'IT WAS PITIFUL'

Eight Children Die Under Tons Of Sand

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — "The kids were yelling their heads off. It was pitiful. I hope I never see anything like it again."

Gerald Gemus, 31, of Oldcastle, Ont., recalled with a shudder the scene when a tractor-trailer truck crushed a school bus with 30 children aboard under tons of sand Wednesday near Windsor, across the Detroit River from Detroit.

Eight grade-school children were killed. Most of them lived in the Oldcastle area and were on their way home from the Frith School in Maidstone with one day of school left before Christmas holidays.

Thirteen other children were injured when 10 tons of wet sand cascaded over the bus as the trailer flipped over.

Gemus said he arrived at the scene — an intersection a few miles southeast of Windsor — just after the accident occurred.

SCREAMING CHILDREN
Children trapped inside the bus were screaming. Some were pinned under broke seats, others trapped by twisted metal or buried under the sand.

For nearly two hours, Gemus and others — policemen, firemen, doctors, ambulance drivers and passersby — tore apart the wreckage with crowbars, acetylene torches and their bare hands.

"We were afraid to use shovels at first, because we might injure some of the kids we couldn't see under the sand," Gemus said.

ROOF PINCHED
The tractor-trailer rig was turning a corner when it scrapped the bus, which had just discharged two children and was waiting at the traffic signal.

The door on the driver's side was jammed shut, but the bulk of the sand poured into the bus farther back. The roof was pinched in and the frame twisted sideways.

The bus driver, James Levy, 40, father of three, was treated for shock. Levy, who escaped further injury, said he would never drive a school bus again.

Provincial police identified the truck driver as Marcel Le-francois of Stoney, Ont., who was being detained pending results of an investigation. He was not hurt.

'I'M GOING TO DIE'

One of the rescuers, Ralph Bondy, 27, of McGregor, Ont., severely burned his left hand as he used a torch to cut through the steel leg of a bus seat under which a boy was trapped.

"I held my hand over the boy's face to protect him from the flame and sparks, and as the torch burst through the steel it seared my hand," Bondy said. "Kids were screaming, saying, 'save me!' and, 'I'm going to die!' They were in hysterics. A lot of other people were coming up, too, and we started tearing the bus apart, to pull the kids out," he said.

"We tore the insides of that bus apart, mostly with our bare hands."

Trainmen Find Body Of Man On RR Tracks

The body of a 38-year-old man, believed to be Dalton Simerly Jr., of 229 20th Street, San Diego, Calif., was found beside the Texas and Pacific railroad tracks two miles east of town at 8 a.m. today.

The man had been either struck by a train or had fallen under the wheels of a car as he rode a train. Both legs were severed, and other injuries were indicated.

C. A. Horton, on Engine No. 605, saw the body beside the tracks and notified the station here. The officers speculated that the man had been dead a relatively short time when he was found.

Sheriff A. N. Standard, Deputy Sheriff Oldfield and Justice Walter Grice went to the scene. The Big Spring Ambulance Service brought the body to the River-Welch Funeral Home.

Railroaders told Standard they were not certain which train may have caused the man's death. Several passed the point during the hours from midnight to 8 a.m.

Papers on the victim indicated he was Simerly. He had less than a dollar in small change in his pockets and no currency in his billfold.

His death occurred within a hundred yards of where another man was killed in a similar manner about two years ago. The funeral home had been unable at 11 a.m. to contact anyone who knew Simerly.

Connally's Living Study

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally said today a three-months study of rising food prices in Texas shows that the only cure lies in the thrifty shopping habits of housewives.

Connally commented after an hour-long presentation of facts presented by economic experts of the University of Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech who were asked by Connally to look into the situation.

"We found no villains," reported Dr. Willard Williams of Texas Tech. "It's just a combination of many factors."

The figures presented showed that retail food prices paid by the typical Texas family the last two years rose $108 with about $72 of the increase being in the January-September period of 1966. During the same period the national increase was only $89 for the two years and $67 during 1966.

"We would guess that a more rapidly expanding economy in Texas accounts for the more rapidly rising prices in Texas," Williams said.

Later, in answering questions he said Texas economic experts have "the general feeling there will be continued increases in retail prices of food, both because of marketing cost increases and some increase in farm costs."

"I don't know of any action the legislature can take," Connally said. "It all comes down to the fact that a lot depends on the wise shopping of housewives, who must learn to take advantage of bargains, the seasonal low prices on some items and other conditions."

UF Is Now Past $105,000 Mark

The United Fund has crossed the $105,000 mark, but just barely.

Thursday morning the total stood at $105,146.67, which is 72.5 per cent of the total goal of $139,800. W. H. Wharton, who handles the UF finances, said that receipts had been reduced to a trickle.

Budget committee of the UF met this week and proposed that participating agencies be paid a percentage of their budget askings in proportion to the amount of the goal raised. UF officials likely will meet later to take final action.

FREE LEGAL SERVICES

Austin Couple In Jam Over Car Bill Helped

AUSTIN (AP) — Joe and Mary Blank—that's what the Austin American called them—are on their way back from a legal and financial maze that once seemed to have no exit.

The Blanks bought a 1956 car last spring in Mississippi. They signed a $500 note. After making two $43 payments, they loaded their three small sons in the car and moved to Austin.

They missed two payments. By this week they had paid $425 for bond and legal fees after being arrested on an extradition warrant requested by Mississippi. They still owe $380 on the car and one of the two attorneys they hired reportedly claims they owe him $200 more. Between them, the Blanks earn $106 a week.

The Austin paper publicized their plight Wednesday, and the reaction was immediate.

The Texas Trial Lawyers Association and the Travis County Bar Association gave the Blanks a $500 check and the bar association offered them free legal services and promised an investigation by its grievance committee into the conduct of the two attorneys.

The Austin Sertoma Club sent $50 to Mississippi Wednesday to help pay for the car. The club said it would take donations to help the Blanks, who still face the Mississippi charge.

Secretary of State John Hill denied extradition Tuesday because of what he called technical flaws in the Mississippi legal papers. No date has been set for a new extradition hearing.

KIDDIES CAN CALL SANTA
Youngsters were reminded today that Big Spring Jaycees have arranged a direct line to Santa Claus at the North Pole.

Any child wanting to talk to Santa may do so tonight, between 7:30 p.m. and 10 p.m. Just dial AM 3-7331 and ask for Santa. He will be waiting to discuss with callers what they may want for Christmas, as well as a report on their behavior during the past year.

"We would guess that a more rapidly expanding economy in Texas accounts for the more rapidly rising prices in Texas," Williams said.

Later, in answering questions he said Texas economic experts have "the general feeling there will be continued increases in retail prices of food, both because of marketing cost increases and some increase in farm costs."

"I don't know of any action the legislature can take," Connally said. "It all comes down to the fact that a lot depends on the wise shopping of housewives, who must learn to take advantage of bargains, the seasonal low prices on some items and other conditions."

LBJ, Governors Disagree On Patronage, Politics

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says he and grumbling Democratic governors have no quarrel on personal grounds but simply disagree, at least to some extent, on programs, patronage and politics.

Johnson, conscious of criticisms aimed at him at last week's caucus of Democratic governors at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., met Wednesday with nine Democratic state executives at the LBJ Ranch, then summoned newsmen and introduced Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa. Hughes was chairman of the West Virginia caucus.

While the chief executive stayed in the background, the Iowa governor said there were serious problems in carrying out some of Johnson's Great Society programs in the states.

'VERY FRANK'
But he said the governors, after a "very open and very frank" discussion, were leaving the ranch reinforced "in the complete support of the policies, the principles and the precepts as set forth by the President of the United States and a leader of the free world."

One of those in attendance was Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri, who had said last week that unless Johnson changed some policies and re-evaluated the political situation Democrats might well "start all over with a new candidate" in 1968.

Hearnes said nothing during the news conference.

Later, however, he was asked if he was ready to retract his White Sulphur Springs statement.

THINGS TO DO
"I'm not taking it back or reaffirming it," he said. He also stated that he wouldn't say anything in West Virginia that he wouldn't say at the LBJ Ranch.

Johnson conceded that the governors had complaints about the administration of some of his Great Society programs, about the distribution of federal patronage and about the way the Democratic National Committee functioned in the November election.

The President was asked about speculation that he would not run for re-election in 1968.

"I feel about that like I feel about most speculation," he replied. "I've got other things to do."

NOT 1968

One newsmen persisted and asked if he would run in 1968.

"I'll cross that bridge when I get to it," Johnson said. "This is not 1968."

The governors on hand, apart from Hughes and Hearnes, were Dan K. Moore of North Carolina, Robert McNair of South Carolina, Mills E. Godwin Jr. of Virginia, Hulett Smith of West Virginia, John Connally of Texas, Philip Hoff of Vermont and Karl Rolvaag of Minnesota.

U. S. Denials Labeled Lies

MOSCOW (AP) — The North Vietnamese government said today U.S. air raids in the Hanoi area struck 3.1 to 6.2 miles from the center of the capital, killing or wounding hundreds of persons, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Raids Dec. 13 and 14 stirred an argument whether American planes had actually bombed Hanoi or only the outskirts. The targets were an outlying truck park and a railroad yard. The U.S. Command in Saigon said all bombs were on target.

DEFENSIVE FIRE?

Widespread Communist and neutralist denunciations of the raids were made on the assumption that the city itself had been hit, but U.S. officials denied this. They suggested that defensive fire of shells and anti-aircraft rockets might have fallen back into the city, causing the reported destruction and deaths. This possibility was denied in Hanoi.

Tass said in a dispatch from Hanoi that the head of the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry's press department held a news conference on the raids.

MATERIAL EVIDENCE
Tass indirectly quoted this unnamed person as saying that,

"in the past 10 days, American planes made four air raids to bomb and strafe with rockets densely populated areas and suburbs of Hanoi," 3.1 to 6.2 miles from the capital's center. The official added, Tass said, that the raids killed or wounded hundreds of persons.

Tass said "material evidence" showed U.S. denials of bombing civilian objectives were lies.

CHILDREN EVACUATED
The Soviet Communist party paper Pravda quoted Hanoi's mayor, Trang Qui Hung, as talking about U.S. raids on "Hanoi itself" as a future possibility.

The mayor, interviewed by Pravda's Hanoi correspondent, said one-third of the city's population, including almost all school children, have been evacuated.

LIVING COSTS Edge Higher
WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living edged upward again in November but the rise of one-tenth of 1 per cent was the smallest in six months, the Labor Department reported today.

"A decline of seven-tenths of 1 per cent in food prices almost offset higher costs of most other consumer items, particularly housing, apparel, and medical care," the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The November advance brought the consumer price index to 114.6, a level 3.6 per cent above a year ago. This means that in November it cost $114.6 for a typical package of goods and services as compared with $100 in the 1957-59 base period.

The November rise in the index marked the 10th straight month when over-all living costs have advanced.

The November drop in food prices may have been due in part to housewives' boycotts of supermarkets, officials said, but they expressed belief the boycott impact was a comparatively minor factor.

Food prices dropped in cities where there was no boycott as well as communities where housewives took such action.

FRESH NORTH ARRIVES
Texas Weather Bit More Christmasy

By The Associated Press
It started turning cool enough to make Texas weather a good bit more Christmasy today. There was even a chance for a little snow in the Panhandle.

Dense fog, cropped up again before dawn, meanwhile, over most of the state's eastern half. It put a crimp in airline flights for several hours in some cities.

The new northern pushed past Amarillo and to the Red River Valley in early morning with a mass of even colder air bringing up the rear. Temperatures sank to 27 degrees at Perryton and 28 at Dalhart before sunrise.

FOG DEVELOPS
Forecasts called for readings down to 18 in the Panhandle by Friday morning. Weather observers saw a possibility for very light snow in the north edge of the Panhandle by this evening.

Noticeable cooling was promised throughout the state, with overnight marks down to freezing or a little below over the rest of the northern half. Meteorologists said the passage of the cool front might touch off a few showers in Central Texas.

