Amazing Details Of Henrietta Shooting Are Told

NEGRO TELLS OF FATAL SHOOTING OF BANKER'S SON

Says Victim Was Killed By Shot from Back Through Window

BEFRIENDED ACCUSED

Two Shots Were Fired—Spirits of Nitre Are Blamed

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, Sept. 25.—C. F. Kinnamon, charged with the murder of Frank Sudduth, prominent Henrietta young man who was found dead with two bullet wounds at the office of the Clay County Cotton Oil company where he was employed on the morning of September 10, was denied bond in any amount and held to await the action of the grand jury by Justice Clay Coleman in a preliminary hearing held here Tuesday.

The preliminary hearing brought to light the first story of the alleged murder of Sudduth. John Moore, 23 years, a negro resident of Henrietta and employee of the mill where Sudduth was manager and Kinnamon nightwatchman, is the only eyewitness to the tragedy who has been located. The negro took the stand and told the story of the killing in detail.

The negro testified he went on duty on the Sunday morning of the killing at about 7:30. The negro said he saw the defendant Kinnamon, employed as nightwatchman at the mill at the time of the tragedy, approaching from the Graves gin just south of the mill. The negro said Kinnamon was yelling and had his pistol out firing it into an iron building on the oil mill premises.

According to the negro, Kinnamon came to the mill office building where the negro was sitting and asked the latter if he wanted a drink. The negro said the nightwatchman offered him sweet spirits of nitre to drink and he refused. The negro said Kinnamon drank all the remaining contents and threw the bottle away. After throwing the bottle away the negro testified Kinnamon went into the office and examined his 38 Smith and Wesson pistol, stating he had better load the gun as he might need it.

About this time, according to the witness, Frank Sudduth came up and laid a daily paper on the porch of the office building. Kinnamon, the negro testified, asked Sudduth if the latter had anything to drink. The witness said Sudduth told Kinnamon he did not, but remarked further that it looked like Kinnamon had too much to drink already. The negro said Sudduth and he then started out to go through the mill on the morning inspection.

About this time, the negro said, Kinnamon's sister-in-law then came up and Kinnamon lingered a moment to talk with her. Kinnamon then joined Sudduth and the negro and the three went through the mill. Kinnamon, the negro said, took no part in the conversation at all during the 30 minutes the three were in the mill.

When the three returned to the negro said the daily paper was gone and all three began a search for it. The inquest held the day of the killing showed Kinnamon had given the paper to his sister-in-law and this was introduced in the preliminary hearing. The negro said Sudduth then remarked that "the old darkey" would have nothing to read that day and told the negro to drain and put some fire hose near the office building.

The negro said he did this and in stretching out the hose came within a few feet of the office window. The negro said Sudduth then went inside the office. The negro said Kinnamon, still on the porch of the small office took out his gun and deliberately aimed at Sudduth, hitting him in the back of the neck. The negro said he was at the side of the office building a few feet from a window and saw Sudduth grope forward and then gradually begin to sink.

Kinnamon then walked into the office says the testimony and standing over Sudduth's prostrate body said with an oath, "I now have you where I have been wanting you the last two years" and fired again. This shot, the negro said, took effect in Sudduth's right shoulder.

This frightened the witness, he said, and he ran to the ice plant across the street and reported the shooting. The negro said he then returned to the street and saw one of the ice plant men going over to the office. The negro said the man became frightened when he saw Kinnamon and returned to the ice plant.

The negro testified that Kinnamon then went to the hull house east of the office building and got a Winchester which belonged to Sudduth and then went to the seed house where he stayed until Sheriff Cunningham arrived and arrested him.

The testimony of the negro was all that was offered at the Tuesday hearing and Kinnamon did not take the stand himself. The killing occurred

Mystery Shrouds Death Of Teacher

Physicians Believe Frederick Girl Was Poisoned—Is Said to Have Made Klan Speech to Pupils.

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 25.—Miss Effie Hays, 20, school teacher at Eureka, near Lawton, died in Frederick Tuesday morning. Attending physicians believe her death was caused by poisoning. An autopsy was performed Tuesday afternoon and the contents of the stomach sent to the state chemist at Norman.

From the girl's statement to her father and friends, she first became indisposed a few days after she had made a talk to her school in which she referred to Governor Walton's stand on the outlaw klan. She told the Rev. H. W. Shirley, pastor of the Baptist church here, that she told her hearers the principles of the klan.

This was Miss Hays' second year at the Eureka school. She was boarding with the Joe Stever family, said to be German Roman Catholics, and after her talk in school the girls says the entire family manifested a distinct antagonism toward her, though until that time they had professed and shown love.

The Eureka school is located five miles south and six miles east of Lawton. The girl's family live eight miles northwest of Frederick. Her father, R. F. Hays, is a farmer.

Pending reports from the autopsy, local officers are undetermined what action they will take in the case, though a thorough investigation is promised.

Miss Hays was engaged to marry Theodore R. Tally, of Mangum, a student in Oklahoma A. & M. college, who made an unsuccessful race to be at her side when death came, arriving hours after she died. They had planned to do mission work after their marriage.

Funeral services are announced to be held at the First Baptist church in Frederick Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment will be in the city cemetery.

CONSTITUTION OF STATE DISCUSSED

The state constitution was the subject discussed by C. C. McDonald, local attorney, at the regular weekly Kemp luncheon of the University club held Tuesday noon.

Mr. McDonald brought out a number of the outstanding features of the Texas constitution going back to the time of its adoption and discussing subsequent amendments. The fact that no Texas citizen can be made to bear arms but can be forced to pay for the services of an alternate was one of the interesting things the speaker pointed out.

The speaker also spoke of political opportunists who were afraid to go against the rule of the majority even against honest convictions. Such officials are mollycoddles he said.

Vice President Julian Bobo presided at the luncheon.

CHINA TO REPAY BANDIT VICTIMS

By The Associated Press.

PEKING, Sept. 25.—Although denying responsibility for the Lyncheng bandit outrage of last May, in which a number of Americans and other foreigners were kidnapped from Shanghai express train and held captive for more than a month, the Chinese government has already begun the reorganization of its railway police, is preparing to punish the provincial officials for their negligence and is conducting a campaign throughout a number of provinces for the extermination of the growing brigand bands.

This information was contained in the government's official reply to the demands made by the foreign diplomatic corps for indemnities and guarantees as a result of the kidnapping incident. The reply rejects the demands for guarantees for the future.

The government, according to the reply, desires of "its own accord" to indemnify the foreign victims of the bandits and accept as a basis for payment the schedules set forth in the note of the powers. But China does not believe that demand for future reforms and guarantees are proper under the circumstances.

Princesses Seek Death in Pact To Foil Marriage Plans, Report

(By Central Press.)

PARIS, Sept. 25.—The breath of scandal, never a respecter of persons, has seared the royal family of Italy.

European royalty is aghast at the current reports which is being discussed in all the cafes, palaces and boulevards of Europe.

Princess Mafalda, 21-year-old daughter of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, and her younger sister, Princess Giovanna, have been reported suffering from a mysterious malady.

Now gossip has it that the beautiful daughters of the ruling house of Italy are suffering not from disease but from the effects of an attempted double suicide.

That alone is sensational, but the reported cause of the royal suicide pact is the real cause of the consternation among the royal rulers of Europe.

It is said that the dark-eyed Italian beauties decided that death together was preferable to the proposed marriage of the Princess Mafalda to Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium and the consequent separation.

Color to this report is given by the fact that the princesses, a year ago, startled Europe by announcing that they never would wed.

The sisters are said to be highly temperamental and inordinately fond of each other and from sources considered reliable it has been reported that they have vowed never to let marriage separate them.

In view of the fact that it has been authentically reported that the king and queen of Italy have arranged for the marriage of Mafalda to Leopold much credence has been placed in the suicide pact report.

