WHERE TWO MEN DIED—Arthur Dyson, right, highway patrolman, and an unidentified man, look into the 1955 Buick above in which two men were killed about 5:10 o'clock this morning about a mile east of Snyder on the Roby Highway. Driver was James Melvin Overton, 19, of Plains, Tex., and the passenger was Daniel G. Rose, 20, of Seward, Alaska. (Lee Watson photograph)

Two Youths Killed As Car Hits 180 Bridge

Death of two youths in a one-car accident just east of Snyder about 5:10 o'clock this morning started the Memorial Day holiday off with tragedy here.

Both were either killed instantly or died a few minutes after the grinding crash which ripped the top off the 1955 Buick two-door sedan like the top off a sardine can.

Dead are James Melvin Overton, 19, of Plains, Tex. and Daniel G. Rose, 20, of Seward, Alaska, a student at the Citadel Charleston, S. C.

Earl Abercrombie, sheriff, and Arthur Dyson, Texas Highway Patrolman, were investigating the accident this morning, inventorying clothing and other property strewn from the car, and attempting to make a positive identification of the victims.

Both men were pronounced dead on arrival at Cogdell Memorial Hospital where they were taken by Bell ambulances.

The accident occurred 1.6 miles east of the Snyder city limits on a bridge and near a curve in the road about a quarter of a mile west of the Paymaster Gin.

Investigating officers speculated that the driver of the car was Overton, and that he went to sleep and failed to negotiate the curve, going off the pavement on the south side of the road.

The car went into the barrow ditch on the southside of the road, and was attempting to pull back onto the pavement when it struck the guard post and bridge bannister.

The guard post was sheared off and the top of the car was peeled off from the right side. Both men's bodies were thrown from the car, one landing in the creek bed near the car and the other several feet on down the road in the ditch.

Dyson said that the sheriff of Yoakum County (Plains) had been contacted and that he stated that the Overton youth was believed to be an oilfield roughneck, but that he did not know where he had been working recently.

There was no immediate explanation of how the other youth happened to be in the car.

The car was loaded with books, clothing, luggage, a record player, records, and other typical college necessities.

Shattered glass, parts of the car and its contents were strewn over a wide area.

Rose's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Rose of Seward, Alaska. Both are victims of polio and can work only part time.

Dyson talked with the commandant of The Citadel, who said that Rose had just completed his junior year at the military school, was studying abnormal psychology, and was in the top three per cent of his class.

He was working his way through college by attending school during the school term, then returning to Alaska to work each summer and make enough money for another school year.

It is believed he was hitch-hiking his way to Alaska.

Overton had been a student at North Texas State College, Denton, but it is believed he had dropped out of college and was working as an oil field roughneck.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Overton of Plains.

The bodies are at Bell Funeral Home here. Arrangements for funerals had not been made by mid morning.

De Gaulle Waits For Assembly To Decide

By STANLEY JOHNSON

PARIS (AP)—Charles de Gaulle waited at home today while President Rene Coty tried to get the National Assemby to take a vacation and let the general rule France.

The key to whether De Gaulle would receive power legally or in a military coup was in the hands of the Socialist party, which fears the 67-year-old World War II leader as a potential dictator.

So far the Socialists had refused to vote power to De Gaulle. But their all-out opposition seemed to be weakening under the heavy pressure.

The 97 Socialist deputies who hold the balance in Parliament planned to meet today to review their position. But the party's official newspapers said the Socialists would not vote to install De Gaulle.

Coty asked De Gaulle last night to become premier. The general said yes—if Coty could arrange it on De Gaulle's terms.

They conferred after Coty warned the Assembly that the nation's choice in the 17-day crisis had narrowed down to the general or civil war.

Coty and many Frenchmen feared civil war threatened because two militant factions appeared ready to fight: (1) the army-supported rightists determined to end what they consider Parliament's shilly-shallying, and (2) the militant Communists who benefit from weak parliamentary rule.

Coty's statement caused a tumult in Parliament and brought several thousand Parisians into the streets demonstrating in support of De Gaulle. The night before more than 50,000 had demonstrated against him.

Underlining the rightist determination, the insurgent military-civilian command in Algiers renewed threats of army action if De Gaulle was blocked.

In the middle was the mass of ordinary Frenchmen — apparently not very interested.

Many blamed this disinterest for the underlying factors in the present crisis—the faction-ridden, ineffectual Parliament, the government's financial weakness, the loss of overseas territory, and the fall of French prestige abroad, all of which exasperated the army and the rightists to the point of rebellion.

Summoned from his home at Colombey - les - Deux - Eglises, De Gaulle told the President he still refused to deal directly with the political parties which he blames for France's troubles.

That left it up to Coty to do the job which a prospective premier usually handles himself—lining up enough Assembly votes for approval.

After the meeting, De Gaulle drove the 150 miles back to his rural village to receive the cheers of his neighbors — nearly all 312 of them — and to continue conducting the equivalent of a front-porch campaign.

De Gaulle reportedly told Coty he would take over the government under these conditions:

1. His government must receive from the Assembly "for a definite period the full powers necessary to act in the present grave situation." In other words, the Assembly must take a vacation, reportedly for one year. The general consistently has refused to spell out the "full powers" he wants, giving rise to widespread fears of a dictatorial regime which might continue itself after the formal end of a definite period.

2. The Assembly must authorize him "to prepare and submit to the country, through referendum," constitutional revisions to create a stronger executive and to establish a new basis for the now troubled relations between France and her overseas possessions. De Gaulle's experience with referendums is bad. One reason he quit his job as provisional president-premier after World War II was the voters' rejection of his draft constitution providing for a strong executive.

Eighth Grade Promotion Exercise Held

Snyder Junior High School eighth graders were urged last night to take "courses" beyond those offered in the formal curriculm when they enter high school next year.

Dr. Wilton N. Jones, member of the board of education, said he would advise the students to take four courses on their own. He enumerated them as: 1. Learning to enjoy life; 2. Learning to live with others; 3. Learning to learn, and, 4. Learning the manly art of self respect.

These factors, he suggested, will become highly important in the lives of the students, and those who learn the "courses" well may expect to lead fruitful lives.

Bob Fields, president-elect of the high school student body, urged the eighth graders to take full advantage of the opportunities they will be afforded in high school. Frances Martin, valedictorian of the eighth grade class, in a response to Fields address, said the eighth graders were looking forward to successful careers in high school.

Special music was presented by the junior high girls choir, under direction of Mrs. Nan Lee.

The 73 honor students were introduced by Ralph Laswell, junior high principal, and diplomas were presented by M. E. Stanfield, acting superintendent of schools.

Mike Morris, president of the junior high student body, led the invocation, and Willie May Eades, salutatorian the benediction.

Road Work Bids Asked

Scurry County roads projects will be up for bids at the June 10-11 opening of the Texas Highway Department.

Included is the Snyder project to improve the Big Spring Highway from the Deep Creek bridge 1.8 miles south to Cogdell Memorial Hospital. That project calls for widening to four lanes and installation of curb and gutter for that segment of State Highway 350, which is Avenue S in Snyder.

In addition, bids will be opened on seal coating of 56.5 miles of farm to market roads in Scurry and neighboring counties.

Kermit Blast Fatal To One

KERMIT, Tex. (AP)—One man was killed and another injured seriously yesterday by an explosion at a 20,000-gallon gasoline storage tank about four miles northwest of here. The tank did not catch fire.

Austin Warnick, 30, installation operator at the Cabot Carbon Co. plant, was killed. Kenneth Pledger, 26, assistant operator, suffered several broken bones, cuts and bruises.

Girl, Mother In Collision

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Graduation and marriage awaited Dianne Montgomery as she drove to Byrd High School Thursday. A few hours later she was dead of injuries suffered when her car collided with an automobile driven by her mother.

State police said the cars were traveling about 50 miles an hour when they collided. Mrs. L. E. Montgomery, Dianne's mother, said she saw her daughter's car approaching in the wrong lane but she thought the girl was teasing her and would move back to her proper lane.

The 18-year-old girl was driving a car owned by her fiance Jerry Monroe. They had planned to marry in the near future.

Mrs. Montgomery suffered lacerations and was placed under observation at a hospital.

Both automobiles were badly damaged. State police said skid marks showed Mrs. Montgomery applied her brakes 15 feet from the point of impact.

Boy Uninjured In Bicycle-Car Crash

A small boy was "scared" but not injured when the bicycle he was riding and a car collided at Twenty-fourth Street and Avenue Q about noon yesterday, police said.

The boy is Ronnie Richey, 1408 Twenty-fifth Street.

Driver and owner of the 1951 Chevrolet car involved is Dennis Carl Browning, 114 Milburn Street.

A Bolger ambulance was sent to the scene, but was not needed when investigating officers found that the boy was uninjured.

Two Unknown Soldiers Get Highest Honors In Rites

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid highest honors, two unknown Americans who fell in World War II and Korea go to their final rest today beside the nameless soldier who died three wars ago.