Fog developed during the night nearly everywhere east of a line linking Brownsville, Alice, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Austin and Mineral Wells.

Visibility dwindled to zero for more than three hours at Austin. Conditions were described as below the allowable minimum for commercial flying at many points, but the fog started thinning, even before daybreak.

There was a heavy flow of moist air inland from the Gulf of Mexico as the northern swung southward through the Panhandle.

Odessa Student Hurt In Crash

A young Texas Christian University student enroute to his home in Odessa for the holidays crashed his car into a huge highway sign 13 miles east of Big Spring on IS 20 early today.

He is in the Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital with painful but not serious injuries and his light car is demolished.

Highway Patrolman Jack White identified the driver as Darrell Gene Hagar, 21. White said it appeared that Hagar fell asleep and the car swerved far enough to the side to strike the heavy standards on the highway sign. The sign, which sheared most of the car's side, was a break away type which collapsed upon impact, thus lessening force of the blow.

Face Pores Absorb Treatment Creams

By MARY SUE MILLER

A mature lovely writes: I have several questions. Does the skin absorb treatment creams, as advertised? How can pores be absorbed if there are no pores in the face? I have none, except very tiny ones in my nose. Under the circumstances what help is there for dry skin? Mine is crinkly from dryness.

The answer: For the sake of clarity we'll take up the questions in turn.

Yes, some skin products are designed to penetrate to a depth that makes for more efficient cleansing and treatment of the skin. The degree of penetration is argued, but it is nevertheless a real factor.

No matter how invisible pores may be, they are there and can be seen with a magnifying glass or mirror. A complexion without pores would be in real trouble. Having no outlet, the oil glands and perspiration ducts would cause eruptive matter to form beneath the surface.

A woman is lucky, though, when her pores are so fine they cannot be seen with the naked eye. Never attractive, overlarge pores trigger all manner of problems.

Help for dry conditions has little to do with pore size. Products labelled for dry skin — cleansers, moisturizers and emollients — bring relief. Regular use imparts a dewier, smoother look. But, please note, "regular use" is the key to success. Hit-and-miss applications are a waste of time, effort, money and — smooth skin.

LOVELIER COMPLEXION

Whatever your skin problems, to find a solution send for my booklet, "A Lovelier Complexion." Detailed advice contained includes the correct care for dry, oily, combination and normal skin types; proper application methods; treatments for blackheads, enlarged pores, circles, wrinkles, creppiness, etc. For your copy of "A Lovelier Complexion," write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost and handling.

The YMCA has 27 elected directors, each named for a three-year term, and nine are added each year under a rotation plan. In addition, the president appoints three directors for one-year terms.

Names which will appear on the ballot are those of: Tito Arencibia, Mrs. W. D. Broughton, Mrs. Jack Cathey, J. W. Dickens, Mrs. James Duncan (re-election), Don Farley, the Rev. Leo Gee, Mrs. R. L. Heith (re-election), Billy W. Jones, Lowell Jones, Larson Lloyd, Jack S. Price, Joe Price, W. J. Sheppard, C. W. Shouse, John F. Smith, Jimmy Taylor (re-election), Dr. Charles O. Warren (re-election).

Serving under presidential appointment this year have been Mrs. Broughton, Lowell Jones and Dickson. President Jack Little Tuesday named two directors to fill unexpired terms. Capt. Donald Neal replaces John Berry and Frank Hardesty replaces the Rev. Don Hungerford. Both Berry and Hungerford have moved from the city.

Directors whose terms expire this year are Lt. Col. Julian Baird, Pete Cook, Mrs. Duncan, Mrs. Heith, Frosty Robinson, Ike Robb, Mrs. Lee Rogers, Taylor and Dr. Warren.

The Y board, in making other plans for the new year, heard a report on goals established for the 1967 membership solicitation. The sustaining membership division will seek $10,500, the participating membership division, $12,500. Mrs. Ode'll Womack is chairman of the division, Frank Hardesty heads up the latter.

Preliminaries are under way for the annual organizational banquet, to be held the latter part of February. Mrs. E. C. Bell was appointed chairman of general arrangements for the affair.

Jim Gilbert, physical education director, was presented his certificate as a qualified senior secretary for YMCA work. Curt Mullins, executive secretary, doing the honors. To obtain the certificate, a candidate must have had two years active organizational work, plus 30 hours of advanced study.

Salvation Army Needs Yule Funds

Distribution of Christmas baskets and toys was begun today by the Salvation Army, but partly as an act of faith.

The Salvation Army needs $800 between now and Saturday night to pay out its Christmas good turn. Receipts in the kettles, unless they pick up, will leave $400 to $500 lacking.

Thus Capt. William Thomas, in charge of the SA work, appealed for help from a n source.

Toys, given to city firemen and repaired and made like new by the old Montgomery Ward Company location at Third and Gregg, where families are making selections and picking up the Christmas baskets.

The number of families to be served has been cut to 226, eliminating a number that perhaps should have qualified, said Capt. Thomas. But had it not been for the school children of Big Spring, who brought canned goods from home, half of the number left would have been cut. Capt. Thomas estimated somewhere between 7,000 and 8,000 tons of food were given by the school children.

Wednesday Downtown Lions manned the kettles at three locations and brought in $134. Today the CAP and Key Club were operating two locations; Friday the Shrine Club is going to operate four locations. So far

Texas Teens Rescue Driver

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Dallas, Tex., teenager and his older brother helped rescue a motorist whose car ran off a New Orleans street into Bayou St. John Wednesday.

Timothy Sorrels, 19, of Dallas said that when he reached the still floating car the driver was sitting on the front seat eating a cookie.

Sorrels, his brother Mack, 27, of New Orleans, and David Hackney, 18, of New Orleans saw the car leave the street. They stopped their car and Timothy jumped into the water.

The others entered the water and helped Timothy bring George Harang, 56, out of the bayou unhurt. Harang was unable to explain the accident.

KIND OF CHRISTMAS DEPENDS ON SIGNATURE
Eusebio Rudy Ramirez hoping reprieve will let him out of jail

FOR RUDY AND FAMILY

Magic Of Signature Can Make Christmas Merrier

By SAM BLACKBURN

Gov. John Connally may not look much like Santa Claus, but he might play this role for a Big Spring family this Christmas if he gets a chance to sign his name.

In a way, the kind of Christmas the Eusebio Ramirez, 31, W. 7th, family celebrates may depend on the governor signing a certain document.

If he does, Ramirez, 38, a prisoner in the Howard County jail, may be freed in time to be with his wife and six young children for Christmas. On the other hand, if the parole isn't signed, Ramirez faces the prospect of serving another 12 months on the debt he owes society.

"GIVE HIM A BREAK"

Sheriff A. N. Standard said he was doing all he can to insure a bright and cheery Christmas for the Ramirez clan, but more to give the family a breather. He asked the parole board to give the prisoner a break. A telegram Wednesday that the reprieve of one year has been recommended by the pardon and parole board to the governor. A member of the governor's staff promised to expedite the matter.

Pair Of Guilty Pleas Entered

Two men charged with unlawful possession of narcotics entered pleas of guilty to the charges against them in 118 District Court on Wednesday afternoon.

Santos Mendoza, one of the pair, was given probation when he proved he had not previously been convicted of a felony.

His codefendant, Felipe Juarez, however, was ordered taken to the state penitentiary for a five year term. His record showed two prior convictions. One conviction, Judge Ralph Caton said, was for murder.

'We Can Lick'em With Product,' Summed Up Walt's Philosophy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
(Fourth of five articles on Walt Disney.)
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walt
Disney's philosophy as a filmmaker was summed up in his off-repeated phrase, "We can lick 'em with product." The major studios were the forces, plus other invisible ones, that goaded Disney on to bigger, more ambitious productions. "Money never meant anything to me," said Walt, and he ran up deficits to prove it. But he believed that if he kept making a product of as much quality as he could manage, the release. But later they were released as each new wave of youngsters grew to movie-going age, and the result was a bonanza for the Disney organization. Such films as "Bambi," "Pinocchio" and "Fantasia" failed to make a profit on their first

'A Christmas Memory' Called Touching Tale

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It would come, a bright November day when the little boy's friend would cry with delight, "My, it's fruitcake weather."

Together, the little fellow and a distant cousin, a woman old in years but with the heart and mind of a child, slipped under the barbed wire of Callahan's pecan grove, past the "no trespassing" sign to gather the windfalls. Then they counted their money — pennies, dimes, even an occasional dollar — for the candied pineapple, ginger, cherries, raisins, eggs and even the bootleg whiskey for 30 beautiful cakes.

So began Wednesday night's "A Christmas Memory," with Truman Capote, the author and narrator, looking back with love to this brief and warm relationship in his lonely childhood.

'MY FRIEND'

The dramatization of the memoir was handled as if seen through the eyes of a little boy. "My friend," as Capote called the childlike eccentric, and the boy treated their holiday like a precious secret kept from the world — "the other people in the house," they were called.

She called him "Buddy," after another little boy she had known. Together they mailed their cakes to "people who struck our fancy" — President Roosevelt, a missionary couple in Borneo they had met once, a California couple whose car had broken down in front of their farm house.

FRUIT CAKE WHISKEY

Then, as Buddy and friend were celebrating with a sip of the left-over fruitcake whiskey, "the other people" — a pair of stern, hard-eyed spinsters — walked in, were furious and made Buddy's friend cry. But not for long — she suddenly thought of pine cones and a distant grove of evergreens.

So they went there and cut a tree, so tall that a boy could not steal the star from the top, and they decorated it with paper cutouts.

On Christmas morning, after opening the usual gifts of the other people — socks, a Sunday shirt, a subscription to a religious magazine — they opened their real presents — kites they had made for each other.

Laughing, they ran into the open fields and flew their new kites in the winter Alabama sky.

Capote, in a personal postscript, noted that it was their last Christmas together. He was shipped off to a military school and her mind became more and more confused and, finally, she slipped away.

It was a touching and sentimental tale beautifully recreated. Geraldine Page was fine as the childlike old woman and so was Donnie Melvin as the little boy. Only one complaint — the musical score too often was loud and intrusive.

Ruby Reported Resting Easily

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, suffering from a spreading cancer, was reported resting easily and in improved condition Wednesday night.

A Parkland Hospital bulletin issued through the office of Sheriff Bill Decker, said a blood transfusion had corrected a hemoglobin imbalance that left the slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald "somewhat less strong" earlier in the day.

A Wednesday morning bulletin was the first sign of any deterioration in the condition of Ruby since he was taken to the hospital Dec. 9. Medical men said there was "nothing dramatic at all" in the report, however.

Two Brothers Shot To Death

COLEMAN, Tex. (AP) — Police found two brothers shot to death Wednesday night in their business firm.

They were J. C. Holman, 56, and Grady Holman, 50. Both had been shot with a 45-caliber revolver. Police found the pistol on the floor between the bodies.

Justice of Peace Walter Holt withheld a verdict.

Pope Says Good Will Holds Key To Peace

VATICAN CITY, (AP) — Pope Paul VI said tonight in his Christmas message to the world that he hoped for a "miracle of good will" that would move both sides to end the Vietnam war.

"Good will holds the key to peace," he said.

"The difficulty is that the responsible authorities of the two sides must make use of this key at the same time. That they should do so with sincere and concrete actions, should be the wondrous event of this Christmas."

His Christmas message last year appealing for negotiations did not mention Vietnam by name, but this year's message did.

"TYPICAL TRAGIC" The 69-year-old pontiff said his attention, and the world's, were concentrated "on the state of war that still exists in Vietnam, a war that is revealed as typical, tragic and threatening."

He said the Vietnam war was steadily increasing in "surprise tactics, the means of warfare used, and the damage inflicted."

Stressing his belief that good will was the key to end the conflict, the Pope went on:

"POSSIBLE MIRACLE" "We would like to think that this miracle of good will is still possible. So, respectfully and fervently, we appeal to both contending parties and to all who lend support to either side."