40 GALLONS OF RED, RED WINE

Officers Make Rich Liquid Haul

Wine!

If women and song had been found in proportion to the amount of wine confiscated in this city last night by the ranger and sheriff forces there would have been enough Amazons to fit out a Russian female regiment of shock troops and melody aplenty to broadcast the "yes, we have no bananas" ditty to the four corners of the earth a half dozen times.

There were 40 gallons of bright, purple, red and sparkling grape juice plus the kick which makes it taboo (or the followers of William Jennings Bryan.

Ranger Sergeant Koonsman, Deputy Sheriffs W. W. Belcher, George Hawkins and Warren Belcher made the haul. Horace Kain in a five passenger Ford was found by the officers on Lee street. Three gallons of wine were also found.

Proceeding to Kain's home on Lamar street the officers began a search for part of the stuff that made Omar Khayyam so poetical.

Buried under the chicken house in the back yard part of the brewing paraphernalia was found. In other places were located five five-gallon bottles of the purpled inspiration and a number of smaller bottles, amounting to 40 gallons in all.

Kain was brought to the county jail, his car confiscated and liquor charges filed against him.

Officers George Hawkins and W. W. Belcher had confiscated a little while before the wine raid, nine half-gallon fruit jars of corn whiskey. These raids are the result of the present week's whiskey enforcement activities with the big end coming up.

NO QUESTION OF SUPPORT FEARED FOR CHANCELLOR

More Than Comfortable Majority Expected For Ruhr Conflict End

FRENCH DOUBTFUL

Fear Nationalistic Movement and Separation Of Bavaria

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Support for Chancellor Stresseman in his efforts to bring about a speedy termination of the Ruhr and Rhineland conflict has sufficiently crystalized to warrant the prediction that the government will command more than a comfortable majority in approval of its formal declaration to the reichstag Thursday. So far, the government has been vouchsafed the support of the Ruhr and Rhineland, as voiced by its authorized spokesman at Monday's prolonged conference, support, which it is emphasized, adequately reflects the immediate sentiment of the people of the occupied areas.

Chancellor Stresemann's most convincing argument throughout his extended conversations during the past 48 hours proved to be the official admission that passive resistance had been costing Germany eight quadrillion marks weekly towards the end. The mention of this promptly mellowed the wavering doubters, but the reactionaries preferred to make an issue of the nation's "honor and dignity."

The cabinet was still in session late tonight, although no announcement was made of the nature of its deliberations, in which President Ebert participated. The government, it was stated, will issue a proclamation tomorrow which will be posted throughout Germany.

Government headquarters continue optimistic with respect to the maintenance of order, and dismiss as unfounded recurring rumors of impending disorders. If such occur, their mainsprings, officials point out, must be must sought in the social conditions prevailing in the Metropolitan and industrial section.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—The political situation in Germany as the aftermath of the decision to abandon passive resistance in the Ruhr is being watched by the French government with some anxiety in view of the possibilities of a nationalist movement, such as one tending to separate Bavaria from the reich; the outbreak of mild bolshevism in Prussia, and fresh impetus to the separatist movement in the Rhineland. Should serious disturbances arise in the rest of Germany, it is thought they would most certainly have the result in increasing the number of Rhinelanders desiring to assure continuation of their tranquility by separation.

The allied troops, it is asserted in official circles, will not be allowed to take sides in any conflict, as in the absence of any other military force, responsibility rests upon them for the maintenance of order in the occupied territory. There is good reason for the conclusion that the French attribute little importance to the separatist movement thus far, but that they will not intervene to prevent the inhabitants from taking any action they see fit, so long as order is not disturbed.

BUYS A RAZOR; SLITS HIS THROAT

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—An unidentified man walked into the Central Hardware company here today and asked to be shown some sharp butcher knives.

The man picked up knife after knife, critically examining the edge of each knife with his fingers. He then moved over to a razor case and began to inspect the razors.

The clerk handed him an old fashioned razor with the remark that it was guaranteed to give good service.

The man took the razor, inspected it and then drew it across his throat, severing the jugular vein and windpipe. He staggered toward the door and collapsed.

When the horrified clerk reached his side, the man was dead.

The stranger had no money, police discovered, and had removed all identification marks from his clothes.

SENATORS BACK FROM OVERSEAS

McKellar Declares Another War in Europe Will Come Soon

Special to The Record News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—Reinforced with first hand information which probably will figure in debates in congress this winter, a group of United States senators and representatives returned today on the Leviathan from Europe, where they studied political and economic conditions. Some of them also attended the international parliamentary union at Copenhagen.

Among the returning congressmen were Senator Joseph Robinson, of Arkansas; Senator Kenneth McKellar, of Tennessee; Senator W. B. McKinley, of Illinois; Senator Claude Swanson, of Virginia; Representative Nicholas Longsworth, of Ohio, and Representative J. E. Raker, of California.

Senator Robinson, who as minority leader of the senate, has been mentioned as a presidential possibility, when asked if he would accept the democratic nomination, said: "I want to render the best service of which I am capable in the United States senate. I am seeking no further advancement. I don't want to impair my usefulness in the senate by becoming a candidate for the presidency.

Intervention by the United States in the general European situation would result only in more confusion until this country's attitude on the reparation question was accepted, Senator Robinson asserted.

He declared that Mussolini is hailed by his countrymen as the great man of the post-war period, and that his influence and popularity was increased by the Italian-Greek incident. He is generally censored, however, by the other nations because of his denying of the jurisdiction of the league of nations and is in danger of making enemies that might bring about his downfall, said the senator.

Senator McKellar declared that another war in Europe cannot long be deferred.

"All nations are either preparing for it or planning," he said.

France is amply able to pay interest on her three billion American debt, according to Senator McKellar, who said the foreign debt commission should urge an immediate settlement. He predicted a dictatorship for Germany as a result of the establishment of dictatorships in Italy, Spain, Russia and Bulgaria.

Senator McKinley said Germany could pay a reasonable amount in reparations if the allies would agree on the sum.

Representative Raker said if he had his way there would be a suspension of immigration from all countries for ten years. He predicted that the next congress will enact legislation placing the immigration quotas on the basis of population in 1890 instead of 1910.

NAVAL DISASTER NOW EXPLAINED

By The Associated Press.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 25.—An error in judgment caused the wreck of seven destroyers off Honda, California, September 8, according to Lieutenant Commander Donald T. Hunter, commanding officer of the U. S. S. Delphy, which was leading the column when destroyer squadron eleven rode into the surf at 20 knots an hour.

"I'll have to admit that it was an error in judgment," said the witness. Then after a long pause.

"But, as contributory causes I believe the unusual northerly current we encountered near Point Arguello and the fact that a bilateral radio compass is used there were partly responsible.

"I think there is also a possibility that abnormal currents caused by the Japanese earthquake might have been another contributory cause, or magnetic disturbances connected with the solar eclipse affecting the compass.

GENERAL ORDERS ISSUED TROOPS TO HALT MEET

House Members Each Are Served With Forbiddance Order

35,000 VOLUNTEERS

Rumor of Session in Federal Building Causes New Stir

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 25.—President Coolidge and Attorney General Daugherty were appealed to tonight by Governor J. C. Walton to use their good offices to prevent members of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature from convening in any federal building in the state.

35,000 Volunteers.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 25.—Thirty-five thousand men in the state have volunteered for service in the Oklahoma national guard during the legislative crisis, Governor J. C. Walton announced here tonight.

Order Issued.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 25.—A general order, issued by Adjutant General B. H. Markham, forbidding the convening tomorrow of a special session of the state house of representatives, was served late today on house members gathering here for the session.

