BITTER FIGHT SPLITS WICHITA DEMOS

Harmony Faction of Texas Demos Wins In Conventions

Faith

Let 'Em Play—
But Not In Streets—
Write Your Own—
Find This Out—

Safety council members advocate a city ordinance prohibiting children from skating in the streets, and show more concern for the youngsters than those who might say: "Oh, let the kids have a good time." There is no desire by either the safety council or the city commission to take the fun out of life for the youngster. There IS a desire to protect the lives of boys and girls from the hazards of playing in the streets, where even the most careful driver may kill or seriously injure some child who dashes unexpectedly under the wheels of his machine.

Good parks, well-equipped and under the supervision of capable directors, are the places for children to play—not the streets. More than 36,000 children have been killed by automobiles in the last eight years, according to a letter sent out this week by Walter Curlee. A majority of these lives could have been saved by the substitution of park-playgrounds for street-playgrounds.

Wichita Falls is more amply provided with park space than some Texas cities, but this city's total space is far too inadequate for present needs and future growth. More park space is needed in several sections of the city remote from the central area, and more equipment is needed for all parks, under the capable direction of A. W. King, park commissioner, and C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent. Land will not become cheaper in Wichita Falls. It should be secured now, either by purchase or by donation from public-spirited citizens.

Covering the county democratic convention Tuesday proved the most severe test in months for reporters on the staffs of the two Wichita Falls newspapers. In addition to H. I. Kiefer of the Times and Frank Graham of The Record News, six or eight additional staff workers aided in the business of reporting the proceedings of the Wichita county democrats, in convention assembled. And judging from the statements of many who visited the newspaper offices, every person who attended would change the newspaper account somewhere, somehow.

It has been this writer's observation that the trained reporter will, on the whole, turn in the most accurate and unbiased account of any proceeding. But the battle of the county convention is just starting. The columns of the two Wichita Falls newspapers are open to any and all dissenters, or observers, with space requirements the only limit. Write your own.

Dr. L. I. Lucey, head of the city sanitary department, is to start a survey of the amount of garbage and trash hauled here over a given period of time. Just what Dr. Lucey expects to do with the report after it is made was not revealed in the news story announcing the plan. Perhaps the city can find out why some residents haul their own trash and dump it on some other street, or on some highway leading into the city. Dr. Lucey could make it hot for these persons if he just knew.

A more interesting survey for the sanitary department to make would determine HOW MANY cities in this state and nation the size of Wichita Falls, or smaller, fail to provide for city collection and disposal of garbage and trash.

COUNTY MEETS INSTRUCT FOR PROHIBITION

Texas Democrats Favor Candidates of Dry Leaning

FEW INSTRUCTED

Bitter Fights Occur in Some Counties as Exceptions

DALLAS, Texas, May 8. (AP)—Prohibition supporters apparently will control the Texas state democratic convention when it meets in Beaumont May 22, reports from conventions in 188 of the 253 counties tonight showed. The state convention will have about 825 votes, and the counties reporting will have 682. Of that number 468 go to the convention instructed to work for delegates to the national convention pledged to stand for prohibition and to support candidates in accord therewith. Eighty-one of the 468 had ultra dry instructions, that is, to support only delegates who would be against any candidate for president with wet sympathies. The other 387 lacked instructions to be for or against any individual candidates.

The entirely uninstructed number 174. Thirty-three votes in the state convention had instructions to support Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, and 6 were ordered to support Jesse Jones of Houston for president.

Whether the "harmony democrats" under the leadership of Governor Moody, or of the faction known as "constitutional democrats" under the leadership of Tom Love, Cone Johnson and others, actually would be able to control the convention was in doubt from the reports received of the county meets.

Few Fights

Most of the conventions were reported to have gone off smoothly, but in some, notably Dallas, Wichita and Smith, the fight for control was bitter.

Wichita county selected two sets of delegates to send to the state convention. The county has 7 votes. One set of delegates was given instructions to vote for prohibition planks in the platform but with no orders about candidates. The other set of delegates has instructions to oppose Governor Alfred Smith and all candidates with anti-prohibition sympathies.

Smith county Democrats agreed upon endorsement of prohibition but split over the wording of the party pledge. The "Constitutional Democrats," under the leadership of Cone Johnson, wished the word "adopt," while the "Democrats of Texas" under the leadership of H. B. Marsh, wanted the word "subscribe" used, and insisted all participants of the convention sign the pledge. The result was two conventions.

Squabble in Coleman

There was a squabble in the Coleman county convention, also, over endorsement of Governor Moody and the Eighteenth amendment. After arguments an indorsing resolution was adopted.

County after county reported that Governor Moody was endorsed as delegate at large and to head the Texas delegation. Duval county suggested him for vice president. Kerr county favored Jesse Jones for vice president.

The Reeves county convention said its delegation with one vote should go without instructions for early in the convention but suggested to support Governor Smith later in the convention.

SOUTH CAROLINA AGAINST SMITH

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 8. (UP)—Results of democratic county conventions which met today to select delegates to the state convention were considered unfavorable to Governor Alfred Smith of New York.

Gordon alleges the Wilsons abducted the girl Feb. 12, 1928, taking her out of Oklahoma.

Victory for Moody

Many North Texas counties endorsed Governor Dan Moody as a delegate at large to the democratic convention in the county conventions held Tuesday. Some conventions passed resolutions endorsing the young governor's administration and in view of the statewide victory for the "uninstructed" principle, for which he had fought, the convention embodied one of the greatest victories for the personal force of Moody.

VICTIMS OLD, YOUNG

New Orleans Party Found After Being Missing All Day

NEW ORLEANS, May 8. (UP)—The bodies of nine persons, all residents of New Orleans, were recovered late today from a canal paralleling the Hammond-New Orleans highway. The victims were drowned when an automobile in which they were returning to New Orleans last night or early today left the road and landed in the canal.

Those whose bodies were recovered were:

Peter Laucausi, 33; his wife, Mary, 22, and their children, Margaret, 7, Josephine, 6, and Vito, 2; Mrs. Sam Tummella, 55, mother-in-law of Peter Laucausi; her daughter, Margaret, 18; a 10-year-old son of Mrs. Tummella, and Michael Cannizzaro, 65, who resided with the Tummellas here.

Divers aided in the search for the bodies. The victims were first reported missing by New Orleans relatives when they failed to reach their homes here after leaving Hammond Monday.

The automobile was first located near Ruddock, where it had landed in the canal. Shortly afterward the body of one of the passengers was found. Searchers continued their work and later recovered all nine.

Hammond is about five miles north of New Orleans. Ruddock is about 45 miles north.

Jury Disagrees In Knapp Trial

ALBANY, N. Y., May 8. (UP)—The jury which heard of the case of Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, on trial on charges of grand larency and embezzlement, reported to the court at midnight it was unable to reach a verdict.

Judge Callahan at once ordered a retrial.

The jury filed into the courtroom shortly before midnight and after polling each member, Justice Callahan discharged them from further consideration in the case.

After consulting with Patrick J. Dugan, attorney for Mrs. Knapp, Justice Callaghan fixed the date for the retrial for May 21 and ordered a new panel of jurors to be drawn May 17.

Mrs. Knapp, who had been in the courtroom during the jury's deliberation, was visibly affected by the indecision of the jury.

Bovine 'Knight of Old' Wins Praise

Court Lauds Male "Protector" on Battle

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 8. (INS)—An Iowa supreme court justice today departed from dry legal verbiage in deciding the case of two farmers involving a bull killed in a fight with a bull in a neighboring pasture.

In describing the action of the bull in the invading territory, the opinion handed down today said:

"Like a true knight of old, chivalry prompted this male protector of the group to go forward in his armor bold to shield the females under his care from probable discourtesy or attack by the intruding stranger. A fight ensued, not on the ground of some ancient castle in Europe, but in a Warren county pasture."

The case, Z. Wheeler versus Fred Woods, was appealed from the Warren county district court. Wheeler, owner of the slain "intruder," was denied damages of $200 in the lower court and appealed.

The supreme court today affirmed the district court.

COURT DELAYS FOX'S DEATH

20-Day Stay is Granted Hickman.

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 8. (UP)—William Edward Hickman, convicted slayer of 12-year-old Marion Parker, won at least 20 more days of life when the state supreme court today decided on further delay before ruling on the constitutionality of the statute under which he was sentenced to hang.

The court gave Major Walter K. Tuller, Los Angeles attorney and chairman of the California crime commission which drafted the law, 10 days in which to file a brief in support of its constitutionality. Major Tuller will act as a "friend of the court."

Second Stay Granted

Hickman's attorneys were granted 10 days more in which to file an answer to Tuller's opinions.

Final decision was not expected for at least a month.

The supreme court's action came after three Hickman attorneys—Jerome Walsh, Richard Cantillon and Frank Sievers, have presented oral arguments in support of their plea that Hickman's scheduled execution at San Quentin prison should not be carried out.

The attorneys told California's highest tribunal that the law under which Hickman was convicted was unconstitutional because it refused him the right to use an insanity plea without admitting the crimes for which he was being tried.

Walsh, who conducted Hickman's defense at the Los Angeles trial, told the court that the state's law governing insanity pleas could be compared to ancient witchcraft rites.

Claims Rights Denied

"This defendant can be compared to the victims of the old 'trial by water' law," Walsh said. "In olden days the victim was placed in deep water and if he floated he was innocent—if he sank he was guilty."

Walsh argued that his client, by being forced to admit the murder of Marion Parker, was denied the constitutional right of trial by a jury of his peers and that, found sane by a jury, he was automatically convicted of the charge. The jury verdict, Walsh contended, had no relation to Hickman's guilt or innocence.

Hickman had been sentenced to die last month but the execution was delayed to allow time for the supreme court plea.

He predicted the split in the democratic party of Texas and declared that the probable nomination of Al Smith by the democrats will mean a republican vote of 500,000 in November.

Two Delegations To State Convention At Beaumont Elected

By FRANK GRAHAM and H. I. KIEFER.
The Record News and Daily Times Staffs.

Two slates of delegates to the state democratic convention at Beaumont were elected at two conventions of Wichita Democrats held at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon. One delegation, headed by B. D. Sartin, was instructed to vote against Al Smith and any other "wet" candidate. Another delegation, headed by Charles I. Francis, vice chairman of the state executive committee, was uninstructed as to candidate, but was instructed to endorse a plank in the party platform calling for rigid enforcement and support of prohibition laws.

Confusion and Bitterness Mark Meetings

The two separate conventions followed one of the stormiest sessions of the county democratic executive committee in history, the battle revolving around the seating of contested delegates to the county convention. The battle ended in two conventions, two sets of delegates and the dispute as to control of the Wichita county party still undecided and left to the decision of the state convention at Beaumont. Confusion, disorder and at times bitter personalities marked the fight in the executive committee meeting, and in the two subsequent meetings of the factions.

The dispute before the executive committee over the seating of delegates went to a vote on a motion by W. J. Townsend that the list of delegates as certified by the various precinct chairmen be accepted as the county democratic convention.

The motion carried by a vote of 19 to 17, after which Constitutional followers departed from the executive committee meeting before a motion to adjourn was seconded or put by the chairman. Mr. Townsend's motion had been made as a substitute to a previous motion which would have ruled about 20 delegates from the convention floor. The substitute resolution followed an eloquent plea from Mr. Townsend for fairness and just treatment.

A motion for adjournment of the executive committee after passage of the Townsend resolution seating the delegates on approval of precinct chairmen went without a second as the Constitutional adherents flocked from the committee meeting room to the 78th district courtroom which was crammed with spectators awaiting start of the county convention. Taking the floor, Mr. Sartin announced that the faction which he headed had been victorious. Without official announcement that the county democratic convention had been opened, a secretary and a chairman were elected.

Meanwhile members of the executive committee were still in session in the non-jury room and continued to transact its business.

A motion was passed that a committee of five which previously had been appointed by the executive committee adjourn to another room and compile a list of delegates, which the county executive committee could approve.

The list was compiled and approved by those members of the executive committee present and the committee formally adjourned.

Announcement was made in the 78th district court room, where Mr. Sartin was reading a lengthy resolution, that the county democratic convention would meet in the 30th district court room. Joe B. Hatchitt, elected chairman, declared, "The Wichita County Democratic convention will now come to order," and the meeting was opened.

