER BISQUE DOLLS.
New York, July 17.—Miss K. Lesser, an artist in her suit under the copyright law against a manufacturer and importer named Bergfeldt and the Crockery Trust, has only dolls as her witnesses. These dolls, the creatures of her own genius, first modeled in wax and then reproduced in bisque, were copyrighted, she says, under the old law, which should cause her to receive $10 for each bisque doll of the kind imported into the country.

OPP TO SPEAK HERE AGAINST STATEWIDE

Anti-Orator Billed to Speak Here and at Iowa Park.

Hon. Frederick Opp of Llano, Texas, is scheduled to speak in Wichita Falls Wednesday night, against statewide prohibition. His address will be given at the court house at 8:30 p. m. He is also billed to speak at Iowa Park Wednesday afternoon.

So far as has been learned these are the only two anti-prohibition speeches that will be made in Wichita county.

They Always Succeed.
There has never been an unsuccessful exposition west of the Rockies. The San Diego Exposition promises to be the most interesting and successful, considering the money outlay, ever held anywhere.

An Oklahoma Indian paid eighteen ponies for a wife. Oklahoma Indians must be decidedly inferior to the Massachusetts kind, and if we are to judge from the fact that a Texas girl was glad to come all the way from San Antonio to Boston to wed a noble red man, and her father didn't ask for any pinies.—Springfield Union.

Friendly Brazil.

Brazil is cultivating the good will of this country. Dr. Eugenio Dabine, special commissioner from Brazil, recently wrote to Acting Director General Sifton in part as follows:

"Brazil desires to take a leading part amongst the foreign nations that will be represented at the Panama-California Exposition and will grudge no expense to make an interesting and imposing show at the same time. And by right of having been the first on the ground, of foreign nations, I claim the privilege of priority in the choice of the best site and largest space for Brazil's exhibit."

"Facts always speak for themselves," quoted the Wise Guy. "In which connection it is perhaps needless to add that a woman is an incontrovertible fact," replied the Simple Mug.

Prohibition Snap Shots

A warning to the pro voters—remember that "vigilance is the price of liberty." And, in this campaign you are fighting a subtle foe.

The ants are making a house-to-house canvass of this county, and in Wichita Falls every day you can see them buttonholing off the voter and doing the "chin music" act. Each individual anti is a canvassing committee. They are not leaving a thing undone to win.

Remember, that the anti cause is desperate, the life or death of the saloon is in the balance. They care not by what means the end is accomplished so long as the saloon is saved.

Remember, that in Travis and other counties fraudulent poll tax receipts have been issued; grand juries are now investigating.

Remember that a floating population always hangs around a saloon. The sales of saloons often contain hundreds of receipts indirectly paid by the brewers and retail liquor associations. The men whose names appear on these receipts have often floated away to other localities. But these receipts are not wasted by the anti. Some more floaters drift in to take their places. Shiftless negroes and Mexicans always appear in pro elections with their poll tax receipts and line up on the anti side.

Pros of Wichita county, it is up to you to turn out to a man on election day and turn down the saloon crowd.

If we have saloons in Texas after the 22nd, it will be because the pro voters did not go to the polls. And if the anti win, every pro voter who did not go to the polls and vote will be a partner in the saloon business. (Advertisement)

H. S. Birkett.

Dr. H. S. Birkett, one of the leaders of the medical profession in Canada, was born in Hamilton, Ontario, July 17, 1864, and was educated for his profession in England. He began practice in Montreal and for some time was chief surgeon of the Montreal General Hospital. In 1899 he became junior demonstrator of anatomy at McGill University and later was made professor of laryngology and otology at that institution. Among the high professional honors that have come to Dr. Birkett have been the presidency of the American Laryngological Association and the vice presidency of the section of laryngology and otology of the British Medical Association.

There are now more than 40,000 rural mail routes in the United States, and the service is being enlarged almost daily.

Senator Bailey has intimated that he is likely to tender his resignation as a member of the Senate Finance committee owing to a lack of harmony existing between himself and the other members. Now's the time to get up a remonstrance.

Perhaps the unkindest cut of all is the Dallas News' editorial comment on the Anti manifesto, or more properly speaking, proclamation issued at Fort Worth, July 13th. The News says:

It is a curious circumstance, though, that those who are now most vehement in decrying the spirit of political proscription are the ones who have presided over the political auto, de fe which was instituted in this state about five years ago.

In a recent speech at Fort Worth ex-Gov. Campbell is quoted as saying: "I am not a candidate for any office I am trying to do something in this campaign for the homes and the firesides of the people of Texas, and I have not the vestige of personal ambition in any of the work in which I am now engaged." As plain as that reads, it is hardly satisfying. There are a number of people who will continue to believe that Campbell can come back if he wants to.