As the order was served, each member asked if he was being served as an individual or as a legislator. Upon being told the service was in their capacity as legislators each asked the name of Major J. J. McCartney, in charge of the service detail, and then took the names of witnesses to the service. This was regarded as indicating that the way was being paved for court action to test the adjutant general's authority.

The executive made it plain, however, that he anticipated no necessity for calling the volunteers to duty.

Another unit of guardsmen will be brought to Oklahoma City early tomorrow to aid troops already stationed here in blocking the called session of the legislature at noon, the governor added. Because of the military censorship over troop movements Governor Walton declined to say what battery had been called.

"Only Cap Pistol Needed."

The executive made light of reports that there would be bloodshed and violence when the legislators attempt to meet tomorrow.

"Why, I could take a cap-pistol and drive all of those fellows into the Red river," the governor said.

FEDERAL BUILDING BARRED TO SOLONS

By The Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 25.—Federal buildings in Oklahoma will be barred to members of the state legislature for their proposed special session, Governor J. C. Walton was advised tonight in a telegram from Bascom C. Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge.

"Use of federal buildings for purposes other than business of the United States government is contrary to regulations" Secretary Slemp telegraphed the governor.

The telegram added that the custodian of the Oklahoma City federal building had been instructed not to permit the building to be used for "any unauthorized purpose."

SPEED KEYNOTE NOW OF LEAGUE; EXPERTS EMPLOYED

By The Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 25.—That speed is the guiding principle in the league of nations determination to have its covenant subjected to juridical interpretation, was evidenced tonight by the fact that the special committee of legal experts had already framed its preliminary report. The examination was decided upon because of Italy's refusal to admit the competency of the covenant with respect to her recent dispute with Greece.

The legal counsel met tonight and received the report of the experts who were appointed to frame suitable questions on which the covenant could be judged, the idea being to submit them to the permanent court of international justice for an advisory opinion and to secure illuminating rulings which will serve as a basis for the future. Just what does the covenant mean, is the general end which the league seeks to attain.

There will be no abandonment on the question apparently, because the council plans to make a full report to the assembly before that body adjourns next Saturday, and allow no suspicion to linger in the mind of any delegate that the grave issue of the covenant interpretation has been thrown aside.

The experts reported that they had drawn up five questions. These have not been made public but it is understood that three of them directly concern the league's competency. One refers to the responsibility of states for political crimes committed within their borders.

Fort Worth Cats Cop First Of Series 3 to 1

LIL STONER HOLDS PELICANS EASILY; KRAFT BREAKS UP GAME BY SMASH OVER FENCE

By The Associated Press

PANTHER PARK, Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 25.—Clarence Kraft, home run king of the Texas league and idol of Fort Worth fandom, did "his stuff" here today in the opening game of the Dixie series and the Cats defeated the New Orleans Pelicans, 3 to 1.

Kraft's blow, a solid smash over the left field fence in the fourth inning with "Stump" Edington on base, broke up a great pitchers' battle between Lil Stoner, Fort Worth ace, and Joe Martina, Pelican star. Both pitchers were in wonderful form, although Martina was somewhat wild, allowing six bases on balls. The Cats were able to gather only five hits off his fast one, however, and had it not been for Kraft's timely jab, the initial clash of the Southern classic would have gone into extra innings.

Stoner was invincible and the only run that the Pelicans were able to register was unearned, an error by Kraft paving the way.

The Pels counted first, Dowie starting the 3rd inning by taking a fast one in the ribs. Martina hit to Kraft, who juggled the ball and then threw wild to first, Dowie taking third and Martina second. Borgart's infield hit filled the bases. Gilbert forced Dowie at the plate. Henry sent a long fly to center and Martina scored.

In the fourth Kraft hit his homer after Edington had walked, making two Fort Worth scores and giving them the lead.

Fort Worth added one more for good measure in the eighth inning on Calvo's single. Sear's sacrifice and Kraft's single.

The Southern association champions never carried a dangerous threat and Stoner held them at his mercy, sending five of them back to the bench via the strike out route.

Gilbert's southerns accorded Martina great support, flashing two fast double plays, but lacked the punch to figure in the hitting end. On the other hand the Texans put up a rather shabby fielding game, but hit in the pinches.

About 150 New Orleans fans, accompanied by a pair of bands, stirred up plenty of noise to spur the Pelicans on.

While no announcements are forthcoming as to Wednesday's pitching selections, dope points to Dixie Walker for the Pelicans and Pate for Fort Worth.

Hats That Give Service
In Both Wear and Appearance

Hat-Service means something in this man's country. Dusty days, windy days, trips to the oil field, all put your headwear to exacting tests.

We've found that the Tans and Greys don't mind the dust; they don't show it; they keep their looks and their shapes. That's why we bore down heavy on these colors in selecting our Fall stock—they spell real service, without sacrificing style.

Men who prefer the Cloth Hat can find a big selection to pick from. They are good, substantial values at $6.00.

Felt Hats as high as $12.00, down to $3.00.

The makers are Stetson, Schoble and Crofutt-Knapp.

The popular Cap this Fall is the new small-shaped one. It's a Levine make, and we've some new ones just in, including both the 8-piece and 1-piece tops. A wide choice of models and colors.

Supplies For Pola.

Eighteen thousand sandwiches.
Twenty-five kegs of wire nails.
Nine thousand bottles of milk.
One hundred and fifty thousand feet of lumber. Three car loads of plaster. Two car loads of lock lath, several tons of decomposed granite and 20 thousand Spanish roofing tiles.

These were a few of the things which were gathered together on the Lasky ranch recently for the purpose of erecting a set and making some of the scenes in Pola Negri's new starring picture, "The Spanish Dancer," which Herbert Brenon has just produced for Paramount.

Representing the central square of a Spanish city, the set was capable of holding over 3,000 people. Surrounding the square were houses, shops, taverns and in the back ground a cathedral reproduced from the famous original at Santiago de Compostela.

Herbert Brenon, spent several days making scenes in the square for this picture. During this time the commissariat department fed the thousands of players and artisans employed.

In addition to the milk, sandwiches, cake and olives supplied, two motor trucks were constantly employed hauling tanks of distilled water for drinking purposes.

"The Spanish Dancer" is one of the most colorful motion pictures in which Pola Negri has ever appeared. Featured opposite Miss Negri is Antonio Moreno. Heading the supporting cast are Wallace Beery, Kathlyn Williams, Gareth Hughes, Adolphe Menjou and Robert Agnew.

Once In 100 Years.

Thomas Meighan has the unique distinction of being the only film star whose director has made use of a total eclipse of the sun to make day and night scenes a few minutes apart on board a ship. The feat was performed recently while Mr. Meighan's company engaged in the making of "Woman-Proof" was returning to Los Angeles from San Francisco.

By means of this Alfred E. Green was able to accomplish two day's work in one and to save a return trip to San Francisco on boat at night.

While in San Francisco scenes were made on the water-front. The story is one written directly for Mr. Meighan by George Ade. Other scenes have been made in the high Sierras, 20 miles from Cascade, where construction work on a big hydro-electric plant fitted into the story.

Wild Horses.

British cavalrymen imported to California for the special purpose of making scenes in George Melford's Paramount production, "The Light That Failed," were recently called upon to ride untamed horses. They succeeded, but their efforts added some remarkable touches of realism to the scenes.

The horses had been collected for the desert cavalry charge which is one of the features of the famous Kipling story. When it came time to stage the scenes the soldiers and other riders found that many of the horses had never been saddled.

This part of the picture was made on the sand dunes near Guadalupe, Cal.

Screen Gossip.

James Cruze, Paramount director, recently had the record-breaking experience of having three of his pictures running in first-run houses in one city at the same time. This happened in Los Angeles where "The Covered Wagon," "Hollywood" and "Ruggles of Red Gap" were on.