First skirmish of the county executive meeting, which opened at 1:30 o'clock, went to those favoring uninstruction of delegates.

Mr. Sartin and Mr. Townsend had announced that they wished to protest six of the committeemen, alleging that these six had been improperly named by H. J. Bruce, county vice-chairman and E. C. DeMontel, chairman. A motion asking for a contest of these six committeemen later was made and subsequently withdrawn.

Executive Appointees Given Approval.

The list of members of the county executive committee as compiled by Mr. Bruce, presiding, was approved by a vote of 19 to 15, and a committee of five men was appointed by Mr. Bruce to draw up a list of accredited delegates to the county convention. The committee appointed was composed of W. E. Fitzgerald, A. J. Chambers, C. C. McDonald, F. W. Fischer and Everett McCullough.

When the committee made its report a motion that the report be accepted and that those on the list as compiled by the committee be made the temporary delegates to the county convention was tabled and the substitute motion of Mr. Townsend voted upon and passed.

After Mr. Hatchitt had called the "convention" of which he was named chairman to order, the meeting proceeded in an orderly manner.

The recommendations of the resolutions committee and of the committee on delegates were approved by unanimous vote of the delegates present.

Resolutions adopted by unanimous vote of the uninstructed forces were:

"Be it resolved, that the honorable Jed C. Adams of Dallas be hereby indorsed for reelection as national committeeman of Texas."

"Be it further resolved, that delegates selected at this convention be uninstructed as to candidates and are to vote as a unit on all matters coming before the convention.

"Be it further resolved, that we indorse the 18th amendment and the strict enforcement of the prohibition statutes."

The constitutional democrats, at that time meeting in their "convention" in the 78th district court room were characterized as an "aid society for republicans," by C. C. McDonald in a short address following passage of the resolution.

Mr. McDonald also declared that there was no question of the legality of the meeting over which Mr. Hatchitt presided. Others going to Beaumont as representatives of Wichita county at the state convention would be wasting railroad fare, he said.

"The leader of the constitutional democrats," Mr. McDonald continued, "has one claim to fame. He purchased his bed sheet in Wichita county and patronized home industry."

Governor Dan Moody's stand on uninstruction of delegates to the convention was praised by Mr. McDonald and others who followed him.

Grant Declares Executive Meet Adjourned.

The constitutionals were censured severely for their stand on the pledge and for their fight against Governor Smith by R. E. Huff, Mr. Francis and Mr. Hatchitt.

Following the adjournment of the two "conventions" A. V. Grant, secretary of the instructed against Smith convention, called The Record News office and declared the executive committee had adjourned before the constitutional group left the meeting.

Regardless of which set of delegates will be accepted by the state executive committee as representatives of Wichita county, leaders of both factions declared Tuesday night that their respective groups would carry the fight for recognition onto the state convention floor on May 22.

When Mr. Bruce, who presided as chairman, was told that certain of the constitutionals declared that the executive committee had adjourned prior to opening of the ultra-dry "convention" the executive committee chairman declared that no adjournment had been made.

"The executive committee remained in the meeting room and passed a motion that the list of delegates which the convention should certify would be the roll previously prepared by the committee of five," Mr. Bruce said.

"I gave no original returns to any person," Mr. Bruce declared.

Francis Heads Uninstructed Delegation

Delegates selected by the convention favoring uninstruction of delegates follow:

C. I. Francis, chairman, C. C. McDonald, F. W. Fischer, R. E. Huff, J. T. Montgomery, Ed Howard, Bert King, W. E. Fitzgerald, A. H. Carrigan, A. H. Britain, John C. Kay, Joe B. Hatchitt, E. E. Fischer, Everett McCullough, J. D. Parnell, H. R. Wilson, C. B. Felder, R. E. Moore, August Lobeefoner, C. P. Engleking, J. C. Craig, Walter Nelson, Jr., Fred Spurlock, B. D. Donnell, Tarleton Morrow, Otis Nelson, Harvey Harris, J. A. Kemp, D. C. Barker, H. J. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Smedley, T. J. Lassiter and P. B. Cox. Mr. Hatchitt is empowered to appoint not to exceed ten others as delegates to the convention.

Mr. Sartin, Mr. Townsend and others, in hastening from the committee meeting to the 78th courtroom, were greeted by cheers as the word spread about that the executive committe had refused to unseat contested delegations. No time was lost in getting down to business as Mr. Sartin advanced to a position facing the audience.

"The Wichita County Democratic convention will now come to order," he called. "I nominate W. B. Chauncey, a real democrat, as chairman." Mr. Chauncey was declared elected. A. V. Grant was elected secretary.

Mr. Townsend then offered a motion, which carried with a burst of 'ayes," that delegates certified to the county convention by precinct chairmen should comprise the roll of the convention.

Again there was a burst of "ayes," with none voting "no."

The list of delegates then was submitted and was declared elected without opposition. The proceedings, to that point, had been interspersed by frequent whoops from enthusiasts in the audience.

With the delegates elected, Mr. Townsend submitted a resolution and Sartin began the 20-minute task of reading it. Its opening paragraphs

FORT WORTH, Texas, May 8. (INS)—David Cyrus, 50, negro, was shot here today in a residential section of the city after he had terrorized the neighborhood with a rifle and pistol. He is believed to have been insane. He died an hour later in the City-County hospital.

It is a cigaret-lighter filling station and has just been opened by P. B. M. company in its man's shop. The "station" is located conveniently near the front of the department and consists of a clever little brass pump, made exactly like a regulation gasoline station pump. The "gas" used is a high-grade fuel made especially for lighters.

"We felt that what this city needed as an oasis for thirsty cigaret lighters," said Jack C. Barnard, manager of P. B. M. company, "so we installed this station for the benefit of men with lighters. All lighter operators are invited to come in any time and fill up. There is no charge for a fill-up."

Committee to Discuss Family Relief Work at Meeting Wednesday

The acute condition facing the Family Relief association of Wichita Falls will be discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the association with President R. E. Shepherd of the Community Chest, President Charles I. Francis of the Chamber of Commerce, and representatives of the finance board at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in the rooms of the city council in the municipal auditorium, according to announcements made Tuesday.

The Family Relief association has been notified by the Community Chest that its budget for the year has been exhausted and that no other available funds provide for the continuance of the work the remainder of the year.

As this organization has for its prime object the feeding of the most destitute families and of providing the bare necessities for life, and as there is a demand far in excess of any expectations at this time here, a meeting last week voted to raise additional funds. Those at the meeting pledged to give a total of $95 a month and they also were to start a move for public or other contribution.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

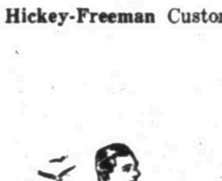

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

FARMERS HOLD ANNUAL MEET

A. L. Hutcheson Renominated District Director

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., May 8.—At the annual district meeting of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' association held at Grandfield Monday, A. L. Hutcheson, director from Tillman and Cotton counties, was renominated unanimously for his post. As there is no other candidate his name will be the only one to go on the ballot to be sent all members in the two counties. The election will be held May 28 and the ballots sent to Oklahoma City to be counted at the headquarters of the state association. [illegible] Smith of southwest of Frederick was named as teller, and M. L. Brubaker of near Grandfield, alternate. These will go to Oklahoma City to be present when the ballots are counted.

Price Quesenberry of near Frederick presided at the meeting; Brubaker served as secretary.

Hutcheson made an address in which he said the Federal Trades of America, an organization which first came into notice at Chicago, November 30, is trying to put the farmers' co-operative associations out of business. He said the 300 delegates at the meeting claimed to represent 1,000,000 speculators.

Sam Morley, president and general manager of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' association, explained the purpose of the association. He told his auditors that $750,000 will be divided this week among the members who had cotton in the seasonal pool. Some growers had all their cotton in this pool. Calling those present to rise who are also members of the Farmers' Union revealed that most members of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' association also belong to the Farmers' Union. Some of the most progressive farmers from Tillman and Cotton counties were in attendance at the meeting.

Noted Dentist Suicides In New Orleans Office

NEW ORLEANS, May 8. (AP) — Dr. C. Edmund Kells, internationally known dentist, and the first member of his profession to use X-ray in the practice of dentistry, shot and instantly killed himself in his office here today. Despondency over ill health was attributed as the cause by officers who declared the case one of suicide.

Dr. Kellis had undergone twenty-seven operations and amputations in recent years to his left arm which had become diseased through his experiments with the X-ray. His sight also had become impaired. Associates said fear of losing his other arm and blindness had caused him to become despondent.

Efforts to Conceal Evidence is Charged

WASHINGTON, May 8. (AP)—A charge that department of agriculture officials were attempting to "protect" the individual responsible for the cotton price drop prediction of last September was shot at L. H. Bean, departmental statistician today by Representative Rankin of Mississippi when the senate's cotton slump investigation was resumed.

Bean was a member of the committee of economists of the bureau of agricultural economics which prepared the disputed prediction.

"Black" Sensation, Swimming In Head

Man Says Constipation Troubles Were Wearing Him Out, But The Use of Black-Draught Brought Relief.

Lake City, Fla.—Mr. F. E. McKinney, of 6 South Columbia street, this city, says:

"I think I must have been about five years old when my mother gave me my first dose of Black-Draught, and later on, when I needed any medicine, she gave me Black-Draught. I cannot remember a time, in the last twenty years, when I haven't had Black-Draught in my home, or in my father's home.

"For a while I thought I wouldn't take anything, and that maybe I could wear out the headaches, but I found they were wearing me out.

"If I got constipated, I would get dizzy and have 'swimming in my head,' and everything would get black. I would have very severe headaches.

"I found that Black-Draught would relieve this, and so when I feel the very first symptoms, I take Black-Draught, and now I don't have the headache any more.

"I take Black-Draught when I feel a tightness in the chest, and a bloating after meals. A few doses of Black-Draught relieve me of this.

"I am a firm believer in Black-Draught, and after using it for twenty years, I am satisfied to continue."

RADIO POLITICS

Pastor Charged Higher Fee for "Political" Broadcast

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 8. (UP)—When a preacher arraigns a bunch of crooked politicians from his pulpit his meetings do not become political, was the contention of Rev. Mordecai F. Ham, when informed that he would have to pay a political rate for broadcasting privileges on station KFJF. The political rate is three times greater than the rate for religious servicees.

"One might as well say John the Baptist, when he arraigned Herod or that Moses was political in his controversy with Pharaoh," Ham continued.

Asked whether the nightly meetings were to be anti-Smith Ham said that they were to be religious meetings, but added, "I am anti-Smith, anywhere, anytime."

WRITER TELLS TIME TO WED

20-40 for Women And 25-50 for Men

The Ideal Marrying Time for Women Is Between 20-40; for Men Between 25-50—It Is Disastrous for a Woman to Marry a Man Much Younger, and Equally So for May and December to Wed—But Happiness Waits for the Middle-Aged Who Marry in Their Own Class.

There is no problem connected with marriage which seems to bulk so large in the public mind as the matter of age. Corerspondents are continually asking me: What is the ideal age to marry? What difference in age should there be between husband and wife? Should a woman marry a man 15 or 20 times younger than herself? Is a marriage likely to turn out happily if a young girl marries an old man?

At first blush it might seem that many things have a more important bearing on the success or failure of a marriage than how many birthdays the contracting parties have had. Such things as mutual affection, congeniality, religion, money, tastes, habits and opinions, and so on; but in the end all of these simmer down into the question of age.

For what we are and what we think and what we do and what we want to do depends altogether upon our age. Between 17 and 70 there is a chasm that neither love nor duty nor good will can span and over which no man or woman may walk to happiness. And this gulf between youth and age was never so wide nor deep as it is now, when conditions have made for us a new heaven and a new earth in which even parents and children do not speak the same language.

As for the ideal time to marry, as near as it can be reduced to figures, it is anywhere between 25 and 50 for men, and 20 and 40 for women, but there are a thousand exceptions to this rule.

It is a mistake for the very young to marry, because they are running a double risk on the kind of men and women they will make themselves, as well as on the sort of husbands and wives they are getting, and marriage is a big enough gamble at best without injecting any foolhardy chances into it. The tastes and habits of a boy and girl are unformed and those who fascinate them in their salad days bore them to death in their maturity.