What is generally accepted as strong evidence yet delivered to a Wichita Falls audience on the statewide prohibition question was that of Hon. L. H. Mathis on last Saturday night at the corner of 7th and Ohio avenue. Mr. Mathis is one of our own citizens, and while the argument he put up was strong and forceful, his speech was free from abuse. He spoke against the open saloon as an institution, and not against the men who conduct them. If there is any doubt of the result of next Saturday's election in Wichita Falls and Wichita county, a few strong, able and convincing addresses like that delivered by Mr. Mathis is only necessary to remove it.

According to Gov. Deenen's testimony, things politically in Illinois are rotten. Bryan gave us an intimation of that when he refused to associate with Sullivan, and later Roosevelt declined to sit at a banquet table with Lorimer. But Texas demagogues really should have little to say about rottenness in Illinois politics so long as it is possible for a Democratic convention to set its seal of approval on an election fraud by which at least one candidate for a state office who had a clear majority over his next highest opponent, was deliberately counted out. Such tricks as that cannot be justifiable on the ground that the man counted out was not the proper man for the place. A majority of the Democrats of Texas had voted for him in preference to the man to whom the nomination was given, and of course this man elected at the general election, but the fact that he was elected by fraudulent methods and political trickery will never be lost sight of.

A small Texas city is reputed to show more wealth than any other similar-sized city in Texas with eight millionaires and fully a hundred others whose wealth ranges from $100,000 upward to a quarter of a million. We picked up a paper from that town the other day and recalling the story of its riches, were struck by a letter published therein from a former young citizen who said he had been driven out of his home town by the fact that there was no change for a young man without capital to find success. And that's generally the case. The town with a lot of individual wealth may be boosted outside by that as an asset, but, at home, most towns with wealthy individuals are known to be as slow as molasses in the winter time. The man of contented wealth is usually of the contented class. He has enough, why should he worry over building up the town in order that the entire citizenship might prosper as well? Not he for the town that is humming and bustling and growing, give us every time the one in which there are none very poor and none very rich. It is the man with a comfortable start and his fortune yet to make who appreciates the advantages of push and "get-up-and-git" in building cities and fortunes and who is willing always to bear his part and to put his shoulder to the wheel to make the city grow as it should grow. The willingness of this class to push draws; thither other ambitious men who are glad to live in a town peopled like that, and the first thing one knows the former village is a city. The poor men have achieved riches by the prosperity of the town that followed their work and the town has an impetus which requires but little more motion to keep it a-rolling, gathering momentum and more citizens and more wealth as it proceeds. The town with the born-rich class or with good many rich individuals and a bigger lot of poor in the meantime has sat still and waited—unsuccessfully—for more people to come and admire their wealthy citizens. NEW COTTON IN TEXAS
FACTOR IN MARKET

Report of Spread of Boll Weevil Being Made and Weather Map is Watched.

New Orleans, La., July 16.—This week in the cotton market promises to be interesting, chiefly because the ring promises to lose its one-sided aspect. Opinion is again well divided, even among professionals, and there is a strong element seeking to put prices up, just as there is an extensive interest looking for a lower market.

There is no secret about the fact that the bulls will rely on the boll weevil talk to help them put the market up. In the central belt, that is, in Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and portions of Alabama, the depredations of the weevil are becoming constantly extended, and it looks as if some very bad reports were due to come in from important sections of this portion of the belt this week.

It is claimed by private-bureaus that the weevil has recently infested twenty-two counties in Arkansas that did not suffer from the pest last year. It is expected that reports from these counties as well as accounts from other sections will do much toward sustaining the market.

It is now generally admitted that the entire belt has received enough rain for the time being, and more rains (this week) except in Georgia, the Carolinas, and Oklahoma, will be regarded as a bullish instead of a bearish feature. The week promises to open with a wet weather day if the forecast of the week-end is worth anything, and this ought to help the market.

Trade buying will be eagerly watched for this week. The long side has claimed that much buying, that is, buying of hedges by spinners and spot houses, would be done around 12:30 or October, but purchases from this source have been disappointing in volume. It is probable that any sudden rise will bring this class of buyers in until their wants are satisfied. If such buying is seen it ought to be a factor of no small importance.

The movement of new cotton in Texas promises to increase and if it grows much larger it ought to help the bears. The prediction was freely made on the week-end that daily receipts of new cotton at Houston would average 100 bales. Such receipts would chiefly affect July and August.

FRANK CHANCE WILL SHAKE UP HIS CUBS

By Associated Press.
Boston, Mass., July 17.—Manager Frank Chance of the Cubs, has decided upon a shake-up in his team following the severe drubbing at the hands of Boston on Saturday. Vic Saier will be put on first base today and Artie Hoffman will go back to his regular outfield berth. Chance spent Sunday figuring on the more or less desperate situation disclosed by Saturday's defeat and the change was one of the remedies he decided to try out. Others occurred to him but will be reserved for later application if necessary.

