Improvements for Local Creamery

The Runnels County Co-operative Creamery is looking like a palace now since Manager Lee R. Stubbs has started a repainting and general cleanup in the plant. Everything is being enameled, screens put to the windows and doors, and the entire plant gone over and placed in first class condition.

Mr. Stubbs is adding system to the local creamery and placing it on a high basis of business and efficiency. He knows his business in this line and in particular is turning out a sample of ice cream that cannot be excelled.

The creamery has meant much to Ballinger and the county and many local citizens and even stockholders have never taken the time and trouble to learn just what it does mean. The local plant issues checks to their patrons each Saturday amounting to from $1100 to $1500. Dairymen are receiving almost twice as much for their cream now as they had in the past and this money is paid every Saturday to the farmer in cash where as he used to have to take the amount out in trade.

The plant is deserving of the patronage of all the people in this territory and they guarantee to deliver an article that will give complete satisfaction in every particular. Mr. Stubbs is a live wire not only in his work with the creamery but as a booster for every good cause in the town. Special moulds will be made for party use and they are giving a delivery service to all parts of the town twice daily, delivering pasteurized milk, Bulgarian buttermilk, butter and ice cream. They solicit the patronage of Ballinger people and when patronizing them you will be keeping your money in Ballinger and helping an institution that is one of our greatest assets.

Mr. Stubbs has contributed some articles to The Ledger which will be published from time to time relative to health and other subjects that will be of great interest to our readers.

Hooper reported Thursday morning that more than 100 people attended the service and that a wonderful time was had by everyone present.

The leagues presented a short play Wednesday night and showed that they had given their parts much attention by the manner in which they presented them.

U. S. Sends Additional Men to Mexican Border

Mrs. G. W. Hubbard Arrives from Mexico

(By International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, Mar. 14.—Additional American troops have been dispatched to the vicinity of Mazamitlan, to reinforce those already guarding the city, Major General William L. Alexander advised the war department today.

Mrs. G. W. Hubbard and daughter, Louise, arrived in Ballinger Wednesday night from Tampico, Mexico, to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Cordell. Mrs. Hubbard will be remembered in Ballinger better as Miss Beulah Cordell.

Mrs. Hubbard fled from Mexico last Friday morning aboard the Spaarddam with a number of other women and children who were fleeing from Mexico and arrived in New Orleans Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Cordell were advised that she was on her way to Ballinger several days ago when a lady who left Mexico in an airplane arrived in San Antonio and called them on the telephone and advised them that their daughter had left there by steamship for New Orleans.

Mr. Hubbard is employed near Tampico with an American oil company. When the revolution broke out the husbands became uneasy about the safety of their families and many women and children were rushed to Tampico where they took passage on a passenger ship leaving there for points in the United States. Mrs. Hubbard and her daughter were among the first to leave and made good time in getting to their home here.

At New Orleans Louise had her picture in one of the leading papers as she came ashore from the ship. She and another child in the arms of the ships captain were photographed when the Spaarddam landed with about 40 refugees. The captain of the ship helped the children to avoid sea sickness on the voyage. It is the first time Louise has seen the United States and her grandparents are more than delighted to have her and their daughter at home during the dangerous period in Mexico.

Mrs. Hubbard and her daughter will remain here until it is considered safe for them to return.

The small rains that have been falling every few nights recently are getting the ground in fine shape to start another bumper crop towards maturity. Small grain is in fine condition and farmers are about ready to start planting with a fine underground season.

Rabbit drives in the county are becoming very popular at this season.
Farmers are reporting that the jack rabbits are thick this year and in order to rid their places of the pests are giving barbecues and inviting citizens to drive the rabbits and kill them.

The bank robbery in Brownwood Wednesday morning was handled very quietly by the bandits and so far there has been no clue found to trace the bandits with. Many rumors get started following an affair of this kind and at Brownwood many people reported seeing the bandits leave town. One boy saw them go north in a Ford coupe, a man saw them heading south in a Cadillac, while another saw them in a Dodge going in another direction. With reports conflicting in that way it is not much help to the officers working on the case.

A good many fans in Ballinger are agitating some kind of a baseball team for this summer here.
Some of the fans are willing to give their time to canvassing the town to see how many players can be lined up and how much money it will take to run amateur ball.
It is pointed out that by June a good number of college boys will be home who play the game and with a number of oldtimers here who are still good, there is no reason why a fast club could not be organized.