From the Capital rotunda where they have lain in state, a great cortege bears them across the city and over the Potomac River to the white marble amphitheater in Arlington National Cemetery.

During the afternoon they will receive the nation's grateful homage before the identical bronze caskets are lowered into twin crypts flanking the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

President Eisenhower will place upon each casket the Medal of Honor with the simple word "valor" on a bar above a star. There is no higher United States military award.

The phrasing of the citation for the medals, like the simple dignity of the single word on the medal, was brief.

One said that the unknown American exemplified "the selflessness of all our fallen heroes of the second World War who, in courageous defense of the ideals of democracy against aggression, gave their lives to preserve our noble heritage."

The other cited a man "symbolic of the gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty of all members of the armed forces of the United States who gave their lives in the Korean conflict while defending the ideals of freedom and democracy."

Because the religions, like the identity of these two men, were unknown, the clergy of several faiths were joined in the ritual.

On the high stage of the apse at one side of the amphitheater's columned circle have rested the caskets of many famous fighting men.

Dream Plane To Make Debut Today

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The Douglas Aircraft Co. prepared to realize a dream today and unloose its prize peacetime bird.

This is the day for the launching of the gigantic Douglas jet passenger airliner, a craft that can carry up to 176 passengers and cross the nation in just 4½ hours.

The company rates its top speed at 600 miles an hour.

The company said it had poured 250 million dollars of private capital into development of the jetliner, the Douglas DC8.

For years the Douglas company had been making preliminary studies for a jet passenger airliner.

Just three years ago Donald W. Douglas, board chairman, issued the directive that converted the ideas into the beginning of a firm project.

Today the company has orders for 138 from 17 commercial airlines, ranging from 40 for United Airlines to one for Trans Caribbean Airways. Douglas said the 138 jetliners will have a value of some 700 million dollars.

The DC8 is the first big jetliner to emerge from the Southern California aircraft plants and the second such craft to be developed in the nation. The other is the Boeing 707, already being flown. The Douglas and Boeing planes are "pure" jets without propellers.

The company said delivery of the DC8s to airlines is scheduled to begin the middle of next year and passenger service over United States routes will start before the end of 1959.

At the controls today were A.G. Heimerdinger, 48, the pliot; William H. Magruder, 35; copilot, and Paul H. Patten, 33, a Douglas test pilot acting as systems operator.

The big white jetliner, marked with red and blue stripes, has a tail that sticks in the air as high as a three-story building. From wingtip to wingtip it measures 139 feet 9 inches and it is 150 feet 6 inches in length. The first production DC8 is powered by four Pratt & Whitney turbojet engines.

Although its top speed is rated at 600 miles per hour, the level flight maximum cruise speed at 30,000 feet is rated at 561 miles an hour. The company said it has a maximum range of 3,900 miles. It has a fuel capacity of 17,600 gallons.

Traffic Toll Reaches 38

Glance

By The Associated Press

Traffic	38
Drowning	4
Miscellaneous	2
Total	44

Traffic deaths in the first hours of the three-day Memorial Day appeared running below normal today. But safety experts held to their preholiday estimate that 350 persons will be killed in highway accidents during the extended weekend.

The National Safety Council, which estimated the death toll, also predicted more than 40 million cars will be on the highways during the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. (local time) Thursday to midnight Sunday.

Last year the Memorial Day holiday period covered four days and the 413 traffic deaths was a record high for the Decoration Day observance. The over-all all-accident death total of 660 also was a record for a four-day Memorial Day period. It included 134 drownings and 113 fatalities in miscellaneous accidents.

The highest traffic toll for a three-day Memorial Day period was 369 in 1955.

Texas Oil Firms Deny Violations

By The Associated Press

Three Texas-based oil companies indicted for conspiring to violate antitrust laws strongly deny they violated any laws in oil pricing.

Their presidents labeled the charges "unfounded, politically inspired criticism," "ridiculous and illogical" and "astounding."

Humble Oil Refining Co. and Continental Oil Co., both of Houston, and Magnolia Petroleum Co. of Dallas were among 29 oil companies indicted by a federal grand jury at Alexandria, Va., Thursday. All are charged with conspiring to violate anitrust laws while establishing crude oil and gasoline prices.

Morgan Davis, president of Humble, Texas affiliate of Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, called the charges "unfounded politically inspired criticism." He said Humble had not conspired with anyone and the company's "long practiced methods of crude oil and produce pricing violate no laws."

L. F. McCollum, Continental president, said the indictment "is ridiculous and illogical" and his company is ready to prove in court "our complete innocence of these charges."

J. L. Lattimer, president of Magnolia, said the accusation against his company was "astounding" and "we deny it in whole and in part."

Both McCollum and Lattimer noted their companies did not produce enough oil to meet their needs and had raised their purchase price of crude oil in order to stay in business.

Davis said he had not seen the grand jury's report and could not comment specifically on its contents.

Soldier Completes Two Days In 'Space'

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Sgt. Marion Aydt has completed two days in the simulated space ship in which Airman Donald Farrell spent his well publicized week.

Aydt, 28, says of his experience: "The first few hours were okay, but after that it was a mild taste of hell."

The sergeant, of Kansas City, was sealed in the experimental capsule at the School of Aviation Medicine from noon May 20 until noon May 22.

Lt. Col. George Steinkamp, chief of the department of space medicine, said it was one of a series of experiments on space flight.

UAW Pact With GM Expires

By CHARLES C. CAIN

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors' contract with the United Auto Workers expired today as the company rejected a last-minute bid by the UAW to work out a temporary agreement covering 300,000 GM workers.

The UAW then centered its attention on Ford and Chrysler in hopes of working out new agreements with both companies before current three-year contracts run out Sunday midnight.

GM, like Ford and Chrysler, stood steadfast through weeks of negotiations on its offer to extend the current agreement for two years.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen he was "disappointed but not bitter" over failure to agree on a new GM contract.

Reuther, weary after a last-minute bargaining session that ran all day and up to the midnight expiration time, obviously was unhappy as he disclosed that for the first time in 21 years UAW members at GM would have to work without a union contract.

In previous years when contracts between UAW and the automotive Big Three ran out, the pacts were extended on a week-to-week basis until new agreements were concluded. This time, GM charged the union with bad faith in bargaining and declined a temporary extension despite union requests.

Both the union and the company have issued instructions on how to operate without a pact.

The terms were set Wednesday by GM. They generally follow the contract that expired Thursday night—except the company will quit collecting members' dues for the union and UAW membership will not be a condition of employment at GM.

The union said it planned to put hourly rated workers be given a men on GM plant gates to check membership cards of employes in an effort to maintain an all-union shop.

Reuther admittedly faced an uphill fight to achieve his goals for auto workers in this recession year. He wants wage increases, improved pension benefits and a share of profits from firms financially able to pay them.

GM earlier estimated the UAW demands would add 73 cents to the present $2.40 hourly wage for GM workers. It changed this figure to 48 cents an hour after the union revised some demands.

GM said extension of the old agreement would give workers a 9-cent pay hike this year and 7 cents in 1959.

The UAW president failed in a dramatic peace offer he made to GM in the final five minutes before the contract ran out.

Reuther suggested that GM chance to vote in a secret ballot whether they favored the two-year extension offered by GM or the multipoint demands made by the UAW.

Under Reuther's proposal, if a majority of workers favored the union proposals, GM would be bound to bargain on them.

If the workers preferred GM's contract offer, Reuther said the union would accept the two-year extension.

The UAW proposal stipulated that if the workers prefer the UAW package, GM would be obliged to bargain with the union on unresolved issues for 30 days. At the end of that time the unsolved issues would go to arbitration.

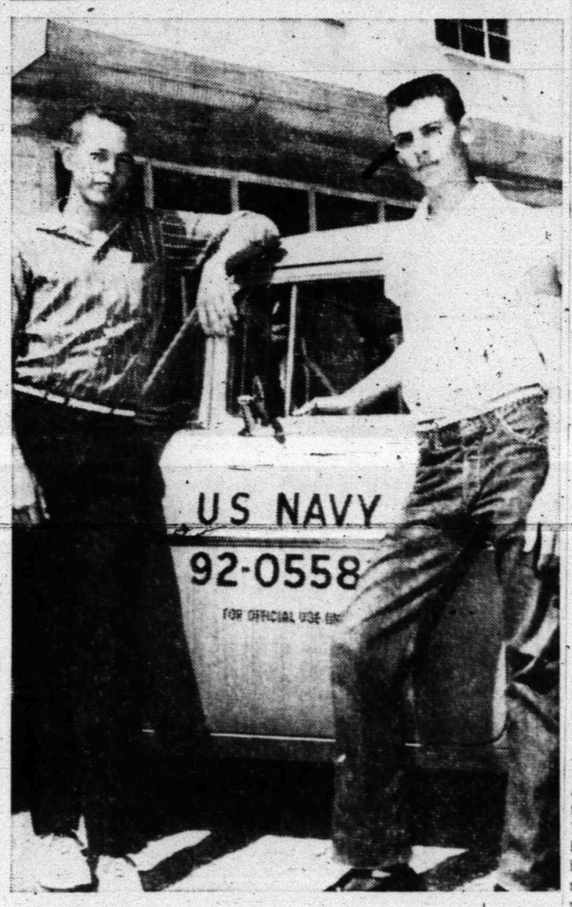

GM, through Vice President Louis G. Seaton, rejected the suggestion. Seaton said it was a revised version of proposals the union made earlier.