A few hours earlier, in Geneva, the World Council of Churches, which groups more than 200 Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and Old Catholic churches in more than 80 nations, renewed its plea for peace in Vietnam. An appeal signed by general secretary Eugene Carson Blake, and Franklin Clark Fry, chairman of the Council's Central Committee, said:

"EMPTY VICTORY" "We are impelled to plead once more for an end to the mounting strife which at most could lead to an empty victory. We earnestly hope that, in proposing or acceding to a Christmas and New Year cease-fire, the combatants may be indicating a readiness for some form of negotiation. We cannot pray worthily this Christmas unless all parties to cease their violence now and to seek an early peace."

"HISTORIC TRIP" The Vatican also was making final arrangements for the Pope's historic auto trip to Florence Saturday to celebrate Christmas Eve midnight Mass and demonstrate his sympathy for the flood-stricken center of Renaissance art and science.

In his last peace appeal Dec. 5, the Pope asked that the holiday truces in Vietnam be extended into a lasting armistice.

Pope Paul recorded his Christmas message for radio and television Wednesday at his desk in the private study next to his apartment. Vatican short-wave radio commentators prepared translations in 33 languages, including those of the European Communist countries.

Winter Makes A Mild Debut

It wasn't very wintry at 1:29 a.m. today, although that hour marked the advent of the 1966 winter season.

It was not even freezing at that hour, according to the U.S. Experiment Station. However, by 5 a.m. the temperature had fallen to 30 degrees and a thin skim of ice formed on bird-baths and other exposed water.

The high on Wednesday, the day before "winter," was a balmy 72 degrees.

The coldest Dec. 22 on record in this county saw the minimum temperature at 14 degrees. This occurred in two different years — 1925 and 1929. The warmest Dec. 22 was in 1933 when it was 78 degrees.

Cloudy skies greeted early risers Thursday morning and there was prospect of more, plus lower temperatures.

Congressman To Help In Christmas Tree Lighting

Congressman and Mrs. Omar Burleson will play key roles in the Christmas tree lighting ceremony at the VA hospital Friday. Donald Van Meter, hospital director, pointed out that this is a community affair, and he invited everyone to participate.

The program begins at 5 p.m. with 15 minutes of music in the main lobby. The Goliad Junior High School choir, under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Dawes will open the program. Rep. Burleson will bring a brief Christmas message to the hospitalized veterans gathered in the lobby around two white flocked trees decorated with gold and blue ornaments.

Following the singing of "Do You Hear What I Hear" by the choir, the assembly will go to the front of the hospital where Rep. and Mrs. Burleson will turn on the lights. The presentation of "O, Christmas Tree" by the choir will conclude the ceremony.

Rep. Burleson will accompany the Gold Star Mothers as they distribute Christmas gifts to the veterans. Later, he and Mrs. Burleson will be guests at a reception hosted by the Van Meters.

Convicted Youths Send Judge Card

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Christmas is coming and Judge Harry Neubarth's admirers have sent him another friendly card.

Happy holidays from Shotgun Brunson, Sam the Shuck, Peter O'Dooley — done in by a stoolie — and 73 others.

The lads are all convicts Neubarth has sentenced to Folsom State Prison from his bench in San Francisco Superior Court.

Neubarth is held in the prisoners' esteem for his habit of giving concurrent rather than consecutive sentences when possible.

Winners In Lighting Contest

Above is the scene at 607 Bucknell where the Todd Roberts family created the first place winner in the Chamber of Commerce lighting contest. Done in red bulbs, the display of stars, tree and other figures makes clever use of small aluminum pie tins as reflectors. Two clusters of large-candles have bright lights for flames. This decoration, and others on the street, produced a constant stream of traffic Wednesday night. On Cecilia Street, which like Bucknell has all of the homes decorated, there was a traffic jam. All over town, people circled in cars to inspect the many other outstanding decorations. Below, Bob Dunson, Texas Electric Service, Company, presents prizes to the winners, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, 241-B Langley, and Alton Marwitz, 3227 Cornell. Paper Dresses Fail To Pass

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fire department has ordered a department store chain to stop selling paper dresses, priced from $2 to $40, because they failed to pass fire-resistance tests.

Certain other paper garments were approved, however, and tests are continuing, the department said.

Jayhawks Are Beaten In Title Bout, 80-60

TISHIMINGO, Okla. — Amarillo College's Badgers, generating a lot of heat while drawing away the fire power of HCJC, won the Murry State Basketball tournament by topping the Jayhawks, 80-60, here Wednesday night.

The dead tired Big Spring club could do little right, the Badgers little wrong. The situation got so critical for the Hawks in the second half that coach Buddy Travis saw fit to send in his reserves.

They pulled to within 11 points of a tie, then tired. When the regulars took over again, they were not up to the challenge and Amarillo quickly iced the game.

The game was unusual in that neither Henry Willis nor Lee Leonard were able to sink a field goal for the Hawks. Willis had been averaging close to 20 points a game.

Mickey Vaclav led Amarillo's high-powered attack with 19 points while Leon Smith and Jack Hosley paced HCJC with 17 and 16, respectively.

The Badgers led by 12 points at half time, 41-28.

The defeat was HCJC's fifth of the season, compared to 10 victories. They do not return to play until Jan. 4, at which time they host Clarendon College in a Western Conference imbroglio.

Bill Sinches of HCJC was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. Leon Smith of HC was named to the all-tournament team, along with Baza and Lynn Simmons of Amarillo, Wilbert Robertson of Eastern and Howard Scott of Cisco.

Cisco defeated Eastern Oklahoma by one point for third place in the eight-team meet.

Two SWC Quints Take It On Chin

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference suffered a humiliating night of basketball Wednesday as two of its teams saw more than 100 points scored against them.

Baylor and Texas each lost by 14 points. Oklahoma City whipped the Bears 103-89 and Iowa State drubbed the Longhorns 101-87. Arkansas lost an exhibition game to the Phillips 66ers 73-67.

Iowa State whipped in 62 points in the first half and at one time led by as much as 31 points in winning the Sun Devil Classic from Texas at Phoenix, Ariz. The Cyclones hit on 11 of their first 13 shots.

It was only the second loss of the season for Texas, which has won five.

Oklahoma City made good all 19 of its free throw attempts and shot 42 per cent from the field in capturing its second victory in six games. Baylor could score only one point in the last five minutes.

The Chiefs' Gary Gray scored 38 points. Jimmy Turner's 28 was high for Baylor.

Tommy Rowland of Arkansas scored 30 points in the loss to Phillips.

Race Track Not Open Monday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An official at Santa Anita race track says: "I doubt if we'll be racing this season."

And no negotiations between management and the Building Service Employees union are scheduled today in the contract dispute.

In any case, a Santa Anita spokesman said, the scheduled Dec. 26 opening of the Arcadia, Calif., track and Bay Meadows in San Mateo, Calif., will be delayed. "It's impossible to open Monday," he said.

Negotiators reached an impasse when the union rejected what the tracks called their final offer, and management turned down a counterproposal. Management's three-year contract offer included daily wage increases of $1.51, and 75 cents, plus additional health and welfare benefits totaling $5.

Billikens Are KO'd, 75-68, By Cardinals

By The Associated Press

Unbeaten Louisville won its Missouri Valley Conference opener over St. Louis while Drake and Tulsa scored impressive basketball victories against outside teams Wednesday night.

A crowd of 13,763 at Louisville watched the second-ranked Cardinals make it seven straight in putting down St. Louis, 75-68.

Seven-foot Rich Niemann of St. Louis fared reasonably well against 6-foot-eight Westley Unsell of Louisville, but Niemann's 6-foot-7 teammate Eugene Moore fouled out with only two points.

Niemann had 16 points and 10 rebounds, Unsell 10 points and 17 rebounds.

St. Louis led 32-30 at halftime and trailed by only three at 71-68, with 1:52 left when Niemann missed a pointblank shot. St. Louis now is 1-1 in the Valley and 4-3 for all games.

Tulsa knocked Utah State from the unbeaten ranks 67-52 as Doug Robinson scored 18 points, many on passes from playmaker Eldridge Webb, who for the season, controlled the backboards 53-38.

Drake got 24 points and 13 rebounds from 6-foot-9 Bob Netolicky in a 77-72 victory over Colorado at Des Moines. That ended a four-game Drake losing streak, lifting the Bulldogs to 3-4 for the season.

Valley teams now have a 38-14 won-lost record against outsiders.

Texas Christian Plays unbeaten Cincinnati at Cincy and Northeast Missouri State is at North Texas tonight.

Texas Places 3 On Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Ohio led the way with five selections on the 33-man squad but Indiana placed two on the first team of the 1966 High School All-America Football Team announced Saturday by Parade Magazine.

Pennsylvania was represented by four players and Texas, Indiana and California with three each on the squad, selected on the recommendations of hundreds of high school and college coaches.

Players came from 20 states.

Boilermakers Get Disneyland Trip

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Purdue Rose Bowl football team went through the usual picture day ceremony today and enjoyed a trip to Disneyland.

Also on hand at this play park was Purdue's rival Jan. 2 in Pasadena, the Trojans of Southern California.

Purdue, on its first visit to the Rose Bowl as a Big Ten representative, received the traditional welcome to Pasadena Wednesday from the Tournament of Roses officials.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf said his Boilermakers, two-touchdown favorites, had 10 days of practice before leaving Lafayette, Ind.

Much Is Depending On Dallas Front 4

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The

Dallas Cowboys' chances of beating Green Bay Jan. 1 for the National Football League championship might well hinge on the performance of their front four.

For the information of Bart Starr, Green Bay's great quarterback, this fearsome foursome has been doing things to quarterbacks that disconcert them, to put it mildly.

Coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys does not go in for blitzing much. "When you blitz, you weaken yourself for the blitz," says Landry. "You have to rely on man to man coverage in the secondary."

But the pass rush of his front four is something else. The quartet—George Andrie and Willie Townes at ends, Bob Lilly and Jim Conlin or Jethro Pugh at tackles—set a National Football League record for trapping the quarterback this year. They did it 60 times during the season, three times more than the record set by Baltimore in 1964.

Against Pittsburgh the front four trapped the quarterback 12 times—a single game record. With Lilly not even in there, they took down the New York quarterback nine times last Sunday as Dallas won 17-7.

This foursome, averaging almost 260 pounds to the man, not only is the most effective in the league but also about the youngest.

Colvin is the oldest at 28, Lilly is 27, Andrie 26 and Pugh and Townes 22 each.

This means Dallas can expect to have the leading front four in the league for several years.

They hope to start one of those years by bringing Dallas the NFL championship. Hear that Mr. Starr?

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Those close to the scene in Odessa are conceding now that Odessa College has its finest basketball team in history.

In N. S. Hurd and Rusty Heskett, the Wranglers have two of the finest gunners in the business.

Howard Jones, the former Big Spring High School athlete who has resided in Snyder for several years, is moving to Odessa next month where he will become associated with a slick oil trade journal named the Drill Bit.

Howard will be a little too far removed from his favorite fishing haunts but the opportunity was too good to pass up. Jones played basketball under Harold Davis at HCJC after departing Big Spring High School.

That Jacksonville Baptist College basketball team which finally was forced to strike its colors in a game here with HCJC last week had beaten some fair country ball clubs along the way.

Before coming here, the Indians had lifted the scalps of the East Texas Baptist College freshmen, San Antonio College, Centenary's freshmen (after that team had beaten its varsity), Sam Houston State's freshmen, the Rice Owlets at Rice and Blinn.

JBC had gone over the 100-point mark against Cisco but lost, 123-106.

New coach of the team is Alfred Barbre, who succeeded ex-Big Springer Vernon Harton at the position. Harton is now selling athletic scoreboards and still makes his home in Jacksonville.

Pat Murphy, who retired earlier this year after a long career in coaching and school administration work, plans to take in the Sun Bowl game at El Paso this weekend.

Murphy formerly coached in El Paso and knows many people in that area. His son, Eddie, lives there, too.