KING AND QUEEN DEVELOP A THIRST AND QUENCH IT
BASEL, Switzerland, Mar. 14.— Just what a good sport a king may be was shown recently by a little incident which occurred at the railway station here.

The station buffet was crowded to suffocation when a tall, bronzed man accompanied by two women, entered, and finding every table occupied, asked a party of Swiss if they might allow them to sit at theirs.

The newcomers ordered plain lemonade and sipped it slowly while listening to the Swiss party.

"These people speak good French, it seems to me," said the young man.

The train whistled and they went off to take it.

One can well judge the surprise of the party left behind when the waiter rushed over to inform them they had shared their table with the King and Queen of the Belgians and their daughter, Princess Marie, who were on their way home from the winter sports at Murren.

New Rail Head
Aids Industries
In New England

By Gene Kowske

(International News Staff Correspondent) BOSTON, Mar. 14.—Complete cooperation and coordination with all industries, particularly textile, will be the policy of John J. Peley, newly elected head of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

"We shall go to the limit with everything that is consistent with firmly entrenched new industries on our line, and do all in our power to keep the old ones," the new president declared.

His present hope is to keep the textile plants of New England, just where they are now, instead of moving South.

"When I was with the Georgia Central Railroad up till a short time ago, we did all in our power to acquire new mills, no matter where they may have come from.
Now, however, my views on the textile situation have been completely reversed. I should be sorry to see any textile mill leave New England. We shall do all we can to keep them here."

Mr. Peley, who is rounding out 30 years of railroading, was firm in his belief that no startling changes would be made in the operation of the N. Y. N. H. and H.
Railroad.

"The impressions I received of the property and employees was very favorable, and the traffic situation looks most encouraging."

"I firmly believe that the road has plenty of capacity, and we could easily acquire more business with plenty of room to spare."

Mr. Peley started his career as a railroad man 30 years ago in his home town of Anna, Ill., as a station clerk with a salary of $35 a month. The job was merely a summer vacation job, Mr. Peley said, and he had intended going on to the University of Illinois when the untimely death of his father forced him to continue his work.

He then moved to the headquarters of the Illinois Central railroad at Carbondale, Ill., and remained there until 1926 when he became vice-president of the Georgia Central Railroad where he remained until becoming president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford.

"I was rather disappointed at the time that I could not continue my college education, but now I see so many men who have succeeded without one, that I have become convinced that a college education is not absolutely essential," said the general railroad president.

Mr. Peley prophesied friendly relations between the railroad of which he is president and the Boston and Maine of which George A.
Hannauer is head.

Mr. Hannauer and I are old friends, both coming from Chicago, and I feel sure the relations between the rival roads will be of the best.

"While my headquarters will be at New Haven, I expect to spend much of my time in Boston, as this is an important point. Much of my time shall be devoted to the industrial department here in an effort to give greater service to New England business."

Kermitt now has, in addition to numerous important improvements, an $18,000 railroad station being completed, a new $250,000 court house, a school house just starting costing $125,000, and a contract of $189,000 has recently been awarded by the state for a highway.

Criminals are Only Sick Says
French Doctor

By Amy Langelier

PARIS, Mar. 14.—Crime can be as easily as any malady, according to Dr. Toulouse, well known French surgeon.

"Criminals are nothing less than sick people," the Frenchman said. "The trouble is that we let them run around like mad dogs until they do some crime. Look instead at a mad dog, you will find a paralytic, who perhaps ought to be put in a hospital. Instead of that, he is kept in a cage, and when he shows a tendency to attack, he is put in a cage with self-accusing tendencies, who has led people to believe he figured in some affair in which he played no role, whatsoever."

"All of the individuals are indeed, and if physical examinations were more carefully made, they would be transferred to some psychiatric institution, studied and cured."

Rarely does any individual commit a serious crime without having first perpetrated acts which have attracted the attention of society, says Dr. Toulouse, and reminds one of two typical cases, that of Vacher, who was guillotined for having committed murder eleven times. Before these crimes took place the Frenchman had been interned in an asylum for serious offense to a young girl and then attempted suicide. He was dismissed after a certain period and left entirely of his own free will.