Women Have Their Share Of Tribulations In England

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP)—It was ladies' day in England Thursday.

A woman was hauled into court on a burglary charge because the elastic in her panties gave way.

A girl pulled the wrong chain and stopped a train carrying 300 passengers.

A girl was parted from her bridegroom by the Town Council, which held that his presence overcrowded the house they lived in.

And the strongest girl in the world lost her grip on her fiance.

First, the case of the perfidious panties. They belonged to Mrs. Maude King of suburban West Ham. She was walking down the street when the elastic snapped. As the pantes began their slow but certain slither into public view, comely Mrs. King looked frantically about for cover. Spying what she thought was a vacant bungalow, she popped in through a window to make emergency repairs. At this point the front door opened and in walked the bungalow's owner, Frederick Dowie. He called the police.

Mrs. King blushingly told the judge her story. He acquitted her.

Up in East Anglia, meanwhile, a fast train from London jolted to a halt several miles short of Norwich, its destination. Somebody had pulled the emergency brake chain. The conductor rapped on the door of the ladies' room and out darted a frightened schoolgirl, almost in tears.

"I pulled and pulled and pulled, and I can't make the lavatory go," she gasped.

Over to Haydock in Lancashire. There the Town Council notified Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Marsh that their new son-in-law Melvin Shaw makes one tenant too many in their town-owned house. Melvin must go. His bride, nee Melva Marsh, may stay.

Back to London, where strong girl Joan Rhodes—she rips phone books and such as vaudeville headliner—learned that you can't bend a male in your hands like a nail.

Her fiance, singer Don Rennie, said he is calling it quits because after a two-year engagement Joan still won't name a day for the nuptials. Also his friends made too many jokes about his comparative puniness.

Miss Rhodes, a piquant brunette of 37-22-37, once sprained Bob Hope's back in a TV romp demonstrating the power of her sinews. Advised of Rennie's announcement, she commented: "I may be the strongest woman in the world, but I'm woman just the same.

Flags Flying Over Graves

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — The graves of 150 long-forgotten sailormen were shipshape this Memorial Day because of Siegfried von Hartenstein, 87, retired gunner's mate.

Six years ago he came across a desolate, weed-grown cemetery with rotting wooden crosses. He embarked on a one-man rehabilitation project, with watering pot, gardening tools and tulip bulbs.

His efforts through the years attracted the attention and cooperation of the American Legion and the Quincy Veterans Bureau.

Today flags fluttered over graves blanketed by smoothly trimmed sod and neat marble stones have replaced many of the fallen wooden crosses.

Von Hartenstein said he learned the 150 departed seafarers had been residents of an old sailors' home which was torn down years ago.

Two Twisters Near Houston Cause Damage

By The Associated Press

More scattered thunderstorms were predicted for Texas Friday in the wake of damaging storms Thursday night.

Two small tornadoes, hail and thunderstorms ripped across western Harris County on the Gulf Coast Thursday night.

Scattered damage was reported at near Barker and at Spring Branch, but no one was injured.

K. D. Wagner of Barker said he saw the two twisters whipping about several miles south of Barker.

"They didn't seem to touch the ground," he said, "and they were not very large."

Two houses were damaged, a barn unroofed and crops damaged in the Barker area. At Spring Branch, hail, wind and rain hit. A plate glass window was blown out of an auto showroom.

Skies were cloudy over Central and North Texas early Friday and partly cloudy elsewhere.

Showers were reported in the Childress and Wichita Falls areas.

Dawn temperatures ranged from 60 degrees at Dalhart to 79 at Galveston.

Highs Thursday varied from 108 at Presidio to 88 at Corpus Christi and Galveston.

Offciial rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 p.m. Thursday was .78 of an inch at Beaumont, .09 at Waco and traces at Victoria, Van Horn and Dalhart.

Vacation time is near. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country, and automobile accidents will occur with increasing frequency. What should a person do when involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. It is therefore a good idea to plan in advance just what you would do in event of a smash-up. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.

2. Render Aid. If anyone is injured: (1) Render first aid. (2) Stop bleeding. (3) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both. (4) Do not move an injured person in any way that could possible add to his injury.

3. Protect the Scene from Further Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.

4. Call an Officer. Policemen, Highway Patrolmen, Sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

5. Gather Information . . Write it Down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess — be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the other driver — and he must do the same.

6. Be Careful What You Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.

7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses, while there memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.

9. Inform Your Insurance Company Promptly. Failure to do so may void your policy.

10. Report the Accident to the Department of Public Safety. This is required by law if there is any injury, death, or total damages exceed $25.00.

An official accident report form may be procured from the Police, Sheriff's Dept., Highway Patrol, or State Depart. of Public Safety.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

New Drink Tip

Here's a beverage called orange flip the kids will love: beat an egg until light and add one-half cup tangy orange-ade, one-half cup milk plus a sprinkling of sugar. This is a drink not be be overlooked for anyone in sick-bay too, for it packs a lot of good nourishment.

Crew Saved From Sinking Submarine

HONOLULU (AP) — The submarine Stickelback sank Thursday night off Oahu Island 5½ hours after being rammed by the destroyer escort Silverstein during antisubmarine exercises. No one was injured.

The Stickelback was submerged when the collision occurred but immediately surfaced and tied up alongside the Silverstein while her crew of 74 men and eight officers escaped, the Navy said.

Despite intensive salvage efforts the submarine flooded and sank in 1,500 fathoms 19 miles southwest of the channel entrance to Pearl Harbor.

The Silverstein reported a damaged bow but said she did not need assistance.

A Navy crash boat returned 38 of the Stickelback's crew to Pearl Harbor. Lt. Cmdr. Q. R. Schulz, the sub's skipper, and the other 43 headed back aboard the submarine rescue vessel Greenlet.

A board of investigation will be ordered to determine the cause of the collision, the Navy said.

Court Denies Cantrell Plea

DALLAS (AP)—Grover Cantrell, self-styled "Stevenson Republican," was denied a place on the ballot today as a Republican candidate for Congress from Dallas County.

The decision was made by the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals.

Cantrell announced earlier as an opponent against Rep. Bruce Alger, Texas' only republican in congress.

Cantrell is a leader of the Communications Workers of America.

Cantrell said he would appeal to the state Supreme Court.

Republicans, contesting Cantrell's application for a place on the ballot, claimed he did not file in good faith, and that in fact he was more Democrat than Republican.

The labor leader, in announcing against Alger, admitted that he backed Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate against Dwight Eisenhower in the last national elections.

Government Payroll Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) announced today that civilian employes of the federal government increased 9,255 in April as compared with March.

However, the total remained 63,562 under the figure for April 1957.

Byrd listed the total as 2,333,202 in April compared with 2,323,947 in March and 2,395,764 in April a year ago.

Total employment in civilian agencies in April was 1,245,588, an increase of 6,190 in the month. Civilian employment totaled 1,087,614 in the military agencies in April, up 3,065 over March.

Byrd said there also were 222,424 foreign nationals working for U. S. government agencies abroad in April, down 600 in the month.

The figures were in the senator's monthly report as chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Spending.

Sentence Of Shaver Upheld

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals refused yesterday to free convicted child murderer Jimmy Shaver of San Antonio, but granted him 10 additional days' stay to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The appellate court upheld the refusal of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to grant him a writ of habeas corpus.

Shaver, 33, a former airman, was convicted of the slaying of Chere Horton, 3, who was killed in a gravel pit near San Antonio in July, 1954.

He was sentenced to die in the electric chair but gained his third stay of execution when Don Summers, a former jailmate of Shaver, said he killed the little girl.

Every Child Must Know He Is Loved.

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

THE OTHER DAY I was having lunch in a small restaurant. In the booth opposite was a young mother and her two children, a little girl about 18 months old and a little boy about three. I was struck by the difference in the way this mother treated her two children. I am sure it was quite unconscious on her part. The little girl, it seemed, could do no wrong, but the little boy could do no right.

"Don't bite that straw, Billy. I won't let you have any more if you can't suck it properly. You know how to do it."

The straw of Billy's milkshake got flatter and flatter. Mothers angrily grabbed the glass from him and put it on the table. Billy didn't put up any fuss, he turned his attention to his hamburger.