Moreover, if they marry before they have had their playtime they always feel that they have been cheated, and they revenge themselves by taking it at a time of life when it is disastrous. Most of the unfaithful husbands and flirtatious wives are men and women who married too young.

Moreover, the boy husband rarely makes enough to support a family in comfort, and love flies out of the window when the bill collector begins pounding on the door. It takes a deeper passion, more patience and self-control than children possess to endure poverty together and still feel that they have all so long as they have each other. Hence, quarrels, criminations, recriminations and divorce.

The difference in age between husband and wife does not matter, unless it is too great! A few years either way is of no consequence. Age cannot always be computed by the calendar. It is a matter of soul, of spirit, of temperament. There are men and women who are senile in the cradle and others who are still boys and girls in their eighties.

This difference between their real age and their official age is particularly marked in women, and it is what makes it safe for a quiet, sedate, thoughtful girl to marry a man twenty-five or thirty years older than she is, especially if he is one of the kind of men who has kept himself young and enthusiastic.

But this rule does not work both ways, and it is a disastrous thing for a woman ever to marry a man who is much younger than she is.

Perhaps this is because men are less adaptable than women are. Perhaps it is because they are less homemaking and less willing to be fireside companions. Perhaps it is because men demand more in the way of personal appearance from their wives than women do of their husbands. Perhaps it is because women are older at the same age than men are.

Perhaps it is because women do not kid themselves so easily into believing that they can inspire love in a youthful breast no matter how old they are, as men do. Anyway, such marriages never turn out successfully.

No matter how many times she has her face lifted nor what color she dyes her hair nor how religiously she counts her calories the elderly wife of a young husband knows that she looks like his mother instead of his bride and that he is ashamed of her. No matter how she strives against it she cannot help being eaten up with jealousy every time she sees him with a girl of his own age.

No matter how much she jumps around trying to be gay and young she knows that she doesn't quite pull it off, and that he is bored and she is bored, and that a young husband isn't worth the trouble and labor and self-sacrifice that he costs in keeping him. Personally, I should say that no woman should ever marry a man who is more than eight or ten years younger than she is. And even that is terribly risky.

Nor does the elderly man fare any better who marries a flapperish girl who might be his granddaughter. They haven't a thing in the world in common. They don't think alike on a single subject. They haven't the same idea of proprieties and they quarrel over everything from smoking cigarets and the length of a skirt, because his ideas are mid-Victorian and hers are those of the younger generation, which has no taboos and whose gospel is self-determination.

This does not say that elderly men and women should not marry. On the contrary, those who have come to the twilight zone of life need companionship far more than they have ever done before. The young can run around and amuse themselves and hunt up entertainment and society. The old must find it in their own homes or else go lonely. And so the men and women who are past 50 are wise to marry if they can find a suitable mate in their own age class.

This enables them to maintain their own homes and to have somebody to whom they can say "Don't you remember?" Somebody to watch over them when they are sick and to walk hand in hand with them down the last lap of the journey.

And so, after all, age is an important thing to consider in marriage.

MODISH MITZI — MAYBE IT WAS A DIRTY TRICK — By Jay V. Jay

Bob is annoyed. Mitzi and the Goofer were to meet them at the theater and they haven't come. Marie is annoyed for the same reason, but not so annoyed that she can't admire these smart costumes. The one to the right is an ensemble with a dress of plain tan crepe and a coat of unlined printed crepe. Just behind that is a satin frock with looped line of faggotting and a very full pleated skirt. Back of that is a dotted dress accompanied by a satin coat lined with the print. Marie is glad to see that the opinions of these modish ladies agree with her own. Her suit, you'll notice, has a silk coat lined with the printed material which shows at the collar and cuffs.

Now you can see the frock of Marie's ensemble better—the round neckline and narrow yoke outlined in scallops, the scalloped cuffs. They are paying very little attention to each other, but in between the times when they remember to be angry with Mitzi and the Goofer they are rather enjoying the play. What did happen to the others though?

This is what happened to them. When they were quite convinced that the play had started the Goofer and Mitzi found a quiet restaurant for tea. What a relief! Mitzi can think what a dear the Goofer is, and the Goofer can admire Mitzi (in a pleated printed frock and a transparent wide-brimmed hat) without feeling in duty bound to act romantic.

Ramblin'

Marie Theresa

THE city takes a just pride in its musical talent. Monday evening, a good attendance heard the Woman's Choral club in its last concert of the season at the First Baptist church when the club featured Bernard U. Taylor, baritone from Fort Worth, and presented the city's own Ensemble Players, an organization of four violins and accompanist.

But the feature of the occasion was really the beautiful silvery voice of Miss Modena Howell who sang the soprano part in Schubert's ever popular composition "Ave Maria," her lovely facile tones accompanied by the organ played by Mrs. F. R. Collard, and a string accompaniment by the Ensemble Players.

THE modern young thing, despite all her recent knowledge has found no improvement on the lowly but pristine beauty aid—sleep. The average young girls of the modern age, say beauty experts, are spending too many hours at late parties and too few in their trundle beds, which is by no means new knowledge but is being sponsored with new vigor.

NOW we have Miss Elsie Lemke of Saint Joseph, Mich., winning a beauty contest over two close competitors because she wore a flame colored dress. At least, the judges were sufficiently frank to confess that the flame colored dress had something to do with giving the decision.

While there is nothing wrong with a picture in which the color of clothes play a strong part, there is something refreshingly frank and naive about three men who will break down and confess that red attracts the eye, and might play an active part in the choice of a beauty prize winner.

"ARE you going to San Antonio?" is probably the most popular quiz among the woman of the city. The ranks for the march to the biennial convention to be held in San Antonio the latter part of this month and early June, are forming, with each day seeing a new recruit who has just learned definitely from the powers that are, that she is to be counted among Texas delegates present at the biennial.

Rumor (or is it common sense), has it that the choice of the Texas club women for president of the National Federation of Women's clubs will be elected. And Texas women seem to favor the chances of a southern woman. They have spotted her and are beginning to lay plans by which she will come before the biennial for all the attention the candidate from the south deserves.

As choice a salad oil as one could ask for

One scarcely has to be a connoisseur in either French Dressing or Mayonnaise to know how delicious they both are when made with Wesson Oil.

Indeed, one could guess just by looking at—or tasting—the Wesson Oil itself. Only a really choice salad oil could have that crystal clear, pale straw color. Or that pure, wholesome quality. Or that exquisite delicacy of flavor.

Wesson Oil looks good to eat—and it is extraordinarily good to eat. For it is made from quite the finest oil obtainable and refined until only the nourishing food part of it is left.

As a base for any salad dressing—in fact, to eat plain all by itself on salads or vegetables—you could hardly ask for anything more delicious . . .

And modern methods of cooking are turning to it for frying and for making cakes, biscuit and pastry, not only because it's so convenient to work with but because food made with it tastes really much better.

Forlorn Figures

Politics by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

NATION'S HOPE

Now what is the paramount issue in this presidential campaign year. Josephus Daniels was a strong arm of Woodrow Wilson and his war secretary of the navy. This is his viewpoint. "The biggest issue in America today is to wrest the government from the hands of privilege and corruption. The only hope for that end is in a victory by the democratic party." Then he goes on to say, "I see no hope in any third party. Enough prohibition democrats will be elected to congress to guarantee no weakening of prohibition laws. I would not accept the nomination on any third party ticket." This viewpoint will not be acceptable to Boss Love or the lieutenants of Boss Love. It should be acceptable to the organization known as the Harmony Democrats of Texas.

OIL AND POLITICS

According to a Washington correspondent, for the first time since black gold began to pounce from the earth at Spindle Top back in the early days of the century, Texas is today the undisputed leader among the states in petroleum production. Of course the bureau of mines let this be known in making public figures for March production. Texas came first, Oklahoma was in second place and California third. Production: Texas 21,237,000 barrels; Oklahoma 20,034,000 barrels; California 19,118,000 barrels. It has come to pass that the petroleum industry is one of the gigantic industries of America. This for the voters of Texas. This for all the people concerned. Eight years ago and four years ago many Americans prominent in the oil world were the largest contributors to the republican campaign fund and as for the coal barons, north and south and east and west they are said to have chipped in handsomely to keep the party of big business in and to place the party of the plain people out. This speaking of control of the federal government.

HE ALWAYS LAUGHED

He always laughed—he used to take
His share of knocks, but didn't break.
And if they hurt, he didn't cry,
And let the days go slipping by.
His knocks just gave him fight and vim
To take the share was due to him.

He always laughed—they used to say
He made his fortune that-a-way;
He had his times of hard luck, too,
But laughed, and fought his way right thru.
Why, every time he got a lick
He didn't frown, and start to kick—

He always laughed—and what is more,
He always had an extra store
Of honest fight, and nerve, and pluck;
Why, I believe he earned his luck.
He never knew the word dismay.
That's why he's where he is today.

One-Minute Sermon

Help, Lord; for the godly man ceaseth; for the faithful fail from among the children of men.

They speak vanity every one with his neigrbour; with flattering lips and with a double heart do they speak.

The Lord shall cut off all flattering lips, and the tongues that speaketh proud things.

Who have said, With our tongue will we prevail; our lips are our own: who is lord over us?—Psalm, xii, 1-4.

Showing Safety Results

STATISTICS kept by the Record News show a decrease in the number of fatal automobile accidents within or near the city limits in 1928 as compared with 1927. During the first four months of 1927, six persons were killed in traffic accidents, as compared with two during the same period this year. Accidents in the county seem to have shown an increase.

While these figures do not preclude a large number of fatal accidents in the remaining months of the year, they do seem to indicate the value of careful traffic regulation and systematized safety education. Credit seems to be due the Wichita Falls Safety Council for its never-ending program of education, and to the police department for its strict enforcement of traffic laws.

As to the accidents outside Wichita Falls, it seems the success of this concerted program within the city limits might indicate to county commissioners the real need of highway officers to patrol county roads. Salaried deputies, working under the new state law for the protection of the motorist and not for the purpose of grabbing fees, should add much to the safety and convenience of Wichita highways.

Putting Universities on Wheels

THERE is concern for friends of education all over the state, as well as for the Baptists of Texas, in the proposed removal of Baylor University from Waco to Dallas. The chamber of commerce at Dallas offered 1000 acres of land for the school, and cash to the amount of approximately $1,350,000. These are certainly worthwhile inducements, although it is contended by others that the cash offered does not equal the value of the present buildings on the campus at Waco. This is a question for the Baptists of Texas, and not for the general public.

Education, however, is more than a matter of location, or of dollars and cents and acres of land. It is also a matter of tradition, of faculty, student-body, spirit and environment. Beautiful buildings never made a great university, nor will the auctioning of an established school's location to another city do any good for higher education in Texas.

It seems to the Record News, if a city is fairly loyal to its college or university, if the school is fairly successful and well-established, the institution should not be moved willy-nilly from one place to another. Otherwise, we might expect Texarkana or El Paso with a bid of $6,000,000 to relocate the University of Texas. Amarillo might take the College of Industrial Arts from Denton or Galveston secure Texas A. & M. from College Station with an offer of 1000 acres of land.

Towns which have educational institutions and are supporting these schools seem due a reasonable assurance they will not have to bid anew for the location every few years. If colleges are to be moved about from one place to another, a better system would be to put the class rooms on wheels, and send the schools to the highest bidding chamber of commerce at the end of each scholastic year.

Skepticism 61 Years Ago

WHETHER it was printed that way or not, the following editorial reprinted in the Texas Carpenter as purported to have been printed in a Boston paper about 61 years ago sounds plausible:

"A man about 46 years of age giving the name of Joshua Coppersmith, has been arrested in New York for attempting to extort funds from ignorant and superstitious people by exhibiting a device which he says will convey the human voice any distance over metallic wires so that it will be heard by the listener at the other end. He calls the instrument a 'telephone' which is obviously intended to imitate the word 'telegraph' and win the confidence of those who know of the success of the latter instrument without understanding the principles on which it is based. Well-informed people know that it is impossible to transmit the human voice over wires as may be done with dots and dashes and signals of the Morse code, and that, were it possible to do so, the thing would be of no practical value. The authorities who apprehended this criminal are to be congratulated, and it is to be hoped that his punishment will be prompt and fitting, that it may serve as an example to other conscienceless schemers who enrich themselves at the expense of their fellow-creatures."

