FLOOD THREATENS RESIDENTIAL SECTION

As flood water of the Calcasieu River continues to rise, residents of this fashionable section of Lake Charles, La., put sandbags around their homes in an effort to keep the water out of the houses. Water in some spots was waist deep.

Mundt Wants British Reply On Red Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today "Britain owes the free world a reply" to testimony that British - owned ships have transported Chinese Communist troops during the Korean War.

"I am not inclined to wait too long for them to volunteer it," Mundt added in an interview, "and the answer had better not be 'Yes, so what?'"

Mundt is a member of the Senate investigations subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis). A staff investigator told the group Wednesday that British - owned ships of the Wheelock Marden Co. of Hong Kong carried Chinese Communist troops on two occasions during the Korean War. The investigator, Robert Kennedy, said there may have been other instances.

At Hong Kong F. H. Horman-Fisher, the firm's manager, denied yesterday that Wheelock - Marden vessels carried troops for the Reds. He said three of the firm's vessels have been seized by the Communist and it no longer owns a fourth mentioned as engaged in the Communist trade.

Mundt, acting chairman of the subcommittee in McCarthy's absence, said he will propose that the State Department demand comment by Prime Minister Churchill or the British Foreign Office if there is no official statement within "the respectably near future" on the troop carrying question.

G. E. Marden, chairman of Wheelock-Marden, said in London the charge his company's ships carried Red troops "is a horrible lie—it just did not happen."

A British Foreign Office spokesman said at a news conference the charge that British ships carried such troops is being investigated, but "sometimes it's rather difficult for us to comment on a report that unidentified ships of unknown tonnage carried unspecified numbers of so-called troops at a date not known between unstated ports."

Tidelands Bill Signed Into Law At Ceremony At White House Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed the off-shore oil lands bill today with a declaration that "recognizing the states' claim to these lands is in keeping with basic principles of honesty and fair play."

At the White House were more than 40 congressmen.

They applauded when the President penned his signature to the hotly controversial measure, fulfilling one of his chief campaign promises.

The tidelands bill recognizes coastal states' title which they already claimed to submerged lands within their historic boundaries" and has special reference to the oil rich lands off Texas, Louisiana, California and Florida.

Eisenhower issued this statement:

"I am pleased to sign this measure into law recognizing the ancient rights of the states in the submerged lands within their historic boundaries.

"As I have said many times I deplore and I will always resist federal encroachment upon rights and affairs of the states. Recognizing the states' claim to these lands is in keeping with basic principles of honesty and fair play.

"This measure also recognizes the interests of the federal government in the submerged lands outside of the historic boundaries of the states. Such lands should be administered by the federal government and income therefrom should go into the federal treasury."

The President first shook hands with the sponsor of the measure, Sen. Holland (D-Fla).

Then he looked around in the crowd for Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, Democratic leader of the House, and said laughingly as he shook hands with Rayburn:

"I wondered where Texas was."

Eisenhower used three pens in signing the bill. He gave them to Sens. Daniel (D-Tex) and Holland, and Rep. Graham (R-Pa).

Opponents of what they called a "big give-away" have said they will challenge the validity of Congress' action. On three previous occasions, the Supreme Court held that the federal government has "paramount rights" to submerged lands off the coasts of Louisiana, Texas and California.

The bill in effect sets aside the court ruling.

Former President Truman twice vetoed similar bills. His position was that wealth from exploitation of the tidelands belonged to all the people, not alone to the coastal states.

Eisenhower took the position during the 1952 campaign that the submerged coastal lands were within the historic boundaries of the states and belonged to them. For the federal government to claim the lands, proponents of the new legislation argued, would amount to robbery of the states.

ENDS SILENCE

Air Force Says It Will Be Cut Below Safety Minimum

By RUSSELL BRINES. . . .

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force, ending public silence on heavy budget reductions, says President Eisenhower's new 120-wing goal would cut air power well below the "absolute minimum" for national security.

An Air Force report on the effect of cuts—totalling five billion dollars in the service's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1—was inserted in the Congressional Record yesterday by Rep. Yorty (D-Calif). He did not say where in the Air Force he got the report.

But in an accompanying statement, Yorty declared:

"Alleged friends of adequate defense . . . are preparing to sacrifice air power on the altar of irresponsible political promises."

The report, which Yorty said was supplied at his request, appeared to herald a strong fight in Congress to restore some of the cuts proposed in Air Force spending and new appropriations for next year.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me), meanwhile, sent Secretary of Defense Wilson a "show me" set of 32 critical questions aimed at the administration proposal to trim Air Force funds. There was no immediate reply from Wilson, who was out of the capital.

Mrs. Smith said Congress will not agree to the proposed cutback unless Wilson can answer such questions as:

"How can you cut more than five billion dollars from the Air Force appropriations, cut back the Air Force's strength to 114 wings, and still say that the Air Force will be more powerful in 1954 than if the original plan had been followed of building a 143-wing Air Force by 1954?"

Wings vary from 30 to 75 aircraft, depending upon type.

The Air Force report filed by Yorty said the budget cutback, from $16,778,000,000 to $11,688,000,000, would have this effect:

1. Stretch out the air buildup to 120 wings by June 30, 1956, against the Truman administration goal of 143 wings by mid-1955 which the Air Force supported as "the absolute minimum in order to attain adequate national security in view of the military strength of the Soviet Union." In 1951, the report said, the Air Force recommended 155 wings "to support the basic national security policy."

2. Force the additional elimination of 89 non-flying supply units and a number of wings and squadrons from such aerial support forces as transport, reconnaissance and liaison services.

3. Reduce personnel from present strength of 980,000 to 960,000 on June 30, 1955—some 5,000 less than the report said were essential to man 120 wings.

4. Limit next year's spending to $15,100,000,000 and cause a "delaying or cancelling" of some contracts, resulting in "some reductions" in the standards of equipment.

5. A three billion dollar cut in requested new appropriations, causing delay in aircraft deliveries scheduled for the next two years to "maintain a going aircraft industry." Otherwise, the report said, "large segments of the aircraft industry" might cut back so sharply they could not undertake future orders.

The report said the Air Force now has 106 wings. Chairman Short, (R-Mo) of the House Armed Services Committee has said only 93 wings are at full or almost full strength.

Bodies Said Robbed By Men Sent To Guard

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—The possibility that victims of a South-eastern Idaho plane crash were robbed by some of the soldiers sent to guard their bodies is being investigated today by officials of the Utah General Depot.

Col. L. L. Skinner, depot commander, announced that three soldiers are in custody at the Depot pending investigation of allegations that certain personal property is missing from the scene of the crash where 37 returning Korean veterans and three civilian members of the crew met death last Jan. 7. Their C46 plane smashed against a mountain side near the Utah-Idaho border.

The men being held are members of a military detail sent to guard the crash. Only recently did Army officials begin to bring the bodies down from the crash site. Deep snow had prevented removal earlier. Some of the bodies still are buried.

Skinner did not release the names of the three being held. Approximately 150 men have served on the guard detail at various times.

Skinner said that articles reported missing and alleged to be personal property of the plane's occupants include U. S. military currency, foreign currency, military medals and watches.

The colonel said the money involved is believed to be relatively small.

Water Usage Jumped With Hot Weather

When the temperature sizzled to 105 here yesterday water consumption went up just as drastically, B. J. Shelley, city manager, said.

"People were using water faster than we could pump it for about two hours yesterday afternoon," he said.

Shelley explained that there was no reported water shortages or low pressure, and that storage was quickly refilled last night.

Authorities of the Colorado River Municipal Water District have told city officials that water from Lake Thomas will be available by July 1 this year, he added.

Wildcat Makes Producer From Pennsylvanian

Rowen & Hope No. 1 Blyth & Graham, Southwest Fisher County wildcat, has been completed as a producer to extend the Claytonville Pennsylvanian field one-half mile north and east.

It is 2,637 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 183-3-H&TC, two and one-half miles northeast of the town of Claytonville.

It was completed for a daily potential of 150 barrels of 43.6-gravity oil, flowing through a one-eighth inch choke. Flowing tubing pressure was 900, and casing pressure was 600. Gas-oil ratio was 980-1. No information was available on whether the pay was treated with acid before completion.

Total depth was 5,645 in Pennsylvanian lime, where casing was cemented. Pipe was perforated at 5,613-641 feet.

Stanolind No. 2 Jordan in Borden County took a two-hour drillstem test at 8,405-419 feet. Gas surfaced in 88 minutes, and recovery was 40 feet of heavily oil and gas cut mud and 4,640 feet of free oil. There was no gauge or estimate of gas volume. Open flowing bottomhole pressure was 175-1,500, and 15-minute shutin pressure was 3,575. It is drilling deeper.

Sohio No. 1 Yarbrough, Mitchell wildcat, swabbed two barrels of fluid per hour from the open hole at 7,364-371 feet and made 30 per cent oil and 70 per cent water. It plugged back to 7,358 feet and perforated casing at 7,335-355 feet in the Mississippian and is now preparing to swab and test.