FAVORITISM

Mother had an arm around the little girl. "Another bite, Lisa, darling," the mother cooed. Lisa turned her head, opened her mouth for the bite, but her little chubby hands dove into the mashed potatoes on her plate.

"All right, sweetie, have it that way if you like." And mother beamed approval.

Meanwhile Billy was busy. Mother turned to him and her whole manner changed.

"Billy," she yelled, "put that pepper down, you know you're not allowed to have pepper."

Billy went right on peppering his hamburger. Mother pulled her arm away from Lisa knocking over a glass of milk, flounced toward Billy and said angrily:

"Why can't you ever behave — can't you see I'm busy with Lisa?"

Billy sat back on the bench, put his thumb in his mouth and sulked. And so it went from beaming approval of Lisa to angry condemnation of poor little Billy. Not only the words but the tone of voice and the facial expression changed completely as this mother paid attention first to one child and then to the other.

What did the children get out of this attitude on the part of their mother? It is really pretty obvious. Billy felt rejected and unloved. Nothing he did was any good. He was much too young to put it into words but he wasn't too young to feel. He was anxious about his place in the world, he was afraid and lonesome.

LOVE NEEDED

To a little child the most important thing in life is to feel secure with his parents, to feel that he is loved just the way he is. This doesn't mean he'll have a smug self-confidence and want always to stay as he is. Quite the contrary he has an inner push that makes him want to grow and develop and change, but he also needs the deep down security of knowing that in the eyes and heart of his protecting parents he's a pretty good guy. That feeling gives him the confidence to try new things and to grow up normally.

In Billy's anxious state all he wanted to do was revert to the babyish behavior of sucking his thumb.

Courageous Women Bare Cancer Quacks

By HARRY JUPITER

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — There are those, glib of tongue, who profit from the human fear of cancer by claiming to cure the incurable. And there are those with the courage to expose them.

Mrs. Eleanor McKee and Mrs. Claire Schaefer are among the courageous — volunteers in the fight against cancer quackery.

Mrs. McKee, a 34-year-old Woodville farmwife, carries a burn scar on her shoulder from the job she did in gathering evidence against Perle Savely, 79, of Lemoore, Calif.

Mrs. Schaefer, 50, of Bakersfield, executive secretary of the Kern County Cancer Society, went through treatment by a fantastic "ozone machine" to expose Franklin D. Lee, 70, of Bakersfield.

Savely and Lee were convicted of practicing medicine without a license. Savely was fined $400, placed on probation for two years and ordered to make restitution to his "patients." Lee was jailed for one year.

Mrs. McKee and Mrs. Schaefer met for the first time recently when they were honored in San Francisco by the American Cancer Society for their undercover work.

The quiet-spoken farmwife — the mother of five children — said she had been criticized by some people for her part in exposing Savely. It was so discouraging, she said, she consulted her minister, who "put his arm around me and said he was proud of me."

But there were rewards.

The Tulare Advance-Register wrote an editorial addressing her by name:

"To you goes our nomination as Tulare County's 'womait of the year' for your humanitarian work in exposing a cancer cure 'quack' by exposing yourself to his treatment."

Mrs. Schafer's greatest reward was even more personal.

"After Lee's trial, I heard of a woman who had planned to go to him," she said.

"She listened to the trial, then went to a regular doctor, who sent her to the county hospital. She's being treated for her ailment. Even if she were the only one and I'm sure there are more — I feel that whatever I have done was well worthwhile."

Mrs. McKee, whose mother died of cancer, became worried after failing to dissuade a friend from going to Savely. She consulted the California Cancer Society. Agents Administration persuaded her to go to Savely's house and show him a non-pig-mented mole on her right shoulder.

"I agreed to do what I could, but I certainly didn't know what I was getting into," she said.

"He reached into a bag and took out a 10-cent magnifying glass the kind my children often play with, and looked at my shoulder. He frowned and told me I had cancer.

"He took a shoe paste jar from a box and took a penknife from his pocket. He wiped the knife on his pants and then used it to spread ointment from the jar on the mole on my shoulder.

"He was so convincing, apparently so sincere, that even though I knew he was lying, I half believed him."

On another visit, Mrs. McKee was accompanied by a Pure Food and Drug agent who posed as her brother. A sample of the ointment was obtained. After analyzing it, agents arrested Savely.

Mrs. Schaefer was accompanied on her first visit to Lee by Mrs. Vernice Jensen, who had a miniature wire recorder concealed in her dress.

Lee examined Mrs. Schaefer's foot, explaining that all nerves were centered there. After squeezing the foot until she winced, she said Lee told her she had kidney trouble, "needed a cleanup job inside," had a strong heart, a liver that was acting up, had female trouble and internal disorder.

Mrs. Schaefer said Lee treated her with an "ozone machine," a box and board with lighted tubes. It emitted fumes that made her dizzy as he moved it back and forth across her body, she said.

After that, he prescribed sabe tea and a flesh-burning ointment. Lee was arrested during Mrs. Schaefer's third visit.

"He had a fatherly appearance," Mrs. Schaefer said.

"He was pleasant, jolly, reassuring and sang hymns in a nice baritone voice as he went from patient to patient. He said he could be a doctor if he wanted to but he didn't want to."

Alaskans Are Pepped Up

Alaska, which is the last true American frontier territory, is all pepped up over the possibility of becoming a state.

The people up there, some 205,000 of them, are not letting their hopes run rampant, because they know too well that statehood cannot come until the final hurdle is cleared. However, they are somewhat jubilant since the Alaska statehood bill was literally rescued from the ash can in the House of Representatives the other day after it appeared that the issue was dead so far as this session of Congress is concerned.

Now, the issue is up to the U. S. Senate, and a fight is predicted there.

Many arguments have been advanced on both sides of the Alaska statehood question, and one has been attributed to Texas. There are those who say that Texans are opposed to statehood for Alaska because it would mean that Texas would become the second largest state in the union.

We suspect that most Texans today have reached the stage where they would be willing to point with pride to quality as well as quantity, and that if quantity (of territory, that is) should become the prime issue, Texans would swallow their brags and accept Alaska as a state.

After all, Texas has much more than mere size to boast about. And, come to think of it, size is not the sole license for boasting. Californians have not allowed the fact that there's is the second largest state to stand between them and their ballyhoo.

Tribute Due Our Founding Fathers

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) —Tribute can be paid this Memorial Day—when the French are in crisis—to the American Founding Fathers for their wisdom in establishing this kind of government.

Here is a brief rundown — there's no room for a lot of details —on why there's stability in the American and British governmental systems but so little in France, which has had 25 governments since World War II.

The big curse of the French system is the number of political parties. In the United States and Britain there are only two major political parties: here the Democrats and Republicans; in Britain the Conservatives and Laborites.

In the French Assembly the 596 seats are divided among at least 12 major political groups — ranging from far left to far right—and a number of splinter factions.

The French have wanted this broad representation for varied viewpoints to prevent one man, or one party, from dominating. This stems from their historical recollection of, and their distate for, dictatorships.

The Communists have the greatest number of Assembly seats: 142 out of the 596 total. Next most powerful are the Socialists, with 97, and so on down to nine members not connected with any party.

When there is a major issue the Premier — or for that matter anyone in the Assembly — can call for a vote of confidence in the Premier and the group around him running the country at the moment.

If a premier fails in the vote of confidence, The President (merely a figurehead in France) must find someone else who can get enough support from the various factions to form a new government.

That support, as the history of these past 13 years shows, has never lasted long. The result has been instability that has brought the republic tottering to the edge of chaos.

The British don't have that kind of trouble. In the House of Commons the two big parties — Conservatives and Laborites — dominate the House of Commons. They hold almost all the seats between them, with the Conservatives in a majority.

There a party is chosen to run the government for five years. The leader of the party becomes prime minister. If he faces a major issue where he loses a vote of confidence, or thinks there's doubt he has such confidence, he can ask the Queen to dissolve Parliament and order new elections.

In this country, because of the provisions written into the Constitution, there is more stability than under the British system although it may be argued the American system may not be so responsive to public feeling as the British.

Here a president and vice president are elected for four-year terms, to run the government. They can't be ousted in that period except for gross misconduct, no matter what members of Congress feel about them.

To allow the people to express their views during that four-year period, the Constitution calls for election every two years of the entire membership of the House and a third of the Senate.

This illustrates how completely the two big American parties dominate the American governmental system: in the 1956 presidential election, over 62 million votes were cast. Although a number of other parties ran candidates, altogether they got less than 1 per cent of the vote.

And there are only Democrats and Republicans in Congress now, with the Democrats in charge because they outnumber the Republicans.

New Current Runs Through Algeria

By DAVID MASON

ALGIERS (AP) — A little group of foreign journalists, making sure nobody thought they were French walked through the streets of Algiers' famed, filthy Casbah today.