There are skeptics of almost every scientific discovery, and it is right that every claim of that kind should be questioned. Not all of our skepticism gets on record in such a manner as did this echo from Boston.

WE ARE SURPRISED, SENATOR

Dr. Royal S. Copeland, senator from New York, says that thirty-four senators have died in the last twelve years, their lives shortened by the quality of air in the chamber. We were reasonably certain that the quality of air in the senate chamber is not good for the country at large but we really thought the senators enjoy it and thrive on it.

BETWEEN SAFE CRACKERS AND DEBT DODGERS

Every persons who has conducted a business in which the extending of credit is practiced must be impressed with the large number of people in the world who appear to be born dead-beats. There are a few in every community who make pretensions to business and social standing, yet were never known to pay a bill when it was due and seldom pay one at all excepting as a result of hounding or legal action. Morally there is no difference between one who fails to pay an honest debt when he can pay it and one who robs a till or cracks a safe.

NEAREST PLACE TO HEAVEN—DOWN ON FARM

"Coming from a blood-spattered room of a small hotel, an 18 year old boy reported to the patrolman on the beat there that he had been robbed of $65." This is only one of the many incidents happening in the cities that we read about. True, the boy could have been beaten and robbed at his home on the farm, but the chances are a thousand to one he wouldn't have been. The farm is a much safer place to live than the city. Not much danger getting run over by an automobile, or street car, battered and bunged up and money gone from being held up, and best of all, no food compares with that on the table in the good old farm home. We don't mean to convey the idea that life on the farm is all roseate. Troubles and worries abound there the same as elsewhere but they are so few compared with the many in the cities, that a fellow on a farm comes nearer living in heaven.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health."

Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Record News. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

COLON CLEANSING

We occasionally read of someone dying from breathing sewer gas, but millions are meeting untimely deaths because of the generation and retention of poisonous gases with the body's own sewage system.

The intestines are divided into two parts, the small intestine and the large intestine which is also called the colon. In the small intestine food materials are absorbed after being changed by the digestive ferments. A natural fermentation takes place through which the various foods are converted into substances which can be assimilated by the villi of the intestines.

When the body is enervated through wrong habits of living, and the small intestine does not have enough energy with which to force along the unused food materials, the result is that various wastes and toxins are absorbed from the feces which has been too long retained. When the food wastes and impurities finally reach the colon or large intestine there is even a greater absorption of toxins if the membrane of the colon is not in a healthy condition.

Most people suffer from colitis in a greater or less degree. This simply means inflammation of the large intestine, and when this condition exists there is bound to be an absorption of poisons into the blood stream. The intestinal absorption of toxins which should have been eliminated is perhaps the greatest single cause of disease.

When the membrane of the colon is in a healthy condition, such poisoning of the blood stream cannot take place. In a large percentage of cases, however, there is not only a dangerous absorption of poisons from the colon but because of prolapsus and kinks in the colon these poisonous toxins are occasionally forced back into the small intestine, where they are even more readily absorbed than in the colon. Constipation and obstipation must therefore be overcome. Until one has learned to do this through using a sensible diet and developing a better tone of the intestinal and abdominal muscles, the safest plan is to take one or two enemas every day to assure a thorough cleansing of the colon.

This enema treatment should be used by anyone suffering from any kind of disease or disorder. Laxatives are temporarily helpful, but there are many objections to the continued use of such remedies which in the end produce more intestinal irritation. The washing out of the colon with plain water cannot produce any injury to the membranes or produce a partial paralysis as claimed by many who are uninformed. The inside of the colon is always unclean, and certainly cannot be injured by washing with clean water.

After several weeks of such a cleansing treatment it is necessary for anyone to wait two or three days after taking the last enema before the bowels will move by themselves. This is just because the bowels have been completely cleaned out at least two days in advance.

Keep the colon clean! If you do not have two or three bowel movements daily, take one or two enemas each day until you learn how to overcome constipation.

I will be glad to send you a special article on the cause and cure of constipation. Just send a self-addressed, stamped, large envelope and ask for the article called "The Cause and Cure of Constipation."

Questions and Answers.

Question: Mary G. asks: "Are kidney stones really made of stone, and if so, how is it possible to dissolve them?"

Answer: Kidney stones are of various kinds. They are made of uric acid crystals, urates, oxalate of lime, phosphate crystals, calcium carbonate, cystine, carbonate of lome, xanthine, and indigo. These crystals and minerals are cemented together into differently shaped stones, but are rarely of the same composition as ordinary stones of the soil. Many of these stones can be dissolved under proper dietric treatment. If the chemistry of the urine is properly changed, the cemented crystals lose their adherence to each other and pass out in the form of "gravel." Such remedies as muriatic acid are sometimes used to dissolve these stones, but the safest and sanest method is through changing the chemistry of the urine by scientific dietetics.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE

NEW YORK, May 8. — What one thing identified with New York arouses the curiosity of most residents of other cities? I receive many letters each week from readers of this column, each with one or more inquiry about the biggest city in the world, but I am unable to guess.

G. N. Brewer Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., asked me the approximate distance from the Pennsylvania station to the Telephone and Telegraph building, and the amount of taxi fare between the points. (I told him).

Mrs. A. H. Strain, Albany, N. Y., asked me if I could obtain permission for her to visit the broadcasting studio at WEAF. (I did).

Mabel Kutz, Columbus, Ohio, asked me where to get the best map for a stranger to use in wandering around the city. (I gave her the name of one costing 10 cents).

Roland Gastonquay, Chisolm, Maine, wanted to know whether more big liners dock on the North river than on the East river. (Most of the big ones dock on the North, or Hudson). He also wanted to know the length of Manhattan Isle. (1 1-4 miles).

Mrs. J. J. Driscoll, Cresco, Iowa, wanted to know where she might buy carved figures. (I gave her a list of shops).

Myra A. Webber, R. N., Augusta, Me., inquired about the x-ray and physiotherapy departments of the Presbyterian hospital here. (I supplied information advanced by the academy of medicine).

Mrs. A. Rowan, New Castle, Pa., sought the name of museums that might be interested in very old copies of New York newspapers she has. (I suggested two museums).

Miss Mildred Clark, Atlanta, Ga., wanted a list of New York interior decorating firms. (There are about 2,000, but I sent her 10 prominent ones).

C. M. Dowling, Ashland, Ky., sent me an empty envelope.

Francis A. Laffey, Clarksburg, W. Va., asked for the names of published biographies of Al Smith. ("Up From the City Streets," by Hapgood and Moskowitz, and "Al Smith, a Critical Study," by Pringle).

J. A. M., Evansville, Ind., requested information obtaining employment aboard ship. (I cannot endeavor to obtain jobs for my readers, although I told J. A. M. how to go about it).

"Skippy" Dean, famed stilt-walker, now in Nebraska, wanted some information about certain Broadway persons. (I couldn't give it).

Gertrude Schrup, Chicago, Ill., asked me how to get tickets for two shows she wants to see when she is in New York six weeks hence. (I gave her addresses of theaters, and prices.)

THE STORY THUS FAR

The jewel case had been opened with a steel chisel after being battered with a poker. And this puzzles Vance when it is found near the strangled body of Margaret Odell. It makes him think two men were in the apartment, the murderer unaware of the man hiding in a clothes closet. Finger prints lead to Skeel's arrest, after Cleaver and Dr. Lindquist have been questioned. Vance indicates he believes Skeel was hiding in the closet, and Markham ridicules the theory.

CHAPTER XXII

"Stop! Stop! Don't torture me so," Vance pleaded. "I know I'm insane. Been given to hallucinations since birth; but—Merciful Heaven!—I've never before had one as crazy as this."

"On that point at least, my dear Vance, we are in complete and harmonious agreement," smiled Markham.

Just then Swacker came in and handed Markham a letter.

"Brought by messenger, and marked 'immediate,'" he explained.

The letter, written on heavy engraved stationery, was from Doctor Lindquist, and explained that between the hours of 11 p. m. and 1 a. m. on Monday night he had been in attendance on a patient at his sanitarium. It also apologized for his actions when asked regarding his whereabouts, and offered a wordy, but not particularly convincing, explanation of his conduct.

He had had an unusually trying day, it seemed—neurotic cases were trying, at best—and the suddenness of our visit, together with the apparently hostile nature of Markham's questions, had completely upset him. He was more than sorry for his outburst, he said, and stood ready to assist in any way he could.

It was unfortunate for all concerned, he added, that he had lost his temper, for it would have been a simple matter for him to explain about Monday night.

"He has thought the situation over calmly," said Vance, "and hereby offers you a neat little alibi which, I think, you will have difficulty in shaking. . . . an artful beggar—like all these unbalanced pseudo-psychiatrists. Observe: he was with a patient. To be sure! What patient? Why, one too ill to be questioned. . . . . There you are. A cul-de-sac masquerading as an alibi. Not bad, what?"

"It doesn't interest me overmuch." Markham put the letter away. "That pompous professional ass could never have got into the Odell apartment without having been seen; and I can't picture him sneaking in by devious means." He reached for some papers. . . . "And now, if you don't object, I'll make an effort to earn my $1,000 salary."

But Vance, instead of making a move to go, sauntered to the table and opened a telephone directory.

"Permit me a suggestion, Markham," he said, after a moment's search. "Put off your daily grind for a bit, and let's hold polite converse with Mr. Louis Mannix. Y' know, he's the only presumptive swain of the inconstant Margaret, so far mentioned, who hasn't been given an audience. I hanker to gaze upon him and hearken to his rune. He'd make the family circle complete, so to speak. . . . He still holds forth in Maiden Lane, I see; and it wouldn't take long to fetch him here."

Markham had swung half round in his chair at the metion of Mannix's name. He started to protest, but he knew from experience that Vance's suggestions were not the results of idle whims; and he was silent for several moments weighing the matter. With practically every other avenue of inquiry closed for the moment, I think the idea of questioning Mannix rather appealed to him.

"All right," he consented, ringing for Swacker; "though I don't see how he can help. According to Heath, the Odell girl gave him his leave a year ago."

"He may still have hay on his horns, or, like Hotspur, be drunk with choler. You can't tell," Vance resumed his chair. "With such a name, he'd bear investigation ipso facto."

Markham sent Swacker for Tracy; and when the latter arrived suave and beaming, he was given instructions to take the district attorney's car and bring Mannix to the office.

"Get a subpoena," said Markham, "and use it if necessary."

Hali an hour or so later Tracy returned.

"Mr. Mannix made no difficulty about coming," he reported. "Was quite agreeable, in fact. He's in the waiting room now."

Tracy was dismissed, and Mannix was ushered in.

He was a large man, and he walked with the forced elasticity of gait which epitomizes the silent struggle of incipiently corpulent middle age to deny the onrush of the years and cling to the semblance of youth.

He carried a slender wanghee cane; and his checkered suit, brocaded waistcoat, pearl gray gaiters, and gaily beribboned Homburg hat gave him an almost foppish appearance. But these various indications of sportiveness were at once forgotten when one inspected his features. His small eyes were bright and crafty; his nose was bibative, and appeared disproportionately small above his thick sensual lips and prognathous jaw.

There was an oiliness and shrewdness in the man's manner which were at once repulsive and arresting.

At a gesture from Markham he sat down on the edge of a chair, placing a podgy hand on each knee. His attitude was one of alert suspicion.

"Mr. Mannix," said Markham, an engaging note of apology in his voice, "I am sorry to have discommoded you; but the matter in hand is both serious and urgent. A Miss Margaret Odell was murdered night before last, and in the course of our inquiries we learned that you had at one time known her quite well. It occurred to me that you might be in possession of some facts about her that would assist us in our investigation."

A smile meant to be genial parted the man's heavy lips.

"Sure, I knew the Canary—a long time ago, y' understand." He permitted himself a sigh. "A fine, high-class girl, if I do say so. A good looker and a good dresser. Too damn bad she didn't go on with the show business. But"—he made a repudiative motion with his hand—"I haven't seen the lady, y' understand, for over a year—not to speak to, if you know what I mean."