Hank Iba, Oklahoma State's basketball mentor, has been coaching 40 years now and says he has no plans to retire. In other words, he'll go on as long as the school wants him.

The New York Giants are the only NFL team which refused to schedule a pre-season game in 1967 with an AFL team.

For the first time in many years, a professional boxer has been nominated for Texas Sportsman of the Year, winner of which will be made public around New Year's Day.

The fisticuff is Curtis Cokes of Dallas, new welterweight champion of the world.

One of the hatchet men in the University of New Mexico's recent upset basketball victory over NCAA champions Texas Western was 6-2 Frank Judge, who played for Cameron's Aggies against HCJC last year.

More and more senior college stars are first serving an apprenticeship in juco ranks.

Leon Smith, the HCJC cage star, has passed his draft physical but has no idea when he will be summoned to military duty.

Jack Thompson, like Smith a sophomore at the local school, will take his physical shortly.

John McGuire, whose name was mentioned in connection with the coaching vacancy at the local high school, has been appointed head coach at Amarillo Tascosa. He replaces Pat Patterson, who moved on to the University of Texas. McGuire has been at Amarillo Caprock. He'll be succeeded there by Merton Fuquay.

Torres, Elorde Handed Bad News In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres and Flash Elorde both got bad news from the New York State Athletic Commission, but it's a good bet Torres will fight again in New York.

Elorde, however, may be through.

The commission decided Wednesday to retire Elorde, the Filipino junior lightweight champion who was badly beaten by lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz in Madison Square Garden Nov. 28.

At the same time the commission placed Torres, who lost his light heavyweight title to Dick Tiger last Friday night, on the "ill and unavailable" list.

Elorde said he was considering retiring after the Ortiz bout. The commission's decision may spur his decision, since he now cannot fight in New York.

It will be up to the Filipino Commission — and Elorde — to decide if he will continue to fight elsewhere.

Torres lost a 15-round decision to Tiger and the commission placed him on the list because of his poor performance and "his recent history of relapsing pancreatitis."

Cowboy Kicker Figures Large

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — When Wyoming's offense gets tired blood, Coach Lloyd Eaton sends in the Whacker.

Whacker Jerry DePoyster is the Wyoming kicking specialist who might play a key role in Saturday's Sun Bowl football game against Florida State.

DePoyster split the uprights with 13 field goals and 32 extra points for 71 points this season, the high on Wyoming's 9-1 Western Athletic Conference championship team.

"If we're not eating up the yardage around their 40," said Eaton, "we might as well give it a whack."

DePoyster kicked three 54-yard field goals and another for 32 yards during the Cowpokes' season. The 6-foot-2 junior also handles the punting, averaging 40 yards per kick. His longest punt was 77 yards last year.

Colvin is the oldest at 28, Lilly is 27, Andrie 26 and Pugh and Townes 22 each.

This means Dallas can expect to have the leading front four in the league for

Agent Defends Farmer's Role

Howard County has just experienced an exceptional crop year. It's agricultural income promises to gross upwards of $12,000,000.

Had Howard County experienced a similar year 20 years ago, the total value of the crop would have been about the same.

Thus, said Paul Gross, county agricultural agent in a talk to the Downtown Lions Wednesday, when complaining about high food prices, don't tar the farmer with the blame.

For instance, said Gross, the price that a farmer paid for cotton in a typical man's shirt is less than the cost of laundering the shirt just once.

A processor spends more for a label on a can of tomatoes than the farmer is paid for the tomatoes; a dairy farmer gets perhaps a third of the cost of a carton of milk; the cost of wheat in a large loaf of bread is no more than three to five cents.

One reason for the increase in retail prices is in services such as disposable containers, etc.; another is the cost of handling by processors, distributors, wholesalers, retailers, he pointed out. The farmer's cut has remained relatively constant over the years.

Gross included about $2.5 million government subsidies in the total agriculture income, but he reminded that agriculture is only one of a legion of businesses and industries the government subsidizes.

The genius of American agriculture is that it has been left free to produce. Gross continued. It has come up with almost embarrassing surpluses, and Gross didn't think the potential had been reached fully. In contrast, Russian farmers, rigidly regulated, raise only enough for themselves and three or four other people; American farmers raise enough for 35 besides themselves.

Gross did not fear shortages of food and fibre in this country. Ingenuity of the farmers and in the laboratories will find ways around it, he predicted. Gross was presented by Ludwig Grau, program chairman.

Widow Of Texas Law Dean Dies

TYLER (AP)—Mrs. Ira P. Hildebrand Sr. of Austin, widow of the longtime dean of the University of Texas law school, died of an apparent heart attack Wednesday at a Tyler hospital. Services will be at 10 a.m. Friday in Austin. Mrs. Hildebrand was visiting a son, Ira P. Hildebrand Jr. She also leaves a daughter, Frances H. Cooper of Alice, and a sister, Ida Shiner of San Antonio.

Mrs. E. J. Smith Rites Friday

Funeral for Mrs. Earl J. Smith, 61, wife of one of the ranking Cosden-Fina employees, will be held Friday at 3 p.m. in Electra. She will be buried there.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who reside in the Vincent community, had gone to Electra to visit their daughter, Mrs. T. J. Clopton, when Mrs. Smith had a heart attack Monday evening and died. She had been in failing health for several years.

Mrs. Smith was born Jessie Pearce in Glen Cove, Coleman County, Texas, but as a small girl, she moved with her family to Electra, where Mr. Smith, an oil field production worker, met her. They were married in 1924. On April 1, 1928, he joined the old Cosden Company and not long afterwards they moved to Howard County. Before his retirement in 1964, Mr. Smith was under American Petrofina in looking after leases in northeast Howard.

Besides the daughter, Mrs. Smith leaves one son, Odie M. Smith, who is in Vietnam. Several grandchildren survive.

Courthouse To Be Closed For Long Holiday Period

Howard County courthouse employees begin a three and a half day Christmas holiday at noon Friday.

All of the offices, with the exception of the sheriff and the tax assessor collector, will close at noon.

Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor-collector, will keep her office open Friday afternoon for the convenience of people who come to Big Spring only one time a year and to utilize part of their Christmas visit for business at the tax office.

She said that the deputies who work on Friday afternoon will be off on Tuesday morning to give all workers the same amount of time for the holiday. Sheriff A. N. Standard has plans to utilize a skeleton crew to give his staff as much vacation as possible.

The county commissioners court will forego its Monday session, and, since the following Monday will also be a holiday (New Year's) no meeting will be attempted at that time.

No decision had been reached Thursday as to when the county officials whose new terms begin Jan. 1 will be officially inducted into office. It has been customary in the past to have a brief swearing in ceremony on New Year's day.

Officials who will be inducted for terms are Lee Porter, county judge; Pauline Petty, county clerk; Ralph Baker, county surveyor; Walker Bailey, county school superintendent; Fern Cox, district court clerk; Ralph Caton, judge of the 118th District Court; Frances Glenn, county treasurer; Billy Tune, county commissioner, precinct 4; and Ray Nichols, county commissioner, precinct 2; Jess Slaughter, justice of the peace, Precinct 1, Place 2, and Lula Adams, justice of the peace, Precinct 2.

All of the officials, with the exception of Tune, are re-elected. Tune won his seat on the commissioners court from incumbent L. J. Davidson.

Newspaper Rate Probe Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is going to investigate newspaper advertising rates to see if any are discriminatory.

The Federal Trade Commission said Wednesday it will check, among other things, whether some newspapers charge local and national clients different rates and if so, whether it is an antitrust violation.

TEXANS AT WAR

'I Was Sure They Had Us'

By The Associated Press

He wasn't sure what happened. He knew there'd been an explosion and his left leg hurt fiercely. He was blinded by mud, and probably blood.

"I never did pass out," says S. Sgt. Francisco Colunga Jr., a Texan at war. "I was too scared."

"They opened up on us with machine guns. I was sure they had us," recalls Colunga, 31, of July 27, 1965, near Chu Lai, Vietnam.

AMPUTATION SLATED

He found out later that he and his platoon leader had run upon a booby trap made of a 60mm mortar and a hand grenade.

A helicopter picked them up and delivered them to a battalion aid station. "I was scheduled for amputation, but they worked on me at Clar Air Force Base and here at Corpus Christi," he told an interviewer.

LEG SAVED?

"I guess they saved my leg."

Duty Over

S. Sgt. Francisco Colunga Jr., a Marine from San Antonio, was seriously wounded by a VC booby trap near Chu Lai, Vietnam. Now recovering from leg wounds, Colunga's active duty days are over. (AP WIREPHOTO)

I still have it," he says. Colunga's leg is in a brace. He walks with a cane or crutches and can't stand up for long periods at a time.

"The doctor said they have done all they can for me in the way of surgery. If the leg improves, it will have to do it by itself."

After 13 years as a Marine, the San Antonio native does not expect to see active duty again, and is looking for a new career to support his wife and two children.

"I hope to finish high school," says Colunga. "I have to find something I can do sitting down."

Exec Discovers You Just Can't Arrest Santa

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) — You just can't arrest Santa Clause the week before Christmas.

William J. Nicholson was a department store Santa until Monday when he was arrested at the store and accused of shoplifting a $1.50 bottle of men's cologne and a 37-cent bottle of corn and callous remover.

The store said then it would be without a Santa.

There were telephone calls from some of the store's customers, who condemned the action. One woman offered to pay the amount of the goods allegedly taken.

"This is like Jean Valjean," she said, "arrested for stealing a loaf of bread." She referred to the Victor Hugo novel "Les Misérables," in which a man was imprisoned for years for stealing a loaf of bread.

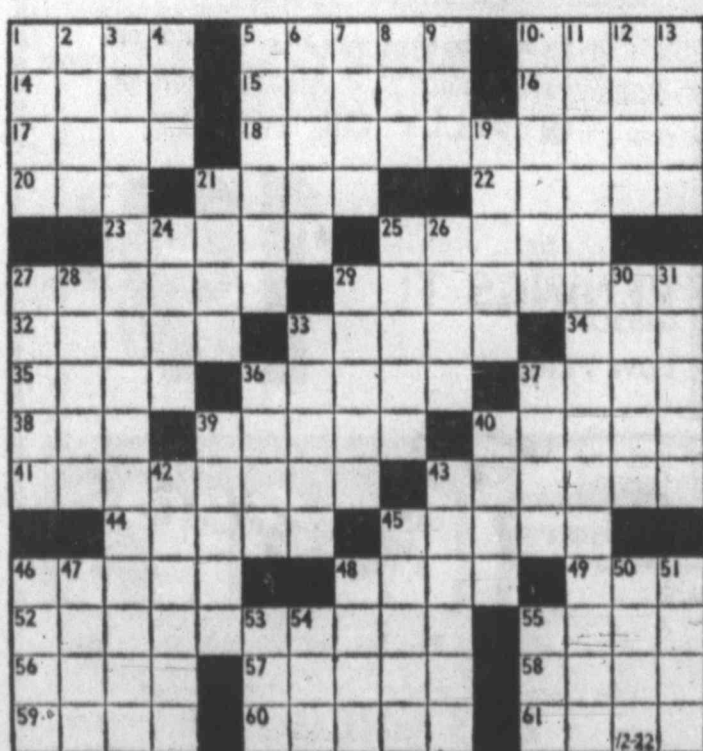

The department store changed its mind and got a new Santa. Nicholson has been released on his own recognizance for a hearing. A company attorney said the store would seek to have the charges dropped.

Stanley Levin, store president, said he was disturbed by reports of the arrest.

"Children might think the real Santa had been arrested," he said.

'Charlene' Receives Christmas Package

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — A Christmas package — containing walnuts — arrived at Wayne County Jail recently addressed to "Charlene," a pet squirrel deputies have been feeding for several months.

Host Employees

Jay and Kay Allen were hosts Tuesday evening to the Mary Jo Dress Shop employees and families. All the guests were given an appreciation dinner at the Brandin' Iron Inn.