"What about your rebellion against the French?" they asked the Algerians jamming the Moslem quarter. "Has there really been a reconciliation between the French and you, Moslems?"

Across the city, on the sunswept square in front of Government House, an endless series of balcony speakers proclaims daily that "today we do not speak of the Moslems and the French of Algeria—we speak only of 10 million Frenchmen."

In the Casbah a Moslem butcher in booby apron trims the ears off a sheep's head, points to the sky with his knife and says with an uncertain smile, "Only Allah knows if the fighting is really over."

On the Rue de Lion, more a tunnel than a street, a gold-toothed grocer opines cautiously, "Maybe. One must wait and see."

Down have come most of the barbed wire barricades around the teeming native quarter. It is a rare sight to see a red-capped Zouave soldier kicking in a door as he enters to search for hidden arms.

The Moslems once more move freely through the streets, buying generous supplies of sticky sweet honey and almond cake, mutton and fat, round loaves of bread.

Stern army measures have made Algiers virtually off limits for the rebels, who once put together potent bombs in the Casbah and slipped into the European quarter to kill and cripple. But the Moslems were sullen and subdued.

Then came the stunning "revolution of May 13"—the revolt of the army and the French colonists against the Paris regime.

With the revolution came a startling "reconciliation" between thousands of Moslems and French. By the thousands they embraced and stood together to cheer Charles de Gaulle and the rousing talk of a new Algerian, an Algeria of 10 million Frenchmen instead of a colony of one million French rulers and nine million subject Moslems.

No one can doubt there is a new and bewildering current running through this tortured country.

But someday the shouting from the balconies will be stilled, and the generals and the politicians will have settled their differences.

Then will the French in Algeria give the Moslems the equality they have denied them for 3½ years?

Will the French colonists give up the paramount position they defied Paris to defend? Will the Moslem rebels abandon their fight for independence to rally around the Cross of Lorraine?

"One must wait and see," says the grocer on the Rue de Lion.

Adm. Felt Seen As Thorough Officer

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A serious and thorough officer, a stickler for detail, a hard taskmaster over himself as well as his subordinates—that is Adm. Harry D. Felt as his associates see him.

He is the officer picked by President Eisenhower this week to take over Aug. 1 as commander in chief of U. S. forces in the Pacific. He has been vice chief of naval operations for nearly two years.

Felt, 55, replaces Adm. Felix Stump.

Slight of build and medium in height, he has kept most of his chestnut brown hair. He uses glasses only for reading fine print and walks with a spring in his step.

Devoted to his career, he has no known outside hobbies except for a little fishing, preferably by the deep sea variety.

Felt was making his way in the Navy at about average speed until World War II broke out. An aviator, he got his chance early in the conflict as an air group commander. He was on board the old carrier Saratoga when that veteran of the seas took part in the first U. S. offensive action of the war in the Pacific, the Battle of Guadalcanal.

Before that bitter campaign was over, Lt. Cmdr. Felt had won the Navy Cross and a transfer back home to train combat pilots.

After a year in Moscow as a member of the wartime military mission to the Soviet Union, he commanded the small carrier Chenango in the Okinawa campaign.

Early in 1956, as a vice admiral, he was given his first major naval command, the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean. Only months later, he became a full admiral when he was appointed Sept. 1, 1956, to be vice chief of naval operations.

He has a major task ahead.

The Pacific command, since the close of the war in Korea, has taken over virtually all the military forces west of the West Coast. They include about 300,000 men of all services, a sizable slice of U. S. airpower and about half the fighting ships of the Navy.

The commander in chief, Pacific, also has the responsibility of dealing directly with the military chiefs of friendly nations in the western Pacific.

Felt was born in Topeka, Kan., June 21, 1902.

His wife is the former Kathryn Cowley, Mobile, Ala. Their son, Navy Lt. Donald Linn Felt, is a naval aviator and is now on duty in the Mediterranean.

General Flies Copter To New Assignment

FT. JACKSON, S.C. (AP)—Maj. Gen. N. A. Costello soon may have everything in Korea looking up.

The general, who will take command of the 7th Infantry Division in Korea, arrived on schedule to review the troops here yesterday —one day after finishing helicopter pilots' school. He landed a whirly-bird neatly beside the reviewing stand and took his place beside the other brass.

Wreaths Place On Hong Kong Graves

HONG KONG (AP) — U.S. Consul General James B. Pilcher today placed Memorial Day wreaths on the graves of six American World War II dead.

Those commemorated were U.S. Consul F.R. Engdahl, who died in a Japanese internment camp in Hong Kong, and five servicemen believed to have been shot down in an American bomber in 1942.

An honor guard from the U.S. seaplane tender Floyds Bay participated in the ceremony. Several representatives of the American community in Hong Kong attended.

Giants, White Sox Wee Loop Victors

The Trinity Methodist White Sox spotted the Von Roeder Indians an 8-0 lead and then fought back for an 11-10 victory over the Tribe in an American Little League game last night.

The Quarterback Giants captured a 12-4 decision over the Kiwanis Braves in the National Little League encounter.

The White Sox broke a 10-10 tie in the last of the sixth inning to climax their uphill battle. Shortstop Jimmy Wilson drove in Stanley Baize with the deciding run.

It was Wilson's third hit of the game. James Baker also got three hits for the White Sox, one a double.

J. D. Allen pitched and battled the Giants to their crushing victory over the Braves.

Allen hurled a four-hitter and had a perfect night at the plate, four-for-four, that included a homerun.

Dock Rinehart also homered for the Giants and Jack Keller contributed three hits, two snigles and a double.

Benny Minor and Bob Hart with two hits apiece were the leading Braves batsmen.

2 Teams Gain Berths In State Tourney

By The Associated Press

Two teams — Lufkin and Austin — already are in the state and six more will get places in playoff games this weekend.

Lufkin reached the tournament Thursday when the Panthers beat Dallas Jefferson in a doubleheader, 7-3 and 3-2. Austin gained its spot by downing San Antonio Harlandale in a twin bill, 6-0 and 6-4.

Defending Class AAAA state champion Abilene will try to return to the state tournament in a double - header with Fort Worth Paschal at Abilene Friday. Paschal won the first game 7-0 and Abilene must take two to make the grade.

Houston Lamar goes to Beaumont for a twin - bill Friday, if two games are needed. Lamar won the first game 3-0.

Class AAA can decide three of four places Friday. Snyder and Mineral Wells are tied at a game apiece and determine things in a game at Snyder. Corsicana evened the series with Fort Worth Brewer with a 2-0 victory. They play the third game at Fort Worth Saturday.

Port Neches is a game up on Killeen as they prepare to square off at Killeen Friday.

South San Antonio and Cuero are tied at a game each and they decide the issue at Seguin Friday.

Sul Ross Gets 1st Round Bye

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—Defending champion Sul Ross will draw a bye in the first round of the NAIA baseball tournament here next week.

Pairings for the tournament, bringing 12 teams into action, were announced today.

Wednesday, College of the Ozarks meets Mayville State of North Dakota in the opening game. Fairmont of West Virginia clashes with Simpson of Iowa; Indiana State meets Elon of North Carolina; St. Cloud of Minnesota tackles Adams State of Colorado; Southwestern Oklahoma takes on the winner of the Ozarks-Mayville game; Creighton of Omaha plays the Fairmont-Simpton winner.

Thursday, San Diego State plays the winner of the Indiana State-Elon game and Sul Ross engages the St. loud-Adams State winner.

Finals will be Saturday, June 7.

The showdown battle between the Tigers and Mineral Wells Mountaineers for the Region 1-AAA baseball title will be unreeled today at Towle Park, starting at 4 p. m.

Emma Lee add

The Tigers squared the series yesterday at a game apiece by defeating the Rams, 6-2, at Towle Park. Mineral Wells had won the opening game of the series Wednesday at Mineral Wells, 2-1.

Relief pitcher Dick Hayes sparkled in the Tiger triumph yesterday. Hayes turned in a six-inning one-hit job after taking over from starter Tim Roberts in the second.

Roberts, although he did not give up a hit, was removed in the second inning because of wildness. Roberts retired the Mountaineers in order in the first inning but then walked the first three Rams to face him in the second inning and when he threw two balls to the fourth batsman, Hayes was summoned from the bull pen.

Hayes escaped with only two runs crossing and from then on he was virtually invincible.

Only two Mountaineers got on base off Hayes after the second inning, both on walks. One of the Rams getting aboard during the last five innings was erased on a double play. Hayes struck out five Mountaineers.

The Tigers shelled starting pitcher Roy Wilson in a hurry, banging out three hits good for four runs in the first inning. Wilson departed after retiring only one Tiger in the first in favor of Bill Jean.

Jean finished up and was touched for seven hits and the final two Tiger runs.

In the big Tiger first, Gary Vice led with a walk. Neil Boyd sacrificed Vice to second and the Tiger shortstop came in on a single by Kenny Drake. Drake, taking second on the throw-in from the outfield, then scored on a single to right by Richard Mahan.