The new arrangement is expected to strengthen the defense without weakening the offense—appreciably. Experience has shown that two positions are considerably weakened by the use of Hoffman on first base. During his long period of service in the outfield Hoffman has lost the hang of fielding low thrown balls and sharp grounders. He used to be good at both and it was thought a few weeks of practice would remedy the weakness which was apparent when Hoffman was first changed from outfielder to infielder this season. But low thrown and sharp hits continue to elude Hoffman after all these days. That has unseated the rest of the infield.

Should Texas go dry in the election July 22, only two Southern States will be inviting to most winter tourists from the North, Louisiana and Florida. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FROM THE CHOLERA

ever from contact with a person who has been in the presence of the disease.

"At the present time we are dealing with a very serious outbreak of cholera in Italy and other sections of the Mediterranean, where it has increased in virulence since last year. A majority of the vessels which recently have come from Italy either have brought actual cases of this disease or furnished evidence of its having occurred in transit. It is with great difficulty that the latter condition is combatted, and it is only through a most exhaustive bacteriological examination that we are able to secure the facts.

"It is in the presence of these conditions when the confidence of the public in this department should not be unjustly disturbed nor its facilities for protecting the public health diminished that the man appointed to investigate this department makes the amazing declaration which Commissioner Bulger makes this morning in the midst of the hearing with no testimony in reply yet offered.

"The quarantine department of every port in this country is facing a very serious and onerous task during the coming summer. It is not improbable that many vessels arriving from the cholera infected districts of Italy within the next few weeks will bring one or more cases of this disease. The crisis is drawing heavily on the resources of my department. It also puts an unusual strain upon the discipline of the department. Commissioner Bulger's publicly printed statements regarding quarantine conditions affect not only the public mind, but the discipline of quarantine, on which the public is largely dependent for health and safety."

SAYS SUNDAY BASEBALL IS HELPFUL TO MORALS

New Haven Chief of Police Says Number of Cases in Courts Fewer On Mondays Following Sunday Games.

New Haven, Conn., July 17.—Sunday baseball by professional teams is a distinctly helpful moral force, according to Chief of Police Cowles of this city. "In reply to a demand from church organizations that he suppress the Sunday games at Lighthouse Point in the suburbs Chief Cowles says: "Sunday baseball by professionals will continue at Lighthouse Point, no longer as the game is conducted in an orderly manner, because it draws young men from the streets and lessens the number of arrests for drunkenness and disorder. Many young men are attracted to the shore by the Sunday games, who would otherwise loiter on street corners and from my own personal observation, I know it lowers the number of cases in the courts Mondays.

Burglars Caused Fire.
By Associated Press.
Marshall, July 17.—The fact that burglars were responsible for the fire which yesterday destroyed half the business district of Ashland, Texas, was discovered today. The loss was eight thousand dollars.

Ball Players Have Escaped.
By Associated Press.
Bridgeport, Conn., July 17.—The wreck of the Federal Express here last week and the escape of the St. Louis baseball team has drawn attention to the fact that never in the history of professional baseball has a player been killed in a traveling accident. The major-league clubs travel about 25,000 miles each year.

Altus Will Play Durant.
The Altus baseball club passed through Wichita Falls last night en route to Durant for a series of games as per previous schedule, and it is proposed to play a double header at that place today. It seems that the fans at Durant, in order to provide games for their home team, subscribed to a fund to pay the expense of the members of the disbanded Altus organization to that city and it is expected that the Altus franchise will be placed with some other town before the series with Durant is completed, otherwise it will disband for good. It is not now considered an organization, some of the best players having gone to other teams, and it is a good move on the part of Durant in arranging for them to play the series in a crippled condition, as a means of boosting the latter's standing in the percentage column.

Asked as to the prospects of placing the Altus team of providing for the continuation of the league without the sixth club, President St. Clair stated today that there had been no developments as yet in the matter but that something would likely be done before the Durant series with Altus is completed.

TEXAS IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Will Use Split Log Drags.

That the split-log drag promises to become an important factor in the development of good roads in Wichita county is assured in the recent purchase of ten of the King Split-Log Drags, four of which were secured by the city and six by the county. The drags are modeled after the plan of D. Ward King, the noted good roads advocate, who lectured here during the recent chautauqua and are said to be the most successful good roads machine ever placed on the market.