AUSTIN (AP) — When it comes to stiff penalties for capital crimes, "what's stiffer than death?" says Rep. Russell Cummings of Houston.

An Associated Press questionnaire asked Cummings and all the other members of the 1967 Legislature whether they thought persons convicted of capital crimes should get stiffer sentences.

Among the senators answering the questionnaire, three said they favored stiffer penalties and no one said he didn't favor them. The representatives voted 32-5 for stiffer penalties.

Death, of course, is the stiffest, but not the only penalty provided for capital crimes. Minimum sentences of varying terms in prisons are possible for murder with malice, rape, perjury in capital cases, robbery by firearms and the several other capital crimes.

It is these minimum sentences that a lot of people would like to see stiffened.

"Yes, and I do mean yes," said Rep. W. S. Pickett of Karnes City.

"Yes, very important," said Rep. Dean Neugent of Texas City.

"Certainly! and no parole," said a senator who asked not to be quoted by name.

A majority of those expressing an opinion on retention of the death penalty and revision of the new Code of Criminal Procedure favored both. The new code has been criticized by some as unduly restrictive on law enforcement officers.

On retention of the death penalty the Senate vote was 6-2 and the House vote was 28-16.

Rep. Cummings said he was for keeping the death penalty "and I think a jury should have natural life" available as an alternative (punishment) too."

Rep. George Hinson of Mineola favors retention of the death penalty but he wants to make "juries and prosecutors witness executions."

Rep. Bob Armstrong of Austin said he didn't want to keep the death penalty unless it is

"enforced more equitably."

Rep. Jaxs Clark of Dallas, Rep. Ronald Bridges of Corpus Christi and Rep. Tom Bass of Houston questioned the deterrent value of the death penalty.

On revision of the Code of Criminal Procedure the Senate vote was 4-1 in favor and the House vote was 43-1 in favor.

The new code has come in for considerable criticism, especially from the District and County Attorneys' Association of Texas, which is plugging for five major changes.

MRS. OSCAR GLICKMAN AND NIECE, LYNN PEACH

Christmas Calls For Return Of Customs

By JO ANN PHINIZY

Christmas Day is always a very special occasion around the Oscar Glickman home, 700 Washington Blvd. It's a day of merriment that has a way of following a pattern set by family tradition.

As Mrs. Glickman explained, "I really don't know how, or when, we got in the habit of doing certain things. I guess it's just a time of favorite people and favorite foods."

What really makes the holidays is having all the family home, and the Glickmans have plans to be here with a little time extra for visiting.

Their son, Jake, is already present and accounted for; another son, Julius, an attorney in Houston, has declared his plans as definite. Their daughter, Martha, a junior at the University of Texas in Austin, will be home for the holidays.

That just about makes the season perfect in the eyes of Mrs. Glickman, and she has already begun planning and cooking for Christmas dinner.

USUAL FARE

"This year, I am going to cook a goose," she said. "They are a little bit different from the usual fare, but they are really very easy to clean and cook."

To clean a goose, Mrs. Glickman says the bird should be dry picked. Then she dips the bird in hot water and rubs it with a stiff brush to clean any remaining down.

For cooking, she covers the bird with water and cooks at about 500 degrees for one hour. Then she turns the oven down and adds potatoes, onions, salt and pepper before cooking for another hour.

For extra flavor, Mrs. Glickman always adds a stuffed neck. For this she wraps the neck skin around a mixture of fine ground toast, chopped onions, celery and "tons of pepper."

"There'll also be all the trimmings," she said, "plus our usual standards of squash and dessert."

The Glickman way of cooking squash calls for milk, butter, sugar, salt and pepper. Their favorite dessert is whipped cream combined with fruit cocktail and chopped bananas.

All of that is but a preview of the Glickman Christmas dinner. There is also the matter of an impromptu open house and between-meal snacks.

EGGNOG

Glickman, owner of the Record Shop, keeps a supply of egg-nog going, and Mrs. Glickman is custodian of bowls of popcorn, fudge and cheese cake.

"I'll never cease to wonder how all that food disappears during the holidays. One minute, there it all is, with a house full of people; the next minute, the food is gone and all the people are still hungry," she said.

Besides favorite foods and plenty of visiting, there are other holiday habits the Glickmans follow.

"I suppose it sounds kinda silly," Mrs. Glickman said, "but we still hang up our Christmas stockings; and, sometime during the holidays, we always listen to Dickens' Christmas Carol."

"It takes a lot more gifts to fill the stockings these days, but the carols are just as pretty now as they were when the children were small and looking out the window for Santa."

When the holidays have come and gone, Mrs. Glickman will retreat to the quietness of her own personal hobbies. She likes to sew, make rag rugs and do pastel paintings on velvet backgrounds.

In selecting her recipes, Mrs. Glickman chose several that she enjoys cooking.

POTATO PANCAKES

6 large potatoes
2 eggs
1 tsp. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
Pepper
Onion juice

Peel potatoes and soak several hours in cold water; grate and drain. For every pint of potatoes, allow two well-beaten eggs and mix in remaining ingredients.

Drop by spoonfuls on a hot greased spider in small cakes. Turn and brown on both sides. Serve with applesauce.

HONEY CAKES

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup honey
1 cup chopped, blanched almonds

1 tsp. allspice
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup chocolate
Flour
1 tsp. baking powder

Beat eggs well, and add ingredients, except almonds, and enough flour to make thick batter. Spread very thin on square, buttered baking pans. Bake in hot oven until done. Spread with white icing, cut into squares, and put a half blanched almond in center of each square.

CURRIED MUTTON

3 lbs. mutton
1 cup chopped onion
1 tsp. peppercorns
1/2 of red pepper, sliced
2 tbsps. grease drippings
1 tsp. minced parsley
1 tsp. curry powder
1/2 tsp. salt

Have mutton cut into one inch squares. Put mutton in kettle; cover with cold water and cook for five minutes. Drain and cover with boiling water. Add onion, peppercorns and pepper. Simmer until tender. Strain liquor and thicken with flour. Add remaining ingredients and serve with molded rice.

IRENE DUNNE'S NAPOLEON WITH APRICOT FILLING

Sift two cups of flour with a pinch of salt in a bowl and make a hold in the center. Mix, without kneading, a quarter cup of very cold water with the flour and let rest for 20 minutes.

Spread the dough on a floured board and spread half a pound of butter over it without completely covering the paste. Draw the edges together to form a square and covering the butter.

Let rest ten minutes and then begin to work the paste, rolling it out to a six-inch length. Fold this over three times, then reverse the paste and fold three times more.

Let rest 20 minutes, roll out again and fold the same way once more. Let it rest 20 minutes more and repeat the process.

IRENE DUNNE

ess. This constitutes six folds, and the pastry is ready for use.

Spread the dough half an inch thick and cut it into strips two inches by four inches. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce the heat to 250 and bake another ten minutes.

After baking, split the pastries and fill with apricots prepared like this:

Cook a pound of sun-ripened apricots five minutes, then put through the blender. When the puree is cold, mix with sour cream or wait until just before serving and use ice cream. Top with fondant icing and serve proudly.

Turkey Snack Tray Has Extra Touch For Final Visiting Hour

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

What are you going to serve with the leftover turkey?

For a buffet, when cold sliced turkey will perhaps be teamed with sliced ham, we suggest a cranberry salad mold. This will be a pleasant change from the cranberry sauce or cranberry jelly that always goes with the hot turkey. If you are interested to try this mold, the recipe follows.

And here are suggestions for using leftover turkey in some "made" dishes.

Cubed turkey with cooked noodles and cream sauce can be baked in a casserole. Sprinkle the top with lots of grated cheese for that extra - good touch.

CRANBERRY ORANGE SALAD RING

2 packages (each 3 ounces) celery-flavor salad gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 1/2 small unpeeled oranges
1 pound (4 cups) fresh cranberries, washed and drained
3/4 cup sugar

Stir together the gelatin and boiling water until dissolved; stir in cold water. Chill 1/2 cup of the mixture until very thick; chill remaining 2 1/2 cups until thickened.

Cut oranges into wedges and remove seeds. Put oranges and cranberries through food grinder. Chill until set but not firm—it has to be firm enough so it will hold the whipped mixture in a layer. Carefully spoon the gelatin-fruit mixture into mold over almost firm whipped gelatin. Chill until firm—three hours or more. Makes about seven cups or 14 servings.

Festive Elegance Goes With Apples, Standing Rib Roast

For the look of elegance this holiday season, serve the king of meat, a standing rib beef roast. This tender, juicy, richly flavored cut of meat is ideal for that special buffet or family dinner.

And preparing a rib roast is easy on the hostess too. Selection of a roast branded with the two most trusted words in meat assures you of maximum quality. A good fat covering and marbling makes the roast juicy as it roasts on the natural rack formed by the ribs.

The best way of obtaining the doneness you desire is to use a roast meat thermometer. Insert the thermometer into the thickest muscle, making certain that it touches neither bone nor fat. Then allow the roast to cook to the desired temperature—140 degrees (rare), 160 degrees (medium), 170 degrees (well done).

To garnish the king of meat, add nippy sour cream apple cups. The apples for the garnish can be prepared in the same oven right along with your roast. Just a hint of horseradish in the filling adds the nip and the apples add the color to the roast.

Popcorn Dresses Up For Santa

When unexpected well-wishers drop in, fix this popcorn that boasts a holiday flavor.

Blue Cheese Popcorn is made by tossing tiny crumbles of tangy American blue cheese with hot buttered popcorn. Because a little tastes like a lot, you won't need more than half a cup of the zesty budget-priced cheese for two quarts of popcorn.

CHRISTMAS CALLERS' POPCORN

(makes 2 quarts)

1/2 cup American blue cheese (about 3 ozs., crumbled)
2 qts. popped corn
6 tbsps. butter
Crumble cheese into tiny pieces and chill while corn is popping and butter is melting over large bowl and drizzle butter over it, stirring to coat popcorn. Sprinkle blue cheese over popped corn and toss to mix well.

Holiday Salad Is Taste-Tempting

Here's a colorful tangy salad that is sure to delight family and guests at the holiday meal. Bright orange carrots, crisp celery and sweet peas are topped with a tangy dressing. The dressing, which can be whipped up in minutes, is bottled French dressing, creamy mayonnaise and crumbles of mellow American blue cheese.

The mild flavored vegetables are nicely complemented by the piquant flavor of the blue-marbled cheese. You'll find that this salad is a marvelous accompaniment for turkey, baked ham, or juicy roast beef.

HOLIDAY SALAD

1 cup sliced, cooked carrots
1 cup thinly-sliced celery
1 1/2 cups cooked peas
1/4 cup French dressing
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup American blue cheese (about 3 ozs., crumbled)
1 medium sized head lettuce
Combine carrots, celery, peas, French dressing, mayonnaise and cheese; mix well and chill. Cut lettuce into six wedge sections without cutting all the way through. Spread sections and fill centers with cheese salad mixture. Serve immediately.

Yule Appetizer Perks Up Meals For Houseguests

With the holiday season in full swing, it's a good idea to have a few new appetizer ideas up your sleeve. One of the best we've sampled in our partying is made with tangy American blue cheese. The zesty blue-marbled cheese adds unique flavor interest.

DOGS IN BLUE BLANKETS

(makes 14 hors d'oeuvres)
2 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup American blue cheese (about 3 ozs., crumbled)
1/2 cup milk
1 hot dog, cut in half
Mustard
Mix biscuit mix, American blue cheese and milk together. Turn out on lightly floured surface, knead 10 times. Roll out to 1/4 inch thickness. Cut into 14 2 1/4-inch squares. Top with hot dogs and spread them with mustard. Roll up squares, jelly-roll fashion. Seal edges. Place on baking sheets and bake at 450 degrees for 10-15 minutes; or until lightly browned. Serve hot.