Chapman & McFarlin has completed its No. 1-D Cogdell in the Cogdell San Andres field of South Kent County for a daily pumping potential of 5.2 barrels of 36-gravity oil with no water.

It is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 778-97-H&TC, about 23 miles north of Snyder.

Five and one-half inch casing was cemented at 1,561 feet, and perforation was made at 1,534-540 feet. It was treated with 5,000 gallons of acid before completed.

Sun No. 3 McCabe in Southeast Mitchell flowed 19½ hours through a 13-64th inch choke and made 96 barrels of oil and no water. Tubing pressure was 325, casing pressure was 600, and gas-oil ratio was 1,130-1. It is still testing.

In Scurry, Humble No. 1 Jones, wildcat in the northwest part of the county, had spudded to 361 feet in lime and shale, cemented surface pipe, and was preparing to drill the plug and dig deeper. Humble No. 1-B McMillan in the Buffalo Creek Ellenburger field was drilling at 3,767 feet in lime and shale.

Workers At Orange Appear To Be Winning Battle With Flood

ORANGE (AP)—An army of almost 5000 workmen battling to save this industrial center from its worst flood in history got an encouraging word today.

"It looks as though we're winning the race," said John Simmons, president of the Sabine River Authority, after an all night fight to strengthen present dikes and build a new emergency levee.

"We have built levees around practically all of the north and east sides of Orange, the areas of greatest danger," he said.

The greatest test of the bulwarks thrown up against the raging Sabine River will come early tomorrow.

At 5 a.m. the river stood 6.96 feet near the downtown section and still was rising. The Weather Bureau has predicted a crest of 9.5 feet at 6 a.m. tomorrow.

Should the muddy floodwaters sweep over Orange and the surrounding area, it could cause tremendous property damage.

The thousands of workers, most of them volunteers, worked without rest last night to save the city from the dread overflow. Hundreds of pieces of heavy equipment helped them move tons and tons of earth for a three-mile long auxiliary dike half a mile from the main levee in an effort to keep the downtown business section dry. Sandbag levees were raised to protect outlying residential sections, and the Navy's berthing area here for its big mothball fleet.

"The Navy levee is in good shape," Simmons said. "The Riverside addition levee has been strengthened and raised and the auxiliary levee behind that has been built up to 12 feet.

"I think we have things under control," he predicted.

The big job today was to strengthen the temporary protective levees with sandbags and keep the dike from being breached by the fast moving stream.

The Navy here was on an emergency basis, all leaves and liberties canceled and every available man thrown into the flood fight ing forces.

Big plants here have curtailed their operations as much as possible to release workers for the levee building.

Seven of nine city schools were closed today, including three schools in the Riverside addition which received some flood water yesterday from seepage of the levee.

There has been no general evacuation order in the threatened Riverside and Brownwood additions in North Orange but several hundred families have moved out. A few piled household goods in trucks and took them with them.

Highway 90 was closed this morning when three feet of water poured over the road in Louisiana between Orange and Vinton. The Louisiana Highway Department built a temporary dike at the east end of the Sabine River crossing at Orange to prevent the approach from being washed away.

At Deweyville, on the Sabine 12 miles north of Orange, the river crested at 19.99 feet during the night and had remained stationary for four hours ending at 5 a.m. today. The floodwaters swept over the little sawmill town of 800 yesterday when a levee broke under the avalanche of water. The nearby community of Ruliff also was flooded.

The floodwaters failed to scare many of the families of the two communities which have lived through flood threats for many years. About 100 of the 150 families in the two communities were still in their water-bound homes early today.

Disaster Relief Fund Reaches $1,663 Here

Donations for the Waco-San Angelo disaster relief funds continued to come in yesterday afternoon and this morning with $110 from four new donors pushing the total so far to $1,663.75 to the two cities.

Of the $110, $70 was earmarked for the San Angelo fund making it total $1,290.75, and $40 was given to the Waco fund making it total $373.

Donations can be taken or mailed to either bank in Snyder, the radio station, or newspaper.

New donors are:

Mr. and Mrs. Ned C. Butler	$25
Mrs. R. L. Gray	$10
J. A. Joyce	$25
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strom	$50

Cost Of Living Raise To Stick

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors announced today an agreement with the CIO United Automobile Workers covering modification of the formula affecting wages of about 350,000 GM employes.

The agreement calls for conversion to the new "revised" federal Bureau of Labor Standards price index of the new BLS base.

A total of 19 cents of the present 24 cents cost-of-living allowance will be transferred to the employes' base rates, effective June 1.

The 19 cents represents the increase in the cost of living allowance during the period used by the government in its wage control program.

A ten cents an hour increase in the rates of some 40,000 skilled trades united auto workers was called for in the agreement.

This would be in addition to an annual improvement factor of five cents an hour instead of four cents as previously provided.

UN Works On Revised Plan For Armistice

TOKYO (AP)—With three days left before another Korean truce meeting, Allied headquarters worked today on a revised armistice proposal that aroused optimism from some Allied sources and irritation among the Communists.

Allied and Red delegates meet again Monday at Panmunjom on the deadlocked prisoner exchange issue, last major barrier to an armistice. The talks have been in recess since Saturday.

Authoritative sources say the Allied proposal may be on a "now or never" basis.

But the official Red Peiping radio called reports of a revised plan "propaganda deception," and added:

"An armistice is at hand and can be had on the basis of . . . (the Communist) proposal."

The Allies and Communists worked into a standoff on the future of 48,500 Red prisoners who refuse to go home.

Gold Bars Reported Stolen From Airport

NEW YORK (AP)—Theft of six bars of gold bullion worth $27,000 from a cargo hangar at Idlewild Airport was revealed today by Port of New York Authority police.

Thirteen other bars of gold and 116 bars of silver—all part of the same shipment—were not disturbed.

The six bars of gold were missed last Friday, two days after the shipment arrived from San Salvador. The bullion was to have been reshipped that day to the American Smelting Refinery at Perth Amboy, N. J.

Snyder Scorched With 105-Degree Weather

The thermometer indicated a roasting 105 degrees yesterday, giving Snyder the hottest day this year. During the night the mercury dropped to 69 degrees but rose to 78 degrees by 7:30 o'clock this morning, according to Mrs. D. P. Strayhorn, official weather observer.

The high temperatures have been reached previously this year with 97 Wednesday and 99 degrees on May 8.

Another Filibuster Started In Senate

AUSTIN (AP)—The threat of another filibuster delaying action on several major measures including the election code and judicial redistricting, shaped up in the Senate today.

Senators returned to their desks at 10 a.m. after yesterday's long filibuster that delayed but failed to halt the toll road bill.

Sen. Wayne Wagonseller of Bowie quickly introduced a resolution to put the senate on record as opposing recognition of Red China by the United Nations.

He plunged at once into extended discussion of the resolution. It had all the earmarks of filibuster. Senators friendly to Wagonseller said they felt it was likely he would talk all day unless cut off.

This delaying action apparently was in line with the declaration yesterday by Sen. William Moore of Bran that no more bills should be passed by the Senate in the final days of the session that ends Wednesday. Moore led yesterday's filibuster.

Wagoneller told the Senate the national administration appears to be making overtures toward recognition of Red China but he believed the public is opposed to it.

Yesterday's filibuster was the third in the Senate and the second against toll roads. The toll road bill went back to the House after surviving the filibuster yesterday.

Action came at 9:12 p.m. last night after a day filled with continuous opposition debate by Sen. William Moore of Bryan. The vote was 17-11.

The report adjusts minor differences between bills already passed. It would set up a statewide authority empowered to build and manage pay roads throughout Texas. Top priority would go to such a road between traffic-jammed Dallas and Fort Worth.

The filibuster limited the Senate's business for the entire day to little more than the settlement of that one issue. Blocked temporarily were the administration-backed redistricting bill, election law revisions, and a bill to cut off unemployment compensation for Texas workers idled by a strike against their company outside the state.

Big Three Talks Are Critical Test On West Nations' Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Big Three leaders meeting next month will face a critical test of their ability to forge new Allied unity for firm dealing with Russia—in or out of a conference with Soviet Premier Malenkov.

Unless they can close ranks, some observers here doubt that they would dare undertake subsequent Big Four negotiations and give Russia an opportunity to try to exploit their differences.

Presumably they will also have to decide on what terms they might be able to do business with Malenkov—what they could offer and what they could request in the event of a Big Four conference.

That the Western Alliance is beset by difficulties and differences became apparent all over again yesterday.

Hardly had the announcement been made that President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and French Premier Mayer would meet about mid-June, probably in Bermuda, when Mayer's government collapsed.

His was the 18th French Cabinet since World War II liberation.

Some time, diplomatically speaking, will now be lost while France puts together a new Cabinet—time which might have been used in working up an agenda for the conference and carrying on preliminary diplomacy.

In the very announcements about the conference, differing views became clearly apparent. Mayer said the three would discuss the feasibility of a session with Malenkov, and Churchill said he hoped the meeting would pave the way to such a session.