Another great criminal was a German, called "The Butcher of Hanover," who attracted young girls to him and then killed them.
He also, had been interned because of mental troubles, given his liberty and allowed to roam at large.

"The method to prevent crime has been well-established in this country," says Dr. Toulouse, "and I have put it to a severe test in the center of mental prophylaxis which I direct."

It consists of taking charge of all demented persons when they leave their institutions and following them throughout life, not like a policeman, of course, but as a doctor following the course of a convalescing patient.

"We have, in this manner, prevented countless crimes, but we must prevent many more and escape this state of barbarism in which men are living like primitive fauna, believing that crime is as inevitable as thunder or an earthquake."

Jacksonville—Plans have been completed for a canning plant in this place.

Rooms are Needed
To House Teachers

The Texas Educational Association will meet here to Ballinger for its two-day convention in less than three weeks. The biggest local problem connected with their coming is the housing of the teachers who will be here attending the meeting. It is expected that between 700 and 1,000 teachers will be in the night in Ballinger on Friday night, April 5th, and Saturday morning, April 6th.

In charge of the housing problem must have many rooms listed with them. Every teacher who comes to Ballinger for the convention must have a room. The committee, with the teachers, has arranged a schedule of rates, and the citizens of the town are asked to co-operate with the committee and to list rooms at the rates fixed by the committee.

The rates decided upon are: room and breakfast for one person $1.25; one room and breakfast for two $2.00; room only for one $1.00; room only for two $1.50.

Ballinger people who will list one or more rooms with the committee are requested to call Mrs.
Joe Forman or Mrs. W. A. Bridwell and tell them how many you can care for and if you will give breakfast or not. In as many cases as possible the committee is anxious to secure places where the teachers will be able to get breakfast. The other two meals do not matter but it is very inconvenient for teachers to have to go out for their morning meal.

The committee hopes to get enough rooms listed so that a personal canvass of the town will not have to be made and everyone who will help by listing their rooms are requested to do so at once.

Be wise and advertise.

MOVIES

Police Detective Role is Newest Thing for Lon Chaney

Lon Chaney appears in an entirely new role, as a police detective, in "While the City Sleeps," his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which is showing today at the Palace Theatre. The story, directed by John Francis, is a tale of crime and police work in New York City. Chaney plays a detective who is in a race against time to solve a murder case. The picture is a thrilling and suspenseful one, and Chaney's performance is excellent.

Through the succession of these runs a pretty good story between Chaney, the heroine, Anita Page, and Carroll O'Connor, who plays a youthful suspect. The cast includes Mae Busch, last seen with Chaney in "The Unholy Three," Richard Carle, former famous musical comedy star, Lydia Yeamans, Titus, Polly Moran, Clinton Lyle and others of note.

Missouri Guest is Favored at Gay Bridge Party

Mrs. G. M. Vaughn paid a pretty compliment to her niece, Miss Helen McCamey of Paris, Missouri, who has been spending the winter here, when she entertained for her on Friday afternoon at last week in her home on Eleventh Street.

Colorful appointments in which the green tones and signs and symbols of St. Patrick season were prominent were used for the games and shamrocks were given as guest favors. The refreshment plate of sandwiches, olives and nuts also reflected the green and white motif.

Those given the happy privilege by Mrs. Vaughn of spending the afternoon with Miss McCamey were: Misses Harriet Hartgrove, Edna Rock, Dorothy Chaney, Margaret Wardlaw, Frances, Paul, Naomi McWilliams, Nell Alexander, Marie Underwood, Misses Mack Hartgrove, W. O. Schultz, J. A. Wade of Paris, Rock, Joe Simmons, Geo. Holman, Erwin, Leslie, Baker, Frank, Kathleen Drake, Tom Grace of Dallas, Robert Briggs, Leonard, Ira Sims, Mrs. McGee, or, Chas. Baker, Bruce Treacy and W. R. Begle.

Paris Decides To Keep Women On Street Cars

By Allen Langstaff
Continental News Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Mar. 14.—About the only remaining outward symbol of the World War to be seen around Paris these days will be retained, according to a recent decision of the Municipal Council. Women' conductors on street cars, who took the place of their fathers, husbands and brothers then the sources of the nation, were considered to the utmost, will not be retained from this work as they have been from many other emergency employment.