1 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup chopped celery
1 tsp. horseradish
1 tsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. cinnamon
Cut off tops of apples and scoop out enough fruit to form cups. Brush each cup with lemon juice to prevent browning. Bake apple cups in a slow oven for 10 minutes. Chop edible portion of scooped out apple and add to sour cream. Stir in celery, horseradish, lemon juice, and cinnamon. Remove apples from oven and spoon 1/4 cup of the sour cream mixture into each hot apple cup. Return to the oven for five minutes. Serve with rib roast of beef.

Oldtime Way Makes Holiday Festive

A fascinating dessert called Fried Cream has delighted eaters in a number of countries over the years. In our own country it is particularly popular in southern states.

FRIED CREAM

1-3 cup sugar
4 tbsps. cornstarch
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups milk
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3/4 tsp. almond extract
1/2 tsp. vanilla

1 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 egg, beaten
1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
About 1 quart corn oil for frying
In double-boiler top thoroughly stir together the sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in milk, keeping smooth. Cook and stir constantly over boiling water until well thickened. Cover and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Increase cooking time to 15 minutes if glass double boiler is used. Slowly stir hot mixture into egg yolks, then return to double-boiler top. Cook and stir constantly until rethickened—about two minutes or three minutes for glass double boiler. Remove from boiling water. Gently mix in almond extract, vanilla and butter. Pour into 8 by 8 by 2-inch baking pan. Cool five minutes. Gently cover surface with plastic film—do not press down hard. Refrigerate until firm, at least four hours or overnight. Invert pan on lightly floured board to remove cream mixture. Cut into 16 two-inch squares, then if desired, cut each square into two triangles. Dip each piece into beaten egg, then bread crumbs. Pour corn oil into sturdy, flat-bottom kettle or deep fryer, filling utensil 1-3 full. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees. Fry cream until golden brown—1 1/2 to two minutes. Drain on brown paper or paper towel. Serve warm. Makes eight servings.

Eggs Are Lean

Eggs contain no starch and little, if any, sugar. One whole medium-sized raw egg contains 75 calories, 60 of which are in the yolk.

Roasting Process Requires Detail

What's the proper way to roast meat? There are two important do's: use rack for the meat and let it cook at constant low temperature. When heat penetrates the meat slowly, this usually gives it more palatability.

There are three important don'ts: do not add water; do not cover, and do not baste.

Be Delightful In Party Food

Here's a Christmas tree good enough to eat. Conveniently canned tuna blends, via electric beater, with cream cheese and seasonings into a delightful tuna pate that's easily shaped into a holiday tree. Mayonnaise provides the snowy exterior of the tree and pimientos the gay garlands.

CHRISTMAS TUNA PATE

1 large pkg. cream cheese
2 tbsps. chili sauce
2 tbsps. minced parsley
1/4 cup minced onion
1 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
1/2 tsp. Tabasco
3 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ozs. each) tuna in vegetable oil
3 or 4 tbsps. mayonnaise
Pimiento
Capers
Parsley sprigs

With an electric beater, beat together the cream cheese, chili sauce, parsley, onion, Worcestershire and Tabasco. Drain tuna; gradually add tuna to cream cheese mixture, beating until thoroughly blended. Chill eight hours or overnight in tightly covered container. To shape tuna pate into Christmas tree shape, mold tuna mixture on serving plate into a pyramid. Cover with the mayonnaise, using a small spatula. Make garlands around tree by alternating pimiento strips with capers in two rows around tree. Cut star out of pimiento with miniature star cutter and secure with toothpick on top of tree. Arrange parsley sprigs around bottom of tree. Yield: four cups tuna pate.

Lift Spirits By Cooking Poppy Cake

Baking a cake can do wonders for lifting your spirits on a dreary, chilly day... an old fashioned kind of cake you put together yourself.

Try this heavenly Poppy Seed Cake with a custard filling and creamy chocolate frosting. The shortening is economical lard, noted for producing light cakes and flaky pastry. Because of the filling, this cake should be refrigerated or stored in a cold place.

POPPY SEED CAKE

1/2 cup poppy seeds
1 cup milk
2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
2 1/2 tbsps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
2-3 cup lard
1 1/4 cups sugar
4 egg whites
1 tsp. vanilla

Add poppy seeds to milk and soak in refrigerator overnight. Line two 9-inch layer cake pans with waxed paper. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream lard, gradually add 3/4 cup sugar and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with poppy seed mixture.

Beat egg white until frothy. Add remaining 1/4 cup sugar gradually to egg whites, beating until stiff. Fold beaten egg white-sugar mixture into batter. Add vanilla. Pour into cake pans and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cool, spread Custard Filling between layers and Chocolate Frosting on top and sides.

CUSTARD FILLING

6 tbsps. flour
1 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
4 egg yolks, beaten
2 cups milk
2-3 cup chopped pecans, if desired
1/2 tsp. vanilla

Ham Loaf Alters Yule Supper Fare

If you'd like a change after all of the turkey of the holiday season, here's a ham loaf that's deliciously different.

Lean ground pork and ground ham are blended with bread crumbs, spices, onions and zesty American blue cheese. The budget-priced blue cheese turns this ham loaf into a gourmet specialty.

AMERICAN BLUE CHEESE HAM LOAF

2 eggs, slightly beaten
3/4 cup milk
1/4 tsp. pepper
1/8 tsp. ground cloves
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
3/4 cup American blue cheese (about 4 ounces, crumbled)
1 lb. ground lean pork
1 lb. ground lean ham
1 medium-sized onion, finely chopped

Combine eggs, milk, pepper, cloves and bread crumbs; let stand about 10 minutes. Add 1/2 cup cheese, pork, ham and onion; mix well. Press into 9x5x3 pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 1/2 hours, or until done. Drain; remove from pan and place on broiler rack. Top with remaining 1/4 cup cheese. Broil three to four inches from source of heat five to seven minutes or until lightly browned. Garnish with apple slices, if desired.

A Devotional For The Day

There shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse, and a Branch shall grow out of his roots. (Isaiah 11:1)
PRAYER: O gentle Christ, whose coming to this earth brought heaven to Thy people, prepare us in these days that we may receive the greatest gift of all, Thy presence in our hearts. In Thy name we request this gift. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

Panel Doesn't Want To Die

Nothing moves members of Congress to coy circumventions quite so surely and hastily as suggestions that they set up effective means for policing the conduct of their colleagues. Lawmakers living in glass houses hesitate to draw the curtains, much less throw stones.

Thus it was that in the 89th Congress the House, under pressure of criticism, set up an ethics committee carefully designed to do nothing much. The committee could report no wrongdoing except violations of law, which was cute, considering that Congress has studiously refrained from bowing to popular demand that it pass laws covering unethical conduct of its members that flouts the public interest.

The committee could also recommend regulations "to insure proper standards of conduct" by members and employees. This was pretty safe, too, as such recommendations usually wind up in some musty archive. But just to make sure, the House made the committee temporary; it will be out of business January 1.

But the House Ethics Committee has disagreeably decided it will not fade away so conveniently. It has resolved that the new, 90th Congress convening in January make the committee permanent and give it authority to investigate violation of any ethical standards that might be adopted, as well as laws.

But then the committee hedged. Unethical, but not unlawful, conduct would not be investigated until after the House adopts a formal code of ethics, which might involve a long wait. Anti-retroactivity is a rightful rule of law, of course—but in ethics? After all, senators and representatives have been officially censured before for unethical conduct not covered by formal code.

Even so, a timid ethics committee would be somewhat better than none at all. And — who knows? — from such faltering beginnings might grow a strong, and wearily awaited, tradition that Congress has a firm duty to keep a stern eye on the extracurricular activities of its membership.

Good Advice

Texas Congressman Jack Brooks is a liberal Democrat from the Beaumont-Port Arthur area where organized labor is potent politically. Consequently union leaders would do well to view as sincerely motivated and thoughtfully considered any advice on restraint he directs toward organized labor.

Rep. Brooks recently cautioned labor to strive to avoid economy-crippling strikes during the coming year. And his concern, which can hardly be dismissed as anti-labor, is justified.

Labor-relations contracts involving several times as many union workers — more than three million — will come up for renegotiation in 1967 as did in 1966. These include several major basic industries—rubber, communications, autos, railways, trucking—where prolonged work stoppages would surely qualify for the "national emergency" provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

A rash of serious strikes next year would be likely to move the more conservative 90th Congress to act on stricter, perhaps constrictive, strike-prevention laws. The administration, which has held back on antistrike legislation it earlier considered, would be almost forced to move in the same direction.

All indications now are that the Vietnam war will be more intense next year, with no end yet in sight. Under increasingly restrictive war conditions, public opinion will become increasingly intolerant of strikes, especially any striking during excessive demands or relatively trivial causes.

Finally, the national economy is precariously balanced between somewhat waning inflationary pressures and incipient recessionary trends, while being squeezed by war costs. The impact of a major strike, or a series of them, could be as painful to labor as to industry and the general public.

Rep. Brooks' admonition thus is a timely and warranted one. Organized labor is well-advised to approach collective bargaining next year with an exceptional degree of responsibility to the public interest, and to exhaust all means of mediation and voluntary arbitration before resorting to strikes.

David Lawrence Legal Aspects Of Kennedy Book

WASHINGTON — Irrespective of whether the much-talked-about book containing conversations with Mrs. John F. Kennedy is or is not published, many people may be surprised to learn that this same question has arisen before between members of a President's family and book publishers. In almost every case, publication of the text of communications has been prevented.

ONCE A President wrote a series of letters to a woman friend. They were the subject of much unfounded gossip, and a book company got permission from the recipient to publish them in full. The letters themselves were concerned entirely with public events and were not really personal. But lawyers for the widow of the President who wrote the communications intervened, and the book was never published.

In another instance, the editor of a daily newspaper, who had retired and was writing a book of recollections, included a single letter that happened to be of no nationwide interest but was a part of his biography. Lawyers, however, for the widow of the President who had written the original letter served notice that to give permission to publish would lead other persons to do the same thing. The text was then omitted.