William de Mille started work on his next Paramount production "Everyday Love," at the West Coast studio. Nita Naldi, who will play one of the featured roles, is expected to return to Hollywood soon from New York. "Everyday Love" was adapted from Julian Street's novel, "Rita Coventry."

James A. Casselman, who scenarized "Smilin' Through" for Norma Talmadge and adapted several stories for Glenn Hunter's Film Guild pictures, has been added to the scenario staff at the Paramount Long Island studio under the direction of E. Lloyd Sheldon. Casselman will write the scenario for Glenn Hunter's next Paramount picture which is to follow "West of the Water Tower." The title of the new picture has not yet been announced.

Agnes Ayres, who recently completed a featured role in William de Mille's new Paramount production, "The Marriage Maker," was mistress of the grape day celebration at Escondido Cal., a few days ago.

Walter Hiers is back at Hollywood after a personal appearance trip which took him across the country and back again in connection with his pictures "Mr. Billings Spends His Dime" and "Sixty Cents An Hour." He has been cast in George Melford's next Paramount production "Flaming Barriers."

Beaumont Designated.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 25.—Beaumont was designated as creosoting-in-transit point for pilings, posts, ties, and lumber by the railroad commission in an order granted on application of the Texas and New Orleans railroad company.

WIFE NUMBER 8

Gloria, as Mona De Brine, a pretty little French girl, certainly leads poor Blue Beard a merry chase. She tantalizes him unmercifully and keeps him at arms length but—does she win? "Blnebeard's Eighth Wife" closes today at the Olympic.

THE WEST AND THE EAST.

The west is more level-headed than the east.

The westerner has a better grasp on business conditions than the easterner.

Keep your seat—a westerner did not say that. An easterner said it, and that isn't all he said. He says, upon his return from a western trip that he finds conditions in the west stabilized; an absence of over-buying; overhead in keeping with profits, although the profits are admittedly smaller than in times past, and everybody working. The employer in the west, this man declares, has his eye on his business and the employe doing more and better work.

The Wall street man then turns to the east and says: "Now contrast the conditions found in the west with those found here." The contrast he draws is no credit to the east. He points out that neither employer or employe has any old-time respect for his job. "Here in the east," he says, "we have gotten away from the fundamentals. The average eastern business man has degenerated into a hand-shaking, "gyping" proposition. He is side-stepping hard work and is trying to find an easy way to make money. He has lost his initiative, his persistency, his former capacity for hard work."

And this man, who so severely condemns the attitude of the east toward business, is not setting himself up as an example. He goes so far as to say that he is on the list. He tells of the hundred and one useless expenses which New Yorkers submit to, having somehow gotten the idea that they can not do without certain things. He even details some of the expense in his own home. He points out that a false atmosphere has been created there. It applies not only to the social life, but to business.

And after all this the following conclusions are reached:

For the past three years the farmers have made little or no money, and as the west is dependent to a very large extent on the farmer, the west, realizing the situation, did not lose its head, but went about its business conserving and living within its income. Accordingly it was an easier matter for the west to adjust its overhead than in manufacturing centers of the east, where preparation had been made for flush times. The critics in question says the east didn't have the courage to readjust its manner of living to changed conditions. This closes the tale:

"There is no question in my mind as to what is going to happen. The bottom is not going to drop out of business in general. There is going to be no pronounced business depression; we are too strong financially and there is too much employment with buying power for that. But we are not going to get the big business we had expected. Business is going to be something like pre-war normal. And those of us here in the east who have not enough moral courage to voluntarily get down off their high horse, in the matter of personal living expenses, are going to get thrown.

"In the last analysis the east, like the west, is dependent upon the buying power of the farmer and today through necessity, not choice, the farmer is practicing strict economy."

THE NEW PRESIDENT TALKS.

Advancing the doctrine of a practical idealism, President Coolidge, in his first public utterance since he became the chief executive of the nation, addressed the annual convention of the Red Cross in Washington. Especial interest attached to what Coolidge had to say, not because of the occasion himself, but because it was the first time he has made a public address since he entered office.

No one who reads that address could help being impressed with one thing in particluar, that the new president is fundamentally an optimist; has a deep faith in things spiritual, which is tempered by the hard common sense for which New Englanders are known. This practical idealism discussed by the president he expects to be the answer to the needs of the world.

In plain language President Coolidge said:

"It is in this direction that there lies the hope of real progress. The ancient ideals of human brotherhood of services the application of the golden rule, of peace on earth and good will towards men, are idle dreams, unless they can be translated into practical action. It is necessary on the one hand to avoid the illusions of the visionaries, and on the other hand the indifference of the selfish. Each individual and each nation owe their first duty to themselves. Beyond that there is no obligation of the strong to serve the weak but to administer such service in a way that will not destroy or degrade by making mendicants, but will restore and strengthen by making character. It is the policy which helps in an emergency, but realizes that finally each individual and each nation must work out their own destiny.

While it is easily argued that these are only words, they are the words of the president of the United States, and doubtless, because they form the basis of his first address, were carefully chosen. They give some insight into the type of the man whom fate placed in the most responsible position in the world and may suggest to some the attitude of Coolidge toward the other nations of the world.

We are not yet ready for disarmament, President Coolidge said, but declared it significant that the great nations of the world had agreed on limitation of these forces. "But" added the president, "It is even more significant that civilization is coming more and more on moral force.

Whether Coolidge enters the list in the coming presidential battle or not, will be known later. The fact remains that he is now president, and it is at least consoling to think, as anyone must, that while he may not measure up to other presidential possibilities, steady, clear thinking apparently is one of the man's virtues. And at present he seems to be more concerned with keeping the nation on even keel than in trying to get his hat into the ring.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Trading Post

One Mother Says:

So many things of more or less value accumulate in the children's playroom that it keeps us busy weeding out, so my little girl has established what she calls a "trading post." Each child brings the odds and ends he is tired of, and the things that cannot be traded are destroyed, keeping down the surplus waste.

WHAT TODAY MEANS

By MARY BLAKE

LIBRA

Adverse aspects predominates until night fall, making this an inauspicious day for important matters. If it were not for an interposing favorable influence between Mercury and Venus conditions would be indeed undesirable and unpleasant.

A child born today will be generous in thought and deed, and joyous in disposition.

If today is your birthday you should be versatile, enthusiastic and irresponsible. You are a person whose success in life will depend almost entirely upon the happy accident of finding something to do which really interests you, for no amount of advice or example will force you to work.

Intellectually you are gifted with unusual perception and analysis. Perhaps you see things a bit too clearly at times, and they become philosophically worthless and you cannot do them. But on the other hand, when something appeals to your imagination, you will study it and do it regardless of personal gain.

Although your interests are many and varied, you have nevertheless the capability of centering your entire interest in any one of them and applying a great deal of energy on it.

Your mind is rather more inquisitive than creative, and never creatively artistic, although you love and appreciate the beautiful in all that you see.

You have anmordinate power of control over your emotions, and you never quite lose it under the most trying circumstances. You are generous in thought and act, and courteous and considerate towards all you meet.

The scales of Libra people tip rather easily, and you being one of them are up and down. Often one scale touches bottom while the other swings upward unused and empty. You are liable to be reckless and a plunger.

Emotionally you are both affectionate and responsive, but your passionate nature is constantly subject to your dogmas of taste and good form.

Date Is Fixed For the Opening Of A.U.S. National Music Week

The first National Music Week will open May 4, 1924, and close May 10, and thereafter National Music Week will begin regularly each year the first Sunday in May, according to announcement made in New York by the National Music Week committee.

The original date set for next year's observance was the week of April 27 to May 4, but as this was the period set for Boys' Week, the music people decided to postpone their celebration one week to give the youngsters full sway. At the same time the suggestion was made that the opening day of the National Music Week be fixed and popularized so that when mention was made of it the public immediately would recognize it as the beginning of National Music Week.