But in Washington the White House steadfastly declined to link the meeting of the three with a possible Big Four get-together. At the State Department all emphasis was placed on the chance that the Western chiefs of government will have to develop great unity among the Western Powers.

President Eisenhower took the initiative in suggesting the Big Three talk. The White House announcement said it would be an "informal high-level meeting." Indications were that the President had developed the idea into a decision Wednesday with unusual speed.

The preliminary considerations have not been disclosed. But it is known responsible officials have been increasingly concerned that the Western Powers were pulling apart and that such a situation could benefit only Russia.

Recent differences, all of which seem likely to come up in some manner, include the transatlantic word battle between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Labor Party Leader Clement Attlee, French and British support for a meeting with Russia under conditions not favored here, British advocacy of eventual Red Chinese membership in the United Nations, and some apparent controversy over U. S. conduct of the Korean truce negotiations.

EARLY START

Shivers Gives Hint He May Run Again For Governorship

AUSTIN (AP)—Politics came to a record-breaking early boil today with Allan Shivers' hint he could be drafted to seek a third elective term as governor.

The primary isn't until 1954, but speculation on who might run for governor has had tongues wagging all during the legislative session.

Two names most prominently mentioned as candidates have been Lieut. Gov. Ben. Ramsey and Speaker Reuben Senterfitt. Lately there has been talk of Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., of Paris and Supreme Court Justice Robert Calvert.

SENATE RACE TALKED

But most of the talk about Shivers has been that he either would make a run for the Senate against Lyndon Johnson, or retire from active politics at the end of this term.

Shivers talked of politics and teachers pay at a news conference yesterday. The political development grew out of discussion of his battle with the Texas State Teachers Assn.

The governor repeated his charge that spokesmen for the Teachers' Assn. have been "arrogant and unyeilding" in refusing to accept any pay raise but the one for $600 a year. The teachers have charged the administration refused to let the Legislature vote on a tax bill to pay for the $600 raise.

TAX BILL OPPOSED

Shivers denied this yesterday. He said recent test votes indicated House sentiment was against taking up a tax bill.

Shivers again rapped the "teachers' lobby" for refusing to accept a compromise under which a conditional $306 a year raise would have been given if the state wins the pending gas tax lawsuit.

Political reprisals against legislators and others who have gotten the session into a deadlock over teachers pay, with no tangible raises in sight, have been widely talked.

Court Upset Ruling Of Power Group On Fixing Of Gas Rates

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled today the Federal Power Commission has authority to fix rates for interstate sales of natural gas by the company which produces and gathers it.

The court's two-to-one decision overturned a ruling by the power commission that the Phillips Petroleum Co. was not a "natural gas company" within the meaning of the natural gas act and that the FPC had no jurisdiction over its rates.

The court said the commission should fix the rates at which interstate sales are made.

During the long proceeding, the power commission estimated that more than 2,000 companies were in a situation similar to Phillips. Presumably, if the Court of Appeals decision stands, the commission will have to fix rates for them as well as for Phillips.

Various cities including Detroit, Kansas City, and Milwaukee intervened in the court action asking that the power commission decision in the Phillips case be overturned.

Judge Henry Edgerton, who wrote the opinion, said the Power Commission erred in interpreting the natural gas act.

The commission held that Phillips' interstate sales of gathered and processed gas fell within a provision exempting "production and gathering" of gas from federal regulation.

The issue is expected to go to the Supreme Court. A spokesman for the FPC said when the Court of Appeals took it under consideration last December that the ruling likely would be appealed, no matter which way it went.

The matter has been hard fought in Congress and former President Truman in 1951 vetoed a bill by Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) which would have given specific exemption from FPC regulation to companies like Phillips.

Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, all big gas producers, intervened in support of the finding that the commission did not have jurisdiction.

Edgerton said sales of a producer and gatherer are necessarily and closely related to production and gathering, but added:

"It does not follow that his bulk interstate sales are exempt from regulation under the Natural Gas Act.

Edgerton said the natural gas act exempts both "local distribution" and "production or gathering," from federal regulation "but it exempts nothing between 'production or gathering' or 'local distribution.' The exemption of production or gathering does not exempt sales made after production and gathering have been completed."

Edgerton noted Phillips' contention that the commission's findings were supported by substantial evidence and should be sustained.

"But the validity or invalidity of the commission's conclusion that Phillips is not a 'natural gas company' does not turn upon the evaluation of testimony or upon any facts peculiar to this case," Edgerton commented.

"It turns upon the general question of whether the 'production or gathering' of the natural gas act covers interstate sales of gas by the corporation which produced and gathered it. . . .

Wheat Allotments Indicated; Acreage Information Needed

Information is needed from about 1,000 farmers in the county before next Friday on the amount of wheat acreage they seeded in 1951, 52, and 53, Irelan, Finley, head of the Production & Marketing Administration, said.

Finley said about 300 farmers have already reported their acreage to Bentley's car was only production and marketing controls are proclaimed, the information would be needed so that each farm raising wheat might receive an equitable allotment of fair share of the market, the PMA administrator said.

The department of agriculture recently said that wheat supplies are beginning to outstrip demand and that 1954 controls will probably be necessary. The secretary of agriculture is required by law to proclaim not later than July 1 at national marketing quota for wheat if the total supply exceeds the normal supply by more than 20 per cent. "Normal supply" means the estimated domestic consumption plus exports and plus 15 per cent. Legislation also directs the secretary to proclaim a national acreage allotment for the 1954 crop before July 15 in such a case.

Except under emergency conditions, proclamation of a national wheat acreage allotment is mandatory whether or not marketing quotas are required. Proclamation of both quotas and allotments may be made by the secretary because of a national emergency or material increase in exports.

If quotas are proclaimed, a referendum among wheat growers who would be subject to quotas must be held by July 25, Finley said. At least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas before they may be made effective. If they approve marketing quotas, price supports on the 1954 crop of wheat would be available to co-operators at 90 per cent of parity. If they do not approve them they will be subject only to acreage allotments, but the price support would drop to 50 per cent of parity.

The situation bringing about the need for controls includes many things, Finley said, such as: production capacity is high, more than will be needed next year; domestic consumption remains about the same; exports are falling off, falling from a normal 37 per cent of production to about 30 per cent; supplies are building up, being carried over in increasing amounts each year; and government stocks of wheat are increasing.

After a national wheat allotment is established, the states will be given allotments, and the states in turn apportion allotments among counties.

The county wheat allotment is apportioned among farms on the basis of tillable acres, crop rotation practices including acreage planted in wheat, type of soil, and topography. All farms on which grain is being raised this year will be eligible to receive allotments. Individual farm acreages are determined by the county PMA committee Finley said.

Snyder Man Is Returned To Face Charge

Roland Davis, 19-year-old professional rodeo performer who resides here, was returned here last night to face a felony theft charge after being arrested in Fort Worth.

J. D. Frith and Howard Gibbons, deputy sheriffs, obtained custody of Davis yesterday afternoon at the Tarrant County jail where he was being held on a charge of armed robbery, according to officers there. Homer Whisnand, sheriff here, said the Fort Worth sheriff's department notified his department it had arrested Davis recently and was holding him on the robbery charge.

Whisnand said information from Fort Worth was that Davis was arraigned there on a charge of robbing a Negro woman and that bond was set for him there at $5,000.

At the time of his arrest in Fort Worth, Davis was wanted here on a charge of stealing two saddles from W. P. Herring, who lives on a ranch about two miles north of Dermott. The charge was filed April 15 against him and two other youths. The joint complaint against the three accused also Marvin Creswell, 17, of 1901 Nineteenth Street, and Billy Ray McCright, 19, Hermleigh. Creswell and McCright were arraigned the day after the complaint was filed, and both were released on bonds of $1,000 each after they waived their rights to preliminary hearings.

A third saddle was reported stolen at the time of the theft of the two mentioned in the charge, according to Whisnand, who said it was reported sold later, however, for $30. It was not mentioned in the charge, which stated value of the other two saddles was "over $50." The two saddles with which the trio is charged with stealing have been recovered.

THE LONG TRIP

You're closer to Heaven or Hell than you think,
When out on the great highway;
The road stretches out on the perilous brink
Of death ....if this is your day.
You travel too fast, or you travel too slow;
The car in back wants to pass. to go,
Or the car ahead isn't sure where to go,
And your foot is pressed hard on the gas.
You've got a big map, and you're off on a trip,
With suitcase and grip and pack;
But unless you're alert to the dangers that lurk
On the road.....you might not come back.
The hill up ahead is a dangerous hill,
There are lines, there are signs, to denote;
But your temper is quick and you haven't the time,
Much less the patience to dote.
You may not regret when the day is all done,
The mistake that you made or the bet;
But the truth of the matter, is that it might be,
You won't be alive to regret!
So drive with the patience and zeal of the best,
And remember this pertinent fact
The trip that you're taking might be a long trip,
So long.....that you never come back!

BIRTHS

The Rev. and Mrs. B. E. Tate are parents of a daughter, Tereca Lynn, born Tuesday in Rotan Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Archie Logan, 2912 Thirty-second Street. Mrs. Tate and the baby will be with the Logans after they are released from the hospital.