As soon as the drags are received they will be put in operation in the city and in the county and good results are anticipated from their use. J. G. Culbertson who is one of the most enthusiastic advocates in the city of better highways stated today that he expected to attach one of the drags to his auto and do considerable work in this way as a demonstration of the possibility of the plan when aggressively carried out. He has great faith in the result of the King system and is proud to know that it is to be tried out in this county.

EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

One of the wisest laws enacted by the 32nd, or any other legislature, was the one which authorized the Commissioners' court of any county to make an appropriation not to exceed a thousand dollars to be used in farm experiment and demonstration work.

Every county in Texas will make a good investment by appropriating the whole thousand dollars and demonstrating to the farmers what crops and what manner of cultivation will be most thoroughly successful to local conditions and to educate the farmers to farm by the most improved methods and to discontinue the system of the long ago.

LATE SPORTING NEWS

BONHAM DIVIDES HONORS WITH LADS

VISITORS WON SATURDAY'S GAME WHILE LOCALS TOOK SUNDAY'S.

7 SCORES IN 20 INNINGS

First Two Games of Series Among the Best Played This Season—Attendance Improves.

The Bonham team is furnishing the home boys with plenty to do in the present series and are giving them the fight of their lives in the contest for the majority of the games. Between the two games played it is an even break. Bonham winning Saturday in a stubbornly contested game that continued for eleven innings, while Wichita Falls was the victor Sunday in a well played game that resulted in a score of 2 to 1. Thus it will be seen that of the twenty innings played in the two games Bonham only annexed a total of three runs, while Wichita Falls could get but four men over the home plate during the two contests. Such ball-playing is all that could be desired by the most exacting fan and those who fail to attend the games are missing some splendid exhibitions of the national game.

Saturday's game was a pitchers battle from start to finish in which Shultz the new recruit for Wichita Falls covered himself with glory and demonstrated his ability to make good in Class-D company. Haislip who worked for the visitors pitched a magnificent game, being especially effective in the close plays.

The game of Sunday was likewise a pitchers battle in which Myers had decidedly the best of it and pitched one of the best games seen on the local diamond this season. He allowed but three hits and struck out nine of the Bonham players. Jost pitched a good game but allowed the locals to bunch their hits in the fourth innings for two earned runs. He struck out seven men during the game.

Bonham is here for today and tomorrow at the city park, and for this afternoon Mullen, the new south paw was scheduled to pitch for the home team, while Jones will likely pitch tomorrow. The score for the Sunday game is as follows:

STOOD FOR HOURS AT PRISON DOOR

CONVICTED MAN EXPERIENCES DIFFICULTY IN GETTING INTO NEW JERSEY PRISON.

HIS COMMITMENT PAPERS

Were Demanded By Authorities Before They Would Permit Codrington to Enter.

Trenton, N. J., July 17.—After a wait of several hours at the gate of the state prison here, Horace Codrington, a lawyer, convicted of misappropriation of public funds, finally obtained admission to the institution early today. Codrington learned yesterday that the conviction had been affirmed by the court of appeals and at once set out for the prison to surrender himself. He reached the prison late last night and told the officials he had been sentenced to serve 17 months in the prison. They declined to admit him, however, until he could present the usual commitment papers. Codrington telephoned to the county officials explaining the situation finally persuading the sheriff to bring over the necessary papers.

Codrington's shortage was made good soon after it was discovered and petition for his parole now is before the board of pardons.

the parents and does much less to make the child a useful citizen when he grows up."

McKeever has been working on a series of bulletins on child rearing. Four of them have been published and another will soon be printed. The bulletins are distributed free and the money to pay for the printing and distributing is furnished by business men and students of sociology throughout the country. These men are interested in the same problem as Prof. McKeever—the upbringing of a better citizenship.

adult are aiding him to change child rearing from a guess into a science as carefully worked out as the science of pig raising and crop production.

"In the colleges there are special courses in pig raising, poultry raising, horse breeding, production of special types in cattle for beef or milk, crop rotation and seed selection, but the fathers and mothers go on making experiments in rearing children. Children may be well-bred, but their prospects for a useful career are often blighted through ignorance on the part of the parents.

I want to see established college courses in child rearing, so that parents can know how to train and care for their first born without hurting the morals and physical fiber of the child through a long series of experiments and trials which teach little to poet or painter who will, by means of high art, divert the attention of many young girls from the airy phantasms which they are now pursuing and help them to fix their affections upon the things that make for more substantial character.

"Crop production, stock raising and breeding are sciences taught by schools, but child-rearing is a guess, combined with heresy and superstition," continues McKeever. "In our eagerness to herald to the world the magnitude of our corn and wheat crops, the superiority of our beef cattle and the thoroughbred swine and the tremendous productiveness of our good old faithful hen, we often lose sight of the real issue, the splendid crop of strong sons and fair daughters the country is producing.