Mahan also took second on the throw-in and he scored easily on Coleman John's double to deep left-center. John continued on around the bases when shortstop Jack Ingle, who took the relay from the outfield, made a wild throw to third that hit the Tiger dugout and John was waved home by the umpire with the fourth run via a ground rule.

Jean entered the scene at this point and although he gave up a hit in every inning with exception of the sixth, he held the Bengals to two markers the rest of the way.

The Tigers scored their other two runs in the second inning on a walk to Vice and successive singles by Boyd, Kenny Drake and Mahan.

Johnny Drake doubled in the third, Boyd and John singled in the fourth and Hayes doubled in the fifth but none made it around to home plate.

Jean got the only Mountaineer hit of the afternoon. Jean singled off Hayes during the second inning that drove in the second and final Ram run.

Pratt walked in the fourth and Ingle strolled in the sixth to become the only Ram baserunners after the second. Pratt was rubbed out in a double play.

The victory was the 17th for the Tigers against 15 defeats. For the Mountaineers, yesterday's loss was only their sixth this season as compared to 16 wins.

Mineral Wells is expected to come back with David Grable for today's "rubber" game. Grable was the winning pitcher in the first game of the series.

Coach Speedy Moffett of the Tigers is leaning towardTerry Lee as his starter today with Roberts and Norman Gladson standing by.

Winner of today's game will gain a berth in the state tournament.

SECOND END OF VITAL PLAYS—Charles Pratt of Mineral Wells is being forced out at home for the second such play in the second inning of yesterday's Tiger-Mountaineer playoff game here. Catcher Coleman John takes the throw from David Hale for the above putout. The Mountaineers had loaded the bases with none away in the second and had two runners forced at home during the rally that eventually netted the visitors their only two runs of the game. The Tigers won 6-2 to square the series. (Lee Watson photograph)

Twinbills Feature Major Loop Slate

The Associated Press

Memorial Day, the first quarter pole in the major league pennant races, dawned with the San Francisco Giants needing no better than a split at St. Louis to retain the National League lead.

In the American, there was a chance for a wholesale shakeup for second place.

The Giants, two games ahead of the world champion Milwaukee Braves, picked Ruben Gomez (5-3) and Mike McCormick (4-0) for their double-header against Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (2-5) and Jim Brosnan (4-4) of the seventh-place Cardinals.

This was Ruben's first appearance since calling off his bluff about not paying a $100 fine for his part in a beanball fracas at Pittsburgh last Sunday. Rookie first baseman Orlando Cepeda of the Giants also decided to pay his $100 fine.

The Braves were at Pittsburgh with Lew Burdette (4-3) and Bob Rush (4-2) doing the pitching. The third-place Pirates, five games behind the Giants, named Vern Law (5-3) and rookie Curt Raydon (0-1).

In the American League, first-place New York took an unprecedented May 30 lead of 7½ games into a pair against last-place Washington at Yankee Stadium. Bobby Shantz (4-0) and Whitey Ford (5-2), both southpaws, faced the Senators's Pete Ramos (2-4) and Russ Kemmerer (1-3).

The Yankees, facing their first "crisis" after losing to the Kansas City Athletics in a two-game series sweep, hustled first baseman Bill Skowron back into uniform. The Moose, out since May 11, when he injured his back, will be available for pinch - hitting chores.

The A's, riding a four-game streak, are at home for a morning - afternoon doubleheader against third-place Cleveland. The Indians, who yesterday asked waivers on ailing right-hander Mike Garcia, trail the A's by a game. They picked Dick Tomanek (1-1) and Ray Narleski (5-4) in a bid for second place against Kansas City's Ralph Terry (2-3) and comeback guy Ned Garver (6-1).

Detroit put a five-game winning streak and a crack at fourth place on the line against the Chicago White Sox. The Tigers, trailing the fifth-place White Sox by a half-game and fourth-place Boston by one, sent Jim Bunning (2-4) and either Hank Aguirre (1-0) or Tom Morgan (0-3) against Billy Pierce (2-4) and Dick Donovan (2-5).

The Red Sox played two at Baltimore.

The other NL games had Los Angeles at Chicago for two, and Cincinnati at Philadelphia in the day's lone single game.

No games were scheduled yesterday in either league.

Mickey In Bad Slump

NEW YORK (AP) — What can you find to worry about when you are leading the league by 7½ games?

Well, in the case of the New York Yankees there always is Mickey Mantle.

Either Mickey isn't hitting enough home runs or he is striking out too much. Maybe he isn't getting the jump on the long fly ball hit over his head. Or perhaps he is limping. Or maybe his shoulder aches.

At the moment it is the strike-out total that is causing a mild uproar. He struck out six times in the last two games at Kansas City, both of which were lost.

Elisian Speedway Favorite Today

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Thirty-three auto race drivers from 13 states will hurl a million dollars worth of glittering cars down the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's main straightaway today.

About four hours after the start of the 42nd 500-mile race, one of these veteran drivers will be a rich man. The trackside guess is that it will be either Jimmy Bryan or one of the three Zink Special teammates.

Prizes, totaling about 300,000, will not be announced until tomorrow night.

On a short haul, the favorite would be Ed Elisian, who turned in the first 148-mile-an-hour lap in a practice run, or Dick Rathmann, who set an official four-lap qualifying record of $45.974.

Elisian, a hulking Oakland, Calif., veteran of Armenian ancestry, drives with the same furious disregard for his health as his close friend Bill Vukovich, who was killed in a four-car crash while leading the 1955 Memorial Day race.

Vukovich was the last fatality in the race proper. Keith Andrews killed in a practice run last year, was the 47th person fatally injured at the track.

Elisian is one of the three drivers for John Zink, Tulsa, Okla., oil man. The others, Jud Larson, Hickman Mills, Mo., and Jimmy Reece, Indianapolis, also have exceptionally fast cars. Reece and Elisian will start in the front row with Dick Rathmann whose abode shifts from Trenton, N.J., to Miami to Indianapolis.

Sentiment for Bryan, husky Phoenix driver with three national championships was increased by his assignment to the flat-engine Belond Special in which Sam Hanks won last year's race a record average of 135.601 miles an hour.

Stout contenders will include Rathmann's brother Jim, who charged from 32nd to second place last year and finished only 21 seconds behind Hanks. Jim has the same big blue Hopkins Special, with important improvements.

Fastest cars on the straightaways — but not on the turns — are the Novi Specials driven by Grandpa Paul Russo, oldest man in the field at 44 and veteran of 12 previous starts, and rookie Bill Cheesbourg, Tucson, Ariz. Russo, of Webster Groves, Mo., has led part of the last two races. The Novis have new engines this year.

Attorney General Cites Violations

By FRANK N. MANITZAS

AUSTIN (AP)—More than 25 companies — including national brand manufacturers — are involved in widespread violations of Texas' anti-trust laws, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson said yesterday.

He said a crackdown is underway to stop violations in city and county buying and some by state agencies, including the Highway Commission. He said probes would extend into school and water districts and other public bodies.

"If our conclusions are correct, unquestionably many million dollars of public funds are involved," Wilson told newsmen.

"There will be suits filed to stop this action. It may be four or five weeks, before we file suit. We are still gathering evidence."

Wilson said spot checks in 20 to 30 Texas cities show "in excess of 25 companies" have taken part in conspiracies—some as far back as 1945—to fix prices in the field of public purchases made by competitive bidding.

A close check is being made on purchases of electrical transformers, oyster shells, chlorine and lime, Wilson said, adding, "but it is not limited to these products."

Oyster shells are used as base material in construction. Chlorine and lime are used to purify water.

Wilson said some of the cities checked where violations have been found include Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Waco, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, San Angelo, Temple, Abilene, Fort Worth and Amarillo.

The press conference was held at the conclusion of an executive meeting of the League of Texas Municipalities. League President A. P. Miller Jr. of Texarkana promised full support in gathering data.

The Austin City Council and others complained several months ago to bring on the investigation, Wilson said.

Ex-Convict Slain By Chicago Gang

CHICAGO (AP)—An ex-convict came to a violent death in a gangland style shooting last night—on a one-way West Side street.

Police identified the victim of the ambush as Dominic Albano, 38, small time hoodlum who had served 10 years in Illinois prisons. Albano was cut down by two gunmen as he walked between two young acquaintances to his rooming house. He was shot twice in the head. The two assassins jumped into a car with three other men and drove away.

Junior Editors Quiz on NATURE

QUESTION: What is the oldest tree?

* * *

ANSWER: For many years, the giant sequoia trees of California were believed to be the earth's oldest living things, with several of them, including the famed General Sherman tree, about 3,500 years old.