Three-Car Collision Here This Morning

A three-car collision at Twenty-fifth Street and Avenue W caused heavy damages to two of the cars this morning, but no one was injured, Bob McFarlin, police sergeant who investigated, said.

McFarlin said all three cars were going west, and that a car driven by Mrs. G. W. Armstrong, 23, 807 Twenty-third Street, hit the rear of a Texas Electric Service Co. car driven by Billy Bob Hardy, 24, 2703 Thirty-eighth Street, and the Hardy car then rammed into the third car, which was driven by William Elmer Bentley, 66, route No. 1, Snyder.

Both the rear and front of the car driven by Hardy was heavily damaged, and the car driven by Mrs. Armstrong was heavily damaged, McFarlin said. He said damages to Bentley's car was only slight.

Anderson Named New Commodore Of Fleet

NEW YORK (AP)—Capt. John W. Anderson, skipper of the world's fastest ship, the United States, is the new commodore of the U. S. Lines fleet.

Anderson, 54, a seaman for 38 years, succeeds Commodore Harry Manning, who retired early this month, the line announced last night. The fleet includes the liners United States and the America and 46 cargo vessels.

Guilty Pleas In Liquor Case

J. Dorn Phelps and L. L. Hamilton, Midland cafe operators and former employes of Allene's Ranch here, paid fines of $173.50 each, including cost, when they pleaded guilty today to county court bootlegging charges.

Civil suits for bond forfeiture in their cases remained on the civil county court docket, however. The forfeiture suits were filed against them and the sureties on their bonds Wednesday after they failed to appear in court when their cases were called Tuesday.

The bootlegging charges were filed against them in 1951. They were arrested in Midland Wednesday afternoon and returned here. Both men told the court today they had paid their attorney, Fred Chandler of Pecos, formerly of Colorado City, fines to be turned over to the court here in these cases.

Wayland Holt, county attorney here, said the county had never received the money, however. Chandler is a surety on each of the $1,000 bonds. Two other bonds on two other defendants whose cases were called at the same time were also ordered forfeited. Chandler is a surety on each of these two, also, but the principals are reported out of the state.

Business Tied To Big 3 Meet

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business will have a stake in the Big Three meeting in Bermuda. All business planning and prospects are closely tied to the ultimate big question: Does the future hold peace or war or just more of the twilight zone between, as at present?

Whether business is facing up to a coming slump, whether men are to be laid off, whether another whirl of inflation is to send prices up again, whether taxes are to go up or down, all of these are tangled in the snarl of international relations.

Ask a businessman if he thinks next year will see us in a recession, and he may say "yes" or he may say "no" (depending often on the kind of business he is in) but whichever his answer, he's to add: "That is assuming, of course, there is no change in the international situation."

The Kremlin is the big unknown in most long-range business planning these days.

For months businessmen have tried to guess if the Kremlin will permit a truce in Korea. Many now believe that the Reds are stalling there in the hope that the breach between the United States and Britain over the Red China question may widen.

Businessmen will watch the Bermuda parley closely for a hint as to that.

The forthcoming meeting may also shed light on what's to be done about the growing pressure in Western Europe for a step-up in trade with countries behind the iron curtain, a movement that the United States has been trying to squelch.

Some businessmen think that the entire Soviet peace offensive may be aimed at laying the ground work for a big trade war in the years ahead, with the ultimate goal of weakening the economies of the United States and its allies.

Injured Boy Is Worried About Perfect Record

An 11-year-old Snyder boy was more worried about missing a day of school than about his physical condition yesterday when he was taken to the Battenfield Hospital for treatment of slight injuries suffered when he was struck by a car.

Jim Tarleton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tarleton, operators of John's Cafe on North Avenue S, said tearfully at the hospital that he had not missed a day of school this year and that he would now miss out on the prize his teacher, Miss Alice Birdwell, had offered students with perfect attendance.

The accident occurred on Avenue R in front of the post office. Police said young Tarleton apparently stepped into the street from between two parked cars in the path of the late model Buick driven by Mrs. Richard Brice, Clairemont Road. Mrs. Brice said she did not see the boy in time to completely stop the car and that she did not believe he saw her car.

Tarleton was taken to the hospital in a Bolger ambulance for observation and for treatment of minor injuries. He had not been released from the hospital late this morning, but attendants said his condition was good.

Mrs. Brice told young Tarleton that she would talk to his teacher and that she believed he will get his prize after the teacher learns the reason for his day's absence from school.

No charges were filed in connection with the accident, police said.

Jail Time Spent Is Enough For Negro Here

Elroy Mayberry, Snyder Negro man, pleaded guilty this morning to a county court charge of embezzlement and was released after being sentenced to six days in jail, retroactive.

Mayberry had been charged with keeping for himself a small amount of money when sent on an errand with $5. He pleaded innocent when charged six days ago and had been confined since.

Police Sergeant Is Leaving Force Here

Bob McFarlin, member of the police department for the past seven months has resigned effective June 1, Walter Suttle, police chief, said.

McFarlin was promoted to sergeant April 1, to replace W. J. Ramsey who was holding that position and resigned from the department.

McFarlin, 31, is married and lives at 2904 Avenue V. He said he has not made any plans for future employment, but intends to remain in Snyder.

Sutton said Jimmy Clayton, used car salesman, will be added to the force.

Wreck Victim Is Still Unconscious, Critical

Mrs. Carol Smith, who was injured in an accident near here Saturday, has still not regained consciousness, attendants at Battenfield Hospital said today.

Three other women hospitalized as a result of the same accident remained in unchanged condition. Mrs. Bama Juanita Smith, mother-in-law of Mrs. Carol Smith was listed as still in critical condition. Both women are from Earth.

Still in serious condition are Mrs. Annie L. Runyon of Earth and Mrs. Grace Underwood of Dimmitt. The conditions of both women have improved since the accident but are unchanged since yesterday, the hospital reported.

Mother Of Snyderite Dies In Post Today

Mrs. R. B. Hester, mother of Mrs. Tinsley Rainwater, died this morning at 4:30 o'clock in the Garza County Memorial Hospital in Post.

Mrs. Hester had lived with her daughter at the Rainwater home east of Snyder. She is also the mother of Mrs. Guy Floyd of Post.

Funeral services are pending. Bell Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Another Car Crashes Into Piggly Wiggly

For the second time in two months a car has crashed into Piggly Wiggly grocery store at Avenue W and Twenty-fifth Street. O. L. Nichols, owner.

A car driven by Milford C. Gardner, of the MC Trailer Court, crashed into the front of the store about 6 o'clock last night breaking three plate glass window panes, and came to rest about half-way inside the building.

Nichols said the crash caused damages estimated at $500.

About 60 days ago a car crashed into the west side of the same building and knocked a hole in the concrete block wall.

Drunk Driving Fine

Elton Hosea, 24, Hobbs, N. M., was fined $50 plus court cost of $23.50 when he pleaded guilty in county court this morning to a charge of driving while intoxicated. His driver's license was suspended six months, suspension being mandatory upon such conviction.

Hosea was arrested by a city policeman who signed a complaint against him this morning.

Services Tomorrow For Gerald Lindsey

Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Mr. Gerald Otis Lindsey who suffered fatal injuries in an automobile accident Saturday.

Services for Mr. Lindsey will be at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the Central Baptist Church at Hermleigh. The Rev. Don Hanson will officiate. Burial will be in Hermleigh cemetery under the direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

The 54-year-old man is survived by his wife, two sons, two brothers and three sisters. The family moved to Hermleigh from Plainview about three years ago.

Cop Admits He Had Once Been Red; Loses His Job On Force

NEW YORK (AP)—One New York City policeman was out of a job today for falsely denying he ever had been a Communist, and others were reported being investigated.

Patrolman Meyer E. Rubensten was fired yesterday, after a departmental trial at which he admitted his previous denials of having once been a Communist were untrue.

He said he belonged to the party from about 1935 to 1938, but originally had denied it to protect his family from being "accused, branded and condemned."

Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan, asked if any other policemen were under investigation concerning Red affiliations, said "two or three right now."

Eleanor Visiting Japan

TOKYO (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt arrived at the Tokyo International Airport from the U. S. today.

She is expected to stay in Japan until June 25 on the invitation of the Japan Committee for Intellectual Interchange.

Mexican Waifs Being Sent To Border Town

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Two ragged Mexican orphans who hiked 900 miles in search of a missing uncle have come to the end of their trail here.

They are to be deported today.

Porfirio Perez-Villalobos, a hazel-eyed 13-year-old much too sober for his years, and his staunch little brother Ricardo, 10, will be turned over to Mexican authorities at the border city of Nogales, Sonora.

Immigration officers, although touched by the waifs' sad tale, say there is nothing they can do but remove them. There is no haven here.

The boys were picked up at the nearby farm community of Marana Wednesday looking for work.

Hungry, tired and lonely, and unable to find Jose Mario Zaragosa, the uncle they had been seeking, they approached Deputy Sheriff Ed Hndricks and asked for a job.

"Any kind of a job," Porfirio pleaded.