"Drouths and deluges may destroy our grain crops, disease and degeneration may play havoc with our cattle, on a thousand hills, and our treasured workers in the field of alfalfa; yet, our boasted helpful hen may occasionally cease her productive labors. All these calamities may come upon us each in its turn and yet our glory may not be dimmed,

FILMY FROCKS For SUMMER DAYS

The Lovely Lace Frock has a Cap to Match

Black and White Casino Costume in One Sided Effect

Sometimes the Whole Surface is Covered with Lace and Embroidery and Irish Lace in Effective Combination

The Voile Dress Supreme—Shortwaisted Effects and Sash Bows—That Fetching Touch of Black on White Frocks—Coronation Red a Fad

NO matter how many smart costumes of foulard, pongee or other materials made of silk, silk and cotton or silk and mohair weave one may provide early in the summer season when the torrid, humid days of July arrive only frocks of a cobwebby character seem bearable. Have you ever observed that, while it is comparatively easy to imagine excessive heat, the wilting sensation of intense humidity must be felt to be realized. Along in April and the warm, bright days of early May one blithely provides the pretty silk frocks, lined, of course, to give trim and proper lines which seem to fulfill all the requirements for midsummer wear. Then comes the humidity. Gloves—even silk gloves—are a misery, a frock lining is a torture—any fabric that has more weight than a cobweb can make the skin perspire like a blanket after a hot bath and if the wardrobe does not boast sheer, soft, diaphanous frocks, one gives up in despair, stays at home or in desperation ignores the conventionalities and wears a shirtwaist and tub skirt.

The humidity which prostrates all New York from the middle of June until almost the end of August is not felt by the lucky folk away in the mountains, and no matter how scorching the sun at the shore there is always the reviving sea breeze in the afternoon. It is in town that one must dress thinly as is compatible with decency and it is in town, in summer, that one sees in the restaurants some of the loveliest midsummer costumes of airy fabric and of lace. Most of the important dining places now have tables set out of doors in summer time—either on wide balconies or on the roof—and there are dozens of charming restaurants just far enough out of town for a pleasant run, which are largely patronized at the dinner hour.

Smart Motor Coats Over Lovely Frocks

One may sit on the balcony of such a restaurant and watch the automobiles draw up and discharge their gay supper or dinner parties, lovely frocks covered with light wraps, which may be checked in the cloakroom and huge, daintily tinted ivories elegantly placed over picture hats. Motor bonnets are not worn with such costumes, since, though comfortable in the car they do muss the coiffure sadly. For dining in town there are fetching "taxi" bonnets, made of shirred chiffon or lace, which may be drawn lightly over the hair and the long streamers wound about the throat; but for a long, out of town run in dusty weather the trifling "taxi" bonnet would be of no use at all.

These suburban dining places have suits of most luxurious dressing rooms for the use of women guests. Besides the dressing rooms proper, with full-length mirrors and dressing tables equipped with every sort of cosmetic, cream and beauty requirement, and with clever maids in attendance to offer assistance, when needed, there are cozy writing rooms, with well supplied writing tables, low chairs and all the new magazines.

Fascinating motor coats, made of softest, lightest silk or of pongee, are worn over the pretty dinner frocks. A stunning coat of this sort was worn by a woman who, drove up with a party of New Yorkers to a fashionable restaurant in Westchester. This coat was of pale tan taffeta in the new soft, lustrous weave and around the bottom and edging the loose, bag-like sleeves were ten-inch insertions of cream Greek lace, the bold, open pattern of the lace showing the tan silk beneath. The upper part of the coat seemed much looser and fuller than the narrow skirt, though this was probably merely a trick in the cutting. One side of the front turned back from the neck to below the waist where the fastening was arranged in a deep rever, which was faced with white satin. The simplicity and elegance of this coat were very striking, but much of its beauty was due to the wonderfully smart cut which gave extreme looseness at the shoulders with trim narrowness at the foot. Another lovely restaurant coat seen last week was made of white marquisette over thin white silk, heavy braiding done with soutache, giving the filmy material enough weight to make graceful lines. Over the back of this coat hung an exaggerated "sailor collar" of white satin, which came below the waistline and extended well out over the sleeves.

A Fichu of Ribbon. But this chat is about frocks and not wraps, fascinating as the latter may be; and indeed once the charming wraps are removed the little dinner frocks are so ravishing that one wishes to think of nothing else.