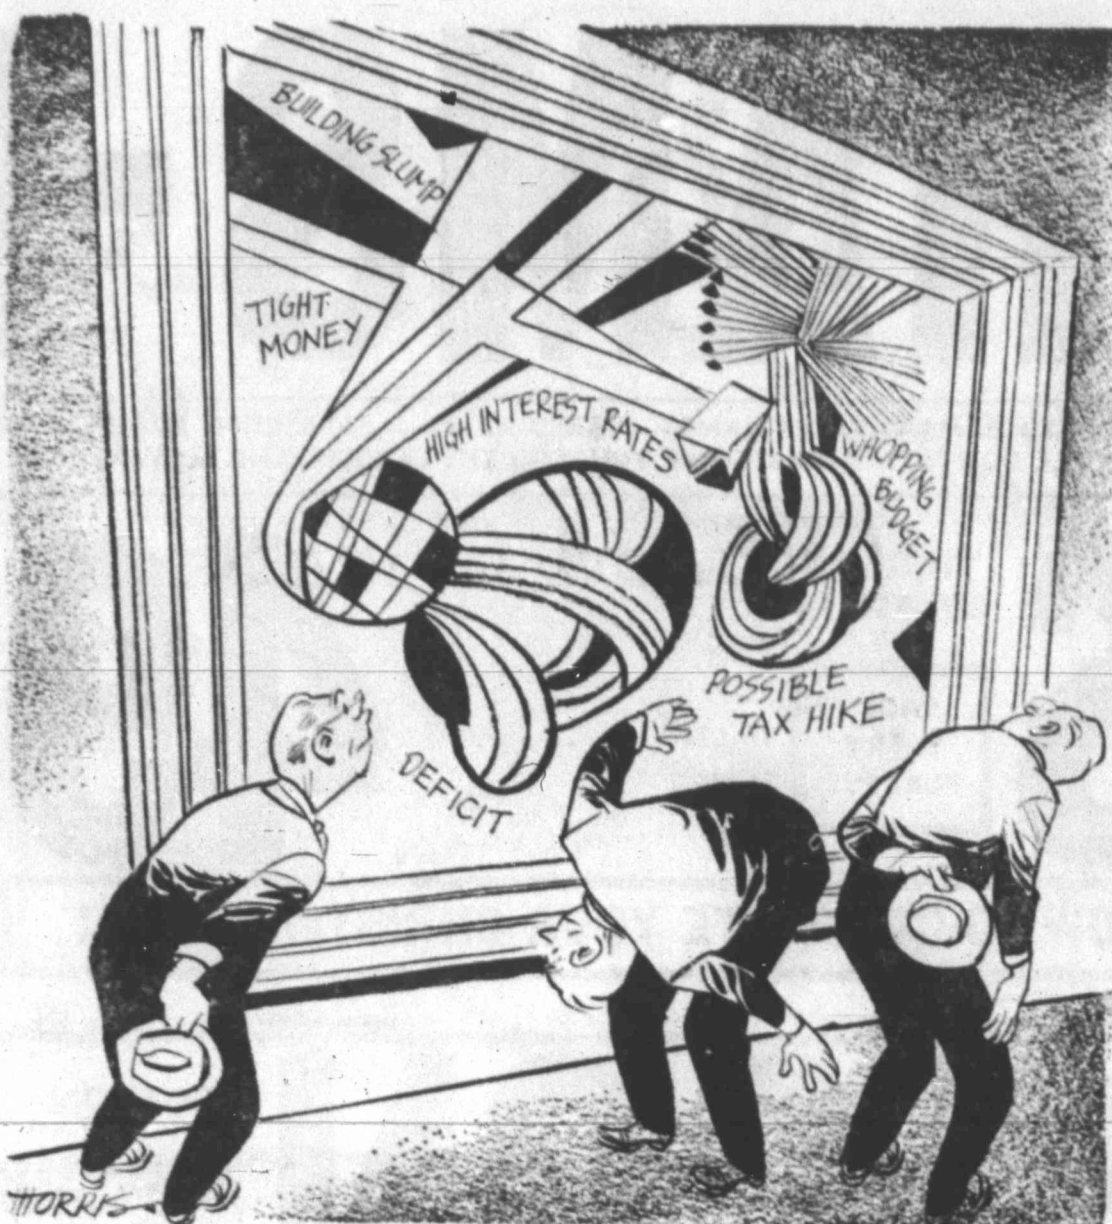

THE THEORY applied in these instances is based on age-old common law. The writer of a letter has a "right of property in the letter superior to that of the person to whom the letter is sent and is entitled to a remedy against unauthorized publication, especially if the letter has any literary value." This doesn't mean that it has to meet a particular standard of quality, but merely that any letter which it could be financially remunerative for someone else to publish in a book or in any other way remains the property of the writer who signed the missive.

WHAT THEN, it may be asked, is the right of an individual who provides personal but historical information on a tape, rather than on paper? The tape itself is the property of the person for whom the recording was made, but the words are owned by whoever spoke them in the recording. While a tape or letter sent through the mails or delivered in person remains the physical property of the recipient, the writer or speaker retains a property right in the words themselves.

IN THE CASE of the tape made by the widow of the late President Kennedy, the legal controversy may turn on what was permitted by the contractual arrangement between Mrs. Kennedy and the author of the book. If all property rights have been waived, the publishers would be free to issue their book or magazine articles. When a dispute arises as to whether approval was or was not actually given, the courts must decide the case on the basis of sworn testimony as to the facts.

A legal point that could come up is whether Sen. Robert F. Kennedy at any time said to the author of the book that "the family" wouldn't object to its publication and whether such a statement constituted an approval of the manuscript and also covered all the words spoken in the tape recording participated in by Mrs. Kennedy.

WHAT IS NOT quite so clear, on the other hand, is the legal problem that arises when the press learns of the content of a newsworthy letter. (Copyright, 1966, Publishers Newspaper Syndicate)

UNPOP ART!

James Marlow LBJ Has Become Huge Puzzle

WASHINGTON (AP) — It looks new, what's been happening, but then it doesn't because a whiff of the past comes through. But underneath it all there is something really new with a deep difference, President Johnson.

Take that tax increase, for instance. Right now Johnson is supposed to be deciding whether to ask Congress for one. Just at this time last year he was trying to decide the same thing. He decided no.

In the past week the Johnson administration began its annual peace attempt, asked U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, to see what he could do about getting peace negotiations on Vietnam started.

The Communist world hooted. Phony, it said. That's what he said last year when Johnson sent peace emissaries around the world. Nothing came of it then, nothing is expected to come of it now.

THEN THERE'S the phrase which irritates Johnson vastly: the "credibility gap." Just about this time last year Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made a confession: "We have a great problem here maintaining our credibility."

He meant with foreigners and with Americans at home.

These widespread doubts, he explained, deal with whether the United States can be trusted to tell the truth about one or another private peace feeler with whether its leaders "really are pursuing what has been said is a path of peace."

The story behind this was a rumor about a peace feeler from the North Vietnamese Communists. It got all complex and mixed up.

LAST week American credibility got involved again when Red China charged that U.S. planes bombed residential areas in Hanoi, the capital of North Vietnam. Government officials here denied it, saying military targets had been bombed.

This came just as the credibility of the Johnson administration in general was being assailed.

But even a thing like the President's operation and recuperation isn't new. On Oct. 8, 1965 he had his gall bladder and a kidney stone removed, then went to his Texas ranch to recuperate. There he prepared his budget and messages for the Congress returning in 1966.

This year, on Nov. 16, he had some minor surgery, went to his Texas ranch to recuperate, and there has been working on his programs for the Congress coming back in 1967.

Hal Boyle Christmas Forever?

NEW YORK (AP)—Once upon a time there was a little boy who wouldn't let go of Christmas.

"Christmas is so much fun," he wrote in a letter to the congressman of his choice. "Why can't I have it more often? In fact, why can't I have Christmas forever?"

The congressman, obeying the ritual of survival, sent the request through appropriate government channels.

These responses came:

"PLEASE inform your young constituent the Department of the Treasury has given his thoughtful request every consideration, but Christmas is a red ink operation from the federal level, and we respectfully suggest he direct his inquiry to an appropriate local or regional agency of government."

"The Department of Defense, while realizing that Christmas is certainly part of, if not paramount in, our national posture of defense, must point out that our total posture of defense requires an investment of entire attitude inconsistent with acceptance of your constituent's interesting proposal. However, we are constantly in a position of reassessing our goals, and if, on further mature consideration, we find that... you may rest assured... we will perhaps..."

"CONFIDENTIAL Memo: While not taking any official position in the matter, the Federal Bureau of Investigation does not have your constituent on its 10-most-wanted-fugitives list, as of now. A further check has disclosed that, so far as our files show, his fingerprints are his own. Strictly for your information, we will keep an eye on this boy and, should developments require a re-evaluation of the situation, you may rest assured that...

"The President, while feeling personally unable at the moment to grant your constituent's request for a permanent Christmas, since the Congress has not seen fit to declare it a continuing emergency, would like to enclose a souvenir pen from the White House used in the signing of a recent and appropriate appropriation. Also would suggest putting this kid on the permanent mailing list. Sooner or later, he may be able to vote."

By chance, during a cocktail party in Washington, D.C., the secretary of the congressman mentioned the little boy's letter to the public relations counsel of national foundation for the furtherance of interesting causes.

"SO HE WANTS Christmas forever," mused the public relations counsel. "This sounds like the gimmick we need to prove that private enterprise still has an arena of performance. What is that lad's name and ZIP code number?"

Well guess what happened? The foundation went to work to prove it could do what the government couldn't do—grant Christmas forever to one small boy.

It hired Santa Claus to climb down the chimney of the little boy's home every night, and the tinkle of sleigh bells was never absent from his ear, going and coming.

It sent gifts and packages by special delivery mail and messenger every hour on the hour.

THE LOOK of gladness died out of his eyes.

He wrote a private letter to Santa Claus:

"Please stay at the North Pole. I don't want any more Christmas."

Around The Rim

The Moment Of Truth

The moment of truth had arrived. Out on the runway, gassed up and ready to go, was a beautiful little bird I had flown many times, but last Monday I had an appointment to take her up with an FAA inspector, and he would decide whether I could be trusted to fly with other folks as passengers.

IT TOOK a small suitcase to carry all the charts, books, reports, rulers, computers, and other material I figured I'd need to pass the test. I had already sailed by the written examination, which took more than two hours to complete, and the grade indicated I had memorized (and hopefully learned) the various information a pilot should know to be safe in the skies.

In addition, I had chalked up all the required flying hours, both with an instructor and alone, to the point I should know how to safely navigate the airways. All of this was well and good. But now, the inspector was going to find out for sure how much I knew, with questions, watching me fly, checking a flight I had to plan, and I was afraid to guess what else.

FOR BETTER or worse, I stood ready to take the test, at least, my instructor had endorsed my Student's License to the effect that I was prepared. As the time for the test drew closer, I had some second thoughts. I suppose I had the same apprehensiveness when I took the driving tests some years ago, but that was too far back for a comparison. Driving out to the airport, I had difficulty recalling all the things my instructors had told me.

IT SEEMED like an encyclopedic memory would be necessary to recall even a few of the things that I was told through the years. For due to lack of time, bad weather, and numerous other factors, I had taken instruction in an "off-again, on-again" program. Cecil Hamilton, who began flying soon after the Wright Brothers, took me up the first few times. C. A. Ross, with experience dating back to the World War II, helped me compile most of the necessary time and provided the valuable encouragement during the trying moments.

HOWARD LOYD, who has helped many fledglings into the air, said the right things at the right times and introduced me to the mysteries of "instrument flights." Finally, Ken Bates helped me work off the rough edges, demanding perfection and safety, preparatory to taking the final, exhaustive test.

I was amazed that I remembered anything, when I began plotting the assigned course, first step of the test. After an hour of figuring everything twice, I submitted them to the examiner, Mr. Loyd. He checked them over, and then we walked out to the airplane. By this time, it had acquired a formidable appearance, far from the docile bird I was accustomed to.

ONCE IN THE air, however, it was familiar as always, responding competently as usual to everything I asked. We made the required maneuvers, even checked on a oil well that appeared to be spilling production out on the ground (it wasn't), and soon returned to the airport.

Seemed to me everything went rather well, but I was afraid to ask. But when he sat down at the typewriter and began filling out the "Private Pilot's License," I began to breathe easier. When he handed it to me, he said "I thought you'd never make it." I'm still not sure how he meant it, but it made all those hours of practice and studying worth-while.

The Departure Of Bill Moyers

WASHINGTON — Two viewpoints, not compressible into a single column, are fixated upon the departure of Bill Moyers, President Johnson's third press secretary and his Lone Star confidante. Both theories are tenable and significant.

I lean to the one which sees Bill's resignation as ominous. I reach this conclusion upon extended conversation with correspondents who flew with President Johnson on his October journey to the Orient. They were, I learn, watching a double feature, but reporting only on one of these exhibitions.

THE STORIES filed along the long trip mainly dealt with the President's formal utterances and appearances. These yarns told how he met with foreign potentates, what he said and what crowds assembled around him. But the unwritten (or written but unpublished) pieces would have taken another pitch. They would have foretold both the President's subsequent surgery and the break-away of Moyers.

FOR THE President's deportment on the trip cast shadows ahead. Expert reporters now blame themselves for their failure to anticipate what happened later. Some of the correspondents, not previously initiated to the Johnson style, were appalled at how garrulous, how gauche he sometimes presented himself. Others who had known him for years, thought him more overwrought, more overbearing than was normal.

There were those monologues when the President—in front of American servicemen—claimed to have lost the same ancestor both at the Alamo and at later battles. And there was that unseemly tussle on an airport bus when Moyers physically wrestled an ill-considered press release from a TV reporter. Also, there were frantic, trans-Pacific telephone calls to newspaper publishers for the purpose of deleting damaging phraseology.