The transportation company is of the opinion they do their work well, are faithful and honest, in many cases superior to men. They are even getting a smart new uniform to wear in small recognition of their merit. It will be gray, worn over a white blouse, and there will be no more shoulder-straps to support the money-pouch which will be put on a belt stitched inside the tunic.

Commuters leaving the Gare St. Lazare will soon be able to stamp their own tickets. An automatic machine is about to be installed whereby the voyagers will have only to punch their own tickets before going through the gate and they automatically become valid that day. Books of tickets will be sold at the regular windows for suburban stations.

"Shaving the eyebrows is the last mutilation of feminine beauty," says Georges Lecomte, well-known academician, protesting against the spread of a popular fad, which he finds is just a little bit worse than cutting the hair.

He believes it to be the sad disappearance of a natural charm and death to all expression.

"Women's eyes have no longer the same intensity or moving depths," continues the immortal, "and they certainly should realize that when they look into the mirror, or better still at the glances of men, which are for them the very best of all mirrors."

"Women who shave their eyebrows have committed a crime against the magnificence of the world."

Cocktails, which have become a very important feature of French society life, are not ousting the 5 o'clock tea habit which came over from England. They are just adding a bit more liquid to the occasion. For most people nowadays are indulging in both, the tea first and then the cocktail which brings one right up to the dinner-hour. And practically every smart French hostess has both the thin and the thicker liquids on hand.

The grave of a prehistoric Gaulish chieftain who lived about 2000 years ago, has recently been unearthed in the Rhone department. The skeleton is that of a man of gigantic stature, and is in perfect state of preservation. It was buried with a chariot, of which only the iron rims remain. On top of the skeleton of the chieftain's chariot driver, resembling the custom for the servant to be killed on the death of the master and to be buried with him in order to serve him in the next life.

Rather than pay her rent, Madame Eve Calvet preferred to die. Her rent, by the way, was long over due. When the police came to seize the furniture, they found the house in flames and Madame stretched out on the bed with her veins cut open. Transported immediately to the hospital she said she had decided to die rather than give her money to a very disagreeable proprietor and before doing it she wished to burn the house.

RHODE ISLAND TO LIMIT STATE POLICE ACTIVITIES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Mar. 14.—Representative James H. Kiernan, democrat, of Providence, has introduced in the lower branch of the general assembly, an amendment to the act creating the department of state police and limiting its activities to road patrol.

Rep. Kiernan's amendment would strike out section 8 of the existing act which created the department and would substitute in its place two new sections which would make the measure similar to the act in force in the state of Maine where the state police are stripped of all criminal powers and are confined strictly to road patrol.

B. J. Tyson and Ernest Moody left early Thursday for Fort Worth, where they will attend the fat stock show. They were accompanied as far as Abilene by Mrs. Moody and little son, Eldon, where they will visit relatives for a few days, there and at Anson.

150,000 Miles Safety Record By Mail Planes

(By International News Service)
DENVER, Mar. 14.—An amazing aviation record—flying mileage equal to six times around the world, or 150,000 miles, without a single stop due to mechanical trouble—was set up during the year 1933 by the Western Air Express on the old mail route from Cheyenne, Wyo., through Denver and Colorado Springs to Pueblo, Colo.

The route covers 333 miles, the longest scheduled hop being between Cheyenne and Denver, 100 miles. An average speed of about 100 miles per hour was maintained by the planes which were in the air every day of the year, regardless of weather conditions.

"Most of the credit for this efficiency should go to the mechanics," said Capt. L. W. Goss, superintendent of the Cheyenne-Pueblo division of the Western Air Mail Routes. "They are unsung heroes so to speak, who are just as important to the service as the pilots, yet the public is hardly aware that this part of the service exists."

"Without expert mechanics, this record, and the record made by the Question Mark in California, would never have been established. West Air Express ships are serviced and inspected every 24 hours with the same rigid precautions which mark the modern railroad service."

Wright 200-horsepower Whirlwind motors, the same as was used by Col. Lindbergh on his transatlantic flight, and also by the Question Mark, are used on the route.

More than 200 passengers were carried by the mail planes, besides mail cargo, and every one was delivered at his respective destinations on schedule time.

Mrs. Leonard Mauldin of San Angelo came in Thursday to visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Walker. Dr. Walker has been sick for several days and is confined to his home this week.