At a balcony table in the Knickerbocker summer girls the other evening sat a young woman wearing a frock with "Callot" written all over it, and the whole frock was so filmy you could have crushed it into the reticule which the woman carried over her arm. Italian flit lace was combined with pale cream silk mousseline the lace forming a knee-depth band on the skirt and all of the little pleasant shaped bodice. At the back the flit lace trailed a bit on the floor, but in front the skirt was lifted under a long panel of heavy foot. Such special favor has been accorded to the shoulder scarf, which came back to stay several seasons ago, and now the dainty lace cap—a fitting companion to the graceful scarf—bids fair to be an established mode of headgear. The secret of the instant and lasting popularity of these caps is, of course, their almost invariable becomingness. It is a plain face indeed that does not take on a touch of loveliness, of witchery and of fascination under the drooping lace ruffles which fall so deftly over the hair. There is a quaintness, too, about the little caps which makes them irresistible around the face with any pretensions to prettiness, and when the lace and ribbon trimmed cap is worn by a really lovely young woman the effect is entrancing.

One says "young woman" emphatically, for afloat the fetching lace caps—for out-of-door wear—at least are not for the face verging on maturity. The sprig of a girl and her grand mamma may wear a lace cap—even the same lace cap and be adorable in it; but mamma and the maiden aunt hovering with reluctant feet where girlishness and forty meet are forbidden the rippling lace cap ruffle, which will either look grotesque or pitiable and suggest an aching of youth with unfortunate effect. But this barring of the cap privilege concerns only the boulevard style of cap. The most expensive boudoir caps are made of white lace, and sometimes the lace is mounted over chiffon or net in order that the cap may not be transparent—of course the boudoir cap is intended primarily as a covering for an incomplete coiffure.

venise point, which extended from the bust to a little above the knees. Under this panel the skirt, with its flit flounce, was caught up just enough to reveal an adorable petticoat of iris purple taffeta, which did not show through the cream mousseline since the whole frock was worn over a slip of thinnest ecru silk. But the feature of this Callot creation was the fichu, which was made, can you believe it? of ribbon. The ribbon was very soft and very broad and matched to a degree the lovely purplish tone of the petticoat showing at the foot. It was laid about the shoulders after the manner of a fichu, crossed below the bust, and the ends were carried around to form a graceful bow and long sash at the back. With this frock was worn a big purple straw picture hat turned up at one side in dashing manner to show an apricot pink facing. There was no trimming except a big cocarde of ecru lace at one side.

The Low Waistline Is Obscure.

All waistlines are high—not high enough to be Empire or Directoire, but sufficiently above the normal to give a cunning, youthful look to little summer frocks. This accentuating of the high waistline is due, some dressmakers insist, to a reaction from the straight front corset, which while it has wrought marvels in the improvement of mature figures, lengthens the waist and leaves a heavy effect between bust and beltline. The high waistline is really more youthful and on slender figures it is charming. Sashes seem to belong rightfully with girlish, short waisted frocks, and almost every midsummer costume this season has its sash bow, with or without ends at the back of the bodice.

The velvet sash may seem a bit cumbersome for midsummer wear in America, where the humidity brings a weather condition absolutely unknown in Paris; but in Paris just now these velvet sashes are considered extremely chic. The striking frock combining striped silk, chiffon, lace and velvet sash, pictured today, was worn at the races in Paris earlier in the season and made its appearance at a smart country club opening up on the Hudson last month. Over a petticoat of white chiffon falls a tunic of raspberry, red silk striped, with white and there is a queer little half-bodice of the silk which forms one sleeve, the other half of the bodice being of a heavy Irish lace which also borders the silk tunic. The sash is made of black velvet and there are tiny black velvet buttons on the skirt.

Skirt Flounces Reappearing. Something else on this chiffon skirt is very notable—and that is the arrangement of lace flounces set one above the other at the foot. Flounces, to say the French couturiers, are on their way back; but such trimmings are kept very straight and scant and conform to the narrow lines of the skirt instead of standing out from it.

A Paris frock, worn in London last week, had three very limp, scant flounces of black chiffon on a white chiffon skirt, and of course other touches of black in the costume balanced this arrangement of flounces at the foot. Everything that comes out of Paris this year has the touch of black that proclaims it Parisian.

There may be only a tiny line of black piping at the neck, or a sprinkling of black buttons on a chiffon vest, or perhaps the sash, as in the raspberry red costume mentioned a bit above, may be of black velvet or chiffon. Chiffon sashes are ideally graceful, but of course the slimsy material must be substantially weighted in order that it shall not fly about and spoil the lines of the frock. Coronation Red a Color of the Moment.

Just now there is a craze for a certain deep, brilliant red shade—the royal red of Coronation cloaks. Some of the Paris dressmakers have turned out whole frocks in this blazing color and, as everybody with an observant eye has noted, red hats are a fad of the summer. But red is not a color that is comfortable to have about in dog-day weather in America, however much they may like the shade in London for patriotic reasons, or in Paris where humidity is unknown. Green is more favored in America and one of today's illustrations shows a charming frock of the omnipresent white voile mounted over palest green and embroidered with a still more delicate green in bold arabesque pattern. Between the embroideries are set sections of the effective Greek lace, which has become so popular since an ambassador's wife revived the interest in lace making at Malta.