Mannix clearly was on his guard, and his beady little yes did not once leave the district attorney's face.

"You had a quarrel with her perhaps?" Markham asked the question incuriously.

"Well, now, I wouldn't go so far as to say we quarreled. No." Mannix paused, seeking the correct word. "You might say we disagreed—got tired of the arrangement and decided to separate; kind of drifted apart. Last thing I told her was, if she ever needed a friend she'd know where to find me."

"Very generous of you," murmured Markham. "And you never renewed your little affair?"

"Never—never. Don't remember ever speaking to her from that day to this."

"In view of certain things I've learned, Mr. Mannix"—Markham's tone was regretful—"I must ask you a somewhat personal question. Did she ever make an attempt to blackmail you?"

Mannix hesitated, and his eyes seemed to grow even smaller, like those of a man thinking rapidly.

"Certainly not!" he replied, with belated emphasis. "Not at all. Nothing of the kind." He raised both hands in protest against the thought. Then he asked furtively: "What gave you such an idea?"

"I have been told," explained Markham, "that she had exhorted money from one or two of her admirers."

Mannix made a wholly unconvincing grimace of astonishment.

"Well, well! You don't tell me! Can it be possible?" He peered shrewdly at the district attorney. "Maybe it was Charlie Cleaver she blackmailed—yes?"

Markham picked him up quickly. "Why do you say Cleaver?"

Again Mannix waved his thick hand, this time deprecatingly.

"No special reason, y' understand. Just thought it might be him. . . . No special reason."

"Did Cleaver ever tell you he'd been blackmailed?"

"Cleaver tell me? . . . Now, I ask you, Mr. Markham: why should Cleaver tell me such a story—why should he?"

"And you never told Cleaver that the Odell girl had blackmailed you?"

"Positively not!" Mannix gave a scornful laugh which was far too theatrical to have been genuine. "Me tell Cleaver I'd been blackmailed? Now, that's funny, that is."

"Then why did you mention Cleaver a moment ago?"

"No reason at all—like I told you. He knew the Canary; but that ain't no secret."

Markham dropped the subject.

"What do you know about Miss Odell's relations with a Doctor Ambroise Lindquist?"

Mannix was now obviously perplexed.

"Never heard of him—no never. She didn't know him when I was taking her around."

"Whom else besides Cleaver did she know well?"

Mannix shook his head ponderously.

"Now, that I couldn't say—positively I couldn't say. Seen her with this man and that, same as everybody saw her; but who they were I don't know—absolutely."

"Ever hear of Tony Skeel?" Markham quickly leaned over and met the other's gaze inquiringly. Once more Mannix hesitated, and his eyes glittered calculatingly.

"Well, now that you ask me, I believe I did hear of the fellow. But I couldn't swear to it, y' understand. . . . What makes you think I heard of this Skeel fellow?"

DINNER STORIES

"Are you sure," an anxious patient asked a physician, "are you sure that I shall recover? I have heard that doctors sometimes give wrong diagnoses, and have treated patients for pneumonia who afterwards died of typhoid fever."

"You've been woefully misinformed," replied the medico, indignantly. "If I treat a man for pneumonia he dies of pneumonia."

Mistress: Why, what is it, Mary?

Maid: Well, ma'am, me young man is comin' up the walk, and would you mind entertainin' him while I went upstairs and put on a bit of make-up?

What this country really needs is the perfection of these trans-Atlantic flights. When such a line is safely and surely established, think how it will cut down time between Hollywood marriages and Paris divorces!

"There is one negro story that I have always liked," Miss Elder told me, "and one which recurred to me several times during my flight. At such times, believe me, I realized its true significance and humor.

"At a southern aviation field during the war a negro soldier was detailed to one of the hangars. It was his business to keep the place clean, and to do whatever handy-work his superiors might point out.

"One day a lieutenant told Sam to climb into his plane and he'd take him for a hop.

WACO, Texas, May 8.—Wichita Falls' Spudders looked like real champions today in taking the opener of the three-game series from the Cubs. The Spuds pounded Earl Caldwell and Bo Molendo in hard and opportune fashion and with Milt Steengrafe usually effective in the clinches galloped home in front, 9 to 3.

The attack was led by Brick Eldred, the new Wichita Falls acquisition from Seattle of the Pacific Coast league, playing his first game in Spudder regalia. Mr. Elred made a most pleasing debut, hammering a home run and three singles and scoring three runs. Brick's homer came with a comrade on base. He pastimed in right field in place of Lamb.

Elred was not the only Spudder to bat hard. Tom Jenkins clouted his second home run in two days, also with a mate on the base lines and Rabbit Benton hit for the circuit with none on.

Del Pratt, skipper of the home forces, accounted for one of his club's tallies with a four-ply drive.

Luciano at Third

Wally Swenson was not at his usual place at third base, that post being filled by Joe Luciano. Wally turned his ankle Monday in sliding to second in the game with San Antonio and Foreman Williams opined a rest was needed today. Joseph acquitted himself creditably, looking better as he has more opportunity to perform.

The visitors made 13 blows, only one more than that by Waco, but they bunched their tallies and with Steengrafe bearing down and receiving capable support when threatened had little difficulty in winning.

By winning while Fort Worth was losing the Spudders went into a tie for second place with the Cats each with 16 victories and eight defeats. They both are one game behind the pace-setting Houston Buffs.

Spudders Score in Second

Wichita Falls scored two runs in the second inning. Eldred singled to center and stole second. Jenkins crashed a home run over the center field fence, scoring Eldred ahead of him.

The Spudders tallied in the third, when Benton drove over right field wall for his circuit smash. Eldred started the attack in the fourth that netted four more tallies, with a single to left. Jenkins walked. Luciano sacrificed. Stanton doubled to right, scoring Eldred and Jenkins. Lapan popped to Wolgamot. Steengrafe doubled to left, Stanton scoring. Molenda relieved Caldwell.

Cubs Score in Fourth

The Cubs tallied in their half when Pratt hit over the left field fence.

Waco added their last two markers in the fifth. Molenda singled to left and went to second on Windle's hit to the same territory. Turgeon fumbled Mallonee's hit, filling the bases. Blackerby forced Mallonee, Benton to Turgeon. Molenda scoring and Windle reaching third. Windle scored while Stanton was retiring Pratt, unassisted.

Three more were added by the Spudders in the eighth. Fitzgerald hit for two bases down the first base line and scored on Eldred's homer over the left field barrier. Jenkins singled to left. Luciano sacrificed. Stanton hit to Pratt and Jenkins raced home when Del booted the ball into right field.

Ritt's Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

The Olympic games these day are about as Grecian and ancient as tomorrow's newspaper. They've simply gone 1928.

The games began with a great deal of javelin throwing and not a little leaping and running but now include such Athenian sports as bicycle racing, rifle and billiard shooting.

One of the most modern of the events is the standing broad protest. It's the only way a licked country can squawk its way into an oral, if not moral, victory.

The Olympic games started in Switzerland, got into full blast in Holland and will probably wind up in a fuss. The whole business is just an international muscle dance coming to an end by mutual dissent.

About the only new sport not on the 1928 program is flag pole sitting. In the first place there aren't enough flag poles. This is because in Holland the folks are so dumb they reserve their flag-poles strictly for the use of flags.

It has been suggested that dice throwing take the place of the discus. The former is not so tiring and, at times, far more profitable.

TALLEST OARSMAN

Louis Ladd, tallest oarsman to ever try for a post on a Yale crew, is six and a half feet in height.

TIGERS HOPE TO WIN

Pinceton university, which won the interscholastic polo title in 1924, expects to repate this year.

The Gray Eagle

TRIS SPEAKER

Tristram E. Speaker, outfielder of the Philadelphia Americans, was born at Hubbard City, Texas, April 19, 1888.

His nickname—"The Grey Eagle of Baseball"—is an appropriate one, as Speaker has been in the game 23 years, beginning in 1905 as a student at Fort Worth, Texas, Polytechnic institute.

He played the following year with Cleburne in the North Texas league. Speaker went to Houston in the Texas, in 1907. Boston Americans paid Houston but $400 for the great star's services, in September of the same year.

Speaker was sent to Little Rock in the Southern and repurchased from that team, in 1908, for $500. He was with Boston until 1915, when Cleveland grabbed him for $55,000.

Tris succeeded Lee Fohl as the Indian manager in 1919, won a pennant and world series in 1921, and retired in 1926, but returned to play with Washington last year, and this year with Philadelphia.

Fillingim Effective While San Tone Bats Hard

SAN ANTONIO, May 8. (AP)—Dana Fillingim held the Fort Worth Panthers to seven hits while the San Antonio Bears pounded three pitchers for 16 hits to win the opening game on their return home Tuesday, 11 to 1, before a crowd of about 3000 cheering fans.

Denny Burns held the Bruins to one run until the fifth inning following Flaskamper's three bagger and a wild pitch, but in the fifth inning the Bears bunched three hits off him when Hank Keck, a former Cotton States leaguer, relieved him only to suffer a like fate with Jimmy Walkup taking the hill before the round ended. SPORTS WIN IN NINTH.

BEAUMONT, May 8. (AP)—Rallying with four runs in the ninth after two were down, the Shreveport Sports untied a close game this afternoon and took the first of the series, 7 to 4. Williamson, late of the White Sox, went the full route and kept ten hits fairly well scattered. Ferrell, relieving Stauffer in the fifth, pitched great ball until Williamson's scratch single and Whelan's double put him in the air. Elmer Hanson pinch hit in the ninth and socked a homer. Score:

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

THE SPUDDERS started a two weeks' trek yesterday and many of the fans will be lonesome with Athletic park "dark" so long. However, there is much to occupy the sports enthusiasts here, what with numerous diversions offered. For those of a more sedate nature there is fishing, with the sport reported sufficiently uncertain to make it interesting, but profitable to the expert angler. And there is golf on two excellent 18-hole courses.

◇ ◇ ◇

Tennis with six municipal courts in splendid condition is available to those who seek a game of more dash than fishing and golfing. And to those who want to see their baseball there are the Twilight and City leagues, fast amateur loops. They are playing a most excellent brand of baseball in the local amateur organizations.

◇ ◇ ◇

E. G. HILL, the second half of the Landon-Hill Sporting Goods company, prime movers in various athletic enterprises here, is a rabid baseball fan, one of the foremost dyed-in-the-wool order, and director of the Spudders. In a fanning bee at baseball headquarters the other day, Mr. Hill narrated a good yarn concerning Cohen, the young second baseman formerly of the Texas league, who has so acceptably filled the place of Rogers Hornsby.

◇ ◇ ◇

"A SEASON OR SO AGO, before Cohen became a Giant regular, he was sent to bat in the pinch," relates Mr. Hill. "'Cohen, batting for Murphy' was announced. A big Irishman, sitting in the bleachers, immediately arose, and during a lull as eyes were focused on Cohen, cried out, 'Callahan leaving the park.'"

◇ ◇ ◇

OKLAHOMA CITY and Tulsa fans evidently have turned thumbs down on Western league baseball. The population of those Sooner cities is more than 100,000 each. They are excellent baseball towns, as good as any, and under normal conditions will draw attendances of around 125,000 for a season. In opening games this season Tulsa drew only 1,933 and Oklahoma City 2,551.

◇ ◇ ◇

LAST SEASON Tulsa and Oklahoma City each drew under 90,000 and if present indications are a criterion they will not exceed that number this campaign. Those cities want out of the Western league and covet a place in the Texas loop. They made effort last winter along such lines but were blocked by the National agreement.

◇ ◇ ◇

Only 29,085 paid to see the eight opening games this spring in the Western league. Pueblo, reentering the circuit, led with 6,228, a figure exceeded by four or five clubs in the Texas league. We drew 8,500 here in Wichita Falls, while such large cities as Des Moines, Omaha and Denver of the Western had attendances of under 5,000. A turbulent year is forecast for the Western loop. Oklahoma City and Tulsa, the best towns in the league, have lost interest and probably won't be greatly enthused over baseball until they are out of the league.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE FUTURE of the league is uncertain and it will require all of Dale Gear's ability to prevent disaster. Tulsa and Oklahoma City, the best baseball towns in the wheel, have lost interest. Pueblo will draw well probably this year. After that they are uncertain. Other towns are manifesting no great enthusiasm. Conditions last season in the Western league were alarming. It is my belief that the only salvation of that loop is reorganization with long jumps eliminated. It certainly needs a revival of spirit.