Questionnaires on the subject were sent out by the National Music Week committee to local music week committees in all parts of the country. Three-fourths of the committees heard from approved the selection of the first Sunday in May as the fixed opening day of National Music Week. The choice of the remaining committeemen spread over the calendar all the way from April to October.

Local conditions governed the selection in many cities. For instance, Philadelphia has an option on the Academy of Music for the week of May 11-17, 1924. Denver preferred the third week in May for the reason that the auditorium was available for the entire week. Little Rock and two other cities in the South reported the weather too hot in May and suggested that October be selected. The majority of the committees, however, were for the first Sunday in May and announcement was made that beginning in 1924 the first Sunday in May would annually usher in National Music Week.

Governors of thirty-four states and Hawaii already have accepted membership on the honorary committee of state governors. These are William M. Brandon, Alabama; Thomas C. McRae, Arkansas; W. A. Sweet, Colorado; W. D. Denney, Delaware; Clifford Walker, Georgia; Wallace R. Farrington, Hawaii; C. C. Moore, Idaho; Len Small, Illinois; Warren T. McCrary, Indiana; Jonathan M. Davis, Kansas; Edwin P. Morrow, Kentucky; J. M. Parker, Louisiana; Albert C. Ritchie, Maryland; Channing M. Cox, Massachusetts; Alexander J. Groesbeck, Michigan; J. A. O. Preus, Minnesota; Lee M. Smith, New York; R. A. Nestos, North Dakota; J. C. Walton, Oklahoma; Walter M. Pierce, Oregon; William S. Flynn, Rhode Island; Thomas G. McLeod, South Carolina; W. H. McMaster, South Dakota; Charles M. Mabey, Utah; E. Lee Trinkle, Virginia; Ephraim F. Morgan, West Virginia; John J. Blaine, Wisconsin; William B. Ross, Wyoming.

Otto H. Kahn, financier and music lover and patron, is chairman of the National Music Week committee, and C. M. Tremaine, director of the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music, is secretary. The following heads of thirty-one prominent organizations in all walks of life are members of the committee—Kenyon L. Butterfield, president American Country Life Association; O. E. Bradfute, president American Farm Bureau Federation; Samuel Gompers, president American Federation of Labor; Joseph N. Weber, president American Federation of Musicians; Frank L. Seeley, warden American Guild of Organists; Geo. Maxwell, president American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers; Colin A. Livingstone, president Boy Scouts of America; Julius H. PUTTING IN THE PUNCH

When Hamlet undertook to knock
His uncle for a city block,
His first went mad—
A way he had.
When anything he started—
And then, with little more ado,
He stabbed and slashed and killed and slew
Until the floor
Of Elsinore
Was piled with the departed.

When Romeo and Juliet
At Capulet's reception met,
They hugged and kissed,
And made a tryst
For further osculation.
And then their relatives stepped out
And staged a lively stabbing bout,
Till half the town
Was soon mowed down,
And steeped in consternation.

When Richard Third desired a throne
That he could call his very own,
With a good sword
He killed a horde
Of those who dared to flout him.
And in his turn he, too, was killed,
And when his loyal blood was spilled
The people said:
"The King is dead,
But we can do without him."

Shakespearian drama we regard
As fine and noble stuff,
But we will say this for the Baird
He sure could write 'em rough!

TIMELY VIEWS on WORLD TOPICS

AMERICAN CAPITAL HAS BROKEN EUROPE'S GRIP IN LATIN AMERICAN COUNTRIES

American capital has broken Europe's grip on Latin-American markets. Trade experts who have studied the southern republics consider the outlook excellent from an American sales standpoint.

After the war, as a natural consequence of our position as creditor nation, the United States took the place of Continental Europe as the chief market for Latin-American loans. Trade follows credit.

William A. Reid, foreign trade adviser of the Pan American Union, is well acquainted with conditions in this field.

"During the last four years almost half a billion dollars moved as loans from this country to Latin-American governments, states and municipalities," he said recently.

"This spirit of investment on the part of the American bond buyer, especially liberal in 1921 and 1922, is unprecedented.

"United States investments in Central and South America, not including Cuba, are estimated at between eight and nine hundred million. Approximately a billion dollars is invested in Cuban sugar, railway and other enterprises. Ten years ago the United States capital invested in all the Latin-American countries amounted to only $175,000,000, against the British investment of more than five billion.

"In 1921 the republic of Chile secured loans in the country for $44,000,000, and in 1922 for $24,000,000. With some of these funds Chile is electrifying the railway connecting her chief port with the capital of the country, a distance of 117 miles.

"Chile does not manufacture electrical railway equipment; neither does any other South American country. But the Westinghouse company at Pittsburgh produces such goods. And Pittsburgh workmen are now making equipment for Chile which will represent millions of dollars in material and labor. Some of this equipment has arrived. The president of Chile recently drove one of the electrical engines over a completed section of track.

"Every dollar invested in Latin-America comes back to the United States with compound interest. Bolivia borrowed $24,000,000 from American investors, a portion of which she is spending in constructing a link of railway between her roads and those of Argentina. American engineers and contractors are directing the work, and soon millions of the loan will return to the United States to pay for equipment and rolling stock.

"As more capital goes to South America from the United States, much of it no doubt will be expended in building highways. The future looks especially bright for the sale of all classes of highway construction machinery. And as more miles of highway are developed the sale of motor cars will increase.

IRRIGATION

By A. M. McPHERSON
Consulting Engineer
Kahn Bldg. Elgin and Indiana

Royalty Money and Leased Land.

The owners of land within the irrigation district were asked to report on how much money they had received per acre from royalties.

It was of course anticipated that few answers would be given to this question. First because not many land owners have producing wells, and, second, such property would be too valuable to be put in the irrigation district.

This anticipation proved correct, only one man answered. He stated that he had received about $20 per acre.

Following the above question was one asking about the number of acres that was now under lease for oil purposes.

This question is quite an important one as the fact that land is under lease for oil purposes may tend to prevent its ready sale for farm land.

Eight owners had approximately 2,703 acres leased for oil. As about 16,000 acres is represented in the replies to the questionaire as a whole this means that about 18 per cent of the land is under lease.

Just what influence this may have on the sale of lands remains to be seen. Of course many of these leases will expire before the land is ready for sale, and on the other hand it may be that many more acres will be leased if some wild cat comes in.

SHARP REACTION IN THE MARKET

Many Leaders Close At Losses of From 2 to 3 Points

Market Features.

Day's total stock sales, 720,400 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 87.97; net loss 1.24.

High 1923, 106.38; low 80.92.

Twenty railroads averaged 81.35; net loss .49.

High 1923, 90.51; low 79.55.

Special to The Record News.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—A sharp reaction in prices took place in today's stock market, many of the leaders closing at losses of 1 to 3 points on the day.

The decline was generally regarded as proof that domestic trade developments were the paramount force in the determination of quoted values at the present time. The opening was strong in response to official reports that Germany had decided to abandon passive resistance in the Ruhr, but the rally was not sustained and the publication of unfavorable news and gossip concerning the domestic trade situation.

Heavy selling of Studebaker, which broke 3 3-4 points to 90 1-8, a new low for the year, on unconfirmed rumors of a prospective cut in automobile prices, eventually unsettled the general list after a number of food, copper and miscellaneous shares had been run 1 to 3 points. Baldwin, American Car, American Can, New York Air brake, Dupont, Goodrich and Woolworth, all dropped 3 to 3 1-2 points while Burns Brothers A, broke six points.

Oil shares, which have borne the brunt of recent selling pressure, also held relatively well.

United States Steel broke below 86 for a new low on the movement on reports of a continued slackening of demand. Independent steels sagged in sympathy, Gulf States losing nearly 3 points on the day.