The girle and sash arrangement on this summer frock are especially pretty. The bodice is pulled into a high, fitted section of the embroidered voile and below this, outlining the waistline, is a knotted cord with tassels. The hat accompanying this pretty summer dress has a crown made of green roses in three shades and a brim of catwaba pink straw which makes an artistic contrast with the delicate greens.

Another dainty voile frock is trimmed with open English eyelet embroidery and baby Irish lace. The short bolero coat opening over a vest of the lace which reaches, like the bolero, only to the top of a high sash, is a smart feature of this costume.

Simpler in character, because coming under the classification "tub frock" though really quite elaborate in manner of trimming, is the afternoon dress of embroidery and lace, a very little plain batiste appearing in tuckings on bodice and sleeve. A feature of this frock is the suggested sailor collar made of embroidery and set into the bodice material instead of hanging loosely over it. Queen Mary has set a fashion for elaborately embroidered gloves—in fact, for embroideries of all sorts, which she adores. The Coronation gloves had gold embroideries representing the crown and other royal symbols, but with summer frocks of a lingerie character long silk gloves delicately embroidered in self color are just now the fad.

Copper On the Breakfast Table. Copper breakfast sets are the ad just now and with the deep blue of willow pattern, or Canton china the copper color of coffee and cream receptacles is rather charming. For country house or bungalow use these copper breakfast sets are more satisfactory than silver, for the copper is easier to keep bright and clean and there is, of course, less temptation to the always dreaded burglar than if the table services were of silver.

The Indoor Cap—Which Completely Covers the Hair.

LACE CAPS For Boudoir and Boulevard

There are certain styles which prove too becoming to be banished when the ordinary period of popularity has passed, and which are added to the feminine wardrobe as accepted features of dress to be changed from season to season, perhaps in minor details of fashionability but not in the general characteristics which have made them acceptable.

Such special favor has been accorded to the shoulder scarf, which came back to stay several seasons ago, and now the dainty lace cap—a fitting companion to the graceful scarf—bids fair to be an established mode of headgear. The secret of the instant and lasting popularity of these caps is, of course, their almost invariable becomingness. It is a plain face indeed that does not take on a touch of loveliness, of witchery and of fascination under the drooping lace ruffles which fall so deftly over the hair. There is a quaintness, too, about the little caps which makes them irresistible around the face with any pretensions to prettiness, and when the lace and ribbon trimmed cap is worn by a really lovely young woman the effect is entrancing.

One says "young woman" emphatically, for afloat the fetching lace caps—for out-of-door wear—at least are not for the face verging on maturity. The sprig of a girl and her grand mamma may wear a lace cap—even the same lace cap and be adorable in it; but mamma and the maiden aunt hovering with reluctant feet where girlishness and forty meet are forbidden the rippling lace cap ruffle, which will either look grotesque or pitiable and suggest an aching of youth with unfortunate effect. But this barring of the cap privilege concerns only the boulevard style of cap. The most expensive boudoir caps are made of white lace, and sometimes the lace is mounted over chiffon or net in order that the cap may not be transparent—of course the boudoir cap is intended primarily as a covering for an incomplete coiffure.

Negroes Testify They Received Poll Tax Receipts Without Paying for Them.

Austin, Texas, July 17.—During the past three days a hearing has been held in this city before Justice of the Peace G. W. Mendell as to the illegal issuance of poll tax receipts to voters in this county. At this hearing the State was represented by County Attorney Shelton and the Young Men's Statewide Prohibition Club by C. A.
Ledy of Greenville.

Many witnesses were introduced, who testified to receiving poll taxes by mail without the payment of any money therefor. One negro said he had circulated blank affidavits among the negroes and turned them over to some strange white man in a saloon in Austin, who told him that these negroes would be sent free poll tax receipts.

Other negroes testified they had received their tax receipts through the mail and that they had never paid any money therefor. It was also testified by several white men that they had received poll tax receipts by mail without making any application therefor and without paying for the same.

At time of the investigation today the County Attorney, Justice of the Peace and the representative of the Young Men's Statewide Club joined in a request to District Judge Calhoun to call a special session of the grand jury of Travis county to investigate these illegal tax payments. It was announced by the prohibition executive committee that a liberal reward would be offered for the arrest and conviction of any person voting in the statewide prohibition election who holds a poll tax issued free of charge.

Lucille Marcel and Felix Weingartner

Paris, July 17.—Lucille Marcel, the American soprano, whom Jean de Reszke converted from a struggling aspirant for fame into a successful opera singer, is now in Paris and may shortly visit her own country.