Officers fed them and with the help of interpreters pieced together the fragments of their long trek.

They had been living at Arandes, Mexico, near Guadalajara, and decided to find Zaragosa, their only living relative. He had been last heard from while working near Marana.

They walked, caught rides and made 20 to 80 cents a day shining shoes. The money kept them from starving. Finally, after reaching the border, they walked on the far side of a tourist's car past the custom's gate at Nogales, and continued on into Arizona.

Asked how long ago they began their trip, they shrugged their shoulders and replied:

"Many days."

Ricardo told officers he was not afraid to go back and that his brother would take care of him.

Porfirio said he didn't know what he would do, but would decide later after finding out how far he was sent into Mexico. Then he added sadly:

"Work is good in this country. I wish we could stay, but I guess we can't."

Battery Acid Fatal

EUGENE, Ore., (AP)—Samual D. Bornstein, 68, owner of a junk and machinery company, kept battery acid in soft drink bottles at his place.

At lunch the other day he reached for a soft drink. He got a bottle of acid. He died in a hospital yesterday.

County Library Petitions Being Pushed By AAUW

By SUE HOLMES

Scurry County is not much closer to having a library, according to a check of names on petitions which the Chamber of Commerce has.

After discovering this, the American Association of University Women in their meeting yesterday organized committees to scatter petitions over town.

Mrs. WAYNE BOREN, a member of the AAUW library committee and a member of the Chamber of Commerce civic development committee, explained to members that at least 1,700 signatures of qualified voters would be necessary before the petition for a library could be presented to the commissioners court.

As the situation now stands, the library building would not cause a rise in taxes. The petitions request that 10 cents on the $100 valuation be placed in a building fund, and that money in the permanent building fund be used for the library. She explained that the oil companies operating in the county pay 50 per cent of the taxes, and that the oil companies are in favor of channeling the permanent building fund money to the library.

Questions about whether or not the petitions involved a rise in taxes were answered by Mrs. Boren who said she believed a raise would not be forthcoming should the petitions carry.

A simple majority of qualified voters (which number about 3,200 this year) is required on the petitions before they can be presented to the commissioners.

One question raised concerned the record room listed as part of the proposed library. Mrs. GEORGE CRABB, AAUW president, said this did not mean a room with a juke box. She said it was to be a collection of classical records which persons could borrow like books.

The petitions are not like a bond issue, Mrs. Boren said. The money will not have to be raised; theoretically, it is already there and the petitions are asking that the money be used for a library.

Booths will be scattered around town in stores and in churches. Mrs. ROBERT WASSON and Mrs. TED ZECK are committee chairmen for the booths.

Missed Fall Planting

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Neighbors got a start when they saw Dixie Smith carefully digging holes and dropping an ice cube in each one.

They facetiously asked her if she was growing 25-pound cakes of ice, icicle radishes, or maybe refrigeration plants.

She cooled them off by explaining there was a flowering cherry tree seed in each cube. Dixie said she was supposed to have planted the seeds last fall but forgot. A friend advised her to freeze the seeds and plant them.

Mrs. R. R. Baker checks the contents of a box before adding them to date pudding. She frequently prepares the dish for parties or dinners in her home.

World Citizen Off To India

TILBURY, England (AP)—"World Citizen" Garry Davis sailed toward India today after a sit-down strike outside Buckingham Palace failed to win him permission to stay in England.

The 31-year-old actor—who announced his American citizenship in Paris in 1948 and called himself world citizen No. 1—hustled the liner Strathaden yesterday just seven hours before his deadline to leave the country. He had come to England originally in the cast of the play "Stalag 17," which flopped.

Davis won wide publicity when he camped in front of Queen Elizabeth's palace earlier this month in an effort to win an extension of his visitor's permit. The police hustled him to court and charged him with "wandering about"—an British law terms vagrancy. The court gave him until yesterday to get out of England.

A philosopher in India has invited him there for a visit.

Banned Paper Will Continue Publishing

FRANKFURT (AP)—Mrs. Marion Von Rospach said today she'll keep on publishing her "Overseas Weekly" for GI's in Germany despite an Army ban. The California woman publisher said she'll "depend completely upon the German economy," and, of course, the 40,000 servicemen who have been buying her paper regularly.

The Army lifted the weekly publication's license because it featured "sensational stories on sex and prostitution." Without the license, it can't be printed and distributed, as it now is, on facilities of the unofficial Army paper Stars and Stripes. The Army ban is effective June 30.

Mrs. Von Rospach admitted running stories about Christine Jorgensen's reported sex change and about Pat Ward, New York call girl witness in the Mickey Jelke vice trial. She had said earlier those were the stories the Army particularly didn't like.

Getting Crowded At Top Of National League, Phils Lead

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

The New York giants are ready to start a petition demanding more room in first division in the National League.

They think they belong there, just like the experts said before the season started. But it's a typical National League race with almost everybody trying to get in front. And it's so tight even a five game winning streak and nine successes in their last 12 starts isn't enough to get the Giants higher than fifth.

The Philadelphia Phillies are in front at the moment, but the margin is so small that on any cold day they ought to be able to feel the hot breath from the hungry pack all the way down to the Giants.

The Phils, thumped 7-2 by Pittsburgh last night, lead Milwaukee by half a game. St. Louis is a half game back of Milwaukee with Brooklyn's off-and-on Dodgers another half step behind the Cards.

That brings it down to fifth place and the Giants, who knocked off Brooklyn 7-2, last night to creep within three games of the top.

Three games from first to fifth! Why over in the American League where the New York Yankees are threatening to run off and hide from the rest of the clubs, the margin is more than that from first to second.

The Yankees stretched their lead to 3½ games over the idle Chicago White Sox last night by edging the Washington Senators, 6-5, on a three-run seventh inning rally. The Philadelphia Athletics, hitless for five innings, overpowered Boston, 9-0, in the only other American League game. The Cardinals made up deficits of three and six runs to defeat Cincinnati, 11-9, to round out the National League action.

The Giants slammed out five runs in the first inning against Brooklyn's Joe Black and Ben Wade on a pair of back-to-back triples, a single, double and Bobby Thomson's home run.

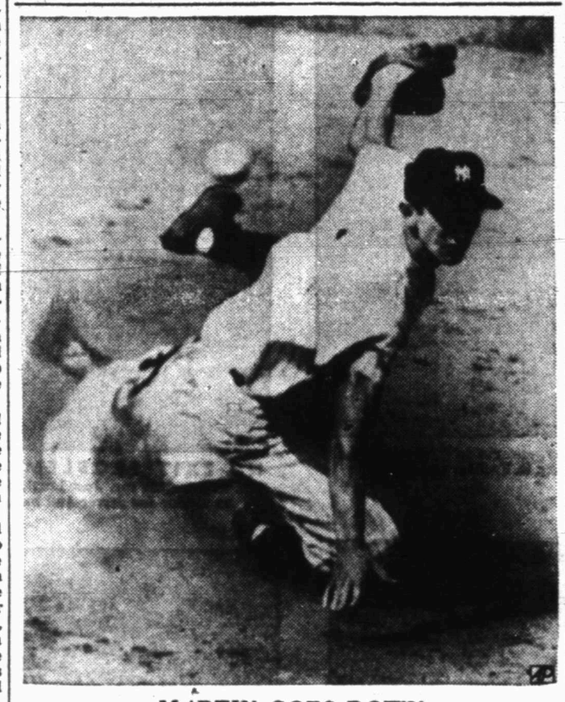

The season's largest National League crowd, 46,778 Polo Grounds customers, saw Brooklyn dispose of Giant Ace Sal Maglie with one out in the first inning when Duke Snider followed Pee Wee Reese's single with a home run and Jackie Robinson followed with a double. But Al Corwin, making his third relief appearance in four games, stopped the Dodgers until the fifth and Dave Koslo held the lead to the end. The victory went to Corwin.

The roof fell in on Karl Drews in Pittsburgh in the sixth inning. The Philadelphia righthander was breezing along with a 2-0 lead when the Pirates suddenly found the range for seven singles and were aided by two walks and a pair of errors.

The Cardinals jumped away to a 6-0 lead, only to find themselves trailing 9-6 after Cincinnati batted in the seventh. The Cards came back with four more in the seventh and frosted the cake with a single tally in the eighth.

The Yankees' victory, too, was a come from behind effort against the battling Senators. Down 5-3 after four innings, the Yankees rallied for three runs in the seventh on a pair of singles, two doubles and a walk.

The Athletics' triumph over Boston may have been a costly one since they lost the services of lefty Bobby Shantz for an indefinite period. Shantz, pitching shutout ball, strained a muscle in his arm with two out in the fourth and had to retire.

MARTIN GOES DOWN

The ball is not balanced on Billy Martin's foot here as the New York Yankee second baseman topples over Johnny Bucha of the Detroit Tigers. The ball really is on its way to first base to complete a double play which ended a seventh inning effort by Detroit to push Bucha around the bases. New York won the game played in New York's Yankee Stadium, 9 to 8.