But now the honor goes to a battered wreck of a tree in the Inyo National Forest in California. Recently scientists of the University of Arizona determined that this tree, a bristlecone pine, is 4,600 years old. In the same grove, they counted 17 other bristlecone pines older than 4,000 years. Age is determined by counting the number of rings in a cross section of a tree trunk—a tree grows a new one each year. The scientists did not have to cut down the tree to count the rings. They used a tool that bored into the center of the tree and removed a core about as thick as a lead pencil, without hurting the tree.

Bristlecone pines have survived so long because they have a special ability to stop growing during years when there is little moisture. In some cases, parts of a tree have died so that other parts might live on the small amount of moisture available. As a result, most bristlecone pines are strange-looking hunks of dead wood with small strips of bark-protected living tissues giving nourishment to single boughs.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Next time you see a tree that has been cut off, try to count the rings in its trunk.

Jobless Claims Decrease Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment among workers insured for jobless benefits has declined for the fifth straight week.

A government report yesterday said a decline of 82,000 during the week of May 17 left an unemployed total of 3,019,500 for this category.

Other reports showed:

1. Americans paid off their installment loans faster than they obligated themselves for new ones during April. With allowances for seasonal factors, consumer installment credit outstanding declined 123 million dollars, most of it in automobile loans.

2. Department store sales were up 3 per cent last week over the comparable week of 1957, with higher sales reported in 9 of the 12 federal reserve districts. But the total for the year to date was 3 per cent below that for the corresponding period last year.

In releasing the unemployment figures the Labor Department noted that more than 900,000 workers have exhausted benefit rights and are not counted among the insured unemployed. But some of these, officials said, have undoubtedly found new jobs.

The department's Bureau of Employment Security said 44 states reported declines in insured unemployment for the week ending May 17. Michigan led the way with 12,800, followed by Pennsylvania, 7,500.

The peak in insured unemployment benefits was reached the week ended April 12 when 3,363,300 received jobless payments. Since then the rate of unemployment among these workers has dropped from 8.1 to 7.2 per cent. A year ago the percentage was 3.4 or 1,364,200 unemployed.

The bureau attributed the decline to an upsurge in spring construction and other outdoor work, as well as a continuing high rate of exhaustion of benefit rights.

Meanwhile, the volume of initial claims from newly laid off workers declined by 34,700 to 324,500 during the week ended May 24. Thirty-nine states reported reductions to make for the lowest number of new claims since the week ended Nov. 16, 1957. The bureau said the figures partly reflected fewer layoffs among workers in oil and supplier plants in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

DOT To End First Year At Session

AUSTIN (AP)—The Democrats of Texas organization ends its first year this weekend with a statewide meeting.

Whether the DOT, generally considered the main body of liberal-labor troops in the Democratic Party, will endorse candidates in the July 26 primary is the big question.

The DOT steering committee, headed by Mrs. R. D. Randolph, is scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. Party spokesmen predict the session will last into the night.

Creekmore Fath, DOT secretary-treasurer, said yesterday if the committee decided to make a public report, including possible endorsement of candidates, it probably would not be made until late tonight.

The sessions of the DOT convention begin at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Walter Hall, Dickinson banker and consistent contributor to the liberal cause, will give the keynote speech. Mrs. Randolph will give the chairman's report of the past year's results and future plans. Fath will report on the DOT financial standing.

Long-Term Bond Issue Is Offered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury is offering to sell a billion dollars in long-term bonds while refinancing other indebtedness.

Plans to accept subscriptions for the long-term issue June 3 were announced yestrday.

At the same time, the Treasury said it was offering two shorter term securities in exchange for 9½ billion dollars in notes and bonds maturing June 15. Holders of these expiring securities have the option of accepting the new securities or receiving cash.

The long-term bond to raise new cash came as a surprise, although there had been advance speculation that the Treasury might offer such an issue as part of its refinancing of maturing securities.

Officials said they were borrowing new cash now, in hopes of delaying future cash borrowing until after July, the first month of the new fiscal year.

The new bond, to be dated June 3, will run for 26 years and 11 months and will mature May 15, 1985. Although it will carry a 3¼ per cent interest rate, the effective yield will be cut to 3.22 per cent by selling each $100 of the bonds for $100.50.

Treasury officials said they expect this bond to have a very slight impact on long-term interest rates and none on mortgage interest charges.

For three days starting next Wednesday, the Treasury will accept subscriptions for the shorter term securities in exchange for the expiring notes and bonds. One of these new securities will be an 11-month certificate paying 1¼ per cent interest. The other will be a six-year bond paying 2⅝ per cent. Both will be dated June 15.

No Violation Is Detected In Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Justice Department has decided the merger of the United Press and the International News Service does not violate the antitrust laws.

Announcing this yesterday, the department said it plans no action against the merger at the present time.

UP's acquisition of INS, announced last Saturday, set off a four-day investigation by the Justice Department's Antitrust Division. Some congressmen urged that the government seek an injunction to halt the merger of the two news services.

The department's decision was made public in a letter from Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor R. Hansen to President Frank H. Bartholomew of the new United Press International.

In his letter, Hansen said the Supreme Court has held that Section 7 of the Clayton Act "did not proscribe mergers when the acquired company was in so-called 'failing circumstances' and there no other purchaser was available." He said Congress specifically approved this.

Hansen told Bartholomew "we have concluded that INS's acquisition by UP falls squarely within the 'failing corporation exemption' to Section 7."

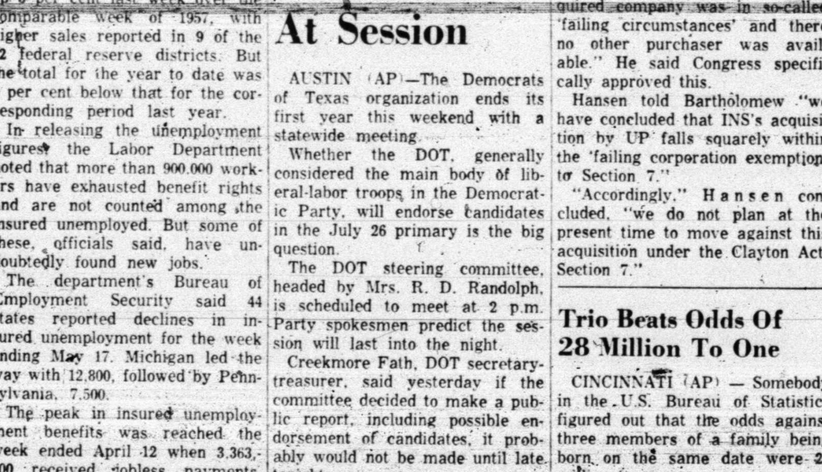

"Accordingly," Hansen concluded, "we do not plan at the present time to move against this acquisition under the Clayton Act, Section 7."

Trio Beats Odds Of 28 Million To One

CINCINNATI (AP) — Somebody in the U.S. Bureau of Statistics figured out that the odds against three members of a family being born on the same date were 28 million to one.

Meet the Cincinnati boys who beat those odds — Bruce Bardes, 19, and his brothers Dale 17, and Todd, 11, who celebrated their birthdays yesterday.

Bruce is a freshman at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Dale is a junior in high school and Todd is a fifth-grader in elementary school here.

SNYDER AREA CHURCH NOTES

Vacation Bible Schools On Agenda For Month Of June

Several local churches are planning Vacation Bible Schools during the month of June, with some of them to begin on Monday.

Some of the churches will have schools for periods of two weeks, while others will operate for one week.

• • •

Avenue D Baptist

The Avenue D Baptist Church has its Vacation Bible School scheduled for June 2 through June 6, with preparation day set for tomorrow. The preparation day activity will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a parade.

The Rev. A. J. Martin, pastor of the church, will be principal of the school, while Beth Wiman will serve as secretary and pianist. The classes will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. daily during the period.

Superintendents include Mrs. Marjetta Black, nursery; Mrs. Curtis Patton, beginners; Mrs. E. J. Horton, six and seven year old primary; Mrs. W. P. Lewellen, eight year old primary; Mrs. A. G. McDowell, juniors; Mrs. A. J. Martin, intermediates.

The refreshment committee is composed of Mrs. Gene Sadler, Mrs. George Lloyd and Mrs. C. A. Owens.

At the regular Sunday morning worship service at the Avenue D Baptist Church, Rev. Martin will have as his topic, "The Grace of God." Sunday evening his topic will be "Life's Greatest Riches." Rev. Martin also will speak on his regular program at 7:45 a.m. Sunday on KSNY.

• • •

First Christian

Vacation Bible School at the First Christian Church will begin Monday and continue until June 15. The first session is set for 9 a.m. Monday, with primary and junior classes meeting in Fellowship Hall while kindergarten and nursery departments will go directly to their departments.

The Rev. John Reaves, pastor, will have as his topic, "What Is Your Concept of God" at the regular worship service Sunday morning. The choir will be featured in "Prayer Penitent," by Nora Ewing.

Rev. Reaves was to be the speaker at the American Legion Memorial Day service at the Snyder Cemetery today.