Seven years ago, when she was still immature, Mme. Marcel made an attempt to secure an engagement with the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, but was unsuccessful. Soon after that "Jean" took her in hand and gave her the benefits of his tuition. In four years the young American had made such progress that she was engaged for the Vienna Opera House then under the management of Felix Weingartner.

She has also sung with success in the Hamburg Opera House and in other places, but her efforts have been chiefly devoted to concerts. It is now said she will appear in America next Spring.

LACE CAPS OF THE BUDOIR

across the back below the hair. A garland of the looped pink ribbon trims this cap all around.

Out-of-door or boulevard lace caps are slightly more formal in style than the models designed for boudoir wear and there is usually less trim and more crown. There are three styles:
the Charlotte Corday cap, which is illustrated; the round mob cap, which fits rather close to the head and has the quaint Dutch cap, which is rather square in shape and has rosettes over the ears. The dainty Charlotte Cor-day cap pictured is made of soft white batiste, with a trimming of lace insertion and edging and the frill around the edge is much narrower in front than it is at the back. Blue ribbon run through a heading covers the joining of crown and frill, and at intervals around the frill are knots of the blue satin ribbon centered by pink silk roses.
The crown is circular in shape, but the Physique knot of the hair beneath the cap gives it the elongated shape illustrated.

A lovely little mob cap of val lace seen recently had a very narrow frilled brim—not more than an inch and a half in width—and this soft frill of lace was kept close to the pretty face all around by means of the pale blue satin ribbon, which encircled the edge of the cap and tied in a pert bow over the left temple. The crown was not bagged, but was quite high, a disc of shirred lace forming the top and a wide shirred lace insertion being used for the steep slant of the sides. Where the top and sides met was a wreath of tiny pale blue satin roses with green leaves. Beneath the edge of this charming and coquettish cap strayed a girlish curl, which fell forward over the wearer's shoulder. The curl is the twin sister of the lace cap and anybody young enough to wear such a cap will be doubly adorable with the accompanying curl over the shoulder.

More elaborate caps are made of gold lace and metallic nets and these are usually trimmed with bows of velvet ribbon or the now very fashionable ribbed faulle ribbon and roses of gold or silver tulle. Pleated lace trills are a bit more luxurious in effect than the gathered sort and Corday cap of val allover lace with two paired ruffles at the edge will make a really handsome as well as bewitchingly pretty hat for midsummer wear with light frocks. Some of these caps range as high as twenty dollars in the shops, but almost any girl can make one for herself at a third cost.

Another form of boulevard cap is the airy "taxicab" bonnet, a dainty and practical device for keeping the breezes from blowing one's coiffure into dishevelment during the dash to theatre or restaurant—for all the facts have their tops thrown back in summer time. The taxicab bonnet is made of shirred net and the long strings are also of the net. It is just a handful of frothy lightness in any becoming color, and is removed and carried in the hand when one's destination is reached.

A good way to keep dust out of the home when it is closed for the summer is to fold newspapers the width of the window sills and then close the windows down tight, thus leaving no space for the dust to enter.

The martial execution of Texas begins next week, but it is a safe bet that the soldier boys will not forget either the girls or the hot females they leave behind them.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

RESTING THE HAIR IN THE SUMMER

THE hair grows better and there is less danger of an accumulation of dandruff on the scalp if the locks are occasionally arranged in a different manner—that is in a manner which causes all the long hairs to lie in a different direction. If a Greek knot has been the mode of coiffure during the winter, try doing the hair low in the neck or rather high on the head during the mornings at least.

Order to allow little new hairs to spring up along the regular parting.
The woman who can go about her home during the morning hours with her hair braided in girlish plait at the back does much to help its growth and luxuriance. During the summer also, the fingers should be frequently run through the hair, to keep it free from the moist scalp, and each night it should be vigorously shaken and fanned. This extra care will do much to keep it fluffy and prevent the dank, clinging wisps which spoil some coiffures in warm weather.

A pretty girl makes a fool of a man by appearing to give him a chance to make a fool of her.

The reason a girl's hair doesn't curl naturally is she knows it does, but the other girls won't admit it.
Religion is like medicine—something that appeals to a man when he isn't well and can't have any fun.

THE WRONG MEDICINE

The mistake in bottles or in the drugs used in filling a prescription never happens with us. In our prescription department every prescription we fill is checked and re-checked so there is no possibility of a mistake. We do not leave out one drug or substitute another, for we give your doctor credit for knowing what ought to go into a prescription better than we do. Our system is too well perfected to permit of any bungling accuracy. Positive accuracy and perfect purity, that only properly describes our prescription department.