Rails yielded with the industrials despite the publication of some very favorable August earnings statements. Heaviness of Baltimore and Ohio was associated with reports that the resumption of the common dividend would be delayed until the end of the year, the stock closing 1 1-2 lower at 50 1-2. It is understood that the first declaration will be at the annual rate of five per cent.

Foreign exchanges made a good response to the foreign political news of which they are highly sensitive. French francs anranced 10 points to 6.20 1-2 cents and Belgian francs advanced 12 points to 5.90 cents, but both reacted from the high quotations in later trading. Demand sterling closed 3-8 of a cent higher at $4.50. German marks also improved, being quoted at 32 cents a hundred million.

Call money opened at 5 per cent, advanced to 5 1-2 and then fell back to five.

Time rates were unchanged.

New Orleans Cotton.

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—After a bulge of 21 to 29 points soon after the opening today the cotton market turned soft and spent the remainder of the day in gradually sagging, finally closing easy at net declines on the session of 32 to 37 points, with October at a range of 27.48 to 27.50 cents a pound. October at its lowest sold at 27.30 and here the list stood at net declines of 37 to 66 points.

Of the private reports on the crop of the day that attracted most attention the range was from 10,875,000 bales up to prediction that the government's indicated crop figures accompanying the September condition report would be above 11,000,000 bales. Condition figures issued during the day ranged from 49 to 50.2 per cent of normal.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

It is a good idea for a business man, during a boom period, to increase the amount of cash deposit required on orders for goods he sells.

It is easy to place orders for goods. During a boom, when prices are rising and deliveries are delayed, business men rush into the market and place orders in advance of their needs, sometimes as a pure speculation.

This happened in 1920. Then, in 1921, when the depression came, there was a wave of canceling orders which made the depression just that much more severe. The fact that the orders were enforceable made little difference. Why should a factory force a man to take ordered goods when they know he hasn't the money to pay for it?

This past experience proves that it is a wise business policy, during a period of rising prices, for sellers to increase the amount of the cash forfeit, or deposit required with orders. This eliminates much unwise, unnecessary, and speculative buying, and makes buyers less likely to cancel orders. In the way the depression, when it does come, can be made much less severe.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The cotton market was lower today. There was some buying on the better European political news at the start, but after selling up to 28.73, or 25 points net higher, December broke to 27.90, making a net decline of 58 points and a reaction of two cents a pound from the high record of last week. December closed at 27.90 with the general market closing easy at net declines of 45 to 68 points.

The market opened steady at a net decline of 12 points on November but generally unchanged to four points higher. The market soon showed net advances of 25 to 35 points with October selling at 29.20 and January at 28.93. Selling became more active after the publication of a private report placing the condition at 50.2 and the indicated yield at 10,875,000 bales. Reports of scattering showers in the southwest caused little flurries of covering during the middle of the day, but the bulges met all increase offerings. Another private report making the condition 49.1 and the indicated crop 10,000,000 bales, seemed to increase the uncertainty as to the showing of the government's report next week while the afternoon market was also influenced by reports of an easier tone in cotton goods. October sold off to 28.30 and January to 27.44, making net declines of 48 to 58 points upon the active months. Exports today 20,307, making 649,066 so far this season. Port receipts 95,511. Port stocks 453,003.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Cattle 10,000; very uneven; steady to strong; top matured steers 11.50; yearlings 11.10; western grass steers 7.00@7.75; bologna bulls upward to 5.00; vealers around 13.00.

Hogs 25,000; mostly 25 cents lower; medium 8.50@8.60; top 8.65; heavy 8.20@8.45; packing sows 7.30@7.55; pigs 7.00@7.75; estimated holdover 18,000.

Suggests Conference.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 25.—Federal Judge Duval West of San Antonio, has suggested a conference of state and railroad attorneys in San Antonio on October 15 to work out law points in the carriers' suit against the state railroad commission involving rates to Fort Bliss, Texas.

HEAVY SALES IN WHEAT MARKET

News from Germany Was Followed by Big Realization

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Although ending of Germany's passive resistance gave a lift to wheat prices today, the effort was more than offset by heavy sales to realize profits. Closing quotations were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-2 cent lower, with December 1.04 1-8@1-4 May 1.00 3-8. Corn finished unchanged to 1 1-8 cents higher, oats a shade to 5-8 cents up and provisions at gains varying from 2 cents to 20 cents.

Corn and oats were dominated as heretofore by forest damage and corn scarcity. New high prices records for the season resulted both in corn and oats.

Provisions reflected the better foreign outlook.

Fort Worth Livestock.

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 25.—On cattle the market supported a good, steady trend, but nothing was quotably higher today. Calves of good quality averaged 25 cents higher and the medium to fairly useful grades were steady. Around 2,500 head of cattle and 1500 calves made up the day's receipts.

Steady prices prevailed in the beef steer trade, receipts being small and quality ordinary.

Canners and cutters sold freely, a large number of fair to medium cows going at $3 to $3.25, with good cutters selling at $2 and canners at $1.50 to $1.75. Good cows sold around $3.50 to $4. Several cars of fair heifer yearlings brought $4. Bulls were taken at a range of $3.50 to $4 the market being steady.

Calves went at a range of $7.00 to $7.50.

Trade conditions in the hog yards were uneven.

Shippers took a few cars on the early rounds at prices that were called only 10 to 15 cents lower, some of their hogs costing 8.15@8.20, but packers were bidding a flat 25 cent lower from the outset. The best hogs going to packers stopped at around $8.10. Most of the run cleared at a spread of 7.85 to 8.15. Receipts amounted to about 2100 head.

No change was shown in the pig trade, the demand being good and prices holding to a stendy level. Most of the run went at a range of $6 to 6.25 and the good kinds brought $6.50.

Steady prices were paid for sheep and a few lambs, selling at $13, looked 50 cents higher. A few sales of wethers were made at $7 to $7.25 but they were not choice. Sheep house receipts amounted to 5,000 head, but of that number 4500 head were on through billing.

Inexpensive Method of Reducing Dangerous Swollen Veins at Home

Doctor's Recent Discovery, Also Heals Ulcers, Boils, Carbuncles, Abscesses and Open Sores in a Few Days

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start this today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil besides being one of the most powerful of antiseptics capable of destroying the most pernicious germs and the poisons caused by them, is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications causes the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, wens or goitre, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, boils, abcesses or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you.—Adv.

U.S.-JAPANESE WAR CLOUDS GONE

America's Aid Brings Only Gratitude

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—America's open handed sympathy in Japan's sorest need will forever drive from the Japanese mind all thoughts of "American aggressiveness in the Far East," Ambassador Hanihara said here tonight in an address before the opening session of the American Red Cross annual convention. He spoke from the same platform where President Coolidge head of the society, a few hours before had extolled the work of the organization as one of practical idealism, "helpful, reassuring and arresting the fundamental strength of civilization."

"It will henceforth be difficult indeed," said the Japanese ambassador "for professional jingoes to terrorize an ignorant public opinion to where it will countenance policies of military agrandizement, on the ground of preparedness against fancied American threats. The natural reaction of a Japanese to mention of America will be a thrill of gratitude and warm friendliness.

"I find," he said, "that I cannot enter this great room without profound emotion, stirred by memory. For as you all know, it was here that the Washington conferece had its dramatic beginning nearly two years ago, and right here, and right here a few months later, that conference bore it precious fruit in the signing of the Washington treaties, by the representatives of the great nations which marked, in my opinion, the greatest practical advance toward world peace that had ever been made.

"And now I find myself here again in different circumstances. It is absolutely impossible for me to express to you, so that you will fully understand the depth of my feeling in facing you, the active representative of the Red Cross, for events have transpired that may well prove to be more far-reaching in their importance than even the Washington treaties.