• • •

Assembly Of God

The First Assembly of God Church, at Avenue S and Nineteenth Street, will begin its Vacation Bible School on Monday. Classes will meet from 8:45 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., Monday through Friday for the next two weeks.

George Murry will be in charge of the school, and classes will be held for age groups ranging from 3 to 16. In all, eight classes will be conducted.

• • •

Nazarene Church

Members of the Church of the Nazarene will greet a new pastor at their regular Sunday services. The Rev. Fred Perraez was scheduled to arrive here today to begin his ministry with the local church.

Rev. Ferraez, who is coming to Snyder from Burkburnett, succeeds the Rev. Henry C. Thomas, who has moved to a pastorate in Amarilo.

church notes St. Elizabeth's Em

St. John's Episcopal

The Rev. Donald Hungerford, vicar, will have as his sermon subject, "Nicodemus Came by Night," at the Sunday morning worship service at St. John's Episcopal Church.

At 9:45 a.m. awards for the 1957-58 session will be made to conclude the Church School session. Holy Communion will be observed at 7:45 a.m. and 11 a.m.

• • •

Joint VBS Scheduled

The second annual joint Vacation Bible School for the children of St. John's Episcopal Church and the Grace Lutheran Church will be held June 2-6 at the St. John's Church on Forty-second Street.

Daily sessions from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. will include group worship, Bible study on the theme, "Knowing Jesus," recreation and Bible handcrafts. The faculty will be composed of teachers from both churches.

The two ministers, The Rev. Walter Lentz and The Rev. Donald N. Hungerford, will conduct worship services. The Bible school will be concluded on Saturday morning with a picnic in Towle Memorial Park.

St. Elizabeth's

Religious school will begin June 2 for children in St. Elizabeth's Parish and will run through June 14, with eligible children making their first Holy Communion on Sunday, June 15.

Classes will be taught by Sisters Mary Xavier, Mary Angelica and Mary Ignacious of Slaton. Classes for St. Elizabeth's will be held in the mornings and for Guadelupe Mission in the afternoons.

All children of grammar school age are invited to attend.

• • •

Morningside Baptist

The Rev. O. M. Barger, pastor of the Morningside Baptist Church, will have as his sermon topic, "What We Know About Our Salvation," at the Sunday morning worship hour at 11 a.m.

The church will conduct a Vacation Bible School from June 2-6. The school will begin at 8:45 a.m. each day and close at 11 a.m. There will be Bible study, student participation in handwork and refreshments each day.

Gen. Caldara Backs Pilots In Dispute

By VERN HAUGLAND

HOUSTON (AP)—In the current military-civilian controversy over air safety, Maj. Gen. Joseph (Smoky) Caldara staunchly upholds the military.

Top air safety man in the Air Force, Smoky Joe says bluntly there is "not an airline pilot more professionally qualified to fly than any Air Force flier I know."

Caldara, director of Air Force flight safety research, San Antonio, was asked at the Aviation Writers Assn. yesterday about the situation at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev., scene of a recent military-civil airplane collision.

Airline pilots have complained that Nellis officers were indifferent to problem of military jet penetrations through civil airways.

"Nellis has had its flight space restricted four different times," Caldara retorted.

"Some of those restrictions were for the convenience of a single airline, but the Air Force was not in a position to protest."

Asked about recent collision between Capital Airlines Viscount and Air National Guard T33 jet trainer over Maryland, Caldara said:

"As far as I am concerned the pilot of the T-bird at Frederick was no more to blame than the airline pilot."

Success Story Is Lived By 2 Teen-Agers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Charles and Patricia Frye reach a milestone next week in a teen-age success story.

Despite parental misgivings they were married 4½ years ago when Patricia was 17 and Charles was a 16-year-old high school senior at Nashville, Tenn.

Tuesday they will graduate from St. Louis University, Charles summa cum laude and his wife also with a high scholastic rating.

Charles, who has a full four-year scholarship, and his wife have paid their own way except for her tuition the first semester. In their spare time he worked as a radio announcer and recreation director, she as a secretary.

"We couldn't have done it if the people at the university hadn't been so good to us, Patricia said. "They always helped us if our working schedule interfered with our classroom schedule."

Charles has been granted a fellowship at Yale, where he plans to work toward a Ph.D. in international relations. If Patricia can't find a job teaching history, she'll work toward a master's degree.

Scholarship Is Awarded

ABILENE, — Miss Dolores Ann Smith, 2407 Twenty-ninth Street, Snyder, has been awarded a six-weeks scholarship to study under the American Studies Program at Abilene Christian College this summer.

The American Studies Program is a feature of the ACC 1958 Summer School. Dates for the Summer School are June 3-July 11 and July 15 through August 22.

Miss Smith will attend the first six weeks.

The scholarship provides for room, board, tuition and fees, and is made possible by a grant of $12,500 from The Coe Foundation of New York City and The Texas Educational Association of Fort Worth. The total of $25,000 has enabled Abilene Christian College to offer 100 scholarships to teachers. Sixty-five scholars will study the first six-weeks session and 35 the second six weeks.

Courses offered under the American Studies Program are The American Economic System, American Educational Heritage, The American Heritage, and The American Forum.

American Studies scholars will take two courses, and also will hear guest speakers several times each week. These guest lecturers include well-known attorneys, oilmen, educators, and business executives.

Everything Went Black

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—Reed L. Edwards of Orlando, Fla., was easing his automobile through a highway work gang near here when suddenly everything went black.

Police said the gang accidentally turned toward Edwards' car the machine spraying hot asphalt on the highway. The late model car was covered from front to rear with a steaming mixture of asphalt, dirt and cement.

Witnesses told police the windshield was covered instantly and the car almost wrecked before Edwards could stop. Enough asphalt was scraped from the window so he could drive to an insurance office and file a claim.

Methodists Set New Area

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Delegates to the Southwest Texas Methodist Conference passed a resolution yesterday uniting efforts to establish their separate area with their own bishop.

Action on the resolution will come in 1960 when the 8-state jurisdictional conference meets here.

A successor to Bishop Frank Smith, scheduled to retire in 1960, is due to be named at that meeting. Bishop Smith presides over both the San Antonio and Houston areas.

Ministers also passed a resolution authorizing construction of a new Methodist Southwest Texas Conference building near the proposed Methodist Hospital site in San Antonio.

James Walker of Seguin was elected leader of the conference's lay program.

Grass Fire Put Out Without Damage

A grass fire at about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon was put out by city firemen before any property was damaged.

The fire occurred on a vacant lot and behind a residence occupied by the A. C. Jones family and owned by Lee V. Watson.

CHURCH NEWS

Presbyterians In A New Struggle

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A continuing struggle was evident among Presbyterians today over a move to set up a sort of fair employment practices system in the church.

The objective cited is to assure Negro ministers an equal chance to get pulpits.

An asserted custom of assigning ministers to congregations of racial makeup akin to their own came under criticism at the Assembly of the newly merged United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Some leaders want the procedure changed, termint it conducive to racial discrimination. Others, however, oppose any change.

New regulations were proposed by the Pittsburgh Presbytery which would bar any designation of race or color in denominational files on clergymen, and require that assignments be made without regard to such factors.

However, delegates voted to delay action on the measure for a year's study, after several advised a cautious approach.

In offering the measure, the Pittsburgh Presbytery group of churches said the denomination is clearly committed to work for [illegible] church in a non-segregated society and should therefore mend its own fences.

Opinion is sharply divided on the proposal. A total of 36 presbyteries have come out in favor of it, while 39 others have expressed opposition.

Meanwhile, leaders of other Christian bodies hailed the merger of the two denominations — the former United Presbyterian Church and former Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

"What has happened here is of tremendous significance to the whole of Christendom," said the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, of St. Louis, president of the National Council of Churches.

"It is another evidence that the many divisions of the church are being caught up by a powerful tide of Christian unity. This tide will continue to roll irresistibly from the eternal will of God."

Leaders of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern), which rejected an original three-way plan for its inclusion in the merger, also praised its achievement—and voiced sorrow they weren't in it.

Powell Gets Nod Of GOP

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY), dropped by his own party, has gained the Republican nomination for re-election to Congress from his Harlem district.

New York County GOP leaders endorsed Powell's domination yesterday by a 6-1 vote. County Chairman Thomas Curran opposed the naming of Powell, but said he would abide by the majority decision.

The county committee of Powell's 16th Congressional District is expected to ratify the selection within a week.

Powell has said he is running in the August primary as an independent Democrat. In a statement last night the Negro congressman said he would accept the Republican nomination "with a deep sense of gratitude."

Powell crossed party lines in 1956 and supported President Eisenhower for re-election. He gave the segregation issue as his reason for the switch. Tammany Hall leaders recently voted not to support Powell and chose as his successor City Councilman Earl Brown, also a Negro.

Powell currently is under indictment on federal income tax charges. He has pleaded innocent.