Dallas Net Players Beat Davis Cup Pair

DALLAS, Texas, May 8. (UP)—Two of Dallas' ranking tennis players took a pair of the Davis cup entrants into camp in the exhibition match here today.

John Barr and Jimmie Quick, local stars, defeated Wilmer Allison, also a Texas product, and George Lott, 5-7, 6-3 and 7-5.

Barr proved the star of this doubles match, playing a beautiful offensive game. Quick, his partner, gave him excellent support in administering defeat to the two members of the Davis cup team.

In the other exhibition matches Bill Tilden defeated George Lott, 9-7, and 6-4. In a doubles match Tilden and Arnold Jones defeated Louis Thalheimer and J. B. Adoue, 6-1 and 6-0.

PRINCE ENTERS 500-MILE RACE

Royal Rumanian to Drive In Indianapolis Classic

BY FRED VAN DeVENDER

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 8. Ghica, who, when he is at home, is a prince, has entered a Cozette special in the sixteenth annual international 500-mile automobile race to be held here Decoration day.

The prince is from Rumania, and, so it is reported, is no relation whatsoever to Queen Marie and her fast driving children.

The children, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, drove two Stutz creations from Chicago here on their recent visit to the United States, and did quite a good job of it.

So, it appears, that automobile speed runs within the royalty of Rumania.

Drives French Car

This Cozette special is a French racing car, which has had quite a bit of success in such races as the Grand Prix and other European events, but has never been entered in the hardest and most gruelling of all races.

The entry list is closed, with 36 cars or drivers named.

It is probably the most representative list of cars to be entered in the race in years.

In the more recent races, the event has for the most part become almost a race between creations of the Deusenberg brothers and Mr. Miller of California.

This year there are only two Deusenberg entries. They will be piloted by Benny Shoaff and Ira Hall. There are seven Miller entries, all privately owned cars.

Tribute to Lockhart

Shortly before the starting bomb is shot on Decoration day, approximately 175,000 people will bow their heads in reverence to the greatest driver the tracks have seen—Frank Lockhart. He was killed at Daytona Beach, Fla., in an attempt to better the world's record for speed.

But his two Stutz specials he was grooming for the race will make the great attempt, it is reliably reported here. The entrant is the Frank Lockhart Estate.

It is possible that one of the cars—the one Frank was to have driven—will be sold before race time. The other car, however, to be driven by Tony Gulotta, will race under the Lockhart colors.

Lockhart's smile, and his dazzling daredevil work at the wheel will be missed during the race, by fans who attend every year. He was the favorite of most people since he won the race in 1926 over the 400-mile route. The referee stopped the race at that distance because rain was making the track dangerous.

Millinoaire Driver

The wealthiest driver on the track will be Cliff Durant, millionaire manufacturer of automobiles. He will be at the wheel of a car designed and built by Tommy Milton, retired driver, and the only man who has ever received the checkered flag on the Indianapolis course twice.

Marmon reenters the racing field this year after an absence since 1911, when Ray Harroun piloted the old Marmon "Wasp" to victory. Harroun, who was the first driver to pilot the race alone—all the other drivers in those days carried a mechanic with them—is at the track now, aiding as best he can the Marmon team.

The Marmon cars are entered by the Cooper Engineering company. The last entry was one of the Marmons. It was entered 60 seconds before the time for closing the entries at the request of the mechanics. It is a tradition about the track that the last car entered is the first car home.

The three Marmons have for drivers Peter Kreis and Johnny Seymour, so far, and it is reported that the redoubtable Earl Cooper will clamber into the cockpit of the third car when the last minute arrives.

DePaolo to Drive

Peter De Paolo, holder of the Indianapolis track record for 500 miles, will be at the wheel of a Flying Cloud special.

The Boyle valve team is creating quite a stir here as the tiny motors are tuned up to racing speed. The Boyle valve team in past races has been given only a bare outside chance to win the race, but this year there seems to be a change in sentiment.

Cliff Woodbury, Chicago driver, who is chief driver for the Boyle valve team, has quite a following in local race circles. Other drivers of Boyle valves are Fred Comer, Dave Evans and Billy Arnold.

George Souders, young student of Purdue university, who drove a Deusenberg to victory last year, will drive a car, so far unnamed, which has been entered by William S. White.

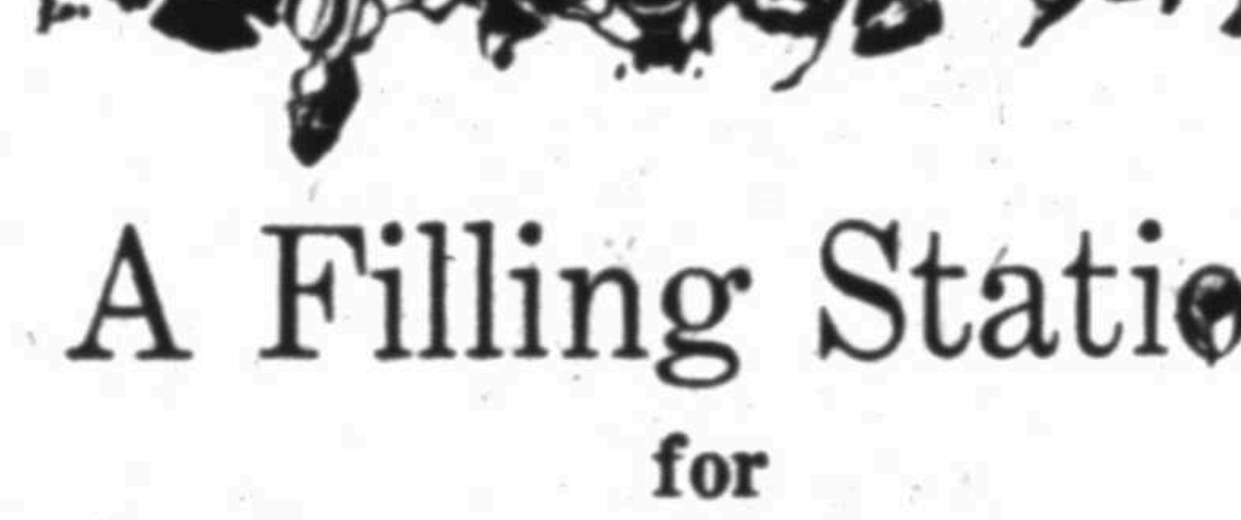

Norman Batten, who came near dying the death of a hero last year, will be at the wheel of a Miller special car entered by himself. Batten drove his car down the home stretch, himself smothered in flames, in order that he would not wreck the car on the course and probably wreck other drivers.

Leon Duray, one of the best known of all race drivers, has entered a Miller, which he will drive himself.

The smell of castor oil is becoming heavy about the racing plant already as race day draws nearer.

Indianapolis boasts of its race track, and when race day rolls around, everything for the comfort of the visitors is already taken care of by the chamber of commerce.

EIGHT U. S. GOLFERS QUALIFY FOR BRITISH OPEN TOURNAMENT

BUENOS AIRES PRO'S 144 LOW

Barnes and Sarazen's 152 Leads North Americans

SANDWICH, England, May 8. (AP) Six North American professionals and two amateurs qualified today for the British open golf championship, but the honors of the day went to South America. Wee Jose Jurado, Buenos Aires professional, compiled a sensational 69 on the Royal St. George court to add to his 75 over Prince's yesterday and led the field home with 144 for the two days' qualifying play.

The players from the United States had no 69's in their bags, but a majority slipped quietly inside the select circle of 110 to continue the quest for the title. Scores of 162 were needed to get under the wire with the low hundred and ties.

Larry Nabholz was the only pro to falter. The former Clevelander, who has been sick throughout the play, required 164 and was forced to join the gallery with Joshua Crane and Silas M. Newton, Boston and New York amateurs who ventured into the 90's for a round and found themselves on the outside looking in. Crane needed 184 and Newton 169.

Hagen Shoots 155

Jim Barnes and Gene Sarazen tied for low scoring honors among the representatives of the United States with 152 for the 36 holes. Walter Hagen had 153, Bill Mehlhorn, who led the field after the first day, 154; Tommy Armour, the United States open champion, 156, and Bob Stupple, Chicago pro, 161.

Johnny McHugh, San Francisco, qualifying list with 157, T. A. Torrance, the Scotsman, leading with 153. Douglas Grant, native of the United States, but now living in London, qualified with 160.

J. H. Taylor, who has won the open five times since 1894, tied once and finished second four times, failed to qualify, taking 163. Great Britain's most famous player, now 57 years of age, has said for years that he would quit playing in championships if he ever failed to qualify.

Dr. W. Tweddle, amateur champion of Great Britain, and Robert Harris, former champion, also failed to make the grade. Roger Wethered, another former champion, slipped in with 159.

Famous Pros Qualify.

Alex Herd, James Braid and Harry Bardon were safely in, Herd taking 157, Braid 154, and Vardon 159. Archie Compston, conquerer of Hagen, finished in a tie with his victim at 153. Abe Mitchell was a stroke back at 154. Thomas Barber checked in with 154, George Gadd with 157, and Jean Gassiat with 159. Aubrey Boomer took 155 and Arnaud Massey 153, the score returned by Len Holland. Arthur Havers needed 156, as did C. A. and E. R. Whitcombe. R. A. Whitcombe was three strokes under the others of the same name.

H. C. Jolley, scoring 147; Bert Hodson, 148, and George Duncan, 150, followed Jurado to the wire.

The 28-year-old featherweight Argentine was the sensation of the second day's play. Jurado weighs only 126 pounds and stands but six inches over five feet in his golf shoes, but today he banged some of his drives more than 300 yards over the windswept St. George's course. He played his irons with deadly accuracy and putted like Bobby Jones.

He Comes up Four Times—And Stays

"If they flop three times they're through," goes an old saying of the bleacherites, but—

"Fourth not third time is charm," says Frank O'Doul of the New York Giants, and to back up his words he plasters National league pitching all over Gotham and vicinity.

Lefty O'Doul has set himself the tough job of proving to National league fans that his first three appearances under the big time must not be taken seriously. He means to stick this time—and how!

The great work of Andy Cohen around second base for the McGrawmen drew most of the applause and practically all of the attention of Giant fans in the early days of the current big league campaign. If the fans had lifted their vision a little and centered their gaze into the outfield they would have seen a sight to gladden their hearts.

There was Lefty O'Doul playing a bang up game all over the grass. At bat he has proven a tower of strength for the cause of John McGraw. He looks like the goods.

Officer of Thomas Heeney, Ltd., Would Have Tex Post Guarantee

Shadow of Sharkey-Man Looms and Mr. Mortimer Would Rest Easier If Financially Assured of Title Go

By DAMON RUNYON
Copyright 1928 by Universal Service

NEW YORK, May 8.—Mr. John Mortimer, vice-president and secretary of the Thomas Heeney Holdings corporation, Ltd., is taking on what I must describe as a slightly worried expression.

Mr. Mortimer is commencing to think thoughts, and thinking thoughts is ever calculated to produce a slight worried expression. The map is the mirror of the old bean, eh wot?

It is Mr. Mortimer's habit to think his thought aloud, which is how I happened to learn that he is thinking thoughts. I am told that Mr. Mortimer acquired the habit while managing Mr. Joe Beckett, the man with the round heels, the contour of whose massive back and shoulder blades is imprinted on every canvas in England.

In fact, I believe the imprint of Mr. Beckett's back and shoulders has become the official hall-mark of all canvas of British manufacture, and they make very good canvass over there at that.

Talks to Himself.

When Mr. Beckett would fall, or get pushed in the halcyon days of his pugilistic impulses, Mr. Mortimer would immediately start thinking thoughts, and would inadvertently give voice to his thoughts, as follows:

"I do not think Mr. Beckett will get up."

Thus, from frequent repetition, it became, as I say, a habit. You can hear Mr. Mortimer thinking his thoughts for miles around. And what he is thinking thoughts about at this time has to do with what he figures may be a sinster plot against the stock of the Thomas Heeney Holding corporation, Ltd., now rated at par.