"The metropolitan area of Japan was torn to shreds by the forces of nature. The first flash of that dreadful news aroused in your country a universal manifestation of genuine human sympathy. In the very moment of our sorest need you did not fail us.

"Never shall we forget your sympathy in this hour of our national distress."

GENERAL ORDERS

jocularly. "I don't think there will be the least bit of violence."

Copies of the general order were posted upon the house and senate doors.

Despite its issuance the opinion gained strength tonight that the stage had been set for the attempt tomorrow to convene the legislative session at which opponents of Governor J. C. Walton have promised to seek his impeachment.

No Bloodshed.

Authoritative sources which could not be revealed explained the belief that a "gentlemen's agreement" would prevent any danger of bloodshed.

It was indicated that the refusal of the military to give the legislators access to the chamber would involve nothing more than the formality of a guard officer informing house members that they were not permitted to enter the doors.

Then it is believed the solons will leave the capital, later assembling at some unannounced location, where they will convene and where some of their number probably will be arrested.

This maneuver, it is believed would be intended to prevent a public spectacle which might invite violence by onlookers not identified with the guard.

It is believed that guard officers even may be informed of the intended location for the second convening. Reports that he had stated that he knew of no reason why the legislature should not meet in the United States federal court room in the federal building were denied tonight by federal Judge John H. Cotteral.

"We stand where we have always stood: we will meet pursuant to our signal call," Representative W. D. McBee of Stephens county, said.

In a telegram sent the president and the attorney general, Governor Walton said that the afternoon newspapers stated that permission to use the federal court room here for the proposed assembly had been granted by Federal District Judge John H. Cotteral.

Newspapermen called to the executive's attention the fact that Judge Cotteral had denied the statement attributed to him in a local newspaper hat he saw no reason why the legislators could not assemble in the United States district room.

"Well such a plan had been rumored at any rate," Walton replied. "If the legislators meet on federal property then the government has the baby on its hands to raise," the governor said.

The Telegram.

The telegram dispatched by the executive to President Coolidge and the attorney general follows:

"Unmentionable multilations have been inflicted upon numerous citizens of this state, and scores of others have been taken from their homes at night and beaten and flogged in a most unmerciful way. This state is now under martial law by proclamation issued by me and military courts are now sitting in Tulsa and in Oklahoma City investigating these barbarous acts.

"These courts have taken testimony much of it coming from the lips of klansmen themselves, showing that each and all of these atrocities have been committed by members of the so-called knights of the ku klux klan or the invisible government or the invisible empire. I have authentic information showing that a great majority of the members of the house of representatives of the Oklahoma legislature are members of the so-called invisible government. These klan members of the house constituting a majority of its membership in collusion with high klan officials are attempting to hold a session in Oklahoma City with the avowed determination of impeaching me and thereby halting my investigation and prevent subsequent exposures which will show the inner workings of this un-American mob organization, known as the ku klux klan.

"A meeting of the legislature of this state or any branch of it in extra session without the call of the governor is unlawful and unauthorized by the constitution and laws of this state. The only purpose of this unlawful assembly is to further complicate matters and give aid and comfort to the klan.

"I will not permit this assemblage in the capital and the afternoon newspapers state that permission to use the federal court room here for its meeting has been granted by Judge John H. Cotteral, judge of the western district of Oklahoma.

"In view of the conditions existing in this state at this time and in the light of exposures already made and given to the American public, I appeal to you in the name of the people of Oklahoma and true Americanism to use your good offices to prevent this unlawful assemblage in any federal building in this state."

LIFE NOT SAFE IN EAST AFRICA

Wild Jungle Beasts a Constant Menace—Lions Are Bold

By The Associated Press.

LONDON.—All is not joy in the life of British officials in Tanganyika territory, formerly German East Africa. Lions, leopards and elephants menace the population; missionary jealousy bewilders the pagan natives and witchcraft, practiced by the wild Wapare of the Moshi district, causes many helpless infants to be put to death annually.

Aspects of life in this new British territory are described in the 1922 report of the country. Big game multiplied rapidly in Tanganyika during the war. Lions frequently satisfy their taste for human flesh at the expense of life. Their boldness is incredible, and whole villages have been terrorized by their presence. In the first half of the year rewards were paid for the destruction of 300 lions and 800 leopards. In Tabora district alone 67 people were killed by lions.

Elephants do great damage to crops, often ruining a whole plantation in a single night, or, entering the villages, they strip the roofs of grain stores and scatter or consume the contents. The native too often assumes a fatalistic attitude in the presence of disaster, and becomes unwilling or unable to help himself.

In Tanganyika witchcraft has as fatal effects on infants as wild beasts have on adult natives. To the influence of the medicine men, says the report, may be attributed the barbarous practice of infanticide which prevails among the Wapare in the Moshi district. Children born with some abnormality, or the offspring of parents who have failed to undergo initiation into certain tribal ceremonies, are done to death by deliberate starvation and neglect, or by exposure to the unhealthy climate of the low country. Often parents would not of their own accord abandon such children, and in many cases have preferred to give them away to strangers.

When the elders of the tribe were addressed on this matter, there was a decided tendency to recognize its evils and to adopt more enlightened ideas, but a few were against the abolition of the custom on the ground that the destruction of the tribes certainly would follow. According to these sages, life is altogether too precarious, and the number of acts or omissions which they can cite as being fatal is amazing; event to plant a tree was pronounced to be equivalent to dooming oneself to death.

Another difficulty confronting British administrators in the territory is that of rivary among missionaries. "It is greatly to be regretted that a spirit of jealous rivalry has manifested itself in certain districts between Christian missions of different denominations," the report declares. "It arises from a very natural and sincere belief in the superiority of that branch of the common faith when it is their pride and their duty to preach to the heathen, but it has often resulted in an undignified competition to extend the scope of the mission beyond limits which a proper degree of influence and control would demand, and in attempts to set up schools in juxtaposition of those of another denomination. This open display to the pagan of religious differences cannot but react to the damage of the Christian faith.

"Christian missionaries, by offering one doctrine here, another close by, and still another a few miles away, must achieve little more than the complete bewilderment of the pagan native, and it would be well if Christian societies would recognize that the principle of spheres of influence is ultimately to the clear advantage of Christianity as a whole, no less than to that of pagan populations."

50 COUNTIES TO DISPLAY WARES AT DALLAS FAIR

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 25.—Fifty Texas counties will display their varied products in attractive array at the State fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 13-28.

Space has already been assigned to 21 counties in the agricultural building, while the contracts of six others, not yet returned, are expected momentarily by state fair officials.

Through the exhibit of the San Antonio and Arkansas Pass railroad in agricultural hall, 22 counties touched by that line, will have representation, while San Patricio county will come into its own by way of the big exhibit of the Taft Ranch company.

Those counties to which space has been assigned include:

Hale, Garza, Baylor, Howard, Lynn, Crosby, Lubbock, Wilbarger, Potter, Terry, Dawson, Childress, Floyd, Swisher, Colorado, Tarrant, Collin, Harrison, Brown, Ellis and Hill.

Falls, Randall, Lamb, Shelby, Collingsworth and Mitchell are yet to be heard from.

EXPERT TO ADDRESS TULSA CONGRESS

TULSA, Oklahoma.—The second annual southwestern business congress, to be held in Tulsa October 11 and 12, will have an outstanding agricultural program this year, Col. Clarence Ousley, recognized as one of the best informed agricultural experts in the southwest as well as one of the most fluent and forceful speakers, will again address the assembled business and agricultural leaders of the southwest, on the subject of, "Financing Agricultural Products."