Tommy Bolt Leads Field At Colonial

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH (AP)—Tommy Bolt, a heavy money-winner already, held a long lead on a $5,000 jackpot today as he set out at the head of the field in the $25,000 Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament.

The terrible-tempered Mr. Bolt, Maplewood, N. J., was the only player able to master par in the opening round yesterday as he shot a 34-33—67 over the rugged 7,035-yard Colonial Country Club course.

His three-under-par effort put him four strokes ahead of his nearest pursuers—Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., each had one-over-par 71.

Bolt didn't have enough trouble to even pitch a club down yesterday. His irons were working like magic wands and while his putting left something to be desired, he didn't have to worry much about that.

Bolt, winner of two tournaments this year along with $8,030 to make him fifth among the money-earners, figured it all out to a "T." He used a slight hook and the wind gave him little trouble.

The largest opening day crowd in the seven-year history of the tournament — 6,500 — turned out mostly to see Ben Hogan, the mechanical man from Palm Springs, Calif., a smashing favorite for first money.

Deadlocked at 72 were Buck White of Greenwood, Miss.; Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y.; Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., and Peter Thomson of Melbourne, Australia, the lone foreign entry in the tournament with its 48-man field.

There are four amateurs. The best score by the simon-pures was a 74 turned in by Charles Coe of Oklahoma City and Billy Erfurth of Lubbock, Tex.

Seven players shot 80 or above. Among them was Johnny Bulla of Verona, Pa., who had an 80 and at first decided to withdraw. But he reconsidered. Amateur Joe Conrad of San Antonio had the highest score—an 84—contributed to largely by landing his second shot in a lake on No. 18.

Baylor Hitter Leads League

DALLAS (AP)—Mickey Sullivan of Baylor topped the batters and Tommy Bowers of Southern Methodist the pitchers in the Southwest Conference baseball race that closed this week with Texas and Southern Methodist tying for the title.

Sullivan slugged a lusty .400 to pace the hitters while Paul Mohr of Texas was second with .388. Bowers won four games and lost none, one more than Martin Wiginton of Texas, but the heaviest winners were Boyd Linker of Texas (5-2) and Jerry Nelson of Texas A&M (5-3).

Charles Galey of SMU and Jim Dan Pace of Texas tied for the most runs with 20 each. Travis Eckert of Texas led in runs batted in with 22, Morh and Tommy Snow of Texas tied for the lead in hits with 26 apiece, Mohr was ahead in doubles with six, John Caruthers of SMU in triples with four, while Harry Davis of Baylor, Eckert, Mohr and Sullivan all tied for the home run lead with three apiece. Mohr had the most total bases with 43. Tom Reckling of Rice led in stolen bases with six.

The strike-out leader was Linker, who whiffed 63.

Texas led in club batting with .304 and Baylor in fielding with .956.

Native Dancer Excites Track

BALTIMORE (AP)—A horse named Native Dancer and a jockey named Eddie Arcaro were two hot topics of conversation today on the eve of the Preakness although they won't be together and both were beaten in the Kentucky Derby.

Native Dancer had staid Pimlico as excited as it ever has been in its 83 years of horse racing. "Is he as great as he looked before Dark Star outran him in the Derby?" That's the burning question before the full house of about 35,000 answer seekers tomorrow.

The Alfred G. Vanderbilt Gray Ghost will have another crack at Harry Guggenheim's Dark Star and five others in the mile and threesixteenths race for $113,750.

The middle gem of the Triple Crown of racing will be on nationwide radio and television (CBS, 4:45 p. m. EST).

Since the Derby upheld the cliche that anything can happen in a horse race, the quintet of outsiders isn't being overlooked entirely for another upset.

18th Hole In Chattanooga Is Toughest

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—The Chattanooga Country Club's 218-yard, 3-par 18th hole has been called the toughest finishing hole in the South.

This reputation certainly held true yesterday for Pat Garner of Midland, Tex., and Vonnie Colby of Hollywood, Fla., who dropped quarter-final matches in the 38th Women's Southern Amateur Golf Tournament.

The 18th green lies only five yards to the left of a road. Between this road and the edge of the putting surface there is a sand trap.

Across the road is a 30-foot drop through rough grass toward the ninth green, while to the left there is a drop of 10 feet into a sand trap. Between the tee and the green there is a deep chasm.

And to make things even more difficult yesterday, the pin was set just five yards from the right edge.

Miss Garner came to this hole one up on Mary Janssen of Charlottesville, Va. But she skied her drive, hit a wedge into the right trap and luckily got down in four when her third shot caught the flag.

Miss Janssen won the hole and went on to win the match 1 up when Miss Garner hit her drive out of bounds on the 19th hole.

Miss Colby had just rallied to even her match with Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., by sinking a difficult sidehill, 20-foot putt on 17, only to lose on 18.

In other matches, Bee McWane of Birmingham, Ala., trimmed Lesbia Lobo of San Antonio, Tex., 4 and 3 and defending champion Kathy McKinnon of Lake Worth, Fla., eased past Major Pat Grant of Fort McClennan, Ala., 3 and 2.

Today, Miss Riley meets Miss McKinnon and Miss McWane matches shots with Miss Janssen in the semifinals.

The 36-hole finals will be played Saturday.

Chances Of Australia Keeping Olympic Games Are Slight

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The resignation of Arthur W. Coles as chief organizer of the 1956 Olympic Games is a serious blow to Melbourne's chances of playing host to the great athletic carnival. Without being unduly pessimistic, we would guess that it's no better than a 50-50 proposition now.

Coles was the big operator, the one Australian deemed capable by many of his countrymen of solving manifold problems and whipping the games together. There was general rejoicing in Melbourne when Coles agreed to take on the onerous job last fall, and there will be great disappointment that he has thrown in the towel.

A self-made man of heavy wealth whose stores stretch to every corner of Australia, Coles has retired to his beautiful estate at Flinders, near Melbourne, and meant to stay there, when the cry for succor reached him. The Olympic people told him things were in a mess, and that the games almost certainly would be lost unless he threw his energy and talents into the breach.

Reluctantly, Coles accepted the challenge. When we saw him five months ago he felt optimistic. He was fully aware that he was bucking petty jealousies and that he was enmeshed in Australia's own brand of politics, but he thought he had a superior ally in national pride.

He accomplished much within a few months. Without bothering to call a committee meeting ever other day, he commissioned plans for a great modern stadium and for a swimming plant that promised to be a humdinger. He was doing what he knew how to do better than any man in Australia, but we had an uneasy feeling at the time that he might be underestimating the opposition.

Sure enough, it wasn't too long before the news came from Down Under that the new stadium was out and that it had been decided to do a face-lifting job on Melbourne's archaic cricket ground instead. We were rather surprised that there was no accompanying statement from Coles, and decided he must be softer than he looked.

But the first impression proved to have been correct. When the state government of Victoria also took his swimming pool away from him yesterday, Coles headed back home and left the whole sorry situation in the hands of the little men.

Having been told so by a number of persons who should have known, our feeling became strong that Australia's chances of holding the Olympics rested on the willingness of all hands to pitch in and support Coles to the limit. One of these men, the head of a facility very important to the success of the games, said he would lose interest in a hurry if Coles ever quit.

Well, he's quit. Obviously there is no intention of supplying the kind of money needed to put the games on properly. The International Olympic Committee proved at the recent Mexico City meeting that there is no plot against Melbourne. It approved the site, despite grave doubts of some of its members. But Melbourne, lovely Melbourne, seems determined to make it tough.

Magnolia, Sun Take Wins In Softball Loop

Magnolia remained in the top bracket of teams in the city softball league last night after defeating Pan American Pipeline a close 7-6.

The Magnolia team led from the beginning. Levi Garrett slammed in a home run for the winners. Birch Raley, winning hurler, allowed 10 hits, and Leon Kirby, the loser, gave up eight. Pan Am had four errors and Magnolia had three.

Sun Oil moved up one notch in the league by downing Hermleigh 6-3.

Henry Treet pitched for the winning team, allowing three hits. Sun got two hits off Hermleigh's hurler, Charles White. Hermleigh ended the game with five errors, while Sun had one.

Standard of Texas, the league leader which has not lost a game, is scheduled to meet winless National Guard at 7:30 o'clock tonight, while DeMolays and Sunray are to play at 9 o'clock.

Giant Football Team Takes Con Gottlob

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants pro football team has signed Don (Cotton) Gottlieb, Little All-America quarterback from Sam Houston State and the nation's leader in total offense last season.