THE PRESIDENT may have been in pain. Worse, he may have been finding the cares, the challenges, the near-omnipotence and the matching frustration of his office too much for his nerves, his temper, his good judgment. None of the traveling correspondents surmised that Mr. Johnson's stitches were hurting and that he needed an operation. But, some in hindsight, now realize that they were witnessing the "last days" of Moyers.

BILL MOYERS' given reason for quitting—that he needed to earn more income for his family—does not convince the press corps. If Bill required money for his relatives, the Johnson enterprises in Texas would have found a way. If Bill was peeved enough to quit over not getting a promotion or coveted assignment, he must have changed the spots of his character before any of us could notice. None of these explanations will stand the scrutiny of those who know the man and his boss.

NO, THE REAL reason seems to be that Moyers has found the bosshead intolerable. If that is so, then Lyndon Johnson may have run out of his rope. It isn't enough for a President to hire men to work for him. They must, as Moyers and many others did for so long, work with him. For that is what really counts.

Traversing The Credibility Gap

WASHINGTON — There has been a lot of talk about the Credibility Gap but no one seems to know exactly where it is. Credibility Gap is located in The Great Society Mountain Range somewhere between Johnson City and Washington, D. C. It is bordered on one side by the snow-peaked Mount Olive Branch and on the other by the towering, cloud-hidden Mount Escalation.

Subject to fierce winds that sometimes blow hot and sometimes blow cold, Credibility Gap is considered the most dangerous pass in the entire country and no one can stay there very long without suffering from exposure.

GEOLOGISTS REPORT that in 1963 the Gap was no wider than a footpath and anyone could get through it without much difficulty. But through the years the Gap seems to have widened because of adverse weather conditions as well as continual bombing. And man-made attempts to close the Gap, or at least narrow it, have failed miserably.

Probably one of the reasons for these failures is that no one can agree on how to close the Gap. Authorities will come up with a suggestion one day which sounds very credible on paper, but the next day someone will come up with an entirely different solution which cancels out the first one.

SOME EXPERTS feel the best way to close the Gap is to build a bridge across it. But the military is opposed to building any bridges and feels that the only way to make the Gap safe is to knock out everything in the area. One of the problems of the Credibility Gap is that nobody knows to whom it belongs. The government officials feel the Gap belongs to them and they should have complete control over it and decide what should go through it and what shouldn't.

The press, on the other hand, feels the Gap belongs to the people and it should not be used as an escape route for government explorers.

THERE ARE EVEN those high in government circles who deny there is a Credibility Gap and say it is a figment of the imagination of the fourth estate.

But thousands of newspapermen have not only seen the Credibility Gap and gone through it, but have come out of it badly battered, suffering from frostbite and shock.

Although it is one of nature's wonders, the Credibility Gap has now become a political issue. And there are those who predict that if it isn't closed soon, there will be a series of avalanches in 1968.

SO NOW THE experts have two years to figure out how to prevent this from happening. The King of the Mountain, in whose hands the decision lies, stands in the Gap and keeps looking up at Mount Olive Branch and then at Mount Escalation, trying to decide which one to climb.

And when people ask him how he got into the Credibility Gap in the first place, he can only reply, "Because it was there."

It's Not Easy For Firm To Leave Stock Exchange

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A company wishing to withdraw its stock from trading on a major stock exchange may find the delisting requirements tougher than the listing standards.

The various exchanges frequently delist companies that do not meet their standards, generally because the company has a very poor earnings record, is too closely held or because its shares are too inactive.

For a company to seek delisting is rare. Even more rare is the accomplishment of the wish.

IMAGE PROMOTED
When Rockwell-Standard Corp. was reported this week as considering the idea of leaving the New York Stock Exchange for the over-the-counter market, researchers at the Big Board went through records for previous delistings.

They found that the most recent voluntary withdrawal was in 1959, when Dominion Stores decided it could better promote its Canadian image by delisting.

For a listed company to leave the Big Board requires the approval of two-thirds of the outstanding shares. In addition, the delisting process is defeated if objections arise from 10 percent or more of the shareowners.

HEAVY SELLING
Rockwell's complaint arose from the heavy selling of its stock by three mutual funds, thus driving down the price. This action angered Willard F. Rockwell Jr., the president, just as similar selling has irritated officials of other companies.

Rockwell was quoted as saying delisting might be a way to keep fund people away. He is said to have reasoned that funds show less interest in over-the-

Mother Of Local Resident Dies, Services Today

MORAN — Mrs. Oline W. Elliott, 80, mother of Mrs. Pauline Clinton, Big Spring, died at 9 a.m. Wednesday in the Graham Hospital at Cisco after a lengthy illness.

Services were to be held here at 2 p.m. Thursday in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Norman Patton and the Rev. Jack Riley officiating. Burial was to be in the Moran Cemetery under direction of Godfrey Funeral Home.

Mrs. Elliott had been a resident of Moran for 42 years. She was born Nancy Delaney Brooks Oct. 7, 1886, in Hood County, Texas, and was married to O. W. Elliott March 1, 1905. Mrs. Elliott was a member of the Presbyterian church.

Survivors include two sons, George C. Elliott, Odessa, and Warren H. Elliott, Snyder; four daughters, Mrs. Clinton, Big Spring, Mrs. Oleta Pinnell, Sweetwater, Mrs. Oma Lee Sharpe, Odessa, Mrs. Margie Ruth Shelly, Yakima, Wash.; a sister, Mrs. Ida Liles, and a brother, H. N. Brook, both of Vernon; 10 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

counter stocks.

A resolution by the board is assumed before the issue is put to the stockholders. The American Stock Exchange, the nation's second largest, specifically requires that, as the first step, a resolution to delist must be passed by the requesting firm's board.

PRESTIGE, SECURITY
A certified copy of this resolution then must be sent to the exchange with a statement backing the facts in the resolution. The exchange then studies the material and notifies the company if it accepts or rejects the application.

If it accepts, the exchange then requires that each registered shareholder be given 15 days notice prior to its delisting notification to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Most companies simply do not wish to delist. To be listed on a reputable exchange offers possibilities for broader share ownership, more active trading with some security from erratic price movements, also prestige and advertising.

Man Finds Warm Place To Sleep

Officers found a man in the machine. He told them he was "looking for some place warm to sleep."

Thief Should Be Easy To Spot

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A thief snatched from a car what may be some impractical loot — unless he's a large thief.

The loot was clothing belonging to Jim Srodes, on the staff of recently elected Congressman Nick Galifianakis in North Carolina's 5th district. Srodes was en route from Washington to his family home in Tampa, Fla.

The thief should be easy to spot if he tries to wear the suits. Srodes is a 290-pounder and wears size 48 extra long.

YOUR

Horoscope Forecast

for Tomorrow
By Carroll Righter

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to change your policies and viewpoints so that they are in alignment with current conditions and so that they can operate much more in both your behalf as well as that of the persons and individuals with whom you have any sort of alliance. Have all understandings spelled out in exact detail. Do shopping.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A discerning authority can shed much light on any monetary matters that are vital to you or others right now. Be sure to check over any bills that are due or money you have spent lately. Be on the safe side, stay within your budget.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You had better take care of that misunderstanding with a partner or matters get even worse between you. Listen carefully to the other side of the story. Then make better plans together for the future.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get rid of whatever stands in the way of your progress along established lines, since the solution to problems is quite easy to find now. By being cooperative you find that regular partners are staunchly behind you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you need new data to carry through with an inspiring idea, be sure to go after it early. Make the effort to interest others in your plans. Excellent support is then forthcoming.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You now know what kin and higher-ups expect you to do, so get it with vim and vigor. Come to fine understanding. Be a good go-between where family and friends are concerned, since they do not see eye-to-eye on certain matters.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) By being more thoughtful with loved ones and associates, you find they go along with your cherished ideas, projects very quickly. Be sure to buy right Christmas presents. Show that you are a generous person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Having a greater abundance in the days ahead depends pretty much on how much backing you want right now. Be of a more compromising attitude. Come to quick understanding and accomplish much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your associates seem to have the power of the planets with him, or her now so don't try to force a deal with him or her right now. Be of a more compromising attitude. Come to quick understanding and accomplish much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show affection to mate instead of concentrating so much on the practical side of relationship. The real estate you can be in this will help to make by giving it more attention. Be more imaginative, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Showing devotion to pals and loved ones means taking them for some sort of recreation that they enjoy, places they have not seen, etc. Live the spirit of Christmas. You should be very successful, joyful now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Knowing what your home needs are will make it easier to discuss them with the right persons. Inviting powerful persons to your house can be a fine way to make progress. See that all is done properly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Last-minute shopping and mailing cards, presents should be done today. Contact that person out-of-town who should know of your ideas. This will help to make your projects more successful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow . . . he, or she, will be one of those very practical individuals who early will want to build up a fine security for himself, or herself, and nothing can stop your progeny once the right education is given in the field that is most interesting and fits the mental and physical personality. Sacrifice to send to school if necessary. Give the advantages that perhaps you did not have.

Opening lead: Five of ♠
Today's hand provoked considerable comment when it was dealt in a recent tournament.

A slam contract in hearts was reached at most tables by North and South on a bidding sequence similar to that depicted in the diagram. North opened with one diamond and East overcalled with one spade. South contented himself with a simple forcing response of two hearts.

When North raised hearts, South made a slam try by cue-bidding the ace of clubs. While the usual procedure is to show the cheapest ace first—in this case spades—responder reasoned that it would actually be more economical to cue in clubs first, and then bid four spades on the next round if the occasion presented itself.

When North cooperated by raising to five clubs and thereby accepting the invitation, South proceeded without further ado to six hearts.

West opened the five of spades and East put up the king which lost to declarer's ace. The ace of hearts was dislodged and when South regained the lead, he drew trump and then ran dummy's clubs discarding his losing diamond and spade.

At a few tables, the defense achieved an upset of the slam contract. The groundwork was laid thru a variation in the bidding sequence. When North raised hearts, South chose to employ Blackwood for an immediate check on aces. When North responded with five diamonds, East doubled to suggest the desirability of a diamond lead against the final contract.

When South persisted to six hearts, West opened the seven of diamonds rather than a spade which would have been the normal choice in the absence of the double of five diamonds. Declarer played the ace from dummy, and attempted to take an immediate discard on North's clubs.

East ruffed the third club with the three of hearts and declarer overruffed. South lacked a quick reentry to dummy and when he led a heart, West rose with the ace and returned a diamond to the setting trick.

DEAR ABBY

Something Done Right

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Nancy, became engaged recently so she and I have been shopping for her wedding gown and veil.

Well, you know how these young girls look nowadays with their little boy Sassoon hair-cuts and that pale-faced make-up with white lipstick! When Nancy tried on those white bridal gowns and veils I didn't know whether to laugh or cry! Should we try to get her to wear a wig for the wedding? A wedding veil looks ridiculous over a little boy hair-cut. And while you're at it, Abby, please say something to the young girls about how ugly they look in the name of fashion.

NANCY'S MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Nancy must have been doing SOMETHING right or she wouldn't be shopping for a bridal outfit. But for what it's worth, I agree. Girls look much prettier with hair and make-up that suggests a living, breathing person is underneath it all. Forget the wig. Hair today and gone tomorrow.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a story to tell. Last night about 9 p.m. I was walking home alone from the public library. (I live 10 blocks from there). The wind was blowing hard, and it was very cold. Besides, I had a load of books under my arm.

A car pulled up alongside the curb, and a nice looking man opened the door and asked, "Want a ride?" He looked O. K. and was about my father's age, and my feet were about to drop off with freezing so I said yes, and hopped in.

He asked me where I was going and I told him and he drove me there, but before he let me out he said, "Young lady, I want you to promise me that you will NEVER again accept a ride with a stranger, no matter how 'nice' he appears to be. I happen to be a decent man, lucky for you, but you took an awful chance.

"You can't tell ANYTHING about a man by the way he looks. I had a 14-year-old niece who accepted a ride with a strange man, and four days later they found her beaten, lifeless body in a swamp two miles from her home."

I promised that man I would