The Thomas Heeney Holding corporation, Ltd., is a British subsidy, of which Mr. Bernard Mortimer, of London, England, is president. It has a strong American branch, with Mr. Charley Harvey as general manager.

An Empty Office.

Mr. Eddie Harvey is the cashier, though Mr. Eddie Harvey informs me, confidentially, that so far his office has been an empty one. But he lives on in hope.

The Thomas Heeney Holding corporation, Ltd., controls the pugilistic stock of Thomas Heeney, the rock of down under, which stock is at this time going very strong.

Thomas Heeney is matched to meet Mister Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship of the world, a title conservatively valued at $1,000,000, American money, or so many pounds sterling that the very thought makes all the Mortimers and all the Harveys shiver at one and the same moment.

The Thomas Heeney Holding corporation, Ltd., has a contract with one George L. Rickard for this match with Mister Gene Tunney, and probably about 10 per cent of the gate receipts thereof, and Mr. John Mortimer got to thinking—aloud—the other evening that somebody ought to post something by way of guaranteeing this contract. It is the custom in dear old England.

Wants Guarantee.

Mr. John Mortimer cannot see why Mister Gene Tunney, George L. Rickard and the Thomas Heeney Holding corporation, Ltd., shouldn't all lay something on the line by way of insuring one against the other, of a boggle between now and the bout. It seems to me that Mr. Mortimer has an argument, at that.

Mr. Mortimer is no ap-say, even if he does harbor a strong aversion to the letter "H," and he can plainly see the shadow of Jack, the weeper, otherwise the terrible Sharkey man, of Boston, falling athwart the proceedings, and being jiggled around like a marionette in a peep-show by the mysterious, unseen hands of strange maneuver.

Mr. Mortimer appreciates that George L. Rickard would probably shed no tears if Thomas Heeney should break a few legs between now and July 26, and permit of the substitution of Blueberry Jack against Mister Tunney, and Mr. Mortimer is a bit fearful about the substitution.

Tough for Them.

The night that Jack, the Weeper, "knocked out" M. Ovila Chapdelaine, otherwise Jack Delaney, Mr. Mortimer and several Harveys went out with M. Ovila. Mr. Mortimer was revived with a few portions of strong tea, but he sat holding his head in his hands until he heard the echoes of the Bronx cheer the following day.

Mr. Mortimer was afraid that "that does it," as the English boxer remarked when struck in the darby kelly with great force by his opponent. But even while reassured for the moment by the roar of the jazz, it wasn't long before Mr. Mortimer was worrying again.

Now, Mr. Mortimer, as becomes leading stockholder in the Thomas Heeney Holding corporation, Ltd., thinks well of Thomas Heeney's chances against Mister Gene Tunney, in spite of the ominous fact that Mister Gene Tunney personally nominated Thomas Heeney as his opponent.

But Mr. Mortimer realizes quite well that Thomas Heeney lacks what the boys call color, whatever that may be, that he is no puncher, and that all things being equal, the tearful, terrible Sharkey man would be regarded as a stronger, or at least a more sure-fire drawing card than Thomas Heeney, if only on the strength of that "knockout."

Rickard's Word Good.

I am not so sure that Mr. Mortimer is seeing apparitions, at that, and in any event his thought that he ought to have some protection beyond a mere contract seems reasonable enough.

Personally, I would just as soon have George L. Rickard's word, as his cash forfeit, but if it would make Mr. Mortimer's stay in our midst any more peaceful and pleasant, it seems to me he is entitled to a guarantee.

I think the maneuvering, if any, in behalf of Jack the Weeper has come too late for this season's major slugging, unless something happens, as I have suggested, to Thomas Heeney. Perhaps it might be a good idea if Thomas Heeney hid out until the night of the fight, so none of the well wishers of the terrible Sharkey man can get at him with pineapples, Michael finns, or other deadly weapons.

But I do hate to see Mr. Mortimer worry so.

'Amusement Tax Exemption Voted

WASHINGTON, May 8. (AP)—Exemption from the 10 per cent admission tax of all tickets of $3 and less was voted today by the senate.

The house bill proposed an increase in the exemption from this tax for tickets selling from 75 cents to $1.

Senate Democrats had urged complete repeal of the levy except in cases of prize fights. The attempt to repeal the admission tax lost on the first tie vote of the session, 40 to 40. Vice President Dawes did not have to vote, however, because it was an amendment, not requiring that the tie be broken.

The vote was almost strictly on party lines—one Republican, McNary, Oregon, voting with the Democrats, and one Democrat, Bruce, Maryland, voting with the Republicans.

Bare Facts

BY ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Copyright 1928, Universal Service)

NEW YORK, May 8.—The spring straw vote continues to make hay while the sun blinks.

Smith claims Maine, Delaware and Kansas, concedes Rhode Island, leaves Chicago to a higher law.

Hoover bags the bean in prayerful anticipation and comes up with Oklahoma in his teeth.

Governor Ritchie's daisy chain of 16 Maryland delegates continues to dance under the alternating current of a Baltimore moon.

Meanwhile, the Senate will harness on the bi-focals and investigate campaign expenditures made by the dozen candidates.

Borah, Curtis, Norris and Walsh seem to have cast their crumbs on the waters and fed nobody but the the minnows. They have retired from the presidential scramble and will seek solace within the walls of public offices that are less stylish but a good deal steadier.

The mucilageneous adherents of Hoover insist that California is leaning toward the admiral of the world's relief boats.

When California leans, it's time to go. It leaned so far the last time that it fell on Hughes.

Both Smith and Hoover are too intelligent to claim Alabama. On the day of judgment when Gabriel sounds his bugle and the departed rise to caucus the convention, the eternal saxophone tooter will discover that he has been defeated by a vote of 24 for Underwood and 0 for Gabriel.

That's the political situation by daylight saving time. The Senate investigation of the sudden wealth of presidential candidates will prove nothing except that some of the boys took the money under false pretenses.

Which crime will get you four years.

But not in the White House.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 8. (AP)—With the weather again the dominating influence due to heavy rains and unseasonably cold weather in Georgia and the Carolinas, cotton experienced another day of unusual activity on the New Orleans exchange today, although reactions that set in near the close wiped out earlier gains and left prices but little changed.

July opened with an initial gain of 28 points at 21.23, although reactions soon wiped out the advance and 11 additional points. A rally staged almost immediately saw the position regain 28 of the points lost but after mid-session, prices eased off again to 20.93 and closing at that figure or 2 points net lower for the day. The general market closed steady at net losses of 2 to 10 points.

Private advices to members said reports of rains in the American belt prompted Liverpool to advance 11 to 13 points. This improved demand coupled with additional rain reports from the eastern belt led to gains of from 19 to 21 points in first trades. The advance continued during the morning session with July reaching 21.23, October 21.02 and December 20.97, 24 to 28 points above the previous close.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Advances on unfavorable features in the weather and crop news were checked by realizing or liquidation in the cotton market today. The price movements were irregular. After selling up to 21.52 early, July broke to 21.10, rallied to 21.45 and closed at 21.17, compared with 21.23 at the close the previous day. The general market closed irregular, at net declines of 1 to 7 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 19 to 17 points, active months showing net advances of 23 to 32 points in early trading on a renewal of yesterday's buying movement. This was supposed to include covering or re-selling by recent buyers, together with some commission house or local demand inspired by relatively firm Liverpool cables and reports of further rains in the eastern belt.

May sold up to 21.70 and October to 21.49, but at these prices, buying tapered off and there were reactions during midday on the forecast for clearing and warmer weather. May declined to 21.34 and October to 21.06, net losses of about 10 to 16 points on active positions, but private reports claiming further delays to the new crop start as a result of low temperatures in eastern and central belt sections, appeared to encourage a renewal of buying and covering in early afternoon.

The market recovered a good part of the mid-day decline but demand again tapered off and prices weakened in late trading under a renewal of liquidation. Closing prices were within 6 to 9 points of the lowest for the day.

The rally from the low point of the morning was accompanied by reiterated talk of probably well maintained domestic consumption figures for April compared with March, while there were also some traders who said they were looking for rather more favorable monthly cloth statistics owing to recent reports that sales were running in excess of mill production. The better weather prospect, however, seemed to assert itself toward the close when there was liquidation by some of the earlier buyers.

Private cables reported buying in Liverpool on the southern rain reports, but said the advance was checking business in cotton cloths.

Exports today 17,619 bales, making 6,-581,879 so far this season. Port receipts 35,517. U. S. port stocks 1,451,668.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE.
Universal Service.

CHICAGO, May 8.—An erratic wheat market, which developed strength in the latter part of the session and a sluggish corn market, furnished preparation for further uncertainty today in trading before the government report is issued.

At the close wheat was ¾ to 1⅝c higher; corn was ⅛ to ¼c lower; oats were ¼ to ⅝c better; rye was up ⅛ to 1⅜c.

It was a day of rumors that Arthur Cutten was buying wheat, that the northwest was buying wheat, that Canada needs moisture. There were enough of these to put the market up from the start if there had been the volume of buying that they suggested was taking place.

But as a matter of fact the action of the market belied any heavy buying. Wheat is, in this writer's opinion, in a very uncertain position right here.

The big break cleaned out longs. The eight-cent upward reaction after that break has killed off shorts. Big traders may be waiting right now either to support the market or jump on it as seems most advantageous.

The reaction from the bottom of the big decline has brought prices back nearly half way. The market is right at the point where a good deal of caution will be wise.

Because the government report is pretty certain to be more bullish than the average of the private reports, shorts are not likely to care to remain short until it comes out. Their covering may be what has given the market its recent strength more than any new buying.

Corn acted disappointingly. For a market that has been brought up to the present level on the finest and richest bull "pap," it acts singularly feeble at times.

Stock Market Advance Slowed But Not Halted by Higher Call Money Rate; Hike Surprises

—BY BROADAN WALL—
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, May 8. (US)—Six per cent call money from a renewal of 5½ slowed but did not halt the advancing market on the stock exchange today. General Motors, Radio and other recent favored industrials closed net lower, but their declines were offset in gains in other individual stocks which were brought forward as a result of special influences. The advance in the call rate was rather a surprise and resulted from preparations by banks for the mid-week adjustment with the federal reserve.

General Electric took the leadership of the standard industrials and climbed higher during all the irregularity. Wabash was the outstanding rail and came within a fraction of its old high, largely as a result of its strong technical position. Oils continued to slip on profit-taking, but offerings were well absorbed.

The Japanese yen dropped lower in an otherwise strong and quiet foreign exchange market. Cotton was helped by bullish weather advices, while the grain market rallied during the afternoon and more than made up early losses.

The opening was one of the most exciting on record and there were widespread predictions of a 5,000,000-share day. Orders piled in from all over the country so that Radio and others opened up higher. The huge public participation, however, encouraged heavier liquidation on the part of pools and leading individual operators so that the general advance ended before the close of the first hour. The large accumulation of buy orders overnight is typical of a distributing market and while pool managers, brokers and others continue to talk of a "new era" they are not missing the opportunity to cash in big profits by passing on a good part of their holdings.

Curtiss Aeroplane scored one of the best advances of the day with widespread reports of the big increase in orders received in recent months. The effect thereof was enhanced by rumor that consolidation with another leading aviation company was being negotiated.

STOCK-A-DAY

ATLAS POWDER CO.
Five-Year Record

The Atlas Powder company was formed as a result of the decree by which the United States supreme court ordered the Dupont de Nemours Powder company to divest itself of certain of its properties. The company now devotes itself to the manufacture and sale of explosives and blasting supplies. It has a wholly owned subsidiary known as the Giant Powder Co., Con., which makes all of the explosives sold by the concern west of the Rocky mountains.

Through another group of subsidiaries, the company manufactures and sells "Zapon" products, consisting of imitation leather, laquers and laquer enamels, and nitro cellulose. It has an interest in a French company formed for the same purpose, and also an interest in the Napon Rayon corporation.

Earnings were extremely high in the war period and continued favorable for two years after the war. After a depression in 1921, a recovery was recorded. Net income of $2,044,000 was reported for 1927 and was about 14 per cent under the figure for 1926. The 1927 income was equivalent to $22.71 a share preferred, and $5.75 a share on the common. This compared with $26.49 on the preferred and $7.04 a share on the common in the previous year.