Col. Ousley is one of the most vigorous and picturesque characters in the nation today. For the past quarter of a century he has taken an active interest in agricultural problems, particularly those of an economic nature. He has participated in most of the important movements and conferences concerning rural credits held in the years. When the American commission was sent to Europe in 1913 to study rural credit and co-operative marketing Colonel Ousley was included in the commission. Upon the report made by this commission the Farm Loan bank was based.

Colonel Ousley was director of agricultural extension work at the Texas A & M college from 1914 to 1917. From 1917 to 1919 he was assistant secretary of agriculture at Washington. Prior to his connection with the Texas college Colonel Ousley was a newspaper editor and publisher. He founded the Fort Worth Record. He has written a number of books and magazine articles of agricultural questions and has also delivered lectures on these subjects.

Another feature of this year's southwestern business congress is the fact that it is being held during the same week of the international petroleum exposition and congress in Tulsa, October 8-14. Business men, farmers, and county agents from the states of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, have been invited to attend the sessions of the second annual southwestern business congress and acceptances are being received daily from delegations from various communities.

KATY STARTING ADS. FOR CITY

Will "Tell the World" In A Dozen Big Newspapers In United States.

The "Katy" railroad has begun telling the world about Wichita Falls.

Arrangements have been made by the railroad to advertise this city and its advantages in a dozen big newspapers scattered throughout the country, and with a total circulation of 2,030,402.

The add begins "know the great southwest" over a cut of the main thorofares of the city.

Following it are several paragraphs by the general manager of the local chamber of commerce. It reads as follows:

"Wichita Falls is the center of an oil producing territory—pipe line runs average about 75,000 barrels per day.

"In 1924, 100,000 acres of fertile Wichita river valley will be irrigated by a system of storage water lakes and canals, costing nearly $5,000,000 —making Wichita Falls the center of an intensively developed agricultural region.

"Wichita Falls grew from 8,200 people in 1910 to 17,000 in 1917, with little oil influence. From 1917 to 1920 it increased to 40,079 In 1923, according to census bureau estimate, it has a population of 51,600.

"Cheap fuel oil and natural gas are available for industries. Manufacturing and jobbing is extensive. Wichita Falls is the distributing and supply center for a large area of North Texas and Southern Oklahoma. It has been made headquarters for many large institutions operating in the two states. Stock raising, general farming, fruit and truck raising add to the city's wealth.

"It is a good place to make a living and a good place to live."

ACTS AS LAWYER; CASE IS APPEALED

Acting as his own lawyer and defying the testimony of three speed cops who claimed they used two stop watches and a speedometer to time his maching, P. G. Williamson fought a speeding charge in Justice O. L. Gibbs court Tuesday afternoon and was assessed a fine of $5 by a jury.

Williamson as soon as the jury verdict of guilty was brought in gave notice of appeal to the county court The defendant said he didn't mind paying the $5 fine but it was the principal of the thing he was fighting.

Motorcycle Officers Griffin, Johnson and Cunningham said they caught Williamson speeding on the Burk road recently at the rate of 35 miles an hour. Williamson said he was not going more than 20.

"LIGHTIN' BILL" HAS HOBBIES

One Is Driving a Ford, He Admits

By WINNIE JACKSON

"I have found four hobbies," said Thomas Jefferson, the Bill Jones of 'Lightnin' in an interview Monday. "I am very fond of fishing, painting, playing golf, and, he added dryly, "driving a Ford. I went out in one as far as the lake today."

'Lightnin' Bill Jones is very much the same in every day life as he is on the stage. Despite his years, his eyes sparkle often with humor, and he looks keenly through his tortoise rimmed glasses, and he takes in his surroundings with sharp glances.

"My family is the first one that went on the stage in this country. The first Thomas Jefferson began playing in England in 1717. He was followed by three Joseph Jeffersons, my great grandfather, my grandfather and my father.

"My father's father played the part of Rip Van Winkle in the play of the same name for 17 years. My father then took up the part and played Rip for 45 years. I played the same part for 25 years," Mr. Jefferson said in speaking of his stage career.

"I was 12 years old when I went on the stage. My first part was that of a gnome in Rip Van Winkle at Patterson, New Jersey, when my father was playing the part of Rip. After that, I went to Paris, France, where I studied the French language and the French method of acting. I was there for seven years."

Thomas Jefferson, then a young man, spent two years in England. He returned to America and played under Augustinian Daly.

"Among the others who played with me were John Drew, so famous today in the theatrical world, Mrs. Gilbert, Charles Fisher, Maurice Barrymore, the father of Ethel Barrymore, whom we consider a very fine actress, Lionel and Jack.

"We had quite a repertoire of plays then," he continued reminiscently. "We gave some of the translated French plays, among them being "Divorce," some of the English comedies, including 'School for Scandal,' and some of Shakespeare's plays.

"I went from this company to become manager for my father. Later I began playing the part of Rip, and I did that for 25 years.

For ten years Thomas Jefferson has been playing in moving pictures in California, and "I like California so well that I call it my home," he said.

Mr. Jefferson played in D. W. Griffith's productions. He was with Sessue Hayakawa, Blanche Sweet, Clara Kimball Young, Charles Ray and others in plays. He was a character in the "Vermillion Pencil," and "Beloved Liar," "Sable Lorcha," "The Old Violin Player," and "there were numerous others," Mr. Jefferson said "for you know we made a good many pictures in ten years."

"I have been in pictures ten years and this is the second season that I have been back on the stage. I like the speaking drama better than the silent for when you are disliked, the people hiss. When you are liked, they applaud, but in the pictures you never know."

In speaking of the audiences of the east and west, Mr. Jefferson said that he found every one different. All of them were appreciative, however, of the clever parts.

The creator of the characters, Lightnin' Bill Jones, was Frank Bacon, who died in November of last year. He played the part of 'Lightnin' for five years, and Mr. Jefferson has had it the past two seasons. Playing with Jefferson is the daughter of Bacon, Bessie Bacon, who has the part of a vaudeville actress in the play. Mr. Jefferson is making the success out of "Lightnin'" as his father did of "Rip Van Winkle."

The Rotary club and Wichita Falls citizens are fostering the election of candidates between the ages of 13 and 17 in order to establish a junior citizen day on children's day at the Texas Oklahoma fair.

POLICE CALL IN CARD "HOLDERS"

The following statement which has been submitted by Police Chief George Hodgins regarding violators of the overtime parking law who have refused to appear in court to pay fines or make explanations is self- explanatory:

"It was advertised in the Wichita papers at the beginning of our parking ordinance that all violators when their cars were tagged must bring cards to the city hall. Instead of doing this there are many who have failed to report at all. This of course necessitates a lot of extra work for our traffic officers.

"We have stated before that when we had to send out for such persons who failed to appear a double fine would be inflicted. From now on we will strictly see that this ruling is enforced and a double fine imposed in all such instances. There are a few such cards out at the present time. We ask that these be brought in voluntarily as we desire to keep all traffic records up to date.

EXPECT 300,000 SAYS SHEPHERD

Mammoth Crowd During Fair Week Will Tax City, Says Official

H. E. Shepherd, assistant secretary o fthe Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition to be held here Oct. 1 to 7, inclusive, has visited a score or more of community and county fairs during the past 30 days. He has made the trips to the various towns and cities in the interest of the local fair, and has advertised by songs and speeches the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition.

"The estimate of the number of people who will visit our local fair can be placed at over 200,000. Personally I believe it will be nearer 300,000, because every where I have been people tell me they are coming. Fair week will tax the citizens because they are coming in groups and by the hundreds and thousands," Shepherd said yesterday.

"On our various trips to Oklahoma we found the people really interested. They stated they would come. Delgations of business men and women from many of the southwestern Oklahoma towns will come to the fair in automobiles," Shepherd stated.

Others who have been on the caravan trips to the various fairs believe thousands will see the fair. The general belief is that many will come from long distances in order to see the exposition.