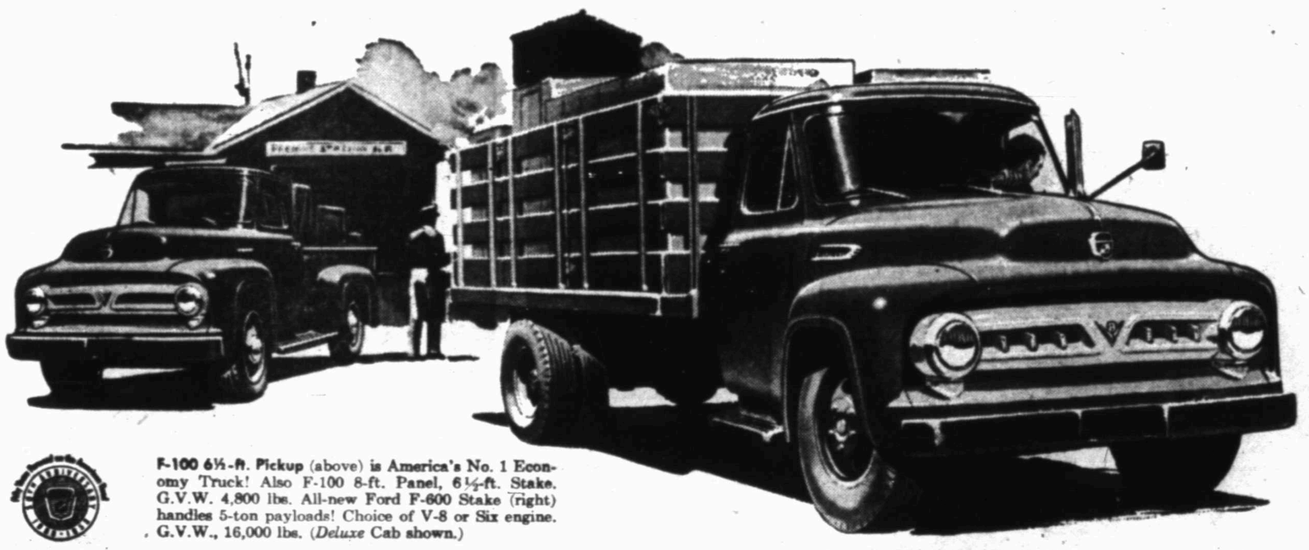

The 21-year-old T quarterback, a resident of Galveston, completed 132 of 256 passes for 18 touchdowns and 2,325 yards for the Huntsville Tex., school last season. His total yardage was 2,470. He stands 5-10 and weighs 170.

COVERED FARM LAND

Farm land in Northern Louisiana is under water from the flooding Cane River near Natchitoches, La., while rains still continued, creating more of a threat. Rain was still falling when this picture was taken. In the city of Natchitoches the Red Cross has established a tent city to accomodate 150 flooded-out families.

New Tools For Oil Industry Are Shown

TULSA (AP)—A tattle-tale fishpole and a yammering rock-killer are two brand new tools of the oil industry.

The fishpole is a gauge telling how much water has collected at the bottom of a storage tank of crude oil. Pipeline companies want to pay for only the oil, not any water which has settled out of the oil or collected inside the tank.

The fishpole gives a quick answer, electrically. It has a wooden handle, a reel of measuring tape, and a little dial.

A six-inch long metal sinker hangs from the measuring tape. Its point is made of magnesium. The sinker is reeled out like a plump bob into the tank.

Nothing happens while it's sinking through oil. As soon as it touches water, the magnesium point sets up a tiny electrical current, which registers on the dial of the fishpole. The operator then reads off how many feet and inches of tape measure have spun off the reel.

He keeps dropping the sinker until it touches the bottom of the tank. That cuts off the current, and he takes another tape measure reading to learn how many feet or inches of water the sinker passed through.

The gauge, shown at the International Petroleum Exposition, is made by the Holl Engineering Co., under license from Phillips Petroleum.

It might also be adapted to tell an airplane pilot how much useless water he has in gasoline tanks, so he wouldn't misjudge his fuel supply.

The new rock drill will persuade any huge boulder or shelf of rock to get out of the way for the laying of a pipeline.

It is a rig with four drill points, all suspended by a crane from the side of a tractor. It works entirely on compressed air.

Air drives two motors which swing the drills outward from the tractor, or point them at angles downward. These motors bellow like a thousand sick calves.

Air drives the hammering drills which poke four-inch holes five to six feet into the rock, four holes at a time. Dynamite is stuck into the holes, and the rock goes bye-bye.

Tornado Gives Atom Defense Good Workout

WACO (AP)—Waco's misfortune may ultimately be someone's salvation.

For the Waco tornado is the nearest thing to an atomic bomb in the United States since the world became infested with atomic jitters.

And federal civil defense officials who are operating now in Waco recognize the local situation as a true test case of procedure for moving into an atomic bomb area.

Waco's tornado emergency action is the first time federal civil defense has moved into a community under Public Law 875—the federal formula that would be used in an area hit by an atomic bomb.

Somewhere in the archives of every city there is supposed to be a disaster plan. There were a few hazy ones here.

But in a broad sense Waco wrote its disaster rules amid falling bricks, in torrential rain, and in a state of almost hysterical confusion. We did emerge on top because of the tireless efforts of a small group of leaders who took a firm hold and never wavered. They made mistakes and admitted them—and made corrections.

The tornado did Waco a favor when it disrupted communications, including radio and newspaper for the first three hours after the tornado. Before the general public learned of the extent of the disaster, police and national guardsmen had at least a loose grip on the downtown traffic situation. By the time the pressure was on they tightened their hold and never released it. But it was not the result of pre-planning.

Immediate response of military men and heavy equipment for immediate use was the difference between a few short hours of confusion and a week of hysteria.

As severe as Waco's storm was —196 business houses totally destroyed, 217 more unsafe or on the border line of safety, 1,500 to 2,000 homes damaged or destroyed —114 killed, 300 injured—the destruction is only a drop in the bucket to what would have happened if a medium atomic bomb had been exploded directly over the R. T. Derrus store, a five story building that was demolished. From Waco's misfortune, it is not unlikely that a text book or rescue, relief and rehabilitation will be written.

Federal defense people moved into Waco to experiment in coordination, with the idea of completing their mission in the fastest time possible and with the greatest result. You might say that they are experimenting, too. Even though we do not like to think about it, Waco's tornado recovery is a "dry run" for every municipality in the United States—and for Uncle Sam, too.

LEGAL NOTICE

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: Moyd Raymer, Ernest Raymer, Inez Raymer, Nee Montgomery and Jack Raymer, and the unknown heirs of Billy Crow, deceased

GREETING:

You are commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the plaintiff's Second Amended petition at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday the 22nd day of June, A. D., 1953, was filed on the 7th day of May, 1953. Honorable District Court of Scurry County, at the Court House in Snyder, Texas.

Said plaintiff's Second Amended petition was filed on the 7th day of May, 1953.

The file number of said suit being No. 5899.

The names of the parties in said suit are:

Texas Employers' Insurance Association as Plaintiff, and Maggie Crow, et vir as Defendant.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit:

To properly determine the rightful beneficiaries of the said Billy Coleman Crow, deceased, and determine and awarding to those lawfully entitled to receive the same the benefits accruing under the Workmen's Compensation Law on account of the accidental injury and death of the said Billy Coleman Crow.

Texas Employers' Insurance Association was a Workmen's Compensation carrier for Lea County Casing Pullers on the 22nd day of December, 1951, on which date Billy Crow, formerly known as Billy Coleman, was in the employ of the Lea County Casing Pullers and sustained accidental injuries which resulted in his death; that a claim for workmen's compensation benefits in connection with his death was filed before the Industiral Accident Board by defendants, Maggie Crow and Hymon Crow; that said defendants claim certain benefits as the result of being the adoptive parents of said Billy Crow; that some controversy exists as to whether or not the adoption proceedings in Oklahoma are valid and proper; that said Billy Crow, deceased, was the child of Ora Coleman and John H. Coleman and that, while plaintiff has been advised that Ora Coleman died in March of 1930, there is no official record of her death, that the whereabouts of deceased's father, John H. Coleman, is unknown, that it is unknown whether said John H. Coleman is living or dead; that deceased's mother, Ora Coleman, was formerly married to a man by the name of Raymer, and that from such marriage five children were born, to-wit: Jack Raymer, Moyd Raymer, Ernest Raymer, Inez Raymer, Nee Montgomery and Leslie Raymer; that plaintiff cannot ascertain the whereabouts of Jack Raymer, Moyd Raymer, Ernest Raymer and Inez Raymer Nee Montgomery and/or whether there are other heirs of said Billy Crow, deceased, which are unknown to this plaintiff and that all said parties are possible beneficiaries of said proceeds; that plaintiff owes compensation benefits on account of the death of the said Billy Crow and cannot ascertain to whom it owes same; that it stands ready, willing and able to pay same, either in a lump sum or weekly, as the Court may decree; that it is entitled to be protected in the payment of said benefits, and has had to employ attorneys to bring this bill of interpleader, and is entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs on account thereof.

If this Citation is not served within 90 days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

Issued this the 7th day of May A. D. 1953.

4 Ira Churches Keep Going, But Find It Is A Struggle

Church activities in the four Ira churches are expected to pick up now that school is over for the summer there. Monday and Wednesday nights were reserved for church affairs.

According to Mrs. C. J. Smith, First Baptist Church pastor's wife, social situations are different in small towns. In a large town students who are active in church work are not necessarily involvd in school activities. But in small towns, she said, any school activity unually includes the entire student body.