Funded debt consists of purchase money notes totaling $200,000. Capital stock outstanding includes $9,000,000 in 6 per cent cumulative preferred of $100 par, and 261,-438 3-4 shares of no par common.

Dividends are paid regularly at 6 per cent on the preferred and at $4 a share per year on the common.

As of January 1, 1928, total current assets were $9,824,037; current liabilities $892,392, and net working capital $8,931,645. Book value of the common stock amounted to $45.10 a share.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Profit taking sales tempered bullish enthusiasm on the curb market today. Mines, utilities and some industrial specialties continued to gain, but extreme advances were reduced by profit taking. A buying rally around noon did much to aid in recovery of lost ground, but increase of the call money rate to 6 per cent again encouraged selling.

Consolidated Copper Mines and Newmont Mines both advanced to new high territory while United Verde extract showed a gain of more than 3 points. Aluminum Company of America moved to a new peak at 165, but subsequently declined 3 points. Strength of the artificial silk issues was a feature of the industrial list, Tubize gaining more than 10 points. British Celanese, Ltd., and Celanese common invaded new high ground. Brockway Motor Truck and U. S. L. Battery were outstanding among the motors and accessories, the latter gaining more than 3 points on reports of a pending merger with Auto Lite.

Columbia Graphaphone extended its gain. Dominion Bridge advanced more than 10 points to a new top at 95⅛.

While generally strong, the utilities showed some recessions. Electric Bond and Share sagged about 3 points and United Gas Improvement sold off slightly. Middle West utilities, however, rose more than 5 points to a new top.

The oils were inclined to heaviness, Vacuum, Humble Penn Mex Fuel and others sagging as much as 5 points.

"Constitutionals" Condemn Smith And Endorse Tom Love In Resolutions

CORRUPTION OF G. O. P. CITED

Bone Dry Candidate And Platform Urged

Republicans were condemned, Al Smith assailed and Tom Love applauded in a resolution adopted by the constitutionals in their convention Tuesday afternoon. The resolution in full follows:

To the Hon. W. B. Chauncey, chairman of the Democratic county convention of Wichita county, Texas:

We, the undersigned members of the committee on platform and resolutions, respectfully submit the following platform and resolutions for the consideration of the convention and recommend the adoption of the same:

PLATFORM AND RESOLUTIONS

I

We, the democrats of Wichita county in convention assembled, reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of the democratic party, laid down by Thomas Jefferson, defended by Andrew Jackson and championed by Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan.

II

We hereby endorse the records of the representatives of the Democratic party in congress, who have exposed the graft, fraud and misrule of the republican party the past seven years, and in the uncovering of the fraud committed by cabinet members of the republican party in the leasing of the Teapot Dome and other naval oil leases to Harry F. Sinclair, the arch enemy of all good government. We condemn as unpatriotic and as unworthy of the high ideals of our republican form of government, the actions by Will H. Hays, former chairman of the national republican committee and former republican postmaster general, in the acceptance of $260,000 in liberty bonds, which were used for "campaign purposes" by the Republican party, the same being contributed by the said Harry F. Sinclair, the beneficiary under the fraudulent transfers of naval oil leases. Never in the history of this country has public malfeasance in office been so open and brazen nor carried on on such vast scale. Republican cabinet officers have conspired with one another and with other persons to fraudulently squander the national resources of the country, reserved for times of war.

III

The eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution, outlawing the liquor traffic, was submitted by a two-thirds vote of the members of congress and was ratified by more than three-fourths of the states of the union, showing that the provisions of the amendment, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, met with the approval of a great majority of the people of this nation, still the willful minority are unwilling to abide by such constitutional provision, and are willing to nullify the same, by refusing to uphold it, simply because it does not suit their "tastes and appetites." The constitutional prohibition amendment, prohibiting the sale and transportation of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, given to the nation by a democratic administration, has resulted in a greater benefit to our people, than any reform that has been inaugurated in this country in the past fifty years.

The adoption of constitutional prohibition outlawing the liquor traffic has resulted in great national blessings beyond computation. It has added happiness to the homes of the land, it has given children better clothing and more food, and it has given them an opportunity for a better education. It has relieved the anxiety of many a troubled wife and mother and given hope where despair reigned before. It has diverted more than two billion dollars yearly from the liquor traffic into more profitable channels of industry. It has resulted in greater efficiency on the part of labor, by making the workman more fit for his task. This increased efficiency has resulted in adding more than six billion dollars to the national wealth each year.

We have been pained to see the enforcement of the Volstead law entrusted to a cabinet officer, under a Republican administration, himself a part owner of a distillery, who has brought disrepute to this law, through slip-shod and perfunctory methods of enforcement.

We regret that some men, calling themselves good American citizens, encouraged by this lax enforcement of this law have shown contempt for our constitution and our government by a consistent and wilful violation of this law. The younger generation, noting the behavior of their elders, have developed a tendency to disregard all law, and as a result of this attitude, we have a juvenile crime problem in America of great proportions. We hereby declare it the sense of this convention that the strict enforcement of all laws is the best means of commanding respect for the government, both among the youth and their delinquent elders.

IV

It is a source of grave concern that certain democrats, clamoring for a repeal of the prohibition laws, have procured for themselves as leader, Governor Al Smith of New York, (a dripping wet) a champion who openly declares his hatred of the eighteenth amendment and whose record on the liquor question is one continuous record in favor of the open saloon and the legalized sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. The "wets" desire to elect this man president, whose conscience opposes the prohibition laws, and thus weaken, and ultimately repeal the law.

Under the constitution of the United States, the president is the commander-in-chief of the army and navy and of the militia of the states, when called into actual service. He may grant reprieves and pardons for offences, except in cases of impeachment. He may make treaties with foreign countries, he may appoint ambassadors to foreign countries, judges of the supreme court, judges of the United States district courts and United States district attorneys and other enforcement officers, as congress may elect. On extraordinary occasions the president may convene both houses of congress. It is his duty to preserve, protect and defend the constitution. The presidency of the United States is the most honorable, the most powerful of any office held within the gift of the people and it should be filled by the most capable, upright and honorable of the nation, who is in sympathy with the constitution and laws of this nation. On account of Governor Al Smith's antipathy and dislike for our prohibition laws further evidenced by the fact that when nation-wide prohibition was adopted, he encouraged and approved the repeal of New York's state enforcement laws, we believe that he is unsuited by temperament and environment for the high office of president of these United States.

Al Smith has steadfastly refused during this campaign to make known to the people of this commonwealth his views upon the vital public issues of the day. So far, he has refused to express himself as to whether or not he favors a restricted immigration or not. It may be that he would advocate letting down the bars and to permit the illiterate and shiftless hordes of Europe and Asia to invade our country and to settle here to the great detriment of our own people. He has failed and refused to state his position on federal farm relief. He does not state his position upon the abolition of the New York stock exchange, a menace to this country, its operation being detrimental to the interest of the great masses of our country. His environment and training leads us to believe that he is more in sympathy with the stock exchange of New York and its gambling promoters, rather than with the interests of the farmers and producers of this country.

Corruption in politics will be one of the prominent campaign issues in the ensuing campaign. The republican party by the misrule and corruption in office of its leaders has forfeited any further right to continue in the control of this government and its affairs. Still, if we should oust the Republican party from further control of the affairs of our government, it would be preposterous to think of placing the banner of clean government in the hands of a "Tammany politician" whose organization is built upon the divisions of the spoils of office. Such is the man Smith whom the west and the south are being asked to accept tamely as their standard bearer. On the face of it, he is a man whose every interest is diametrically opposed to theirs, whose philosophy is repugnant to their philosophy, whose policies are those that they have consistently opposed upon every occasion, whose political methods are unthinkable in other than the political machines of Tammany in New York, of Vare in Philadelphia and of Thompson in Chicago. The corrupt metropolitan machines in these large cities are in the hands of republicans. The corrupt machine of New York operates under the banner of the democratic party in the name of Tammany Hall. The mass of the democrats of the nation, true to their traditional stand of protecting the interest of the masses from despoilment by the selfish few, are now asked to surrender bag and baggage to the one element in their midst which thrives in this dense metropolis through a distribution of spoils. That these democrats should tamely surrender is beyond conception. They, of course, will not surrender.

V.

We favor a plank in the national democratic platform to be adopted at Houston, Texas, unequivocally endorsing prohibition as written in the constitution of the United States and demanding its faithful strict and efficient enforcement by the national government and by the states, and we instruct our delegates to vote for resolutions favoring such a plank.

We favor the democratic state convention at Beaumont instructing the delegation from Texas to the national democratic convention to vote as a unit at all times in favor only of a candidate for president and vice president who, by his utterances, acts and record is in hearty accord with such platform and who is openly and positively committed to the effective enforcement of our prohibition laws, by every means consistent with the constitution of the United States.

VI.

Bitter Fight Splits Demos

pledged adherence to the principles of the democratic party, condemned the republican administration generally and the Teapot Dome episode in particular and then plunged into a bitter denunciation of the record of Governor Smith concerning prohibition.

Riotous Scrap Over Al Smith

Disorder, which broke out at frequent intervals during the proceedings, reached its height an instant before the resolution was proposed C. B. Felder asked to be recognized as Mr. Townsend was offering his resolution. Mr. Felder's tones, as he attempted to speak, were drowned in an uproar of cries to "sit down," "shut up," "throw him out" and like assertions. Felder was howled down three times before he fianlly was given a hearing.

"The executive committee," he said, "is now preparing a list of delegates a directed by Senator Townsend's motion in the committeeroom. I suggest that the convention wait until the list is submitted to it before proceeding further."

More whooping started, and Mr. Felder finally gave up his attempt to speak.

Mr. Chauncey then interrupted to declare that "the chair rules that the executive committee has no authority to pass on contested delegations."

Francis Heard by "Drys"

Charles I. Francis, who had attempted earlier to gain recognition, was given the floor and he renewed the point raised by Mr. Felder. He contended that the meeting was proceeding without knowing who had a legal right to participate in its deliberations. As he neared the end of his talk, he became the target for derisive cries from the audience.

Mr. Francis' remarks were brought to a close when he used the expression, in regard to Mr. Chauncey, "when you put yourself into the chair."

Mr. Chauncey interrupted before Francis completed his sentence.

"You say when I put myself into the chair," Chauncey declared. "You were here when I was elected, weren't you?"

Mr. Francis attempted some explanation, but his words were drowned by the noise from the audience. A lull came almost instantly but the uproar broke out again when Mr. Chauncey declared that "I refuse to recognize the gentleman further." Francis grinned and returned to his seat.

Mr. Francis in referring to the assembly in his talk, mentioned it as being "this mass meeting."

Mr. Sartin then gained the floor and began the reading of Townsend's resolution. He had read about 15 minutes when a movement from the audience started as the word spread around that the other meeting was about to start. The movement started as persons in the room began moving in ones and pairs, toward the exit. It gained momentum, however, and approximately a third of the audience soon moved from the 78th to the 89th district court room. Others followed later.

It had been announced that the meeting over which Mr. Hatchitt presided would be held in the nonjury court room, a comparatively small chamber. The scene was hastily shifted because of the crowd to the larger 89th district court room.

Although many cries were directed toward those who left the "constitutional" meeting, Mr. Sartin continued the reading of the resolution which condemned Smith and all other so-called "wets." A vote by acclamation was called, the resolution was declared carried. Adjournment followed shortly after.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 8. (AP)—Methods by which bankers may give invaluable assistance to curbing over production of oil were outlined by W. B. Hamilton, investment banker of Wichita Falls, in an address before the meeting here today. That the industry is helping itself is indicated by the fact, he said, that while Yates pool of Pecos county is capable of producing 1,000,000 barrels, it is releasing only 50,000 barrels, and Winkler county, capable of producing 600,000 barrels is releasing only 150,000 barrels.

Mr. Hamilton appeared on the program with several other speakers. No business was attempted, but the convention unofficially endorsed the association's $5,000 prize for dead bank robbers in the prolonged applause which it gave President William M. Massie's suggestion that the award be continued.