Monday the church will begin the first in their series of activies for the summer by launching a vacation Bible school under the direction of the pastor. May 31 they will hold a training union study course for the entire church. Later in the summer young persons in the church will attend a camp.

Teachers in the Bible school will be Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Rea Falls, Mrs. Jess Grizzle, Mrs. Pat Moore, Mrs. Leon Sterling, Mrs. Jean Sterling, Mrs. Floyd House and Miss Mayme Giddens. Commencement for the children from three to sixteen years old will be held at the close of the school.

Mrs. Irene Dixion, state training union worker from Dallas, will lead the training union study course. It will be introduced by a film,"Training Union is a Family Affair." A class will be held for each department.

Most of the young persons of the community, regardless of their faith, usually attend the Baptist vacation Bible school, according to Mrs. H. K. Johnson whose husband is a trustee at the First Methodist Church. Community social activities during the summer are at a standstill, she said.

At the Methodist Church Sunday services are held only twice each month although Sunday school meets every week. John Leeson, a student at McMurry College, alternates sermons for Ira and Camp Springs, Johnson said. The Ira church has about 60 members.

"We're handicapped on a place to keep a preacher," Johnson said. He added, however, that the membership total wasn't high enough at present to support a full-time minister.

The church members are decorating rooms in the church for a nursery.

The Church of God at Ira has a membership of approximately 50 persons. It has the only parsonage in the town although the house is vacant at the present. "I think we will have a preacher pretty soon," J. D. Smallwood, a trustee, said.

The church has five Sunday school teachers. Included in the summer agenda is painting the building which they will do "as soon as the sand stops," Smallwood said. They also plan a revival to be held sometime this summer.

The Church of Christ in Ira does not have a permanent minister but instead hears students from Abilene Christian College every Sunday. One reason the church asks for student ministers is "because they need the practice," according to a church member, Mrs. Nora I Jordan. Some students have preached to the congregation for as long as four years, she said.

The majority of the church members are farmers, and contributions have dropped as a result of the drouth, she said. The story was the same from the First Baptist minister who said "this is the second crop failure in a row they have had."

Also a number of oil workers are listed on church rolls. The First Methodist church has as many members from the oilfields as from farms. But Mrs. Jordan said most of the oil workers in the Church of Christ are from the Sharon Ridge Field which isn't too lucrative.

"Actually most of the members are giving, under the circumstances, rather liberally," Mr. Smith added. The Baptist church is the newest one in the community, he said, but still lacks about $1,000 being completed. Construction was begun about five years ago, the pastor said.

Mr. Smith has been pastor of the Ira church for two years. He, his wife and three children moved there from Dunn.

Although eight teachers work in the Sunday school division, Mr. Smith said the biggest problem is finding suitable leaders. There are not as many persons to choose from as in a larger church, he explained.

Rev. Henry C. Thomas

Rev. Thomas Is New Pastor

The Rev. Henry C. Thomas will preach his first sermon, "Working Together," to members of the Church of the Nazarene Sunday morning when he assumes his duties as the new pastor.

Previously Mr. Thomas was pastor of the Seagraves church. He has also held pastorates at Levelland, Big Spring, Ranger, Perryton and Tahoka. He took examinations for his position under the Abilene district.

Mr. Thomas, his wife and one daughter, Nelda Charm Thomas, live at the parsonage at 704 Thirtieth Street. He succeds the Rev. R. L. Dillard who moved to Stephenville.

Officers Installed At Christian Men's Club

Budgets for the past and coming years were discussed and officers installed in a meeting last night of the Christian Men's Fellowship in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

The new officers for the First Christian Church group are Jack L. Lightfoot, president; G. C. Jackson, vice president; Ronald Vaughson, vice president; Ronald Vaughn, secretary, and Raymond Wil-

Vacation Bible School Are Held In Church

Children between the ages of three and 16 will enroll next Friday for the vacation Bible school of the First Baptist Church.

Following the registration at 10 o'clock there will be a parade down town. The two-week school will open June 1 at 8:30 o'clock. Ralph Wesson will be principal.

Brotherhood Meeeting At Avenue D Church

The Avenue D Baptist Church will hold a brotherhood meeting at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the church to launch a membership campaign for the club among the members of the church.

Ed Fenton will preside at the meeting.

Race Studies Continue

Mrs. Ronald Hubbard continued the series on race relations studied by the Presbyterian Women's Organization Tuesday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Clifton Patton served cookies and coffee to the ten women who attended.

"MY SISTER"

Clifton Eugene Bradford, 2, and his sister, Diane, 1, are reunited at a foundling hospital in New York before returning to Washington where they were kidnaped last Friday. "My sister," said Clifton when he saw the little girl. In Washington the children will be turned over to the child welfare division of the board of health. Mrs. Barbara Lee Grimm, accused of the abduction, said she felt sorry for the children because of the atmosphere of drinking and quarreling in their home.

Training Course Ends At Assembly Of God

The workers' training course at the Assembly of God Church will close tonight at the 7:45 o'clock service at the church.

Mrs. Edith Little of Lubbock has been instructing in the course which was built around a book called "Ye Shall Be Witness." Approximately 65 persons have heard Mrs. Little's lectures.

Consecration Services At First Baptist Church

Dr. O. W. Carter, Big Spring district superintendent, was the speaker at consecration services held at the First Methodist Church Sunday night.

Eighty-six stewards and officers of the official board were installed. The officials will assume their duties for the new year June 1.

Whit Sunday Services

Whit Sunday services will be held at 8 o'clock Sunday night at the central primary school cafeteria for members of the St. John's Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Robert J. Purrington will delievet the sermon.

PHYSICIANS GUILTY

Doctor Says Lot Of Chiseling On Hospitalization Insurance

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dr. Paul R. Magnuson said last night that too much "chiseling" on hospitalization insurance, backed by physicians, is overloading the nation's hospitals.

In an interview prior to a speech to the St. Louis Medical Society, Dr. Magnuson said, "There are a lot of people in hospitals who shouldn't be there, who should be treated in their homes."

The Chicago doctor was chairman of the Commission on the Health Needs of the Nation during the Truman administration.

He said too often a person tells his physician he has hospitalization insurance so treatment may as well be administered in the hospital. The physician agrees, he said, because "it's easier for him to treat a lot of people in the hospital than in their homes.

"This not only overcrowds the hospitals, but it runs up the costs of hospitalization insurance for other people."

As a remedy Dr. Magnuson advocated hospitalization insurance which he likened to $50 deductable automobile insurance, under which the car owner pays the first $50 of any damage to his machine.

The physician said he would not set a dollar limit, but would require the patient to pay the first full week of his hospital bill before his insurance would go into effect.

Dr. Magnuson's commission completed its work and submitted a report last December calling for a voluntary prepaid medical plan under sponsorship of the insurance trade.

"A lot of doctors are against it," he said, "not because they think Truman had something to do with it, President Truman never interfered in any way."

Annual Conference At Abilene For Methodist Churches In Area

Representatives of the First Methodist Church will attend the Northwest Texas annual conference of the Methodist Church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in Abilene at the St. Paul Methodist Church.

The Rev. Woodrow Adcock, local pastor, will serve as chairman of the conference committee on world peace. Lyle Deffebach will attend as charge lay leader of the local church.

Official delegate from the Snyder church will be Paul Keaton with Haskell Beard as reserve delegate.

More than three hundred ministers will be assigned to churches in the conference at the closing session May 31.

Life Is Like A Highway Trip

"Where shall we go on our trip?" This question must be decided before any trip is begun. Life has but one of two destinies: Heaven and Hell. Every life will spend eternity in one of those places! To go to Heaven, Jesus urges, "Enter ye in at the strait gate . . . because . . . narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it." (Matt. 7:13, 14). He revealed the "broad way" and "the narrow way." You, dear reader, are traveling in one of those ways. Which?

Jesus is 'the Way" to Heaven. "No man cometh unto the Father, but by me." (John 14:6). There are many cross-roads which may divert attention. False teachers (1 John 4:1) will say, "One way is as good as another." Everyone should do as the Bereans (Acts 17:11). They compared what the preacher said with the scriptures. The Bible is right!

Speed limits are marked on the highway. These are for safety. "And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit." (Eph. 5:18). Recreation is good for one; it builds up. Some people think recreation is "wreck-reation" and they destroy themselves in dissipation. When one is filled with the Spirit, he will bear the fruit of the Spirit: Love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control (Gal. 5:22, 23).

Soft shoulders of temptation come frequently. The lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life (1 John 2:16) are treacherously dangerous. Succumbing to such will "throw" a person. God helps one to overcome temptation if he wants to live a holy life (1 Cor. 10:12, 13).

Dangerous curves are frequent. When opinion rules instead of faith, it is a curve which throws the drvier off the way. Christians "walk by faith; not by sight." (2 Cor. 5:7). Faith comes by hearing the word of God (Rom. 10:17). Beware of the opinions of men! Jesus said, "But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men (Matt. 15:9).

The New Testament is the highway map to Heaven. All who follow it will keep in "the Way" which leads to Heaven, the Home of the soul!
